MISS BOLES MOVES UP

Advances from Fourth to Second Place—Miss Brown Still Leads—Heavy Voting.

The piano contest this week shows an increased interest on the part of the buying public, although the voting is not nearly so heavy as it is expected to be later on when the busy season arrives. Miss Adrian Brown still leads. Miss Loxa Boles has advanced from fourth to second place and is close behind the leader. Misses Pearl Lane and Golda Stanton crowd closely upon the leaders, and the four are really bunched for first place. However, the race is so new that there is no prognosticating a result this far ahead, and there is not a candidate in the list but stands a splendid chance to come out first in the end.

Read the advertisement of the contest on page 6. It is all explained there. If you wish to vote in the contest all you have to do is to call for tickets at time of purchase. The standing as reported yesterday, all boxes reporting:

Notice to Ice Consumers.

On account of the recent advance in the price of steam coal we are compelled to advance the price of ice on and after Monday, July 29, after which date the price will be 10c per hundred pounds higher. We regret the necessity for the raise but find it absolutely necessary. tf

Respectfully,
COLD STORAGE POWER CO.

A prominent business man told us one day recently he had heard any number of farmers kicking about the lack of watering facilities in Clarendon for their teams. At times they were forced to put up at a wagon yard in order to get water for their horses. The new watering trough at the court house will relieve the situation somewhat, but it would be much better if the city had a public fountain in the business district. One of these metal fountains that never runs over nor gets dry, placed in the center of the crossing of Kearney and First streets would be just about the idea.

Whist Party.

The smart set were royally entertained at the handsome home of Dr. and Mrs. T. E. Standifer last Friday night, whist being the topic of the evening, followed by dancing. Dr. and Mrs. Standifer and Judge and Mrs. A. L. Journeay were the hosts and hostesses of the evening, and the guests are indebted to them for one of the most pleasant affairs of the season.

Tables were provided for forty-eight couples, and never was the fascinating game better played or more enjoyed. The midnight hour was close at hand before the finish was reached and refreshments announced. These refreshments consisted of a dainty and tempting spread, prepared as only the past masters in the culinary art know how, and served with delightful charm and simplicity.

Then the floor rugs were removed and the dancers took possession of the large double parlors. The "light fantastic" occupied the balance of the evening, and at 3:30 a. m. the guests departed for their homes, all voting the evening a most splendid success.

Miss Elizabeth Martin won the lady's prize in whist with a score of sixteen; the prize was a piece of hand-painted china. Mr. W. H. Cooke, Jr., captured the gentleman's prize, a handsome mounted ink stand, with a score of fifteen. Mr. Stanhope McClelland was awarded the consolation prize.

Lands for Sale.

The Hedley-Rowe Land Company begins business August 1st with over twenty thousand acres of land for sale in the vicinity of Hedley and Rowe. Many well improved homes and some good ranch lands to be sold at reasonable prices and on good terms. For prices and terms apply to

The old McLean property in the west part of town is to be cut up into blocks and lots and sold out at a very early date. The agents, Messrs. Alexander & Cole, announced last week that a number of choice lots would be given away to people who would build homes thereon. There are some elegant locations for beautiful homes in this property, and it is not so very far out.

Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Bonds, of Nocona, are here and will make Clarendon their future home, their household goods being now on the road. Their son, E. Bonds, is also moving here, having bought a tract of the Patterson land some weeks ago. All are friends of S. C. Chestnut and family.

Grand Matron Gray, of Clarendon, and Grand Secretary Leonard, of Ft. Worth, honored the Claude chapter of the Eastern Star by a visit on Monday afternoon. An interesting address by each, with practical suggestions for the benefit of the local chapter occupied the hours until train time, though the Eastern Stars never fail to have time to eat and plenty of good things to serve.—Claude News.

C. C. Stewart is enjoying a visit from his father from Ellis county. The Stewarts are old Ellis county friends of G. S. Patterson and family.

New Jury Law.

A new law which went into effect on July 12th, provides for the selection of jurors in the county and district courts by the wheel method.

