COUNTY AGENT THOMAS SAYS . . .

Around Town

The first baby born today, Friday's Day, in Deaf Smith County Hospital will have its first year's payments on a $1,000 life insurance policy paid by the Star Theatre, according to Francis Hardwick, owner. The offer, however, is good only for today, he said.

Two downtown businesses are currently undergoing building redecoration. Rogers Drug and McLean Insurance. Rogers Drug store front is being extended flush with the sidewalk and McLean Insurance is undergoing a complete redecoration both inside and out.

The Republican Party in this county will hold a business meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Friendship Room of the Hereford State Bank.

The oldest known person living in Deaf Smith County, Mrs. W. B. Beach, 608 Park Ave., is celebrating her 97th birthday today in her home. She was released from the hospital Thursday.

The general public has been invited to attend a panel-type discussion by experts in the field of insecticides to be held Wednesday in the county court house. Sponsored by Associated Growers, the main speaker will be a representative of the California Spray Chemical Corporation.

In the county jail under $1,000 bond is Pablo Dominguez, arrested on charges of burglarizing the Hereford Radiator Service, 130 Schley, Saturday and Monday nights. Dominguez was housed over to the Grand Jury after bond was set Wednesday. He is charged with taking $15 on his two raids.

'Hoppers May Pose Serious Problem

"GRASSHOPPERS are getting bigger and have started moving into the fields." This report came recently from County Agent Lefty Thomas who predicts that more trouble and problems are to follow.

The hoppers in this area, according to Thomas, haven't grown their wings yet and are less damaging. However, the hoppers are getting thicker and heavier, and the county agent says they are "very troublesome in spots."

"The farmer should know where he stands," the agent explained. He said the grasshoppers move quickly from pastures and that land near these pastures will have problems. "Farmers who have yearly cultivated ground will have less trouble."

So far there has been only spot spraying to rid the menacing insect, but a lot is reported to begin soon. A representative of the American Dusting Co. in Hereford says his company has already sprayed about 5,000 acres, mostly large grass areas and fence rows. They are due to start on a 12,000 acre job this week, he said.

"The grasshoppers have caught us off guard," he said, "we usually don't have trouble with them until July."

THE COMPANY has also sprayed vegetables, row crops, the edge of pastures and a little cotton. "It seems the grasshopper is getting worse, so we should keep pretty busy," the representative said.

Val Air of Hereford has also been spraying fence rows and pastures near cultivated land and expects to do a lot more. There has also been some spraying of land by individuals in private planes and helicopters.

There are still no federal government funds available to fight the hoppers as in the northern counties. Colorado, short on funds, has asked President Eisenhower for aid.

County Agent Thomas is to preside at a special grasshopper meeting in the County Court Room at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 17. All interested farmers and citizens are invited to attend and a special invitation is extended to the aerial spraying companies.

S. E. Burleson Services Monday

Final rites for Sheldon E. Burleson, 62, of 810 Ave. K, will be held at 3 p.m. Monday in the Grace Gospel Church with the Rev. H. V. Fields, pastor, officiating.

Mr. Burleson died at 5 a.m. Saturday in Deaf Smith County Hospital after an illness of a year. He has lived in Hereford since 1948 and was a businessman. At different times he owned a shoe shop and then the Hereford Food Locker.

He was born Nov. 12, 1895, at Concord, Tex. He married Lillie Burrell at Clovis, N. M., on May 12 of this year. He was a member of the First Baptist Church here.

Survivors include his wife; a daughter, Juanita Burleson of Hereford; a son, W. G. of Lubbock; three brothers, Robert of Jewett, Tex., Reagan of Markey, Tex., and Roy of Bonham; and three sisters, Mrs. Eleanor Marydeth of Lubbock, Mrs. Effie Johnson of Huntsville and Madene Cook of Houston.

Burial will be in West Park Cemetery. Gilliland Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Combine Shortage Not Foreseen Here

Pat Patterson of the Texas Employment Bureau indicated this week he did not believe this area would be hurt by lack of custom combines during the county's first bumper wheat crop in almost a decade.

"We had some out of town boys from Arizona in this morning," Patterson said Friday, "and one of them said he knew of about 30 more on their way. If they make it this far, we shouldn't have any difficulty in getting the harvest in."

Patterson told The Brand that Deaf Smith county, because of its irrigation, always produced enough wheat each year to bring in custom harvesters, where other counties in which farmers depended almost entirely on dryland crops had not been able to produce during the past years of drought and harvesters were not used to going there.

He said most of the farmers in this area who relied on custom cutting already had contracts made for the harvest and were in no trouble.

"WE ALSO HAVE a several privately-owned machines here in the county which will help out a lot. Others (counties) where they don't produce much wheat each year are short of such machines," Patterson commented. "Looks like we're going to be in good shape."

About cotton field labor, Patterson said the southern parts of the state were "overloaded" in laborers and he had already received numerous calls from people looking for work here. "Some calls have come from as far as Waco to work in the cotton fields around here," he said. "Levelland area is running over as far as field hands are concerned, and it looks like we won't be hurting around here in that respect, either."

Elderly Hereford Couple in Wreck

Back in Hereford after being involved in a serious auto mishap are Mr. and Mrs. Price Frasier of 1608 E. Third St.

The mishap occurred Monday around noon as the Frasers were driving toward Hastings, Okla., to visit relatives. Their car, hitting a curb and bounding over it, turned two flips before it came to a stop in a six-foot ditch. It was a total loss.

Demos Prep for Rally, Huge Crowd Expected

MORE THAN 1,000 Democrats from Hereford, the area and over the state are expected to pour into the Hereford High School football stadium Saturday night for an area-wide under-the-stars "Democratic Party Night."

According to Louis Woodford, county Democratic chairman, reports from other county chairmen are that ticket sales, $3, are "going great" and "enthusiasm is building high." Interested Democrats from as far south as Muleshoe and north to Dumas are expected to attend the huge political rally to hear various candidates, or their representatives, on levels from county to national.

Main speaker for the evening will be a highly respected Democrat from Greenwood, S. C., who is known as one of the most forceful speakers in the party, William Jennings Bryan Dorn.

Dorn became the youngest member of the South Carolina House of Representatives in 1939 when elected to that office at the age of 22. In 1941 he became the youngest member of the State Senate by a special vote.

After serving four years in the Army Air Force during WW II, he was elected to Congress in 1946, becoming one of the youngest members of the 80th Congress, was runner-up in 1948, returned in 1950 and has been without opposition to the succeeding Congresses.

Texas Senator Ralph Yarborough, though he has not yet officially accepted his invitation to attend the rally, will most likely be here, according to his state campaign manager Judge Bob Slagle.

Dodgers Take League Lead

Staving off a late rally, the Dodgers downed the Giants, 10-8, Friday night to take first place in the Little League as play began in the second half of the season.

The Thursday night major league contest between the Yankees and Cardinals was rained out. The Dodgers scored three times on one hit in the bottom of the first inning and then added five more in the second and two in the fourth to hold a 10-0 lead.

However the Giants run in three tallies in the fifth inning and batted around in the top of the sixth for five more before the side was retired.

The Giants out-hit the Dodger, 6-5, but it was the fourth (Continued On Page 2)

FIRST-HALF FIGURES

Van Smith Is Leading Little League Batter

According to first half batting averages released Friday by official scorer Harold Lorerwald, pitcher-shortstop Van Smith of the league-leading Yankees is the league's top hitter with a stinging .458 average, based on 15 or more times at bat.

Smith collected 11 hits in 24 trips to the plate to place ahead of the Cardinals' shortstop David McNelly who is second with a .412 average. Third, and close behind McNelly is the Giants' Ronnie Duncan. Duncan hit .409.

Fourth in the league is the Cards' catcher Mike Ferguson, who hit a respectable .391. Rounding out the top five was another Card, first baseman Steve Conway who hit .389.

The Yankees, who won all of the eight games they played to become first half champs, were first in team batting with a .287 mark. The second-place Cardinals also placed second in batting, hitting .257. They placed ahead of the Dodgers, who were last in league placed but third in batting with a .256. The third-place Giants were last in team batting with a low .210 mark. Individual batting averages (Continued On Page 2)

ALL FOUR . . .

Airplane Crash Victims Recovering In Hospitals

All four Hereford victims of last Sunday's airplane crash near Ruidoso, N. M., are reported progressing and improving in hospitals, according to reports received late yesterday morning.

In Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo are Mr. and Mrs. Austin Rose Jr. and in El Paso hospitals are Mrs. Dick Ross, Providence Memorial Hospital, and Cameron Gault, Hotel Dieu.

Both Hereford people in El Paso have undergone surgery since the crash which was near fatal to all four had it not been for the heroic efforts of Rose, who pulled his helpless companions from the burning wreckage before the craft was totally engulfed in flames.

Mrs. Ross was the first to undergo surgery. The El Paso physicians operated on her back, where her seventh vertebra was broken, to relieve pressure on the spinal cord.

Gault underwent surgery Friday evening, which was required to stop bleeding after it was found one of his lungs was punctured by one of five broken ribs.

Both operations were successful, according to physicians. Mr. and Mrs. Rose are described as being in good spirits and progressing very nicely by Mrs. Rose's sister, Mrs. J. T. Carroll. The couple are in traction while broken limbs are healed. Mrs. Rose for a broken arm and Mr. Rose for a broken leg.

A pressure bandage was removed from Mrs. Rose's left eye Friday, which was seriously lacerated in the wreck, and very little scarring will be left the doctor told Mrs. Carroll. No damage was inflicted to the eye itself, however.

ROSS TOLD employees at Hotel Jim Hill, where he is manager, his wife had been resting comfortably Thursday and Friday evenings. He said it would be 10 days or two weeks before the actual extent of damage to her burned feet could be determined.

Gault, on the other hand, was reported to have spent a very uncomfortable night after his operation, mostly due to recovering from the antiseptic and his mending left hip, dislocated and chipped in the wreck.

The accident occurred when the plane in which the four-some was flying overshot the Ruidoso runway, crashed into tree tops and spun to the ground.

Rose, whose leg was broken in four places, managed to pull the other three from the wreckage, but not before both feet of Mrs. Ross were severely burned.

Other than the laceration over the eye, Mrs. Rose also received breaks to both of her arms, a broken leg, and slight burns to her knees. Her left arm is being kept in traction for mending.

Skypala Will Top Bowlers

Eddie Skypala was named president of the Hereford Bowling Assn. at the group's awards banquet held Friday night at the Hotel Jim Hill.

