Around Town

Highway commissioner Marshall Formby answered the three petitions from Hereford asking for a traffic light at the intersection of Highway 51 and Park Ave., by saying he was sympathetic with the problem and was aware of the traffic hazard, but state laws on the minimum traffic count necessary for a traffic light are very specific. Formby promised the 968 petitioners a new traffic count at the intersection "very soon." Formby's letter was received Saturday morning.

CROP Drive Brings $681

While other Panhandle towns were having troubles with vandalism and gang fights, Hereford youngsters collected $681.57 for the Christian Rural Overseas Program (CROP) on Halloween night. The funds will be used to buy food for needy children in European countries.

C. C. Billingslea said the fourth annual CROP drive was a "huge success." About 75 volunteer young workers went from door to door accepting donations.

Poppy Sales Set Here on Nov. 9

Mrs. L. H. Lookingbill Jr., president of VFW Auxiliary, announced today that the sales of the "buddy poppy" will begin Saturday, Nov. 9.

"The people of this community have always supported our Buddy Poppy sales most generously," Mrs. Lookingbill said, "and we wish to stress that none of the money that the public contributes will be spent for campaign administrative purposes, but for the work of assisting the disabled and needy veterans of our armed forces. We are pledged to the principle that says 'honor the dead by helping the living.'"

The auxiliary uses the commission which they receive from the poppy sales to help a needy veteran family in this community.

Mrs. Lookingbill also stated that nickels and dimes were as valuable as dollars because it takes those nickels and dimes to make the dollars.

77 Clubs Found in Hereford Area

Clubs apparently are an important part of living in Hereford and Deaf Smith County. A survey by The Brand shows at least 77 clubs of all varieties in the area.

Women are the leading organizers of clubs with 27; the various churches have 21, men have 11 as do the home demonstration ladies and there are seven Parent-Teacher Assns.

Dollar Day Again Offers Bargains

November Dollar Day, scheduled for Monday, Nov. 4, will feature an array of merchandise featuring special prices on everything from bobby pins to wall paper.

As in the past, the November offering will include gift suggestion items, along with a complete offering in wearing apparel for men, women and children. An advance check of The Brand ads showed an unusually heavy emphasis on shoes, dresses and winter clothing needs. Two food stores also joined the Dollar Day parade with special food prices to attract thrifty-minded housewives.

3 State Amendments Up for Vote Tuesday

Eleven polling places will be open in Deaf Smith County from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Tuesday for residents to cast their ballots on three proposed amendments to the Texas constitution.

Up for decision by the voters are amendments which would: 1. Make the five cent contribution rate to the state employee retirement system applicable to an employee's whole salary and would add additional employees who may be included in the retirement system.

Sank Ramey in Serious Condition

County Tax Assessor-Collector Sank Ramey is in serious condition at Deaf Smith County Hospital following a heart attack.

Ramey entered the hospital Monday. The attending doctor said Ramey suffered a coronary thrombosis. The doctor said Ramey is "slightly improved."

Included in the clubs are organizations devoted to social, civic, service and religious activities. Total membership is not known.

The Brand's survey may have missed some of the clubs in the county, if so, the president is asked to contact the paper and the club will be listed in the next edition.

Following is a list of the 77 clubs with their presidents and the presidents' home phone numbers. Not included in the list are youth organizations.

Men's Clubs: Optimist Club, Sam Long, 355; Lions Club, D. C. Increase the authorized state expenditures for old age assistance, aid to the blind and aid to dependent children from $42 million to $47 million per year and increase the limit on payments from state funds per person for old age assistance. 3. Authorize the issuance of $200 million in bonds by the State of Texas to provide assistance in local development of water resources.

County Clerk Ralph Smith said no absentee votes on the amendments had been received Friday, the last day for absentee voting. One change has been made in the location of voting boxes with Box No. 10 being shifted from Daniel school to the Palo Duro Baptist Church.

Other locations of boxes are as follows: Hereford No. 1 and No. 2, courthouse; No. 3, R. W. Mitchell residence; No. 4, Simms community house; No. 6, Ford school house; No. 7, Deaf Smith school house; No. 8, Garcia community house; No. 9, Bippus community house; No. 11, Hereford Central School.

$9,901 STILL NEEDED

United Fund Exceeds $12,000

Deaf Smith County's first United Fund drive had reached a total of $12,073.55 at 10 a.m. Friday morning, according to W. B. Wilson, drive chairman, who said that $9,901.45 still remains to be raised to meet the $21,975 goal set by United Fund directors in the 1957 drive.

Wilson was optimistic over the returns at the end of the first week, reporting that one-half of the rural area, one-third of the residential area and still one-fourth of the business area still remains to be reported.

"Most people have been liberal with their donations when they fully understand that the present drive will eliminate all of the smaller drives," Wilson said. He also pointed out that individual donations probably are lagging more than other phases of the campaign.

No closing date for the campaign was announced, but Wilson said that all workers are being urged to make their reports in order to close the drive within the next few days if possible.

He also listed 12 organizations which had volunteered special donations as groups, appearing as a pleasant surprise to workers. The organizations were La Affalutis Estudio Club, Hereford Rebekah Lodge No. 208, N. Chapter No. 312 O. E. S., Calliopian Club, Lone Star Study Club, Hereford Music Study Club, Wyche Home Demonstration Club, Jaycee-Ettes, Dawn Muffettes, Westway Home Demonstration Club, La Platta Study Club, Child Study Club.

