CHURCH WILL BE ERECTED

Methodists Plan Structure To Cost A Total Of $30,000

The Methodist church has decided to raise the balance of the money needed for a new building. This church is out of debt, has a splendid new building site paid for, and over $7000.00 in U. S. Bonds and other gilt edge interest bearing securities.

The church desires to raise an additional amount of $23,000.00, so as to build a $30,000.00 building.

At a called meeting last Thursday night a committee was appointed to plan the campaign. This plan was placed before the church conference last Sunday morning and was unanimously adopted.

The church, and especially the Sunday school, has far outgrown its present quarters. Some two years ago the church began to raise money, but were delayed because of the war. Now that victory has been achieved, the church members feel that having done their patriotic duty to the government they can go ahead with their church plans.

Having "rendered unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's," they will "render unto God the things that are God's."

This seems to be an especially fortunate time. The wheat crops, and all other crops bid fair to be the best we have ever had. Grass is extra good, and cattle already getting fat.

We are told that help from everyone will be gladly accepted. Liberty Bonds and Victory bonds will be received at par value.

Further announcement of the plans of the Building Committee will be made from time to time.

First Reunion in Ten Years is Held

D. L. Hooper, of the Burns Drug store, and family have been enjoying a family reunion for the past few days. Every member of the family were together for the first time in ten years. Mrs. W. A. Marter, Mr. Hooper's sister returned to her home in Plainview Wednesday and his brother, W. F. Hooper returned to his home in Watonga, Oklahoma. Mr. Hooper's mother, Mrs. S. M. Hooper, also of Plainview, will remain in Hereford for the present.

Vanderlip and J. P. Morgan Have Nothing Much On Roy Stocking

Roy Stocking says he feels like a Plutocrat—whatever that is for Frank Vanderlip and other distinguished financiers were on the same salary basis as himself the past year. At last so far as Uncle Sam's payroll was concerned.

Mr. Stocking has received a nicely engraved U. S. Treasury check for the sum of One Dollar, salary as Enrolling Officer for the Shipping Board from May, 1918, to May, 1919, together with the thanks of the Department for his work and patriotism.

Mr. Stocking is requested to cash the check at once, but is considering spending something more than the value of the check on a frame and hanging it in his home as a patriotic keepsake.

Presbyterian Picnic City Park Tuesday

As a token of church fellowship and esteem for their retiring pastor, Rev. W. M. Baker, and his family, the ladies of the First Presbyterian church announce a big Picnic Supper to be held at the City Park, just south of the business district, next Tuesday afternoon and evening. Automobiles will begin to leave the Presbyterian church at 5.00 p. m., and supper will be served at 7.00 p. m.

All returned soldiers, sailors, marines, aviators and former members of the government fighting forces in this vicinity, together with their wives or sweethearts, are invited to give the Presbyterians the honor of their presence and to share their hospitality, as a small token of appreciation for their splendid services to the country and the world.

Rev. Baker requests The Brand to announce, also, that if any of these returned service men will bring their girls and marriage licenses with them he will marry them without charges of any kind and the Church ladies will supply the wedding supper!

Visit to Dimmitt Monday is Planned

The meeting which was to have been held at Dimmitt last Monday between the Castro County Commissioners' Court and Deaf Smith County citizens has been set for next Monday, June 16.

This visit is for the purpose of discussing road conditions affecting both counties, and all interested who will furnish cars for the trip are urged to join the expedition.

Vogele Buys Rev. W. M. Baker Home

Rev. W. M. Baker, pastor of the Presbyterian church, who resigned last week to go to Waxahachie, Texas, has sold his home on 25-Mile Avenue to Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Vogele.

The place comprises about 15 acres, and it is possible that part of this acreage will be irrigated for Mr. Vogele from a near-by irrigation well.

Red Cross Holds Executive Meeting

With only two or three above the number required for a quorum present, a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Deaf Smith County Chapter of the American Red Cross was held in the county courtroom Thursday afternoon. President Baker presided.

The usual routine matters, including a financial report, were disposed of, followed by the discussion of several important questions before the Chapter.

It developed that the Home Hygiene, or Nursing Division, and the Home Welfare Division of the Chapter would probably be the most important ones, so far as active work is concerned, in the months to come. On urgent request from Headquarters it was resolved to send the chairman of these two divisions to a conference to be held at Wichita, Kansas, on June 20. The resignation of Mrs. Seth B. Holman as chairman of the Home Hygiene Division was accepted and Mrs. Chas. Donald elected to fill that position. Mrs. Donald and Mrs. Bradley, chairman of the Home Welfare Division were then requested to attend the Wichita meeting.

Reports from other committees were received, and a unanimous vote carried that the Committee extend suitable thanks in writing to the chairman and members of the Canteen Division, for their splendid work and self-sacrifice.

The resignation of Chairman Baker, who will leave in July, was deferred by request until the next meeting of the Committee.

PUMPED WELLS DO PAY

Most Expensive Item Is Oil That An Irrigator Never Buys

The most expensive thing about an irrigation plant is the oil the irrigator does not buy," said Percy Welliver Thursday morning, in discussing the irrigation development in this vicinity.

Last fall Mr. Welliver installed a pumping plant on a section of raw land south of town, with Mr. Keith in charge. The first thing he did after that was to purchase a tractor and go to work turning under the sod. This operation was interrupted by the big snow, but the job finished as soon thereafter as possible. On this raw land Mr. Welliver now has a fine stand of sorghum, maize and-kafir, with a small acreage in alfalfa. Of course this season has been exceptional, in the way of moisture, but the whole transaction shows what can be done the first year with proper preparation and equipment. In case it should turn off dry, the well is ready for service.

In addition to the statement at the head of this article Mr. Welliver's ideas for successful irrigation farming are well worth the study of any man; i. e.:

If you run an irrigation plant, don't be stingy with oil and water; that's what you put the plant in for;

Whether you run the plant yourself, or arrange for another man to run it, make financial arrangements to properly equip the place, and to maintain it. Otherwise you can't hope to do much with it.

Market your grain through hogs and your roughness through cattle.

Weather Vane is Working Overtime

Its still raining—in spots—all over this country. For the past four or five days a man coming down town in the morning has been undecided whether to gamble on a sun-shade and leave his coat at home, or stagger down under a load of rain-coats and overshoes.

Heavy community rains are reported from the north and east, with dry spots here and there. A little hail, too, usually accompanies the clouds, and some damage is reported in places, although not of a general nature.

Little J. T. Jowell is Dead, After Months of Uncertainty and Pain

One of the saddest deaths that has occurred in Hereford in years was that of little J. T. Jowell, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Jowell, who passed away Tuesday afternoon.

The little fellow was operated on for appendicitis during the winter, but his physical condition was such that he never really recovered, and after lingering for months in the Hereford Sanitarium finally lost the unequal struggle.

Funeral services were held from the Christian Church Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, conducted by Rev. J. M. Asbell and Rev. W. M. Baker.

Little J. T.'s cheerfulness and childish fortitude during his trouble endeared everyone to him, and his untimely passing is a blow to the community. The Brand joins our entire citizenship in sympathy for the grief-stricken parents, brothers and sisters.

Dr. E. C. Routh Of Dallas Will Open A Two Weeks Baptist Revival June 15

Beginning next Sunday, and extending through the Fifth Sunday in June, the local Baptist church will conduct Revival services at their church building.

The services will be directed by the Rev. E. C. Routh of Dallas, Editor of The Baptist Standard, assisted by Rev. J. E. McClurkin of Hereford. A fine singer has been provided, and arrangements are being made to carry through a meeting which will leave its imprint on the life of our community for years to come. Rev. McClurkin has issued the following statement:

"Next Sunday we will begin a meeting at the Baptist church, and we would like to say a few things about a Revival:

"One of the best things that can come to a town is a real Revival of religion. It is very hard in this busy age to live right up to the scratch, and we will get negligent and cold spiritually, so it is very necessary for us to lay aside the cares of life and concentrate our minds on the things of God. Now we can have a real revival if we are willing to pay the price. I want all of God's people to read again the third chapter of Malchias, and there God tells us what to do. I want to see all of God's people revived; and I know in my heart that if we all will do our duty, we will get good out of the meeting.

"I want all the pastors to help in this meeting. Come and feel at home; pray for the meeting, talk to the unsaved, get your people to come, and rest assured they will be helped if all put our hearts in the meeting. God will honor our efforts.

"We have some of the best people in Hereford that ever lived, of all denominations, we have some very fine singers, and we want you to come and help in the singing. Don't stand back and wait for an invitation every service. Brother Routh is a fine revivalist, he was once a pastor, and he knew the burdens of the pastor and if we all will put our shoulders to the wheel we shall have a great meeting, and our people will feel nearer to us when the meeting closes.

"My prayer is that all of God's people will receive a blessing, and many souls may be saved. Every one will receive a welcome.

J. E. McClurkin, Pastor."

Mayor W. M. Knight is taking a vacation of possibly several months, and Mayor Pro Tem Ashbrook will be in charge of the City's affairs during his absence. Mr. Ashbrook, however, is now serving on a Federal Grand Jury at Amarillo, and City Commissioner J. H. Cardwell is sole representative of the City Commission in Hereford. Mr. Cardwell and Miss Annie Price, City Secretary, are holding down the job.

The Brand is in receipt of a letter from Mayor Knight, who left here last Saturday, dated at Dallas, stating he will go to New York, via St. Louis, and will have his address, for the next several weeks at Malden, Mass. Judge Knight has been in ill health for several weeks, and hopes to renew his energies in the salty New England air.

George Suggs' Monkey Has all the Town Pups Taking to High Grass

Little George Suggs is very proud of a black monkey—a regular fellow which arrived several days ago from the tropics, the gift of Jim Lipscomb, now in the United States Navy.

The monk is at first the object of great curiosity from every pup he meets, then is given a wide berth, as the pups are unanimous in their decision that the visitor can take care of himself.

