A 48-hour surveillance Thursday and Friday by members of the sheriff's office, Department of Public Safety and Texas Rangers resulted in the arrest of a 33-year-old Amarillo man Friday evening and the seizure of an estimated $40,000 in crude marijuana.

James Elvis Pool of 329 Hudson in Amarillo was arrested about 7:30 p.m. Friday two miles east of Hereford on U. S. 60. Officers searched his car and found approximately 166 pounds of marijuana in the trunk.

The marijuana filled the trunk of the car, officers said. There were four large three-foot-high plastic bags and two large cardboard boxes full of the narcotic.

The seizure of the marijuana was the largest ever made in Hereford and perhaps in all of West Texas. Sheriff Travis McPherson, who led the officers in the arrest, said to his knowledge it is the largest haul ever made north of San Antonio.

Pool was placed in Deaf Smith County Jail and charged with possession of marijuana. Justice of the Peace Glenn Nelson arraigned him Friday night in the sheriff's office and set his bond at $20,000.

McPherson said the marijuana, in its crude form was worth approximately $40,000, but would be worth about $75,000 on the retail market after it was processed.

"It was real crude and real rough," he said. "Whoever got it then grind it up, separate the coarse particles and cut it with alfalfa to increase the quantity before it went on the market."

McPherson said his office was tipped Thursday that a large amount of marijuana would be sent to Hereford. The informant described the car, and the sheriff's office set up the surveillance Thursday. They continued the surveillance through Friday before spotting Pool.

McPherson said the surveillance was set up two miles east of Hereford and they spotted Pool's car. They followed the car for some time then lost it. The surveillance continued and the car was seen again coming into Hereford from the east. It was then the officers made the arrest.

The sheriff said the man, when officers lost him, apparently left town to pick the marijuana up and was believed to have planned to make delivery here in Hereford.

"We are not real sure whether he was going to drop the stuff off here," McPherson said. "We are still investigating the case and may come up with something more in a couple of days."

Norman Neese, police officer, and Gary Gillespie, deputy sheriff, ran a field test on the substance taken from the car and said the field test showed the substance was marijuana. McPherson said samples of the suspected marijuana will be sent to Amarillo for further tests.

Dan Self, with the intelligence office of the Department of Public Safety and Ed Gooding, Texas Ranger, assisted the highway patrol and the sheriff's office in conducting the surveillance.

Report Of GJ Studied

The county and city agencies cited in a recent grand jury report for lack of cooperation among themselves met for two hours Friday afternoon in an attempt to root up any problem areas and get them out on the table.

The officials, while admitting there has been controversy, suggested that much of the "lack of cooperation" the grand jury speaks of would be better phrased as mere differences of opinion that arise in the course of any working arrangement.

They felt, basically, that the grand jury may have come to its conclusions without a comprehensive investigation, without questioning the persons directly in a position to know about the "lack of cooperation" the jury panel referred to.

At any rate, the individuals at the meeting talked candidly — with voices sometimes rising — about the disputes that have risen in the past several months about the juvenile officer question, case dismissals, detention or jailing of juveniles, newspaper and television publicity and other matters.

Several of the officials, although still saying they were unsure what the grand jury was referring to, resolved to forget any past disagreements and work toward maximum cooperation in the future with other agencies.

At the meeting were county commissioners Earl Holt, Marcus Latham and Donald Hicks; County Judge H. C. Williams; Adult Probation Officer Lowell Sharp; Juvenile Deputy Billy Hodges; Sheriff Travis McPherson; Chief of Police Don Brush; owner Clint Formby and newsman Darrell Rose of KPAN; and general manager Melvin Young and news editor Charles Richards of the Hereford Brand.

They began the meeting at 1 p. m. and broke up about 3 p. m.

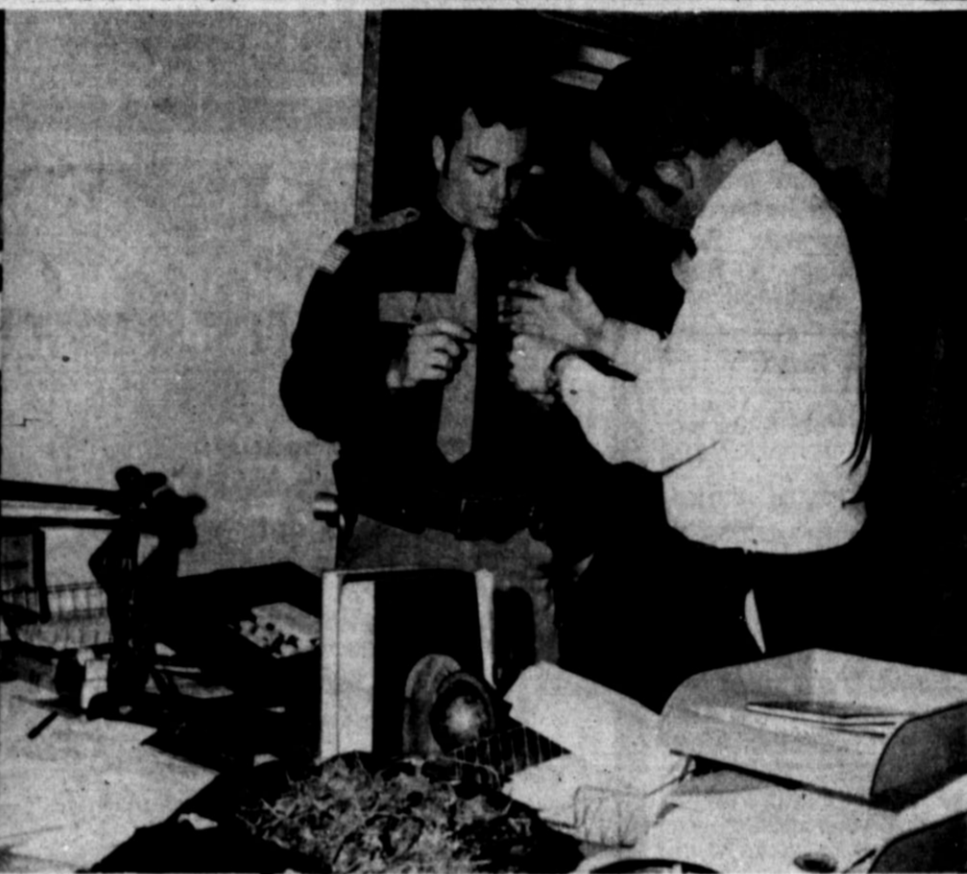

The group said it felt any lack of cooperation that does, or did, exist could better have been straightened out, had it had some specific charges to go on.

The group's biggest concern was that the respect with which a grand jury report usually is received may be tarnished if each grand jury feels obligated to make a report just because a previous one did. If such a report is made, the group said, it should be made on the basis of a thorough investigation and it should be specific as to the shortcomings discovered.

In the case of charges about "a Mafia-like organization," such as brought by a grand jury in mid-1970, if there is any substance to the report, indictments probably should follow soon, the officials said.

AUSTIN — The two men representing Hereford and Deaf Smith County in the Texas Legislature were sworn into office at high noon Tuesday, under the eyes of packed galleries, whirring cameras and flashing bulbs.

State Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake and State Sen. Max Sherman of Amarillo took their oaths to serve the state and their districts in historic ceremonies in the majestic old state Capitol building.

Among the legislation they will be shepherding through the coming weeks will be proposals that Deaf Smith County be allowed to have a hospital district, a criminal district attorney and a juvenile board.

Sherman was put quickly to work. In the Senate, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes broke precedent by making committee appointments on the first day of the session. True to promises while campaigning with Sherman in the Panhandle last fall, Barnes loaded Sherman with positions on several prestigious committees, especially to a freshman legislator.

Sherman, obviously pleased with his appointments, was named vice chairman of the oil and gas committee and will serve on the constitutional amendments, interstate cooperation, privileges and elections, state affairs, state departments and institutions, transportation, agriculture and livestock, environmental matters, finance and water and conservation committees.

The Amarillo Democrat said he is "very pleased with my appointments and feel fortunate that I will serve on committees which I feel can be of benefit to my area, particularly the agriculture and livestock, and the water and conservation committees."

The House committees will not be announced until after the governor addresses the joint house and senate, so Clayton will not know his position on committee appointments until after the middle of next week. But individual representatives are already hard at work, drafting local bills which they plan to present early in the session.

Bull-voiced Bill Healy, chairman of the powerful appropriations committee, has already warned that one of the first duties of the house will be to come up with $30.5 million for welfare. If not, welfare recipients, See TERMS Page Two

Clearman Is Citizen Of Year

Gets Standing Ovation At Chamber Banquet

Some 650 persons attended the annual Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce banquet Thursday night.

They listened to dinner music, ate a thick steak and rose to their feet in a standing ovation as Hugh L. Clearman, a 30-year resident of the city and an active leader in community, church and school activities, was honored as Citizen of 1970.

They also sat back in their chairs and laughed for 50 minutes as Oklahoma Lt. Gov. George Nigh rolled from one quip to another in his role as the banquet's key speaker.

Virgil Marsh, outgoing president of the chamber, gave a final report to the members at the start of the banquet. He said 1970 was "one of the really great years of my life" because of his opportunity to serve the Hereford area as president of its Chamber of Commerce.

He spoke of the achievements of the past year—the start of Wilson & Company, the Day Care Center, and the Public Health Clinic.

"We had as many building permits for new homes as Amarillo and Lubbock. And if you take out Amarillo and Friona, we had more permits for new homes than all the rest of the Panhandle put together."

Dr. Milton Adams, president of the Hereford Lions Club, presented the Citizen of the Year award to Clearman. Dr. Adams started his speech by declaring the winner was "like Abraham Lincoln before him, born in a log cabin." As he revealed bits and bits of information about the winner, more and more of the audience discovered the identity.

"This is a real honor, one that I would say is as great as you can get," Clearman said after receiving a plaque from Dr. Adams. "Deserved or undeserved, I really thank you for it."

Clearman came to Hereford in 1940 as assistant county agricultural agent and left in 1941 to become Lipscomb County Agent. He returned to Hereford in 1946 and has been here ever since, being associated with the Hereford Breeders Association, the Hereford Junior Livestock and Poultry Show, the County Seed Growers Association, the Deaf Smith County chapter of the Christian Rural Overseas Program (CROP), and the Veterans Land Board Committee. He was agricultural agent here from 1946 to 1957.

