Storm is worst in memory

Violence was the name of weather's game more than once this season and intensity of each attack seemed to escalate with each succeeding strike.

Considered the fourth incident in this area's freakish weather was the vicious rain and windstorm on Thursday morning, July 2. Before that there was the flash flood on Friday, June 12. Both descended on the community with scarcely a warning. Earlier in the spring, hail and wind destroyed crops and leveled grain fields. Before that, a late freeze took all the fruit from a wide area.

"Never before! Never before in memory have we seen a rain like that one" was the comment of many longtime Muenster residents, including Mrs. Lee Haverkamp, as they referred to Thursday morning's storm.

It developed so quickly, darkened the skies so suddenly and unleashed a force never before experienced here, that even the Weather Service was surprised, having reported earlier that storms were diminishing.

Frightening and treacherous, the storm seemed to follow no set path, but succeeded in cutting a wide swath across the county. Weather observers saw it change direction several times.

The general consensus is that this was a straight wind, estimated by Police Chief Helen Tompkins at 60 to 75 mph in Muenster, and possibly greater in selected areas.

In one specific rural area, weather observers surmised, "The wind was cyclonic in its pattern."

Reliable sources reported the sighting of tails in the clouds in several instances and peculiar green-yellow haze in the blackening atmosphere. The whipping, splintering destruction of great, mature trees in creeks, wooded areas and at city and rural homes lends credence to the possibility of a tornado, although unconfirmed.

However, rumors of homes destroyed had a happy ending - they were just rumors. But roof damage was cited in almost every report. There are almost as many stories as there are storytellers. Probably no home escaped tree damage. Almost every home has a big pile of limbs awaiting pick up by a city crew. Celine Dittfurth, city secretary, said the crew is clearing as fast as possible, and without charge.

Near creeks and in the woods much damage is visible. Great trees were uprooted and splintered, some were sheared off at ground level, others were topped off, leaving ugly jagged trunks. It is said that venerable 100-year-old oaks fell to the storm while scrubby junk and

Council's varied agenda addresses centennial, ambulance and CCTAD

The City Council moved with determination through a long agenda after a late start due to Monday night's public hearing on paving assessments.

First to request council attention was Juanita Bright who reminded the aldermen and officials that Muenster's centennial was only 18 months away and the preparations for this very important event needed major emphasis. She said that the city itself was the most proper entity to assume leadership of the planning and coordination of Muenster's energy and effort. Mayor Ted Henscheid recognized the importance of Mrs. Bright's statements but declined to accept full leadership. At her urging, a motion was made and passed to ask volunteers to come forward at the next meeting to discuss the centennial and accept jobs.

Another major item was the setting of a public meeting date to discuss the disposition of the Muenster Ambulance station. Councilmen acknowledged that county commissioners feel the ambulance station must be closed if financial help from Muenster is not obtained. The meeting for discussion and sharing ideas is set for 7:30 p.m. Monday, July 27, at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Muenster.

Next, the council approved raising the water tap fee from $50.00 per installation to $100.00. Hardware alone currently costs about $100.00 and backhoe work costs $34.00 per hour, sometimes taking a half day for installation. Council felt that some increase must be passed but hesitated to pass along full cost due to harsh public reaction.

Gordon Adair of the Gainesville TU Electric office formally announced the closing of the local branch office for economic reasons. He asked the city to consider giving a small amount of office space to the power company and accept service calls and bill collections for a fee yet to be established. The council saw no immediate problems with such an arrangement and will study the arrangement further.

The council next moved to reject the Cooke County Appraisal District Budget. They seemed to think the District was overstaffed and wanted to ask why such a large staff of appraisers was needed. The CCTAD also submitted a contract for appraisal, assessment and collection of Muenster city taxes. In the past, the city has always handled its own assessment and collection and will continue to do so. Appraisal by CCTAD will cost the city $4,587.82.

Next discussion was over a letter from Bill Sherman, CCTAD Chief Appraiser, concerning a position by the Cooke County Taxpayers Association to require an election to require the county tax assessor/collector to assess and collect all property taxes for all taxing entities in Cooke County. This possibility alarmed city officials since Muenster traditionally assesses and collects its own taxes and would like to keep it that way. The council will investigate. If this happens, the CCTAD will still ap-

Robberies run rampant

A rampage of robberies struck four Muenster businesses late last Thursday night or early last Friday morning, according to Muenster Chief of Police Helen Tompkins.

Tony's Seed & Feed was broken into, but nothing was taken. The thieves entered through the front door which they had pried open, and they rummaged through the office but apparently did not steal anything.

The front door of Community Lumber Company was also pried open. Thieves helped themselves to the cashbox, deeds and abstracts in the safe, four flashlights and batteries, and the contents of the refrigerator. Numerous guns and ammunition were also taken. John Pagel, owner of Community Lumber, said that they "made a bad mess." The thieves then apparently sat outside where they ate fruit they stole and sorted through their booty. Pagel remarked, "We resent their intrusion on our property and the trouble they are causing us. Particularly we resent the casual way they ate apples from our refrigerator and threw leftovers and our important papers in the mud behind a shed."

Gehrig Hardware was entered when the burglars forced open the north door of the building. The back of the safe was stripped, and an undetermined amount of money and checks were stolen. Also taken were four hand walkie-talkies and batteries to go inside. One of these hand units was left in the alley behind the business and was later found.

Kirk Klement of Endres Motor Company added a 1986 Ford Aerostar van, belonging to J. Lee Stansbury of Lake Kiowa to the list of items stolen that night. The van had been at Endres Motor for transmission work, and it was parked inside the building. Although the robbers broke an east window of the business, they entered through an open south window. Klement stated that the

Stroll and Supper for Saragosa a big success

"Give us your daily bread,
We have no shoes to wear;
No place to call our home,
Only this cross to bear."

"Living In The Promised Land"

Willie Nelson

The melodies of songs such as this one, sung by Roger Endres, were carried across the Community Center parking lot Tuesday evening, reminding everyone of the serious reason behind Stroll and Supper for Saragosa. People of all ages came to the event sponsored by J.A.M. (Jesus Alive in Muenster) to help raise money for the victims stricken by a tornado in Saragosa, Texas some weeks ago. This somber purpose, however, did not hinder the crowd from enjoying the stroll in the beautiful weather, the good food or the live entertainment.

There were 145 walkers participating in the three-mile stroll, and at least 425 hamburger plates prepared by J.A.M. members were sold. Money raised in these two areas, plus donations received that evening, totaled $2,768.82.

Sonny and Norma began the entertainment with an arrangement of German and folk songs played on accordions. They were followed by the vocal group of Wendell Black, Pam Fette, Emily Klement and Dana Dankesreiter on guitars with folk, contemporary and gospel music. They also performed one Spanish spiritual with the guitars, maracas and Dana playing the trumpet.

Roger Endres ended the entertainment for the large crowd that had gathered on the bleachers set up on the parking lot with a collection of country songs.

The sound system was provided by Wendell Black.

Part of the money raised by Stroll and Supper for Saragosa will go to the Cruz Muniz family in Saragosa whose home was damaged by the tornado and whose 17-year-old daughter is bedridden with a muscular disease. The rest of the money from the event will go to the youth of that town, who, according to their priest, Father Berringer, are going through troubled times.

Saragosa and Muenster are many miles apart on the map, but the people of the two towns surely felt closer together Tuesday evening.

Good News!

