PHONE GIRLS STRIKE

Walk Out for Short Time Monday But Are Now Back on Job

In common with operators from all over the Panhandle, the four telephone girls at the local office of the Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Company were out on a brief strike last Monday morning.

Manager Hooks states that he was out on line work during the early forenoon and knew nothing of the strike until he came in before noon, when he found the office in sole charge of his Chief Operator. He called up the operators and asked them what was the matter, and soon afterwards all four returned to work, with the understanding that they would place their demands in writing to be forwarded to the proper officials of the Company.

For a brief time Mr. Hooks and an assistant were compelled to answer calls on the switchboard.

In discussing the causes of the walkout the Manager said that the local operators had never made any demands upon him and that he was not aware of the impending strike until it was actually pulled off. It seems that the four were not very well advised of the fundamental causes of the general strike, and went out more in sympathy than through personal grievances of their own.

This brief strike seemed to have been general all over the country, in accordance with the national movement now sweeping over the United States, and grows out of demands for better wages and shorter hours.

Recruits Wanted By Army and Navy

Lieutenant Helm, Sergeant Ritchings, Corporal Cox, and Privates Kerns and Williams, all members of the Nineteenth Infantry, now stationed at El Paso, spent the day in Hereford Thursday recruiting for Uncle Sam's Army and Navy. Corporal Cox and Private Williams will remain over here until Monday ready to advise with and enlist any young men desiring to enter any branch of the armed service of the country.

The Lieutenant asked The Brand to make announcement that those who enlist now have a chance to pick their own branch of the service, and even designate the part of the world they would like to be sent to, such as France, China, Siberia, the Philippines, Alaska, etc. They can enter either the infantry, cavalry, artillery, etc., according to choice, and if a mechanical turn of mind, can obtain a first class mechanical education by enlisting in the Motor Repair Unit stationed at El Paso. Lieutenant Helm also stated that if a man preferred the Navy they would enlist him for that, and that present members of the National Guard are also free to enlist for a period of three years, an arrangement to that effect having been made. Ages of men accepted must be between eighteen and forty.

New Road Grader Of Elevator Type

The County's new elevator road grading machine is now at work on the public road east of town leading toward Mr. Gallagher's. It is being pulled by the big Woods tractor, the county's tractor being out of commission for the time being.

This new machine cuts the dirt on the side of the road and transfers it by elevator to the middle of the dump, and is said to be a very efficient, fast and satisfactory piece of machinery.

Baptist Protracted Meeting Successful

The meeting at the Baptist church which is being conducted by Rev. E. C. Routh of Dallas, Texas, assisted by the pastor Rev. J. E. McClurkin, is growing in interest. The church is rather small for the congregations which attend every service.

Rev. E. C. Routh is not a sensational evangelist but preaches "Jesus Christ and Him Crucified" according to the scriptures and illustrates the points with his varied experiences as pastor, evangelist and leader in denominational work in Texas for a number of years.

Anyone who is not attending these services is surely missing a spiritual blessing. Every one is invited to take part in these services and especially urged to bring their unsaved friends.

A number have shown their interest by coming forward for prayer. Many of the christians have renewed their vows to be loyal to their Savior. It seems truly that we are having a revival of religion and that souls will be saved and the christians brought nearer to perfection in the discharge of their duties as church members.

Virginia Shirley Rest Room Opened

Dedication ceremonies of the Virginia Shirley Rest Room, First Christian Church of Hereford were held Wednesday afternoon under the auspices of the ladies of the church.

Because giving and serving were part of her life, her husband, T. E. Shirley, furnished and most handsomely equipped this room as a memorial to his wife.

The guests were welcomed by members of the Missionary and Aids Societies, and were led in a body to the room made sacred in memory.

In the center of the room, banked high with lovely flowers, was found her picture, and the sweetness and simplicity of her life seemed to have become a part of the room. The inscription beneath the picture, written by Mr. Shirley, read:

"Her life was an inspiration, and her memory a benediction. It was not from any conspicuous deed the blessings came that made her part of the world better, sweeter and happier, but from the countless lowly ministrations of her everyday life, and the faithfulness of her entire life. Now we are comforted to know—

"They have built her a home In the Garden of God, Away from the world's weary strife;

Through eternity's day, Where crystal waters play, She'll live by the River of Life."

The room throughout in its decorations and furnishings carried out her ideas of quiet refinement and beauty.

Tributes of love were given by those who knew her best. The following program consisted of music and verse that she loved: Instrumental Solo—Mrs. Dyar. Scripture Reading—II Chron. vi: 18-25; vii: 11-13—Mrs. J. E. Ferguson.

Vocal Solo—Miss Owen. Mrs. Shirley's Creed—Rom. xii—Mrs. Gough.

Reading—Mrs. Wheeler.

Vocal Solo—Mr. Earl Gough.

Reading—Ardelle Foster.

In Memoriam—Mrs. Guthrie.

"Art Thou Weary"—Ladies' Chorus.

Dedicatory Prayer—Rev. J. M. Asbell.

WE MAY SECURE A HOTEL

W. B. Dameron Has Plan for Building if Money Eases Up

For the past two weeks negotiations have been in progress between a special committee of the Chamber of Commerce and W. B. Dameron looking toward the erection of a modern hotel building on the lots owned by Mr. Dameron across from the Courthouse, facing south and east.

The movement grew out of a general demand upon the part of the public for some action of the sort. A series of conferences have been held, and Mr. Dameron has been in consultation with architects with a view of ascertaining what a modern hotel of about 30-room capacity, with Cafe attached, would cost.