This new method of selecting jurors entails considerable work upon the tax collectors of the county, the county and district clerk, and the sheriff, who, as provided by the new law, must select the names of all qualified jurors in the county, cutting out all the exemptions, and place the names in a wheel, from which they will be drawn at each term of court. The lists are made up in August and are supposed to last two years. All jurors and special venirees are drawn from this wheel and when a juror has served for four years his name is taken from the wheel and he will not be called upon again for jury service for two years.

Steers Sell.

J. D. Thompson sold this week to Brooks, Davis & Smith, of Sioux City, Iowa, 200 two-year-old steers, averaging in weight 800 pounds, at the good round price of $25 per head; also 60 cows and heifers at $20. This was as fine a lot of young cattle as have ever been sold from the Panhandle and Mr. Thompson is to be congratulated on producing a herd that takes the top of the market.—The Hereford Brand.

One of the new laws requires ginners to make monthly reports to the state commissioner of agriculture through the county clerk. It is necessary for each ginner to file his application with the clerk for permit to operate his gin. This application will be forwarded to Austin and the proper blanks will then be sent the ginner. County Clerk C. A. Burton asks the Banner-Stockman to call the attention of the ginners to this matter, that they might comply with the requirements of the law.

The S.S. Convention.

The Sunday school convention held with Lelia Lake school last Sunday is said to have been a success. A couple of the papers read on the subject, "How to Make the Primary Class Attractive and Interesting to the Little Folks," were of such merit as to be handed in for publication. We publish the shortest of the two herewith, being somewhat crowded for room this week. It is by Mrs. Annie E. Sims, of Lelia. Next week the other paper, by Mrs. G. A. Wimberly, of Hedley, will appear:

Christ said, "Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven."

This being the divine injunction it becomes our privilege to discuss ways and means whereby we may bring the children to a better understanding of Christ and his teachings.

Man in his primitive state must have something to worship. It may be the planets, or it may be images of his own construction but wherever man is found he recognizes his dependence on an all wise and all powerful Being. The primary teacher understanding the natural inclination of a child to reverence and worship finds herself the shepherd of her little flock directing them to the one living God. The mother is the primary teacher's best help, she and she alone can insure regular attendance and well prepared lessons.

The bible says, "Train up a child in the way it should go and when it is old it will not depart from it." Every mother should memorize that text and do her utmost to follow it. The co-operation of the parents simplifies the primary teacher's work.

The lesson to be attractive should not be long. There are few advanced classes that will survive long tiresome lessons. A teacher's skill in instructing a class depends on his or her ability to present the lesson in an attractive form. Children are too tender in thought to grasp the full meaning of our bible lessons but the teacher may reproduce them in a story bringing out the main feature of the lesson, describing the surroundings, manners and customs of the people and otherwise enlarging on the lesson to make it attractive.

The primary teacher should not be primary in her knowledge. To teach a primary class successfully requires far more thought and study than to teach a more advanced class, and the superintendents should place their most experienced teachers over the younger pupils.

The mind of the child is more retentive than the mind of the adult and the scripture learned in childhood although not fully comprehended at the time will often in after years come back with full force and meaning, and while the primary teacher may often be discouraged and fail to see any good results from her labors let her remember that it is only given to her to sow.

MRS. ANNIE E. SIMS.

Ed Mahaffey, a prominent Gray county farmer, was here a couple of days this week visiting the families of R. S. Kimberlin and A. M. Beville. Mr. Kimberlin says Mr. Mahaffey is one of the best farmers in the Panhandle, having visited his place a few weeks ago. That he will make 9000 bushels of Indian corn, besides a fine crop in other lines. Mr. Mahaffey will send a daughter to Clarendon College this next session.

A large number of new desks have been received for the public school, and the work of installing them will begin at once. The crowded condition of some of the rooms will be greatly helped by the new seats.

R. N. McDaniel, of Silverton, has bought the old Andy Johnson place from T. H. Watson and will move to Clarendon. He is a son of our W. T. McDaniel.

DAILY press dispatches state that all the amendments were defeated except the one relating to the home for Confederate Widows.

HARRY KOCH, of the Quanah Tribune-Chief, will confer a favor upon us by giving the remainder of the dimensions of that contract he represents as being 65x70 feet.