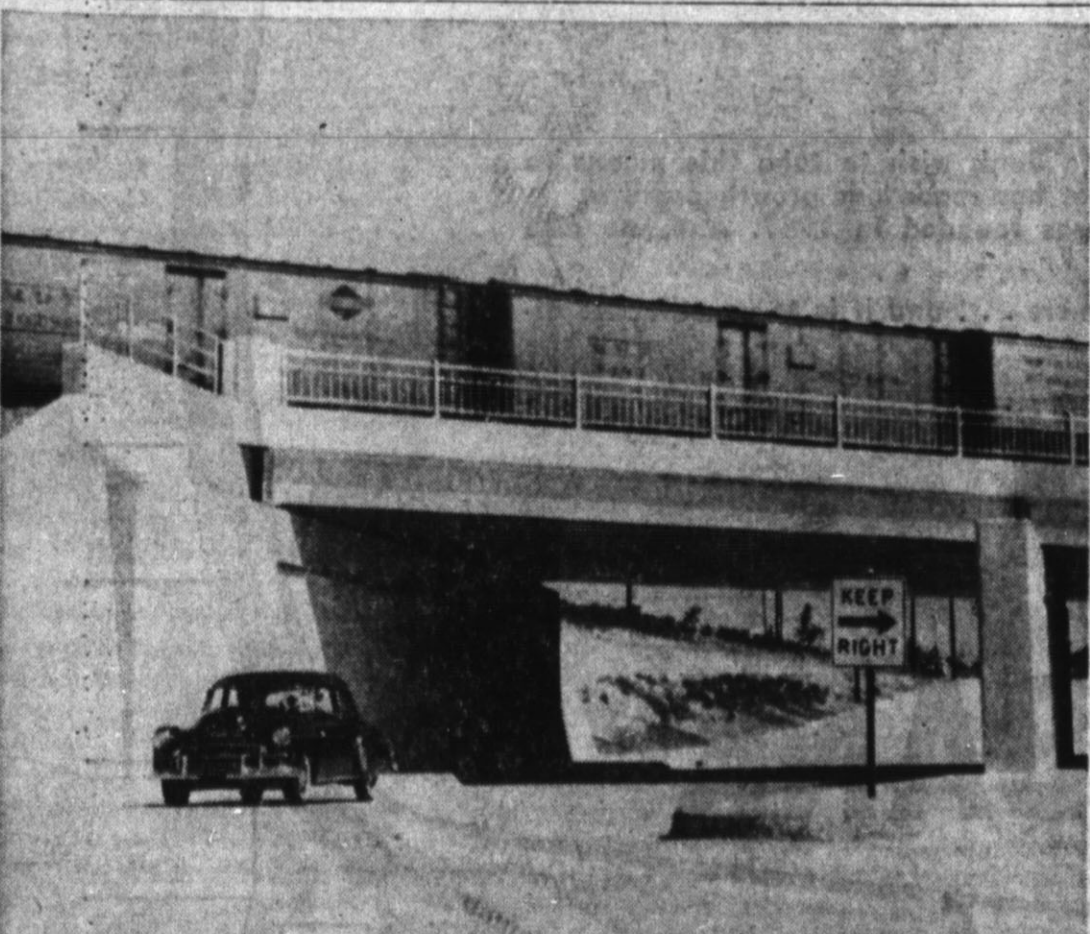

Chosen as vice presidents were Hillery Aven, Gene Loeerwald, Jack Mitchell and Leroy Aven.

New directors for the organization are, Buddie Evans, Glenn Watts, Bob Howell and Dr. John Channer. The officers and directors will take office next fall when the winter bowling season begins.

A total of 75 different trophies were awarded to teams and individuals for achievements in the season which ended last month.

MANY TROPHIES—Dub Maddox of the Hereford Bowling Assn. picked up seven trophies at the group's awards dinner Friday night. Maddox was a member of two winning teams, high single game of the season and high three-game series. The bowlers elected new officers and directors. Their pictures are inside this section. FIRST ONE THROUGH—Jeff Roberson, 137 Ave. D, drove his car through the Highway 51 underpass at 10:28 a.m. Friday and thus opened the $603,000 structure. The underpass is Hereford's first and had been under construction since Feb., 1957. A Santa Fe freight roared over Roberson's car in a timely appearance to demonstrate both uses of the underpass. For the first time in several months Deaf Smith County Hospital's monthly financial statement was in the red — $2.40 worth. Explaining the reported loss in profits to the hospital board in its meeting Thursday evening, manager T. E. Seigler said, "It's not as bad as it may look. More than $2,000 put on the books were on two accounts, both collectable. Also we had a $1,566.34 repair bill that month."

Rain in varying amounts Thursday night slowed the wheat harvest in the county. Heaviest rainfall was reported by Ira Ott, 15 miles to the southeast, where one inch was measured.

Pine stumps are used in the manufacture of adhesives, paints, soaps, phonograph records, lacquers, varnishes and insecticides.

workload. William Blakley, Yarborough's opponent this year, said he would have a representative here for the rally, and that he would be in Hereford sometime before July 26.

One candidate for the Democratic nomination for state governor, State Senator Henry Gonzalez of San Antonio, has accepted his invitation to the rally, as has Jesse Osborn of Muleshoe, candidate for re-election to the Texas House of Representatives from the 96th District.

Governor Price Daniel has written he will have a representative present for the huge event. All candidates for county offices are expected to be on hand.

"In addition to our own county, invitations have been extended to Democrats in Castro, Farmer, Odham, Swisher, Bailey and other neighboring counties," Woodford said.

Arrangements have been made to have the Walter Jetton Catering Service here for the rally to serve a barbecue dinner. The dinner will also be served at the football field. "Any excess proceeds beyond expenses will be turned over to the Democratic Party to help defray expenses," Woodford said.

John D. Pitman has been named chairman of the speaker's committee; Leo Forrest and Clint Formby, sound and lighting; Ray Cowser, entertainment. Woodford said other committees and additional members will be named before final arrangements are made.

"With a big rally of this type, we hope to attract some of the major state candidates to the High Plains," Woodford said. "If the people can actually meet and hear these candidates, we feel that we will have made valuable progress toward a more democratic form of government in this area and, for that matter, throughout the State of Texas. In addition, it is an excellent way on which to provide the area quota in county, state and national campaigns."

of Liberty, Tex., as his successor. The Hereford publisher will continue, however, as chairman of the TPA board during the next 12 months, succeeding David Lovell, publisher of the Galveston News.

A plaque, designating his service to Texas Press Association, was presented to Gillentine by the new president. Gillentine, who became associated with The Brand in 1937, purchased half-interest in the paper in 1938 from Mrs. Seth B. Holman. It was then an eight-page weekly.

On July 4, 1948, the First Sunday Brand was published, making the paper a semi-weekly. In 1949 Gillentine bought the rest of The Brand to become publisher as well as editor.

The paper has won many awards since 1937, including first place in general excellence in the National Editorial Association contests last year.

Noting The Brand's growth from an eight-page weekly to a semi-weekly running a total of 36 to 48 pages per week, Gillentine has said, "The Brand has tried to keep pace with the growth of Hereford and its territory."

College Students from Texas Serve as Guards at Capitol

By TEX EASLEY AP Washington Service

WASHINGTON (AP) - Many of the police who guard the Capitol and the congressional office buildings are college students. Two on the force this past year are Texans. One is becoming a physician and the other a minister.

Richard D. Stanberry, 29, former Amarilloan, gets his M. D. from George Washington University in June. He was named to the force by Sen. Lyndon Johnson. Clay Puckett, former owner and publisher of the weekly Devil's River News at Sonora, gets a bachelor of divinity degree from Episcopal Seminary in nearby Alexandria, Va., about the same time. He has been on the police force by appointment of Rep. Clark Fisher of San Angelo.

Born in Oklahoma City, Stanberry grew up in Amarillo and attended public schools there and in Burkburnett. He got his B. A. degree from Oklahoma City University in 1950, then he went to San Antonio to work at various jobs for several months until he went into the Air Force. While winding up his military career here as a psychological warfare specialist assigned to the State Department, he decided to enter George Washington University as a medical student, in 1958. He will now go to St. Anthony's Hospital in Oklahoma City for a three year internship.

"Then I expect to go back to Texas to go into practice with my brother," he said. "We may go to Pampa, or perhaps Dallas or somewhere over in East Texas."

His brother Cecil R. Stanberry is now an intern at St. Anthony's. Puckett is going back to Sonora to be ordained this month, and next fall is to assume the pastorate of St. Thomas' Episcopal Church in Corpus Christi.

Married and the father of three children, including an 18-year old daughter who plans to enter the University of Texas next fall, Puckett carries with him into the ministry a rich background of experience.

Born April 16, 1914 in Asheville, N. C., he was only an infant when his parents decided to return to their home state of Texas. They went to San Antonio, where his father for many years was an Agriculture Department entomologist. Graduating from high school in San Antonio in 1932, Puckett spent several of the depression years working part time in Austin and attending the University of Texas.

He studied journalism and worked on the old Austin Tribune, then managed to buy the Devil's River News in 1939. It was his paper until he sold it in 1955 to raise money to come here with his family and study for the ministry. It took all he got, plus income from the job as a Capitol policeman, to get that B. D. degree.

Puckett joined the Marines in 1942, soon after the outbreak of World War II, and fought in several battles in the Pacific before he finally got his discharge in 1946. While he was away his wife, the former Mary Jack King of Marfa, ran the paper. She was a journalism student when they met at the U. of T. and were married.

Some of Puckett's friends on Capitol Hill relate that his resolve to enter the ministry came in the midst of a harrowing battle experience. Their account is he vowed that if he survived he would devote the rest of his life to God's work in the pulpit.

"That makes an interesting story," Puckett smilingly said. "But there was no sudden decision on my part to enter the ministry. It grew out of an accumulation of experiences over the years before as well as during the war."

Members present were Messdames Ernest Flood, Dick Godwin, M. C. Kaul, Joe Landers, G. C. Merritt, J. C. Morrison, Harold Rudd, Kenneth Rudd, P. B. Sowell, George Turrentine, R. L. Wilson and Howard Walker.

Guests present at the meeting were Jackie Lynn Nunley, Katherine Flood, Mrs. Frank Zinser and Barbara, Mrs. Forrest Marnell, Dorothy, Joan, Christine and David, Mrs. W. D. Patterson and Sandra, Mrs. Buck Green, Sandra and Janie, Mrs. Alice Cooper and Joyce and Mrs. Emmett Johnson, Donna and Anna.