A tentative agreement has been entered into whereby the matter will be pushed in the Fall, when money may be easier, and if the citizens care to assist Mr. Dameron to the point where he can see his way out, financially, construction work will begin January 1.

At prevailing high prices such a structure as the Committee and Mr. Dameron desire would cost close to $50,000.

Fine Basket Picnic By Presbyterians

On Tuesday evening, June 17, the ladies of the First Presbyterian church gave a basket picnic in honor of the retiring pastor, Rev. W. M. Baker, and family, and all returned soldiers, sailors, marines and aviators.

The "eats" were spread under the trees of the City Park, and a big crowd disposed of one of the most generous and satisfying picnic lunches ever prepared.

Several out of town guests were made welcome, and representatives of all the religious denominations in the city were also in attendance.

No oratory was indulged in, and the entire hour and a half was devoted to eating and neighborly sociability.

"Doughnut" Songs —By Liberty Girls

A "Doughnut" Concert by the Liberty Girls is the latest stunt. This is announced by the Chairman D. L. McDonald of the local Salvation Army Drive committee for Friday night, June 27th, beginning at 8:30 o'clock.

The national drive for funds for the work of the Salvation Army is now on in full blast, and Deaf Smith county has been asked for a quota of $700. The citizens of the county are requested by Mr. McDonald to come to the Courthouse on the night of the 27th, listen to the Liberty Girls, and hear the explanation of the work of the Salvation Army in the trenches and at home.

Mack Beach of Wichita Falls, Texas, is spending a few days in Hereford this week looking after business interests.

THOUGHTFUL ACT OF DR. GABBERT IS APPRECIATED

Dr. W. F. Gabbert, now in service in the Medical Department in France, has very thoughtfully remembered Mr. and Mrs. E. Renfro of Hereford, in the letter which follows. Dr. Gabbert visited the great American Cemetery near Brest, where most of the American dead are buried, and sent Mr. and Mrs. Renfro a photograph of the grave of Wilbur, their son, who died soon after reaching France. Under the same date Mr. and Mrs. Renfro also received a nice letter from the Y. M. C. A., also given below:

Camp Hospital No. 33
M. P. O. F. 16 A. E. F.
May 30, 1919.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Renfro,
Hereford, Texas.

Dear Friends:—I visited Wilbur's grave today and decorated it with flowers and an American flag. Also I made a picture of it and the Cemetery; I will send you them as soon as they are finished. The others were not good.

The cemetery was beautiful. I do not think I ever saw a more beautiful day. The Memorial was attended by thousands of soldiers and sailors. In this cemetery are buried all the soldiers of the A. E. F. The best care and great attention is being paid to the graves.

This is quite an old cemetery and if I had my choice for a friend's burial place I would much prefer KERFAUTRAS Cemetery. I will never regret my stay here although I would love to be at home.

My regards to all the people of Hereford, and assuring you of every attention to your son's grave. I am
Your friend,
W. F. GABBERT.

Equipment Here For Texas Cavalry

Complete equipment for a troop of seventy men was received in Hereford this week by First Sergeant Wes. Bradley of Troop C, Fourth Texas Cavalry, and stored in the armory over Garrison Bros. Hardware store.

The equipment includes guns, blankets, shoes, clothing and everything else that Uncle Sam furnishes an enlisted man for active service.

Upon the return of the officers from instruction at Camp Stanley last winter it was announced that the local troop would be maintained, if the young men of this locality showed sufficient interest. The men will draw a stipulated amount in pay, in clothing, and in many other ways of compensation, and horses will be furnished under certain conditions. The men are required to drill at regular intervals.

Sergeant Bradley expects the State Inspector to come around most any day now, and start the ball rolling. The Sergeant would be glad to hear from any of the local men who like exercise and riding.

E. H. Fullwood Opens New Store

E. H. Fullwood has rented the building formerly occupied by C. A. Skelton and later The Top Shop and was busy moving in Thursday. He will conduct a general repair line, specializing in furniture repair work, sharpening lawn mowers, etc.

CHURCH FUNDS RISING

Methodist Campaign For New Church Building Bears Fruit

According to unofficial reports from Committeemen, the Methodist Drive for a new church building is forging steadily ahead, with every indication that the venture will be a decided success, provided of course that every member of the church and every citizen does his duty and stays with the campaign to its conclusion next Monday.

Up to Thursday over $18,000 had been received in pledges, not counting the amount already on hand at the beginning of the drive and leaders are hopeful that before Monday they will be able to proudly announce pledges received in amount sufficient to let the contract for the handsome new church edifice.

All this week committeemen have worked singly and in pairs, and if any citizen of Deaf Smith county has been missed he will surely have an opportunity of talking to an enthusiastic Methodist before Monday.

Red Cross Nurse To Teach Hygiene

One step taken by the Executive Committee of the Deaf Smith County Chapter, American Red Cross, at their meeting last week may have a far reaching effect upon the hygienic and sanitary conditions of this community in the future.

A resolution was passed authorizing the Chapter to employ a trained Red Cross nurse, for a period of not to exceed three months, to teach classes of women, girls and children the fundamentals of home hygiene and home nursing.

This action was taken upon the earnest solicitation of the National Red Cross officials, who are endeavoring to establish this work in every community in the land. It is stated to be the logical outcome of the lessons learned from the Great War.

The Committee took into consideration the state of the Chapter's finances, and set the date for the beginning of the work at September 1, with the idea that part of the time of the lady employed may be utilized in teaching classes of school children after school opens.

