

Phone Ring Brings Sting

'Obscene Calls Can Be Stopped'

By JANIS LOCKHART
Brand Staff Writer

"Obscene, abusive and harrasing calls can be stopped very easily," said Mike Patrick, business office manager for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

"Hereford is one of the very few towns that has the sophisticated equipment to trace these calls," he said.

Those receiving these types of calls no longer have to leave the receiver off the hook, or make the caller continue to talk for any specific length of time as was done in the past, the equipment in the telephone office switchroom takes care of this.

"FIRST OF ALL, if a call is received and there is only heavy breathing, silence, or just a noise made, the best thing to do is hang up. This type of call is usually someone calling numbers at random and if they are unable to get a response from anyone, they lose interest.

"Their kicks are gotten from getting someone un-nerved, scared, or to just say something. If this is not accomplished, they usually go on to another number. This is not classified as a serious call," Patrick explained.

"THE OBSCENE call is entirely different," Patrick warned. "Depending upon the contents of the statements made by the caller, one should contact the police after receiving one of these calls. If the call is classified as a potential recurrent call, you need to go to the telephone company and sign a release for a polarity trap to be placed on your phone line."

Patrick continued, "The polarity trap is done by the equipment, there is no one listening to any of your conversations. However, the equipment sends out a card stating how many calls you received and also from what number and what time the call was placed.

"This enables you to call the office and tell them what time you received the last obscene call and it should correspond to the same time on the card which will also tell where the call originated. Approximately 98 per cent of these callers are caught.

"WHEN SCHOOL lets out for holidays, summer, and week-ends, the phone calls pickup. What students do not think of is just what the penalty is for making these calls," Patrick said. "If everyone would just look on the inside of the front cover of the telephone book, this explains what can and will happen to those caught."

"Another thing that does not seem to cross the minds of the individuals who think it is fun to make crank calls, is just how it can affect other people who receive a call that scares them. If they think this is funny, it won't be when they are caught and have to face the fact that they have caused an elderly person to become physically sick," Patrick said.

"I have seen people sent to mental institutions from the effects of receiving threatening calls. But maybe this will all stop as soon as people start reporting these bad calls and the callers made aware that they will be caught now.

"ONCE A caller is caught, this information is turned over to the police. The information is never revealed to the party called until the case goes to court.

"The names of the callers are never given to the harrassed. This can not be done and would be very likely to cause other problems," explained Patrick.

Teenagers are still considered minors and are dealt with in a different way. There have been cases in which these minors have been sent to the juvenile authority, put on probation, and held until they become an adult under the law.

"ONE OF the reasons people will not report calls of the above nature is embarrassment. This should not happen because these calls are serious and a stop should be put to them being made—and with your cooperation, they will be stopped," the telephone company representative said.

Patrick said one very important thing to remember is when you answer your telephone and are asked who is speaking, do not give your name. Ask who they were trying to reach, but still do not give out any information.

If the caller should persist by repeat calls, listen for back ground noise, such as music and also whether it is a male or female voice and whether it sounds as if they are young or an adult.

Patrick said if the public will cooperate then they can be protected, but without the knowledge that people are receiving these calls, the officials will not be able to help.

"IF IT IS determined that your child is making an obscene call and you are alerted to this but do not put a stop to it, the next time the local authorities will be dealing with you as parents," said Patrick. "The law officials and telephone company are trying to help you."

THAT FELLER on Tierra Blanca Creek says education is the art of learning to read.

BEST WISHES for a speedy recovery go to Earnest Langley, prominent Hereford attorney, who was sidelined last week with a heart condition. His secretary reported Saturday morning that Langley is "recovering satisfactorily" in Lubbock's Methodist Hospital, where he was moved this week. Langley has long been one of the community's top boosters.

We hear there are some oil lease contracts being signed for about a dozen sections of land in the west part of Deaf Smith County. Nothing to get excited about, but it is interesting to hear of some activity in the county.

COMPUTERS have added a new dimension to newspapers, but they can present problems at times. If one gets a little wild in spitting out the words, the proof reader sometimes finds it easier to mark off the whole thing and start over. Or, you could have an embarrassing situation like we had Thursday. An ad prepared for Grant Hanna missed the proof reading department and was published with all its errors and repetitions. Hanna was very understanding, and we're trying again today!

Congratulations to Gaston Baer on the observance of his 53rd anniversary in business in Hereford. Gaston's has been a landmark in Hereford as long as most people can remember, and we join others in the community in saluting "Papa" Baer this week!

A REMINDER from the Whiteface Booster Club: Tickets are on sale for the All-Sports Banquet here April 22 with Jesse Owens, all-time great Olympian, as the guest speaker. The banquet honors all athletes at Hereford High, and the appearance of Owens should be a real treat for local sports fans. Tickets are available, at $6 for adults and $4 for students, at both banks and the school business office.

ALTHOUGH the President says the gas shortage is somewhat better, travelers still report difficulty in purchasing gasoline on Sunday and at late hours during the week.

There's a cartoon making the rounds of three road bandits holding up an armored car, but there's an unusual twist. Instead of the usual money haul, two bandits hold pistols on the guards while the third siphons gas from the armored vehicle!

In a similar incident downstate, a highway patrol officer was taking a few days off when someone bravely pulled in front of the officer's home and siphoned gas from the parked patrol car.

Moving Creates Unusual Problems For Families

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of a nine-part series concerning the problems involved in a family's moving from one town to another.)

By JANIS LOCKHART
Brand Staff Writer

The emotional impact on each individual of the family upon hearing that the family will be taking up residence in a new town is very interesting.

The husband has probably just received a promotion, good raise and benefits that he has worked so hard for, and yet, he must go on to the new job, leaving the rest of the family behind. He is happy concerning the job, unhappy due to the family being separated, and that feeling of desertion puts a shadow on his good news.

The wife is proud of that husband of hers that tries so hard to be a good provider, good husband, good father, and good employe, and yet through that pride, she feels the pressure of everything being left up to her to get done.

IT IS EXTREMELY hard to bear when that dear husband says "Motel living is terrible and eating in restaurants has just about turned me against food."

When a woman is alone, getting the house ready to sell, cleaning and preparing it for moving, taking care of the children, getting the car repaired (that would have never fallen apart when he was home) cooking, washing, ironing and trying to hold down a job - would it ever be great to try that "terrible motel living and the burden of having to eat out every meal."

But seriously, the good wife will not let him know that she is upset or feels that she just isn't going to make it alone, because it all will work out.

EVEN THE FAMILY pet has to adjust. A new yard, a new fence, probably a new next-door neighbor that thinks he or she is bigger than the newcomer and a whole new house with which to get accustomed.

"Where do you suppose my old bone went that I hid behind the couch before those humans came in and messed everything up?" says the look on his face.

THE CHILDREN are another story. The parents explain that Dad has done a good job and that is the reason that they are being taken away to an unfamiliar town and (believe it or not) they accept it and begin trying to cram everything into the last remaining few weeks. A mother should allow this. The good and real friends that they have made are going to soon be set aside for new ones. But this transition cannot happen until after a lot of silent hurt of separation and much planning on how they can still get together though parted by hundreds of miles.

City Faces Trash Burner Problem

Hospital, CC Boards To Meet

By DON RICHARDS
Brand News Editor

Three Deaf Smith County governmental agencies go into regular meeting this week with heavy agendas.

The City Commission meets at 7:30 p.m. Monday in City Hall with problems of a city incinerator; the Hospital Board meets at 7 a.m. Tuesday to elect hospital district officers; and the Chamber of Commerce meets at 6:30 a.m. Thursday to begin planning for the July 4th and Bicentennial Celebrations.

City Commissioners have faced problems with state officials in the past with the "tepee" city trash burner. However, commissioners have tried to avoid the expense of a new million dollar-plus incinerator that would greatly dent the city budget and probably not be any more efficient.

THE CITY has preferred the tepee burner in spite of protests from state officials in favor of the more-expensive incinerator. However, another headache was added recently when 80-mile-an-hour winds crushed in the side of the $18,000 tepee burner, thus rendering it useless. The city has had no choice but to use sanitary landfill in the meantime despite the high winds which normally make a landfill undesirable.

However, Dudley Bayne, city manager, recently visited incinerator facilities in Houston and Monday is expected to recommend similar facilities for Hereford. Cost of two new incinerators for the city will be about $50,000, but these type are expected to be state-approved and will be less than the $1 million incinerator.

In other action at the meeting, commissioners will hear from the Hereford Jaycees a probable request to place baseball backstops in city parks for recreational use; take bids for a city parks tractor; review open bids from the public on used city vehicles and equipment; and discuss a petition to close portions of

Hartman Explains School Policies

(EDITOR'S NOTE: During the recent election of two Trustees to the Hereford School Board, several of the eight candidates raised questions about school policy, procedures and school administrative personnel. After the election, The Brand talked with Dr. Roy Hartman, Hereford superintendent, about the issues of the campaign and asked for his brief comments to the questions. The following is an interview with Hartman.)

BRAND: "Mr. Hartman, during the recent campaigns by candidates for election to the Hereford School Board of Trustees, several questions were raised as issues concerning school policy and procedures. What is your reaction to these issues?"

HARTMAN: "My initial reaction is that these questions, plus many more, have been discussed by members of the school administration and the Board of Trustees on various occasions during the past five years. Any taxpayer in the community has the right to know answers to questions that involve any portion of our total school program. I would personally suggest to any interested person to attend regular board meetings as they are open to the general public."

BRAND: "One of the campaign issues raised was the question 'Why do free lunches exceed paid-for lunches?'"

HARTMAN: "Free lunches do exceed paid-for lunches in the Hereford Schools most months of the year. We operate under the federal lunch program and in accordance with their guidelines. Failure to comply with these mandates means forfeiture of the school lunch program. All free lunches and breakfasts are reimbursed in full by the federal government through the Texas Education Agency."

BRAND: "Why not permit young people to use the gyms in a summer program?"

HARTMAN: "Some of the school facilities are available most of the time during summer. Gymnasium facilities do undergo extensive cleaning and maintenance during the summer months, and all will be unavailable at one time or another. Use of these facilities is also subject to proper supervision for the protection of the school and the individual young person."

BRAND: "Have the School Board policies been adhered to in regard to hiring all personnel?"

HARTMAN: "Every effort is made to employ the best qualified person for each position in accordance with school board policy. We realize, however, the matter of judgment is a factor in determining who is best qualified."

BRAND: "Is membership in TSTA (Texas State Teachers Association) and NEA (National Educators Association) mandatory for teachers in the Hereford School System?"

HARTMAN: "Membership in TSTA and NEA, as well as CTA (Classroom Teachers Association) and all other professional organizations, is encouraged, but is definitely not mandatory. This is made very clear to all teachers at the first general faculty meeting each year."

BRAND: "Why are school expense accounts not audited?"

HARTMAN: "The accusation that expense accounts are not audited is unfounded, as they are a portion of the official budget and must be approved."

BRAND: "Why does the school not have an attorney for legal advice?"

HARTMAN: "To secure an attorney on a retainer basis would be an additional expenditure to the district. When conditions become such that legal advice is needed on a regular basis, we will recommend that an attorney be retained."

BRAND: "Are all school students disciplined the same? Are any students discriminated against?"

HARTMAN: "The same school rules and regulations are applied to all students in the Hereford Schools. The manner in which disciplinary action is applied is determined by a

McPherson Impressed With FBI Academy

"It was a lot tougher even than I had imagined it. And I felt it would be pretty rough." That was Deaf Smith County Sheriff Travis McPherson's summary of the FBI National Academy training school he recently attended.

