Hereford City's Present Population Is Only 1,696

HOTEL MAY BE BUILT VERY SOON

An opportunity to secure that much desired modern hotel for Hereford has again bobbed up, and the Chamber of Commerce is working vigorously on it right now.

L. S. Lahn, former proprietor of the Cordova Hotel, was in the city last week and announced that he had sold the Tourist Inn at Amarillo, effective October 1, and would be interested in coming back here and building a real hotel, provided the citizens of the community would chip in and help him. At the luncheon Monday J. D. Thompson made a proposition for the use of his lots back of the Ford Garage that is most liberal. The old hotel committee, consisting of Geo. L. Muse, D. L. McDonald, L. F. Borden, Homer Wilkinson, and T. K. Wilson, were reappointed to at once go into the matter and see what could be done about it. They are now at work on the proposition.

This lead is pronounced by those who ought to know as the best Hereford has yet found toward a solution of the hotel problem. Mr. Lahn is well and favorably known as an experienced and successful hotel man, with some money and the backing of the traveling fraternity. If there is one particular thing under the shining sun that Hereford needs above everything else it is a modern hotel.

If the community will pull together on this matter, don't get into a squabble over the location, and make an organized drive, a hotel will surely come out of it.

Here's hope!

SUN BURNED BOY SCOUTS SLEPT O. K.

Upon his return from the Boy Scout camping trip to the Pecos Valley last Saturday, Rev. J. R. Sharp remarked with an amused chuckle, that the twenty seven boys on the trip unanimously developed the habit of sleeping on their stomachs after the first day out. Pressed for the reason he explained that the whole bunch were sunburned on their backs after visiting the local swimming holes, and the change in sleeping attitudes was forced and not voluntary.

According to all accounts they had a great time on that trip, those boys. Rev. Sharp, Allen Bell and L. P. Landrum, who piloted them, all report a splendid spirit of manliness and unselfishness upon the part of every boy in the crowd, and huge enjoyment of the pleasures of the trip. The people along the route could not do enough for the Scouts, and they were royally looked after everywhere, especially at Carlsbad, which supports two troops of Scouts. Four of the boys came home with Rev. Sharp on Saturday, and the remainder arrived Monday with Messrs. Bell and Landrum.

JOHN PURCELL IS BUYING SPLENDID BLOOD FOR HERDS

John Purcell has recently purchased two very fine registered Hereford cows from S. G. Sanders, in his work of building a registered herd second to none. The cows cost him $3,000. One cow is a Beau Randolph animal, brought here by Rat Jewell, and has been a First Show cow in keen competition. She is seven years old. The other is a two past, and is of the Captain strain.

Mr. Purcell now has the nucleus of a splendid blooded herd, and is rapidly taking rank among the most progressive breeders in the local association.

RAY BARBER BACK FROM CALIFORNIA

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Barber returned Tuesday from a vacation of several weeks in California. Mr. Barber stated that the trip was well worth while and he was glad he made it, but that the Plains look awfully good to him and he had rather live here than anywhere else he has been.

THREE BOYS LEAVE FOR TEXAS A. & M.

Forrest Randall, Emlyn Alban and Caldwell Hicks will attend the A & M College of Texas the coming session, and expect to leave for College Station probably next Tuesday.

SCHOOLS TO OPEN NEXT MONDAY, 13th

The returning teachers of the Hereford Public Schools, following their week of instruction at Canyon, will hold a series of faculty meetings next Saturday, getting ready for the strenuous opening exercises next week. There are many details yet to be worked out, and Saturday will be a busy day for all.

Superintendent Fertach asks that all members of the Senior Class meet him at 2:00 p. m. Saturday at the High School, and that all members of the Junior Class confer with him, at 3:00 p. m. Matters of vital interest to both classes are scheduled for discussion.

Prospects are bright for this year's school term, and the Superintendent is trying hard to get the machine to working smoothly before the opening on Monday next.

Football Men and Band Backed by Business Club

The Athletic Council of the Hereford Schools as well as the Hereford Band has been assured of the cordial moral and financial support of the Hereford Chamber of Commerce, and big things are expected from both this coming year.

The high school football team will doubtless start practice next week, and it is believed a winning combination can be secured for the fall of 1920. Nearly all the old team will be back, with many promising recruits. What the boys need more than anything else is the moral support of the community and a good turnout of local people at the various games. It is believed that much local interest will be aroused this year.

The Band, one of the most promising on the Plains, is practicing steadily and hopes to be in position to give the Hereford public some real music before long.

Hospital Matter Again Bobs Up; To Investigate

The question of the county's issuing bonds for the erection of a County Hospital, agitated so extensively last year, was again brought up at Monday's luncheon, with the result that President McDonald was authorized to appoint a special committee to look into the matter.

It is not proposed to advocate the immediate erection of the building at this time but merely to sound out the sentiment of the people with the view of taking it up later on when conditions warrant, provided the canvass shows a favorable leaning toward it.

JAMISON AND STINNETT TO BE HERE FOR LUNCH MONDAY

The Hereford Chamber of Commerce is advised that at next Monday's luncheon at the Cordova Hotel they will have as their guests, Frank R. Jamison and A. S. Stinnett, secretary and president, respectively, of the Panhandle-Plains Chamber of Commerce.

The officers of the Chamber hope that a representative gathering of local business men will turn out to greet the distinguished visitors.

BRODIE WINDS UP SUMMER TRAINING

Prof. E. C. Brodie, son of Mrs. Eli Dunlap of Hereford, returned to his work at Denton, Texas, Tuesday of this week, after spending the summer here. Prof. Brodie is one of the teachers at the College of Industrial Arts, the State A. & M. for Girls.