"Actually, my experience as a weekly newspaper editor is the real reason, I suppose. An editor becomes intimately involved with people and their problems. I enjoyed working with them and got deep satisfaction out of opportunities to be of help."

Elaborating on his decision, he said it probably grew out of a fusion of this desire to be of help and work with people in regard to material problems and of an appreciation of the spiritual values in life. For years he was an active layman in the Episcopal church at Sonora.

While here Puckett and his family have lived in a house on Alexandria's outskirts. Besides the daughter who is going to the U. of T., Mary Jack, the Pucketts have two other children, David, 8, and Rebecca, 4.

Here recently advising congressmen on what farmers in his area think about pending feed legislation was R. G. Peeler of Hereford, spokesman for the Grain Sorghum Producers Assn.

The 50-year old former oil field production superintendent now keeps busy managing large farms he owns in the Panhandle. He grew up on a farm down near Hearne. After studying Geology at the University of Texas he worked in various oil fields over the state.

Help Wanted! See Fred Kröll

IT'S: HER POINT OF VIEW

By BETTY BABIONE

IF YOU HEAR a man hollering for help down in Dameron Park late in the afternoons, it is probably Fred Kröll.

Fred is coach of the Pee Wee Dodgers and at present he is very much alone in the job. This particular Pee Wee bunch are the youngest, smallest, and most inexperienced players of all the leagues and really need the MOST management instead of the least. There have been as many as 24 little fellas turn out at a time for the baseball play and with that many, even a capable man like Fred has difficulties as you can imagine.

These Pee Wees are just as enthusiastic over the game as the bigger boys and they ought to have as good a chance as the others. So the call is out for men or older boys who can help out four afternoons a week between five and seven o'clock. Go to the park or contact Fred Kröll. Please!

Fred's daughter, Diane, has been working out with these Pee Wee Dodgers. And it is sure fine so far as the boys are concerned — she can pitch, hit and catch with the best of em.

WE'VE HAD a good response from adults interested in a beginners swim class. The date has been set for June 30 through July 12, with the swimmers meeting at the pool between 6:30 and 7 a.m.

The only charge will be a pool fee of two dollars, which covers the entire number of sessions.

Note to Nancy Crawford and Mrs. McCutheins: hope this answers your questions and that you can join Bill and his class June 30.

With the closing of the various Vacation Church Schools there are many many (as George Goble would say) mothers who feel as if their "vacations" are only now beginning. And I i-

Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Boyd

Minister, Wife Feted On 50th Wedding Date

The 50th wedding anniversary of the Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Boyd was celebrated June 8 in their home three miles east of Center, Tex., with a reception and open house attended by more than 100 guests.

Rev. Boyd served as pastor of the First Baptist Church of Hereford from 1910 to 1911.

Hosts and members of the house party were their six children and families: Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Boyd Jr. of Wichita Falls, The Rev. and Mrs. John H. Bull and children, Johnny and Jennie, of Knoxville, Tenn., Mr. and Mrs. Louis B. Carr and daughters, Diane and Carolyn, of Carlsbad, N. M., Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Brown and children, Jimmy and Mary Madelyn Ruth Brown, of Nederland, Miss Lucile Boyd of Nederland, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe E. Smith and daughters, Janis and Terry Jo, of Woodville.

Both the Rev. and Mrs. Boyd were born and reared in Wise County and were married at the close of the graduation exercises of Decatur Baptist College in 1908. In June Rev. Boyd gave the commencement address to the graduating class of 1958 in connection with the 60th Anniversary of the school. The intervening years have been spent in various areas of Texas where Rev. Boyd has served as minister of Baptist churches. Since retirement in 1949, Rev. and Mrs. Boyd have lived at Center, where both are still active in church and civic affairs.

Imagine it's Open Season for packing the kids off to visit Grandmother.

This hasn't a direct connection with Bible School or grandmothers, but if ya try real hard ya might find a related thought or two: from Oxford, England, has come a list of "Ten Commandments for Parents." It is patterned after the original Biblical Commandments and, just as with the rules handed down from Moses, may be a little difficult to abide by all the time. But there's no doubt it is an ideal standard for both parents and grandparents.

"TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR PARENTS"

"1. Thou shalt love thy child with all thy heart and soul and strength but wisely with thy mind." (It's that "wisely with thy mind" part that isn't always easy.)

"2. Thou shalt think of thy child not as something belonging to thee but as a person." (You probably have heard that children are little people.)

"3. Thou shalt regard his respect and love not as something to be demanded, but as something to be worth earning."

"4. Every time thou art out of patience with thy child's immaturity and blunderings thou shalt call to mind some childish adventure and mistakes which attended thine own coming of age." (And that in many cases would be real food for thought!)

"5. Remember it is thy child's privilege to make a hero out of thee and take thy thought to be a proper one." (How many can truthfully say they fully live up to this one?)

"6. Remember also that thy example is more eloquent than thy fault-finding and moralizing." (This one, too!)

"7. Thou shalt strive to be a signpost on the highway of life rather than a rut out of which the wheel cannot turn." (Does this make you think of people who have the attitude of "What was good enough for me is good enough for my children?")

"8. Thou shalt teach thy child to stand on his own feet and fight his own battles." (I believe this stresses independence, rather than outright pugilism.)

"9. Thou shalt teach thy child to see beauty — to practice kindness — to love truth and to live in friendship." (This one is the crux in what is commonly called "the art of living.")

"10. Thou shalt make the place wherein thou dwellest a real home — a haven of happiness for thyself, thy children, for thy friends and for thy children's friends." (This may take some doing — making a haven of happiness for yourself and thy children's friends at the same time.)

And there you have it. Now if someone would come up with wise suggestions on how to deal with all the specific problems which arise in a household of children, while at the same time practicing these commandments; then we're all set to be perfect parents.

Who Did What to the Electric Co-ops of Texas?

Advertisements and circulars have recently appeared in this area purporting to show Mr. Leroy Saul as a friend of the Electric Cooperatives of Texas. These advertisements and circulars used actions of the Supreme Court and the Texas Legislature of 1957 to prove this point.

Anyone can use a part of the facts of an issue for political purposes and make them appear favorable to himself. However, all of the facts can change the picture entirely. The people of Texas want to know every side of an issue before making a decision.

The Texas Legislature of 1937 enacted a law under which the Electric Cooperatives were to operate. This law did not provide for the changes that came later due to the tremendous growth of the rural areas and cities. Time proved that this law contained some glaring inequities for the Electric Cooperatives. The Electric Cooperatives of Texas petitioned the Legislature in 1957 to correct these inequities in order that they could operate on a fair and equal basis with the commercial power companies.

In the interest of justice and public welfare the Cooperatives ask the Legislature to make the following changes in the law.

- (1) Cooperatives should be allowed to serve anyone in a rural area that requests their service.
- (2) Cooperatives should be allowed to serve anyone who requests their service in an annexed area or incorporated area of a city, provided, the Cooperative was serving the area before it was annexed or incorporated.
- (3) Municipal Government should be allowed to tax and regulate Cooperatives, and grant, or withhold franchises in the same manner they do commercial companies.
- (4) If a Municipal Government denies a franchise after annexation, the Cooperative should be allowed ten years time to retire from the area.

The Electric Cooperatives of Texas are owned and operated by farmers and ranchers who are proud of their heritage. They do not need, or ask for, special privileges, but they do believe their business should be allowed to operate on an equal basis with commercial power companies.

LET THE FACTS BE KNOWN

Mr. Alonzo Jamison of Sanger, Texas sponsored the original House Bill No. 547. It was an equal rights bill which proposed to correct the inequities of the Electric Cooperative Corporation Act. This bill never reached the House in its original form. It was referred to the State Affairs Committee. They further referred it to a three-man sub-committee, chaired by Mr. Leroy Saul. This bill was re-drafted by Mr. Saul and reported out of the sub-committee, and full committee, without any other member of either committee having read the draft.

When Saul's draft of House Bill No. 547 reached the floor of the House, it was not satisfactory to Jamison or the Electric Cooperatives. Mr. Jamison, and Mr. Walter Schwartz of Brenham, Texas offered several amendments to restore equality as included in Jamison's original bill, but each was defeated. At the last moment, when the House apparently was forced to accept Saul's bill or nothing, many members voted for it. They knew it was unfair to the Electric Cooperatives, but felt it was better than making no change at all.

As a result of Mr. Leroy Saul's House Bill No. 547, and his fight against the bill and amendments offered by Mr. Jamison and Mr. Schwartz, Texas Electric Cooperatives operate under the following conditions.

(1) If an Electric Cooperative constructs, or has available, a distribution line in a rural area served by a commercial power company, the Cooperative can not serve any electric load in the area which is being served, or has been served by the commercial company. If a person requests service at such location, the Cooperative must refuse according to the present law.

A commercial power company can invade any rural area served by an Electric Cooperative and take any load they can get, regardless of whether or not it is being served by an Electric Cooperative.

(2) If a city extends its limits to include an area served and developed by an Electric Cooperative, the Cooperative must obtain a franchise or abandon the area. If the city grants the franchise, the Cooperative is prohibited from serving any new load that develops in the area after it is annexed. This is simply a guarantee that the Cooperative will be choked out of the area after it has become profitable for commercial companies.

The commercial company has the authority to build in to an annexed area served by a Cooperative. They can serve the new loads developed in the area, and take any load the Cooperative is now serving that will change over to them.

Do you believe it is right to restrict an Electric Cooperative in an area it started serving when commercial companies refused to do so? The only thing the Cooperatives ask for is the right to protect their investments, and be allowed, under the same conditions as a commercial company, to serve any load, or any load which develops, in the rural areas, or areas which were rural when the Cooperative commenced serving them.

The bill and amendments sponsored by Mr. Jamison and Mr. Schwartz would have put the Electric Cooperatives on an equal basis with the commercial companies. The bill sponsored by Mr. Leroy Saul left them in the condition explained above.

Now ask yourself—is Leroy Saul a foe or friend of the Electric Cooperatives of Texas.

Richard Hager, Pat Shelton Say Vows in Church Rites

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Shelton of McLean announce the marriage of their daughter, Patricia Joan, to Richard Hager, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Hager of this city. The wedding took place on May 29 in the Pampa Church of the Brethren with Rev. James Minnich performing the ceremony before an altar arrangement of candelabra holding white tapers.

