Danny Stancell enrolls in phone course

COLLEGE STATION — Danny Stancell of 615 Stanton, Hereford, is among eight telephone technicians enrolled in the five-week Stromberg-Carlson central office course conducted by the Engineering Extension Service at Texas A&M University.

Stancell is a central office equipment helper employed by the West Texas Rural Telephone Co-op, Hereford.

Instructor Charles Guthrie of the Telephone Technicians Training Center said the course is designed to give the central office repairman and switchboardman the overall training necessary to work in the Stromberg-Carlson step-by-step dial central office.

It includes all switching systems, relay adjustments, circuit reading, testing and operation of the dial telephone system.

The training program is sponsored by the Texas Telephone Association and Texas Statewide Telephone Cooperative Association.

Classes continue through May 14.

FFA judging team places

A first place, two third places and a fifth place were won by FFA judging teams from Hereford High School as they participated in district judging contests at Canyon Saturday.

The HHS crop judging team, Kenneth Adams, Monty Campbell and Billy Bartels, placed first in the district. It and the other Hereford teams were coached by Jess Robinson and Richard Robinson, agriculture instructors at the high school.

Third place was given the poultry judging team composed of Jess Arthur Robinson and Ray Lee. Also taking third were the dairy cattle judges, Twig Rose, Cary Black, Danny Paetzold and Terry Scott.

Placing fifth was the livestock judging team, Otis Robinson, Leroy Johnson and Ricky Stokes.

Goodwill marks national week

Ecology is a word heard often today, but it is nothing new to Goodwill Industries of America, says Danny Bumpass, manager of the Hereford Goodwill store, in calling attention to national observance of May 2-8 as 1971 Goodwill Week.

A branch of sociology that teaches man not to clutter his own environment, ecology stresses the recycling of materials so that they are used again instead of junked.

That is an old story to Goodwill, the nation-wide network of rehabilitation centers manned by the handicapped, which collects furniture, clothing and household items contributed by people who no longer need them, then repairs or reconditions them for resale.

Goodwill shops are often frequented by antique hunters as well as people who are just looking for a bargain. This enterprise gives jobs to many thousands of handicapped people, who also do contract work for private businesses.

The principle of recycling merchandise has been applied from the founding of Goodwill in 1902 by Edgar James Helms, a young minister who was concerned about the Boston poor in that depression year. The organization has grown into a largely self-supporting enterprise with headquarters in Washington, D. C., and 173 member units.

American principles of thrift are put into effect in the stores, which find that the pioneer idea of "waste not, want not" has returned to fashion with a rich nation realizing that discarded items such as paper, beer cans and old metal can be put back into use instead of littering the streets.

Another form of ecology, which could be called human ecology, is practiced by Goodwill in using skills of the handicapped. The organization makes every effort to fit its workers into appropriate jobs; an interesting example is a neurotic who is a compulsive talker, recently placed in a shop with four deaf-mutes who were not annoyed by the constant talk that gave him a sense of composure.

The Hereford store is a branch of the Amarillo Goodwill organization. Bumpass was recently cited as National Goodwill Worker of the Year.

We've been working around the clock to restore telephone service.

Now, our job is almost done. Nearly all of the 500 tornado-damaged phones were back in service within 48 hours.

Of course, some homes and buildings were so extensively damaged that they will require major repairs or even rebuilding before telephone service will again be needed.

With the restoration work nearly complete, all of us at Southwestern Bell want to thank you, our Hereford customers, for your patience, understanding and assistance during our restoration and service efforts in the tornado's aftermath.

Our installers, repairmen, operators, service representatives and others who worked closely with you during the past days have commented frequently about your kindness and willingness to help.

We're proud of the city in which we live, its people and the role we, as telephone men and women, play in providing communications services for the city's daily activities as well as in times of crisis.

VISITING FROM GERMANY — Michael Lottner and his wife-to-be, Hanne Daucher, right, were in Hereford this week to see Lottner's sister, Gaby, Foreign Exchange student in Hereford from Germany. Miss Lottner is staying the year at the Wilbur Gibson home, 122 Liveoak. Lottner and Miss Daucher spent one week of their 30-day tour of the U. S. in Hereford.

Tourists not at first aware that tornado hit

By JANIE BANNER
Staff Writer

How would a tourist from Germany know Hereford had been struck by a tornado when he arrived at the bus station and it appeared to be in the process of a rebuilding and remodeling project?

Michael Lottner and his fiancée, Hanne Daucher, came to this city early Monday to visit his sister, Gaby, Hereford's American Field Service student from Germany.

"We never have tornadoes in Germany or any other threats by the weather," said Lottner and Miss Daucher. "It rains all the time, though."

Lottner and his wife-to-be this fall, landed April 4 in New York.

Before coming to Hereford they went sightseeing in Washington D. C., Atlanta, New Orleans, San Antonio and El Paso, Mexico, California and the Grand Canyon in Arizona.

They arrived here Monday, the day after the powerful tornado paid an unwelcomed ten minutes in the city.

This trip to the United States is the second for 24-year-old Lottner, while Miss Daucher's occupation is airline stewardess for Lufthansa Airlines and she has made countless trips across the world.

Lottner, who is studying to be a lawyer, toured Deaf Smith County Courthouse and observed court procedures explained to him by District Judge Archie McDonald.

"Your system is very much different from that in Germany," Lottner said. "Here you have a jury and there we do not, for one example."

While the German couple toured other portions of America, Gaby and her American family, the Wilbur Gibsons, were vacationing in California during the Easter holidays.

The group is at Carlsbad Camp this weekend. Lottner and Miss Daucher will leave Monday for New York and return to Germany May 2, completing their 30-day visit to the U. S.

Gaby who has only one month schooling left at Hereford High School, will return to Germany June 27. Her American mother added "But only for two years, then she'll come back to live with us!"

Lottner said his sister "is very fortunate to stay here with the Gibson family." The Gibsons plan a trip to Germany next summer, to visit their "daughters' country."

To add to all the excitement at the Gibson home, their eldest daughter, Mary Lynn (Mrs. Don Terry) who resides in Houston, came for a lengthy weekend visit.

Her husband is a Braniff Airlines ticket agent so her visits can be quite frequently enjoyed, said Mrs. Gibson.

About six million Britons go dancing each week, a survey showed. There are between 3,000 and 4,000 regular dance halls in the country.

TO MARRY IN JUNE — Linda Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Morris of 711 Cherokee, and David Wheeler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wheeler, 246 Elm, plan a June 4 wedding in the home of the bride-elect's grandmother, Mrs. Marvin Tisdale, 806 W. Bedford, Dimmitt. The Rev. Charles White, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Vega, will officiate. Miss Morris is a student at Hereford High School. Her fiancé is a 1968 graduate of Vega High School and attended college at Levelland. He is employed by Wilson Packing Plant.

H.D. CHATTER Sewing knits not difficult

By Mrs. Argen Draper
Home Demonstration Agent

SEWING into spring with knits.

Knits are the spice of your apparel life. They have a variety of characteristics — very stretchy to fairly rigid; light to heavy; soft or crisp; dull or very shiny; open or porous to very compact or solid; very plain to very patterned.

Sew them into garments from attractive sportswear to special evening dress.

They also have a variety of characteristics that influence how you handle them in home sewing. Study these characteristics and follow these sewing techniques for better results.

THE TYPE of knit influences the pattern you select.

- *Select firm knits for tailored straight lines.
- *Select soft knits for draped lines.
- *Patterns especially designed for knits may have less ease than those designed for woven fabrics.

SOME KNIT fabric edges curl.

- *Use pattern in which seam edges are not on the straight of the grain of the fabric.
- *Use zig-zag fine overcast stitch 1/4" from seamline. Do not open seam. Trim.

SOME KNIT fabrics in more tailored garment designs need shape-retaining support.

- *Use tricot knit for interfacing and backing where light support is needed.
- *Always use support fabrics which will meet care requirements of outer fabrics.
- *Usually used in faced edges, collars, under buttonholes, pockets, waistbands, some hemmed areas.

KNIT FABRICS can saag easily.

- *Cut out and handle on smooth surface.
- *Use fine, sharp needles and pins, sharp scissors.
- *Use special small ball point sewing machine needles.
- *Use special roller presser foot.
- *Use throat plate with small round needle hole and narrow straight stitching presser foot for straight stitch on zig-zag machine.

SOME KNIT fabrics are tough.

- *Use fine needles.
- *Change needles often.
- *Some knits are easily oil-stained.
- *Use chalky rather than waxy chalk.
- *Keep sewing machine free of oil.

SOME KNITS are extensible ("give" in varying degrees).

- *Use thread with more "give." Core spun thread may be desirable.
- Loosen upper and lower thread tension.
- *Use 12-15 stitches per inch. Shorter stitches are used on knits with less "give."
- *Support fabric while being stitched.

SOME machines have special stretch stitch setting to give elasticity to seam.

SOME SEAMS in knit garments need stabilizing.

- *Use straight or bias tape to prevent stretching at shoulder, waistline, armhole and crotch seams.
- *Use straight woven tape cut by pattern piece on loosely knit fabric.
- *Stitch 1/4" cut edge to prevent seam allowance from curling.

HEMS NEED special considerations.