He came here after school was out in the spring enroute to California, but the local climate attracted him and he spent the summer driving a big wheat truck and got himself into splendid physical condition for the hard year's work ahead of him. He says it was the most profitable summer, from a health standpoint, he ever spent.

SEWER PIPE HERE FOR DISTRIBUTION

Mayor Knight this week informed The Brand that the City has at last received a car load of sewer pipe, ordered for over a year, and is in position to supply the wants of the residents along this line.

Within Restricted Corporate Limits, According to Uncle Sam's Dope Sheet, but if the Census Man Could See with His Own Eyes the Busy Streets, Check up the Real Estate Transfers, Catch the Hereford Spirit of 1920, He Might Change his Estimates

The City of Hereford proper is given a population of only 1,696 by the Census Bureau in a statement issued at Washington September 8. In 1910 the figures were 1,750, a decrease of 54 people. Other figures for the county by precincts are:

Precinct No.	1920	1910	1900
Precinct No. 1 (Includes City)	2,472	2,598	463
Precinct No. 2	631	581	199
Precinct No. 3	137	284	81
Precinct No. 4	367	459	150
	3,747	3,922	843

It will be observed that outside the 54 lost in the city proper, the remaining loss is accounted for in one precinct, No. three. All other precincts show a slight gain.

These figures are deceiving inasmuch as probably as many people again as the city is given credit for are actually a part of it and conduct their business within the city limits. Uncle Sam allows the count only within the prescribed corporate limits, and that left out all of South Hereford, a large portion of North Hereford, and rows of residences on both the east and west.

Both the county and city are on a much more stable and lasting basis now than ever before. The temporary speculation of the past is gone, and real values obtain in the Hereford country now.

Conditions here now and at the time the 1920 census was taken are much different. The abundant rains, tremendous crops, fat cattle and everything else that tends to make a prosperous condition have resulted in encouraging activity. Trades and sales of land without number are being recorded; new families are moving in daily; strange faces are noted on every hand; the fact that the Hereford Country offers the Cheapest Real Good Land left in the country is beginning to be realized, and the results are becoming more apparent every day.

OLD TIMER BRAVES WEATHER AXIOM; SAYS RAIN OVER

There is an old saying that no one but a new-comer or a fool will predict what is coming in Panhandle weather, and the freakish samples we have had the past week seem to bear out this axiom.

But in the small hours of Thursday morning the milkman, if he had not been too busy, would have noticed an extremely heavy mist obscuring everything, and after daybreak the ground was wet with a heavy dew. An old timer, braving the dire prediction above ventured the assertion that the wet weather was now over; that whenever a rainy spell in the Panhandle was followed by this heavy mist the rain was all over. ? ?

Rain, and hail, and wind, and lightning displays have been the order of the day, or rather night, for the past two weeks. In August the weather gauge at the First National Bank showed a total of 5.25 inches for the city of Hereford. On September 3 we had two tenths; on the fourth one inch and six tenths, and on the fifth four tenths of an inch, making a total of two and two tenths so far in September.

The farmers are beginning to holler for help. W. T. Womble says that on last Sunday and Monday he had five inches of rain at his place in the northeast portion of the county. Sunday afternoon a heavy hail practically destroyed his cane crop and severely damaged his kafir and maize. All this was ready to be cut.

The heaviest rains of all appear to have been around Canyon and Umlinger, where the water was hub deep Sunday and Monday. One traveler reported that some wag hung a sign on the courthouse fence at Canyon which read: "No Fishing Allowed Here."

FARM PAPER WILL TELL WORLD ABOUT HEREFORD COUNTRY

Farm and Ranch, the great Texas farm paper, is threatening to give Hereford some real publicity. Last Monday William Dee Little, special writer, appeared here and had dinner with the Chamber of Commerce. He was shown over the country that afternoon and Tuesday by committeemen, and given voluminous data and photographs on the registered cattle industry, irrigation system, and other information. He promises to put Hereford on the Farm and Ranch map before very long.

CLYDE KIBBE NOW IN MEDICAL STUDY

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Kibbe, who recently moved from Slaton, Texas, to Arkansas, have gone to Davenport, Iowa, where both are taking a course in a Chiropractic College. They write enthusiastically of their work and their improved health since leaving Arkansas.

HENRY WILKINSON OFF ON BUSINESS

Henry Wilkinson went to Kansas City Tuesday on business. While away Mr. Wilkinson also expects to visit Chicago and St. Louis, and possibly New York.

HEREFORD, ENGLAND, WRITES TO HEREFORD, TEXAS

The City of Hereford, England, is interested in the City of Hereford, Texas, U. S. A., and wants to know how the Texas town received its name, and all of its history it is possible to obtain. At least Mr. Geoffrey Le M. Mander, of Wightwick Manor, Wolverhampton, England, wants the information. Under date of August 23, he writes Mayor Knight as follows: "As one who is interested in the City of Hereford, England, I should be very glad if you would be kind enough to inform me if anything is known of the circumstances under which your town took the name and its history and position today. Perhaps there is some local guide you could refer me to."

Mayor Knight has secured all the available data and forwarded it to the inquirer across the seas.

PUBLICITY HELPS INTEREST HOG MAN IN PLAINS FIELD

That the publicity articles being sent out by the Publicity Committee of the new Chamber of Commerce are obtaining results, was evidenced this week when a hog man of Savoy, Texas, answered an item in the state papers describing the importation of hogs by Messrs. Brumley and Robinson with an ad for a sale he will put on soon. He stated that he "had his eye" on this country, and hoped meanwhile our hog men would patronize his sale.