The Sheriff returned only the first of the month from the three month school which is the standard training school for all agents of the FBI (Federal Bureau of Investigation).

"We went through the exact same training and schooling as all FBI agents," McPherson said. "After my class graduated March 28, the regular FBI agents have about three-four more weeks of training." As part of his regular training, McPherson went down the famous "Hogan's Alley" where agents train to draw and fire at figures which pop up in windows and doors. The "alley" is similar to a city street with building props. Figures of famous criminals, innocent citizens and other FBI agents pop up from windows and between doors. The person walking down the alley must draw from the hip and decide whether to fire or not depending on the figure.

McPHERSON said the toughest part of the training was the classroom work where all trainees had to learn federal law and other-law courses.

The classroom course load of McPherson included management, criminology, sociology, psychology — all involving the criminal.

He also studied forensics sciences involving the identification of firearms, handwriting, and organized crime. He also studied aspects of the Mafia and La Cosa Nostra.

"We also spent quite a bit of classroom time studying the habits of sex offenders and sex-related crimes," he added. "We had to do a lot of research and studying and quite a few research papers."

THE SCHOOL is located in Quantico, Va., just outside of Washington, D.C. The cost of the training school was about $25-30 million and includes also all teaching aides that could be used by instructors.

McPherson received an FBI National Academy certificate and a diploma for completion of the school. He also was awarded a "Sharpshooter" certificate for his marksmanship with various handguns, rifles, shotguns and machine guns.

Most of McPherson's training came in the classroom with five hours per week on the shooting ranges as part of the training.

"WE ALSO had a four-engine passenger plane to practice on hijack crimes. The plane was supposed to be hijacked and the trainees would have to work on the best ways to stop the hijackers under the given conditions," he said.

The Sheriff also said several courses included problems and training involving snipers and that building props and towers were a part of the training course to look and hunt out snipers. One course included teaching trainees to scale walls and drop off buildings using ropes.

More than 250 trainees attended the school with McPherson and all lived in the dormitories on the school grounds. McPherson was roommate to a detective from Boston who had helped investigate the famous "Boston Strangler" case. Other trainees at the school included detectives and officers from some of the largest police departments and cities in the United States and world.

Displays Certificates

Deaf Smith County Sheriff Travis McPherson displays the certificates he was awarded at the FBI National Academy school in Virginia which he recently attended. The FBI National Academy plaque is on the wall and he holds his certificate of graduation from the three-month school along with his "Sharpshooter" certificate he earned for marksmanship with various rifles and handguns and automatic guns.

Finishes Basic Training

Marine Pvt. Henry A. Ayala, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ayala of 205 Kibbe St., graduated from basic training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot San Diego. Physical conditioning, discipline and teamwork are emphasized during the 11 weeks of recruit training. He received instruction in close order drill, Marine Corps history, first aid, marksmanship, uniform regulations and hand-to-hand combat.

"I LEARNED a lot just from visiting with the many men at the academy," the Sheriff said. "We heard a lot of FBI stories and swapped stories with many of the other officers there."

McPherson said he was most impressed with the dedication of the men at the academy toward the United States and toward law.

He received 16 hours college credit from the University of Virginia for the three-month course.

Woman Happy About Article

I was very happy to read a Spanish article in the newspaper. It is the first newspaper that I have ever read that has a Spanish article in it.

This is something that I think will help people realize how many people can read English and not Spanish. It is an advantage to us Spanish Americans.

Maybe with the help of your paper we can get some one in the school board to represent us, because it seems to me that by now, people should realize how many Spanish Americans are living in Hereford.

Congratulations for not discriminating us.
Thank you,
Mrs. Ester DeLaCruz

Garbage Mounts In Major Problem

What is low in sulphur, so inexpensive that American families throw out 5 pounds of it every day, and is so abundant that it could supply all of the electric lighting needs of the U.S. in the future? Household garbage, and there's lots of it. If the utility companies can figure out a way to use it as a source of power, it could provide 5 per cent of all the electricity produced in the U.S. and solve one of our biggest environmental headaches; what to do with all that trash. This is becoming a critical problem in our larger cities.

Union Electric Co. of St. Louis, Mo., will invest $70-million in trash collection centers, boiler conversion, separation and shredding equipment and hauling vehicles for garbage fuel. By 1977 all of the garbage from the city of St. Louis and six surrounding counties, 7,500 tons per day, will be burned in Union Electric boilers to generate electricity under a mixture of 20 per cent trash and 80 per cent coal.

This will save Union Electric 1-million tons of coal a year and get rid of a massive trash problem for St. Louis and the surrounding area. The fuel savings to Union Electric are estimated $10-million a year and these savings will increase as the price of coal rises in the future.

UNION ELECTRIC also expects to reap additional financial benefits by receiving the dumping fees now paid by commercial sanitation hauling companies for places to dump trash for landfill or to incinerate it. Too, a ton of garbage contains approximately 160 pounds of usable steel and about 20 pounds of other metals which can be sold for scrap.

It has taken two years and $3.3-million to prove the feasibility of such a project. Most ventures such as this wind up being sponsored by municipalities or counties. The refreshing thing about the St. Louis project is that it is sponsored by an investor-owned utility.

So far only coal-burning electric generating plants can convert to garbage fuel, but experiments are being made to see if garbage can be converted to a fuel similar to oil which can then be used in oil-fueled electric generating plants. Since a 20 per cent-80 per cent garbage and coal fuel mixture up to a 50-50 ratio in plants specifically designed for garbage fuel.

What a great accomplishment to discover that garbage, which costs huge sums of money to dispose of, now has a valuable and worthwhile use to benefit mankind. Now that's progress.

"Tainted" Car

Suppose you lend your car to a friend, who uses it to carry narcotics. If he is caught, could your car be confiscated—even though you were unaware of your friend's illicit intentions?

State laws on narcotics often do say exactly that. The car itself is considered tainted by its misuse, and is therefore subject to seizure. From time to time, a luckless car owner will put up a fight in court. He will argue that he should not be penalized for someone else's transgression.

But most courts have upheld the confiscation of the car. Two reasons are commonly given:

- 1) that this will teach car owners to be more careful about lending their cars to untrustworthy friends; and
- 2) that in fighting the drug problem, the state should not have the difficult task of proving the car owner's complicity.

As one judge put it: "The traffic in narcotics is so great an evil as to justify the drastic penalty of confiscation. The public interest outweighs the loss suffered by the innocent car owner."

Man Returns From Oil Meeting

R. C. Anderson of Hereford Butane, Inc. has returned home after attending the 25th anniversary convention of the Texas Oil Marketers Association in San Antonio April 7-9.

He reported that the energy crisis and the resulting problems to gasoline and fuel distributors attracted a record-breaking attendance of nearly 1,500 wholesalers of petroleum products.

A Phillips Petroleum Company spokesman, told the convention delegates that even with the lifting of the Arab embargo, little relief from the gasoline shortage could be expected, even by mid-summer. Even under the best of conditions "including continued conservation efforts by the public," a shortage of between three to five per cent will exist.

Tommy Muoro of Biloxi, Miss., President of the National Oil Jobbers Council, also explained that an unleaded gasoline program, advocated in Washington to go into effect July 1, will cut into the production of premium and regular gasoline by at least four and two per cent, respectively.

Bill Quortrup of Carrollton, Association President, called for an all-out cooperative effort involving all oil industry people and governmental units to assure an "impartial distribution of petroleum products to consumers."

already have wide price variations, unfair allocations, and more than enough regulations, and we don't need new energy legislation (now being considered in Washington) or an unleaded gasoline program."

The convention delegates also heard talks on how extra petroleum products can be obtained for areas in Texas facing emergencies, especially those in the farm and ranch belts; environmental regulations; and the allocation and the price regulation enforcement program.

An individual isn't hopeless until he loses his desire for knowledge.

Law enforcement can be only as good as the people want it to be.

Hereford Made Guns Draw Attention In Magazine

"Hipsshots," an article that appears in the Shooting Times magazine and written by Skeeter Skelton, former sheriff of Hereford, tells about the miniature reproduction of the 1851 Navy Colt, being hand made here by the H&S Miniatures Co. of Hereford.

Skelton says, "I examined one of their first specimens last September, and workmanship and attention to detail were outstanding. The tiny replica is built to one-quarter scale, and is three inches long. The cylinder turns, and the hammer and loading lever are functional. A diminutive accessory bullet mould is completely operative, and is accompanied by a non-functional powder flask and nipple wrench."

The Texas Rangers have commissioned the H&S Miniature Co., owned by Burns Hamilton and Bob Spangler, to hand produce the little miniatures of the gun.

Skelton said, "The authentic one-piece stocks are painstakingly fashioned from mesquite taken from the historic Pitchfork Ranch near Dickens, Tex. The outfit is cased in a partitioned, velvet-lined walnut case, on the top of which is a silver dollar sized medallion of the Ranger seal. An engraved plaque inside the lid commemorates the Texas Rangers and lists the serial number of the revolver, which is also stamped on the gun's butt strap and cylinder."

The first 150 miniatures will be made of solid 14-karat gold. Another 850 will be sterling silver. Because they are hand-made, no two will be precisely the same. More than two ounces of 14 karat gold or sterling is used in each set which justifies the prices," Skelton said.

The Melanesians believe that the first man was made from the rib of the first woman!

Kiwanis Hear Brock

Twenty-five per cent of the Texas population is affected to some degree by a mental or physical handicap. This group is larger in number than the combined populations of Houston, Dallas and San Antonio, according to a film prepared by the Texas Education Agency which was shown to the Whiteface Kiwanis by member Mal Manchee.

The film briefly depicted various forms of training to the mildly handicapped to teach them a trade and make them assets rather than liabilities to society.

Locally, Gene Brock, local school official involved in training and placement of the mentally and physically handicapped, said that the Hereford program has successfully placed 18 people in routine jobs. Brock went on to say that in routine jobs, the mildly retarded or handicapped were more reliable and content with their work than "normal" employees.

Despite the proven track record of handicapped people in industry, some reluctance by employers persists. According to the film, the Texas Education Agency's role is to change "the wonder of acceptance to the appreciation and the wonder of life."

John Gililand, local mortician, displayed his talents as a magician when he appeared as the program for the Hereford Lions Club luncheon meeting Wednesday at Civic Club Center.

Gililand, who practices magic as a hobby, was introduced by Bill Lamm. Gililand entertained the club members with a variety of magical "tricks."

Ted Higgins presided at the meeting in the absence of Jim Hale, president. One new member, Tony Cortez, was introduced to the members, and a number of visitors were recognized.

JoAn Dwyer Tells Kiwanians About Big Brothers-Sisters

JoAn Dwyer, executive director of Big Brothers-Big Sisters of Hereford, Thursday talked to the Noon Kiwanis Club about the organization and introduced a six-year Big Brother from Amarillo. Mrs. Dwyer explained the purpose of the organization and that it is wholly funded through the United Way. She said its function was to "provide mature, adult guidance for boys and girls for single-parent homes or no-parent homes."

"Big Brothers-Big Sisters introduced a six-year Big Brother from Amarillo. Mrs. Dwyer explained the purpose of the organization and that it is wholly funded through the United Way. She said its function was to "provide mature, adult guidance for boys and girls for single-parent homes or no-parent homes."

was started in 1904," she said. "The name denotes friendship. It is just someone a young boy or girl can be with to talk and answer questions. It is just so that the boy or girl can have a special friend. They don't need another mother or father to make them do things, just someone who can advise them." Mrs. Dwyer said her goals for the organization were to "prevent and repair." She said she would like to prevent as much juvenile delinquency as possible and still repair those who have had problems in the past.

