Shortest Wheat Harvest In Many Years Almost Finished

Many wheat farmers are anxiously waiting for the 1950 wheat crop, finishing one of the shortest harvests on record in an area which usually requires many weeks of work with scores of combines to do the job.

While there isn't much of it, most of the wheat brought into Hereford is good, with yields ranging from 58 to 60 bushels per acre. The grain is clean and in good condition for storage. Good wheat will make good feed for cattle this year. Virtually all of the crop will go back to feed.

The ironic predicament in February that 160 combines would be needed to cut the county crop this year has long since been forgotten.

IRON STOMACH

Gary, Ind., hospital officials were dumfounded when this X-ray of an unidentified patient's stomach revealed the presence of spoons, bed springs, 12 pieces of steel and bent wire, two broken light bulbs, pins and needles. For good measure, the patient topped off his swallowing spree with a dash of salt still in the metal shaker.

DWI charges were also filed against Harry S. Lookingbill last Wednesday. County Attorney O. L. Bybee said Lookingbill entered a plea of not guilty and was free on $500 bond.

The other DWI charge was filed against Chester Granville Brownlow, Amarillo, who was arrested by city police.

The Sheriff's office revealed that George Thompson paid a dollar fine and costs on charges of swindling, with worthless check, in addition to the fine and costs, made good a $10 check.

SIGHTS, FACES SEEN

We are receiving some fine news reports from Home Demonstration Club corresponders, but one we got from Mrs. S. A. Buckworth, Westway HD club member, this week deserves recognition. Even a Journalism prof didn't have much to criticize on her report in general.

Bob Riehl, driver's license examiner, will be in Hereford Friday July 7 and won't be back until the 10th.

Maynard Dean of the Amarillo Kiwanis club presented a picture to Hereford Kiwanis on Driver Safety Thursday. Bob Wear, Hereford Kiwanis president, spoke to the San Jacinto Kiwanis club on the same day. He will speak to the Tulla club Tuesday.

Dr. John Channer will be in Denver all next week taking a post-graduate course. He will be accompanied by his mother, Mrs. S. E. Channer, who will visit friends while there.

The Sunday Brand celebrates another birthday and starts its third year today. How time flies!

Don't forget, although we are sure you won't, Tuesday is one of the five holidays designated by the Retail Merchants Committee.

Ernest Kerr dropped in Saturday to perform his last duty before moving to Muleshoe. He said his wife wanted the Brand, so he came in, changed addresses and re-subscribed.

It pays to advertise in the classified section. Ask Cliff Estes. He found a key the other day, looked in the lost and found ads and sure enough Clara Acker was advertising for the key she had lost.

The big Fourth of July week-end tournament is taking on an inter-city flavor with entries in from both Amarillo and Tulla, already. Of course Dimmitt and Friends will be represented.

Hereford entries are also coming in strong according to tournament committee member Bill Davis. Jr. Wavy Phillips, prizes are $150.00. He is the pro shooter and we wish to see them and finally in all flights will be Tukey's afternoon for anyone desired.

F. S. "Buck" Buckalew spent his first day as a "civilian" testifying in court in the trial of Billie K. Armstrong.

Dr. C. A. Grubb, a former Army Air Force Flight Surgeon, will take up offices in the Hereford Clinic building starting Monday. He is the pediatrician who was announced last month to join the Hereford Clinic staff as of July 1. He was busy moving his wife and three boys to Hereford all this week end. He will devote all his talents to pediatric and children's diseases.

Most all eating places and cafes in Hereford will remain open during July 4. Drug stores will probably be open until 11 o'clock Tuesday morning and will close after that. However, City Drug may not open at all on July 4.

... BY THE ROCKET'S RED GLARE—One hundred and seventy-four years ago, John Adams wrote of Independence Day, "It ought to be solemnized with pomp and parade, with shows, games, sports, guns, bells, bonfires and illuminations." This dramatic Fourth of July photograph of the Washington Monument, illuminated by a brilliant, bursting cluster of fireworks, is spectacular proof that the words of Adams have not been forgotten.

FRIONA SETS THE PACE FOR Amazing Parmer County

This edition of The Brand presents the second of a "Know Your Neighbors" series which includes news coverage and circulation among towns adjoining Hereford. The guest town this week is Friona, a community which can lay claim to numerous boasts.

The fact that Friona showed a more substantial growth than any other town in Parmer County, we believe, stands as proof that Friona has a greater future than any other town in the Panhandle. "Amazing" is the only word which completely describes the announcement that 200 irrigation wells have been drilled in the Friona territory since January 1, 1950. Drilling of these wells is significant in many ways, including the fact that it is a direct repetition of the accomplishment which saw hereford jump from a population of 2,580 to 4,808 in a scant 10 years.

New buildings and new homes are common things in Friona, a few of which are pictured on page 1, section 3, of this issue. Friona affords untold opportunity for future development, chiefly because it is a community based upon sound agricultural expansion. Spread of surface industrial development. Already a leader in development of aeronautics, Friona today boasts one of the better airports in the Panhandle.

Improved means of transportation have long since overcome the situation that Friona is not a county-seat, a fact which was for many years a critical point in the community. The automobile, telephone and rail systems, however, have made this situation of minor consideration. The people have buckled down, decided the courthouse is not important, and have started building a town. When, at some future date, the county seat is moved, little difference will be seen for the town.

Fine people, alert merchants and a vast trade territory have contributed toward making Friona a nice town and a potential industrial center of the future.

In Friona, the people of Hereford will find the finest neighbors of the world. Furthermore, we believe that the surface has not really been scratched. Friona's recent growth is only the beginning.

General Donovan's Interview

SENATOR MCCARTHY and Boy Howard of the Scripps-Howard newspapers didn't know it, but General "Wild Bill" Donovan, famed wartime chief of OSS, let them down on the Amerasia stolen documents case.

General Donovan, a fellow Republican, was ballyhooed as backing up the McCarthy-Scripps-Howard charges. When interviewed by a senate committee shortly before leaving for Europe, however, he talked much more like Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, who decries McCarthy extremism.

In fact, Gen. Donovan inferentially criticized his own OSS investigator, Frank Bielaski for illegally raiding the Amerasia office, and the FBI for illegally raiding Emanuel Larsen's apartment. As a result of these illegal raids, the justice department could not prosecute.

Here is exactly what the senate investigators reported to the committee after their interview with Donovan at his New York apartment.

"General Donovan asked if he had talked with Archbishop Van Buren (his wartime deputy), and when we replied in the affirmative, he indicated that his information was no more than that which Van Buren probably gave us.

"General Donovan discussed his belief at the time that 'John Doe' warrants should have been obtained and statements under oath gotten from the principals,' the investigators' report continues. 'He indicated that he felt that the matter was incorrectly handled, because when any agency conducts an investigation, the matter does not remain confidential and opportunity to cover up arises.

"General Donovan mentioned that in discussing the matter with Fred Lyon (of the state department), he asked if the state department had any idea who might have been responsible for this material (secret documents) emanating from the state department. When pressed Mr. Lyon for some suggestions or suspicions, Mr. Lyon suggested that it might have been John Carter Vincent. General Donovan then queried us as to whether Vincent did not have a wife who was a Communist."

Throughout the interview, Donovan made it clear he had no new evidence but that his attitude was that of a Margaret Chase Smith republican who didn't relish unfair accusations.

Continuing, the investigators' report declares: "Donovan suggested that we should see Pat Hurley (former ambassador to China). Shortly after the discovery of the Amerasia case, General Donovan went to London and met Pat Hurley at the airport there. Hurley being on his way to Moscow and China. Donovan told Hurley that Fred Lyon had said about Vincent because he knew that Hurley thought Vincent was 'his boy.'"

That was about all Donovan had to say. In fact, he seemed in a hurry to get off to Europe.

Trygve Lie and Truman

Here is the inside story of what happened when U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie met with President Truman and Secretary Acheson following Lie's return from Moscow.

Lie first reported on the strong desire for peace which he found everywhere from Moscow to Washington; then asked the President to consider sending Acheson to a special meeting of the United Nations security council in Geneva this summer, a meeting which he said was imperative to keep the United Nations from collapsing.

Mr. Truman's reaction was immediate. He promptly said he could do no such thing; that it would be a cruel hoax to play on the American people when there is absolutely no chance of agreement with Russia.

The only thing Russia understands, the President argued, is force, and the West is going to build up its own force until Russia realizes the democracies mean business. After that, perhaps a meeting with Russia might produce some good.

As it is now, Truman told the U. N. secretary general, Russia is boycotting the United Nations because it won't seat Communist China—just like a little boy who says he won't play in the game unless he can be captain of the team.

Capital News Capsules

Ambassador Kirk has cabled the state department that the Russian general who was suddenly recalled from Japan with his entire 52-man staff has suffered the same fate as Marshal Zhukov. He's being demoted and disgraced—because he was too chummy with American and British personnel in Tokyo. Kirk says General Kuzma Derevanko committed what is the supreme heresy—he actually believed the east and west could get along.

