Judge: school law still unfair

AUSTIN (AP) - The Texas school finance system remains unconstitutional despite this year's overhaul by the Legislature, a judge ruled today.

State District Judge Scott McCown said the $14 billion-a-year system is still flawed. But he deferred making any immediate changes, giving the Legislature until Sept. 1, 1991 to act.

'Our need for education is too great and our wealth too modest for inequitable funding in our schools to be tolerated," McCown wrote.

The judge said the finance system doesn't give all schools "substantially equal" access to funds for similar tax effort. The school finance system relies on state funding, local property taxes and some federal money.

"In short, what the rich districts spend creates educational opportunities for their children that are denied the children of poor districts. Under Senate Bill 1 (the reform plan), the rich districts are left rich, the poor districts poor," McCown said.

Kevin O'Hanlon, a lawyer for the Texas Education Agency, said the state would appeal

Gov. Bill Clements agreed, saying of McCown, "I don't agree with his judgment at all. He's a young judge. Perhaps the Supreme Court in its review will reconsider that opinion.'

O'Hanlon said the 52-page decision didn't give state officials enough direction on how fix the system.

"He held it unconstitutional because it wasn't good enough, but he didn't give us a hock of a lot of guidance on what would be good enough," said O'Hanlon, a former assistant attorney general.

He said that unless the courts tell the state how to make a constitutional system, the litigation could last for years.

Rick Gray, a lawyer for poor school districts which challenged the school funding system, applauded the ruling. He said McCown did "a very exhaustive, thorough analysis ... We think it's a great day for all school children and we hope the Legislature will set about the task of fixing the system in the future."

The new school finance plan was adopted in June by the Legislature after four special Lawmakers added $528 million for public schools in 1990-91 and made numerous changes backers said would improve education.

But poor school districts challenged the new funding plan. They argued that it is no different from the old system that was scrapped by the Texas Supreme Court on a 9-0 vote. The high court ordered the state to even out funding to rich and poor school districts.

State Rep. Paul Colbert, D-Houston, a member of the House Public Education Committee, blamed Clements for blocking an alternative finance plan that poor school districts would have accepted. Clements killed that proposal by vetoing the taxes needed to pay for it.

"It's entirely because of Gov. Clements' foot-dragging and the Republican legislators who upheld his veto that we're back in the court again, and we're literally about to turn over the keys of the schoolroom to the courts," Colbert said.

Clements said he wasn't surprised at Colbert's remarks, but declined further comment on them.

McCown allowed the school finance system to remain in place this school year. But he retains jurisdiction over the case.

The judge said that if the Legislature fails to devise a constitutional school finance plan by next September, he would consider stopping the spending of state and local tax money.

Deaf Smith County's Centennial Celebration plans are about complete, and the 100th birthday party is scheduled Oct. 6 on the courthouse square. We slipped up in a column Sunday and reported the event was coming up "next Saturday." Wrong! But our Centennial Edition of The Hereford Brand is coming out next Saturday, so folks can read about the history and events of our past before the birthday celebration.

Times have changed and work habits are among the things that pale by comparison. At one time, young people looked up to hard-working people but now too many are looking for the easy way out.

A study by the National Bureau of Economic Research includes this bit of wisdowm: "Additional time spent on breaks by employees does result in additional company earnings because of increased productivity. However, the company does not benefit to the same extent as does additional time spent on the job working."

Speaking of work habits, the federal government, in 1967, predicted that by 1985 Americans would be working only 22 hours a week, 27 weeks a year and would retire at age 38.

The federal government obviously hadn't cleared that idea with our banker!

Country-Western singer Reba McEntire recently made a strong statement about role models when addressing a grade-school commencement in Tennessee. She told kids to be careful not to mislead their young friends. She noted that her own idols were actually kids a few years older than herself. "Kids in the first grade will be looking up to you, so watch what you say and do."

James Roberts, Andrews editor, reports that there is a rumor going around at Midland that the Permian Panthers are going to change mascots. Instead of a Panther as a mascot, the new one will be a cheetah! Seriously, Roberts notes, he feels sorry for the athletes at Permian, especially the seniors. He thinks the situation should have been handled swiftly, effectively and with authority by the local school officials upon the first complaint. "That it wasn't reflects seriously on the school administration."