"Who among you, if he has a hundred sheep and loses one of them, does not leave the ninety-nine in the wasteland and follow the lost one until he finds it? And when he finds it, he puts it on his shoulders in jubilation. Once arrived home, he invites friends and neighbors in and says to them, 'Rejoice with me because I have found my lost sheep.' I tell you, there will likewise be more joy in heaven over one repentant sinner than over ninety-nine people who have no need to repent."

Vandalism is too dangerous for fun

A stupid act of vandalism, probably by youngsters 10 or 12 years old, was inflicted on several shops and store owners in town, and might have caused the deaths of the children, reported Chief of Police Helen Tompkins on Monday morning.

Their ages have been guessed at 10 or 12, because footprints from tennis shoes or sneakers, found at the scene, point toward them as suspects. The late-night prank occurred behind the Old Theatre Mall, sometime late Sunday night or early Monday morning. They also scribbled graffiti on the outer walls.

Their experiment into danger led them to damage a number of meter boxes, cutting off current to Lora's Flowers and Gifts, Jan's Tan-Fastic, Hoedebeck GMC, and Muenster Drilling Co., because a transformer on North Main Street burned out.

Chief Tompkins said the vandals set up a potentially fatal mistake by stripping off the back panel of one meter box, then jamming in or poking in another smaller, ancient piece of equipment "until the whole thing started frying" ... Chief Tompkins added that "It is a miracle that we didn't find dead kids at the spot this morning."

Of the four businesses, Lora's Flower and Gifts sustained the greatest problems. When electricity to the shop was lost, the large glassed-in cabinets for fresh flowers lost their cooling capacity and allowed roses and other flowers to wilt and therefore had to be discarded. Lora Hennigan discovered the situation when she arrived Monday morning to begin the day's work.

Without lights, the other businesses were handicapped until current was restored after approximately 10:30 a.m.

Police Chief Helen Tompkins offered a few choice opinions about parents who allow children to run loose that late at night. She also re-stated the $500 reward provided by CrimeStoppers and the Muenster Chamber of Commerce for information leading to arrest or apprehension of the guilty persons. She said, "The caller need not identify himself or herself. We'll get in touch with anyone who earns the reward."

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

I'm writing to tell you what a great bunch of people you have living to your west.

The 2nd of July, 1987 my house burned 9 miles south of Saint Jo. We'd just come through a big storm and it was very muddy. When the fire department got there, they couldn't even make it up to the house it was so muddy. They hurried around and got it pulled up so the hoses would reach the house. They were super.

Most everything I had was burned or smoke damaged. I was beginning to think Texas was for the birds. Well, rest assured. Those firemen and neighbors, that day, restored my faith in people.

I don't know the firemen's names, but I do remember the help they were. When it was all over, I remember one thing that stands out in my mind.

One of the firemen wanted to know if I wanted to walk through the trailer. It was a mess, but we found my kids pets, one puppy and two cats. Well, they wouldn't even let me carry them outside. I went down to the neighbor's house to get a drink and when I got back, they had them buried and markers to show me where. That may not mean much to some, but it showed me there were still people out there that cared.

I want to close by thanking a few of the people I can and saying millions of thanks to the others - you know who you are.

Scott, Tina, Mr. Sparkman, Jerry, the fire marshal, the Saint Jo marshal and a very special thanks to Merle, Bonnie, Jimmy, Gina and all their families and all the rest. You've been great. May God bless you all forever.

THANK YOU ALL!

Hillcrest area paving continues on rough road

The regular monthly City Council meeting Monday night was preceded by a public hearing concerning street paving assessments. The hearing which started at 7 p.m. was well attended and used more than the allotted 30 minutes to argue the issues. The purpose was to establish and agree on the amount of pre-payment required from property owners in the Endres addition for street paving. The estimated cost given by City Manager Joe Fenton was $17.39 per running foot. All residents must put up that amount times their frontage length prior to the paving project start if accepted by the council.

Most landowners present spoke up said that they thought the charge was unfair and too high. They felt that some, if not all, of the rock used as road fill and base should be paid for by the city because, in places, some of it had been washed away by the cent heavy rains and/or because they felt that the graveling and maintenance of streets should be a city responsibility and if that had been done, not nearly so much base work would be required now. Close to half of the $17.39 assessment is due to the large amount of base work needed on some of the streets.

Neighborhood resident Donna Biffle said, "The road should be the city's responsibility. Didn't they just leave the road ungraveled because they knew we would have to pay the cost to get it paved?"

Fenton assured everyone that city employees and the road grader contractor have been doing everything they could to keep gravel streets in shape considering the frequent rains and many other jobs the city must do. In addition, the assessment is only a best estimate. By ordinance, the city cannot charge more than that after the job is done and if savings are realized, the property owner gets a refund of the difference.

There was even greater debate concerning the method which should be used to pave the streets once the base is acceptably established. Resident Jim Vogel felt something must surely be wrong with the estimate saying, "You could build a concrete street cheaper than that." The discussion continued on the pros and cons of hot mix paving, like that of Mesquite Street, versus two layers of oil and chip paving like that on Ash Street.

Urban Endres stated, "I think you could have a better job at a better price with sprayed-on oil and chat. My part of Maple Street is like that and it's in great shape. I think you owe the people that consideration to the people."

Joe Fenton explained that he had compared the two methods and in the constricted city street environment, the cost of oil and chip was only 15 percent less expensive. "For that price you receive only one-third as much surface thickness. It's just not as good a surface and doesn't last as long," he said.

Endres disagreed saying that the base was the important part and if the base was good, oil and chip would last as good or better. Fenton said engineering reports didn't support that.

Other residents indicated that they were the ones who had to drive on it and they seemed to prefer the hot mix asphalt. That surface is nice, smooth and thick immediately. Since much of the current gravel street surface is new and quite mushy when wet, the residents were very concerned that a good base was established and just as concerned that it was built quickly so as to pave this summer.

The council accepted the paving assessment while promising to get the best price and job. Also, at Urban Endres' urging, the city will obtain and compare competitive bids for both hot mix asphalt and oil and chip paving.

The assessment of $18.44 per foot for the small section of Fourth Street near Dr. Graham's dental office was accepted with no controversy.

praise, at least until the legislature dissolves the appraisal district system. Now each entity has the option of collecting its own taxes. If passed, the proposed election would deny that option.

In other action the council:

- Discussed the drainage problem in block 70 and will clean out the waterway.
- Approved city park use for the Chamber of Commerce Autofest. At least 20 percent of the proceeds will go to the new fire truck fund.
- Discussed the GEO Technical Study of the proposed new landfill site. The study confirmed that the proposed operation will work as the state requires. The study will be submitted to the state health department.
- There will be a special meeting Friday night, July 10, at 7:30 p.m. to open bids for the new fire truck.
- Approved payment of monthly bills totalling $12,100.85.
- Adjourned public meeting to meet in closed session to discuss pending litigation.

ROBBERIES

van was driven out the east garage door, and that the thieves left the motor on that garage door running all night. "It could have started a fire," Chief Tompkins noted.

The Aerostar van was found on Friday at about 2 p.m. near Austin College in Sherman. The only damage to the vehicle was two flat tires.

Also found on Friday was a stolen Jeep belonging to Larry Miller of Denison. It had been abandoned near Willie Walterscheid's Oil Company, but it was not damaged in any way. Chief Tompkins surmises that this jeep provided the thieves' transportation to Muenster where they escaped in the Aerostar van.