Miss Sheila Dickson, college friend of the bride, wearing a beige linen sheath and a white carnation corsage, served as the bride's attendant. Best man was Jim Burkett, student at West Texas State College.

The bride wore a pink linen chemise fashioned with a round-neckline and fitted bodice. The skirt featured a lace overskirt encircled at the knees with a satin band which met with a bow in front. She wore a pink chiffon "coolie" hat and white accessories, and carried an orchid arranged with a shower of white satin ribbons on a white Bible. Her something old was an heirloom silk handkerchief carried by her grandmother when she was married, and a coin minted in 1876 in her shoe that had belonged to her great-grandfather. She also carried out the traditions of wearing something borrowed and blue.

The bride's mother chose a pink nylon knit dress with white accessories and Mrs. Hager wore a blue silk shantung suit with black accessories. Their corsages were fashioned of white carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the social hall of the church. The refreshment table was covered with a linen cutwork cloth and held a center arrangement of white stock, pink carnations with pink candytuft fillers in a crystal bowl. The wedding cake was encircled with tufts of pink net, and topped with a miniature bridal couple.

Miss Jeanene Shelton, the bride's sister, presided at the punch bowl and Miss Betty Hager, sister of the bridegroom, served cake.

For a wedding trip to New Mexico, the bride traveled in her wedding ensemble. She was graduated from McLean High School and from West Texas State College. During the past year she has been employed as a third grade teacher in the Will Rogers Elementary School in Amarillo, where she plans to return next year.

Hager was graduated from Hereford High School and has attended West Texas State College for the past three years. The couple plan to live here during the summer. He will return to West Texas in the fall for his senior year.

Donna Stagner Feted at Shower

Miss Donna Jean Stagner was named honoree at a bridal shower given in the home of Mrs. J. R. Allison Thursday evening.

Miss Stagner will wed the Rev. Robert Parrott of Baton Rouge, La., on June 19, in Perkins Chapel at Southern Methodist University in Dallas.

Receiving the guests with Mrs. Allison were the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Owen Stagner, and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Wayne Stagner of Kingston, N. C., who with her husband is visiting in the home of his parents here.

The bride's table was laid with a white organdy cloth over pastel pink. The center arrangement of white majestic daisies and pink carnations rested on a satin and lace base edged with a pink satin ruffle interspersed with greenery. A pair of ruffled pink hearts and pyramiding tapers backed the arrangement and extending across the table were pink satin streamers caught at the ends with miniature nosegays.

Mrs. E. W. Young and Mrs. Howard Scott presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. H. E. Miller and Mrs. Louie LeGrand assisted in the dining room.

Mrs. W. R. Search of Stratford, the bride-elect's aunt, presided at the book of names and Ruth Ann Allison, Mary Ann Young and Diane Wilson played piano music during the calling hours. Approximately 60 guests signed the guest register.

Other hostesses included Mesdames A. O. Thompson, Louie LeGrand, Jimmie Alfred, S. B. McLallen, Floyd Tucker, Hardy Benson, E. E. Roberson, Virgil Young, Gladys Miller, Jack Kirksey, Lynn Kester, E. W. Young, Clint Formby, J. B. Snead, and Joe Story.

Friday the 13th No Indian Jinx

Despite it being Friday the 13th, the first-place Indians slugged their way to another victory Friday night, dropping the White Sox, 10-3, and extending their winning streak to five games.

Bill Steele, effective all the way, gave the White Sox only two hits, one in the fifth and one in the seventh. He struck out five.

Starter Roger Albracht was going along rather smoothly until the Indians exploded with five big runs in the fourth inning. The White Sox used two more pitchers before the game was completed.

THE INDIANS, who now have a 5-0 record, picked up seven hits to notch the win.

Thursday night the last-place Tigers played the second-place Red Sox an exciting game but lost, 6-5 in extra innings.

The Red Sox pushed across the big run in the last of the eighth inning on a double by Tommie Smithers. Pitcher Gary Smith lead off the inning with a walk. Butch Hoff went down on strikes and then Smithers delivered his blow.

Smith, the winning pitcher, also had a good night at the plate. In two official trips he had one hit, a three-run home run in the fifth. He also scored two runs.

The Red Sox are right behind the Indians with a 4-1 record. The two will meet Tuesday night in a game that should be a thriller.

ROCKFORD, Ill. — Judie DeGroot isn't a bit squeamish about her hobbies — raising white rats and taxidermy.

The 16-year-old ventured into the world of natural science last fall when she obtained two albino rats — one male and one female.

When one of the baby rats died, she consulted a couple of books on taxidermy and stuffed it. When she stumbled on a dead screech owl she prepared it and entered it in the DeKalb science fair.

Now she is trying to prepare a raccoon.

School Study Group Slates New Topics

LUBBOCK — A series of new topics for education research will be considered at a meeting of the West Texas School Study Council slated at Texas Tech June 25.

Dr. Berlie Fallon, executive secretary of the council, said the WTSSC is rounding out its first year of operation with 13 research bulletins published for the benefit of member schools.

The council, which was founded last year with 12 South Plains school systems and Tech as charter members, will continue to conduct research on local and regional education problems, said Fallon, who is a Tech associate professor of education.

Studies accomplished under WTSSC sponsorship this year included research on standardized testing programs in nine West Texas schools, material about educating gifted children, teacher efficiency rating, optional TV, extended school year, and school attendance and withdrawal problems.

"One of the member schools said that the materials which the WTSSC collected in only one study — about gifted children — would have cost the school more by having its own staff do it than the cost of one year's membership in the council," Fallon noted.

Tech graduate students in education assist in doing research for the council.

Up for consideration for possible bulletin subjects in the academic year beginning Sept. 1 is research in guidance, in-service training, public relations, superintendent - school board relationships, curriculum, teacher evaluation, personnel administration and school-agency relationships.

"It's doubtful that a full-time research director in any school system can perform as much research in a year's time as can the council with its varied resources, contacts and its cooperative approach to solving school problems," Fallon added.

He pointed to the council emphasis on interchange of ideas and discussion of problems common to all schools in this area as another benefit of the council. It is also affiliated with the Associated

Father's Day Is Family Day

In the heart and mind of every person is a special little shrine to his own dad, and now that a day is set aside each year to "honor our fathers," Father's Day has joined many other important dates on the American calendar. It is not the outward grandeur of the observance but the inward spirit of love and devotion imparted by Dad himself for his family through the years, that makes the day something special in everybody's language.

A GAME FOR DAD—A tight game of checkers becomes a family affair at the home of Dr. Wesley B. Owen, 612 Bowie, when the head of the household and son Jimmy, 11, get set for the evening. Mother and three-year-old Wesley anxiously watch the outcome. Like many other fathers, Dr. Owen will be showered with love and affection today.

SUNDAY MORNING—Father's Day will be no exception at the R. V. Young home, 107 Ave. F, shoes have been shined, ties are straight and bonnets are in place. Pictured as they depart from their home for church Mr. and Mrs. Young bring up the rear for little Laurie, who is one year old, petite Nancy who is three, and six-year old Mike.

FATHER READS BEST—The children of the Rev. and Mrs. Church which the Rev. Davis serves as pastor. David, 5½, is seated next to his father and Mark who is 19 months of age, listens and watches mother do some artistic sketches. (Staff Photos)

REMEMBER WHEN?

By CHARLIE SEEDS
Just about everybody in the country took sides over that famous trial, and during the long six years when the accused and convicted men fought to have the decision reversed. Plays were written based upon their fight, and there were innumerable articles and books. Their names were Sacco and Vanzetti. They had been convicted of killing two men in a holdup. . . but many felt that they had been unjustly convicted for their radical political beliefs. Their trial was sharply criticized by the Wickersham Commission on law procedure. But year after year they appealed, steadfastly maintaining their innocence. And in the end they failed. The arguments over their case were to last for many years more. . . but the day finally came when time ran out on them. Sacco and Vanzetti were executed.

Remember the year?
Those were days when a man buying a "horseless carriage" was still a sharp horse-trader. He looked around for a fair, honest deal, the best he could find. . . and he looked for a dealer he could trust. The year was 1927. Choosing your auto dealer is important today. You want a dealer who can back up the sale with the best service facilities, and who makes a business of giving a fair deal. Put those facts together and they add up to getting a new 1958 FORD from CHARLIE SEEDS MOTOR CO., INC. 146 E. Second. Phone EM 4-2727.

The bride-elect's chosen colors of pink and blue were used throughout the house in decoration. The refreshment table was laid with a lace cloth, a wedding gift from the honoree's mother, underlaid with pink. An arrangement of pink sweet-heart roses and peace roses combined with baby's breath, centered the table. In the receiving line were the bride-elect and her mother, Mrs. Leatrice Sparks, and the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. M. T. Rutter. Gifts were shown by Mrs. Jesse Jett and Clea Kay Rutter. Miss Sylvia Sparks kept the register and assisting with the serving were; Karen Sue Smith, Tawana Thompson, Betty Cates and DeAnne Sparks. Approximately 60 persons called during the afternoon.

Sandra Glenn, Don Robison Exchange Vows in Frio Church

The marriage of Miss Sandra Glenn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Glenn Rt. 3, and Don Edd Robison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gaston Robison of Lamesa, took place Saturday at 6 p.m. in the Frio Baptist Church.

The Rev. B. H. Baldwin, pastor, read the double-ring service before an archway of greenery and satin flanked by emerald palms. Baskets of pink gadioli and seven branched candelabra holding white wedding tapers framed the nuptial space.

Miss Susie Loerwald, pianist, and Mrs. Matt Nix Jr., vocalist, provided the wedding music. Miss Loerwald played a brief concert of nuptial selections preceding the ceremony and accompanied Mrs. Nix who sang "I love You Truly," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer." She also played the traditional wedding marches.

Miss Glynna Masten of Sudan, niece of the bride, was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Shirley DeLozier of Dimmitt, Jeannene Robison of Lamesa, sister of the bridegroom, and Marilyn Nix of Amherst.

All the attendants' dresses were fashioned identically of pink cotton satin having low necked bodices with short sleeves and full ballerina skirts. They carried line bouquets of white carnations.

Judy Glenn, of Dimmitt, niece of the bride, was flower girl and candlelighters were Gale Mastin of Sudan, niece of the bride, and Kenneth Robison of Lamesa, brother of the bridegroom. The nieces were dressed identically to the other feminine attendants. Vicky Glenn of Amarillo, nephew of the bride, carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

Bill Mitchell of Fort Worth served as best man and groomsmen were Robert Baldwin of Hereford, Jerry Cantwell of Clovis, N. M., and Jon Mac Pruitt of Lubbock. Ushers were David Gibson of Lamesa and Norman Nelson of Dimmitt.