George is the most envied young man of his years in the town of Hereford.

Mesdames D. W. Hawkins, J. A. Stegall, J. B. Hammer and J. B. Jones left Thursday in cars to attend the District Conference that is to be held at Tulsa, Texas.

Still, not a word, publically, about a reception for the boys of the Thirty Sixth Division when they arrive. One thing sure, however, whether there is a general reception or not there will surely be a bunch of private receptions of the real kind, as parents are continually receiving telegrams from the members of the Division, announcing their arrival "over here," and Hereford is full of proud parents anxiously awaiting the home coming.

Davidson and Burns Plan Fine Auto Trip

A splendid vacation trip of about three weeks or a month is being planned for next week by Roscoe Davidson and Geo. E. Burns.

These gentlemen will leave, probably Tuesday, for California, in Mr. Davidson's car, via Denver and Salt Lake City. Mr. Davidson has some property in California which he desires to inspect, and the two will make a flying trip with this object in view, pausing for short stops only, at the most interesting points enroute.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Knoop and Mr. and Mrs. John K. Martin, of Troy, Ohio, arrived in Hereford Thursday to spend a few days looking after the business interests of Mr. Martin.

Mesdames Homer Steen and T. B. Triplet, of Floydada, Texas, who have been visiting their sister Mrs. Roy K. Brunner, returned home Saturday. Mrs. Brunner accompanied them to Amarillo.

Four Hereford boys left here last Monday and enlisted in the United States Navy at the Recruiting office in Amarillo. The four boys are: Hillie Bennett, Walter Taylor, Leroy Richards and Hal Wilson.

Advices received here states that the boys were first sent to El Paso, from there they will go to San Francisco for preliminary training. They all enlisted for three-year periods in the electrical division of the Navy.

GROUND IS NOW BROKEN

Newell, Bakery and Wilson To Occupy Three New Bricks

Ground was broken Thursday by Contractor B. A. Nicks, and his crew, for the three new brick buildings to be erected on the site of the recent fire by R. L. Elliston. With all plans ready the completion of the work is only a matter of a few weeks.

The J. O. Newell Dry Goods Store will occupy the building next to the Betts-Clark Company, the Hereford Bakery the middle building, while the T. K. Wilson Insurance Agency will take the third house on the site of its old office.

All three tenants are planning to put in modern, up-to-the-minute establishments. G. A. Lewis, proprietor of the Hereford Bakery, states that he will have new fixtures throughout and will put in a first class Confectionery and Fountain in connection with his Bakery.

His Soldiers Liked Capt. T. S. Wyche

J. S. Wyche is in receipt of a copy of "The Indian," official paper of the Second Division, A. E. F., published at Newwied-On-The-Rhine, which contains an account of the departure of Captain Tucker S. Wyche for home. The story follows:

All members of Company A, Second Engineers, assembled at 5 p. m., April 28, 1919, at the company mess hall to bid farewell to their company commander, Capt. Tucker S. Wyche, who had been transferred to another outfit going home. An excellent supper was served. The captain, being our guest, dined with us. Sgt. Joe C. Thomas in a fitting speech presented the captain with a handsome diamond ring and a pair of field glasses as a token of our regard and esteem. The captain's reply was received with three ringing cheers.

Captain Wyche, then first lieutenant, was assigned to Company A, December 17, 1917, and has served continuously with this company to date. July 1, 1918, upon the death of our former honored commander, he assumed command, which has been almost continuous, with two exceptions, when he commanded at different times the first and second battalions.

Regrets, mingled with joy, hailed the news of the captain's departure. We all hated to see him go, but concede that meritorious service should be rewarded with an early return to the States, and are therefore glad that the captain received that which was due him. In the seven major operations that this company has participated in, he always led his command with such skill and judgment as to win the admiration and regard of all who knew him. We are proud to have served under such an officer.

—Cpl. Irwin B. Gaard, Co. A, Second Engineers.

Another Decoration Day Tribute Last Sunday

A tribute to the soldier of '61 from the soldier of 1918. Delivered at Decoration Day program June 1st, by Leonard Foster.

A great tourist recently said that along the banks of the historic rivers of the Old World, especially in Egypt and Palestine, there are to be found many thousands of monuments erected by the ancients commemorative of events and as monuments to their heroic dead. "These," he said, "are crumbling and falling away, and in time, like all earthly things will slumber with the dust."

I wish to emphasize this thought: There is a vast difference between that citizenship of the far distant past and the great new citizenship of today; for the former sought to commemorate the lives and activities of its heroes by the erection of monuments of marble and tablets of bronze. Today, while we reverence the memory of our dear dead and appropriately mark their resting places, we are binding our faiths, confidences and esteem in deeds, and we seek to write them upon the tablets of the hearts, and these will last beyond the life of marble monuments and tablets of bronze—these will last beyond the time when the sea and the graves have given up all.

"I wonder if ever a song was sung but the singer's heart grew sweeter;

I wonder if ever a rhyme was rung but the thought surpassed the metre?

I wonder if ever a sculptor wrought

'Til the cold stone echoed his innermost thought?

Or if ever a painter with light and shade

The dream of his innermost soul portrayed?

And on this occasion I am wondering if ever words will be coined to fittingly express the zeal, loyalty and devotion with which we people of the South are fulfilling our obligations to the few survivors of the Lost Cause, and performing our solemn duty to its dead!

There is a three-fold chord which binds our hearts—Love, Honor, Remembrance. The full import of this trinity is emphasized in the beautiful custom of this day. These are the crowning graces of the organization known as "United Daughters of the Confederacy." Every Chapter is dedicated in Love; every surviving veteran is held in honor, and the grave of the dead is decorated in remembrance of his good deeds.

In no lexicon is any word more expressive than Love; of the graces of the human heart none are nobler than honor; of the attributes of the mind none surpass remembrance.

Love, as it is taught in the Chapters of the Daughters of the Confederacy, has two elements: Sincerity and tenderness, and without them it is a mockery. To be sincere with others, we must first be sincere with ourselves. Without this, love is robbed of its truth and becomes a travesty. Love makes one tender in word and deed, and is beautifully illustrated in many legends which comes down from the battlefields of the dark days of '61-'65, and emphasized by many deeds of the heroic women of the South whose work and privation and prayers sustained father, son and brother as they fought to maintain a cause for which they willingly offered their all.

As love is practiced, the weakness of our natures become better known and we appeal to another element of the three-fold-card-honor. We are taught to honor every worthy Confederate Veteran, and to protect to the uttermost every dependent one. So by love we are guided, and the honor we have pledged will make clear the paths which lead them through the declining years of life, that the journey may be as "The gladness and light of a dawn That effaces the stars from the sky."

And as we lead them in this journey—

"We should be true, for there are those who trust us;

We should be pure, for there are those who care;

We should be strong, for there is much to suffer;

We should be brave, for there is much to dare."

As we place wreaths and garlands of flowers today upon the graves of the Veterans who silently slumber in our little cemetery, the ceremony is but an object lesson that teaches the citizen the depth of the veneration we have for the memory of those who have passed into the Great Beyond.

It is not alone by the decoration of the graves of the heroes of the past, that the Chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy is fulfilling its mission. Its grandest mission is the erection of a spiritual column, more lasting than marble, loftier than any pyramid, more sublime than any cathedral—a monument upon the pages of history and in the hearts of generations yet to come, and whose glory shall attract the attention of all until the mists of time shall have vanished into the radiant glory and splendor of a grander, brighter day.

Every one who love the South, and reverences the valor of its soldiers who fought and died, is standing sentinel around this invisible shaft and illuminating its column by the reverence we have for the memory of those whose graves we decorate today.

Let not passing years find us recreant to our duty, nor let our love wane for the memory of those who are dead. Let us inscribe their virtues upon the tablets of our hearts and interweave their good deeds with the history of the future as it is interwoven with the history of the past. Let's impress upon future generations our fidelity and devotion, and thus glorify that invisible shaft we are rearing aloft day by day, and through our requiems for the dead sing the hope of the coming ages.

In this presence there are to be seen several of those who went forth to battle in 1861. They are older now by almost three score years, and they are growing feeble. They are living their commonplace lives surrounded by their children and grandchildren, and these listen with something akin to incredulity to stories of a time that seems so remote and so different. They seem to themselves, sometimes, to be talking about other people when they describe the incidents of their own past. They have long since, seemingly, forgotten, if indeed they have ever suspected, that they once showed any elements that were heroic. But the world has learned that beneath the tattered coat of every veteran who had struggled through four long years of war, and wearily wended his way homeward after Appomattox, there beat the heart of a hero.

In all the royal domain of tragedy there has never been presented an example of such devotion and matchless courage as was exhibited by the Veterans of the Southern Confederacy—an example of unselfish patriotism and dauntless bravery. And we should ever honor them, who by their heroic service placed upon the brow of our fair Southland, a crown of fadeless fame, a laurel wreath of immortal glory.