Volunteers help in many ways

Doris Pierce, right, is a full-time volunteer at Tierra Blanca Primary School in Hereford, and is showing McGruff the Crime Dog to a group of second graders. Mrs. Pierce devotes her free time each day to her child's school, and the children enjoy the influence adults have on education in Hereford. Volunteers that can help in many ways are being actively sought this week to help the VISION program in public schools. Volunteers who can help in any way may contact the principal at any public school or call 364-0606. Anyone who can devote just a little time to Hereford schools can impact the lives of students like Catrina Ewing, Xanadu Davis, Jose Bustos, Linda Escobal and Matthew Oldham, pictured here, and thousands of other Hereford children.

Man wanted

West Texas authorities are seeking to question Joe Lee Touchstone, 46, her family's home to a convenience who was arrested in Hereford last store two blocks away to get a soft Thursday on an indecency with a drink. When the girl failed to return child warrant from Carson County, in 30 minutes, her parents began authorities in Landandle Por later, police were called questioning in the case there, and will likely be questioned in connection with incidents in Fort Stockton. Stamford and Sterling City.

Touchstone has had a checkered past, including a rape conviction in 1976 in Vega. Touchstone was sentenced to 10 years in prison for that offense, which involved a young girl in Oldham County.

The cases go at least as far back as 1974, when Dessie May Holt, 7, a blonde, freckle-faced girl, was abducted from a Fort Stockton convenience store. Her clothing and other personal belongings were found outside Fort Stockton, and remains believed to be hers were found in rural Pecos County in 1981.

Authorities have confirmed that Touchstone was working in the Fort Stockton area at the time of the girl's disappearance and was questioned for several hours. He was released, authorities said, because there was insufficient evidence to hold him.

Touchstone will also be questioned by Stamford and Jones County authorities in connection with the kidnapping and death of Courtney Crawford, 8, in 1986. Authorities believe Touchstone was in that area when the girl was abducted from a Stamford convenience store. Her remains were found several months later in rural Jones County.

The girl's soft drink cup was found on the back bumper of a vehicle in the convenience store's parking lot. Volunteers searched through the Stamford area and other cities in Jones County, but were not able to find the girl.

About five months later, after national television coverage of the case that showed pictures of the young girl, bones believed to be hers were found by deer hunters in a rural area outside of Stamford. Using a computer model from the few remains found, authorities were able to determine the remains were those of the young girl.

Authorities in Stamford have been deliberately vague about releasing details found at the scene because some of the information would be known only by the person who left the girl there.

Stamford police chief Don Glasgow said he would "like to talk to anyone who has information about the case."

Touchstone may also be a suspect in a similar, unsolved case in the Sterling City area, but officials there have not returned telephone calls about details in the incident there.

The case in Sterling City is similar to the Stamford and Fort Stockton cases, and authorities believe the Through telephone conversations person responsible for the murder of a young child there can be traced back to the area because of a traffic ticket issued and a money order purchased at a convenience store to pay the ticket.

Cotten wins weekly contest

Hereford Brand Publisher Speedy Nieman was sweating for a while, but just missed awarding $500 in Hereford Bucks for a "perfect" entry in last week's Hereford Brand Football Contest.

Gayle Cotten missed just one game, the Mississippi upset of Arkansas, in last week's contest. If an Arkansas runner headed for the winning touchdown was knocked out of bounds six inches short of the goalline. The six inches cost Cotten $475; he will receive $25 in Hereford Bucks for his first place finish.

Placing second was Hap Cavness, who missed just two games and was closest on the Coronado vs. Hereford tie-breaker.

Also, the losses are being held down by government subsidy payments to 61 thrifts bailed out in 1988 by the now-defunct Federal Home Loan Bank Board, Excluding results from those institutions, private-sector S&Ls lost $315 million in the April-June period.

While avoiding forecasting future industry performance, Ryan said the recent decline in losses shows that the program of seizing failed institutions is helping solvent thrifts by reining in competitors.

"The one thing we have seen is ... moving these institutions into the RTC tends to provide opportunities for the rest of the industry," he said.