It is believed that three months will be ample time in which to reach all the housewives and school classes in the county. Mrs. Charles Donald, newly elected head of this division of the local Chapter, will have direct charge of this work.

Old Man H. C. L. Still Sticking Round

Old Man H. C. L. has hit us another swat. The two local barbershops Wednesday announced a raise in the price of shaves and haircuts to 25c and 50c respectively. This increase was explained as necessary on account of the increasing cost of everything that enters into the barbers trade, etc.

Its rough on the men folks, of course, but then, as the comedian in the Prince of Pilsen said: "How do you expect the barbers to live?"

Construction Work Progressing Nicely

Construction work on the three new brick buildings being erected by R. L. Elliston is progressing smoothly and steadily. The concrete foundations are about completed, and brick work will be in order before very long. It is a busy and optimistic bit of our landscape, and begins to look like a scene "before the war."

COUNTY COUNCIL OF DEFENSE

A Solemn Warning! To ALL COAL USERS

There's every indication of a real FAMINE in coal before snow flies. Today's situation warrants this statement.

Preparations for a resumption of trade—domestic and foreign—such as was never seen in the world are being made.

MR. GARFIELD, of the U. S. Fuel Administration says: "I do not in any sense wish to be an alarmist, nor am I willing to speak more in the interest of the producer of coal than of the consumer, but I feel bound to say that as I see the situation we are very likely to experience a coal famine in the early Fall unless the large users of coal begin buying. The best grades of coal which will stand stocking will be in great demand later in the season. Coal buyers who want quality should have their requirements taken care of early while there is still an opportunity of making a selection."

MR. BABSON, of the U. S. Department of Labor, says, "BUY NOW!" He declares prices are the LOWEST they will be this year, and he cites you facts about labor and demands to prove it.

MR. HINES, of the U. S. Railway Administration says: "BUY NOW." He forecasts a car shortage, and declared coal will be hard to MOVE this Fall and Winter.

We have the coal NOW—but cannot guarantee to have it later. "BUY NOW"—WHILE YOU CAN.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

The public schools are in vacation for the summer, but the fact, we trust, does not make comment inappropriate at this time on the report made by Superintendent Fertsch recently with respect to the last year and the plans for the coming year.

Two significant things were brought in the report. Prof. Fertsch presented figures showing that it costs approximately $31.70 per pupil per year to maintain the Hereford schools. The total general expense for the last year was $20,190. We have made no examination into the subject, but we suspect that few first class schools in other cities of similar size could make an accounting so entirely reasonable as this one.

The conduct of the school has been satisfactory. There has been some criticism, usually of a helpful kind. The pleasant things that have been said outweigh the unpleasant things. But are you, citizens of Hereford, content to let the matter rest on this basis? Are you willing that the schools shall be merely acceptable?

Thirty-one dollars and seventy cents per child is not an extensive investment in childhood. If you knew that $50 or $60 a year, instead of $31.70, would make your boy into a better man and your girl into a better woman, would you stop at the price?

Do you value dollars more than the education of your children? There is a satisfaction that money will not buy in knowing that you have sent your sons and daughters out into the world fully equipped to meet the responsibilities which will be theirs to face. Events in the world lately have proved that the good citizen of the future cannot isolate himself from the burden of public problems and decisions. He must take a part, and he should be prepared to act with wisdom.

We do not believe Hereford is going to count expense unnecessarily, if a fair return for the outlay can be shown.

This brings us to the second thing in Prof. Fertsch's report that impressed us as being significant. We refer to his statement—or was it a promise—that vital improvements in the schools are contemplated. "Every effort will be made to place Hereford educationally in the front rank," he said.

In that commendable enterprise, Prof. Fertsch and his assistants should have the support of Hereford without stint. Our children are our most valued possessions. The best in the way of an education should be given to them, not simply because that happens to be our children, but because it is upon such as these that the happiness of the nation and of the world depends.

LODGE

It may be conceded for the moment that Henry Cabot Lodge is a superior person. He comes from New England Cabots, and in Boston they say that the Cabots speak only to the Lowells and the Lowells speak only to God. An irreverent fellow whom we know refers to him as Henry "Cabbage" Lodge; but that is neither here nor there.

Mr. Lodge is the senior U. S. Senator from Massachusetts. He is chairman of the foreign relations committee of the Senate, and is the titular leader of the republican party in the country. From his exalted place in the Senate, Mr. Lodge made statements, direct and indirect, which led the country to believe he had knowledge that President Wilson had betrayed his country by playing into the hands of Wall Street and the Germans. The specific thing Mr. Lodge intimated was that the President had turned over to the financial interests, in advance of sending it to the Senate, a copy of the peace treaty.

On the strength of the Lodge charges, which were repeated by Senator Borah of Idaho, the Senate undertook an investigation. Very quickly it was not only discovered that the President was not responsible for the so called "leak," but that Senator Lodge knew the President had nothing to do with it when he uttered his charges.

In a legitimate way, a copy of the treaty fell into the hands of Thomas Lamont, a Wall Street banker, temporarily in France as a representative of the Treasury Department. Lamont gave the copy to Henry P. Davison, also a Wall Street financier, who has been giving his valuable time to the Red Cross. Davison, it was disclosed, did not show the treaty to his associates in the New York financial district, but he did give it to Elihu Root, former Secretary of State. Root showed it to Lodge.

