KING'S MANOR BARBECUE & FUN

The King's Manor Founders Association will host its annual barbecue, with music, entertainment and lots of fun, Saturday from 6-8:30 p.m. at King's Manor. Tickets are available from Founders Association members or by calling King's Manor at 364-0661. All proceeds will go to help residents who have outlived their means or who have less than it takes to live with dignity.

JAMAICA
That's "Huh-my-kuh," and it means lots of fun from noon to 7 p.m. Sunday at Dameron Park in Hereford. There will be all kinds of games and food and fun, and proceeds will benefit San Jose Catholic Church.

JULY 4TH

If you'd like to enter the parade, call 364-4670 (HCR Real Estate) or the Chamber of Commerce office at 364-3333. There are divisions for children, businesses and organizations. If you'd like to pitch in for the fireworks show, go by the chamber office at Seventh and Main. Your help, and dollars, are needed, and we'll list all contributors in the Brand. Children who would like to participate in a choir for July 4th are urged to attend practice sessions at 5 p.m. Wednesdays and 9:30 a.m. Saturdays at the music room of the Nazarene Christian Academy (use the La Plata Drive entrance).

RECYCLING

You can help do your part to help the environment at the recycling collection sponsored by EnCoRe at the Red Cross office on S. Main, everyday. If you have glass, recyclable plastic, paper goods, newspapers or anything else you want to recycle (that is recyclable), take it by the collection station. There are new bins to help you sort your goods.

RAIN CHANCE

There is a 30% chance of rain in the forecast for tonight, with a chance for more rain Friday through Monday.

Tierra Blanca honored for health program
Philip Shook, center, principal at Tierra Blanca Primary School, and Karen Fangman, RN, nurse at Tierra Blanca, have received a 1991 Award for Excellence in Texas School Health for their programs at the school. The school received a handsome plaque and a check for $200 to be used for school activities. Also pictured is Marilyn Leasure, left, director of student services for the Hereford public schools.

House budget writers get busy on new plan

AUSTIN (AP) - Gov. Ann Richards said lawmakers will face "really tough and really hard decisions" as House budget writers today rolled up their sleeves to work on a state spending plan. The Legislature convenes in special session July 8 facing a deficit projected at $4.7 billion for 1992-93. Richards said Wednesday she is waiting on proposed spending cuts that will be recommended by Comptroller John Sharp next week, following audits of all state agencies. "He is going to propose some really tough and really hard decisions for this Legislature, and I think it's time they stop talking about quick fixes," she said. Just how tough the choices may be was previewed by the Department of Human Services, which projected that in six years it could cost nearly $60 billion to provide programs to needy Texans. That total is more than the entire state budget now, and more than eight times current DHS funding. "It's obvious you don't have these resources," former DHS chief Ron Lindsey told the House budget committee. But the $58.8 billion figure for 1997 "gives you an understanding of how short we are in addressing all the human service needs of Texans," said Lindsey, now an adviser to House Speaker Gib Lewis. Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock and former Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, both Democrats, have proposed creating a state income tax to bridge the budget gap and provide property tax relief. Republican lawmakers reportedly plan to offer a budget they say would require no tax increase. Sources said the plan would include some agency consolidations, reduced retirement contributions, fewer state holidays, and possibly closing government one day a month. The governor, a Democrat, said she was willing to examine all such proposals. Asked whether she believes a tax increase would be needed, Richards said she was waiting to see Sharp's audits and the Legislature's budget plan. She also said the GOP ideas sounded like "quick fixes" that wouldn't solve long-term problems. "From the list that you described to me, those are temporary and quick fixes. It's time that we make some very serious changes in the way government is run, or you're never going to have efficiency and you're never going to cut back on spending," Richards said. One agency that may face drastic operating changes is DHS, which has been plagued with budget shortages amid a growing caseload that now provides services to about 2 million people. House Appropriations Chairman Jim Rudd, D-Brownfield, said he wasn't surprised by the cost estimates provided by DHS. "We knew that if we did the job the way a lot of people think you should do the job, to cover the gamut of all the problems that are out there, it was going to be a great deal of money. We just choose not to move that far," he said. Rep. Jack Vowell, R-El Paso, said lawmakers will be making decisions that mean the difference between life and death. "It's like a casualty rate in a war," he said. The DHS report presented Wednesday prompted a wide-ranging discussion by lawmakers on what services are needed, and whether it would be more efficient to replace the current commission government with a cabinet form, where an individual appointed by the governor would run an agency.

Judge takes school case under advisement

AUSTIN (AP) - A constitutional challenge by wealthy school districts to Texas' new school finance law was taken under advisement by a state judge, who did not say when he will rule in the case. The 2(-day hearing, which focused on the county-wide property tax system set up by the new law, ended Wednesday. State District Judge F. Scott McCown said he would review arguments by a number of wealthy school districts urging a quick ruling. Unless overturned, the law takes effect for next school year. But he also said he would consider a motion by several other rich districts that he issue one comprehensive decision after a broader trial on the law that may occur later this year. McCown restricted this week's hearing to two subjects: tax issue and education taxing regions, drawn largely along county lines. Passed in response to a Texas Supreme Court order to even out funding available to school districts, the law presents districts with a great deal of property wealth from taking sole advantage of that tax base. But a number of rich districts say it also means they could be dragged down to an inadequate funding level or forced into large tax increases. Deena Reeve, Coppell school board president, said residents have "really stretched" to live in the district, which has a wealthy tax base because it includes an electric utility plant. "Our district is composed primarily of single-family residences. Most families have two working parents," said Ms. Reeve.

City supporting park assessment

Citizens of Hereford, at least three-fourths of them, apparently want their parks improved or perhaps simply have a pride in their community. That seems to be the signal after the first month of the city's new voluntary $1 assessment on water bills was made for park improvements. In round figures, approximately 3,800 citizens added the $1 to their payments of May water bills. Some 5,000 persons received water bills. The city is studying possible projects and also passed an ordinance in April for the $1 voluntary assessment. Citizens who do not wish to pay the $1 can simply deduct it from their water bill. commission asked the group for suggestions. The committee presented the city with a list of proposals which were ranked in priority. The committee had made a survey of what some other area towns were doing in their parks and recreation departments. One idea being used was the voluntary assessment program, which provided some funding without seeking additional tax revenue.

