DESPITE SPRING DAMAGE

Potato And Onion Prices Are Good

Results of severe Panhandle weather were beginning to show up as the potato and onion harvests moved into the second week here.

Rains late in May and early June accompanied by heavy hail in some sections is being blamed for the large number of No. 2 potatoes and culls. In some areas, tonnage on early onions has been called "disappointing."

Even with the damage, crops are reported to be good. Quality of onions is running from fair to excellent depending on the area in which they were harvested.

As crews continued to work in fields during the week, shipping sheds were running to mid-night or later as crews attempted to process and load the backlog.

According to growers and shippers, market for potatoes is described as "good" with the price for No. 1's holding at $2.50 per hundredweight.

Shippers are expecting a rise in market price and believe it will come this week.

Movement of both crops from Hereford area is reported to be good.

Market for onions is reported to be "excellent" with the price stable at $3.75.

Peak of the potato harvest is expected to be reached by July 22 - 29.

A majority of early onions has been harvested with the later varieties expected to be ready for harvest within the next week or two.

Around Town

BY H. A. TUCK

My face is red, my head is deeply bowed and I am embarrassed, chagrined and deeply humiliated. In Thursday's issue of the Brand I pulled one of my all-time boners and can't even offer an excuse. Keith Jorde of Hereford is the City Golf Champion. He won three championship flight here Sunday with a sub-par 69 and wasn't even pushed too much. Dickie Dyer, a Dimmitt schoolboy, DID NOT win the tournament. But he did come in second with a fine 72. My sincere apologies to Keith.

We're back in the rain business and the farmers seemed to get more Friday afternoon and night than we did in town. Some folks west and southwest had up to 1.20 inches. And all of them said it was most welcome.

An item for the "small world" department: Major Lloyd Manjot, son of Mr. and Mrs. Art Manjot of Hereford, was surprised to look up from his supply work in Salgon recently to see an old school friend, Dwight Wilson, who used to live in Hereford. Dwight is assigned as G-3 advisor to the 3rd Infantry in Ban Me Phout. They, of course, had quite a visit about common friends and places they have been.

Druggist Ansel McDowell drove all the way to Amarillo Friday night to see the Hereford American Legion team play in the District tournament. It was the first time this year he's been able to get away and see them play. So what happens? They get rained out in the third inning. Ansel and a lot of other Hereford people were there, with most of them planning to go (Continued on Page 3)

Tax Equalization Meetings Slated

Tax equalization hearings have been scheduled by two taxing agencies.

The Hereford Independent School District's board of equalization will convene at 10 a. m. Monday, July 15, in the school administration building. The school has not its tax rate, but doesn't contemplate an increase. The hearing will be primarily for those property owners whose valuations have been increased during the past year and who desire to talk with the board about the increase.

County Commissioners will convene as a board of equalization on Monday, July 22, beginning at 2 p. m. in the Commissioners' Courtroom. The county has announced that it will remain on the same tax rate, $1.62, but that the rate will be applied to 22 per cent of actual value, rather than the 17 1/2 per cent assessment currently in effect.

With a general increase slated, notices have been mailed to all property owners in the county inviting them to appear before the equalization board if they so desire.

Date and board members for the City of Hereford's equalization hearing have not yet been announced.

THE ANNUAL 4-H STYLE show was held at the Hereford High School Auditorium on Friday, July 12, at 8 p. m. Winners in the different divisions were from left, Lou Ann Witkowski, senior dressmaking; Janice Turrentine, junior dressmaking; Jane Witkowski, sun dresses; Karen Jesko, shorts; Jana Denton, shifts; Patsy Paetzold, blouses and Thelma Warren, aprons. Lou Ann and Janice are both eligible to attend the district contest in Amarillo on July 26.

Winner of the division on aprons was Thelma Warren of the Merry Maidens 4-H Club. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Warren.

Each girl entering the contest was judged on poise, grooming during the show, and construction, and a record with her entry. The girl with the highest number of points (Continued on Page 3)

IN MINOR ALL-STAR TILT

Giants Win 12-2 Over The Braves

Two pitchers combined forces Friday night to limit their foes to one hit as the minor league All-Stars played in Little League Park.

The Giant All-Stars, comprised of players from the Giants, Dodgers, Yankees and Pirates, defeated the Braves All-Stars, 12 - 2. The Braves' team included Braves, Cardinals, Athletics and Orioles. Ross Hardwick of the Yankees hurled three innings and retired with a one-hit shut-out. He faced just 11 men. Greg Whitaker of the Giants took control for the last three innings, allowing two runs and no hits as he faced just 12 batters.

Meanwhile the Giants were battering out hits in a game that was close until the last two innings. In the top of the first inning, Bill McMinn of the Giants slashed a triple to right field and scored on a passed ball. Two other runners got out by walks, but the Braves got out without any more scores with a force at third base.

Hardwick whipped two strikes across the plate in the last of the first, then hit Eddie Rob- (Continued on Page 3)

Two Men Held On Warrants Alleging SWWC

Two men were arrested here and were being held on felony warrants alleging swindling with worthless checks, according to Deaf Smith County Sheriff's office.

Both were arrested here on July 7 and were being held in the County Jail.

Being held on a felony warrant from Deming, N. M., is Willard Peak Sims, 41, of Deming.

The second man arrested on a similar charge was Jack Walter Redman, 48, who lives at 136 N. 25 Mile Ave. He was released to Howard County law enforcement officers Thursday.

By Gardner Collins, Brand Staff Reporter

After facing dry weather, low temperatures, and then heavy rains and hail, Deaf Smith County farmers may be faced with a new threat to crops in the area.