We would call attention of the Childress Post to the fact that the statement made as to overcharges by Clarendon hotels has not yet been explained as promised. Clarendon people demand either a retraction or else that the party making the charge publicly show himself and make his charge specific. Let's have it next issue, Bro. Thomas.

We notice from the press that Senator Veale, in his speech at the Canyon City reunion, made the assertion that J. W. Bailey would never meet him on the question at issue between them. We failed to learn if he stated whether Mr. Veale considered himself too heavy or too light weight to engage Senator Bailey's attention.—Tulia Standard.

Too heavy, of course; don't you know Mr. Veale?

WELLINGTON has secured the promise of a railroad "for sure." The line will be built from Altus, O. T., to a point on the Frisco between Oklahoma City and Quanah, Texas. A bonus of $63,750 with rightofway and terminal facilities is guaranteed by the citizens of the town, and the road guarantees to have trains in operation by Feb. 28, 1908. A little town that can raise that amount of money in a pinch deserves not only a railroad, but all the good things due a good town peopled by progressive spirits.

THE election Tuesday was a farce. It occurs to the Banner-Stockman that this is a mighty poor way to amend the constitution of the grand old state of Texas. Amending the constitution is a serious business, and when it comes to letting a very, very small minority of the voters make the changes it is time to make a change in the method. The next amendment that is voted on should be an amendment to amend the manner of voting on amendments. A majority of the voters should be required to vote before the change is made, or the amendments should be voted on only at general elections when the voters all turn out to the polls. The state pays out good money in advertising the amendments so that people may know what they are doing, but even this opportunity to acquire knowledge is neglected by many, and those who acquire it fail to make use of it at the special election.

Wm. Powell, the registered Hereford dealer, has made some splendid sales of late. He sold a fine bull the first of the week to Mr. Munson, of Texline, Texas. Wednesday he sold 96 head to Messrs. All of these were registered Herefords, and we are pleased to note that the people are commencing to realize that they can get as good cattle here in Channing as further east.—Channing Courier.

A FORTY-ACRE HOG FARM

Cost of Fencing and Equipping Such a Farm and Some of the Results.

Paper read before the Texas Swine Breeders' association by J. C. Hestand, Sherman, Texas.

In my effort to tell you how much it will cost to go into the hog business, we take it for granted that you now own or have rented forty acres of land, with a house, barn, smokehouse, (no, I take back the smokehouse, because all cotton farmers' smokehouses are in Ft. Worth) chicken house, orchard, garden, well of water with pump in it, horse lot, cow pasture, three mares, two cows, some chickens, and all necessary tools to raise corn and cotton. A good wife and five smart, good-looking, red-headed children, but all run down, sun-burnt, and want to quit raising cotton and go to school so they may become prosperous progressive hog men.

The first expense is to fix plenty of water for hogs. To elevate a tank, and lay pipe so it will force water through the house and to all the hog lots, will cost about $125. To build one hog shed 16x64 feet and feed bin, will cost about $75 complete. This is room for eight sows to farrow in.

Fencing horse lot, yard, garden, orchard and cow lot, hog tight, will cost about $75. To fence forty acres and cross fence twice, will cost $160. This will make seven departments for hog pasture. Dipping vat $10, breeding crate $10, loading chute, hurdles, tooth nippers, ear marker, oil can and sprinkler, $5; telephone, $6.

Seeding 15 acres to alfalfa, $50; seed wheat or barley for small patches, $5. The next expense, $200 for eight bred gilts, $15 for a boar pig, $100 for books, hog journal, newspaper, and new clothes. For the hog man's family can read, dress, visit and go to school. Now, if you will figure up, we have spent about $911 getting ready to run forty acres to hogs.

Please pardon a little digression, and I will give results. Divide crop as follows. Put 15 acres to alfalfa, cut three tons per acre, 45 tons; at present price, $600 worth of hay. Put 20 acres to corn, at 50 bushels per acre, 1,000 bushels; at present price, $600. Put three acres to oats, 150 bushels; at present price, $75. Put three acres in lot, orchard, garden, etc., and you have the 40 acres all in use. Count 15 pigs to each sow a year and you raise 120 head of hogs, weighing 200 pounds each at six months old; and they are worth $1,500 at packers' price.

