

275 Seniors Graduate In Stadium Exercises Tonight

BY BETTY KOELZER
Staff Writer
The largest graduating class in Hereford High School history will receive their degrees at Whiteface Stadium tonight. The top two honor students of the 275-member class will talk on the direction the students should aim their lives as they leave for college, marriage or career. Laurel Davis, valedictorian, will give her address on the class motto, "Let your light so shine before men that they may know your good works." Stephen Dziuk, salutatorian, will speak to his fellow graduates on preparation for life.

A highlight of the ceremonies will be the presentation of the outstanding graduating student, as chosen by the faculty. Jerry Don George, high school principal, will present the award, along with those to the valedictorian and salutatorian. Dr. A. T. Mims, president of the Hereford school board, will deliver diplomas to the graduates. Ben Gollehon, high school band director, will sing the class song, "A Time for Us," and the concert band from high school will perform the number, "Carmena Burana" by Orff. The combined band and choir, under Gollehon's direction, will present "Hymn For Our Time." The band will play during the processional and recessional. Class officers, Santry Rush and Camille Langley, will deliver the invocation and benediction. Sunday evening's baccalaureate program for the graduates featured as speaker, Rev. Clifford Trotter, pastor of First United Methodist Church. In a brief delivery, Trotter told the graduates they are free to choose their own destiny. The avenues are open to accept if they wish, he said, and they can take and along to make the trip more worthy. Approximately 3,000 persons attended the 45-minute services Sunday evening. George said there were many unfilled seats. Stadium sections B, C (behind the graduates) and D will be reserved this evening for families of the students. However, the north and south ends of the west bleacher section will accommodate many guests wishing to attend, George said. The west side holds approximately 4,000 people, and George says all seats are "good" where audience can see each graduate. In the event of rain, the ceremony this evening will be moved to the gymnasium at La Plata Junior High, which holds 1,800 persons.

County Refuses To Consider Precinct Redistricting Plan

County Judge H. C. Williams took the unusual step Monday of requesting the permission of the Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court to place a matter on the agenda and was refused, by a 3-2 vote.

The topic was the controversial one, in some quarters, concerning whether the county's four precincts should be redistricted so the number of voters in each would be approximately the same.

The judge apparently caught the commissioners by surprise with his motion that the proposal be placed on the agenda for the June 8 meeting. After several minutes of warm discussion, Commissioner Marcus Latham seconded the motion, but the three other commissioners—Earl Holt, Bruce Coleman and Donald Hicks voted "no," when Williams called for a show of hands.

Commissioner Court precincts, like the state legislature and Congress, now are required by law to be apportioned on a "one-man, one-vote" basis, but Coleman argued: "We do not have a complaint now and I don't think anything should be done until we do. I have no desire or intention to bring it up until someone presents it to us."

In the 1968 General Election, 2,204 votes were cast in Precinct 1 (Latham), 1,747 in Precinct 2 (Holt), 122 in Precinct 3 (Coleman) and 303 in Precinct 4 (Hicks).

The redistricting question was on the agenda for the March 9 meeting. Williams placed it on the agenda then after Latham asked that it be put on, but took it off, on the request of both Latham and Hicks, apparently because of the nearness of the May 2 primary, in which Hicks had an opponent. Williams confirms that his acts of placing the issue on the agenda and removing it were the result of requests from commissioners, but declines to comment on the purpose for either.

In other action, the commissioners: — received bids on new furniture for the hospital and assigned to hospital administrator T. E. Seigler and his staff the responsibility for deciding which bids to accept. The commissioners went ahead and approved the bids in advance. — heard a report on progress toward a county public health clinic. — set a joint meeting for today with the School Board and City Commission on the question of whether to establish the position of county juvenile officer. — approved additions to construction at the hospital. — approved disbursement of $200 to the 4-H Leaders group. — approved gas line requests.

On the thorny county redistricting matter, Williams later outlined two reasons why he made the motion in Monday's session to place the matter on the agenda for the next meeting, instead of going ahead and putting it on independently, as he is empowered to do. See COUNTY, Page 2

Boards Caucus Today

The county commissioners, city commissioners and school board will discuss the formation of a county juvenile office at 6:30 a. m. today at the Caison House.

The county commissioners called the meeting during their regular session Monday and contacted heads of the other two governing bodies to get their approval of the date.

The issue, brought up several weeks ago, will be to determine whether Deaf Smith County should form a juvenile office. The three governing bodies, having met separately this month, will pool their ideas and determine the feasibility of the proposed plan.

Both the county commissioners and school board have indicated full support to hire a man to work full time with the juvenile problem here. The city commission, in its meeting last week, took no action and made no indication as to whether they want the present setup changed.

Transfers Face Monday Deadline

Monday is the deadline for parents of students who are transferring into or out of the Hereford Independent School District next fall to notify the superintendent's office at the new school.

Roy Hartman, superintendent, said the transfer rule is a change from the past when parents were asked to first get permission of officials at the school formerly attended. The new rule provides that this is not necessary, but the parents must notify the new school of the change.

Monday's deadline applies only to students who keep their same place of residence, but decide to attend another school.

Students who move into the Hereford district during the summer need no special prior notice to permit them to enroll in the Hereford system.

The purpose of the transfer rule is mainly for convenience. Students who reside closer to one school, but live in a different school district, may wish to attend the closest school.

Some parts of the Dimmitt school district are closer to Hereford and some parts of the Hereford school district are closer to Friona.

Lions Solicit Local Support For President

The Hereford Evening Lions Club started a drive this week to encourage Deaf Smith County residents to sign and send to Mayor Jim Sears a "petition" supporting the actions of city, state and federal officials in their actions "to quell violence, promote peace and bring about freedom."

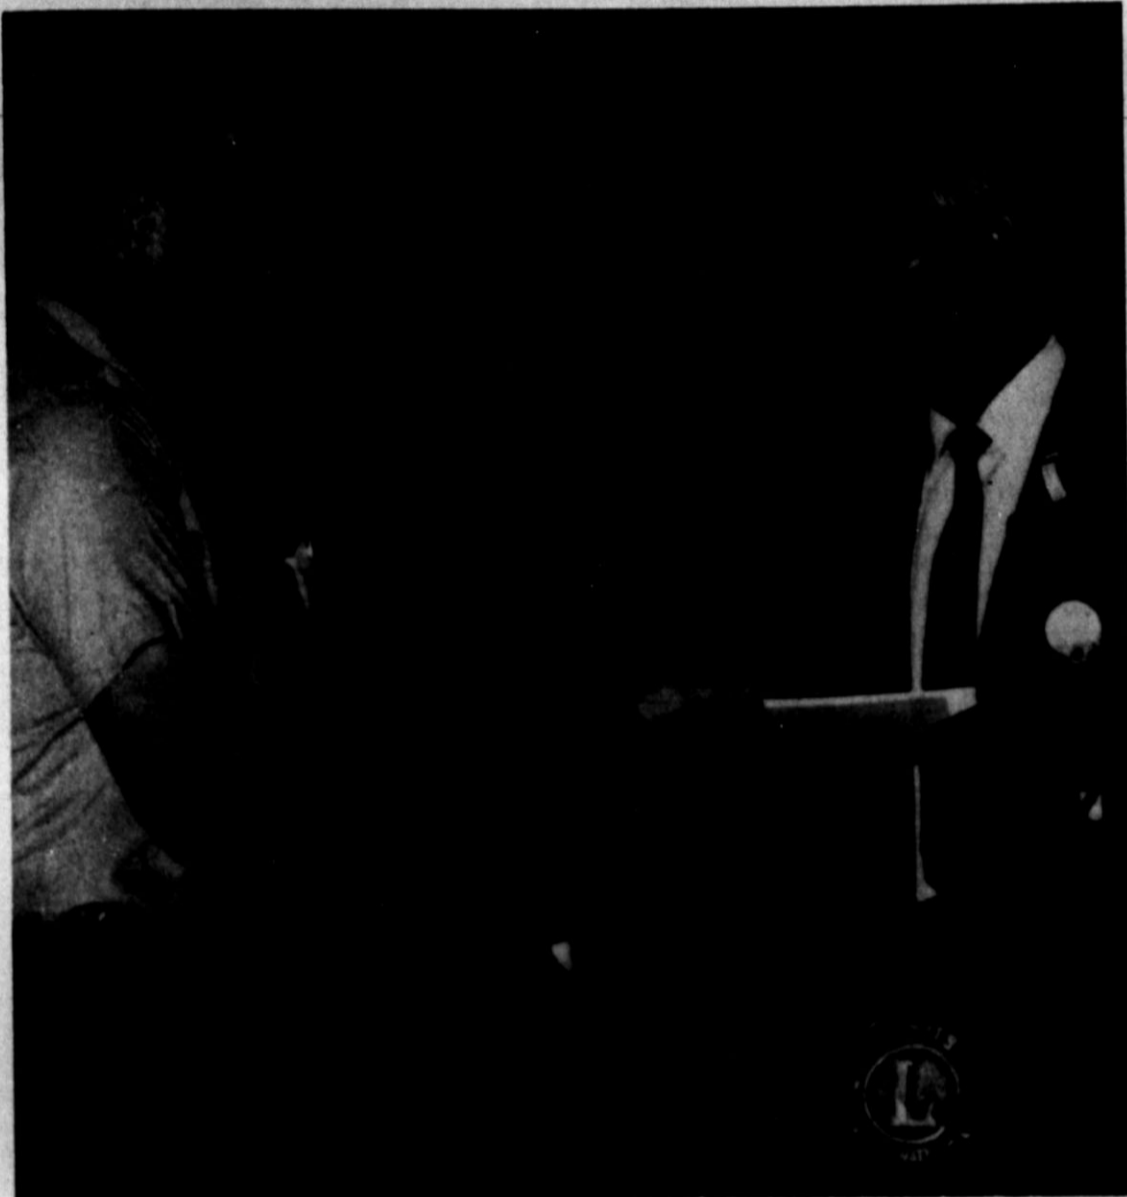

The drive is part of a statewide movement by Lions Club chapters. The goal is a response of one million from Texas. They hope to accumulate the petitions in the office of Gov. Preston Smith in time to be presented to President Nixon, if he attends the Coaches All-America Football Game in Lubbock June 27.

The Lions Club is running advertisements in Texas newspapers that show prepared individual coupon-type statements, which the club is urging readers to clip and send to the mayor of their town. The mayor then would forward the pledges of support to the governor, who would turn them over to President Nixon.

The pledge, addressed to "The President, The Governor, The Mayor," may be mailed or delivered to City Hall, or it may be enclosed with water, light or telephone bills or with any other correspondence with the city, Evening Lions president Ray Barber said.

The pledge says: "I consider it a blessing, an honor and a privilege to live in the United States of America. I pledge to loyally support the President, the governor, the mayor, the police department and all other officials in their actions designed to quell violence, promote peace and bring about the freedom, concord and unity for which our nation was founded and which stands as a bulwark in a world threatened by oppression. I voluntarily affix my signature to this paper as proof of my allegiance."

The Lions Club hopes the forwarding of the pledges, in mass numbers, will give the "Silent Majority" a voice and offset the effect of demonstrating anti-war protesters.

TORNADO CHECK — Maj. A. J. Schroeder (r.), president of the Hereford Noon Lions Club, Wednesday presented a check for $196.90 to Rocky Lee that raised the Hereford area contributions to aid Lubbock tornado victims to more than $900. The $196.90 was the proceeds from Saturday night's wrestling matches. The local tornado relief drive has set a $1,000 goal and hopes to reach it this week through donations in the two Hereford banks. —Staff Photo

Committee Studies 16 Nominees For Pioneer Of Year

Radio station KPAN has received numerous letters and petitions listing 16 nominees for the Pioneer of the Year award to be presented Saturday during the Mid-Plains Pioneer Day celebrations at the Big Bull Barn.

A committee of independent judges will select the nominee considered to best represent the spirit of the pioneers of this area. Contributions, volunteer efforts to build the area, livelihood and length of residence in this area will be among factors determining the choice.

Such awards have been presented at past celebrations to Ezra Norton, F. H. Oberthier (now deceased) and Mrs. Bess Werner.

Homer Brumley, president of the Mid-Plains Pioneer Association, will also present awards to the person traveling the greatest distance to attend the festivities, and to the oldest man and woman attending. Various door prizes will be awarded during the day.

More than 700 persons are expected to attend the day-long event. The program will be brief, providing plenty of time for visiting and renewing acquaintances.

Lunch will be served at noon, with Hereford's citizens bringing basket lunches to complement the meat, bread, drinks, beans and utensils to be furnished by the pioneer association.

The association's only income during the year is a $1 dues fee from each member.

Offices Will Close Saturday

All city and county offices and many local businesses will close Saturday in observance of Memorial Day.

Dudley Bayne, city manager, said the city offices will observe the holiday by closing their doors Friday as they normally are closed on Saturday.

The county commissioners elected not to close on Friday or Monday as they are closed on the actual holiday.

Merchants at Sugarland Mall, with the exception of Furr's Super Market, will observe the holiday by closing and almost all stores in downtown Hereford will close also.

Postmaster Nolan Grady said there will be no delivery or window service at the post office, but normal box delivery and special delivery will be provided.

Doctors Urge Pet Vaccinations For Rabies

A test taken in Austin on the head of a dead skunk from Hereford has shown it was rabid, city health officer Dr. Hugh McCrary and county health officer Dr. Duffy McBrayer said this week.

They urged that residents of the city to see that their pets—especially dogs and cats—are vaccinated promptly for rabies.

"We have this problem in the rodent population each year here, and there's really no way to eradicate that," Dr. McBrayer said.

"As Dr. McCrary and I see it, the best thing we can do is vaccinate 80 per cent or more of the dog and cat population, and try to keep this from getting into the pet population," Dr. McBrayer said.