According to information released by High Plains Research Foundation, the Texas A&M Experiment Station at Lubbock, and Lefty Thomas, county agent, midge infestations are spreading across the Texas High Plains.

The midge, a small insect about the size of a gnat, is not destructive but its larvae feed on the internal content of seed.

While no midge infestation has as yet been reported in Deaf Smith County, both experimental facilities are predicting the possibility of heavy infestations throughout the High Plains.

Midge has emerged from first Johnson grass samples taken on June 10. From that date, the insect has been found in Lubbock, Garza, Dawson, Hockley, Crosby, Terry, Lynn, Lamb, Hale, Gaines, Floyd and Dickens counties according to the Extension Service.

On July 3, Delbert Langford, associate agronomist of High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway, announced that midge is now infesting grain sorghum throughout the area.

He has alerted farmers to take measures to protect their grain sorghum since the insect can completely eliminate a crop.

The insect is also reported to have been discovered in Johnsongrass heads near Arniey, approximately 20 miles southeast of Hereford.

With the threat of a midge infestation in late planted grain sorghum throughout the Panhandle, a research program dealing with the insect is being set up.

Attending a conference held Wednesday at the Lubbock experiment station were Bill Waldrep, Palmer Norton, R. G. Peeler, and Thomas.

This meeting was attended by farmers, elevator men, Grain Sorghum Producers Association representatives, bankers, fertilizer dealers, hybrid seed growers, Chambers of Commerce representative, experiment station personnel, and Dr. J. C. Gaines, entomologist of Texas A. & M. College, who heads midge research program.

These interested persons are financing a research program which calls for the expenditure of $7500 in donated funds and a $7500 state appropriation.

With the program underway, a population survey of sorghum midge is being conducted on the High Plains by Extension Service entomologists.

Results of this survey indicate that a serious midge infestation in late planted sorghum is "very probable" this year.

The adult midge is a small, fragile, orange-colored, gnat-like insect about 1/12th of an inch in length. The majority of midge complete a life cycle in 14 to 16 days.

The first generation of midge usually develops in seed heads of Johnsongrass and/or other grasses. These newly emerged adults may fly several miles to fields when grain sorghum seed heads begin to emerge from the boot.

According to experiment station information, the female lives only one or two days with the males living a shorter period.

Adult midge mate shortly after emergence with the female, which lays from 50 to 250 eggs. Eggs are deposited in the spikelets soon after heads appear from the boot. Injury to sorghum occurs as larvae feed on internal content of seed.

Accidents Drop Within Hereford

The number of traffic accidents in Hereford has been dropping since a series of serious accidents took the life of a Deaf Smith County man, injured 17 persons, and caused an estimated $11,000 in damages during June.

Seven accidents have occurred within the city resulting in three minor injuries and damages amounting to $1738 since July 1, according to Marshall Padgett, chief of police.

With the increase in accidents during June, it was announced that patrolmen had been ordered to step up enforcement of traffic ordinances.

During the month, according to Padgett, a total of 222 traffic citations were issued. Majority of the tickets were issued for speeding, running stop signs and no driver's license.

Fines on tickets has been averaging $15, Padgett stated. In noting the "considerable drop" in the number of accidents since the first of the month, the Chief of Police stated that the drivers has slowed down and are being more cautious.

He urged that all drivers continue to observe city traffic ordinances and to be especially careful at intersections.

WITH THE CURRENT WEED problem and the possibility of a heavy grain sorghum midge infestation facing area producers, spray planes are busy throughout the county. The weed problem has been caused mainly by heavy rains experienced in the late spring and continuing showers. With the prospect of the midge infestation, sorghum producers are being alerted to control the insect before it lays eggs in the grain's bloom. None of the insects have as yet been found in the county, but they have been found in surrounding counties. (Staff Photo)

Pony Stars Fall To Babe Ruth From Plainview, 9-5

Hereford's Pony League All-Stars fell 9-5 to the Plainview Babe Ruth All-Stars here Thursday night in a practice game. But the younger Hereford boys, 13 and 14, drew high praise for their showing against the 14 and 15-year-olds.

Plainview lost little time in showing its power. With one out, Lloyd Watts singled. With two away, David Maggard got on by error, stole second and went to third on an error as Watts came in. Then Baxter McAlister slammed a home run that hit high on the light pole behind right-center.

Hereford came back to knot the score, 3-3, in the last of the first. Mike Horton drew a walk. Robert Wagner drew a base on balls but was forced on Gene Duvall's fielder's choice. Bill Watts walked and Jim Allison singled in two runs. Watts stole home for the tying run.

Plainview went in front in the third with one run on a single and three fielder's choices. The third out came on a neat pick-off from pitcher Felix Albiar to Allison at first.

McAlister scored in the fourth with a single, two walks and a wild pitch.

Plainview got two more runs in the fifth on a single a triple by David Maggard and a sacrifice fly. That made it 7-3.

Hereford rallied in the sixth for two runs on a single by Watts, a double by Allison and two hard-hit ground balls.

Plainview wrapped it up in the seventh with a pair of runs on a walk, a hit batter, an error, a fielder's choice and another walk.

Lloyd Watts, Plainview's sparkling shortstop, started two double plays for his team. One came in the second from Watts to Campbell at first on a line shot. The other was in the seventh and went from Watts to Goodwin at second to Campbell.

Felix Albiar, although tagged with the loss, was particularly effective with his curve ball as he had the Plainview batters swinging early and high. He gave up five runs in four innings, on four hits, walked three and struck out six. Lee Robinson worked one inning and allowed two runs on two hits, walked none and struck out none. Gene Duvall pitched the last two innings and gave up two runs on no hits, walked two and struck out two.

Baxter McAlister went all the way for Plainview. He gave up five runs on five hits, walked four and struck out eight.

