Hereford has its share of lewd, obscene mail

But it can be stopped, postmaster says

Postmaster Nolan Grady gave this message to Hereford this week: if you don't want to get obscene and lewd pictures and advertising at your house, you now can do something about it.

He said the post office has forms available that persons can fill out quickly, indicating their desire not to be on the mailing list of this type of publication.

The forms are then sent into Washington and put on a list which publishers of sexually oriented material are required to purchase each month before they make their mailings, Grady said at Thursday's Kiwanis Club. The publishers then must update their mailing list each mailing to make sure they don't send anything to a person whose name is on the list. If they do, they are subject to stiff penalties.

"Unless you have received some of this, you don't know how sick it can be," Grady said.

"If you've looked at the centerfold of Playboy Magazine, it is mild."

But for the first time in several years, the post office is able to do something about the sex literature, which often is explicit in what it shows, including such things as intercourse between couples and homosexual activity. One danger, Grady said, is that parents may open the mail, unaware of what it contains, in the presence of children or that children themselves may open the mail.

Under the new law, a person may decide for himself whether mail he receives is sexually provocative, instead of the post office being saddled with trying to decide if a given piece of mail meets the legal definition of obscenity.

"With this definite definition we're operating under now, where each person decides for himself, we have some teeth in the law now. You can fill this out, and firms that deal in this type of stuff must purchase this list from us. Even if you've never received any of this, your completion of this form will cause them added expense and trouble at having to look through more and more names each month," the postmaster said.

"This is a multi-billion dollar business in the United States. I read the other day where a company is sending thousands of pieces of literature into here," Grady added.

At least 30 or 40 letters concerning sexually provocative mail come into Hereford each day, postal officials say. It used to be in plain envelopes, but the new law requires all such mail now to have a warning in red ink on the outside of the letter that sexually oriented advertising is inside. If a person writes the company that he wishes to receive more of that type material, then the company can send it without the warning.

"If you'll fill out these forms, it will save you the embarrassment of getting this material. One woman had a neighbor over and was sitting at the table with the kids when she opened one of these letters casually and let the contents fall on the table. It was very embarrassing and she brought it in and complained," Grady said.

After the completed form is received in Washington it is put on the list. After 30 days of the time the name is put on the list, the sexual-advertising publisher is forbidden to send mail to anyone on the list.

The postmaster said much of the recent such mail into Hereford appears to have come as a result of someone working their way down the yellow pages in the local telephone book. The response from Hereford apparently has been low, he added.

"The more people we can get to fill out these forms, the more we're going to run their cost of operation up. I'd be tickled to take back to the office a completed form for each one of you and send it in today. We want to encourage you, and encourage you to encourage your neighbor, to come in and fill one of these out. We will be sending them in daily."

Virtually all of those at the meeting took the forms, filled them out and gave them to Grady to send into Washington. Several persons got extra forms to take to various groups they are associated with. Some took them home to wives also. A person can send in the form to cover himself and his children, under the age of 18, but not for his wife or anyone else, Grady said.

If a person gets mail at two addresses, he might need to fill out forms for both addresses to provide full protection, Grady added.

It's certain -- kids lose a Saturday

For the first time in more than 10 years, students in the Hereford school system will attend classes on a Saturday.

The school board, meeting in special session Friday, decided to have students attend school on Saturday, May 15, to make up for the day lost due to the April 19 tornado.

The decision came after Supt. Roy Hartman learned from the state education office that the circumstances did not meet requirements for a disaster, and students would have to attend classes to make up the extra day.

The board also changed the local salary base for classroom teachers to encourage additional college work and nominated Dr. A. T. Mims, board member, for a position on the Executive Committee of the Texas Association of School Boards.

Hartman told the board the lost school day must be made up prior to June 2, but because the remaining school year was so short, the best solution would be to have classes on a Saturday between May 1 and May 22.

Having classes on May 1 was rejected because many students were out of town for the band contest at Corpus Christi, and the high school principal was with them. Also, this did not give the teachers enough time to prepare their lessons.

The following Saturday, May 8, was in conflict with Mother's Day on Sunday.

Bill Phillips, secondary coordinator for the school system, said this will be only the second time since 1957 that students have had to make up a lost day on a Saturday. The last time that happened, he said, was when the blizzard let school out for six days.

Hartman, in discussing the local salary base for classroom teachers, told the board that a reduction of local supplement in several areas would not affect local teacher salaries because of an over-all increase on the state level that will go into effect next year.

"In masters degree people," Hartman said, "percentage-wise we have been going down in the past few years."

He said the cut in local supplement will mean about $15,000 less on the local level next year, but "that is not the important thing. We want to try and motivate these people to go back to school and get their degrees."

Hartman said he had discussed the cut with about 21 teachers, and it was surprising how much favorable response the plan received from them, despite the fact many would be getting less money.

SBA plans to finish here soon

The Small Business Administration has reduced personnel and will soon phase out of the disaster loan office here.

The phasing out of the office is due to decreasing activity for disaster loans. People who still need assistance for repairs should file their applications as soon as possible at the administration's office at the Community Center.

Building permits continue good pace

Repair work made necessary by the April 12 tornado did little to hike the month's building permit total. The amount invested in construction work reached only $254,000, city figures show.

City manager Dudley Bayne said the city is overlooking most rebuilding work citizens are doing that resulted from the tornado. But, he said people who had extreme damage to their homes will still be required to take out a permit.

Bayne said as soon as most of the repair work is completed in the areas struck by the tornado the city will find out from each of the local lumber companies approximately how much was spent in repairing homes. This, he said, will be added to the monthly building permit total.

A building permit costs $2.50. Only three permits were issued during April for the repair of homes damaged by the tornado. The largest of these was for $10,000 with another for $5,000 and the other for $2,500.

The largest single building permit issued in April was for $75,000 for the construction of a new Assembly of God Church in northeast Hereford.

The other large permits issued that month were for the construction of homes. There were seven permits issued for construction of homes and the largest of these was for $27,500.

There were 23 permits issued in April.

Three permits for the construction of storm shelters were issued, the largest of these being for $995.

The April total, coupled with the previous three months, raised the local total in building permits to $1,176,353 for the year.

Juvenile bill gets approval

Gov. Preston Smith is expected this week to sign into law a bill authorizing the creation of a Juvenile Board in Deaf Smith County.

The bill gained final approval of the Texas House of Representatives on Thursday and went to the governor's office, but indications were it would be several days before Smith put his name on it.

The Texas Senate okayed the measure several weeks ago.

It will be up to the county commissioners to actually make the Juvenile Board a reality. Then, according to the bill, the commissioners, the City Commission and the School Board each will name two members of the Board, with the county judge being a seventh member of the board.

It will be up to the Juvenile Board to determine the Juvenile Officer and to review cases of various juveniles.

The action of the Texas Legislature Thursday was the last of three it took concerning this county. Earlier, bills concerning a hospital district and a criminal district attorney sailed through the state capitol.

Sen. Max Sherman of Amarillo, who dropped in on the Panhandle Press Association in Amarillo Friday night, said he had tried to do his part in getting the local legislation out of the way early so it wouldn't get caught in the hectic action of the closing days and weeks of the legislature.

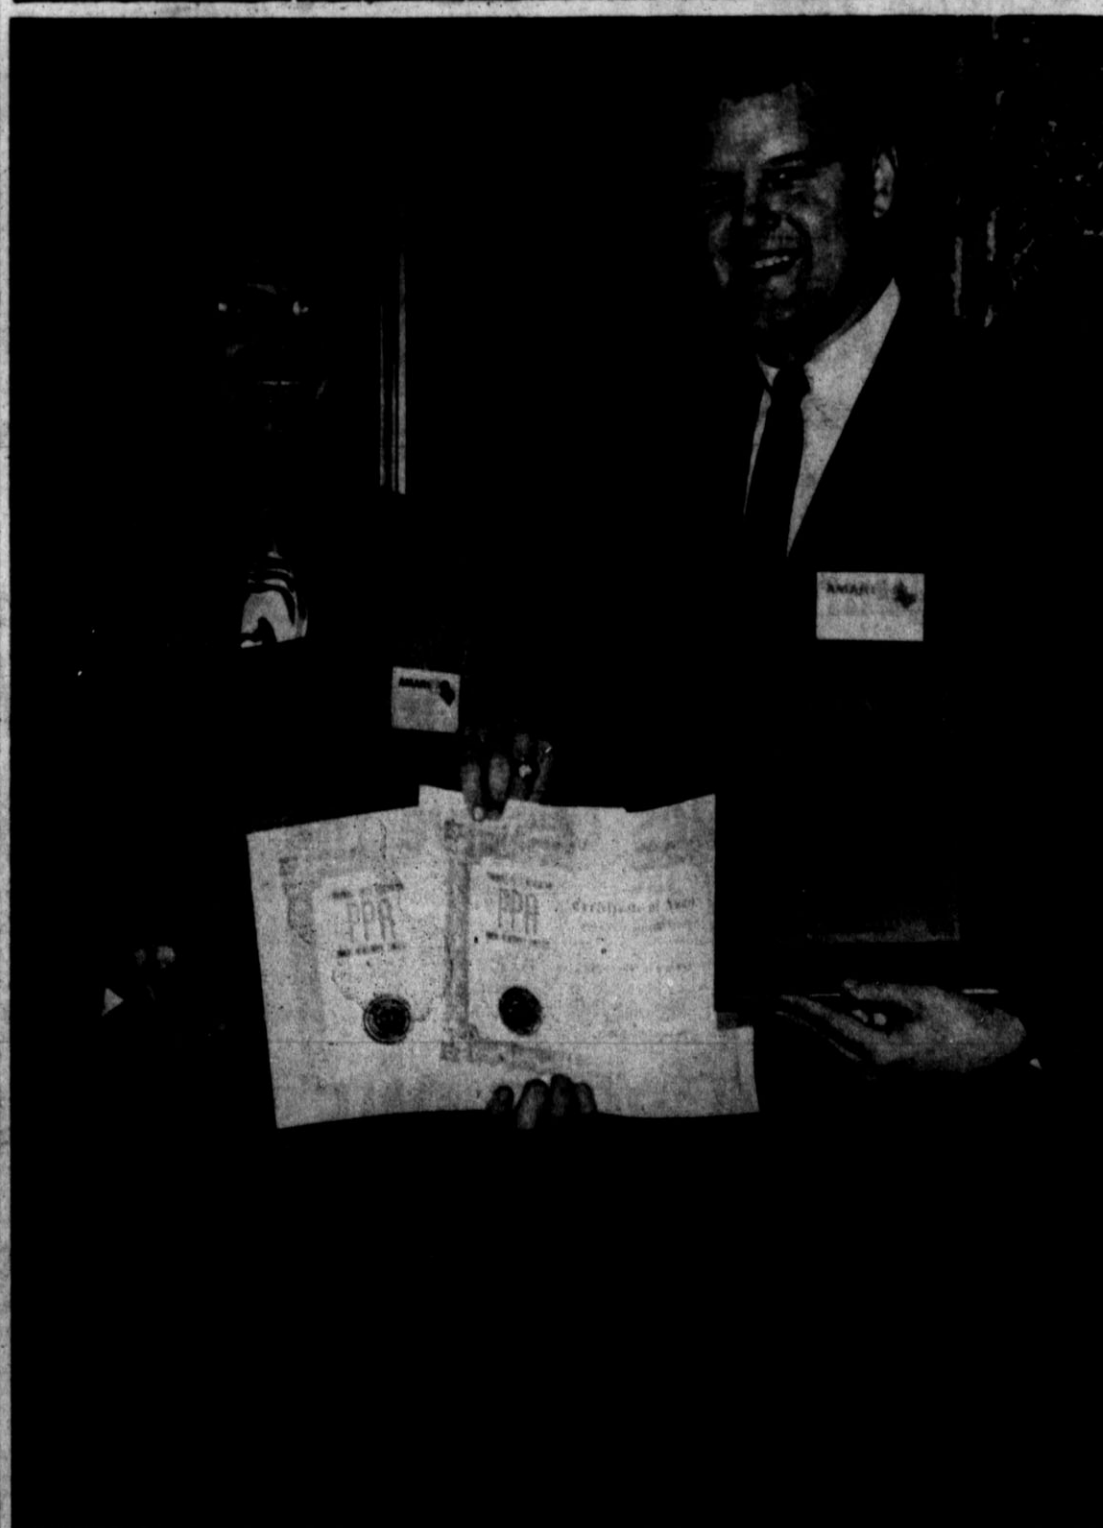

We won't vote on mixed drinks

The election May 18 in Deaf Smith County will feature several important matters, but the drink question won't be one of them.

The vote on whether to allow public dispensing of mixed drinks will be allowed only in precincts which already are "wet" and which are in counties that approved the constitutional amendment last year to abolish Texas' restriction against open saloons.

Deaf Smith County falls short in both categories. All of its precincts are dry and the county voted against the proposed amendment, although it carried statewide.

A petition would be necessary to call a vote on legalizing mixed drinks in this county. At any rate, such an election would come at some later time than May 18.

Brand captures top award in Panhandle press meeting

AMARILLO — The Hereford Brand won the coveted Community Service and General Excellence awards Saturday morning in a ceremony that highlighted the 62nd Annual Convention of the Panhandle Press Association.

Jack Nixon Jr., of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, presented the Community Service Award to Melvin Young, general manager of The Hereford Brand. The award is considered "the" honor at any press convention contest.

In competition with other newspapers — principally weekly and semi-weekly publications — throughout the Panhandle, the Brand also won first place for news pictures, second place for editorial writing and second place for advertising initiative.

"I am not telling you editors and publishers anything new when I say that community service is the name of the game in publishing a newspaper for your community," Nixon said.

"If you do not fulfill that obligation you have forfeited the right of survival and do not deserve the support of your advertisers."

