MUENSTER, TEXAS, COOKE COUNTY, FRIDAY, September 24, 1943

NUMBER 44

Ab: what a relief! For a while the allies at Salerno had me worried sick. But they came through in grand style. So, now we can all go on feeling good again about war prospects. And Con won't have to worry about a few week-old remarks concerning the extremely favorable outlook. There was a good chance, you know, that the record of events would make certain optimistic opinions appear somewhat ridiculous.

It was a narrow escape all right. Enough to teach me that it doesn't pay to get presumptuous about a knowledge of the future. There's no percentage in it. When a person guesses right nobody is greatly impressed. But when he's wrong almost everybody will say he's an ignoramus. Which he probably is. Otherwise he wouldn't butt his head against such odds.

It wouldn't be so bad if it were not for the fact that the ravings contained herein go to print almost a week after their origin. During that time changing circumstances can make an awful big goof out of a guy.

And now that the Fifth and Eighth armies have pulled me through that one I resolve to change my ways. Predictions henceforth will consist only of the widest generalities. For instance, I still say we'll win the same, but I'm not trying to call the shots any more.

Incidentally, wasn't that a swell job the boys did at Salerno? Especially after the Huns had made their premature brags. Pushed back into the sea, were we? Let's hope that comment will make their defeat more bitter just as it made our victory sweeter.

Of course, anybody can lose a scrap, even when the odds are in his favor. There's no special disgrace, except that it is a little face-reddening for self-styled master men with the best positions to lose after boasting that everything was in the bag.

However, the Nazis have done one thing and made one statement that would make their people hang their heads in shame. Namely, confining the Pope to the Vatican with the explanation that his continued presence there "would serve as a guarantee against wholesale allied nations' aerial bombardment of German lines of communication."

We learned to despise such tactics back in the days of gangsterism. When gunmen used babies or bystanders as shields while blazing away at the cops. Maybe this helps you understand what the nazis actually mean by "protection." Protect themselves by hiding behind innocent people.

Of all the mascots that have been publicized in various service outfits, few if any can quite compare with Bonnie — this isn't misspelled, just a wartime variation from Disney's choice of a name — a dear little fawn that's winning the GI hearts at one of the batteries here. She is as cute as can be. Follows some of the boys around like Mary's little lamb and makes its regular trips to the mess hall for its bottle. They found it somewhere around this area with an infected leg, took it in, and nursed it back to health.

Looking at a fawn — or shall I say a little deer? — you seem to understand why the specific name was chosen for its kind. Simply because it is pronounced the same as the adjective dear. I think the name is so appropriate that it should have a similar spelling.

Considering the number of deer around here and the amount of artillery fired into their domain every day it is amazing that more of them are not crippled or killed. They must be guided by a sixth sense or something. Perhaps that also explains why they seem to know that GIs will not harm them. This post would be a sportsman's paradise, if it were opened to him. Which I hope it won't be.

Have you noticed how much thought is being given lately to the problem of keeping the world under control after the war? Almost all of it proposes methods by which people are to be kept peaceful, prosperous, and happy. But so very little deals with creating a proper spirit and attitude. Namely a feeling of mutual trust, friendship, and confidence along with a better appreciation of individual and national responsibilities. To get lasting results, the best course is to adopt the golden rule and the ten commandments.

HERE'S A LIST OF WHAT SERVICEMEN PREFER FOR X-MAS

Headlining the list of what the overseas serviceman wants for Christmas are "newsy cheerful letters from home and recent photographs or snapshots of family and friends", according to information received by a canvass of overseas Yank correspondents and officers recently returned from various theatres of war. Men interviewed said a letter from friends is worth a hundred Christmas cards. Many men would like a new picture of wife, sweetheart and parents not larger than pocket-size and encased in a waterproof folder — most of the pictures they look with them around the worse for wear. Cigarette lighters "that will light in a strong wind" with extra flints and wicks run a close second in articles wanted, followed by such items as: waterproof, shockproof wrist watches, hunting and boy scout knives, small, inexpensive cameras with an ample supply of films. (Army Censorship Office warns that films may be sent overseas only if in the manufacturer's original package with seal unbroken.)