FLOYDADA MAN IS PURCHASER JUDGE BARBER PROPERTY

W. V. Phillips, Floydada, Texas, has bought the Judge Barber ten acre tract in south Hereford and will move here with his family about October 1. Mr. Phillips also purchased a half section located eight miles south, and his son a quarter close by. He is bringing a tractor with him via truck and intends to break out an entire half section and plant it mostly in wheat. The quarter section is partly in cultivation and will be further improved by his son.

GUTHRIE BOYS TO SCHOOL IN KANSAS

Bruce and Gwynne Guthrie left Monday afternoon for Wichita, Kansas, where they are entered as freshmen for the coming school year. They were accompanied by their father, B. F. Guthrie, who will spend the week in Wichita and attend the college opening.

ALEX THOMPSON'S UNCLE IS VISITOR

Frank Morris, of Gainesville, Texas, an uncle of A. O. Thompson, is visiting Mr. Thompson and family.

H. B. WEBB AND WIFE VISIT SON

H. B. Webb and wife left Monday for a visit with their son, Tom, at Texline.

WILL OFFER $500 PRIZE FOR SWINE

Prizes amounting to $500 are to be distributed among hog men at the coming Hereford Fair, October 15-16, according to announcement made at Monday's luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce.

Manager Neal reported that his committee felt this to be a much needed incentive in urging the introduction of more and better hogs into this country, and the amount named was to be distributed among the various classes in small amounts.

Wet weather the past week has retarded the work of the Fair committees to a certain extent, but all are full of pep and real progress is being made.

Directors Hold Busy Meeting at Monday Lunch

The weekly luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce, held at the Stockmen's Cafe last Monday was well attended and full of business from start to finish. Those present were: D. L. McDonald, J. E. Hill, W. E. Dameron, Homer Wilkinson, Leslie Neal, Ed Connell, Mayor Knight, D. F. Ashbrook, A. O. Thompson, Frank Potts, Glenn Snyder, L. Baskin, Henry Wilkinson, Sherman Williams, Geo. L. Muse, and two visitors, Frank Morris, of Gainesville, an uncle of Alex Thompson's, and William Dee Little, a feature writer for Farm and Ranch. Reports from committees were received and many vital subjects for the good of the community discussed. Mr. Little, in a short address, commented upon the fact that the usual banquet of the sort was devoted to hot air talks on what a town ought to do, while this crowd was strictly business, eliminated the oratory, and reported through committees work actually done, etc. The work of the Chamber is progressing smoothly; the only draw back at present being the lack of a permanent headquarters. It is hoped to solve this problem before long.

The weekly luncheon will be held next Monday at the Cordova Hotel, and anyone with the price of his meal and a good reputation will be cordially welcomed.

Ice Plant or a Storage Plant; Which is Best?

Will it be better to attempt to build an ice plant at Hereford or a storage plant? That's a problem now occupying the attention of a special committee of the Chamber of Commerce, headed by D. F. Ashbrook as chairman.

Some argue that the limited field in which ice could be sold here would make an investment in a plant unprofitable, and that the modern way is to erect a storage house, stock it during the months when the ice business is dull, and be prepared for the hot days to come.

The entire matter is now the subject of correspondence on the part of the committee, and the actual facts will soon be ascertained.

G. W. BRUMLEY'S BROTHER IS CITIZEN NOW OF HEREFORD

J. M. Brumley and family, of Christian County, Mo., have severed connections with the Show Me state and are now residents of Deaf Smith county. They arrived here last week and purchased the crop, stock, tools, etc., on the Short place east of town.

Mr. Brumley is a brother of G. W. Brumley. Last spring he visited his brother and became so enthused over the Hereford country that he went home and sold out. He was accompanied here the second trip by Mark Bray, of his home community, who also expects to arrange to move here before long.

CANYON FAIR HAS LARGE HOG DISPLAY

Leslie Neal is showing four of his fine Futurity Red pigs at the Canyon Fair this week. The hog display is said to be the main attraction, with some poultry and agricultural exhibits. Ninety two head of Duroc Jersey pigs, and fourteen Poland China hogs are entered, with the big Brooder Alexander, of Childers, as judge.

PROPOSITION MACADAMIZE ONE STREET

Do the property owners on Third Street, or the property owners on Fourth street, of the City of Hereford, want a real modern, macadamized highway running past their dogs, with curbs and gutters, and if so which set of residents want it the most?

There's a distinct possibility that one or the other of these streets may have the opportunity to bid for this thoroughfare before long.

At Monday's Chamber of Commerce meeting Mayor Knight, chairman of the Civic Committee, suggested this measure as one that would not only add immensely to the looks and convenience of the city's streets, but one that would also help wonderfully in handling the highway tourist traffic that is becoming yearly more important. The Mayor suggested that engineers had said in the past that the native lime rock could be used as a base, rolled, and then covered with Tarmac or some other binder, which would give a permanent roadway of which all could be proud.

After discussion the Directors authorized the Mayor to secure estimates on what an engineering detail of the work would cost, and if not too high the Chamber might see fit to have this preliminary work done so that property owners could be told exactly what it would cost them.

Under the law property owners on the street would have to pay for the curbing and two thirds of the cost of the gutter and paving. It is believed that the County Commissioners would be willing to help on the road work with some of the fifteen cent tax money collected annually.

Third street seems to be the logical one for this improvement, but if Fourth street men beat them to it there might be some competition. And there have been several owners on both streets working for the road already.