Watts and McAlister each got two hits for Plainview, as did Jim Allison for Hereford.

Redbirds Rained Out Friday In Legion Tourney

Hereford waited and waited in Amarillo Friday night to play its first game in the American Legion District 18 tournament... and then got rained out after three innings.

The Redbirds saw Caprock edge past Amarillo 3-2 in 11 innings in the first game. They started their game with Tascosa at 9:55 p. m., but got in just three innings before a deluge washed out the rest of the contest with Hereford trailing 1-2.

Hereford was to replay that game at 3 p. m. Saturday and then play again that night. Their second game was to be at 6 p. m. if they lost and 8:30 p. m. if they won.

If Hereford should win either game Saturday, it will play Sunday afternoon. First game is slated for 2 p. m. and the second for 4:30 p. m. There is a possibility of a final game Monday.

The Redbirds ended up as co-champions with Caprock for the right to enter the tournament for the third straight year.

Back again Saturday afternoon.

We thought the heat had gotten us for sure the other day. Driving up Avenue F, we saw a whole covey of girls in the middle of the street, just jumping up and down like crazy. We felt a lot better when we got closer and found that it was the 1963-64 high school cheerleaders practicing for football season. They were in the street because that is where it was shady. They have practices once or twice a day all summer long, plus a week or so at a college workshop, which sounds more strenuous than football to me.

Hereford's Amateur baseball team, the Latinos, will host Sudan here Sunday, July 14, at 1:30 p. m. Their field is in the southeast part of town just south of the railroad tracks. On Sunday, July 21, they will host Lamesa with all proceeds going to Dr. Edwards for her maternity clinic at the Labor Camp.

This has been one of those weeks where everyone seems to run in circles and yet not get much accomplished. For lack of something better, we have blamed it all on the heat and the humidity, which every one agrees is ferocious.

And speaking of weather, we've never been able to find out for sure, but we strongly suspect that Clay Angelo packs his thermometer in ice cubes occasionally. Clay maintains the official weather reporting station here and still hasn't gotten a 100-degree reading, although all the other thermometers in town have been at least that high during the week. But the nice thing about Clay's reading is that it gives the town a nice reputation elsewhere.

to the Extension Service. Chemical control is aimed at destruction of adult midge before egg laying begins.

Treatment should be made as soon as 90 per cent of milo heads have emerged from boots, but never later than three days afterwards, recommend service entomologists.

It is admitted that no accurate means exist to predict midge infestation. Previous work has, however, shown that it is "usually not profitable to apply chemical control after midge are found within a sorghum field," the Extension service reports.

While no damage has been reported due to midge in Deaf Smith County, checks have been made throughout the August during the last two years, according to Thomas.

"An adult midge has not been found in the county," the county agent reported. "However, heads from late planted grain sorghums have been sent in and midge hatched from the seed. These heads never represented as much as a five per cent infestation."

Some sorghum fields in the county are now heading out with most early planted maize expected to head out about Aug. 1.

Late planted grain is not expected to begin heading out until the middle of the month.

Chemicals recommended for control of midge are Endrin, Servin and Toxaphene. Farmers should contact local dealers for application rates and methods.

Further information concerning application of insecticides also can be obtained through the County Agent's office.

SCOOTING BACK QUICKLY to first, Bill Watts of Hereford was safe after hitting a single in the sixth inning. Making the play after a quick throw back into the infield is Plainview first baseman Johnny Campbell. The two teams had a good practice game with the age and size of the Plainview Babe Ruth players overcoming the hustle of the Hereford Pony League. (Staff Photo)

SHOP EARLY FOR BEST BUYS

By Melvin Young
Once again the thermometer has soared upwards to top the 100 degree mark, and once again we're suffering from the heat... mostly due to the humidity which we just shouldn't have in this cool climate of ours. Of course, we're used to the hot days, but seldom do we have the kind of weather that keeps you suffering throughout the night. And that we have had the past two weeks. And we don't see any possibility of it letting up. One thing about it though, it makes you want to get up in the morning.

The vacation season is fast passing by and we haven't had ours. Prospects aren't too bright either. We have just shipped our wife off to Monterrey, Mexico, for six weeks schooling at the Institute of Technology and do plan to go down and pick her up when the course is finished. However, the schedule being what it is, it sure doesn't leave much time for a family vacation. However, with her out of town, we might slip off to the lake some evening after work.

Meanwhile, Jimmie and Buz Gilentine are still traveling north. We received a note (and a Bull Column) from Jimmie yesterday and apparently they are having a ball. However, it's a long, long way from Hereford to Fairbanks, Alaska, their final destination, and we're predicting that they will be plenty tired of driving and riding before this trip is over.

The Annual Harvest Festival is shaping up nicely, and we mean that literally. The office has been filled with bathing beauties this past week having their picture made for publication prior to the Jay-Cee sponsored beauty contest. The contest, scheduled for Thursday night, July 18, will kick off the week-long festival.

Another highlight of the annual observance will be the Rider's Club Rodeo scheduled for Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 25, 26 and 27th. All in all, it should be a full week for participants.

Mrs. Bob Sims, local school teacher, has a unique way of getting her husband out of bed each morning. Mrs. Sims is enrolled in summer school at West Texas University and due to an early class, she has to leave home about the time husband Bob should be getting out of bed. And apparently he's a pretty heavy sleeper.

Anyhow, Mrs. Sims puts his breakfast rolls in the oven, tells Bob that she is leaving and if he doesn't get up the rolls will burn. Bob reluctantly arises.