So Proudly We Hail

Louisa's Letter

Dear Louisa:

I am seventeen years old and stay with mother. I want to get married to a young man of 21 who loves me and has asked me to settle down with him. We have been going out steady for about two years and we know each other well and are sure of our happiness.

My mother will not hear of it. She likes the young man but she says I am too young to get married. I have a sister who is unhappily married and she keeps reminding me of her misery. I sometimes feel like giving the whole thing off. But I love him and do want to be his wife. What do you advise?

Answer: Seventeen is rather young to get married and take on the responsibilities of a home and family. However, you do have two things in your favor. To begin with, he is old enough to support you and I presume that he has a good job. Next, you have known him and gone with him long enough to know something about him. You did not say whether you had finished school or not. If you haven't I think it would be wise to put off marriage until you have completed your education.

The trouble with getting married so young is that your tastes in many ways are not definitely formed. The man we think a perfect hero at that age, may leave you cold when you reach your twenties. Also, the girl who hasn't had fun at parties, etc., when she is young, tends to look back with regret and bewilderment when she is tied down to the home with babies when she would really like to be dancing or seeing movies.

I think what you do and your happiness will depend to a great extent on what kind of temperament you and your fiance have. If you are the quiet types, who are willing to settle down and take on all the responsibilities that marriage demands, then every thing may work out all right. But if he is undependable and craves a good time and excitement, you will be taking a risk.

As to your sister's unhappy marriage—there are many happy ones and many unhappy ones. Each one depends on the disposition and characters of the two people who make it or break it.

'The Ben Lilly Legend' Is Tale Of A Master Hunter

By Corinne Jennings

"The Ben Lilly Legend" is a man's book about a man who was a great hunter comparable to Davy Crockett. By his own account and by record, his deeds have been set forth through the years to become a legend which now has been set down by J. Frank Dobie.

Twenty years ago Dobie met Lilly and was so interested in the man that he has been collecting material about him ever since. The results are his recent book which is the most praised of his works for some time.

Tom Lea of El Paso has done the frontispiece in colors and there are plates illustrating the book. One is a photograph of Lilly and others are of his guns, his knives and his hunting horn. There are sketches of a bear and a panther which Lilly made as well as a picture which shows the detailed carving he did on his hunting horn. Still others show the hunter with his four favorite dogs. One shows him on a burro when he was at his best in 1917.

Lilly, from all accounts, was a paradox. He would not work on Sunday, not even to break camp or travel, no matter what he was trailing. Once he even quit a job because his boss wanted him to drive cattle on the trail.

But on the other hand he would tie up a horse while he trailed some animal and leave the suffering horse there without food or water for days at a time; according to records obtained by Dobie.

How an outdoor man could fail to love a horse is amazing, but from accounts of some of the things that happened, he had no consideration or love for any horse.

He did have a certain amount of respect for some of his dogs but no love for them. If at any time one turned out to be a poor hunter or showed indications of not coming up to expectations he would club him to death or shoot him—whichever was the easiest at the time of his decision to do away with him.

Yet he was proud of his good dogs and would of no account sell them. He kept for himself the best of the hunter strain developed in his dogs.

Lilly was utterly ruthless as far as animals were concerned and believed he had a special call to hunt, especially the bear and panther. He specialized in them, studying them, their habits and peculiarities, so as to better track and kill them.

Though the years he hunted from Alabama, where he was born in 1856, through Mississippi and Louisiana into Texas and Mexico. Later he moved on to New Mexico and Arizona. Before he died he became known as "the master sign reader of the Rockies."

The whole story is a chronicle of good-hunting, a study of a man who gave himself completely to his work. In turn he was shaped by it to become a rugged individual, though he never thought of himself as such. He is rated too, as one of the last of the mountain men and is no less important for being last.

He died in 1936 in New Mexico in a manner one would least expect such a man to die.

Joe Smith recently went on a hunting trip with Bruce M. Snyder in New Mexico. In talking with him, Mr. Smith found that he knew Ben Lilly well; in fact, at one time he had had early training as a lion hunter under him. Snyder considers Lilly as the peer of all lion hunters.

Those who have heard Mr. Smith talk of his trip are looking forward to reading what he writes of his trip and the man who is well known in the Southwest today as a lion hunter, and one time pupil of Lilly.

Then they may compare him to the Lilly in this book which is to be had at the Deaf Smith County Library.

Mrs. Boydston, librarian, says up to this time that of the nine books in the library by Dobie, his "Apache Gold and Silver" is by far the most popular. But now his new one has ranked high with men and boy readers.

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher for the first time in his life, has backed down on accepting some help, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editor:
I was sittin on the front porch yesterday afternoon since my wife was attendin a Home Demonstration meeting on how to get more work out of husbands and spent the day watchin the wind blow a newspaper around in the front yard and along about 4 o'clock the paper sailed up close enough to where I could reach out and pick it up without gettin up and I did and then rested a few minutes and opened it up and read where President Truman has signed a bill for three billion dollars for foreign aid.

As I understand the bill, it is designed to help develop backward areas, and I would like for you to find out why my farm wouldn't come under that classification. Of course it wouldn't qualify as no foreign country, and I know Europe comes ahead of me. I ain't never caused a war, but if the government is really interested in helpin backward areas, it oughtn't to let the fact I speak English and ain't never started a war or defaulted on a war loan stand in the way of improvin my area too.

However, I discovered by readin further, there is one catch in the bill which cools me off considerably and I imagine it will chill them foreign countries too. According to the bill, the three billion dollars is for "technical assistance" to under-developed areas.

I can speak for myself and I think I can for most of Europe when I say we ain't near as interested in technical assistance as we are in out-and-out assistance. We got plenty of the former, I can drop a hint now to the county agent or the triple A or the Soil Conservation Service and get more technical advice in a day than I could follow in a hundred years. This country is over-run with technical assistance; what I'm interested in is outright assistance.

If technical assistance is all it's gonna amount to let Europe have it. I had a technician out here one time advise me what to do with this place; it would have wrecked it, and me too.

Yours faithfully
J. A.

SUNDAY'S CURRENT QUESTION

Opinion Is Divided On Result Of Korean Crisis

What do you think will come of the present Korean crisis?

Bruce Miller: I doubt if Russia will enter into the war now. I don't think they are ready and I think, possibly they are bluffing. You notice they haven't said a word as to their plans. They've kept quiet. I think the only thing that will come of the present situation is that the North Korean Reds will be whipped by combined forces. Of course it is possible that Russia will call the bluff of the United States and will enter into full-scale war. It's possible. But, my personal opinion is that they won't.

Paul Holland: I think it will go into a war, my self. I don't think Russia will back out of the thing now. It may take some time to whip Russia in a war but I don't think they stand a chance against the United Nations. I think we will have a war on our hands, soon, though.

Ben Childers: I would rather say what I hope will come of the crises than what I think will happen. I think we will eventually have to fight Russia. I have thought that a long time. This particular incident may be a bluff and might be smoothed over for a while. I hope this will happen. I hope the United States will only have to whip the North Koreans. But, as I said, I don't know what will happen.

Kenneth Coker: Well, I'm not worried about it as much as a lot of people are. I don't think Russia is going to make a serious play over the Korean crises. When they get ready to go to war, they will manufacture their own excuses and won't depend on a fight such as this to do the job for them. I hadn't given it much thought because I don't think it is deserving of as much worry.

Jim Terry: We will either get a war or will get peace within the next couple of weeks. This will be a show-down, I think. Probably Russia will back down and we will have as permanent a peace as we have seen, yet. The United Nations will back up the United States and the United States will certainly back up the UN. I don't think Russia will fight.

Moreover, to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men and derive their just powers from the consent of the governed. The Declaration asserts whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute a new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form, as shall seem most likely to affect their safety and happiness.

It seems strange, in this day, to reflect that the Declaration of Independence, which proclaimed the principles of the colonists in their war for independence, does not express the spirit of some of the descendants of the men who fought under General Washington. Human nature being what it is, it is perhaps inevitable that there should be a large number of people in every country devoted to the established order, whatever it is and however it may have worked.

Certainly, the writer admires the handiwork of those who framed the machinery of our Federal Government. But, at the same time, because we believe in the principles expressed in the Declaration of Independence, we find ourselves more tolerant of those who advocate changes, from time to time. However, in our opinion, the defects of our governmental system are due more to men than to the machinery of government and we, therefore, favor no radical change in it, although we recognize that, from time to time, some adjustments are necessary.

In this connection, we would suggest that our readers celebrate the anniversary of the signing of this historic document by taking the necessary time to read its words. The reading will do them good.