FIVE TAKE COMMANDRY ON MONDAY

Following the Shrine Ceremonial of last week fifteen candidates for the Commandry Masonic work assembled from Panhandle points at Amarillo on Monday and took the degrees. Among them were five Hereford men, as follows: Homer Fox, Albert Herbst, Bobo McLean, H. L. Rice and J. A. Buckner. Other candidates from this community are expected to follow shortly.

METHODIST PARSONAGE SOLD FOR SUM $4,000 CASH

The Methodist Parsonage on Twenty Five Mile Avenue, occupied by Rev. W. H. Terry, was sold the past week to L. L. Hughes, of Hansford, Texas, consideration $4,000 cash. Possession is to be given within fifteen days.

Rev. Terry will "batch" with his boys and Mrs. Terry will visit with her children temporarily, until future arrangements are completed. Mr. Hughes will move his family here at once. It is understood that he is a retired farmer and business man.

The Methodists own ninety feet immediately north of the new church and will probably build a new parsonage on that site very soon.

MISSOURI MAN SEES HEREFORD COUNTRY LAND FIRST TIME

J. D. Eliff, of Columbia, Mo., spent several days here this week looking into conditions. Mr. Eliff has owned land south of town, handled by Fred Curtis, for several years, but had never seen his property before this visit. He was enthusiastic over the Hereford country, and carried back with him a boosting spirit for the Panhandle of Texas.

DR. AND MRS. LE GRAND COME HOME

Dr. and Mrs. G. F. LeGrand returned to Hereford this week after a visit of about two weeks to the Texas Gulf, El Paso, New Mexico and Arizona in search of strength and recuperation for Mrs. LeGrand, who has just recovered from a long illness. Dr. LeGrand reports both Mrs. LeGrand and himself much improved and rested from the vacation.

CASTRO COUNTY

CLEO

As this is my first, will try to give a description of our community. Cleo school house is located eight miles south of Dimmitt on the Dimmitt and Springlake road and surrounded by a number of nice little farm homes, owned and operated by the men and their families who live on them. They are a God fearing, law abiding, liberty loving people and as prosperous as any bunch of farmers I know of on the Plains. Mrs. Greathouse, Messrs. W. P. Boyd, J. D. Bunch and W. S. Dixon and their families are the oldest settlers of the community. This section of Castro County was once a cattle ranch owned by Knight and Slaton, of Plainview, and was broken up by settlers buying and fleeing on the land about twenty years ago. It was like all other undeveloped countries. The first settlers had their "ups and downs," mostly downs, and if the cattle and sheep men of the country had not been here to give us work occasionally, that we might obtain the means to buy the necessities of life, we could not be here today to write this letter. However, I don't think any of the first settlers of Cleo have ever regretted staying here and toughing it out as they are now beginning to reap the reward of their labors. This community is now looked upon as one of the best, if not the very best, farming sections of Castro County.

Cleo School House is our social center. We have preaching on the second Sunday evening in each month by Rev. J. A. Lindley, of Tulsa. We also have singing on the first and third Sunday evenings in each month and our Literary Society meets on the second and fourth Saturday nights in each month. Our attendance is generally good at all meetings.

Bros. Dunn and Mahuron, of Rails, (Primitive Baptist ministers) preached here last Saturday and Sunday. Had dinner on the grounds both days. All services well attended. They left an appointment for the first Saturday and Sunday in each month.

W. P. Boyd's brother, of Mexia, has been visiting him for a few days and is now visiting in Jones Co.

Mrs. F. H. Galle and children returned home a few days ago, after spending a month in Chicago with relatives and friends.

Mrs. Loyd Greathouse and children, of Brownfield, has returned home, after spending a few days with Mrs. Greathouse and children, of Cleo. Miss Dallas Greathouse went home with them for a short visit.

C. B. Houser has gone to Plainview to get his son, Felix, who has been operated on for appendicitis.

Your correspondent and wife had the pleasure of attending the Farmers' Congress at the A. & M. College of Texas and also visited relatives and old friends at Bryan College, Wellboon and Millican. We were raised in Brasos County, but left there in November, 1901. Have only been back three times. We spent two weeks visiting this time. Saw many people that I hadn't seen for twenty years, who look natural but some older. Our stay was a continuous round of pleasure, such as going to all day singings, preaching, fish fries, barbecues, etc. Mr. Louis Dixon, a nephew of ours, came home with us. Says he has fished and squirrel hunted on the Navasot so long that he would try "dear" hunting on the Plains for a while.

W. S. Dixon.

JOEL JOTTINGS

Of course we've seen signs and heard numerous hints, but this community was very agreeably surprised by the announcement on Monday morning of this week of the quiet little wedding which occurred at the home of the bride's parents. Sunday evening, September 5, Miss Margaret Hershey was united in marriage to Arch Conklin, none but the home folks being present.

This community rejoices in the union of this young couple because they are both held in the highest esteem. Both are Christian workers and are striving to uplift and help their fellow man. They are a great power in Sunday School and Christian Endeavor work. Arch is one of our soldier boys, who served on the Mexican border in the late disturbance. Margaret is the daughter of our esteemed neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hershey. We understand that the young people will handle the home farm of Mr. Conklin, so we are delighted that they are not to leave the community.

O. L. Sharp and family are spending a little vacation with their sons in Post and Vernon vicinities.

Our Sunday School and the community at large plan to enjoy an outing Thursday of this week in the form of a basket dinner to be held at Canyon and incidentally take in the fair. The plan is for all to meet at the Askren school house and go in one crowd to Canyon, if Randall County roads (?) permit.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Slagle are enjoying a visit from a sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Whalen, of Chicago. Mr. Slagle is happy in showing these strangers the sights, having driven with them to see the crops and oil prospects at Friona and over to the Palo Duro Canyon and to Canyon City, the fair, etc. They are well pleased with our country.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Conklin were called to Colorado on Sunday, the 5th, by the serious illness of their son, Clarence.