An analysis by the thrift office, which divides S&Ls among four groups based on their financial health, shows that 1,169 healthy institutions have earned consistent profits over the last 18 months: $646 million in the second quarter of 1990, $641 million in the first quarter and $582 million in the second quarter of 1989.

However, in a worrisome sign, the performance of the next group - 674 weak institutions that were nevertheless expected to survive - deteriorated. Those institutions earned $31 million in the April-June period, compared with $195 million in the previous quarter and $296 million a year earlier.

10 year oil price record challanged

NEW YORK (AP) - The price of crude oil is within striking distance of $40 per barrel, which would equal the record set 10 years ago and represent a nearly twofold increase from pre-invasion levels.

"One piece of fresh news, and $40 is there," Dean Witter Reynolds Inc. trader Ed Kevelson predicted Monday, after crude futures crossed the $39 threshold for the first time on the New York Mercantile Exchange.

The rise, which peaked for the day at $39.20, came just a week after oil had first hit $33 per barrel on the exchange, setting off a steady climb that has shattered records in days or After soaring to its latest high, light sweet crude fell a bit to settle at $38.25 for November delivery on Monday, a record close on the Mercantile Exchange, which began trading the crude futures in 1983. The surge on Monday was set off by Iraqi President Saddam Hussein's statement that he would rather go to war than let the U.N. trade embargo devastate his country.

Because of that radio broadcast on Sunday, people are anticipating much higher costs in the future," said Ann-Louise Hittle, a senior oil analyst with Shearson Lehman Brothers Inc. "People in the market are talking about $40 a barrel as being the next target."

That would be almost double the price before Iraq invaded Kuwait last month and right at the level of cash prices that were paid in 1980, following the Iranian revolution.

At the historical home the club was hospitably greeted by the present owners, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Haynie, and ushered into the Georgia O'Keefe dining room for a leisurely dinner.

After the dinner Haynie gave the club a brief history of the home, which was built in 1904 and has undergone many changes. She led the members through several of the attractively decorated rooms, relating stories and pointing out points of interest in the furnishings. Later the members were allowed to roam at will through the cherry old home of

Americans spend billions on physical fitness quest

By The Associated Press

Americans spent an estimated $5 billion last year on physical fitness equipment to fight the paunch-and-wheeze war, but about 90 percent of it went into the closet after a short time, equipment marketers estimate.

"People in the 35-to-50 age bracket with yearly incomes of $50,000 and more want to live to enjoy the money they're making, and so they invest in equipment and programs," says Michael Simmons, president of California-based Pro-Tec Sports International, a manufacturer and distributor of recumbent exercise cycles.

"But most of them stop using the equipment regularly because they bought the wrong device for the wrong purpose. By far, most of the people who buy sophisticated exercise equipment for home use should buy health equipment, explains.

Simmons says industry studies show the majority of such purchasers are past 40, in essentially sedentary occupations.

They need aerobic exercise for heart and lungs and muscle tone rather than bulging biceps, but they mistakenly buy $15,000 home 'gyms' designed for anaerobic, lower-oxygen-use workouts," says Simmons.

"They infrequently use the equipment, and it doesn't deliver the vascular conditioning they need, so they stop the program and store the

The high dropout rate also can be attributed to perceived lack of time and convenience, soreness and boredom, according to Jim Warren, a corporate fitness and conditioning consultant.

"What most people who say 'I'm not an athlete' don't realize is that it takes what we call 'foundational' fitness for the average man and woman to maintain the energy,

Castillo runs to win in Hereford cross country individual win of the season Saturday in the Class 4A-5A varsity girls race at the Hereford Invitational Cross Country Meet at Veterans Memorial Park.

Castillo covered the two-mile course in a personal-best 12 minutes, six seconds to top the 77 runners in the field. The win helped the Lady Whitefaces to a third-place finish in the team standings with 89 points. Amarillo Tascosa won the team title with 46 points while Canyon Randall was third with 83.

"Taking into consideration that all courses are a little different, Teresa ran her best time ever," Coach Martha Emerson said. "She is running extremely well this season with two first places in two meets."