"Let me know if you are interested in being a Big Brother or Big Sister and also let me know if you know of any eligible children who could really benefit through the program." She then introduced Bob Hendricks of Amarillo, who has served as a Big Brother the past six years. He told of many experiences he had had as a Big Brother and told the club what they should expect if they wish to join in the program. "You just get together and give the boy a chance to talk to someone and ask some questions they may not can ask at home. You then try to give him the pros and cons and let him make his decisions." In other action at the club meeting, Kiwanian Bobby Key Club sponsor, introduced members of the Key Club who recently were honored at a Key Club Convention in San Antonio. Owens said 18 Key Clubbers attended the convention along with Kiwanians Gene Brock, Armon Lauderback and himself. Franklin Higgins, local Key Club president, received honors at the meeting along with Chip Guseman, who was honored as one of the top 20 Club secretaries in the Key Club District.

Steve Loerwald received an award as one of the top 10 lieutenant governors in the district and Dave Loerwald was noted as one of the top 10 lieutenant governors and as the strongest past treasurer ever in the district. Kiwanian Andy Shual was in charge of the program and Ed Coplen installed Ronald RUSH as a new member sponsored by Joe Castillo.

Feed Yards Apply To Water Board

Applications for amendments to existing waste control orders held by the cities of Sweetwater and Snyder, and a request for a new permit for a livestock feeding operation near Hereford, are scheduled for consideration at a Texas Water Quality Board public hearing in Lubbock Tuesday.

The hearing is to be held in Room 201 of the City Hall Council Chamber starting at 10 a.m. Al Smith Feed Yards of Hereford, operating a 500-head capacity feeding operation located adjacent to the city limits in Deaf Smith County, is asking for a waste control order pertaining to a variable amount of rainfall runoff water containing wastes from seven acres of beef cattle feeding pens and associated area. The runoff water is to be collected in holding ponds and utilized for irrigation. Spoil banks, topography of the land, and a county road will prevent rainfall runoff from entering the retention facilities.

Absentee Voting Begins Monday

Absentee voting for the May 4 Democratic primary begins at 8 a.m. Monday through the office of the County Clerk, B.F. Cain, clerk, announced this week.

The absentee balloting will go from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day through April 30. Persons wishing to vote in the primary, but who will be out of town on May 4 should vote during the absentee period.

Citizen Of The Month

Charles Wagner, left, receives the Citizen of the Month award from Sheriff Travis McPherson representing the Hereford Peace Officers. The officers praised Wagner for his support of law enforcement and the help he has given in support of local law officials. The honor is given by the club to some person in the community who has shown support and dedication to law enforcement.

White: Baling Wire Still In Short Supply

AUSTIN—First it was beef, then tractors and fertilizer. Now baling wire has joined the list of shortages plaguing Texas farmers. Agriculture Commissioner John C. White recently urged farmers and ranchers to get on one or more waiting lists for baling wire and to expect a wait of up to two months for delivery. He said baling wire is being manufactured and sold in Texas but those already on waiting lists are getting supplies which are available to retailers.

Texas Department of Agriculture officials have conducted a survey to find out how much baling wire will be available to Texas farmers. Based on figures from the five major manufacturers and distributors serving Texas, enough wire to bale only 3.1 million tons of hay will be available this year. According to White, there could be a 24 percent shortage of wire if hay tonnage reaches the average 4 million mark as it did between 1970-72. Last year's crop was a record 5.8 million tons. A repeat of this figure would result in a 45 percent shortage. The wire is used almost exclusively to bale hay and 90 percent of farmers use it. Though twine is a substitute, it is also in short supply. Hay twine is made mainly from imported sisal of the cactus family, and world sisal production has been tight in recent years. Stocks currently are negligible and demand is high.

Herd Drops Two To Monterey

The Hereford Whitefaces hit disaster in Lubbock Friday as they fell in a doubleheader to the district leading Monterey Plainsmen 21-2 and 23-0. Both games fell under the 10-run lead five inning rule. Dave Loerwald was credited with the first loss and Mike Crim took the second loss for the Herd. Hereford now stands at 1-9 in District action and will travel to Plainview Tuesday to play in the doubleheader action beginning at 2:30 p.m. Harvey Torres slammed a double in the top of the first inning to knock in Dave Loerwald and Mike Crim to give the Herd a quick 2-0 lead. However, Monterey scored eight runs in the bottom of the inning to make that Hereford lead short-lived.

"Sabino" Opalescent Crystal

This piece of art is the creation of the famed Sabino, known as the "Sculptor in Crystal". His work is a fine example of "Art Deco", the prevalent style of the 1920's. This talented artist, Sabino, has won many awards in many countries. His artistry is world famous as the golden opalescence which characterizes his craft. Sabino modeled by hand a mold for each figurine from which all the pieces are styled and signed. His is in fact a traditional art which has remained in the family for centuries, passed on from father to son, from hand to hand. Sabino figurines are considered as collectors items and in the following years will become increasingly valuable also available. Collectable Degenhart Glass.

Wood, Bridwell Noted For Conservation Work

The J. S. Bridwell Estate and Ronnie Wood were announced as regional winners in the Texas Conservation Awards Program.

The two were chosen from Region I, which encompasses nearly 50 counties in the Panhandle, for outstanding work in conserving natural resources.

They represented Tierra Blanca District in Deaf Smith County in the Soil and Conservation Contest.

The Bridwell Ranch covers 34,500 acres of land in the northwestern section of Deaf Smith County. It received first place honors in the Absentee Conservation Farmer-Rancher contest. The entry was made by absentee nomination which describes the conservation project through documents and photographs.

The ranch is owned by J. S. Bridwell and managed by Herman Sifford. Wayne Sifford is foreman.

Ronnie G. Wood, Stanton Junior High School teacher, was recognized for his efforts to educate youth about the importance of conservation. His entry consisted of pictures and a narrative explaining his ecology projects. Wood's entry was noted particularly for his efforts to make improvements near Tierra Blanca Creek. He resides at 836 Brevard in Hereford.

State Champions were selected from the regional winners and will be honored May 3 in Fort Worth.

40 ways not to be fuelish.

Give your furnace an efficiency check-up, to make sure it's not wasting fuel.

- 1 Adjust your home thermostat to the recommended fuel-saving temperatures: between 65 and 68 degrees during the day. Down to 55-60 degrees at night.
- 2 Make 50 miles per hour your top speed when driving. On the average your best mileage happens around 35 mph.
- 3 Turn off lights, electrical appliances and TV sets when you're finished with them. Unplug instant-on TVs.
- 4 Start or join a carpool. And when you use your car, use it efficiently. Combine trips to the supermarket, the drugstore, the bank, etc., and make one clean sweep.
- 5 Drive at a steady speed, accelerating and slowing gradually. Especially avoid "jackrabbit" starts. They really eat up gas.
- 6 Don't idle your engine more than two minutes.
- 7 Avoid congested traffic. That kind of stop and go driving consumes gas quickly and adds to air pollution. Plan trips for off-hours.
- 8 Have your home's heating system checked to make sure it's operating at peak efficiency.
- 9 Install a humidifier on your heating system. Humidified air is comfortable at substantially lower temperatures than dry air and healthier for you.
- 10 Close off any areas of your home that don't require heat all the time. Guest rooms, for example.

Hold driving speed to 50 or slower.

- 11 Don't waste fuel heating the garage.
- 12 Keep windows near thermostats closed. Otherwise the cold air will cause a lower reading, and your furnace will run longer but not make you any warmer.
- 13 When you're not using your fireplace, make sure the damper is tightly closed so heated air won't escape.
- 14 Weatherstrip or caulk around drafty doorframes and windows.
- 15 Install storm windows. You'll cut down heat loss by 10-15%.
- 16 Close draperies at night. Keep them open during the day. Closed, they'll act as insulation. Open, they'll let in additional warmth from the sun.
- 17 Move furniture that blocks forced air registers.
- 18 Keep the area near your furnace free from obstructions, especially the space around air intakes.
- 19 Check the color of the burner flame in your gas furnace. If the flame is yellow, instead of blue, there's too much air in the combustion mixture. A repairman can fix you up in a jiffy.
- 20 Clean or replace furnace filters regularly.
- 21 Eliminate outdoor decorative lighting, such as spotlights, floodlights and lights lining driveways.

- 22 Turn off your gas yard light. It's a real gas gobble.
- 23 In the kitchen, try to cook all foods for a meal in one area of the range—on top, in the oven, or under the broiler. For cooking small quantities of food, use a portable appliance like an electric skillet.
- 24 If you cook with gas, don't use more flame than necessary. Flames should just touch the bottom of cooking utensils.
- 25 A clear blue flame on a gas range means the burner is operating properly. If the flame is yellow, have a repairman make adjustments.
- 26 On electric ranges, turn off burners several minutes before the end of the proper cooking period. The heating element will stay hot, and your food will finish cooking without using additional energy.
- 27 Do not preheat ovens more than a few minutes. And don't set the temperature higher than you need.
- 28 Run full loads in the dishwasher, so that you can run it less often. Don't use it between 4 and 8 p.m.
- 29 Run full loads in the washer and dryer. Same reason.

Dial your thermostat down—to 68 degrees or lower.

- 30 Whenever practical, wash with cold water.
- 31 Use the shortest possible drying cycle. And clean the dryer lint trap after each load. (A clogged trap lengthens drying time.) In winter vent the dryer blower into the house.

Avoid "jackrabbit" starts when motoring.

Turn off lights and appliances the minute you're through with them.

- 32 Once a month, flush the sediment out of your hot water tank by draining a couple of buckets of warm water from the faucet at the bottom of the tank. If allowed to build up, this sediment insulates the water from the heater.
- 33 Make sure the temperature on your water heater isn't set excessively high. 110 degrees is about right. Wrap hot water lines with insulation.
- 34 Repair leaking water faucets—especially hot water faucets.
- 35 Take showers instead of baths. You'll use a lot less hot water.
- 36 Make sure your home is adequately insulated. It should have at least 6 inches of insulation in the attic, 3 inches in walls and under floors over crawl spaces.
- 37 Wrap heating ducts that go through cold spaces with fireproof insulation. And while you're there, check ducts for leaks.
- 38 Seal air leaks from living spaces into the attic—around ceiling fans, electrical fixtures, heating ducts, and pull-down stairways. (But don't seal off ventilation in the attic. You need that to prevent moisture buildup.)
- 39 Before summer comes, have your cooling system checked to insure efficient operation.
- 40 Right now, write for a free booklet with these and more tips on how to save fuel. Just send your name and address to: Energy Conservation, Box CW, Washington, D.C. 20240.

Don't be fuelish.

RECIPES

By Sarah Anne Sheridan

The homemaker is always faced with planning ways to serve the left-over portions of the ham when you can no longer get serving slices. The following suggestion may help solve that problem.

Corn Meal Souffle with Ham

- 2 c milk
- 1/3 c yellow corn-meal
- 1 T butter
- 3 T grated cheese
- 1/4 t salt
- 1/4 t paprika
- 3 eggs separated
- 1 c cooked ham, ground fine

Bring the milk to the boiling point and stir in the corn meal and butter. Cook until the mixture thickens to the consistency of mush. Add cheese and cook over hot water. Stir in the seasonings and the beaten yolks of the eggs. Cook a minute and cool. Beat the egg whites until stiff and fold into the mixture together with the ham. Place in an ungreased baking dish and bake in an oven 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

This is only a partial list of ongoing activities which your Chamber of Commerce is actively supporting. There's bound to be something of interest for every member of this community — and after all that's what the Chamber is all about — providing a means to coordinate actions which will help make our community a "better place to live and earn a living".