He has served as a trustee on the Hereford School Board. See CITIZEN Page Two Workers will gather at the Community Center at 5:30 p. m. Monday and from there will be designated their areas.

Those who participate in the drive will wear name tags with "Mothers March" on them so they can be identified.

At homes where no one is home, the workers will leave donation cards that can be sent to the March of Dimes organization and the club has also distributed small envelopes at all the elementary schools where children will be able to donate dimes for the drive.

Some 25 area captains will be on hand for the march and to assist them will be between eight and 10 helpers. Each worker has been assigned a certain area of town and women will be sent out in pairs to solicit funds for the March of Dimes.

Mrs. Lynton Allred, president of La Madre Mia, said the march on Monday will be the fourth consecutive year that the organization has sponsored the drive.

A Quick-Grade Testing Machine?

By SUE COLEMAN

Presentation of a new electronic educational aid, a computer perfected and manufactured by a Fort Worth firm, was made to Hereford and Vega schools Thursday afternoon in the Community Room of First National Bank.

A gift of the bank, six of the machines were presented to Supt. Roy Hartman for use in Hereford schools and one to Supt. Don Dorman of Vega schools.

Two others, gift of the bank's board chairman James W. Witherspoon, were presented to the Rev. Aedan Davis and Sister Genevieve Montoya for St. Anthony's Parish School here. Schools which received these gifts will be the first to use the "learning machines," which are called Mycom and described as a multipurpose individualized educational computer.

Henry Sears, former president of First National Bank and now vice chairman of the board, ordered the computers about a year ago, before they were actually in production.

"He wanted Hereford schools and the community to be first in this, as in other things," explained Homer Garrison, bank vice president. Garrison and Helen Smith, cashier, assisted Witherspoon in making the presentation Thursday. Bob Holman, assistant superintendent, and principals of all the Hereford schools were present with Hartman.

Tom Coulter, marketing manager of Mycom, demonstrated uses of the computer and gave all those at the meeting a chance to answer questions in the demonstration tests. He also showed the use of a cassette tape player with the Mycom to give audible information about the questions.

He emphasized the help these machines can give students, especially slow learners, to improve and build confidence in their learning ability.

Manuals which show teachers how to program the machines quickly, and how they may be used in many ways, were displayed.

The Mycom is desk size, 2 1/2 x 6 x 12 inches, and operated by batteries, so it may be used in a home or college dormitory room as well as in class.

It can give an objective test, recording answers and then showing the student the correct answer if he answers incorrectly. It may also be used for self-tutoring on memory work, or it can test and tutor together.

Among the news expected to come from the next few days in the State Capitol is Gov. Preston Smith's announcement of a new district attorney for the judicial district embracing Deaf Smith, Oldham, Dallam, Hartley, Sherman and Moore counties.

Smith accepted on Thursday the resignation of Dist. Atty. Jerry Tucker, effective Feb. 1. A spokesman for Smith said Thursday the governor's office has not had time to consider any possibilities for the post, but that an appointment would be made "in ample time."

Tucker resigned because of the financial sacrifice he had to make to fill the job, he said. Perhaps to those who have seen the swearing-in ceremonies year after year, and who walk the halls of the Capitol every day, the occasion Tuesday was nothing special. But to a first-timer, the ceremony was crammed with history, excitement and glamour.

In the legislative hall, the desks were glowing with red carnations and yellow roses, congratulatory gifts to the incoming members. Families of the legislators, each conspicuous with a red rose in his lapel, made the house floor a riot of color and noise. Many of the members are young, and there were babies with bottles, some who cried and had to be removed by hurried young mothers.

Television cameras lined both sides of the legislative arena, and men loaded with photographic paraphernalia roamed the area, flashing and clicking and aiming at subjects who smiled nervously back at them.

The house room is an impressive place without the excitement of a ceremony. Huge flags of the U. S. and Texas drape the wall behind the speaker's podium. The ceilings soar high above the galleries which look down upon the 150 desks arranged below. The desks themselves are the original ones placed in the capitol, and they glow with the mellowness of old, much polished wood.

With a huge gavel, Martin Dies, the secretary of state, brought order from the humming crowd. Dies is a tall man with a commanding voice. He moves slowly on his crippled legs, but is a man of obvious authority and deserving of respect.

The legislature spent most of its time electing Gus Mutscher as its speaker, what with nomination, seconding, re-seconding and still another seconding speech before he was chosen by acclamation. Then came introduction of his family, with his slightly pregnant but very beautiful former Miss America wife, Donna Axum Mutscher, receiving the applause of the crowd. Mrs. Mutscher has told friends she is expecting the couple's first baby on March 28.

Two interruptions highlighted the proceedings. Gov. Preston Smith, looking very fit in spite of his recent hospitalization for an ulcer, made an unexpected visit, and was introduced to a standing ovation. He then made his way down the aisle, stopping and speaking with vis-

An autopsy was ordered Thursday by Justice of the Peace Glen Nelson to determine the cause of death of a Castro County man found dead in a shower at the George Heard farm 10 miles south of Hereford.

The man, Leman Ray Trammell, 43, was found lying face down in the shower about 7:30 p. m. Thursday, and Nelson, was called to examine the body, said it appeared the man had collapsed and fallen into the shower where he drowned.

Trammell was found by his wife, Heard and Wanda Williams who had gone to Amarillo. John Gilliland, of Gilliland Funeral Home, went to the house and attempted artificial respiration, but the man was already dead.

Nelson said the cause of death was not determined so the body was sent to Amarillo for a full autopsy. Results of the autopsy, he said, should be returned next week.

Services for Trammell were held Saturday afternoon in First Baptist Church at Dorchester, and burial followed in a cemetery there. Local arrangements

A Challenge Ahead: Let's Accept It

A local civic leader this week told the incoming officers and directors of the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce that Hereford needs to get with it... shift into high gear. These were not the words of an outsider who by virtue of being on the speaking circuit automatically becomes an expert on everything, but came from the lips of a local business man who has himself served as president of the local chamber, and who has been very active in civic and church affairs in our city.

He has offered these specifics for serious consideration by Chamber officials:

- an improvement in the city's recreational facilities, including creation of new parks, nine more holes at the golf course and an expanded summer sports program for youths.

- sponsorship by someone of a Christmas lighting program.

- an annual one, two or three day event to spotlight new industries that have come into the city and county in the past five or six years.

- an effort to get nationally-known personalities into Hereford for various events throughout the year.

- reconsideration of an industrial foundation for Hereford to put forth a

Probe Endures

The announcement by special House investigators that no grounds exist for impeaching Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas isn't as authoritative as it sounds.

It's just a 5-man opinion and far from conclusive. The committee says it looked for lawbreaking and found none. Is that the test of "good behavior" that the Constitution calls for?

What are "high crimes and misdemeanors," the Constitution's grounds for impeachment?

Rep. Gerald Ford, who led the anti-Douglas movement, says that justices have a higher duty than staying out of jail.

So the question of behavior in grounds for impeachment is unanswered. The committee simply made its own rules.

That makes it 5 men against 100 - the 100 who first demanded the probe but who were shunted aside when the Judiciary Committee asserted its right to conduct the probe with its own members.

The dispute over definitions will almost surely resume next session - and simple numbers may decide the issue of impeachability.

Abe Fortas wasn't accused of lawbreaking but of unseemly associations and conduct. Good behavior establishes some sort of judicial debt to appearances. Staying within the law doesn't exhaust every duty that a judge owes to the guideline.

stronger effort in bringing new industries to the area.

- improvements in transportation, especially concerning a lengthened runway at the local airport if the city is to continue flying in prospective new industries for an evaluation of Hereford as a future site.

- a local beauty pageant from which the winner would go to the Miss Texas contest.

Most of these goals are relatively easy to accomplish with a little push from the local Chamber of Commerce and should be considered immediately. Some of his other recommendations will require a great deal of planning and certainly will take more than just an endorsement by the local Chamber. Some will, in the end, demand a lot of cooperation and work from a great number of concerned citizens, the Chamber of Commerce officials and members of the city and county governmental bodies. Frankly, these should have been started long ago.

It's easy to justify the postponement of projects that require an expenditure of money by simply saying "We don't want to raise taxes," yet we find that this usually does not stand in the way when officials, and the public, are thoroughly convinced that a project is necessary. Certainly, we feel that if Hereford is to continue on its upward spiral, we must place priority on such items as the improvement of recreational facilities, the industrial foundation, the improvement of transportation facilities and the lengthening of the runway at the local airport. We believe these projects are equally as important as "street repair," etc.

We also believe that it is time for citizens to get involved and if this means calling our city commissioners, county commissioners and Chamber officials and telling them what we think and offering our services at the same time - then it's time that we did so. After all, no organization is stronger than the people it represents - and that's you and I. We say we want action - then as citizens, let's make the first move.

Hugh Clearman: Citizen Of Year

The Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce honored an outstanding citizen Thursday night in Hugh Clearman.

He is the 1970 Citizen of the Year. In our opinion the selection committee could not have made a better choice. In the more than 30 years he has been in Hereford he has left his mark on numerous organizations and drives he has helped.