"We don't have any rabies reported in pets yet, but there are people who don't have their animals vaccinated," McBrayer asked for the immunizations by vets for dogs in rural areas as well as the city.

"It's even more important farm dogs, because they are more likely to get in contact with ground squirrels and skunks," he said.

Much-Needed Rain Aids County Crops

Dry-land wheat, suffering from lack of rain for the past several weeks, is expected to be ready for harvest by June 10 as a result of timely rains which soaked the area during the past week.

Sections of the county reported as much as 1.5 inches of rain to provide the dry-land wheat with sufficient moisture to hold over until harvest. The crop was beginning to suffer from lack of moisture.

H. L. Hershey, who lives 13 miles northeast of Hereford, reported one inch of rain over a four-day period beginning last Saturday.

"All the rain we got was beneficial and we are very happy about it," Hershey said, "because it sure is going to help maturing wheat and barley."

The crops needed the moisture to mature, and the recent rains could not have come at a better time for many area farmers.

Community Grain, located at the Easter Community south of Hereford, reported "about one to one and one-half inches around the area."

Gene King, manager of Community Grain, said moisture fell in that area Monday night "and we got two-tenths last night and this is going to be real good as far as helping the crops is concerned."

King said no high winds or hail was reported in that area. The Monday night rain dropped nine-tenths of an inch on the Leo Witkowski farm southeast of Hereford.

Phillip Miller, who lives 18 miles west and six miles north of Hereford, reported four-tenths of an inch or "just enough to lay the dust." He said the rain fell for three or four minutes "pretty hard but that was all; just enough to where you could see that it had hit the ground."

Rainfall in the city totaled .38 of an inch for the four-day period.

Taxes May Be Lowered In July, County Learns

A possibility of a leveling off of taxation by the county appeared brighter as preliminary figures for valuation of the county were discussed during the county commission meeting Monday.

Vance Crume, of the county tax assessor-collector's office, told the commission preliminary valuation of county property indicates an increase of almost $4 million over last year's total. The 1970 valuation was $35,507,000 and the valuation for the 1971 county budget was set at $39,416,000.

"It would appear," Crume said, "that from all practical angles, there will be no tax raise, and that possibly there could be another deduction on the state value."

He said deduction on the state value was not definite, but should there be another reduction, it will be announced by early July.

"We are hoping the state value might drop another five cents, because I believe we have reached a leveling off period in taxing," he added.

Crume said that additional tax increases are based on the inability of the county to operate under their planned budget. If the county should not be able to meet expenses, additional taxes would be imposed.

From indications of the preliminary figures, Crume said it seems to be that there will be no need for an increase in taxes. The per cent of assessed value, which is 24 per cent of actual value would amount to about $16 million, Crume said. The increase for the 1971 budget is not enough to cause any conflict where additional taxation would be required to meet operating expenses.

The almost $4 million increase over last year's valuation came as a result of considerable increases in several areas. City property increased $550,000, country and feedlot values increased $1,534,000, cattle values increased $1,672,000, banks increased $30,000 and utilities increased $122,000.

The large increase in cattle is based on the assessed value, Crume said, and not the actual value. Cattle are assessed at about $21 per head and the increase was due to "there being more cattle here."

"We know the cattle population here is the greatest of any county in the state," he said.

Although there is a large increase in the assessed value of cattle, the feedlots in the area are only operating at about 50 per cent capacity, Crume said.

The number of cattle in the feedyards increased 47,955 this year over last year and the number on pasture increased 39,536 over the same time in 1969.

TOUGH TALK ON VIOLENCE

American history can shed light on current problems—and help show the "now" generation that many of the problems were similar even "then"—according to Martin Ritt and Walter Bernstein, co-producers of a new Paramount release, "The Molly Maguires," starring Richard Harris, Sean Connery and Samantha Eggar. The film is a gripping story of a secret society which tried using violence to improve the working and living conditions of Irish-American miners in the 1870's.

County-

(Continued from page 1) For one thing, the judge said, he regards the redistricting matter as a major topic which should receive advance publicity before debate on it actually starts. He equivocated this with the county accepting bids on big machinery, such as a main-tainer, and the accompanying need to allow time for word to spread among those who might want to submit bids. Secondly, Williams said, he feared there was enough opposition on the board to the proposal — either from the two commissioners with the least number of voters or from one or both of the other two commissioners acting in sympathy — that if the matter were put on the agenda they might put it in an indefinite limbo by refusing to discuss it or vote on it. "I wanted to put them on the spot," Williams said. The necessity of each precinct having approximately the same number of persons was laid down by the U. S. Supreme Court on April 1, 1968, when it overturned a Texas Supreme ruling and upheld the claim that the Midland commissioners court should be reapportioned. The city of Midland formerly was in one precinct and the other three precincts represented rural sections of Midland County so that about 95 per cent of the county's population lived in one precinct. The court held that where votes of some residents have greater weight than those of others, "the equal protection of the laws (under the 14th Amendment) has been denied." The ruling said a city, town or county had no more right to apportion its boards or commissions in such a fashion than it may abridge freedom of speech, establish an official religion, arrest without probable cause or deny due process of law.

ed three days in advance to mean that no item may be discussed unless it is on the agenda. In practice, however, exceptions are made. The county commissioners met May 11 and asked for the city and school to decide how they felt concerning a juvenile officer, and Supt. Roy Hartman added the topic to the School Board's May 2 meeting under the heading of "Miscellaneous." The county Monday acted on several matters that were not on the official agenda filed with the county clerk. On the other hand, the City Commission last week discussed, but said it could not take voting action immediately, on a matter because it was not on the agenda. The Midland case went to the courts after a complaint from a taxpayer — who was also an elected official — who contended his vote was worth less than the vote of someone who lived outside the Midland city limits. "Should a taxpayer here decide to step forward and file in district court saying there needs to be redistricting, then the county would then have to be redefined to equalize the votes," Williams said in Monday's meeting. Coleman said as far as he is concerned, the commissioners should just let the situation alone until such a suit is filed. Regarding bids for furniture for the hospital, Seigler had opened and read almost all of the bids for the 15 items when Latham suggested that the Commissioners just approve a blanket motion to accept the bids, and leave it up to the hospital board to decide the individuals who should be awarded the contract for each item of furniture. County Clerk B. F. Cain learned that Seigler probably could come up with the hospital board's decision on the furniture bids as quickly as a day or two, and suggested, with the commissioners' approval, that signing of the motion be delayed until then. Seigler said he would meet with two members of the hospital board to decide on which of the bids would be accepted, and then let the court know. Dr. Hugh McCrary and the Rev. Fred Howard appeared before the commissioners to let them know of progress being made toward the establishment of an indigent clinic. McCrary said the state has "given us approval of $80,000 for expenses in establishing the clinic," but the proposed budget was set up on an operating base of well over $200,000. The remaining amount of money was to come from the Office of Economic Opportunity, but reports from that office indicated they did not wish to share in a program with the state. The $80,000 grant was specified by the state for "migrant workers and local people working in agriculture," McCrary said, and the OEO said it would help in establishing a clinic only if were to benefit all indigents, regardless of whether they were connected with agriculture. "As it stands now," McCrary said, "we only have a migrant grant for migrants only and not for local people." The commissioners also agreed to meet with members of the city commission and the school board today at 6:30 a.m. to discuss the juvenile officer problem.

Senior Pictures Are In Paper The pictures of graduating seniors are presented on the second section of the Brand. The 275 graduates are almost a 50 per cent increase over last year's class. The pictures were provided through the courtesy of Bill Angel, of Angel Photography Studio. They are all in one section where they may be easily retained for scrapbook or souvenir purposes.

TENTING TONIGHT—Good tenting and good camping go together. The grown-ups find the model at left perfectly suited to their needs. Made of cotton canvas, it's simple to pack and easy to erect. Big picture windows provide four-way ventilation. The compact tent at right gives the youngsters their own special home away from home. Folding stoves and picnic table add further pleasure to the outdoor life. Equipment by Coleman.

Live It Up

Go Modern—Go Camping

Camping isn't the rough-and-ready sport it used to be. Today's improvements in camping equipment have made outdoor vacationing comfortable and inviting. Moreover, basic camping gear is versatile, durable, and doesn't cost a fortune to buy. Just remember: the secret is to keep it simple—it's hard to relax with a lot of gadgets. To get the utmost enjoyment from the sound of rushing mountain streams or the taste of freshly-picked huckleberries, get squared away first on basic equipment and those extras you really need. Besides the family car, a tent is the "must" item. If you haven't paid attention to tents lately, you're in for some surprises. The old stand-by types that took two men and a boy to put up are gone. So are the drab, windowless, stuffy tents that offered little more than plain shelter. Now tents offer new window and door designs, easier handling, and greater protection from sun, rain, and insects. They can be pitched in a matter of minutes and come in all sorts of colors—chestnut, green, sun gold, silver blue, and red. Nearly all tents are made of cotton fabrics, generally known as canvas. Cotton canvas is favored because it permits air to circulate freely throughout the tent. This insures comfort and prevents moisture from forming and dripping down inside. Cotton canvas also withstands lashing winds and rain, and actually gains 25 percent in strength when wet. Special finishes give it even greater resistance to the elements. Besides a car and a tent, you'll need cooking and sleeping equipment. Then you can add such accessories as knapsacks, portable refrigerator, folding bathtub, binoculars, etc. Take only what you need and you'll have a grand time as a modern pioneer-camping family.

THE COMPUTER—PHYSICIAN'S ALLY

The computer is alternately praised and damned. Some of its more positive advocates call it the principal player in a new technology comparing its applications with the industrial revolution. Critics of the alleged computerization of our society state that it is dehumanizing, and unfeeling, and all in all contributes to submergence of the individual's spirit and assigns him, through some esoteric process, understood only by those who are knowledgeable in this occult business, a number. In balance, however, even the most outspoken critics of the electronic marvel would be hard pressed not to admit the computer has freed man from much stultifying work and that many routine tasks are now done faster and more accurately thus freeing man for more productive pursuits in business, science and the technologies. The recent Apollo mission which placed our astronauts on the moon is the most dramatic event known to most of us. Without the computer the moonwalk could never have happened and this fact is acknowledged by all who have even the remotest knowledge of the space walk. There are few areas of our lives today not touched or influenced in some way by the computer whether it is the monthly utility bill, our paychecks or our income tax statements. Computers are faster, more accurate and with all that, flexible and expanding in scope. One of the most exciting and promising utilizations of the computer is in its applications to medicine. Today everyone is concerned about rising costs of health care and the apparent growing shortage of doctors, nurses, laboratory technicians and others associated with preservation of good health. Computers do reduce hospital costs by speeding up admittance procedures, laboratory testing and billings. This enables available personnel to spend their time more productively and less on routine tasks. A good example of labor saving is medical record storage and retrieval. Medical records are now stored in "memory banks" on tape and can be obtained in a matter of minutes in the modern hospital, university or clinic. One of the more promising new developments is computer assisted diagnosis in pediatric medicine. Worley & Ringe, a Philadelphia based developer of computer software systems, has developed in cooperation with the University of Pennsylvania Hospital, a system for assisting the pediatrician in making a diagnosis of congenital and acquired pediatric illnesses. The system is marketed by Mead Johnson Laboratories, a well known developer of pharmaceuticals and nutritional for child health. The doctor puts into a teletypewriter a series of numbers from a reference book which correspond to symptoms and findings he has observed in the child. When the computer receives the patient's findings or symptoms it scans its memory bank. The computer compares the findings or symptoms against the diseases stored there. The doctor receives the computer's findings in his office or lab. Listed will be the syndromes which are most compatible with the findings or symptoms relayed to the computer by the doctor. Additionally, the computer will print for the doctor findings or symptoms that he may have overlooked for additional diagnostic reference. This will enable the doctor to "stretch himself" and to spend more time with more patients. In addition to saving time for the doctor, nurses and others in the health profession, the computer will hopefully save time and money for the patient. This is just one more example of how the knowledge explosion in computer applications will benefit us by improving health through better and faster diagnosis.

TENDER TRAP FOR THE HUNGRY MALE

If you're determined to land your man in 1970, don't underestimate the power of a romantic, home-cooked dinner. Particularly one that proves you can turn a small food budget into a culinary coup. If you're not so sure of yourself in the kitchen, play it safe with a little outside help. There are two kinds of dinners that virtually every man falls for—plain steak, potatoes and salad or a meat recipe that's seasoned so magnificently he's convinced you're a natural wonder in the kitchen. To turn that trick, here's a recipe that sounds fancy, looks elegant and tastes delicious—but it's made from an inexpensive cut of chuck. It's quick to prepare too, because it uses the easy 15-minute meat marinade mix that eliminates the need for pre-browning and is already delectably seasoned. It's called Pot Roast Florentine, a handsome roast dressed with a superb tomato sauce. POT ROAST FLORENTINE 4 lb. chuck roast, 7-bone or round bone arm 1 package Adolph's 15-Minute Meat Marinade 2/3 cup cold water 1 large onion, finely chopped 1 large clove garlic, pressed or minced 2 8-oz. cans tomato sauce 1 teaspoon sweet basil 1 4-oz. can mushrooms, stems and pieces with liquor Pour contents of 15-minute meat marinade package into Dutch oven or deep pot with tight-fitting lid. Add all ingredients except mushrooms and blend thoroughly. Place meat in this marinade. Turn and pierce all surfaces of meat deeply and thoroughly with fork. Marinate only 15 minutes, turning several times. Cover and cook in preheated 325° F. oven, or simmer slowly over low flame, until tender, a total of about 1-1/2 to 2 hours. Add more water, if necessary or desired. No browning necessary! The Adolph's marinade mix gives it a rich, golden-brown color. Remove pot roast to heated platter large enough for carving. Add mushrooms and liquor to gravy in Dutch oven; heat through and serve over meat sliced in thin slices at a 30-degree angle. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Firm Joins With Company From Amarillo

A local insurance company, Robinson & Associates, this week announced its affiliation with Thompson-King Co., Amarillo's oldest insurance firm.