Escorted and given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in a traditional wedding ensemble of white bridal satin and petal point lace. The bodice and the wide low neckline were enhanced by shallow scallops and the long fitted sleeves came to petal points at the hands. The full bell shaped overskirt of lace was joined at the bottom to a ruffle of tulle. Her lace-edged veil of illusion was held in place by a tiara of lace and fluted satin, and she wore a single strand of heirloom pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with a single white orchid surrounded with stephanotis.

The bride's mother wore navy silk shantung with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Robison wore a beige suit of brocaded silk with pink accessories and a pink carnation corsage.

Following the wedding a reception was held in Fellowship Hall of the church. Assisting with the hospitalities were Mrs. Earl Glenn, Norma Battles, Mrs. DeWitt Murray, Mrs. H. C. Mastin and Mrs. Steve Glenn.

For traveling the bride chose a brown and beige suit with beige accessories and the orchid detached from the wedding bouquet.

They will make their home at 2015 Broadway, Lubbock.

The bride is a graduate of Dimmitt High School and has recently been employed at The Hereford Brand. Robison, also a graduate of Dimmitt High School, is a student at Texas Technological College, Lubbock.

Dr. Carl E. Bates, pastor of the church, read the double ring ceremony before an improvised altar arranged with fernery and candelabra holding, lighted tapers.

Traditional wedding music was provided by Mrs. Fran Featherston, who also accompanied Miss Kay Wilhite and Miss Bette Kay Reed as they sang "I'll Never Stop Loving You," and Miss Wilhite as she sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

George Hamilton served his brother as best man and L. R. Hamilton ushered.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, W. M. Holcomb, was attired in a white charilly lace and slipper satin wedding gown fashioned with a low round neck and long petal point sleeves. The long full skirt ended in a chapel train in the back. Her veil of illusion fell from a lace crown to finger-tip length and she carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid surrounded with stephanotis.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Hamilton, 5010 Fannin. Ruth Neaville and Paula Bridwell presided at the refreshment table. After a short wedding trip the couple returned to Amarillo where they are making their home.

The bride is a graduate of Hereford High School and is now a student nurse at Northwest Texas Hospital. Hamilton attended Hereford High school and is presently employed at Safeway Foods Inc. in Amarillo.

What . . . Father's Day Again?

Despite A Few Warped Ideas, Dad Still Appreciates The Occasion

Today is Father's Day and, being a father, we have some very conclusive thoughts on the subject. Mostly, though, they would only get us into a lot of trouble, so we will pass the matter over lightly and delve cautiously around the outer edges.

There are several classification of fathers, and just as many varied thoughts on why Father's Day was created. One radical group calculates it was originated by the more aggressive merchants who just couldn't wait 11 months until another Mother's Day rolled around. Most fathers, being easy-going characters, are prone to accept the event in the spirit which it is offered—and definitely enjoy the day for all it is worth.

Any dad who ever said, "Go ask your mother," is bound to realize that Father's Day is somewhat of an afterthought, and that it will never reach the pinnacle occupied by numerous other special occasions. Instead of resenting the fact that pickles, doughnuts and salami are given on an entire week, dad is thoroughly flattered and pleased to get his one single day. This proves he is a pretty good Joe, after all, and is well on the road to become a better father.

In the first place, if Father's Day was supposed to amount to very much, it wouldn't have ever been scheduled at this particular time. June, in these many years, has been the month for brides. We ask you, how can an old gray haired daddy be expected to compete with a sweet young thing in a lace-bedecked gown of sheer satin?

Many of the younger generation of fathers will tell you that Father's Day comes in June, chiefly so the family can soften up the old man a bit and convince him that he should steer the family vacation away from his favorite fishing haunt in the mountains. This is wrong, of course, as a father of any experience will point out: "Why do they go to all that trouble? They always win out, anyway?"

Another reason Father's Day comes in the month of June is because this partic-

Territory Faces New Economy

When it comes to diversified farming, we do not know of an area in the country which has more thoroughly adapted the modern methods than the Hereford territory. Needless to say, diversification has been a tremendous factor in the area's recent growth and expansion.

Like most other Texans, however, producers in this area think big, act big and operate big. What's more, they pretty well make it stick. As a result, farming has become a tremendously big business and most farmers in the community actually operate on a larger scale than the average business man.

Meanwhile, Hereford and the territory import dozens of farm products, sometimes from different points. In direct contrast to conditions in this territory, the farm areas surrounding Dallas, Ft. Worth, Houston and other large cities in the Southwest are specializing in production of milk, eggs, butter, melons and other farm necessities for city consumption.

Located strategically adjacent to Amarillo and Lubbock, this field will sooner or later be exploited by scores of local residents. In many ways, it will some day outshine the big crops as the Panhandle expands and flourishes. Milk, turkey, fryer and egg production have already been launched on a small scale, but the surface has barely scratched on the overall potential.

Such, at least, has been the history of similar areas surrounding larger cities and, needless to say, history has a way of repeating itself on occasions where demands are similar.

THE GOLDEN YEARS

A Barbed Wire Fence United F. M. Kesters

By MRS. E. L. CRISWELL.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Kester of 708 N. Miles in Hereford owe their first date to a brand new barbed wire fence, across a road that had never had a fence crossing it and without a gate.

A barbed wire fence romantic? Well! A brand new barbed wire fence began the romance of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Kester. "I had known Hallie for a long while, but she was in school and I was older than she, so it just did not enter my mind that one day I would fall in love with, and win her for my wife," said Mr. Kester.

"THERE WAS a revival going on several miles from where I worked in my father's jewelry store. I had a spirited horse and an HMT buggy and was sure I had plenty of time to keep my date with my girl, but as it happened I did not keep it. I closed the store in no particular hurry and began the trip over an old road that had been used for many years and which I thought would cut off a few miles from the distance than if I took the regular road.

"I was jogging along at a nice pace and came upon this new fence, where one had never been before. I knew if I followed the fence to a gate I would miss my date for sure. I took it down and led my horse across, hurriedly put the wires back in place and went on, knowing I was going to be a little late, but I did not know what that late-ness would have in store for me. As I drove up I saw my girl leaving with another fellow. Naturally I was disappointed.

"I saw a lovely girl coming down the steps of the church and asked her to allow me the privilege of taking her home, she graciously consented and I became interested. I liked her conversation and I think she enjoyed having a good listener. I asked for another date. Both our former dates were very unhappy with us, but we were drawn together and kept company for almost four years.

"WE WERE married in the First Methodist Church in Sherwood, Tex. Since it was to be a church wedding, we decided we would need a rehearsal and many years later the preacher told us he was so nervous, as he had never read a ceremony, and how glad he was that we had had the rehearsal. He did not make a mistake and we were married without incident.

"My father was a jeweler and wanted me to come into the business as a partner, and in later years take it over. I did not think I wanted to be a jeweler, so I refused and got a job on the 69 Ranch, which was located, where Barnhart now stands. I had the care of eight or 10 windmills and the upkeep of 40 miles of line fence. It must be ridden at least once a week, more often if there were high winds or storms.

"There were no unions to set the working hours then and we left headquarters long before the sun rose and returned long after it had set. It did not take me long to learn I did not want to be a cowboy. I returned home and learned the jewelry business. My family has had five jewelers, my father, myself and my three sons. I do not know if the grandsons will learn the trade or not. Lynn has some of my father's old jewelry tools in his shop today.

"I REMEMBER that in drouths the ranchers would send a man to go over the pasture and cut off a form of cacti, called sotol. It had a head, something like a cabbage head that grew on a stalk some five or six feet tall. The sheep would follow the man around all day eating it until they could hold no more. It was only used during a drouth. They also used (Sakawista), which grows in a clump with long blades about the size of a shoe string, very tough and were used in much the same way that Russian Thistle and bear grass were used in making small chicken house and windbreaks for livestock.

"We came to Deaf Smith County because I was looking for a town with a future, and I have not been disappointed in Hereford. I think it is still a town with a future and I am sure we will see many improvements made in the next few years," he concluded.

"Yes I remember our first date," said Mrs. Kester. "I always played the organ for the services and was later than the other girls coming from the church, or I would probably have been gone.

"We had a small wedding, not many attendants and my dress was a fitted blouse of white Cashmere, trimmed in white silk lace, with a Peter Pan collar also of lace. Long Mutton Leg sleeves with lace at the wrists. My skirt was gored and fitted at the waist with a gradual flare to the hem, making it very very full and lined with crinolin to make it stand out as if I wore hoops.

"I carried white carnations, but I will let a clipping from the Iron County Record tell about the wedding:

Miss Lela Stonehouse seated herself at the organ; in a moment her well trained fingers and musical soul sent out on the evening breeze the sweet, sweet strains of La Gondrina, all eyes were trained to the door to receive the impression of a picture which time can never erase from memory's casket.

Judge Fokes, grand old man, his eyes drooping with the consciousness of fatherly love that permeated his whole being, his head turned with a mass of white hair that would shame a snowdrift, on his arm his baby Hallie in her wedding robes, marching down the aisle, while Mr. F. M. Kester on the arm of Mr. M. J. Norell came down the opposite aisle meeting at the altar. The Rev. Dunn spoke the sacred, solemn words that made them one forever. The father surrendered his charge to him and the two happy souls went out into the New World.

Mr. Kester is one of Sherwood's most popular business men and is to be congratulated in winning for himself a jewel—a sweet spirited Christian girl of rare ability and most charming influence.

"One of my great embarrassing moments came when my bighearted husband had attended the funeral service of a little child and asked the parents to spend the night with us. We only had one set of furniture and that was for the bedroom and they had brought the grandmother with them. What was I going to do? We made pallets on the floor and I took the grandmother to my mother's home where we spent the night and hurried home the next morning to prepare breakfast for our company.

"One of the highlights of our life happened not too many weeks ago. We were attending the friendship meeting of the Eastern Star. Mrs. Argen Draper had charge of the program. She asked Frank and I to stand and Mrs. Norman Moore played the Flower Song, by Gustav Lange, which was a part of the music played at our wedding on Dec. 27, 1905.

"Our children surprised us with open house on our golden wedding anniversary. We have three boys and one girl and they are a great joy to us."