In addition, a mink jacket being kept at The Charm Shop was stolen during business hours last week. The fur had been brought in on Monday by the owner so that The Charm Shop could transfer it to Dallas for monogramming. The jacket had been hanging near the back door of the store with the other fur coats. Queenie Walterscheid, owner of The

Charm Shop, noticed the disappearance of the jacket about noon on Friday when she went to check on it after hearing about the other burglaries on the previous night. The mink jacket is the only thing that had been discovered as missing.

Chief Tompkins believes that "there's a good possibility the robberies are tied together."

undesirable trees were not touched.

W.J. Luke lost a number of great oaks. One fell across a creek, touching both sides like a bridge. It was 80 feet long and three feet in diameter. Nearby was another, four feet in diameter. At the same time, a small plastic child's toy was not moved but an apricot tree was sheared off at the ground.

Sacred Heart Cemetery lost two huge cedars at the Veterans Monument, where a chain link fence was bent by one of the falling evergreens.

Interviews with people were selected at random to give readers an idea of the wide path of the storm. It would have been impossible to interview all or even half.

"Neighbors are wonderful," said Mrs. Ray Hess. "I was not at home when the storm struck but was in Lindsay helping my father. Neighbors came to help before I arrived home. They didn't wait to be called - just went to work clearing debris, uprooted trees, roofing, etc."

She lost a big hay barn. It was totaled, scattered and splintered, and boards with protruding nails lay everywhere. A granary was damaged. A big non-fruiting mulberry shade tree was uprooted and fell against the house and roof, damaging shingles and gutters. Every tree in her yard was damaged.

The windmill fan was bent and must be taken down, she said. Sheet iron and tin from barn roofs blew cross-country as far as the Ray Voth farm on the south and the Charley Hellman farm on the east. Mrs. Hess said that even fences were damaged by flying debris.

At the homes of the Ray Voths and the Theo Voths, damage was extensive. Millie Voth said, "The storm drove us to the cellar. We could hear the noise of sheet iron banging and bumping our home, but it was so dark, so black we could see very little. It is all one great big mess here, she said Thursday afternoon.

They had four barns damaged - two were total losses, a machine shed and a hay barn. Both lost TV antennae, major trees, a garage door. T. Voth's car was damaged by flying tin. A heavy link chain on a farm gate was separated in the links. A 500-gallon fertilizer tank was destroyed and blown one-half mile to the Tony Trubenbach farm. There was roof and trim damage to the homes.

At the Ben Fleitman, Sr. home a cattle barn was so badly damaged it must be completely rebuilt. Two great old trees were uprooted, telephone line poles were broken off. "We thought the house was going," said Mrs. Fleitman. "And there was that terrible roaring sound!" ... "A swing set was blown against the house. We could see pieces of equipment sailing through the air. We were so grateful the three grandkids were at Vacation Bible School. It was so dark that flashlights were needed. We were without current until the evening."

Force of the wind blew in a kitchen window at the Roy Hartman home, soaking the floor and various items nearby.

Francis and Cathy Fuhrmann became aware of weird weather developing when their cattle began behaving in "weird ways" she said. "Our cows came running in from pasture, crowding into the loafer shed, and stragglers kept coming. When the storm hit, the cows went crazy and our little donkey was wild. We are convinced the animals sensed trouble." The Fuhrmanns also commented on the strange color of the clouds, until they became black dark.

They lost one barn, one cattle loafer shed, one large grain shed, three antennae on their home. The barn was lifted intact, moved, dropped and splintered. The cattle shed was destroyed; the grain shed was rolled into a field and turned upside down. A braced gasoline tank was moved; trees were uprooted and split; a utility pole was pushed out; 2 x 6's from the barns were buried in the ground and then splintered; and windows were broken; drums and buckets danced around the yards. Turbulence of the wind tore a door from Cathy's grasp.

She added, "Electric wires were blown down into the yard. We needed a major repair job on our wiring system."

The Regi Bayers "lost part of a barn roof, actually the center of the south roof. Hay got wet and now we have to worry about mold," said Patsy Bayer. "Big old trees were lost and an outdoor swing set was bounced against the house. All this followed severe hail damage to our home such a short time ago."

Mrs. Joe Felderhoff told about "trees taller than our house being uprooted and lost; orchard trees damaged; fences knocked down." She said her husband was in a machine shed during the height of the storm and saw the walls sway. "I took refuge under a tractor, as the safest place available," he told her. There were many trees damaged at the home of Mrs. Tony Felderhoff.

At Mrs. Ethel Hesse's home, trees were broken off at the ground, but stacks of styrofoam insulating panels being used on her remodeling project, were not touched. At Joe Koesler's home great, huge shade trees fell between buildings.

At the Alfons Koesler farm, a barn was demolished, tin was scattered as far as a neighbor at a distance. "A calf had its foot cut off by flying tin in our pasture," said Mary Ann Koesler. "Hot wires were hanging down. We were completely out of current. Tin was everywhere." Mrs. Koesler reiterated the statement made by so many ... "everything was a big mess."

The wind snatched a trampoline from the backyard of the Doug Yosten home and dumped it near David Hacker's home. Enroute, the trampoline bent and damaged a chain link fence.

At Sacred Heart Church, tiles were torn off a section on the south side roof. Many trees suffered broken limbs.

Trees were uprooted and blown down on the south side of Bobby and Angie Lutkenhaus' home. A lawn swing set was blown over, but several large pieces of tinted automobile glass were not touched.

A huge tree was blown over on the front lawn of the Joe and Emma Mosler home, striking and breaking a brick planter. They said lots of people endured damage to electrical appliances, resulting from severe lightning. Many trees were knocked down at the home of Mrs. Marie Mosman.

At Rosa Driever's, landscape damage was extensive. Three trees planted by her father, the late W. Lee Stock in 1921 were uprooted and splintered, but fell to the south and did not catch the house roof. Two sections of sidewalk were pulled up by the falling trees. Limbs were broken out of 15 trees, but next door at the Nick Miller home, there was little damage. Rosa's telephone line was down.

Muenster Telephone Co. reported repairing approximately 60 telephone and TV drops, damaged by falling limbs.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Cler, mature trees were lost and one was sheared off at ground level. Shingles on the house roof were torn off down to the tar paper. A tin roof was torn off on both sides of a barn; a chicken shed was unroofed. At Ray Cler's home, tin was torn from a garage roof.

A garage was completely destroyed and fell on a cattle trailer at the home of Tim and Janie Hartman. A shed roof was damaged and several trees uprooted.

Lightning struck a section of the gym roof at Muenster Public School, probably before dawn, and burned a hole. At 6:30 a.m. when Coach Heers came into the gym he noticed the smell of smoke and saw a black hole approximately 2 x 3 feet where the west roof meets the wall above the bleachers.

Two by fours were shattered at the spot. Either there was no flame or the rain extinguished it. He related that the gym shook so hard that four heaters, suspended from the ceiling, dropped a pile of soot under each. Coach Heers also told that an air conditioning unit was knocked out in another part of the building.

Ben Franklin Store credits a phone call from Melvin Luke in Nocona to the local store about 9:30 a.m. with saving two truck loads of merchandise. Aware of the arrival of big truck shipments, he told that a severe storm and warnings of worse were occurring there and headed in this direction. Truckloads were being deposited at east and west doors and would surely have been ruined, because the storm developed so fast. The entire staff scrambled to pull and push everything into the dry. Tony Luke applied heavy duct tape to cover weather stripping on the metal door on the west wall and succeeded in preventing water damage in the storage and stock rooms.