Bud Eades of Amarillo will move here within the next four to six weeks to manage the Hereford company, J. W. Robinson announced.

Eades has 23 years of experience in the insurance field. The new organization format should help both companies, Eades said.

The company will continue to be called Robinson & Associates and will have the same personnel.

Thompson-King Co. specializes in feedlot insurance, and the affiliation in Hereford will facilitate things both for the feedlot operators and for the insurance company, Eades said. The expansion also will provide a bigger base of capital for the two affiliated companies to work with.

BY MELVIN YOUNG

J. W. Robinson Jr., of Robinson & Associates, this week announced the affiliation of his company with Thompson - King Co. of Amarillo and that Bud Eades, now with Thompson - King in Amarillo, will soon move to Hereford to manage the general insurance business.

Mr. Eades, who has 23 years of insurance experience behind him, says the affiliation will help both organizations in their continuing efforts to expand coverage to their clients.

Received a nice note from Don and Jackie Chaney, with their subscription renewal. Don is now managing the Temple radio station and apparently getting along fine.

The Chaney's say they miss all the fine people of Hereford but do enjoy living in Temple. "It's a fine place and we are liking it just fine - lots of humidity - but no sand."

That humidity down around Temple and other areas in South Central Texas turned to rain a couple of weeks ago, flooding many areas, including San Marcos.

We understand also, that these 'gators are more dangerous than the ones found in the swamps since they are not afraid of people. And they're not exactly pets either.

And speaking of rain, we have had a little in the county but hardly enough to measure in the city.

Just got the "cook's tour" of the new central fire station, or perhaps we should say, the "soon to be new fire station" since it is not complete yet.

Saturday is Memorial Day and we would encourage each of you to fly the flag.

THE FLAG
My flag - Born in the days of the Revolution, Baptized in the days of civil strife, Rededicating to the cause of Human Freedom in the great world conflict;

For many people, we're told, the cost of living has always been about the same - 118 per cent of their incomes.

State Convention Delegates Named

Mrs. Paul Corbett was re-elected to serve as Texas Home Demonstration Association chairman for another year and delegates to the state convention in September were named at a Deaf Smith County Home Demonstration Council meeting Monday at the Court House.

The Hereford Benefit Association is a non-profit local insurance plan organized in 1908 by local citizens. A membership in this association can mean as much as $1000.00 of life insurance.

GAMES THROUGH THE AGES

Playing a family game of bridge may not seem very unusual, until you remember that Englishmen were kicking their partners under the table in the London coffeehouses of the 17th century.

Rolling a pair of dice in a game of backgammon takes on added significance when you realize that the Romans did it - with animal knucklebones! The leading American in the game game was Milton Bradley, a former lithographer, who was responsible for the oldest game in American history - the Checkered Game of Life, which he introduced in 1860.

Today it produces board, card, and skill and action games; puzzles and arts and activities.

Baseball existed in crude form 4,000 years before Abner Doubleday invented the American version we all know. An Egyptian artist sculptured Bradley believed in making learning fun. The company bearing his name has continued gamely to influence American pastimes through the years. In the 1940s, it introduced Candy Land. Other board games brought forward in the 1930s were Battleship, Easy Money and Go to the Head of the Class.

Today it produces board, card, and skill and action games; puzzles and arts and activities.

figures throwing and catching balls 10 centuries ago, and a leather-covered ball was used in the games on the Nile. The Greek and Roman balls had special compartments for ball-playing. Ball tossing was seen as a sign of nature's rebirth at spring, and ancient clergymen used to throw a ball to symbolize the Resurrection.

Venita Kelly

Miss Kelly received the annual "I Dare You" award, having been selected by the high school faculty for her leadership and outstanding achievements during the school year.

She was also presented the Citizenship award at the Vega High School Junior-Senior Banquet at the Amarillo Country Club recently.

Venita was among 35 outstanding students to receive a scholar award at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Banquet at WTSU. She is a member of the National Honor Society, Co-editor of the Yearbook and class treasurer.

RIGHT NAME, WRONG STEP MIAMI, Fla. - Dancer's image, now at Hialeah, was odds-on and racing well in front in the New Year's Handicap at Laurel when he spotted a piece of paper on the track, procrastinated and lost the race. Fans rewarded him with a shower of snowballs.

TRAVEL HORSE CHAMP MIAMI, Fla. - Czar Alexander, Gustave Ring's 3-year-old race horse, now at Hialeah, gets the Travel Club award for 1967. The Irish-bred colt began his racing career in England in April, was in France for the summer, Germany for the fall, and in New York for the early winter scene.

1040 U.S. Individual Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

- Q I used Schedule T to figure out my tax. Do I have to send it in with my 1040?
A Most taxpayers do not have to send in the Schedule T with their tax returns. However, if you are subject to self-employment tax, or claim retirement income credit, investment credit or foreign tax credit, you will have to file Schedule T with your return.

HOW WERE DAYS OF THE WEEK NAMED?
Sunday and Monday were named by the Romans after the Sun and Moon. The Anglo-Saxons used names of their own gods that corresponded to Roman gods Mars, Mercury, Jupiter, Venus and Saturn for the rest of the week.

TROY MOORE'S FARMER DRIVE IN 403 East 1st

THE SHERMANS --- HOLLY, MAX, GENE ALICE and LYNN RAY
AS YOUR STATE SENATOR...
MAX SHERMAN
... will protect your local district schools!
From interview in THE MOORE COUNTY NEWS, Dumas, on Feb. 22, 1970:
"I attended a non-city school, and I see the financing threat that non-metropolitan schools in Texas faced a year ago as a major problem in the Panhandle district, and it is one on which I have strong convictions," he told a group here Friday in an outline of his campaign.
"it will come up again in the next legislature, and the district needs to be prepared. My position is that every school student in Texas, whether lives in a small community, or in Houston or Dallas, has the same right to equal education. The large population areas of Texas dominate the legislature today, but this does not mean that they can shortchange school students in the smaller counties.
"I have studied this school problem with concern, and I am prepared to advocate strongly the position of the non-city schools, who will need a concerned and vigorous advocate. This cause is right, and I will uphold it vigilantly, to the fullest of my ability, if I become your state senator," Sherman added.

She Can Bake A Cherry Pie

If there is one time of year for Cherry pie, it's in February. Not only is Cherry pie symbolic of George Washington's birthday but that's also the time when the stores feature canned cherries at special prices. Here, trimmings from the pastry are used to make a hatchet decoration for the top crust.

Cherry Pie

Pastry for 2-crust pie	2 tablespoons Mazola margarine
3 tablespoons corn starch	1 teaspoon lemon juice
2/3 cup sugar	1/4 teaspoon red food coloring
1/2 teaspoon salt	2 (1-pound) cans, pitted sour red cherries, packed in water, drained
1 cup juice, drained from cherries

Mix corn starch, sugar, salt and cherry juice in a saucepan. Place over medium heat and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a boil and boils 1 minute. Remove from heat. Stir in margarine, lemon juice, food coloring and cherries.

Pour into pastry lined 9-inch pie pan. Cover with top crust. Seal and flute edges. Make several slits in crust to permit escape of steam. Bake in 425 degree F. (hot) oven 35 to 40 minutes, or until crust is golden brown.

Note: If cherries are packed in heavy syrup, reduce sugar to 1/2 cup.

Creative Handcrafts Win Hands Down

Hooray for the beret; it's easy to crochet!

And so are the pert skirt and the "vested" interests of an attractive matching ensemble now appearing on the cover of a popular magazine.

The three-piece outfit, quick to make and fun to wear, includes a skirt worked from the waistband down in easy double, treble crochet stitches. The fringed bolero is worked from the waist up in one piece to the squared armholes. And the beret is made from a double strand of yarn.

The ensemble sets the style in fun for a gay assortment of crafts for the whole family. McCall's Annual of Creative Handcrafts also contains 24 pages of bewitching stitching and instructions for more than 38 different stitches.

"Our new 1970 issue," remarks Nan Comstock, editor, "is many faceted and all the facets are brilliant. It will help the whole family to enjoy the delights of surrounding itself with beautiful, amusing things made by hand."

The mane event in embroidery gives a lifelike dimension to lions. Manes are in Turkey work loops, but the different yarns used—fine yarns for the small lion, knitting worsted for the large—produce contrasting effects.

Lampshade dress-ups are fun to make with scraps of string and yarn in colors which match your decor. Trims are glued or sewn in various designs and patterns on plain paper or fabric-covered shades. For a three-dimensional effect, perky tufts are made by cutting loops of yarn sewn to the shades.

Made in machine applique, the colorful butterfly is composed of fabric scraps in cool, summery shades of blue and green. Pieces of fabric in contrasting colors and textures are glued to a coarse linen background, outlines and details are machine embroidered.

A fun project for Dad and a fascinating gift for a child is the big wooden barn on wheels and seven wood animals for playing "farm." These can then be put into the barn and pulled along. The barn has white trimmed windows all around and a pretty Dutch door.

The shell flower plaque consists of a myriad of shells in assorted sizes, shapes and colors grouped together to make lilacs of the valley, hyacinths, and many other real and imaginary flowers. These are attached on burlap-covered cardboard, then finished with a felt bow for a summery wall hanging.

Ad-lib whimsies combine bits of yarn with rustic weathered wood and imagination for fun-to-create wall plaques. Motifs are outlined with nails, then yarn is wrapped around nail to complete design. The plaques are embellished with household items such as tacks for corn kernels, beads for flower centers, and pipe cleaners for a spider.

To amuse tots, the three little pigs of storybook fame are made in cuddly-knitting materials—bricks, twigs and straw. The trio is knitted on double-pointed needles, then stuffed with cotton batting.

Cutouts known as "All-Day" cookies are fun to bake and fun to eat. The extra-big cookies (the elephant is eight inches long) will create excitement at any gathering of little gourmets. A special dough makes sturdy cookies to cover with plain-and-fancy designs in sugar icing.

As a whole, the helpful and handsome 1970 McCall's Annual of Creative Handcrafts, now available on your newsstands, provides varied and crafty ways to brighten your days.

Star QB Will Play In Lubbock Classic

LUBBOCK — Rifle-armed Dennis Shaw, the passing wizard from San Diego State, has notified officials of the Coaches All-America Game that he will be on hand for the June 27 contest slated in Texas Tech's Jones Stadium.

Tennis Camp Opens June 7 At WTSU

CANYON, Tex. — The first session of the West Texas State Tennis Camp, for boys and girls between nine and 18 years of age, will be June 7-13.

The first session is already full, but there are openings in the second session, June 21-27, and the third session, July 26 thru Aug. 1.

The camp directors, WTSU tennis coach David Kent and Amarillo High School coach Roland Ingram, will be assisted by 15 camp counselors. Among the counselors will be area high school coaches and both men and women collegiate players.

"Each session is scheduled to have 70 young players," said Kent.

The campers will be given instruction on West Texas State University's new tennis complex, which consists of 10 Uni-Turf and four laykold courts. Each camper will be given individual attention, plus sessions on strategy, drills and training methods. The variety of courts will give each camper needed playing experience playing on various court surfaces.

Expenses are $125, which includes room, board, instruction and all activities. A $25 deposit is due with each application. A tennis shop will be avail-

West team for Coach Dan Devine. The 6-3, 205-pound passer led the nation in total offense in 1969 with 3,197 yards and was drafted second by the professional Buffalo Bills.

The Coaches All-America Game obtained the signature of another top performer this week when Don Parish, Stanford's great linebacker, agreed to play.

The 6-2, 210-pound All-American will play for Coach Dan Devine's West team. His college coach, John Ralston, is an assistant coach on the West eleven.

Coach Ralston calls Parish "without question, the best linebacker I've ever been around."

The daily program will be as follows: 7 a. m. — Arise; 7:30 a. m. Breakfast; 8:30 a. m. — Lectures and Demonstration; 9 a. m. — Individual and squad tennis instructions and practice drills; 10:15 a. m. — Refreshments and rest periods; 10:30 a. m. — Individual and squad tennis instructions and doubles play 12 noon — Lunch; 1 p. m. — Rest period; 2 p. m. — Competitive play (one single match and one doubles match daily).

Campers use other facilities after match completed; 5:45 p. m. — Physical activity period; 6:10 p. m. — Dinner; 7 p. m. — Evening program (instructional films and chalk talks on various phases of the game); 8 p. m. — Evening social program (Movies, Dance, Talent Show, Swimming, Table Tennis and Bowling); 10 p. m. — Lights out.

Further information on the camp may be obtained by writing David Kent, West Texas State University, Box 413 W. T. Station, Canyon, Texas 79015.

Parish made 141 tackles for Stanford in 1969 for an incredible average of more than 14 per contest. He was selected to play in the East-West Shrine Game, the Hula Bowl Game, and the American Bowl Game.

Parish will team with Cliff Powell of the University of Arkansas to give the West team a rugged linebacking corp.

Shaw was third in the nation in passing with 199 completions, set an NCAA record with nine touchdown passes in a single game against New Mexico State, threw an NCAA record of 39 touchdown passes in a single season, and led his team to another NCAA record of 270 points in a season.

During his career, he helped San Diego set six team NCAA offensive records, and he also holds all San Diego State passing records.

Shaw was named the most valuable player in the East-West Shrine Game and the most valuable back for the North team in the Senior Bowl. He will play in the College All-Star game in Chicago in August against the Kansas City Chiefs.

San Diego rolled to a perfect 10-0 record in 1969, scoring 464 points to 187 for the opponents.