George Heards Take Vacation in Spain

(EDITOR'S NOTE: George Heards of Hereford is working in Baghdad, Iraq, for the government oil refinery. He and his wife recently took a vacation in Spain and were joined there by their daughter Martha. This is Mrs. Heards' account of the vacation.)

By MRS. GEORGE HEARDS

George and I left Baghdad on Thursday evening, March 13, 1958. We had received no word from Martha as to whether she would meet us in Spain or not, but as we had all our plans made to leave, we decided to go on. The only plane leaving for Rome on Thursday evening was on the Iraqi Airways. The plane was all right, but the pilots played with the pressure in the cabin all the way and our ears popped all the time.

On board were about 30 Iraqi men in their early 20s. They looked about like I would have looked all dressed up. Some of their shirts were so large around the neck that the collar stuck way out in front of their necks. Their shoes all looked new and they walked as if they were used to going barefoot and suddenly had to put on shoes. They played with all the gadgets on the plane.

We arrived in Rome early in the morning and the airport bus took us directly to a hotel. We were the only passengers getting off at Rome, the rest of the people went on to London. The Alitalia Airlines paid for our hotel and meals in Rome as we booked the flight through them. We stayed in a very nice first class hotel.

We took two tours of the city the day we were there. The tours lasted about three hours each. We barely had time between them for lunch. In the morning we visited St. Peter's Church outside the wall, St. Peter's in the Chains Church and the Coliseum, which was very interesting. It of course is not in too good a condition, but some reconditioning work has been done on it and it is not hard to imagine now it must have looked when it was being used for the gladiator fights.

WE SAW the ruins of the old Roman Forum and the place where the chariot races were held. The old wall around the city is still standing in many places and it looked strange to us to see new buildings near this old wall.

The churches are beautiful. There are many beautiful statues and the ceilings are especially beautiful. Most of them are in beautiful designs with lots of gold. There is usually one main altar and then several small chapels around the sides. There are no benches in the main part of the church and very few in the chapels. Our guide said that when people come to the main chapel that they stand for the service. Usually only the Pope or a bishop can use the main chapel.

There are so many sight-seers wandering around in the churches that the atmosphere is not very holy. In the afternoon we visited more catacombs. That was interesting to me. The one we visited was on top of a hill. It was located there as a good place to watch if anyone were coming, also they could start digging the places to put the corpses and as they needed more room just go deeper into the hill. It was very dark in there and we carried candles. The road we went on is part of the old Appian Way.

We left early on Saturday morning for Barcelona. The trip was very lovely as the plane flew along the coast most of the way. It was a beautiful clear day. We stopped in Milan and at Nice. We arrived in Barcelona about 2 p.m. We had trouble getting a taxi for that is the sleazebag hour. All stores are closed and the town is really dead. We went to the hotel where we had told Martha to meet us, but she wasn't there yet. So we rested a while, then went to the Tourist Agency to see what was going on in Barcelona and how to get about in Spain.

WE FOUND out that to rent a car was out of the question for it would have cost us $40 to $50 a day and that the train fares were very cheap. We decided to see the bull fights the next day so we went down to buy tickets for that. When we got back to the hotel Martha was there. She had had a wonderful trip through Italy and then on to Spain.

That evening we ate at a typical Spanish restaurant and went to a Spanish ballet. We had seen a Spanish ballet in Baghdad so we had an idea what it would be like. Here we saw only the flamenco dances, but in Barcelona there was also ballet dancing. On Sunday we went to a big park where there was folk dancing. There was a band and mostly young people would come and get in circles and do a very simple folk dance. We stayed an hour or two and there was really a crowd dancing by the time we left.

On Sunday afternoon we went to the bull fight. It was the first big one of the season (Continued On Page 2)

WATER RATE EFFECTIVE MAY 20

Members of the city council voted unanimously to put the summer water rates into effect as of May 20 at their regular meeting Monday night at the city hall. In order that residents may get the benefit of the rates on this month's billing the rates were voted to go into effect as of May 20. This move by the council has been done in past years to encourage residents of Friona to take better care of their lawns and grow more beautiful grass, shrubs and trees. The rates, which will remain in effect until September 20, are as follows: 5,000 to 30,000—15 cents per 100 gallons, 30,000 to 50,000—10 cents per 100 gallons, 50,000 and up—5 cents per 100 gallons. —THE FRIONA STAR

SPRAYING CAMPAIGN IS PLANNED

More than 150 farmers and ranchers gathered in the District Courtroom Thursday night to draw up plans for combating the billions of grasshoppers which are threatening county crops and grassland. A commercial aerial spraying firm will spray fence rows in the county, and a portion of the cropland and fieldland also has been included in aerial spray plans. Cost for spraying fence rows will be about $4 per mile, County Agent Martin Gossett estimated, with farmers and ranchers bearing the entire cost. Fencelines and weed-grown areas should be sprayed first, using a minimum of three ounces of actual Aldrin per acre. Gossett also made some concrete recommendations for grasshopper spraying in populated areas. Aldrin, he said, can be used satisfactorily to kill grasshoppers and is about the only poison which will kill them quickly, but the poison should be kept away from desirable plants and especially children. —MOORE COUNTY NEWS (Dumas)

HOPPER WAR IS BEGUN

Dallas County Agent Jerry Mobly said that latest information indicates most of the young hoppers that hatched in cropland fence rows are still there. These fence rows cannot be sprayed with the jeep-mounted sprayers under the joint county, state, USDA program because participating agencies limited that program to roadsides. But most farmers or farmer-stockmen have their own ground sprayer, and if they will spray their fence rows promptly, entomologists said, they can get a maximum hopper kill with a minimum of materials, time and cost. The recommended spray is aldrin mixed with water. The mixture is to be made so that three ounces of the aldrin will be used per acre, Mr. Mobly said. Persons who need further information about how to mix the aldrin, or the amount of water to use, should contact their county agent. Entomologists warned there are two kinds of aldrin—one to use with water, one to use with oil. Ground sprayers use the kind that mixes with water. Aerial spraying will be with aldrin mixed into oil. —THE DALHART TEXAN

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm probably is confused this week, but it's not the first time.

Dear editor:

According to an article I read yesterday afternoon while I was sitting under a tree out here on my farm—I could have said while I was resting under a tree but I have never felt that a man had to be tired before he could sit down in the shade of a tree in the summer time and I sat under this tree because I wanted to—the high cost of campaigning for office has become a serious problem and the two major political parties are trying to do something about it.

As I understand it, it sometimes costs more to run for an office than the job pays. One U. S. Senator said it costs between $150,000 and $200,000 to run for that office, while the job only pays $135,000 for a full six-year term.

You mean to say Senatoring is no better job than farming? I can understand how a farmer would spend more making a crop than he gets, it happens all the time, but I always figured a Senator was smarter.

However, what interests me about the thing is that the two parties are going to do something about it. A drive is now underway to get individuals all over the country to contribute more money. Doesn't make any difference which party you give it to, give it to the one of your choice, but give something, and the money will be taken and distributed around to cut down on the high cost of campaigning. This way a candidate will be obligated to a lot of people instead of a few.

I think we ought to get behind this program. It'll keep politicians interested in their jobs. Anybody can see if a man has to pay more for his job than his job pays, it won't be long until he gives it up and tries something else, and how could the United States face the world if it came up with half the seats in the U. S. Senate un-filled?

It's one thing for a farmer to give up and move to town, but the United States would be the laughing stock of the world if half its Senators and two-thirds its Congressmen threw in the towel because, economically speaking, they were marginal politicians, no more able to justify their existence than marginal farmers.

Personally, I think we need the U. S. Senate and Congress too and people who say if the job doesn't pay they ought to give it up and try something else are taking a mighty short-sighted view of the matter. If you'll tell me where I'm supposed to send my money to keep the Senate filled, I'll think it over.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

and one of the toreadors was a leading one of Spain. There was an enormous crowd there. I really enjoyed the fight and it was not nearly so gruesome as I had been led to believe. I guess living on a dairy farm I got used to seeing the bulls and they were so much bigger than this bull.

We spent all our spare time Sunday and Monday trying to get reservations on the train to Valencia. We finally found out what the trouble was. There was a big festival going on in Valencia and everyone wanted to go there. We finally got out of Barcelona at 8 p. m. on Monday and arrived in Valencia at 8 the next morning. We bought second class tickets. In Spain you can buy a kilometer ticket at a reduced rate and then you just have to get reservations on the train you want to go on.

We went into our second class compartment and there were three people already in there. They had been in Paris for a year and were returning to Valencia. They had all kinds of bags and baggage, including some kind of stuff in a 100-lb. burlap sack. They moved around and made room for us.

Everytime I would about get to sleep the man would rush out to get some water whenever the train would stop. It was a mail train and stopped at every crossroad. Finally we were all asleep when a window fell down.

I WOKE UP and then George woke up. He was half asleep and got up to fix the window and put his hand through it. That woke up the other people. Martha went and told the conductor and he put us in the first class car. So then we had more room to stretch out.

There wasn't much difference in the first and second class. There was a carpet on the floor in first class and the car didn't act as if it would fall apart with every move. The rails were very rough and one moves in every direction. A young American boy who is a Fulbright scholar studying in Berlin struck up an acquaintance with us and stayed with us for about four days.

When we got to Valencia all the hotel were filled so we stayed in a pension. That is something like a boarding house. They are very cheap and one can get full board and room for as little as 90 cents a day. This one we stayed in was very clean and served typical Spanish food.

The coffee is very strong and is served about half and half with hot milk. I got so I really liked it. But it is so bitter that it has to be sweetened. One of the most delicious dishes we had was paleta or something like that. It is rice cooked with all kinds of sea food and the sea food is still in the shell so the shrimp come out looking at you.

Another good dish is fish soup and garlic soup. They put bread in the soup and it makes it very thick. We really enjoyed the bread there. It is hard rolls and since we can't get anything like that here we really enjoyed it. For breakfast all that is served is rolls and cafe con leche.

We were very fortunate to be in Valencia for a festival. It is very interesting and must take weeks of preparation. Every few blocks at the street intersections was a fallah. That is a large paper mache creation depicting some theme. One would have to see them to really appreciate the work and thought that went into them.