Sunday, the 12th, is Bro. Sharp's appointment at the Askren School house. Come and hear him.

We were pleased to have with us, Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Forson and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Bowman and families. Come again, and often.

About 400 Ellis county farmers, meeting at Waxahachie, Texas, recently drew up resolutions fixing $1.50 per hundred pounds for cotton picking as the opening price, and declaring further that farmers should withhold their cotton from the market until a higher price is offered.

Don't fail to call Hereford Produce Co. when you want nice fresh groceries. We have them.

Young Man Young Woman Are You Going to College This Fall?

Then you will be interested in a school that offers the following advantages:

1. A standard four years' college curriculum leading to a Bachelor's degree, and specially equipped to offer advanced instruction in Agriculture, Art, Expression and Music in addition to the usual college courses.
 2. A faculty of fifty "hand picked" specialists in the various fields of learning.
 3. A Department of Music unexcelled in the whole Southwest, giving private instruction in voice, piano, string instruments, band and orchestra besides instruction in public school music.
 4. A Department of Expression that takes rank with the best in the country.
 5. A Department of Agriculture equipped with splendid laboratories and sufficient land for work in horticulture and stock farming. We have a herd of high bred dairy cows, a few fine hogs, and a poultry yard.
 6. A school plant that represents the last word in school architecture consisting of an Administration Building, a Dormitory for girls, an Infirmary, a metal shop for Manual Training and a heating plant conservatively valued at $1,250,000 and easily surpassing all other institutions within three hundred miles.
 7. A Dormitory for women that has every modern convenience at a minimum of expense, under the directions of as fine Christian influence as can be found anywhere.
 8. A Kindergarten in charge of trained experts, used as a demonstration school for kindergarten teachers.
 9. A common school of nine grades under expert instructors used as a demonstration school for grade and high school teachers.
 10. A Manual Training Department that offers courses in all forms of wood and metal work and printing.
 11. A Director of Athletics and Physical Education for both men and women and the very best equipment for these departments including a beautiful indoor swimming pool, shower baths, an unexcelled gymnasium, six tennis courts, a base ball and foot ball field, a race track, etc.
 12. A Library of 10,000 volumes, unexcelled in quality and administered by trained librarians.
 13. The religious life of the school is distinctly invigorating. Devotional exercises are held daily for the entire student body. The Y. W. C. A. maintains a paid secretary who gives general direction to Christian activities. In addition, the Baptist and Methodist Churches will have paid secretaries here during the coming session.
 14. Expenses very low—no tuition (except for private instruction) free text books, cheap board.
- There is no need for the young people in the Panhandle and Plains to go away from this section for college advantages, when all of the above unexcelled facilities are to be found in The West Texas State Normal College, Canyon, Texas.

J. A. HILL, President.

A Problem

If a new pair of shoes cost $9.00 and wear 90 days, and can be repaired for $3.00 so as to wear 90 days more, how much does the wearer save by having the shoes repaired?

The Answer

$9.00 divided by 90 equals cost of new shoes per day, 10c.

$3.00 divided by 90 equals cost of repaired shoes per day, 3 1-3 cents.

Cost per day, new shoes.....10

Cost per day, Repaired shoes.....03 1-3

Saved per day on repaired shoes.....06 2-3

90 times .06 2-3 equals amount saved on repaired shoes, $6.00, plus the comfort.

Ride Farther on Goodyear Tires in Your Small Car

It is tire performance, not price, that decides what you really pay; hence, do not experiment with tires made to sell at sensationally low prices.

You can secure in Goodyear Tires, of the 30x3-, 30x3½- and 31x4-inch sizes, a high relative value not exceeded even in the famous Goodyear Cord Tires on the world's finest automobiles.

Goodyear experience and care are applied to their manufacture in the world's largest tire factory devoted to these sizes.

If you own a Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell or other car taking these sizes, go to your nearest Service Station for Goodyear Tires; take advantage of the opportunity to get true Goodyear mileage and economy.

Big Cut in Tire Prices

A fortunate purchase makes it possible to sell new standard make tires and tubes at from one third to one fourth off list prices. The stock is small and you'll have to hurry to get them.

An examination will convince you that it is not necessary to pay high for tires.

My vulcanizing equipment and material is slow coming through, but I am now prepared to do a limited amount of casing and tube work.

Located in the Palmer building on the opposite corner from the new Magnolia filling station.

LUDWIG IRLBECK, Happy, Texas

STURDILY built—designed for power and dependability, possessing grace and beauty in every line—the new Buick Nineteen Twenty One series signally upholds the traditions that have made the name Buick a notable word in the automotive industry. Two decades have more than justified the unwavering fidelity to the accepted engineering ideals to which Buick stands committed. The same rugged Valve-in-Head motor refined is a distinguishing feature of every model.

In appearance, the Buick Nineteen Twenty One series is notable for the harmonious blending of low, graceful body lines; in appointments, for those added refinements that so materially increase the pleasure and comfort of motoring.

In addition to the general features of the new models the Buick Five-Passenger Touring Car (Twenty One Forty Five) possesses a roominess of tonneau and new arrangement of seating that afford occupants the utmost in riding comfort. For the business man or his family; for the needs of city driving or country driving, this model excels because of its capacity for varied service.

CHAPTER XII.