US consumers show big loyalty to Japanese cars

WASHINGTON (AP) - American consumers exhibit stronger brand loyalty to the cars made by Nissan, Honda and Toyota than to the products Detroit turns out, a Brookings Institution economic study said today. That represents a long-term obstacle for American carmakers, the authors said. Even if American cars now are just as good as their foreign competitors - as Detroit claims - people are likely to perceive them as inferior and continue to prefer Japanese cars. Transportation engineer Fred Mannering of the University of Washington and economist Clifford Winston of Brookings, a Washington, D.C., think tank, studied the "vehicle ownership histories" of 488 households that accounted for nearly 1,000 vehicle purchases over the last several decades. They charted a steady decline throughout the 1980s in devotion to American-made cars and an upswing in acceptance of those made by Japanese companies. "The major source of the U.S. makers' problems is attributable to vehicles that were of worse value and quality than the Japanese," Winston said in an interview. "That's something they can make progress on, but loyalty is something that is, to some extent, out of their control." Winston said U.S. automakers - especially Chrysler's Lee Iacocca with his commercial saying, "Chrysler's cars are every bit as good as the Japanese, but nobody knows it" - have expressed frustration at the way their cars are still perceived as inferior. "This reflects the legacy of the past, brought about by the loss of loyalty that could take years for them to overcome," he said. The authors defined brand loyalty as more than just buying the same maker's car each time.

July 4th apparel
Henry Reid, one of the co-chairmen of the July 4th festivities in Hereford, models the t-shirt and cap being sold by the group to raise funds for the fireworks and other events planned here. The t-shirts and caps are available at Hereford State Bank, First National Bank, Moore's Jack and Jill and Furr's Supermarket. They will also be available Saturday at Sugarland Mall at the final "welcome home" event planned at the mall and during the new car show all day Saturday at the mall.

News Digest

World, National

WASHINGTON - The Bush administration is vowing to press the fight to shift a greater share of the burden for paying for local and regional roads back to the states and cities that benefit from them.

MEDELLIN, Colombia - Having secured a ban on extraditions and a promise of leniency, the world's most powerful drug boss settles into a luxurious jail in plush green hills outside this city he has ruled by the bullet and bomb.

WASHINGTON - Russian President Boris N. Yeltsin, fresh from his electoral victory at home, is enduring - and seeming to enjoy - the trials of campaigning American-style. The populist leader, who has been warmly received by both Democrats and Republicans in Washington, was introduced to the tradition of presenting hats to political candidates by Senate Minority Leader Bob Dole.

WASHINGTON - The major industrial powers have sold advanced weapons so widely around the globe that they gradually are losing control of key military technologies, a congressional study released today said.

WASHINGTON - When a political headache hits, one of Washington's traditional remedies is to get out of town and blame the trouble on the inside-the-Beltway crowd. They're an unpopular lot anyhow. John H. Sununu has tried that cure for the controversy over his travel habits, but it's not a prescription likely to work.

MISHAWAKA, Ind. - Now you, too, can be a road warrior. The Humvee - the military's chunky, jeep-like vehicle - is going on sale to the public for as little as $40,500.

WASHINGTON - American consumers exhibit stronger brand loyalty to the cars made by Nissan, Honda and Toyota than to the products Detroit turns out, a Brookings Institution economic study said today.

RIO GRANDE CITY, Texas - Drug traffickers accustomed to flying their contraband in from the south now face a new obstacle: a 2,000-mile-long "radar fence" of balloons capable of tracking the entire Mexican border.

Texas

AUSTIN - Gov. Ann Richards said lawmakers will face "really tough and really hard decisions" as House budget writers today rolled up their sleeves to work on a state spending plan. Richards said Wednesday she is waiting on proposed spending cuts that will be recommended by Comptroller John Sharp next week, following audits of all state agencies.

ACROSS THE STATE - Juneteenth celebrants in Texas didn't wait until Wednesday to commemorate the belated end of slavery in the state. They were already watching parades and organizing cultural events on the previous weekend.

AUSTIN - A constitutional challenge by wealthy school districts to Texas' new school finance law was taken under advisement by a state judge, who did not say when he will rule in the case. The 2 1/2-day hearing, which focused on the county-wide property tax system set up by the new law, ended Wednesday.

WASHINGTON - Texas' senators applauded Senate passage of a five-year, $123 billion transportation bill that boosts funding for Texas highway and mass transit projects. The bill, approved Wednesday by the Senate, includes $5.97 billion in funding for Texas over the next five years - a $1.64 billion increase.

DALLAS - The new Dallas phone book is zippy reading. For the first time, Southwestern Bell is listing zip codes with addresses in the residential and business white pages. Dallas is the largest city to get the new type of phone book but soon all of Southwestern Bell's customers will have such directories.

CORPUS CHRISTI - Creditors will begin voting next month for or against the more than $600 million debt restructuring of Greyhound Lines Inc. U.S. Bankruptcy Judge Richard Schmidt Wednesday established the voting schedule after giving his approval to the ballot and financial disclosure statement Greyhound will send creditors.

AUSTIN - The Texas Supreme Court has agreed to hear an appeal of a videotape sex case that attorneys said could either allow people to sue over hurt feelings or allow men to "take serious advantage" of women. Susan Leigh Kerr sued a former boyfriend and three of his friends for secretly videotaping the couple having sex in a Houston home.

McALLEN - Co-owners of an exchange house chain and their bookkeeper were ordered held by a magistrate after federal agents seized more than $4 million in assets, including seven valuable paintings.

WASHINGTON - The House Banking Committee is getting off to a slow start in its review of the Bush administration's proposal to overhaul the financial system.

EDINBURG - The arrest of Starr County Clerk Juan Mills on a marijuana charge marked the third time in the past year that one of the border county's officials has been arrested on a drug charge.

Louisiana's law draws complaints from both sides

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - Louisiana's new abortion law, already considered the toughest in the nation, left both pro-choice and anti-abortion factions looking to undo it.

"I want to see the exceptions done away with," said Bill Shanks, pastor of the New Covenant Fellowship and a Louisiana anti-abortion leader. "We want a law doing away with abortions - period. With this law you are saying life begins at conception, but you have a right to kill life conceived in a certain way."

Hard-line abortion opponents hoped the Legislature would pass a resolution making the law even tougher - suspend the parts that allow abortions in cases of rape or incest.

The exceptions were included in the bill as a compromise this year after lawmakers failed to override the governor's veto of similar legislation last year. The maneuver worked: the governor vetoed the bill again this year but the legislature had enough votes for a historic override this time.

