VOL. 84, NO. 21

and judging came to an end Saturday, March 14, with the Hansford County Junior Livestock Show Auction at the county barn in Gruver. The auction ended with 145 animals selling for $122,373.

The auction was made up of the animals judged best out of a total of 245 steers, swine and lambs exhibited in the livestock show. The animals were displayed by the future farmers and cattlemen of Hansford County.

The young cattleman showing the Grand Champion steer was Brant Armes of Gruver. His 1,284pound steer brought $2,202.06 at the auction. It was purchased by Gruver Farm Supply Leslie Latta showed the Grand Champion lamb. She sold the lamb to Purina Mills - Gruver Agra Industries for $1,021.20.

The Grand Champion swine was exhibited by Erin Derrington. She sold her pig for $874.22 to Gruver State Bank.

Showmanship awards were made to the young exhibitors that showed the most poise in handling and showing their animals. The awards are split into age and animal catagories. Each winner in each category received a belt buckle as a prize.

For steers Mandy Vernon was awarded the Junior Showmanship award and Ronda Renner received the Senior Showmanship award. Leah Jo Mackie received the Junior Showmanship award for sheep and Galen Slough received the Senior Showmanship award. For swine it was Amber Roberts taking the Junior Showmanship award and Sharlet Slough capturing the Senior Showmanship buckle.

Another category of animal outside the regular show was the Commercial Steer Contest. In this contest the young cattleman selects a steer and takes care of it. The steer is then taken to a processor, where the animal is weighed and then processed. The animal is judged on its weight live and after processing. The Grand Champion is de-

The Grand Champion of this event was presented by Wylee Maupin. Maupin's animal was first in live weight and second to Ashley Brown's animal in carcass weight.

The Reserve Grand Champion was Brown. Her animal was third in the live weight, behind Wylee Maupin and Weslynn Maupin.

Ten teams of young farmers and cattlemen participated in a team judging contest as part of the livestock show. The Gruver FFA number 1 team finished third in the competitions. They were edged out by three points, by the first place team of Vega FFA #1 and second place team Hooker FFA. The winning score was 798 and Gruver's score was 795.

The Gruver FFA #1 team was led by Kenney Slough, who was high point individual for the contest. He scored 287 points.

Hansford County 4-H finished in sixth place in the competition. They were paced by Leah Jo Mackie. She acquired 280 individual points to finish third overall. The team was also helped by the Ronda Renner who earned 277 individual judging points to finish sixth overall.

The Spearman FFA #1 team finished ninth, followed by the Gruver FFA #2 team.

What follows is a complete listing of show exhibitors and how they finished, plus a listing of the auction animals and buyers. The show results are by category and the exhibitors are listed in order of their placing.

Fire truck total loss

The Spearman Volunteer Fire Department suffered the loss of one of its fire units during a CRP grass fire near Morse on Sunday, March

Fire Chief Ron Antalek estimated replacement cost to be $30,000, conservatively

The fire was reported to Morse Fire Department at 3:15 p.m., and assistance was requested from both Spearman and Gruver fire departments. Before the fire could be controlled, additional units were requested from Stinnett and Fritch. The fire was finally extinguished shortly after 5 p.m., but only after firefighters, with the assistance of landowners with tractors and maintainers, were able to surround the wind-fanned blaze.

There were no deaths or injuries during the two-hour battle, according to Antalek

The cause of the grass fire has not been determined. The cause of the fire truck loss was the result of grass trapped under the truck, ignited by the exhaust system, according to Antalek. The Spearman firefighters were unable to fight their truck fire because of failure of the pump when the rubber fuel line burned. One unit of the Gruver fire department came to the assistance of the stranded men from Spearman, but efforts to save the unit were too late.

Antalek said the Spearman unit is a complete loss for service, but some equipment may be salvaged.

The Spearman unit was not the only fire unit which caught fire because of grass trapped underneath. Two fire units from Gruver also caught fire under their chassis due to the tall grass. The Gruver fire units were able to extinguish the flames because they had not lost their pump capability, said Antalek.

The Spearman fire chief reported that fires under the chassis of the trucks is encountered quite frequently during CRP grass fires, but they are only a nuisance as long as the firefighters have a pump and water to fight the fire with. He said

GISD board prepares for 1992-93

by JoAnn Morton Editor

The Gruver Independent School District Board of Trustees spent much of its Wednesday, March 11 meeting making preparations for the 1992-93 school year. Among agenda items for the school board were curriculum, the football program, textbooks and staff for next school year. According to Tommy Cathey, superintendent, board members discussed possible changes in the curriculum concerning speech requirements for graduation, and driver's education. This particular agenda item was tabled, however, and no action was taken. The 1992-93 football budget was approved as submitted by head football coach Barry Haenisch.