Indicating the wide area afflicted by the storm, a report was received from the daughter of Mrs. Vena Settle of Forestburg. Residents of Forestburg feel her property endured the greatest damage in that area. Her home is three miles southeast of Free-mound and near Clear Creek. Hail, lightning and wind struck with great force. The daughter said the worst of the storm lasted about 7 to 9 minutes, knocking down trees, scattering outdoor furniture from a patio, and generally creating havoc. Later in the day, they picked up big limbs to fill three trailers and two pickup loads, all from a two-acre plot. "We saw big limbs flying through the air. It was then I asked my mother to seek safety in a central area bathroom. It was so black dark that night lights and yard guard lights came on," she continued.

Visibility in Muenster was just about zero during the heaviest rain. Here at The Muenster Enterprise, the staff was unable to see Ben Franklin's Store or its lights, although it is very near.

Clean-up began as soon as possible after the storm subsided. Chain saws buzzed most of Friday and Saturday, making the best of a bad situation, as homeowners very selectively laid aside wood suitable for next winter's use in fireplaces and wood stoves.

Three employees honored June 30

A retirement reception was held on June 30, for three longtime employees of Texas Power and Light Company.

Honored on this auspicious occasion were Mr. James Friddle, better known by his friends as Dude, for 35 years of loyal and dedicated service; Mr. James Carter, better known by his friends as Chuck, for 41 years of faithful and dedicated service; and Mr. Kenneth Selby, local representative in Muenster, for 35 years of devoted and faithful service.

A retirement album, showing that their names were placed on the honor roll of the company, was presented to each.

The local employees showed their appreciation and honor by giving them individual gifts. Dude was given a straw hat as he plans to retire to his farm in Sulphur Springs and raise a few purple hull peas and watermelons and do a lot of fishing! Chuck was given a box of striped fishing lures to entice him to slow down and take life easy by spending time doing the thing he enjoys most, and put off far too long. Kenneth was given a straw hat as he enjoys being outside on his farm in Muenster, where he makes his home.

Over 100 friends, relatives and fellow employees were present to congratulate the men.

Watson speaks on tornadoes

Tom Watson, Civil Defense and Emergency Management Coordinator of Cooke County, conducted a forum on "Tornadoes" here in Muenster on Thursday, July 2, at 7:30 p.m. in the City Hall meeting room.

Members of the Muenster Police Department and the Muenster Volunteer Fire Department were in attendance.

Watson showed a film on "Tornadoes" and led a discussion on setting up an alarm or warning system for Muenster.

Police Chief Helen Tompkins reported that Channel 2 TV has offered to cooperate if the City Council is in agreement to the plan. Chief Tompkins said that one suggestion given was using one continuous sounding of the fire alarm to signal "Turn to Channel 2," where instructions or information would be given clearly.

Chief Tompkins indicated disappointment over the public's poor attendance at the meeting. "Hopefully," she said, "we will have a second meeting with better response."

Vandalism is federal offense

"It's a federal offense to tamper with a mailbox," warned Virgil Henscheid, Postmaster of the U.S. Post Office in Muenster. Postmaster Henscheid made the statement following an incident of damage to a mailbox in the Muenster area.

Several cases of vandalism have occurred on rural routes in the past, according to Henscheid.

Mailboxes have been knocked over, and mail has been scattered, crumpled and even stolen.

Henscheid encourages all victims of damage to a mailbox or its contents to report the occurrences to him so that he can alert postal inspectors and the sheriff's office. He also recounted one particular case in which a mail thief was caught in this area and jailed.

Minibus seeks action

Mrs. Pat Walterscheid, driver of Muenster's mini-bus, wants to remind everyone of the service it offers.

People of any age may use the driving service by calling City Hall (759-2236) at least 24 hours before they need a ride. Mrs. Walterscheid will then come pick up riders at their door and drop them at the door of their destination. The service may be used for trips to SNAP, shopping, social, medical, grocery, business, employment, education, or for other purposes. However, the mini-bus must stay within Cooke, Grayson, and Fannin Counties and only operates from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Mrs. Walterscheid would like to stress the fact that although a 50 cent donation is welcome, it is not mandatory.

She wants to encourage everyone to enjoy this unique convenience and not be hesitant to call. The bus has not been used much since its acquisition about three weeks ago. "It's a shame that it's just sitting there and no one is using it," she commented.

Bill Otto dies in Gainesville

Mass of Christian Burial was held for William "Bill" Otto, 85, at St. Mary's Catholic Church on Monday, July 6, at 10 a.m. with Father Benno Schluterman officiating.

He was a former Muenster resident, the son of the late John and Mary Otto, and was born on June 23, 1902. He married Anna Reiter on July 23, 1923 in Muenster.

A retired farmer and dairyman, he was a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Gainesville.

Tennessee trip enjoyed by all Fun and excitement filled the nine busy days that a group of 40 people from the surrounding area spent touring Memphis and Nashville recently. The trip was sponsored by Fun Line Travel of Bowie, with Karen Lambert as escort.

The journey began on Sunday, June 7. A short religious service was held on board the Trailways bus, and the drive to Memphis was enlivened by songs played on the harmonica by John Wimmer of Muenster. The passengers also enjoyed a 42 tournament. Touring Graceland, the Lisa Marie (Elvis' jet), his tour bus and shopping for souvenirs were among the activities in Memphis on Monday.

Five days were then spent in Nashville. Highlighting the many shows, exhibits, and events for the travelers were the Blue Grass show, the Ryman Auditorium where the Grand Ole Opry originated, the International Country Music Fan Fair, the Country Music Hall of Fame, and Opryland. The Nashville tourists also went to Studio B where records are cut, drove by some of the stars' homes, ate a barbecue dinner with the "Odessa Chuck Wagon Gang," and some of the travelers went on a luncheon cruise on the General Jackson show boat.

Sunday, June 14, was spent back in Memphis, and the return trip began the next day. Several games were played on board the bus. Ella Haverkamp of Muenster won the second 42 contest, and Gertie Wimmer of Muenster was the winner in the Name Everyone contest.

Muenster residents making the trip were Frank and Lou Zimmerer, Gertrude Sims, Augusta Walterscheid, John and Olivia Wimmer, Ella Haverkamp, Margaret Reiter, Aileen Knabe, and Arnie and Gertie Wimmer.

NEW FROM TSO

INTRODUCING LIFESTYLE EYEWEAR, FOR ALL THE THINGS YOU DO.

SAVE $25 ON ONE PAIR OF GLASSES. OR $55 ON TWO.

Most people still try to make one pair of glasses work for every occasion. But optical research has demonstrated that different glasses work better for different activities.

Now TSO's State Optical is introducing a whole new way to get better performance from your eyes. It's called... Lifestyle Eyewear. And it can help you work more productively. Plus, with more pleasure. Work or play, more safely. Do almost anything you do, better.

A. Are you out in the sun a lot? The complications of ultraviolet (UV) rays are now well known. They're believed to be a major contributor to cataracts in this country.

If you're out in the sun a lot, especially in a sunny climate, a special UV coating on the lenses of all your glasses should be your very first line of defense.

When you're exposed to direct sunlight, or sunlight reflected off the water or harsh glare, increase your protection with prescription sunglasses.

B. Do you work at a computer terminal? Staring at a CRT screen for long periods of time can be eye-tiring. And prolonged viewing can cause uncomfortable squinting.

TSO operator glasses can ease eye fatigue and visual strain, and are specifically designed for the proper working distance to give you sharp, comfortable vision.