Ok, you've heard it before, but your neighbor needs to know. Even more, if you're not already involved you need to become an active supporter of Hereford and Deaf Smith County — and of course — so does that neighbor (whom you're going to tell about the Chamber).

That brings us to this week's subject for discussion. "PEOPLE POWER" Deaf Smith County has 22,000 residents. Using census percentages, almost 14,000 of those people are over the age of 15 years.

Now that's a pretty good pool of potential workers for community projects. Yet, when you count those who are helping to share the responsibility for the many worth while programs, there's an awfully large share of that 14,000 still uncommitted.

Matter of fact you can count some of those busy folks 2, 3 or in some cases even up to 6 times — so actually, some of our more energetic citizens, in addition to "pulling their own oar" are doing the job for you and I. And for that neighbor of ours.

The point is this — there's lots being done! No question about that — but there's lots more that needs to be done. And there really is a plentiful number of folks who can help.

We just need to identify them and then show them how they can carry some of the responsibility which is rightfully theirs. We've planned for such an organization.

We call it the Special Action Council for Human Resources. This group led by R. C. Hoelscher will be glad to visit with any group, answer questions and help get that neighbor of yours into the right slot to use his or her talents.

For any community, success comes thru the combined efforts of lots of good people, positive progressive attitudes and plenty of Hustle Hustle Hustle.

Reports Due April 30

Quarterly wage reports and social security contributions for household workers are due by April 30, according to Travis C. Briggs, social security district manager in Amarillo.

"People who pay a household worker $50 or more in cash wages in any 3-month calendar quarter must send a report of the wages, along with the social security contribution, to the Internal Revenue Service within one month after the end of the quarter," Briggs said.

Quarters are January-February-March, April-May-June, July-August-September, and October-November-December. Wage reports and social security contributions for the first quarter of 1974 are due by April 30.

People who employ household workers may file the wage report on a form available at any Internal Revenue Service Office. "Employer's Quarterly Tax Return for Household Employees (for social security)."

The '74 social security contribution for a household employee is 5.85 per cent of covered wages, and the employer pays a matching amount. "Some household employers may prefer to pay the full 11.7 per cent contribution," Briggs said, "and this is also acceptable."

Social security contributions help build retirement, disability, survivors, and Medicare protection for workers and their families. People who employ household workers can get a free copy of the leaflet, "Social Security and Your Household Employee," at Amarillo social security office at 317 East Third-St. Briggs said.

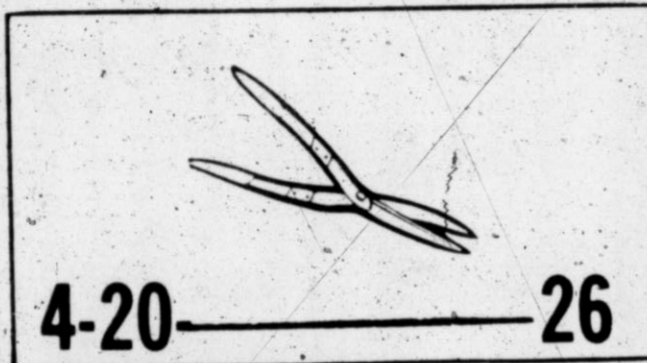

What actually happens on March 20th—the day that spring arrives?

The sun shines exactly half of the 24-hour day and the other half is night. Generally speaking, on that day the earth's axis is perpendicular to the plane of the earth's orbit.

The tilt of the earth, moving from one area to another, is caught when the earth's axis stands perpendicular to the plane of its orbit around the sun—and if the earth did not lean, or tilt, then there would be no seasons. Night and day would be of equal length and our weather would be affected.

Winters would not be as cold and summers not as hot, if indeed there was much of what we know as seasonal weather at all.

THE JEWELRY PLACE
Jewelry has its place. Diamonds were once strictly in the feminine domain and correct only after dark. Those silly finds have died a fortunate death. Young people today have a charming, innovative way with clothes; jewelry has its place on their costumes. Jewelry has its place in art. Look closely at that austere farmer's wife in Grant Wood's famous American Gothic. She found it suitable to wear a handsome little cameo.

Their popularity comes and goes, but cameos are always correct. The rage for antique jewelry a while back seems to have plateaued, leaving a place for cameos in the fine jewelry wardrobe.

Carvers of gemstones have many choices of material: carnelian, bloodstone, agate, lapis lazuli, jade, tiger's eye... Cameos carved from shells—pink conch shells or from various pearl-bearing mollusks—have been known for centuries. Both sides of the shell have sometimes been used for the face of the cameo, although the white lining is usually used for the top layer while the darker outside coating serves as the background.

If you are the fortunate owner of a genuine shell cameo, treat it carefully. Remember, it is shell, not stone, like much of your other fine jewelry.

Carnelian, agate, bloodstone and tiger's eye are all members of the chalcedony family. Each take beautifully to bas relief (cameo) or intaglio (the design is cut into the stone) carving. These stones are usually worn by men, as rings or cuff links, but are more and more suitable for women.

Gemstones were first carved as amulets and charms. At one point in ancient history, every Egyptian citizen—about seven million—had a stone carved as a beetle; the scarab was considered a powerful amulet for over two thousand years.

Cowan Jewelers is your local jewelry place. Carved, cut and polished, our collection of gemstone jewelry includes pieces suitable in every domain.

Hartman Explains School Policy

variety of circumstances, always considering the best interest of the individual involved and of the entire student body. It is a policy to avoid any type of discriminatory practices."

BRAND: "Has the open classroom school, such as Tierra Blanca, been very successful? If so, then why is the new elementary being constructed so different?"

HARTMAN: "The program at Tierra Blanca has been successful and has been recognized by the state for the past four years as an exemplary demonstration school. There is no program that cannot be improved upon. We have taken the teachers' suggestions for improvement and slight modification in planning the new school presently under construction. All programs are constantly being evaluated and suggestions for improvement are welcome."

BRAND: "If it is necessary to have financial advise in connection with bonds, why could the school not get it some place else and save considerable expense?"

HARTMAN: "In the employment of a bonded financial advisor on school bond elections and the issuing and sale of bonds approved, the charges are computed on a standard rate by all companies. Columbian Securities is the firm that has been used, not only by the school district, by the county as well. Realizing the cost will be the same, the determining factor in retaining a financial advisor is the service and protection provided for the school district."

BRAND: "There was a question raised about sanitary conditions in the schools, and particularly the cleanliness of the rest rooms."

HARTMAN: "Every effort is made to keep the schools clean and sanitary. But on some occasions, because of inexperienced personnel, emergencies requiring attention elsewhere, weather conditions, etc., the condition of the restrooms and other portions of the buildings may be less than desirable."

BRAND: "Why is there not a central personnel office with evaluation reports on all personnel and all teachers?"

HARTMAN: "The superintendent's office serves as the central personnel office, housing all teacher records and receiving all teacher applications. Each principal is responsible for recommending employment of teachers in his building and evaluation data on each teacher is compiled and maintained in each principal's office. We believe this to be a more effective practice than having one central office administrator."

BRAND: "Is the School Board getting its money's worth on architecture fees for all the building construction?"

HARTMAN: "Without question, fees paid the school architect have been money well spent in accordance with standard fees charged for architectural services. The firm employed has provided advice on various remodeling projects and on building trade projects at virtually no cost to the district. The school architect has been responsive and cooperative in working with the Board of Trustees and school administration on all construction."

BRAND: "Will it be necessary to raise property evaluation, and thus taxes, if the present trend in spending continues?"

HARTMAN: "The State Legislature has required new programs and practices during the past few years without provision for additional state funds. If more state funds are not provided in the future, it is reasonable to assume more money must come from local sources. We do not anticipate any change in the local tax structure for the 1974-75 school year, but will be governed thereafter by the actions or inaction on the part of the state."

BRAND: "Just how good is the athletic program for girls in the Hereford Schools. One candidate asked if the Hereford girls program was even as good as the Class B and C schools in the area."

HARTMAN: "Girls athletics has been expanded during the past two years to include track, volleyball, and tennis. Intramural activities involve many more girls than the competitive sports mentioned. The athletic program for girls in Hereford is as extensive as most AAAA schools in this area. For the record, there has not been a Class C Classification school in Texas for at least the last 30 years."

BRAND: "How do you feel about the question that Hereford school administrators attend too many conventions at taxpayers expense?"

HARTMAN: "The Board of Trustees has expected administrators to continue their professional development and expects each to be involved in workshops, conventions and conferences related to their particular assignment. Most meetings attended are conferences or workshops designed to assist administrators of various programs in the effective discharge of their duties and responsibilities."

Young Mothers' Children Hunt Easter Eggs

Posters, Parade Announce Cleanup Week, April 20-26

POSTERS made by elementary school pupils will compete for cash prizes in a contest directed by Mrs. R.W. Eades, and entry deadline is Wednesday. Mrs. Eades is being shown a poster here by Karen Coplen, who is not only entering the contest but as a 4-H member will lend a hand with the cleanup Saturday.

YOUTH POWER will launch the citywide 1974 cleanup campaign with an anti-litter parade and trash pickup next Saturday morning, starting from the high school parking lot at 9:30 and proceeding down Park Avenue and Main Street. As it disbands, its units of Campfire Girls, Boy Scouts, Rainbow Girls, Leo Club, Key Club, 4-H Clubs and school organizations will go to assigned areas to collect trash; five trunks have been volunteered to haul away the litter. Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce beautification committees sponsor the cleanup.

PARADE ROUTE is discussed by Mrs. W.C. Russell, beautification chairman in the C of C Women's Division, with two 4-H Club boys, Kevin Cardinal, standing, and Roger Sanders. Edward Allison is chairman of the chamber beautification committee; the two committees have worked together in planning the cleanup and doing preliminary work.

YOUNGEST Campfire Girls-the Bluebirds and Boy Scouts-the Cubs, are working as hard as the older members to help rid Hereford of litter. Missy Merritt, Eleise McDowell, Curtis Hoelscher and Kim Sandlin practice on a sunny morning after a recent windy day, picking trash caught at a fence behind The Brand plant.

ARBOR DAY, set for April 26 in Texas, will be observed by the Women's Division to climax the week, with a tree planting which members hope will be repeated by many families here on their home grounds. Mrs. Shepard Townsend, left, and Mrs. Joe Frank Clark of the Women's Division beautification committee inspect trees in a local nursery to choose one suitable for the special ceremony.

Small Talk

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

GARAGE sales there are in plenty, and a Goodwill Store and other second-hand stores where seekers of antiques and lovers of bargains can prow and hunt. Every once in awhile some organization stages a flea market type of sale which is a large-scale garage sale.

But a book sale is something Hereford hasn't had since I've been here and it's about time one was held for the lovers of book bargains. Like me. One is planned for early in the summer, date not quite decided yet, by the DAR chapter.

Appropriately, it will raise money for a microfilm reader in the new county library, which like other public institutions never has money enough for quite all the equipment it needs.

RIGHT NOW I'm not suggesting that you patronize the sale because it's a bit in the future, but for a second-hand book sale there is a need for more books than the DAR members can contribute, so while you're doing spring cleaning sort out the books that don't really interest your family any more, and donate them.

Nobody who likes to read, it seems, ever wants to just throw away a book even a paperback. Even a magazine. So most families have ends of unwanted books, some outgrown by the children, some left over from high school or college English reading, or bought through book clubs and discovered to be of slight interest.

Of course you don't want to put them in the trash, yet it would be nice to clear a shelf or two here is the perfect solution. You can phone Nell Norvell or Bruce Carter and the books will be picked up, right, now, the collection is already started.