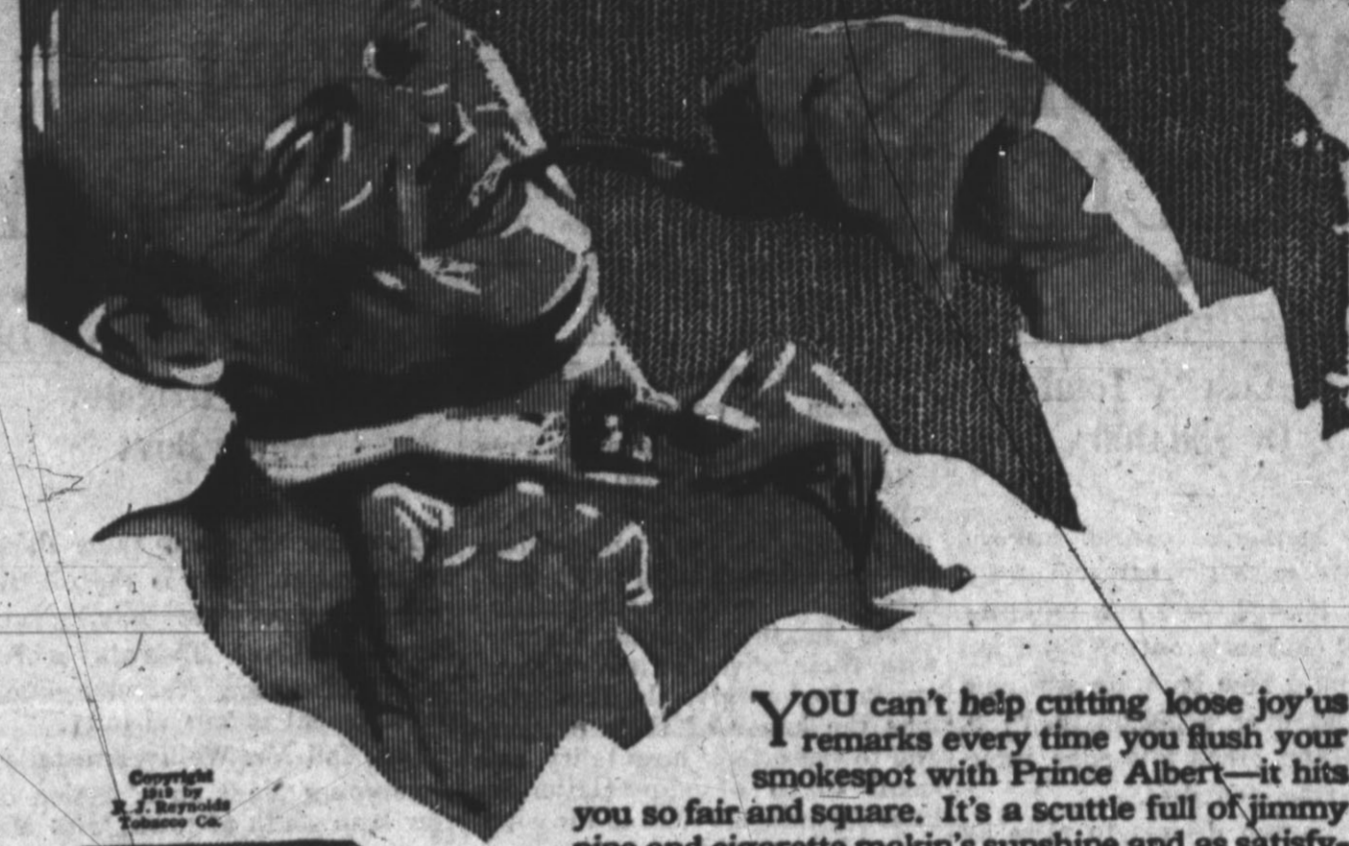

Let us keep their memories sacred. Let us wear them as amulets over our hearts, and as their deeds of matchless glory hang like rainbows of heavenly promise across the horizon of our future, so let the monuments of our grateful remembrance stand like pillars of pearl in the gateway of our glorious past.

Let no whisper dare to hint that we will ever, so far deteriorate from the lofty ideals of the heroic days of yore, that our ingratitude will cast a pall of darkness over those deeds of heroism which shone so glorious in their acting. The resplendent glory of those deeds we can never hope to excel even at the zenith of our pride and power, yet we can leave them undimmed by the baseness of an ingratitude which might well stir the slumbers of the dead, and call down curses upon our unworthy heads from the mighty silence at the tomb.

Thus would a soldier of 1918, who passed through the maelstrom of shot and shrapnel, gas and shell in the greatest war the world has ever known, tender a tribute to Fewer Grasshoppers This Year.

This seems to be an off year for grasshoppers, according to entomologists of the United States Department of Agriculture, who recently made a survey of the grasshopper situation in a number of counties in southwestern Iowa that were badly infested last year. According to the report only a few counties in that section are likely to suffer this season. A comparatively small number of eggs were deposited last fall, probably due to parasitic insects having killed most of the hoppers before that time. Except in the counties mentioned, fully 85 per cent of the eggs that were deposited have since been destroyed by insects.

that feed on them.—The success of the use of poisoned bait was also noticed by the entomologists. Very few eggs could be found on the farms where poisoned bran was used last summer, but on other farms near by the eggs were unusually abundant. This difference was so great as to be noticed even in adjacent fields.

More Meat Animals on Farms.

Last November the Secretary of Agriculture addressed a statement to the farmers of the Nation, in which he said: "The world will have need particularly of a greater supply than normal of live stock, especially of fats. We should not fail, therefore, to adopt every feasible means of economically increasing our live-stock products." How the farmers are responding to this counsel is shown by a recent report of the Bureau of Crop Estimates, which is based upon reports from about 10,000 reporters. The farm supply of swine, says the report, increased about 18.5 per cent, or about 11,892,000 head, during March, as compared with an increase of about 7.6 per cent, or 4,798,000 head, during March of last year. The supply of cattle increased about 2.8 per cent during March this year and a year ago, but from the standpoint of numbers the increase in March of this year was 1,959,000 head, as compared with 1,846,000 head for the month a year ago. The sheep supply appears to have increased 11.9 per cent, or 6,394,000 head, in March, as compared with an increase of 7.5 per cent, or 3,696,000 head, in March of last year. From January 1 to April 1 the apparent increase of sheep was 20.5 per cent, or 10,204,000 head, as compared with an increase of 9 per cent, or 4,367,000 head, in the first three months of 1918.

Dear Mother:
You have asked me several times what I have done over here, well here goes, as you know the Battery left New Mexico in September and went to North Carolina and in October we went to Camp Mills in New York. In December we went to Camp Merritt, N. J. well on the 24th of December we started over seas on a White Star liner named S. S. Lapland on January 7th. We landed in Liverpool, England, and then we went to Winchester, England, where we were in a rest camp for a few days and we went to South Hampton, England, and crossed the English channel on a stock boat. We landed in La Havre, France, on January 12th and stayed in a rest camp there for two days then we loaded on a French train of box cars, forty men to the car, and started across to Bordeaux in Bordeaux we went to camp DeSouge. There we were transferred from light to heavy motorized artillery, we drew four big guns, 155 centimeters on the French G. P. F. We also drew white 3 ton trucks 25 ton Renault tractors which to draw the guns with. There I was made a truck driver, and we began training for the front. In April we moved from DeSouge to St. Pardon a French town on Lirande river. Then we loaded on the train and thought we were going to the front that was in May. Well we went to Clermont Ferrand there as we were already trained, we had to train two more regiments of G. P. F. and July 7th we went on the front, and in July I was made Wagoner and all the trucks were put in the ammunition train, well all our work was at night, without any light, that was on the Champagne Marne front or offensive, and we were working as we had forty and fifty miles to haul ammunitions over muddy roads and in the dark there were other convoys besides ours both coming and going. On July the 15th we went on the Chateau Thierry drive and the allies were advancing so fast that we had a hard time getting munitions and rations up on time well in August 2 we convoyed from the Chateau Thierry front to the Saint Mihiel front, where we run into rain and mud again as we had fifty miles in which to haul ammunitions up to the guns we hauled gas shells and sharpnet, and high explosives shells every night so when the drive started we had a good start towards having well supplied with shells.

In September we went from the St. Mihiel to the Argonne Meuse drive which started in September. There we struck trouble sure enough besides the mud and rain we found the roads full of shell holes and shells falling pretty fast; we worked along and kept the batteries supplied with ammunition and in Oct. is the first time I ever had a mix up with a shell. I was sitting out side the road close to our gun position with mine, one night and the dutch were dropping a few over now and then, well one hit beside my truck and it has several holes in it from the pieces of the shell, and the next time when I got my hand hurt was in Montigny on the Meuse river on Nov. 8th. We were all loaded with ammunition and went up. The Dutch were putting up what we call barrack bugs and G. I. cans they were big 10 and 12 inch shells. They have a pretty nice sound when you hear them coming through the air, well we were sitting there happy with the world at 3 o'clock in the morning when I heard one coming, it hit about 65 yards from my truck and believe me it made some racket well outside of getting hit on the hand I wasn't hurt but my truck was hit, so all told I now have 19 wounds stripes for my truck and there are trucks over here that wears more wound stripes than mine. Well on November 11th the armistice was signed and on Nov. 13th we left the front the first time since July 7th. We thought we would go back and rest up but there wasn't a chance we went back and repaired our equipment, and on December 2nd, we started to Germany. On the 1st day of January 1919 we crossed the Rhine river here at Bendorf where we are stationed and moved to Alshoch where we were stationed until we moved down here on April the 23rd. Now you know what I did on the front. I wasn't a hero and I won't come home wearing two or three D. S. C.'s and several wound stripes but I will come with the knowledge that I have done my bit in this war. You know I have had two birth days in France. I was in training my eighteenth, and I am still satisfied after my nineteenth just passed, I will also be glad that I went out a volunteer and would go again just as quick for the same reason. I have three service stripes and may have another as the order for us to get ready to sail was cancelled, I can't say how long we will be here, but it will be until after peace is signed at any rate. We all want to go home, but where we are needed that's where we want to be and we are needed here. Those short sighted fellows that wouldn't go have lost a chance to help make the world a safe place to live in for it will be no joke that the A. E. F. will control the ballot when once more they put on "civilians."

Sheep Strong in New England.
Interest in sheep raising in the New England States is as strong this year as it was last year, with special impetus was given the industry as a war emergency, reports a representative of the United States Department of Agriculture who recently visited the sheep-extension specialists of the department in Connecticut, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Maine, and Vermont. In a number of counties arrangements are being made to pool the wool and market it cooperatively. The Sheep Growers' Association of Addison County, Vt., which was formed at the suggestion of the county agent and sheep-extension specialist of the department, agreed in May to pool the wool clip.