Two mule colts worth $150. And I know the good wife and children have sold at least $100 worth of chickens and eggs, $100 worth of butter, two nice calves worth $20, and canned enough fruit and vegetables to do all winter.

Now, let us add again, for all hog men believes in adding. Our gross income is about $3,145. Subtract the $911 spent to start, or equip with, and we have a nice balance of $2,234. Spending $100 every month for expense, and you still have $1,234 in the bank at the end of the first year and $61,700 in fifty years, off of only 40 acres.

In conclusion, I will say that Mr. Campbell and his crowd have raised taxes mighty high. So to be able to pay, we must quit raising cotton and go to feeding the pigs.

When Bedtime Comes.

On a Santa Fe train coming out of Kansas City one night was a mother and her brood of five—four girls and one boy. They were on their way to "the new country," where the husband and father has a claim. The oldest girl appeared 15, and from that age down to the only boy, a chubby little fellow about 4.

Their dress showed that they had not been raised in luxury, but they were model children and clean. The mother was thin, her face haggard with the long trip and the care of her flock.

It was after bedtime when the train left Kansas City, and the younger ones were yawning and scarcely able to keep awake. In fact, the pet of the family had closed his eyes, while the next eldest tugged at him while she looked appealingly to her mother with an expression that was pitiful. He musn't go to sleep yet.

Presently the cause of all this excitement was made plain—it was bedtime, and they had not said their prayers. Quietly, modestly, without ostentation—yes, even timidly—the mother and children knelt together at the long seat, the baby bowing his head with the rest and rubbing with chubby hands his eyes that would hardly stay open, while the evening prayers were said.

Just for a moment, and then they arose, the children were made as comfortable as possible for the night, and soon all but the mother fell asleep, while the moistened eyes and quivering lips of the other passengers, the traveling men with their grips, the politician with his schemes, the business man with his worries, paid a silent but mighty tribute to the greatest civilization of all ages, the Christian religion.

God save the mother and her brood, bring them to their home in safety, and to their last home in peace.—Wellington (Kas.) News.

W. H. M. Society.

The Home Mission Society was well attended last Monday. Mrs. Anthony, the District Secretary, was unable to be present, much to the disappointment of the members. Mrs. W. P. Powell, first vice president, led the devotional exercises. Mrs. C. A. Burton reported three boxes sent to the Orphans Home and Deaconess home. Value $100. Mr. Beverly very kindly taking them to the depot. Some of the nicest bundles sent in were from people outside of the church, a fact greatly appreciated.

Resolutions of respect for Mrs. Powell in the death of her husband were read by Mrs. Miller and adopted by the Society.

Among the new members present were Mesdames Hardy, Holder, Killough, Dodson and Culbertson. After the regular business meeting the Misses Miller, accompanied by Miss Hilburn sang a beautiful duet. Miss Marion Barnett favored the society with one of her choice recitations, entitled "Salvation's Free." The next meeting is Monday, Aug. 19.

The officers of the society were entertained at Mrs. Britain's on Tuesday. Ice cream and cake were served and all report a very enjoyable time.

The Election.

All who knew there was an election Tuesday stand on your heads! One, two, three, — — — — —, twenty!

Now what do you think of that? Twenty people, about one-twentieth, perhaps, of the voting population of an intelligent and enlightened community casting the vote of that community for an important election!

How did the election go? We don't know; didn't take the trouble to find out. What's the use? If people are not enough interested to vote they wouldn't read the result anyhow, and a roast is about all they are entitled to.

But Clarendon people and Donley county people are not the only ones. From all reports the election Tuesday was the veriest farce. At Amarillo the judges waited until noon and not having received a vote closed the polls in disgust. At Ft. Worth, even, some of the judges forgot there was an election and failed to open the polls. Everywhere an election was held the result was about like it was here.

Some Fine Spuds.

Roy Kendall last Friday brought in a lot of Irish potatoes which were regular eye openers to those Doubting Thomases who think the succulent tuber is a stranger to Donley county soil. He sold to Bryan & Land 1400 pounds at 2 1/2 cents, and has plenty more left at home. Mr. Kendall says he always makes a good crop of this vegetable. The potatoes he sold Friday were the equal of any we have seen raised anywhere, both as to size, shape and quality.