Passing is his specialty, but Shaw has other talents. He also punted for the Aztecs, leading the team with 796 yards on 24 kicks.

The West has signed 22 players for the game. Eighteen players have accepted invites from the East.

Players already in the fold include: Larry Brewer, Louisiana Tech; David Campbell, Auburn; Jerry Sherk, Oklahoma State; Bill Brundige, Colorado; Bob McKay, Texas; Denton Fox, Texas Tech; Rodney Brand and Powell, Arkansas; Jim Reilly, Notre Dame; Buddy McClinton, Auburn; Jim McFarland and Ken Geddes, Nebraska.

TV Special Looks At Drifting Continents

CHICAGO — Could a tropic-loving reptile ever find happiness in the Antarctic? He may have at one time, according to a recent fossil find in that desolate, snow-covered wasteland at the bottom of the world.

How a reptile from the Lystrosaurus family came to the Antarctic is one of the many scientific phenomena that will be explored on "The Unexplained," an Encyclopaedia Britannica Special to be broadcast on NBC-TV Friday, April 3, (7:30 p.m. EST pre-empting "The High Chaparral"). It will be sponsored by the Weyerhaeuser Company.

Fossils of the pre-historic reptile, that resembles a hippopotamus in appearance and a dog in size, were uncovered in the Antarctic in December by Dr. Edwin Colbert. He is curator-emeritus of Vertebrate Paleontology at the American Museum of Natural History in New York and the Museum of Northern Arizona.

How did the animal come to live in Antarctica? "These animals, which lived on the land and were land-living animals, had to get from South Africa to Antarctica or from Antarctica to South Africa by a land connection," Professor Colbert points out on "The Unexplained." "They were quite incapable of swimming across oceanic waters; therefore, Antarctica must have been connected with Africa at the time these animals were living 200-million years ago."

This supports the Continental Drift theory of Dr. Alfred Wegener (1880-1930), a German geophysicist, who believed continents were once a huge land mass covering about one-third of the globe until breaking apart 200-million years ago.

The continents are still drifting apart, says Dr. Julian R. Goldsmith, chairman of the Department of Geophysical Sciences at the University of Chicago and a program guest.

He uses an animated computer map to illustrate how continents "fit" together somewhat like a giant jigsaw puzzle.

"The bulge of South America fits into the recess in Africa," he points out on the program.

"The northwest coast of Africa runs up against the Eastern Coast of the United States, and may well explain where the material that made up the Appalachian Mountains came from. If one looks at this computer fit, much real estate along the Eastern part of the United States may very well have come from Africa.

"We're still drifting apart, as far as I can see," Dr. Goldsmith says. "We don't know how long that will continue or what the future will bring, but we now have a picture of a living, moving, dynamic earth."

Fossils from the Antarctic and a look at the Continental Drift theory are two of the many facets of the known and unknown to be examined in this first Encyclopaedia Britannica Special. This documentary of the future will peer into the wonders and dangers on the far edges of human knowledge — animal behavior and communication, potential of space travel, the miracles of genetic engineering, a look into the brain with its pain and pleasure centers, computers that challenge man's supremacy, a 3,000-year-old civilization in New Hampshire, and more.

It features some of today's leading scientists and scholars who are searching for answers that will help man better understand his environment — and himself.

Band Directors Face Fast Pace This Summer

The end of school brings little rest for Hereford's school band directors or their students.

Registration will be held June 1 for a six-weeks training session for next year's seventh graders who will play in the junior high school bands.

All band instructors will "team teach" these 160 beginners. Jim Priest will instruct low brass, Randy Vaughn will instruct upper wood winds, Ben Gollehon will teach reeds, Ronny Wright, a new instructor, will teach trumpet, and a West Texas student, not yet named, will teach percussion.

Classes will be in the high school band hall for two hours a day for six weeks. The time of day will be coordinated with various summer activities within the city, such as Vacation Bible Schools and swimming lessons.

Forty members of the high school band, which is the Texas Wing Band for the Civil Air Patrol, will enter the CAP state drill competition in Waco June 6.

On July 4, the high school band will participate in the Chamber of Commerce community performance at the Courthouse at noon.

During July, Gollehon, Vaughn and Priest will instruct at the high school students' music training camp at West Texas State University.

The last three days of July, the three will attend the Texas Band Masters' convention in San Antonio. Here, they will learn new marching innovations in preparation for half-time shows for next fall's football games.

Drills for sophomores will begin in early August. The full band will start practice around Aug. 10.

PHOENIX, Ariz. — "Unbelievable and lucky," said 22-year-old John Miller after his third-round 61 in the Phoenix Open.

"You've got to be lucky to do something like that," said Miller.

At The Library Radio Comedians Good For Laughs

Available at the Deaf Smith County Library this week is the hilarious story of past radio comedians and their comical sidekicks. Also available is the story of migrant workers and the major problems they face as an important group in America today.

THE GREAT RADIO COMEDIANS

by Jim Harmon

Once upon a time . . . Fibber McGee and Molly lived at 70 Vistful Vista, "Jello again" introduced a 39-year old skinflint named Benny and a brat called Baby Snooks schemed to do away with her little brother Robespierre. Once upon a time we laughed . . . bantering wit and corny cracks came rolling out of Crosley consoles and cathedral-shaped Philcos, and we laughed.

With material taken from hundreds of actual scripts, the Great Radio Comedians recreates those scenes when Andy rumbles, "Ise regusted with you, Amos;" when we drop in on Allen's Alley, knock on a door, and are greeted by Mrs. Nussbaum's, "You were expecting maybe the Fink Spots?"; and when we relish those well publicized "feuds" between headliners like Charlie McCarthy and W. C. Fields (who referred to Charlie as a "flop-house for termites").

Here, too, is the off-hand humor from radio's serious side. Jack Armstrong, the Lone Ranger and Tom Mix all had comical sidekicks to lighten their tight-lipped lives; Ma Perkins sandwiched in some laughs between words of wisdom; and even Dr. I. Q. was good for a few snickers each week.

SHADOWS IN THE VALLEY

by Frank A. Kostyu

The degradation and suffering of migrant farm workers is one of the major problems in America today, and it is worst among the Mexican Americans of the Rio Grande Valley. This book tells just how serious the problem is, and what the churches are doing to solve it through social action, special migrant missionaries, and unionist agitation.

It is a story overshadowed by the chronic hunger and malnutrition . . . that have driven the migrant workers to difficult, sometimes violent, encounters with the law and the citrus and vegetable growers, in their attempt to obtain a decent standard of living. And at its center is Ed Krueger, the migrant minister who has made the cause of the workers his own. The account of his heroic struggle will inspire new understanding of these long-oppressed people and their hopes for a better tomorrow and the changes it must bring.

Three sessions are planned for this summer with registration for the first session scheduled for 9 a. m. Friday, June 5 at the swimming pool. Classes will be held June 8 to 19, with two one-hour sessions each day at 10 and 11 a. m. The second session will be held June 29 to July 10, with registration June 26, 9 a. m. The final session, beginning July 20 and ending July 31, will be registered July 17, 9 a. m. Children who have completed the first year of school are eligible for beginner lessons. Lesson offered will be for beginner 1, 2, 3 and 4, intermediate and swimmers students. ### Programs On Drug Abuse Are Successful

After only seven months, the Kiwanis International program of community education on drugs and drug abuse called Operation Drug Alert has proved to be one of the most successful undertakings in the organization's history, according to word received here by Armon Lauderback, president of the Kiwanis Club of Hereford.

Nearly 3,000 Kiwanis clubs in the United States and Canada are participating in the program, Lauderback said. Their activities run the gamut of volunteer services. Many of them have organized community action programs aimed at drug education; others have led such programs themselves. They have operated or sponsored programs for school assemblies, forums, radio and TV "talk shows" on drug abuse. They have set up information centers, "hot line" services in communities and on campuses, drug clinics, publicity campaigns, and exhibits at municipal, county, and state functions. One of their activities has revolved around distribution of a booklet prepared for young people of junior high and high school ages entitled "Deciding About Drugs." The booklets have been distributed through schools, churches, youth groups, and police departments. Currently, more than 2,000,000 booklets have been given to young people. The number continues to increase by 100,000 copies per week. Operation Drug Alert is Kiwanis' first experiment with an organization-wide "major emphasis program." The idea will be continued, Lauderback said. He said the Hereford Kiwanis Club has had a letter writing campaign to local congressmen urging stronger legislation dealing with those who sell drugs and narcotics to the youth. Reports of this letter writing campaign are being sent to candidates for congress in our state, and on the national level. In a nine day period the Hereford Kiwanis Club wrote over 250 letters. Other civic clubs and ladies' clubs were contacted, urging them to join in the letter writing campaign. Recently 2470 booklets entitled "Deciding About Drugs," were passed out to high school, junior high, and sixth graders.

Grass Planting Receives Plaudits For Conservation

Gerald McCathern, board member of the Tierra Blanca Soil and Water Conservation District, has found that grass planting is the best method of preserving soil and water, especially when the slope is exceptionally steep for row crops. McCathern farms two and one-half sections of land nine miles west of Hereford in the Westway community. On a half section which he owns he is carrying out a Great Plains conservation plan designed to benefit him areas such as his grazing land. "He is converting all his sloping crop land on this half section to Midland Bermuda plus a cold season grass mixture," J.C. Brown, local conservation agent said. McCathern, who is also National Farmers Organization (NFO) President, is using some of his cool season grass pasture to catch tailwater at the end of his rows. "He lets it come through on this grass and it will filter out. This benefits him because the silt filters out on his grass instead of his tailwater recovery pit," Brown said. Four grasses in a mixture, tall fescue, smooth brome, orchard grass, and perennial rye grass, were seeded by McCathern on parts of his land. "But only two of these grasses have been predominant in the stand — tall fescue and smooth brome," Brown said. "The other two have tended to go out." Last year McCathern bailed around 1,000 bales on 18 acres of this type grass. Brown said the cool season grass had proven to be quality hay by McCathern feeding it to his prized Charolais cattle. "He was so well pleased with the cool season grass he planted 30 more acres on what is considered real fine row crop land," Brown added. "And as far as acres, he has around 100 in cool season grass and 15 in Bermuda," he said. McCathern's tailwater recovery pit, a project of his own, contains a surface acre foot of water and has a capacity of 10 acre feet. Primarily installed for a recovery system, the pit has a three-fold use. He plans to also use it for livestock water and family recreation. Another project under the Great Plains Program which McCathern plans to carry out is some "permanent fencing work to better manage his pasture and cattle," Brown said. "He is doing this since he is in the purebred cattle business to make better use of his grass," he said. Congress Studies Bill Requiring Dating Of Foods Hearings are expected this spring on a congressional bill to require dating of perishable and semi-perishable foods on a grocer's shelf so shoppers can tell the products' age. Most items sold in a supermarket carry a coded date to help store employees. Most consumers know the codes exist but they don't know what they mean. "Any identical coding between chains is purely coincidental and codes change as frequently as once a month — and probably sooner, if publicized," according to Representative Leonard Fargenstein of New York. He introduced the bill (HR 14816) in November. Read The Classified Want Ads

MARCH OF EVENTS

HANOI SEEMS TO BE IN TROUBLE AT HOME

ENEMY SPOKESMAN IS FAR LESS OPTIMISTIC

By HENRY CATHCART

Central Press Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—A well-authenticated Communist tactic goes something like this: first, win your internal power struggle by any means necessary. Second, keep your vanquished opponent out of sight for an unusually long time. Third and last, pop him up unexpectedly and have him espouse your policy—the very policy that goes against his own deepest beliefs for which he fought and lost.

Le Duan

Changes his tune

That apparently is what happened to Le Duan, the North Vietnamese first secretary and heir apparent who was last seen eulogizing Ho Chin Minh on September 9. Le Duan had long been Hanoi's most eloquent exponent of dramatic escalation, of maximum use of Soviet-supplied heavy weapons, of crushing all-or-nothing blows like the Tet offensive of February 1968.

At party functions, Le Duan had the highest rank next to Ho himself, he seemed to be winning most of the arguments, and the assignment to him of the funeral oration seemed to prove that his eminence had survived Ho.

DROPS OUT OF SIGHT—But a funny thing happened on the way from the funeral. Le Duan disappeared for nearly five months, and a little bit later the massive North Vietnamese infiltration of the fall 1969 period dropped suddenly. All of a sudden, North Vietnamese politicians and generals were trundled on stage to talk about "protracted war" and "harassing big forces with small forces" and other Communist euphemisms for toning things down and playing things very, very safe.

Where was Le Duan? Studying to become a dove, it turned out. Early this month, Le Duan surfaced and gave a speech about as bellicose as George McGovern on a slow day. "The resistance war against U.S. aggression," it seems, "may drag out... our compatriots may have to undergo new sacrifices in terms of property and human lives... our people must be prepared to fight many years more until the enemy give up their aggressive design..."

This from a man who for five years has been predicting victory next week. What can we expect just ahead? He says: "The imperative and key task at present is to mobilize and make good use of all labor forces, and increase the efficiency of labor... we are still wasting manpower and material resources."

TWO CONCLUSIONS—Pentagon analysts are drawing two key conclusions from this and other evidence of Hanoi's latest thinking. The first is that Hanoi is in trouble at home. Soviet food aid is skyrocketing this year to 600,000 tons—50 per cent ahead of last year's total. At the simplest level, when you lose 600,000 men of military age, you also lose 600,000 potential farmers. In what was never more than a subsistence agriculture, this is hurting badly.

The second Pentagon conclusion is that Hanoi has gotten the Silent Majority message: President Nixon is withdrawing gradually, Saigon does not appear to be quite the "puppet" Hanoi was hoping it would be, and the American people will be patient at least a while longer. Thus, for Hanoi, a Tet-like assault will be literally self-defeating, and Hanoi may figure 1970 is a good time to lick its wounds. For the Republican Party, that is the best news yet.