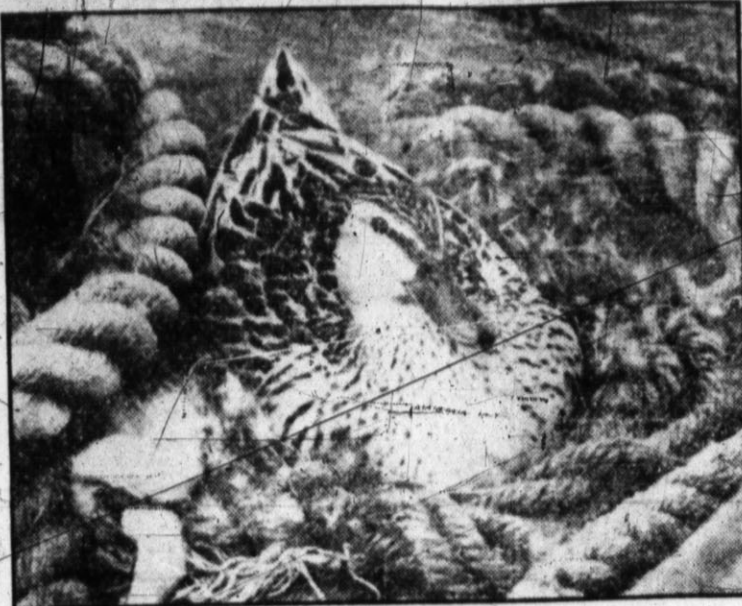

The world might be better if people would practice their own religion more and try less to force it on other people.

You can get more sense out of news papers when you realize that they report what human beings do and think.

Getting ahead in life, according to modern go-getters is convincing other people that you are more than you know yourself to be.

Show Advance In Taxes Ranch Real Estate Taxes

COLLEGE STATION — Sharp increases in Texas farm and ranch real estate taxes during 1949 were revealed in a recent survey made by L. P. Gabbard, head of the Department of Agricultural Economics and Sociology, and Robert C. Cherry, professor of agricultural economics, Texas A&M College. Levies made by State and local governments totaled an average of 23.7 cents per acre, rising from 22.4 cents the previous year. This is an increase of 3.3 cents per acre or 15 per cent over the 1948 average. 1949 was the third successive BOAT OWNER GETS THE BIRD—What to do with a duck on the deck presented a knotty problem for boat owner Fred G. Clarke, Jr., of Seattle, Wash. This mallard hen assumed command of the craft by selecting a coil of rope on its foredeck to deposit a clutch of nine eggs. Not wishing to disturb the wild waterfowl in the performance of her motherly duties, Clarke had to turn the boat over to the hen during the three-week incubation period.

FIELD OF GOLDEN GRAIN—Aloys Schwerman of Topeka, Kan., proudly surveyed his 140-acre wheat field here, which is expected to yield 45 bushels per acre. He credits his outstanding crop to the quality of seed, proper fertilization and his plan for rotating the wheat with sweet clover.

year that land taxes have advanced, says the economists. During the 11 year period, 1936-48, taxes were quite stable, varying only slightly from an average of 18 cents per acre. The typical farm or ranch tax bill in 1949 was 40 per cent above that level. Most of the rise in 1949 was accounted for by increases in State and school district taxes. County and special district levies have increased very little since 1948. The advance in the State rate on farm and ranch real estate from 42 cents per 100 dollar evaluation in 1948 to 72 cents was the largest item in the 1949 tax increase.

"G. Her - Aikin" legislation caused part of the increase in school taxes. A considerable number of farms and ranches were in "dormant" condition school districts with little or no school taxes before the legislation was passed. They point out that during 1949 many of these school units were consolidated with active districts, resulting in higher taxes.

Increases in individual counties and type-of-farming areas varied widely throughout the state. Of 197 counties in the survey, only three, Jim Wells, Eastland, and Atascosa, registered declines of as much as five per cent. All type-of-farming areas showed increases. The highest increases occurred in the Blackland area and in the northern counties of the Grand Prairie. Many of the State's common school districts are concentrated in these areas, and numerous consolidations have occurred recently. The Lower Rio Grande Valley, parts of the Coast Prairie, and the Canadian River Grazing area had the smallest increases.

The decline in prices received for agricultural products during 1949 at the same time that taxes were increasing caused a big change in the ratio of prices to taxes. According to the economists, prices that the farmer received for his products decreased 8.9 per cent from 1948 to 1949 while farm and ranch real estate taxes were advancing 15 per cent. This movement of taxes and prices in the opposite direction resulted in a relative increase in taxes of 30 per cent.

Although the rise in farm and ranch real estate taxes may halt temporarily in 1950, conditions indicate that the upward movement of the last three years is likely to continue, but probably at a slower rate. Public demands for expanded local governmental services such as schools, roads, and hospitals, they conclude, may cause a continued rise in local and school taxes.

Gordan and son, Skip of Louisville, Kentucky, they stopped here after visiting relatives in California and Arizona.

Emma Jane Brown, who is in college at Canyon this summer, is at home this week end for the 4th of July holidays.

Wayne Lady has returned from the Junior Red Cross Training Camp near Morrilton, Arkansas.

Informal Luncheon Honors Mrs. Block

Informal affairs mark the social calendar as hostesses hunt the cool spots and relaxing entertainment during the hot summer weather.

An attractively appointed event was the bridge luncheon given by Mrs. Sylvester Stagle and Mrs. Jack Bradley Monday as a birthday courtesy to Mrs. Ivan Block.

A pastel color theme with cool greens predominating, carried out the midsummer decorations with daises in various pastel shades forming the centerpiece for the buffet table from which the luncheon was served. Pastel cloths covered small tables laid for twelve.

After the luncheon, bridge games were enjoyed with Mrs. Cecil Gunter playing high for the award and Mrs. L. B. Barnett playing low. Mrs. Block, the honoree, received a guest award.

Those attending were Mesdames: Block, Troy Moore, Lee Benefield, Cecil Gunter, J. W. Witherspoon, L. B. Barnett, Roy Crutchfield, Earl Hendricks, J. D. Neill, Henry Sears and the hostesses, Mrs. Richard Ireland assisted the hostesses in serving.

Tea Honors Mrs. Jordan

Members of the Woman's Missionary Union of the Baptists Church entertained with a tea in the home of Mrs. Clinton Jackson Wednesday afternoon, honoring Mrs. E. O. Jordan, secretary of Young People's Work, who is moving to Amarillo.

Members of the Inez Spence Circle of the W.M.U. of which Mrs. Jordan is a member, were in charge of arrangements for the going-away courtesy. Shasta daisies in blue and pink and yellow tapers formed an attractive centerpiece for the table from which tea, dainties were served to approximately 80 members and friends of the honoree.

Mrs. E. W. Young, president of the W.M.U., presented a gift from the group to Mrs. Jordan. Young People Honor Mrs. Jordan. The John Riffey Y. W. A. which was organized by Mrs. Jordan, honored Mrs. Jordan at a meeting held at the home of Rev. and Mrs. R. H. Cagle Thursday night. Mrs. F. L. Graham is group counselor.

Mary Estelle LeGrand and Jane Welch gave the program in a discussion of their trip recently to Baptist Student Union Week in Ridgcrest, N. C. During the social hour a handkerchief stower was featured for Mrs. Jordan.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Sheppard attended the 28th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Madole in Hollens, N. M.

The old saying "You are only young once" could never be truer than during the hot summer weather when the old folks seek shady chairs and the youngsters frolic with pure pleasure of playing outside in the sunshine.

Here are three shots that will make grandparents and parents proud, and everyone feel a little older.

Three-year-old Nick Milburn climbs off his bicycle to hunt for fun elsewhere in the picture on the left. Nick is the son of Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Milburn. Life is a constant game for Nick, and he would rather play it out-of-doors than anywhere else.

Coretta, 3, and Norma Jean, 2, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Gollehon, find watering the flowers and lawn is great sport, particularly with an occasional water fight thrown in. As long as they are awake they have but one thought, "Let's play."

Donna Hill was taking it all in from her seat on the bench while Mrs. Donald Henslee was finding keeping her daughter, Martha Ann, in the pool, almost as much trouble as ordinarily trying to keep her out. The three little ladies in the foreground are Pamela Winget with her finger in her mouth, Edith Davis testing the sides of the pool, and Gayle-Newell, two-and-a-half, who thinks all those one-year-olds are too young for her to bother with anyway.

Hereford Garden Club Program Plans For 1950-51 Season Well Under Way

Plans for the 1950-51 club season for the Hereford Garden Club are well underway, Mrs. W. S. Flufft, president, has announced.

A called-business session was held at the Flufft home last week when members of the year book committee were named. They include Mrs. Homer Brumley, chairman, Mrs. Lyle Blanton and Mrs. Jim Black.

The study course for the coming year's work was selected. Members chose to study "The Iris Family" and the care and culture of the iris will be developed in the course of study out-come.

Members of last year's year-book committee announced the winners in the shrub contest in which members kept accurate notes on the development of shrubs. Mrs. M. T. Rutter and Mrs. A. L. Manjeot as winners of the contest were presented with crepe myrtle shrubs and were requested to plant the shrubs in a place where the public may be able to observe their growth.

Mrs. Glenn Witherspoon was elected treasurer; Mrs. O. G. Hill was elected 2nd vice-president; and Mrs. Jim Black was named 3rd vice-president to fill a vacancy.