PRESIDENT MOOD RESIGNS

Head of Clarendon College Forced by Bad Health to Give Up His Work in Clarendon.

Dr. J. R. Mood, president of Clarendon College, this week tendered his resignation to the board of trustees, to take effect immediately. The board accepted the resignation, although with great regret, and has been holding an almost continuous session since, in an endeavor to find a worthy successor and attending to such other business as had become pressing.

Dr. Mood was reported in these columns some weeks ago as being critically ill. Since that time his health has become a matter of supreme importance to him, and it had become absolutely necessary that a change of climate be sought, therefore the resignation. In company with Mrs. Mood he will leave immediately for points in Old Mexico, where it is sincerely hoped by all Clarendon citizens that he may regain his strength and health. In this wish the Banner-Stockman heartily joins.

The board is in session again this morning and it is probable that a selection will be made. The school will proceed without interruption.

LATER—Just as we go to press we learn that the board has adjourned after unanimously electing Rev. J. Sam Barcus to the presidency. Mr. Barcus has had the position before and is too well known to need an introduction. He is at present connected with Southwestern University at Georgetown. It is understood that he will accept the call to this point.

—Everybody sends post cards and nearly everybody buys them at the Bon Ton. Why? Because the selection is the best there. You can get anything you want, and then some. Ask Bagby. tf

The farm products exhibit booth at the depot is being rejuvenated by the Western Real Estate Exchange people. New exhibits are being placed and the booth made to occupy the place it was intended to fill when the citizens were called upon for the money to build it.

—Post cards, post cards; you all need them; Bagby's are best. tf

To the Public.

Do you want a square deal in the real estate line of business? The purport of this article is to tell you that if you do you can get it by transacting your business through my agency. I do not intend to drag down or cast any reflection on any other agency or any other real estate man. I am simply booming business for Brooks, and this is my way of telling you that I want to sell your land for you or help you to choose your home or farm.

I am here to stay. I have a deep and abiding faith in the Panhandle and Donley county. I left here once, but I had to come back, and I am here to stay this time, for I have found that Clarendon and Donley county and their people are my country and my people. I am in the real estate business to stay, not for a day or a year, but permanently. I have nearly everything that is for sale listed with me and can offer it to a buyer, and every time I do make a square deal, and the seller both get a trade the buyer and I could not afford to have it otherwise if I were so inclined (which I am not and never will be.) There are those among you who have known me for years. To these this talk will be superfluous; but this is to call attention of those who do not know me so well to the fact that I am in the business, want to do business with and for them, and guarantee such treatment as is exemplified by the golden rule, "Do Unto Others as You Would Have Them Do Unto You."

If you are wanting to sell, list with me; I am in a position to get you a buyer quick. If you want to buy anything in real estate it will be to your interest to consult me, for I have a large list for you to select from, and I guarantee "the square deal." Call and see me. Office over Fleming & Bromley's drug store, front room.

Yours sincerely,
J. M. BROOKS.

The Western Real Estate Exchange is showing a party of five Colorado men the beauties and advantages of Donley county this week.

The Big Camp Meeting.

The meeting now in progress at the big tabernacle is attracting large audiences. J. B. Holmes, of Beaumont, Texas, is the evangelist and, and Charley E. McVay, of Nebraska, the singer. Both the sermons and songs are highly spoken of. Services begin promptly each evening at 8:30. Friday morning, August 9, the Christian Church Convention will begin its convention program. Delegates will be present from all over north and west Texas. The Convention will last six days. The revival services will be held each evening and morning as usual during the convention.

EVANGELIST J. B. HOLMES.

Two pianos and an organ have been placed in the tabernacle and Prof. McVay has organized a large chorus which is furnishing excellent music. Five hundred copies of a new song book have been ordered for use during the meeting. Prof. McVay sings a solo at each evening service.

Evangelist Holmes is now preaching a series of sermons on "The Church in History." You cannot afford to miss a single one.

On Sunday evening Prof. McVay will sing "The Holy City," which Evangelist Holmes will illustrate with his stereopticon.

HAD AN AWFUL TIME

But Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy Cured Him.