The law would send doctors who perform illegal abortions to prison for up to 10 years, with fines as high as $100,000. Its backers say the harsh penalties and tightly drawn exceptions make it the toughest abortion law in the nation.

Rep. Woody Jenkins, D-Baton Rouge, the leader of the effort to strip the rape and incest exceptions, said he hopes to pass a resolution suspending the exceptions before the legislative session ends. His own "no exceptions" bill is stuck in a Senate committee.

Jenkins didn't offer the resolution Wednesday, and some lawmakers said they didn't expect the measure to pass because it might upset the compromise that helped the anti-abortion bill become law.

Attorney General William Guste, whose office will defend the new law, encouraged activists to end their efforts to suspend parts of the new law.

"If I had my preference, I would prefer there be no amendments or suspensions because it further complicates the issues," Guste said.

Guste and American Civil Liberties Union lawyers agreed Wednesday that the U.S. Supreme Court will decide the constitutionality of the law. The showdown starts July 23 when the case comes before U.S. District Judge Adrian Duplantier in New Orleans.

Opponents, meanwhile, vowed to broaden the fight to target not only the bill but those behind it.

"The bill will do nothing but kill women," said Annette Fuselier, an incest victim who worked against passage of the measure. "We will not stop until it is repealed. We will also work to remove the lawmakers who are responsible for passing it."

The National Organization of Women, which had threatened a boycott of Louisiana last year because of the proposed abortion bill, is sponsoring WomenElect 2000 this year - an effort aimed at electing pro-choice lawmakers.

Firefighters earn awards in contest

Volunteer firefighters from Hereford claimed high awards recently at the annual Panhandle Firemen's and Fire Marshals' Association meeting.

In water polo competition, the Hereford team of Danny Henson and Bill Watts placed first in a field of 14 teams, winning the event for the sixth consecutive year.

In women's contests, Cindy Henson and Dee Hamilton were second in water polo.

Women's hose lay teams from Hereford finished one-two in contests.

Members of the first place team were Leticia Valdez, Marva Spain and Aida Lemus and the second place team members were Dee Hamilton, Cindy Henson and Lina Ruiz.

Pumper team contests resulted in second place finishes for Hereford teams.

The men's team members were Bill Watts, Donny Henson, Carlos Ruiz, Michael Albracht, Gary Chadwick and Kevin Harbison.

On the women's team were Dee Hamilton, Cindy Henson, Lina Ruiz, Leticia Valdez, Lisa Paetzold and Aida Lemus.

In youth competition, members of the Hereford Explorer Post also won awards. Nicky Ruiz and Sam Sheffield were first in water polo.

Members of the three-man pumper team winning first were Doug Keese, Nicky Ruiz and Brian Bentley.

Explorers also taking part in activities were David Bone, Stewart Jackson and Jerry Brock.

A total of 286 persons, representing 28 fire departments, took part in the annual event.

First place

A trophy earned in firefighters water polo competition is displayed by Donny Henson of Hereford. He and Bill Watts won the first place award.

King birthday is now official state holiday

AUSTIN (AP) - Designating slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday as an official state holiday was an honor long overdue, Gov. Ann Richards says.

Richards and other state leaders hailed the new law Wednesday, 126 years to the day after the Emancipation Proclamation was announced in Texas. The governor said the day celebrated in Texas as "Juneteenth" was the perfect time to mark creation of the new holiday.

"Sam Houston once said that 'it is better to do well late than never.' And the two events we celebrate today are examples of how right he was," Richards said.

"By signing the bill that declares his birthday an official state holiday, we honor the memory of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and his living legacy of hope," said Ms. Richards, a longtime civil rights activist.

The governor was joined by a number of state legislators in a ceremony at the Governor's Mansion.

The bill, signed into law a week ago, designates King's birthday as an official state holiday. It allows state employees to celebrate the third Monday in January as a paid holiday, replacing Columbus Day.

"I know that for those of us who were involved in the civil rights struggle most of our young lives, we really never dreamed that we would see this day coming," Richards said.

"His (King's) cause was America's cause. His dream was our dream. He took us all to the mountaintop and allowed us to see the true promise of this country. He lifted us to higher ground. And by signing this bill, we declare our intention to hold that ground," she said.

"The naming of this day as a state holiday was significant in its emotional aspects, to recognize a people that have struggled hard and have given much to this country," she said.

RUTH SWAYZE
...enjoys gardening

Now You're Cooking

BY KAY CRISMON
Staff Writer

Care, consideration, a little knowledge and a lot of common sense are the ingredients Ruth Swayze uses to grow her favorite vegetables.

"There is nothing better than eating food from your own garden. It just taste better," she says. The decision of what to plant and still keep the garden small presents a problem because there are so many vegetables that I like," she explained.

Some of the vegetables that she is growing in her garden are tomatoes, okra, beets, corn and green peppers.

"This time of year is my favorite because I can spend more time in my garden and yard. It keeps me busy and eliminates stress. Winter time is boring because I'm not interested in watching a lot of television and one can only do so much needlework," she added.

Swayze has lived in Hereford for 24 years and is a member of the First Methodist Church. She has two daughters, Cheryl Swayze of Arlington and Nancy Gouchin of Plainview, and four grandchildren.

She enjoys sewing, reading and cooking and is sharing a variety of family recipe favorites:

CREAM OF BROCCOLI SOUP

- 2 medium-size bunches broccoli, cut up, including stalks
- 2 medium-size potatoes, peeled and thinly sliced
- 4 T. butter or margarine
- 1 medium onion, coarsely chopped
- 4 T. flour
- 2 cups warm chicken broth
- 2 cups warm milk
- 1/2 cup warm heavy cream
- Salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste
- 2 t. dried basil

Cook broccoli and potatoes in salted water until tender. Set aside 8 flowerets of broccoli for garnish.

Heat butter in large sauce pan and add onions. Cook, stirring until onions are transparent, but not brown.

Add flour and stir until blended. Cook 3-4 minutes. Then stir in chicken broth and milk and cook, stirring, until smooth.

Place broccoli and potatoes in blender, or food processor fitted with metal blade, and puree. Gradually add half of broth-milk mixture and puree until smooth. Return soup to saucepan, add remaining broth-milk mixture and stir well with wire whisk. Add cream gradually, stirring, until soup is right consistency. Add salt, pepper and dried basil and reheat. Adjust seasonings...serve topped with 2 flowerets...serves 4

OLD FASHIONED CARROT CAKE

- 2 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
- 2 cups sugar
- 1 1/4 cups salad oil
- 1/3 cup milk
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 4 eggs
- 3 cups finely grated carrots
- 1 cup pecans, chopped

Preheat oven to 325 degrees. Grease (3) 9 inch round cake pans and flour.