An interesting report of the Surprise Picnic Supper Is Held On Birthday

Daniel, Franklin Miller, John Hacker and the honoree. Gifts were sent by Messrs. and Mesdames: James Tucker, J. W. Nezum, Carlton Gardner, L. S. Kirkpatrick, Charles Calloway, and Mrs. Zina Lamar.

Miss McMinn Is Student Of Famous Composer

Miss Thelma McMinn is in Denver, Colorado where she is attending the Paul Christensen Choral School now being held on the campus of Denver University.

The renowned Swedish composer, Dr. F. Melius Christensen, founder of the choral school, is assisting in this session with his Master Class. He is regarded as the most famous director of choral music in the United States, if not in the world. His son, Paul Christensen, under whose name the St. Olaf Choir became world famous, is known as a composer of choral music and of music for string orchestras as well as for his work as a director. He directs the famous Concordia Choir. Others assisting in the school are: Oscar E. Overby, professor of Music at St. Olaf and music critic; Carl O. Thompson, collaborator with Dr. Siemund Speeth in publishing "52 Art Songs" and Roger D. Fee of the Denver University music department.

Miss McMinn chose the Paul Christensen Summer School in preference to Fred Warke's (from whom she has received invitations for the next three years) because of the courses offered at Denver. They include elementary, junior high and high school problems. Rehearsal, Demonstration, Conducting and Interpretation, Baton Technique, and Technical Work in class instruction as applied to choral groups. Every phase of choral music is covered including the Madrigal.

Miss McMinn has taught music in the Hereford School for 17 years, with the exception of two. During that time there has been an average enrollment in the high school mixed chorus of 90 to 100. Last year an A Cappella Choir was organized with 55 members. Their sacred program presented at Canyon was so effective that three other out-of-town churches requested the same program.

Miss McMinn received her B.A. degree at WTSC at Canyon and her M. A. degree there, also, in 1948. She has studied extensively in short term schools presented by famous instructors during summer sessions at colleges and universities since then.

The little guests came to the party dressed in their mother's clothes and refreshments were served at a "tea-party" for them and their dolls. Later party games were enjoyed and Carol Kent was awarded the prize as the best-dressed lady. She wore a big flowered hat, very high heels and hat and gloves to match.

Children attending were: Ruth Ann Allison, Carolyn Aven, Mary Lou Coker, Carolyn Brumley, Sondra Brumley, Becky Jackson, LaVern Beizer, Connie and Carol Kent and the honoree. The only young man present was the honoree's brother, Larry Edwards.

MRS. H. L. BROADWELL

The Practiced Hand Tells In Chicken Salad Recipes

There are many versions of chicken salad and they all, of course, have the same common denominator. The finished product is not the same in flavor or arrangement, however, and that is where the practiced hand of the individual cook pays off.

Most homemakers have recipes sized for family meals that they use over and over again. In time, are developed into something about perfect in blend and proportion.

Mrs. H. L. Broadwell has worked out a chicken salad recipe large enough for a party or picnic and many Hereford party menus have been built around her recipe. She has given it her own expert knowledge of food combination and enough individual touches to make the recipe far beyond the usual one. Here it is:

- 1 chicken
- 1 small onion
- 1 small carrot
- 2 bay leaves
- Dash of celery seed
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Diced celery hearts
- Nut meats

Place chicken in big pot over fire in boiling water and add onion, carrot, bay leaves and celery seed. Boil hard for five minutes, add the salt, and lower the heat. Allow to simmer just below the boiling point until chicken is tender; when cooked in this manner the dark meat will be almost as white as the white meat. Remove the chicken and when cold cut in cubes of one inch. Measure an equal quantity of celery cut in pieces the same size.

When ready to serve sprinkle chicken with the juice of half a lemon, a dash of paprika and more salt. If needed, then mix it with the celery and marinate with a good mayonnaise dressing

Home Demonstration Council Has June Meeting

The regular June meeting of the Deaf Sm. 3 County Home Demonstration Club Council was held at the court house Saturday afternoon with Mrs. Henry Kinsey chairman, presiding. Mrs. T. J. Parsons and Mrs. N. A. Brown led the singing of club songs and 30 members representing nine clubs answered roll call. Cultural, Dawn, Ford, West Hereford, Westway, and Wyche registered 100 per cent in attendance.

Giving committee reports were Mrs. J. E. Dyer, yearbook; Mrs. C. P. Norton, finance; Mrs. F. E. Dodson, expansion and education; Mrs. Iva Ricketts who gave a report on the meeting with the county commissioners; and Mrs. Earl DeHart who told of the THDA plan. Mrs. H. E. Pettyjohn, dress review; Miss Augustine Gregory, who told of plans now being made for Council Guest Day Mrs. Joe Wagoneer told the group of corsages made for the commissioners' "Jadies" and Mrs. N. A. Brown, chairman of precinct 3, was named to meet with commissioners the fourth Monday in September. Mrs. R. C. Cluif gave the marketing report.

The 4-H Club girls' report was given by Mrs. Ira Ott who attended the annual club session at Texas A&M College recently. Mrs. Tom Draper, CHDA, talked on things to do before election of council officers. Mesdames C. A. Stanley, Ira Ott and Ed Cox were elected to serve on the nominating committee.

THDA Session

Following the council meeting Mrs. Earl DeHart conducted a THDA session. Mrs. Frank Wilde was elected THDA chairman for the next two years and will be one of the delegates to the state meeting in Big Spring, August 22, 23 and 24.

Other delegates to the state meeting will be Mrs. Roy Pruitt, and Mrs. R. A. Frye. First alternate will be Mrs. Fred Wolfing, second alternate, Mrs. W. A. Springer, and third alternate will be Miss Lucile Park. Delegates will give reports at the special meeting held at the court house on September 1.

FINISHING TOUCHES

To make the tower salad Mrs. Broadwell uses shredded lettuce as a base, cut very fine on individual plates. Place a thick slice of tomato in the center and build the tower spoonful by spoonful to a peak of four or five inches, tapering at the top. Over this put two tablespoons good salad dressing, Thousand Island or French Dressing, and sprinkle finely sieved hard-boiled egg yolk over top. Bank around the tower with the sieved egg yolk or garnish with ripe olives.

HAVE CHURCH SOCIAL

Approximately 24 young people from the Avenue Baptist Church attended a social the night of Friday, June 23 at the home of Charles Gresham.

After outdoor games were played, ice cream and cake were served. The adults attending were Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Wright and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Gresham.

Dixie Young visited Sandra Wright of Sumnerfield a few days last week.

Miss Jeareen Sowell Is Bride To Charles Frye

White tapers in seven-branched candelabra gave illumination for the wedding of Miss Verna Jeareen Sowell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Sowell, and Charles William Frye Sunday afternoon at the First Methodist Church. White gladioli in tall baskets were used in the floral decor at the altar. Rev. Russell Wingert, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, read the double ring ceremony in the presence of close friends and relatives.

Mrs. Glenn Synder was organist and played a prelude of wedding music including "In-ward Love Call," "Oh, Sweet Mystery of Life" and "Because."

The bride was accompanied to the altar by her father who gave her in marriage. Her gown was of white chantilly lace over bridal satin made with high round neck line, tight fitting bodice and full skirt pointed sleeves. Her full-length dress was floor length and the finger-tip veil of illusion was held in place with puffs of illusion and white flowers. She wore an heirloom gold bracelet, which had belonged to her grandmother Woods, and a pearl necklace. The wedding bouquet was carried on a white Bible and was fashioned of white gartias and Stephanotis showered with white satin streamers.

The bride's mother wore a navy shade with rose-pink carnation corsage. Wynogene Sowell, sister of the bride, and Dorothy Denton of San Antonio assisted the guests in registering as they entered the church.

Reception in Bride's Home Following the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Sowell were hosts at their home, 410 Twenty-Five Mile Avenue, at a reception honoring the bridal couple. The bride's table was laid with a lace cloth and centered with a wedding scene arranged on a mirror reflector. Miss Barbara Burney poured punch and Mrs. O. F. Singleterry of Texico, aunt of the bride, served the tiered wedding cake.

When the couple left on a short wedding trip to Santa Fe and other New Mexico points, the bride was wearing a white linen suit with all-white accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Frye are graduates of Hereford High School. Mrs. Frye attended the University of Colorado for 2 1/2 years. Mr. Frye attended Spartan School of Aeronautics at Tulsa, Oklahoma and Colorado A&M College at Fort Collins.

Mr. Frye is the son of Carl Frye, well known farmer and rancher of Castro and Deaf Smith Counties. The couple will live on the Frye farm eight miles south of Hereford.

Rehearsal Party Saturday evening, June 24, the couple was honored at a rehearsal party given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Frye. Members of the two families and of the wedding party attended.

Bob Wear Speaks To Amarillo Club

"We are not only responsible for our time, to build for today, but we are building for tomorrow. In many ways we are responsible to the next generation. The heritage that is ours today, and that has meant so much to us in our generation came as the result of the labor, sacrifice, hardship and bloodshed of those who preceded us.

