(Continued from Page 1) good start, with nearly 300 bales processed at local gins thus far. Recent rains have caused little damage to quality, ginners reported, and some fields should yield as much as two bales per acre.

Harvest, however, is not yet in full swing. Peak this year should be after the middle of November. Currently, cotton growers are awaiting the first frost in preparation for placing strippers in operation in about two weeks.

State employment representative Pat Patterson said Friday that about 300 fields hands will soon be needed for boll picking and carrot harvesting. About 10 combine operators are needed for maize harvest. Wheat planting was considered in full swing after slow, soaking rains last week. Planting should be finished by the first of November.

Grain sorghum harvest was getting a good start at the end of last month when overcast skies shaded the area. Following the overcast skies was more than an inch of moisture, which bogged harvest down considerably.

Much of the maize crop here is not mature yet. Quality is expected to be high, as in number of acres, in spite of price support reductions on sorghum announced last spring by the Secretary of Agriculture.

A gin manager said that weather this year has been especially good for cotton, and quality and quantity is high.

Total moisture this year is high. Total moisture this year is 15.88, although it was "late in coming."

About $30,000 has been donated or pledged, with another $20,000 still needed.

Drive officials emphasized again this week that the Community Center, which is nearing completion at Park and Avenue C, will be used both for youth activities and for adult groups.

The building is designed in two wings, with one designated primarily for youth gatherings and activities. The other wing will be available for club meetings and other events.

Robinson...

(Continued from page 1) In April this year, the Court of Civil Appeals in Amarillo affirmed the case. In May, the same court overruled appeal for rehearing in the case.

Robinson later took his next legal step in petitioning for his case to be heard by the Texas Supreme Court.

Robinson had claimed that he injured his back while lifting a heavy barrel in April, 1958, while working for the city. When Judge Schultz sustained the city's motion for summary judgment, the judgment dismissed the case.

At that time, City Attorney Ernest Langley presented a motion stating that "regardless of any matters alleged by the plaintiff, the plaintiff is not entitled to recover anything from the city as a matter of law."

Basis of the motion of the city was that "(1) his claim was not filed in time with the city and (2) the city is not liable for any damage that the plaintiff may have suffered because it is a governmental agency and is not responsible for the negligence of its employees."

In a four-point petition, Robinson cited the following as basis of his suit: Use of heavy barrels by the city instead of trash cans; negligence in furnishing him a helper; negligence in not warning him of the size and heavy weight of the barrel; and negligence in not furnishing him a safe place to work.

The petition asked for $10,000 to cover "conscious mental and physical pain, past and future"; it asked $300 to cover doctor bills, medical care and treatment; it asked $2,000 to take care of future hospital and medical care bills, and $30,000 to offset inability to continue work as a result of the injuries. The total sought was $22,500.

Should Anderson and Bayne repeat their high scores on the second test, they would become finalists in the competition. As finalists, the students would be eligible for scholarship awards sponsored by an estimated 100 business and industrial organizations, professional societies, foundations and individuals.

In May, 1960, the names of Merit Scholars will be announced. In the final phase of the competition, high school grades, extra-curricular activities, school citizenship and leadership qualities of the students will be evaluated along with the scores on the tests.

All finalists will receive Certificates of Merit attesting to their ability, and all colleges and universities will be notified, enabling these students to be considered for a wide range of other awards.

Anderson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Bayne, 514 Star.

(Continued from page 1) Lubbock was general contractor for the job, with the Anthony Company of Lubbock handling the mechanical contract and Owens Electric of Hereford doing the electrical work. A single contract was let for all three construction projects. Construction actually started on Jan. 2, 1959.

About 180 students will attend the school, which will encompass the first six grades. They have been attending classes in the Central Church of Christ since the school term opened.

Northwest will be under the School, with L. C. Thomas serving as principal of both schools.

Teachers at Northwest include: Mrs. Hazel Bruner and Mrs. Margaret Lomenick, first grades; Mrs. Opal Bookout, second; Mrs. Ormel Lee Walker, third; Mrs. Helen Yeager, fourth; Mrs. Wilma Braddy, fifth; and Miss Gladys Setliff, sixth. Walter Easter, formerly at Stanton Junior High, will be plant custodian.

Roy Hartman, assistant principal and physical education director for Central, will have charge of the PE program at Northwest.

For the present, Northwest students will be transported to Central's cafeteria for lunch. Six of the eight classrooms are designed in a new trend, with large openings for entrance from the corridors and open space above large wooden closets. Designers claim that corridor traffic will not distract the students because of the acoustical tile ceilings and tile floors.

At the west end of the building is a large area which will be used for a library. It could also be used for assemblies and as a small cafeteria, with food transported in from a central cafeteria.

The two classrooms adjoining this area are partitioned off from the library area. Each classroom has inside coat closets, cabinets for work storage, chalk and tack boards at each end of the room, and a sink and drinking fountain built into a large storage and counter area beneath the outside windows.

Two skylights in each room can be closed by horizontal screens.

The center of the building includes the restrooms, office and clinic space. The three center section have tile wainscoting. One section has turquoise tile, another has brown and the third green.

Central heating into each room furnishes heat. There are venetian blinds on all of the outside windows.

At each end of the building there is a large sun screen, made of open tile. Between this and the interior of the building is a large sliding glass panel with the area between the glass and the screen to be used for plants.

School custodians started assembling furniture for the new building Thursday. Grass was planted the same day and the sprinkling system put into operation. Furniture being used at Central Church of Christ was to be moved Saturday.

School trustees have contracted for sidewalks and bus unloading areas around the new school. These will be started Monday.

A master plan, drawn up by Brasher, Spencer and Goyette, Lubbock architectural firm, would allow Northwest to be the first of four buildings on the campus. If school enrollment indicates 'it is necessary, two more eight-room buildings could be constructed. The fourth building would be a central cafeteria-auditorium-administration unit, built in the same style as the classroom structures.

It is planned that the Hereford High School athletic plant eventually will be located near Northwest. It would include a new football stadium, track and four to six tennis courts. A baseball diamond already is located near Northwest.

Graves Scores Twice During 13-0 Roswell Win Over Herd

Unable to mount a sustained drive, Hereford's Whitefaces lost 13-0 to the Roswell Coyotes Friday night in beautiful gridiron weather. A homecoming crowd of about 2,500 in the Bremond Stadium saw the Coyotes win their fourth of the season, after dropping the first two contests. Hereford is winless in five appearances.

Using a single wing, double wing and straight T, Roswell drove for a touchdown the first time it got the ball. The two teams then battled up and down the field until the middle of the fourth period, when Roswell cranked up another scoring offense.

Quarterback Bernard Crawford, halfback Tyrone Waggoner and fullback Dick Graves alternated on a 60-yard drive after taking the opening kick-off, which went out of bounds.

The scoring push took ten plays, with Graves taking a pitch-out and going wide to his right for 14 yards with 6:55 left in the first period. Mike Truelove kicked the extra point to put Roswell out front 7-0.

That was the score until shortly after the final period started. Taking over on their own 31, the Coyotes slammed 69 yards in seven plays. Crawford set up the score with a brilliant 45-yard run. The speedy junior quarterback was pulled down from behind on Hereford's 21 by Herman Harrison.

With first down and three to go, Graves took another pitch-out and battered his way over left tackle to mark up his second TD of the night.

Hereford was penalized one yard on the extra point try, but poured through to block Truelove's attempted conversion.

Several Hereford drives were cut short by fumbles and strong defensive play by the aggressive Coyotes. Deepest penetration into Roswell territory came with just a few seconds left in the game. Hereford got to Roswell's 25, but lost the ball on downs.

Neither team used any fancy plays or took to the air. Roswell attempted just two passes and Hereford tried three, with not a single connection all night.

Hereford lost two of its three fumbles, while Roswell lost one of three bobbles.

The Herd was penalized just six yards, on two flag-wavers. They got one for five yards and another for one. Roswell took 45 yards in seven penalty calls.

Jimmy Collier, a junior played the entire game at quarter for Hereford. He stepped into the breach last week after No. 2 signal-caller Bill Dirks was injured. Walker Parris, who had been starting man-under, still is on the disabled list after getting hurt two weeks ago.

Herman Harrison showed good drive for his 140 pounds in the halfback spot. Eddie Skypala retained his post as starting fullback.

Outstanding on defense for Hereford were center Harvey Garrison and guard Edwin Thomas. Tackle Jerry Clark was slightly injured during the game, but came of the bench to bolster Hereford's line.

In other action, Littlefield shut out Clovis, N. M., 14-0, and Dumas whitewashed Perryton, 31-0. In Saturday night games, Phillips was pitted against Canyon and Levelland was trying And-

'Argentine Finds Answer To Brigitte Cause . . . And The Effect

By VERONICA GIRALDEZ
BUENOS AIRES (AP) — "Sa. Sa. Sarli, Sa. Sa. Sarli."
The chant erupted as Argentina's sexiest film queen, Isabel Sarli, slid out of a car at the premiere of her second motion picture, "Sabaleros." Young film fans broke through a police cordon and in an avalanche mobbed the buxom star, ripping her blue low-cut gown.