Watch Us Grow

Our growing business caused us to add a vulcanizing department and we have bought the business and equipment of the Quick Service Tire Shop and have retained Mr. Rice as foreman of the department.

His work is so favorably known by home folks that no introduction is needed. But to those who have not been in the Hereford country long we wish to say our tire repair equipment is the most complete in the Panhandle country and Mr. Rice's work has proven highly satisfactory; therefore you will receive that same quick service and high class work that has made the Quick Service Tire Shop popular.

As a result a carload of approximately 16,000 pounds of wool will soon be shipped from the county, the first carlot shipment from the community in many years. This shipment will be followed by two others, making a total of approximately 48,000 pounds of wool. Marketing will be handled by a committee of sheep raisers of the association, and arrangements have been made to grade the wool at the shipping point so that each grower will get his individual grade at time of loading. The wool crop from the Government's Morgan Horse

Farm, located in the county, where about 200 sheep are kept for experimental purposes, will be included in the pool and marketed through the association.

More Interest in Raising Sheep.
As a result of high prices of wool and mutton and the value of sheep as weed and waste utilizers western irrigation farmers are keeping more and larger flocks. This is shown by reports to the United States Department of Agriculture. As a rule these farm flocks are of good breeding, many consisting of pure bred animals, their owners making a specialty of selling pure-bred ram lambs to range-country stockman, who do not reserve breeding stock from year to year. Several projects are now operating wool pools, the main function of which is to concentrate the wool in large quantities and develop keener competition among buyers. Combination also favors grading and better classifying of wool and allows a small producer to realize greater profits from sheep-farming operations.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE

The woman suffrage amendment, before it can become effective, must be ratified by the legislatures of 36 states. More succinctly, if 13 of the 48 states refuse to ratify the amendment it is lost. The battle for suffrage therefore Congress having submitted the amendment, is now transferred to the legislatures of the various states, with prospects pointing toward success. It is a bare probability that action on the amendment will come with such rapidity that women will be allowed to vote for President in 1920.

The Texas legislature will meet in special session June 23. Gov. Hobby has expressed the opinion that suffrage will be adopted early in the session.

Suffrage no longer is a dream or a hope. It is here. Texas might as well climb early into the band wagon.

ON THE BORDER.

Villa is active again in Mexico. Carranza has failed to prove the ability of his government to deal effectively with the situation. Gov. Hobby of Texas has appealed to Washington for a larger force of troops to protect the border. The situation, while not immediately serious, is sufficiently bad to stir apprehension. The state of Texas is vitally interested.

Carranza has sent his son-in-law to Washington. Presumably financial assistance will be requested. The answer will be disappointing to the Mexican government. Carranza's generals evidently are impatient and want more graft. A nation which must depend on a dispensation of graft to hold it together cannot endure. The scheme of government under Carranza is all wrong. It would be intolerable in a less war-ridden country.

What is going to be done about it? How long is the United States, the big boy, going to permit Mexico, the small boy, to continue in his mischief? Isn't it about time for the spanking to begin?

WE NEED ONE, TOO.

For several years Canyon has shared a county agent with Potter and Oldham counties. In this time it has been shown the desirability of having a county agent. The work done in the past has been of great value to the farmers of this county and has saved them many dollars. But the territory is entirely too large to be covered by one man. The acreage cultivated in this county has more than doubled and this county now has enough agricultural demonstration work to keep one man busy. One-half of the cost would be paid by the Federal Government leaving one-half to be supplied by the county. The office of County Agricultural Agent should be regarded as important by the commissioners as any of the other county offices—Randal Co. News.

Now it appears that all of the amendments except prohibition have failed for adoption and it is just as well perhaps, that they have. Those poor little legislators that we have been sending down to Austin need not now be frightened into adopting suffrage as their slogan, for they have been fairly shown that a good majority of Texas voters are not ready for female suffrage and the many ills will surely follow its adoption. A real fight is now to be made against this political heresy and there is much room for hope that it will be many years before Texas will submit to this popular fad of feminism, if indeed, it ever does. Brace up, boys, the women of Texas don't care a flip for this unholy doctrine and you need not listen to the big howl sent up by the limited few female agitators and their scared male coadjutors.

—Childress Post.
W-h-e-w! Editor Thomas is surely some brave man to stand behind this kind of editorial, considering the trend of the times.

Another thing we need.

What is all this racket about?
A republican United States Senate kicks bitterly because Wall Street has in its possession something that is alleged to be a copy of the peace treaty. In the good old republican times of long ago, it was Wall Street's prerogative to examine treaties, and proposed legislation as well, before Congress was told what to do.

At last reports the peace treaty with the league of nations covenant was still being bitterly opposed by the German delegates at Paris and the republican leaders in the United States Senate.

Sergt. Alvin York, of Tennessee, famous war hero, married Miss Grace Williams, a home town girl, as soon as he was discharged from the army. Thus he proved his courage is not entirely military.

Nearly ten inches of rain is the record for Hereford and vicinity so far this year. But the bumper crops which are promised will enable our farmers to keep their heads above water.

Our school authorities are engaging teachers for the next year. Here is a thought in that connection worthy of consideration: Next to his mother the most important influence in a child's life is his school teacher.

Stabilizing the Bean Market.

A few weeks ago the California limabean market was a hubbub of local dealers, some was held by independent growers, while another portion was in the control of the Bean Growers' Exchange. The prices were low and eastern buyers were reluctant to purchase because of the unstable market. Recently a combination has been effected so that the dealers, growers, and exchange have centralized in a commercial agency, and already have marketed 200,000 bags of the 1918 crop. As a consequence of stabilizing the bean market by combination, the prospects are that the lima-bean crop of California for 1919 will be about normal, as planting of the crop is largely determined by the manner in which the old crop is merchandized, according to the United States Department of Agriculture. One-third of the 1918 crop has been sold at $7 a bag for a total of $4,200,000.

Who is Best Man To Do Your Work?

The best way to have anything is—do it yourself. The best way to get ahead in the world is—save regularly and invest wisely. Your children may be buying Thrift Stamps but the nickels and dimes and quarters they are able to save won't buy a home or a new automobile or a new cultivator. The money to do that will not be saved—unless you save it.

It's easy enough to save if you do it the W. S. S. way. Quarters planted in Thrift Stamps grow into War Savings Stamps and the interest makes them grow like rain does a summer weed. Save for that happy opportunity. If you're not in a War Savings Society—get in one. Be with the crowd. Save.

Have you bought your Thrift Stamp today?

Farmers Find Easy Method of Saving

Farmers who are making a habit of getting a few Thrift Stamps every time they market anything from their farms are finding that they are able to save regularly and that they do not miss the small amounts invested. The average farmer in this section of the country depends largely on his "money" crop, which he harvests once a year. Almost every one of them, however, grows something else which he markets at odd times.

An occasional load of hay may be taken into town and sold. The thrifty farmer also plants peas, beans, okra, lettuce, beets or some of the other vegetables which thrive in the Southwest and for which there is a ready market. Butter and eggs form staple articles to be marketed between seasons. By buying just a few Thrift Stamps each time the farm-wagon makes a haul to town, the farmer or his wife is providing a fund which they will be able to turn to good account later on, for when these Thrift Stamps are exchanged for War Savings Stamps, they increase in value automatically, and may always be turned into cash on ten days, written notice to the postmaster, although the longer they are kept the more they earn.

Electric Fans

Where would you go on a hot evening—to a moving picture theatre that's close and stuffy, or to one that has plenty of fresh, cool air circulating constantly?

Where would you eat your meals—in a restaurant or cafe that lacks breeze, or one that has enough air moving all the time to keep everybody cool and comfortable?

Where would you trade—in the store that happens to be cool if you find just the right spot, or one that is cool and pleasant all over—the sort of store where a hot spot couldn't be found if you hunted for it?

You'd go to the cool theatre, the cool restaurant, and the cool store, of course. So will your customers.

The surest way to keep your trade these hot days is to look carefully to your customers' comfort. Get enough Fans to bring plenty of fresh air in and keep all the air moving all the time. Then you can begin to talk about your place as the "coolest in town."

Do Earthworms Injure Lawns?

The small boy who is preparing to go fishing has a friendly feeling for earthworms—known to juvenile anglers as "Ashin worms"—but his father, with a particular pride in a well-kept lawn, may regard them as enemies. The father's feeling toward the lowly worm may or may not be well founded. The common impression is that earthworms are injurious to lawns, but the United States Department of Agriculture, through its Bureau of Entomology, says that the damage is probably very light. In fact, it is believed that instead of being injurious these worms are really beneficial in increasing the fertility of the soil by bringing to the surface soil from a lower depth, and in this way keeping up a very slight but continual top dressing.

Under some circumstances it is better that the worms be exterminated, though they are not objectionable on house lawns. When they become numerous on putting greens of golf links their little earthen pellets are a source of annoyance. In such cases it is recommended by the Department entomologists that the soil be drenched with kerosene emulsion. This treatment gives good results against the common white grub, which is also an enemy to lawns. Saturating the soil with a solution of corrosive sublimate is also recommended, but it should be remembered that this preparation is deadly poison, and the greatest care should be used in its preparation and use. Three ounces of this substance should be dissolved in two quarts of water in some glass or glazed vessel which will not absorb the poison. The stock mixture of this preparation is sufficient for 50 gallons of water, or practically the capacity of the ordinary oil barrel. This diluted mixture should be applied to the lawn at the rate of from 1.1.2 to 2 gallons to each square yard, in case the lawn is young or newly established. A stronger application, not to exceed 3 gallons, can be used on older sod.

More Mileage Adjustment on Goodrich Tires

Fabrics - 6,000 Miles
Cords -- 8,000 Miles

To automobile owners and drivers—to Goodrich Dealers—the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company herewith declares a more-mileage adjustment on Goodrich Tires—6,000 miles for SAFETY TREADS, and 8,000 miles for SILVERTOWN CORDS.