- *Allow garment to hang 24 hours before hemming.
- *Use French or tailor's hem finish to minimize bulk.
- *Use a loose catch-stitch.
- *Use stretch lace on very stretchy knits or those that fray slightly.
- *Use double stitch on heavy knits. Baste hem in place at fold and along center line of hem. Fold hem back along the basting line and catch-stitch loosely to garment. Turn up to top edge of hem and stitch to the garment with loose catch-stitch.

MAY 6TH is the date for the county bake show. The product for 1971 are pound cake and yeast rolls. Most of the members are using these recipes but choice of recipe will be used.

POUND CAKE

- 1 cup butter
- 1 cup sugar
- 4 eggs
- 2 cups flour, sifted or 1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice or 2 tablespoons lemon extract
- 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind

Cream butter for two minutes at medium speed. Add sugar gradually, taking 10 minutes to beat it in. Add eggs, 1 at a time, beat 1 1/2 minutes after each egg is added. Add extract or lemon juice. Sift flour, salt and baking powder together, add all at one time, beat just until it's blended. Small talk

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

CLAIMS of the longest telephone call from relatives inquiring about Hereford folks after news of the tornado got around, have resulted in some hot competition and at least they prove that our storm certainly had wide news coverage.

One of the farthest points alerted was Athens; the E. W. Youngs' daughter called them from that Greek city at 10 a.m. Monday, getting through the crowded telephone circuits before their son in Amarillo was able to do so.

Mrs. Adrian Ashley made the call by direct distance dialing and had heard of the tornado several hours previously. The Ashleys are living in Athens while Major Ashley is a member of a joint military advisory group there.

THE L. B. RUSSELS were wakened at 4 a. m. Monday, and learned about the storm from daughter Martha in Honolulu, who had heard a broadcast. It was still Sunday evening in Hawaii, I think, or maybe Monday evening; those time zones confuse me. Anyway, that's another of the longer phone calls.

The Bruce Browns' nephew called from Anchorage, Alaska, and so did thousands from all the states.

ally when she said that I suspect it was an incidental remark to someone who was trying to contact her husband by phone, and who turned out to be a reporter. But she was sure right!

NEIGHBORS of Leona Packard, whose house was standing after the twister passed the south edge of town, destroying several mobile homes near her and blowing two of them against her house, praise her calmness in the general confusion.

Persons hurt in the wrecked trailers, some of them among the most seriously injured by the storm, were brought to her living room to wait transportation to the hospital. Power was off and the roomful of bleeding, crying, frightened people was a fitfully lighted.

Mrs. Packard helped and comforted them as much as possible until rescuers arrived, they said, in spite of the fact that she had suffered a death in her immediate family only the day before.

Velma Salvino was in bed in her mobile home and awakened when hail started, I hear. Then came the twister and the trailer turned over. So did her bed, on top of her.

She crawled out from under the bed, couldn't get to a door and had to take time to pick fragments of glass out around the rim of a broken window before she could climb through it to get outside.

AND THAT'S my quota of IN THAT area of Hereford, tornado stories for today!

Oldham-Hartley H. D. agent to be tea honoree

Friends in this area of Audrey Gruhlkey, Home Demonstration Agent of Oldham and Hartley Counties, are invited to a tea in her honor next Sunday from 3 to 6 p. m. in the hospitality room of First State Bank in Vega.

Mrs. Gruhlkey has submitted her resignation as H. D. agent after serving in the two counties for the past seven years.

A FRIEND of the Juston McBrides, Wendell Morris of Brownwood, phoned them just after he flew home from Spain Wednesday night. He had been sitting in a cafe in Madrid, reading the English-language section of the New York Times' International Tribune, when he saw in headlines that a tornado had hit Hereford.

That paper quoted Mrs. Edward Owsley, wife of the police captain here, as saying "We were so lucky" that no fatalities were caused by the storm.

But Mrs. Owsley never counted on being quoted internation-

ON THE RETURN — The Henry Solomon home at the corner of Star and 14th Streets returns to normal condi-

Herd drops 2 on local diamond

The Hereford High School baseball team, after winning its first two district games of the year, dropped two games here last week prior to its Saturday meeting out of town with league-leading Monterey.

The Whitefaces fell to the Plainview Bulldogs, 7-3, Thursday then dropped a 6-4 verdict to the Lubbock High Westerners. They met the Monterey Plainsmen in a 1 p. m. game in Lubbock Saturday.

The two losses dropped the Whitefaces to a 2-8 cellar spot in the district standings, behind Monterey at 8-1, Plainview 6-5, Lubbock High 6-6 and Lubbock Cornado 4-7.

The Lubbock team had to go extra innings before it was able to overtake the Whitefaces in Friday's game. The score was tied at 4-4 at the end of the regular seven innings, and it went on to the ninth before the Westerners scored two runs to win the contest.

Jeff Loerwald hit a triple and a single in four at-bats, scoring twice. Gary Lemons had Hereford's only other extra base blow, a double, driving in a run. Eugene Suttle got Hereford's two other hits, both singles.

Lubbock's Chad Utley was the winning pitcher. Alan Wagner absorbed the loss.

In Thursday's game with Plainview, the Whitefaces stayed even with the visiting Bulldogs until the fourth inning when the Bulldogs pulled away.

Holmes shoots hole in one, wins tourney

Jim Holmes, the Hereford High School golf coach, shot a hole in one and had the low tournament score of 71 to win for the Hereford Lions Club the championship in the District 2-T-1 Lions tournament in Borger Thursday.

Holmes won a golf bag for winning the tournament and matching shoe bags for his hole in one. The ace came with a 9-iron on the 148-yard seventh hole at Phillips Country Club.

The tournament was a feature of the Lions' district convention, which began Thursday and continued through Saturday.

Fifteen players competed from Hereford. There were 99 in the entire field. Charles Skinner and Don Lowder of Hereford witnessed Holmes' hole in one.

Holmes also is director of special education in the Hereford school system.

CFWC luncheon meet canceled

Cancellation of the spring luncheon of Deaf Smith County Federation of Women's Clubs, scheduled for next Thursday, has been announced by Mrs. D. C. Kelton, president.

The meeting was to have been held in Community Center. Since that building is being used as a center for agencies concerned with aid to victims of the recent tornado, and since a number of Federation members had their homes damaged in the storm, it was decided to cancel the luncheon, Mrs. Kelton said.

BUILDERS EVERYWHERE—A number of out of town builders and contractors have been in Hereford during the past week helping local workers repair and rebuild damaged homes and businesses. While the home on the left, on the 500 block of Avenue K, required a new roof its next door neighbor to the right gets only new shingles.

SCOUT-O-RAMA — Local Cub Scouts put on their exhibits and booths at the Little Bull Barn Friday night to show their skills and crafts. Awards were given for best booths.

For those who really care... Spangler's DIAMONDS LTD in Sugarland Mall

by MELVIN YOUNG

Wes Izzard calls this the "Land of the Midnight Sun," and a few others have their own names for this season of the year when we set the clocks forward an hour, but Max Leon is happy about the whole deal. He can now spend the day at the store and still get in 18-holes of golf after closing time.

But whether you like it or not, today's the day and if you have not done so already, you had better set your clocks forward 1 hour — right now — or you'll probably be late for church.

This has been a rather busy week around The Brand. At last count, we had sold about 2000 additional copies of the paper and spent about half the day Friday telling people they were too late. Most wanted to send that particular issue to family and friends in another city figuring that a lot better than trying to tell them about the tornado in a letter.

Actually, we started out Thursday morning with an additional 500 papers, realizing that some extras would be sold. By 9:30 Thursday morning we were completely out — so, we reprinted at the offset and ran an additional 1500. We thought that would surely be enough. It wasn't however and by noon Friday we were out again. We probably could have sold another 250 to 500 papers.

Incidentally, there are additional pictures of the tornado in today's paper and if any one would care to have a copy of this issue mailed to friends, we will handle it as we did Thursday. The price will be 65 cents for the Sunday Brand however, which will include postage, wrapping and the paper.

Or if you prefer, you can buy your paper and handle the wrapping and mailing yourself and save a little money. Either way is fine.

Again, we would like to commend the many people who worked so hard to keep things going in the aftermath of the storm. Sometimes we are afraid to start listing specific groups for fear of missing a few but we are particularly appreciative of the hospital and medical staffs, the police department, the sheriff's officers, the utility companies, and the fire department. The Red Cross, Salvation Army and Seventh Day Adventists also had people working, and there were a score of volunteers from throughout Hereford who took part in the cleanup operations — some who just went to a friend's home to help, etc. We have a wonderful group of people in Hereford.

We're also appreciative of the many comments concerning the coverage of the storm by this newspaper, and we sincerely hope that it was adequate. Naturally, when something like this happens you can't possibly get everything and we realize that we will have missed some things. However, we're real proud of the effort put forth by our staff of writers and photographers. They did a marvelous job in recording the events of the week.

There have been a couple of picture books published following the storm. Mike Waldrip, a local real estate dealer, has published a tornado picture magazine that is now on sale around town. And we understand that a group of writers and photographers working for the Avalanche-Journal in Lubbock will have a book on sale today. We believe it will be sold through the local Lions Club, with at least some of the proceeds going to the Hereford Disaster Relief Fund. We'll bet they both sell well.

We notice that the City of Lubbock is now trying to come up with a better alarm system, probably using the facilities of the local FM radio stations, to replace their present 12-siren warning system — or perhaps to augment it. This would be especially good for the people who sell FM radios, but we're wondering how effective the system would be. Maybe good, maybe not.