Textbooks for next year were discussed. Cathey said that textbooks are selected by teachers, chosen from a list of five pre-approved textbooks for each subject taught. The GISD teachers make up the district's textbook committee, which recommends to the school board textbooks to be used. The committee's report was approved.

Following an executive session to discuss personnel matters, the board voted for the employment of personnel to include teachers, coaches, assistant coaches and secretaries. Recommendations for employment are given by the principal of each campus and by the superintendent.

The board also accepted one resignation, that of Todd Ward, assis! tant boys' basketball coach.

Letter to the editor

I have lived in Hansford County for fifty nine years and Morse has been left out of most all things that go on in the county. If fact, the only time we see our county officials is at election time.

Morse Lions Club invited one county official to speak at an evening meeting and he went to Gruver, and they don't even have an evening club.

I went to a meeting in Spearman on the hospital issue and one of the speakers wasn't sure Morse was in Hansford County and Morse does not have a person on the hospital

I see that they have started a teen court at Spearman. No one from Morse was asked to serve on

I have noticed Spearman and Gruver both enjoy our quality students that go to high school at both places. As a whole, they do well in academics and sports. The business people seem to enjoy our dollars spent there. The county enjoys our tax money. Maybe we should do like Swinford wants to do with the panhandle and have our own county and keep our tax money.

sound financially secure. The City Council committed to a policy of sound financial management by having a reserve fund equal to 90 days of operating expenses. Operating reserves not only provide funds for emergencies, they also keep the tax rate and utility fees from dramatically increasing or decreasing each year. Without a reserve fund, the City could be forced to drastically raise taxes and fees to pay for major projects. By issuing certificates of obligation, citizens and businesses can be assured that the City will have the money to pay for these critical needs and that tax rates will be stable. Low interest rates make this the perfect time to sell certificates of obligation. Not since the early 1970s have interest rates been this low. In deciding to sell certificates of obligation, the City Council is taking advantage of the low interest rates rather than depleting our reserve funds. By incurring debt at low interest rates, we can keep our reserves and wait to invest them when interest rates become higher. When interest rates rise, as they will, we will have taken advantage of an opportunity which may never come again. Investing reserve funds at high interest rates will help keep tax rates and fees down. The City is committed to solving small problems before they become big problems. Repairing the sewer plant, constructing a transfer station, and buying a new fire truck will provide services that citizens and businesses want. While issuing certificates of obligation will cause water, sewer and garbage fees to increase, we will prevent much bigger fee increases than would be necessary if we were to wait until an emergency before tak-

Parents in the 1990s find themselves in a contradictory situation. More than at any time in history there is parenting information and support available to help people learn parenting skills. At the same time, evidence of poor parenting practices is all around.

The news media confronts the public daily with stories on child neglect and abuse, teen pregnancy, teen suicide, substance abuse and run-away youth. Some may wonder how parents in an educated society can be so far removed from providing healthy home environments for children. Parents have always fallen back on the behavior of their own parents as models. It was thought that good parenting skills came with the baby - instinct, something we all came equipped with. Today's situation reminds us that this is not true. Parents must confront the reality too that their parents' behaviors were not necessarily appropriate for today's more democratic family.

Authoritarian (rigid, strict) practices that may have worked in the 1920s through the 1950s often result in rebellion, poor decision making skills and low self-esteem. Permissiveness, more often the case today, usually results in children feeling neglected, unloved, unable to accept authority in school or work, with low-self esteem.

A middle of the road democratic style, where parents set limits, give guidelines, practice flexibility within boundaries and give children choices results in more competent, capable children. Many factors enter into any parenting style. Unconditional love is the prerequisite that could soften many inappropriate parenting behaviors. Kids are basically resilient and flexible. But parents have a responsibility to learn skills in relating to their children in positive, productive ways. Though we didn't like the negative behaviors we saw our parents practice, we tend to fall into that behavior unless we decide to change.

Ideally, before each of us becomes parents, we should receive help and support to learn important parenting skills such as understanding the growth and development of children, communicating and discipling in a positive way, and enhancing the child's positive self-esteem.

Throughout Texas, parenting skill building classes are being planned and conducted. County Extension agents, schools, churches, health and human service agencies are collaborating together to provide community-based programming efforts. The Partners for Parenting project now in its third year, funded by Texas Department of Health, provides parenting curricula and other resources, along with technical assistance, to encourage and support counties conducting parenting education activities. County Extension agents are working with others to provide materials, newsletters, classes, warm line information and other skill building information to

In any educational effort, the more classes parents attend, the more changes they will make in parenting practices. Jerry Gibner, his daughter, Barbara, and his little granddaughter, Taylor, all of Albuquerque came the middle of last week to visit his parents, Pope and Margaret Gibner.