There is the entire story. There was no impropriety, there was no publicity, and no harm was done until Mr. Lodge attempted to make political capital out of the incident in the Senate.

Lodge, who springs from the new England Cabots, was caught in a low-down trick. A similar offense, if permitted within the organization of any gentleman's club, would have caused the offender to be expelled. Things have happened recently to indicate that the Senate is not a gentleman's club.

There is Borah—but why speak of him. He wants to be President. His is the kind of a patriot who would make a campaign of disgraceful misrepresentation against the President in order to achieve his objective. It was Borah who inserted in the Congressional Record the copy of the treaty which was stolen in France by a misguided American newspaper man. It was on his motion that the Senate made itself a party to the theft.

OIL STOCK, GOOD AND BAD

It is an injustice to Texas that its name should be connected with many of the questionable oil stock promotion schemes which just now are being madly exploited in New York, Chicago, and other eastern financial centers. While it is reassuring to feel that Texas as a rule are neither the exploiters nor the victims, good citizens generally are indignant and resentful that the name of the State should be dragged about by these promoters of unworthy projects.

There are good oil enterprises in Texas—hundreds of them. These have helped materially in our industrial development. We have no complaint to make against them—only words of commendation. It is to their advantage that the wild-cat schemes exist.

The promoters can not be reached by the laws of Texas, and not a great deal of success has met the efforts of the authorities in the states where they operate. They use an enormous amount of advertising space in the metropolitan journals, but the Postoffice Department has not yet found that their's is a scheme to defraud.

Official investigation of one scheme shows that on the sale of $3.00 a share, the promoter got $855,000 and these who bought the stock, $45,000.

The State legislature, soon to convene, may be able to do something. Otherwise, we suppose, it is a condition which Texas will have to "live down."

Danger of Fire

It is conceded that the Plains country has the greatest grass crop in years. Ranchmen say that pastures that ordinarily will carry a strictly limited number of cattle this year are carrying more, and then the grass grows entirely away from the cattle.

Which means when the thick grass begins to cure the danger of prairie fires will be great in this section. A carelessly thrown match may burn thousands of acres and untold value in property.

A good slogan for us all this year: "Careful With The Matches!"

THE PEACE TREATY

We won't sign, "say the representatives of the Hun government.

"We won't sign," say the republican leaders of the United States Senate.

"You WILL sign," is the ringing answer of a hundred million liberty-loving, war-hating American people.

Paving is the spirit of the hour with all good Panhandle-Plains towns. Clarendon, Memphis, Canadian have announced paving for some time. Now Clovis is paving Dalhart has ordered six blocks of paving, and Hereford has the incentive to follow the examples of progress. The good towns are all coming to the front in this good year.—Canadian Record.

Such gross ignorance! Wake up, Rip Van Winkle. Be advised, Brother Loomis, that the City of Hereford lighted the way for the rest of the Panhandle in the way of paving. Come over, visit the most modern little city in the Panhandle, and get the sleep out of your eyes.

Now in control of both branches of Congress, the republicans have resolved to investigate everybody and everything connected with the war administration. The republicans might find a bit of political sagacity in the suggestion that nobody loves a fault-finder.

A federal census of population is to be taken next year. We shall be glad, for then it will be necessary for Herefordites to explain that we are not a town of 1,750 but, actually a city of 3,000 or more inhabitants.

A New York reporter writes for his paper about "worthless Texas acres." He probably would have been better acquainted with his subject if he had written about "worthless New York reporters."

One contest of the year into which it is reasonably certain partisan politics will not be injected is the Willard-Dempsey prize fight at Buffalo on July 4.

By a simple process of logic it has been determined that the inventor of near-beer could not have been a civil engineer. He was a poor judge of distance.

Well, we managed to get along in this old world for quite a spell without the telegraph and the telephone. And what has been done can be done, you know.

In order to prove that prohibition doesn't prohibit, it is pointed out that in Dallas during May there were 118 arrests for intoxication. What actually appears to be proved is the laxity of law enforcement in Dallas.

RED CROSS ACTIVITIES WILL NOT SLACKEN, SAYS DR. LIVINGSTON FARRAND

Misery Caused by War Must be Overcome—Outlines Peace Program of Organization.

The work of the American Red Cross will not slacken until the misery caused by war has been overcome, according to a statement issued by Dr. Livingston Farrand, new head of the organization. While the Red Cross of each nation has its part to play in the new work, said Dr. Farrand, a large proportion of the relief must be undertaken by the American Organization, which has been undegoing, since the armistice, a reorganization to render it as effective for the future as it was during the fighting period.

According to Dr. Farrand the situation abroad is more serious than might have been expected. It is so grave that it has struck pity even to the hearts of men whose business is the alleviation of want and suffering. At home, there is an immense organization of 19,000,000 grown-ups and 9,000,000 children, ready to be used both as machinery for disseminating facts about public health and for aiding the stricken abroad.

"When the armistice was signed the principal activity of the Red Cross was in France," said Dr. Farrand, "but it had large commissions also in Italy, Belgium, Great Britain and the Balkans; smaller commissions already had begun work in the Balkans, in Poland, and at Archangel, in Siberia. Immediately after the signing of the armistice plans were undertaken to put the work of the society on a peace basis.

"Our work with the soldiers and sailors is a matter of course, and will be continued abroad and at home as long as there are any soldiers being demobilized or occupying zones in Europe. But as the soldiers are demobilized, and as patients are evacuated from the hospitals in Europe, our work of that character is rapidly dwindling. We have a personnel in Europe now of between 6,000 and 7,000, and I wouldn't be surprised if it were cut in half within the next six months.