Fix these new Goodrich Adjustment figures firmly in your mind—6,000 miles for SAFETY TREADS—8,000 miles for SILVERTOWN CORDS—instead of the 3,500 and 5,000 miles respectively heretofore in force.

This new adjustment stands back of all Goodrich Tires, including Tires already purchased in the hands of user or dealer.

Goodrich Tires in actual usage are today unfolding such matchless mileage, regularly in excess of adjustment basis, that Goodrich knows it has the strongest, most durable tires the rubber industry has produced.

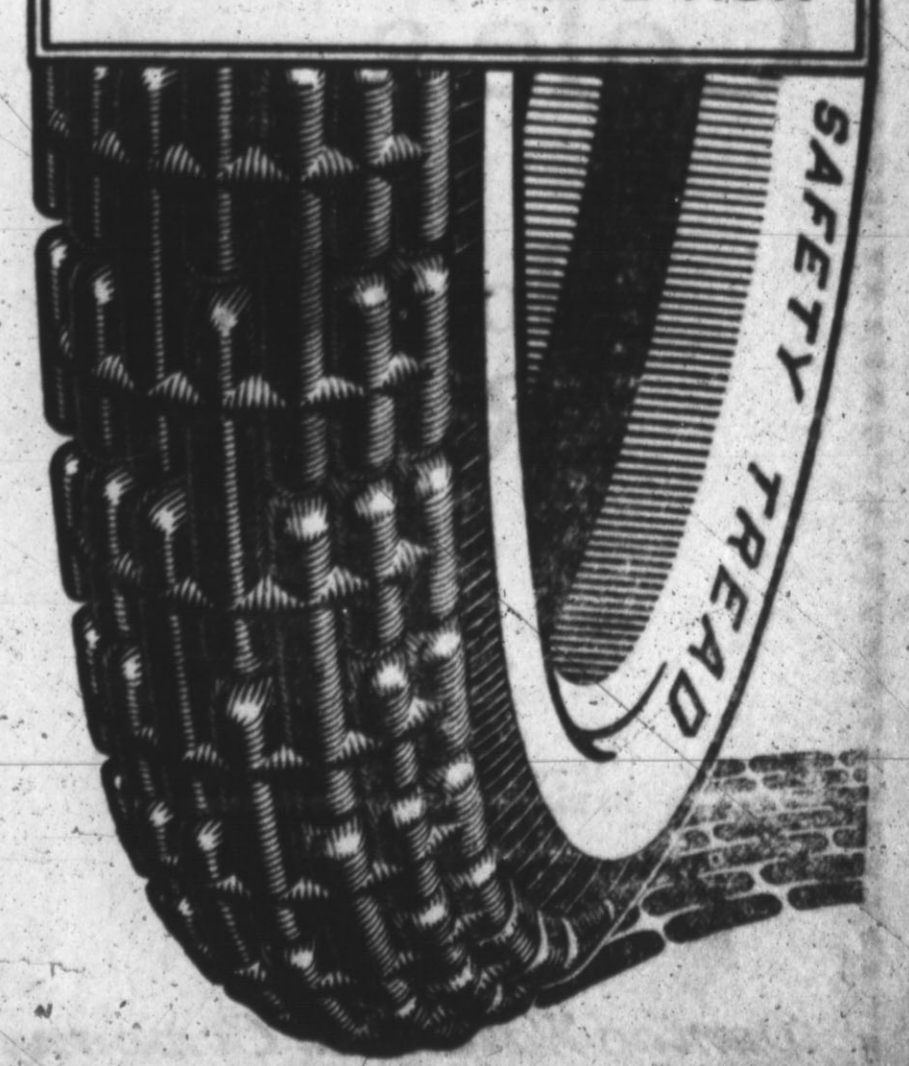

The Goodrich adjustment mileage is increased because Goodrich knows the mileage in its tires, and it wants to give every motorist a share in their economy.

Go to a Goodrich Dealer, and buy a Goodrich Tire, sure that with fair and square usage a Safety Tread will render you at least 6,000 miles; and a Silvertown Cord at least 8,000.

DALHART COUNTRY MISREPRESENTED

Yesterday and the day before there appeared in a great many daily papers over the southwest, and doubtless also in the East and Middle West, an associated press dispatch with an Amarillo date line, saying, in effect, that there was a big blizzard at Dalhart, and four inches of snow on the ground. The correspondent is careful to protect himself with the usual, "it is reported," that there is no way of fixing the responsibility of the altogether false and misleading statement. As a matter of fact, there is no snow at Dalhart, nor has there been any since the big snow in April. The Amarillo correspondent of the Associated Press should know that in this great cattle country, millions of dollars are carried in loans from trust companies and commission companies in the larger cattle markets, and such reports cause uneasiness on their part, and embarrassment to the owner of cattle.

The people of Dalhart have no desire to misrepresent weather conditions, and the Dalhart Texan invariably reports accurately on the weather when there is any unusual change, and it is unfair to this section for a correspondent in another city to seize upon a false rumor without any effort to verify the report, and send misleading statements broadcast over the land. If he will take the pains to long distance the U. S. Department station at this place, and then report the information accurately, the Texan will be glad to pay for the message, rather than have unconfirmed rumors of exaggerated conditions sent out.—Dalhart Texan.

MANY STUDENTS REGISTERING FOR SUMMER NORMAL

Every train coming into Canyon the past week has been crowded with students coming to attend the summer session of the West Texas State Normal College. DALHART WILL PAVE STREETS

At a meeting of the City Council Wednesday night it was ordered that a survey be made of main street from the railroad crossing to Sixth street, and Second street from Main to the Denver depot, with a view to a paving contract. It is thought that the City will be in position to enter into a contract for the paving in a very short time.—Dalhart News.

More Food from Irrigation.

Prospects throughout the western reclamation belt indicate that the food production records of 1917 and 1918 will probably be eclipsed by those of the current season. Prices of essential food-stuffs are high enough to make it attractive and profitable for farmers to produce on a big scale. Reports indicate the labor supply is abundant and good, although demanding high pay. Credits are not cramped, with the consequence that native farmers are not handicapped in their operations. This is why it looks like a boom year for the rubber-boot farmers of the far West.

I was constipated, my liver didn't act. My digestion was bad, and it took so little to upset me. My appetite was gone. I was very weak..."

I decided I would give Black-Draught a thorough trial as I knew it was highly recommended for this trouble. I began taking it. I felt better after a few doses. My appetite improved and I became stronger. My bowels acted naturally and the least trouble was soon righted with a few

The Bayview Club announces that beginning Thursday, June 19, and continuing every Thursday thereafter for a time, they will hold a Story-Telling Hour for the children, each member taking her turn in telling a story. On Friday evening the Burns home was a place of great enjoyment, when the H. E. P. Club entertained a number of friends with a lawn supper. The invitations read "Eight Thirty Sharp." And since all knew just what must be in store for them all were very anxious for the hour to come. The evening was filled to the fullest with games that caused much merriment. After the guests had enjoyed the evening the members of H. E. P. Club enjoyed a slumber party, at the Burns home.

Mrs. C. C. Rockwell gave a party Wednesday for her small son, Cecil Jr. The little friends romped and played on the lawn until Mrs. Rockwell told them that the dining room was waiting for them.

The dining room was beautifully decorated, with roses and pot plants. Each guest was seated then the birthday cake with five small candles was placed upon the table. Of course each had a turn at blowing out the candles but little Cecil had the good luck of blowing out the most candles. The candles having been blown out the cake was cut and brick cream was brought forth.

AMBITION.

I have borrowed your wings, Exultation
To soar to the heights of success;
And dwelt there a brief time, in rapture
All heedless to pain and distress.

I have dropped with a sickening swiftness
To depths of a black defeat,
I have drained your cup, disappointment
And found that the draught was not sweet.

I have waited alone and despondent,
Opportunities call to my soul—
And learned that never through waiting
Has mortal attained his goal.

Yet there's a future before me
The shaping of which is my own,
And the lash of relentless ambition
Is constantly driving me on.

Episode 12—"The Valcano's Prey."
Polly's grandfather, years before, buried a treasure on the gulf of Mexico, and the only key to its location is a chart flag he divided among six mates.
Polly and Dick have one piece and Scarface a second. He kills Polly's father and gets her flag and starts after the treasure. Dick and Polly are joined by other flag holders and they pursue Scarface to the Gulf. He seeks to escape on a schooner. There is a battle and all of Dick's men are hurled into the sea. Polly is left lashed to a mast.

Summer is here and the flies are beginning to come. The mites are getting in the chicken houses.
This will not be the case if you use

You are more ambitious and you get more enjoyment out of everything when your blood is in good condition. Impurities in the blood have a very depressing effect on the system, causing weakness, laziness, nervousness and sickness. GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC restores Energy and Vitality by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. When you feel its strengthening, invigorating effect, see how it brings color to the cheeks and how it improves the appetite, you will then appreciate its true tonic value.

GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC is not a patent medicine, it is simply IRON and QUININE suspended in Syrup. So pleasant even children like it. The blood needs Quinine to Purify it and IRON to Enrich it. These reliable tonic properties never fail to drive out impurities in the blood.

The Strength-Creating Power of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC has made it the favorite tonic in thousands of homes. More than thirty-five years ago, folks would ride a long distance to get GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC when a member of their family had Malaria or needed a body-building, strength-giving tonic. The formula is just the same today, and you can get it from any drug store. 60c per bottle.

Scouts Decorated For Selling W.S.S.

JOYCE COX

Every Boy Scout in the Eleventh Federal War Savings District can wear a Treasury Achievement Button, an Ace Medal and have bronze, silver and gold palms on his medal ribbon, if he will do as much as Joyce Cox, a Boy Scout of Cameron, Texas. Joyce had sold almost $6,000 worth of War Savings Stamps up to May 1, 1919.

The Achievement Button represents sales of War Savings Stamps to twenty-five individuals. The Ace Medal represents total W. S. S. sales of $250. A bronze palm represents an additional $100, a silver palm an additional $1,000 and a gold palm an additional $5,000 in War Savings Stamps sold.