As the chant grew louder, the mob pressed tighter. The surging fans shattered glass posters, police whistles blared and Isabel Sarli fainted. Husky bodyguards had to lift her on their shoulders and slug their way through to safety behind the glass walls of the ticket booth.

Buenos Aires movie-goers could not remember a more surprising and delirious reception for an Argentine movie actress.

Local propaganda boasts that Isabel was more audacious than France's Brigitte, Italy's Gina and Sofia Loren or Marilyn Monroe and Jayne Mansfield had done the trick. The premiere was a sellout. Buenos Aires movie-goers could not remember a more surprising and delirious reception for an Argentine movie actress.

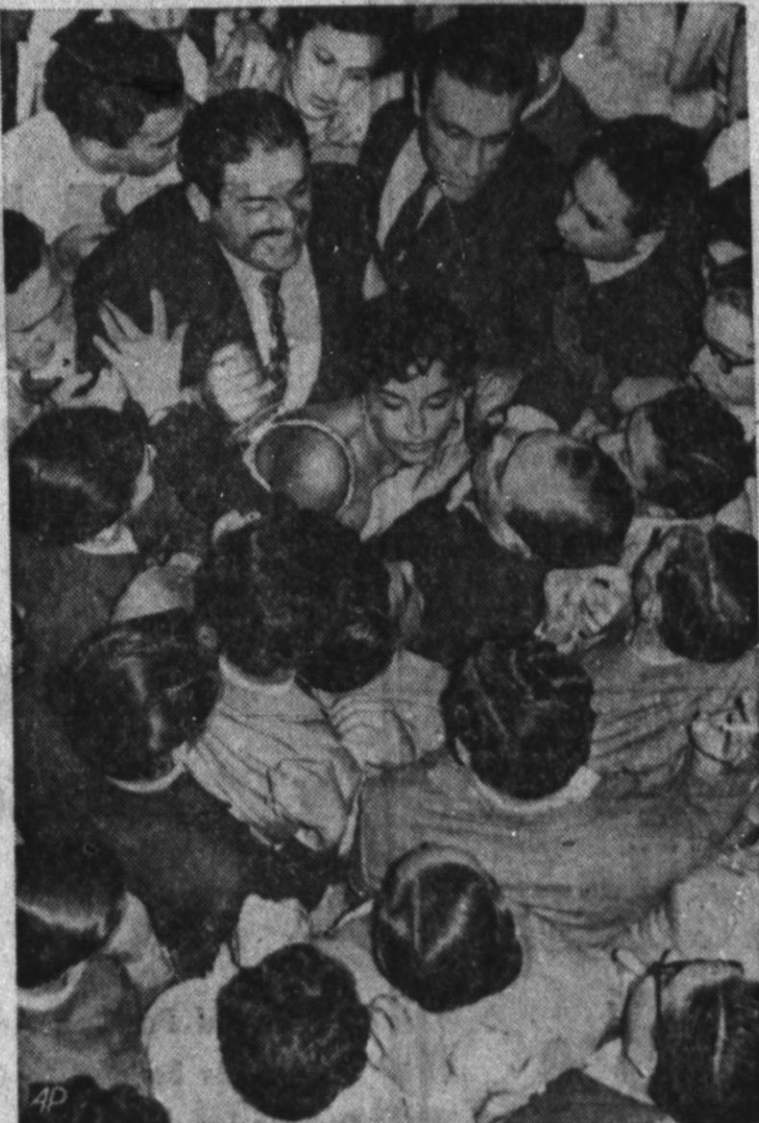

Argentina's movie critics roundly rapped "Sabaleros," a tale of fishing folk. But the frenzied multitude of fans loved every minute of it, particularly when Isabel shed her scanty fishing costume and plunged into a lazy lagoon.

The crowd rushed Isabel again as she left the premiere. Crushed and bruised, but always smiling, she finally escaped to safety in a convertible.

The film and the premiere have nailed down Isabel's fame as Argentina's most talked-about actress. Only a few months ago, she emerged from virtual obscurity with her first nude swim in her film debut, a Paraguayan tale called "Thunder among the Leaves."

THIS IS Isabel Sarli, sexy new queen of the Argentine movie industry.

HERE'S WHAT happened when Isabel tried to move through the crowd into a Buenos Aires theater for the premiere of her latest movie. She fainted twice but survived.

The film critics said Isabel's acting was better in her second movie — but only because she spoke fewer lines than in the first outing.

But the critics did concede her one orchid — "we don't need to see any more Brigittes, we've got our own."

Isabel, soft-spoken off the screen, takes it all in stride. Nursing the bruises on her arms and legs suffered at the premiere, she murmured: "I was a bit frightened there for a moment. But when I caught my breath, I thought it was all wonderful."

Very few people realize that our new Northwest Elementary School is somewhat of an innovation in Panhandle school construction. It features several new-fangled ideas, which may set the pace all over the territory.

When the students march in to occupy six of the new classrooms Monday morning, for instance, they won't have to worry about closing the doors. There simply are no doors to close. The rooms are partitioned off but a 6-to-8-foot gap is left open in each room as a means of entry from the corridor — and that's it. The outside partitions on the corridor also have some 18 inches of open space between the unit top and the ceiling. Skylights have come back in the classrooms at Northwest Elementary, along with a special opening-closing mechanism to make them more usable.

Back when they couldn't do any better, folks complained about the one room schools, and finally consolidated districts so they could separate the various classes and isolate each group in a separate room. Now, they take out the doors — and we wind up right back where we started.

Our school planners say this will be no problem, however; that the special sound absorbing ceilings will take care of any outside noise, and that all classes will have as much privacy as in conventional classrooms. All in all, it is supposed to be the latest thing — and everyone, who knows anything about it, thinks it will work OK. Besides, if it does cause any trouble, they say that the rooms still can be closed off for additional privacy. Two of the eight rooms, in fact, were glassed in at the start.

The one big trouble with Northwest Elementary, they say, is the fact that they may have to build the second eight-room section very soon. A round 100 students will occupy the plant Monday — and it may overflow next year, depending on 1960-61 enrollment.

Behind every successful man is a woman who "never has anything to weep," and since women got into politics I notice that both national political parties are always out of money. Demo Chairman Louis Woodford was telling me this week that Deaf Smith Democrats have to raise something like $500 for the coming campaigns. I notice where Houston and Harris Counties had a dinner at "$250 a plate" and raised their quota. I suggested we do the same, but Louis wants to know who will buy two plates. He figures it would be a lot better if our interested Democrats would sit down and mail in a check for $1 to $5 — and we would have it made.

Right now, it looks like the only way to get rid of Ezra Taft Benson — and it might be a buck well spent. Mail your check to Louis Woodford, County Democratic Chairman, Hereford, Texas, or he will accept plain old dollar bills, inflation notwithstanding.

Lloyd Pool, meanwhile, gets my nomination as "man of the week". Have you seen the attractive brick patio at the rear of his home, 511 East Fifth St? Lloyd didn't build it, but he did something a lot more complicated. Somehow, somehow, he talked his wife into doing the job — and everyone says it is one of the very nicest patios they ever saw. I understand that Lloyd even tried to contract a few outside jobs, but Mrs. Pool balked at this point.

Most men start some project around the house and, long before they get it finished, I am sure that the wives would like to pitch in and complete the job. Mrs. Pool, however, is the only one I know who has had the nerve to actually wind one up — especially in such glamorous style.

Thanks to Mrs. George Parker for some beautiful, king-size, golden dahlias. She says her sister sent the bulbs from California. They even outdo Curt Roach's tomatoes for size and splendor. If he sees them, he won't be able to sleep well. Mr. Parker also came through with a fine Deaf Smith County sweet potato, which is large enough — but never so aristocratic as the dahlias.

A father's advise to his son is seldom wasted, although it often lies dormant for an entire generation before it can be passed along by another father to a son of his own.

Most people seem quite happy that the World Series is over, but it looks as if the Texas-Oklahoma football game moved in where baseball quit. . . and I hear a lot of old boys like Troy Moore, Otis Hall, Jack Bradley and Bill Decker talking about such delicacies as roast pheasant. The fishermen who own cabins, meanwhile, seem more interested in draining their water heaters than in catching fish.

The September issue of "The Cattleman", a magazine of national coverage, has pictures and quite an article about O. G. Hill, Jr., and his quarter horse, "Showdown". The article points out that the pair have become well known all over the country. It gave a brief rundown on the horse's history, and I was quite interested to see that Showdown was bred at the famous King Ranch. His mother, Caechia, (already bred to Wimpy), was selected by the famous detective, J. Frank Norfleet, who was given choice of all the ranch brood mares as the result of a favor. Norfleet later gave the colt, Showdown, to Frank Daugherty of Glton, Texas, the man from who O. G. acquired him.