Albert Maxwell, manager of Hereford Growers and Shippers, is still shaking his head and wondering what happened. Of course, all the potato sheds have been busy the past week as the harvest rolls towards the peak, but when all the machinery started running backwards, then things really got into a turmoil. No one knows for sure what the problem was, or else won't admit it, but everything was going along pretty smooth until suddenly all the machinery reversed and started going the other way. However, the boys from Southwestern Public Service Company arrived on the scene and soon had things back to normal. Nevertheless, the folks on the sorting line were a little startled when the potatoes started coming back towards them.

And THERE

With Mrs. Merila Kaul Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Dodson and Madeline Bell have returned home from an extended trip to points in the North Central States and Canada. They reported a fine trip which included Custer National Park in South Dakota, Flathead Lake in Montana (where they did the fishing for the trip), Banff, Lake Louise, Jasper, Glacier National Park, Revelstoke National Park, and Waterton National Park, all in Canada.

The Dodsons made many slides of the trip which they are now compiling. They will then be available to be shown for any who desire to see them. Both Mrs. Dodson and Madeline Bell are teachers at Aikman Elementary School.

Cuban Teacher Recalls Her Persecution By Communists

By Dale Stevens
Brand Society Editor

Carrying a baby in her arms and with three small children following her, Elizabeth Ramos left her native Cuba at the age of 18 under an assumed name. Leaving their parents behind and pretending to be strangers, she and her young brother boarded the plane for the United States and freedom.

Speaking to the members of Christian Women's Fellowship and their guests following a salad supper at First Christian Church Tuesday evening, the Wayland College junior recalled the large number of children, apparently alone, crowding the Havana airport that day one year and one month ago. Suddenly a mother ran up, thrust a baby into her arms, and ran away.

When Elizabeth and her brother managed to catch her, the mother pleaded with them to take her baby with them to the United States. Even though she had no friends or relatives there to care for the child, she insisted that they take the baby. As Miss Ramos started toward the plane, three other children, probably acting on instructions from their parents, clustered around her and boarded the plane with her.

Miss Ramos then told her audience of the events which led to the strange flight from Cuba. The daughter of a Baptist minister who was also a professor at Havana University and a mother who taught in her own private school, she was a graduate of the Institute of Havana, the Havana Conservatory of Music, and was a student at the University of Havana and a high school music teacher when Castro took over Cuba.

Cuba at the time was beautiful, very happy, and economically sound, Miss Ramos recalled. The people sang and joked and were free. All church denominations were well represented, with most people church-goers. The young people of her church walked out on Sunday mornings and evenings to gather children for Sunday School and Training Union. They dressed the children, fed them crackers, and cookies, led them to church and home again. Soon there were 400 members in Sunday School and 200 at the evening service.

One day when they went out to get their children, they were unable to find them. Later they saw the younger children on buses. They had been gathered by the communists and taken to camps for baseball, fishing, candy, and cookies, and told that they would go there every Sunday rather than church.

Adolescents were given uniforms and revolvers. They were told, "Now you are important. Church is for old women, and you have more important things to do." Young adults were promised trips to Europe with all expenses paid if they would agree to go to an indoctrination school for three months and sign pledges that they would not go to church.

Older people were forced to work on Sundays. Those who did go to church were harassed by groups singing communist songs and demonstrating in front of the church, then threatened with prison and death. First they could find no peace in which to worship; then they became afraid to go to church.

Now, continued Miss Ramos, there are about 100,000 Christians in Cuban prisons. When asked their crimes, they are told the first reason is because they believe in God and the second reason is because they love liberty.

One year after Castro's regime began, Miss Ramos arrived at her university classes to find new professors and new books. One new professor's opening statement was that God was the first communist and cited the Sermon on the Mount as his proof. Miss Ramos stated that she wished to argue the statement and he assigned her time the next week. In preparing her refutation she was assisted by her father, the Catholic pastor, and other. By the time she finished her talk, the classroom was filled with men with guns. Everyone was concerned for her safety.

A new principal was assigned to her school. As music teacher she was given a new song to teach her children. When she refused to teach the song, which included the words, "I do not believe in God," the principal told her that as a young person and a professional she would not be imprisoned, but if she continued to refuse, either her students or their parents would be harmed.

Rather than allow anything to happen to them because of her, Miss Ramos returned to her classroom and began to dictate the words of the new song. The students, some of whom were in her church choir and Sunday School classes, protested strongly. The principal arrived at this time and repeated his threats against them and their parents. The father of one of the students had died in prison. His mother had been made by prison guards to stay outdoors without food as punishment for singing "Silent Night" and was dying of pneumonia. The boy shouted, "you can't hurt them anymore, so take me and kill me too so that I may join them in eternity."

In other efforts to destroy children to pray to God for cookies and candy. After waiting a while, he said to them that since God did not answer their prayer that they should pray to Fidel. They did and were given the cookies and candy.

Another example of the communists takeover cited by Miss Ramos was the loss of her mother's school. They offered her $2,000 to be paid over a period of 20 years for her property, which was valued at $20,000.

Miss Ramos included in her discussion shortage of food, lack of medicine, betrayal within families, exorbitant prison sentences, loss of personal possessions, the difficulties, even impossibilities, of leaving Cuba,

THE STRANGEST STORY EVER TOLD!

ACCIDENTS INCREASE

Highway Patrol Investigates 9 Accidents During June

Nine rural accidents accounting for three injuries and a property loss estimated at $4335 were investigated by the Texas Highway Patrol during the month of June, according to Sgt. W. E. Wells, area patrol supervisor.

The Sergeant stated these accidents bring the total for Deaf Smith County to 36 accidents for the year.

Seven persons have been injured and property damages have been placed at $14,965. No traffic fatalities have been reported in rural accidents so far this year.