Nixon pointed out that Hereford had been afflicted with many problems and controversies during 1970 but that The Hereford Brand distinguished itself "by turning these problems into opportunities. Strong editorial support, feature stories and even special editions highlighted these problems and brought the community together for a truly unified effort for solution of the problems."

He pointed out the Day Care Center, Public Health Clinic, Tierra Blanca Elementary School, the Mexican American complaints and other areas as places the Brand gave lengthy and comprehensive coverage to allow its subscribers to get better insight into what is happening.

It is the fourth annual presentation of the Community Service award. The Floyd County Hesperian won it in 1967, The Canadian Record in 1968 and The Perryton Herald in 1969.

These awards were presented:

Judges for the news photo competition made special commendation of the pictures of the Labor Camp, taken last summer by Tyler Vance; a picture under poor lighting conditions while volunteers tried to rescue a man buried under tons of grain, taken by Penny Young, and a panel of profile pictures of Coach Larry Wartes, taken by Betty Koelzer. The Labor Camp pictures earlier won a second place award in statewide judging recently at the Associated Press Managing Editors convention in El Paso.

Hereford Brand publisher Jimmy Gilentine wrote one of the three editorials submitted as Hereford's entry in the editorial contest.

The judge called the editorial, concerning the junior college issue, "one of the best editorials I have ever read in a small city newspaper." The judge also praised the other two editorials, both by Young, on the grand jury's report on the Mafia and on the county redistricting question.

The entry in the advertising initiative contest was by Lynn Brisandine of the Brand staff.

Cowboy kicker to visit here

Mike Clark, kicking specialist for the Dallas Cowboys professional football team, will be the guest speaker here Friday for the second annual Youth Spring Banquet of the First Baptist Church Youth.

The banquet will begin at 7:30 p. m. Friday at the Fellowship Hall of the church.

Theme for the banquet will be "Out of This World," which carries out the idea of modern day space exploration. The public is invited.

Gilbert Carlyle gets promotion

Gilbert E. Carlyle, former writer and sports editor of the Hereford Brand, has been promoted to assistant vice president, public relations at Southwestern Life Insurance Company in Dallas.

A native of Hereford and 1948 graduate of Hereford High School, Carlyle attended Amarillo Junior College and received his degree in Journalism at North Texas State University in Denton in 1957.

Active in community and business affairs, including youth work with the Dallas White Rock Branch of the Y. M. C. A., Carlyle was recently elected 1971 president of the North Texas Chapter of the Public Relations Society of America — the largest PRSA chapter in the Southwest with more than 110 members.

Carlyle is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Carlyle of 805 Lee Avenue in Hereford.

Red Cross sets meet this week

An after-look at disaster preparedness in Hereford as it functioned in the tornado crisis of April 19 with suggestions for improvements, will be taken at the annual meeting of Deaf Smith County Red Cross Tuesday morning in the Community Room of First National Bank.

Election of new officers and directors is on the meeting agenda, and annual summaries of work of the various committees, Bartley Dowell, chapter president, will preside.

The annual meeting was originally set for April 20, the day after the storm, but was postponed because officers and members were busy in the emergency.

Monterey wins 4-AAAA trophy

The Monterey Plainsmen are runaway winners in the bid for the Hereford Brand's 36-inch-high trophy to be given each year to the school with the best overall performance in the six competitive sports.

The Plainsmen won first in track, first in golf, first in tennis, first in baseball, tied for first in football and tied for second in basketball. Plainview won the basketball title, the only sport that "got away" from Monterey. Coronado shared the football crown.

Monterey already has clinched the baseball title, but other standings within that sport may change, with one week still to go in the season.

The final standings are expected to be:

1. Monterey, 28 points
2. Coronado, 18½ points
3. Plainview, 16½ points
4. Lubbock, 15½ points
5. Hereford, 11½ points

Five points were awarded for each first place, four for second, three for third, two for fourth and one for fifth.

Starting with football, then going to basketball, track, golf and tennis and baseball, here are the finishes for each of the district schools (with final baseball finish projected on basis of current standing):

Monterey — 1-tie, 2-tie, 1, 1, 1, 1

Coronado — 1-tie, 5, 3, 2, 2, 4

Plainview — 4-tie, 1, 2, 5, 4-tie, 2-tie

Lubbock — 4-tie, 2-tie, 4, 4, 3, 2-tie

Hereford — 3, 4, 5, 3, 4-tie, 5

A representative of The Hereford Brand will present the trophy, appropriately engraved, to Monterey for its permanent possession at an awards assembly in Lubbock Thursday morning.

Observe 4-way stop signs, judge warns

Corporate Judge Jim Neill Friday warned area drivers that failure to comply with laws governing four-way stop signs at controlled intersections can result in a fine up to $200.

Neill said there have been numerous reports on near-wrecks at several of the four-way stop intersections here, and anyone caught breaking the law will be fined.

Laws covering a four-way stop intersection say if two cars arrive at the intersection at the same time, the vehicle on the right has the right-of-way and can proceed first from the intersection. Also, a car that arrives at the intersection first, regardless of whether he is on the right, has the right-of-way.

Neill said if two cars are stopped at a four-way stop intersection, with two going in one direction and the other in another, the first of the two cars going in the same direction can proceed, but the second one must stop and allow the other vehicle to move.

South Plains announces dates for summer term registration

LEVELLAND — The first semester of the Summer Session at South Plains College will be held May 31-July 9, inclusive. Registration for the six-weeks term will be held May 31 in the Administration Building and classes will begin June 1.

The second semester of the Summer Session will be held July 12-August 19, inclusive, with registration scheduled for July 12 and classes to begin on July 13. Registration will be in the Administration Building.

Classes will meet daily during the Summer Session, Monday through Friday. The first class period will be from 7:30-9:05 a. m.; the second, 9:15-10:50 a. m.; and the third, 11:00-12:35.

Seven semester hours is the maximum load for each six weeks term. Six semester hours is the normal load for the summer term. The college reserves the right to modify the courses offered and the class schedule, based on the demand of the students. A minimum of ten students is required for a class to be taught, and requests for additional courses not on the schedule should be made to the Registrar.

Tuition charges for the Summer Session are $7.50 per semester hour for residents of the college district; $9.00 per semester hour for out-of-district students; and $20.00 per semester hour for out-of-state students. A registration fee of $7.50 will be charged for each six weeks term.

A complete class schedule of the Summer Session is available upon request from the Registrar at South Plains College.

FIRE OFFICERS — Garland Fulbright, chief of San Antonio Fire Department, state president of the State Firemen's and Fire Marshals' Association, holds a replica of a Hereford Bull presented him by local fire officials Thursday night. The occasion was the annual Firemen's Employers Appreciation Banquet. At left is Earl Phillips, past state president of the organization, with local Fire Chief Max Stipe at right.

Former resident receives degree

Ronnie Caster, formerly of Hereford, will receive his Bachelor of Science degree in mechanical engineering in ceremonies May 15 at Texas Tech University.

Caster is a 1961 graduate of Hereford High School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R.W. Caster of 227 Ave. A.

He completed requirements for the degree in December and is employed by the Dow Chemical Company in Freeport.

He and his wife, the former Linda Martin, lived in Hereford until 1965 when they moved to Lubbock.

Ronnie Caster

horsehair from Germany for wigs in the 17th century that it upset the trade balance. Colbert, finance minister to Louis XIV, sought vainly to have wigs banned, fearing the French treasury would be drained of gold.

Cosmetic hints given 4-H girls

Two students in a Hereford High School cosmetology class who created and modeled a coiffure which took third place in recent district contests, were program guests of Merry Maid-ens 4-H Club this week.

Sammy Watson was the winning hairdresser and Debbie Angelo modeled her style. The two students told the club girls of good habits to form for care of hair, nails and skin.

They were introduced by Chris Marnell, club president. In a brief business session, members planned the skit they presented at a party Thursday evening honoring Rita Huckert, who lately resigned her post as assistant county Home Demonstration Agent and 4-H Club director.

There are more than 620,000 sailboats without any form of auxiliary power in use throughout the U. S.

Planning meets set for parade

Organizations planning to make a float for Hereford's July 4 parade through downtown Hereford will meet at the Community Center this month for the first of three planning sessions. Rick Reick, parade marshal, said the parade groups will meet May 19, June 23 and June 30.

Reick, also marshal a year ago, said he hopes the parade entries will surpass the 41 which were in the 1970 procession.

Representatives from a y organization, youth group or church interested in being in the 1971 Independence Day Parade are invited to the three meetings, Reick said.

Geologists have found that during the Ice Age, as recently as 10,000 years ago, a vast area between Siberia and Alaska lay above water.

Stanton Band performs well

Students at Stanton Junior High School, in competition with more than 10,000 music students from throughout the nation last weekend, captured the largest number of first division medals at the Greater Southwest Music Festival in Amarillo.

The Stanton band won 19 first division awards and received a "1" rating in solo and ensemble competition. Judges for the contest called the performance by the Stanton band excellent, with "good expression and dynamic range. A really fine band."

The band played "Sol Y Sombra March," and the "Overture in B Flat" which is a piece normally played by AAA high school bands.

Those receiving first division ratings were Jamie Bradley, oboe; Luanne Kindsfather, oboe; Denise Strange, flute; Layne Young, flute; Brenda Burdine, clarinet; Vicki Mills, clarinet; Debra Jennings, clarinet; Paul Galley, alto saxophone; Linda Keyes, alto saxophone; Debra Lindsey, alto clarinet; Gloria May, bass clarinet; Debra Grider, bass clarinet; Marquerite Vines, tenor saxophone; Kim Young, bassoon; Beverly Willis, flute; and Doris Kelly, flute.

Beverly Willis and Doris Kelly won firsts in flute quartet. Those making second division marks were Suzanne Smith, flute; Daria Payne, clarinet; Jamie Bradley, oboe; Kim Young, bassoon; Brian Goodin, french horn; Brenda Burdine, clarinet; Vicki Mills, clarinet; Debra Jennings, clarinet; Mary Grouch, clarinet; Gary West, clarinet; and Melissa Henry, clarinet.

Also, Sheryl Reyne, clarinet; Paul Galley, saxophone; Linda Keyes, saxophone; Marquerite Vines, saxophone; Martha Thomas, saxophone; Marshall Breeding, cornet; Laura Thompson, cornet; Jess Robinson, cornet; Bobby De La Garza, cornet; and Lessa Sledge, flute.

CARD OF THANKS
The Seventh-day Adventist Welfare Service takes this means to thank each of you who helped in the Welfare Service—those who processed clothing (washed, ironed, mended, sorted, boxed) those who worked on the Disaster Van, those who fed the workers those donating bedding, linens, clothing. Thanks to the News Media for their good work—Hereford Brand and KPAN radio Station. It is a JOB well done and with grateful hearts we say Thank You, Christ said, "Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these ye have done it unto me." Eugene Jennings is head coach at Silverton Eugene Jennings, formerly of Hereford, has accepted the position of head football coach and athletic director at Silverton for the 1971-72 school year.

Jennings has been coaching the past two years at Ingleside, Tex., where he and his wife, the former Lynn Sowell, have lived for the past two years.

The couple will move to Silverton in June.

Mrs. Jennings will teach 9th, 10th and 12th grade English at Silverton.

Both plan to attend West Texas State University this summer and work toward their masters degrees. Their positions in Silverton will become effective in August.

Rita Huckert is feted at party

Rita Huckert was honored at a surprise farewell supper Thursday evening following her recent resignation as assistant county home demonstration agent, a position she has held for six years.

Her husband, Joe Frank Huckert, was also a special guest at the party in Community Center.

Joyce Shipp of Snyder, a native of Collingsworth County, will replace Mrs. Huckert beginning June 1. She is a 18-year 4-H club member and attended West Texas State University.

Mrs. Shipp is a home economics major from Texas Tech University and taught for several years at Lubbock and near Snyder.

More than 100 persons attended the supper hosted by the county 4-H Adult Leaders Council, Mrs. Austin Rose Jr., chairman, Mmes. Dane Justice, Robert Ginn, Floyd Cole, Thurman Atchley, George Olson and Tom Draper, Deaf Smith County H. D. Agent.

Mrs. Rose gave the welcome and Juston McBride, DSC Agriculture Agent, the Invocation.

Micky Ginn was master of ceremonies and Markie McBride, mistress.

4-H groups providing musical entertainment were Happy Hustlers, Willing Workers, Showmanship, Merry Maidens, Ford and Walcott clubs.

Mrs. Rose, highlighting the evening, presented Mrs. Huckert a silver serving tray. Engraving read: "Rita Huckert, 1965-1971, Deaf Smith County 4-H, With Love and Appreciation."

Small talk

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor
SOME interesting quotes, picked up at random lately: Sarah Clark in a talk on table settings to Valeda Study Club — "There are two general types of glassware, handmade and machine made —" then with a slight pause enabling her to face the facts of the average home, "— and a third, jelly glasses."

Bunny Watts, giving a report for the same club by telephone — "Just a minute! There's a purple martin on the bird feeder! And we've had several mocking birds lately." (It's by no arrangement of mine that the Valeda Club gals are being so bright this spring)

Speaker in the booth behind me in a coffee shop — "Y'know I went over there to get the cheapest thing they had and came out with the most expensive!" And it was a man talking, too.

OOPS! It's happened again; an error in a recipe we published, and apparently a lot of people were interested in trying it because several have called us and more called Lola Curt-singer, who gave the recipe.

The sugar cookies that she likes so well because they are easy to make and delicious to eat, depend a good deal for their flavor and texture upon plenty of shortening. So when we got the recipe in the paper with 1 stick instead of 1 pound butter or margarine, it did make a difference!