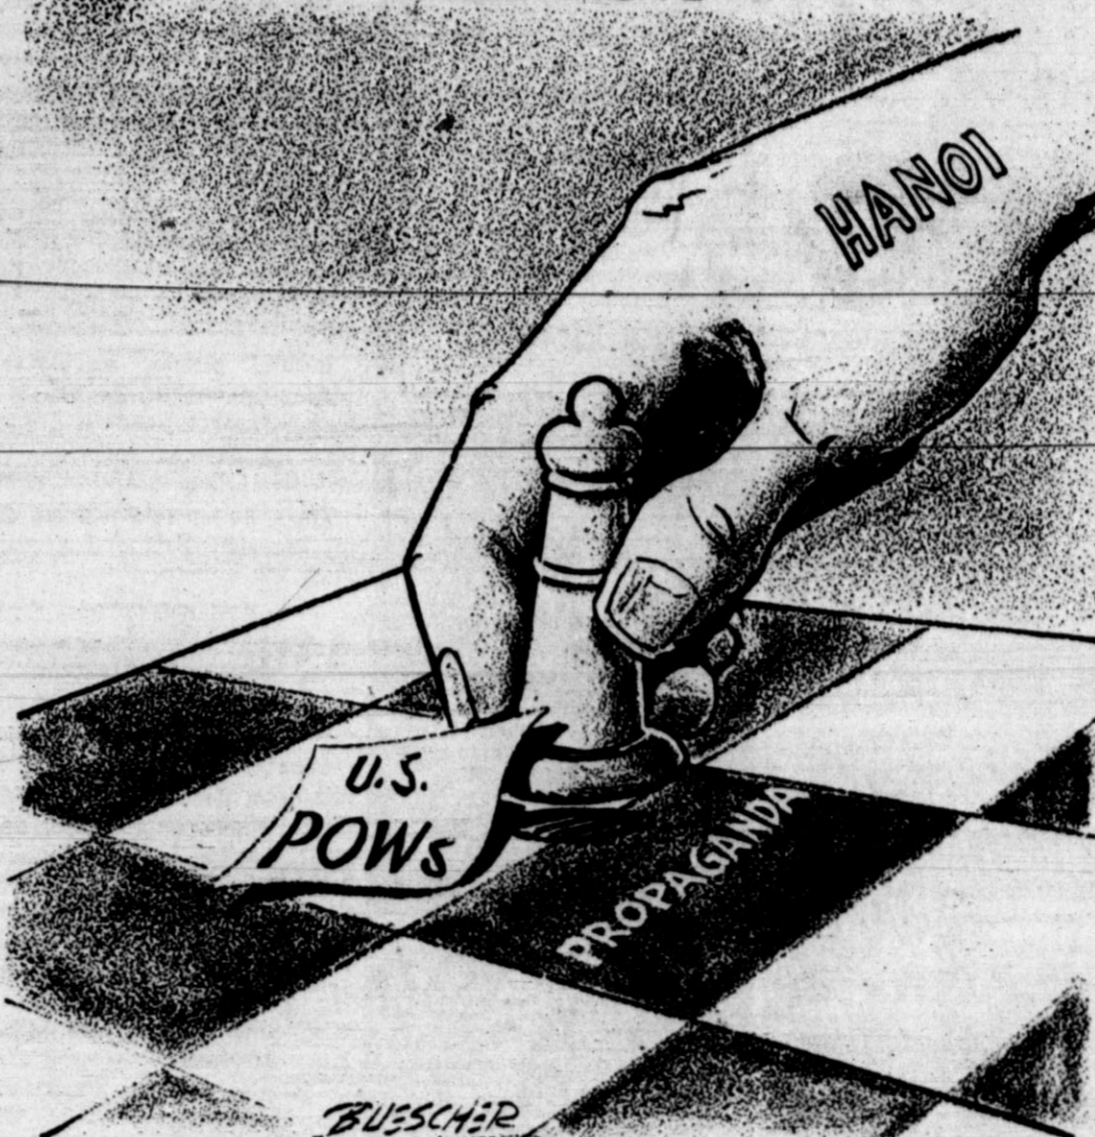

Hugh Clearman has been a leader in church, community, school and philanthropic affairs. Not one you always see at the front, waving a flag, but one who is pleasantly, and humbly, in the background, pushing the group toward its goal and beyond.

The speaker at the banquet, Oklahoma Lt. Gov. George Nigh, said if he could offer any "prescription for the whole wide world, it would be this medication: 'A dose of a guy like Will Rogers.' People are so thin skinned these days, it's hard to get them to laugh."

It was appropriate that the honor of the night, Hugh Clearman, fit those words so well. He's a staunch backer of his alma mater, Texas A&M, but still enjoys an Aggie joke as well as the next man, his moans and protests notwithstanding. The spark in his eyes, his pleasantness of manner and his dedication to serve his community have made him an enjoyable man to serve with and be around, whether in his capacity as a member of the School Board, president of Kings Manor Founders Association or any of several agricultural groups which he has served in leadership capacities.

A true leader in our community, and an excellent choice as Citizen of the Year - Hugh Clearman.

Long Holidays Bless 1971 Calendar Year

By Bert Mills

WASHINGTON D. C. - 1971 calendars require special scrutiny, particularly if they show holidays, because this is the year when Monday holiday laws take effect in most states and when there will be a record number of long weekends.

It used to be that only one three-day holiday weekend was guaranteed each year. That was Labor Day, celebrated on the first Monday after the first Sunday in September. Labor Day will be held as usual next September 6, concluding a three-day weekend.

But three other long weekends will have been celebrated before Labor Day, and two more will follow in October. That makes six and the total could rise to eight for those given a day off on the Friday after Thanksgiving and Christmas Eve, also on a Friday in 1971.

This year's first long weekend comes in mid-February. Washington's Birthday, which used to be celebrated on February 22, now comes on the third Monday in February - the 15th this year. Memorial Day, formerly May 30, is now held on the last Monday in May - the 31st this year.

Independence Day was not affected by legislative changes but by chance July 4 is a Sunday in 1971, meaning the holiday will be celebrated on Monday, July 5.

Columbus Day Added
The Uniform Holiday Act, passed by Congress in 1968 but not effective until January 1, 1971, created one new national holiday. It is Columbus Day, to be celebrated annually on the second Monday in October. This year the date is October 11, one day early by former standards in the 34 states which used to observe this occasion.

Only two weeks later, on the fourth Monday in October, will come Veterans' Day. This year it comes on October 25, and not on November 11 as in yesteryear. This holiday used to be known as Armistice Day, marking the end of World War I but since 1954 the occasion has honored veterans of all wars.

Some may wonder why there will be two holidays only a fortnight apart in October, especially since one was moved from November. The answer is that Columbus Day was not supposed to become a legal holiday but an amendment was adopted at the insistence of politicians with large Italian constituencies.

Easter, Independence Day and Thanksgiving would have been moved to Monday dates but patriotic groups successfully resisted these proposals.

Uniformity Not Achieved
Congress tried to achieve national uniformity on Monday holidays but did not quite succeed. While 45 states have passed laws more or less paralleling the Federal statute and four others will consider similar bills this month, there will still be some differences by states. Louisiana's legislature has not acted and will not meet until next May. Oklahoma, West Virginia, Wisconsin and South Dakota may or may not join the parade this month.

Eight states which have acted will not observe Columbus Day. This will cause some confusion because there will be no mail delivery or other service by the U. S. on what is a regular working day in those states. Congress has the power only to decree holidays in the District of Columbia and wherever Federal workers are stationed. The rest is up to the states.

A number of states with special holidays, such as Patriots Day in Massachusetts, and Robert E. Lee's Birthday in Dixie, have moved the celebration to a Monday. Delaware and Oregon will observe Lincoln's Birthday, not on February 12 but on the first Monday in February - February 1 in 1971. Business concerns, travel organizations, labor unions, and other groups predict big things will result from the Monday holiday reform. Most citizens will probably welcome the change too. After all, there is nothing like a Monday off to recover from the weekend.

Talk of Texas

By Jack Maguire

MANSION IN THE MOVIES - When Farmer Jim Ferguson was governor of Texas, the Executive Mansion starred in its first and only motion picture role.

In 1915, the Paragon Feature Film Co. established a studio in Austin and decided to make a movie using only Austin residents as actors. Titled "A Political Touchdown," the action centered around the Governor's Mansion which, for purposes of the film, was the family home of the heroine.

The climax of the film was the "burning" of the mansion - a camera effect not easy to come by in those days without damaging the property being photographed. However, the Mansion emerged unscathed and the film had its "world premiere" in Austin on December 15, 1915.

Apparently it was not exactly a hit. At least, the records don't indicate that the film ever had any distribution outside of the capital city.

TEXAS FIRST - A curvaceous North Texas State University student has the distinction of being the first and only U. S. female to fly inside a building in a helicopter.

She is Phyllis George, the current Miss America, and her historic flight was made November 21, 1970, inside the cavernous Convention Hall in Atlantic City, N. J.

WHAT'S IN A NAME - McKittrick Canyon, one of the beautiful wilderness areas in Texas, was named for an outlaw.

In the 1880's, a robber known as Kid McKittrick delighted in holding up New Mexico banks, then riding east into the Guadalupe Mountains of Texas and holing up in a desolate canyon. No posse ever caught up with him, and old-timers in Culberson County swear that some of his loot is still cached in the caves that abound in the Guadalupe.

Settlers began calling the bandit's hideout "McKittrick Canyon." Today the canyon is a part of the new Guadalupe Mountains National Park.

COLLECTORS AT WORK - Jerome Nowotny, who runs a beer garden known as the Bavarian Village in New Braunfels, Comal County, has been collecting beer bottles for almost 3 years.

Today his collection includes bottles representing 9,000 different brands of beer from around the world. They are on display at his oasis.

DRIVE FRIENDLY - If a motorist is injured in an accident in one of 12 counties in Texas today, there is no ambulance service available.

The same 12 counties have neither a hospital nor even an emergency room. And in 18 other counties, an ambulance would be available but the nearest emergency treatment facilities are up to 100 miles away.

SENSING THE NEWS

By Anthony Harrigan

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Southern States Industrial Council

The history of America is deeply involved with struggle for religious liberty - freedom to worship and to teach religious principles. The French Huguenots in South Carolina, the Maryland Catholics, the Pilgrims who established Plymouth Colony and many other religious groups settled on this side of the Atlantic because they believed they would find true religious freedom. Today, however, this freedom is in jeopardy because of recent action by federal tax authorities.

A number of independent, fundamentalist schools and colleges are in danger of losing the tax exemptions they have long enjoyed as part of religious liberty in the United States. Americans of all faiths have reason to be concerned about this development, for, if small, underfinanced denominational groups are deprived of such exemptions, the larger denominations in time are likely to feel government pressure.

Indeed, churchmen with no sympathy for the beliefs of the fundamentalists should be keenly aware of the religious liberty issue at stake in the pressure on the independent religious schools and colleges.

Last fall, a number of small religious schools and colleges received notice from the Internal Revenue Service that they will be stripped of tax exempt status if they do not declare they have racially non-discriminatory admissions policies and that they widely publicize this fact in the news media.

Some of these religious educational institutions believe that they cannot, in good conscience, make such a declaration. They believe that alteration of their established admissions policies would violate Scriptural truth. These institutions are prepared to lose their tax exemptions rather than make a concession unacceptable in terms of their religious beliefs.

It is tragic and shocking that the federal government would make such a demand of these religious institutions. These aren't public schools. The admissions standards aren't the product of secular views. On the contrary, the policies stem directly from deeply-held religious convictions.

One may disagree with these convictions and regard them as incorrect or even hurtful. But the fact that they are religious in character should shield them from governmental pressure. The federal government, after all, honors religious convictions in the case of conscientious objectors. Why can't it honor the beliefs of the small Bible colleges?