Brandie Webb was the next Hereford runner across the line, finishing 11th in 13:03. Webb was followed by Belinda Murillo (18th, 13:19), Lisa Zepeda (35th, 13:52), Renee Banner (37th, 13:58) and Jill Dutton (47th, 14:36).

Jack Borden led the Herd boys, finishing seventh in 17:12. Borden was followed by Aurelio San Miguel (20th, 17:51), Armando Garza (23rd, 18:01), Jerry Gallegos (36th, 18:58) and Raymon Lopez 43rd, (19:15) as Hereford totaled 129 points to finish

"Jack had a great day," Emerson said. He stayed close to five Amarillo High runners who are very good."

Amarillo High ran away with the team title, placing five of the top six runners for a near-perfect 16 points. Lubbock Monterey was a distant second with 119 points while Amarillo Caprock was third at 122 and Levelland fourth at 128.

Canyon High claimed both team titles in the Class 1A-3A boys and girls divisions. The Eagles boys team dominated its race, finishing in seven prepare for a tough meet in Amarillo of the first eight places for 17 points, on Saturday." The restousing of the

Dumas edges Whitefa

The Hereford Lady Whitefaces fell to the second-ranked Dumas in the second game at 1-0, but Demonettes 15-13, 15-11 Saturday in their first match in district 1-4A

Hereford had chances to win in both games, staying even with Dumas through most of the first game and coming back from a 10-3 deficit in the second to lead at 11-10.

"We knew all along that each player would have to have her best match of the year if we were to beat Dumas," Coach Brenda Reeh said. Somebody would shine at different times during the match, but we never got everyone on at the same time."

Reeh added that Dumas' defense was a major obstacle for the Herd. "They blocked us consistently and when we did get it through the block, they picke it up.

"Overall, this was a very competitive match. I'm convinced that was some of the toughest 4A volleyball in the state. We simply gave up our momentum at some very crucial times in the match."

Dumas took a 3-1 edge in the first game before Hereford tied the score at 5-5 on Teresa Baker's service. The teams traded points up to 9-9 when Brek Binder gave the Herd it first lead at 10-9.

Dumas bounced back to regain the lead at 13-10 as Kisika Cariker and Camille Morton served up two points each. Hereford pulled into another tie with three service points from Shantel Cornelius, but her fourth serve landed long for a side out.

Karissa Lohse served up the winning points for Dumas as Hereford allowed the ball to land untouched for the final score.

Binder put Hereford ahead briefly Dumas' Jakayla Janow ran off six straight points for the Demonettes. Dumas upped the margin to 10-3 before the Herd came back to claim Lori Sanders got the Herd going with a single point before Binder served for four more. After six scoreless changes of serve Cornelius added a point and Binder came back around to serve for three more points and the lead.

A Dumas time out worked as the Demonettes regained serve. Janow made the most of the opportunity, coming up with an ace and two kills from Cariker as she held serve for the rest of the match.

Cornelius led the Herd attack with 10 kills with Binder adding eight. The pair also led in digs with 10 each while Lori Sanders had nine and Robin White eight.

Teresa Baker passed 14 service receptions to setter with Sanders passing off 10 and White eight.

In the Junior varsity match, Dumas held on for a 15-1, 11-15, 15-11 win. After getting blitzed in the first game, the Herd regrouped to overcome a 6-0 Dumas lead in the second. Hereord built a 10-3 lead in the deciding game of the match, but the Demonettes mounted a comeback of their own to score 12 of the 13 suffered from a previously undetected virus which caused "complete system failure," coach Grant Teaff said Monday.

Kara sandoval led the Herd JV with 10 service points while Kathy Hernandez adde six and Tonya Castillo five.

Nineteen-year-old John Karkoska collapsed at practice Sept. 13. Doctors said the redshirt freshman from Houston suffered from viral gastroenteritis, Teaff said.

The Baylor team and coaches were scheduled to attend Karkoska's at Pilgrim Lutheran Church in Houston.

Karkoska had complained of stomach pains to his teammates several days before his collapse, and had told his mother the night before he was worried about losing weight, Teaff told a news conference.

None of the coaches, trainers or the team physician was aware of the problem, Teaff said.