Hazlewood Blasts Proposed Hike In Insurance Rates

High Plains Soybean Report Now Ready

The results of an extensive study concerning four soybean varieties and four planting dates on the Texas High Plains are now available to producers just in the nick of time for the upcoming season.

The demonstration project was conducted in 1969 and was headed by James R. Rogers of Lubbock, assistant area agronomist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Varieties in four different maturity groups were included in the study. These were Lee (group VI), Hill (group V), Clark 63 (group IV) and Wayne (group III). These were planted at six locations — Lamesa, Lubbock, Plainview, Tulia, Canyon and Spearman — and on four different dates — May 12, June 10 and June 24.

The purpose of the project was to obtain additional information on a number of growth characteristics of soybeans so that more accurate recommendations could be made in selecting varieties for a specific location and planting date, explains Rogers. Characteristics that were studied included yield, maturity date, plant height at maturity, date of first flower, plant height of first flower, date of first pod, height of first pod-bearing node, shattering and lodging.

Rogers emphasizes that the results obtained in the study represent only one growing season. But he points out that the relative performance between varieties, locations and planting dates will be useful although year to year differences can be expected.

MRS. SHEPPARD VISITS AMARILLO

Mrs. Edith Sheppard returned home Wednesday after spending the weekend with the W. W. Wells of Amarillo.

Also visiting the Wells were their sons, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wells of Dallas and daughter, Tiffany, and Lynn Wells also of Dallas, who will be leaving for Europe for a three-month tour.

TOPS May Queen Crowned

Mrs. Leroy Williamson was crowned May Queen of the Month with an 8 1/2 lbs. loss at a TOPS Calorie Patrol meeting Tuesday morning at the Community center.

Runner-up was Mrs. Danny Martin with a 6 1/2 lbs. loss. During a brief business session, with Mrs. Dwayne Cassels presiding, Mrs. Ira Ott was appointed assistant weight recorder to replace Mrs. Dale Christie.

The next program will be presented by Mrs. Jack McCrock. She will tell of her past experiences at other TOPS Club meetings.

Club Presented Drug Program

Sheriff Travis McPherson presented a program on drugs to members of West Hereford Home Demonstration Club at a meeting Tuesday in the home of Mrs. D. R. Grimes.

Following a display of several different types of drugs, McPherson explained that the marijuana abuser is difficult to recognize unless under the influence of the drug. In later stages, he said, the person is sleepy and stuporous and his depth perception is distorted, making driving dangerous.

Mrs. Carl Schroeder will be hostess for the next meeting June 9 when the program "Gloves for all occasions," will be given by Argen Draper, county agent.

Others attending were Mmes. Roy Boyd, Wes Bradley, E. M. Cox, Blanch Hardin, John Jacobsen Sr., U. V. Pierce, Carl Schroeder and Misses Mary Bradley and Evelyn Bell.

Jack Hazlewood, candidate for state senate from this district, said this week he plans to appear before the State Insurance Board to oppose any increases in insurance rates.

He made these comments on the occasion of a Canyon press conference of the Southwestern Insurance Information Service, Inc., the public relations arm of the insurance industry.

"The industry is trying to soften up the public's attitude toward rate increases to prepare the way for their bid for higher premiums in July, estimated to be from 15 to 20 per cent greater," Hazlewood said.

Hazlewood registered his protest in a telegram to the Insurance Board on Friday which said: "The recent disclosure that the insurance industry will seek a 15 to 20 per cent rate increase in automobile liability insurance is a bitter blow to all persons interested in combating inflation."

"In my judgment the failure of the Board in the past to take the investment income of the insurance companies into account in setting rates has been one factor which has permitted insurance rates to rise to their already existing inflationary levels."

Hazlewood requested that the board hold at least one public hearing in Amarillo to consider the proposed rate increase and to permit what he called "the many thousands of people in the Panhandle area who are concerned with this problem an opportunity to appear and give expression to their views."

New Chemical Looks Good For Brush Control

A newly-developed chemical that will soon be available to farmers and ranchers has achieved almost complete success in control of huisache.

Tests with the new material, picloram and 2, 4, 5-T mixture were conducted on a ranch near Lolita on the Gulf Coast. The experiments were carried out with the advice of Texas A&M brush and weed control specialists. Under the effects of the chemical applications, the carrying capacity of the pasture land went from nine acres per animal unit in 1967 to three acres per animal unit at present.

One-half pound of picloram with on-half pound of 2, 4, 5-T was applied to each acre of land in a solution of one gallon of diesel oil and enough water to make five gallons of the herbicide solution. The land was first treated in October of 1967 and cattle were put back on it in the spring of 1968.

In addition to the control of huisache, there was almost complete destruction of blackbrush and granjeno on the land. The general condition of the range land has improved with the insecticide.

BECOMES ANGEL SCOUT ANAHEIM, Calif. — Gordon Windhorn, former outfielder for the California Angels, has been added to the scouting staff of the Angels.

Windhorn, 36 and a resident of Danville, Va., will be covering the mid-Atlantic states. Windhorn played for the Hanky Braves of the Japanese Pacific League the last six seasons. The team won the league title the last three years but each year lost the Japan series to the Tokyo Giants.

Methodists Open 1970 Meet In Abilene Today

The Northwest Texas Annual Conference of the United Methodist Church will open its 1970 session at 10 a.m. today at St. Paul United Methodist Church in Abilene.

Bishop Alistair H. Carleton, presiding bishop of the Northwest Texas-New Mexico Area of the U.M.C., will preside. More than 105,000 members of the conference will be represented by 500 clerical and lay delegates. The conference will run through Sunday afternoon, May 31, and will close with the reading of appointments by Bishop Carleton.

One of the first items of business on this year's agenda is a joint session for merger, involving five West Texas Conference churches and the present Northwest Texas Conference.

The five churches are Negro churches, members of the old Central Jurisdiction of Negro churches which has been abolished and the five churches which lie within the bounds of the Northwest Texas Conference will be merged with the N.W.T.C.

The joint session for merger will be at 2:30 p.m. on Thursday afternoon, May 28. The Rev. M. T. Reed of Lubbock, pastor of the Mt. Vernon U.M.C., will represent the West Texas Conference in the ceremony.

The five churches are Plum Street in Abilene, Wyatt Memorial in Amarillo, Mt. Vernon in Lubbock, Hollowell Memorial in Midland, and a church in Levelland.

The plan for merging the

Shriners Furnish Child's Trip To Burn Center

Hereford and Amarillo Shriners furnished transportation this week for a 5-year-old Hereford burn victim to be treated at the burn center in Galveston.

An airplane provided through the Khiva Shrine organization West Texas and Northwest Texas Conferences was voted last year by both conferences.

The Conference Program Council, directed by Dr. S. Duane Bruce of Lubbock, will have its presentation on Thursday night — an orientation session on the activities of the conference in many areas.

Dr. Gaston Foote of Fort Worth, longtime pastor of First United Methodist Church there, will be the conference preacher this year and will speak at worship services Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

A new feature of this year's conference will be youth caucuses, held each day. The Rev. Ron Hamby, conference youth director, said the caucuses would stress greater youth participation in the conference, would orient the young people on the work of the Northwest ed at her home May 19 when her clothing caught fire. Her chest, neck, back, left arm pit and left thigh were most affected.

Miss Duncan was treated at Deaf Smith County Hospital until she was past the critical stage and able to be transported. Marvin Coffey, secretary of the Oasis Shrine organization, who worked with Glen McMennamy of Amarillo in organizing the trip to Galveston, says he believes this is the first child sent from Hereford to the burn center.

The Shriners will pay all expenses involved in the child's treatment at the center.

Civil Air Patrol Saves $8,800 With Antenna

MAXWELL AFB, Ala. — Headquarters, Civil Air Patrol-U. S. Air Force, has been credited with a one-time Cost Reduction saving of $8,800. The saving was verified by Cost Reduction monitors at Headquarters Command USAF, the parent command for Hq. CAP-USAF.

The saving was effected in securing a replacement antenna for the Hq. CAP-USAF radio station. A long range replacement time made waiting for a new one unacceptable since operational effectiveness of the station would be seriously curtailed.

An unused antenna was located by the Hq. CAP-USAF Communications Officer at another USAF installation and was secured on a loan basis. Later, the antenna was declared excess and the loan became a permanent transfer, thus affecting the saving over the cost of a new one.

Plans have been completed to allow senior members to attend the 2nd annual office of Civil Defense (OCD) Staff College at Battle Creek, Mich.

The three-day course, beginning Oct. 15, is designed to give an overall view of civil defense at national, state and local levels. It will provide basic information that will enable CAP civil defense coordinators to establish liaison with civil defense officials at all levels, and to set programs that are integrated with state and local CD plans.

The deadline for submitting applications to Headquarters CAP-USAF (CPOST) is Aug. 1. The course is open to both male and female senior members.

The Hereford Civil Air Patrol meets in the American Legion Hall every Monday night at 7:30 p.m., all interested are invited.

The first students enrolled in Hereford's college in 1902. The college first known as Add-Rann and later named Panhandle Christian college, was forced to close in 1913 because of financial trouble.

LEST WE forget

God has a destiny for America, and only eyes of Faith can read that destiny. Were it not so, all those who have, and will pay with their lives the last full measure, will have died in vain. We need only to look at our cemeteries to have our manhood shocked and our Americanism awakened. Our allegiance would be strengthened by that look. We can never recompense for the supreme sacrifice and heartache the spilling of each drop of blood caused. But every American should bow his head in shame when he dares not to salute our Grand Old Flag. Please let us, this day, rededicate ourselves and say a benediction for all those who have and will lay themselves, in our behalf, between our wonderful country and all her foes.

Lest We Forget.

Circus Opens Next Week With Clowns And All

"Clowns are the pegs on which to hang a circus. No less a showman than P. T. Barnum made that statement almost a hundred years ago. This year, in the 1970 edition of Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus, clowns are just as important — maybe even more so — as in Barnum's day.

The all-new edition of The Greatest Show on Earth, opens at the Amarillo Civic Center next Thursday for nine performances through Sunday, June 7th.

Throughout its 100 years of life, Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus has had a world-wide reputation for presenting the greatest clowns in the world. To make sure that this reputation always remains intact, the Circus has opened a unique annual training program to instruct young performers in the clowning arts' very special skills.

Each fall, at the Circus' winter home in Venice, Florida, the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey College of Clowns opens its session. Applications are received throughout the year and from the hopefuls, the most promising applicants are selected. Successful graduates of the college are offered contracts to appear in one of the two mammoth touring editions of The Greatest Show on Earth.

Ervin Feld, president and producer of Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey, is pleased with the clowns the College produces. "Fortunately, there's a little of the clown in each of us, though it may be hidden under layers of convention, frustration or fear," Mr. Feld says. "Under the experienced guidance of our staff — all present or former professional clowns — our young funnymen develop into a delightful and varied group of entertainers. Being funny on demand requires a lot of work and practical training." The clowns of Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey circus fall into two general categories

School Annuals Are On Sale

Anyone wishing to purchase a copy of the account of the 1969-70 school year may do so for $6 each at the high school office.

— the Whiteface and the August. Traditionally, the Whiteface is nimble, graceful, elegant with a touch of sadness in his gaiety. Typically, the August is some version of the wild-haired, wild-eyed, grotesquely-dressed bumbler, whose feet always get stuck in a bucket and whose pants are always falling down. He's on the wrong end of the stick, but he almost always turns the tables in the end.

According to legend, the August came into being by fluke 100 years ago. In the Zirkus Renz in Berlin, so the story goes, a stableboy, trying on clothes too big for him, got into the ring by mistake. The truth

For The Children Talking Dolphins 'Human' Baboons

TALKING DOLPHINS — Playful dolphins entertain crowd at the Port Elizabeth Oceanarium in South Africa when they aren't busy "talking" to director Dr. Colin Taylor in dolphinese.

Do you know that dolphins have a dictionary all their own? And baboons are more human than animal?

Both are true statements, say experts on "The Unexplained," an Encyclopaedia Britannica special to be colorcast on NBC-TV Friday, April 3, at 7:30 p.m. EST. It is sponsored by the Weyerhaeuser Company and produced by Les Mendelson and Walt DeFaria of Mendelson Productions, Inc., in association with NBC-TV.

The dolphin dictionary was put together by Dr. Colin Taylor, director of the Port Elizabeth Oceanarium in South Africa. He has discovered more than 600 dolphin "words" and isolated 60 words for use in talking to the dolphins in their own language.

"Dolphinese" is ten times faster than our language. "Dolphins speak to each other in a form of whistling and clicks, which are very short in duration," Dr. Taylor points out.

On the program he actually communicates with dolphins at the Oceanarium through an interpreting machine that translates his signals into "dolphinese."

Through his work, Dr. Taylor hopes to unlock some secrets of the world beneath the sea as a way to help man understand himself by first understanding his environment.

Dr. Irven DeVore feels the same way about baboons. A professor of anthropology at Harvard University and author of Primate Behavior, he has spent the last six years in Kenya wilds studying baboons.

"Almost everything we've learned about these primates has taught us more and more about ourselves," he says.

He observed, for example, that while male baboons usually run things from day to day, it is the female and their offspring that are the heart of the group.

He also notes that there are "some mothers who are good mothers, and others who aren't." From this he concludes that the role of the female baboon is vastly underestimated, just as in our world.

There is also a generation gap in the baboon world. The big adult males are constantly putting down the juvenile males for threatening or attacking the females.

These are two of the many facets of the known and unknown that will be explored in this first Encyclopaedia Britannica special. The "documentary of the future" features some of today's leading scientists and scholars who are searching for answers that will help man better understand his environment — and himself.