"The most interesting and touching situation now confronting America and the America Red Cross is that in the Balkans and Eastern Europe. The diseases which are likely to spring up among a people ill-nourished and with poor sanitary surroundings are beginning to ravage Eastern and Southeastern at an alarming rate.

"This affords a present emergency with which the Red Cross must cope. It is the plan of the society to go to the people next Autumn and ask for additional funds to carry on the work. To make the present supply of money do until then will require the closest kind of figuring."

Dr. Farrand emphasized the fact that the Red Cross co-operates with the American Relief Association, headed by Herbert C. Hoover, wherever it is possible. That Red Cross, however, does not attempt to feed populations which are in want. The Hoover commission will go out of existence on July 1, and after that there will probably be an even greater call on the services of the society.

"At home we expect to use our membership of 19,000,000 as machinery for the protection of the public health," concluded Dr. Farrand. "The maintenance of community health is largely a matter of education, and it is our purpose to spread abroad a better knowledge of how to keep well. It has been decided to continue the Junior Red Cross, with its 9,000,000 members and to encourage them to help the children of Europe, the orphans of France and of Belgium to obtain an education and to fit themselves for life work."

ing the date which was so much needed in each of the Bureaus.

We are strongly advocating the employment of full time County Health Officers in every County with a population of 30,000 or more and by several of the smaller counties cooperating and employing a full time Health Officer to represent them. Also the employment of a full time Health Officer by all towns and cities of a population of 30,000 or more.

We need the complete cooperation of all County and municipal Health Officers and desire to say that we are from the rank and file of the County Doctors and in a position to fully reciprocate. It is our purpose to render you all the assistance possible in the administration of public health, and the door of the State Health Department stands ajar for you. We trust you will not hesitate to call on us.

We are also in favor of public health nurses being employed by the more populous counties and cities that can afford same. We think that the nurse should be under the direction of the full-time Health Officer. This will insure complete cooperation of their work and will again be economy in service and avoid duplication of effort.

In order that we may have specially trained forces we need established in the Medical Department of the University of Texas a chair for the training of doctors and nurses in public health work.

The greatest war the world has ever known, from which we are just now emerging, has brought to the attention of not only the Medical Profession, but to the entire citizenship of this county the necessity for the betterment of health conditions. Our gallant and noble soldiers to whom the world owes a debt of gratitude are now returning and they, having learned more about health measures will tell you that this country and especially Texas must wake up to a realization that a strong nation is largely dependant upon a physically and mentally strong citizenship. Therefore, we trust that the good people of Texas will respond to the emergency and ask that the State Health Department be furnished with sufficient funds to carry on the work.

The War Department was confronted with such emergencies as to necessitate the enforcement of military regulations in matters of public health, and we must admit that such regulations were a great improvement over the civil system of health regulations which existed prior to the war. Now, inasmuch as the War Department is withdrawing its forces governing health matters in Texas it devolves upon the civil authorities to take over the splendid system established by the War Department and maintain same. The State Board of Health being by statute the administrator of all matters pertaining to public health necessarily will be expected to keep before our citizenship the lesson learned during this war. Through the police power the State Health Department is not only given authority, but it is made a mandatory duty that it should protect the entire State when the public health is in danger.

Local Public Health matters as a rule are usually administered in Texas by local authorities, but these local authorities have not the opportunity of obtaining the scope and coordinated effort necessary to carry out a state wide Public Health organized coordinated effort.

JAMISON-BEEDLE

R. C. Jamison and Miss Gladys Beedle were united in marriage Thursday June 12, 1919 in Amarillo, the minister of the First Christian Church of that place officiating.

The bride has made many friends in Hereford and has for the past few years been an efficient member of the force of the First State Bank and Trust Company.

WAGNER-HACKER

A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Tuesday, June 10th, when Miss Mabel Hacker and Mr. LeRoy Wagner were married at the Catholic church at Umbarger, Texas, Rev. Father Dolje officiating. They were attended by Miss Loretta Wagner, sister of the groom, and Mr. Arthur Kleman.

The bride was charmingly attired in the conventional white satin with veil and wreath of orange blossoms and carried a large bouquet of pink and white roses.

The groom, who has recently returned from service overseas, was appropriately attired in his uniform.

After the ceremony the bridal party, accompanied by the Misses Meta Wagner and Florence, motored to Amarillo where a most enjoyable day was spent.

The happy couple will be at home to their many friends in their new home on the Wagner ranch.

ing June Thirteenth, at the Vaughn home, in honor of Miss Alma Norton, of Artesia, New Mexico.

The house was beautifully decorated with pot flowers and with a profusion of roses in numerous bouquets through the rooms lent a festive air to the occasion.

The guests being received by Miss Opal Vaughn, the evening passed very pleasantly. Forty-Two being the diversion of the evening.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served to the guests by three junior girls in costumes.

IN MEMORY OF—

The Hereford Boys, Members of the 36th Division, Who Are Sleeping Along the Aisne In Far-away France:

The boys from Hereford, who were in the 36th Division, are now returning home. From looking in to their bronzed faces one can see that they had some real experience—and it is the "doughboy" who had experience if any one had—and most of the Hereford boys were "doughboys."

With cheers these returning boys are finding warm welcome on their return.