It isn't enough that we use and enjoy this heritage, but we must work to preserve it and pass it on in good condition to those who will come after us," said Bob Wear in addressing the San Jacinto Kiwanis Club in Amarillo, Texas last Thursday.

The speaker continued, "To preserve our way of life we must be diligent in meeting our responsibilities. We must work to overcome the general lethargy which prevails. We cannot preserve our way of living if we permit ourselves to be indifferent to our problems and our responsibilities. We must be informed, we must be courageous, and we must, when necessary, make sacrifices in order to completely meet our responsibilities of citizenship. Let us remember that we, living in the present, are building for the future."

Mr. Wear concluded his speech by naming several things that must be done in order to preserve and maintain the American concept of life. He said, "We must keep our moral standards high and must learn to appreciate the truth of the well known Bible expression: 'Righteousness exalts a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people.'"

CHAMP MILKER—Grand champion milker Frederick Phelps, age 13, presented a "Key to Health" to Wanda Matyszczuk, queen of the Dairyland Festival here at Watertown, N. Y. Phelps also provided the queen, at center, and her attendants with the milk they are drinking. He milked almost 19 pounds of it in three minutes.

Three Boys Complete Marine Corp Training

Marine Privates First Class Jack H. Luck, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Luck, Don R. Murrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry H.

Murrell and Clarence D. Botts, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Botts, recently completed their initial 10 weeks of training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, California.

Upon completion of this training, they were promoted to the rank of Private First Class, an honor bestowed upon every man who finishes his training with a clean record.

The Hereford devildogs spent their first three weeks of training here at the Post receiving instructions on small arms, first aid, field sanitation, map and compass reading, military courtesy and infantry drill.

The following three weeks the young Marines spent at the Marine rifle range.

The new Privates First Class spent their last four weeks in the Recruit Depot bonding on additional subjects necessary to a Marine. These included bayonet fighting, combat formations of a rifle squad, digging of fox holes and a series of field problems where practical experience was gleaned through the application of classroom work.

They will be attached to Casual Company at the Depot upon return from leave. From this company they will be transferred to one of the many duty stations where Marines serve their country.

The wheat harvest is under way and almost completed, since much of the wheat which the green bugs failed to kill wouldn't do to cut. What was cut averaged around three bushels, except a field of Charles Holt's which is making about ten bushels per acre.

Army Films Available To Civic Group

AUSTIN, Texas — Most civilians don't realize how easy it is to borrow motion pictures from the Army, Colonel H. McE. Pendleton, Acting Chief of the Texas Military District, announced today.

They take the roundabout way. Some first write to Washington. Others request the film from another Army headquarters. Colonel Pendleton said. Actually, it is as simple as this:

All any church, school or civic organization, in the state of Texas, excepting El Paso, need do is address a request for films to the Signal Officer, Fourth Army, Fort Sam Houston, Texas. The El Paso groups are served by the Signal Officer, Fort Bliss, Texas.

Subjects ranging from horse-manship to precision bombing are available. Civics and history instructors may find useful films on Japanese government and on the forces behind World War II. For the engineering student, are movies on bridge construction, road building and telephone circuits.

Developments in atom bombs and rockets and a description of the "new army" are proving popular with civic clubs.

Veterans of the 29th Infantry Division and of the 82nd Airborne Division will find complete histories of their organizations. Other ex-servicemen may see themselves in movies of such operations as Sicily, Bougainville, Japan and other campaigns.

Home demonstration clubs will find some films especially valuable. These are on control of household insects and on food preparation.

The Life You Save May Be Your Own

Once each year, we people of America pause from our every day work and take time out to celebrate our National Independence Day. Many years ago, a group of brave men gave their lives that we might enjoy this land of ours without fear for the safety of our lives and personal liberties.

On the 4th of July each year, our pleasures of the holidays take a heavy toll upon us and our loved ones. Hundreds of people die a violent death due to accidents of every imaginable type. On a day of pleasure and joy we compile a terrific record of death and destruction because of the lack of a little planning and care on the part of each one of us.

Each person expects to have a day of pleasure on the 4th of July. It has grown to have that meaning in the minds of each of us and we fail to remember that our holiday might be spoiled by an accident or tragedy involving either ourselves or one of our loved ones. The best insurance against accidents is to use care and caution in all daily activities, regardless of how simple they may seem. The Texas Safety Association feels that if these few simple facts and rules are kept in mind, that each of us will be safely back on the job after another enjoyable holiday week end.

BE CAREFUL. REMEMBER THE LIFE YOU SAVE MAY BE YOUR OWN.

Kesters Return
Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Kester returned recently from a two weeks' vacation visiting their son, Hal and his family on Bainbridge Island, Washington. They made the trip by plane; so the trip to Washington, according to Mrs. Kester, took less than nine hours. This is the Kester's fourth trip to Washington, but it was their first time to see their grandchildren, Charles, aged two, and Katrina Kay, aged two months.

While the Kesters were in Washington, they saw many points of interest. They spent some time in Seattle, which is only about eight miles from Balmbridge, some time in Bremerton and then at Hood Canal where Mr. Kester and Hal Kester did some fishing. Mrs. Kester reports that she saw the beautiful pink rhododendron, the Washington state flower, and also the red rhododendron by the hundreds growing over acres of land; she said the sight was beautiful. Mrs. Kester concluded by saying their trip as a whole was very enjoyable one.

and the 35 millimeter silent and sound film strips may be obtained from the Chief Signal Officer of the Fourth Army.

Main requirement for a public showing is that no admission charge be made. Only expense to the borrower is the cost of expressing the film from and to the army film library. Borrowers must provide projection equipment.

An advance notice of at least two weeks and alternate choices of topics and showing dates are advisable, Colonel Pendleton pointed out.

National Guard and Organized

Reserve Corps units are also using the films for training purposes.

In addition, television stations may obtain special films for televising.

Baptist Hour Will Be Heard Over Local Radio Station

For the first time, radio station KPAN will carry the Baptist Hour program. It will run only through the months of July, August and September. The program will not be broadcast today because the transcriptions have not been received. It will probably be broadcast next Sunday, however. The time for the program will be announced.

Dr. Forrest C. Feezor, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Waco, will be the Baptist Hour speaker during the summer months of July, August and September. A long-time pastor and experienced radio speaker, Dr. Feezor will continue the evangelistic emphasis on these programs.

Dr. Forrest C. Feezor

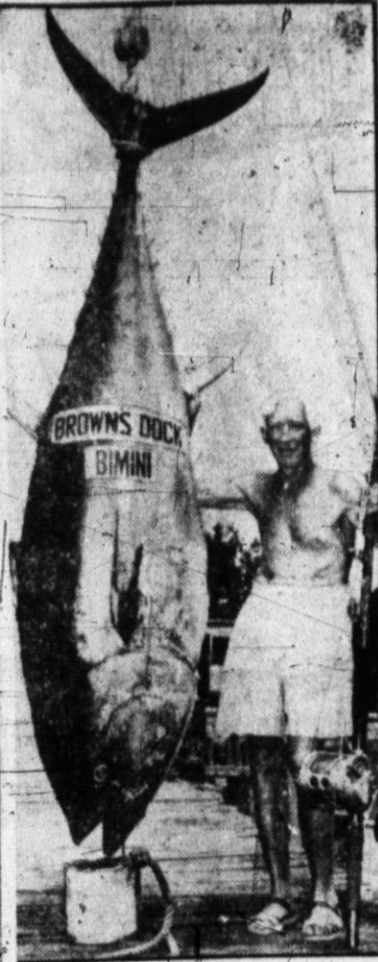

Church in Liberty from 1926 until 1931. He returned to North Carolina in 1932, and served as pastor of The Tabernacle Baptist Church in Raleigh until 1943. The membership of that church more than doubled in that period of time, and Dr. Feezor was elected president of the North Carolina Baptist Convention in 1943.

In that same year he accepted the call to be pastor of the Broadway Baptist Church, Fort Worth, Texas. He moved to Waco in 1946. The Waco Church has grown marvelously under his leadership. He is an outstanding administrator, organizer, teacher, preacher and evangelist.

Dr. Feezor's subjects for today and July 9 are "His Hand in Our History" and "What Manner of Man is This?", respectively.

Music for the first six Baptist Hour broadcasts of the summer series will be furnished by the Baylor Religious Choir of Baylor University under the direction of Dick Baker.

Friona Leads Parmer County In Growth

The Sunday Brand

Sunday, July 2, 1950

Section Three

Wheat And Cattle Are Leaders In A County Famous For Its Agriculture

Land-rich Parmer county denotes the prevailing progress of the Texas Panhandle through the past decade in a manner even more striking than population increase, although they can point with pride at their increase along those lines too.

During the first six months of 1950 more than 200 irrigation wells have been drilled in the Friona area. They have 300 telephones serving the city of a little over 1,100 people.