Chamber Advises Caution On Long-Term Car Leases

Operators of service stations, used car lots or similar businesses were warned today by the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce to check carefully on the sale of long-term automobile leasing plans.

Bill Thompson, Manager of the Chamber, said serious questions connected with the sale of brokerages have been raised by the National Better Business Bureau, with which the chamber is affiliated.

Typically, said NBBB, a local businessman is approached by a representative with a plan held out as a source of supplemental income through leasing new cars to the public on a long-term basis with an option to buy.

"Emphasis is placed on the attractiveness to the public of the purchase option, and the sales pitch may include a representation that the selling prices of local new car dealers would be undercut," says NBBB. "The businessman is pressed to pay approximately $500 for the brokerage rights which would guarantee him around $250 profit on each car leased."

A typical agreement, according to NBBB, fails to guarantee territory and requires a minimum number of leases a year for renewal; provides for return of the initial investment by rebates on the first few cars leased; requires the local broker to maintain the books; and contains a clause absolving the seller of the brokerage from responsibility for non-delivery of cars under a wide range of circumstances.

NBBB says there have been indications of misleading statements concerning refunding the initial investment; profit potential; and the competitiveness of lease-purchase prices with those of manufacturer-franchised dealers.

Other misrepresentations listed by NBBB include exaggerated claims on the amount of advertising employed; training and sales assistance; financing; delivery time for new models; and the amount of bookkeeping required by local brokers.

While the deceptions have not been identified with all companies offering brokerages of this kind, says NBBB, evidence indicates they are widespread enough to warrant extreme caution by local businessmen.

NBBB suggested taking the following steps before making any commitments:

1. Check the firm's reputation with your local Better Business Bureau or Chamber of Commerce.
2. Confirm the firm's central office address with the area telephone operator.
3. Check with local or state licensing agencies to see if the firm is authorized to do business.
4. Insist on a list of the company's other brokers to learn their experience.
5. Read the contract carefully to make sure it agrees with oral promises.
6. Compare quoted lease-purchase prices with those of local auto dealers.

'I Was Shamed'

SIR: Twenty-six years ago I was in a small town outside Salerno, Italy. It was around the end of World War II. The town had been completely destroyed, deserted by all the inhabitants—smoke, ruins, flame and destruction were all around us.

I was a young boy then. My friends and I were looking around for food; we were starving and scared. The Germans were all around us. All of a sudden we heard the terrible noise of machines—tanks were coming our way. We were scared; we embraced each other from fear. Who was the enemy? Were they Germans? If they were, they would certainly kill us.

Suddenly, in all these clouds of smoke we saw a flag; we saw a flag standing up straight, full of pride and honor. You should have been there; it was the most beautiful sight any man could have wished for. The tanks were getting closer; we didn't know what to do. We kept looking at that flag, looking, looking; and all of a sudden a smile was coming back to our face, first slowly and then bigger, bigger and deeper. It was the American flag, the American flag; and we cried and screamed with joy in our heart. The fear was gone, there were no more soldiers to kill us.

"It's the American flag; the Americans, the Americans are here," we cried. "We are free; freedom is here at last." And we ran down the hills, we ran to our mothers hiding in the hills, in caves, even in wells. We ran with the scene of that beautiful flag we had just seen in these clouds in our eyes. . . . The Americans, the Americans are here. Boy! What a joy it was; what a sight to remember.

We cried, we cried in our mothers' arms with joy; and I remember saying to my mother: "We are not going to be killed any more, mother, the Americans are here."

How I have learned to love that flag ever since. How beautiful it was to see the sight of those American soldiers coming to our town to bring us justice, liberty, peace. How we learned to love those soldiers standing there outside of their tanks, beside the American flag. What men they were; what heroes.

Now, after twenty-six years, I am living in America. I have lived here for 24 years and have been a citizen for 20 years. I have learned to love and respect that flag more and more; and today, I feel just as strong about it as when I first saw that flag on the hills of Salerno. But the other day, when I saw on television, in the Capital of this great nation, a young American burning the American flag in the middle of Dupont Circle and waving the Communist flag straight up in the air, I could not feel anything but horror. I was shamed, broken-hearted. Then tears came down to my face. "Man," I said, "you are not an American. Your father could not be the same soldier that gave me life, freedom and justice on these far hills of Salerno. You are not an American. You don't really know what freedom means. If you believe so deeply that your country is wrong and the enemy is right, then go there. Go to China, to Russia, wherever you think that you want to be. I will pay your one-way ticket."

"I am sure that down deep there are many Americans that would be more than willing to help you and other people like you with a one-way ticket out of this country; but don't come running back home to us because you didn't find running water."

To burn the American flag is treason. Ignoring the act is worse.

Award-Sweeping Hereford Band Aims Now For National Recognition

By BETTY KOELZER
Staff Writer

Hereford's high school band, earning the honor of being outstanding class AAA band twice in state competition, has set for its next goal an invitation to a national contest.

Competing with 36 other bands in the state contest in Corpus Christi recently, the Hereford group received a "1-plus" from two of seven judges, in competition where "1" usually is the top score given. Other years have produced first and second place awards.

In eight years of regional UIL competition, the Hereford musicians have received seven unanimous "1" ratings, with a composite of a "1" the other year. The band also was named the state's outstanding AAA band in 1968.

Other awards received by the Hereford band include

"outstanding" in concert at the Tri-State Music Festival in Enid, Oklahoma in 1964, first place in a state contest at Six Flags in 1965, honor band at the Texas Music Educators Association convention in Austin in 1967 and runner up in a state contest in 1968.

The band director from the University of Minnesota asked Hereford band director Ben Gollehon at the Corpus Christi convention this year if he had ever entered national competition.

The Minnesota director called the Hereford band "one of the best high school bands in the country," offered to help get Gollehon an offer, and asked him to write the National Music Teacher Convention.

Of 118 band members, Gollehon says 33 will graduate from the group tonight. This loss will be replaced in the fall with all incoming band students who have completed similar training throughout junior high school. There are no "left-over band students." The band expands to accommodate all eligible applicants.

The graduation of top players has not hurt the band in the past and he doesn't feel there will be a dropoff this year. A year ago, 35 members of the band graduated but were replaced by new students coming up from junior high.

Gollehon reflected that when he began instructing band in the Hereford school system in 1960, there were about 200 music students throughout the schools. He and Don Moore, choir director, were the only music instructors.

This past year, at least 800 music students were under the direction of 12 teachers. And the next year will require an assistant for Gollehon.

Ronny Wright, completing a three-year tour at Fort Sam Houston with the Fourth Army band, will be moving to Hereford this summer.

Gollehon says Hereford has one of the oldest bands in West Texas; it was formed as a community band at the turn of the century. It became a school band in the early 1900s with instructors coming from other towns. During the 1920s, Ralph Smith became the director of the school's band, and held the position until 1947.

The city paid band expenses until it was entered into the school's budget about 1935.

Seven band directors followed Smith until Gollehon entered the picture in 1960. Gollehon was also appointed in 1968 to serve in the newly created position of supervisor of music in all the public schools.

Students in the band achieve individual honors, in addition to the group's accomplishments. Each year an average of 15 students achieve region band, with an about three reaching all-state band.

One student, Joy McCathern, this year, has attained membership in the all-state orchestra.

Several of Hereford's students have traveled as members of the United States of America High School Band, a Lions Club project, making European tours with this group.

Nearly every student of college music receives applied scholarship after graduation from high school. This includes music lesson and all related fees throughout the college career.

Three or four of Hereford's graduates received symphony scholarships after they entered college. This is a more accomplished scholarship than the applied. Jerry McCathern, fourth chair trumpet in the Houston symphony, soon will become a career performer, after completing his education.

Kerry Thompson and Miss McCathern have attended the Interlochen Music Camp in Michigan, which is considered "the" music camp in the United States, Gollehon said.

Typical education for the high school band members includes an hour of class per day, plus sectional training for 1 1/2 hours a week. Gollehon says he requires no set length of practice time, only the amount needed to perfect each assignment. He encourages good citizenship on the part of the students.

As Texas Wing Band for the Civil Air Patrol, the local group attends CAP functions at various times throughout the state, sometimes as a whole group, and sometimes in smaller attendance.

On June 6, a 40-member group will enter the state CAP drill competition in Waco.

Other out-of-town performances include football games, yearly UIL marching contest at Buffalo stadium in Canyon, concert contest in Amarillo, UIL contest for sweepstakes in Amarillo, and then on to the invitational state competition at Corpus Christi.

UIL trips are financed by the school, all CAP trips are paid by that affiliation, and other overnight trips are financed by the students, either by fund raising events, or by individual payments.

Smaller band instruments are owned by the individual players, and larger pieces — tubas, french horns, xylophones, chimes, etc. — are provided by the schools, because of the expense involved.

Within the large group of performers there are smaller sets — concert band; marching band; and stage band, which has a separate class during school time.

Gollehon credits much of the success of the Hereford High School Band to the school board of trustees, who are "friends of the arts," helping the group to grow and excel.

"This makes Hereford outstanding in all areas, because we have interested citizens," Gollehon says.

Gollehon said students have given him full cooperation. That, he feels, is because "we operate like a family. It's not just a band, but a team of people. We think, feel and act as a family, and not just as a class. It is a way of life and these kids want to be a part of it."

Ben Gollehon is from Dimmitt. He received his college education and a degree in Band Masters Education at West Texas State University, where he is striving to complete his Masters Degree this year.

Besides summer classes, Gollehon attends band director clinics periodically about the United States.

Living at 111 Aspen, Gollehon and his wife, Virginia, have three children — ages 11 years, 7 years, and 10 months.

CASPER'S FOUR D'S

ORLANDO, Fla. — Billy Casper, twice a winner of the U.S. Open golf championship, points out that to be a winner in golf, or any field of endeavor, "one must have the four D's — discipline, desire, determination and direction."

"Most young people want to succeed, but don't know how to go about it," says Casper. "I think the problem stems from our liberal way of life, and from the fact that we as parents haven't taken enough time to raise our children in the proper manner and to give them dance and direction."

Area Cotton Farmers Support 7-Step Program

Though there have been many changes in practices and methods over the 24-year period since the Seven-Step Cotton Program was initiated by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, its basic objectives are still very sound.

Last year, more than 47,200 farmers used cotton in their balanced farming program and followed other recommendations outlined in production guides and planned county programs.

Machines and chemicals continue to be vitally important to growers in cost-cutting. Almost half of last year's acreage was treated with pre-emergence chemicals and mechanical equipment were used to keep weeds and grass under control; thus largely eliminating hand hoeing.

As harvest season approached, chemicals again were used as defoliants or desiccants to get fields in condition for mechanical harvesting. More than 51,000 farmers, used harvest-aid chemicals.

Then came the army of strippers and mechanical pickers to do the harvesting job. An estimated 39,675 strippers were used to harvest 73 per cent of the state's 1969 production while 5,762 mechanical pickers accounted for another 25 per cent, thus, 98 per cent of last year's production was harvested with machines.

From 1880 until the boll weevil hit in 1901, yields averaged over 300 pounds per acre. In 1901 it dropped to 148 pounds and only twice from then until 1946, when the Seven-Step Program started, did yearly averages exceed 200 pounds per acre.

The all-time record yield was posted in 1968 at 410 pounds per acre with a 408 average in 1965. Over the last 20 years, yields have trended upward. This period has seen the most rapid advances made in using research findings and demonstrations results.

Soil testing and fertilizer use, rotation systems, improved varieties, better cultural practices, more effective insect control programs, development of more effective chemicals or weed and grass control and larger and better machines and equipment are responsible for the improved yield picture. Irrigation has also been a heavy contributor in many areas.

But it has been the cotton farmer's acceptance of the new ideas which have been of utmost importance. The production job is being done a great deal differently from just a few years ago and the pace of change is not expected to slow much in the future.

Water-Conscious Farmers Try Tailwater System

on his 800 acre farm three miles north of Dawn. He is able to pump up to 1200 gallons of water per minute from the pit. —Staff Photo

Several programs are currently in the making in the High Plains region directed to the purpose of saving the decreasing water supply. One being carried out is the construction of tailwater recovery systems. James Gentry, a co-operator with the Tierra Blanca Soil and Water Conservation Service, has constructed a tailwater recovery system on his 800-acre farm three miles north of Dawn.

He designed and built the pit himself which is 300 feet long, 80 feet wide, and 14 feet deep.

"If you are going to build one, you should plan to build it bigger than you expect you'll need and then double it," Gentry said. "That's a good way to make sure you won't have one too small."

Gentry has installed a regular gas irrigation motor to pump his pit. He feels it is much more practical than an electric motor because the speed can be adjusted.

"We can pump up to 1200 gallons of water per minute from the pit," he said. "And if it goes dry, the pump will get hot and shut itself off."

Gentry said his main mistakes in the past have been to build his recovery systems too small. He also likes his pump on the side of the pit instead of in it.

"We have easier maintenance of the pump this way," he said.

Ed Blackwell, agent with the Tierra Blanca Soil and Water Conservation Service said, "By building his pit extra large, he won't be cleaning it of silt so often."

Blackwell said ten years ago there weren't any tailwater recovery pits in the county.

"Farmers realize they have to have them these days as scarce as water is getting and as much as it costs to pump water," he said.

"On a farm similar to the Gentry farm, a man will lose about 20 percent of his tailwater with a recovery system. So, in turn, he saves about 80 percent and is able to recirculate most of it," Blackwell said.

"All farmers that have installed tailwater pits," he said, "have been real pleased with them. They have found that one will pay for itself in about two years."

The official census of 1969 showed Deaf Smith County's population to be 843.