The magazine said that Showdown is listed as the sire of 17 winners in 1958, all bred by O. G. Hill — and a total of 70 wins and 32 grand championships. O. G. is listed in third place (nationally) for quarter horse breeders with most wins. First and second places are held by E. P. Waggoner and King Ranch, which is pretty fast company for a youngster in the game such a short time.

and members of the club will serve as hostesses at each home. The theme of the tour, "The Good Earth" is chosen from the Bible, Mark 5:26-28, "A man should cast seed into the ground; and should sleep, and rise night and day, and the seed should spring up, he knoweth not how. For the earth bringeth forth fruit of herself; first the blade, then the ear, after that the full corn in the ear."

Mrs. Gerald Wilson, chairman of the flower show, and her committee will feature a different type of flower in each home, giving appropriate accent to October's bright splash of color in leaves, buds, full blooms and dried arrangements.

The Lee Benefield Home—This modern three-bedroom home is in pink brick with white trim, featuring mahogany woodwork throughout with mahogany paneled den and family room. The hall type foyer has an interesting divider between foyer and living room of acrolite with real butterflies mounted between the glass. Yellow, brown, turquoise and rose are combined and contrasted in colors throughout the house. The large living room has off-white walls, off-white carpeting, fireplace of white brick, and opens with glass sliding doors onto the terrace. Both modern and lovely antique furnishings are found here.

One guest room is done in shell pink and white and another in brown and beige with a touch of tangerine. The master bedroom is done in brown and turquoise with furnishings in maple. Lighting effects through the house are interesting, especially in the two bathrooms where the entire ceilings are lighted. "The Full Bloom" will be featured here using roses.

Hostesses will be Mesdames Wayne Edwards, L. H. Lookingbill Sr., Charlie Noland, W. J. Stanford and J. B. Pool.

The N. D. Bartlett Home—a well-planned entrance hall is a top feature in this home. Bright flowers and foliage grow in paneled walls spotlighted from the ceiling, to make any guest desire to linger awhile. The exterior is in grey brick in modern architecture with lovely pastel colors marking the theme throughout the house.

The walls are textured in pastel colors and floors are carpeted in beige tweed. Glass folding doors connect the spacious living room with a large family room and kitchen. The living room has a paneled fireplace on the north wall and is furnished in modern and contemporary furniture.

The all-electric kitchen has the cooking units in the wall and opens out into a well organized back yard, which serves as an outdoor living room during the summer months. The two bedrooms and two baths repeat the same decorative colors. For the flower show accent, "The Stem" will be featured with the use of succulent plants and fruits. Hostesses will be Mesdames Gerald Wilson, Ansel McDowell, E. W. Harrison and N. D. Bartlett Jr.

Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence Beyer

er's home is in red brick. It has three bedrooms, two baths, a large living room, combination kitchen, den and dining area. Here are featured mahogany paneling and cupboard built-ins, and copper hardware. The living room is done in off shades of white with formal French Provincial furniture.

Focal point is a tall white lamp with epergne filled with gold fruit and figurine base. The boys' bedroom is done in white with charcoal drapes and twinbedspreads, with accents of red and black. The floor is inlaid with black and red nautical tile. Other bedrooms and baths are done in tones of beige and antique gold. Dried arrangements will be featured here throughout the house and will carry out the theme "While the Earth Sleeps." Hostesses will be Mesdames Roy Smith, Weslie Owen, J. Howard Walker, B. E. Roberson and Mary Seigler.

The Robert E. Thompson home—This spacious four-bedroom home is themed "The Beautiful Leaves". Red, orange, green, gold and yellow leaves and foliage will be used here. The eight-room modern designed home is in frosted red brick with shake shingle roof. The living room is one step down from the entrance hall, where the partition is formed by a rust brick fireplace. The fireplace is of tiered design with built-in planter boxes.

The front bedroom has cream colored walls, carpet and drapes, and is used by their teenage daughter. It has its own bath and features modern furniture. One of the boys' bedrooms is decorated in cowboy design in browns and yellows with bunk beds.

The twins' bedroom has built-in chest and desk of oak, sandalwood walls and sand colored carpet. Draperies are in sailor motif.

The back bedroom is in blue and grey with accent of white, with modern furniture. The den opens into a patio and ties into the kitchen. It has rust and vinyl tile floors and walls are paneled in oak. The kitchen has paneled oak walls and cabinets with a "work island" in the center that contains a cook top stove on one side and an eating counter on the other.

The counter top is in turquoise with matching drapes and floors are in rust vinyl. The utility room opens into the patio. Hostesses here will be Mesdames Ray Cowser, Dick Miller, Joel Hodges, E. W. Young, Luther Lesly and F. P. Lyons.

The W.M. Deckers' split level home, high on a hill, has a lovely view through a large picture window in the sunroom. The home features seven rooms, utility room and three baths. The exterior is pale green siding. It has a terraced lawn from the driveway bordered by a rose hedge.

Inside, the walls are all done in wood paneling, except the living room-sunroom wall, which is red brick with a fire place in both sides. In the sun room the fireplace has a charcoal burner, where Mrs. Decker likes to cook in the winter.

The sun room has a brick floor and is filled with growing flowers and pot plants, built with the idea of bringing the outside in. Carpeting is a rose-beige, and decorative tones are in yellow and green. Furniture throughout the house is in Early American. The master bedroom is upstairs. Colors here are in turquoise with yellows and beige.

Your Child Should Pass Muscle Test

By Dorothy V. Whipple, M. D.

OUR MUSCLES are part of us. To be really healthy we must have muscles strong enough to be able to carry on the activities of everyday living.

If we are city or suburban dwellers we do not need the muscular power of a champion athlete, but we do need muscles able to hold our bodies in good efficient posture to move us about without undue fatigue. Muscles do not develop adequately without exercise.

There is a good bit of evidence to indicate that the softness of American life is depriving our children of the opportunity to grow muscles strong enough even for the sedentary life many of us lead.

We are becoming a nation of the physically unfit in spite of our excellent medical care. When health is measured in terms of freedom from disease and good nutritional status America is one of the "healthiest" countries in the world, but measured in terms of muscular fitness we are out-ranked by all of Europe.

Bonnie Prudden, director of Institute of Physical Fitness, made a study of the physical fitness of American school children compared with similar groups in Italy, Austria and Switzerland.

She discovered that over 50 per cent of American children failed to meet the minimum standards of physical fitness and that less than 10 per cent of the European children were in this low group.

The tests used by Miss Prudden were those known as the Kraus-Weber Tests for Minimum Physical Fitness.

There are six tests in all. They are very simple. All children over 4 years old should be able to do them easily. Try them out with your children.

Test 1. Child lies flat on his back, hands under head. He is instructed to sit up. He should be able to do so without using his hands to help him.

Test 2. Same as 1 except that legs are bent at the knees.

Test 3. Child in same position. He is instructed to raise his feet about 10 inches, keeping his legs straight, and hold the position 10 seconds.

This test is for adequacy of muscles used in sitting, and in keeping the body in good posture.

Test 4. The child lies on his abdomen, a small pillow is placed under his hips. With his feet held down by the examiner he is instructed to raise his trunk and hold it steady for 10 seconds.

Test 5. Same as 4 except child is instructed to raise his legs, keeping knees stiff while his trunk is held down by the examiner.

Test 6. Child stands on his feet and bends forward to touch hands to floor without bending knees.

The child who can successfully perform these six tests has the minimum physical requirements for a normal life.

Body building begins in infancy. The child with ample opportunity to exercise his body should have muscular strength to perform these tests by the age of 4 or surely by the age of 6. If he cannot pass the test at 6 he can strengthen his muscles by specific exercises without too much struggle.

If at 10 he fails he will have to work harder to make the grade, at 16 it may be impossible for him to repair the damage done to a muscular system permitted to develop without adequate exercise.

Bonnie Prudden has written a book "Is Your Child Really Fit?" published by Harper and Brothers, New York. In this book she gives the results of the survey mentioned above and outlines exercises that will improve the muscular strength of children.

TOY TUMBLE

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP)—G. D. Mickelwait called police to report an automobile overturned in front of his home. Before he could leave his house to investigate, the two occupants of the small foreign-made auto lifted the car back on its wheels and drove off.

REMEMBER WHEN?

By Charlie Seeds

The rematch, a "grudge," generated a lot of excitement in the boxing world... because, two years before, Max Schmeling had knocked out Joe Louis after twelve bruising rounds, inflicting the only defeat the Brown Bomber had suffered in his career up to that time.

Now Louis was champion... and Schmeling was returning from Germany, confident of repeating his earlier victory and gaining the heavyweight crown. But the Louis who waited for the bell to ring was a different man from the impulsive fighter sports fan knew. He was an angry man, hardly able to wait for the bell.

The end came swiftly. A great champion at his prime, Louis hit Schmeling 23 times in less than two minutes, missing only two blows. Three times the challenger went down. The third time he was helpless. At the count of 8, his handlers threw in the towel. Louis had his revenge. Remember the year?