Mr. Morgan was pacing forth and back in the office much enraged. "Look here," he said. "This does not get us anywhere. My time is valuable. I am wasting a lot of it. I'll tell you now I've got enough information to know this is the sort of case we like, a tough case. I haven't been fooled a bit. You may not be interested. Maybe no one here is interested, but I'm interested. Do you get that, Mr. Doctor, Mr. Representative, Mr. Fiance? I'm interested. This case is going to be gone into. There's a crime concealed somewhere which will do our agency good to discover. We sha'n't do it for money. We shall do it for publicity. The advertising will be worth thousands of dollars to us. Do you understand me?"

"I know you can make life very miserable for us for a couple of days. You will have to use your own judgment."
"I can pack that lawn out there with reporters and photographers from the city. They'll see and talk to Mr. Sidney. Take my word for that. They'll see and talk to Mrs. Sidney and to Miss Sidney. I can bring that down to you by midnight."

"The house has some protections," I said. "You might suggest that to the newspaper people for their own good."

"The shyster and that common thief Ann Forth got in, didn't they?"

"I don't know Ann Forth."
"No, but you know Agnes Mitchell. Well, you know Ann Forth, man. Say, you simpleton, you don't know what you're up against. This story just as it stands—copy of sheet from manuscript—Spanish—running off with Jed—steft of manuscript—death of shyster—Ann Forth back in house—hidden crime—millionaire recluse—beautiful daughter—haunted house—its copy for every paper in the country."

"I knew it and was appalled by the certain prospects."

"It would be a very cruel and useless thing to do," I said, "but as I told you, you must use your own judgment. We are not interested in this child's nursery story—you are following, and I do not intend to have people who are not well disturbed by the questioning of a detective."

I knew how to deal safely with Morgan, but the method was out of the question. I should indeed have been a simpleton if I had not known. All I had to ask was "How much?"

We were wholly resolved against paying blackmail, knowing that it was only a gradual descent to ruin. It was better to go in one direct plunge if it were fated.

Morgan looked at me steadily for a few moments as if giving me a chance to listen to the voice of reason. His method had been perfect. He was beyond a legal suspicion, and I knew he was dangerous.

"Well, young man," he said at last, "we are both wasting time—at least I am. But it's only fair to you to tell you that this is not the end of the case. It's the kind of a case we like, something tough and difficult. We may not make any money out of it; but when we are ready, we at least shall be paid in publicity. You needn't be afraid of the reporters and photographers just now. It's too good a case to waste that way. There's always that, no matter what we turn up."

"This case is just good enough to spend some money on. It's just good enough to send a couple of men down to Montevideo. I'll tell you in advance that is what we're going to do."

"We'll go into the life of Mr. Sidney with a fine-tooth comb, and we'll do it well. We are accustomed to doing such things well. And we'll do this well. We'll get something here or in South America. We'll follow that."

A Tonic For Women

"I was hardly able to drag, I was so weakened," writes Mrs. W. F. Ray, of Eastley, S. C. "The doctor treated me for about two months, still I didn't get any better. I had a large family and felt I surely must do something to enable me to take care of my little ones. I had heard of

CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

"I decided to try it," continues Mrs. Ray. "I took eight bottles in all. . . . I regained my strength and have had no more trouble with womanly weakness. I have ten children and am able to do all my housework and a lot outdoors. . . . I can sure recommend Cardui."

Take Cardui today. It may be just what you need.
At all druggists.

something until we know why Jed copied two chapters of 'The Moonstone' and hid them in a box built in the springs of his bed.
"Then we'll come back here and ask for a little more co-operation in serving the purposes of the law, and if we don't get some help, the reporters and photographers will be swarming on the lawn. That's all, Mr. Doctor."
I knew at first glance that Morgan's face was malevolent. Now I saw it extraordinarily so.
"I'll have Jed show you the door."

I said.
"And tell him we do not know whether we take Dravada to South America or not. It will make him happy."
Jed was scrupulously the servant as we dismissed Mr. Morgan.
That was the fashion in which inevitability entered the house. We were no longer dodging chance. Morgan surely and certainly represented fate. It had become only a matter of time when in one fashion or another

Methodist Missionary Society
The Methodist Missionary Society held their August social and business meeting on Sept. 1st, 1930, at the home of Mrs. Percy Welliver with Mesdames Welliver, Heard, Sites and D. W. Hawkins as hostesses. The Society was glad to have several visitors present—Mesdames Rockwell, Thompson, Chenoweth and Mother Betts and Mother Curtis, who all made short talks.
Mrs. Rockwell brought us some thoughts from Boulder. Among other good things she quoted that "Joy is the privilege of the the Christian only. The world may have pleasure, mirth, etc., but none but the Christian can possess real joy."

Mother Betts confirmed this, by telling us, in her characteristic way, that she was just "running over" with joy. The privilege of being able to attend another good meeting, her restoration to reasonable health once more and the fact of so many of the younger women and girls being actively engaged in the work of her beloved church had filled her cup to overflowing.
Mrs. Chenoweth, who, before going to Ranger, was our resident, expressed her pleasure in being with us once more and her gratification in finding us so thoroughly organized and each department working so efficiently.
Mrs. Curtis and Mrs. Thompson each expressed her pleasure in being with us, and appreciation of the work, in general, done by the Woman's Missionary Society.

Miss Swisher's and Miss Williamson's names were enrolled. The Society is fortunate in having two such young ladies in its midst this year.
Mother Betts led in prayer, after which the song, "My Jesus, I Love Thee," was sung.
Reports of officers were then given in full and motion was made and carried that they be accepted as given.