"This metabolic condition allowed what was a normal, everyday athletic activity for him to cause clotting, liver and kidney failure."

Teaff said there would be no autopsy.

"In regard to an autopsy, it is the unanimous feeling of the doctors and John's mother that no purpose would be served," he said.

Teaff answered questions concerning speculation that Karkoska might have been involved in drug use, specifically steroids.

"There is no evidence, no suspicion, no indication that John Karkoska was using steroids - or had ever used steroids - period," Teaff

Teaff, with tears in his eyes, stepped away from the podium for a few moments when describing the moments before the Sam Houston game. Baylor, 1-2 after defeating Sam Houston 13-9, faces Texas Tech in Lubbock on Saturday.

Bills bang Jets

- It wasn't anything special that made the night so special for Thurman Thomas and the Buffalo Bills.

No trickery. No fleaflickers. No outlandish, totally out of character maneuvers.

It simply was a matter of the Bills executing to perfection in a 30-7 execution of the New York Jets on Monday night.

It was Thomas running wild for a pro career-high 214 yards, 11.9 yards a pop. It was the defense, led by Bruce Smith, shutting down New York's attack. It was total domina-

"It feels great doing it on national television," Smith said after the Bills moved into a tie for the AFC East lead with Miami at 2-1. "We wanted to make a statement about the Bills."

Thomas made the loudest statement, running through gaping holes for big yardage, including a 60-yard dash that was a personal NFL high, a 39-yarder and a 24-yarder.

"It's the old counter play," tackle Will Wolford said. "Everyone knows it, everyone uses it. I don't know why we were so successful with it.

"I don't know if this was the best I've ever seen a runner, but I can't remember another game when I looked downfield and saw our back still shaking and baking."

Thomas couldn't believe the size of the holes in the middle of the Jets defense, which had done well against the rush in its first two games.

"The offense came out with fire in their eyes and they just knocked huge holes in the defense," he said. "I never thought in the NFL I would be 20 yards downfield without ever being touched, just me and a safety."

Nor did the Jets ever expect to be so overwhelmed on the ground. The

"It's unstoppable when you can't tackle in the gaps," Jets coach Bruce Coslet said. "I didn't think anybody could really physically manhandle us like that.

'They got us going in one direction, then cut back between the gaps," nose tackle Scott Mersereau said. "Every time Thomas made a cut, it seemed nobody was there. They definitely were more ready to play than we were."

It didn't look that way at the outset as the Jets sought to break a five-game losing streak against the Bills and establish themselves as a division contender in their first year of rebuilding under Coslet. New York went 75 yards in eight plays, helped by a 29-yard interference call on rookie James Williams in the end

Brad Baxter scored from the 1, but it was the last time the Jets would

The Bills came right back with a 76-yard drive that featured a 43-yard pass from Jim Kelly to wide-open Keith McKeller that carried to the Jets' 1. Kenneth Davis scored on the next play.

Then Thomas, an All-American at Oklahoma State where he preceded Barry Sanders, went to work. His 60-yarder came on the first play of Buffalo's next possession. Later, after Butch Rolle scored on a 2-yard pass, giving him touchdowns on his last seven receptions over a span of four years, Thomas had runs of 39, 24 and 15 yards.

Scott Norwood kicked field goals of 48, 42 and 27 yards and McKeller caught a 6-yard TD pass from Kelly for the rest of Buffalo's offense.

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - Coach Spike Dykes hopes Texas Tech will find some consistency Saturday against Baylor, a quality that eluded his Red Raiders over the weekend against New Mexico. "I felt a little hollow after the game because of the way we let things get out of hand, but I was delighted by the way we came back and won," Dykes said of Saturday's 34-32 victory over New Mexico. "We played great defense for three quarters and then went to sleep," he said. "Our offense got hotter than a depot stove in the second and third quarters, and we had New Mexico listing.

"Then all of a sudden, we can't stop them."

Tech allowed New Mexico 192 yards and 20 points in the final quarter, blowing a 28-12 lead and falling behind 32-31.

The Red Raiders also had four turnovers, 11 penalties for 102 yards (five other penalties were declined), six quarterback sacks and two major kicking game blunders that resulted in a safety and a fumble that led to a New Mexico touchdown.