You're supposed to cream a pound of shortening into 1 box powdered sugar (and 1 stick is not enough to cream all that sugar). If you don't want to look the recipe up, it goes on to add 2 eggs and 2 tsp. vanilla and mix well, then 6 cups flour sifted with 2 tsp. soda and 2 tsp. cream of tartar, and mix it all thoroughly. Roll into small balls, mash flat on cookie sheet with bottom of a glass and bake at 350 degrees 8 to 10 minutes.

OF COURSE she was right, but Irene McKinster was rocking the very foundations of women's clubs when she tried to refuse the nomination of parliamentarian of the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division, on the irrelevant and immaterial grounds that she didn't know enough about parliamentary procedure to qualify.

Imagine! Any member of a women's organization (and a lot of men's) knows that's purely an honorary office, given by custom to the retiring president to keep her on the board but give her a rest. If anybody ever invoked one of Roberts' rules in a club meeting, the parliamentarian would probably be the last one asked for a decision.

In all the clubs I've ever known, and that's a lot, in big towns or small, clubs of all sizes and sorts, men's and women's, the only one that took parliamentary law seriously was one that was organized to study — you've guessed it.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to take this means of expressing our gratitude and appreciation to the ones who risked their lives to come to our assistance following the tornado. Within minutes the victims were being loaded into pickups and taken to the hospital and the rest of us to places of safety.

Then the next morning the clean up job started. Neighbors, friends and kin folks came with trucks, rakes and shovels. Some helped all week, but still the job goes on. Mere words cannot express our deep felt thanks to each and every one of you. Some we knew by name and others we did not know. But our Heavenly Father who sees and knows everything does, and may be richly reward you and bless you is our fervent prayer.

Thanks again,

Plowing manure under proves OK Along the Frio

COLLEGE STATION — Up to 900 tons of cattle feedlot manure per acre can be plowed under with no serious soil or air pollution, recent research shows at Texas A&M University.

The studies were described here recently during a meeting of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association Board of Directors, who toured the university's agricultural facilities.

Prof. Price Hobgood, head of the A&M Agricultural Engineering Department, said air and soil pollution are puzzling problems for large scale commercial feedlots in disposing of concentrated quantities of manure.

Hobgood told the directors that during the summer of 1970 four tillage techniques for plowing manure into the ground were studied near El Paso and Pecos.

Researchers in addition to Hobgood were Donald Reddell of the A&M Agricultural Engineering Department; P. J. Lyerly, superintendent, A & M Agricultural Research Station, El Paso; and W.H. Johnson, head of the Kansas State University Agricultural Engineering Department.

Manure at the rates of 300, 600 and 900 tons per acre were applied to sandy loam and silty clay loam soils. Tillage equipment consisted of a 30-inch single bottom rollover moldboard, plowing 30-36 inches deep; a trencher with a 27-inch digger wheel working about 30 inches deep; a disk plow with three chromium-plated 10-inch diameter disks; and an 18-inch, three-bottom rollover plow with slotted moldboards.

Flumes were installed in the test areas to measure runoff and collect surface water samples. Also, soil solution tubes were put in to collect soil water samples at depths of 2, 3 and 4 feet below the surface. Ground water samples from a depth of 8 feet were collected at El Paso.

Hobgood said the researchers found that manure rates up to 900 tons per acre can be plowed under with a 30-inch moldboard plow at a minimum cost of 4.5 cents per ton. In sandy soils, the disk plow should be able to plow under at least 600 tons an acre at a minimum cost of 2.1 cents a ton. The 18-inch plow is apparently limited to about 300 tons to the acre.

The trencher seems most versatile from the standpoint of high rates and soil penetration depths, the professor pointed out. But the costs will be high—about 50 cents per ton at the 900-ton level. The complete mixing of manure with soil by the trencher is impressive.

Water quality, so far, has shown no serious pollution problem for surface water runoff Hobgood added. Water samples at the 4-foot depth indicate that nitrates are largely removed.

The only significant groundwater and soil pollution problem appears to come from salt, which can be traced to salt in the feed rations.

Club Amistade, (Friendship) met Wednesday for a special meeting. The women started on a study of cutting and fitting patterns for clothing. The club is only a few months old, meets in Easter Community center and deals with subjects of the members own choosing — so far mostly in cooking, sewing, crafts and hobby ideas. Members of the club include Mesdames Rita Nuereca, Janice Hernandez, Tanna Dura, Emma Berrera, Gabriella Holguin, Alice Rodriguez, Sue Andrews, Marguerite Cole, Mary Ogan and Carleta Harkins. The club meets first and third Monday afternoons at the community center.

Frio Homemakers Club met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Tommy Sparkman. The ladies met for a salad luncheon followed by a book review, given by Mrs. Clark Andrews. She reviewed "His Stubborn Will" by Joyce Landon, a story of the authors personal life and spiritual experiences. Others attending the meeting were Mesdames T. L. Sparkman, Jr., Harlan Barber, Annie Lee Dobbins, Chesley Johnston, Annie Springer, Eugene Baldwin, Linda Blair, Lloyd Shultz, Ronnie Andrews, Frank Robbins, Henry Andrews, Laura Littrell, Owen Andrews and Miss Alma Andrews.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Brooks, Mrs. D. O. Benson and Mr. and Mrs. Dee Taylor were among those from here going to Commanche, Okla., this week. They were called there by the death of the Mrs. Era McClennen, the mother of Mrs. Benson and Mrs. Brooks. She died on Wednesday and the funeral service was held in Comanche on Friday afternoon. Mrs. McClennen has visited her daughters here for several weeks most of the past several summers. She was in her ninetys.

Church of Christ gospel meeting begins today

A 79-year-old Alabama minister who has been preaching for 63 years will conduct a gospel meeting that will start at the Central Church of Christ today and continue through Friday.

He is Gus Nichols of Jasper, Ala. He preached his first sermon at age 17 during the same mission meeting in 1908 that he was baptized at.

J.T. Marlin, minister of the local church, said Nichols has prepared almost 12,000 sermon outlines. He has served the same congregation as minister for the past 30 years, and has studied the Bible at least five hours daily for the past 50 years, Marlin added.

Services today will be at 9:30 and 10:30 a.m. and at 8 p.m. Weekday services will be at 10 a.m. and 8 p.m.

Five million of the nation's students attending some 77,000 schools are now receiving free or reduced-price lunches under the National School Lunch Program, Arthur D. Little, Inc. research, engineering and management consulting firm reports

HAVE YOU BEEN CONVERTED IN THE NEW TESTAMENT ORDER?

In giving the early history of the Lord's Church, the book of Acts records many conversions. These New Testament conversions all meet the same plan as revealed in the Lord's last commission (Matt. 28:19-20; Mk. 16: 15-16; Lk. 24: 46-48.) Acts 8:26-40 reveals the conversion of the Ethiopian eunuch. Being one of the clearest and most captivating it deserves the close attention and following of all.

The eunuch was a devoutly religious man, yet he needed conversion. According to modern conception if a man is religious he is all right. However, from the inspired account of the eunuch we learn it is possible to be: honest, but honestly mistaken; sincere, but sincerely in error; religious, but religiously wrong; devout, but devoutly deceived.

That the eunuch was religious can be seen in that: he had been to worship; he had traveled about 1000 miles in order to worship; he was reading the Bible; he was desirous of being taught more perfectly; and he readily obeyed the gospel when he understood his duty.

Since the eunuch was genuinely and truly converted under the guidance of Spirit guided preaching, we must desire our conversion to pattern his. Only in this way can we be sure that our conversion is genuine.

In Being converted the eunuch:

HEARD THE GOSPEL, "Philip...preached unto him Jesus" (verse 35).

BELIEVED, He turned from false religion, Judaism which had been done away at the cross (Col. 2; Eph. 2). Such is repentance.

CONFESSED, "And he answered and said, I believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God. (verse 37).

WAS BAPTIZED, "and he (Philip) baptized him (eunuch)" (verse 38).

Please observe in your reading of this case of conversion, that the following denominational practices are omitted: voting on the candidate; relating an experience; sprinkling for baptism; the confession, "I believe that God for Christ's sake hath pardoned my sins."

Was your converting patterned after that of the eunuch? If not, you should be seriously concerned and resolve to make the necessary adjustments to meet with the Lord's requirements!

Congressman seeks interest cut

Congressman Bob Price has dispatched letters to the Secretary of Agriculture, Secretary of Treasury, and Director of the Office of Management and Budget requesting them to lower interest rates immediately on agricultural loans.

"There is an urgent need in the Texas Panhandle and other drought stricken areas of the state and nation for low interest, long term credit for people in agriculture to escape bankruptcy," Price said in his letters. Price contacted the Secretary of Agriculture and the Secretary of Treasury with regard to Farmers Home Administration loan rates.

"I have recently toured portions of Oklahoma and Texas with Secretary of Agriculture, Clifford Hardin, and Director George Lincoln of the Office of Emergency Preparedness. The devastating drought damage is very evident."

The 18th District congressman also urged the Administration officials to actively support his proposals which would allow Farmers Home Administration to insure operating loans made to farmers and ranchers by private lenders and increase the loan limitation per borrower from $35,000 to $50,000.

"My bills would increase the amount of funds available for farm and ranch operating loans without requiring any expenditures of tax funds. I have urged the Chairman of the House Agriculture Committee to expedite this legislation because of the desperate needs for credit at the present time," Price said.

Bowling league closes out play

Major League bowling goes into its final week of play and the season will end May 11 with a Bowler of the Year tournament pitting the weekly winners against each other for the title.

Also, Sunset Lanes, winner of the first half, and Athletic Shirts, winner of the second half, will go against each other to determine the season winner and second place team. Sulleys Vending, second place finisher in the first half, will meet one of four teams which have a chance for the second place of the second half.

In play last week, Doug Tatom rolled a 696 for the Bowler of the Week tokens.

Leroy McDonald had a 235 for the high single game scratch and Bobby Weaver had a 619 for the high three game scratch. Boyd Machine Shop rolled a 1098 to capture high team single game honors and the Rounders had a 3030 for the high team three game honors.

In team play Boyd Machine Shop won four from Missouri Beef, Sulleys Vending won four from E-Z-Way Grocery, Athletic Shirts won four from Worley and Robb, Rounders won three from Ink Spot, Orval Watson Ford won three from Sunset Lanes, and Team No. 6 won three from Piggly Wiggly.

Two-man review slated for CWU

A book review by two speakers, in two sessions, will be the program for Church Women United of Hereford when they meet Friday in the Presbyterian Church to celebrate May Fellowship Day.

Special emphasis will be on the family in this era as the Rev. Eugene Brink, First Christian minister, and the Rev. Norman Cobb, associate pastor of First United Methodist Church, review the book, "I'm O.K., You're O.K."

The meeting will begin at 11 a.m. for a part of the review then a covered dish lunch will be served at noon. Afterward, a business session, the second review session and a general discussion are scheduled.

A nursery will be open for children of those attending. Women of all churches in the city are invited to bring a dish for the lunch and come to the meeting, Mrs. Claude McDougal, president of Church Women United, announces.

Since the first May Fellowship Day observance in 1933 it has been customary for church women of the nation to use the first week in May for an emphasis on just relations among people of the community which depends upon character which is being into its families.

Church Women United of Hereford plans subsequent meetings, Mrs. McDougal says, to make a clinical study of the modern family and its problems in this community, and to decide upon projects to improve the lives of Hereford families.

2 attend historical committee shop

Mrs. George Turrentine and Mrs. Juston McBride, members of the Deaf Smith County Historical Survey Committee, attended a meeting Thursday in Amarillo where discussion was held on pointers for historical preservation.

Conducted by the Texas State Historical Survey Committee, the workshop constituted the 1971 Regional Meeting of County Historical Survey Committees for this area of the state. Five professional staff members of the State Survey Committee in Austin touched upon virtually every phase of historical preservation work currently being carried out by the state of Texas.

"Historical Research" and "Archives: Cataloging and Cross-Indexing" were two of the topics treated by Mrs. Deolece Parmelee, TSHSC director of research.

Miss Diana Files, state museum consultant, spoke on "Do's and Don'ts in Museum Techniques."

Her presentation was followed by the showing of a film about historical archeology, entitled "Doorway to the Past." Wayne Bell, restoration architect, delved into the "Comprehensive Statewide Survey," "The National Register," and "Project Grants-In-Aid."

Subsequently, Bob Watson, director of field operations, spoke to the group on "1971 Committee Competition Guidelines" and "Recording County History on Film and Tape."

Mrs. Parmelee then took the floor again to explain "Oral History Recording Procedures" and "Finer Points in the Processing of Marker Applications."

The workshop was closed with a presentation by Truett Lattimer, executive director of the agency, on "Current Legislation on Historical Preservation."

Glady's Garden

By Gladys Howton Manjeot

"I hate to think of the things I should have said and haven't — and also I hate to think of the things I have said and shouldn't".

If I have written and offended some one, please forgive and if I have, perchance helped someone, in anyway, I am GLAD!

Through the medium of reading, correspondence, picture, contact, and experience I have learned many things pertaining to gardening. Recently in a copy of a monthly magazine I learned that Thalassa Cruso, Boston's T. V. Gardener is going to write a column for a magazine.

Have watched her on T. V. and could not understand why she handled the potted plants so harshly. She follows the theory of Dr. Doolittle, who talks to his animals in a very harsh and unkind manner.

In removing plants from one pot to another, or to treat or prune them, she just grits her teeth and goes to it, with a twist and a grimace, as though she despises the plants. Really she doesn't, because in watching her and reading after her, really the things she does for her plants, are based on the thought that plants do respond to Tender Loving Care, and if she is to hurt them then do it quick and get it over with. One of her sayings is, "All it takes to raise healthy plants is hard work and devotion".

The following are some gleanings from personal experience and from other gardeners, some of which are taken from Mrs. Cruso.