WHILE the Gearys were building their house out south of the Country Club, people who saw it told me that Beth had planned it on original lines, and was doing a lot of the work on the interior herself. At the coffee she and Keith Ann Geary gave for Anne McCaslin, I had a chance to see and admire it.

Although it's in Spanish style which is a sort of fad now, it doesn't have that routine look of furniture store-Spanish which the currently popular style can give to a home—or clothes—or cars—or anything else.

It looks planned and executed for individual taste, which puts Beth and maybe the rest of the family, in upper brackets of interior decoration.

Marries Today
...Miss Cherri Betts Of Adrian

Adrian Girl Weds In Ceremony

An afternoon church ceremony in Clarendon today will be conducted for the marriage of Miss Cherri Fayleen Betts of Adrian, student in Clarendon College, and Terry Clyde King of Clarendon. The Rev. James Brandon, pastor, will officiate in the sanctuary of First Baptist Church.

Miss Betts is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.B. Betts of Adrian and King is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville King of Childress.

Blue and white daisies, pink roses and white spider mums formed a background for the ceremony. Miss Susan Webb of Adrian will attend the bride as maid of honor and Gary Atkinson of Childress will be best man.

Other attendants are Miss Bea Martinez of Hereford, Miss Janice Wood of Adrian and Miss Lillian Ralston, a CC student, bridesmaids; Steve Howard of Childress, Eddy Helms and Burton Melancon of Clarendon, groomsmen. Brothers of the bride, Buck and Len Betts, are ushers.

Wedding music will be by Mrs. Raleigh Adams, organist, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Scoggin, vocalists.

The bride's organza gown has an empire waistline marked with Chantilly lace and an Edwardian yoke of the lace edged with an organza ruffle. Lace scallops finish the sleeves at the wristline, and are repeated at the heading of a hemline flounce. Her veil, which forms a train, is bordered with scalloped lace. She will carry white roses and babybreath and wear earrings given her by the bridegroom.

Dressed in blue knit empire gowns with white lace accenting neckline and waist, the bridesmaids will wear white picture hats with pleated nylon overlaying the brim and blue ribbon circling the gown. Their flowers are blue and white daisies and pink roses in nosegays.

A reception in the church fellowship hall will have Mrs. Eddy Helms serving cake and Miss Beverly Bradley lading punch. Miss Linda Primore will register guests. Mrs. Jim Alderson, Misses Katrina Messer, Sheila McAnear and Betty Hampton will assist. The blue and white tiered cake will be set beside a bouquet of the wedding flowers.

The bride, a freshman art major, was a 1973 graduate of Adrian High School. King is employed by the J.L. Roach Ranch at Clarendon after four years in the U.S. Air Force. He is a Childress High graduate.

Here's How BEEF Is Best

MEAT ENCHILADA CASSEROLE

Mrs. Weslie Owen

1 doz. tortillas
1 can El Monterrey Enchilada Sauce powder
2 Tbs. instant minced onion
2 1/2 lbs. good lean ground meat
1/2 lbs. Longhorn-style cheddar cheese, grated
1 tsp. salt
7 strong dashes Tabasco sauce (more if desired)

In large 4 qt. pan add 1 Tbs. cooking oil and heat. Add meat and brown well making sure all meat is cooked. Add the enchilada sauce, onion, tabasco sauce and salt. Heat to bubbling stage and remove from heat. In another medium sauce pan put 1/2 cup cooking oil and heat to medium hot. Dip both sides of six of the tortillas, one at a time, and cover bottom of 8x13x2 inch pan overlapping edges.

Ladle 1/2 of the meat mixture over the tortillas, spreading evenly, and sprinkle with 1/2 the grated cheese. Then dip the other six tortillas in the hot oil and repeat the process, topping off the casserole with the remaining grated cheese.

Bake in preheated 325 degree oven for 25-30 minutes. Suggestion: This casserole freezes easily. If frozen it should be heated for about an hour in a 325 degree oven.

Books For Benefit Are Sought

Books for a sale which Los Ciboleros Chapter, Daughter of the American Revolution, will conduct this summer, are being collected now. Residents who will contribute books of any kind, paperback or hardback, or magazines for the sale are asked to do so.

Proceeds of the sale will be used to buy a microfilm reader for Deaf Smith County Library. Storage space for the book collection has been obtained by the sponsoring chapter, so books can be accepted at any time and kept until the sale. A date has not been set but the event is planned for early in the summer.

Anyone who has books to give for the sale is asked to take them to Mrs. T.J. Carter at her home, 208 West Fifth, or her office, the T.J. Carter Realty Co. downtown, or to the chapter regent, Mrs. L.W. Norvell, 203 Elm. A telephone call to either will bring a chapter member to pick up donated books.

Cool on the outside... that's an electric water heater! And what that means to you is more storage space. There's no flue or vent to keep you from storing things on top of an electric water heater and since it's cool on the outside, you can store things all around one, too. And, should service ever be needed, we have over 100 people trained for just that purpose.

Q. IS A LARGE DIAMOND ALWAYS MORE VALUABLE?

A. Not always. A smaller stone of finer color and more precise cutting—to show the fire—can be considerably more valuable than a larger gem of less quality. Madre Mia Program Presented By Guest Mmes. Jimmy Anderson, Richard Ward and W.E. Sparks were appointed to a nominating committee in La Madre Mia Study Club Thursday to present a slate of proposed 1974-75 officers when they are hostesses for the spring election party April 23.

The club met in the home of Mrs. Dave Honea with Mrs. G.C. Merritt Jr. as co-hostess. Guest speaker was Irene Keating of Dimmitt, Castro County extension agent.

She spoke of home canning and freezing, a subject in which many homemakers today are interested as a way of cutting family food bills. With a film showing and comments, Mrs. Keating gave new techniques to make food preservation easier, suggested ways to use foods when they are in season and outlined a system for placing food in the freezer and removing it for use so that waste is prevented.

Mrs. Roger Williams presided for business, appointed the nominating committee and presented a letter from the Chamber of Commerce special action committee asking club cooperation in community activities.

Mrs. Lany Crump was received as a new member.

Others present were Mmes. Ken Walsler, Charles Watson, Stanley Simmons, Don Taylor, Bud Snyder, Gerald Martin, Bobby Owen, Ben Scott, Dean Herring, Wayne Lady, Kon Lane, C.D. Adams and Lynton Allred.

Exchange Of Plants Held

Exchange of seeds and plants for use in the current spring gardening season featured the Thursday evening meeting of Avenue Baptist Victory Class in SWPS Reddy Room with Mrs. G.W. Duncan as hostess.

Review of a book, Are You Fun To Live With? by Lionel Whitson, was given by Mrs. Duncan as the program. Mrs. Billy Wall made the report of hospital visits. Mrs. Herman Hendrix presided for business in the absence of Mrs. Bill West, president.

Refreshments were served to these and to Mrs. Johnnie Townsend and Mrs. C.E. Coleman.

PIONEER HONOREES — Old-time residents of Deaf Smith County, and one newcomer, were honorees at Pioneer Study Club's luncheon this week. Seated from left are Mrs. S.O. Wilson, Essie Cardwell; Frances Dameron, Helen Patterson and Mary Bourn; standing, a new club member, C. Ora Cockrell; Mrs. W.E. Dameron; Mrs. Doug Manning, a resident less than a year; and Lura West.

Religious Music Is On Program

Familiar hymns, a spiritual and an original hymn by one of the members made up the program of Dawn Music Club Tuesday, when guest day was observed in Dawn Baptist Church. Mmes. R.E. Curtsinger and H.V. McCabe were hostesses.

Composed by Mrs. Roy Manning, the song I Walk With My Lord was presented by her sister, Mrs. Curtsinger, who played her own piano accompaniment. Mrs. Manning sang the widely loved hymn, In the Garden, with Mrs. Curtsinger accompanying.

Played as piano solos were Rock Of Ages, by Mrs. Clarence Betzen, and Blessed Assurance, by Mrs. Dwane Nelson. Mrs. Carl Klueskens sang the spiritual, Jacob's Ladder, accompanied by Mrs. Curtsinger.

The April hymn of the month selected by the National Federation of Music Clubs, God Moves In A Mysterious Way, was sung by the group to close the program.

Members were reminded that their May 7 meeting, which ends a club season, will be a salad luncheon in Mrs. Gerald Parker's home, a change from the original schedule.

The surest way to enjoy life is to provide your own security by saving something every month.

It's rare for an individual to detect signs of his own extravagance.

An anonymous letter, by the way, is just a sign of anonymous intelligence.

You can't judge a country by what its opposing politicians say about each other.

W.H. GRIFFIN
DEMOCRAT
AN EXPERIENCED BUSINESSMAN FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER PCT. 2

WHY AM I RUNNING FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER?

At present, I am controlling my work hours, but still active with my own company, Griffin Industries, which includes oil well service, business consulting, and cattle feeding operations. Now that I have the time, I would like to focus my experience and qualifications on serving the community in which I live. One of the most impressive characteristics of this area is the constant effort by everyone to prevent needless waste. People around here seem to get the most possible use out of everything. I think the county government should operate on the same principles, which are consistent with my experiences in the industrial, and oil industry. I sincerely feel that my professional training can be put to good use in helping the Deaf Smith County government operate as efficiently as possible.

WHAT ARE MY QUALIFICATIONS?

Although I have never been active in a government capacity, I have always felt, like most people, that government at any level is basically a business operation. With this view in mind, I can offer as qualifications my knowledge of finance, cost analysis, projected statements of operation, economic analysis, personnel relations and management. In addition, my extensive experience in maintenance and operation of all kinds of mobile heavy equipment can be applied effectively to the county's road building and maintenance operations.

In private enterprise, I have been able to use my knowledge and experience successfully, and feel certain that both will prove useful in providing sound, efficient government for the citizens of Deaf Smith County.

4-H Girls Have Good Recipes

By Argen Draper

Home Demonstration Agent

WE ALWAYS enjoy a visit with Marilyn O'Dowd, home service advisor of Southwestern Public Service. She is so enthusiastic and has late information on foods and equipment, electric of course.

Anyway, she will have a food preservation demonstration in July. So is it too early to circle July 25, 2:30 p.m.? Anyway, that's the day there will be a good program, on canning food from your garden.

Marilyn judged some of the food shows in the area and was complimentary of the good food. The Deaf Smith County 4-H girls made a good showing at district foods show. We'll publish the recipes as we can but here are two which are delicious.

Kelli Robinson, junior division, a member of Merry Maidens Club, made delicious rolls. It sounds a bit complicated but do as Kelli does, follow the recipe step-by-step and your rolls will be a pleasure to serve.

CINNAMON ROLLS

1 1/2 c. warm water
2 yeast cakes
1/4 c. mashed potatoes (instant)
1/2 c. flour
2 well beaten eggs
1/2 c. warm milk
three-fourths c. oleo margarine
three-fourths c. sugar
1 1/2 t. salt
7/8 c. flour

Combine in small bowl warm water and yeast, dissolve. Add mashed potatoes and flour. Let stand 5 minutes. Add eggs and mix well. Combine warm milk, sugar, salt, oleo and stir until melted. Cool. Add to first mixture, mix well. Add flour (more may be needed to work dough easily).

Pre-heat oven to 400 degrees F. Knead, let rise until double, roll out to about 1/2" thick and spread with the following mixture:

1/2 stick melted oleo margarine
1/2 c. sugar
6 T. cinnamon

Melt oleo margarine and spread on dough; mix sugar and cinnamon and spread on top of melted margarine. Tightly roll dough from one side to the other and slice 1/2" thick with a clean thread.