Miss Swisher was elected as Supt. of the Young People's Missionary work.
Song, accompanied on viola by Mrs. A. C. Thompson, after which Miss Williamson led the Devotional. She chose as her message the word, "wanted," and applied it in the form an acoustic by finding references in the Bible to show what is wanted in every Christian follower. First was wisdom or wise heads, then, attentive ears, new hearts, tongues unied, eyes opened and last, but not least, decision. The lesson was very fine and so practical and applicable to every day life.
Solo—"A Wonderful Love"—Miss Swisher.

Reading—Mrs. D. W. Hawkins.
Short talks by all the visitors and new members. Meeting closed with prayer, after which the hostesses served angel food cake and cream to about thirty ladies.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hastings and children have gone for a two weeks' trip to visit relatives at Anson. They were accompanied by Mother Dean, who had been visiting them for several weeks.

WILLIAM RUSSELL SCORES A NEW HIT

Confronted by a drink-crazed man who is ready to kill the girls who has given her life into his keeping—a man from whom she is obliged to defend herself with a gun—this is only one of many thrilling scenes in "Shod With Fire," a photodrama produced by William Fox, with William Russell as the star, which will be shown Friday and Saturday Matinee at the Star Theatre.

The story tells of a wife's desire to reclaim her husband, who is mentally crippled by drink and debauchery. She is aided in a very remarkable way by the man whose love for her impels him to endure much.

Harold Tins is the author of the story, J. Anthony Roach wrote the scenario, and Emmett J. Flynn directed the production of the play.

The cast, a very strong one, includes Helen Ferguson, Betty Schade, Robert Cain, George Stewart, Nelson McDowell and Jack Connolly.

THE MYSTERY OF HARTLEY HOUSE

the security of this home, so carefully studied, would be invaded successfully. That was apparent. It might be that Morgan would be able to expose us to nothing more than the publicity he mentioned. But that was sufficient; it would be destructive.

I had telephoned McGuire, telling him of Morgan's part in the new turn of events, and he later informed me that two of the Morgan agency operatives had sailed for South America, taking Dravada with them. The hunt had begun—but a long way off.

The hunters knew as much of the quarry as I did, and I had no way of knowing whether it was likely that they could find a trail back to Hartley house. It was impossible not to feel uneasy. Dravada had been to me, whatever he had been to Jed, merely an incident grotesque and extravagant, a preposterous dash of color in odd conditions. The lawyer had been resourceful and cunning enough, but his actions had to be those of a slinking feral animal. He was not to be greatly feared, but Morgan was. He had the machinery for the work. His cupid was aroused. Every racial who smelled the mystery of Hartley house became eager to follow the scent into the strong box of the house.

I thought I was not assuming enough responsibility. I asked Mrs. Sidney again if it would be of service to give me the secret of the house. I told her I was far from certain that my reliability and trustworthiness had been established, but if they had been, and if the question were merely one of fidelity and stanchness, I hoped I could be regarded loyal.

"If only those qualities were involved, John," said Mrs. Sidney, "you could have the inmost secrets of my soul. I would trust you with anything anywhere, but for your own salvation I would not have this terrible thing in your consciousness. Knowledge of it would curse you. It will be unless there is expiation in a great love, and exculpation in self-sacrifice. Jed's soul is gone beyond redemption. I dare not think of Mr. Sidney nor of myself. But Jed is a gross sinner."

She was by nature and wish an emotional, untheatrical lady, but she was dramatic in her seriousness. Then she said:

"I should like to have you for a son."

I was much embarrassed—the more so when she kissed me. To conceal some disconcerting emotions I laughed awkwardly and went on about my business. I was to go blindfolded into the intricacies of the strangest situations I ever encountered.

With early October beautiful days came and brought tranquillity. Life is full of zest in October, the rich, rare month of the year; physical senses are made more sensitive. Hartley house blazed out in autumn splendor. What had been beautiful before, was now glorified.

I could have hours, but not complete days of happiness. I could use my common sense part of the time, but Isobel broke it down at other times. Occasionally I thought her wilful and tried to believe that she amused herself by playing the devil with the only man available, but when I came to my senses, I knew I was a fool.

All she did was to associate frankly and friendly with the only available man, and if she liked to be with me, it was a compliment I did not see that I deserved.

With the return to normality, with Jed back and immediate alarms quieted, our family routine was re-established. Dinner, which had been less the sociable occasion that it might have been, because of Jed's malevolent superservicability, became a pleasant event.

Heretofore Jed had made it a point to restrict and embarrass our attempts at easy conversation. Now he withdrew and left us to ourselves.

It was owing to this extraordinarily favorable disposition that I, coming to dinner one evening in a sullen mood, had opportunity to take up a subject which concerned me.

"Mrs. Sidney," I said when Jed had placed the coffee-tray beside her and had retired, "I must ask you to release me from the absurd position I am in."

"What position, John?" said the kindly lady.

"I am engaged to Isobel," I said.

"Which is a torment and a trial," said Isobel.

"It is," I replied with warmth. "It is a trial and torment from which I wish release. I do not want to be hedged in by the absurdities of this arrangement."

"John, my boy," said Mrs. Sidney, "what's happened to you?"

"Nothing, but I'm confused. I'd feel better if Isobel and I were not on this preposterous footing."

"But there was a reason," Mrs. Sidney suggested mildly, "and it still exists, and we relied upon you, John. We don't want to make you unhappy, but you don't care for Isobel. That's so apparent, and it helps us so much."

"I don't care whether he cares for me or not," said Isobel suddenly. "We are going to remain engaged. Get your precise mind reconciled to the fact, John. While you are in this house, you and I are engaged to be married."

"Isobel!" her mother exclaimed. "I'm going to have the freedom that this man John brings me as my betrothed," said Isobel. "Both of you can reconcile yourselves to that. John, you are a victim. You are engaged to me, and I know you are unhappy. Mother, you see me do things because I am engaged to John. Well, I intend to remain engaged and to do things—and I love you both."