1. Use extra care in selection of plants, also know your dealer when buying seed. The best always pays off with the greatest dividends.

2. If a plant dies soon after you buy it, do not assume that you have a black thumb — just march right back to the nurseryman or florist and complain. Give them a chance to make it good. If it had a bad start, perhaps it was not a good plant to start with. Try to purchase plants which are recommended by authorities, and those that will replace them within a reasonable time after purchase.

3. When leaving house plants unattended, cluster them together; this produces a "micro climate" of transpiration, plants taking in carbon dioxide and giving out oxygen. Put some peat moss with them. Or they can be placed in plastic bags — if not the whole plant, at least the pot. Another method is to have a large pan, (shallow) cover with pebbles moisten well, and place potted plants on the pebbles, grouping them close together. (Remember this when making plans for the summer vacation).

4. Plastic pots do not breathe as clay pots do, so one needs about half as much water. Thus plastic pots make it easier for you to leave plants unattended (do not use plastic bags on the plastic pots). Death of a favorite plant is far more common if they are potted in a plastic pot. I learned this recently when I received so many lovely plants. Many of them were in clay pots, and they were placed in an attractive plastic pot, by the florist. In watering them I soon learned that they did not require as much water as the other plants in the clay pots. However there is an advantage from the second container, if the plant is one which requires more water, for example, azaleas, and cinerarias, but not chrysanthemums, geraniums, etc. MORE plants are lost through drowning (over watering) than by any other way. Very few plants like cold wet feet (roots). Styrofoam pots are absolutely a no no! they do not let the plants breathe at all. Also remember when the pots are wrapped with the colorful foil, that it is not good for the plant either. They cannot breathe as well, and often the foil holds drainage water, and harms the plant.

5. Many people who desire to raise houseplants and plants on the north side of the house, will usually say that they cannot grow anything because they do not have enough light or sun shine. Mrs. Cruso says, "this is just an old much used crutch." That no place is so dark that no plant can grow. One must help these plants by giving them extra humidity; mist the foliage and occasionally take them into the shower and give them a good drenching." The latter is a good idea for cleansing the house plants throughout the winter months and before they are taken outdoors for the summer. When plants have their foliage covered with dust and or other matters, then they need a washing. They cannot breathe through their foliage. In other words they are suffering from pollution, and need cleaning.

6. In caring for hanging baskets (they are real popular now and nice to have) do not try to water them with a watering can held up above your head. It will slosh out, drench you instead of the plant or run down your arm and wet your sleeve, and mess up the floor, whereas if you use ice cubes, instead of water it is much better. The ice will melt gradually and not be at all messy. Another method that a friend of mine uses to water her hanging baskets, is to place a funnel (small one) in the center of the container in which the hanging basket materials are planted, and then when watering, take a step ladder or sturdy stool, and fill the funnel and leave it full of water, this will then penetrate to the roots and the plants will thrive.

7. When cleaning out flower beds and under shrubs, etc, do not rake the garden-rubbish away and burn or have the trash man haul it away, but DO MAKE a compost pile of it. Just leave it in a compost heap, in a secluded corner or some other area where it won't be unsightly. Water it down several times, so that deterioration will start, and it will turn into the very best soil which can be used for potting plants or other spots in the garden. Patience will be needed as it takes time for the compost to make. If you become impatient then remove some from the center, as there is where the composting first takes place. You will be proud and thankful when you see the good soil made from the rubbish.

8. When planting the bedding plants, roses, trees, or any other plants, be sure . . . very sure that the ground is tamped around the roots of the plant and that there are no air bubbles, or spaces where air can penetrate the roots. Also in watering take it slow and easy, and be patient, because the roots need the good water, they become very thirsty, and don't like sprinkles or hurried water. Slow and easy does it. Many have had disappointments because the bulbs have not come up, check and see if they really did get sufficient amount of water. The water must penetrate the roots to promote growth. Use care in watering roses, do not sprinkle late evenings or even when temperature is cold. This is one of the ways to promote mildew.

GOOD NEWS: Have been real happy today, because there was good news from The Texas STATE Garden Convention, which is convening in El Paso, this week. The Hereford Garden Club won several State

Awards. They are Honor Roll Rating (that is the highest rating given a club) Honor Roll Horticulture rating (tops) first on Press and Publicity (thanks to a GOOD home paper who cooperates so beautifully with good press notices, and to radio station that carries publicity for the club) The club also took honors on Club History, Civic Development (won on Camp Fire Lodge Landscaping) and Special Achievement Award won by Mrs. O. G. Hill Sr., for years of contributions to Civic and Beautification work in Hereford.

Kangaroos are a mobile hazard at the Anglessa Golf Club near Geelong, Australia, National Geographic says. The shy animals usually bound off at the sight of men, but those living near the course have become so tame that golfers often must shoot them away before making a shot.

H.D. CHATTER 4-H contest time is here

By Mrs. Argen Draper
Home Demonstration Agent

YOU SHOULD have been at the party for Rita Huckert, when the 4-H members, leaders, and parents said, "Bye, Rita." The program and group singing were good and entertaining. I saw some moist eyes over the crowd.

It was good to visit the A. J. Bezners who came from Dalhart for the get-together. Beth Bezner is entering senior public speaking at district contests, and Charlotte Bezner is entering junior public speaking.

THURSDAY was a busy day. The district meeting of Texas Home Demonstration Association was held at Booker. We traveled over 400 miles round trip.

Those attending: Nell Hodges, State President; Doris Johnson, member of State Safety Committee; delegates Juanita Webb, Camilla Jones and Judy Williams.

At Booker we saw Mrs. Joe Bob Wagoner, Sherri, who was a delegate from Sherman County.

Many remember Joe Bob when he was growing up in Westway community. Mrs. Joe Wagoner was always such a good club member and we know she is proud to see Sherri taking interest in household arts and leadership development.

4-H CONTESTS will be finished on Saturday, May 1, and whoever wins is not known at the time this column is being written. Competition is keen and members from 21 Panhandle Counties compete.

In my opinion, the ones who win are the ones who feel in their hearts they did their best. Justin McBride and I are extremely proud of those who entered.

Lynette Clearman and Monica Herring told the group how to save life and injury from a tornado. Very timely information indeed.

Kay Atchley and Micky Ginn explained how three and four-way switches can save steps and make for safety on the farm and in the home. Kay appealed to me when she explained how to flip the switch in the bedroom and the coffee starts perking.

We had an interesting run-off at public speaking Wednesday afternoon. In the girls division, the judges (bless them) chose Nancy Last to go to district with Barbie Last, as first alternate and Donna Meyer second alternate.

In the boys division, Kevin Sanders will represent Deaf Smith County in district. Charles Berryman is first alternate and Bobby Meyer second alternate.

These fine young people talk on these topics: Flags of Texas, Evolution, Our Flag, Benjamin Franklin, The Constitution is Written, Star-Spangled Banner.

Kevin said: Benjamin Franklin is known as the patron saint of common sense.

The livestock judging teams are made up of: Edd Stallings, Randy Coleman, Rudy Coleman and Sandra Stallings composing the junior team; Rodney Coleman, Ricky Coleman, Jimmy McNeely and Twig Rose the senior team.

A LITTLE bird told me: Justin McBride passed, with flying colors, the oral for a master's degree. Congratulations, Justin.

ON JUNE FIRST Hereford will welcome Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lynn Shipp as new citizens.

Mrs. Shipp, Joyce, will be the Assistant Home Demonstration Agent. Roy has enrolled in West Texas University to finish a degree he started a few years ago.

The Shipp's are moving from Snyder and have already seen former residents from there. Roy's home town is Muleshoe; he visited the Norman Hodges while here.

He and Terrell were in school together; in fact he attended the weddings of Terrell, Kylee and Sandra Hodges. Also, he remembers Kay Packard Ward. Joyce Shipp was a 19 year 4-H member in Collingsworth County. With Deaf Smith County people from these areas they will feel right at home.

AT THE 4-H party Thursday night the most popular spot was the homemade ice cream table. There were seven kinds of delicious ice cream. Here are some of the recipes. Maybe we will have the others later.

CHOCOLATE SHOWER ICE CREAM
MRS. BOB GINN
8 eggs
1 quart cream or 1 pint cream (half & half)
2 Cups sugar
2 Tablespoon vanilla
Dash of salt
Mix well. Add:

2 - 1 oz. squares grated semi-sweet chocolate.
Fill within 3 inches from top of container with milk.
(Do you suppose Mrs. Ginn uses Holly Sugar?)

CHERRY ICE CREAM
MRS. GEO. L. OLSON
5 eggs (separated), Beat whites until stiff.
Add: 1/2 cup sugar
1 big pinch salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 can sweetened condensed milk
1/2 can evaporated milk
Strain in egg yolks.
Chill mixture or get freezer can cold.

When filling 5 qt. freezer, fill to full mark with milk or fruit. In this instance she used cherries from her own tree, sweetened and prepared by herself. That's one reason it's so delicious.

STRAWBERRY ICE CREAM
MRS. AUSTIN ROSE
6 eggs (separated), Beat whites until stiff
Add: 1 cup sugar
1 big pinch salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 can teaspoon vanilla
1 can sweetened condensed milk
1 can evaporated milk
Strain egg yolks into mixture.
If you have time, chill. If not put freezer can in freezer until cold.

Fill 5 qt. freezer can with ingredients. Add milk (for vanilla) or fruit to full line. In this case 2 cartons of strawberries were used.

Cyrus McCormick's reaper rescued the farmer from the drudgery of hand harvesting.

Women's C of C board call has extra paragraph

Announcements of the May luncheon of the executive board of Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce Women's Division went out this week with an extra paragraph.

"Please check your trash cans and lids, and remind all Women's Division members that this is 'Trash Roundup Month,' the notice said stressing the Division's major current project. The beautification committee is in charge of the city cleanup campaign, with Mrs. Dick Barnard as chairman. The board meeting will be at 12 noon Tuesday in Hereford Country Club. Mrs. Shepherd Townsend, president, reminds members.

Shoppers are becoming increasingly vitamin-conscious when comparing food products, according to a nationwide survey of consumers taken for Hoffmann-La Roche. Seventy per cent of those polled favored adding vitamins to foods.

Cornell University engineers are trying to determine if a machine can be built that can sense the critical moment before a tractor-trailer jackknifes. If such a device can be built, truck driving could be made safer.

Cindy Jones is shower honoree

Miss Cindy Jones, May 22 bride-elect of Lt. Gary Noltensmeyer, was honored Saturday morning at a bridal shower in Hereford Country Club.

Hosting the courtesies were Mes. O. G. Hill Jr., Charles Hill, L. W. Combs, Harold Close, Gene King, W. L. Davis Jr., Roy Botkin, Joe Reinauer and Gaylord Newell.

Also Mes. Max Leon, David Hill, Louise Ferguson, Donald Henslee, Austin Rose Jr., John Walden, R. B. Hutson and G.S. Wheeler.

In the receiving line with the honoree and her mother, Mrs. L. P. Jones, were Mrs. D. E. Noltensmeyer of Albuquerque, mother of the prospective bridegroom, his grandmother, Mrs. F. H. Delcamp of Thoreau, N. M., and Miss Jones' grandmother, Mrs. Bessie Smith.

Inviting guests to register at a table centered with a cutglass basket of daisies and other spring flowers was Miss Linda Lynch of Amarillo.

Mrs. John Walden and Mrs. David Hill served sweet rolls, cheese balls, fresh fruit and coffee and tea from a table holding silver appointments.

The serving table was draped in white satin with a gathered ruffle flowing to the floor. It was centered with a large silver basket of spring flowers bringing out the blue and white color scheme.

For the mid-morning event Miss Jones wore a lilac wrap-around coatdress featuring a belt, buttons and V-neckline in the dress back. She wore shoes tinted to match and a corsage.

Out-of-town callers were Mrs. V. H. Harfion of Tulsa, aunt of the bride-to-be, Mrs. Joe Benson and Mrs. Welsey Brown of Dimmitt.

Theater party entertains club
Attending the Hereford Community Players Production, Ghost of Rhodes Manor, Hereford Study Club members were entertained by the mystery-comedy in Little Bull Barn Theater Friday evening.
They met at the home of the club president, Mrs. W.H. Gentry, and went together to the play, a farce presented by an all-woman cast.
A brief business session was conducted at the Gentry home, where the group returned after the show for refreshments and to talk over the performances by their acquaintances who were actors for the evening.
Plans were made for the final meeting of this season, a salad supper May 13 in Mrs. Gentry's home, where officers for the 1971-1972 term will be installed. Mrs. Shirley Garrison is president-elect.
Present for the theater party were Mmes. Maurice Tannahill, Don Robinson, N. D. Bartlett, Noble Howard, R.N. Yarbro, T.E. Braddy, Art Stoy, C. R. Winget, Garrison and Gentry.
Few fishermen on Andros Island in the Bahamas have motorboats. Instead, they fashion sturdy sailing dinghys out of the native mahogany.
Porpoises converse in complicated patterns of whistles, clicks and moans, and can mimic spoken languages.

Three chosen for BSP honor
From each of the three Beta Sigma Phi chapters in Hereford, a Girl of the Year was presented to highlight the annual Founders Day dinner in Pioneer Gas Flame Room Friday evening.
Mrs. Larry Summers of Alpha Alpha Chapter, Mrs. Max Goforth of Xi Epsilon Alpha and Mrs. Gary Tyler of Kappa Iota were chosen by secret vote members in their respective groups, and results of the voting was announced at the dinner.
Mrs. John Schneider, president of City BSP Council, presided for the dinner program which featured a letter from the sorority's international headquarters, read by Mrs. Rudy Metz.
The annual dinner honors the founder of Beta Sigma Phi, Walter Ross, and this year it marked the 40th anniversary of the founding of an organization which now has chapters in many nations.
Mrs. Melvin Fowler read the Founders Day pledge and Mrs. Max Stipe led members in singing the national anthem.
Light Many Lamps, the Beta Sigma Phi theme for this year, supplied the theme for decoration of the dinner tables and the room with lighted lamps. Mrs. Howard Gore was chairman of arrangements.
A former member, Barbara Jacobs of Phoenix, was a guest and places were laid for 29 members.