EACH NEIGHBORHOOD has one either in the center of a square or at a street intersection. With each fallah are a band, a group of 10 senioritas with one the queen and several little kids dressed up in typical Spanish dress as were the girls. The day we were there the awards were given for the best fallah and all day these bands and girls paraded through the streets. At 4 o'clock in the afternoon these groups started parading in front of an old building that had a trellis thing in front and they would present a bouquet of flowers to be placed on this trellis. At 11 that night this was finished. So that gives you an idea how many there were. At midnight there was a gorgeous fireworks display.

I have never seen any to equal it. We had to leave early the next morning, but at midnight of that day, all the fallahs except the winner are set afire at the same time and burned up.

The next day we rode the train from 8 in the morning until 11 at night going from Valencia to Granada. This time the train was what they call an autocar. It is a one car diesel train. We took our food for the day, cheese, hard bread and fruit. All of this is very cheap in Spain. The wine there is more like grape juice and very cheap and good. It helps wash down the bread and cheese. The seats on this train were very uncomfortable. They are stationary back to back and leather with the top of the seat ending about at my shoulder and very uncomfortable.

IT WAS interesting to see the countryside. It is very hilly and mountainous. Every bit of available land is tilled and though the work is all done by hand, the farms are very well kept and the crops looked very good. On all the mountains new olive groves have been planted. We began to wonder if there were enough olive-consuming people in the world to eat all the olives.

We arrived in Granada and went directly to our hotel. The next morning we looked out of the window of our room and could see the Sierra Nevada mountains in the distance, the town of Granada and on one large hill the Alhambra and on another hill the Gypsy Caves. Granada is a charming town and I believe I liked it better than any that we were in.

The Alhambra is an old castle that was built by the Moors. The Mosaic work and the designs on the walls were beautiful. It was there that Washington Irving lived for two years and wrote "Tales of the Alhambra." There is a room there where Queen Isabella and King Ferdinand received Columbus. We spent the entire morning there and could have spent much more time. In the afternoon we visited the old Cathedral where the tombs of Queen Isabella and King Ferdinand are. Also Martha and I went shopping in the bazaars and really enjoyed that for that was the first shopping we had done. The shops were so clean and the native crafts were much better ones than what we see here.

That night we went on a trip to a Gypsy Cave to see the dances. That was really terrible. The dancing was awful. The women were ugly and dirty, but I said it was worth our money to watch the other people who went with us for most of them were older and they really looked disgusted. These caves are natural caves on the hillside and these gypsies have lived here many years. It is believed they originally came from India. We found out that all the good dancers leave the caves and make their living as professional dancers.

From Granada we took a bus to Malaga. It took four hours to go about 100 kilometers (62 miles). The road was through mountains, narrow and had no guard rails. It is a good thing there isn't much traffic. We passed about half a dozen cars in the four hours. Malaga is on the Mediterranean Sea and is beautiful. There are some beautiful houses there, more like what I had visioned Spanish villas to be. We stayed in a hotel that had been a villa and it was beautiful inside. We enjoyed the sidewalk cafes. In Spain breakfast is about 9 o'clock, lunch from 1:30 to 3 or 4 and dinner some time after 8:30. About the time we are used to eating dinner it is tea time and the sidewalk cafes are very busy.

WHEN WE arrived in Malaga, Martha and I started out to look for a hotel and we were in the middle of the main street and a boy came running up to us as if we were long lost friends and said, "Martha, how are you?" It was a boy who had been on the boat with her. So he spent the two and a half days we were there showing us around. We had also met up with an American couple from Cleveland who were spending a year in Europe so we had a very nice time there with our friends.

In Malaga there is also a Moorish castle and a fortified hilltop. We walked up the hill to the castle and all through it. It is not nearly as elaborate as the Alhambra, but is of the same style. Then we walked down and up the hill in a different place to the fort. It was quite a walk, but was worth it. The view was magnificent. On one side was the city and sea and on the other side the mountains. We had a delicious dinner at a restaurant overlooking the sea. We had hoped to go swimming, but it was too cool. One morning we rode out to a beach resort, but it rained while we were there.

We left our friends, the Davidsons and Victor, there and took a train to Cordoba. This town is famous for an old mosque, an immense structure. It is now a Catholic Church, but the Catholics are going to move to another building and the mosque will be returned to the way it used to be. It is called the Mezquita. Also there is an old Jewish Synagogue there. The houses there are built around a patio and the flowers are beautiful in the patios. I think if we ever build another house in Texas that is the way we would like it to be for that would keep the strong winds out so one could sit out in comfort.

From Cordoba we took a Taf (one of the good trains) train to Madrid. The train really wasn't very good, but we had a delicious dinner served to us at our seats similar to the way the airlines do. We will have to return to Madrid for we only had one day there and we spent most of it trying to get reservations to Barcelona for us and get Martha reservations to Bierut and get her settled for a few more days in Madrid. My impression of it was just another big town, but the people that have stayed there like it.

WE TOOK a Cook Wagon train to Barcelona. This is a sleeper car and the compartment we had would have been first class about 40 years ago in the USA, but I enjoyed it and it beat sitting up all night. We spent a day and a half in Barcelona. We stayed in a first class hotel and had a living room, bedroom, dressing room and two compartment bathroom for about $4 a night for two of us. We found some very interesting streets, narrow winding streets with little shops. It was very fascinating. The market place in the towns where we were were very nice and one had a big selection of fresh fruits, vegetables and meat and fish. I would surely enjoy one like that here.

Another thing we enjoyed was the flower markets. One morning in Barcelona we were up early and walked through the flower market. The flowers were just beautiful. The Easter Lilies were wonderful and I didn't know that there were that many in the whole world.

In the smaller cities in the south, the age of the cars amazed us and the cars seemed to be in good condition. One taxi in Granada was a 1925 Chrysler like George's family used to have. There are not too many cars except in the large towns. Then one sees many old ones. In Rome all the cars are the small ones, mostly Fiats, and American cars look odd.

WE LEFT Barcelona at 4 p. m. on Thursday and arrived in Rome that night. We spent another two days in Rome. The first one trying to get reservations on which we were to come back on was booked solid from London. Finally we got passage on a SAS plane leaving at midnight on Saturday. So we had time to visit the old Forum and explore it, visit St. Peter's Church and the Vatican City and just exploring Rome on our own. We really enjoyed it.

The tours were fine and gave us an idea where things were, but we like to have time to really see things. We did not get to see the Vatican Museum for it closed just as we got there, but there was an old castle we went through that was very interesting. It was used as a hiding place for the Pops in times of trouble. I would have liked to have had time to shop in Rome, but I couldn't have bought much for we didn't have space to bring much back with us.

There was a noticeable difference in the cost of things in Rome and in Spain. It was very reasonable in Spain and the food and hotels were good. Sometime I hope we can go back and spend at least two months.

When we returned to Baghdad, things looked pretty good, but dirtier than anything we had seen on our trip. The heat also hit us, but it was still relatively cool, only so much hotter than in Spain or Rome.

Now we are busy planning where we can go on our next vacation.

"I cook complete broiler meals for my family—thanks to my Electric Range!"

Broiler Recipe...

Here's the recipe Mrs. Wadley used when these pictures were taken. It's a complete, delicious broiler meal — one you'll want to try.

- | | |
|------------------|-----------------|
| Steaks | 2 cans Mexicorn |
| 2 cans asparagus | Tomatoes |
| 1 can pimiento | Grated Cheese |

Drain liquid from cans of vegetables and arrange in bottom of the broiler pan. Place asparagus down center of pan. Place pimiento strips down the center of asparagus. Arrange 1 can of Mexicorn on each side of asparagus. Season vegetables with salt and pepper.

Wipe steaks with damp cloth, score fat around edges to prevent curling. Place on rack of cold broiler pan, season, and place under broiler unit of electric range so the top of the steak is four or five inches from the broiler unit.

Turn over; control to Broil. Leave oven door ajar. Cook on one side until brown (about 12 minutes). Turn and brown other side (about 10 minutes).

Cut tomatoes in halves and put grated cheese on top. Arrange on broiler rack just before steaks are done.

That's the nice thing about an electric range — you can cook complete meals — at one time. There are several ways, too. You may cook complete deep well meals, complete oven meals, complete surface unit meals or, as Mrs. Wadley favors, complete broiler meals. All come out tasty, tempting and nutritious.

See the versatility of electric cooking, first-hand. Your Reddy Kilowatt dealer will give you a personal demonstration of an electric range PLUS a certificate good for two free bug lamps. Vacation Bible School Closes

By Christine Fortenberry

The vacation Bible school closed Sunday, June 13, with a program given for the parents. The 23 children exhibited the accomplishments they acquired during the one week of school.

The Rev. R. L. Evans filled the pulpit Sunday and Sunday night with 59 present for Sunday school and the sermon.

Bippus community is very dry and needs rain to bring the feed up. The sentiments on this subject are rather divided because many of the farmers who have harvest coming up soon would prefer it to stay dry.

The Caprock 4-H Club girls were hostesses to the Bippus Home Demonstration Club Wednesday, June 11, at the Simms Community house, with the guest club presenting the program. 4-H girls present were Doris Horton, Paula Criez, Glenda Homfeld, Vickie and Marsha Burns, Kathy and Cynthia Cremer, Linda Gruhkey, Linda Pinnell, Marohia Williams, Truly Benefield and Carrie Lee Fortenberry.

Bippus W. D. women present at the meeting were Mesdames Elmo Hall, G. V. Hall, Jim Parrie, C. E. Homfeld, Melvin Henderson, J. G. Fortenberry, John Morris of Adrian, Roscoe Pinnell and Miss Christine Fortenberry.

The Rev. and Mrs. R. L. Evans and daughter, Mrs. Clara Rogers and children, and the Rev. Evans' daughters-in-law, Mrs. Richard Evans and Mrs. Don Evans were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Burk and Mrs. Florence Miley. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Henderson Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Homfeld, Glenda, Jerry and Kenneth were dinner guests of the J. G. Fortenberrys.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Bradley and Beverly of Amarillo visited Saturday night and Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Fortenberry.

Mrs. Stella Sevier, Carolyn Ray and Lonnie of El Paso were Friday and Saturday night guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Fortenberry. Mrs. Sevier and Carolyn Ray returned home Sunday, leaving Lonnie to visit with the Fortenberrys for the summer.

An all-day singing and a basket luncheon will be held in Bippus Sunday, June 29.

Mrs. Eddie Rogers and children visited in Amarillo Sunday night with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Evans, and sisters, Mrs. Muri Brown and Mrs. Carol Davis. Mrs. Davis returned home with Mrs. Rogers and children Monday evening and stayed the night in the Rogers' home.