Into large bowl measure first 9 ingredients. With mixer at low speed, beat ingredients until just mixed. Increase speed to high and beat 5 minutes, occasionally scraping bowl with rubber spatula. Stir in carrots and pecans. Pour batter into pans.

Bake 1 hour and 10 minutes, or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool cake in pans on wire rack for 10 minutes; remove from pans and cool completely.

Cream Cheese Frosting

- 1 16 oz. package powdered sugar
 - 1 8 oz. package of cream cheese (softened)
 - 1/2 cup butter, softened
 - 1 t. vanilla
 - 1 cup pecans, chopped
- Thoroughly blend first 4 ingredients...stir in pecans...frost cake.

CHICKEN VEGETABLE SOUP

- 3 T. bacon fat or butter
- Saute briefly in the fat:
- 1 carrot, diced
 - 1 onion, chopped

- 1/2 cup celery, finely diced
 - 1 T. Parsley (dry)
- Add:
- 2 quarts (8 cups) chicken stock (4 cans Swanson)
 - 1 cup tomatoes, drained
 - 1 can cream of chicken soup
 - 2/3 cup fresh green beans, finely cut (or frozen)
 - 1 cup raw potato, diced
 - 1 cup canned whole kernel corn, drained
 - 1 cup sliced mushrooms
 - 1/4 cup chopped green pepper
- 1/2 t. salt
1/8 t. pepper
- Bring to boil, then cover and cook about 30 minutes on low heat.
- Then add:
- 1 cup pasta, small/fine size
 - 1 cup peas, fresh or frozen
 - 1 lb. poached chicken, cubed
- Continue cooking until pasta is fully cooked. Garnish with grated cheese. Serve with hot buttered bread or cornbread.

29 wins scramble

A score of 29 won the Wednesday Scramble at Pitman Municipal Golf Course yesterday with Ken Roberts, Scott Taylor, Bill Brown and Deborah Warner teaming as the winning foursome. Each player collects $44.25 in golf merchandise. Four teams carded a score of 30 to tie for runner-up honors. The weekly event is open to all interested golfers who sign up at the pro shop. The scramble starts at 6 p.m. each week. Pro Brent Warner also announced that the updated Mini-Max handicap cards can be picked up at the pro shop. Those who have not paid can do so when they pick up their cards.

Dravecky's arm amputated

NEW YORK (AP) - Dave Dravecky's agent said he was "upbeat" following surgery to amputate the former pitcher's left arm and shoulder. "Dave said it was wonderful not to be in pain anymore," agent Sealy Yates said Wednesday, a day after the surgery. "Dave and his family are doing well. They see this development as a relief as much as anything. They just want Dave to get well." Dravecky, in a statement released by Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center, thanked fans for their concern. "Your prayers truly have been felt," the statement said. "We have experienced such peace that it is amazing. We are truly thankful for the wonderful care we have received at Memorial Sloan-Kettering. We are thankful that God has placed us in the hands of such a fine surgeon as Dr. Murray Brennan." Brennan is chairman of the

Howe gets 1st save in 4 years

By The Associated Press Steve Howe's first save in four seasons wasn't a big deal for him. "The only thing that really matters when I go out to the mound is winning," Howe said Wednesday night following the New York Yankees' 3-0 victory over the Toronto Blue Jays. "Personal accomplishments are not what this game is all about, and I've certainly been through enough to understand that by now," Howe said. Howe, suspended six times for drug and alcohol abuse, pitched a perfect ninth, striking out two. His last save had been on Sept. 12, 1987, for Texas against California. "What I have realized is that you only go around once and the things that are really important are your family and your job," Howe said. "And for me, that means going out there and having fun and not worrying about when that first save will come."

He had been released by the Rangers on Jan. 19, 1988, after violating his aftercare program by using alcohol. He pitched in the minor leagues last season.

Jimmy Key (10-3) lost for the first time in eight starts since May 7, allowing 10 hits in eight innings, struck out six and walked none. Toronto dropped its fourth straight.

Jeff Johnson (1-2) got his first big league victory, giving up five hits in seven innings in his third start. The 24-year-old left-hander struck out three and walked one.

Kevin Maas hit a run-scoring groundout in the eighth and Jesse Barfield hit a two-run homer, his 14th.

In other games, Minnesota beat Baltimore 8-4, Seattle beat Boston 4-3, Oakland beat Detroit 5-4, California beat Milwaukee 4-1, Kansas City beat Texas 15-2, and Cleveland beat Chicago 4-3.

runs and seven hits in five innings, struck out six and walked five.

Athletics 5, Tigers 4
Jose Canseco and Mark McGwire homered.

Gene Nelson (1-1) pitched three innings of one-hit, one-run relief. Dennis Eckersley got four outs for his 19th save in 21 chances.

Walt Terrell (3-7) gave up four runs and 10 hits in 4 2/3 innings.

Reds over Mets; Astros lose

By JOHN KREISER
AP Sports Writer
Ted Williams once said that hitting a baseball is the hardest single feat in sports. Cincinnati rookie Chris Jones is making it look pretty easy. Jones, a rookie called from the minors last week, has turned into the major leagues' most difficult out. His latest success came Wednesday night when his two-run pinch-hit triple in the sixth inning put the Reds ahead to stay in a 7-6 victory over the New York Mets.

Jones greeted reliever Rich Sauveur by slicing a shot down the right-field line for his fourth hit in five pinch-hitting appearances. Overall, he's 9-for-14 (.643) - but that's still not enough to earn a regular job, at least for now.

"A lot of things were going through my mind when I went up there. Stay back. Be aggressive,"

Jones said. Jones got his chance to be a hero after Mets starter David Cone had to leave the game due to a sore shoulder. The Reds had two on and two out when Cone (6-5) departed in favor of Sauveur, a left-hander. Jones pinch-hit for lefty-hitting Jeff Reed and put the Reds ahead with his triple, then scored on Glenn Braggs' single.

Paul O'Neill hit a two-run homer and Todd Benzinger tripled, doubled and singled for the Reds, who denied the Mets their first home sweep of the season. Kip Gross (1-0) pitched two innings and won his first major league decision.