Jerry and Woodrow Gibner went to Amarillo on Thursday and brought Pope home from the hospital where he had been more than a week. Pope is delighted to be at home though he is not up to entering any marathons yet.

Their guests returned to Albuquerque on Saturday.

Ruth Hill enjoyed every minute of the few days that her daughter, Jean Gwen, spent with her last week. Jean still lives in Angel Fire.

The Palo Duro Players, an organization that has dispelled the myth that there is nothing to do in a small town, succeeded with another evening of fun and entertainment last Thursday evening, with the Lip Sync Contest.

Then through California and Oregon to Odessa, Washington which was their destination. Joyce taught there in 1945 and 1946 and was intensely flattered that many of her former students remembered and welcomed her, as did her 89 year old former landlady.

They returned by way of Idaho in Lewiston, they visited Thelma's sister-in-law and some nieces whom she had not seen in 40 years. They came through Utah, Colorado, Kansas and Oklahoma - hold on - we missed Wyoming.

The last Sunday they drove from Rockspring, Wyoming to Byers, Colorado in very strong winds, snow, sleet, hail, rain and fog - all day and through that isolated country, there was no place to stop to wait out the weather.

Their trip was enjoyable and interesting, but they agree they saw no place they'd rather live than

WESLEY AND BETH DANIEL

Texas Panhandle and himself the son of a Methodist minister, he preached his first sermon, "Killing Giants," one day after his ordination in 1946.

The pastor's training included education at McMurry State in Abilene and Southern Methodist University. It was at McMurry that he met his wife of 41 years. Over the years, the Daniels' pastorates have included Becton-Lakeview, Rankin Chapel, Union Bower, Quitaque, Lefors, Seagraves, Spearman, Littlefield and Plainview. The Daniels currently reside in Breckenridge on Lake Hubbard. Both continue to be active in local church activities and to lead areawide revivals.

Daniel's ministry in Spearman spanned nine years, 1965-1974. Red-letter events in the local Methodist church during his pastorate included his starting the first annual missionary conference and lay witness missions. The rear of the sanctuary was remodeled and the stained glass windows added, the red hymnals and carillon bells donated, and a new choir loft and organ installed during his time here.

Wesley Daniel is perhaps best remembered for his family, however, as his wife taught in the Spearman school system and all six County men.

Colonel working at the Pentagon. Lyn married Joey Woolley and has remained in Spearman. He works for Northern Natural Gas. Their children are Meg, a sixth grader, and Brady, a third grader. Beckee married Reagan Baker. The Bakers live in Spearman, where Reagan is self-employed in the fertilizer business and Beckee teaches junior high school. Their children are Khris, a senior, Kiki, a freshman, Laci, an eighth grader, and Lance, a first grader.

The Daniels' other daughters have remained in Texas. Debie Bryant works in securities in a Dallas bank. She and her husband Craig have a daughter, Carrie, who is a high school freshman. Kim Messamore and her husband Haldon live in Sudan with their children Andy and Jay. They work in farming. Dana ("Buzz") Daniel is a hair stylist in Lubbock.

The 1992 revival Wesley Daniel will lead beginning this Sunday has been described in advance as "the Best of Wes." The Methodist minister will speak on a variety of topics in his locally-famous folksy, storytelling style. Sermon titles range from "A Fresh Anointing" to "The Gospel According to Humpty Dumpty."

Beth Daniel, who has always daughters were educated here. been described as a vital part of the Three went on to marry Hansford Daniel ministry, will speak at the Tuesday, March 14 noonday meal.

I could tell at the beginning of this week, that I was not going to be terribly inspired to do a chitchat column. I could also tell that on the second day, I was in trouble - big trouble. I still could not come up with a topic of conversation; basketball season was over; the livestock show was over.

So I consulted my friend Grace, otherwise known as Amazing Grace. Amazing Grace sometimes writes a joke or two and that like most all of us writers, she steals. Last time she wrote, she told me about the farmer who had two horses but couldn't tell them apart.

He lopped the tail of one but it grew out. He tried putting a bell on one horse but it fell off and he still couldn't tell them apart. Then he decided to measure the horses to see if one might be taller than the other. And sure enough - the black horse was six inches taller than the white horse.

She sent another story about two hunters arguing about tracks in a field. One reckoned as how they were deer tracks and the other figured they looked more like tracks made by buffalo. While they were standing there arguing, a train ran over them.

Well, while my brain is trying to figure that one out, I'll report on some of our visitors this past weekend. Mike and Pat Burnam were seen during our livestock show. After they left Gruver, we did not know if they had returned home to Cordell, Okla., or if they took a side trip to visit with kids and grandkids.