On a Sunday afternoon in early August 1917, Clifford Acker, Jack Jones, Leland Chamness, Clell C. Cochell, James M. Hennington, Frank W. Jesse, Rufus Brazil, George LeGrande, John Bowen, Logan Sawyer, Blake Cogsdell, J. C. Ray, Wayne Wheeler, Oden Weems, Tape Wyche, Elmer Sharp and Leonard Foster left on an east bound Santa Fe enroute to training camps, first at Camp Bloor, and later to Camp Bowie. In July, 1918, practically all of the above left Fort Worth for France.

Almost two years have passed since they first left home and now they are returning. No, not all, for some of them will not return.

As we look into the faces of these who come home, we look in vain for the ones who will never come, and we miss them, the two who sleep "somewhere in France." Over their graves in that far land wild flowers are blooming—red poppies, blue corn flowers and white daisies. Even in death, Nature in France decorates the graves of the dead with the tricolor.

I have looked upon the dead on the battle field, and on one occasion I paused and looked for some time on the face of a comrade—a comrade, who, as did Clell Cochell and Jim Hennington, paid the great price, and as I looked upon the face of this dead friend for the last time, I could imagine his last thoughts to have been

"We, departing, leave behind us footprints on the sands of time."

It is a fact that every mother's son who sleeps along the Aisne; the Meuse, the Marne, in the Aronne, in Flanders, in Italy or in Russia, have left indelible imprint of prowess in war to preserve liberty alive to the world, and their self-sacrifices and immolation have exemplified the words of the Great Master when he said, "Greater love hath no man than this that a man lay down his life for his friend."

While in New York City enroute home I heard Martin W. Littleton address a large number of returning soldiers and sailors, and his closing words impressed me as being a splendid tribute of appreciation and welcome home, in as much as they were "Cheers for the living, and Tears for the dead."

"To say that the Boche were beaten When we entered the lines isn't true;

For we paid our toll To the Honor Roll Of the Red; the White and the Blue."

This is written in memory of Clell Cochell and Jim Hennington. I realize that many beautiful ceremonies have been held, and many tender tributes paid them, but this is from one—who was with them.

Mrs. J. B. McCord, 602 W. 2nd St., Hereford, says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills a couple of years ago, getting them at Betts-Clark Drug Co., and they proved perfectly satisfactory in every way. I had been bothered at that time with my kidneys being weak. My back gave me the most trouble for it ached all the time. My kidneys were also irregular in action. I have had but very little trouble since Doan's Kidney Pills cured the attack at that time. I gladly advise their use to anyone suffering from kidney complaint." (Statement given Nov. 16, 1915.)

On May 3, 1919, Mrs. McCord said: "Since recommending Doan's Kidney Pills before I have used them occasionally. Doan's have never failed to give satisfactory results. This has increased my faith in this remedy and I praise them just as highly today as I did when I first endorsed them."

You Do More Work.

You are more ambitious and you get more enjoyment out of everything when your blood is in good condition. Impurities in the blood have a very depressing effect on the system, causing weakness, laziness, nervousness and sickness.

GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC restores Energy and Vitality by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. When you feel its strengthening, invigorating effect, see how it brings color to the cheeks and how it improves the appetite, you will then appreciate its true tonic value.

GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC is not a patent medicine, it is simply IRON and QUININE suspended in Syrup. So pleasant even children like it. The blood needs Quinine to Purify it and IRON to Enrich it. These reliable tonic properties never fail to drive out impurities in the blood.

The Strength-Creating Power of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC has made it the favorite tonic in thousands of homes. More than thirty-five years ago, folks would ride a long distance to get GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC when a member of their family had Malaria or needed a body-building, strength-giving tonic. The formula is just the same today, and you can get it from any drug store. 60c per bottle.

GET AN AXE, THEN DISENFECTANT, WHEN THE FARM FOWL GET "T. B."

Halfway Measures Futile in Fighting Tuberculosis in Chickens; No Treatment of Any Avail; Disease Unusually Introduced by Purchase or Infected Eggs.

"T. B." in the flock does not stand for "talented breadwinners." It signifies that the fowl are afflicted with tuberculosis, which means that the flock as a unit must "go West." Halfway measures are futile in fighting tuberculosis, as there is no treatment of any avail against the disease in poultry. The one practical course is to kill off the whole flock with maximum expedition and immediately thereafter to disinfect thoroughly all the houses and runs.

Tuberculosis of fowls is a chronic, contagious disease; characterized by the development of nodules called tubercles in various organs of the body, but most frequently in the liver, spleen, and intestines. T. B. of fowls is readily communicated to most species of birds and to several species of mammals, but it is almost impossible to communicate the tuberculosis of man and cattle to fowls; Parrots, and the smaller caged ed birds are very susceptible to human tuberculosis, however, and are often affected by it.

T. B. Introduced by Purchase
Tuberculosis is generally introduced into the poultry yard by fowls purchase from infected flocks, or by eggs of diseased birds that are obtained for hatching. If the disease exists in neighboring flocks the contagion may be carried by small birds or animals passing from one yard to another. A peculiarity of tuberculosis of birds is that the liver and intestines are nearly always very affected, and that, as a consequence, the bacilli are very numerous in the intestinal contents and are scattered with the droppings everywhere that the fowl go. The introduction of a single diseased bird, therefore, may cause the infection of the greater part of the flock in a few weeks. In the same way, when wild birds contract the disease, the bacilli are carried and deposited in all the yards which they visit.