One traffic fatality has, however, been reported in a crash barely inside the city limits of Hereford.

As a comparison, Wells cited statistics for the first six months of 1962.

Even though the number of traffic accidents has increased from 24 in 1962 to 36 in 1963, the amount of damages and the number of persons injured has decreased in rural accidents.

Property damages for the first half of 1962 were estimated at $23,767 and 24 persons were injured.

"Prior to July 1, there had been a total of 941 fatal accidents in Texas," said Sergeant Wells. "These accidents took the lives of 1136 persons."

He continued pointing out that with the year half gone definite indications are that traffic deaths in the state will hit an all-time high in 1963.

"Motoricides this year are over 100 more than for the same period last year," he pointed out. "If we continue to take lives at the present rate, 1963 will become the most deadly year for traffic fatalities in Texas history."

Considering the trend of increased accidents and casualties that has been established, he continued, the Department of Public Safety has every reason to expect traffic deaths to exceed the previous all-time high in Texas of 2611 recorded in 1956.

"Only 191 more deaths in 1963 than in 1962 will make the total of 2612 deaths, an all-time high and an increase for the year of eight per cent over 1962. Deaths this year have consistently been in excess of eight per cent over a year ago," he stated.

The veteran highway patrol Sergeant concluded, "This is not just a probability, it is fairly certain to become a reality unless the motoring public becomes more thoughtful in regard to complying with all traffic laws which would break the trend."

Service Facilities In Area Improved

Construction and improvement activities in the Hereford District of the Southwestern Public Service Company have centered on three major projects recently. All are in service or operation.

A new storeroom and service center for the district has been built at 308 E. New York St. in Hereford. The new facility, with improved storage areas and faster communications to outlying regions in the district, will result in improved service for customers under both normal and emergency conditions.

Growth of the district has also led to the addition of a new three man line crew. This increase in personnel was accompanied by the purchase of another line truck.

The new crew is made up of Dale Gibson, foreman; Tony Cahill, truck driver; and Tommy Johnson, lineman. Gibson came to Hereford from Pampa, Cahill is a new employee, and Johnson has been working with the system construction department of Southwestern operating out of Amarillo.

The Vega area of the district has benefited from the construction of a new line from the Wilbordo substation to Vega. The new line, shielded for lightning protection and employing a large conductor, provides the electric power for additional growth, electrically, at Vega, in addition to improving service in the community.

The Hereford District projects, representing an investment of nearly $150,000, are part of the Southwestern Public Service Company improvement and construction program for 1963 which calls for nearly $25,000,000 in new construction.

Traffic Safety Is Job For All Hereford Folks

Traffic safety is the responsibility of all persons. And it seems that we residents of Hereford have been falling down on the job lately.

A rash of accidents has marred our usual good safety record. City officials, particularly the police, are concerned by the upturn of wrecks that are so costly in property damage and, most important, in personal injuries.

But Hereford only has a few police to cope with the many miles of streets in the city. And these men, despite a 24-hour vigilance, aren't able to think for those of us who walk, drive or ride bicycles. They just can't be every place at once, although that is what they would like.

If we had a patrol car parked at each corner or a policeman riding with us in the front seat, our traffic mishaps would be sharply trimmed.

What we need is a revision of our thinking, so that we drive, ride or walk all the time as if that policeman were right with us. With the replacement of yield signs with stop signs, many of our physical hazards have been removed, so we can't use inadequate traffic controls for excuses.

The records show that most of the accidents are taking place at marked, or controlled intersections with either stop lights or signs clearly visible. It's up to us to obey them.

But even more important is a needed change of attitude. Defensive driving must become the rule and not the exception. Strangers, visitors and newcomers don't know Hereford as we do and, consequently, may fail to see the stop sign that all of us know is there. That is where defensive driving becomes important. You must be aware not only of what you are doing but anticipating what others may do.

Another point that becomes apparent when traffic accidents are studied is the carelessness or complacency of local drivers. Instead of a full stop, we just slow down, look casually down the street and then drive on. We tend to assume that everyone knows that we always turn left at a certain intersection, so why should we bother to signal?

Safety, particularly where vehicles are concerned, is a full-time job and one that requires complete concentration and adherence to the rules.

Hereford is growing and, in common with all other American cities, traffic is becoming a bigger problem. With more people come more cars and more traffic. We need to raise our guard against wrecks . . . and keep it raised.

Hereford again can become one of the nation's safest cities. It has won several awards in the past for its outstanding traffic safety record. But it isn't the awards that are important. The two important things are lives and property.

Only you, and your fellow drivers, can prevent traffic accidents.

All John Q. Asks Is Park Facility

Once upon a time, or so older residents say, there was a stream which flowed gently but constantly from Hereford. As it wended its way toward Palo Duro Canyon, it was banked by beautiful trees and grass with occasional wild flowers adding color to the scene.

The creek still is there although it doesn't flow so much. The grass is a little shorter and some of the trees are dead. But the potential is much the same as it was then when settlers almost called their new town Blue Water instead of Hereford.

The city has part of the property along the creek. Another large tract is owned by two veterans groups.

A fine, nine-hole golf course covers the city's part of this restful landscape. But the rest is covered with sparse grass and almost nothing else.

Visitors to Hereford often have commented that we have a priceless location and facilities for a park along the creek. But natural beauty and location won't make a park.

Right now, the future is in doubt. The land was sold to veterans' groups following World War II with the understanding that it be made into a park. Some sporadic efforts have been made, but they didn't amount to much. Part of the land has been sold off.

Some offers have been made and rejected. Other offers have been met with counter-offers. We know that at least two groups now are working toward agreements that might be satisfactory to both sides.