But almost every home owner in that city, and this one, has a telephone. Why couldn't some low-cost warning system be devised to connect with the telephone? Wouldn't that be the most effective way of awaking sleeping residents? It seems to us this could be the eventual solution to the problem. One thing for sure, the present sirens are inadequate.

Perhaps the local Civil Defense people should get together with officials of Southwestern Bell Telephone and see if something can be worked out.

The latest bumper sticker: Help Preserve Wildlife — Have a Party Tonight.

TO FRIENDS, RELATIVES AND THE COMMUNITY working together to protect my personal belongings, I wish to thank you.

May God bless you each in a special way.

Hereford wins TV competition

By BILL CARROTHERS
 Hereford High School
 The Hereford High School Learn and Live team captured the championship of the T. V. Learn and Live traffic law quiz show Tuesday by beating Borger 80-55.
 The championship show, which was taped, will be shown on KFDA today at 11:30 a. m.
 The team is comprised of three panel members, Sara Bell, Kima Marsh, and David Thomas, and an alternate Bill Carrothers. The team sponsor is Mike King, head of the Social Studies department at Hereford High School.
 Kima Marsh won the trophy for high-scoring individual of the competition with 135 points, Sara Bell finished second with 105 points.

 Learn and Live is sponsored by the Texas Department of Public Safety and KFDA Channel 18, Amarillo. The show was comprised of some 120 Panhandle teams, with two competing each week. Its purpose is to help educate the adult as well as the student driver on the Texas driving laws.
 The team will be awarded three trophies along with a championship trophy at a May 4 banquet in Amarillo.

La Plata choir to give musical

A musical comedy, Howdy Cowboy, will be presented by La Plata Junior High Mixed Choir Thursday and Friday evenings in the school cafeteria, beginning at 7:30 p. m.
 Mrs. Lynn McClarty is directing, assisted by Mrs. Randy Thomas, speech teacher. Music and dancing, featuring a square dance and a Spanish specialty dance, are a part of the play about a snobbish easterner spending a vacation on a guest ranch.
 Cameron Clements plays the easterner, Monty Campbell and Libbie Parten the ranch foreman and his wife, David Hutchens the ranch owner. Sky-la Thomas and Linda Womack also have major roles.
 Tickets are on sale by choir members and will be available at the door both evenings. They are priced at a dollar for adults, 50 cents for students.

Luncheon plans are completed in Cultural club

Place chosen for Cultural Home Demonstration Club's spring luncheon May 14 is the Calson House and the program will be a book review by a guest, Mrs. Clark Andrews. Plans were completed at a meeting Friday, when Mrs. D. W. Allmon was hostess in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Hilrey Aven.
 The program, Techniques for Sewing Lingerie, was given by Argen Draper, County E. D. Agent, who made a pair of panties to illustrate her talk. All major pattern companies carry patterns for lingerie, she said, and the favorite material is nylon or tricot.
 She recommended using nylon thread and lace on these garments. Shears for cutting the material should be very sharp, and she finest and sharpest pins are best, she continued, adding that shears may be sharpened by cutting size 00 sandpaper.
 Mrs. H. E. Houck and Mrs. Eugene Noel were guests, and Mmes. P. M. Houser, J. D. Love, Ira Scott, Paul Corbett, M. W. Sumner, Grady Parsons and J. G. Gandy the members present.

Letter to the editor

Dear Editor:
 We would like to take this means of saying "Thank You" to all the many wonderful people of Hereford who were so kind and willing to help our parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Ball, during the recent tornado.
 After the storm ripped the roof off both the main house and the little house, friends and neighbors helped Mother and Dad move into another house and be completely settled by nightfall the day after the storm. Several called to let us know they were safe when we were unable to reach them by phone.
 Please use the enclosed contribution in your efforts to help those storm victims less fortunate than our parents.
 Sincerely,
 The Ball Children — Betty, Bill, Francis, Pat and Bob

Painting receives mention

Honorable mention in the Texas Fine Arts Citation Show at Amarillo last week was received by Mildred Guinn of Hereford for an oil painting titled Winter Scene Near Hereford.
 It was one of five paintings entered by Mrs. Guinn in the show which was sponsored by the Amarillo Chapter of Texas Fine Arts Association. There were 153 entries.
 The Hereford painter is a pupil now of Ben Koon, an Amarillo painter and teacher who conducts a weekly class here. Her painting which won mention in the show was a snow scene painted from a photograph which appeared in The Hereford Brand last January. The original photo was made by Marshall Day of the Brand staff.
 The unique frame was made by Mrs. Guinn from an old window frame which she refinished.

Miss Long of Borger is bride of D. W. Schmer

Donald W. Schmer and his bride, the former Miss Patricia Gayle Long of Borger, are at home at 507 Schley Street after their marriage Saturday afternoon in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sell W. Long, 303 Estreno, Borger.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde C. Schmer, 224 Beach.

Yellow gladiolas and white chrysanthemums decorated the living room where the Rev. Joe Dee Ray, pastor of First Baptist Church at Borger, conducted the double ring ceremony. The bride's father gave her in marriage.

Attending the couple were Mrs. James Reames, cousin of Miss Long, as matron of honor and Terry Albracht of Hereford as best man.

The bride carried an heirloom handkerchief belonging to her grandmother with her bouquet of daisies and babybreath. She was dressed in primrose yellow batiste flocked with tiny flowers in deeper yellow.

The street-length dress was made with empire waistline, skirt flaring to a full circle at the hem, and long puffed sleeves gathered at the wrists. Velvet ribbon in matching color around the high waistline was tied at center back.

Mrs. Reames wore a yellow knit dress accented with white accessories, and a corsage of white and yellow carnations.

Mrs. Long chose for her daughter's wedding a blue knit dress, black accessories and a corsage of yellow and white carnations. Mrs. Clyde Schmer wore a white dress with navy trim. Red carnations made her corsage.

Guests were received by the couple and their parents in the Long home after the ceremony. Mrs. Pat Green of Purcell, Okla., was at the registry, Miss Judy Grubbs of Borger served the wedding cake and Miss Karen Scott of Amarillo ladled punch.

A gold cloth on the table was centered with yellow gladiolas and white pompon mums. Yellow sugar roses and wedding bells ornamented the tiered cake.

A Borger High School graduate with the class of 1968, the bride has attended Frank Phillips College and West Texas State University. The bridegroom also attended WTSU and served four years in the U. S. Navy since graduation from high school in Hardin, Mont., in

COLD STORAGE

CAMBRIDGE, England — Babies on ice are a prospect for the future. University researcher Dr. Robert Edwards predicts couples will be able to delay the birth of children by having their eggs and semen stored in ice.

"Deep-freeze babies are just one of the science-fiction-like possibilities growing out of startling progress made by British researchers," Dr. Edwards says.

Willingness to help emerged from tornado

The way the people of Hereford responded to help their fellow man after Sunday night's tornado was something we can look at with pride.

It would have been creditable for any community the way the people banded together from both an individual and a collective standpoint to see that things got back to the status quo as soon as possible.

But especially so in Hereford's case.

'Yarborough way' is faulty

A KNACK for reducing issues and arguments into the simplest of terms has proved of great value to former Sen. Ralph Yarborough in several of his political campaigns.

The method was well-illustrated in Mr. Yarborough's Earth Day speech in Lubbock. "We've spent," he said, "110 billion in the past 10 years for a foolish cause in Southeast Asia. If we had spent half of this we could have cleaned up all of this nation's air, water and land."

It is far too light an exercise to dismiss U. S. involvement in Southeast Asia with the flick of a phrase, however badly handled the effort might have been. Mr. Yarborough, clearly, has not been a wiser man than four U. S. Presidents who, although differing on many issues and in many ways, felt that their country should not run out on its commitments and its principles.

Some of the commitments in Asia have been made by Chief Executives, others by treaties and actions solemnly approved by the Senate and full Congressional agreement. These participants, obviously, have not been "foolish," as Mr. Yarborough put it.

Just as obviously, spending of $55 billion could not have "cleaned up all of this nation's air, water and land." That task, especially if the idyllic goals of super-environmentalists are to be met, is much bigger and many times more costly than that.

In fairness, it should be noted that Mr. Yarborough seemed to recognize the hard environmental facts in expanding on the subject. However, to tell audiences made up largely of concerned young people that foreign policy "foolishness" is responsible for continued pollution problems is subject to disagreement.

The "Yarborough method" backfired on the Senator in his 1970 campaign for renomination. He has pointed to numerous reasons for his surprising defeat, but the principal one was that too many Texans were repelled by his simplistic views on the war.

If Mr. Yarborough intends to try for the other Senate seat or for Governor next year, as seems likely, he would be well-advised to try more credible commentaries — Lubbock Avalanche Journal

The tornado was a rarity. In Hereford's previous 70 years, the tornadoes that roam the Plains with considerable frequency each spring had hit here and there, but never in Hereford.

Our people stepped into action as if it were a routine they'd handled time and time again.

So many people gave their efforts, but the sheriff's department, the city police, the highway patrol, the fire department and the electricity, water and gas workers stand out in particular.