For pecan topping:
1/2 c. brown sugar
1/4 c. oleo margarine
1/2 c. chopped pecans

Milk

Put brown sugar in bottom of pan, lay oleo on top of sugar in slices. Sprinkle milk until all is damp or moist. Put chopped pecans on top. Place rolls on top of topping mixture. Bake them at 400 degrees F. 35-40 minutes. Turn upside down on a platter. Serves 8.

Sandra Stallings, senior division, member of the WIN 4-H club made Texas Tassies, which make a big hit wherever served.

TEXAS TASSIES

DOUGH: 1-3 oz. pkg. cream cheese (softened at room temperature)

1/2 c. oleo (softened)
1 c. flour
Cream oleo and cheese; stir in flour until well mixed. Shape into 2 dozen 1" balls and chill for one hour. Press balls into miniature muffin pans. Bake in pre-heated oven (325 degrees F.) for 25 minutes. Remove from pans and cool.

FILLING: 2 small cartons frozen strawberries (undrained, but thawed)
4 T. cornstarch
2 t. red food coloring

Put thawed, undrained strawberries in a saucepan. Add cornstarch and food coloring. Cook these ingredients together until thickened and clear.

TOPPING: 1 carton, whipping cream (1/2 pt.)
one-third c. sugar
1/2 t. vanilla flavoring

Pour cream into a small bowl. Begin whipping and add sugar and vanilla. Refrigerate strawberries and whipping cream until just before serving. Fill already cooked shells with strawberry mixture. Top with whipping cream. Serves 12.

THE CLUB

women of Parmer County are sponsoring an arts and crafts exhibit at Friona, May 10 and 11. Jana Pronger, extension agent of Parmer County, tells me the entry fee is $5 and articles can be sold or exhibited.

A group or an individual can rent the table space. The exhibit will be at the new community building at Friona. We'll want to go to the exhibit just to see Christmas in May.

THERE is a very interesting book in the library on twins and Superwins by Amram Scheinfeld. You will be in-

WE ARE collecting coupons and stamps to help with the truck for Borger's Girlstown. The delegates going Thursday to Borger for the district meeting of the Texas Home Demonstration Association will take the stamps and coupons. Ruth Gandy, Gene Holden, Doris Johnson, Marlene Daugherty, Kathleen Gorman or Leona Fangman will deliver the coupons for you.

Mrs. McCaslin Is Honoree At Coffee

To better acquaint a bride from another city with her contemporaries in Hereford, a coffee Wednesday morning complimented Mrs. Jerry Don McCaslin, who was Anne Ellsworth of Dallas before her marriage in the winter.

Mrs. Geary Gearm and Mrs. Tim Gearm entertained in the new home of the former, 714 Baltimore. Approximately 30 of Hereford's young matrons were guests.

Faith in anything doesn't waver with the shifting winds of fortune.

Your money won't do much good when you're dead. Put it to work now.

Dyed in varied pastel shades and topped with tiny bouquets, eggs were tied to the branches of a miniature tree centering the table where coffee was served. Smiling faces were sketched on some eggs, fabric scraps glued on others in patchwork effect, to ornament living room tables.

Casual talk was the keynote of the morning party as the hostesses greeted callers and presented the pretty brunette honoree.

Woman Speaks To Olton Club

Mrs. R. L. Ethridge of 400 Western was guest speaker this week for the Olton Garden Club in Olton.

Mrs. Ethridge accompanied her lecture on the art of arranging flowers with a demonstration. Her presentation was slated in conjunction with a flower show to be held May 16 in Olton.

A member of the Hereford Garden Club, Mrs. Ethridge was among guests from Littlefield and Olton.

CLAYTON ANNOUNCES FOR RE-ELECTION

It has truly been a privilege to serve the 74th Legislative District for the past several years. During this time, I have seen a great many changes in our area and in our state. The feed lot industry and other agri-associated industries have been good for everyone in the area; however, they have changed our style of life. This increasingly complex society demands more attention from its state government. Here is where I feel I can continue to make a contribution. The seniority I hold in the Texas Legislature, coupled with experience and knowledge I have gained, has enabled me to obtain the results you deserve from your voice in state government—your state representative.

We are now in the process of writing a new constitution for the people of Texas to consider for adoption. The Convention will reconvene on May 6th to complete its work. My influence at the Convention is being felt and this legislative district undoubtedly will benefit from some of the provisions I have been able to incorporate into the document.

My legislative record is well known. I've always stood for and fought for efficiency in government, elimination of waste and duplication, and honesty in decision making. I've opposed a state income tax and supported right-to-work laws. I've been in favor of modernizing state government but for leaving more decisions to the local level. I've worked for better educational opportunities for Texas students, both in the public school system and in our institutions of higher learning. I've worked continuously towards solving the state's water problems, particularly for our area's agriculture and small business. I've always been opposed to taxes of any kind when not needed. It is my feeling that we can provide the needed state services without a tax increase during the next period. Together we have made our part of the state well known not only around Texas but throughout the United States. I presently serve on executive committees and boards of several national legislative organizations, thereby giving District 74 a voice it has never had before among the states, and I feel there is now a good chance for this influence to be increased. I am one of the leading contenders in the race for the Speaker of the House and it looks as if I have a good chance to win. If this should happen, District 74 would be in the driver's seat so far as state political leadership is concerned.

You have been kind to me and supported me in the past and I've been honored and proud to serve this district. In asking for your support and your vote on May 4th in my re-election bid, I pledge to you my continued 24 hour a day effort to be "Your Voice in State Government."

Agriculture's New Era

American agriculture is said to be entering a new era this year. It's an era which Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz says may present farmers with their greatest challenge ever.

As the Secretary sees it, U.S. farmers must prepare to: (1) meet the needs of a hungry and increasingly discriminating population at home, and (2) supplement and improve the diets of hundreds of millions of people beyond our shores.

The challenge to the American farmer is to accomplish both of these objectives while coping with tight supplies and rising costs of fuel, fertilizer, farm machinery, pesticides, and other major essentials to crop production and processing.

The new day in agriculture requires new competency on the part of the farmer as he adjusts to a free market situation. It also requires new understanding on the part of the consumer.

For example, there appears to be widespread consumer misunderstanding of the importance of farm exports. Many have the mistaken belief that eliminating exports would automatically result in lower costs of food and fiber here at home.

Yet it is those same farm exports that are making the American dollar stronger in world markets and holding down inflation here at home. Earnings from overseas sales of U.S. farm products last year wiped out a $7.6 billion deficit in non-agricultural trade, and gave this country its first trade surplus since 1970. Agricultural exports are America's ace in the hole when it comes to international relations, and they're also helping pay for much-needed oil and consumer goods that boost our standard of living.

Another often-overlooked point is the fact that America's vast farm machine—the one that's operated by five percent of our population to provide food and fiber for the remaining 95 percent—is geared to produce more than we consume.

If farmers are to have the profit incentive they need to stay on the farm and produce, then they must have the freedom to run at full capacity and sell their products at a fair price in the world market place.

That freedom is as essential as the shirt on your back or the food on your table.

Easter, 1974

Easter, the principal ecclesiastical event of the year, gets its name from Eostre, a Teutonic goddess, whose festival was celebrated in the spring. Her name was given to the Christian festival, as it was she, according to legend, who opened the portals of Valhalla to receive the White God and Sun God, representing purity and light.

The Christian observance, this year on the 14th, is a symbol of the Resurrection, and intertwined with many religious customs and observances, some dating back hundreds of years before the time of Jesus Christ.

The Easter egg became associated with Easter because eggs were forbidden to be eaten during Lent and on Easter Sunday they were traditionally served. The Easter egg, though, dates back to the Egyptians and Persians, and also the Greeks and Romans, who ate eggs annually in spring festivals.

In any event, it's appropriate that Easter comes in the spring, when the renewal of life is so apparent. Sunrise services in our churches—an observance of recent origin in most churches—symbolize the Resurrection at sunrise. This practice is observed in practically all churches today as a symbol of hope, inspiration and faith.

FDR

On April 12th, 1945, President Franklin Roosevelt, the only man ever elected President four times, died at the "little white house" in Georgia; thus ended the political career of a man both bitterly detested by some opponents and idolized by millions.

History has shown Roosevelt knowingly maneuvered the United States toward entrance in World War II, but with honorable intentions. He felt this the proper course for America. Nevertheless, it is true, as critics charge, that he ordered war action against Germany in the Atlantic which made war almost certain; by cutting off oil shipments to Japan he pushed the Japs into a corner from which they had to come out fighting or curtail their aggression. The Japs decided to fight, of course.

While these maneuvers forced the issue, it remains true that German and Japanese aggression and atrocities produced the war—not Roosevelt's clever maneuvering of these governments into striking the official blow.

As for domestic policies, a vast number of reforms and social services resulted from the Roosevelt years. It is to Roosevelt's everlasting credit that he brought new hope to a nation sunk deep in despair and depression when he took office in 1933. The little man who was fighting to keep his home, or to get food for his family in those days, always afterward felt Roosevelt his champion—which indeed he was to millions.

American Voice Reaches 50 Million

By BERT MILLS

Unbeknownst to most Americans, the United States operates a global radio network which tells the American story to the rest of the world 24 hours a day, in 36 languages, via short wave broadcasts.

This has been going on for 32 years. The Voice of America, radio arm of the United States Information Agency, began early in World War II, years after our enemies in that conflict had turned radio transmitters into weapons.

Today there are 21 nations broadcasting internationally for more than 300 hours per week. In number of hours, the U.S. ranks only fourth. Soviet Russia is the leader with more than double the U.S. output. Red China is second and Egypt is third.

Visitors to Washington, including occasional delegations from Russia, may see and hear the Voice of America in action. Headquarters are a few blocks from Capitol Hill and there are seven guided tours daily. A feature is the master controls switching console which can feed 26 programs simultaneously.

From Washington, live programs are sent by leased telephone wire or microwave radio to 41 transmitters strategically located in four states. These transmitters in turn, relay programs to 73 transmitters in 10 foreign countries, where signals are cleaned up automatically, given a boost in power, and passed on to other target areas or other relay stations.

V.O.A. ESTIMATES that 50 million adults tune in its direct broadcasts each week. Many are behind the Iron Curtain, since about 60 per cent of programs are beamed to Communist countries. In addition, 4,000 local radio stations in various nations broadcast programs prepared by V.O.A. or U.S.I.A. posts overseas.

News is the basic element of V.O.A. programs. V.O.A. has its own news service which prepares an 80,000-word file every day. V.O.A. has its own White House correspondent and when Secretary of State Henry Kissinger goes abroad, a V.O.A. reporter usually goes along.

It might be asked why the government needs to maintain its own news service. Why not use the Associated Press, or United Press International or Reuter? The answer is that V.O.A. does avail itself of those services but must go beyond their output because its foreign audience needs to have explained facts which Americans take for granted.

Sixty per cent of V.O.A. news broadcasts consists of background information. An African native probably never heard of a grand jury so if a news flash says such a body has indicted somebody, V.O.A. has to explain what that means. Also, much of the V.O.A. service is feature material explaining America to a foreigner, often dealing with cultural subjects. Commercial wire services seldom carry such stories.

Watergate has given V.O.A. editors a special problem. V.O.A.'s mission is to sell the American way of life in hopes of making friends abroad. Despite the embarrassment, V.O.A. would lose its credibility if it ignored Watergate, as some members of Congress have suggested. However, V.O.A. sticks strictly to the facts and repeats no rumors or speculation.

ONE OF V.O.A.'S most popular English language programs is the "Breakfast Show", broadcast regularly for more than a decade, and heard in almost every corner of the globe. It combines news with features and music.