Other items which appear on the want list are: fountain pen and pencil sets with extra lead; small pocket-sized boxes: flashlights; compact writing portfolios rigid enough to be used as writing boards; identification bracelets; small steel razors; fine tempered, rust proof razor blades; pipes, handkerchiefs, CD socks and good linen playing cards and poker chips.

Soldiers in different combat areas don't want the same articles. The Post Exchange carries basic necessities and where there is no PX the men are issued soap, toilet equipment, razor blades, candy and tobacco. Temporary shortages are often quickly met. Do not send food except well packed fruit cake, hard candy and hard cookies. Do not send expensive shaving kits or cigarettes. Even where cigarettes are rationed most heavily, men are allowed a pack a day. Civilians often forget that the shortage they experience may not be true of servicemen.

In addition to the articles wanted by the Army men, the Navy also asks for foot powder, saddle soap, sun lotion, small folding picture frames and checkerboards.

According to Army Postal Service, overseas Christmas gift packages cannot weigh more than five pounds, nor measure more than 15 inches in length, and not more than 36 inches in length and girth combined. The postal service says to send durable articles, which will stand up six months or more in shipping and recommends that one of the 5 pounds be used solely for wrapping. Addresses should be printed with a substance that will not smudge, smear or run. Remember the time for sending overseas Christmas gifts began September 15 and lasts until October 15.

AUTUMN ARRIVED SEPT. 23
Autumn began in the northern hemisphere at 7:12 p.m. Central War time, September 23, Thursday the U.S. Naval Observatory announced. September 23 was the fall equinox, a day of equal light and darkness. The days will now grow shorter until December 21, when they will begin to grow longer again.

Sign-Up For No. 4 Ration Book Set For Late October

A nation-wide registration for ration book No. 4 — which the Office of Price Administration hopes will be the last ration book of the war — will be held within the last ten days of October, it has been announced.

The latest of the series of ration books will contain 384 stamps, printed in blue, red, green and black. The red and blue stamps will be used in conjunction with red and blue tokens, to be introduced early in 1944 and given as change in stamp expenditures for meat, dairy products and processed foods.

Green stamps will be used on an interim basis, similar to the use of brown stamps in the third edition of ration books.

There will be 12 of 98 unit stamps designated for sugar printed in black, and the same number marked for coffee, although coffee is no longer rationed. These and 72 others are marked for spare and will be reserved for any additional foods rationed.

Cost of printing and distributing the books is estimated at a million dollars, approximately the same as the other books.

OPA is of the opinion that tokens will be in use as change for stamps by the time the new books become valid. It is believed that the use of tokens will permit the No. 4 stamps to be stamped out over a longer period than the previous book stamps.

The decision to hold another schoolhouse registration, instead of distributing the books by mail as was done with No. 3, is based on OPA's desire to get the new coupons into use in November. Cooperation of school officials has been requested in letters recently sent out by the OPA.

Exact dates and places of registration in each community will be determined by regional and local rationing officials.

PLANT SMALL GRAIN PASTURE THIS MONTH SAYS COUNTY AGENT

A wheat, oat or barley pasture will stretch the available supply of protein feeds, but for best results this small grain grazing should be planted in September.

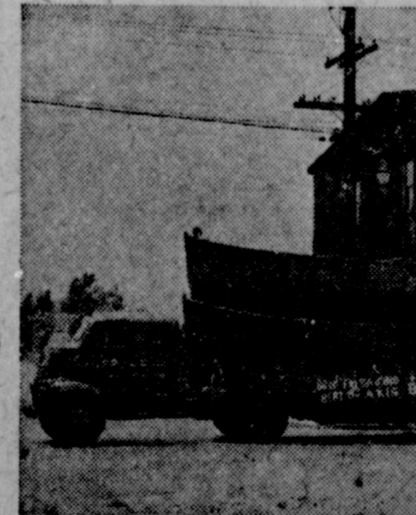

More protein in the roughage which cattle eat — pasture, silage and hay — means that less will be required in the grain mixture. Small grain planted in September usually furnishes more grazing and withstands more cold than when planted later. But if September is too dry, by all means plant in October. October planting often will provide good grazing.

Cotton fields are ideal for small grain for pasture because there usually is about three inches of loose top dirt, which makes preparation unnecessary. If picking isn't finished follow the pickers with the drill. The drill will not hurt unopened cotton nor will the wheat, oats or barley interfere with later picking, or late picking injure the grain.