Religious educational institutions should not be required to submit to a political test. If a fundamentalist institution isn't allowed to keep its tax exemption, because it has its own admissions policy, how can a tax exemption be given to the schools and colleges of major religious groups which have special criteria for admission? Certainly, no responsible citizen wants an Episcopal seminary to be compelled to prove that it is non-discriminatory by recruiting quotas of Baptist, Presbyterians and churchmen of other faiths. Roman Catholic institutions such as Notre Dame and Fordham should have an undisputed right to maintain admissions policies that favor Catholics. Yeshiva University's right to continue to serve as a Jewish theological seminary should be maintained without any question by tax authorities. It would be absurd and unjust to compel it to admit quotas of Mexicans, Puerto Ricans and other minorities.

THE BOOTLEG -Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm immodestly lays claim to the solution of a problem this week.

Dear Editor:

Try it. It doesn't make any difference what subject you're talking about, somewhere in the world it's a problem something ought to be done about.

For example, I was reading in a newspaper last night I salvaged from a Christmas package it was used in to keep some cups and saucers from breaking - two of them came out all right except for a few chipped places - that dogs are becoming an unmanageable problem in cities.

That's right. The dog population, the article said, is increasing faster than the human population which most people claim is increasing too fast itself, and as a result city officials don't know what to do. You take a city with a million people and a million dogs, counting those roaming the streets, dogs, that is, although some people come under this category too, and you have got a problem.

But of course dogs and people are just part of the problem. There are too many cars, too many airplanes, too many wars, too many countries, too many diseases, in fact, if you'll survey the entire world you'll find that there's just one group that has had the sense to understand the problem and keep its head. It's farmers.

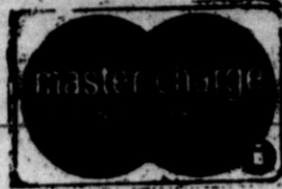

You don't find there're too many of us farmers. Farmers saw the problem of endless multiplication and over-crowding years ago and began cutting back. Where cities tried to put two dogs where there was room for just one and three cars where there was barely room for one, farmers put one farmer where there used to be four.

From 50 per cent of the population we dropped to 8 per cent. I don't know why cities haven't caught on to this solution.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Mrs. Yarbro To Lead Gardeners

Officers for next year in Bud to Blossom Garden Club were elected in a Friday morning business meeting at Community Center. Mrs. R. N. Yarbro was named president to succeed Mrs. Bill W. Nelson at the close of this season.

Mrs. Wayne Mayfield, Mrs. Sam Long and Mrs. Gaylon Bryan were chosen as the three vice presidents; Mrs. Bruce T. Brown was elected secretary, Mrs. Lloyd Sharp correspondent, Mrs. B. W. Sisson treasurer, Mrs. W. H. Gentry reporter and Mrs. Ray Polan federation counselor.

Mrs. Nelson will become parliamentarian when these officers are installed in May. She was hostess Friday morning.

Plans were completed for the sale of refreshments at a farm sale Saturday, a fund-raising project of the club.

Observance of Arbor Day, which this year fell on the meeting day, was held with a brief program. An article titled "Thoughts on Trees," from Lone Star Gardener magazine, was read.

Small Talk

AFTER THE CHAMBER of Commerce banquet Thursday night, the Virgil Marshes were hosts at Hereford Country Club to new and retiring Chamber officers, directors, and other friends.

Marsh's term as Chamber president ended last week when Charles Hoover was installed to the office.

The party was another in the series of gay winter events that started away back before Christmas, and didn't stop just because the holidays were over.

Lubbock and their daughter, Eva Jane Salsar, who also has an unusual job.

She was on furlough from The Evangelical Alliance Mission in Taiwan, which beams radio programs to Red China. Eva Jane's work is concerned with music for the broadcasts.

Irene Salsar is Mrs. Buckner's daughter, and so is Mrs. W. C. Davis (Jessie Ann). A dinner at the Davises' home celebrated three birthdays which fall near Thanksgiving — those of Mrs. Buckner, Barbara and Jessie Ann.

There was another group of relatives in the Buckner home just after Christmas, when Nan and Lavorn Richeson and their five children came from Gainesville for a few days.

by MELVIN YOUNG

Well sir, the U. S. Post Office Department is no longer the U. S. Post Office Department, according to local Postmaster Nolan Grady. As of last Tuesday it became the U. S. Postal Service, a government owned corporation, and is no longer under the control of Congress.

And, according to Grady, the Postal Service is now authorized to buy a few advertisements when necessary rather than depending upon the news media to carry the messages gratis as in the past.

And now, also according to Grady, since he has become a customer, or at least a potential customer, it seems that I'm compelled to buy the coffee occasionally and just generally be a little nicer to him.

Oh well. We suppose you can't win them all. But it certainly sounds like blackmail.

to correct an error that I made in this column Thursday. The Father-Daughter banquet is to be held January 22... that's Friday night... not February 15 as I reported. The February 15 date is for the annual meeting.

Apparently the person I asked misunderstood the question and gave me the wrong date, and I in turn mentioned it when discussing the growth of the local Camp Fire organization this past week. We suspect however, that most of the Camp Fire Girls have the correct date and time in mind and won't let their absent-minded fathers forget. The annual Father-Daughter banquet has become quite an affair and is quite a thrill, particularly for the younger members of the organization who may be attending for the first time.

We were indeed pleased Thursday night due to the selection of Hugh Clearman as Citizen of the Year. Hugh, as we have said before in this column, has worked diligently for many, many years for the betterment of our community and has been especially active in work with the local youth. He was Agricultural Agent here for a number of years and actively supported the annual livestock show and worked hard with the youngsters who were entering their animals.

Hugh has also been active with the Methodist Church and with the organization and operation of Kings Manor. In past years he was also active with the local Rotary Club.

Hugh has never sought recognition or publicity for his efforts. He has worked on these varied projects and activities because he wanted to do his part for the community in which he lived and the people therein.

Keys To Life In 70's Given

By Mrs. Argen Draper
Home Demonstration Agent

ACCEPTING THE PACE of the 70's gave us some recommendations to slow up on the many things we want to do. Dr. Stanley Fowler, Texas Tech, said:

- 1) Life without pressures would be dull.
- 2) Accept pressures as an opportunity.
- 3) Values are the key to unlock the 70's.
- 4) Families will be more mobile in the 70's than 60's.

ALSO, DR. FOWLER said we should control our own lives more than ever before. Reconsider what you want from life; realize you must be more flexible and adaptable; redefine goals and purposes; more than one alternative should be considered; short and long term goals are essential.

In short: get in touch with life; let the children into the family; children have the right to live and be themselves.

Accept extreme behavior, accept in-between; accept others of different race, values and cultures; accept popular opinion. Strive to make life better, not richer.

Remove excess oil by stitching on scraps of fabric. When the machine seems to be performing slower than usual, the gears may need lubrication. Apply the lubricant according to directions in your sewing machine instruction booklet.

When the top tension thread keeps breaking, rethread the machine. If this doesn't help, check for correct needle size and length, then see if the needle was inserted properly. If you still have trouble loosen the upper tension. Sometimes the thread breaks, the thread may not be wound evenly on the bobbin or it may be wound too full. Also, the tension may be too tight.

When the machine skips stitches, check for correct needle size, and proper needle insertion. The thread may be too coarse for the needle. Again check the tension; it may be too tight.

Along The Frio

By MRS. OWEN ANDREWS
Baylor.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Warrick and sons, Eugene and Raymond were moving this week to a farm east of the old Ford school building. They will continue farming with J. E. Warrick there, as they have on the Warrick place for several years. Eugene is a senior in Hereford High School and Raymond is a sophomore there. The Warricks plan to come back to Frio to church.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Andrews and family spent last weekend visiting her relatives, the Z.P. Pilgreens and Mrs. Hattie Haseloff and other relatives, at Vernon. Also they visited her parents, the Herbert Haseloffs, at Abilene. The Herbert Haseloffs were planning to leave this week end on a vacation in Mexico, to be away several weeks.

Frio Homemakers Club met Tuesday at Morgans Rock House, for a program on antique. Mrs. Sam Morgan was hostess and discussed her business of antiques, and numerous hobbies. Guests were invited to see her collection of interesting items.

Those attending were Mmes. Eugene Baldwin, Tommy Sparkman, Henry Andrews, Anna Lee Dobbins, Laura Littrell, Ronnie Andrews, Lloyd Shultz, Owen Andrews, Linda Blair and Miss Alma Andrews.

Diana Adams has enrolled for the second semester at Tech where she is a freshman. She will go this weekend back to Weeks Hall to live this semester. She is the daughter of the Don Adams.

Very interesting visitors they were, too, telling of their work as Wycliffe Bible translators working with the Cubeo Indians in Colombia, South America. They have been there about a year and feel they are about ready to begin their main task.

Living with the primitive Indians in their villages, the translators first had to invent a written language for the Cubeos, then teach them to read it. Before translating the Bible, they prepared books on the first-grade level. Now about 20 percent of the Indians can read.

Mrs. Buckner has a beautiful basket and some carved wood made by the Indians, gifts from her grandchildren.

HER FIRST VISITOR was her daughter, Barbara Ford, who was here from New Orleans Nov. 21 to Dec. 2. At Thanksgiving they were joined by Irene and J. K. Salsar of the second semester at Tech where she is a freshman. She will go this weekend back to Weeks Hall to live this semester. She is the daughter of the Don Adams.

JUST LAST WEEK holiday visits of relatives were over in Jennie Buckner's home. Ever since Thanksgiving she has enjoyed a succession of visiting family members, the latest her grandson, J.K. Salsar Jr., with his wife and two children.

A REAL TASTE of winter in a two-week visit in New York brought Gladys Smith back home this week, glad to see our warm sunshine. Of course she missed our own below-zero spell!

It was much below zero in Warwick, near New York City, where she was visiting her granddaughter and family, the Victor Zamboas. On New Year's Eve and New Year's Day the snow fell steadily until it was 18 inches deep.

Perfectly beautiful, Gladys says; no wind, just snow smoothed evenly over everything. She enjoyed watching snowmobiles, sleds, skates and skis carrying residents over the snow and ice. Skaters on a lake included babies which their parents were pushing in little carts over the ice.

The Hereford woman went with her daughter, Mrs. Howard Turner of Roswell, who received a round-trip plane ticket to New York as a Christmas gift from her husband. Naturally, a high spot of the whole trip for Gladys was being with her great granddaughter, Kim Gamboa.

Recent visitors of the Floyd Coles were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Johnson and sons, of Wheatley, Wyo.