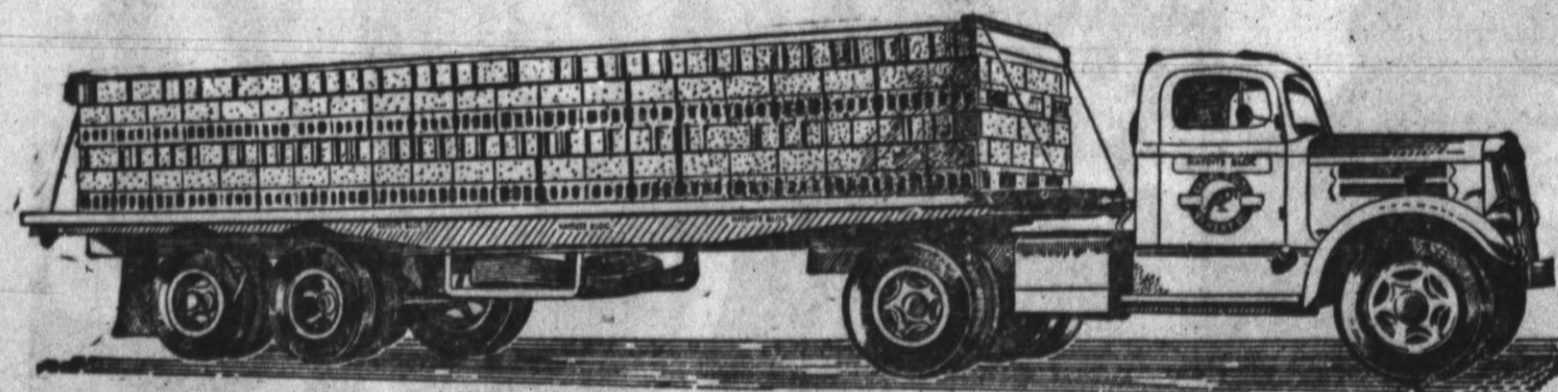

America had pushed itself up from the floor in those days, fighting its way out of the depression years. Now things were looking up. People were buying things again... like new cars. But they didn't plunge into a deal without looking for a sound, money-saving buy.

The year was 1938. If you're ready to step up to a new 1960 Ford... and there's no better time than right now... you'll get a sound deal with top trade, lowest delivered price, and most convenient bank terms, when you see CHARLIE SEEDS MOTOR CO., INC., 146 E. Second, Phone EM-4-2727.

Jim Adkin made a trip to Amarillo on Wednesday to visit the Allen Hoovers and transact business.

Walcott boys and girls 4-H Club met at school on Tuesday afternoon. They had their opening exercises together in the auditorium. The girls learned to do "Huck Weaving" with Mrs. Eldred Brown instructing them. Mrs. Glenn Burrus, club leader, assisted the instructing.

The boys were called to order by their president, Larry Minks. Damon Davis, secretary, called roll. They read their motto and Mrs. J. V. Perrin spoke to the boys on record books. The officers for the coming year were installed after the boys received the 4-H yearbooks.

Walcott School assembly was held on Wednesday morning. T. L. Collins presented the poster and spoke to the group on Fire Prevention Week. Mrs. G. W. Downing read the 23 Psalm and the group sang songs while Mrs. Downing played the piano.

Beginner's Art Class, with Mrs. Earl Plank of Hereford as an instructor, met in Walcott school auditorium Thursday morning. Seven ladies were present.

Navy Recruiter Speaks At Meet

William A. Berry, Boatwain's Mate 1/c and Navy recruiter in this area, was guest speaker at the noon meeting of Hereford Lions Club Wednesday.

Berry pointed out that no city would be safe if a major United States city should be hit by an intercontinental ballistic missile by an enemy country.

At the present time, he said, a huge research program for providing new devices for detection against enemy weapons is being carried on by many major companies. Millions of dollars have been put into the program.

Russian submarines would pose a serious threat to this country, he said, if war should break out. American people should be concerned of it, he added.

He explained that both United States coasts could be tied up by Red submarines in event of war. A destroyer is not enough to cope with a submarine, Berry said, and at the present time we have about 150 operational submarines.

Torpedos have been perfected which are guided by sound impulses of enemy ships, he added, in pointing out accuracy in hitting targets.

Other guests present were Mrs. Emily Nelson, of Cheyenne, Okla., Mrs. Melvin May, Mrs. Tackett, Mrs. L. B. Drake, Mrs. Clarence Betzen, Mrs. A. T. Frye, Mrs. Muri Little, Mrs. Jim McCallie, Mrs. H. V. McCabe, Mrs. Zed Stewart, Mrs. Marion Russell, Mrs. Ray Polan, Mrs. William Wimberley, Mrs. Walter Lemons, Mrs. Milton Newman; PROMISE KEPT: Mrs. Donald Pierce promised 11 years ago she'd see her future husband, now Capt. Pierce, through college. She did—twice, but now she wants a rest.

Her Promise Kept Twice, Wife Asks For Breather

ATLANTA (AP) — In 1948 Laura Peters, now Mrs. Donald Pierce, promised to see her fiancé through college. She did—twice.

Then, after two college degrees, four children and many miles of travel, she asked for a breather.

Pierce, an army captain, took a 1959 law degree from Emory University while with the Third Army at Ft. McPherson, Atlanta. In 1950 he graduated in journalism from the University of Maryland where as a sophomore he met his wife, from Port Matilda, Md.

Soon after his law degree, the 6-foot-4 captain, a native of Laurel, Md., obtained a transfer from the infantry to the judge advocate's corps, the legal branch of another degree, under Army sponsorship, but after a brief rest.

"I want a breather", pleaded Mrs. Pierce. Her husband gave in to the extent of getting his study for a master's degree in law at the University of Virgin-

High School Choir Presents Program

Oct. 30 has been selected for the night of the Hereford Kiwanis Club's annual Pancake Supper, it was decided at the noon meeting of the club Thursday.

Attending the meeting as guests were Clyde Smith of Lawrenceville, Ill.; a Kiwanian, and Delbert Scott, Wallace Hooks and Charlie Stone of Hereford.

Presenting the program during the meeting was the Hereford High School Choir, under direction of Don Moore. They sang six spiritual songs.

IN NEW ROLE

FOSTER, Va. (AP) — Taylor Vrooman, who abandoned plans for a career as an opera singer to teach school, has now left the teaching post for music. But this time it is folk music. He commutes to Williamsburg, Virginia's restored colonial capital, where he wanders about in colonial costume singing the ballads and folk songs of the early settlers.

ia put off — until November. Pierce did his advanced study in spare time from Army service at many places. The birthplaces of his and Mrs. Pierce's four children are a good index of their far-flung travels. Donna, 9, was born in Maryland; Leslie, 8, at Ft. Knox, Ky.; Stephen, 5, in Tokyo; and Elizabeth, 3, in Atlanta. Pierce preface his law degree work with a correspondence course from the University of Wisconsin while he was in Japan.

Spuds And Eggs Go Spanish-Style

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Probably every country has its favorite way of preparing good old potatoes.

The Irish mash the spud, couple it with chopped cooked green cabbage, add butter and seasonings and call it Colcannon. That combination once served at a turkey dinner at our house keeps getting steady calls for repeats from family and friends.

The French put the potato in a soup along with leeks and stock, cream and seasonings. This soup served cold is so delicious it has become an American summer-time staple.

The Danes like their potatoes small and well-shaped, and they peel and boil them. Next sugar goes into a skillet to be caramelized; after that butter. Then the potatoes are dumped into the sugar-butter mixture and and shiny. This we relished more than once in Copenhagen.

The Germans dote on potato pancakes — satisfying affairs for which the vegetable is mixed with eggs, salt and pepper and a suspicion of flour. Fried to a golden brown in hot fat and served with applesauce, eaters like to eat dozens of them.

The Spaniards have a simple way with potatoes, onions and eggs plus seasonings and olive oil that they call a tortilla. Outside of Spain this dish is usually called an omelet; but it has no resemblance to the puffy egg mixture served with tomato sauce that Americans call Spanish omelet. The flavor in this tortilla comes from the slow cooking of the vegetables with a generous amount of olive oil before the egg is added. When we cooked a tortilla by the following rule for lunch, our nephew and a sister joined us — but we all liked it so much that two of us could have finished it off by ourselves!