"I'd like to see every Boy Scout in the District wearing gold palms on his medal ribbon by the end of the year," said Frank M. Smith, Federal District Director of the War Loan Organization. "What one boy has done others can do. One of the best War Savings Societies in the District is in the Boy Scout Troop at Tallulah, La. There ought to be a Savings Society in every troop."

Have you bought your Thrift Stamp today?

Fraternal Orders Strong For Saving

Fraternal orders should take an active interest in the 1919 Savings Campaign in the opinion of Pat M. Neff of Waco, Grand Chancellor of the Texas Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias. Another enthusiast over the Savings Campaign is J. W. Chancellor of Bowie, Grand Master of the Texas Grand Lodge, Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

"In the Savings Campaign," Mr. Neff said recently, "the Government has placed the stamp of its approval on the fraternal idea. War Savings Societies are not lodges, strictly speaking, but they are next thing to it. Many of the most successful Savings Societies are in the lodges and the Knights of Pythias are doing their share."

Texas, Odd Fellows had a number of strong War Savings Societies last year," Mr. Chancellor said, "and most of them made excellent records. Wherever possible, it would be a fine idea for the members of the lodge to form themselves into a Savings Society again this year, if they have not already done so."

Numerous lodges of various orders over the Eleventh Federal District not only have Savings Societies but are securing ginking funds by investing in War Savings Stamps as a lodge. The members of these lodges are also buying W. S. S. individually. Has your lodge been organized?

W.S.S.

THE STATE HEALTH DEPARTMENT

By Dr. C. W. Goddard, State Health Officer.

The State Health Department recently organized three new Bureaus:

The Bureau of Child Hygiene
The Bureau of Communicable Diseases

The Bureau of Public Health Education

These three Bureaus together with those previously established cover the entire field of Public Health. It is our purpose to begin with the prenatal child and by the combined influences of literature, mailed direct to the mothers, the help of competent doctors and public health nurses as field lecturers, through the cooperation of all doctors, and all other influences which can be brought to bear to guard and protect the child until it is born, at the same time to instruct the mother in the care of the new born, calling special attention to the care of the eyes and the use of prophylactic treatment of same to prevent blindness or impaired vision. This system will be continued through the above outlined coordinated plan from year to year until the child reaches the school age of seven, when we hope to deliver to the school teacher a physically and mentally strong child.

Then in the application of all our work having to do with the health of children during the school age, we will invite the cooperation of the Educational Department of the State including all the teachers, and the health work will be continued under the above outlined cooperation up to the industrial age of 14, when we will invite the cooperation of the Labor Department of the State and all labor organizations. This system of health campaign will be combined through the cooperation of the State Health Department, the doctors, the parents, the Educational Departments of the State, the Labor Departments of the State and all other organizations that will volunteer to coordinate their influences with us.

This will furnish a complete chain and will facilitate economy in the administration of public health work and at the same time avoid duplication of effort. Applying this organized system to the old adage; "in union there is strength," we trust that Texas will soon have the best Health Department in the United States when the following needs are supplied:

FIRST: We believe that we have the good will of the Medical Profession; but we need more than this, we need each and every doctor in Texas to not only cooperate with us, but to realize that the World War from which we are just now emerging has shown us the great necessity, for a more thorough health campaign, and that upon our profession rests the responsibility. Therefore, we urge that every one of you regard the State Health Department as your humble servant and you may rest assured that this Department is trying to serve you and all the people, and at the same time hopes to fully realize that every one of you are enthusiastic in public health work and that you are friends of the Health Department.

SECOND: We need to enlarge the work in each of the several Departments. In the Laboratory Department, the function of which is to assist in questions of public health, such as epidemics of all infectious diseases, water pollutions etc.; to furnish laboratory aid to those indigent patients who are needful of it; to assist in establishing positive diagnosis, tracing the probable sources of infections; to inspect all suspected water, milk and food; to render aid in epidemics of any kind which may become a menace to public health; to make all manner of examinations, such as sputum, feces, blood, urine etc., which will be made free of charge to the indigent patients at the request of their physician. It is not our policy to interfere or compete with private laboratories in our work, and we advise that all patients who are able to pay laboratory fees, to have their work done at such private institutions. It is our desire to materially enlarge our laboratory Department in the near future. We desire to establish a larger central laboratory which will meet the immediate demands being made upon the department. We hope in the future to be able to manufacture Vaccine sera and antitoxin for free distribution to the indigent and to establish branch laboratories in several sections of the State.

In the Communicable Disease Bureau we need to put on an effective campaign in all communicable diseases similar to that of the venereal Disease Bureau including the free distribution by the Texas Health Department of Prophylactic Treatment for the eyes of the New Born. I am pleased to say that while in Washington a short time ago I was apprised by the United States Public Health Service that the reports of the Venereal Disease Bureau of the Texas Health Department was more than 50 per cent of any other state, Michigan being next.

In connection with this Bureau I desire to call especial attention to the necessity of reporting promptly to the State Health Department all reportable cases coming to your attention. These reports are of vital interest for several reasons. They are statutory requirements. They put the Health Department on notice as to prevalence and location of disease which enables us to more effectively render aid where needed in the control of same, and are valuable as statistics.

Just here permit me to call your attention also to the importance of reporting all births and deaths. We know that the busy doctor often neglects many things which can be put off to give his time and attention to his patients who are exacting and demand all of his time. However, we insist that you make all reports as early as you can. Will say, further, that in the near future we will begin sending literature to the mothers of the new born upon receipt of the birth certificate, and the mother who fails to receive the literature is going to ask questions of her neighbors who does receive it.

Some Facts About Prohibition History

Discontinuance of the liquor business in the United States, set for July 1, will mark the decision in America of one of the world's oldest and most bitterly contested issues.

Use of alcoholic beverages probably antedates all recorded history. And although the first temperance society was not organized until in 1789, advocacy of abstinence is the little less ancient than use of intoxicants.

Mohammed was among the original advocates of prohibition.

Use of distilled liquors did not become prevalent in Europe until toward the close of the seventeenth century.

Inception of the temperate movement came 100 years later but its development during nearly two centuries were very slow.

Liquors used in ancient times were fermented beverages.

Discovery of the process of distillation is attributed to the Chinese, who imparted the knowledge to the Arabs. Spaniards got the secret—for it was kept a secret for a time—from the Moors and in turn gave it to other European countries. Use of distilled liquors in the old world became general and drunkenness common.

Hard drinking in England came to be regarded as a grave national danger. In 1735 a London grand jury held the traffic responsible for a great crime wave, and regulations of the liquor business by law was instituted. Similar experiments were in the mean time being made in America.

The battle in the country against use and abuse of liquor began in a mild way as a protest in pulpits against drunkenness. A new England society went so far as to bind its members not to get drunk except on the Fourth of July and general training days.

Advocates of moderation gave way to those who left that only total abstinence was the remedy. Then the battle began.

East Hampton, L. I. 1651, forbade the sale of more than two drams of distilled liquor for immediate drinking.

The constitution of Virginia, 1676, prohibited the sales of wines and ardent spirits except in Jamestown.

In 1760, Quakers abolished the habit of drinking at funerals.

The first Congress of 1777 recommended that laws be passed stopping the distilling of grain.

Churches took a definite stand against the use of intoxicants.

In 1789 the first temperance society was organized by 200 Connecticut farmers.

The first recorded demand for prohibition was made by John Chambers, of Nassau, N. H., in 1795. It attracted little attention.

In 1827 it was announced that 200 temperance societies had been formed in 16 states and that 30,000 men pledged abstinence.

In 1833 it was estimated that 5,000 temperance societies had 1,250,000 members.