One thing is apparent to an outsider: The quicker the land is made into a park, the happier the public will be. Hereford has a number of parks, and they are frequently used. But Dameron Park or North Park can't offer the same recreational opportunities as a park along Tierra Blanca Creek.

Hereford is growing and it needs more parks—and whether they are owned by the city, county or veterans is of little consequence to John Q. and his family when they want an outing.

It worries us that the area along the creek will, by one means or another pass into private ownership and thus be lost from the purpose originally intended. But he public has waited patiently for almost 20 years and still doesn't have the park it was promised. John Q.'s patience might be wearing a little thin at this point . . . and with good reason.

If the land in question should ever pass out of public control, all of us would be the loser, for there just isn't another location in or around Hereford that would have the natural beauty, the variety, the convenience or the size of the one in question.

Good old John Q. is a pretty nice guy, and rather easy-going, but we wonder if he can be patient much longer.

Investigating Committee Makes 'Carla' Report

"Hurricane Carla" an official report of the House General Investigating Committee has just been released in Austin.

The 15 page report praised what it called "responsible performance" on the part of those companies operating within the rules and regulations of the State Board of Insurance and particularly those companies represented by local, established insurance agents.

The most serious complaints heard by the Committee were told by witnesses who did not have the services of an insurance agent with whom they were personally acquainted. Many were uncertain whom to contact about their loss, stating their insurance was handled by an investment company or had been bought by mail.

The persons most confused and dissatisfied were those who had purchased insurance at less than manual rates, were without the services of a local agent, or had policies written by carriers not under the regulation of the State Board of Insurance such as county mutuals operating on a state-wide basis, reciprocals and Lloyds. The major points in the Committee's conclusions and recommendations are as follows:

1. The word "hurricane" now carried on the face of the standard Texas Policies is misleading and should be removed.
 2. Exclusion of Rising Water Damage should be prominently displayed as part of the extended coverage portion of the policy face.
 3. Although insurance companies are unwilling to underwrite any flood type insurance—and there seems adequate testimony from previous investigations at the national level that there is little demand on the part of the public for such coverage during periods of normal weather fluctuations—every effort should be made to provide this coverage on an optional basis.
- Such optional coverage should be made available at rates consistent with sound underwriting principles and should be prescribed so as not to add to the cost of insurance for those not interested in, nor subject to, the hazard of rising waters. It is doubtful there would be much interest in such coverage, but the fact that a policyholder would at least have the choice to any such coverage would eliminate much of the confusion that existed during Carla.
- Actually, in numerous instances insurance companies did, in fact, pay for most rising water damage. This resulted in disparity between those policyholders who settled their losses immediately following the storm with little or no payments for rising water damage.
4. A copy of the complete insurance contract should be issued to every insured.
 5. The confusion which existed in the minds of the public regarding coverage confirms the wisdom of the Legislature in resisting efforts to procure a variety of policies with varying coverages; and it indicates desirability of a uniform policy which guarantees the same coverages to the public. Performance of insurance companies can best be measured under a standard policy rather than a variety of policies and interpretations.
 6. All insurance carriers should be placed under the same rules and regulations. There was a consistent disparity of performance between companies operating through local, established insurance agents under the control of the State Board of Insurance and those companies which are not subject to regulation by the State Board.
- This indicated that those county mutuals which operate on a state-wide basis, Lloyds and reciprocals should be subject to the same rules and regulations as other insurance carriers. (An exception would be those county mutuals operating solely within one county.)
7. Consistently those policyholders who were represented by local facilities and agents received better treatment and service than those who were not.
 8. The Agents Licensing Law needs revision. Imperfections have increased with accelerated business pace and it is recommended that an improved licensing law be enacted which would provide

Fire Company Sending Team After Fuqua Cup

At an enthusiastic meeting of the Hereford Fire Company, Wednesday night the company decided to send a team to Vernon to compete for the Fuqua Cup when the various Panhandle Fire and Hose Companies meet there August the twentieth. The Fuqua Cup is recognized as the most important prize of the many that are offered at the important meet, and is given to the team making the quickest coupling to the fire hydrant and throwing water. In this event four men compose a team and 100 feet of hose is laid in a line from the hydrant. The men run two hundred and fifty feet, two to the fireplug and make the connections and two to the nozzle and make the connections. Time is figured from the crack of the gun until water issues from the nozzle.

40 YEARS AGO

Strong representations have been made recently to the city commission to pass an ordinance prohibiting the peddling of meat and fruit in carload quantities on the streets of the city. The meat market people have argued that they thought the fact that they were serving the best meat obtainable, at reasonable prices in a modern, sanitary way should be recognized and protected from competition that did not provide such desirable service. Other merchants have objected to the "hawking" of carload fruits from the tracks and trucks, though there has been no objection raised to the farmers marketing their produce and garden truck. The city cannot stop the person from renting a lot and selling their wares but can stop the use of the streets for such purposes.

AIRLINES EYE RANDALL COUNTY

Major airlines serving Amarillo definitely are interested in a Randall County move to build an airport between Canyon and Amarillo. This information came this week from Wayne Kelso, one of the proponents of the county airport. Kelso told members of Randall County commissioners court that the number of petitioners required for calling an airport bond issue would have been secured within 30 days from July 1. He said the needed number of names on petition already would be available but for the fact that two petitions bearing more than 100 names from the Bushland and Umbarger areas were lost.

NEW HIGH SCHOOL SITE PICKED

The site for Littlefield's new high school building was confirmed over the weekend—it will be on 21 acres of the Harrell estate land at the corner of West 10th and Sunset. The estate returned the approved contract over the weekend and it is ready to be executed subject only to a marketable title. School board members were apparently well pleased in securing the plot. Reported price for the land was $20,000. The new high school plant itself will cost an estimated $650,000. Supt. Glenn Reeves said the board hopes to let contracts on the new building during September as a later date might not give the contractor enough time to have facilities ready for occupancy in September, 1964. Specifications on the new building are still to be approved. The architect's preliminary plans had the building laid out on a square plot while the chosen site is rectangular in size.