C. Do you have trouble driving at night? Many people, especially as they age, find that their night vision deteriorates. This can be especially dangerous while driving with a glaring "halo" effect from oncoming headlights among the most common complaints.

Night driving glasses with special anti-glare lenses can dramatically improve your vision, making night driving safer, more comfortable and more enjoyable.

More Lifestyle Eyewear Choices From TSO:

Home Workdays: Available high impact, impact resistant lenses and safety frames against eye injury.

Juggling Children: Available prescription contact with lenses that filter harmful UV light over your eyes and protect your eyes.

Strenuous: Available tinted UV rays and impact resistant safety prescription lenses and safety frames against eye injury.

Teacher: Corrects your visual needs, but let your students see one more reason to get better performance from your eyes. It's called... Lifestyle Eyewear. And it can help you work more productively. Plus, with more pleasure. Work or Photo Optics Player: Look and be comfortable while performing with lenses made to help you focus at the exact distance you need to see your photo.

Construction Worker: Available safety lenses and safety frames against eye injury, impact resistant lenses and safety frames against eye injury.

Painter Carpenter: Available high impact, impact resistant lenses and safety frames against eye injury.

Children: An impact resistant lens that also filters harmful ultraviolet rays combined with a safety frame to protect the precious eye vision from children's mischief.

Desk Office: Available glasses of special tinted, making superior color correction for your eyes and reducing head movement to give you a more functional pair of eyeglasses while working.

SAVE $25 ON ONE PAIR OF GLASSES. OR $55 ON TWO.

This coupon is good for $25 off one complete pair of glasses or for $55 off the purchase of two complete pairs. Minimum $50 purchase per pair of glasses. Doctor's prescription required.

No other discounts apply. Offer good through August 30, 1987. This coupon must be presented at time of purchase. One coupon redeemable per person only at participating TSO offices.

Five glorious days enjoyed at Bible School

The Sacred Heart Parish Vacation Bible School of 1987 closed on July 3 after five days of fun-filled, action-packed activities. The program, which was attended by an average of 203 students ranging from 4-year-olds to sixth graders, carried the theme of "Glory Days."

With the 17 teachers, 45 aides and craft helpers, each day began at 9 a.m. with a worship service led by Christi Klement as song leader and Ruth Felderhoff as organist. These morning services started with a procession of Flags and the Bible. Mrs. Klement then led the group in the Pledge of Allegiance to the American Flag, the Papal Flag and the Bible. This was followed by group singing and poems about Jesus.

Upon leaving, all made contributions to this year's mission project which was given to the families of Michael Walter and Amy Pagel to help defray their continuing medical expenses.

The children then returned to their classrooms for Bible Study, learning situations, crafts and work sheets about Christian living.

Snacks and refreshments were served in mid-morning by Karen Moster and a number of hostesses.

Fr. Victor visited the classrooms Wednesday and presented each student with a holy card. Fr. Denis also visited the children during their break.

Friday's closing program and liturgy was planned by Christie Klement, Ruth Felderhoff and Linda Knabe. Theme for the Eucharistic celebration was "Clap Your Hands for Jesus." The theme was carried out with children's handprints decorating the altar rails and altar banners.

In the entrance procession was director, Terri Luke, carrying a Bible; Justin Hartman and Brian Knabe carrying the U.S. and Papal Flags; followed by all the classes and celebrant Fr. Victor with servers: John Klement, Bradley Fisher, Tommy J. Dankesreiter, Maurus and Michael Hacker. They entered to the theme song, "Glory Days."

Misty Klement and Julia Fleitman gave the Scriptural Readings; Greg Flusche, Glen Dangelmayr, David Hesse, Corey Anderle, Dea Cler, Amanda Wimmer, Michael Flusche and Royce Knabe presented the Prayers to the Faithful; ushers were Jim Endres and Vince Felderhoff.

In the Offertory procession, Courtney Grewing carried a Children's Bible; Elliot Klement carried a craft made during the week; Craig Hartman presented a mission project collection box; Dana Miller carried the offertory collections; Sarah Hess and Allison Endres carried the water and wine cruets; Christopher Grewing and Jesse Luke carried the ciborium and the host.

The Responsorial Psalm was "Clap Your Hands;" Gospel Acclamation was "Let the Children Come" by the fifth and sixth graders. Offertory songs were a medley of "Jesus Loves Me" and "Oh, How I Love Jesus" by the 4 and 5 year olds.

The meditation song was "My Hands Belong to You" by the third and fourth graders with hand motions. Closing song was "The Wa Wa Song" by all the students.

Irene Hartman and Pam Fette served as Eucharistic ministers.

Following the meditation song, Terri Luke and Linda Knabe presented "Thank You" certificate plaques to Catholic Life Ins. Union, Knights of Columbus, Catholic Daughters of America and the Bluebonnets for their donations to Bible School.

Also receiving certificates and corsages were Peggy Grewing, teacher and aide coordinator; Linda Knabe, mission director; Karen Moster, refreshment director; Debbie Hess, nursery director; Christi Klement, song leader; Ruth Felderhoff, organist.

Others receiving "Thank You" certificates were Fr. Victor for the liturgy; Diane Grewing, typist; Barbara Fuhrmann, office help; Pat Knabe, for donating pencils to all students; Dorothy Bengfort and Monica Hess, crafts; Loretta Felderhoff, for participation and Thank You certificates.

Linda Knabe then presented Terri Luke with an appreciation gift from the teachers and a certificate from the parish.

Fr. Victor then presented the mission boxes to special guests Michael Walter and Amy and Janet Pagel.

Upon leaving, each student was presented with a participation certificate and all teachers and aides received a "Thank You" certificate from the director.

Flusches host two family parties

The home of Don and Betty Flusche was the scene of two family gatherings on Sunday, June 28, one in the afternoon, the other in the evening.

Both parties were held during the vacation visit of Cathy and Kevin Pollard and infant Courtney of Evanston, Wyoming from June 26 to July 5.

The Sunday afternoon event was a baby shower honoring Jeffrey Holmesly, born on June 10, 1987, the son of Claudia and Doug Holmesly of Fort Worth.

Hostesses were Carmen Thacker of Henrietta, Cathy Pollard, and Betty Flusche. Aunts, cousins and other family members were guests. Refreshments included cake and punch.

In the evening a barbecue supper was hosted by Don and Betty Flusche for all members of the J.P. Flusche family.

Guests were J.P., Hazel and Bill Flusche; Clara and Julius Hermes; Dave and Wanda Flusche and family; Laurie and David Flusche, Jr. and Katie; Dick and Missy Dangelmayr and DeAnn; Mark and Terrye Felderhoff and Eric; Marge and Earl Clement; Tom and Judy Flusche and Jamie and Jeff; Jack and Linda Flusche and Greg and John; Jo Ann Carney; Kelly Grewing; Connie Miller; Claudia and Doug Holmesly and Jeffrey; Carmen and Jeff Thacker; Cathy and Kevin Pollard and Courtney; Donna and Craig Walterscheid and Ashley; Karl Trubenbach, Steve Trubenbach and Dickie Trubenbach.

The Don Flusches took the Pollards back to DFW on July 5 for their return flight to Evanston, Wyoming.

Examine yourself for skin cancer!

Prolonged overexposure to the sun's rays may lead to skin cancer, and like all other cancers it's important to detect it early. This can be done with a simple self-examination.

"Self-examination for skin cancer is painless, cheap, and gets less time consuming the more often it is done," Dr. Mary Ann Heussner, a health education specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service says. "It's an easy way to catch the disease in its early stages, when it is easier to cure."