The Mets' Gregg Jefferies hit a two-run homer off Ted Power in the seventh. Rob Dibble got the last four outs, three on strikeouts, for his league-leading 19th save in as many opportunities.

In other NL action, it was Los Angeles 9, Chicago 8; Montreal 3, Houston 1; San Diego 6, Pittsburgh 5; Atlanta 9, Philadelphia 2; and St. Louis 3, San Francisco 2.

Expos 3, Astros 1
Mark Gardner, hitless in 27 at-bats since last July 17, singled in the game's first run and allowed five hits in seven innings.

Department of Surgery at Sloan-Kettering, which pioneered limb preservation procedures for sarcomas such as Dravecky's. Amputation, necessary in 50 percent of the cases during the 1970's, is only rarely required now, the hospital said.

There had been some hope that the arm could be saved, but according to Dravecky's father, the decision was made to proceed with the amputation following two late tests.

Pete Harnisch (4-5) intentionally walked Tom Foley with a man on second to get to Gardner, a career .092 hitter. But Gardner (3-3) punched an RBI single to left, breaking a scoreless tie, and Foley also scored when Luis Gonzalez's throw skipped past catcher Craig Biggio.

Braves 9, Phillies 2
Tom Glavine got his 11th victory but was ejected in a brushback war. Glavine allowed just four hits through eight innings with a career-high 12 strikeouts before being ejected by home-plate umpire Bob Davidson for throwing at Dale Murphy leading off the ninth. In the top half of the inning, Phillies reliever Roger McDowell was ejected for hitting Otis Nixon in the shoulder.

Glavine also had three hits and two RBIs. David Justice hit his 11th homer.

Ranger phenom gets chance

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - Nineteen-year-old catching phenom Ivan Rodriguez will be promoted to the major leagues Friday - after he gets married between games of a minor league double-header the night before.

Rodriguez' contract at Class AA Tulsa was purchased Wednesday when Texas catcher Geno Petralli was placed on the 15-day disabled list. Petralli has missed seven games with stiffness in the lower back. He underwent a magnetic resonance imaging exam Wednesday.

Rodriguez, whose nickname is "Pudge," was hitting .279 with 27 RBIs at Tulsa of the Texas League, where he has thrown out 23 of 39 attempted base stealers.

Young Ryan to leave UT

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - Reid Ryan, son of Texas Rangers pitcher Nolan Ryan, has asked for a release from his baseball scholarship at the University of Texas because he and his father were disappointed that the younger Ryan did not get to pitch very much in his freshman year.

The younger Ryan is expected to receive the release and is considering transferring to Texas Christian University in Fort Worth, the Fort Worth Star-Telegram reported today.

Both Ryans were disappointed that Reid did not pitch more for the Longhorns. The two Ryans opposed each other in an exhibition matchup in early April at Austin, but the younger Ryan made just two appearances totaling 3 1/3 innings in non-conference games and did not see any Southwest Conference action.

Rodgers making big change from Boston to Minnesota

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) - Jimmy Rodgers called the Twin Cities "God's country." He mentioned fishing several times. He spoke of Midwestern roots and values.

The Minnesota Timberwolves' new coach said all the right things Wednesday at his first news conference. Now he must do all the right things, find the proper balance between winning and building for the future.

It was a balance that his predecessor, Bill Musselman, never found.

"I don't know if it's that complex," Rodgers said. "We want to win. But we do understand that we're going to have to take care of the building blocks. I think you can win games and build at the same time."

The Boston Celtics weren't concerned about building. Their stated goal was winning championships. And when Rodgers didn't produce, losing in the first round of the playoffs in both of his seasons as head coach, the Celtics turned him loose on May 8, 1990.

"In an odd way, I think that's something of an advantage," Timberwolves president Bob Stein said of hiring a recently fired coach.

"If you are an intelligent person and you make some mistakes, you acknowledge those mistakes and you don't make them again."

Stein was speaking about himself as much as he was about Rodgers.

He knew he took a big gamble when he hired the ultra-intense Musselman, who exceeded all expectations by winning 51 games in the expansion team's first two seasons, but who did so, Stein felt, at the expense of building for the future.

"We don't want to just be five wins better than last year," Stein said. "We will ask, 'Are we comfortable that we are making progress toward being a championship team?' If we are, the wins will take care of themselves."

"The ability to get there is one of the reasons the job was attractive to Jimmy Rodgers."

Rodgers, 48, agreed to terms on a three-year contract, more than $600,000 of which will be paid by the Celtics.

Tarkanian: NCAA above reproach

WASHINGTON (AP) - All his problems began, Jerry Tarkanian explained, when he wrote three nasty little newspaper columns about the NCAA.

"I thought if I could raise issues, I could help improve the system," said the UNLV basketball coach. But the organization that oversees college sports "will bury you. It's above reproach, beyond criticism."

Tarkanian, who never met an NCAA investigator he really liked, spun his tale of woe Wednesday to the House subcommittee on commerce, consumer protection and competitiveness. He says he's a victim of harassment.

His basketball programs have been under investigation for eight of the past 18 years. UNLV is banned from TV and postseason play next season, in settlement of a battle between Tarkanian and the NCAA that began in 1977.

"Players only 7 or 8 years of age at the time" of the violations "will be punished this year," Tarkanian complained.

"Everybody" in college sports "is petrified. It's a reign of terror," said the coach.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association in the 1980s censured, sanctioned or placed on probation 109 colleges and universities. The body's maze of restrictions is impossible to comply with, said Tarkanian, who will make next season his last in college basketball.

The most onerous restriction: the "extra benefit" rule. A booster can't give an athlete a ride in the rain and a coach can't give a team member a ride to see a student tutor.

Louisiana State basketball coach Dale Brown held up the 477-page NCAA manual in front of the subcommittee and declared: "We've got to burn that big heavy book."

Some witnesses disagreed.

The NCAA is the body that "we ourselves have put into place to oversee our conduct," said University of Delaware president David Roselle.

Roselle "is on another planet," said Brown, who said that some of the college presidents "are in a coma. The coaches are the whipping boy."

"You've got to give us some help," Brown urged the congressional subcommittee.

Tarkanian and Brown are touting a bill they say would force the NCAA to change the way it does its investigative work. The measure, sponsored by subcommittee member Rep. Edolphus Towns, D-N.Y., is entitled "The Coaches and Athletes Bill of Rights." It would require the NCAA to accord "due process" to coaches, players and colleges.

That would likely mean having a verbatim transcript made of all interviews - something the NCAA doesn't do now.