SUNSHINE BRIGHTENS CROP OUTLOOK

Farmers in the Olton area are beginning to eye their crops with more optimism since the sun has taken a notion to shine. For two weeks now, the hot, dry weather has done wonders for crop possibilities. Some say the weather break came too late, and hundreds of acres of cotton were lost. A number of men have taken the soybean route. Many who lost cotton have, however, planted grain sorghum.

RETAIL BUSINESS LEVEL HIGH

For Ochiltree County's retail merchants, business was at a high level during the past year as local residents returned to the market place in force. The total for all retail selling in the county in 1962 was $14,252,300, the highest figure in history. One reason given for this upsurge was that incomes were higher on the average. Another is that the recession that was threatened failed to materialize.

TEC AUTHORIZES BRACEROS

With weeds popping up in cotton fields and not enough domestic labor available, area farmers got authorization from Texas Employment Commission office this week to bring in braceros as hoe hands. A July ceiling of 850 Mexican Nationals was set in a certification from the state office. This applies to the five-county area served by the local office—Lamb, Bailey, Castro, Deaf Smith, and Farmer Counties. The demand at present is for hoe hands, harvesters for summer crops, and irrigators. The agreement with Mexico prohibits use of braceros in operating power-driven farm machinery.

THE BOOTLEG —Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm has an idea this week which is his, not ours. Dear editor:

People in Washington are always wondering what's going on behind the Iron Curtain, what the Russians are doing, how they get such heavy loads shot into orbit, is Khrushchev on the way out, etc., but nobody ever knows for sure.

I don't know, either, but I have discovered without even getting off this bindweed farm that freedom of speech is about to break out in Russia.

I found out this way. I was looking through a copy of the New York Times which I found here wedged against a fence and which must have fallen out of an airplane, which is the only way I know it could have gotten here unless some New York sociologist was driving by here studying my place as an example of rural blight and it blew out of his car. At any rate, over in the magazine section I found a picture which made me suddenly realize freedom of speech is headed for Russia.

The picture showed a row of Russian women with their hair in curlers sitting under driers in a Russian beauty shop.

I don't know if Mr. Khrushchev knows this, but you can't have a bunch of women sitting under driers all afternoon without developing freedom of speech in all directions. One of the women under a drier was holding a newspaper, but the others were just sitting there, and right there is where Mr. Khrushchev has slipped. It is a violation of human nature to have women sitting in a beauty shop under a drier and not expect to have an uncontrolled flow of conversation develop.

It is a fact of political life that mayors are beaten, school trustees defeated, governors exposed, and presidents tarnished as a result of the free play of words by women under driers, and this doesn't take into consideration what happens to all the individual lesser people who are given an honest going-over when nothing else is at hand to talk about.

Washington may not have found it out yet, but Mr. Khrushchev's whole system of follow-the-leader was imperiled when he allowed women to go to beauty shops.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

the entrance of part-time applicants or anything less than full business dedication and performance to the well-being of the insurance buying public.

9. Consideration should be given to licensing of insurance adjusters. Several cases were reported in which incompetent adjusters created many of the grievances.

10. In spite of advance planning to handle large scale disasters, mechanical breakdowns deprived the public of the service to which they were entitled.

11. Hesitancy of the insurance industry to state its position promptly and forthrightly was partially responsible for the degeneration of public attitudes.

12. The State Board should cancel the license of any company which consistently abuses the rights of its policyholders.

13. There was some effort to treat emergency cases on a priority basis. In many areas where rising water was involved, there seemed to be a deliberate effort to stay out "until things calmed down."

14. Complete copies of policies should be provided to insureds.

15. A minimum fee for substitution of policies should be established. There is a tendency not to substitute policies due to substitution fees ranging up to $25.00 imposed by mortgage companies. It is recommended that a fee for substitution be not more than $5.00.

ALASKA BOUND! But it wasn't easy. It took around four years, in fact — and if we weren't on the way, neither Buz they wanted and, sure enough, we had gone off without our water jug and suitcases. Considering that the hour was yet before 7 a. m., we were profuse in expressing our appreciation, but the gals just smiled and said:

"That's OK. We were afraid you might come back for them — and back out." Otherwise, we got off to a flying start. We pulled in at Dillard to eat breakfast, and ran smack into Zearl Cansler and Mutt Wheeler. When they found out where we were headed, they insisted on buying our breakfast — which was the last thing we have had for free since. I would like to run into those guys again around Fairbanks. After a couple of weeks of our cooking, we sure would take them — but plenty.

If the surveys are honest and forthright, there isn't any question but that the No. 1 song on the "Hit Parade" will be that old "about 'Tie me kangaroo down, Sport." It seems to be the only thing we get over any station, regardless of time or place.

Also the newest thing we have seen in shaying cream signs reads: "Henry VIII's trouble — short term wives — long range stubble."

Another thing: Thanks to all of the nice, nice people who keep on telling me that I should start the Bull Column back. Actually, it is almost impossible to do unless you spend a lot of time researching people and places and, since we got the Southwest Offset going, I see very few people and get around to very few local places. Eula Lee Cave, bless her heart, always gives me ego a big boost by screaming about the column's absence. I know she is kidding, but I always like it, anyway.