It is with pleasure that I give you this unsolicited testimonial. About a year ago when I had a severe case of measles I got caught out in a hard rain and the measles settled in my stomach and bowels. I had an awful time and had it not been for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy I could not have possibly lived but a few hours longer, but thanks to this remedy I am now strong and well. I have written the above through simple gratitude and I shall always speak a good word for this remedy. —SAM H. GWIN, Concord, Ga. For sale by all druggists.

Notice.

As a committee appointed by the old soldiers to find the public sentiment concerning the erection of a building for Camp Sam Lanham, No. 1383, U. C. V., we feel that the best way to secure this sentiment is through a mass meeting of citizens and therefore we respectfully call upon the honorable mayor of Clarendon to so call such mass meeting, same to be on any date he may deem best prior to Sept. 1st, 1907.

A young man who tried two months of soldier life writes home to tell how he misses the society of women: Fellow citizens, if you want to appreciate woman get away from her. You don't know what the Creator did when he performed the first surgical operation on Adam. If you want to know what a grand, glorious and sugarcoated thing woman is, just join the army as I did. See nothing but men from morning till night. Join the army and loaf with men, eat with men, talk with men, help men, carry men, walk over men, shoot men, succor men; men, and nothing but men, live in a perpetual atmosphere of suppressed profanity, and at the end of three weeks you would be passionately enamored of the mummy of an Egyptian servant girl and give her an electrical kiss that would burn three thousand years of dried hide into flushed and velvety animation.—Ex.

The city council in session Monday employed A. V. Lipe's outfit for a large contract in street grading. The work is now in progress and will continue for some time. Considering the low state of the city's finances the amount and quality of the street repairing is entirely creditable to the city authorities.

THE TOO FRANK PERSON.

Some Plain Truths as Set Forth by a Woman Writer.

We all know—and respect—and avoid—such persons; the world is full of them—too full for the general comfort of its other inhabitants. And frequently what they call the truth is not abstract at all, but is merely the expression of their own particular (and frequently erroneous) opinions. Yet as they utter it they glow with spiritual pride and feel themselves in the same boat as the Christians of the Catacombs and the rest of the noble army of martyrs; never realizing that their cause is no tenet of an inspired creed, but merely an embodiment of their own pet prejudices; and their sacrifices on its behalf is neither their own life nor wealth, but merely the feelings and the sentiments of other people, says Woman's Life. Such persons are very fond of remarking that they owe it to themselves to say exactly what they think; it never seems to occur to them that they, likewise owe it to others to conceal what they think, if such thoughts be inimical to the general pleasantness and well being of society at large; yet surely they have never been taught that their duty to themselves comes before their duty to their neighbors.

Pen Economy.

The merchant before filling his ink-well dropped in two or three old pens and poured the writing fluid upon them. "Thus," he said; "I practice pen economy, prolonging three or four times the life of all my pens. You see, the corrosive power of the ink, which is immensely strong, vents itself on the old pens kept in the well and has little or no strength left wherewith to attack the pen I have in use. Try this scheme, young man, and you will find that your pens will practically never wear out."

He Left the House.

While a lady was feeding a hungry tramp the other day she discovered he was pocketing her silver spoons. Opening the door, she exclaimed, "Drop those spoons, you scoundrel, and leave the house!" "But, madam—" "Leave the house, I say!" screamed the infuriated woman. "Leave the house!" "I go, madam," said the tramp, as he reached the front gate, "never to return; but before I go I would like to say that I did not intend to take your house."—Illustrated Bits.

False Signal.

"You don't believe in romance, eh?" said the old boarder. "You bet your tinfole I don't," sighed the young man with the bandage around his head. "I had my share." "How was that?" "Well, you see I was forbidden to call on my best girl and every night she would sit out on the balcony and at a certain hour strike a match. That would be the signal for me to stick my head through the vines and kiss her." "Ah, very poetic." "Yes, but the other night I saw the match flare up, stuck my head through the vines and got the worst thrashing I ever received. You see, the old man happened to be out there lighting his pipe."

Love and the Man.