The eggs of diseased birds frequently contain the bacilli, as has been proved such eggs into susceptible experimental animals. The young chicks hatched from such infected eggs are diseased when they leave the shell and, of course, soon infect the poultry with which they run. Moreover, since the infertile incubated eggs are often fed to chickens, it is evident that even the eggs which do not hatch may introduce the contagion unless they are cooked before feeding. Pigs, cats, rats, and mice are especially liable to be infected with fowl tuberculosis from eating the carcasses of birds which have died, to the extent that these animals transmit the contagion to other fowls. Even calves and colts are sometimes found suffering from this form of tuberculosis.

No Early External Evidences

For the most part there are no external symptoms of T. B. in the flock until the disease has reached an advanced stage of development. Then the birds begin to show a gradual loss of weight, wasting of muscles, paleness of the comb and, toward the end, dullness and sleepiness. Very often there is at the same time a tuberculous inflammation of the joints and of the sheaths of tendons, swelling of the joints and legs, and sometimes by the formation of hard, external tumors of considerable size. Occasionally the skin over the swollen joints breaks, the interior of the joint is ulcerated, and a small quantity of pus containing large numbers of tubercle bacilli is discharged. Swellings and bony enlargements of the joints of fowls are invariably suspicious and their nature should always be investigated by killing the bird and examining the liver, spleen and intestines to determine whether these have on their surfaces, any whitish or yellowish spots which when cut into prove to be tuberculous masses.

As was previously mentioned, prevention by the rapid extermination of the diseased flock is the only effective control when T. B. goes on a rampage among the fowl. If any birds slightly affected are retained the chances are they will be subsequent carriers and distributors of the disease. Hence, it is not advisable to keep any fowls that have been exposed to the contagion, no matter how valuable they may be. The birds that have died or are killed, as well as all the accumulated manure, sweepings, and scrapings of the poultry houses, should be completely destroyed by fire.

So far as known, there is no danger of communicating the disease to man by eating the cooked flesh of tuberculous fowls. In most cases, however, the diseased birds are so emaciated and their general health so affected, that their flesh is not fit for human consumption. It is better, in all cases, to burn the carcasses of the birds in which tuberculous nodules are found and thus avoid all danger of the disease being communicated to either man or animals.

Fowls for breeding purposes should be strong, healthy, vigorous birds. The comb, face, and wattles should be of a bright red color, eyes bright and fairly prominent, head comparatively broad and short and not long or crow-shaped, legs set well apart and straight, plumage clean and smooth.

WHITE-SHELLED EGG PRODUCERS

Poultry of the Mediterranean or egg breeds are best suited for the production of whiteshelled eggs. Representatives of this class are bred largely for the production of eggs rather than for meat production. Among the popular breeds of this class are: Leghorn, Minorca, Ancona, and Andalusian. One of the outstanding characteristics of the egg breeds is the fact that they are classed as non-sitters. That is, as a rule they do not become broody and hatch their eggs. When fowls of this class are kept, artificial incubation and brooding are usually employed.

TRAP-NEST THE LAYERS

When possible it is advisable to trap-nest the layers for the following reasons: 1. To tame the birds thereby tending toward increased egg production. 2. To furnish definite knowledge concerning traits and habits of individuals. 3. To furnish the only satisfactory basis for utility or other breeding. 4.

Circle No. Three met at the beautiful home of Mrs. J. H. Pitman, last Wednesday. She welcomed each one in the gracious way.

The meeting opened with two dear sweet songs: "Love Lifted Me," and "Near The Cross," accompanied by Mrs. Mounts; then a short prayer.

Mrs. Mounts led the devotional by reading a part of the fifth chapter of Luke, making helpful and appropriate comments on faith, to agree with our scripture in Daniel.

There was an excellent lesson, all having given careful study before coming to class. An interesting round table of questions, answers and experiences followed.

Mrs. Carl Gilliland held a short business session. Funds for the General Aid were paid to Miss Miller, the treasure.

The meeting was dismissed with an earnest prayer by Mrs. Mounts. The absent ones were missed. Come to the next meeting at Mrs. L. H. Shore's.

Nurses who have been discharged from the service of the United States will receive the $60 discharge bonus being given soldiers, sailors and marines, according to announcement by the federal government. Those who are discharged hereafter will receive this bonus

The Mines Tell Us

"Today we have the coal, and can mine it. Today we have as low wages as we will have for some time to come. Today we have the lowest freight rates of the year. Today we have the cars to ship in. But TOMORROW—this Fall and Winter—it is going to be a different story."

It's coming—

- 1- A serious car shortage.
- 2- A big labor shortage in the mines.
- 3- An increase in freight rates, therefore an increase in the price of coal.
- 4- An inevitable Shortage in Coal, unless you BUY NOW.

on the same roll or voucher upon which they are given their final pay.

Section 1406 of the Revenue Act, approved February 24, 1919, authorizes the payment of a bonus of $60 to officers, soldiers, field clerks and nurses of the Army upon honorable discharge, resignation or otherwise. This bonus is not payable to the heirs or representatives of any deceased soldier.

Nurses who have been discharged and have received their final pay without the $60 bonus, should make application to the Zone Finance Officer, Lemon Building, Washington, D. C., enclosing their discharge certificate or military orders for discharge, or both, if both were issued. Nurses are advised to secure attested copies of discharge certificates before forwarding them.

For further information regarding this, apply to the local Red Cross Chapter or the Division Department of Nursing Service.

Watch Us Grow

Our growing business caused us to add a vulcanizing department and we have bought the business and equipment of the Quick Service Tire Shop and have retained Mr. Rice as foreman of the department.