"We lost our poise a little bit," he the Raiders regain their composure. Dykes announced Monday that Gill did not tear cartilage in his left knee Saturday. The junior sprained his knee and severely bruised his kneecap on a 16-yard run early in the second quarter. Moments before, Gill had fired a 73-yard touchdown pass to split end Rodney Blackshear to give the Raiders a 7-3 lead.

Dykes said Gill may see action Saturday, but freshman Robert Hall will start.

"His (Gill's) progress is going to be up to how fast he can handle it." Dykes said at his weekly news conference.

"There's nothing wrong with his knee. Of course, it's sore, swollen and tender," he said. "Robert will start because he will this week," Dykes said. "Jamie will be limited in what he can do for the next few days, so Robert will practice. Whoever practices plays. That's the way we do it."

Hall responded to his first extensive college playing time with a 15-of-31, 316-yard, two-TD passing performance. He directed a game-winning, 58-yard drive, culminated by Lin Elliott's 37-yard field goal get the majority of the practice time with 27 seconds remaining.

Mets lose to Cubs Bell rings out big drives for win

By The Associated Press

It's beginning to look like a matchup between the Pittsburgh Pirates and Cincinnati Reds in the National League playoffs.

Not that it's all over or anything. It's just becoming a matter of simp math.

The second-place New York Mets lost a game they had to win on Monday, 4-3 to the Chicago Cubs at Wrigley Field.

In a way, the loss was a microcosm of the Mets' season. New York lost on the road, lost to a left-hander, and left 10 on base.

'We had three opportunities to score runs," Mets manager Bud Harrelson said. "Somehow we managed to wiggle out of them."

The loss left the Mets three games behind the Pirates in the NL East with nine games remaining for both teams. New York plays six of its nine games on the road.

Whatever hopes Montreal had were dashed in Philadelphia when the Phillies completed a four-game sweep with a 3-0 victory on Monday.

The Expos entered the series off consecutive three-game sweeps of Pittsburgh and New York. But they self-destructed against the Phillies scoring only seven runs in the four games - and dropped seven games behind the Pirates with nine games left for both teams.

Over in the NL West, any combination of five Los Angeles losses or Cincinnati victories will clinch the title for the Reds. The Dodgers hung on by beating Houston

7-5 in 11 innings on Monday. "It's over," Reds pitcher Jose Rijo said. "Yogi Berra says it's not over until it's over, but I say it's over. I know some people will say I shouldn't say that, but I can feel it. I know this team. I know it's over."

Dodgers manager Tommy Lasorda eliminate them.

would rather believe in Yogi's wisdom, though.

"I don't have any idea how it will end but I'm proud of everybody on this team," Lasorda said. "Everybody was ready to write us off when we were 14 games out, but this team kept believing that someday we'll get closer to Cincinnati."

Cubs 4, Mets 3 Ryne Sandberg hit his leagueleading 38th home run.

Viola (19-11) had a 3-1 lead in the sixth inning when Sandberg led off with a homer. Mark Grace, Andre Dawson and Luis Salazar followed with consecutive singles to tie the score. After Shawon Dunston grounded into a double play, Doug Dascenzo singled home Dawson with the go-ahead run.

Pat Combs pitched a four-hitter and singled home a run.

Combs (10-9) struck out four and walked none. The Phillies, who had 10 hits, all singles, scored all their runs with two outs.

Dodgers 7, Astros 5

Los Angeles picked up a half-game on first-place Cincinnati as Mike Sharperson's run-scoring triple broke an 11th-inning tie.

The Dodgers, hanging onto slim hopes, moved within 4 1/2 games of the idle Reds in the West. Los Angeles has eight games left, five on the road, while Cincinnati's remaining nine games are at home. Giants 3, Padres 1

Kelly Downs gave up one run in six innings and Will Clark hit his 19th

Bell singled and scored in the eighth inning.

The bottom line read: J-U-L-I-O M-A-C-H-A-D-O.

Bell singled in the ninth inning. Bell passed the test and his vision was found to be 5-for-5 - the baseball equivalent of 20-20 - as the Toronto Blue Jays increased their American League East lead over idle Boston to 1 1/2 games by defeating the Milwaukee Brewers 9-5 Monday

Bothered the last month by blurred vision because of a fluid buildup around the retina in his right eye, Bell was 0-for-13 and 11-for-65.