Within an hour after the storm hit, house-to-house checks for the injured were underway, the fire department and various enforcement personnel stationed themselves at intersections to ward off sightseers. At the courthouse, Civil Defense Director Bill Thompson, County Judge H. C. Williams, Sheriff Travis McPherson, Department of Public Safety Sgt. Bill Wells and other officials were directing the efforts.

John Gilliland had his ambulance in service all night long and took a doctor with him on his probes into areas hit by the twister. City Manager Dudley Bayne, who himself was slightly injured when the tornado hit his home on Star Street, was in front of City Hall conferring with various officials shortly after the wind blew out of town.

KPAN came on the air about 1 a.m. to provide citizens with news about the storm. The Parks and Wildlife agency, the juvenile officer, and others all moved in to take a major part.

The general citizenry also responded, of course. Neighbors volunteered the use of their garages for storing furniture, moving van companies offered free storage, a cleaning establishment offered to clean and store clothes for free for storm victims. Friends offered rooms in their houses for those whose homes were destroyed.

From start to finish, it was a splendid effort.

Postal rates confiscatory

Government can infringe on freedom of the press through either direct intervention in the contents of publication or through confiscatory charges on distribution.

Proposed second-class mail rates set by the Postal Service in effect would curtail newspaper distribution to thousands of readers.

If the rates are approved by the Postal Rate Commission, newspaper management could see subscription costs increase 142 per cent in the next five years.

Squeezed by higher costs on all sides, newspaper patrons may find the forced rate increases prohibitive. Newspapers and other publications, therefore, would become beyond the financial reach of many Americans.

Particularly hard hit will be small weekly newspapers, which depend almost exclusively on the mail for distribution.

The new rates are based on 199 per cent of attributable or actual, costs of handling the mail. Postal officials say that the extra charge is necessary to cover overhead beyond actual handling costs.

We appreciate the fact that the Postal Service is attempting to operate on a business-like basis. But when rates clearly prohibit many Americans from access to varied publications, freedom of the press, guarded by the U. S. Constitution, is endangered. Reassessment of the proposed rate structure is in order. — Dallas Morning News

"Did You Know?," quier "Commerce" magazine, "The Post Office inaugurated an experimental express mail service between 26 cities, including Chicago, Dec. 1. Limited to 10 firms on contract in each city, the service provides messengers to pick up specially marked mail at the originating firm and messenger delivery direct from airport upon arrival. Sounds a little like the operation Bill Cody rode for out of St. Joseph, Mo., back in 1860."

Congressional spenders eye even steeper taxes

By BERT MILLS
Washington, D. C. — Taxpayers who bled a bit for Uncle Sam recently should pay attention to what is going on in Congress, where the spenders are riding high and threatening to make necessary even steeper Federal taxes in the future.

In less than 60 days after the 91st Congress began work, Senators and Representatives proposed 85 new domestic programs which would cost the taxpayers more than $130 billion during the next fiscal year alone. If all these bills became law and cost no more than is now estimated, the impact on the already swollen Federal budget would be a whopping 60 percent increase.

Nor is that the full story. Senator Carl T. Curtis, a Republican from Nebraska for whom the spending study was made, told the Senate that there are more than 50 other new spending proposals in the hopper which could not be included because nobody knows how costly they might be. Both the 85 and the 50-plus figures exclude duplicate bills.

The total cost of passing the 85 new programs would be almost double the first-year expense. The eventual bill would add up to about $240 billion — an increase greater than the entire 1972 budget, Senator Curtis said such a figure "is more than staggering; it is virtually incomprehensible."

How Much is $1 Billion? Even Senators who deal regularly in boxcar figures find it difficult to comprehend $1 billion, let alone $130 billion or $240 billion. So Senator Curtis trotted out a few examples of what can be done with a measly billion dollars. All the food produced and consumed on U. S. farms in 1961 could have been bought for $1 billion. It would have paid the grocery bill for every American family for one week in 1963. In the same year, it would have paid all the expenses of all U. S. college students for the whole year, or the dentist bill for all American families.

$1 billion would have paid all the expenses of the Federal government for the first 60 years of its existence. If a billion one-dollar bills were placed end to end, they would extend four times around the globe. If one walked that golden path, picking up one bill per second for a 40-hour week, it would take 134 years to become a billionaire.

So $1 billion is a lot of money, and yet members of Congress propose to spend 130 times that much on new domestic programs, next year alone. The thought is indeed "staggering."

Chief Sponsors Seek Presidency
Senator Curtis' speech was not a partisan attack by a conservative Republican on liberal Democrats. However, he noted that six Senators being mentioned as Presidential prospects are the authors or chief sponsors of bills that would cost well over half the total shown in his study.

The Nebraskan did not mention any fellow legislators by name. However, he did give bill numbers and titles which makes it easy to identify the big spenders. At the top of the list is Senator Edward Kennedy (D. Mass.) whose Health Security Act would cost a fantastic $77 billion when fully implemented, according to the official estimate by the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare. Kennedy has denied that, but concedes the cost in the first year would be $41 billion.

Health and welfare bills are most popular among the spenders, accounting for 37 percent of the total cost of measures studied by Curtis. Education ranks a close second with 35 percent. The U. S. already spends about $15 billion annually on health programs, but the proposals if enacted would jump that figure to over $77 billion. Education programs are budgeted to the tune of $8.8 billion next year but the spenders would up that total to $18.3 billion.

Senator Curtis warned: "The American people are not really aware of the profligacy with which some of their elected representatives propose to divest them of their hard-earned tax dollars, or the extent to which such programs, if enacted, would heap new tax burdens upon them."

The moral is obvious for bleeding taxpayers: let Washington know that voters will reject politicians who sponsor or support expensive new programs that threaten the nation with bankruptcy.

Talk of Texas

By JACK MAGUIRE

FOOTNOTE TO HISTORY — On April 23, 1934, the best balloon pilots in America gathered in San Antonio hoping to set a new world's record for this type of aircraft.

Kelly Field was the launch site and seven balloons were entered in the National Elimination Balloon Race. At stake was a $1,000 first prize, the chance to beat the existing distance record of 1,000 miles and a chance to go to Belgium to represent the U. S. in the Gordon Bennett Cup race. Each balloon carried a pilot and co-pilot.

Three of the seven entrants failed to cover as much as 1,000 miles before their crafts came to the ground. The winner traveled 1,100 miles in 44 hours and finally landed near Rochester, Minn. But nobody came close to setting a new record, although three finalists did go on to the Belgian race. They failed to place there, too.

Bargain — The Austin State Hospital for the Mentally Ill, valued at more than $11 million today, cost the state only $200 when it was opened in 1897.

Austin citizens donated the land by raising $2,500 through public subscription. The state added $250. With that as a start, the State Lunatic Asylum became a reality. Its name was changed in 1925.

TRAVELING TEXAS — History buffs who don't demand too many conveniences will enjoy a stop at Hueco Tanks State Park, newest addition to the state system.

The 738-acre park reached over a dirt road that leads off U. S. Highways 63-90, is 23 miles northeast of El Paso in one of the most desolate (and most beautiful) areas of the state. The park has almost no facilities for visitors and does not allow overnight camping. However, more than 200 cars of tourists "discover" it each week.

Hueco (a Spanish word meaning hole or hollow and pronounced way-co) Tanks have been a watering place for Indians and travelers for centuries. They were a stop for the Butterfield Overland Mail and for pioneers traveling to California in the 1840 gold rush. The park is famous for its natural beauty and Indian pictographs, but offers no recreational facilities.

WHAT'S IN A NAME? — Negro troops who made an outstanding record as members of the Ninth and Tenth Cavalry regiments stationed on the Texas frontier in the 1890's probably got their nicknames, "Buffalo Soldiers," from the Indians they fought.

When the Indians first saw the young black soldiers without their forage caps, their kinky dark hair looked not unlike the mane of a buffalo. Hence they were dubbed "the buffalo soldiers."

SENSING THE NEWS

By Anthony Harrigar
EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Southern States Industrial Council

It is not without significance that in the weeks preceding the massive "peace" demonstrations planned for this month and next, the Federal Bureau of Investigation has come under especially heavy attack from the New Left political allies and ultra-liberal elements in the media. The FBI is the nation's principal agency for uncovering criminal, subversive activities. If the FBI is inhibited, the revolutionary organizations that mask as "peace" groups will have a much greater opportunity to achieve their objectives.

For months, the nation's most respected law-enforcement agency has been the target of abuse from spokesmen for the "peace" movement. Those who oppose indictment of persons charged with conspiracy to kidnap presidential aide Dr. Henry Kissinger have been especially noisy in their condemnation of the FBI. Life Magazine, in its April 9 issue, adopted the position of the "peace" militants, deploring FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover's "preoccupation with the surveillance of student groups" and saying that the Bureau's function is "under serious question."

The FBI isn't being questioned by millions of Americans who rightly regard the Bureau as the model law enforcement agency and a bulwark against bombers and protesters seeking to terrorize the United States. Atty. Gen. John Mitchell undoubtedly spoke for law-abiding citizens when he said attacks on Mr. Hoover consist of "slanderous falsehoods and the most vicious kind of name-calling."

An example of vicious commentary on the FBI is an article by Tom Wicker, Associate Editor of The New York Times, in Life. He wrote that "it now seems likely that they (FBI officials) did almost as much to create the threat (of internal communism) in the public mind as they did to root it out in the courts." Contrary to what Mr. Wicker suggests, the revolutionary threat is real. Certainly, there is nothing unreal about the bombing of the U. S. Capitol and the Army Mathematics Center at the University of Wisconsin.