Tarkanian told the subcommittee that on one occasion an NCAA investigator spoke to a witness, who secretly tape-recorded the interview. The staffer's account of the meeting conflicted with the tape-recording, yet the NCAA pushed aside the discrepancies, Tarkanian said.

The NCAA recently announced it would tape all interviews.

Injured boxer making amazing recovery

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - Kid Akeem Anifowoshe has made remarkable improvement since suffering life-threatening head injuries in a boxing match Saturday, his doctor said.

"I was not expecting him to improve like this," said Dr. Gerardo Zavala. "It's a surprise for him to survive. When he came to the hospital, I thought he was going to be dead."

Anifowoshe, who lapsed into a coma after losing a bloody IBF junior bantamweight title fight to Robert Quiroga on Saturday, hasn't lost any mental faculties, Zavala said.

Anifowoshe was listed in stable condition at Baptist Memorial Hospital late Wednesday and was "improving by the day," said hospital business manager Dan Mucha. The fighter's condition was upgraded from critical to fair but guarded on Tuesday, then to stable Wednesday night.

Zavala called Anifowoshe's recovery remarkable. Anifowoshe underwent emergency surgery to relieve pressure on his brain after the fight.

"There's still weakness in his left leg, but I think that will be temporary," Zavala told the San Antonio Light in Wednesday's editions. "Hopefully, when we remove the tubes... he'll start talking and we will know more then."

Anifowoshe, a 21-year-old Nigerian fighting out of Las Vegas, suffered trauma to the brain during his defeat to Quiroga, the International Boxing Federation champion. He fell into a coma after the fight and did not regain consciousness until early Sunday.

Anifowoshe stunned his wife, Sharon, when he started communicating by moving his lips Tuesday.

"I read his lips... he talked to me with his lips," Sharon Anifowoshe said. "He can't talk because of the tubes they have inside his mouth, but he talked and he answered my questions."

"He told us what colors we had on and the names of my sister and mother. And when the doctor asked him how many fingers he was holding up, he said the right amount."

The fact he knows his visitors, can communicate thoughts and is moving his limbs, Zavala said, demonstrates his faculties are in order.

At one point, Sharon Anifowoshe said her husband requested pen and paper. When he tried writing, however, he had trouble holding the pen and could only scribble a few lines.

"I don't talk to him about the fight," she said. "I just tell him how much I love him and to get better. He nods his head. When I talk to him about the kids, he tells me with his lips that he's glad they are doing fine."

After Quiroga's unanimous 12-round decision was announced, Anifowoshe began vomiting blood and collapsed. His trauma is believed to be the most serious boxing injury ever sustained in Texas.

The state agency which administers boxing said it will investigate the fight, that also left Quiroga needing medical treatment for a bloodied and battered face.

Trainers for both fighters said the use of 6-ounce gloves mandated by the IBF for fighters under 127 pounds contributed to the injuries.

The Texas commission waived its regulations of heavier gloves and allowed 6-ounce gloves to be used in the Anifowoshe-Quiroga bout because of the IBF mandate.

Quiroga has said he'll never fight with 6-ounce gloves again.

IBF president Robert Lee said he was not sure if the lighter gloves contributed to Anifowoshe's injuries. But he has instructed his medical advisory council to look into the fight to determine if 6-ounce gloves' use should be banned.

Quiroga, unbeaten in 18 pro fights, is under a court order forbidding him from using the $60,000 purse for anything other than paying his trainer, manager and promoter. The May 31 order stems from a divorce petition filed May 13 by his wife, Naomi.

Wadkins suffering slump

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) - On paper, he's off to the best start of his 21-year PGA Tour career. But Lanny Wadkins knows better.

"I need my putting to step forward to get my momentum going again and take the pressure off my iron game," Wadkins said. "I've been standing out there trying to hit every iron within a foot of the hole just so I could make a birdie."

Wadkins, who today began the defense of his title at the Anheuser-Busch Golf Classic, is second on the 1991 money list with $568,988.

Career victory No. 20 came in January at the Hawaiian Open. It was in a stretch where Wadkins placed eighth or better in seven of the year's first 11 events. That run included five top-5 finishes.

Since then, however, the picture has soured. In his last four tournaments, Wadkins has finished 27th, 57th, 42nd and 63rd.

He barely made the cut at last week's U.S. Open, then followed with weekend rounds of 80 and 79.

"I don't like playing bad," he said. "If you're not out here winning tournaments, then you're not playing like you want to."

Wadkins said he had been struggling with his putter for several weeks and that the problem was magnified in the Open at Hazeltine National Golf Club.

"I never made a putt," he said. "Every day, the greens were a different speed, and that was unfortunate."

The greens are likely to be more soft and consistent this week at Kingsmill Golf Club, which has taken some steady doublings of rain in recent days.

"They won't be as fast," Wadkins said, "but at least they would be the same all week."

Wadkins, who will turn 42 in December, said fatigue also may be playing a factor in his recent difficulties.

"I really haven't spent the time at home like I'm used to, which has probably affected me some," he said. "I probably could use a few weeks off. With just one week off here and there, I never even get my suitcase unpacked. It just stays about half-packed, and I reload and go again. I've had way too much of that this year."

While Wadkins could use some time off, Scott Simpson said just the opposite is true for him.

Simpson said playing at Kingsmill should help take his mind off his performance at the Open. He had a two-shot lead with three holes to play in the final round but blew it, then did the same thing in Monday's playoff with Payne Stewart.

"I think the best thing I could do right now is to be here and get back out and play again, whether it goes good or bad," he said. "At least I have something to look forward to, instead of just looking back on what could have been or what might have been and all that stuff."

Mike Donald, who lost last year's Open in a playoff, said Simpson is taking the right course by playing this week.

"All you can ask for is a chance," Donald said. "And you know, he's out there playing golf in front of 30,000 people for the United States Open championship, and that's a high in itself."

Elmer Layden, a member of the "Four Horsemen" of Notre Dame, scored three touchdowns in the 1925 Rose Bowl against Stanford.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My boyfriend "Joe" has a 9-year-old daughter "Sally" from his first marriage. Sally is a beautiful, well-adjusted child and we get along wonderfully.

Although Joe and I have our own places, we spend weekends together. We do not sleep together when Sally is with us. We feel it would be improper since we are not married.

Until several months ago, Joe was still sleeping with Sally (sometimes in a single bed). A friend and I were able to convince him that Sally was too old for him to be doing this. To my knowledge, he has not slept with her since.