Reception will honor pastor on anniversary

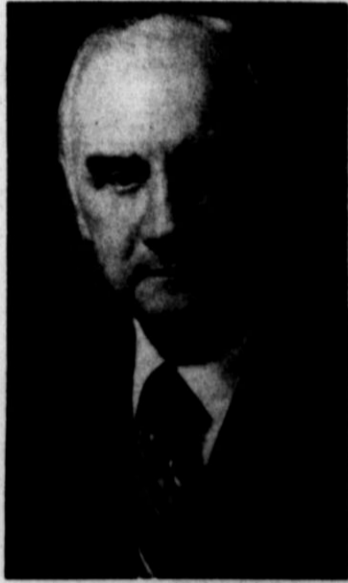

A silver anniversary in the Presbyterian Church will be celebrated Sunday afternoon, honoring the Rev. Russell Wingert and his family on the 25th anniversary of his ministry here.

Members of the Session invite the Wingerts' friends, in and out of the church, to call between 3 and 5:30 p.m. in the church hall.

After serving during World War II as chaplain for the 19th Mountain Division in Italy, Rev. Wingert came to Hereford in March, 1946. He was born and reared in Chicago, and attended Carroll College at Waukesha, Ill., and Princeton Theological Seminary.

Mrs. Wingert, who has contributed musical talents to the church as organist, vocal soloist and choir director, grew up in New Orleans, her native city, and completed requirements for a degree in music from Louisiana State University.

Married in 1939, the couple are parents of a daughter, Anne, now a commercial artist residing in Dallas, and a son, Andrew, in the ninth grade at La Plata Junior High School.

"We loved and enjoyed Hereford when we came here, and do now," the minister commented on the anniversary. "With the grace of God and the devotion of friends and of the church, we have come this far.

"It would have been impossible for anyone to remain 25 years in a town in any capacity without the friendship and encouragement not only of people in the church, but in the community."

During his years as pastor here, Rev. Wingert has served often as counselor to other residents, as well as to members of the Presbyterian Church.

CARD OF THANKS

WE Want to thank our friends and neighbors for the many acts of kindness, visits, cards, floral offerings and food during the long illness and passing of our Uncle Fred Hiltbrunner. We especially thank Dr. Hicks and the entire staff at Westgate Nursing Home for the wonderful care he received while there the past four years.

State officials explain upcoming wheat referendum

Charles Vincent and Bob Gray, representatives of the Texas Department of Agriculture, were in Hereford Wednesday to explain to area wheat producers the Texas Wheat Research and Promotion Referendum that will come up for vote May 11.

Vincent and Gray explained voting procedures and eligibility for the upcoming referendum that would assess wheat producers not more than one-half cent per bushel on all wheat produced in a 34 county area. They also explained the election of a nine-man producer board to administer the use of such funds in research and promotion programs.

Playoff is set for Sunset loop

A two-day play-off tournament is planned Monday and Thursday in Sunset Kelgers Bowling League between the year's bowlers of the week to name a top bowler for the year.

Each of the women who won Bowler of the Week honors during the past year of bowling will compete against each other.

Saturday night, a banquet was held by the teams in the Sunset, Strike Outs and Kings and Queens leagues.

In play last week, LaVerne Shultz went 19 pins over her average to capture the Bowler of the Week honors.

Eleanor Hudspeth captured four individual wins, taking the high series scratch with a 530, the high game scratch with 208, the high series handicap with 583 and the high game handicap with a 227.

H&H Sporting Goods rolled a 2632 for the high team series and the Cypress Club had a 901 for the high team game.

Converting splits were Helen Arnt, 5-8-10; Peggy White, 5-8-10; Evelyn Crofford, 4-5; Dorothy Moseley, 5-10 and 2-7; Margie Nell, 2-7; and Sue Newton, 5-7.

In team play, H&H Sporting Goods won four from Team No. 2, Lone Star Agency and Pants Cage split, Sunset Lanes and Clarks House of Flowers split, and Cypress Club won three from Hereford Welding.

Standings have Team No. 2, 82 1/4-11 1/4; Lone Star Agency, 81-43; Pants Cage, 87-37; Sunset Lanes, 65 1/4-58 1/4; H&H Sporting Goods, 62-43; Hereford Welding, 55-46; Clarks House of Flowers, 48-78; and Cypress Club, 35-68.

dall, Castro, Parmer, Oldham and Deaf Smith Counties attended the meeting.

Bill Nelson, executive vice president of the Texas Wheat Growers Association, also spoke at the meeting.

Election judges were named at the meeting and are Raymond Battenhorst and B. J. Gist of Randall County, Charles Burks and James Wells of Castro County, Raymond Shuler of Parmer County, A. G. Filppin and Anthony Paschel of

Our Story: "TOO LONG HAVE YOU USED ME AS YOUR LACKEY, YOU SPOILED, SELF-WILLED VIXEN!" BELLOWS THE IRATE HUSBAND, AS HE PLUCKS HIS STARTLED WIFE FROM HER PALFREY.

BEN ZIRARA GRASPS HIS SCIMITAR: "MY SWORD IS EVER READY TO PROTECT WOMANHOOD..." HE BEGINS, BUT VAL LAYS A RESTRAINING HAND ON HIS ARM.

"TAKE THE ADVICE OF A MARRIED MAN AND DO NOT INTERFERE BETWEEN A WOMAN AND HER CHOSEN VICTIM." THE THREAT OF THE HALF-DRAWN SCIMITAR CAUSES THE ANGRY HUSBAND TO PAUSE.....

.... AND THE LADY, GATHERING UP HER SKIRTS RACES INTO THE FOREST, SHOWING GREAT SPEED AND A PAIR OF SHAPELY ANKLES. WITH A PURPOSEFUL STRIDE THE HUSBAND FOLLOWS, PAUSING ONLY ENOUGH TO CUT A SWITCH.

MIXED WITH THE SWEET TRILLING OF THE BIRDS COMES A SCREAM OF PAIN QUICKLY FOLLOWED BY SEVERAL MORE. HE RETURNS AND STANDS BY HER MOUNT. "COME," HE COMMANDS. AND HIS WIFE, ALL HER ARROGANCE GONE, COMES HUMBLLY AND IS LIFTED ONTO HER PILLION. "IT HURTS," SHE WHIMPERS. "YOU WILL GET USED TO IT," HE REPLIES.

ONLY THEN DOES HE TAKE NOTICE OF THE OTHERS. "PARDON MY DISCOURTESY," HE SMILES, "I WAS PREOCCUPIED WITH FAMILY MATTERS, BUT I WILL MAKE AMENDS. IF YOU WILL FOLLOW ME I WILL OFFER YOU MY HOSPITALITY FOR AS LONG AS YOU WISH TO STAY."

hints from Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:
You know those little glass heels on faillie or silk shoes that were so popular for evening a year or so back? Well, I had a pair of them that I had worn only once or twice and decided to update them, so I bought some black adhesive-backed paper and covered the little glass heels.

No one will ever notice because the sheen is just about the same on the material as on the paper.

If you wish, gold or silver adhesive paper would work and be especially nice if you had a purse that you wished to match.

My friends think this is a great idea.

Evelyn Beidel

I go along with your friends, Evelyn... Cinderella may have had her glass slippers, but you are a true "princess" in our book and I bet "Prince Charming" will agree! Thanks a million...

Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:
I have always liked chenille robes, and, since they are quite expensive, I decided to make one out of an old chenille bedspread.

The less elaborate spreads are the best because they aren't quite as heavy. The spread I used had a thick border around the bottom, so I made a band around the neck and sleeves with that.

It really looks nice...

Mrs. Thomas Mathews

DEAR HELOISE:
We had an old bamboo porch shade that we were discarding and came up with some marvelous ideas for its use.

I think the cutest idea was the frames that we made for some beautiful old maps.

We split the bamboo strips down the middle and then made the frames. We made them so that the ends ran past each other on the corners and then tied each corner with leather thongs. (They were glued together first however... the leather ties were just for effect.)

A Reader

FLOWER BOWER

DEAR HELOISE:
In one of our children's rooms we were using the "sunflower" theme in our decor and carried this theme out even when designing the bulletin board.

We cut a large circle out of cork and then made petals of yellow from burlap. It is so pretty and needless to say has caused much comment from our children's friends.

A Mother Decorator

Sounds perfectly delightful and must really add such a bright cheery touch...

Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:
I had a couple of pairs of fishnet hose that didn't fit me. They were the panty-type that come with a rim between the nylon panty and the net.

My mother had mentioned that if I were to cut the fishnets just above the border of net that they would make very attractive knee socks. I also added a small band of elastic to keep them up.

Susan Biermacher

DEAR HELOISE:
I found the ideal solution for protecting your coil bed springs from dust.

This feature is written for you... the housewife and homemaker. If you have a hint, problem or suggestion, you'd like to share... write to Heloise today in care of this newspaper.

5-2

I had an old mattress cover and was able to put it on the springs by putting a "two by four" board across the bed frame under the springs. I fitted the end evenly, then eased the cover down to the board which was tilted on one end. I moved the board and brought the cover all the way down and zipped it up.

I was so pleased with the results that I actually went out and bought another cover for one of my other beds.

Esther M.

IN THE DOGHOUSE!

DEAR HELOISE:
Here is an idea for a really comfortable house for a dog. In my observations, I have noted that most doghouses are made with the entrance right in the middle of one end of the house.

My suggestion is: Why not make the entrance at one end of a long side of the doghouse? In this way the animal can crawl in and out of the draft and be sheltered from the elements.

Devoted Fan

TIME FOR POPCORN!

DEAR HELOISE:
When I pop corn in a saucepan (which I sometimes do), as soon as I dump the popcorn into a bowl I put the oleo into the still-hot saucepan. The heat of it melts the oleo so it is easy to drip over the popped corn and you have no extra pan to wash.

Mrs. T. J. Murphy

DEAR HELOISE:
My 5-year-old used to make a habit of cleaning his muddy hands on the front of his shirts while playing.

This left me with stain problems and the time-consuming pre-soak before washing his clothes. Then I had an idea which has proven to be a clothes saver.

I ran a little hand towel through the belt loops of his jeans and he thought this was great since he had a towel now, just like the football players. Moreover, it served the purpose of giving him a place to clean his hands, thus saving me time, money and patience.

Mrs. J. R. Lindsey

DEAR HELOISE:
My wish for you and your readers:

May your lives be filled with the Light and Love of a peaceful heart on the Pathway of God's choosing.

Mrs. M. K.

DEAR HELOISE:
Today my twins smeared half a jar of "economy size" petroleum jelly all over their hands, arms, faces, hair and the furniture.

Just in case you run into this problem... let me give you a word of caution. Remember to use only a DRY towel or better yet, a rag that you can throw away... soap and water is absolutely disastrous.

I feel well-qualified because, you see, they not only did it once, but had a repeat performance all in the same day... I speak from experience.

Adrian news

By ANN BEAVERS
The Victory Baptist Church in Amarillo started an eight-day series of Revival Service Sunday, with the Rev. Bob Miller of Adrian preaching the services each evening at 7:30 p. m.

Miller, pastor of the Adrian Baptist Church, is a graduate of Wayland Baptist College. He has served churches in the Amarillo Baptist Association for several years.

Teams from Adrian entered in the Texas Tech Area Judging Contest Saturday in Lubbock were: Dairy Cattle-Mike Briggs, Albert Myer and Ersel Harris; Meat Grading-Ralph Scott, Russell Scott, and Kirk Garrison; Grass Identification - Stanley Scott, Paul Harwood, and Ricky Whaley and Livestock Judging-Roger Wann, Steve Rich and Terry Jobe. Bob Wood, agriculture teacher, accompanied the boys.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Zaring and Bryan and Trina of Stratford spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Zaring and Patty. Bryan and Trina remained here for the weeks' visit. Sunday, Tonya Jackson of Vega spent the night and Monday, Mrs. Paul Jackson visited.

Winning in the Girls Track Meet Tuesday in Canyon were Patty Zaring first in broad jump and Teddi Hale third in shot put. These girls will compete Tuesday in Regional at Panhandle.

Mr. R. Lee Petty and Cynthia took Rowdy to Amarillo Saturday to celebrate his ninth birthday with Mike and Terri Harris, children of the Joe Harris.

The Adrian Lions Club cleared over $100 Tuesday night with its Variety Show.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Betts took Cherri Betts and Bea Martinez to Dallas for the State Future Homemakers of America meeting Friday and Saturday.

I can't find out how the Cat and Dog Vaccination turned out Wednesday afternoon. Ag teacher Bob Wood isn't doing much talking, his own Cat bit him. Did you take your rabie's shot Bob?

Mrs. L. E. Wagner left Monday for a couple weeks visit with her children and families in the Queen City area.

July vows planned

Marriage vows uniting Miss Manuella Lewis of Hammond, La., and Bill Pierson, Route 3, are planned for July 31 at Hammond Assembly of God Church.

Miss Lewis, a student at Southwestern Assemblies of God College at Waxahachie, is a Hammond High School graduate.

Her husband-to-be graduated with the Hereford High School class of 1968 and is a ministerial student, also at Southwestern Assemblies of God College.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Lewis, Hammond, and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Pierson, Route 3.

Choir program of anthems set

Three First Baptist Church choirs, junior high, high school and adult, will present a program of anthems tonight, according to Jim Hannaford, minister of music and youth.