The Frank Robbins and Clark Andrews families and Pam Garrison were among those from this area going to Red River Ski Resort, this weekend. They left Thursday morning.

Clayton, Legislators Meet To Consider Environment

Exhibit Scheduled At Sugarland Mall

State Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake recently returned from a two-day meeting with other state legislators in Washington, D. C., on programs and problems requiring effective working relationships between state legislators from 37 states government.

Clayton serves with 65 other state legislators from 37 States on the National Legislative Conference's Intergovernmental Relations Committee which met January 8 and 9, with Congressional and Administration officials.

As Chairman of the Committee's Task Force on Natural Resources, Clayton spent considerable time working with federal and state officials on programs affecting conservation, resources management, air and water quality, and other aspects of environmental control of importance to the States.

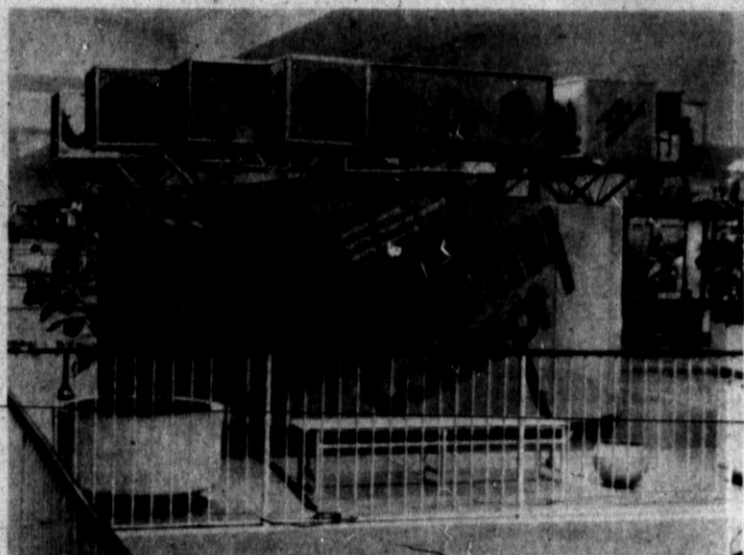

The Intergovernmental Relations Committee is a vehicle by which state legislators actively contribute to federal decisions having a state impact. The Committee formulates legislators' views on significant federal-state issues, and then communicates them through testimony and informal contacts to congressional committees and federal agencies.

An exhibit entitled "The One-Army Concept" will be shown Tuesday through Saturday at Sugarland Mall as a part of a nationwide tour.

The exhibit depicts the relationship between the Active Army, the Army National Guard and the Army Reserve. Through the use of photographs, transparencies, artwork and a slide presentation, visitors to the exhibit will be informed of the close working relationship between the three One-Army components.

The exhibit explains the historical development of each of the components. It shows how the components are trained in order that they be maintained in a constant state of readiness while at the same time it illustrates the activities of each of the three components in Community support.

The exhibit is open to the public at no charge.

ONE-WAY STORY — This display, entitled "One-Way Army," will be on exhibit Tuesday through Saturday at Sugarland Mall. The display presents a detailed look at the present day army.

CONSTRUCTION HEADACHE — The crack in this wall resulted in the shrinking and swelling of the soil material of Pullman Clay Loam. This is a problem many builders in Hereford face.

Soil Survey Aids Area Developers

The Deaf Smith County Soil Survey was published in 1968, and since that time the Soil Survey has been distributed to people who wanted them.

"A soil survey is an inventory of soil resources in a given area. A soil survey tells us the kind of soils and their characteristics. It tells us how the soils are distributed and how they originated and how they behave," Herrington said.

ings of the soil scientists are called a soil map.

Soil surveys are the base for nearly every phase of Soil Conservation Service work and are widely used by many other agencies and organizations.

Soil maps are helpful to prospective landowners, land appraisers, students of natural sciences, road builders, pipeline companies, and others. In some urban areas, corrosion of underground pipe is a problem. Soil maps are used as a guide for rerouting the pipelines around problem areas, thereby saving cities much expense. Soil surveys are also being used more and more by counties and school districts as a basis for re-evaluation of their tax structures.

She was assisted by Mrs. Rene Batard, left, in making the cake from a recipe supplied by Mrs. Gid Brown, and presenting it to the Gibsons as a surprise. Baked in sheets, the cake was arranged in the shape of a steep-roofed cottage complete with windows, door and the chimney to which Gaby is pointing. Four times the icing recipe were required to cover the house and hold the decorations of gumdrops and peppermints. Now Mrs. Gibson plans to store the cake until next Christmas; it's too pretty to eat!

School Gets Books On Conservation

The Tierra Blanca Soil and Water Conservation District last week presented some 2,000 booklets to the Hereford Independent School District to be used by schools throughout the county in the promotion and study of soil and water conservation.

Gerald McCathern, chairman of the district board, along with Carl Straffuss and J. C. Brown, district conservationist, presented the booklets to school superintendent Roy Harman. Harman in turn will distribute the booklets to the various schools in the county for use in classroom work.

"Our intention is to try to promote conservation to a younger level of kiddoes," Brown said.

Each school in the county—Walcott, St. Anthony's, and all elementary schools in Hereford will receive 50 of each of the four booklets.

"The different principals of each of the schools possibly may use these booklets to devote classes to," Brown said. "Some may spend a day or several days in teaching the students about conservation of wildlife, water and so forth."

The booklets are printed by the Soil Conservation Society of America in Ankeny, Iowa "as a part of its effort to provide educational tools of value in the soil and water conservation programs now underway in Canada, the United States, Mexico and other North American countries."

Chamber Issues Warning Of Chain Referral Scheme

A sales scheme that saddles participants with over-priced merchandise—the chain referral—again is being revived, the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce warned today.

In violation of postal fraud and lottery statutes, the chain referral scheme induces otherwise prudent people to invest after hearing rosy promises by high-pressure salesmen, according to the Council of Better Business Bureaus, of which the chamber is a member.

The scheme works this way: The promoter says that savings are passed along because the millions that ordinarily would be spent on advertising are saved through word-of-mouth advertising and shared by participants.

All a prospect has to do is provide a list of a dozen or more names of friends or neighbors. For each person on the list who buys the product, the prospect will receive a commission of $50 or more. In this way, they get the article free. The promoter says some participants have made $1,200 or more in eight weeks, even as much as $3,500 in six months.

The catch is that the prospect, after listening to the promoter's pitch, which may take an entire evening, is urged to show his good faith by signing an installment contract immediately.

The end result is that the prospect winds up signing a conditional sales contract and becomes obligated to pay an inflated price for something he would not ordinarily buy. The promised commissions do not materialize and the victim must pay the monthly installments out of his own pocket. If payments are not met, suit is instituted.

Here's how to spot the sales referral schemes: A friend or neighbor urges you to agree to an appointment to learn how you can get something-for-nothing. At the appointed interview, the salesman explains how you can participate in a "advertising campaign.

He points out that through his person-to-person advertising plan the water softener, garbage disposal, vacuum cleaner, automobile, carpet or what-have-you will be "free" to you.

He tells you that it is easy to interest a few of your friends or neighbors in getting the same article without having to pay for it.

He implies that you will probably make money over and above the actual price of his item.

He wants to rush you into the deal right now... tonight.

He asks you to sign all the usual sales agreements — just like any purchaser.

Church Women Hear Plans For Month's Study

No meetings of First United Methodist Women's Society circles are scheduled next month, it was announced in this week's sessions, as the entire Society will meet together in a study series based on the book of Psalms.

Reports on holiday projects, made by Mrs. Claude McGowen, comprised the program for Alice Ward Circle at its meeting this week in Kings Manor. Group singing was led by Mrs. Nora Gillis.

Carrie Black Circle met in the Friendship Class room where Mrs. Colby Conkright was assisted by Mmes. Norman Gray, Tom Harkey, Wesley Fisher and H. L. Benefield in presenting Glimpses of Fields of Missions. A personal glimpse was given by Mrs. A. W. Hare, telling of the work of her daughter, Naomi, in a Methodist school in Mexico.

Mrs. Clifford Trotter led the discussion of Three Wise Women of the East for Nettie Stanton Circle, which met in Mrs. Carroll McDonald's home. Mrs. Bill Walden gave the devotional lesson.

Mrs. Melvin Cordray was hostess to Hare-Brumley Circle in her home. The program given by Mrs. T. W. Alderson, was on the life of Martin Luther, a founder of Protestantism.

Plans for a "Mother's Day Out" project in the church, in which small children may be left at the church one day each week so their mothers may have time for shopping or recreation, were reviewed in Susannah Wesley Circle, made up of young matrons.

The meeting was in Mrs. Arvell Williams' home. Mrs. Terry Caviness and Mrs. Steve Coneway presented the program titled Couples and Understanding.

One explanation of the friendly handshake is that the right hand traditionally holds weapons, so in the dim past, an extended empty right hand showed peaceful intent. Another theory suggests that people got into the habit of clasping right hands as a sign of assistance.

Our Story: BY STRATEGY THE OUTER WALL HAS BEEN TAKEN, AND WITHIN THE SHELTER OF THE GATEWAY EARL BURNFORD AND PRINCE VALIANT LOOK ACROSS THE COURTYARD TO THE ENTRANCE OF THE KEEP. ARCHERS AND ROCK THROWERS FROM THE PARAPET ABOVE MAKE THIS A DEATH TRAP.

ANYONE WHO SURVIVES THE CROSSING WILL FIND THE SMALL ENTRANCE EASILY DEFENDED. FOR VAL HAD ENTERED ONCE AND REMEMBERS HOW DEFENSELESS HE HAD BEEN.

BUT ENTER THEY MUST, FOR THERE ARE NOT ENOUGH PROVISIONS FOR A SIEGE. LONELY AND UNHAPPY SINCE HE AND ALETA PARTED, IT IS NATURAL FOR HIM TO ADOPT A DESPERATE PLAN.