Equally menacing — and equally in need of FBI surveillance — are the "peace" protests scheduled to begin April 24 and climax May 1, the traditional communist day of celebration, and May 2, anniversary of the Kent State riot.

These demonstrations were planned by a meeting of leftists at Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 5-7 of this year. This spring offensive by the radicals is likely to be on a scale far beyond anything the United States has experienced. The thrust of the May Day protests will be to demoralize the U. S. government and people and produce instant capitulation in Southeast Asia.

It is important that the FBI be strongly supported in its vital surveillance of the New Left. These intelligence operations are the only way of preventing the spread of urban terrorist warfare against the American people.

The country needs something more, of course. It needs a coordinated campaign by the federal government to reveal the statements and objectives of those who have organized the spring offensive. If President Nixon went on television to tell who planned the offensive and describe the political and psychological objectives of the New Left, the effectiveness of the radical war from within would be greatly reduced.

Unless President Nixon takes action to neutralize the radical offensive, the United States is likely to suffer more strife.

Young essayist wins top place in DAR contest for students

One of four elementary school pupils whose essays on the U. S. Constitution and its signers were designated top winners is Margaret Brumley, who attends Alkman school, Her essay follows.

JAMES MADISON, FATHER OF THE CONSTITUTION

James Madison is perhaps best known as the father of the Constitution.

He was only 35 years old when the charter of the government was completed. He had already been in public life for 11 years and at this age was a leading student of government.

Madison was born March 16, 1751 at Port Conway, Va. He lived his life of 35 years on a Montpelier farm. This farm was bought by his grandfather. It was a 6000-acre farm in Orange County, Va.

James Madison went to a college in New Jersey. It is now Princeton University. He finished four years work in two. He slept only five hours a night and damaged his health greatly. Mr. Madison then studied at home. He taught children and studied law.

Madison saw people being put in jail for preaching according to their own beliefs. During this time, he tried to get them released, but could not.

Madison then joined to fight in the Revolution. He could not stay because of bad health. This left him politics to turn to.

When Madison was 25 he was chosen a delegate to the Virginia Revolution Convention. He wrote the strong law of religious freedom in the Virginia Declaration of Rights. He helped pass a resolution asking the Continental Congress to issue the Declaration of Independence.

Madison then served a year in the Virginia legislature but was defeated for reelection because

Glady's Garden
By Gladys Howton Manjeet

The morning after the tornado had passed through part of our town, I was going from the bedroom to the den, and as I passed by the calendar, I stopped to check on the date. Instead of seeing the date, I first saw a quote, which impressed me very much.

It was "Every Morning's a Beautiful Morning."

When the significance of this message was actually measured, I truly agreed that it was a beautiful morning, in fact it was a wonderful morning. Why? Because God had been so good to Hereford, in that the lives of friends and neighbors had been spared, even though there had been devastating damage wrought.

In my heart I had a yearning to pause and give THANKS to Him for His goodness. Sincerely all Hereford people should be humble and thankful for His goodness and mercy.

Many beautiful trees have been uprooted, as well as other plant life harmed. Lawns will have to be redone, and will take much gardening to restore beauty to the grounds of the many homes which were so severely damaged. Along with the damaged things, I noticed that the iris at the Langley house where they are always so beautiful, still had many buds, and apparently had not been too badly hurt.

We especially saddened at the condition of the stately, old, silver maple tree, at Park and Ave. J. This is an old landmark and many have enjoyed its beauty, shared its shade, and admired its sturdiness. Hope it can be saved. Along with the destroyed trees, etc., there has been many new trees and shrubs planted this spring.

Of particular notice are the trees which have been planted along the driveways in West Park Cemetery. These with the new evergreens put out will make this place a more beautiful one. Thanks to the committee which planned these new plantings, and the care of the grounds.

Other grounds which are beginning to take on a new look are the grounds at the Hereford Garden Center, which is located at Park and 9th Street. At a recent meeting of the club while in business session, a landscape plan was presented and by vote was accepted. In the near future, walks, test plots and other plantings will be added.

It is the desire of the Hereford Garden Club to not only make this a place of beauty, but also one in which horticulture information will be given, and perhaps plants, etc. offered to the general public.

GARDENING TIPS: One of the regular chores of a gardener is that of spraying. In this as in many others there is a right way and a wrong way, and some Do's and Don'ts. It is important that the selection of chemical be made carefully. Study the directions thoroughly. Choose a dependable sprayer, one which has been kept clean and well cared for.

Know your sprayer, as to its capacity, weight, and types of spray. If a commercial company is used, it is well to know what chemicals they use, and how thorough they are in covering all the plants, etc. Also check on charges, and check on their concern for new plants, and perhaps some of your favorite trees etc.

The chemicals, and water must be thoroughly mixed, whether using liquid, wettable powder or tablets. Do not start spraying until chemicals are well dissolved, and thoroughly mixed. In mixing start with a small amount of water, stir in the amount of chemicals to be used; then mix together well. While spraying shake sprayer well to keep the solution properly blended.

Set nozzle to deliver the spray pattern you want — fine or coarse. Usually water is the better, especially when spraying weeds or larger plants and shrubs.

DO NOT spray on a windy or cold day. Wind will cause the spray to reach areas which it should not. And with many of the sprays a certain temperature is needed, check in the directions regarding this.

DO NOT smoke, drink, or munch on edibles while spraying.

DO NOT leave spray materials in the sprayer. When through, then thoroughly clean spray and store in a protected place. Also be sure that the top is securely fastened to the container of chemicals, and then store them where they cannot be reached by small children.

When spraying fruit trees while in bloom, select the proper materials to use and do spraying NOW, as the worms which destroy so many of the apples and crabapples are in the blossom. If you want a good fruit crop. (And who doesn't like a good juicy apple pie, jelly, or jam and apple butter?) We are the keepers of the trees and if well formed fruit is to be harvested, care in spraying should be exercised.

Just now our town is made very beautiful by the blossoms of the crabapples, plums, and other fruit trees. For landscape one cannot select a prettier tree than an apricot (they usually have fruit) or if height is needed the pear trees are lovely. Be conservative and mix fruit trees in with other tree selections.

It is also tulip time in Hereford, so many beauty spots have been created by the beautiful tulips. Soon they will have completed their flowering span, also the daffodils and other spring flowering bulbs. After the flowering time is over, then remove all faded blossoms from all stems. Leave the foliage to mature, it is in this way that the bulbs are fed for the blossoms of the next flowering season. It is never wise to let seed pods form on the stems.

Now is a good time to share the pretty, colorful blossoms of your spring flowering bulbs with shut-ins, and friends. They arrange well and colors are varied.

DEVASTATION — For the first time in Hereford's history, scenes such as this home on Star Street were seen Monday morning following the storm. Cleanup, involving many volunteer helpers, began soon after daybreak.

Prince Valiant
IN THE DAYS OF KING ARTHUR
BY HAL FOSTER

Our Story: DAWN, AND THE THREE COMPANIONS CLATTER FROM THE INN YARD EAGER TO BE ON THEIR WAY, FOR EACH PASSING DAY BRINGS THEM CLOSER TO THEIR GOAL.

THE SOUND OF HOOPS BRINGS THEM TO A HALT, FOR ON THE ROAD EACH MAN IS GOVERNED BY HIS OWN RULES. A LADY APPEARS ESCORTED BY A YOUNG MAN GAILY SINGING.

PRINCE VALIANT, IMPATIENT TO BE ON HIS WAY, WOULD PASS ON, BUT ZIRARA, EVER GALLANT, SAYS: "FAIR LADY, THERE IS DANGER ON THESE ROADS, MAY WE ESCORT YOU SAFELY TO YOUR DESTINATION?"

"I AM THE LADY'S ESCORT!" SNAPS THE YOUTH, "I SHALL PROTECT HER WITH MY VERY LIFE!" THEN GLANCING BACK ANXIOUSLY: "WE RIDE TO HER FATHER'S CASTLE, FOR SHE IS ESCAPING FROM HER UGLY, DULL, BORING AND UTTERLY UNGRATEFUL HUSBAND."

THE LADY LOOKS AT HER ESCORT WITHOUT MUCH ENTHUSIASM. THEN, WREATHING HER PRETTY FACE IN ITS MOST BEWITCHING SMILE, SHE TURNS TO THE THREE TRAVELERS AND IT IS PLAIN TO SEE SHE WOULD MUCH PREFER TO SHARE HER JOURNEY WITH THEM. BEFORE SHE CAN SPEAK THERE COMES THE SOUND OF A GALLOPING HORSE.....

"... HER HUSBAND!" CRIES THE YOUTH AND SETS SPURS TO HIS MOUNT. AND THE MOUNT RESPONDS WITH A LEAP THAT TOPPLES THE RIDER TO THE TURF.

THE NEWCOMER SLIDES TO A HALT, HIS FACE RED WITH ANGER. "NOW YOU HAVE GONE TOO FAR. I HAVE PUT UP WITH YOUR NAGGING, YOUR VANITY AND FLIRTING TOO LONG!" AND HE LIETS HER DOWN FROM HER PALFREY.