Men are delighted to be told that they are never absent from the thoughts of their sweethearts, but the husband finds this consciousness a trifle wearing. As bad as the clinging vine is the woman who makes her devotion too incessant. She is never tactful, never conscious that he wants to be alone occasionally, never capable of making herself and her affections a novelty to him. And this is a fatal error on the part of any woman. —Exchange.

Napoleon's Famous War Horse.

Marengo, the famous war charger of Napoleon, is said to have been the greatest horse known to modern history. The emperor rode Marengo for the last time in the battle of Mount St. Jean, where the horse received his seventh wound. The steed died at the age of 36 years.

Tragic Nine of Diamonds.

Carefully preserved at Stairs castle, the Aberdeenshire seat of the earl of Erroll, is a single playing card which recalls a never to be forgotten tragedy. It is the nine of diamonds (hence called to this day "the curse of Scotland"), on which the duke of Cumberland wrote his order for the butchery of the brave Highlanders who were taken prisoners at the fatal battle of Culloden.

On the Job.

Merchant (to applicant for clerkship)—and have you had much experience in this line of business? Applicant—"Lots of it. Why, I've been in 13 different situations of the kind within the last three years."

ALLEN & GOODMAN'S

EX-CONFEDERATE MUSEUM

Capt. R. S. Kimberlin Advocates the Installation of Such a Feature For Clarendon.

Camp Sam Lanham, No. 1383, U. C. V., held its regular monthly meeting at the W. O. W. hall Sunday afternoon as per advertisement. The attendance was quite good and the sermon by Chaplain S. E. Burkhead was fully up to the expectations of all. Dr. Burkhead took the boys entirely through the war again and up to the present time and his sermon was full of richness and beauty and was greatly enjoyed by all.

There were none present except old soldiers. The editor of the Banner-Stockman had received an invitation to attend and had expected to do so but was prevented by circumstances over which he had no control. However, we have heard a good deal about the meeting since, and through interviewing a number of the old soldiers we learned considerable concerning what transpired during the session. Among the interesting things was the talk of Capt. R. S. Kimberlin, commander of the camp. The Captain, after Dr. Burkhead got through, made a little talk of some twenty or thirty minutes "for the good of the order", and if reports are to be relied on the order will be benefited thereby. First he called attention to the absolute need of the old Confederate veterans showing to each other more of courtesy and brotherly love during the few remaining days they have on this earth. He advocated strongly each considering the other a brother in the true sense of the word, and especially in sickness should this feeling be exemplified. His remarks along this line elicited the hearty sanction of all.

Capt. Kimberlin then sprung an entirely new idea on his hearers; an idea which has probably not been entertained by any other camp of Confederate veterans in the South. Briefly he offered for their consideration the building of a substantial fire-proof house in Clarendon to be used as a place for holding their regular and called meetings, as a place of rest, for conversation, etc., and in which should be collected relics of the war, and on the walls of which should be hung the enlarged picture of each and every member of this camp. This museum, as it might be called, to be the property of the camp and to be in charge of the organization as long as there remained in the city a member of the same. When all have passed to their reward the property to revert to the city, to be maintained by the city government forever as a sacred legacy, to be ever perpetuated to the memory of those who fought for the Lost Cause. Capt. Kimberlin was enthused over his idea, and maintained (no doubt correctly) that a hundred years from now the city would not take a hundred thousand dollars for the exhibit. He called for expressions of opinion on the matter and not a one but seemed to think not only was the idea good in sentiment but also sound and practical. Col. Stephens thought that $500 could be raised from members of the camp alone. Others seemed to think the raising of the money would be an easy matter, and that what was lacking could be easily made up from the citizenship. A committee was appointed to secure an expression of opinion from the citizens in regard to the matter, and it will be again taken up at the next regular meeting, the first Sunday in September.

The editor has talked with the following members of the camp, all of whom have heartily advocated Capt. Kimberlin's idea, and who will support the measure, morally and financially: Col. P. R. Stephens, W. R. Bourland, B. T. Lane and G. W. Smith. The plan is thought to be feasible, and it is estimated that $1000 would do the work. The Banner-Stockman trusts that Capt. Kimberlin will be able to carry his idea out, and that the edifice will be built, to stand forever as a monument to Southern zeal and chivalry.