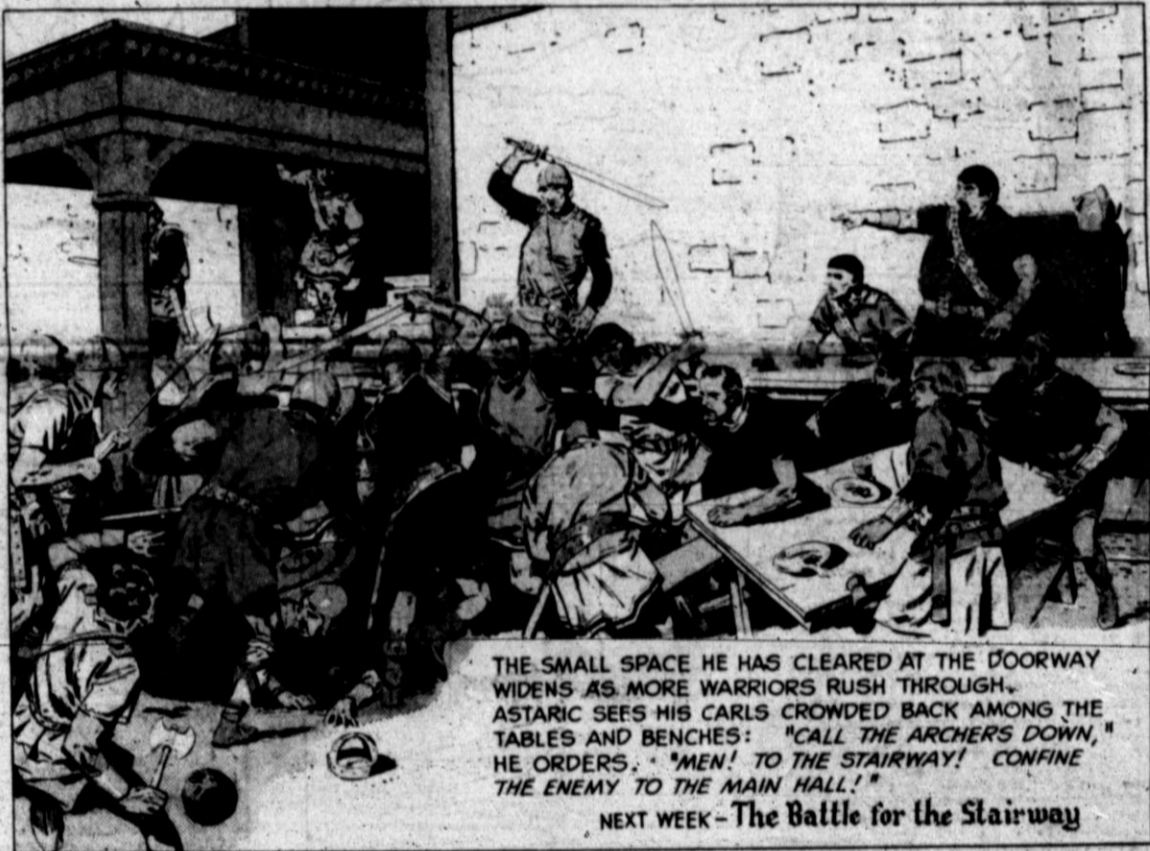

THE GREAT IRON-STUDDED GATES ARE SET ON THE CARRIAGE OF A DISMANTLED CATAPULT AND TRUNDLED TO THE ENTRANCE AMID A SHOWER OF MISSILES. VAL AND THE VOLUNTEERS LINE UP, CROUCHING LIKE SPRINTERS.

VAL COMES THROUGH LIKE A HURLED SPEAR!

EVEN AS HE LEAPS TO HIS FEET THE 'SINGING SWORD' IS EXULTING AS IT GOES ABOUT ITS LETHAL WORK.

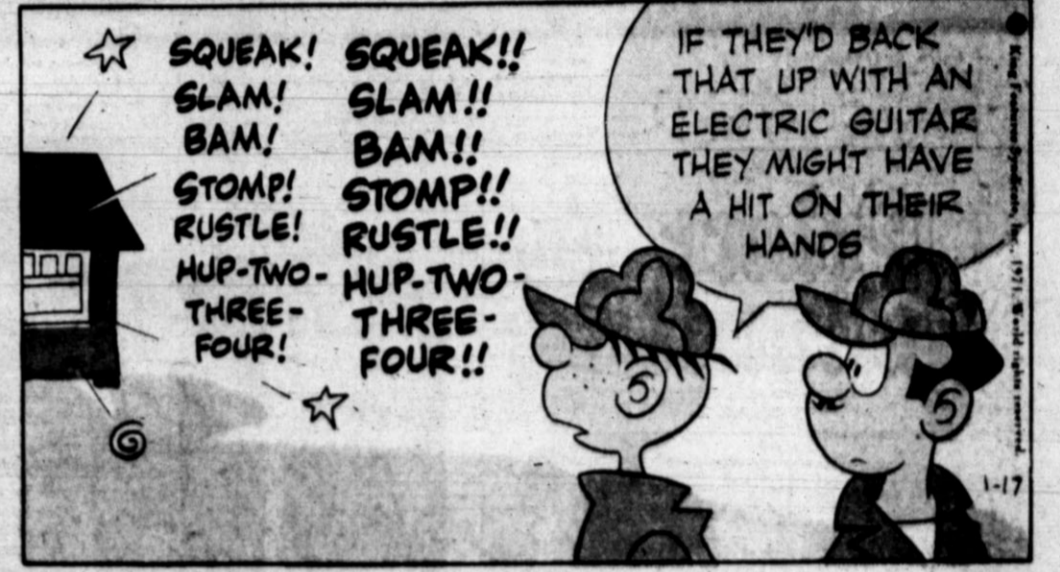

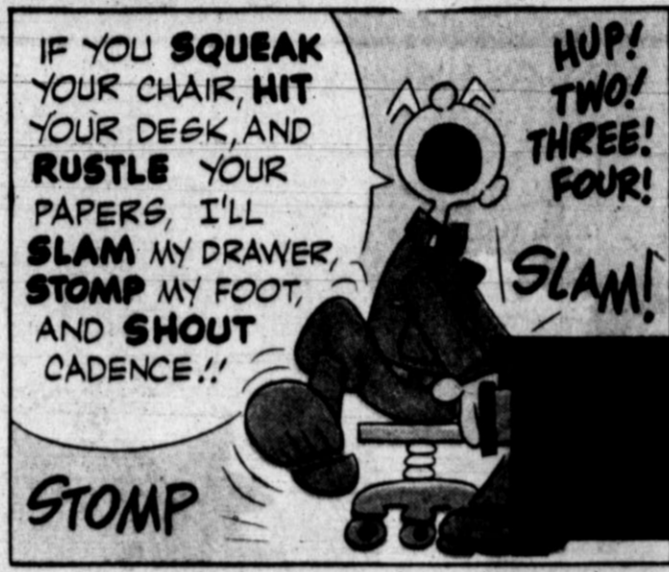

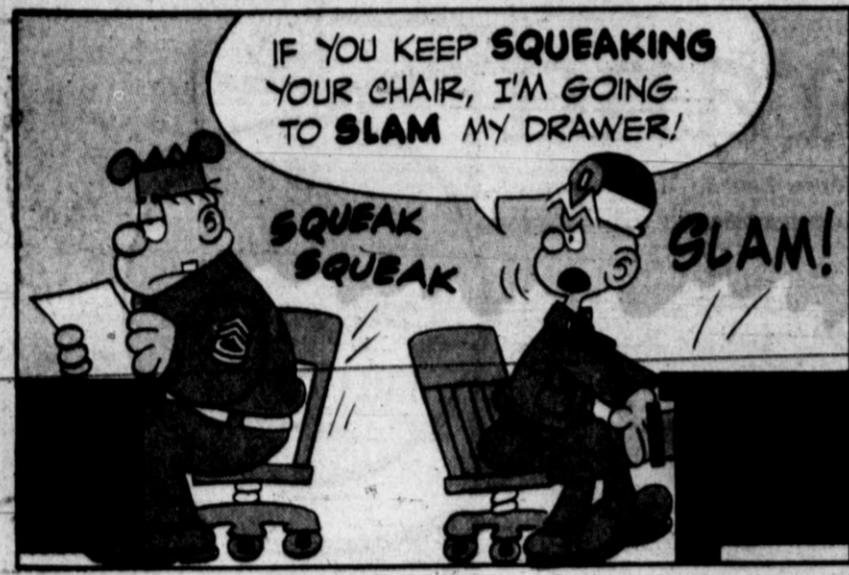

THE SMALL SPACE HE HAS CLEARED AT THE DOORWAY WIDENS AS MORE WARRIORS RUSH THROUGH. ASTARIC SEES HIS CARLS CROWDED BACK AMONG THE TABLES AND BENCHES: 'CALL THE ARCHERS DOWN,' HE ORDERS. 'MEN! TO THE STAIRWAY! CONFINE THE ENEMY TO THE MAIN HALL!'

PONYTAIL

BY LEE HOLLEY

hints from Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

Those round wooden clothespins make the dearest bedposts on cigar boxes to be fitted with dust ruffles, quilts, etc., for a doll's bed.

Too, they make great doll chairs when fastened to the lower half of a scouring powder container fitted with a cushion that fills the container.

Patsy Simpkin

A precious idea! And if you have trouble finding the round, no-clip wooden clothespins, make a spool bed as another reader, who signed herself Mrs. L. C., suggested.

She said to glue a large (or two small) thread spools to the bottom at each corner of the cigar box for legs. Then use about four small spools glued together at each top corner for bedposts.

You can paint the box or cover it with scraps of material and add a ruffle if you like.

Then take the box lid and slipcover it, placing a ruffle on the edge. This lid is glued to the top of the four spools as the canopy.

Makes a cunning little doll bed that any moppet would love. If you wish a fancier bed, cut another box lid in a half moon or any other shape desired and glue it to one end of the box for a headboard.

Our thanks to both readers for such an adorable idea. With prices higher than a cat's back these days, it is almost a necessity to become involved in do-it-yourself projects... besides, it's more fun!

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE:

If my letter is at all worth publishing, you can do anything you want to do... cut it, change it, reword it, burn it... or even maybe USE it!

D. Nutt

LET'S SKATE

DEAR HELOISE:

When my children first started to learn how to roller skate, I put a piece of adhesive tape around the wheels of their skates.

That way they skate slower and prevent a lot of falls. By the time the tape wears out, they know how to skate!

Maria Crowninshield

GOOD NIGHT!

DEAR HELOISE: I have an idea for the long granny nightgown that trails on the floor and gets dirty so easily.

Make a belt of the same color (or buy a stretch belt). When you get up, put it on and blouse the top part of the gown above the belt.

When you go to bed, take off the belt and put it under your pillow. A Devoted Fan

TOOTHPASTE UP

DEAR HELOISE:

We all have tubes of toothpaste, vaseline, etc., stacked here and there in our medicine cabinets, and when the door is opened, out comes an avalanche of tubes.