According to the American Cancer Society, over 400,000 cases of skin cancer are reported each year. An estimated 7,400 of these cases prove to be fatal. They also reported a 3.4 percent increase per year in the incidence of melanoma, which is the most serious of the skin cancers.

"There are a few different warning signs to look for," the specialist says. "Look for changes in the size or color of moles, and the appearance of any new skin growths or patches of dark pigmentation."

"Though skin cancer is more likely to occur in areas that are most often exposed to the sun, all of the body must be examined," she advises.

Self-examination requires only a full length mirror, a hand-held hair dryer, and a hand-held mirror, in a well-lit room.

Check exposed areas of skin like the hands, legs, forearms and face. Next examine the back and buttocks with mirrors. Examine the scalp with the help of a blow dryer to blow hair out of the way. Don't forget to examine the groin area and the tops and bottoms of the feet.

"If you find anything unusual as a result of your self-examination, check with your physician," emphasizes the specialist.

According to Heussner, skin cancer can be treated in a variety of ways, depending upon the type of cancer. Treatments range from surgery to radiotherapy to tissue destruction by freezing or heating.

She adds, "The survival rate for skin cancer is very high and chances increase with early detection and treatment."

Baptisms

Pagel

Jason Charles Pagel was baptized in St. Francis Church of Grapevine on Sunday, June 28. He is the infant son of Carl and Rhonda Pagel of Southlake, and the grandson of Norbert and Peggy Bednorz and Mrs. Harriet Scoggins, all of Muenster.

Jason wore a family keepsake, his Grandfather Norbert's baptismal gown, and was baptized on his grandpa's birthday.

Godparents for the infant were Lee Roy and Colleen Hess of Southlake. Also attending were Jason's brother, Kyle, and the parents; grandparents Norbert and Peggy Bednorz and Harry and Harriet Scoggins; the godparents and their children Cody, Brooke and Holly Hess. All were guests in the Pagel home for a noon dinner, following the church service.

Zimmerer

The infant son of Gary and Diann Zimmerman of Watauga, Texas, Stephen Michael Zimmerman, was baptized by Father Victor Gillespie at the 11 a.m. Mass at Sacred Heart Church on June 21. Stephen is the grandson of J.D. and Miriam Caplinger and Albert Sr. and Imogene Zimmerman, all of Muenster.

An uncle and an aunt, Paul and Susan Caplinger of Denton, were Stephen's godparents. The child's baptismal gown was made by his paternal grandmother.

An aunt, Mary Kay Endres, and an uncle, Albert Zimmerman, Jr., gave readings at the Mass, and grandparents, Imogene and Albert Zimmerman, Sr., carried offertory gifts.

A dinner attended by 40 guests was held after the christening in the home of the J.D. Caplingers. Imogene Zimmerman made the baptismal cake. Special guests at this dinner were great-grandparents Bill and Elvira Flusche of Lindsay.

—Personal—

Christine Fleitman, Betty Gilpin and Tammy Fleitman of Muenster and Shirley Hellingering of Gainesville spent a brief vacation in Baton Rouge, La. where they were guests of Rosa Juarez. They left Sunday of last week and returned Wednesday.

News of the Sick

Couple united in sacred ceremony

Patricia Reiter became the bride of Greg Gieb in a sacred ceremony with double ring rites, and a Nuptial Mass officiated by Father Victor Gillespie in Sacred Heart Church on Saturday, June 27, at 5 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of David and Frances Reiter and the groom is the son of Gene and Gladys Gieb, all of Muenster.

Patricia approached the altar during the playing of the song, "This Special Day," which she composed and recorded for the groom.

She was escorted by her brothers, Kenny and Mike Reiter, wearing an elegant white satin gown of her own design, and made by her mother. It featured an illusion overlay, sweetheart neckline, long sleeves puffed at the shoulder and tapering to petal points over her hands. The fitted bodice was attached to the full gathered skirt at the waistline. Bodice and sleeves were further enhanced with seed pearls and sequined roses. Ruffles cascaded down the back and were clustered in the elegant train, and encircled the front of the skirt.

Her bridal veil was attached to a headband of seed pearls, sequins and baby's breath, and swept to full length over the train.

To complete her attire she carried a bridal bouquet of white roses and gladioli that she designed and made.

Eucharistic ministers in the wedding liturgy were the groom's sister and brother-in-law, Gloria and Tom Fuhrmann of Sulphur Springs.

Scripture readings were given by nieces of the groom, Stacie Cler and Brandi Fuhrmann.

Wedding music as guests were being seated, and during Mass, included selections by Ruth Felderhoff, organist, and Christi Felderhoff and Wendell Black, vocalists, who sang "Time In A Bottle," "Wind Beneath My Wings," "We've Only Just Begun," "Wherever You Go," "Wedding Song," "Hail Mary" and the organ recessional, Purcell's "Trumpet Tune in D."

The altars were decorated with lighted candles and bouquets of white gladioli. Family pews in the center aisle were marked with white bows.

RECEPTION

A reception, dinner and dance followed in the Sacred Heart Community Center, where decorations were in the bride's chosen colors.

Jennifer Fuhrmann and Kim Cler presided at the bride's book. The wedding cake was baked and decorated by Della Voth of Lindsay. It was cut by Dianne Youngblood and Donna Wolf and served by Shannon Reiter, Stacie Sicking, Kathy Moster, Stacie Cler and Brandi Fuhrmann.

The bride is a graduate of Muenster Public High School. She attended Cooke County College and is employed by Mike's Dollar Saver in Gainesville. The groom is a graduate of Sacred Heart High School. He is employed as route salesman for Gilbert Endres Distributing Inc.

The couple's wedding trip was spent in Puerto Vallarta, Mexico. Since their return, they are residing in Gainesville until their new home is completed in Muenster.

Among out-of-town guests at the wedding were Tom and Gloria Fuhrmann, Jennifer and Brandi of Sulphur Springs; the J.A. Giebs and Gerald from Victoria; the Ben Tubbs and Michele Egleston, Jeff and Houston, all of Oklahoma City; Karen Gehl, Laurie Walterscheid, Angelo Nasche, Monica Gieb, the Byron Blacks, the Joe Bartushes and Curtis Black, all of Dallas; Jerry Pels of Pilot Point; Wilfred Luttmr, the Mike Bayers and Doug Rogers of Denton; the Phil Rigbsys of Bowie.

Also the Joe Wilkersons, the George Grounds, the David Spaeths; and Sharon Bridges, Judy Turbeville, Keith Aston, all of Gainesville; and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Gieb, the Louis Giebs, Paul Neu, Bob Brewer, Harold Nortmans, Roy Hermes, the Jeff Neu, Alma Moster, Hilda Moster, Mike Hermes and Mary Baxter of Lindsay.

MRS. GREG GIEB
... nee Patricia Reiter ...

PAM HARTMAN, daughter of Gene and Judy Hartman of Denton, will be married to Dana Bloedel, son of Augie and Jean Bloedel of New Ulm, Minnesota. Pam is a senior at N.T.S.U. in Denton and teaches part-time in the Aubrey School District. Dana will be in his sixth year at Aubrey High School as teacher and coach. This will be his second year to serve as the head football coach for the Chapparels. Pam is the granddaughter of Eula Grace Cain and the late Richard Cain and Margaret Hartman and the late Victor Hartman. Their wedding will on July 18, 1987.