"SAVE HER FROM THAT BRUTE!" PLEADS THE YOUTH. "WHY DON'T YOU SAVE HER?" ASKS VAL, "YOU CLAIM TO BE HER PROTECTOR."

hints from Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:
My neighbors thought I should share this idea with you:
My large kitchen utensils (potato masher, soup ladle, large spoons, etc.) took too much valuable drawer space. I solved this problem with a dish-draining rack. I cut off several inches (in order for the rack to fit my cabinet door), and attached this to the inside of my base cabinet door with cup hooks.
The handles can be inserted in the slots, and the bars below prevent banging when the doors are opened.
Now I have plenty of space in my kitchen drawers where otherwise they were always cluttered.
Mrs. Daisy Thysee
That's a real doozie, Daisy!

JUST A DROP!
DEAR HELOISE:
The tiny plastic bottles from food colors (with "drop control") make wonderful containers for perfume, shave lotion, etc., for weekend trips.
The tiny funnels that come with the bottles can be left right in the suitcase and be ready for the next trip.
Mrs. S. R. Gregory

GOT COLD FEET?
DEAR HELOISE:
I made the dandiest hot-water-bottle cover from a terry-cloth towel.
Just cut the towel in half lengthwise, fold down one third and stitch across the bottom. Now fold up the other third and stitch along the sides and turn inside out.

You have one double side. Use this when the bag is too hot and the single side after it cools down.
A Reader

WHO'S HUNGRY?
DEAR HELOISE:
Wanted to let you in on my little secret on how to help your children to remember to feed their pets.
A child will remember to feed his pets sooner, and with less complaining, if he himself is hungry at the time.
That is why we always have pet-feeding time before people-feeding time at our house.
C. S.

A CLOSE SHAVE
DEAR HELOISE:
This is for the woman who uses an electric shaver on her underarms and then uses deodorant.

I use the deodorant first and then shave my underarms. This prevents that irritating feeling that you get from shaving first.
I usually wait a couple of minutes after putting the deodorant on to shave. I have done this for several years and have never had any trouble.
L. M.

HAIR'S TO YOU
DEAR HELOISE:
My hair is long and I usually wear it in a bun or a ponytail, but today I decided to roll it and didn't have any rollers. But I wasn't to be outdone by that problem.
I took an old pack of plastic-coated playing cards and rolled them into rollers and secured them with plastic tape.
They worked just perfectly and the nice thing about it is that these cards can be rolled to any size you need, large or small.
A Reader

HELOISE'S KITCHEN
DEAR FOLKS:
Here's a little hint about that all-time favorite vegetable soup:
First, always put a dash of chili powder and some paprika in tomato vegetable soup. Celery salt is delicious and so is onion powder when added.
And if your liquid is not thick enough and you are making a big pot, you can always add tomato puree. This gives the soup substance instead of being watery.
So, gals, from now on when you take the vittles off the table, and you have

HIT THE SACK!
DEAR HELOISE:
When my baby's crib-size blanket no longer covered him adequately, I folded the blanket in half and made him a sleeping sack.
All I did was stitch the side seams and insert a zipper. It made him a perfect little sack and didn't cost me anything.
Ann Ulrick

PLENTY OF ZIP
DEAR HELOISE:
I just thought up what I consider a brilliant idea.
For mothers who have small preschoolers who just will not keep their coats on when they are outside:
Just take an old diaper pin and pin it through the hole that is in the end of most zippers, zip the coat up, and pin it. That old zipper stays zipped all day.
A Fan

LETTER OF SWEETNESS
DEAR HELOISE:
As an airline hostess I meet a great many people, but one little 4-year-old girl, who was traveling alone on an emergency trip with a tag, really stole my heart.
I know papa and the kiddies will love it.
Heloise

ready to leave the plane and as she passed me she handed me three pennies and thanked me for the nice service.
She said "This is what my daddy always does when we go out to eat and I wanted to do the right thing."
Mary Jane

BATHING BEAUTY
DEAR HELOISE:
I would like to share a beauty hint that you can use with very little effort while taking a bath.
Before drying your hands use the orange stick (that you can keep in the soap dish) to push back your cuticle. The cuticle is soft from soaking and is easier to push back.
While you are drying your hands, take special pains to go around each nail—this wipes away any dead cuticle.
If you will make this a habit it will keep your fingernails looking nice and also will save you time later on.

School looks at updating Central

By MARSHALL DAY
Staff Writer
Central Elementary School may soon become Hereford's second non-graded school if funds are okayed by the Texas Education Agency.

Roy Hartman, superintendent of schools, said Friday that if the local school system can get "some kind of commitment from Title I of the Texas Education Agency within the next couple of weeks, we will have the non-graded system at Central Elementary School" by this fall.

Hartman said the transforming of Central Elementary School would not be on a complete basis, but only for the classes now called fifth and sixth grades. These two "grades" are on the top floor of the two-story Central Elementary School and the area occupied by the classes would be remodeled into five teaching stations within a learning center.

The existing walls of the upper floor would be removed to give the same effect as that at the first non-graded school, Tierra Blanca.

Title I monies from the TEA are available to finance the remodeling of the elementary school, Hartman said, but final approval must be received before actual construction work can begin. He said if the school system can get a commitment from TEA within the next month, work can begin this summer and the remodeling can be completed by the beginning of the next school year.

If the school system cannot get a commitment for the funds, Hartman said, it will be July 1 before positive action can be taken, and then it will be too late to have the learning center ready for the next school year.

Title I money is allocated to the school districts on the basis of the number of students under the 1966 census. For each student, the school receives a certain amount of money, and to this point, Hartman said, the local school system has a surplus of some $31,000 in Title I money.

This is just about $5,000 short of the cost it would take to remodel the school, but Hartman said much of the actual work will be done by local school personnel, thus cutting down on the estimated cost.

The decision to convert the old elementary school came after Hartman's office received a letter from Bill McCarley, principal at the school. McCarley asked that the officials consider changing the school to a non-graded continuous learning school.

"We also received a similar letter from Howard Birdwell, principal at Shirley Elementary but financially, we are not in a position at this time to go into both these schools and make these changes," Hartman said. "We felt that Central is the area of high concentration of children from low income families, and children who are educationally deprived."

Remodeling of the school will mean knocking out the existing walls between the classrooms, lowering the ceiling, installing adequate acoustics to utilize audio-visual teaching, installing a more adequate lighting system, and carpeting the upper floor.

"This appears it would be a big project, but basically it is not," Hartman said.

The cost of the entire project, as estimated by the school's architect, was set at $25,000. The lighting and carpeting of the floor would be the most expensive item in remodeling, each estimated at $5,000.

Assistant Superintendent Bob Holman, a strong advocate of the non-graded continuous teaching concept, said the remodeling of Central Elementary school would be a major step in the direction of slowly turning each of the other schools in the system into non-graded schools. "If we can go ahead and do this at Central, and get an idea of how it is going to look, then we will be in a better position to see if we can do the entire school and perhaps the other schools," Holman said.

If Title I money is okayed for the use in remodeling Central school, it will be the first time any such money has been used in the construction of such a project. Hartman said all previous Title I money has been used solely in school curriculum.

The school system already has a modified non-graded learning program in the local junior high schools, and some in other elementary schools, but Holman said it will be a long time before all the schools can be converted to this type of teaching-learning program.

At SBA disaster loan office

Applications for help pick up

About 45 local residents, most of them looking for money to repair their damaged homes, applied for loans this week with the Small Business Administration disaster loan office operating on a temporary basis at the Community Center.

M. A. Townsend, one of three SBA officials from the Lubbock office who are in Hereford, said the applications and inquiries about possible applications have picked up with each day.

"Our services are available to any and all persons suffering loss as a result of the tornado," Townsend said. "The quicker they get in here, the quicker they're going to get their money."

Anyone interested in the loans at 5 per cent interest should go by the Community Center and pick up an application. They then will have to come back with a personal financial statement, their 1969 and 1970 income tax returns, contractor's estimate of damage and a deed, if the tornado loss involves real estate.

"From the time they bring all that in until they get the loan, would take, I'd say, roughly 15 days to get their money," Townsend added.

Along with the activity of repairing damaged homes, some contractors are getting a number of calls to build storm shelters from tornado-edgy residents.

One contractor said he was finishing one shelter Saturday and was scheduled to start another one Monday.

"We've got quite a few calls for them. They're going real great," he said.

An employe with another construction company said, "we've sold some, I don't know how many. Several are thinking it over and are trying to get loans. I think they (shelters) are going to move quite well."

Another contractor reported selling shelters at Dimmitt as well as here.

City Manager Dudley Bayne said Saturday that the city has given no building permits for storm shelters yet.

"We haven't had any, I don't know whether they're doing it without permits, but I suspect some might be," Bayne said. Under city ordinance, the permit is supposed to precede the building on a shelter, just as on a house or other building.

City clean-up crews were working Saturday and Bayne said they would be busy today also, continuing on the job of getting the debris out of the yards and out to the city dump.

"The people sure have been good," Bayne said. "When our boys have pulled up with a truck at somebody's yard, people have shown up from everywhere to help with it. A lot of people didn't wait for us; they just rented trucks and cleaned their own yard."

Ordinarily, debris in the junk yard is not burned, but Bayne said "in our case, we'll probably go ahead and do it" because of the growing accumulation of trees, lumber and other debris. The incinerator won't handle it.

Cancer drive begins

Wherever you are, at town, at home or in the country, volunteer workers will be calling on you Tuesday to solicit your donation for the American Cancer Society.