The city is adequately prepared to take care of populations ranging up to 10,000 should a sudden influx of people take it that high according to Friona Mayor Mack Bainum. Parmer county has been among the leading wheat producing counties of the Panhandle for many years. Friona Wheat Growers Incorporated and Santa Fe Grain Company furnish ample storage space for the immediate area and the new Black Grain Company elevators will take another 450,000 bushels when completed.

Sugar beets, grain sorghums, pecans, some cotton and vegetables help balance the farm economy of the area. Cattle production rates high and there are more than 50 Grade A dairies in the county.

Write-In Winner
Bainum, who has been a Friona resident about five years, was elected to the post of mayor almost one arriving there and although he didn't run in the last time, he was written in on the ballots along with the other members of the city government staff.

Bainum can see several reasons why Friona will continue to grow.

He reminds the casual observer that the city is now spending over $225,000 on remodeling the city schools which will benefit some 500 scholastics of Friona. The cost of the new school building-auditorium and gym will run $199,000. They are remodeling the grade school and the cost of that job will run somewhere around another $30,000. This is the way the town of Friona works.

There are about 360 grade school students and some 140 high school students.

City Commissioners
Serving with Mack Bainum as mayor are seven other men. Carl Maurer and Nelson Welch are the two commissioners; Roy Wilson is Secretary to the city and Elda Hart is City Clerk. J. D. Hamlin is City Judge; Dr. Paul Spring is Health Officer and C. S. Bainum is Fire Chief.

In the Fire Department, about 20 men are active under Chief Bainum and they hold drills every second and fourth Mondays. Roy Wilson is Fire Marshal. Mayor Mack Bainum can go on with his startling facts. He will mention the $104,157.22 sewer system just installed and he won't forget the $94,341.80 water system.

The first residence to be connected to the sewer system is that of W. A. Foster. It was hooked up February 19 of this year and about 110 residences and businesses are now connected.

30 Blocks of Paving
In Friona, there are approximately 30 blocks of paving in the city limits including the State Highway and Farm-to-Market roads. Mayor Bainum says plans are in the making for 30 to 40 additional blocks of paving.

Friona's population report didn't fool too many of the people. They say down there that they have just started.

"Just watch us in 1960!"
A startling result of the 1950 census figures as far as Friona is concerned is the fact that Friona came out with more people, 1,196, than the two other towns of Parmer County—combined. Bovina had 610 and Farwell had 500.

And Farwell is the county seat. A lot of people of Friona say the county seat could be moved to Friona and be well served. Most of the Friona people hope this will come to pass some day. It might happen, too, they say.

HERE'S WHAT THE ALMANAC SAYS

The Texas Almanac briefly outlines Parmer County as a crop and livestock county of the High Plains on the New Mexico line. The population is largely rural with below average density and predominately native white.

The county was created from Bexar Territory in 1876 and organized in 1907. It was named for Martin Parmer, signer of the Texas Declaration of Independence.

The county is level on open plains broken only by the draws of upper reaches of Brazos and Red Rivers. The altitude is 3,800 to 4,100 feet with annual rainfall of 16.23 and mean annual temperature of 57 degrees.

Friona Star Boosts Area And Prestige

It took almost 50 years for Friona to be in a position to boast of a home owned and operated newspaper, but in March, 1950, Bert Neelley took over the reins and started putting out a paper any city could be proud of.

During the short time he has had the Star, Neelley has built the plant and other facilities into an enterprise valued at approximately $10,000.

Known throughout the Panhandle and state as a highly capable newspaperman, Neelley took over the Star with a wealth of experience. He was formerly news-editor of the Tulsa Herald and advertising manager of the Hereford Brand for two years. He was also personnel director of the Phillips Petroleum company plant in Hobbs, N. M. and at Levell and at one time, he served with the army in the Pacific during the war.

As editor and publisher of the Star and with the assistance of Stanley Phillip and C. C. Dodson in his shop, and Mrs. J. T. Gee, society editor, Neelley has succeeded in putting out a newspaper that not only covers the immediate Friona area, but Lubbock, Oklahoma, Lane, Bovina, Farwell and adjoining communities.

Neelley has built the Star on the slogan "An Informed Community Progresses."

Friona Churches Serve Community

Out of 1,196 people (1950 census reports), 850 Friona citizens regularly attend one of the six modern churches of the city. This represents some 80 per cent and a most gratifying figure as far as church workers are concerned.

The good church attendance figures prompted some new buildings and some remodeling. It stands today, Friona hasn't a single church any city wouldn't be proud of.

The new Friona Methodist Church, where Rev. Jimmy Tidwell is pastor, recently built their new $100,000 building. This will serve the second largest congregation of Friona, 200 attending on the average.

The Baptists spent another $100,000 on a new building. They have the largest average attendance—250. Their pastor is Rev. Tommy Allen.

The Pentecostal Church, reported worth $5,000 serves on the average of 70 people every Sunday. Les Davis is pastor. The other churches of Friona split the remaining attendance. Church of Christ, with Herb Bwiny and G. M. Cobenton average 250 between two churches.

MODERN FRIONA
Hospitals, schools, banks, churches, agriculture and Main Street provide an index to the prosperity of any community. Friona, Texas rates high in each department as shown in these pictures. The Parmer County hospital is shown at the top. The Friona High School is on the right above the new Friona State Bank building. The Methodist Church below is typical of Friona interest in churches. Main Street, even on a Sunday afternoon shows a thriving West Texas community. Work on the Friona Wheat Growers Inc. Elevator addition is almost complete in answer to demands from one of the Panhandle's leading grain producing areas. The picture above taken on Highway 60 in Hereford shows the way to Parmer County's leading town.

Friona Has Come A Long Way Since 1928 When 65 Residents Voted To Incorporate

Like most Panhandle towns, Friona has a relatively short history and many of the present-day citizens of the community were living there and participated in voting for incorporation in 1928.

Friona people have had opportunities and have taken advantage of these opportunities to the fullest extent.

In 1906 Friona was a dreary plains which was open to settlers, who were just beginning to move in. There were a few scattered farm houses, a livery stable and a boarding house. If any form of government was present, it would be called state or county, for there was no local government. It was in this year of 1906 that George G. Wright, owner of a real estate firm called George G. Wright Co., came to Parmer County and purchased all the land, including Friona and adjoining territory. To encourage settling, he founded a town, donating the land for it, plotting it, laying out complete plans, and naming it Friona. Gradually the territory became less sparsely settled, and Friona began to grow.

In 1928 the citizens decided that they would like to set up their own local government. A group of 29 drew up a petition stating their desires for Friona to become incorporated as a town with a Commission form of government. These 29, who made up 10 per cent of the total population, which was approximately 400, presented the petition to the County Judge, who in turn was to order an election to determine whether or not the petition expressed the wishes of the people. Chapter 12 of Title 28 of the Revised Civil Statutes of Texas made it possible for Friona to become incorporated. It provided that they could elect a mayor and two commissioners to hold office for two years. The petition, presented to County Judge Ernest F. Lokey, contained the signatures of O. F. Lange, Raymond Jones, J. R. Roden, F. L. Spring, L. R. Dilger, Carl Maurer, and others.

It stated that Friona would be located beginning at the northeast corner of Section 5, east of a Capitol Syndicate Subdivision, south of the west line of said Section 6, about 4,425 feet to the point where the south line of the Pecos and North Texas Railway Company right-of-way intersects the west line of said Section 6; thence north-easterly with the south boundary line of the Pecos and North Texas Railway Company right-of-way about 1,195 feet to the point on the south line of the right-of-way, where a line down the center of First Street as continued south of the railroad and parallel with the south line of Section 6 about 760 feet to the point at the center of the intersection of Columbia Avenue with Third Street as shown by the plat; north down the center of Columbia Avenue and parallel with the west line of Section 6 to the point of intersection of the south boundary line of the Pecos and North Texas Railway Company right-of-way, thence north-easterly with the south boundary line of the said right-of-way to the point of intersection of the south boundary line of this right-of-way with the east line of Section 6; thence north with the east line of Section 6 to the northeast corner of Section 6, and continuing on in straight line 1,145 feet beyond the northeast corner of Block 297 as shown by plat; thence west parallel with the south line of Section 31 of township 1 north of range 4 east of a Capitol Syndicate Subdivision to a point in the west line of Section 31; thence west with the north line of Section 6 to the Place of beginning. The election to determine the incorporation of Friona was called for March 19, 1928. Of the inhabitants, 65 voted for incorporation under Commission form, while 34 cast votes against the petition.

Thus Friona obtained a Commission form government, which provided by the state, that a mayor and two commissioners should be elected biennially by the people. These three persons made up a Board of Commissioners who in turn were to appoint the other city officials. All elections for the city officers were to be held on the first Tuesday in April. The first mayor elected was John White. The first two commissioners were J. A. Blackwell and Jesse M. Osborn. The present officers are Mack Bainum, Mayor; Carl Maurer and Nelson Welch, Commissioners. In case of death of the mayor or a commissioner, they may fill the vacant office by appointment by the Board of Commissioners, but if two of these offices are vacated at the same time, the vacancies must be filled by a special election, called by the County Judge. The Board of Commissioners appoint a city clerk (city manager) who is responsible as treasurer, and tax assessor and collector.