Back to the trip. Buz and I are making it in a Corvan. We built in a bed and a sort of kitchen — and we are hoping that both of them work. Anyway, they are not rattling much... so far. We talked C. E. Coleman out of the van for a month or six weeks, and Melvin Young says he will print the ollurns... provided they interest him. We tried to do everything right — even to buying our groceries before we left and on double-stamp day, and our clothes on Dollar Day. Incidentally, we expect to do our laundry at those coin machine places. We wear T-shirts for driving and when we come to a town we slip on a sports shirt. The only indication this first day is that maybe I should have brought along some suntan lotion.

Every two or three weeks we expect to stop at a motel and take a bath, whether we need it or not. A lot of folks in Deaf Smith County hail from Collingsworth County and will remember Johnny Crawford. We saw a couple of his trucks at Kit Carson, Colo., but didn't run across Johnny anywhere. Wheat harvest is going full blast in these parts and I guess most of these crews will follow the harvest right on into Canada. However, like at home the wheat looks fairly poor this year.

So far the only complaint we have about the van is the air conditioner, which is not too efficient. It is simple though; all you have to do is roll down the windows.

This afternoon we came to Medicine Bow and stopped for coffee, chiefly because this is the place where the Virginian shot Trampas in the famous book and movie. Everywhere they have cards and stickers reading, "When you call me that, smile". It was fiction, of course, but the setting was in this old hotel, which still looks very much every part of the Old West as portrayed in Owen Wister's book.

It is also interesting to note the names of towns in the area, including Coyote Springs, Sweet Water, and Split Rock. When you compare these with Plainville, Levelland, Amarillo and Hereford, it seems evident that the early settlers must pretty well select town names in a highly practical manner.

We just made it through Denver and the sun was still high, so we decided to roll on into Laramie. Sport is still holding down that old boy's kangaroo and Clyde has strung his hide on the barn eight times that I can recall.

We are beginning to wonder where we can park the van to sleep at nights. Looks as if this may become a problem in these parts, although we hope that places are provided when we get a little further north. When the Virgil Dodsons made the trip a year or so back, they stayed in motels, but had to stop early. Betty Turpen had the same report. Dean Herring flew up, however, and maybe he had the best idea, especially when you look over the string of trout he caught on Kodiak Island.

The sun was still hanging high when we got to Laramie, so we decided to move on to Rawlins, Wyo. I keep remembering that Harold Close worked here in a drug store when he was a kid, but no one has mentioned him as yet. We solved the parking problem by asking a youngster at a Texaco station where to stay. He motioned to the rear of the station and said, "Just pull up there away from traffic noise. We have hot and cold water in the rest rooms — and this is a 24-hour station. We even have a coffee and cocoa machine if you want a cup before you take off in the morning."

VISIT RELATIVES

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Adams and daughters Randy and Lee-Ann, from Kermit are visiting her mother, Mrs. F. N. Pittman this week.

All of which goes to prove that folks are pretty nice, no matter where you happen to be. This young man told us that there were only 240,000 people in the entire state of Wyoming — and he was quite proud that Rawlins had more than 9,000 of the total. I always thought that our country was sparsely populated, but when you stop to think that Amarillo, Lubbock and Hereford have more population than the entire state, maybe we are not so sparsely populated at that.

So far we have made very good time, although we have not exceeded the speed limits in any state, due mostly to the fact that our van pretty well has a top speed of 65 - miles per hour, with maybe 70 downhill. The scenery, too, has been fairly commonplace, although it is beginning to pick up in the Wyoming country — and we are looking forward to the Tetons and Yellowstone Park. We expect to do some fishing in the Snake River and around West Yellowstone, both of which are supposed to be outstanding.

We were also most happy to find that our sleeping arrangements, chiefly a pull-out studio couch which we converted into the van, was tops. When we run across something we like, we expect to stay as long as we are interested. It is the first time either of us ever took a trip without a specific schedule — and we think we will like it for a change.

Back to the trip. Buz and I are making it in a Corvan. We built in a bed and a sort of kitchen — and we are hoping that both of them work. Anyway, they are not rattling much... so far. We talked C. E. Coleman out of the van for a month or six weeks, and Melvin Young says he will print the ollurns... provided they interest him. We tried to do everything right — even to buying our groceries before we left and on double-stamp day, and our clothes on Dollar Day. Incidentally, we expect to do our laundry at those coin machine places. We wear T-shirts for driving and when we come to a town we slip on a sports shirt. The only indication this first day is that maybe I should have brought along some suntan lotion.

Eugene Fooks Is New Minister Of Church Of Christ

The personal philosophy of the new minister of Central Church of Christ, Eugene Fooks, is based on Paul's statement, "I am a debtor of all men," in his letter to the Romans. "I feel this debt very keenly," Fooks stated, "and I am very grateful for all that is already here to serve my family and me."

In taking advantage of the labor of others, Fooks feels that he must try to do something to show his appreciation for what has been done by serving the community in any way that he can. In the communities where he has lived, he has been active in church, school, civic, and community life. He has been a PTA president and active in Lions Club.

A minister since 1947, Fooks has been pastor of churches in Paducah, Frederick, Okla., and Lake Highlands in Dallas before coming to Hereford. He has attended the University of Wichita, Abilene Christian College, and the University of Oklahoma. His graduate work has been in the guidance field.

Born in Texico, N. M., and reared near Grady, N. M., Fooks was a B-17 pilot during World War II in the European campaign. He and his wife, Dorothy, have two daughters, Jackie, who will begin her college work at Abilene Christian College this month, and Kathy, who will be in the seventh grade this fall.

One of Fooks' principal interests is his hobby, writing. He has published two books, "The Tipton House Story and Select Tipton Stories by Christians. Among the religious journals which have published his articles are "Firm Foundation" and "Twentieth Century Christian."
