Presbyterian Church.

Standing room was at a premium day evening, the large audience having assembled to listen to the honor of Mothers' day.

The address of the evening was given by Dr. Faris of the Christian Church.

When the motherhood of our land shall have attained the high place accorded it by Dr. Faris in possibilities, in achievement, in influence and in service, then indeed shall woman have come into her own as the perfect embodiment of infinite. love and wisdom.

Among the many beautiful allusions and illustrations made use of by Dr. Faris, one of the sweetest was the fact that even in the agony of the cross, Jesus remembered his mother. The speaker also paid a tender tribute to his own mother in a touching poem.

Preceding the program a very excellent musical and literary program was given, including several read- | Hereford Brand ings, a ladles' quartette, a male

PUBLIC SCHOOL.

During the last two weeks, most of the pupils in the public schools have been given a picnic or some other form of entertainment by their teachers.

Several delightful picnics have have been held in Mothers' Rark and other parties have gone out of town. In every instance the teacher utilized her own holiday, as we are pleased to term Sarurday-that day whose beginning and ending is replete with the odds and ends pertaining to school.

Perhaps many who knew of the jolly parties and apparent smoothness and ease with which each days program seemed to be carried out, thinking only of the pleasure it afforded teachers and pupils, really everybody within the corporate envied the teachers with the "snap limits ought to be backed into a of a job," which gave them oppor- woodshed and relieved of her overtunity and time for so much merry- flow of affections with a No. 11 slipmaking. That the teacher enjoys per laid carelessly across her hipthese occasions goes without saying, lets. The writer was an unseen observer of more than one of these outings and speaks advisedly when saying that the executive ability, the diplomacy, and the tact, characteristic of the genuine teacher, that was displayed by the different ladies who spent those busy afternoons to give pleasure to the boys and girls---yours and mine-was worthy of a Henry

MAKING HEREFODD CLEAN

Hereford people have reason to congratulate themselves upon the attitude of its people toward the wewer ordinance.

Some forty or fifty persons, have already taken advantage of the opportunity to connect with the sewer and doubtless before thr summer is over the sanitary conditions which have existed, unavoidably in some cases, will be only a remembrance.

That cleanliness is next to godliness is true and it is also true that dirt and filth create an environment in which the devil finds a profitable field for labor.

A clean town physically is almost universally a clean town morally.

Besides this feature, is the well known fact that the general use of the sewer will add greatly to the city's chance for escaping typhoid and malaria.

Given the natural physical conditions which Hereford enjoys, these plagues have no excuse for being found within its borders.

Let's play the old game of "follow our leader," and co-operate readily and heartify with the city government in the making of a Greater Hereford.

They say that I am worthless and guess, at least, I be, 'cause kids and other people's dogs they all shine up to me. While decent men is scramblin' to nail a dollar down, I spend the best part of my time in aimless ramblin' round'. I pity lots of well dressed folks that cooley pass me by, the weariness that's on their lips, the pain that's in their eye. In winter just a corner, near some one else's fire; in summer time a patch of shade's the top of my desire. A gun when fall winds whistle a pole when fishes bite, three meals, and less, if need be, and a place to sleep at night. To turn a little favor for a stranger or a pal, to get a tender smile from a youngster or agal, to grin with them thats grinning, and weep with them that weep, to never mind my enemies and like my friends a heap, to never hurt a woman's heart nor do a man a wrong-I never ask for nothing else except to drift and loaf along .-

Two Different Effects

The quality of food is very largely determined by the ingredients in the baking powder with which it is made. Cream of tartar baking powders, such as Dr. Price's, add only healthful qualities to the food.

The cream of tartar of Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder as used in food has the same wholesome effect on the digestive system as the cream of tartar in grapes, from which it is derived.

In like manner it is in evidence that the unwholesome effects of alum, which is a mineral acid salt, exist in food made with alum baking powder.

There is a clause on baking powder labels which names all the ingredients. Read it and let it guide you.

Society and Clubs

One of the prettiest social affairs of last week was the class party given by Mrs. J. A. Fox at the beautiful Fox home in North Hereford on Wednesday, May 5th.

The occasion was the seventeenth birthday of Mr. Gilbert Fox, who is a member of the Senjor class and the guests included only those whose ames are on that much coveted

The spacious rooms so admirably adapted to entertaining, were beautiful and fragrant with lilacs.

An elaborate four-course progrestables, each daintily appointed. The score cards were floral designs in daisiss and violets. In addition to were given pen pictures in rhyme, which instantly told "who's who" and which created much jolity.

The menu included fruit cocktail, creamed chicken, peas, new potatoes, bread and butter sandwiches, combination salad, cheese wafers, strawberries with whipped cream and angel food cake.

A pretty hand deporated guest book in which the guests registered was presented to the honoree as a souvenir of the happy occasion.

A unique Shakesperian contest was much enjoyed and the entire evening will be remembered by the class of 1915 as one of the pleasantest among the many enjoyable precommencement affairs.

The Bible Study Club met Monday afternoon with Mrs. H. F. Mitchell. In the absence of Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Mitchel had charge of the program. The lesson was a review of the entire book of Proverbs. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Emmett Barnett and Mrs. Cummins will be leader.

The Mothers' Club met with Mrs. Tynes, Tuesday afternoon. A very interesting program had been prepared. Mrs. Cox read a splendid paper on the subject, "Is fear a necessary element in the up-bringing and training of children?" This was followed by short talks by the club members, on the subject, "How does fear react on the moral qualities of the child?" Next followed a word forming contest by the club. Mesdames Stegall and Stocking joined the ranks of these enthusiastic workers and were gladly welcomed. At the close of the meeting the hostess served dainty refreshments.

The Bay View's enjoyed as interesting meeting on Thursday with Mrs. W. H. Garrison as hostess.

"The Fisherman and Crofters of Scotland" was the subject of a well prepared paper, by Mrs. J. E. Ferguson. Sir Walter Scott was interestingly discussed by Mrs. Roloson. The pathetic life story of Mary, the ill fated Queen of Scots, was told by Mrs. A. C. Elliott.

Roll call was responded to by quotations from Sir Walter Scott and delicious refreshments gave an added pleasure.

Mrs. W. R. Evans was hostess to the U. D. C'.s this week. The meetog was especially for the transaction of business pertaining to the cemetery work and Memorial Day, so there was no program.