The first city clerk was J. J. Horton who was appointed May 15, 1928. The present city clerk is Roy Wilson. The Board of Commissioners also appoints the city marshal, city attorney, fire marshal, water commissioners, street commissioner, and city judge. The first city marshal was Charlie Jones; at present there is none. The purpose of city marshal is to enforce city ordinances. The city attorney is not a permanent job, but one is called in when necessary. The first city attorney was A. D. Smity. The office of fire marshal was created by a city ordinance Sept. 12, 1934, the purpose of which was to enforce fire zoning, and make us live in a safer town. The first water commissioner was B. Short. The first street commissioner was Fred White, who immediately resigned, and M. A. Crum was appointed in his place.

A Court for each city was provided by State Legislature. On September 9, 1935, a city ordinance for the rules and regulations and practices of our city court was passed. The purpose of the city court is to handle all offenses in the city and violations of the city law. The members of the city court consist of the mayor, the two city commissioners, and a city judge. The first city judge was F. W. Reeve, and the present is Mr. J. D. Hamlin. If a person on trial demands a jury, one may be appointed by the judge, and contains six men.

The Commission form government, which Friona now has, was provided by Art. 1164a of State of Texas Statutes. The Commissioners have power to change form of Government by a city ordinance.

Better developments brought to Friona by the City Government include the fire department, paved streets, electricity, telephones, and gas. During 1930 the first volunteer fire Department was formed. A two-wheeled cart pulled by Mrs. John Johnson, formerly Miss Marion Littlefield, who taught in Hereford's Central School in 1946, has a baby girl, Mary Leona, born Friday, June 16. They live on a Pampa on a farm. Mrs. Johnson taught in the Pampa school after leaving here, until her marriage over a year ago.

Those attending the Council meeting June 24 from this community were Mrs. R. N. Cooke, ing. Mrs. Johnson accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Inman to Plainview where she will remain for a few days, while Mrs. Inman is recuperating from a major operation.

Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Finley had as their house guests last week Mr. and Mrs. D. Cadder from Dublin, Texas. Mrs. Cadder is Mrs. Finley's niece.

Mrs. Claude Sermon of Killbuck visited in this community last week. She is the mother of Mr. Bud Jacobsen of Hereford.

Mr. and Mrs. Edd Cox are building a two apartment dwelling next door to their home at 105 Jackson Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Bartlett are to be out of town the first part of this week.

Norma Sue and Robert Cooke had their tonsils removed Monday by Dr. Barnett. Both are making a satisfactory recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hodges from Skellytown are new residents of this community. They have purchased the Fred Fain place. We are very glad to have them and hope that they will be happy in their new home.

Mrs. Edd Cox and daughter, Alma were in Amarillo Wednesday, having their eyes examined.

A bridal shower was held for Joan Witherspoon in the home of Mrs. N. D. Bartlett Friday afternoon between the hours of 4:00-8:00. Gifts were displayed ahead of time.

Jim Bookout and his nephew, Norman Bookout went fishing at Buffalo Lake Sunday. All they caught was a lot of mosquitoes. Mr. Bookout said you couldn't shoo them off. You had to knock them off.

A report has come to me of the serious illness of Mr. M. L. Simpson, Sr. of the Jumbo community. We hope he has a speedy recovery. He is in the hospital, having had a serious heart attack. Mr. Simpson is in the dairy and farming business in that community.

The home gardens in this vicinity are very few, and those that have gardens will be late, due to the dry spring season. Mrs. Fred Inman has planted her garden in the field where she can irrigate it. Mrs. J. I. Finley says her garden looks good after these last showers. Mrs. R. N. Cooke doesn't have all of hers

LOTS OF LOBSTER — Larry Shea, of Newport, R. I., compares an average one-pound lobster with a 17 1/2-pound monster recently caught off the Newport shore by a fishing dragger. Too big to get into the average lobster pot, the 37-inch crustacean was hauled aboard by fishermen with a boat hook.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Cassels and boys spent last Sunday visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ray Farmer and baby in Kress.

Out-of-town relatives who were here for the funeral of Oscar Vaughn Wednesday were Mr. and Mrs. Homer Lee Vaughn and Keith from Hayden, Arizona; Mr. and Mrs. G. S. McConnell, Dolores Anne and Betty, from El Paso; Mrs. Odell Elliott from Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Miller and family, Bobby Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Miller and family.

to Sherman Machine and Iron Works Co. To finance the deal, Water Works Warrants were issued for $42,000 at 6 per cent interest. On December 1, 1949, $27,000 was still due on this system.

The first street to be paved in Friona was placed under construction February 22, 1937 when agreement was made with the State Highway department of changing the highway from down below the railroad to Eleventh Street. The only expense of this move to the city was the land involved. On May 8, 1945 Main Street was widened and paved.

tions of the proposed sewage plant. Then on January 8, 1949, an election was held, voting bonds to construct a sewage plant and make improvements on the water system. The amount of $135,000 together with a Federal Government loan, was voted for this purpose. A contract for the construction of sewage plant and improvement of the water system was with the S. G. Stockton Co. The sewage plant will be completed, and ready for use January 10, and the improvement on the water system completed February 7, 1950.

Thanks to the foresightedness of certain pioneers, Friona now has a modern city government of which its citizens can well be proud.

This was the only equipment available until May 16, 1940 when a used truck was purchased and made over into a fire truck, which was still in use until the purchase of a new one in November of 1949. This new truck with the latest in fire fighting equipment was delivered December 13, 1949.

The water department, another service of our local government was started on September 16, 1929. It was at this time that they hired an engineer to study the needs, and cost of an adequate water supply. With the needed information a city ordinance was passed October 17, 1929 and the contract was given

Homer Fox Says: Did You Know..

A few days ago, Jerry Stoltz asked me if I could write a story about Friona for their special edition next Sunday; I said yes. If I was smart enough, I could write a whole series of stories about Friona and those wonderful people when I lived there years ago.

My mother and dad came to Texas in 1876 from the hills of Tennessee and settled in Navarro County. My dad was a "Johnnie Rebel" and fought four years in the Civil war, and when he came home after the war, he discarded what was left of that tattered gray suit and quit fighting the war; but my mother never gave up, and she was never whipped by the "Damyantees." I was the youngest of a family of 12 kids. I stuck around home pretty close and was pretty much of a mommy's boy, and of course I absorbed a lot of my mother's ideas. We just lived in the south and we lived "South."

FRIONA LANDMARK — The Friona Hardware store pictured here in July 1909 was purchased by J. A. Fox in 1912. The Hardware store was a branch of Warren Hardware prior to this with W. J. "Bill" Harris, manager. Mr. Harris is pictured on the left above and in the lower picture, also. After the store changed hands, Mr. Fox added groceries, dry goods and rugs and did away with the buggies and heavier hardware items. Mr. Harris says the buggy on the right was really a high class job with the wheel out under the seat, etc. The building which is considerably larger than the picture shows, is still there.

I will always remember a letter that I wrote my mother from Friona after I had been there a few months, and she always got a big kick out of it herself. I said: "Just across the street from our store, lives an old couple that runs the telephone exchange, Daddy and Mrs. Yelverton. He is an old Rebel soldier, and so far as I know, they are the only southerners here except myself. But one thing for sure 'Mommy, you and I have missed the boat some place because this bunch of 'Damyantees' are the finest people on earth; there just can't be any better people any place."

I meant that from the bottom of my heart then, and I still mean it. Good friends, good neighbors — down to earth "good people."

I decided to pick on a basket picnic and baseball game for this story. This was the first picnic of this kind and was in 1913, and they called it Indiana Day, as most of the people there were from Indiana, or at least that was the way I understood it. I can't remember all the boys that played ball and I will miss some important names I am sure, but it is all from memory and if I leave someone out, I will be sorry. The picnic and game were at the school house. We had a pretty fair town team and had nice suits. Course we felt kinda sorry for those old Indiana boys out there in their overalls, but they asked for it.

I remember we had Dave Sutton pitching for us, Hicks Daniels behind the bat, Dutch Hanson, Dick Clennin and myself is all that I am sure of on our team, I remember that the boys from Indiana played about everyone, but especially T. D. Ballard pitching. He was an old ex-leaguer and he sure did throw a crooked ball for a few innings. A fellow named McCandless was catching, and he was tops; those two kept us town boys off the bases until T. D. gave out. We not only had trouble with the pitcher and catcher, we had trouble with the umpire. He was Edd Tiefert. That was 37 years ago, but up to now, I have never seen another umpire as "crooked" as that "Kraut eating flat head." He called everything the pitcher threw at us town boys a strike and everything we threw at the Indiana players, a ball. We had one other trouble that day. There was a maize patch right behind center field and we had a hard time keeping the baseball out of that patch, as those old boys knocked the cover off that ball.