Hannaford will direct the groups which will join at the end of the program in singing From Sea To Shining Sea.

National Music Week observed

Annual observance of National Music Week will begin with the mayor's proclamation on a 9 a. m. broadcast today, Mrs. A. O. Thompson, chairman, announces, Jim Hannaford will read the proclamation which Mayor Jim Sears has signed, and will sing the hymn of the day.

A concert of sacred music arranged by Doug Morris will be broadcast at 3 p. m. by radio station KPAN and the week will close with a similar program May 9. Daily broadcasts by pupils from school music groups and other residents of the area are planned through the week.

Music Week, which originated in 1924 is now sponsored by the National Federation of Music Clubs and in Hereford by Music Study Club, a NFMC affiliate. Mrs. Dale Young is club president this year.

Hannaford, Morris and Darrell Rose, who introduces the hymn of the day on KPAN, are co-chairmen named by Mrs. Thompson. Mrs. J. R. Allison and Mrs. A. J. Schroeter are in charge of placing posters. Honorary publicity chairmen are Melvin Young and Clint Formby.

Chairmen named for various groups are W. T. Thompson, Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. Steve Clements, churches; Mrs. Lewis Lea, Campfire Girls; Nolan Grady, Boy Scouts; Mrs. J. C. McCracken, music teachers; the Rev. Gene Brink, service clubs; Lorene Newman, library; Jim Priest and Charles Jones, schools.

Award winning performances of school bands and choirs, on tapes, will make up programs from 5:05 to 5:30 p. m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Students from Hereford High School and both junior high schools will be heard and Morris will act as announcer.

Hymns of the day, a regular feature of the radio station at 7:55 a. m., will be sung by Randy Clements Monday, Ben Gollehon Tuesday, Sherry White Wednesday and Gene Streum Thursday. Miss White, an HHS senior, is the Music Study Club's honorary student member for this year.

The most inventive presidents were George Washington and Thomas Jefferson.

Smut mail--let's end it

Some kind of momentum may be building in Hereford to get rid of the pornographic mail that streams through the local post office each week from the filth peddlers.

Postmaster Nolan Grady told members of the Noon Kiwanis Club Thursday that the anti-pornography laws have teeth in them for the first time in many years. And even he was astonished at the large number of Kiwanians who promptly took him up on his invitation for them to fill out -- then and there -- forms that would keep them off the pornographers' mailing list.

A sample form is shown on this page. The post office has plenty of them, and it'll take just a couple of minutes to make sure that future lewd or obscene mail goes somewhere besides your door or mail box. If it does happen, it places the mailer in big trouble with the Justice Department.

The postmaster said about 100 of the forms had been mailed in prior to his talk before the Kiwanians Thursday. The law carrying the provisions for staying off the smut lists just went into effect Feb. 1.

A mother complained to Grady recently that she got the mail out of her mail box and was at the kitchen table talking with a neighbor when she non-chantly opened one envelope, dropped the contents on the table and then noticed it was sexually oriented advertising, with sexual scenes that shocked her. Her children were at the table also, and the mother called the incident highly embarrassing.

There are 30 to 40 pieces of such mail coming into Hereford daily, with the names obtained from telephone books, other mailing lists and other sources.

It is likely Grady will be making programs with other civic groups in the days to come, similar to the successful one with the Kiwanians.

There was some indication at the Thursday luncheon that individual churches may begin a push in getting the forms circulated in their congregations signed and sent off to Austin. Other talk was about youth groups setting up in Sugarland Mall or in other central locations, offering to fill out the forms for those persons interested, making it necessary only for the person to sign the forms.

Civic and women's clubs of Hereford could undertake no better project than to pick up a handful of these forms from a postal official here and bring them to their next meeting to be filled out and returned.

If you're an officer with an organization in Hereford, take it upon yourself to get some of these post office forms and take it to your next meeting. Let's get rid of the problem in Hereford.

An "older generation" speaker during a Commencement Address recalled the anecdote about the young person who asked, "... what's polio?" Speaking to a college graduating class, he said, "Yes. What's polio? What's a typhoid epidemic? Or diphtheria, smallpox, scarlet fever? This might be news to some of today's new graduates -- but those scourges used to be very much with us. As one representative of the over-30 contingent, I discreetly remind our new graduates that it is, after all, this older generation -- which includes your parents, grandparents, aunts and uncles -- perhaps square at times and certainly often criticized these days -- that has had something, somehow, to do with the fact that your life expectancy today has increased by about 30 percent over the last 50 years."

According to the National Federation of Independent Business, Inc.: "Less than 35 percent of the independent businessmen are opposed to employing an ex-convict or parolee to fill a job... which the person is capable of handling, after release from prison. However, the type of crime for which a person was sent to prison is a factor in determination of the willingness to hire. A person who has served time for burglary is three times more desirable than one convicted of a sex crime. This data is developing from a special survey being conducted in California by the National Federation of Independent Business in cooperation with state authorities."

The Arizona Farm Bureau Federation comments on women's liberation: "... two Oregon (wheat) farmers were faced with a labor shortage of grain truck drivers. High school and college co-eds were available and in desperation employed as drivers. Now the farmers are convinced that women are better drivers (of grain trucks). "They're the best truck drivers you can get; they don't drag race with full loads of wheat; they're more dependable and cut our truck repair bills in half," state the farmer employers."

Mr. R. J. "Russ" O'Connor, writing in "Motor West" magazine, reported, "Admittedly, there are those in government service who act as if they were appointed rather than appointed; they unilaterally identify public needs and develop seemingly almost divine solutions with little or no regard for cost or public views."

The Wisconsin Power and Light Company, in their publication for employees, notes that in 1970, U. S. population jumped to over 200 million, an increase of about 11 percent over the 180 million reported in 1960.

"The deepest penetration of the earth's crust ever made by man is a five-mile-deep well drilled by oilmen in Texas," states the Union Oil Company of California. They concluded: "It was a dry hole."

Electronic invasion

Governmental agencies and private companies are using computers on a broad scale to collect, store and exchange sensitive information about the activities of private citizens. Professor Arthur R. Miller, a distinguished legal specialist with the University of Michigan Law School, has written a new book, "The Assault on Privacy," in which he examines the implications of this development.

He shows how this vast amount of data -- indiscriminately collected, carelessly verified, and stupidly or malevolently utilized -- can destroy the concept and the right of personal privacy as we know it. Professor Miller believes that as people become increasingly aware that their lives are being put "on record" they may begin to base their decisions and adopt attitudes with a view to enhancing their recorded image. The pursuit of a good punch card image, he further believes, may develop a climate of suspicion that will carry with it the seeds of a terribly repressive society.

Professor Miller offers solutions through legislation, training and greater efforts to sensitize people to the dangers of a computerized assault on privacy. His book will get a sympathetic reading from people who have run up against the stone wall of trying to correct a computer error in a charge account billing or other minor business transaction -- an electronic fumble that makes you wonder how we ever landed a man on the moon.

Obscure congressman may run for president

By BERT MILLS
 WASHINGTON -- Suddenly fame has come to a hitherto obscure Congressman named Paul N. McCloskey who has threatened to run against President Nixon in Republican primaries next year unless another peace candidate appears or Nixon changes his war policy.

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm reviews the plight of the cities this week, without being much help.

Dear editor: A bunch of big-city mayors toured New York the other day, according to an article I found in a newspaper which somebody threw out of his car in violation of the Environmental Act of 1970, to see if the reports of the dire plight of the country's biggest city are true, and they came away shaking their heads.

According to them, dope, crime, poverty, overcrowding, slums, massive traffic jams, smog, electrical shortages, and a municipal financial crisis beyond imagining have just about done in the city.

In fact, the Mayor of Boston, shaking his head the hardest, said the plight of New York is so bad it could be "the first sign of the collapse of our entire civilization."

Wouldn't you know, right when my car has blown a gasket, the refrigerator has conked out, I've got an in-grown toenail and two boards have broken through on my front porch, civilization has to collapse. When it rains it pours.

Now I never have gotten up in the morning believing that if New York collapses today me and civilization will too, but if it's true I guess the country ought to pitch in and try to save the place, even if cities have, dinosaur-like, grown so big they can't be fed enough to stay alive.

But there are some catches. Say we do try to save New York, somebody tells Congress that civilization exists there and is about to collapse, and money is poured in.

Then, what's to keep Boston from entering the same plea? And we save her, and then Los Angeles gets in on a good thing, claiming it can meet the same terms, and then Philadelphia and Chicago and on down to lesser cities, all saying they're about to kill civilization too, maybe including Dawn and Umberger? It'd take billions and billions of dollars.

Then when all the cities and towns are saved and we figure civilization is secure, some farmer is going to come up with the notion, which I know I've read somewhere, that civilization begins and ends with the plow. The cost would never end.

Obviously, civilization was a splendid theory, but it won't work. It costs too much money.

Yours faithfully,
 J. A.

Talk of Texas

By JACK MAGUIRE

COMPANY TOWN -- If the 45 residents of Luckenbach, Gillespie County, don't like the way the municipality is being run, there isn't much they can do about it. Two of their number own the downtown area -- all 15 acres of it.

This represents no major change in Luckenbach affairs. For many years, Mayor and Mrs. Benno Engel owned the general store, beer emporium, dance hall and some smaller buildings that comprise the business district. A few months ago, they tired of owning their town and put it up for sale. Mr. and Mrs. Guich Kooch, an outlander couple from Wimberly (in adjoining Hays County) and Hondo Crouch, who ranches in the area, bought it lock, stock and saloon. They think that Luckenbach just may become a favorite stop for tourists wanting to get away from it all.

TRAVELING TEXAS -- Nemecek Brothers Market has been selling hams, sausages and head cheese for 75 years in the McLennan County town of West.

Opened in 1896 by three brothers, it is still operated by three brothers who are descendants of the founders.

COMING EVENTS -- Fredericksburg, Gillespie County, will celebrate its 125th birthday May 6, 7, 8 and 9 with a four-day German festival to which all of Texas has been invited.

LEGENDS THAT LIVE -- Robert L. Ripley, whose "Believe-It-Or-Not" cartoons made him world famous, is said to have conceived the idea for the popular newspaper feature while living in Marlin, Falls County.

Between 1908 and 1924, the New York Giants baseball team traveled to Marlin each March for spring training. One year Ripley supposedly was one of the rookies, but injured an arm and decided to give up baseball for drawing.

One of his first "Believe-It-Or-Not" cartoons concerns Marlin. It tells how Easy Street there leads to education -- it runs into the school grounds. And Fortune Street leads to the grave -- it's the route to the town cemetery.

PRIVATE HOLIDAY -- Seymour, the Baylor County seat, celebrates May Day in a special way: It closes up!

It started three decades ago when Lake Kemp was built nearby and there was a closed season to allow the fish to multiply. The lake was opened on May 1, and virtually every citizen of Seymour dutifully closed shop and went fishing.

They've been doing it each year since and May 1 is regarded as a local holiday.

IT TAKES ALL KINDS -- When Adolphus Bush, the St. Louis beer baron, built his famous Adolphus Hotel in Dallas shortly after World War I, he put a 40-foot-high cement bottle of Budweiser on the roof along with two oversized beer kegs, also made of cement.

The case for censorship of the pornography now sweeping across America in a filthy tide has been ably stated by Irving Kristol, editor of The Public Interest and professor of urban values at New York University.

In a recent essay published in the Chicago Tribune, Prof. Kristol asserts -- and rightly so -- that "if you care for the quality of life in our American democracy, then you have to be for censorship."

This is a point of view currently unfashionable in liberal circles, and Prof. Kristol is to be commended for taking a principled stand.

In explaining his position, Prof. Kristol points out that in the United States censorship "has to all intents and purposes ceased to exist." The federal courts have lowered virtually all the legal barriers to the distribution and showing of pornographic material.

Civil libertarians of the past, he said, wanted freedom for serious literary works that were not wholly in keeping with public standards. "They have got that, of course," he notes. "But they have also got a world in which homosexual rape takes place on the stage, in which the public flocks during lunch hours to witness varieties of professional fornication, in which Times Square in New York City has become little more than a hideous market for the sale and distribution of printed filth that panders to all known perversions."

It is this condition that makes clear the need for censorship in some form. "We are, after all," as Prof. Kristol notes, "not dealing with one passing incident -- one book, or one play, or one movie. We are dealing with a general tendency that is suffusing our entire culture."

In city after city, one finds stores that sell pornographic books, magazines, films and so-called "novelties" that deprive people of their specific human qualities, that have the effect of degrading human beings. This enormous traffic in filth is a gold mine for the hoodlum elements that produce and distribute the material.

A nation has to be concerned about the quality of its citizenry. It has to legislate against elements and developments which brutalize and debase its people. In a self-governing society, it is necessary to care about the character of the people and guard against the spread of degeneracy.

Society has the right to draw a line on human behavior and on self-expression. It has a right to forbid physical torture on a stage, Prof. Kristol comments, "even if the victim were a willing masochist." By definition, society involves rules and value-judgements.

In the past, U. S. authorities made the necessary judgments regarding pornography and devised rules to control the traffic. The U. S. Supreme Court, in a series of decisions, gave the pornographers -- the smut-peddlers -- a green light. The need now is to build a new American consensus on the subject of printed and filmed filth, emphasizing the importance of strengthening the quality of our national life. This new consensus should produce corrective decisions by the courts. All thoughtful, decent Americans should be able to agree on legislative action to prevent the distribution of material that debases human relationships.

Dear Mr. Farmer:

WE HAVE SOMETHING SPECIAL TO OFFER YOU THIS YEAR ON YOUR MILO INSURANCE

NOW IN EFFECT A

20% DISCOUNT

We are writing milo insurance at a 20% discount from the regular normal rates. This makes our price 20% less than most other companies can write this same coverage. In most cases, it will save your hundreds of dollars on your hail insurance premium.