When Sally is around, Joe will not show me any affection. He will not hold my hand, put his arm around me or even kiss me on the cheek. However when Sally is in the car with us, he will reach back and put his hand on Sally's knee. When we watch a TV movie, Joe gets on the couch with Sally, puts his head in her lap, and she will stroke his hair. Or sometimes, they will just stretch out, intertwining their legs and arms. They usually stay that way until the movie is over.

Joe has a lot of guilt about not being with Sally all the time, and he's very physically affectionate with her. I believe it's perfectly innocent yet I am bothered by it.

Am I overly sensitive? Should I just ignore what I see, or should I say something to Joe? If so, what? -- Speak Up or Shut Up in Houston

DEAR HOUSTON: For Pete's sake, speak up, but in a low-key, non-judgmental way. While this father-daughter relationship does not sound incestuous, it is definitely provocative and unhealthy.

Suggest to Joe that he needs to help of a professional to understand how to relate to a young daughter who will soon be entering puberty. Explain that divorced fathers often have this problem because they feel guilty about the divorce and become too eager in their efforts to establish a loving relationship on a part-time basis.

I suggest that you offer to line up the counselor for Joe and the sooner the better. I see trouble ahead.

DEAR MIDWEST: Your husband should accept the promotion immediately and you ought to do everything possible to support that decision.

I'm sorry that your mother has made you feel guilty about leaving town.

When a woman marries, her first obligation is to her husband, and the same goes for him. The Bible says it best in Genesis 2:24: "Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife, and they shall be one flesh." Start packing and good luck!

Drugs are everywhere. They're easy to get, easy to use and even easier to get hooked on. If you have questions about drugs, you need Ann Landers' booklet, "The Lowdown on Drugs." Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Lowdown, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562. (In Canada, send $4.45.)

Social Security

"A new law to combat mail scams is expected to provide much needed protection to Social Security beneficiaries besieged by various solicitations under the cover of official-looking envelopes," announced Jim Talbot, manager of the Amarillo Social Security office. Called the Deceptive Mailings Prevention Act, the new law gives the United States Postal Service specific power to stop delivery of mail that gives the impression it is connected with the government.

The law says that any envelope (or the face of any postcard) that includes a name, seal, insignia, term or symbol that could reasonably cause it to be mistaken for a mailing from the government will not be delivered unless there is also a prominent "disclaimer." The disclaimer must appear on the envelope (or face of the postcard), and must clearly state that the mailing is not made or endorsed by the government.

Talbot pointed out that many companies use "Social Security" or "Medicare" as a "come-on" to get people to read their advertisements. Even worse, some of these ads appear to deliberately try to mislead people into thinking they have to respond or they might lose Social Security or Medicare benefits.

Here are the steps you should take if you receive mail you think violates this new law. First, you can go to your local post office, explain why you're concerned about the mailing and ask the people there to forward the mailing to the Postal Inspector's office.

Second, if you prefer, you can send in a complaint directly to the Chief Postal Inspector, at this address: Chief Postal Inspector, United States Postal Service, 475 L'Enfant Plaza, S.W. Washington, D.C. 20260-2100.

"Be sure to give the post office everything you received, including any envelope or wrapper," Talbot advised. Also, be sure to include your name and address, the nature of your concern, and the date you go in the mail. All that information will help the Postal Inspector take any necessary action.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband has been offered a terrific promotion which means more money and a prestigious title. The area has great weather and fine schools, but I feel guilty about moving 3,000 miles from my parents. They aren't elderly, are in good health, have excellent jobs and are active in community affairs.

I really want to go but I am afraid to disappoint my folks. My brother moved away and Mom is still crushed. When "Bud" moved, she said, "He put his own interest ahead of family. You'd never do that to us." This is creating friction between me and my husband. His employer wants an answer. What's your advice? Yes or no? -- Midwest Woe

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company (Company), in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas (Commission), hereby gives notice of its intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas for Directory Assistance Services, effective August 1, 1991, unless otherwise determined by the Commission. The Company has filed an application with the Commission to restructure and change the rates for Directory Assistance Service.

To help recover its costs, the Company is proposing to increase the rates for Directory Assistance calls from $.30 to $.40 per call (after the three-call allowance). Southwestern Bell is proposing that there be no change in the number of free Directory Assistance calls allowed each month (currently three) and that customers who qualify for exemption of Directory Assistance charges because of visual or physical handicaps continue to be exempt from these charges. The company also proposes to begin charging $.25 per call for Directory Assistance from pay telephones.

If approved by the Commission, this proposed rate change for Directory Assistance will increase the Company's annual revenues by $15.4 million, which is an increase of approximately one half of 1 percent in the Company's adjusted revenue for the twelve-month period ending December 1990. This proposed rate change would affect approximately 900,000 residence customers, approximately 155,000 business customers, approximately 500 private pay telephone owners and all customers who make Directory Assistance calls from public pay telephones.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Public Information Office at (512) 458-0256 or (512) 458-0221 tele-typewriter for the deaf.

Beauty spots for June

The Roger Wilcox home (above) located at 105 Mimosa and the Steve Conaway home, 116 Rio Vista, have been selected as beauty spots for the month by the Women's Division beauty spot committee.

Youth honored

The grandson of Hereford residents received several honors during the spring at Dalhart Junior High School, where he was a seventh grader.

Brent Houle, 12-year-old grandson of Tony and Marcella Hoffman and Nita Houle, was listed on the A-honor roll for the school year.

The youth also was a U. S. National Honor Roll award winner. He was named an "outstanding student" at DJHS in the fourth six weeks of the year.

He is the son of former Hereford residents, Donnie and Mary Ann Houle of Dalhart.

MAUDLOW, Mont. (AP) - Movies can set fashion trends, says Robert Redford, and he hopes the one he's directing will make it fashionable to preserve the beauty and wilderness of the West.

Redford was here this week filming "A River Runs Through It," a tale of the West based on the Norman Maclean novella. He said in an interview he hopes the film will make it fashionable to save the West from overdevelopment.

"I've never believed that film changes anything political," Redford said. "It changes fashions."

Redford has starred in such movies as "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid," "All the President's Men" and "The Natural." His directing credits include "Ordinary People," for which he won an Oscar in 1981.