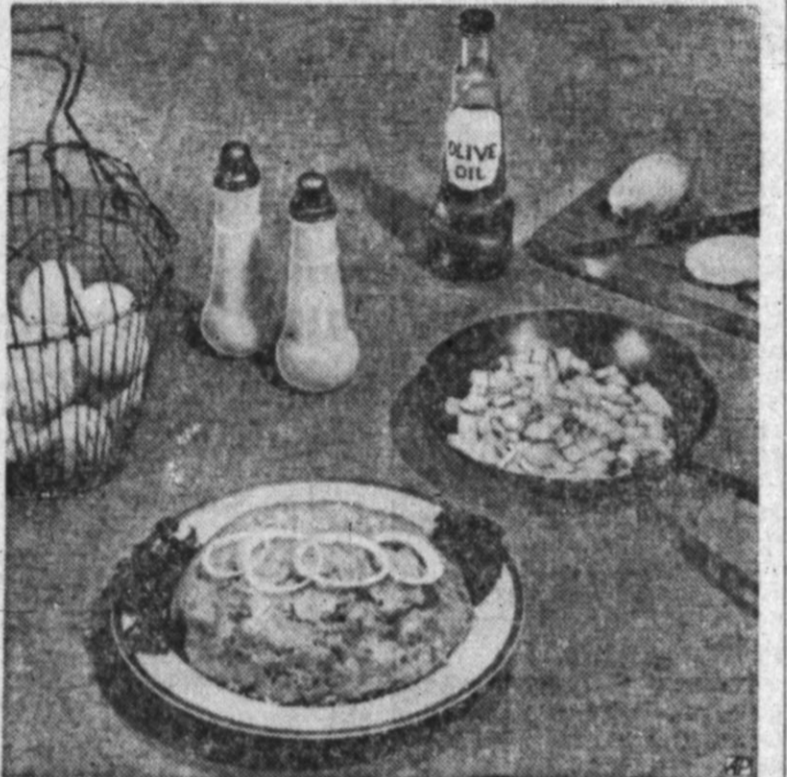

turned with a spatula until gold

TORTILLA

Ingredients: 1 large onion, 2 medium-sized potatoes, 4 tablespoons olive oil, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 4 large eggs (well beaten).

Method: Chop peeled onion and potatoes into 1/4-inch cubes. Heat black iron skillet (9 inches); add olive oil and heat. Add onions and potatoes. Cook over very low heat until tender, chopping with a sharp knife as they cook and turning occasionally. (Do not brown). When tender, mix in salt; drain off excess oil. Add about one-third of the beaten eggs to the pan, lifting up as mixture sets to allow moist egg to run under. When this part of the egg is solid, add another third of the beaten egg, lifting in the same way; finally repeat with remaining egg. Keep heat as low as possible, using an asbestos pad under skillet if necessary. When a golden crust has formed, loosen omelet all around edge and underneath with spatula; invert plate over top of pan; turn out upside down on plate. Clean out any bits sticking to pan; rub with a little olive oil, then slide the omelet back in again, moist side down. Cook as before until solid. Makes 3 servings.

Note: If you wish, you may cut mixture into 4 pieces in skillet, after crust has formed; then turn each wedge with a wide spatula to brown top side.

SPANISH STYLE: Tortillas are made with potatoes and onions cooked in olive oil, then topped with beaten eggs.

PARALYZED GRADUATE

BRUNSWICK, Maine — Norman Hobart, 22, will be graduated this year from a high school he never attended.

His classmates at Brunswick High are strangers, except for a few who have visited his home.

Stricken by polio in 1957 and paralyzed, Norman has done his school work at home, memorizing everything he reads, taking all his exams orally.

Before his illness, Norman attended Wells High, where he played football.

Seated at the birthday table were Mesdames E. S. Ireland and N. E. Milburn.

LA MESA, Calif. — Members of the Burns D. Bentley family are wondering if their cat, Fluffy, can read.

The cat found a box in the Bentley garage with "Rock Special" printed on it, crawled into it and had her three kittens there. Mrs. Bentley said that the box had once held a diaper pail for babies.

JURY FLUBS

ST. LOUIS — Erlester Westmoreland was on trial in circuit court on a charge of operating a motor vehicle without consent of the owner.

The state, trying for a conviction under Missouri's Habitual Criminal Act which would have made a life sentence mandatory, described his five previous felony convictions.

But the jury, misunderstanding instructions of Judge John C. Casey, acquitted him of the motor vehicle charge and convicted him of the five crimes of which he previously had been convicted.

Westmoreland went free.

Success Of Fire Prevention Week Measured In Weeks Which Follow

Fire prevention week is sponsored chiefly for the purpose of encouraging and helping people to prevent unnecessary fires. In addition, it also provides an opportunity to say "Thank You" to the men who sacrifice their time and material goods to provide each of us protection through the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department.

In all of Hereford, there is no other club or organization which comes close to performing the unselfish service rendered by these few individuals. Even their families, in fact, are called upon to sacrifice the time and company of the husbands and fathers who gather for regular drills, and often risk their lives in combatting fires in which they might otherwise have no personal interest.

The Hereford department, in addition, is recognized as one of the most efficient and thorough fire fighting units in the entire state. Even the people who have no fires, save thousands of dollars each year because these men have established an enviable record which cuts fire insurance rates below the state average.

Many people personally thank these volunteers from time to time — especially

Reds Add Crime Of Blasphemy

Nikita Khrushchev added blasphemy to his crimes recently. He equated communism with Christianity.

He said that "communism is in accord with Christ's teachings."

He added, "if you will look into our aspirations you will see that we have taken many of Christ's precepts—such as 'Love thy neighbor'."

Communism is the antithesis of Christianity. Communism denies the existence of God and the divinity of Christ. The Communist leaders have done all they can to suppress Christianity.

The artificially engineered famine in the Ukraine which took millions of lives was not "in accord with Christ's teachings."

Neither is the Communistic practice of herding millions of political prisoners into slave labor camps.

Nor were the numerous Soviet aggressions—against Poland, Lithuania, Latvia, Estonia, Finland, and the other less direct aggressions of which the Kremlin has been guilty.

Nor was the inhuman suppression of Hungary's up-rising against Red rule.

Nor were the repeated, almost universal, violations of treaties of which the Kremlin has been guilty.

Khrushchev talked a great deal while he was in this country. Mostly he has said the expected things, made the usual boasts and threats, evaded questions or given twisted and tortured replies, all along the usual line.

But no one expected him to equate communism with Christianity.

Americans indignantly reject such blasphemy. — The Houston Chronicle.

those who have been so unfortunate as to suffer fire loss—but the thing which would please them most would be for all of us to continue to observe fire prevention practices 52 weeks out of the year, instead of one week. They realize prevention importance, because not one call made during the year is ever to a fire which might not have been prevented had all the prevention rules been carefully enforced.

Carelessness still contributes to the cause of more fires than any other single factor although, sadly enough, it is one item in fire prevention which cost the least. Needless property loss is bad enough, but unfortunately fire is also frequently accompanied with loss of human life.

Now that Fire Prevention Week is over, let's make up our minds to keep right on following the rules we learned. Let's stay sleeping in the cold winter nights, thank you to our volunteer firemen by let's instead of fighting fires. They will appreciate it—and they really do deserve our continued interest and prevention practices.

Benefit Auction Is For Everyone

Next Saturday is auction day in Hereford, and upon its success largely depend the future of the Community Center.

Already, many donations have arrived at the location across north from the City hall and many more items are coming in from day to day. The idea of the auction is to provide needed items to many people and, at the same time, raise a good portion of the remaining $30,000 needed for the center.

Participation in the auction also provides a painless manner for many people to take part in the community project as they buy lamps, tables, chairs, clothing and other items at prices well below actual worth. Still more important, however, is the fact that they will actually have a part in building the Community Center, which they can use for many years to come.

Thanks to a substantial contribution from the Jim Hill Estate, people of the community will have a fine building well below 50 percent of its actual cost. It will fill a definite need in the area and, as estate managers planned, the more people who take part in the project, the more successful it will be.

The auction makes this possible on a large scale—through donations as well as purchases. On this basis, every man, woman and child can participate—and this is exactly what should happen next Saturday.

Recreation Lake Might Be Answer

Visitors who take the time to investigate the number of Hereford sportsmen who own houses, cabins and trailers at Lake Conchos will be surprised at the tremendously high percentage this area boasts.