His work is so favorably known by home folks that no introduction is needed. But to those who have not been in the Hereford country long we wish to say our tire repair equipment is the most complete in the Panhandle country and Mr. Rice's work has proven highly satisfactory; therefore you will receive that same quick service and high class work that has made the Quick Service Tire Shop popular.

FRIONA NEWS

It rained Wednesday, Thursday Friday and Saturday and crops are looking fine. So are the weeds. The Endeavora will give a social at the church Friday night. All invited.
A. N. Wentworth has leased the section and a half lying south of his farm and is putting a fence on both sides of it. This will form two continuous lanes leading north from town, each about four miles long. This will practically put an end to open range near Friona.

Wheat in this locality still bids fair to make a good yield. The heads range from fourteen to twenty-two mashes to the head, mostly the latter, and three granis to the mash. Oats are the best ever.

Friona would make an ideal location for a health sanitarium. Now let some one devise the way and means for securing such an institution.

Our genial county tax assessor, C. G. Bratton, of Farwell was in our town last Thursday interviewing our citizens in regard to the amount of property owned by them on January first. Mr. Bratton's friendly and cordial manner makes his presence among us a pleasure.

From all present appearances the "Fourth of July" will catch our farmers in the midst of harvest, which would seriously handicap any extensive preparations for a grand celebration at Friona.

"My baking powder," says the smooth solicitor, "costs less than Dr. Price's."

But she omits to say that it often leaves a bitter taste, that food made with it is likely to stale in a day and that it contains alum, which is condemned by many medical authorities for use in food. England and France prohibit the sale of alum baking powders.

MAKING ALFALFA HAY REQUIRES EXACT METHODS OF HANDLING

Feeding Value of This Excellent Forage Product Is Greatly Diminished by Improper Treatment at Haying Time—Extra Cutting Reduces Return in Tonnage.

Valuable as alfalfa is, it has its drawbacks. It is difficult to establish in some parts of the country, especially in the eastern States. It requires careful methods of handling. It is no crop for the careless farmer; but is a very profitable one for the farmer who will take the trouble to learn how to handle it from the seeding to the feeding. One of the important things to learn is just how to make hay, according to specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Alfalfa does not cure at all readily, and good quality hay is hard to get. Especially is this true of the first cutting, which comes when heavy rains are apt to interfere with its proper curing. The bright green hay so common in the irrigated sections is almost never seen in the humid regions, due to injury from rain.

Time of Cutting
Most farmers are prone to cut their alfalfa too early. They are anxious to get more cuttings, thereby thinking to get a bigger crop. The fact is, the extra cutting is frequently made at the expense of total tonnage. The real test of the size of the season's crop is total tonnage rather than number of cuttings. Where four cuttings are possible, three usually are more desirable and more profitable. More hay is actually made for the season; and the plants are left in better condition for the winter.

The first growth usually is rank, sometimes causing the farmers to think it should be cut before it really is ready. The stage of growth is the indication for cutting rather than the size of the plants. The general rule is to cut alfalfa just as it is coming into bloom and the basal shoots are making a good start for the next crop. In the eastern States, cutting earlier may injure and frequently kills the plants. Cutting later lowers the feeding value of the hay.

Methods of Harvesting
Methods of making alfalfa hay vary in different sections of the country; but the basic principles are the same. The motto everywhere is: "Cure alfalfa hay quickly, with as little handling and exposure to the weather as possible." Rapid curing holds the leaves on better. Less handling knocks fewer of them off. This is important, because the leaves are the most nutritious part of the plant.

In the West, where there is little rain during the haying season, the mowers are started in the morning and the hay raked into windrows the following day. The hay is then cocked or is stacked or baled direct from the windrow as soon as the hay is sufficiently cured. The raking commences as soon as the leaves are wilted, but when the stems are still green. It is cocked when the stems are "half dry." It may be stacked when moisture can no longer be twisted out of a wisp of the hay.

In the humid sections of the country the process of curing the hay is much more difficult. The cutting frequently must be delayed several days on account of bad weather. The operations and methods are practically the same as in the dry sections, except that more time is required. Hay caps and stack covers may prove necessary.

High moisture content sometimes makes it desirable to stack alfalfa hay instead of putting it in the hay. This is especially true of the first cutting. Build stacks carefully and in a shape that will expose as little of the hay to the weather as possible. Cover the tops with marsh grass, Sudan grass, millet, or some other long grass that will make a good thatch. Anchor a well-made thatch with rocks on the ends of wire on top of a properly made stack, and the hay will keep almost as well as in the barn. In fact, it may keep better, on account of the likelihood of new alfalfa hay heating in the mow. Particular care must be taken at the first cutting on this account.

If the hay is put in the mow, it is well to provide for some extra ventilation, especially if its moisture content is high. This can be arranged by placing horizontally at frequent intervals ventilators made of lumber. These may be simply a framework in triangular or reetangular shapes placed in the hay as the mow is filled.

Haymaking is an operation that must be done in a certain space of time that is short at best, and that is always liable to be made shorter by bad weather. For this reason, there is no farm operation in which system and efficiency count for more; so it will pay every farmer to know just when and just how to make the most of his alfalfa crop.

Oil Promoters Are Looking Over Field

At least four oil promoters of one kind or another were in Hereford the past week. Two gentlemen were in the city Monday investigating the possibility of obtaining leases in return for their work in drilling, etc. Another pair were selling leases around a New Mexico well.

There is a good deal of oil talk floating around, but so far as The Brand has been able to ascertain, nothing concrete has developed.