"I guess that answered one of the questions of whether George can see or not. I guess he put a stop to the fact that a lot of people thought he wasn't seeing well," Toronto manager Cito Gaston said.

In other games, Oakland failed for the second straight day to clinch a tie for the AL West crown, losing to Kansas City 10-3, California edged Texas 3-2 and Baltimore beat New York 6-3 in 10 innings.

Rookie Mark Whiten homered and Jimmy Key pitched seven solid innings for the Blue Jays, who are 16-6 in September and have eight games remaining, all on the road. The Red Sox have nine games left, eight at home, including three games with Toronto over the weekend.

Bell's two-run double in the fifth chased Navarro (7-7). Milwaukee got a run in the fifth, but Whiten hit his second major league homer leading off the sixth against Paul Mirabella for a 6-1 lead.

Bell's eyesight was OK, but his speech left something to be desired. "I don't like to talk about a game, that's all," he said. Royals 10, Athletics 3

Kurt Stillwell doubled home the first of six Kansas City runs in the fifth inning and added a three-run inside-the-park homer in the seventh.

Royals starter Tom Gordon (12-11) scattered five hits and survived six walks in 62-3 innings. Mark Davis went 1 1-3 innings and Jeff Montgomery pitched the ninth. A's starter Curt Young (9-6) was charged with six runs in 4 1-3 innings. Reggie Harris yielded the other four runs.

Angels 3, Rangers 2

Nolan Ryan held California hitless for 5 2-3 innings and pitched a four-hitter, but one of them was Lance Parrish's two-run homer in the seventh. The 43-year-old Ryan (13-8) struck out 11, giving him the major league lead with 221.

But he was outdueled by Mark Langston (10-16), who pitched a four-hitter over 8 1-3 innings. Parrish's homer erased a 1-0 Texas lead and the Angels scored what proved to be the winning run in the ninth on Donnie Hill's double, Brian Downing's single and Dave Winfield's sacrifice fly.

Cal Ripken led off the 10th inning with his 19th home run of the season and Billy Ripken added a two-run double.

Cal Ripken connected on a 2-0 pitch from rookie Alan Mills. Mills (1-5) took over to start the 10th after Lee Guetterman, New York's second pitcher, shut the Orioles out for five innings on two hits.

Jose Bautista (1-0), the third of five Baltimore pitchers, got the final out in the Yankees' ninth for his first major league decision since June 17, 1989. Gregg Olson pitched the bottom of the 10th for his 34th save.

Johnson still not discouraged

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Jimmy Johnson isn't easily discouraged.

He saw a promising future for the Dallas Cowboys in their 19-14 loss to the Washington Redskins on Sunday although there was one somber note

The Cowboys lost rookie defensive back Stan Smagala, a fifth-round pick out of Notre Dame, for at least two months with a fractured right

'Smagala will be out eight to 10 weeks and will be put on the injured reserve," Johnson said. "It's a shame because he was one of the key guys on our specialty teams."

Johnson said "as disappointed as offensive line with the blitzes," we were with the loss, we were encouraged with the direction this 60 times in the ball game. Four of the team is headed. We were able to play a lot of inexperienced players and still had an opportunity to win. I feel good about this team. I think we are close to becoming a good team. We're close to being on schedule." Johnson said his defense was playoff caliber.

"Our defense played great, holding them to four field goals and 11 first downs, keeping them out of end zone," he said. Johnson said the offensive line was partially to blame for the Dallas loss.

"We had problems in our Johnson said. "The Redskins blitzed sacks came from blitzes.

"We'll have to face it now every week until we show we can take care of it. We have some new players in there."

Johnson said quarterback Troy Aikman will learn to dump the ball off to avoid some of the sacks.

'Troy has the mentality he has to make a big play every time," Johnson said. "He's making progress. But he has to learn there are other players in there who can take the load off of him.'