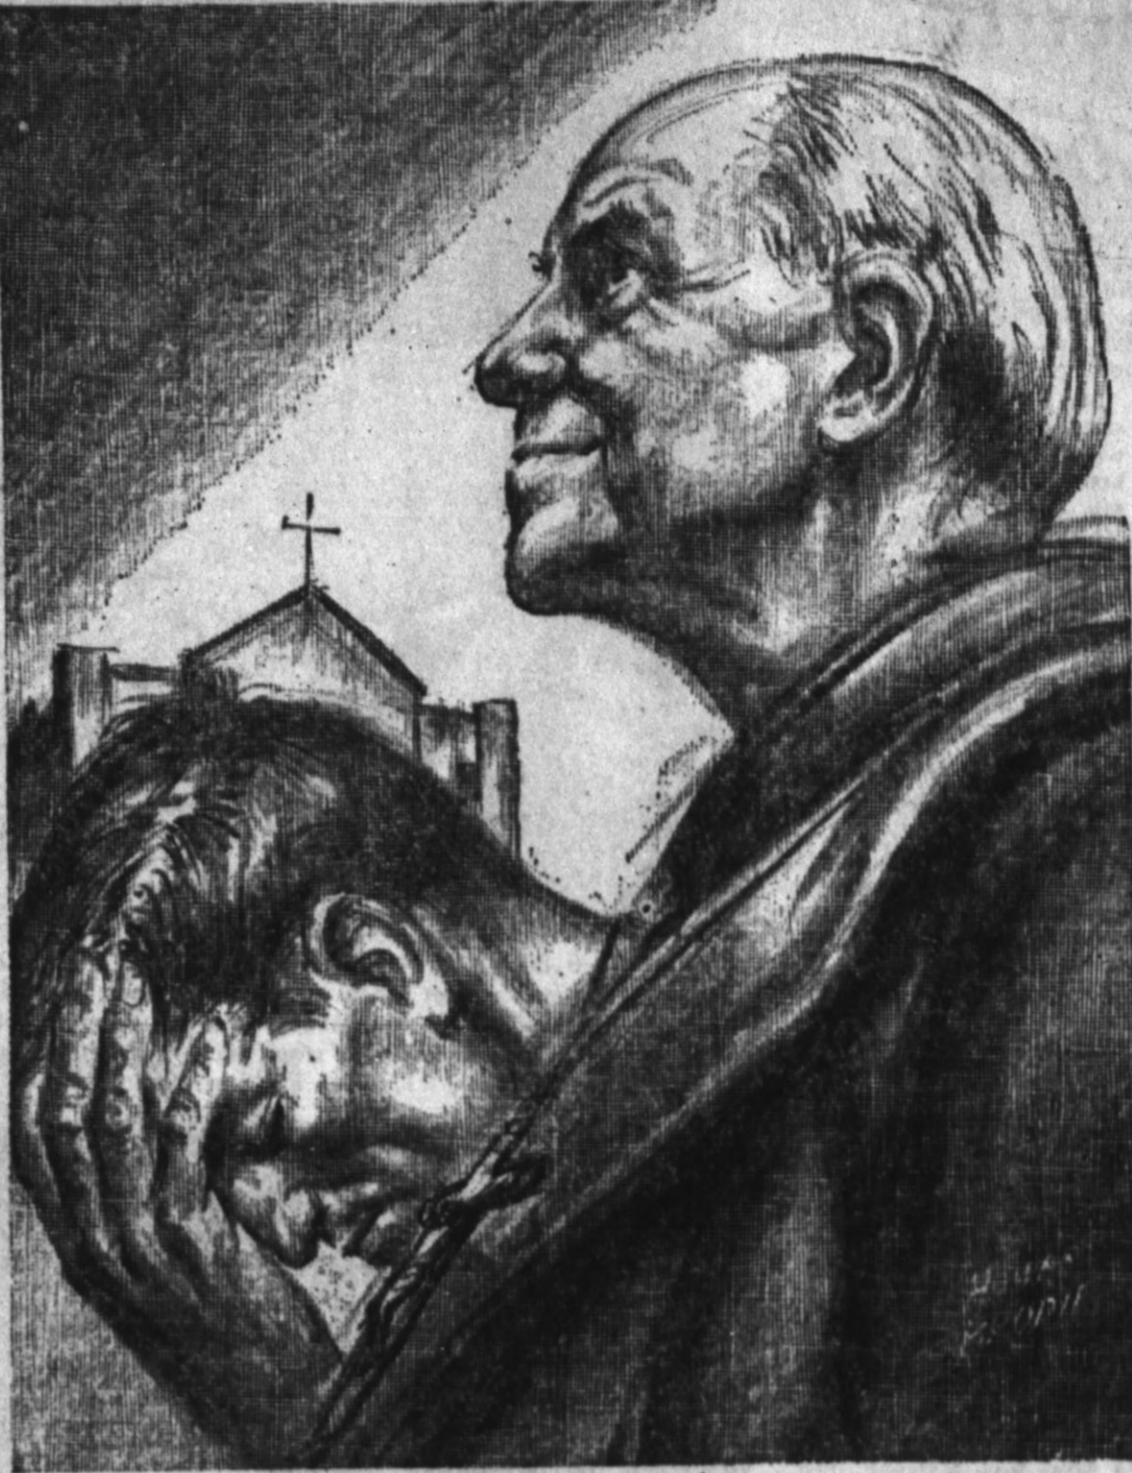

Since the days before Buffalo Lake was created near Umbarger, there has been a hue and cry for a lake in the Hereford area. Always, the approach has been based on irrigation recharge, water conservation or reclamation. Always, too, the appeals have been turned down after state and federal surveys.

Next time consideration of a local lake comes into the spotlight, why not base it on the current and real need of recreation? This immediate area has more $40,000 to $50,000 homes, more high priced automobiles and more boats per capita than than any community of similar size in the country. In addition, it has more per capita sportsmen than any place we know.

Like many other subjects, however, it seems that we are prone to confuse recreation with economic need when it comes to building lakes. A lake built for fishing, boating and skiing would naturally be operated in a manner to best serve the sportsman, instead of the farmer. It would draw thousands of people who now travel each year into Central Texas, Minnesota, Canada, Wisconsin and Old Mexico.

Unquestionably, we do need a lake in this vicinity, and it can certainly be justified for the purpose of recreation. Based on this need, it seems to us that the outcome might be successful.

The POWER of FAITH by Howard Brodie

Father Paul James Francis knelt on the summit of a mountain overlooking the Hudson River at Garrison, N. Y. and dedicated it to the service of God. He called it the Mount of Atonement. On it he founded a religious society 60 years ago.

First from a leaky shed, he and his fellow friars and sisters administered to the physical and spiritual needs of the destitute men who climbed the mountain and asked for help. None was turned away. Sometimes the last piece of bread was shared with an unfortunate.

Father Paul has passed on but his charity lives today. Between the impressive buildings of Graymoor's summit monastery and valley convent, big St. Christopher's Inn stands in place of the shed and its door is open to all regardless of race, color or creed.

Symphony In Work At Local Vegetable Sheds

By MRS. E. L. CRISWELL

Hereford has been a city of many things since it was a little tent city when the railroad was building, on through the city of boardwalks, of the registered cattle of that name brought in by Bradley and Jewell.

It progressed to the city of windmills, when each dwelling had to furnish its own water, to the city of Black Locust Trees noted for their perfume in the spring.

Let's look into some of the interesting possessions our little city has to make it interesting to people passing through, or the 'tourists', if you please.

What do we have that some of the other cities of the Staked Plains do not have? Oh! some may have one or two but we have eleven (correct me if I am wrong). Eleven produce sheds or package sheds, where our vegetables are processed and made ready to be sent to consumers all over the nation.

The buildings are not really outstanding but the machinery in them have certain specifications to meet, and when in motion with people in strategic places to keep it in order, it is an interesting procedure.

There are belts and belts, each moving along with its load, and trained personnel doing their jobs. First, the vegetables are unloaded from the trucks which bring them in from the fields, on to a conveyor belt to the washer, and from the washer to another belt leading to the graders.

The graders' belt has moving rollers to turn the vegetables over and over, so that the graders may see any blemish split or insect hold, and undesirable vegetables are discarded onto a waste belt. This belt carries them out of the building and up into a small loading house and loaded into trucks to be discarded or sold as feed for animals.

Each grader must have a quick hand to be able to pick those which are unsound and toss them on to the waste belt and to judge the size or length for first or seconds or those too large or too long to be placed in the plastic bags which hold either one or two pounds.

From the grading belt, the vegetables go through a crisper which, too, is a long belt over a long container which holds ice water and a pump to wash the vegetables passing through. After the crisper comes the sacking belt with scales, which weigh from one to two pounds.

The scales are mounted on either side of the belt, 18 or 20 inches apart. The workers stand between the scales and one directly behind the scales to tie each sack and toss it to a belt below to pass on to the bulk sackers, where 25 to 50 of the smaller plastic bags are placed in a larger paper one. The larger bags are placed on another belt to be carried out of the building and be loaded into refrigerator-cars to be shipped to cities for consumption.

Have you, as an individual, visited one of these sheds? If not, please do. Do not go during the noon hour or when it is standing idle. By all means go when it is operating "full blast" with its 80 to 100 people busy and with the machines running in a cacophony of sound.

It has a peculiar fascination, and if you will listen carefully, you will note the regularity — no that isn't the word, "beat" is better. It reminds you of the "Typewriter Song" — the click of the scales as they are tipped to empty into the plastic bag, then back in place. Faster and faster they go, especially as the overseer goes by with a word of encouragement to arouse competition for some of the sackers who fill and tie as many as 10 to 15 sacks per minute.