In 1964, Norman L. Manley scored two holes-in-one, back to back, at the Del Valle Country Club golf course in Saugus, Calif.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: When I was a young man I had good posture and stood erect with my shoulders back. Now that I am 58, my shoulders are rounded. I have to make a conscious effort to stand up and prevent my shoulders from rounding. I would like to have the posture I used to have. Do you have any suggestions about correcting rounded shoulders?

DEAR READER: Good posture is important in maintaining the optimal range of lung function. If you slump over with rounded shoulders, that limits the range of movement of your ribs, which in turn limits how much air you can inhale. You may not notice it at rest, but it may limit your maximum exercise capacity. And people with good posture do look better.

The muscles over the front of your trunk are stronger than those over the back. And the muscles that close the joints of your limbs are stronger than those that open your joints. The result is that the body tends to curl up or assume the fetal position as you get older unless you stretch the muscle that contract and curl your body and make a conscious effort to strengthen the opposite set of muscles.

For the shoulders that means stretching the pectoral muscles over the front of your chest that pull your shoulders forward. You do that by standing in an open doorway. Put your hands on each side of the door and lean forward. If you do it right, you will feel the pull on the muscles over the front of your chest. Lean forward enough to feel a good pull, but not so far as to cause pain. Move your hands up and down to different locations at the sides of the door to stretch different parts of these chest muscles. Lean forward each time for a full 30 seconds. Do that every day and gradually those muscles will lengthen and stop pulling your shoulders forward.

You can use stretch springs, holding the springs in front of you and stretching them to work the muscles between your shoulder blades. Even the backstroke motion, rotating your arms up, back and down to work those muscles helps. You can consciously just pull your shoulder back as strongly as you can, relax and repeat, relax and repeat, to work those muscles.

Stretching is important to posture and there are many misconceptions about how to do it right. Read the newly revised Special Report 76, You Need to Stretch, to develop a program for your whole body. I'm sending you a free copy. Others who want this report can send $3 with a long, stamped (52 cents), self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/76, P.O. Box 787, Gibbstown, NJ 08027-9908.

PUBLIC NOTICE

BRIEF EXPLANATORY STATEMENTS OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS SPECIAL ELECTION AUGUST 10, 1991

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 42 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the newly created county education districts to hold elections to exempt from ad valorem taxation a percentage of the market value of the residence homestead of a married or unmarried adult. The percentage exempted could not exceed 20% of such market value, and the amount exempted could not be less than $5,000. The amendment would also authorize county education districts to hold elections to exempt from ad valorem taxation not less than $3,000 of the market value of the residence homestead of a disabled person or a person sixty-five years of age or older. Finally, the amendment would authorize elections in county education districts for the taxation of certain tangible personal property exempted from ad valorem taxation by the legislature.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to allow the voters of a county education district to adopt certain exemptions from the district's ad valorem taxation for residence homesteads and to provide for the taxation of certain tangible personal property."

PROPOSITION NO. 2 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 5 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow the legislature to pass general laws authorizing Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board or its successor to issue and sell up to $300 million of general obligation bonds to finance educational loans to students. The maximum net effective interest rate to be borne by the bonds would be set by law. The amendment would also authorize the legislature to provide for the investment of bond proceeds and to establish an interest and sinking fund to pay the bonds and provide for the investment of such fund. Bonds authorized under this amendment would be paid from the first money coming into the treasury in each fiscal year that is not otherwise appropriated by the constitution, less any amount in an interest and sinking fund established at the end of the preceding year that is pledged to the payment of the bonds or interest.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment providing for the issuance of general obligation bonds to provide educational loans to students."

Estos son los informes explicatorios sobre las enmiendas propuestas a la constitución que aparecerán en la boleta el 10 de agosto de 1991. Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company (Company), in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas (Commission), hereby gives notice of the Company's intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas for residence Custom Calling Services, effective August 1, 1991, unless otherwise determined by the Commission. The Company has filed an application with the Commission to restructure and change the rates for certain residence Custom Calling Services.

The Custom Calling Services affected by the Company's application are optional telephone service arrangements that provide the following features: Call Waiting, Call Forwarding, Three Way Calling, Speed Calling 8 and Speed Calling 30.

The Company's proposal would increase the monthly rate for the individual Call Waiting feature from $2.10 to $3.10 for residence customers. Also, the rates for certain combinations of Custom Calling Features (Call Waiting, Call Forwarding, Three-Way Calling and Speed Calling-8) would increase or decrease depending upon the combination of features. In addition, the company proposes to obsolete the optional Custom Calling Service feature Speed Calling 30 for residence customers except for existing customers at their existing locations. Following are the feature combinations and their current and proposed rates.

One Feature Per Line	Current	Proposed
Call Waiting	$2.10	$3.10
Call Forwarding	2.10	2.10
Three-Way Calling	2.10	2.10
Speed Calling-8	2.10	2.10
Two Features Per Line	Current	Proposed
Call Waiting, Call Forwarding	3.75	4.50
Call Waiting, 3-Way Calling	3.70	4.50
Call Waiting, Speed Calling-8	3.70	4.50
Call Forwarding, 3-Way Calling	3.70	3.50*
Call Forwarding, Speed Calling-8	3.70	3.50*
3-Way Calling, Speed Calling-8	3.70	3.50*
Three Features Per Line	Current	Proposed
Call Waiting, Call Forwarding and 3-Way Calling	5.30	5.90
Call Waiting, Call Forwarding and Speed Calling-8	5.30	5.90
Call Waiting, 3-Way Calling and Speed Calling-8	5.30	5.90
Call Forwarding, 3-Way Calling and Speed Calling-8	5.30	4.90*
Four Features Per Line	Current	Proposed
Call Waiting, Call Forwarding 3-Way Calling, Speed Calling-8	6.90	7.30
Speed Calling 30	3.20	3.20

* denotes rate decrease
 Southwestern Bell's application proposes to obsolete residence Speed Calling 30 except for existing customers at their existing locations.

Most of the Company's residence customers in Texas who subscribe to one or more of the Custom Calling Service features will be affected by the proposed rate restructuring. It is expected that the proposed rate restructuring of Custom Calling Services will increase the Company's annual revenues by $15.9 million, which is an increase of approximately one half of 1 percent in the Company's adjusted revenue for the twelve-month period ending December 1990. The restructuring will result in an increase in the Custom Calling Services rates for approximately 2.5 million residence customers and rate decreases for approximately 15,000 residence customers. Also, the obsolescence of the optional feature Speed Calling 30 will affect approximately 156,000 residence customers.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Public Information Office at (512) 458-0256 or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.