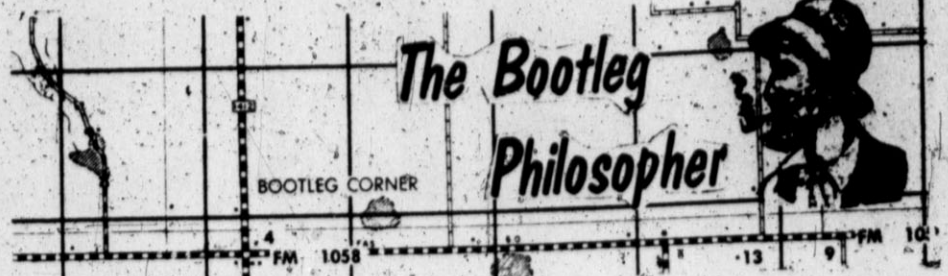

Co-hosts of the "Breakfast Show" are Pat Gates and Philip Irwin. They are virtually unknown here but international celebrities. When they made a goodwill tour recently, some listeners traveled hundreds of miles to greet them. Willis Conover, a disc jockey on a local station in Washington, has an international reputation as V.O.A.'s expert on American jazz. When he visited Moscow for V.O.A., a Russian jazz band surprised him with a serenade.

In many parts of the world, possession of a short wave radio is the key to knowledge. Many nations are competing to contribute to that knowledge. American taxpayers cough up $50 million annually to support the U.S. entry in that race and it is vital to world peace that this effort succeeds.

"Everybody hates inflation, but loves the things it brings. Working people hate inflation but persuade politicians to vote for a higher minimum wage bill. Housewives want a price rollback for meat, but they don't want the empty meat containers that would result. Taxpayers hate high taxes, but love the government benefits these taxes support. Perhaps it's time we all realize that there is no such thing as free, and that Federal funds really should be labeled People's money. That might do more for the economy than all the freezes and thaws in government." CARSON CITY, MICH., GAZETTE

"DESPITE all the events of the past 50 years, the investor-owned utilities are doing a good job in supplying over 80 per cent of the electricity used in this country. They will continue to do a good job if not strangled by unwise regulation." — Mr. E.M. Naughton, Chairman of the Board, Utah Power & Light Company.

"There is an air of impermanence about a government job these days. As one White House aide expressed it, 'I really don't mind having my name written on the door in chalk. What bugs me is the big wet sponge hanging beside it.'" WEST WINFIELD, N.Y., STAR

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bind weed grass farm may be a little rough on politicians this week but that's his lookout, not ours.

Dear editor:

Since nobody else is giving any thought to it I figured I might as well. According to a news item a while back the government in a moment of panic rushed out and had 12 million dollars worth of gas rationing coupons printed up, just in case rationing became necessary.

You're not going to catch Washington napping once it wakes up after sleeping through the arrival of the energy shortage.

WELL, as you know, when the Arabs realized our money stopped flowing in when their oil stopped flowing out and a sheik can't buy a new tent with un-sold oil, they lifted the embargo and all those rationing coupons are now stacked up in a warehouse in Washington gathering dust.

And some people are saying, well, that's 12 million down the drain, but it doesn't have to be so. I have given the matter some thought and there is a use for those coupons.

LOOK, every time you pick up a newspaper these days you read that somebody else high or low in government has been indicted for perjury. Generally this ruins their career, since it is one thing to lie in private practice but another to lie to a grand jury.

Now lying to a grand jury, while it may have had its moral leadership planted in Washington, is not limited to the capital juries who don't seem to realize the jails are over-crowded as it is.

So the idea hit me; why not utilize those gas rationing coupons? Why not issue one book a month to every office holder in the nation, with each coupon good for one lie? Tell a lie, get caught, tear out a coupon, hand it to the grand jurors, and their hands are tied. Use up your quota before the month is out and face the consequences.

YOU reckon those 12 million-dollar's worth of coupons are enough to go around?

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Society Deaf To Victims' Cries

By CLARENCE M. KELLEY

VICTIMS ARE THE MOST NEGLECTED consequence of crime. Statistically, the risk of becoming a victim of crime is demonstrated by the rate of lawlessness. But this is only a small part of the full story.

Those whose lives are lost, whose persons are injured, and whose property is taken by crime are not its only victims. Crime is bad enough when its impact is confined to those persons it personally accosts. But lawbreaking is rarely that selective.

Crime often causes far-reaching damage to many innocent persons beyond the scope of its individual acts. This is nothing new to an experienced law enforcement officer. I am, however, painfully reminded of the fact when reviewing the circumstances of the murders of law enforcement officers throughout the Nation.

THE RECORD-SETTING toll of 134 local, county, State, and Federal law enforcement officers killed due to felonious acts in 1973 is a sorrowful figure. It is a tragic count. Even more grievous, perhaps, than the loss of these valiant officers' lives is the fact that their deaths left nearly three times their number in immediate family survivors.

The fabric of considerably more than 300 lives of men, women, and children was severely torn with the loss of a husband, a father, a son, or a brother.

The tentacles of crime had, at the moment of these deaths, seized the loved ones in a terrifying grip which would likely leave its ugly imprint on their hearts and minds for the remainder of their lives.

And this says nothing of the shattered remnants of their livelihood.

THESE SURVIVORS, as well as any persons similarly affected by the commission of crime, are truly victims. If the number of the officers' survivors is at all representative, society has reason to shudder at the huge group of persons spiritually and functionally impoverished by the more than 18,500 murders, for example, which occurred in 1972.

Yet, we hear very little about the victims of crime. The reports of their loss too often are the sole accounts of their plight or their demise.

This is in puzzling contrast to the frequently prolonged, hand-wringing appeals made in behalf of those who commit crime. There seems to be no scarcity of spokesmen who will concoct any rationale from any platform to excuse persons accused or convicted of crime.

CERTAINLY, our society must not ignore the criminal offender. The community has an obligation to see that he is afforded every protection the law provides and, if convicted, a responsibility to seek his meaningful rehabilitation.

However, I cannot help but wonder if more public attention on the victims of crime would help serve as a strong crime deterrent. Surely, their stories of suffering and mental anguish would better capture the misery and meanness of crime, hopefully to an extent that might even trigger the conscience of all but the worst would-be offenders.

Furthermore, it would put lawlessness in its proper perspective—as a clear menace to society rather than a seemingly lifeless event which simply involves prosecutors and the police pitted against an accused.

We should all strive to remember, not forget, the victims of crime.

Talk Of Texas

By JACK MAGUIRE
FOOTNOTE TO HISTORY —

The inventor of the automobile was a Texas physician, minister and author named John Wesley Carhart.

No less an authority than the Automobile Manufacturers Association credits Dr. Carhart with the invention of the horseless carriage in 1868. He was the pastor of a Racine, Wis., church at the time and he, his brother and a local carriage-maker teamed up to produce the first powered, wheeled, passenger vehicle to run on U.S. roads. He called this ancestor of the automobile a "steam buggy" because it was a buggy powered by a steam engine.

Later Dr. Carhart came to Texas where another brother, Lewis H. Carhart, founded the town of Clarendon, Donley County. Dr. Carhart settled in San Antonio, switched from the ministry to the practice of medicine and became one of the state's leading physicians. As a hobby, he wrote both fiction and non-fiction books.

He continued to work at his inventions as well and developed a process for making automobile tires out of laminated paper. The paper tires were used extensively in Europe.

Dr. Carhart died in San Antonio in December, 1917, at the age of 83.

BELIEVE-IT-OR-NOT: The only flowing stream of fresh water on the giant King Ranch in Kenedy County is made possible by the effluent from one of the largest natural gas plants in the U.S.

The plant, which occupies 151 acres of the million-plus that make up the ranch, processes 1.7 billion cubic feet of natural gas each day. Water from the plant's cooling towers flows into a freshwater lake which has been stocked with large-mouth bass and which has become a refuge for ducks and coots.

Contrary to the fear of environmentalists, the gas plant's effluent has provided the ranch with something that nature didn't: clear, cool water.

Beauty Spot Supervision Has Been Longtime Job

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

A CONTINUING project of Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce Women's Division, which has encouraged residents to beautify home grounds, public and business buildings for a number of years, is underlined by emphasis on tree planting and other yard beautification in the citywide cleanup drive set for April 20-26.

Selecting a Beauty Spot Of The Month has been a part of the chamber's beautification program even before the Women's Division was organized and took it over. Through these years the project has been directed by the woman who still heads the Beauty Spot subcommittee in the Women's Division, Mrs. T. J. Carter.

For only one year there was a different chairman, then Bruce Carter was asked to take the responsibility again, and accepted the task.

SHE DOES NOT select the beauty spots, which are marked each month from March to November by yard plaques supplied by the Women's Division. But she must see that a committee of three persons is ready for the judging in each month of the growing season. Names of committee members are never announced.

most of them serve only one year so judging is not done by the same committee year after year. They decide on a residential beauty spot and one in a non-residential area and report to Mrs. Carter, who places the plaques.

She also announces the decisions to news media, and frequently repeats the announcement that a non-residential beauty spot is not eligible for designation again for two years, nor a residential spot for three years.

PURPOSE of the project is to recognize efforts of residents to beautify their own places, which in turn help make the city more attractive. The awards do not always go to professionally landscaped or maintained grounds; the beauty spot may be a yard at an ordinary home whose owners do all the gardening.

It may not always be in the city limits; some of the beauty spots have been in other parts of the county.

Mrs. Carter's interest in this activity reflects her love of growing things. She says she is a plain dirt gardener who does her own hoeing and raking. She cultivates fruit trees as well as ornamental shrubs and flowers at her home at 208 West Fifth. An active member of Garden Beautiful Club, she has been on its roll since it was organized. She has been a Hereford resident since 1928, when she arrived "in a sandstorm, with a cold winter wind blowing," and now operates her own real estate business.

PROJECT COMPLETED — Appreciation for support of Project Christmas Card and for substantial contributions from L'Allegria and La Madre Mia study clubs which purchased a fetal heart monitor for the new maternity ward at Deaf Smith General Hospital, are expressed by Mrs. Howard R. Johnson, project chairman in 1973, and other members of Hereford Medical Auxiliary which conducts the annual fund-raising drive. Dr. Johnson, chief of obstetrics at the hospital, stands beside the piece of equipment with, from left, Mrs. Ken Hunt of Broken Bow, Okla., former active Auxiliary member, Mrs. Millard Nobles, Mrs. Johnson; Ron Welty, hospital administrator; Mrs. A.T. Mims and Mrs. C.E. Rush.