Impossible? Well, sometimes there are a few sacks that aren't tied as securely as they (Continued on page 2)

WEATHER DAMPENS HARVEST

Castro County farmers suffered another hardship at the hands of High Plains weather this week but this time it was too much water instead of too much hail. Low laden clouds have done little more than mist regularly, but this, has been sufficient since Tuesday to dump about half an inch of moisture on the county. Reports here this week ranged from one fourth to three-fourths of an inch of rain fall. While this is not a tremendous rainfall, there has been little evaporation so most of it has gone into the ground. Cotton, this year's best money crop, is looking good over the county despite earlier hail losses. However, growers were gambling for a successful crop on a sunshine fall and late freeze. Water at this point is doing the cotton more harm than good so farmers are anxiously waiting for the clouds to move on. Temperatures are way short of freezing. However, Tuesday night's temperature got down into the low 40's and low 50's. The grain sorghum harvest was just beginning to rumble to life when the cold, wet weather hit. The crop has just been scratched, with the first loads last week ranging around 15 percent moisture content. Main problem with grains now is to obtain a low enough moisture content that it will sell or go into loan and the rain and cold is hampering this considerably. Most of the grain is going into the market, since market is several cents above loan. Only a few scattered bales of cotton had been ginned when the moisture set in. —CASTRO COUNTY NEWS (DIMMITT)

TAXING AGENCIES MAIL BILLS

Ochiltree County taxpayers were mailed statements for more than one million dollars in real estate and personal taxes this week by four taxing agencies. These figures do not cover taxes assessed against county property holders who live in Spearman and Booker school districts, which lap over into Ochiltree county. Perryton school district will take the biggest bite, with statements for $530,437.44 being mailed early in the week. These were on a total evaluation for tax purposes of $35,362,496 and a $1.50 per hundred rate. Oil properties accounted for $8,941,400 of the evaluation figure, with pipelines adding another $2,349,645. The remainder was in real and personal properties, but that figure has not been broken down. The other school district in the county, Waka, taxed their residents $93,055.18 on a total evaluation of $6,203,679. Rate in the Waka district is 75 cents per hundred evaluation. Oil properties, utilities, pipelines and railroads had a $4,334,550 evaluation in the Waka district, and oil well production accounted for $944,950. Real and personal evaluations were $924,179. With an evaluation of $19,383,930, the county sent out statements Wednesday for $319,044.66. This figure includes state, county, farm to market and irrigation taxes. The county will receive $184,148.88 of this total tax; the state $73,593.93; farm to market roads, $52,567.11; and irrigation, $8,734.74. Tax rate for the county is $1.72. Climb in the evaluation on county rolls is shown by a comparison of figures this year with the past three years, during which the evaluation had doubled. Evaluations in 1958 were $15,828,720; in 1957, $11,986,80; and in 1956, $9,970,160. Total evaluation on real estate, personal and oil and gas leases was $14,946,540, with royalty and mineral interests accounting for $1,577,750. — OCHILTREE COUNTY HERALD (PERRYTON)

HEALTH SURVEY

A request for a health survey of Littlefield will be forwarded to the State Department of Health as a result of discussions here Thursday night during a regular city council meeting. City manager J. W. Harrison was authorized to make the request to employ a health inspector here. —COUNTY NEWS (LITTLEFIELD)

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Bindweed Farm has rockets on his mind, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editor: For a long time now, instead of wasting my time starting off into space in between bites when I'm fishing, I've been thinking about guided missiles and rockets in the world today, and the more I fish and think, the more I'm convinced the world ought to either go forward with its rocket program a lot faster or abandon it altogether. Now I don't know any more about the Russian Rocket program than Washington does, all the Russians tell us about is their successful hits, which have been pretty good, but I do know that the United States rocket people seem to be having a little trouble.

Well, to tell the truth, their aim ain't so good. When they blast off one of the things, they don't know what it's going to just sit there and spew like a wet fire-cracker, or wobble off half-heartedly, or zig-zag in all directions over the ocean.

Outside of an accurate rocket, I guess the next worse thing is an inaccurate one.

You take my farm out here. Nobody's going to waste a million-dollar rocket shooting at it, nobody would ever classify this patch of Bindweed as a military target, but it sure makes a man nervous to think he might be the victim of an accident. I just won't feel completely relaxed until those boys improve their aim a little.

Or you take Canada for example, Canada's sitting up there not shooting rockets at anything, but those Canadians may get a little jittery wondering when some other country's practice shot may land in their laps.

You can multiply this by all the other countries in the world and you can see the amount of nervousness it can create. Any time two big countries get in a rocket war with each other, there's going to be a lot of innocent bystanders getting hit.

Until the world improves its rocket aim, it's just not ready for that kind of shooting. Pin point accuracy with rockets would be terrible enough, but blind firing would be worse.

Yours Faithfully, J. A.

Coffee-Loving Argentines Can't Stand U. S. Style

By BRIAN BELL
BUENOS AIRES (AP) — There's an awful lot of coffee in Brazil and the Argentines drink their share of it.

Argentina imbibes more coffee per capita than any other South American nation including Brazil and Columbia, those giant producers of the brown bean.

Argentina's coffee drinkers sip down 3.91 pounds per person annually. This is small potatoes compared to world wide coffee guzzling. Swedes, Danes and Americans lead the world with 17.23, 16.33 and 16.09 pounds per capita each year according to the latest figures and Argentina yanks only 14th in world wide consumption.

However, in few nations on the globe are more pains taken to provide the man in the street with a good cup of the black brew. Buenos Aires has hundreds of coffee bars devoted exclusively to what many connoisseurs call liquid heaven.

Coffee is shipped here by the ton from Brazil. Many coffee bars roast and prepare their own mixtures. The brew is made from espresso machines or in small drip pots. The percolator and giant metal coffee makers so common in the United States are scorned.

The largest coffee bar in Buenos Aires, "Cafe do Brasil," serves 14,000 demitasses a day during winter and 8,000 in summer. During the morning rush period it turns out 3,500 cups in a half hour period.

Argentines like about a third of a cup of sugar in their coffee. Cream costs extra in the few places that serve it and almost all Argentines drink it black. The coffee is strong but not bitter and tastes like ambrosia.

Coffee drinking in large quantities is fairly new to Argentina. The traditional brew is yerba mate, a strong herb tea.

In the morning, the Argentine drinks mate or "cafe con leche," a large cup of half coffee, half milk with plenty of sugar. A COFFEE BREAK . . . Argentines, who drink more coffee per capita than persons in any other South American nation, like their coffee in one of Buenos Aires "cafes".

"without sugar" coffee drinker is almost unheard of.

At "Cafe do Brasil," one pound of coffee makes about 45 demitasses.

Freshly ground coffee is placed in a cloth filter sack which fits into the top of the coffee pot. From time to time the pot is then attached to a machine which squirts boiling water on top of the coffee, making a good cup of coffee, counterman lifts the lid and stirs the brew as it drips through the filter. In five minutes or so the coffee is ready. Each pot makes only 15 cups so there are always half a dozen containers working.

The "cafes" say the secret of making a good cup of coffee, besides starting with excellent, fresh coffee, is to keep the filter bags clean. They are washed very night in luke warm water and replaced weekly.

A "cafe" manager offered tips for the housewife so she can turn out a better cup:

Wrap the coffee in wax paper and put it in a paper bag before storing. Coffee is very susceptible to odors and will absorb into its flavor the taste of strong foods in the kitchen unless wrapped carefully.

Coffee will keep its original savor for no more than seven days so buy frequently and in small quantities.

Always serve coffee in porcelain and use stainless steel spoons for stirring to preserve its true taste.

Use a glass or aluminum pot for best results.

"These tips will help make your coffee better," the manager says, "but an American cup of coffee is so terrible it's not much use. Tell them they'll have to come to Buenos Aires to see what a real cup of coffee tastes like."

Don't Work At This Job If You Get Dizzy Up High

DICKINSON, (AP) — Ed Michalek and his four-man crew face big problems. They paint water towers hundreds of feet high.

"If you're afraid, you've got no business being up there," Michalek says. "I feel a lot safer on the tower than I do driving on a city street."

Michalek's crew range in age from 21 to 36. Four are married and three have children. All are employees of a firm headquartered in Dallas.

For more than a year they have worked as a team and have painted more than 50 towers. The tallest was a 348-foot job in Paducah, Ky., reported Will Hofheinz, writing for the Houston Chronicle.

Recently, they took on Dickinson's 115-foot tower with a truckload of equipment and a huge air compressor. The area beneath the structure grew into a litter of air and paint hoses laid out in long folds, coils of rope, sling chairs, ladders, and a sea of big paint cans.

Daily from high overhead came the shrill-pitched prolonged hiss of spray guns. Slowly, the tower changed in color—first to a dull red as the primer went on and then to the light green of the finish coats.

On the tower they work as close as a smooth-clicking football team. Jobs are rotated. Work inside the tank is more unpleasant than on the outside.

Michalek starts the day with a few soft-spoken words, sizing up the job. Later three or four of the men start up the ladder to the catwalk around the tank.

Their climb is rhythmical. Half way up they step out on a girder to rest, then climb on.

The Dickinson tower and tank, with a capacity of 300,000 gallons, took two weeks to paint. The crew used an estimated 170 gallons.

When spraying on top of the tank, the men use safety belts. The painter starts at the top of the tank and lowers himself in a sling chair, spraying as he goes.

The men feel perfectly safe. "Once you're in a sling," Michalek says, "it would take a contortionist to fall out."

The Jones Act in 1917 granted American citizenship to inhabitants of Puerto Rico.

Pro Drivers Give Advice To Teenagers

By EDWARD S. KITCH
CHICAGO — Is it possible to make a safe driver out of a teen?

Studies show that teenagers who have had driver education have fewer than half the accidents of those who haven't had it.

The National Safety Council has launched a safety sermon to save the 14 to 20 crowd from young drivers who are victims of their own enthusiasm and recklessness. Its booklet lectures them on traffic behavior.