In addition to the visits with Paula and David and Judith Tarbet of Clovis, N.M., Bob and Connie Burgoon had as guests Bill and Susan Burgoon and their sons Reese and Riley from Borger. Now, you talk about having two goodlooking grandkids, Bob and Connie are blessed. Plus another grandson Jared and granddaughter Kayla Ann, whom we are all anx-

Other grandchildren enjoying visits from grandparents were J.D., Jared, Crystal and Zac Christian. The Tweedys, from Colorado, are parents of Rhonda Christian and they came down to help cheer Crystal and Jared on as they showed some good-looking pigs at the stock show. I imagine there were a lot of others visiting the stock show and watching relatives and their animals perform.

Guests from Amarillo and Texhoma were Velma Renner and Madeline Harland, who are visiting in the homes of B.J. and Glenda Renner and Weldon and Elene Grandmother Anna Beth Woods has enjoyed having Rebecca Echols, who is the daughter of Frances (Woods) Echols.

Also, we had Bennett Hains in the home of Del and Barbara Cluck, Pam Evans in the home of Ted and Louise Evans. Former resident of Gruver, Crystal French of Dalhart, visited her grandparents Harvey and Phyllis Atwood.

Others in the Gruver scene were Cindy Mosteller of Richardson, Texas, guest of the Ralph Mireles; and Phyliss Tolle of Broken Arrow, Okla., and Pamela Hookham of Bixby, Okla., were guests of the True Leathermans. Some of our college students had a quick visit with home folks. Included were Kristi King and Dan McCloy, who is attending school in Alva.

Robin (Karlin) Castillo with daughter Cassie Marie caught a ride to Amarillo where Dixie met them and brought them to Gruver for a few days visit. Danny and Harletta Carthel and family entertained guests this past week-end. I am presuming it was Danny's brother, etc. All I know is that a mighty cute child was with them. I always notice the cute kids.

Well, the Bobby Hicks and Stan Seagler families all shared birthdays together at Bobby and Carolyn's home. Birthday honorees were R.L. Ballard, Susan Hicks, Mitzi Moore, Trent Seagler and Melissa Ballard. That made for a big cake and probably lots of candles. Those enjoying the party were Bobby and Carolyn Hicks, Bobby Dale from Houston, Susan (Hicks) Lancaster and Amanda from Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Hicks of Hale Center. Others from Hale Center were Roger and Linda Mahagan, Courtnei, Ashlei and friend Abbey Rambo. Those from Springfield, Colo., were Mr. and Mrs. R.L. Ballard, Wayne Ballard and Melissa, Mitzi Moore and children Cody and Phalysha. Those from Gruver were Stan and Sharon Seagler, Ty, Troy and Trent Seagler. An additional guest was Kimberly Bivins of Canadian, visiting in the Seagler home.

Good news for Jerry and Judy Virden, who would like to announce the arrival of a new grandson. Quentin Todd Virden arrived on March 12th, 1992, weighing 6 lbs. 5 oz. Proud parents are Kenny and Rhea Virden of Amarillo. Proud great-grandmother is Mary Virden students who reside outside district boundaries. The board had previously set a tuition figure at $1,000 per school year. In a related move, the board had its first readthe charging of tuition for out-ofdistrict students.

Property insurance for the school district was renewed with Gruver Insurance Agency for a one year period.

This duo won the "oldies" category of the Palo Duro Players' lip sync contest. They are Brandon and Texana Clyburn, who lipsynced a Sonny and Cher classic, "I Got You Babe." Other top finishers were "The Angels" and "The Parties."

In a review of the 1991-92 basketball season, school board members met with girls' head coach Steve Myatt and were very complimentary of the girls' season, coaches ing of a local board policy regarding and team. The board offered congratulations to Myatt on his girls' team, which advanced to the regional tournament after winning the area title.

> Cathey said that the board will meet with the boy's head basket pall coach at next month's meeting. Corky Chapman was appointed to be election judge for the May 2 general election, and Norma Swink was appointed alternate judge. Margaret Fry was named absentte clerk for early voting, said Cathey.

The board discussed the cafeteria collection procedure and decided to make collection of lunch money a function of the cafeteria staff for the elementary level, removing the responsibility for collection from the elementary teachers. Cathey said that up to five charges in the school cafeteria will be allowed next year.

In his superintendent's report to the board, Cathey explained that accreditation visits in the future will be based on site-based decision making techniques, a subject that GISD has already begun to address.

High school principal Barry Haenisch and elementary principal Bob Burgoon are to write a technology plan for the district, involving staff development training to go along with classroom computers, said Cathey. He said if the local technology plan is accepted by the state, funding will be available to GISD to help pay for implementation of the plan. Laura Blassingame, junior high principal, is in charge of the committee which will develop the plan, said Cathey.

Gruver school board members cast ballots for two directors for Region XVI Education Service Center, said Cathey.

The board voted to authorize payment of claims totaling $87,214.87 in its final agenda item.