Plant three-fourths of a bushel of wheat on good land and one bushel an acre on land not so good. The ratio for oats on good and not so good land is two and two and one-half bushels, and for barley one and one-half bushels an acre. It is a good idea to have one acre of small grain pasture per cow on good land and one and one-half acres on the other type.

If it is desired to harvest these crops for grain livestock should be taken off about the first of March in the southern half of the state, and about March 15 in the northern half. Otherwise they may be grazed until about the middle of May.

Muenster Boys Are Seeing Action In Salerno Battles

It is probable that several Muenster men are taking part in the fierce battle with the Germans has been in progress. Tuesday's reports revealed last week that the 36th and 45th Divisions were among the six divisions making up Gen. Mark Clark's fifth army.

Since this army landed at Salerno, near Naples, two weeks ago a fierce battle with the Germans has been in progress. Tuesday's report said that the Fifth Army registered new gains in the Salerno beach head and was slowly and steadily pressing the Germans backward. The report also disclosed that the 5th stormed and took the key town of Eboli, 16 miles inland, which had served the enemy as a communications center during the last week's heavy fighting about Salerno.

Gen. Clark's soldiers also battled their way to Montecorvino, nine miles inland in a sustained push, an official source disclosed. Progress of Allied troops is necessarily slow in the Salerno sector where the enemy possesses excellent defensive positions in the hill country to the north and northeast.

The 36th is a division composed largely of Texas men. Serving in it from Muenster are Joe Hess, Vincent Felderhoff and Gus Fleitman. Frank Moser of Gainesville, well known here, is also in the 36th, as is Leo Till of Pilot Point, also well known to local young people.

There may be others from this community or Lindsay in the 36th but this is all the publishers found out about this week. If there are others the Enterprise would appreciate receiving such information.

COMMON COLDS ARE DANGEROUS, WARNS HEALTH DIRECTOR

AUSTIN, TEXAS — With the advent of fall and the attendant seasonal changes of weather, common colds become much more prevalent and widespread in the state. Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, has issued a warning against the careless treatment of any respiratory illness since they can and frequently do result in the dreaded complication pneumonia. He emphasized the fact that pneumonia usually strikes with little or no warning, following a simple cold, an attack of influenza or of some other respiratory infection.

"A cold or any other infection of the breathing passage, especially if accompanied by fever, demands the immediate attention of a doctor," the state health officer said. "To try to fight such a disease without bed rest and by means of self-medication may endanger life unnecessarily."

According to Dr. Cox, prevention is better than cure and in order to avoid colds, influenza, and pneumonia he advised building up normal physical resistance by sufficient ventilation, adequate nourishing food, outdoor exercise and sufficient sleep and rest. "However," he added, "in spite of such care, a respiratory illness develops, the family doctor should be called immediately."

The fact that pneumonia is definitely a communicable disease is often overlooked, Dr. Cox stated, but this should be borne in mind so that the danger of passing the disease from one person to another can be eliminated.

Rt. Rev. Paul Nahlen and Rev. Patrick Hannon, both of Subiaco, Ark., visited here several hours with the local pastors Saturday. They were enroute to Fort Worth where Father Patrick will be stationed.

Bond Sales Nearing Half Way Mark

Purchases Total $43,000 Wednesday; Muenster In Pace With County Sales

Muenster swung into the second half of the Third War Loan drive this week with bond purchases totaling $43,000 Wednesday morning, according to figures released by J.M. Weinzapfel, local bond chairman. This figure lacks two thousand dollars of being half of this community's quota.

Muenster sales are consistent with those in other parts of the county. At the half-way mark Monday county sales totaled $431,502. Cooke's quota is $1,379,900, of which this community will raise $90,000.

The county figure was boosted considerably Wednesday when a rally at Gainesville featured three movie stars, Bill Elliot, Gabby Hayes and Anne Jeffreys, who sold bonds. Figures were not available however before this newspaper went to press.

Chairman Weinzapfel disclosed Wednesday that members of the local committee will be selling bonds this weekend and will continue until the close of the drive. Included on the bond committee are members of the Sacred Heart church committee who are also soliciting. They are asking parishioners to make good their pledges in so far as possible to the new church building fund at this time so that it can be converted into freedom securities, thus fulfilling two obligations at one time.