Area Farmers Save Soil With Grass Program

A soil conservation project, tall wheat grass planting, promoted by the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) is currently being cost-shared on the J. H. and Beryl Fish farm five miles northwest of Hereford.

They are maintaining this soil-saving practice under the Great Plains Conservation Program which they entered in November 1969.

"They have a 291-acre irrigated farm of which they are going to make a major livestock operation," Ed Blackwell, agent with the Tierra Blanca Soil and Water Conservation Service said.

"They are establishing 30 acres of an improved variety of tall wheat grass. This will run four steers to the acre with good management," he said.

Blackwell described tall wheat grass as a cool-season grass with similar growth habits as wheat. "It shouldn't be grazed heavily in the summer time," he said, "but it's a good place to take cattle in March when a farmer takes them off o wheat. It conserves the soil as does any grass because soil is conserved when not plowed."

The Fishs are able to carry out this practice with 80 per cent cost-share assistance from the USDA.

They are also receiving 50 per cent cost-share assistance on a 30 acre cross-fencing project. "They will split the 30 acres into a three pasture rotation grazing system," Blackwell said. "They will allow one pasture to be fertilized and watered, one resting, and the other to be grazed."

Other cost-share practices on the Fish farm include the installation of 4000 feet of irrigation pipeline, 2,000 feet of pipeline installation for livestock water, a water storage facility for livestock water enforced with a concrete bottom and steel or galvanized steel, and 16 acres of land leveling for greater efficiency of irrigation water.

WHEAT GRASS CONSERVATION — J. H. Fish, left, observes the growth of the tall wheat grass he has planted on his farm five miles north of Hereford with local conservation agent, Ed Blackwell. Fish and his son, Beryl, have planted the wheat grass under the Great Plains Conservation Program to help them prepare for a large cattle operation. —Staff Photo

pers and mechanical pickers to do the harvesting job. An estimated 39,875 strippers were used to harvest 73 per cent of the state's 1969 production while 5,762 mechanical pickers accounted for another 25 per cent, thus, 98 per cent of last year's production was harvested with machines.

From 1880 until the boll weevil hit in 1901, yields averaged over 200 pounds per acre. In 1901 it dropped to 148 pounds and only twice from then until 1946, when the Seven-Step Program started, did yearly average yields exceed 200 pounds per acre.

The all-time record yield was posted in 1968 at 410 pounds per acre with a 408 average in 1965. Over the last 20 years, yields have trended upward. This period has seen the most rapid advances made in using research findings and demonstration results.

Soil testing and fertilizer use, rotation systems, improved varieties, better cultural practices, more effective insect control programs, development of more effective chemicals or weed and grass control and larger and better machines and equipment are responsible for the improved yield picture. Irrigation has also been a heavy contributor in many areas.

But it has been the cotton farmer's acceptance of the new ideas which have been of utmost importance. The production job is being done a great deal differently from just a few years ago and the pace of change is not expected to slow much in the future.

Area Farmers Save Soil With Grass Program

A soil conservation project, tall wheat grass planting, promoted by the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) is currently being cost-shared on the J. H. and Beryl Fish farm five miles northwest of Hereford.

They are maintaining this soil-saving practice under the Great Plains Conservation Program which they entered in November 1969.

"They have a 291-acre irrigated farm of which they are going to make a major livestock operation," Ed Blackwell, agent with the Tierra Blanca Soil and Water Conservation Service said.

"They are establishing 30 acres of an improved variety of tall wheat grass. This will run four steers to the acre with good management," he said.

Blackwell described tall wheat grass as a cool-season grass with similar growth habits as wheat. "It shouldn't be grazed heavily in the summer time," he said, "but it's a good place to take cattle in March when a farmer takes them off wheat. It conserves the soil as does any grass because soil is conserved when not plowed."

The Fishes are able to carry out this practice with 80 per cent cost-share assistance from the USDA. They are also receiving 50 per cent cost-share assistance on a 30 acre cross-fencing project.

"They will split the 30 acres into a three pasture rotation grazing system," Blackwell said. "They will allow one pasture to be fertilized and watered, one resting, and the other to be grazed."

Other cost-share practices on the Fish farm include the installation of 4000 feet of irrigation pipeline, 2,600 feet of pipeline installation for livestock water, a water storage facility for livestock water enforced with a concrete bottom and steel or galvanized steel, and 16 acres of land leveling for greater efficiency of irrigation water.

Water-Conscious Farmers Try Tailwater System

Several programs are currently in the making in the High Plains region directed to the purpose of saving the decreasing water supply. One being carried out is the construction of tailwater recovery systems.

James Gentry, a co-operator with the Tierra Blanca Soil and Water Conservation Service, has constructed a tailwater recovery system on his 800-acre farm three miles north of Dawn.

He designed and built the pit himself which is 360 feet long, 80 feet wide, and 14 feet deep.

"If you are going to build one, you should plan to build it bigger than you expect you'll need and then double it," Gentry said. "That's a good way to make sure you won't have one too small."

Gentry has installed a regular gas irrigation motor to pump his pit. He feels it is much more practical than an electric motor because the speed can be adjusted.

"We can pump up to 1200 gallons of water per minute from the pit," he said. "And if it goes dry, the pump will get hot and shut itself off."

Gentry said his main mistakes in the past have been to build his recovery systems too small. He also likes his pump on the side of the pit instead of in it.

"We have easier maintenance of the pump this way," he said. Ed Blackwell, agent with the Tierra Blanca Soil and Water Conservation Service said, "By building his pit extra large, he won't be cleaning it of silt so often."

Blackwell said ten years ago there weren't any tailwater recovery pits in the county. "Farmers realize they have to have them these days as scarce as water is getting and as much as it costs to pump water," he said.

"On a farm similar to the Gentry farm, a man will lose about 20 percent of his tailwater with a recovery system. So, in turn, he saves about 80 percent and is able to recirculate most of it," Blackwell said.

"All farmers that have installed tailwater pits," he said, "have been real pleased with them. They have found that one will pay for itself in about two years."

The official census of 1960 showed Deaf Smith County's population to be 843.

CO-OPERATOR'S PROJECT — In cooperation with the Tierra Blanca Soil And Water Conservation Service, James Gentry has built tailwater recovery system and pit (shown above)

on his 800 acre farm three miles north of Dawn. He is able to pump up to 1200 gallons of water per minute from the pit.

WHEAT GRASS CONSERVATION — J. H. Fish, left, observes the growth of the tall wheat grass he has planted on his farm five miles north of Hereford with local conservation agent, Ed Blackwell. Fish and his son, Beryl, have planted the wheat grass under the Great Plains Conservation Program to help them prepare for a large cattle operation.

Grants Go For Research In Higher Cotton Production

Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. has received and is considering requests for financial grant-in-aid totaling over $64,000 to support cotton production research on the High Plains, including projects ranging from weed control to chemical and biological manipulation of cotton plant growth.

The PCG Research Committee with Don Jones of Lubbock and Ray Joe Riley of Hart as co-chairmen, accepted written summaries and heard oral presentations of each research project May 5 in Lubbock.

Jones, now retired, is a former superintendent of the Texas A&M Research and Extension Center north of Lubbock. Riley is a well known cotton farmer and seed breeder and current vice president of the 25,000 member PCG. There are 14 other committee members from the six geographically balanced PCG districts.

Financial aid for seven research projects totaling $48,875 was received from the Texas A&M Research and Extension Center, for a single project from the Agricultural Experiment Station at Bushland to cost $5,000, for one project costing $5,000 from Texas Tech University, and for three studies costing a total of $7,250 from the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway.

Committee Chairman Riley said it is unfortunate that PCG doesn't have sufficient funds to fully support all requests. "But with limited funds we will have to judge and assign priority to each request on its merits, primarily in terms of the potential dollar return to our growers."

The PCG fiscal year is from July 1 to June 30 each year and a decision on research grants will be made by the Board prior to June 30 this year.

A total of $339,800 in research grants-in-aid have been awarded by PCG since its inception in 1956, and many of the advances made in the development of new varieties, fertilization, water utilization, control of insects, diseases, weeds and other improved cultural practices can be traced to "Seed money" supplied by producers through PCG.

Included in research projects for which money was requested this year are variety breeding; disease, insect and weed control; temperature studies, fertility levels, soil moisture conditions and conservation of rainfall and irrigation water.

Aldabra, a tiny coral atoll 250 miles north of Madagascar in the Indian Ocean, is home to the rare pink-footed booby, flightless rail and giant land tortoise. The 60 square miles of land also support species of fruit-eating bats, insects and shellfish found nowhere else in the world.

PLANS JUNE WEDDING — The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Cherrie Jean Hill and Kenneth A. Dearman are announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Foster Hill, Route 1. Dearman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth R. Dearman of Amarillo. Vows will be exchanged at 7:30 p.m. June 6 in First Baptist Church with the Rev. Don Larkin officiating for the ceremony. Miss Hill is a 1967 graduate of Hereford High School. Her fiancé attended Amarillo High School and Amarillo College. He is employed by J. C. Hamilton and Company.

South on 385 — EM 4-2015

AUSTIN, Tex. — Big turnover in state jobs is costing taxpayers $19 million a year.

Henry Rothell, associate administrator of Texas Employment Commission, said the turnover of 26.48 per cent is due to "competitiveness" of industrial salaries.

"The state is acting as a training agency for private industry at a cost too expensive to follow," the veteran employment executive reported.

Despite difficulties in retaining skilled personnel, state employees have received substantial pay raises from the last two legislative sessions.

Unemployment rate for the state as a whole continues well below the national average.

Employees in convention here were urged to continue working with legislative bodies to help solve the problems.

INDUSTRIAL RACE ON — Plans for establishment of 126 new manufacturing plants and expansion of 176 existing plants in the first five months of 1970 are reported in "Texas Industrial Expansion," published by UT's Bureau of Business Research.

Twenty-nine new plants reported in May alone are located in Aransas Pass, Commerce (2), Corpus Christi, Corsicana, Dalhart, Duncanville, El Paso, Fort Worth (3), Galveston, Garland (2), Grand Saline, Houston (3), Katy, Laredo, Lubbock, McGregor, Mineral Wells, Pearland, San Marcos, Seabrook, Stapton and Tyler.

Thirty new plants to be expanded right away are located in Amarillo, Baytown, Big Spring, Bishop, Clarksville, Dalhart, Deatur, Elsa, Fort Worth, Friona, Garland, Gatesville, Houston (4), Lone Star, Lubbock, Lufkin, Marshall, Odessa (2), Palacios, Plainview, Post, Seabrook, Stafford, Texas City, Tyler and Waaco. DRAFT QUOTA SET — Texas draft call for June is down again — from 834 in May to 801, and no man will be inducted with a random sequence number higher than 170.

State quota for pre-induction physical and mental examinations in June is 3,320, less than half the May figure of 5,828.

Those with random sequence numbers 1-215 will be the only ones sent for these exams. No men with random sequence numbers above 215 will be forwarded for examination until further notice.

Men born in 1951, who have no random sequence numbers, will not be called for this purpose. A drawing will be held later this year to establish the numbers for the 1951 group. All volunteers at the draft boards must be inducted ahead of the non-volunteers selected and ordered to report for induction by random sequence number.

Texas' induction quota is the state's share of June's national call of 15,000 men, all for the Army.

FLOOD COVERAGE STARTED — Areas of Baytown and Dickinson Bayou in Harris and Galveston County are the first two Texas communities to establish eligibility for emergency flood insurance.

Insurance at federally-subsidized premium rates may be obtained up to $17,500 for single-family homes and up to $30,000 for two-to-four family dwellings. Small business coverage also is available. Home rates range from 40 to 50 cents per $100. Contents may be insured up to $5,000.

Twenty-three other Texas political subdivisions have filed for certification of eligibility for the coverage, and 69 others have expressed some interest. Only 37 communities in the nation are now eligible. COURTS SPEAK — State Supreme Court reversed the intermediate court in holding that Methodist Church property used as the residence of a district superintendent in the San Antonio district is exempt from city taxation.

High Court heard arguments that the Liquor Control Board's controversial guest card rule for private clubs is needed to enforce its ban on open saloons. Third Court of Civil Appeals threw out the rule as vague and issued without finding of fact.

Supreme Court overturned Freestone County and Travis County lower courts decisions in condemnation cases on questions involving admissibility of evidence concerning comparable property values.

Court of Criminal Appeals agreed to review an earlier finding upholding the extradition of Charles Watson to California in the Sharon Tate murder case.

SCHOOL SITE PICKED — Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation accepted a 200-acre site a mile south of Brenham State School. Survey showed 1,282 Washington County citizens are willing to work volunteers to assist the mentally retarded at the facility.

Board also accepted $102,020 in federal and state grants for services to the mentally ill and retarded. Richmond State School received $73,995 for the second of a three-year physical development research grant for These state schools received U. S. Health, Education and Welfare Department grants for student work experience and training: Abilene, $4,700; Austin $4,900; Mexia, $4,900; and Travis, $4,700.

Texas Research Institute for Mental Sciences, Houston, got a $9,025 Texas Foundation for Mental Health and Mental Retardation grant for research on alcoholism.

AG RULES — Judges may retire when eligible on any date they choose and create a vacancy in their office, and a vacancy is also created when a judge is removed for cause. So ruled Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that: "Political party precinct committeemen are not entitled to compensation or expense allowances for attending a county executive committee meeting."

"Mental Health-Mental Retardation commissioner may remove his deputy for constitutional cause without MH-MR board approval."

"Former Brownwood fireman who was rehired is eligible to participate in the city retirement fund though he now is over 35; however, to get credit for previous service, he would have to refund contributions earlier made and withdrawn."

"State Board of Morticians has authority to request disinterment of a body by a county medical examiner, and the examiner may order disinterment if facts show need for inquest."