"We want to wipe out cancer in your lifetime" is the theme of this year's drive.

Rural campaign workers will be meeting at the Hospitality Room of the First National Bank at 10 a. m. Tuesday, under the direction of Margaret Carnahan, to chart their plans for the drive later in the day.

Others will be attending a 7 a. m. breakfast at the Calson House, under the leadership of Bud Eades, prior to canvassing the business district for cancer donations.

At 5 p. m. teen-agers will be at the Community Center and operate out of that headquarters in making a house-to-house tour for funds to support the fight against cancer.

Bobby Owens will be in charge of the house-to-house drive, which will operate under the impetus of Key Club members. Other teen groups are helping, however.

"Our goal is $2,500. That's 25 cents a person," said John David Bryant, president of the local unit of the American Cancer Society. The chapter reached its goal last year of $5,000, which figured out at 25 cents a person.

Banquet honors local athletes

Gene Mayfield, successful high school coach and now head coach at West Texas State University, will be the guest speaker at 7:30 p. m. Monday at the annual Hereford High School All-Sports Banquet.

A special feature of the banquet will be the naming of the winners of the "News Service Awards" to the outstanding athletes in the seven high school sports. The awards are presented jointly by the Hereford Brand and radio station KPAN.

A framed certificate, bearing the name of the athlete, will be presented to one athlete in each of the sports of baseball, football, basketball, volleyball, tennis, golf, and track. Presentations will be made by representatives of the radio and newspaper.

Mayfield, who just this year was named head coach at West Texas State University, is a graduate of WTSU. He has, during his 17 years of coaching, compiled a record of 166 wins and 35 losses. He has never had a losing season as a football coach.

During his own junior and senior seasons at West Texas State University, Mayfield quarterbacked the Buffs to two winning seasons. He established passing records that stood until the mid 1960s.

He spent his first two years after graduation as an assistant coach at West Texas State and then moved to Littlefield High School. After four years at Littlefield, where his teams won 32 and lost 12, he went to Borger where his record was 63-13. During his time at Borger, his teams never lost more than two games in any season.

For the past six years Mayfield coached at Odessa Permian, a powerhouse in AAAA football. During those six years he never experienced a losing season, winning 73 games and losing only 10. In 1965, his first year at Permian, the Panthers won the state championship.

In 1968 and again in 1970, his Permian teams lost to Austin Reagan in the state championship game.

Not everyone hears them

Sirens inadequate

City Manager Dudley Bayne said this week the tornado sirens that failed in their attempts to alert local residents to the approaching tornado Monday morning, definitely need updating.

"The present system is not adequate," he said. "We had some calls from people on Live Oak that heard the warning, but there were some between there and the siren that did not hear it."

There are only two tornado warning sirens in Hereford, one atop the city hall building and the other near the corner of Avenue H and 11th Street.

Bayne said the two sirens are not strong enough to alert the town people of an approaching disaster, and as many as six more sirens would be needed to improve the situation.

"We are talking about six, maybe more, sirens before the system would be effective," he said. "But this would not insure it would be effective then."

"We had a 20-minute power failure earlier (before the tornado hit), and it knocked out the power. If the power is out, then the entire system is not going to do any good, so I really don't know if the siren warning is the thing to have. I don't have any other suggestion, though."

Bayne said he was sure the city would take action toward improving the warning system.

Hereford Little Dribblers early victims in play-offs

The Hereford Little Dribblers ran into some top competition in the district tournament at Dimmitt Friday and were eliminated from championship consideration.

The team, coached by Terry Hill and Karl French, led in the third quarter of its games against both Dimmitt and Levelland but faltered in the stretch.

Dimmitt defeated Hereford, 34-20, in the opening 3:30 p. m. game of the double-elimination tournament Friday and Levelland upended the local team, 35-26, in a 7:30 p. m. game Friday. Pampa also was in the tournament.

Hereford played at 7:30 p.m.

Saturday for third place, preceding the 8:30 p. m. championship game.

Archie Crim scored 12 points and Kelly Kitchens 6 for Hereford in the first game, with Scotty Taylor adding 4, David Arney and Brad Roland 2 and James Mays 1. The Hereford All-Stars led 7-6 after one quarter and 13-11 at the half and pulled out to a 26-13 lead over Dimmitt in the third quarter.

But the Dimmitt team fought back on steady free throw shooting and pulled into a 22-21 lead going into the final period, and never gave up the advantage the rest of the way. Kitchens and Crim also led the scoring attack against Levelland, the team which finished second in last year's national tournament and on Thursday night beat defending champion Snyder in a scrimmage game.

Kitchens scored 13 points and Crim 10, with Roland adding 3 points and Mays 1.

Hereford jumped out to a 7-3 lead over Levelland, with Crim making two free throws and Kitchens tossing in one charity shot and two field goals. It was 7-4, Hereford, after one quarter. At the half it was 17-17, with Crim making 6 of Hereford's 10 second-quarter points, and Levelland still had never had the lead.

But Levelland jumped out from a 19-19 tie in the third quarter for a 23-19 bulge and then expanded that steadily, first to 26-19, then to 30-21, 30-22, 30-24 and finally the final margin, 35-20.

Larry Burnett, hitting consistently from outside, scored 16 points for Levelland. Kitchens left the game with 20 seconds to play and received a sound round of applause.

On the Hereford team were Taylor, Crim, Kitchens, Mays, Roland, Arney, Kent Ellis, Scott Dryden, Franklin Carlton and Carl Simpson. Tommy Weaver and Marcial Limas were with the team as alternates.

Pioneers set May 29 for annual meet

The annual Mid Plains Pioneer Days celebration, held in Hereford every year as a gathering for pioneer families of this area, will be Tuesday May 29, at the Bull Barn.

Mrs. M. L. Hershey, secretary of the association, said the preliminary plans for the celebration were set during a meeting last week of officers of the association.

Registration for the event will begin at 9:30 a.m. and those attending the celebration are asked to bring a basket lunch that will be served at noon.

A highlight of the gathering will be the announcement of the "Pioneer of the Year" award presented by radio station KPAN. The radio station has presented the award for the past four years, honoring the top pioneer of this area.

Nominations for "Pioneer of the Year" should be sent, in 200 words or less, to the radio station.

The winner of the first award was Ezra Norton, followed by S. H. Oberthier, Bess Werner and Edgar Ireland.

Glenn Witherspoon is president of the Mid Plains Pioneer Association.

Monday rites for long-time resident

Funeral services for Pat Wederbrook, 83, of Route 3, a Deaf Smith County resident since 1904, will be conducted at 10 a. m. Monday in Rose Chapel of Gilliland Funeral Home.

The Rev. Russell Wingert, Presbyterian minister, will officiate. Burial will be in the Canyon cemetery.

Mr. Wederbrook died Saturday morning in Deaf Smith County Hospital after a long illness. He was born March 17, 1888, in Butler City, Kan., and came to Deaf Smith County from that state. He was employed as a cowboy on ranches in this area, and later was a dealer in horses.

He married Susie Knight in Hereford in 1914, and she died Sept. 17, 1962.

Survivors include two sons, Jack of Hereford and Vernon of Middletown. Another son, Billy, died in military service early in World War II, and the local Veterans of Foreign Wars post is named for him.

Also surviving are two daughters, Mrs. J. T. Hartnett of Amarillo and Vera Jones of Dumas; a sister, Lois Braman of Leavenworth, Kan.; six grandchildren and several great-grandchildren.

Annual meeting of Co-op is Thursday

The Deaf Smith County Electric Cooperative will have its 33rd annual meeting at the Bull Barn Thursday.

Following registration at 11 a. m. will come a barbecue luncheon served by the Hereford Rotary Club at 11:45 a.m.

Entertainment will be furnished by the West Texas State University Stage Band during the luncheon. The business session will be called to order at 1 p.m., with a report to the membership and the election of two directors presented by nominating committee selection.

The men selected for Deaf Smith County for election or re-election for directors are Raymond Higginbotham and Edgar Lemmons; for Parmer County for election or re-election are A. W. Anthony, Jr. and A. W. Gober. Both Higginbotham and Anthony are seeking re-election to their directorship posts.

Woman is buried at Sweetwater

Burial rites for Mrs. Fred Fogg, 46, of 405 Ross, were conducted in a Sweetwater cemetery Friday by the Rev. Wayne Shuffield, pastor of Capps Baptist Church at Abilene.

A service here was held that morning in Temple Baptist church, of which she was a member, by the Rev. J. L. Roseman pastor. Local arrangements were by Gilliland Funeral Home.

Mrs. Fogg died Wednesday. She was a native of Taylor County, born Dec. 11, 1924, and married in Abilene in 1942. She came to Hereford in 1964 from Sweetwater, her home for 15 years.

Survivors are her husband, a son, two brothers, six sisters including Edna Beavers of Hereford, and two grandchildren.

In a discussion of this year's event, Sloan Osborn, president of the Board of Directors, and James Bull, general manager of the multi-million dollar organization, indicated capital credit checks will be paid to the membership for the year 1970 in the amount of $94,068.37. This figure represents 10 per cent of the money each member paid for his electrical requirements in that fiscal year.

(Continued From Page One) us just to try this non-graded system," he said. "But, I don't think it will take us this much longer to get it into the other schools. This thing is snow-balling now and is catching on real fast."