Texas had accounted for 46 per cent of its Third War Loan quota by Monday night, official figures indicated. The nation as a whole had gone two-thirds of the way on its total quota.

KNIGHTS TO INSTALL OFFICERS, HEAR GUEST SPEAKER ON OCT. 6TH

E. W. Leake, Ph. D. of Dallas, Master of the Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, will be a guest speaker at the meeting of the local council here on October 6th, it has been announced. At this time installation of officers will also take place with H.A. Lampman of Denison, district deputy, presiding.

Other business at the council's meeting last Wednesday was discussion of the annual Columbus Day observance on Oct. 12. Tentative plans are to have a picnic and a dance.

At this session members decided to devote a portion of each meeting to writing letters to members serving in the armed forces. At each meeting the servicemen's names will be drawn by those attending and a letter to the respective soldier or sailor will be written at that time.

He extends a cordial invitation to citizens of the community to visit him.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS HAVE OFFICER INTSALLATION

LINDSAY — Knights of Columbus of the Lindsay-Gainesville council held their regular monthly meeting last Tuesday and installed officers to serve for the new year. During the business session the council voted to buy a $100 war bond in connection with the Third War Loan drive, and to purchase a United States flag for the new colored USO building.

After the business session H.P. Schadt, grand knight, turned the meeting over to H.A. Lampman, district deputy from Denison, who took charge of the installation of officers.

MORE POWER FOR VICTORY!

thanks to the Texas Power & Light Company

THE TEXAS POWER & LIGHT COMPANY can now generate more electricity than ever before...more electric power for war plants that make bombs, shells, parts for airplanes, tanks, ships and guns, tents, cots, and other army equipment...more electric power to help your farms produce food for victory...more electric power for Army camps that train the nation's soldiers.

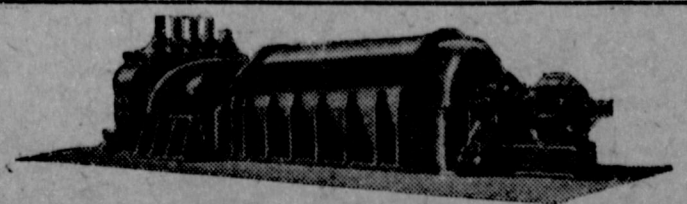

This added power is available because the Texas Power & Light Company has just installed a massive new turbine-generator, which was built by General Electric. It can produce 30,000 kilowatts (40,000 electrical horsepower), which is enough electricity to supply the power and lighting needs of a city of 100,000 population.

This added power capacity was not acquired overnight. It takes more than two years to plan for, build, and install a modern turbine-generator. Hence, this new installation dates back before "Pearl Harbor" when the Texas Power & Light Company, with characteristic foresight, decided to increase its facilities in order to be assured of a plentiful supply of electricity for the growing needs of its many customers. But instead of the peacetime purposes for which it was intended, the added power is being used almost entirely for the grim purposes of war.

Thus the peacetime policy of Texas Power & Light Company—always to be ready ahead of demand—results in untold benefits for our country at war. We of General Electric, world's largest builder of steam turbines, count it a privilege to have had a part in this important work that marks a vital step toward victory. General Electric Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

The new turbine-generator is the finest and latest type of a long line of dependable equipment which General Electric has been building for the electrical industry of America since 1903. Its operating dependability will reflect the many years of research and the extensive engineering experience of General Electric—leader in the design and manufacture of turbine-generators.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Powder Monkey
 On board ship and in the artillery their buddies call them "powder monkeys." Not disrespectful, just a personal, intimate term between friends. Civilians call them gun crews. During a battle the crews of "powder monkeys" must work like trojans bringing the ammunition to the guns.

The gun may fire an anti aircraft .50 calibre shell or a broadside from the 16 inch guns of a great battleship, but in either event the "powder monkey" must pass millions of dollars' worth of ammunition to make the gun effective, and your savings in War Bonds are necessary to supply the financial ammunition that provides the shells.

... busy at the job of WORKING FOR VICTORY

Yesterday... we Texans were busy building an empire of better homes, farms and factories... schools, churches and other institutions... acquired, supported and enjoyed by a free people under the American System of free enterprise. We, of this Company, pioneered in providing dependable, low-cost electric power for use by Texans in building this empire. For 31 years, we have planned and built ahead, growing in experience and resources... a business-managed free enterprise, owned and operated by and for Texans.