SCREWORM RULE OUT — Texas Animal Health Commission unanimously voted to knock out a screwworm quarantine rule bitterly opposed by Mexico.

Regulation required a two-week quarantine of lots of imported Mexican livestock exposed to animals infected with the screwworm parasite.

Mexican director general of animal health argued that the rule was not justified because Mexico treats its own animals for screwworm before sending them across the Rio Grande. Quarantine, official said, resulted in unreasonable heavy losses to Mexican cattlemen.

ALLOWABLE CUT — State-wide oil allowable will tumble for the second month in a row. Railroad Commission set it at 59 per cent of the potential for June. That's a reduction from 64.5 per cent for May.

Figure will allow top production of 3,309,344 barrels of crude oil daily. Present allowable permits a top of 3,545,562 barrels a day.

Just three of 13 major purchasers suggested more oil in June. Four asked less, and six were content with the same as this month's allocation. Written nominations came to 3,157,227 barrels a day for June, 94,624 less than May.

RATES UP — Higher fire, extended coverage and homeowners insurance rates are due to go into effect July 1, if the State Board of Insurance follows its staff's recommendations.

However, the Board knows of no company request yet in the making for higher auto policy premiums.

Board staff said new building coverage will vary in price according to construction, location and use.

Homeowners' policies may go up as much as 18 per cent statewide, but fire coverage will increase only about 1.7 per cent and extended coverage 6.9 per cent, under staff recommendations pending before the Board.

SHORT SNORTS — West Texas feedlot owners are asking the State Water Quality Board to exempt them from water pollution regulations because their lots are in dry areas where the run off won't flow into a stream or river.

Tommy Townsend of Paris now is acting sergeant-at-arms of the Texas Senate, succeeding Jeff Davis of Austin, who resigned.

LET'S COOK SOMETHING

Favorite Pasta Dish

BY CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
Making lasagne is an assembly line affair. No one wants to make it in small quantity even though there may be only four eaters around the dining table.

To remedy this situation, here's an excellent recipe for Twin Lasagne. Layer the ingredients in two pans; serve one pan right away, refrigerate the other pan and offer later.

TWIN LASAGNE

16 whole curly-edge lasagne pieces, from a 1-pound package

1 pound (about 2 cups) ricotta cheese

1 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1/2 pound whole-milk mozzarella cheese, cut into 12 slices

Extra sliced mozzarella cheese

Cook the lasagne according to package directions; drain in colander and separate pieces.

Have ready two square cake pans (each 9 by 9 by 2 inches) or two-quart square glass cake dishes (each 8 by 8 by 2 inches). The ingredients as follows: enough Sausage Sauce to cover bottom; 4 strips lasagne, folding ends over to fit pan; about 1/2 cup ricotta; 1/4 cup Parmesan 3 slices mozzarella; about 1/4 of the remaining Sausage Sauce. Repeat layers once more, ending with Sausage.

Bake, uncovered in a preheated 375 degree oven until bubbly-hot — 20 to 30 minutes. Arrange extra mozzarella over top about 5 minutes before lasagne has finished baking.

Makes two pans, 4 servings each.

Note: You may want to bake and serve one of these pans of lasagne as soon as you have assembled it and store the other one, covered in the refrigerator to use a few days later. To bake the refrigerated lasagne, uncover it and place in a preheated 375-degree oven until heated through — about 35 minutes; add the extra mozzarella about 5 minutes before lasagne has finished baking.

SAUSAGE SAUCE

1/2 pound sweet Italian sausage, sliced
1 pound ground chuck beef
1 medium onion, chopped
2 large cloves garlic, minced

TWIN LASAGNE — One pan to eat right away, one pan to serve later.

1 can (1 pound, 12 ounces) plum tomatoes
2 cans (each 6 ounces) tomato paste
2 cans (each 6 ounces) tomato paste
1/2 cup water
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper

In a large heavy saucepot, brown sausage; remove. In the saucepot cook the beef, crumbling with a fork, until no longer red; pour off any fat. Return sausage to pan; add remaining ingredients. Simmer, covered for 1 hour; stir occasionally. Taste and add more herb seasoning if desired.

If lasagne is to be baked right after assembling, have the sauce hot or reheat it. If lasagne is to be refrigerated before baking, the sauce may be at room temperature.

Makes 6 to 7 cups sauce.

One of the paper's headlines of Aug. 15, 1911 read, "Does Hereford Want One of These Big Million Dollar Sugar Beet Factories?" Farmers did not guarantee the needed 4,000 acres of sugar beets so the sugar mill was to wait more than 50 years.

For Women

Battle Of Good Budget

BY VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

As food prices rise, young marrieds find it increasingly difficult to make ends meet. There is no substitute for experience in learning how to plan meals to cut food bills, but the new homemaker may want to heed these tried and true tips for beating the budget:

1. Buy a good, old-fashioned (well-rounded with basic recipes) cookbook. It will be worth the investment.

2. If you save a freezer or freezer compartment in your refrigerator, buy meats in quantity and freeze them. (Do not take up a small amount of freezer space with items that cost only a few cents.)

3. Cut down on foods that aren't necessities — snacks, olives, cherries, expensive prepared dinners, however, are worth the price — particularly if 2 people work. You must decide. Fresh or canned foods may be less expensive than frozen foods, weight by weight.

4. Buy large quantities of sugar, flour, meat. You can repackage these in plastic bags and store them. Bread, oil, butter may be kept in the freezer.

In some areas, you may save 20 cents on a gallon of milk by buying in bulk instead of by the quart.

There are many ways to cut the meat bill. Buy meat on sale for two or four weeks at a time. In the beginning, this system may dent the food budget, but you will get ahead eventually.

If pork is on sale, buy a loin (or more) and have it cut into chops. Package the number of chops needed for each meal separately and put the extra packages in the freezer.

A leg of lamb, cut in half, should make two Sunday meals. Or you might have one end cut into chops.

Buy stew veal in quantity.

Your cookbook will provide any number of yummy dishes in which it can be used. Try it with tomatoes and peppers, with sour cream, in curry sauce, with vegetables. Divide it for future meals, put it into plastic bags and store.

Enjoy the challenge of making less-expensive cuts of meat taste good. Chuck steak may be marinated and pan fried or boiled. A thick cut may be roasted. (Slow cooking is best for chuck.)

Chicken is one of the least costly main dishes, points out Muriel Brink, nutrition specialist at the University of Illinois.

She offers these pointers for selecting a chicken: A whole chicken costs less than cut-up sections, but many people prefer breasts and legs. The following price comparison will help you decide whether to buy chicken parts or the whole chicken.

If the whole chicken sells for 27c a pound, then chicken breasts are a good buy at 38 cents a pound, drumsticks at 33 cents a pound, wings at 21 cents a pound.

If the whole chicken costs 45 cents a pound, then breasts are a good buy at 63 cents or less a pound, drumsticks 55 cents, wings at 36 cents a pound.

If the price per pound of the whole chicken is 55 cents, you can get equal value by paying

Is Needle Club Hostess

Members of Mothers Needle Club met Thursday in the home of Mrs. Haskell Benson.

Refreshments of homemade ice cream and cookies were served to Mmes. A. T. Jones, W. T. Gunstinson, Adam Flowers, Ralph Paul, Jewel Awtry, L. J. Jones and J. L. Shirley.

Mrs. C. N. McClure will host the next meeting at 2:30 p. m. on June 18.

Associate Minister Is Named

Robert Tucker assumed the responsibilities of summer associate minister at the First Christian Church this week, according to Gene Brink, minister.

Tucker, a junior ministerial student at Texas Christian University, is majoring in religion and philosophy. After receiving his BA degree he plans to attend Union Theological Seminary in New York or Vanderbilt in Tennessee where he will work toward a Doctor of Theology degree.

His home is McKinney, Tex. where he served as summer associate in the First Christian Church last year.

Tucker's duties include assisting the Rev. Brink in worship services, calling, working with the church's young people, church committees, and as counselor in summer camps.

He will be in Hereford for 13 weeks.

H. D. Members Plan Trip To Girlstown

Members of North Hereford Home Demonstration Club made plans to visit a girl they are sponsoring at Girlstown at cents a pound for breasts, 68 cents a pound for drumsticks and 44 cents a pound for wings.

If you find it makes dollars and cents sense to buy the whole bird, use the less meaty parts for a broth, in a casserole, in chicken pie or chicken curry.

One last bit of advice: if you've never before cut up your own chicken, ask your butcher if you can watch him do this chore. Otherwise, you can make a real mess.

meeting Thursday at the Community Center. Mrs. R. A. Fullwood and Mrs. Otto Massey were hostesses.

WT Business School Wins Area Backing

A Hereford man and several other Texas professional and business leaders have organized to assist the School of Business at West Texas State University in its rapid development.

The keystone of the organization is Dr. C. C. Callarman, dean of the School of Business. Through his efforts the Associates of Business was incorporated under the Texas Non-Profit Corporation Act.

John N. Messenger, Hereford certified public accountant, is secretary of the corporation.

"The purpose of Associates of Business is to support, promote and provide financial assistance to education in the School of Business," said Edward R. Scott Jr., Amarillo attorney and president of the organization.

Sixteen executives form the initial Board of Directors. "We are desirous of expanding our board and will be searching for top-notch persons throughout the Panhandle to serve," Scott said.

The board members give of their time and experience and serve without pay, he added.

"Associates of Business will also solicit memberships," Scott said. "There will be four categories of membership in the corporation contributor, founder, associate and patron. Each member will have one vote."

In addition to Messenger, the board includes W. E. Adams, banker; Duane Byars, Amarillo insurance agent; C. E. Cantrell, marketing expert for Texas Instruments, Dallas; Peter Dallas, Amarillo banker and vice president of the board; Dr. Floyd Golden, Amarillo, former college president; Leonard Gunderson, Amarillo insurance agent; Warren Hassel, Pampa radio station owner; E. H. "Gene" Klein, Amarillo businessman; Stanley Schaeffer, Dimmitt CPA; Scott; Harold Shouder, Dumas investor; Carlyle Strickland, Dallas insurance agent; Raymond Thompson, Vega bank ker; F. V. Wallace, Amarillo, retired corporation officer; and Jay Dee Shiverdaker, Lubbock, IBM representative.

"The basic function of Associates of Business will be initially to upgrade the faculty through financial assistance in helping them obtain their doctor's degrees and to provide scholarships for academically qualified students," Dallas said.

The organization also proposes ending chairs in the various departments within the School of Business, financing a number of on-campus seminars in business-related areas and purchasing the newest in professional equipment.

Callarman said persons interested in the Associates of Business should contact him or Scott.

Ida M. Block Buried Monday

Funeral Services for Mrs. Ida M. Block, 83, of Amarillo, mother of Ivan Block of Hereford, were conducted at 2 p. m. Monday in the Central Church of Christ of Amarillo.

Bob Barnhill, minister, and Robert C. Jones, a retired Church of Christ minister, officiated. Burial was in the White Deer Cemetery conducted by George Franks, minister of White Deer Church of Christ.

A resident of Amarillo for 29 years, Mrs. Block died Friday in Northwest Texas Hospital.

She was born May 17, 1887 in Wichita Falls and married Benjamin F. Block there in 1910. They lived on a ranch at White Deer until his death in 1932 when she moved to Pampa.

Other survivors include three other sons, B. F. of Sunray, William of Dumas, and Kenneth of Bentonville, Ark.; a daughter, Mrs. Vernelle C. Rogers of Villa Grove, Ill.; a brother, Harry Krabs of Wichita Falls; nine grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

A photo was found recently in Mobeetie, about 40 miles from Sherwood Shores, where it was lost with the other possessions of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Rountree of Hereford in the April 17 tornado.

"Indeed I do; I was with those people the night of the tornado," answered Mrs. Gulley.

The picture, made last summer in Ohio with two grandsons, is wrinkled and shows definite signs of being water-soaked, distorting the characters like a carnival's comic mirror. However, Mr. and Mrs. Rountree find it a prized possession they never expected to see again.

The Hereford Brand of March 19, 1969, reported a small fire in Murphy's Blacksmith Shop, which volunteer's put out with big snowballs.

An acquaintance of Mrs. Shell Gulley, who was with the Rountrees at the time of the tornado, found the picture and a cancelled check of Mrs. Gulley's near Mobeetie.

When returning the check, the friend asked Mrs. Gulley, who is still hospitalized in Pampa, if she knew the people in the photo.

Attendance Rises In Community Farm Workshops

Commerical agricultural pro-parts of the great Texas agricultural industry went back to school last year in record numbers.

A. H. Walker, state agricul-

Extension Service, cited figures from last year's annual report to emphasize the importance of continuing education for agriculturists.

He said off-campus short courses, clinics and workshops numbered 1,049 and that they were held in every section of Texas.
Teaching in the educational activities was handled in most in-

Chlorosis In Lawns, Gardens Is Discussed

Gardeners and homeowners in West Texas may be noting the yellowing of leaves on some of their fruit trees, ornamentals and lawn grasses during this season. This condition is known as chlorosis and results from iron deficiency.

Chlorosis is caused by the inability of plants to take up sufficient iron which is essential for the development of chlorophyll, the green pigment in leaves.

Primary causes of the disorder are high lime content of the

Chlorosis In Lawns, Gardens Is Discussed

Regardless of the type of shrub or tree, chlorosis can be easily spotted. Leaves will yellow between the veins early in the growing season. Veins usually remain green but, in extreme cases, the entire leaf yellows and may be almost white in appearance.

Grass tends to turn yellow in spots and close observation may reveal a striping of the leaf with green veins and yellowing in between.

soil and excessive use of phosphate fertilizer.

In addition to fruit trees,
oaks and maples, ornamentals such as roses, pyracantha, abelia, hollies and photinia are also susceptible.