NOW IS THE TIME TO INSURE when you plant your crop. By doing so, it will assure you coverage when your milo comes up, and you will not have a forty eight hour waiting period to be covered. Also, it will give you a 8% re-plant clause; which would pay you to re-plant your crop; if it is hailed out. Your cost will be no more now; than if you wait until May, June or July.

In the past, we have not been able to provide adequate coverage in various townships, and consequently some of our hail insurance customers were unable to purchase their milo insurance at a discount. Therefore, we suggest that you act now in order for us to provide you with maximum coverage for a minimum cost.

Smut mail--let's end it

Some kind of momentum may be building in Hereford to get rid of the pornographic mail that streams through the local post office each week from the filth peddlers.

Postmaster Nolan Grady told members of the Noon Kiwanis Club Thursday that the anti-pornography laws have teeth in them for the first time in many years. And even he was astonished at the large number of Kiwanians who promptly took him up on his invitation for them to fill out — then and there — forms that would keep them off the pornographers' mailing list.

A sample form is shown on this page. The post office has plenty of them, and it'll take just a couple of minutes to make sure that future lewd or obscene mail goes somewhere besides your door or mail box. If it does happen, it places the mailer in big trouble with the Justice Department.

The postmaster said about 100 of the forms had been mailed in prior to his talk before the Kiwanians Thursday. The law carrying the provisions for staying off the smut lists just went into effect Feb. 1.

A mother complained to Grady recently that she got the mail out of her mail box and was at the kitchen table talking with a neighbor when she non-chantly opened one envelope, dropped the contents on the table and then noticed it was sexually oriented advertising, with sexual scenes that shocked her. Her children were at the table also, and the mother called the incident highly embarrassing.

There are 30 to 40 pieces of such mail coming into Hereford daily, with the names obtained from telephone books, other mailing lists and other sources.

It is likely Grady will be making programs with other civic groups in the days to come, similar to the successful one with the Kiwanians.

There was some indication at the Thursday luncheon that individual churches may begin a push in getting the forms circulated in their congregations signed and sent off to Austin. Other talk was about youth groups setting up in Sugarland Mall or in other central locations, offering to fill out the forms for those persons interested, making it necessary only for the person to sign the forms.

Civic and women's clubs of Hereford could undertake no better project than to pick up a handful of these forms from a postal official here and bring them to their next meeting to be filled out and returned.

If you're an officer with an organization in Hereford, take it upon yourself to get some of these post office forms and take it to your next meeting. Let's get rid of the problem in Hereford.

An "older generation" speaker during a Commencement Address recalled the anecdote about the young person who asked, "... what's polio?" Speaking to a college graduating class, he said, "Yes. What's polio? What's a typhoid epidemic? Or diphtheria, smallpox, scarlet fever? This might be news to some of today's new graduates — but those scourges used to be very much with us. As one representative of the over-30 contingent, I discreetly remind our new graduates that it is, after all, this older generation — which includes your parents, grandparents, aunts and uncles — perhaps square at times and certainly often criticized these days — that has had something, somehow, to do with the fact that your life expectancy today has increased by about 30 percent over the last 50 years..."

According to the National Federation of Independent Business, Inc.: "Less than 35 percent of the independent businessmen are opposed to employing an ex-convict or parolee to fill a job... which the person is capable of handling, after release from prison. However, the type of crime for which a person was sent to prison is a factor in determination of the willingness to hire. A person who has served time for burglary is three times more desirable than one convicted of a sex crime. This data is developing from a special survey being conducted in California by the National Federation of Independent Business in cooperation with state authorities."

The Arizona Farm Bureau Federation comments on women's liberation: "... two Oregon (wheat) farmers were faced with a labor shortage of grain truck drivers. High school and college co-eds were available and in desperation employed as drivers. Now the farmers are convinced that women are better drivers (of grain trucks). 'They're the best truck drivers you can get; they don't drag race with full loads of wheat; they're more dependable and cut our truck repair bills in half', state the farmer employers."

Mr. R. J. "Russ" O'Connor, writing in "Motor West" magazine, reports, "Admittedly, there are those in government service who act as if they were appointed rather than appointed; they unilaterally identify public needs and develop seemingly almost divine solutions with little or no regard for cost or public views."

The Wisconsin Power and Light Company, in their publication for employees, notes that in 1970, U. S. population jumped to over 200 million, an increase of about 11 percent over the 180 million reported in 1960.

"The deepest penetration of the earth's crust ever made by man is a five-mile-deep well drilled by oilmen in Texas," states the Union Oil Company of California. They concluded: "It was a dry hole."

Electronic invasion

Governmental agencies and private companies are using computers on a broad scale to collect, store and exchange sensitive information about the activities of private citizens. Professor Arthur R. Miller, a distinguished legal specialist with the University of Michigan Law School, has written a new book, "The Assault on Privacy," in which he examines the implications of this development.

He shows how this vast amount of data — indiscriminately collected, carelessly verified, and stupidly or malevolently utilized — can destroy the concept and the right of personal privacy as we know it. Professor Miller believes that as people become increasingly aware that their lives are being put "on record" they may begin to base their decisions and adopt attitudes with a view to enhancing their recorded image. The pursuit of a good punch card image, he further believes, may develop a climate of suspicion that will carry with it the seeds of a terribly repressive society.

Professor Miller offers solutions through legislation, training and greater efforts to sensitize people to the dangers of a computerized assault on privacy. His book will get a sympathetic reading from people who have run up against the stone wall of trying to correct a computer error in a charge account billing or other minor business transaction — an electronic fumble that makes you wonder how we ever landed a man on the moon.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR FILING
Starting February 1, 1971, you can take advantage of a new law to protect you and your family from receiving sexually oriented advertisements in the mail. Here's how the new law (39 U.S.C. Code 3605b) works. You list your name with the Postal Service, stating that you wish not to receive any sexually oriented advertisements through the mails. You may also list the names of any of your children under 19 years of age who live with you or who are under your custody, or supervision. The Postal Service compiles a Reference List of such names and makes the list available, at a fee, to mailers. The law prohibits any commercial indication of names on the Reference List. After 30 days from the date your name is added to the Reference List, any mailer who sends you a sexually oriented advertisement subjects himself to both civil and criminal legal action by the U.S. Government.

Obscure congressman may run for president

By BERT MILLS
WASHINGTON — Suddenly, N. McCloskey who has threatened to run against President Nixon in Republican primaries next year unless another peace candidate appears or Nixon changes his war policy.

Rep. McCloskey, a very junior member of the House without position or influence, was known until recently solely because he upset Mrs. Shirley Temple Black in a special Congressional election in 1967. He was not a maverick in those days and his early votes in Washington caused him to be classed as a moderate conservative.

Then last February McCloskey spoke to a small group at Stanford University, his Alma Mater. In answer to a question from a student, he mentioned impeachment of the President as a possible way to get him to change his course in Vietnam. A wire service reporter wrote a story that McCloskey favored impeachment.

All of a sudden, the Californian was no longer obscure. Reporters began to interview him, and he was featured on national television. Letters began to flow in, some of them containing money to encourage him to run for the Republican nomination for President.

McCloskey insists he does not want to run for President, and that he hopes to persuade a better known Republican to buck Nixon. He has talked to several prospects who share his peace views but none has shown any interest. So McCloskey is making plans to run himself.

Letters Not Answered
A few months after being elected to Congress, Rep. McCloskey made a trip to Vietnam. He came back convinced the U. S. should abandon the war. He wrote a letter to President Nixon, hand-carried it to the White House, but got the run-around. A whole series of letters followed, none receiving what McCloskey considers "a substantive reply."

Then when all the cities and towns are saved and we figure civilization is secure, some farmer is going to come up with the notion, which I know I've read somewhere, that civilization begins and ends with the plow. The cost would never end.
Obviously, civilization was a splendid theory, but it won't work. It costs too much money.
Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Talk of Texas

By JACK MAGUIRE
COMPANY TOWN — If the 45 residents of Luckenbach, Gillespie County, don't like the way the municipality is being run, there isn't much they can do about it. Two of their number own the downtown area — all 15 acres of it.

This represents no major change in Luckenbach affairs. For many years, Mayor and Mrs. Benno Engel owned the general store, beer emporium, dance hall and some smaller buildings that comprise the business district. A few months ago, they tired of owning their town and put it up for sale. Mr. and Mrs. Guich Koock, an outlander couple from Wimberley (in adjoining Hays County) and Hondo Crouch, who ranches in the area, bought it lock, stock and saloon. They think that Luckenbach just may become a favorite stop for tourists wanting to get away from it all.

TRAVELING TEXAS — Nemecek Brothers Market has been selling hams, sausages and head cheese for 75 years in the McLennan County town of West.

Opened in 1896 by three brothers, it is still operated by three brothers who are descendants of the founders.

COMING EVENTS — Fredericksburg, Gillespie County, will celebrate its 125th birthday May 6, 7, 8 and 9 with a four-day German festival to which all of Texas has been invited.

LEGENDS THAT LIVE — Robert L. Ripley, whose "Believe-It-Or-Not" cartoons made him world famous, is said to have conceived the idea for the popular newspaper feature while living in Marlin, Falls County.

Dear Mr. Farmer:

WE HAVE SOMETHING SPECIAL TO OFFER YOU THIS YEAR ON YOUR MILO INSURANCE

NOW IN EFFECT A

We are writing milo insurance at a 20% discount from the regular normal rates. This makes our price 20% less than most other companies can write this same coverage. In most cases, it will save your hundreds of dollars on your hail insurance premium.

NOW IS THE TIME TO INSURE when you plant your crop. By doing so, it will assure you coverage when your milo comes up, and you will not have a forty eight hour waiting period to be covered. Also, it will give you a 6% re-plant clause; which would pay you to re-plant your crop; if it is hailed out. Your cost will be no more now; than if you wait until May, June or July.

In the past, we have not been able to provide adequate coverage in various townships, and consequently some of our hail insurance customers were unable to purchase their milo insurance at a discount. Therefore, we suggest that you act now in order for us to provide you with maximum coverage for a minimum cost.

OFFICERS DISCUSS PROGRAM — At a table with three types of place settings to illustrate the talk at Velda Study Club's program this week, officers elected earlier in the evening discuss the variety of glassware. Mrs. George Olson was named president for next season to succeed Mrs. Gwynne Owen, left, who become parliamentarian. Other officers are Mrs. Richard Otteson, vice president; Mrs. Gid Brown, correspondent; Mrs. George Ritter, secretary; Mrs. James Trail, treasurer, and Mrs. Bill Brady, historian.

Karen Shore and Joe Zepeda. Some 26 students from the local school system competed in the track meet for special education students from this area.

Cynthia Tipps is bride of Terry W. Albracht

Cynthia Tipps and Terry Wayne Albracht repeated wedding vows Saturday evening in a service and nuptial mass conducted by the Rev. Ralph Zinser of Santa Fe.

The ceremony took place in St. Anthony's Catholic Church with a reception following in the Fellowship Hall of First United Methodist Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Tipps of Route 2 and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Albracht, 321 Avenue B.

Bouquets of white gladiolas and blue carnations in white urns and spiral candelabra flanked the altar. Cal Garrett, accompanied by Elson Clark, sang "If Ever I Should Leave You and Somewhere My Love."

The bride wore a white organza gown with lace sleeves and rounded neckline. Her cathedral length train was edged with lace to match the sleeves and the empire waistline was accented with lace and seed pearls.

She carried a cascade of gardenias, sweetheart roses and stephanotis and wore an antique lavallere belonging to her maternal grandmother.

She was given in marriage by her father.

Miss Diana Zimmerman of Dallas served as maid of honor with Mrs. John Taylor, Shallowater, Miss Gwynne Albracht of Lubbock, sister of the groom, Miss Janet Tipps, sister of the bride, and Miss Linda Goodposture, Levelland, as attendants.

They wore empire style blue chiffon frocks featuring long sleeves, with white lace over the bodice and cuffs. Their bouquets were white feathered mums with blue leaves and white streamers.

Miss Lynn Garrett served as junior bridesmaid and Shay Patton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lysle Patton of Amarillo, flower girl.

Jim Banner was junior groomsman and Doug Hamilton son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hamilton of Levelland, carried the rings. Greg and Tony Albracht were acolytes.

Jimmy Bayne served as best man. Wade Coker, Jimmy Childers, Don Schermer and Mike Paschal were groomsmen.

David Tipps, brother of the bride; Roy Bell, the groom's brother-in-law; Mark Banner, his cousin, and Gene Drummond ushered.

Mrs. Tipps wore a candlelight lace dress with matching accessories and Mrs. Albracht a pink knit dress and white accessories. Both had double gardenia corsages.

Cake was served at the reception by Miss Linda Garrett of Pampa and Miss Kathy Hagen of Houston. Miss Sally Dieb of Fort Worth and Mrs. Don Schermer poured punch and coffee. Mrs. Roy Bell invited guests to register.

Attendants' bouquets centered the bride and groom's table.

The couple will make their home near Vega where Albracht is head pro at Oldham County Country Club.

Mrs. Albracht is a 1969 graduate of Hereford High School

SPC students engaged

A May 28th wedding is planned at Welch for Miss Vicky Phipps of that city and David Huckert of Hereford.

Miss Phipps is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donovan Phipps of Welch and Huckert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Huckert of Summerfield.

Both are sophomore students in South Plains College at Levelland. The bride-to-be is a 1969 Dawson High School graduate and is a home economics major. Huckert, whose major is in business agriculture, was graduated from Hereford High School.

June marriage set

Mrs. M. D. Eagle, 913 Sioux, is announcing the engagement of her daughter, Miss Debra Bearden, to Danny Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Thompson of 207 Beach.

The wedding date will be June 12 for the Hereford couple.