TODAY... we are very busy fighting and working for victory! More than 300 of the young men from this Company are in the armed services... fighting all over the world, on land, on sea and in the air.

The employees remaining here on the home front are keeping TP&L electric power on the war job 24 hours a day, 7 days a week... in military camps, air fields, vital war industries and for the needs of all of our customers. Amidst all manner of shortages... there is no shortage of electric power. And amidst rising costs of living... the price for TP&L residential and commercial service is only about one-half what it was during World War I.

We take occasion to call attention to those contributions to the war effort because they are made possible under the American system of free enterprise... one of our basic freedoms which our enemies are seeking to destroy.

tomorrow... every real American wants his freedom of opportunity and the freedom of American enterprise to remain intact. We must win this war so that we can again go forward to new heights in a world in which the American Way of Life shall continue to demonstrate its superiority.

of Sacred Heart High

Here we are with you again. We're off to another merry start here at SHHS — and would it be too prosaic to say "Hep, hep, hep, three cheers for our school".

We can think of no better way of starting all this than by welcoming all our new students — freshmen, sophomores, and juniors. And then of course just a tear for all the old students who did not come back and whom we miss so much, especially the last year's senior class.

WE DOOD IT

"Beware Japan! Sacred Heart High School Students are on your trail." Participating in the Third War Loan Drive, each class has already purchased a $25 War Bond. These four bonds have been presented to the pastor, Rev. Fr. Thomas, for the New Church Fund.

The patriotic spirit of the students was manifested in their whole-hearted response in contributing to the cause of our country. One-hundred dollars worth of Defense Stamps have been sold at Sacred Heart School since September 13.

ATHLETICS:

MUESTER PUBLIC SCHOOL.

Hello, again to all our old friends. We appreciate the use of this column for entering our news.

School started fast and with much excitement. We have many new students. The new faces in High School are Carl Corsey, Jack Linn, Charles Ring. The grammar grades are proud to have many new students.

We extend a hearty welcome to our new teachers, Mr. Blodgett and Mrs. Thompson. Under Mr. Blodgett the following subjects are taught us: General Mathematics, Chemistry, Biology, Modern History, American History, Plane Geometry, High School Shop, Typing, Ancient History, Texas History, and General Science.

Mrs. Thompson is in charge of the 4th, 5th, and 6th grade rooms. She teaches the following subjects

Paul Nieball was trying to be cute with throwing rotten tomatoes, but got the worse part when Mrs. Burchfiel threw one at him, and, actually he got hit!

We wonder who was so bold to put tacks on Mr. Blodgett's chair?

Andy (Garbo) Stelzer has a very bad habit, he breaks pencils for pass time — poor guy. He thinks the further north people go the smarter they get. (Do you suppose Andy ever lived at the Equator?) And further more, he thinks the Alps Mountains are a river flowing through Scotland.

Stress them. Give them the same propaganda backing that commercial and political schemes get, and coercion can be reduced accordingly.

And if we're going to show the light to the rest of the world, we might as well begin at home. Squelch the trouble makers. Work for an honest understanding between different factions. Wake up individual and national conscience.

One of our complaints against nazi and Jap cultures is their barbaric contempt for the individual's rights, including the right to life. Still, in this advanced Christian nation a deserted baby is found in a garbage can, its tiny body covered with ants. The fact that it did not die of exposure, starvation, or insect bites does not detract from the criminal guilt of some person who probably claims to be better than our heartless criminal enemies. And this isn't an isolated case. Thousands of American babies, both born and unborn, are murdered every year. Any nation in which that condition prevails is spiritually and morally weak. We need improvement as much as anyone else.

News: An old-fashioned Regular Army sergeant surveyed a group of new arrivals lined up before him in reveille formation. "Any of you men college graduates?" A sizeable number stepped forward. The old sarge placed them in one group to the side and rasped out, "Any of the rest of you graduate from high school?" A much larger group stepped out leaving only a handful of men in the original formation. "All right," boomed the sergeant, "You college grads pick up all the cigarette butts. You high school grads pick up the matches and paper. And the rest of you birds stick around and watch the grads show you how it should be done."