Dancers compete

Students of Gina's School of Dance were among the 407 entries participating in the National 4th of July Talent Search last weekend in Pampa, Texas. "The 5 Dominoes" and "The Sugarbabes" are two groups which represented the Muenster studio at the contest.

"The 5 Dominoes" competed against 57 other groups in the Senior Division and placed 2nd runner-up. VCR tapes of the top five groups are being sent to Star Search. "The 5 Dominoes" were also asked to be special guests and to perform at the Miss Teen U.S.A. Pageant in Oklahoma City in September.

Members of "The 5 Dominoes" are Gina Walterscheid, wife of Danny Walterscheid; J.J. (Johnna Jean) Dowd, daughter of Norma Jean Clifton and Johnny Dowd; Leslie Hess, daughter of Frankie and Ruthie Hess; Jayna Hofbauer, daughter of Dale and Dolores Hofbauer; and Robin Greathouse, daughter of Bob and Jean Greathouse.

"The Sugarbabes" also attended the competition and were awarded certificates of appreciation. Members of this group are Melissa Biffle, daughter of Herkey and Mil Biffle; and DaLana Endres, daughter of Jim and Shirley Endres.

Accompanying the girls were mothers Norma Jean Clifton and Dolores Hofbauer.

ATTENDANTS

The maid of honor was Jackie Farrell of Forestburg, a friend of the bride. Bridesmaids were Shonna Reiter, sister of the bride, Tammy Grewing, Jana Hamilton, Anita Meurer, and Barbie Walterscheid, all friends of the bride.

Flower girl and ring bearer were a sister and brother of the bride, Jill Reiter and Brandon Reiter.

Maid of honor, bridesmaids and flower girl wore full-length dresses designed with rounded necklines, short puffed sleeves and gathered skirts, made of satin with a lace overlay; with bows on the sleeves and at the back waistline, in the bride's chosen colors, respectively, dark purple, dark blue, dark green, orange, yellow and hot pink.

Each carried a lace fan with roses dyed to match. Dresses and fans were made by the bride's mother.

Chris Stoffels, a friend of the groom, was the best man.

Groomsman were Gary Gieb, brother of the groom, and Fred Koesler, Glenn Walterscheid, Roger Endres, and Neil Rohmer, all friends of the groom.

Ushers were Kenny Reiter and Mike Reiter, brothers of the bride, Glenn Cler, brother-in-law of the groom, and Kenny Hartman, friend of the groom.

Linen is a cool summer fabric

If you're looking for a cool fabric to wear this summer, try linen. Its fast absorbency makes it a cool and comfortable choice for summer clothing.

"Linen is a durable and attractive fabric," says Dr. Ann Beard, a clothing specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service. "It absorbs moisture, and dries fast, which makes it popular for women's suits, blouses and jackets.

"Its appearance is deceiving," she says. "It's really a tough, long lasting fabric. Linen is a bit more expensive than some other fabrics, like cotton, but its durability makes it a good investment."

Linen also wrinkles very easily, the specialist remarks. To some extent, the wrinkling could be considered fashionable, but some people may not care for it. There are linens with durable press finishes and linen blends available that don't wrinkle as easily. Blends are less expensive, yet are still cool and comfortable.

According to Beard, "You need to be very careful in caring for your linens. If the fabric is not preshrunk, the garment may shrink considerably after washing. There also may be some type of finish on the garment which is not meant for home laundering. Because of this, it's important to follow the manufacturer's care labels and washing instructions carefully."

"If the garment can be laundered at home, which most blouses can, wash them as you normally would, and take them out of the dryer while still damp. Linen garments are easier to iron while damp, and should be ironed at a hot setting," Beard adds.

The sheen of linens depends upon the ironing. If the garment is ironed on the wrong side, it will have a low sheen. If ironed on the right side, it will have a very high sheen, which many people find attractive, she remarks.

"It's a very brittle fabric, so linen garments are designed without any hard creases. This may be why it's not widely used in men's fashions, especially in trousers. Hard creases will break the fabric and it will crack open," says Beard.

The specialist cautions consumers to read the garment label first and be aware of the fiber content before a purchase is made. There are linen look-alikes on the market, such as ramie. This fabric is less expensive, and wears comparably, but it's a little more brittle and a little less durable.

Beard adds, "Linen is absorbent, comfortable and lightweight, and would make a great addition to any summer wardrobe."

Prepare for home food preservation

Many fruits and vegetables are beginning to ripen, and home canners should be getting prepared for the harvest. Preplanning before home food preservation can make the process easier and safer.

"It's a good idea to check out any questions you have before beginning any home food processing," says Marilyn Haggard, a nutritionist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service. "County Extension agents can tell you if your preservation methods are safe, and will provide you with the latest research based processing times and procedures.

"Using the correct procedures in home food preservation is important," the specialist maintains. "Incorrect methods can allow bacteria growth in the food, which may cause food poisoning or lead to spoilage."

If you have any doubt about the safety of your home processed food, don't hesitate to call a county Extension agent, she says.

"Food can sometimes be saved if you act quickly. Tell the agent what you think went wrong. Review the exact steps you followed when processing the food, being careful not to leave anything out. The smallest thing might make the difference," says Haggard.

"Have your dial gauge canners tested annually, and get any questions answered before you begin food processing," she suggests. "Preparation can save you a lot of time, money and needless frustration."

Molly goes to Holland

One hundred and twenty track and field athletes from around the United States will be competing in the Jr. Olympic Jamboree sponsored by the International Sports Exchange to be held in Amsterdam, Holland this month. Five of these athletes are from Texas, and one of them, Molly Koelzer, is from Muenster.

A Sacred Heart Senior, Molly is the daughter of Beatrice and Earl Koelzer, Jr.

Molly and the other U.S. tracksters will put their skills up against the abilities of athletes from around the world. A basketball team from our country will accompany the runners and also compete in Amsterdam.

July 14 is the date that Molly is scheduled to begin her adventure. She will leave DFW Airport and meet the rest of the team at JFK Airport in New York City before departing together for Holland that evening.

During the Jr. Olympic Jamboree, Molly will race in the 400m, the 800m and probably a relay event. Also on the agenda are sightseeing tours in Belgium and West Germany with the group.

She will fly back to New York City on July 24 where she will spend the night before returning to DFW the next day.

Regular workouts since the end of track season and three competitions so far this summer have prepared Molly for her big tour. Recently, she scored her best times in the 800m (2:23.6) and the 400m (59.3).

Molly's record boasts the all-time female fastest times in Cooke County in the 100m, the 200m and the 800m. In addition, there has been only one girl from the county whose record of several years ago in the 400m tops Molly's.

Before her departure, Molly would like to thank everyone who helped in any way to make this trip possible for her.

FARM AND RANCH NEWS

Consumer demand for beef is conference topic

In what direction should the beef industry be heading the next few years, and what will be the most effective way to travel down that road?

These questions and a host of others will be addressed during the Beef Industry Conference at Texas A&M University on Aug. 10 and 11, says Dr. Dan Hale, meats specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and conference program chairman.

The conference program will begin with discussions by professionals from the health, human nutrition and medical fields, giving their views on how beef fits into the American diet and what the beef industry needs to do to make beef fit better.

Then, members of the meat retail and packing industries representing Kroger, Excel, Monfort and Val Agra will discuss what they are doing to meet consumer demand.

Finally, cattle feeders and producers will examine the feasibility of raising and feeding what the packer, retailer and consumer wants, Hale points out.