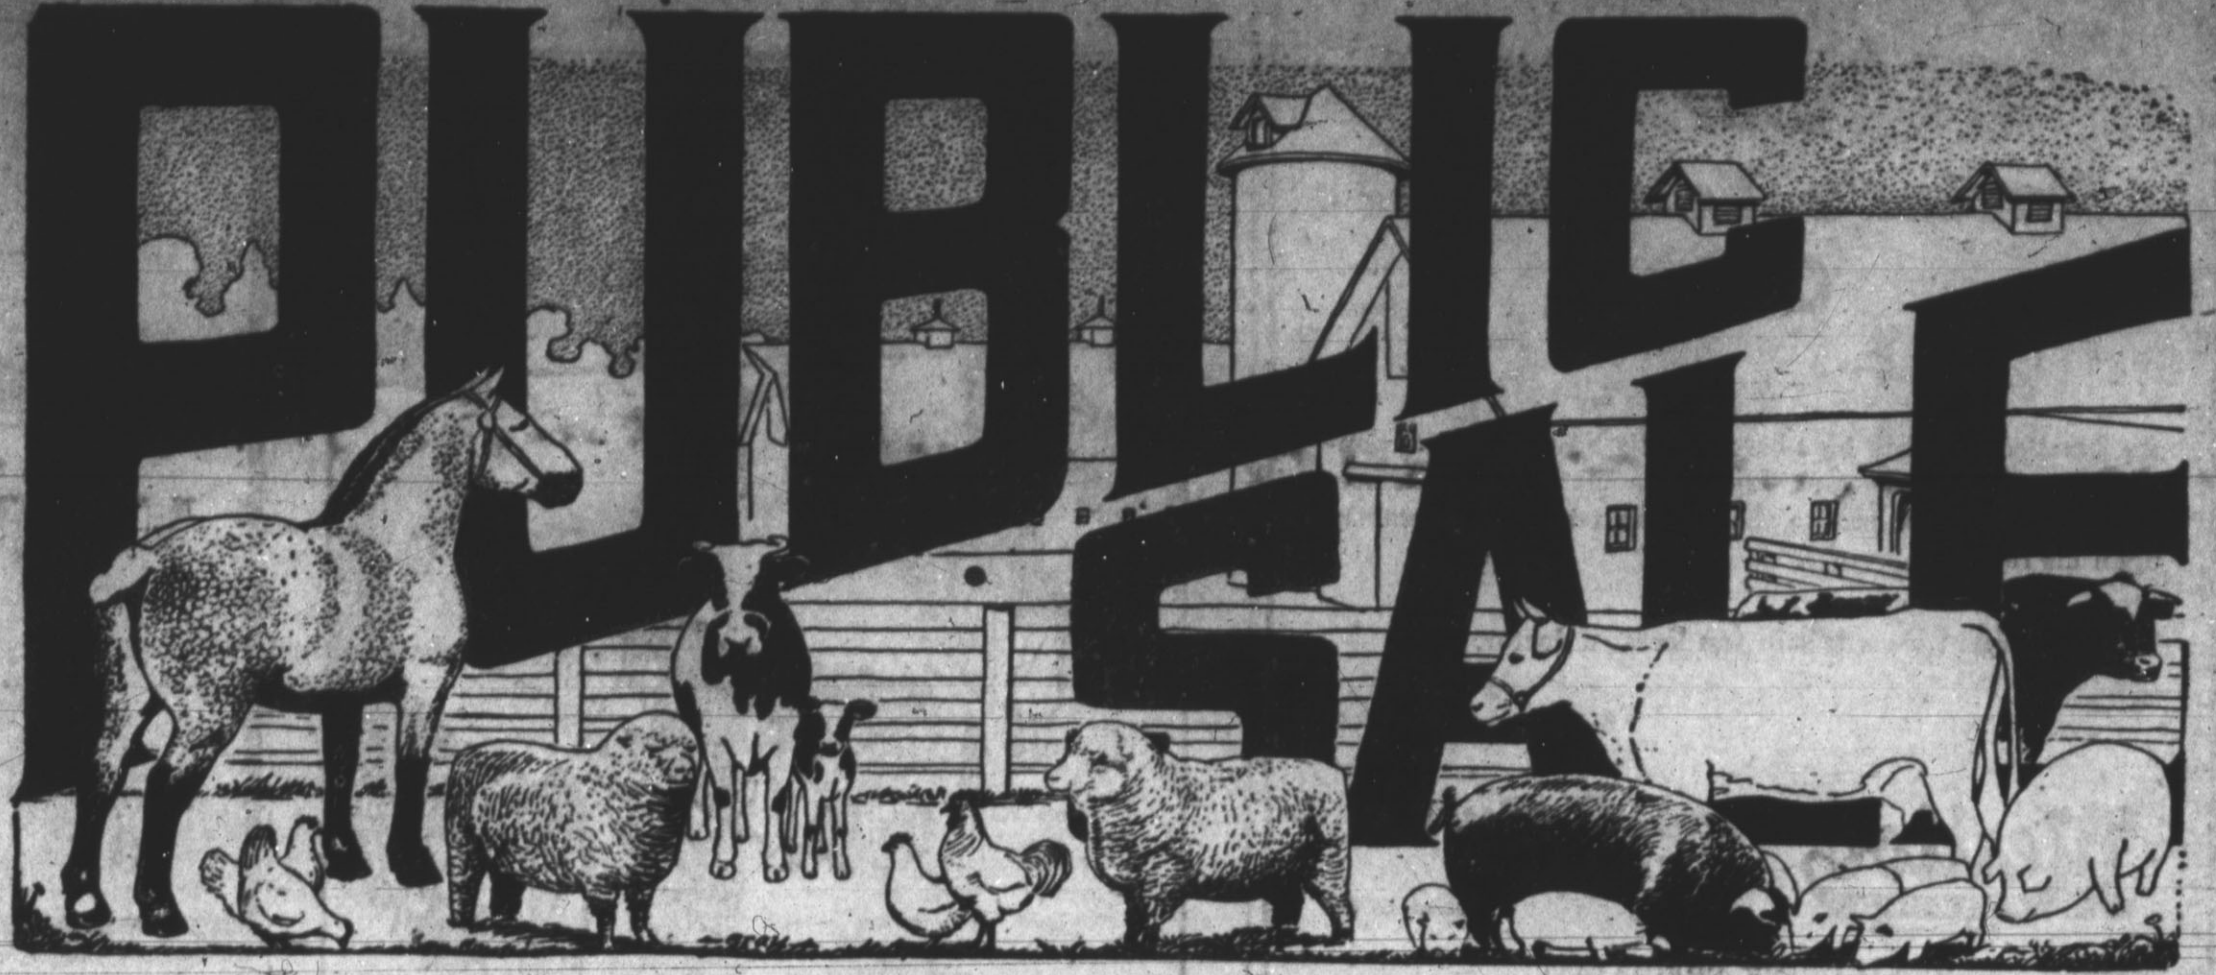

State legislatures commenced to pass laws in an effort to limit the traffic. The Illinois legislature enacted a "local option" law.

The first large temperance society was founded in Washington in 1840. Many others soon sprang into being.

Next a "sign-the-pledge" wave swept the country. This movement was given its impetus by churches in America and Great Britain.

By this time the liquor question had become a great national issue in politics. Maine took a revolutionary step when it adopted state-wide prohibition in 1846. Other states swung into line.

But 72 years elapsed from the time the first state voted liquor outside its borders before national prohibition was ratified by 35

Farmers' Exchanges Successful.

County farm bureaus in New Hampshire are conducting exchanges with excellent results. One hundred and twenty-five farmers attended a meeting to organize an exchange in Belknap County and in 15 minutes raised $2,300 of the $3,000 capital needed. The members of the Grafton County bureau will purchase 50 tons of limestone this spring through their exchange. Hillsboro farmers have polled orders for fertilizers and have placed them with dealers. Merrimack County farmers in four weeks unloaded 5 cars of grain and 300 tons of lime. The February business of the exchange in Rockingham County amounted to $8,800. Stratford County farmers have formed a cooperative grain company and purchased a mill. The capital stock is $15,000 in shares at $25 each. In all 40 tons of fertilizers and 90 tons of limestone have been ordered.

Buy Feeder Hogs in South.

Members of the county farm bureau in Montgomery County, Ind., with the assistance of the county agent, corresponded with county agents in Alabama and Tennessee and have been able to locate feeder hogs. The county agent in Russellville, Ala. advertised a scale of prices that would be paid by a feeder from Montgomery County, Ind., on a certain day, and 254 head were secured as a result. The county agent in Alabama expects to have hogs for sale every week.

Pushing Own-a-Cow Campaign.

Bankers are cooperating with the agricultural agent in Jefferson Davis Parish, La., in an "own-a-cow" campaign. The bankers are financing the farmers, and the agent is preaching the gospel of better live stock. In the fall of 1918 he bought five carloads, 160 head, including 5 registered bulls, of pure-bred Holsteins from Wisconsin. These dairy animals were widely distributed among the farmers, one or two head going to each owner. So pleased have been the owners of these pure-breds that the agent is already taking orders from others. It is probable that several additional carloads of such cattle will be purchased next fall, the agent reports.

together with about 200 pure-bred calves for members of the boys' calf club. The bankers and the school board will back the proposition to help the boys get a start in cattle raising.

Mr. and Mrs. Messenger also received a telegram Sunday stating that their son, George, had arrived safely in New York from France. The many friends of the boys hope soon to see them again in Friona.

Owing to the cool weather and the unusual amount of moisture, much of the grain that has been planted here has failed to germinate and farmers are having to do a great deal of replanting.

Wheat and oats are in a thriving condition and promise one of the largest crops ever grown in this country.

Mr. Massie says when he looks at his row crops and the weeds it gives him the "blues" so bad he don't know what to do, but when he looks at his wheat and oats he feels so good he forgets all about the "blues."

The "Children's Day" exercises at the Congregational church Sunday night was well attended and a good program was rendered.

Misses Lucy Goodwine and Catherin Stevins departed last Thursday for Canyon where they will attend school during the summer.

J. C. Winn arrived home Sunday morning and will spend a part of the week repairing his windmill and tower, which was wrecked by the wind during the blizzard of April 8.

R. H. Kinsley made a trip to Amarillo Saturday in the interest of his machinery business. He expects a new threshing machine landed here in the near future.

A. M. Lang arrived here last week to take charge of the lumber yard to relieve Mr. Corhm, who has resigned to go into business for himself.

W. E. Goodwine who has been confined to his home for the past few weeks with a broken leg is gradually recovering.

Several of the ladies and girls of Friona have joined the school for trained nurses conducted at the expense of the County Chapter of the Red Cross.

V. C. Parker completed his work

Savings Campaign Is Boon To Women

The average family in Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and New Mexico is not wealthy enough for the "lady of the house" to have all the little conveniences she wants. Through Thrift and War Savings Stamps, however, the Government has provided a way for the housewife to fit up her kitchen, paint the house, furnish her spare room or embellish the parlor.

Those women who were so wise as to begin saving systematically early in 1918 have nice little sums invested in War Savings Stamps by this time. Eleven War Savings Stamps, some of which cost as little as $4.12 apiece, will buy a first class kitchen cabinet. In many instances, the housewife would not have saved anything to speak of, had it not been for the War Savings Stamps.

Some of the banner Savings Societies in the Eleventh District are in women's clubs or church societies. Women are quick to grasp the benefits from habits of Thrift. Numerous reports have been received at District Headquarters of the Savings Division at Dallas of women who have started in by putting quarters in Thrift Stamps and who have been enabled to buy desired articles to brighten up their homes. As soon as a War Savings Stamp is bought, it begins earning more money. War Savings Stamps are ready money. They are redeemable with accrued interest at the post-office on ten days' notice, but the longer they are held, the more money they make for their holders.

Have you bought your Thrift Stamp today?

The First Thousand Is Hard To Get

When a man gets $1,000.00 saved up there are always opportunities for a good investment. It is hard to place much less than that. That is why wealthy men who are self-made advise young men to begin early and save the first thousand.