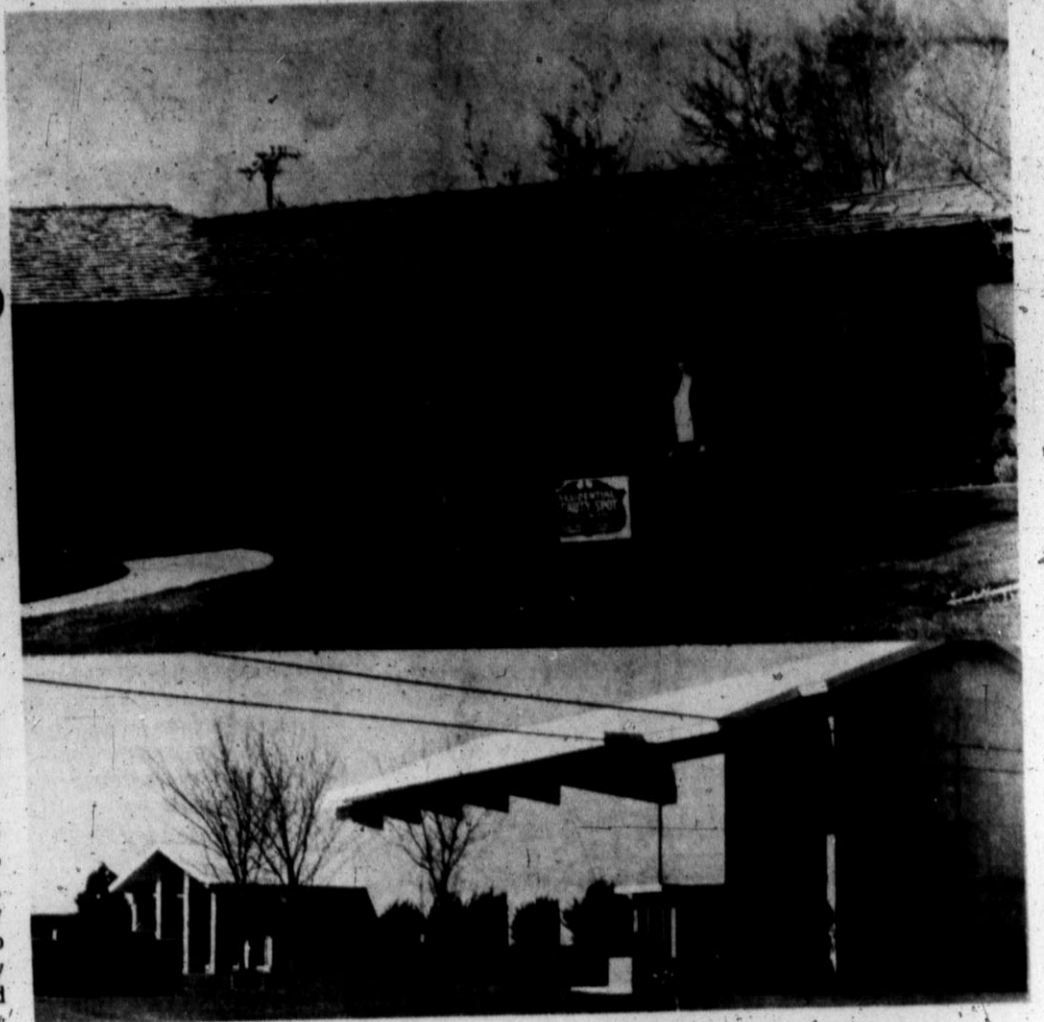

In the March 27, 1930 edition for The Hereford Brand: "The wheat harvest was saved again yesterday".

The line, described in the Brand as "in the venacular of the old time Panhandle expression" welcomed a late Spring snow that added much needed moisture for the wheat crop. In those days, irrigation in Deaf Smith County was a drop in the bucket. Of the total farm acreage of 443,225, only 9,035 acres were irrigated. Most folks were depending on that snow. Things have changed. Irrigation is now a way of life. That was the year, 1930, when we started in business. We've changed too. Increased the size of our facilities many fold, installed the latest equipment and systems of handling marketing and accounting. Like in irrigation, you have to improve to grow and

We grew up in the agri-business.

Comings And Goings At King's Manor

BY FAYE GAUGGEL

Ward Circle of the UMW of First United Methodist Church met in Lamar Memorial Garden Room Tuesday. Mrs. Nora Gillis presided.

Topic was the Church. After a hymn, Mrs. Evadne Cox gave various definitions of the church, some gleaned by quoting individuals she had interviewed. Then she outlined facets of the outreach and purpose of the church. There were 28 members present.

A dialogue followed in which ordinary person of the street following Pentecost, enacted by Mrs. Gillis, questioned a person who belonged to the followers of Christ, Mrs. Wiseman. The answers explained to the inquirer the meaning of Pentecost and the new church and its purpose. Several Methodist 7th and 8th graders presented plays to the King's Manor family. Congratulations and thanks to Mrs. Ernest Langley, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis McCustian, sponsors and directors. The one-act plays were titled Mana Climbed A Tree and Battle Of The Budget.

Mama Climbed a tree in protest against doing the kids chores. Kids pretend hunger and neglect as they prowled around like hungry wolves under the tree. Momma won her point. In the cast were Cidy Ford, Kent Ellis, Trent McCustian, Donnie Johnson, Kelvin Barkowsky and Lynn Mitts. Battle of the Budget also relevant to teen-age problems, is a picture of finesse practiced by "Pop" on youngsters concerning their allowances. Both groups carry their strategies too far and meet in the middle "even Steven". Generation gap closed. The actors were Donnie Johnson, Laurie Pittard, David Arney, Joni Webb, Barbara Scott, Kristi Shook, Kelvin Barkowsky and Kent Ellis.

Hugh Smith of Westgate had as his guest his daughter, Mrs. Sewright of Sunnyvale, Calif. She drove him to Petersburg to visit their relatives there.

Alpha Leclairre of Albuquerque, N.M., is a guest here for several days. She is a former beloved nurse of Westgate. She gave a little party in one of the lounges, serving cinnamon cake and coffee, on Monday.

Mrs. Carrie L. Hendrix had as her guest Nell Crain Parks of Ruidoso, N.M.

When you see this sign you usually think of a Shamrock service station, where you get Cloud Master and Trail Master gasolines and Shamrock's fine family of motor oils. Shamrock, however, is more than just a service station. Our products mean many things to many people.

To farmers, Shamrock is fertilizer as well as fuels and lubricants for farm machines. Sportsmen may think of us as Shamrock Boat's Trail motor oil and marine fuel, while others may identify with Shamrock's Lush Lawn fertilizer. Industrial and commercial consumers look to Shamrock for lubricants of all kinds... for diesel, jet and turbine fuels... for elemental sulphur, sulphuric acid, carbon dioxide, asphalt and carbon black oil. Shamrock natural gas and LP Gas are produced for domestic, farm and industrial use.

We are going all out to produce as much of these products as we possibly can during the energy shortage.

Diamond Shamrock is engaged in exploring for, developing, producing, transporting, refining and marketing natural gas, crude oil and petroleum products to service many different needs. Thus, what the Shamrock emblem may mean to you depends on how you look at us.

Diamond Shamrock Chemical Company, the chemical unit of Diamond Shamrock Corporation, is one of the nation's leading producers of important chemicals for industry and agriculture and of nutrition and health products for man and animals.

By The Garden Gate With Glad

By Mrs. Art Manjeot

I have been doing some research in old yearbooks of Pioneer Study club, and to me the following, even though it was written in 1909, is still good for us to think on;

What is really momentous and all important with us, is the present by which the future is shaped and colored.

What we do today really counts the most in the tomorrows. So let us get busy with our gardening.

The moon is in full now (time to plant things which make aboveground) and sunshine is bright and warm, splashes of beautiful colors are being created by lovely flowers which are in full bloom also the flowering shrubs and trees.

If you failed to see the pretty crabapple trees while in full bloom on Centre Street (Crabapple Street to me) you have robbed yourself of the beautiful sight created by them.

Without a doubt the beautiful scarlet tulips in bloom at the First National Bank Drive is one of the most beautiful beauty spots in town. I took time yesterday after church services to drive around the complete grounds to study the nice tulips, other phases of the landscaping.

GARDENING IN APRIL.
April has always been a happy month for me. My mother and I would plant beans, beets, radishes, etc. and then she would go with me out in the pastures to pick blue and white daisies and do a bit of fishing for craw-daddies, with a pin for a hook.

Sister Lavina did spring house cleaning and I pestered her by messing up things. School days were happy days and we had lots of fun in April. One April-fools day I ran away with a group and played hooky (we paid for this by writing "Playing hooky is not fun" 1,000 times and had to stay in at recess and noon.

My father, a Baptist minister, and I would drive his favorite buggy horse, Pomp (he would let me drive some) to visit the sick and shutins and talk with the farmers: Art and I came back to Hereford in the springtime; our son Lloyd Howton was born April 9; and on 1 could reminisce about happy days of April, but we must get down to gardening matters.

This is a key planting month and it will pay to channel some of the enthusiasm into action.

April 23, has been set for Arbor Day in Texas. Many will observe this day with the planting of a tree. Hereford Garden Club and the juniors, Johnson Growers, are observing the day by a planting at the Garden Center.

Lets all make it a big day in Hereford by planting a tree. I have two to transplant. It is important that we have trees, they mean much to our ecology as well as the beauty they add to the landscape.

Much is dependent upon the way a tree is planted. The following are some suggestions for proper planting.

First: decide where the tree is to be planted and why there? Check drainage, select good stock for planting. Consider size, a 12 foot tree can be planted by one person, if taller, then help will be needed. If nurseryman plants the tree it is well to stay near by and watch the procedure.

Second: At the planting site, measure off a four-foot circle and cut the sod around the perimeter. Remove sod by peeling back with a spade.

Third: Dig the hole before you take the wrappings off, or remove from the container. Take extra care of the roots, do not expose them unnecessarily because they will dry out.

Hole for planting should be at least 2 1/2 feet deep, place soil which is lifted from the hole on a cart or a tarp to save cleanup later. Unwrap the tree and check root lengths. The planting hole should be at least 12 inches larger than the natural root spread. If needed, enlarge the width and depth of the hole.

Set the tree at the same depth it grew in the nursery. Note mark on trunk. Hold the tree straight and fill all spaces under and around the roots with soil. Tamp as soil is added, this is necessary to close air pockets which will let air get to the roots.

When the hole has been filled to about three-quarters, water thoroughly letting the water flow in slowly; avoid washing of soil. Fill remaining space in the hole, packing firmly as soil is added.

Give the tree a final straightening, soak again, when planting is finished, tamp soil carefully. Leave a depression around the base of the trunk to catch and hold water when watering in the future. It is important that the watering process not be hurried, slow flow of water is best.

Examine tree for any branches which have been damaged, remove these and a third of the tree's top growth. Also low branches. If needed, brace with a stake using padded wires.

If rabbits are a problem, wrap tree trunk with burlap strips or with special tree wrap. As tree grows, be sure to loosen the wrap to compensate for the growth. If wrapping has become worn, replace or if the tree has shown good growth the wrapping may be replaced by putting woven wire protector around the tree. Select wire with spaces which will control animals from getting to the tree.

Some of the trees which do well in our area are honey locust (all varieties) walnut, maple, red oak, willow (upright, cork-screw and weeping), cottonwood, silver maple, (there is a beautiful silver maple in Dameron's Park which has been there for many years) elms (all do well here but use care in selection of variety. For shade the Chinese elm is excellent but for an extensive landscape plan I would not advise it.)

Pecan trees do well and most years they bear. Mrs. J.A. Pitman has beautiful and productive pecan trees.

Some fruit trees make beautiful shade, the apricot is a good choice, also apple both crabapples and other fruit bearing varieties. To bear fruit of good quality they will need spraying carefully and thoroughly several times before fruit is made. Mrs. Colby Konkright has grown excellent quality apples, they are beautiful as well as edible.

Peaches do well, also cherries (several varieties) Use care in the selection. Mrs. Lottie Clark has a beautiful collection of fruit trees in her back yard, as does Mrs. W.C. Hromas.

Was pleased to hear Mr. Formby, talking garden talk over KPAN, Mr. Izzard, also commented on gardening and whittling in one of his columns; many programs on gardening have been on T.V. Both outdoor and indoor gardening.

Telephone calls from many of my very favorite gardening friends, greetings and encouragement from people who like gardening and have made inquiries, love notes and thank-yous from readers make it a wonderful world, and our blessings are many.

May the blessings and joys of Easter abound with each of you, and may we all strive to be more thankful and thoughtful on Easter Sunday. GLAD.