And, by George! she danced up and kissed her mother and kissed me.

CHAPTER XIII.

At times I hated myself as a methodical person, but it did no good. I was methodical, and from it there was no escape. I kept a diary. And each night as I made an entry, I turned back to the day of the year before. In doing so this night I read in the entry of the previous year: "Mr. Sidney made a sudden and astonishing recovery of strength. He walked about his room without assistance and was in a high degree of animation."

I recalled that night with the sharper interest because the entry I was about to make this night was substantially if not precisely to the same effect. Mr. Sidney had again revealed an astonishing recovery of strength and had displayed the greatest animation. He had asked us to have our dinner in his room, a thing very seldom done, and he had been wonderful as the majestic, courteous head of the family, full of humor and joviality.

Jed was an amiable servitor, bantered by Mr. Sidney from time to time. Isobel's animation was as infectious as her father's, but Mrs. Sidney, I thought, had a look of apprehension in her eyes which was something apart from the pleasant smile on her face. She seemed to find the occasion significant, and I wonder that I had not read my diary to be refreshed in memory.

When I had read it, I also saw the significance, and turning the page in the record of the year before, I read: "Mr. Sidney is in a condition of exhaustion which might be called a complete and dangerous collapse. Dr. Brownell, summoned in alarm, says that during his acquaintance with the case this transition overnight from extraordinary activity to exhaustion has been noted once every year and at approximately the same time of the year, if not precisely on the same date."

The apprehension which Mrs. Sidney could not wholly conceal had this good foundation. Mr. Sidney was in the periodic miracle of renewed health and strength, but for whatever cause, he would be found tomorrow morning in a precarious condition of weakness.

The event seemed so certain that I thought it best to acquaint Dr. Brownell that night of the premonitory symptoms.

I decided to telephone a message to Dr. Brownell's residence in the city, to be given to him immediately if he were awake or as soon as he arose in the morning. I did not want to be overheard, by any chance, by any one, in telephoning this premonitory message, and thought that the office would be my most secure place.

The house was not yet in full darkness when I came down the stairs to the main hall. It was lighted, and the stairway leading directly to Mr. Sidney's room was lighted, which indicated that Jed was still with Mr. Sidney.

The office door never was locked. I did not want Jed blundering in on me while I was telephoning. He would be along presently, I thought, and I decided to go out on the main portico until by the extinguishing of the lights I should know he was on his way to bed.

Seven members of the executive committee, local division No. 746, Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Workers, Denver, Colorado, were sentenced to ninety days in the county jail in that city recently for calling a strike of employes in violation of a court injunction.

United States Ambassador John W. Davis to Great Britain said that the perils confronting Europe are as real and grave as those during the darkest days of the world war. The ambassador said that war-torn Europe is still looking toward America to save her from social, economic, and revolutionary collapse.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

There are more than 3,000,000 Ford cars in daily service throughout the world, and fully eighty per cent of these are Ford Touring Cars. There are many reasons for this, not the least of which is the simplicity in the design of the car, so easy to understand; likewise it is easy to operate, and mighty inexpensive, compared to other motor cars. The maintenance expense is low, and it has won an unparalleled reputation for satisfactory service during the past sixteen years. On the farm, in the city, for business and for family pleasure, it is the car of the people, and the demand is increasing every day. Let us have your order promptly if you want one. We can supply you with most everything in motor car accessories, and we assure you genuine Ford Parts and skilled workmen in our repair service. Be fair with your car and it will give you full value.

Hereford Fair, October 15-16.

FOR SALE—My well improved section seven miles west, one mile north of Hereford. Two good windmills, 6 or 8 miles of fence, a good barn, a dandy new hog house, tool house, a good roomy dairy house, other sheds, wind-breaks, and good lots, a ten acre hog pasture, and a 225 ton pit silo. Four rooms in the dwelling. Two hundred acres in cultivation. One hundred acres of good feed in the shock and all farming tools go with the place. Price $40 per acre. Good terms.

Also my ten acre place in the north part of Hereford. Seven room house, a good barn, plenty of water, good young orchard and plenty of small fruits. Have had fruit continuously since May 15. Even this year have had twice as many strawberries, cherries, plums and grapes as one family would eat and can. Priced right.
D. W. Hawkins.

Water Mark

Symphony Lawn

The Paper with the Inviting Texture

HOLD a sheet of Symphony Lawn Writing Paper to the light. Note its translucent clearness. Then feel the beauty of its real lawn texture. It invites you to use your pen. Then observe the water mark—placed there for your guidance and protection. Symphony Writing Paper is the choice of discriminating women—not only because it is in good taste, but because of its splendid writing surface. Made in three finishes and several fashionable tints, sheets and envelopes to be had in a number of styles, permit expression of personal taste. Correspondence cards and envelopes, also.

Our Great Harvest Sale

We have had a number of customers to come a great distance to buy from us in the last two weeks. Every one delighted. They truly sing our praise for selling Furniture and Rugs at such low prices.

It's a fact, no one anywhere is in position to do you such great service as we. It is truly our pleasure to render you this great service.

We want to say to you, that we are not in business alone for the Dollar. We find great pleasure in merchandising. We sell our goods for a profit it's true—but we are satisfied with small profits.

Our great harvest sale will be continued through all of next week.

We welcome, specially solicit business from out of town. We have customers who drive many miles to trade with us and they save money in doing so.

When you trade with us you are treated just the same as "home folks" and we want you to feel at home here, no matter how far you have come.