I remedied this by using the plastic bottles that pills come in. I put the lid on the bottom (helps to keep it from tipping), put a tube in each and set it on the shelf. Makes an orderly shelf and saves space.

Alda Baker

SAVING STAMPS

DEAR HELOISE:

I purchase a book of six-cent stamps every month for my regular correspondence, out of household allowance.

I tear one sheet out each month and put it in an envelope. When Christmas comes I have enough stamps to mail my Christmas cards.

With the money I have saved I then can buy something extra for the holidays that I normally couldn't afford.

Mrs. J. Pinkston

HOSPITAL VISITS

DEAR HELOISE:

When you take potted plants to a friend in the hospital, always take along an aluminum pie pan to set the plant on. These are the best water catchers ever... and will the nurses ever appreciate it.

Also, another little thought is that if you are taking cut flowers, be sure and take a vase. It is always so difficult to find a container to put the flowers in.

Bertha Morgen

THE DRY FACTS

DEAR HELOISE:

For all those who use cottage cheese...

I've heard many people complain that their cottage cheese is too watery.

The thing to do before removing the lid from the container is to take a can opener and puncture holes in the bottom to let the water drain out.

Rose Petrini

CHECK THIS OUT!

DEAR HELOISE:

I like to play Chinese checkers, but sometimes lose some of the marbles.

When this happens, I substitute old unstrung beads of the same color. They work just the same, and I don't get confused by using different colors of marbles.

Danette

YOU CAN DO IT!

DEAR HELOISE:

My father recently floored our attic and we began to pack items to store in it. We found that we could store things much easier in galvanized garbage cans. These cans are inexpensive and lightweight. They are much easier to lift because they have handles.

As rodents and moths cannot get inside them, they preserve clothes nicely... and best of all, when you get ready for something, you just remove the lid. No untaping, cutting, tearing or retaping.

M. J. L.

Great! But be sure those clothes have been washed or dry-cleaned to preserve them and keep them from deteriorating.

Heloise

CUTTING REBAGS

DEAR HELOISE:

I finally solved my problem of how to keep my cutting board "right there" and also out of the way.

I pasted a clown face on the back of it—a picture that my daughter had made. Now it stands up on the counter between uses and adds color to my kitchen. Of course, she is thrilled with my putting her art work to use.

A magazine picture could also be used and changed as often as you care to.

HOCUS-FOCUS

CAN YOU TRUST your eyes? There are six differences in details between the top and bottom panels above. How quickly can you point out what these differences are? Answers below.

JUNIOR-WHIRL

Pensive Movement

LET'S SAY you have two hens in each of eight pens above, or a total of 16 hens in all, with six on each side. Suppose you buy four more hens—making 20 in all. Can you arrange the 20 hens among the eight pens so that you still have six hens in the three pens on each side? That's to say, can you get the 20 hens in the eight pens with six per side? Give it a try.

BULLETIN BOARD

- ONCE upon a time, a teenage son went into the garage and came out with a —. Fill blank. Answer: Lawnmower. Or, did you say 'garbage can'?
- Brain squeezer: How many hands can be clasped so that he cannot leave a room without unclasping them? Answer: Clasp them around a piano leg.
- Repeat rapidly aloud: Shapely Theo Shaeffer's heart-throb, Thaddeus Thornton Thorpe, thrashed horrid Horace Sherman Thayer thrice.
- Two numbers have a difference of 1 while their cubes have a difference of 81. What numbers? Answer: The numbers four and five.

DOTY NOTION? Kitten and pup, above, seem somewhat surprised by what they see. What is it? To find out, connect dots.

MAGIC COLORS: 1—Yellow. 2—Red. 3—Blue. 4—Orange. 5—Green. 6—Lavender. 7—Black. 8—Brown. 9—Fleshstone. Simply apply colors neatly above to bring forth the surprise picture.

Lottie Wertenberger . . . with students at Kings Manor

Main Interest Lies In Art

Aims To Improve Skills

By JANIE REINART
Staff Writer

Striving for improvement in the art courses she teaches at Kings Manor, La Plata and in her home, Lottie Wertenberger is constantly searching for ways to achieve best results and become a better teacher.

"I enjoy teaching but don't feel I'm an accomplished artist because there are a lot of things I want to improve in," says Mrs. Wertenberger.

Since she doesn't believe in copy work and does her own mold designs, she encourages her students to be creative and original in doing free-hand art work.

She has approximately 150 students per semester at the junior high school or about 300 students each year, 18 students at Kings Manor, and two groups of women who come to her home each Saturday morning and afternoon for lessons in china painting.

Mrs. Wertenberger feels there is a definite carryover between art and regular class work at La Plata with the occasions for decorating bulletin boards and entire classrooms for special school activities.

"This pleases me greatly," she says, "as it enriches our art program tremendously."

Prior to her six years at La Plata, Mrs. Wertenberger taught science and art at Stanton for 13 years. Before moving to Texas she taught her first three years in Ohio.

Among arts and crafts available to students at La Plata are leather and copper tooling, mobiles, collage, embroidery, knots, woodburning, wire and plastic projects, weaving with yarn and string, oil and acrylic painting, ceramics, and the complete study of color mixing, perspective and other media of making pictures such as India Ink and mosaic.

They are presently experimenting with the mixing of two or more media to get best results and the textured effect for a painting through use of wet paper towels.

Mrs. Wertenberger became interested in art and began to take it seriously in high school. Art was always her favorite subject and she felt she had an exceptionally good teacher.

She graduated from Manchester College at North Manchester, Ind. in 1934 following two years of study. She and her husband Osber or "Wert" owned a gift shop in Hartsville, Ohio for 15 years before their move to Hereford in 1952.

She attended West Texas State University and received her BS two years later. In 1965 she had earned her Masters. At that time she began a library of art in her home east of the city which she tries to keep as up to date as possible. Any spare time she may have she likes to spend reading up on art techniques.

Mrs. Wertenberger holds lifelong memberships in National Education Association, Texas State Teachers Association, Deaf Smith County Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, and Classroom Teachers.

She has been a member of the Hereford Art Guild for 17 years and, being a member of International China Painters Teachers, Mrs. Wertenberger, along with four students, attended a show and convention in affiliation with the organization last summer in Oklahoma City. Her life's ambition is to go to Europe and visit art centers she has studied in books and seen on films.

"I'm working for and saving for that goal -- to go on a study tour of the famous paintings and statues I've studied so much about," she said.

Her husband, whose first love is farming, is employed with Gifford-Hill Western. They have three sons, Gary, who is with Channel 4 TV; Erin, a professor at the University of South Carolina; and David, employed by Texas Employers' Insurance Company at San Angelo.

At The Library Setting For Novel Is Turkey, 1922

The War of Independence in Turkey, 1922, serves as background for a strange love story now available at the Deaf Smith County Library. Another interesting novel tells of the impossibility of being both a powerful and a good man in America. Check them out today.

THE HOUSE OF WAR

By Catherine Gavin
A vigorous and moving novel set in Turkey in 1922, the year of the War of Independence, when Kemal Ataturk, vastly outnumbered, won his great victory over King Constantine and the Greek Generals.

Kemal Ataturk bestrides the House of War as he bestrode the Near East on those days--a man of powerful contradictory talents, a genius as a military commander, a bon viveur of iron self-discipline, a man who sought equality for women, and who loved and left many of them.

Against a background of the brilliantly re-created campaign comes the story of the strange love which grew between Kemal and Evelyn Barrett, an American girl whose journalist husband is on assignment in Turkey.

As her marriage quickly disintegrates, Evelyn stands at Kemal's side through some of the bitterest fighting of modern times. Dr. Gavin's brilliance is revealed once again in the dramatization of the destinies of individuals and nations.

THE APPROACH TO KINGS

By Patrick Anderson
At thirty-one, David Hyer is one of the most powerful men in America.

He is speechwriter, trouble-shooter, and confidant to President Barney Newfield. He is deeply involved in the creation of New Cities, in shaping political strategy, and making policy toward a guerilla war in Latin America.

Dave Hyer enjoys the power he yields--it is, he says, like a woman you want to stay in bed with forever--and yet he learns in the White House what terrible pressures accompany political power.

There is the crossfire from his handsome wife, from the demanding President he serves, from rivals within the Administration, from critics in Congress and the press--and most of all, the pressures of his own conscience as he confronts the compromises and sacrifices that are essence of Presidential politics.

The Approach to Kings is the story of one complex young man, at work in a complex world. He is courageous yet uncertain, idealistic yet cynical (or "pragmatic"), tough yet vulnerable.

David Hyer, one of the new breed of fast moving, fast thinking young aides to Presidents, represents in part a generation who have come to have profound doubts about the establishment and its values--even, as in his case, while working within it.

He offers up all the customary human sacrifices: his wife, his child, himself. He gains the customary rewards: prestige, prerogatives, prerequisites, and power, the knowledge that he gets things done. It is what is done to him in the process that is the essence of this story about those who stand in the shadow of, and made the approach to "kings."

He learns that it is not impossible for a young man to become a powerful man in America, and not impossible to be a good man, but that it is almost impossible to be both.

ARE YOU CARRYING ANY GOLD OR LIVING RELATIVES

By Irene Kampen

"Who this person?" Moscow Airport Customs Control demanded. He was looking at my passport photograph.

"Why, that's me," I said. Customs Control returned my photograph through narrowed eyes and said something in Russian.

"What did he say?" I asked Nila. "Never mind," Nila said. "You wouldn't like."

Customs Control returned my passport and demanded to know whether I was carrying any gold, silver, jewelry or living relatives into the Soviet Union.

Thus began Irene Kampen's and Nila Magidoff's unique Russian Adventure. The trip provided some hilarious experiences (sometimes the hilarity was just a bit touched with panic) described nowhere in the official Intourist travel brochure.

Here Mrs. Kampen describes their adventures with humor and spirit, and offers some advice and observations for future tourists to the land of the hammer and sickle.

Cheese popcorn is a cracklin' cold weather snack. Place two quarts of freshly popped unsalted popcorn in an oven-proof bowl. Dot with one-fourth cup butter. Sprinkle with one cup grated parmesan or Cheddar cheese and one teaspoon salt. Heat in a slow oven, 300 degrees, for 12 to 15 minutes. Toss well. Makes four to six servings.

A liter is the volume of a cube ten centimeters on each side.

Walcott Will Offer Free Lunch Plan

The Walcott Independent School District is offering free and reduced lunches to children whose families cannot afford to pay the regular 40 cents per meal now set at the school.