The safe driving tips in the booklet come from professional drivers like the state patrolman, test track drivers and truckers. Here's some of the advice the pros offer:

1. Don't show off or clown behind the wheel.
2. Have guts enough behind the wheel to chicken out when common sense tells you it's time to give in. Never mind who's right. Be smart — stay alive.
3. The public highway is for sharing, not competing.
4. The squeal of tires and roar of the exhaust may sound like hot stuff to a driver who needs it to build up his ego. But it tags him as strictly an amateur.
5. The pro gives in to bad weather, bad roads and traffic jams by slowing down.
6. Would your coach send in a player who had been drinking? Well, it goes double for driving. Remember — a half-loaded driver is more dangerous than a loaded gun.
7. Set a personal example behind the wheel that will influence others — especially those who are younger than you — to regard courteous, skillful, mature driving as smart instead of sissy and showoff driving as dopey instead of daring.
8. Help bring about — and accept — rigid enforcement of traffic laws on the school campus by your own student traffic court, or by your student council.

Batting Big .382, Girl Wants To Be A 'Yankee'

EVESBORO, N. J. — Cheryl Chew is 12, and as handy with the bat as she is with the broom.

As the only girl player in the Lenape Conference little league last summer, she hit .382 for the Mt. Laurel team — a good average in any league.

Cheryl isn't a tomboy — she just likes baseball.

When she isn't on the diamond, Cheryl helps her mother with the dishes, washing and other household chores, and makes straight A's in the seventh grade.

Cheryl missed a 400 batting average this season when she failed to get a hit in the last of the 20 games her team played. While shining at the plate, she also has a sure, accurate arm and picks up ground balls with the greatest of ease at her short-stop position.

Cheryl's father, Irving Chew, is her manager, and says he'll keep her on the first team until a boy — or girl — with more ability comes along.

This year for the third straight season Cheryl received a special award at the team's awards dinner — her third "only girl player" trophy.

Cheryl realizes there is no chance for ever going beyond the little leagues in baseball. Yet it doesn't keep her from dreaming. "It would be great to be

Sunday School Holds Meeting

The Faithful Workers Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church met recently in the home of Mrs. Ole Hacker. Mrs. Grady Parson, president, called the meeting to order. Mrs. Charlotte Calvert gave the opening prayer. Roll call was answered with Bible Verses. The fourth and fifth chapter of Psalms was read by the group.

Grand captains were named at the meeting. They are Mrs. Ole Hacker, Mrs. Mable Strain and Mrs. Lillian Lookingbill.

After the meeting, Mrs. Calvert conducted a prayer meeting.

Those present were Mesdames Gladys Miller, Tommie Martin, Ruby Virden, Lucille Olson, Vermis Parson, Charlotte Calvert and hostess, Ole Hacker.

NEW PARENTS
Mr. and Mrs. Don Zellner of Canyon are parents of a son, Douglas Eugene. Maternal grandmother is Mrs. Uva Hargett of Hereford. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Bert Zellner of Aztec, N. M., formerly of Hereford.

WELL AGED
MILWAUKEE — A newly-discovered relic of the prohibition era now decorates the back bar of Salvatore John's Tavern.

Workmen remodeling the place found a 4-foot metal tank fitted neatly into a wall.

John, who leased the tavern two years ago, had no idea how it got there. But inspection of the tank disclosed that it contained five gallons of truly ancient moonshine and apparently had been cached there about 35 years ago.

DEBTORS TOGETHER
CHICAGO — Chronic debtors follow a distinct geographical pattern, says Dr. Eugene Barres, a psychologist, after a study of 500 debtors selected from records of Cook County Credit Bureau. Eleven per cent lived in only three square miles of Chicago, Barnes found, while 6 per cent were in a one square mile low income neighborhood.

Individuals in the middle to the highest income levels were scattered throughout the higher income areas of the city.

SCHOLARLY WAITING
MIAMI, Fla. — Comic books are taboo in Dr. Bruce Higley's waiting room.

Dr. Higley, a dentist, decided the youngsters might as well have something worthwhile to read while waiting their turns.

So he swept out the comic books and put a set of encyclopedias in his waiting room. Now the children do their homework at his office. Some even show up when they don't have appointments just to use the books.

HIGH-KICKING ROCKETTES

Scanty-Looking Costumes Are As Rugged As Goalie's Gear

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
NEW YORK (AP) — The Rockettes, one of New York's venerable tourist attractions, usually appear scantily clad as they swing into their famed precision kicking. Actually, it's mostly a trick. The 36 young dancers cavort on stage in costumes as impervious to disaster as that of a hockey goalie.

Costuming the Rockettes, as well as the Radio City Music Hall ballet corps and others in the stage show cast, is the responsibility of 30-year-old Leanne Mitchell, a Centerville, Iowa, girl who is in charge of a specially trained staff of theatrical dressmakers.

Most New York theatrical enterprises rent or order costumes from one of three large costume companies. The Music Hall is one of the very few — outside of the Hollywood studios — which whips up its own on order. Miss Mitchell estimates that she and her staff make around 100 costumes each time the bill changes.

Contrary to popular conception, theatrical costumes are not constructed of cheesecloth and library paste. Miss Mitchell buys cloth by the thousands of yards — velvets, silk crepes, lame, cloth of gold, strong, long fibred cotton — and all of good quality.

"They must stand up to hard use," she explained. "The girls must wear them for every show for from four to 10 weeks. And after that they are stored and we may use them again — remodeled, of course — in three or five years."

Miss Mitchell goes to work on the costumes as soon as she receives sketches from the theatre's costume designer. First she makes a pilot costume, which is checked for effectiveness by the producer and the choreographer. If she gets an okay, she goes into mass production with the aid of 20 full-time seamstresses and handfinishers. There are 48 Rockettes — 36 in the line, and 12 who fill in as the girls take their weekly days off. There are 23 in the ballet corps — 36 in all — and each girl is fitted to her costume several times before it is finished.

One of Miss Mitchell's problems is to make the girls look as much alike, in size and conformation, as possible. Although there is really as much as five inches difference in height between the tallest and shortest girls, Miss Mitchell uses a theatrical trick to make them appear uniform.

"Mostly, it's making the hems even," she confided. "You make the hem lines higher for the short girls and longer for the tall ones. But of course, when they are in skin-tight leotards, it's harder. After all, legs are legs, and you can't do much about that."

Another of costumer Mitchell's jobs is keeping the dancers properly shod. Each Rockette has a basic shoe wardrobe of four pairs of tap shoes — black, red, gold and silver. A pair of shoes usually stand up through about two changes of the theatre's bill and then must be replaced. A pair of satin ballet slippers is worn out in a week, although the "flats" — canvas — which the ballet corps uses in numbers when they don't dance on their toes are much more durable.

"This is very stimulating work," she said. "Sometimes you have interesting problems thrown into your lap — like how to work things out so that the girls can light up like Christmas trees — bulbs, wires and little battery attachment in the rear — or using invisible paint so that you can change the colors of the costumes by changing the lighting."

LAST CHECK: Leanne Mitchell makes final measurement on Rockette costumes. She heads a staff of 20 seamstresses and handfinishers who whip up about 100 costumes every time the bill changes at the Radio City Music Hall in New York.

'Annals Of Yesterday' Studied At Hereford Garden Club Meet

Hereford Garden Club held its October meeting recently in the home of Mrs. G. W. Newsom. Mrs. Jeff Gilbreath was co-hostess.

"Annals of Yesterday" was the theme for the day's study, with Mrs. Emmett Hale opening the program with a discussion of "Grandmother's Favorites". She traced the history of flower cultivation to the 18th Century gardens and the time of the early settlers who imported bulbs and seeds from Holland and France, and told of their diaries which listed narcissus, iris, tulips, cockscomb, and prince feathers which are very much in use today.

Mrs. Norman Moore began the talk on "Mother's Preference" by saying, "Our mothers were so busy rearing a family that they had to plant flowers that needed little care. Usually they favored lilacs and pansies which were brought to this country from Europe over 200 years ago. Pansies were used back in Queen Elizabeth's day to make nosegays."

Mrs. Moore also gave timely hints for gardening, reminding her listeners that now is the time to get bulbs and seeds for annuals into the ground. It is also time to make cuttings from house plants.

Phillip, gently offers himself to his master. Matthew whispering to Simon his suspicions as to who the traitor is. Thaddeus in the attitude of one who cannot believe what Matthew says to be possible. Book Reviewed By Study Club

Mrs. B. A. Reddell reviewed the book The Seeking by Will Thomas, at the L.A.E. Study Club meeting held Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. A. N. Hopson.

She said, in part, "The Seeking" is an autobiography of a negro who searched for a place for his family to live in peace. After trying several places he located in Vermont, only to find that his problems were all in his own mind, and comes to the conclusion that there is no real reason why all races cannot dwell peaceably together."

Members answering roll call with opinions on the question "Are We Losing Our Freedom?", included Mesdames Gordon Elliott, Emmett Hale, A. B. Higgins, Joe Johnson, Virgil Marsh, B. A. Reddell, T. W. Roberson, George Surges, Leroy Suttle and the hostess.