The bride-to-be is a student in Hereford High School. Her fiance was graduated with the class of 1970.

Letter to the editor

Dear Editor:

For use in a serious research of Texas weather, I need to contact as many people as possible who have first-hand knowledge of storms, drought, floods, and so on.

Especially desired is information pertaining to the drought and depression of the 1930's.

Do you suppose there are those around who recall the great government cattle shooting episode during the summer of 1934? Oral accounts and photographs of this would be most welcome.

Any help you can give me will be greatly appreciated.

Manure fertilizer is up-and-coming thing

By MARSHALL DAY
Staff Writer

A local farmer said Monday that within 10 years area farmers may be using so much feedlot manure that the demand for manufactured fertilizer will be considerably less.

Frank Bezner, who farms south of Hereford, said he has gotten such good results from the use of manure on his fields that he now sees a large-scale increase in use of the low-cost fertilizer.

"We haven't been using it too long," he said, "but we have tried it and have gotten real good results. It is a real good moisture holder and it is a lot cheaper than regular fertilizer."

Bezner, along with his son-in-law Melvin Kalka, applied about 10 tons of manure to a small piece of land that had not produced well for them for sometime. Bezner said the area where it was applied was very shallow soil and crops would not grow here.

After his application of the manure, Bezner has noticed a significant change in the production of the land. The area where the fertilizer was applied has yielded a higher, healthier wheat crop and the cattle he has grazed on it seem to prefer it over the other part of the field where the manure was not applied.

Manure can be obtained from almost any local feedyard for only a small cost. Many of the feedyards deliver the manure and apply it on a farmer's field.

Ed Blackwell, Soil Conservation Service employe, said feedlot manure is in plentiful supply in this area and the use of the substance would give the farmer many, many benefits.

"The disposal of the manure is getting to be a problem with our feedlots. A feedlot with 60,000 cattle has the sewage equivalent to a city of more than 1 million people," he said.

"Manure supplies valuable organic matter which cannot be found in chemical fertilizers and this organic matter improves soil tilth, increases water-holding capacity, lessens water and wind erosion, improves aeration and has a beneficial effect on soil micro-organisms," Blackwell said.

Manure supplies nitrogen, phosphorous and potassium to the soil. A ton of well-preserved manure contains plant food nutrients equal to 100 pounds of 10-5-10 fertilizer. But manure costs only about a dollar per ton to farmers, and fertilizer would cost extremely more.

"The manure that is produced at our feedlots is very high in nutrients," Blackwell said. "About 75 per cent of the nitrogen, 80 per cent of the phosphorous and 85 per cent of the potassium contained in animal feeds are returned as manure."

"In addition, about 40 per cent of the organic matter in feeds is excreted as manure."

Blackwell said the value of manure cannot be measured just in terms of increased crop yields and equivalent cost of a like amount of commercial fertilizer. It has the additional value of organic matter and the long-lasting benefits almost all soils need.

It has been found, he said, that a modest, even application of manure over a large acreage gives higher returns than a heavy application over a small acreage. It is believed that the application of manure should not exceed eight to 12 tons per acre because each ton of manure will balance out to about a 10-10-10 fertilizer.

"There are several farmers in the area who have used the manure and are seeing the beneficial effects of it," Blackwell said. "It is especially useful in establishing stands of grass or alfalfa and it prevents crusting of the surface, provides for better coverage of the seed and holds moisture at the surface where it is needed by young plants."

The Hobby Industry Association of America estimates that last year Americans throughout the nation spent more than $90 million dollars on hobby and crafts kits and merchandise.

Surprise program honors pastor

Persons important in the past life of the Rev. Jim Bozeman, pastor of Temple Baptist Church, were presented in the style of This Is Your Life show at a program in the church Saturday evening, when members honored the pastor.

He was surprised at the appearance of family members and members of churches he formerly served as pastor, who came in to greet him as a story of his career was narrated.

Special events at the church will continue today, with friends of the Rev. and Mrs. Bozeman invited to a dinner in the fellowship hall at noon. An informal reception and buffet supper in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ricketts was held after the Saturday program, with the out-of-city visitors as guests.

The Bozemans came to Hereford in October, 1968, from

BETTER FERTILIZER? — Area farmers are finding that feedlot manure, in abundance here because of the high concentration of cattle feeding operations in this area, makes a very inexpensive fertilizer. Here, a feedlot bulldozer is shown piling the manure in a pen that will later be taken out and piled in a huge stack.

Quilt piecing is hobby

Old art modernized to create beauty

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

JACOB'S LADDER . . . flower garden . . . rubber ball . . . eight point star . . . postage stamp . . . rose-of-Sharon.

Not every woman recognizes those names today, only those who love the old-time quilt patterns, who collect pieced coverlets that were popular in great-grandma's day, or who still like to make them by hand, as Mrs. T. J. Parsons does.

Piecing quilts was a pastime of pioneer American women, which filled a need in homes where the coverlets were used instead of blankets to keep the family warm of nights. They were often the only outlet for a lonely woman's sense of artistry and the only pretty things visible in a bare Plains home.

MRS. PARSONS does other handwork, but piecing quilts is her favorite and she doesn't attempt to count the ones she has made. She gives them to her children, grandchildren, other relatives and friends. Lucky young couples get them as wedding presents and of course she keeps some for her own use.

Adapting the old art to modern materials, she lately completed a quilt for a kingsize bed of polyester knit scraps, in round-the-world pattern. Small blocks make this quilt, which is pieced by sewing them around a small central strip in ever-widening circles.

Until she reached the outer circles, big enough to require a large amount of one material, Mrs. Parsons did not have to buy any material; the other was given to her.

"Nearly everybody I know gives me scraps when they find that I piece quilts, and I have a closetfull now," she says. This enables her to select material of a certain fiber, weight and color range to make a quilt.

ONE SHE has made in the oldtime Jacob's ladder pattern, for instance, is of dark-toned cotton scraps, while a new flower garden quilt is in light shades, set together with green and white.

Another quilt she treasures was not made by herself, but by Parson's grandmother. At least 80 years old, it is in the rubber ball pattern, with gay circles of red and brown set together with soft shades of brown.

Just now Helen Parsons is not piecing quilts, but making a woven-lace afghan, lacy and fragile-looking in varied shades of blue yarn. She has woven other afghans also, and practiced other crafts. She sews, but not as much now as when her children were growing up.

Learning to sew was something of a chore for her; she volunteered as 4-H Club leader and "I had to teach the girls to sew, so first I had to learn myself."

ACTIVITY as a 4-H leader continued for 18 years, as she worked with Merry Maidens Club. She received her 25-year membership pin in Progressive Home Demonstration Club several years ago and is still a member.

Another 25-year activity which she enjoyed a great deal was serving as pianist for the Stanford Class, a men's Bible class serving as pianist for the Stanford First Methodist Church. The Parsons attend that church and she has been an assistant teacher in the Sunday School.

Music has been something she enjoyed since she was a child. She helped milk cows and get the cream ready for sale to pay for her music lessons when she was a youngster on a farm in Armstrong County, and is grateful to her parents for stretching a tight family budget to include the lessons.

THE FOUR Parsons children all studied music and play

Border Patrol has big responsibility

The U. S. Border Patrol has a big responsibility to the citizens of the United States and the job is not a small one. Detail is told in a story on The Border Wardens now available at Deaf Smith County Library.

THE BORDER WARDENS by John Myers Myers
When the Nixon Administration launched Operation Intercept to stop the flow of narcotics from Mexico it drew attention, once again, to a perennial trouble spot.

The Mexican border has long been America's wildest international boundary and the major access for smuggled goods into this country. Not infrequently the goods are human.

The Border Wardens is the story of U.S. Border Patrol, the agency responsible for stemming the tide of illegal immigration into this country. Since its formation in the early 1900s, the Patrol has had to struggle against a steady stream of human and non-human contraband — illegal booze, wetbacks, and most recently, pot. The Mexican border, a smuggler's paradise, has been its primary scene of action.

John Myers Myers, a veteran reporter and writer, describes the exciting, serious business of the Patrol vividly and in detail. He takes the reader along with patrolmen as, on horse, by car or in a plane, they track down smugglers and illegal aliens.

This is tough, often dangerous work and the men who do it are a breed apart. As an organization engaged in patrolling international boundaries, the Border Patrol has no superior in the world.

Patrolmen must not only be able to shoot as fast and straight as Billy the Kid, but follow trails as skillfully as one of James Fenimore Cooper's Indians. They are bilingual and versed in international law.

The duties of these men shed new light on such national issues as law and order, unemployment, and an overburdened judicial system. The wetback, as the illegal Mexican immigrant is often called, is the Border Patrol's chief nemesis.

Thousands enter the States each year and the Patrol is not equipped to capture more than a small percentage. Wherever wetbacks appear in large numbers, they undermine wages, force native-born or naturalized citizens out of work, breed disease and crime.

But certain ranchers and businessmen continue to promote their presence because they can be hired for so little. If the wetback problem is ever licked, says Myers, America will be able to abolish its welfare program.

A national story with significant political aspects, The Border Wardens is a colorful, informative account of a long-heralded law enforcement agency.

A TRAIL OF BLOOD by Jeremy Potter
Who killed the Plantagenet princes in the Tower of London? Was it really their uncle Richard III? Or was it their brother-in-law Henry Tudor? Can we even be sure that they were murdered at all?

A Trail of Blood is the story of how the truth was discovered by England's earliest detective, Brother Thomas of Croyland Abbey, more than 400 years ago. In the middle of the sixteenth century, as Henry VIII begins taking over the monasteries and abbots of England, Brother Thomas, the archivist at Croyland Abbey, and the one-eyed rebel that, to preserve the Church, the "fat Tudor" must go. In the abbey archives sits evidence that could topple Henry's rule; and Brother Thomas sets out — on a trail of blood — to find a Plantagenet heir.

His desperate journey across England, followed by spies, courting arrest and death by torture, leads to tragedy, insurrection, a strange secret and a despairing finale with but one consolation — he has solved the riddle of the Princes in the Tower.

HONORED STUDENTS — John Stoy and Greta Short received recognition meeting by club president Milton Adams for being Stanton Junior High School's Students of the six weeks.

Mrs. Wilcox is named president

The 1971-72 slate of officers to serve Calliopean Study Club were presented by the nominating committee and elected by acclamation Thursday evening in Hereford Country Club during the next to final meeting for the club's season. Mrs. Tom Kendrick was hostess.

Mrs. David Gibson, retiring president, announced Mrs. Jack Wilcox to fill that office with Mrs. Kendrick as vice president. Mrs. Bob Word secretary, Mrs. E. W. Dettman correspondent and Mrs. D. W. Palmer treasurer.

Final study of the Great Ages of Man, subject: A New Age Begins, was given by Mrs. Palmer.

"This was a time of vast reforms all over Europe," she said. "Sweeping changes were proposed and begun but, for the most part, they were begun too late because rulers were too reluctant to take final steps."

In other business hostesses were assigned to the county museum during May and letters to Senators Lloyd Bensten and John Towers were signed.

The letters asked the Senators to support and vote for Bill S94. The bill calls for establishment of a National Cancer Authority. Conquest of cancer demands highest priority be given to device better method of prevention, diagnosis and cure of cancer at earliest possible stages, members were reminded.

It was announced the Spring Social and last meeting of the year will be May 13.

Members present for the annual business meeting were Mrs. Clyde Cave, C. J. Crump, Alton Fraser, J. T. Glibreath Jr., Gerry Grubbs, George Warner, Sue James, Ansel McDowell, Emmett Milburn, M. W. Nobles, Gene Parsley, Hazen Woods and Keith Simmers.

NIGHTMARE WORK
LONDON — Night shifts can wreck marriages, government researchers have discovered.

British wives dislike being left alone at night and found that husbands at home during the day disrupted housework routine. But the home-by-day husband was also useful in helping with the shopping.

MORE IN SCHOOL
LONDON — More than half the school-leavers in Britain in 1969 were over 16.

A report said this was the first time in the history of state education that so many stayed on beyond the minimum leaving age of 15.

Gosh, that's the first time we ever served as an intermediary for a lonely hearts club!

And Wes Izzard, the editor of the Amarillo Daily News is still lamenting the fact that Amarillo was bypassed with the government's new rail passenger service.

Don't worry, Mr. Izzard. After the government has been in the business a few months, the schedule will be so fouled-up they may be running trains through Amarillo daily. Ever heard of a train getting lost?

One thing about it — when daylight saving time starts, it isn't long until the end of the school year.

By MELVIN YOUNG
When federal bureaucracy steps in and takes over, you can bet it won't be long until things are so fouled-up that no one can straighten them out.

And that's what has happened in the health insurance business.

For awhile it appeared that all the little hospitals in the area would be closed due to Medicare regulations, leaving the residents of the little towns without any hospital facilities whatever, and now the Medicare people have come out with a directive telling the doctors that they can make only one visit per month to any nursing home patient. And that may be well for the folks who live at Kings Manor, but not so for those over at Westgate. After all, these people are ill and in need of care or they wouldn't be there in the first place.

Dr. C. E. Hicks says he originally made two visits per week to Westgate, one on Tuesday and again on Friday. He later cut the visits to one call per week unless an emergency arose, but did keep in close contact with the nurses and checked the charts every opportunity he had. But now, according to the Medicare Newsletter, the Medicare insurance will pay only for one visit per month. That's one per month — not one per week. If he calls on a patient more than once, the patient will have to pay the tab, or else the doctor will have to donate his service. Obviously a doctor cannot donate all his services — they do a tremendous amount of free public service now — and most of the folks who are in nursing homes cannot afford to pay a lot for medical services. Since many of them have no other source of income except their social security payments, any additional cost will be a tremendous burden.

But again, this is typical of the federal fiasco called Medicare.