Until we went to war, it was hard to get started toward that $1,000.00 unless at least one dollar could be put away at a time. Small change was restless and acrobatic and kept jumping out of our pockets into somebody else's.

Now, however, there is an easy way to get that first thousand. The answer is Thrift Stamps. They cost only a quarter apiece and can be converted into War Savings Stamps. The Government of the United States backs these War Savings Stamps with a guarantee of 4 per cent interest, compounded quarterly. Save and Succeed.

Have you bought your Thrift Stamp today?

Can there be any stronger proof offered than the evidence of Hereford residents? After you have read the following, quietly answer the question.

H. R. Patterson, salesman, Hereford, says: "About three years ago my back and kidneys caused me trouble. My back was in bad shape and ached almost all the time. When I stooped over a sharp catching pain would dart through my back and shoulders. Mornings when I first got up my back was lame, sore and stiff and I could hardly straighten. My kidneys also acted too frequently especially at night. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and bought two boxes. Before I had used them long I was greatly relieved and three boxes of this remedy entirely cured me of kidney trouble."

CHURCH NOTES

First Christian Church.

The people of Hereford who are not connected with some of our sister churches have a warm welcome to worship with us next Sunday. Bible school at 9:45 and preaching at 10:45. The theme for the morning service is "The Energy of Faith." In the evening the children of the Sunday school will have their children's day exercises, after that we will have no more evening services until the Baptist Brethern are through with their revival services. Brother "Mac" tells he has secured a good preacher and leader of song, and invites us to enjoy these church men with his church family.

Our meeting begins August 12th and will continue for about three weeks. Mr. Graham Frank, of Dallas, Texas, is our preacher, and he is some preacher too. S. W. Hutson and wife are to be in charge of the music. We have none better among our people. We are expecting a great meeting and ask the cooperation of the citizens of

Methodist Missionary Society

On June 4th, 1919 the Methodist Missionary society met at the annex of the church for the June social meeting, with Mesdames Harrison and Spratt as hostesses. There was a splendid attendance and after singing some special songs Mrs. D. W. Hawkins took charge of the meeting. Minutes of last meeting were read and approved. Then reports of the officers were given. The reports were all fine and encouraging. After they had been given, plans were discussed for our summer work in all departments of the church. Mrs. Stegall gave a good paper on "What is Intercession?" Then Mrs. Geo. Caylor sang most beautifully for us, "Jesus Cares." Mrs. Walter Dunlap then had an Oral Floral contest after which the hostesses served delicious refreshments of ice cream and cake with tiny pink rose buds as favors. The next meeting will be the report of the delegates who attended the District meeting held at Tulsa, Texas, on June 12th, 1919. All members are urged to be present to hear these reports.

Report of Circle Number Three

Circle number three met at the hospitable and artistic home of Mrs. R. N. Mounts last Wednesday.

After two matchless songs: "Love Lifted Me" and "I'll be One," accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Powelson. Bro. McClurkin made a most earnest prayer for those present and those absent, and all lines of work, also for the meeting that is soon to begin. Mrs. Bourne led the devotional by reading the 46th chapter of Ezekiel, followed by helpful and appropriate comments by the members.

The lesson was taught by Mrs. Carl Gilliland, our president. She had prepared her lesson so well, that her answer book was unnecessary. Brother McClurkin was called upon frequently to explain difficult passages, which he did in a very edifying and satisfactory way. We were glad to have with us again, Miss Miller, Mrs. Bradley, Mrs. Pitman and Mrs. Powelson.

Mrs. Mounts called the roll, responded to by scripture verses, and read the minutes written by Mrs. J. M. Gilliland at Mrs. Orr's. She also made a list of the visits and Red Cross work.

Mrs. Gilliland held a short business session. Mrs. Dr. Hicks paid over the extra funds on hand that had been paid to her.

Salvation Army activities and to talk to the soldiers.

Beginning in the Toul sector, Chaplain Jones toured every part of France and Germany where American soldiers were stationed. American commanders aided him in every way, so enabling him to cover one hundred miles a day. In eight days in La Mons section he spoke to more than 100,000 men making 4,787 converts. He conducted meetings everywhere stopping his car by the roadside to speak to small groups and presiding at large gatherings. He spoke from five to eleven times a day and his audiences numbered from 300 to 5,000 men.

When in Paris, Chaplain Jones received word that his son had died in battle. He sought authentication of the report through government channels without success. Hoping against hope, he continued his speaking and one day met accidentally one of his son's comrades who informed him that the report was untrue. The boy had gone into Germany with the Army of Occupation. While in Germany Chaplain Jones found his son, promoted to a serjeancy, working in the 23rd regimental headquarters.

Chaplain Jones declared that Salvation Army work overseas is being continued on a large scale. The military authorities recently turned over to the Army 25 aeroplane hangers which are being used as meeting halls and recreation centers with seating capacity for 5,000 soldiers, hangers being placed end to end, two at each camp.

Watching for Army Worm.

The army worm has invaded central Texas and is leaving the trail of its march in destroyed wheat and oats. Weather conditions favor its spread to many States east of the Rocky Mountains. But in its progress the insect army will be subject to the observations of another army—farmers throughout the threatened regions who have been warned by the United States Department of Agriculture to be on their guard and to be ready to burn over infested areas or spray them with a solution of arsenate of lead (powder, 2 pounds to 50 gallons of water. Furrows plowed around infested fields or in the path of the advancing worms also are effective in reducing damage. The worms fall into the furrows and are killed by logs dragged through.

Swat Roosters and Save Millions.

Roosters not needed as breeders should be put in the same class as flies when it comes to swatting. It is estimated by the United States Department of Agriculture that $15,000,000 worth of eggs spoil yearly simply because they are fertile. Fertile eggs, when subjected to high summer temperature, begin to hatch as when placed in an incubator or under a hen, and even though the process continues but a short time the egg becomes unfit for food. This spoilage of eggs can be entirely prevented by swatting or disposing of the rooster after the breeding season is over. The campaign for the production of infertile eggs has been waged several years by United States Department of Agriculture poultry specialists, and is being taken up with renewed vigor in States where summer temperatures are highest and losses are greatest. Weeks have been designated "Swat the Rooster" for sale of surplus male birds. Enormous quantities of roosters, not needed and being fed needlessly, have been marketed during such weeks. It is much more generally understood that hens will lay just as well without a male in the flock.

Booklets to Show Dairy Trend.

A series of four booklets, showing where the United States stands in the dairy business in relation to other countries, is to be published by the United States Department of Agriculture through the Dairy Division. While based on statistics back to 1850, the booklets will not contain tables of figures, but will give information in graphic charts with explanations showing the trend of the various branches of the dairy industry. The first booklet deals with dairy live stock, the second with the butter industry, and the fourth with other dairy products, such as market milk, ice cream, and condensed milk. The bulletins also show the development and trend of the industry in the United States and other countries.

Sheep Sheared in Contests.

Salvation Army Secures Famous Preacher Recruit

Impelled through letters from the trenches by his soldier son to go overseas as a Salvation Army chaplain, Rev. Harry W. Jones, A. M., D. D., well-known lecturer, former Navy chaplain and New York State chaplain of the B. P. O. Elks, announced on his return from France that he had been so impressed by the magnitude and value of Salvation Army work as exemplified on the battle-front that he had decided to renounce his future personal interests, including offers of lucrative engagements on the lecture platform, and become permanently affiliated with the Salvation Army. Moreover, Chaplain Jones, said, he intended urging his daughter, Ruth, now studying in Chicago to become a concert singer to enlist in the Salvation Army and devote her talents to furthering the endeavors of the organization.

Chaplain Jones is in Chicago where he will begin work in conjunction with the Elks in the campaign which the Salvation Army will conduct throughout the United States for its Home Service work.

While abroad Chaplain Jones spoke to more than 500,000 men of the American Expeditionary Force in almost every camp in France and Germany. He has brought back with him upward of 60,000 pledges signed by soldiers who declared themselves converted after meetings at which he spoke.

Early in 1918, Chaplain Jones received a letter from his son, Corporal C. Harry Jones, of the Twenty-third Infantry, who had been in France since the previous September. "Dad, you don't know what war is," wrote the son to his father, who, as chaplain of U. S. S. Texas, had been in eleven engagements in the Spanish-American War and had officiated under fire at the burial of the first Americans to die in Cuba. "You don't know what it means to come out of the muck, mire and darkness of the trenches, weary in body and shaken in spirit and hear a sweet womanly voice say, 'Here sonny, drink this; it will do you good. Then, in the darkness you see a Salvation Army lassie smiling at you holding out a cup of coffee, and you forget all about what you've just been through and only remember that there is somebody there who wants to comfort you. You have no idea of the good work these women are doing here, and, if there is a single thing you can do for them at home, I want you to do it for me.'

Chaplain Jones, who, up to that time, had known nothing of the war work of the Salvation Army, investigated and found that war correspondents and soldiers were giving the same testimony as his son. He offered his services to Commander Booth, and was instrumental in interesting the Elks actively in the Salvation Army's campaign for funds to support its war work. He also worked actively for the Salvation Army in the United War Work Campaign last fall. When that drive was finished he was sent abroad to observe

"The Hoosier will help me to stay young"

Retain your youthful energy and girlish appearance, is the wedding-day advice of thousands of Mothers. As they look back over the years, they realize that woman's charms soon fade and her health often gives way when drudgery methods rule her days.

But in Hoosier homes, daughters know the miles of needless steps and hours of wasted time that this scientific kitchen helper saves. They honor it for the service it has rendered the "little Mother" who has been able to give more freely her time to a happy comradeship with her children.

The bride from a Hoosier home will have a Hoosier. It will be numbered among thoughtful wedding gifts or be first on her list of household needs. Other brides should know the Hoosier means. And millions of tired Mothers should also learn how the Hoosier reduces kitchen work and frees them from burdensome labor.