We went into a huddle about the umpire, found out that Edd didn't have any life insurance, so we let him live. But the Joker of the game came when I was called and had to go to the store. They replaced me with an old fellow from Indiana. His hair and whiskers were white as snow. He was Mr. Boatman and when he came to bat in the last inning, he hit a long home run and won the game for the town boys.

Mr. Boatman almost had to leave town, but he convinced the Indiana bunch that he just shut his eyes and struck and didn't aim to even hit the ball. Believe me we had a good time that day and boy, we had plenty of the best food on earth. I am going to list a bunch of those good people. I can't remember many of the initials—maybe they weren't all at the picnic that day, and maybe your name won't be in here—but if you was there, you are included anyway in a bunch of people that couldn't be any better in my book.

KILL WEEDS

In growing crops with

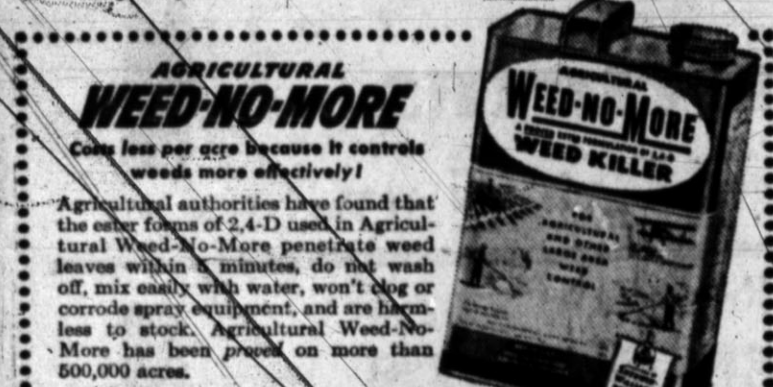

The new miracle chemical 2,4-D in Agricultural Weed-No-More, brings you the practical, low-cost way to kill weeds in growing small grains.

Spraying Agricultural Weed-No-More on young corn is faster than cultivating, kills weeds right up to the corn plants, makes row-planting practical.

On pastures, fence rows, ditch banks, and grassed waterways, Agricultural Weed-No-More kills many weeds, roots and all.

Agricultural Weed-No-More goes on fast—covers 7 to 15 acres per hour. It goes far, too—1/4 pint to 2 pints in only 5 gallons of water treats 1 acre! Apply it by the new low-gallonage method developed and proved by Sherwin-Williams Research. Use a simple, low-cost rig that you or any local shop can quickly assemble.

Texans in Washington

By TEX EASLEY

By Tex Easley.
AP Special Washington Service
WASHINGTON, (AP) — Rep. J. M. Combs of the Sabine-Neches district will tell you that the new tax bill represents five months of hard work by the 25 members of the powerful house ways and means committee. He is the only Texan on the committee.

"It isn't a perfect bill," says the friendly gray-haired former judge and educator, "but we think it is the fairest legislation that could be worked out and still not substantially change the amount of revenue to the government."

The bill provides the first major revision in general taxes since the wartime excise levies were imposed. The measure cuts excise taxes by about one billion dollars a year, reducing the rates on such service and items as transportation, picture shows and cosmetics. Income taxes are raised on large corporations to make up some of this loss.

One loophole plugging provision would impose levies on unrelated business incomes of educational, charitable and labor organizations. An example was the case of a large Eastern university which had been bequeathed a soft drink bottling company in the South.

"It's hard to imagine how many angles must be considered before you make any change in a tax statute," Combs added. "Therefore, we held hearings so every affected individual or company could present views."

The Texan was one of the leaders in the committee's action in turning down the Truman Administration's request for reduction of the oil depletion allowance rate from 27 1/2 to 15 per cent.

Every taxpayer in Texas would have been adversely affected by the proposal, Combs said, adding that it would have slowed oil and gas operations with a resulting loss of general income as well as revenue to the state.

Around the Capital:
The nation's taste in seafood has changed somewhat in the past decade, says the Fish and Wildlife Service.

It has just published an analysis of surveys conducted in major cities of the nation in 1936 and 1946. Fish fillets and shrimp—the most striking examples of the change—are much more popular than they were 10 or 12 years ago.

Houston, Dallas and El Paso were among the cities surveyed. The report shows that Houston went for sea trout, red drum and croakers in 1946. There was no 1936 survey there.

In Dallas the latest survey showed oysters, sea trout and crab meat most popular. In 1936 Haddock, oysters and sea trout were the big sellers.

El Paso in 1946 preferred to tuava, shrimp and catfish. In 1936 the preference was for sea bass, cabrilla and haddock. To tuava is a Mexican white sea bass; cabrilla also is known as rock or sand bass and comes largely from Mexican waters off lower California.

A bill designed to keep a certain species of giant snails out of this country has been introduced by Rep. Wiggate Lucas of Fort Worth and approved by the House Agricultural Committee.

"It's not that there are more small troubles in north central Texas than elsewhere in the nation, but the matter happened to come to Lucas' attention through a magazine article. The snails involved are about the size of teacups," he said. "They are so prolific and devastating they sweep over an area like locusts and leave it as barren as if an enemy had been on a scorched earth rampage."

Quite a lot of them have reached this country since the war, he said, some clinging to war material returned from Pacific Islands and some brought by soldiers and tourists who were unaware of their potential danger.

"In Africa there are a lot," he added, "but there are such natural enemies as hippos and who eat them and keep the number under control."

Parmer County Hospital Builds For The Future

Sometime, not too far in the future, the employees at Parmer County Hospital hope to have a new, modern building which does justice to their business and one which they can be justly proud of. Not that they're not proud of the excellent facilities they have now, but their business is on the increase and it has steadily increased since they opened some five years ago.

Their first home was in the old Friona State Bank building. Then, in 1947, they moved to their more convenient hospital building which they now occupy. According to hospital bookkeeper, Mrs. Lillian Mahan, they now average serving 60 to 70 patients a day. Mrs. Mahan says this average is the result of a steady increase of business since the hospital's birth in 1946.

Highly Capable Staff
Mrs. Mahan drives back and forth from her Bovina home. She serves as both hospital bookkeeper and secretary to Manager Ralph T. Roden. So most of the time she can be found hard at her tasks in the manager's office.

The hospital, itself, is completely staffed with people fully trained at their jobs.

Although Dr. Paul L. Spring is the only doctor now, Mrs. Mahan says another one is on the way from Houston. He will be added to the staff as soon as he arrives. He is a Dr. Henderson.

Six registered nurses work in the rambling Parmer County Hospital. Mrs. Caryl Fallwell, Miss Dorothy Schueler, Miss Elenor Schueler, Miss Dorothy Kelley, Miss June Pleszewski and Mrs. Ozell Landram fill out the nurse staff.

Nurses Aids.
They are aided by four efficient nurses aids. Mrs. Lucy Jones, Mrs. Nettie Mae Collier, Mrs. Zay Dee Blakemore and Mrs. Thelma Jones are the aids.

Representing the hospital staff to the public is Mrs. Tina Bainen, whose office is in the front reception room. She is receptionist and is able to talk about everything from the 1950 population figures to what kind of wheat is going to be raised in the county this year.

Back in the prescription room, Manager Roden and a registered pharmacist, Rex Tynes, make prescriptions for the hospital.

Mrs. Lillie Collier and Mrs. Reeta Agan are cooks in the kitchen and are probably the reason so many patients remember the good food as one of the better moments of their stay in one of the 25 beds Parmer County Hospital boasts.

Keeping the hospital spotlessly clean are two janitors, Will Jones and Mrs. Pearl Yeagy.

The Hospital board consists of Jim Shaffer, president; A. W. Anshony, secretary; Pete Burke, Floyd Sehlenker and Sloan Osborne.

Mr. "Pink" Gilliland has been confined to his home because of illness.

RETURN FROM VACATION
Mr. and Mrs. E. Ramey returned Saturday from a two-week vacation trip to Truth or Consequences, N. M. Mrs. Ramey reports that they did no fishing but took the famous baths and just rested.

She said they saw many old friends from Hereford there. Among these were Mrs. C. D. Cockerham and children, who were formerly in the furniture business here, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Reeves, who own a large cafe in Truth or Consequences, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Palston who own a tourist court there, and Mr. and Mrs. Forbus Blakemore who own a bath house with apartments there. They also saw Mr. Sam McLallen and Danny who were there on vacation with the rest of the McLallen family.

Mrs. Ramey reports that she and Mr. Ramey were beginning to wonder if they were going to see any fish when Mr. Lynn Palston invited them out to eat fish.

The Rameys spent one night in Roswell where they saw Mr. and Mrs. Bill Smith and their daughter, Minnie Dee. She and her husband own a cafe there.

Mrs. Ramey said they called on Mrs. Effie Brown, formerly of Hereford, but she wasn't at home. They did see Miss Delle Albracht, a former beautician of Hereford, though.

Mrs. Ramey concluded by saying that she and Mr. Ramey had a very enjoyable vacation.