Johnson said: "A year ago we gave up 30 sacks and now we have almost half that-number. There is a fine line of how long you hold onto the ball and release. We want to make sure Troy makes good decision. There are times we want a no-gainer. There are times he has to stand tall in the pocket and make the play. Troy has done an outstanding job but he's a young quarterback and this is part of his development."

The offense started coming together Sunday, Johnson said.

"Once we get some more experience and get on the same page offensively. Emmitt Smith did some outstanding things. I think he'll be a big time player for us."

Four area 4-H members claimed top prizes at the Panhandle District 4-H Better Bake Show held Saturday at the Tri-State Fair and garnered cash prizes.

Winners include Stefan Hardin of Carson County, top senior product winner, and Cassie Floyd of Hemphill County, best junior product baker. First place records were compiled by senior contestant, Teresa LaMaster of Ochiltree County, and junior entrant, Claressa Scheer of Limpscomb County.

County bake show junior and senior product and record winners from the twenty county Top of Texas area were eligible to compete in the contest which is an exclusive district contest held to promote wheat consumerism, teach nutrition and develop additional food preparation and skills.

In the baked product division, the 4-H'ers prepared a product using a minimum ratio of 1:2 parts whole wheat to white flour. The emphasis was on the nutritional value of the recipe chosen, the taste, texture and appearance of the product.

Juniors (ages 9-13) prepared a quick bread recipe of their choice and seniors (ages 14-19) prepared a yeast-leavened recipe.

Records were scored on the basis of goals set, knowledge attained, educational activities, leadership, citizenship and community service, awards and a summary of the bake show activities. The contest is co-sponsored annually by the Tri-State Fair and Texas Wheat Producers in Amarillo, Arrowhead Mills of Hereford and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Dr. Judy Flynn, district extension directors, is contest superintendent.

Committee members assisting Flynn included Alby Peters, chairman; Beverly Harder and Karen Babitzke, extension home economists in Potter, Deaf Smith and Hansford counties respectively.

Contestants and the counties represented include Brent Rider, Sonia Rider and Amy Gunter, Armstrong; Natalie Cook, Regina Britten, Stefan Hardin and Stacy Bertrand, Carson; Bobby Stull, ar

Nichole Bowers, Dallam; Amber Vasek, Justin Betzen, Jill Dutton and Lori Urbanczyk; Deaf Smith; Carrie Simpson, Jenny Roberts and Jennifer Simpson, Donley; Shelly Davenport, Brian Brauchi and Dennis Williams of Gray county.

Newspaper is usually the first place people go when considering a purchase. It's their primary source of advertising information.

Newspaper helps spark the local economy by putting dollars into circulation. And that's good for everyone, not just the retailer.

Because a strong local economy means lower property taxes, more jobs, tax support for community services and a better place to live.

Newspaper is more than just a smart place to advertise.

It's an integral part of our lives.

THERE'S MORE Hereford IN THE BRAND.

Call-up Leaves Reservists and Bosses Asking How It Works

Q: As an employer, do I have to pay my reservist while he or she is on active military duty?

A: No, the military pays according to rank. But some employers make up the difference between the usually lower military pay and civilian salary when a reservist goes off to summer

Q: As an employer, do I have to give the returning reservist the same

A: No. You must offer him a job with the same pay, rank and seniority. Q: How long do I have to hold

Q: Do I still have insurance responsibility for my reservist?

A: No, government insurance kicks in when soldiers go on active duty. Medical insurance for dependents is also covered by Uncle Sam. Dependents' dental insurance isn't covered by the government, but continuing any such civilian program is the employer's decision.

Q: If a reservist returns so badly disabled that he can't hold down his previous job, do I still have to hire

A: Yes, and offer him a job he can perform that's close in pay, rank and seniority to the one he left.

Q: If a reservist is called up merely to serve in the motor pool across town and doesn't go to the Middle East, must I still offer his a job later? A: Yes.

Q: If the crisis that spawned the call-up ends, and the reservist takes a liking to active duty, do I still have to keep a job open?

A: Yes, for as many as four years after emergency duty is called.

Q: How much notice do my reservists have to give me that they're

A: None. For strategic and security reasons, if they receive military orders, they may be required to leave without telling you in advance.

Q: When my reservists are released for duty after the crisis, can I require them to get right back to