Texas A&M, there has been a fast push on the part of retailers to present leaner beef products to their customers," says Dr. Russell Cross, professor of meat science and muscle biology with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and A&M's Department of Animal Science.

The beef industry has failed to look at the whole lean beef picture - from the cow-calf producer to the consumer," Cross points out. "The main purpose of the conference is to examine what the consumer wants and how the total beef cattle industry should concern their effort to produce leaner beef in the most effective manner."

In this regard, some of the issues to be addressed include packer hot fat trimming, packer cattle specifications, cattle feeder interpretation of packer specifications, branded beef, integrated cattle management systems, and breed use to meet industry needs.

More information about the conference and conference registration can be obtained by contacting Dr. Dan Hale, 114 Kleberg Center, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843; telephone: 409-845-2052.

4-H'ers participating in leadership events

Several 4-H members from over the county have participated in or will be participating in a variety of 4-H leadership events this summer.

June 24-26 five 4-H girls participated in the District Leadership Lab held at the Texas Utilities Youth Camp near Trinidad, Texas. 4-H'ers participating included Dawn Sledge, Mountain Springs 4-H; Kristen McKown, Valley View 4-H; Staci Sicking, Sheryl Sicking and Shanon Reiter, Muenster 4-H Club.

The theme of the Leadership Lab was "I Heard It Through The Grapevine." Sessions were devoted to helping the 4-H'ers develop effective relationships, set goals, develop communications skills, make wise decisions, and develop a good self-concept. Other program highlights included sessions on creative outdoor cooking and Kids on the Block. A 4-H talent show was included with other fun recreation and leadership opportunities.

Clifford Lutkenhaus attended a "Taking Charge" 4-H Leadership Retreat on June 29-July 1.

This camp was especially designed for 4-H'ers who were 12 or 13 years of age. The three days of fun and fellowship was designed for 4-H'ers to learn and practice leadership skills, realize the importance of the community and contributions 4-H'ers can make and to learn more about our electronic age.

On July 14-17 two 4-H'ers will be attending the 15th Annual Texas 4-H Congress. This year Congress will be held in Nacogdoches with the theme East Texas: Heritage and Horizons. Attending Congress will be Debbie Nortman and Michael Lutkenhaus from the Lindsay Senior 4-H Club.

Activities will include a Forestry Field Day where 4-H'ers will tour the International Paper Mill, the Texas Forestry Service Nursery, Timberland Site, the Louisiana Pacific Plywood Mill, and Wildlife Management, Temple-Eastex (North Boggy Slew).

Another highlight of the trip will be a train trip through East Texas with stops at the State Historical Park at Rusk and a tour of Stone Fort on Stephen F. Austin Campus and a tour of the Agriculture, Home Economics and Forestry Departments at the University.

Many Cooke County 4-H'ers will be participating in the County 4-H Camp to be held at Group Camp at Lake Texoma near Kingston, Oklahoma July 20-22. 4-H'ers are currently registering to attend this camp which will be filled with workshops, recreation and fellowship with 4-H'ers from over the county.

4-H'ers need to fill out their registration blank and turn in their camp fees to the County Extension Office by July 9. For questions or more information about camp, call or stop by the County Extension Office.

IRS rules on dairy buyout payments

The Internal Revenue Service has issued guidelines for the income and self-employment tax treatment of payments received by dairymen participating in the Dairy Termination Program (DTP).

Dairymen who have contracts with the Commodity Credit Corporation are required to sell all their dairy cattle for slaughter or export, and for a period of five years must agree not to have any interest in dairy cattle or milk production, explains Dr. Ken Stokes of Dallas, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

IRS guidelines state the DTP payments are intended to compensate milk producers for lost receipts from two sources. Part of the payment is to compensate dairymen for the difference in the slaughter or export and the price they could have received if sold at the same general time and location for dairy purposes. The second portion of the payment is designed to compensate or replace milk receipts that dairymen would have been able to receive if they had actually been able to continue in milk production.

The portion of the payment compensating dairymen for selling dairy cattle at a lower price can be treated as the sale of cattle held for breeding or dairy purposes, Stokes points out. The actual tax treatment of this portion of the payment on IRS Form 4797 will depend upon whether the cattle met the two-year holding requirements and whether the purchased. Any recapture of investment credit in the case of purchased cattle should be reported on IRS Form 4255.

That part of the payment compensating milk producers for the replacement of milk production receipts is treated as ordinary income and should be reported on Form 1040, Schedule F. This payment may be subject to self-employment taxes depending upon the degree of material participation by the recipient.

A dairyman must be able to show specific evidence that his cattle were sold for less than he could have received if they had been sold for dairy purposes, says Stokes.

IRS guidelines indicate that the dairyman may use dairy cattle prices published by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Statistical Service. Also, if the dairyman is able to document the price of cattle in his local market at the time of his actual sale, then he may be able to use this information.

Stokes has been collecting dairy cattle prices for the Sulphur Springs market from the Country World newspaper and the Stephenville market from the Dairyman magazine. If a dairyman has already filed his tax return and treated the total DTP payment as ordinary income, an amended return may be filed with the IRS, notes the economist.

Aeration is critical for stored grain

Aeration is a key practice for maintaining the quality of clean, dry stored grain and must be properly understood, says an agricultural engineer.

Aeration is the practice of forcing small amounts of atmospheric air with desirable temperature and moisture conditions through stored grain to cool and equalize temperatures, explains Richard Withers with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

The air delivery system to handle this task should be well-engineered and properly installed and managed, Withers emphasizes. This requires an understanding of the aeration process.

When atmospheric air moves through stored grain, both heat and moisture are exchanged until air and grain have comparable temperatures and moisture contents, explains the engineer. Once this equilibrium condition exists, the moisture content of stored grain is known as equilibrium moisture content (EMC). The relative humidity of the atmospheric air in equilibrium with the grain is called the equilibrium relative humidity (ERH).

For any given set of temperature and relative humidity conditions of the atmospheric air, there is a corresponding EMC for the stored grain, Withers points out. From a practical standpoint, this known relationship can be used to determine if stored grain will gain or lose moisture when it contacts atmospheric air.

When the air's relative humidity is below that of the ERH, moisture will be evaporated from the grain during the aeration process, and the grain temperature will decrease due to the evaporative cooling effect, says Withers. The amount of cooling resulting from evaporation may be as much as 50 percent or more of the total heat removed.

In some cases the air's relative humidity is higher than the ERH but decreases as heat is transferred from hotter, stored grain to cooler, aeration air. Where initial grain temperatures approach 100 degrees F., evaporative cooling can reduce the temperature 10-15

We have been getting a few reports of headworms in grain sorghum. However, it appears that this year we may have very light infestations. But, if you have had problems with them in the past, you certainly know that your grain sorghum fields could bear a little extra watching at this time of the year. Headworms are actually fall armyworms and corn earworms and moths deposit eggs on the leaves and heads of the sorghum plant. The larvae develop at various stages during the growing season. For this reason, we will sometimes see young sorghum with its leaves full of holes. This is caused by the worms eating down in the whorl stage of the grain sorghum plant. The real damage comes when the larvae feed on the head of the plant. This usually occurs on the tighter headed maize varieties. The majority of the feeding is done while the sorghum is in an early dough stage. Once the sorghum grain begins to harden, very little damage occurs.

Check fields early in the morning or late in the evening when activity is the greatest. Look for white droppings on the ground and sorghum leaves, and count and evaluate the number of worms per head.

The following chart will assist you in determining economic injury levels in grain sorghum fields.