In the junior highs, the modified programs of non-graded learning are being carried out on a limited scale in English, Social Studies and Math. In the high school, English is on a similar program, and Holman said the school system hopes to go into the high school very soon with an expanded program in Math and Social Studies.

The non-graded approach allows a student to progress at his own rate. Instead of being taught on a class basis, he is taught on an individual basis, according to his ability to learn. A student never "falls" in a non-graded system, because of this system.

On a "controlled freedom" basis, the students are urged to question reasons and at the same time experiment for themselves in class rooms that are not confined by walls. This does away with the familiar "traditional" teaching approach where a teacher teaches a class instead of the individual.

"In reality," Holman said, "we are bringing the teaching to the kid instead of taking the kid to the teaching."

The present set-up of non-graded teaching in Hereford has drawn praise from visiting college and high school instructors, but local officials say the program is not entirely good as it now stands. Holman said the entire system should be non-graded before it will actually work entirely.

As it is now, he said, students who are enrolled in Tierra Blanca will come out of a non-graded level into a basically traditional teaching system in the junior high school and high school.

"Although we have a non-graded system, in a small scale way, in the junior highs, it is not near what these kids have been used to at Tierra Blanca," he said. "He has been taught to question answers, and if the teachers are not prepared to deal with this sort of thing from a student, we are going to run into some problems."

"Also, if this concept is put into the junior and senior high levels, and the student graduates from a school of this type, when he gets to college, he is going to ask his instructor some very embarrassing questions."

In the process of changing the traditional teaching to non-graded teaching, teachers also must be changed to cope with a new type of teaching. Traditional ways of teaching will have to be abandoned, Holman said, and the non-graded must be picked up.

Bayne, who lives on Star Street, said the only reason he himself heard the siren Monday was because lightning struck his house just prior to the siren being sounded.

"We heard it, after the lightning hit, but it was real weak," he said.

"If people know they are there and they are relying on them and they don't go off, then you are right back in the same situation," Bayne said.

The city manager said the installation of several more sirens would help, and these would probably be placed in northwest Hereford along U. S. 385, in the west portion of the city and in the south part where there are no warning signals of any kind.

In south Hereford, the first area hit by Monday's tornado, the residents had no warning of the approaching disaster. The warnings are set off from

NEW SCHOLARSHIPS — Clint Formby of Hereford, center, has announced the establishment of a $300 Clint and Marshall Formby Mass Communications Scholarship at Texas Tech. Monte Rosenwald of the Amarillo Ad-

Formbys create scholarship fund at Texas Tech

Clint Formby of Hereford and his uncle, Marshall Formby of Plainview, have joined in establishing a new mass communications scholarship at Texas Tech University.

Clint, operator of Radio Station KPAN in Hereford, said the $300 annual scholarship will be one "with no strings attached," based only on the recipient's potential.

Formby said he and Marshall Formby had discussed plans for the scholarship and had decided "not to require the recipient necessarily to be among top students academically, nor necessarily to be in need of financial aid, but to be chosen on his potential in any area of mass communications."

The Formbys own and operate radio stations in Levell and Temple, in addition to Hereford.

The mass communications department at Texas Tech embraces the newspaper journalism, public relations, advertising and radio-television.

The scholarship was announced at Tech along with plans by Monte Rosenwald of Amarillo for the Amarillo Advertising Club to establish a $2,000 scholarship trust fund soon.

Clint Formby is a member of the board of regents at Tech and Marshall is a former board member. Both are Tech graduates and both are former presidents of the Tech Ex-Students Association.

Marshall is a 1933 Texas Tech graduate with a major in journalism, served as editor of the Tech newspaper, The Toreador, served four years on the Texas Tech Board of Regents, was a state senator from the Lubbock district four years, and was a member of the Texas State Highway Commission six years, two of them as chairman.

Clint is a 1949 graduate of Tech with a government major and journalism minor and was president of the student body in 1948-49.

Sophomores go on auction at school Monday

By RITA BETZEN
HHS Journalism Class
Tornadoes do much damage to property and spirits, but the one that struck Hereford put one thing off that most sophomores of Hereford High are dreading. Slave day, a day of weird dress and a lot of laughs is on its way Monday and Tuesday. Monday will be the auction day when select students of the 10th grade will model, march, and generally parade in front of the junior and senior classes.

All or most of the sophs will be purchased at all different prices by the upperclassmen. Tuesday, the purchased sophomores will have to dress and act to please their temporary-masters. A number of different and new surprises are likely in store.

Pioneer recalls other tornadoes near here

By CORINNE NEELY

Some remembrances of near-hit tornadoes in Hereford, from an oldtimer:

In the mid-1950s we had a tornado west of Hereford in the Westway area and beyond. It was around noon.

This day the sun was shining in Hereford and a smoky-looking cloud was to the west. I could not see the funnel from my home, while I walked the floor and could not eat lunch. But I could hear it — the hail and rain — a roar!

One of the Schroeter boys took a good picture of it, which later appeared in The Brand.

That day just as in the recent storm, people got in cars and drove every-which-way in panic... mostly toward the schools (where their children were better off than they were in their cars.)

I felt a great responsibility as I was then Red Cross secretary and we had no Civil Defense organization, so we had planned along with county and city officials as well as the hospital, which had its own disaster plan which we were to supplement in some ways. We had held a number of disaster clinics and always had a chapter plan set up.

Every year the local and area papers carried suggestions for people to follow. I talked to many women's clubs urging each family to have its own plans.

I followed these plans in the recent storm because I heard the siren, about a mile from downtown in west Hereford; maybe it could not be heard where the storm really was. I opened the house, and since this left my hall open I could not take refuge there as the Baynes did.

All I could do was get in the bathtub with protection over me, but seeing some of the houses that were hit, I believe even this would not have saved me if my house had been hit, unless the open house had stayed put.

Another tornado in this area was in 1947 or '48, perhaps in the spring of 1948. A small funnel followed the Tierra Blanca, which we are taught is the most likely route for one going from the Southwest.

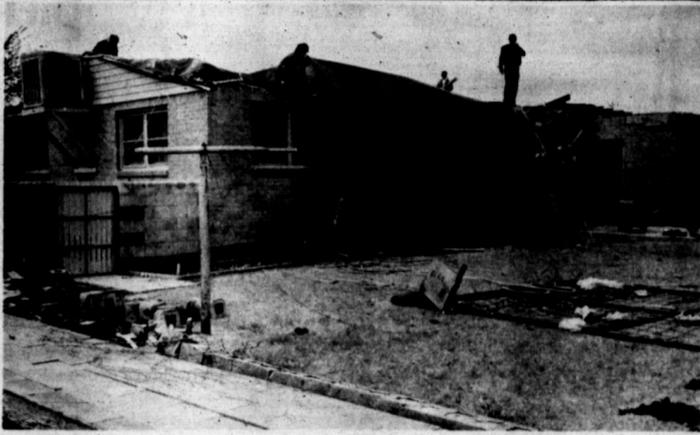

It did hit and destroy the Lee Cocanougher ranch home. It wrecked the house and they later built upon higher plains ground.

As a child I can remember once seeing a twister spiraling in a black funnel across the south of my aunt's place not far from Dawn, where I was visiting. The sun was shining where we were. I was very frightened.

Many times when visiting there we were awakened by fierce storms in the spring, which meant going to the cellar where there were beds, food, lanterns, shovels, etc.

I always had a horror of the house blowing over on top of us, which took away part of the fun of the adventure of rushing to the cellar.

Burns Hamilton returns to Mall at The Brogue

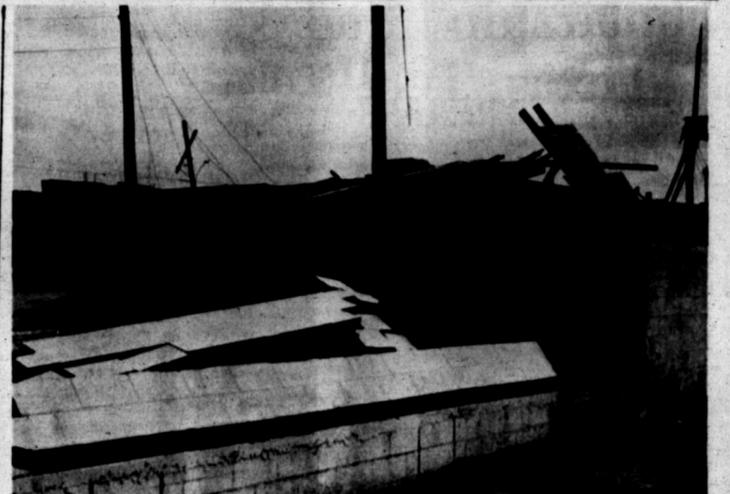

Burns Hamilton, 29, former owner of The Brogue clothing store in Sugarland Mall, has returned to Hereford to take over management of the store.

Hamilton and his wife Gina and two children, Brandi and Tanya, opened The Brogue at the Mall about five years ago, kept the store for three years then sold it to open a clothing store in Lubbock.

He had the clothing store in Lubbock for two years before taking over the store here.

From Lubbock, Hamilton attended Texas Tech then came to Hereford where he opened The Brogue.

Presently manager of the store, Hamilton said he plans to buy back into the business which is presently owned by Joe Easley and Dave Hopper.