The Rev. and Mrs. R. L. Evans, Mrs. Richard Evans and Mrs. Don Evans were Saturday night guests in the Eddie Rogers' home.

The People's Princess, That's Suga of Japan

TOKYO (AP) — A young farm boy working as a gardener in the Imperial Palace grounds got lost in the huge garden. The bewildered youngster came across a young, pretty girl strolling alone in the garden and asked her, "Please, miss, I'm lost. Tell me how I can get back to the exit."

The girl affably smiled and said, "All right, mister, follow me." The two walked a few minutes before they met the boy's father, an ancient palace guard. The old man trembled, bowing his head almost down to the earth, mumbling, "Your highness overwhelmed us with your extreme kindness."

Princess Suga smiled back, "You are welcome. See you around!"

PRINCESS SUGA

When the Idiot of the Emperor and 90 million Japanese met, the old man literally flew into a rage at the still bewildered boy: "You idiot, swine, moron. . . Don't you know her highness? Oh, you have increased your poor father's white hairs five-fold in this one minute."

The story — officially denied by the Imperial Household spokesman but widely believed true — well illustrates why the 19-year-old beautiful princess is so popular in Japan.

Princess Suga's three elder sisters, now all married, would have never dreamed of walking alone in the palace grounds. Nor would they have thought of talking to unknown commoners.

Princess Suga, a trim and shapely 5-foot-4½, is a sophomore at the Gakushuin (Peers) College, majoring in English literature — the first daughter of a Japanese emperor to do so. All her sisters were educated by tutors inside the Palace.

Although a schoolgirl, Princess Suga is considered one of Japan's loveliest and most brilliant women. She is also said to be Japan's most fashionably dressed woman.

She goes shopping accompanied only by one lady-in-waiting to the downtown department stores. She dresses of her designs, usually showing a copy of an American fashion magazine and saying, "Oh something like this, but changing this and that." She also has her hair set in the store's salon, dictating her own style.

Millions of Japanese bobby-soxers see her portraits carried in the newspapers and follow her hair-do and dress styles. Princess Suga is also a good athlete, particularly adept at tennis and skiing. She is often called "Japan's Princess Margaret," although the Princess Suga has not been romantically linked to anyone.

Husbands of her three sisters — ex-prince, ex-duke and ex-marquis — were chosen by the imperial family because of their backgrounds. If Princess Suga chooses her own — probably with support from her brother, Crown Prince Akihito, who is not too happy about rigid court protocol either — few Japanese will be surprised.

Her choice might even be a commoner.

Tech Students Are Working on 'Atom-Smasher'

LUBBOCK — Texas Tech students have completed preliminary work on a positive-ion accelerator or "atom smasher" to be used in nuclear research.

The device has been built in the physics department. Assoc. Prof. Preston Gott has supervised work this year.

Proposed applications of the accelerator are bombardment of heavy water with heavy hydrogen to release neutrons or bombardment of light elements to produce other types of nuclear reactions.

Students who have completed work necessary to put the device into operation are Maurice McClanahan of Cleburne, Henry Randolph of Lubbock and Thad Risinger of Brownfield.

McClanahan has been responsible for the electrical system, ion source and an electronic flow-rate control for gases which supply deuterium gas to the accelerator.

The accelerating column and vacuum system have been the responsibility of Randolph. Risinger participated in numerous phases of the work. Machine work on the accelerator was done by Jack W. Parker, physics department technician.

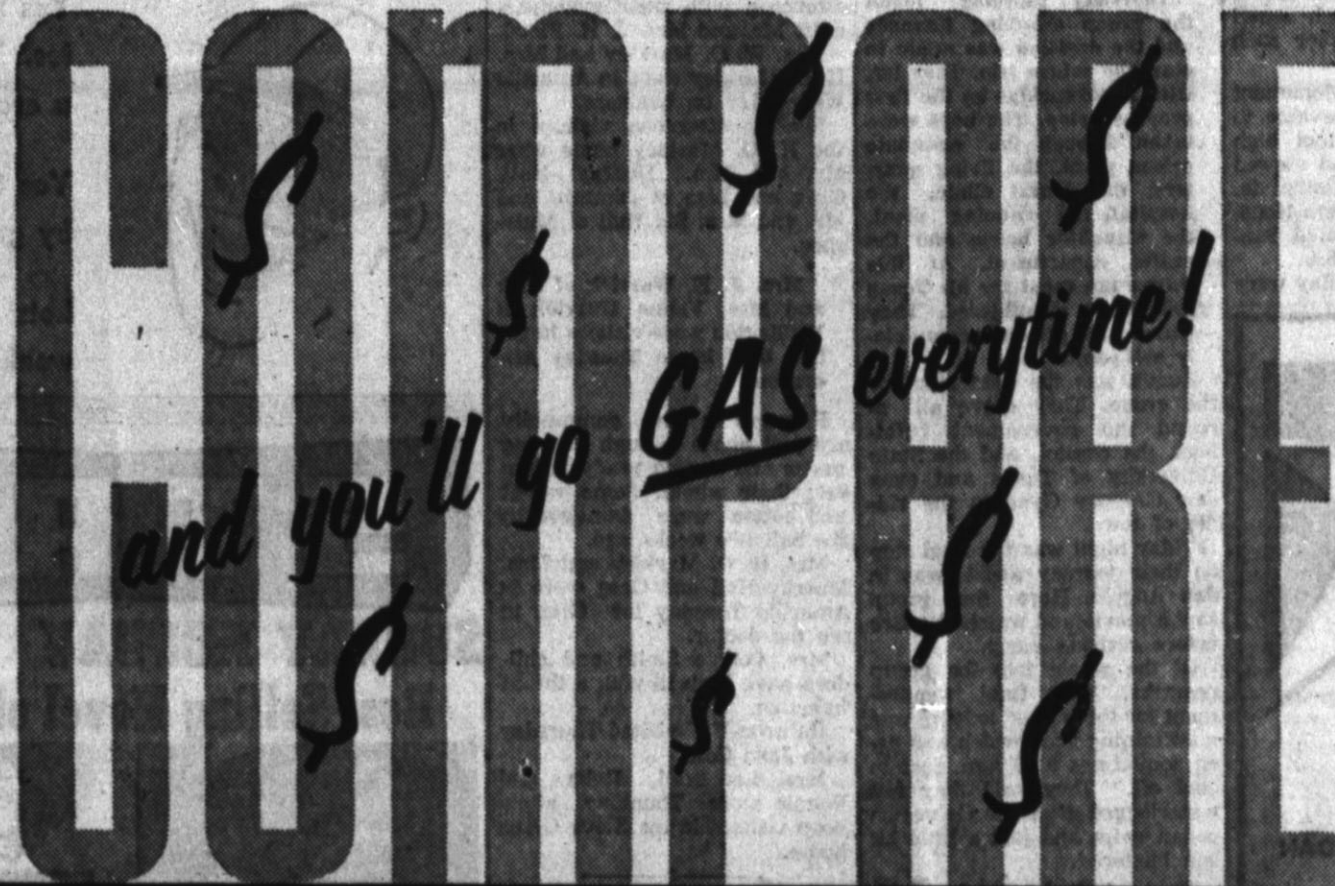

This spring the group has made satisfactory trial runs of the accelerator and has tested its scintillation-counter system for detecting radiation.

Adrian Seniors Make Class Trip

By MRS. R. L. PINNELL
ADRIAN — On Saturday, May 30, at 4:15 a.m. eight seniors left Adrian via route 66 for eight days of touring sights the young people had never before seen. The group left Adrian with Mrs. Bill Leslie and Finis Brown to join the class sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Williams, in Amarillo.

Reservations had been made well in advance and a strict schedule on time and money was set up to the satisfaction of all. The first night stop was to be Dallas. They checked in on schedule at 6:30 at a motel and immediately left for the Century Room of the Adolphus Hotel. Dinner was ordered for $4.75 each — Texas steaks.

The guest star appearing on the floor show of the Adolphus Hotel was Miss Sophie Tucker, long time star of movies and radio.

The next morning being Sunday the group attended church and found it to be Baccalaureate day for more seniors. They left Dallas around noon for Huntsville.

Arriving in Huntsville, they soon learned they could not enter the buildings, but circled the grounds and made plans to visit the prison at Breckenridge on their return trip.

By nightfall they were in Houston. In one day and two nights they visited the Houston Zoological Park, rode the roller coaster, ate seafood at the Shamrock Hilton, visited the Battleship "Texas" which was sponsored by Texas school children as a landmark for the state's history and saw the San Jacinto monument and Museum of History.

Most of the group thought the "Texas" to be perhaps the most interesting part of the tour. They went all through the battleship, examining the guns, seeing the sleeping and eating quarters, going through small hatches and seeing other such sights.

At the San Jacinto Monument the group rode the elevator to the top of the 570 foot high memorial structure and viewed the surrounding countryside. On this spot General Sam Houston and his men defeated Santa Anna's army in 1836.

Gray and Glenda of Earth were Sunday visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayman Epps, Brenda, Donnie and Patricia. They took a picnic lunch and spent the day at Buffalo Lake.

Sunday afternoon visitors in spent on the island of Galveston. They traveled the freeway across the bay some three or four miles. They participated in surf riding, gulf swimming, shopping and feeding the sea gulls. The girls of the party rode a ferry to an island off-shore and back. The last night was spent in the Galvez Hotel right on the water's edge.

Thursday morning found the group checking finances and the decision was made to start the return trip. They left with Breckenridge as the first proposed stop. The boys were taken through the complete prison plant, the living quarters, the dental clinic, the hospital, the canteen plant, the slaughter house and the crafts department. At this prison the most for all Texas prisoners is slaughtered. They toured the prison is completely self-supporting.

Austin was the next stop for the group. They drove all around the government buildings, the capitol, and the State University of Texas and even saw Gregory Gyne in the middle of town.

Friday night was the final stop on their journey and it was in San Angelo. Here the group saw a movie and watched a fire before retiring early.

Of the whole trip the group remarks, "Our final requirement for the night's lodging was a swimming pool, which was used sometimes at 3 a.m. just to cool off." They said they felt waterlogged after the Galveston ocean swim and just a little bit sun blistered.

They returned home by nightfall Saturday. Eight graduating seniors, Davis, Brown, Carol Heaton, Jerry Heaton, John Henry Gruhkey, Pezi Lisle, Edd Pinnell, Don Morgan and Glenda Taylor, spent eight full days viewing the sights of our own state.