Depending on family income and the number of children in school or day care centers, children may receive their lunches for only 10 cents, 20 cents or free.

The Hereford Independent School District announced the same free and reduced lunch program in mid-December and the one now being offered at Walcott is along the same line.

Copies of application forms were sent home with students last week. Parents who feel their children are eligible for free or reduced rice lunches are asked to return the applications to L. B. Russell, Walcott School, Rt. 4, Hereford.

The applications will be reviewed and the family will be notified in writing as the decision made. All information on the application will be confidential.

Any unusual circumstances or hardships which affect the family's ability to pay for school lunches, such as prolonged illness in the family, unexpected expenses due to fire, flood, or any other disaster of the nature, seasonal unemployment and similar emergency situations, will also be considered.

If a family is not satisfied with the decision made on its application, it may appeal the decision. This appeal may be made either orally or in writing to H. C. Williams, ex-officio county superintendent, at the courthouse in Hereford. He will review the application with the family and see if different arrangements can be made.

The following income scales will determine whether a family gets free or reduced meals.

Glady's Garden

By Gladys Howton Manjeot

When you plant a tree, you plant not only for beauty, protection, shade, but for posterity. Remember when choosing and planting a tree or trees, that to grow trees well is not enough. To USE them well (in the correct perspective) is better. When planting a tree or trees, there should be a real purpose.

Following through with the plantings in the adjoining park at The Deaf Smith County Hospital, some of the other trees identified are: American Elm, Chinese Elm, Honey Locust, Blue Spruce, Silver Spruce, Arbor Vitae, and in a nearby yard there is a handsome silver leaf Maple. The grotesque manner in which it has grown, makes it a tree of the greatest interest.

This tree so interested me that I searched out some data on it. Learned that it had been planted by Father and Mother Kerr, when they purchased the real estate, and built their home there some 35 years ago.

It has been a tree of beauty and attraction throughout the years. Just now it needs some attention, pruning, watering and feeding. Many trees of this variety grow in Hereford.

Since I have been studying about trees, I have kept in mind the quote, "Trees are beautiful in a winter landscape". I have found this to be very true. Not only are they beautiful in day light hours, but the past few nights, when the moon has been so beautiful we have found that they are really more beautiful than in the sunshine.

Several times we have drawn the window drapes, turned out the lights, and watched the change of form, shadows, and gleam, from time to time as the moon rose, and then gradually gained height in the blue heavens above.

One evening the moon was red gold, and as it showed through the trunks, limbs, and greenery of the trees, the creation of beauty was unmeasurable.

Moonlight adds romance to most everything, and in this instance the glimmer of the silver beams on the beautiful trees in their various growth patterns, created beauty undecipherable. In fact it was changed to a silvery fairyland. If I was an artist I would have delighted in putting some that we saw on canvas.

To the new homeowner, who plans to do some landscaping, and to those who plan to plant new trees, there are some trees which we would recommend that you investigate, and give much consideration, as many do well in Hereford.

Also keep in mind some of the qualities which trees add to the landscape, via form, texture and color. Trees have qualities that either add to or detract and these aid in determining their use in your landscape. First consider these qualities.

WHY PLANT TREES? They give shade; enclose areas of space; by screening, they are often used for hedges either in a formal or informal way; trees can be used as center of interest; also for space dividers. In all of these uses good judgement as to space, do not plant some of the selected trees too close to the house. The wide spreading limbs need plenty of space, some also need the up-reach space.

Still another factor to remember and give much thought to is the tree forms. Forms of trees are: vase, pyramidal, oval, weeping, round, columnar, multiple-stemmed or low-topped, picturesque or irregular, broad and spreading, horizontal-branching.

Then there are those that have special attributes, and are used for effect more than some of the other qualities mentioned. They are artificial tree shapes (Topiary), pleaching (interweaving tree branches to form a mass in a single plane) and espalier.

The latter was used in the old gardens; for instance, the garden at Mount Vernon, has used fruit trees, (apple, pear and peach) to espalier to the fence, which surrounds the vegetable and herb gardens.

TREE TEXTURE, must be considered before plantings are made. The coarseness or fineness of the trunk, branches, twigs and foliage is referred to in all phases of landscaping.

Texture is a quality that makes one tree stand out from another in the winter. Differences of texture add interest to a garden or landscape design just like various textures add interest to a ladies wardrobe.

COARSE TEXTURES add dramatic element to the landscape. It shows off well, and this is the type that is usually considered to use for a tree that is planted alone, or in a large expanse of ground. This gives a feeling of strength, as well as the lacy branches as they mass together.

Character is another quality that is added by texture. Contrast between fine and coarse is always of interest. However coarser textures should be used sparingly and as an accent. Good proportion is to keep it about one third to two thirds, the latter the finer texture.

TREE COLOR, as in any thing that pertains to color is one of the interesting phases to consider. The color changes are most interesting. This usually follows the season.

A lovely green tree in the summer changes to a beautiful highly lighted red, and yellow tree in the fall, then sheds its vivid colors, and the greys and browns are predominant. All of these add much to the beauty of the landscape.

It is vitally important that the color of the trees, harmonizes with the home, its structural lines, and its colors. The horticulturist soon learns that seasons, climatic conditions and care (maintenance) affect color to a very large degree.

If rugged shadow patterns against a wall, fence, or a sculptured silhouette or even against the beauties of the sky as it changes is desired, then do not overlook the importance of tree mass. The patterns made by the intricacies of the leaves, twigs, branches, and limbs makes either a bold or lacy pattern.

Density is not made alone by

Book Reviewed By Mrs. Henslee

"I Found God In Russia" by John Noble was the book reviewed by Mrs. H. E. Henslee at a Lone Star Study Club meeting Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. C. D. Kelton.

Noble, as the book reveals, went to Germany with his family and visited a resort in Czechoslovakia in hopes of improving his health.

His health improved, he decided to stay and was in Germany when the war began. He and his father were imprisoned and months later Noble was tried and sentenced to 15 years hard labor in Siberia.

While in prison Nobles found conditions so brutal he turned to God for strength and courage. He was released in 1953 when the American government learned of his imprisonment.

In business the group discussed election of officers set for the next meeting, Jan. 26. Nominating committee members were appointed.

Members in attendance were Mmes. R. G. Blue, Jim Bookout, V. E. Dodson, Jim Higgins, Jhn Jacobsen Jr., G. W. Newsum, C. O. Phillips, Ed Warren, Carl Williams and Robert Thompson.

Mrs. Betzen's home was the meeting place Tuesday, with Mrs. Parker as co-hostess.

the tree while in full foliage, but after the shedding of the leaves, the mass or pattern of twigs, and other factors of the tree are amazing as they make their reflection on a wall or space.

Study horticulture magazines and catalogues, and make a visit to a reputable nursery and study the trees in their winter dress and beauty.

Later we will add some suggestions for trees to plant in our gardens and landscape plans.

BE SURE AND MEET THE NEW INTRODUCTIONS, NOW BEING SHOWN IN THE GARDEN MAGAZINES. They are most interesting and inviting.

Mrs. H. V. McCabe introduced the program on International Music with a sketch of the careers of two famous pianists of Russian birth, Artur Rubenstein and Vladimir Horowitz.

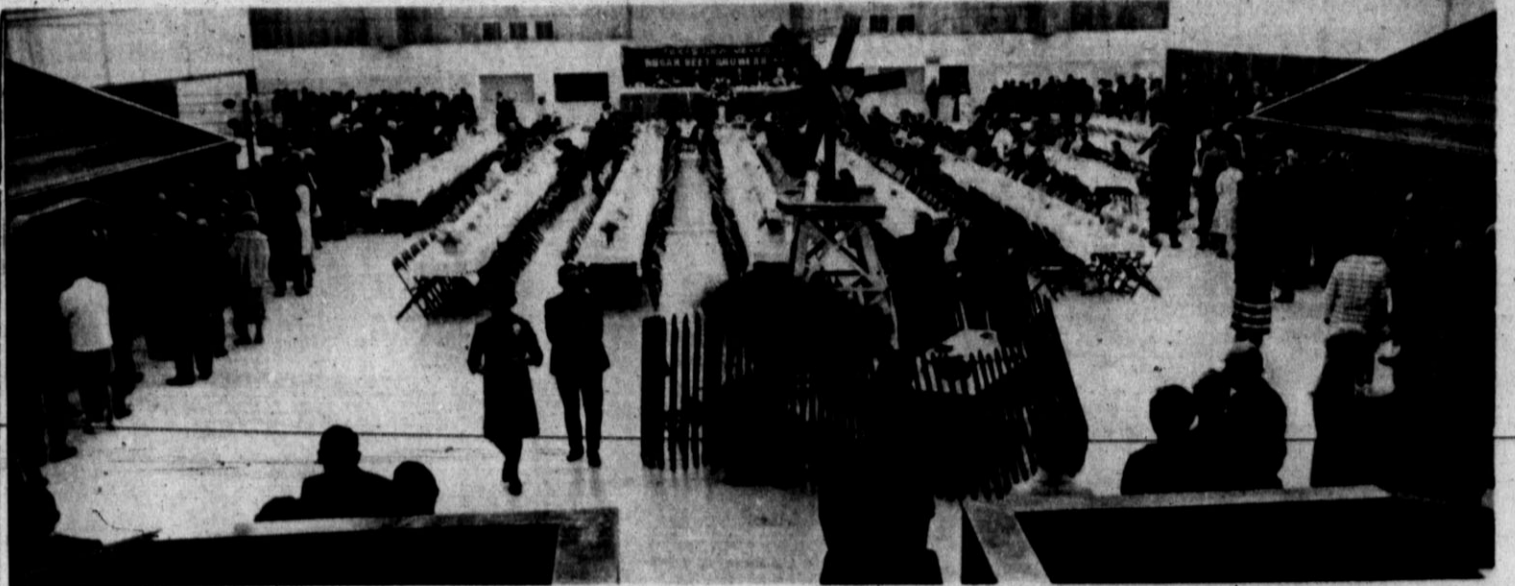

Mrs. Carl Kleuskens of the American song, Home on the Range, Mrs. Curtsinger sang another American folk song, Tennessee Saturday Night.

You start investing now, and later when everyone else is up against wrinkles and the like, there's the return on your investment — beautiful, younger looking skin.

Women who use it give Endocrine credit for their unusually young looking skin. One case history after another shows that a slight improvement quickly follows nightly use and that a definite improvement can take place as time goes by.