Chamber Names Four Directors for Two Years

Four new directors for the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce were named Saturday morning after ballot counting by the chamber's nominating committee.

H. C. (Mike) Baird, Charlie Noland, Cliff Acker and J. R. (Monk) Johnson are the new directors. Baird and Noland are farmers and Acker and Johnson are businessmen. All of them will serve for two years and will take office at the annual C of C banquet on Jan. 16.

The new directors replace Dr. A. T. Mims, president, Ed Skypala, treasurer, B. F. Cain and Louis Woodford.

New officers will be elected at the C of C banquet January morning and will take office at the chamber's nominating committee.

Four directors are hold-overs and will serve one more year. They are M. R. Latham, Charley Hill, John Douglas Pittman and Don Zimmerman. Don Fudge, president of the Jaycees, also is a member of the board.

Bill Messick, chairman of the nominating committee, said 194 ballots were counted Saturday and that constituted about a 60 per cent return.

Ben Conklin Is Grand Patriarch of Odd Fellows

Ben Conklin, 517 J, was elected and installed as Grand Patriarch of the Grand Encampment of International Order of Odd Fellows of Texas at the annual session of the Grand Encampment in Corpus Christi Monday. This is the highest degree that can be held in the Grand Encampment.

Before being able to attend the Grand Encampment, Conklin had to serve as Chief Patriarch of Hereford Encampment 56. In order to achieve this degree he had to go through an advancement of orders.

In 1955 he was elected as Grand Senior Warden of the Hereford IOOF Encampment. In 1956 he advanced to Grand High Priest and then was elected as the Chief Patriarch of the Hereford Encampment.

Conklin has been a member of the IOOF lodge since 1941. During his one year term he plans and hopes to work with all other branches of order and to cooperate in every way. He said, "I want the Grand Encampment to work with all branches in getting new members and to work on degree terms."

Wildcats Slash Herd

Stunning the Hereford Whitefaces with three quick touchdowns in the first quarter, the potent Littlefield Wildcats rolled to a 33-6 District I-AAA victory here Friday night.

It was the second straight conference win for Littlefield and Hereford's first district game. The Wildcats now lead the district. Littlefield rammed over three scores in 4 minutes and 50 seconds of the first period and by the time the Herd had recovered, it was too late.

$110,600 SCHEDULED

County Will Get FM Improvements

Deaf Smith County came in for a $110,600 slice of the $41 million dollar farm road improvements announced Saturday morning for the 33 Panhandle counties.

The largest designation in this county was five miles of farm road, east from Highway 51 toward Wildorado, totaling $78,600; another $32,000 was allocated for construction of bridges across Palo Duro Creek and Palo Duro Draw on FM Road 890, north of Dawn and also pointing toward Wildorado.

Legally designated as "From State Highway 51, 12 miles north of Hereford, east a distance of approximately five miles," the new paving designated at a cost of $78,600 will be a step toward connection with the existing paving extending west from Wildorado at the present time. When completed there will be something like a seven-mile gap. The proposed FM road will cut across the north side of the Robert Veigel place and, as indicated, will start at a point 12 miles north of Hereford from Highway 51, extending east.

"Work will begin on the project as soon as final planning is completed and right of way secured," said a release from the office of Charles W. Smith, district engineer, located in Amarillo.

Bridge improvements, north from Dawn on the Wildorado road (FM 809) totaling $32,000 are in addition to the regular construction.

KIDS COMMENDED

All Quiet Here on Halloween

SPOOKS WERE mild and good-natured in Hereford on Halloween night Thursday with a minimum of vandalism and trouble.

The Hereford Boosters, a merchants group, passed a resolution Friday morning congratulating the Hereford police department on a good job, but Chief Henry Aycock passed the orchids' right on to the youth of the town.

"The kids are to be congratulated. The majority was real nice. We got 100 per cent cooperation and there was no outright vandalism. Other towns can talk about juvenile delinquency, but Hereford can be proud of its youngsters," the chief said.

AYCOCK SAID he and his officers cautioned several groups of children about damaging property or endangering life and all the groups responded by cooperating.

One potential gang-fight was broken up before it could start, Aycock said.

Sheriff Charles Skelton and Deputy J. T. Sanderson reported a "very quiet Halloween." Superintendent of Schools Fred Cunningham said no vandalism was reported at any of the school buildings.

THE ONLY incidents reported by police or the sheriff's office included 10 cases of lettuce stolen from A. O. Smith's panel truck on Main, a few cases of eggs stolen and a few fire-plugs opened after 1 a.m.

"We only had one man in jail Friday morning and he had been there for a few days," Aycock said.

HUNTERS HEED CRY OF WILD GEESE, DUCK

Duck hunting bids to be a popular sport in Hereford during the next three months, according to duck stamp sales, purchase of shotgun shells and the general conversation.

A check with the post office Friday afternoon disclosed sale of 139 migratory waterfowl stamps for the period from July 1 to Nov. 2, 1957. A similar period, July 1 to Nov. 5, 1956, recorded sale of 86 migratory fowl stamps last year. "Local dealers reported 'good-to-fair' sales on ammunition, decoys, duck callers, mittens, 'long-handle' underwear and other hunting equipment during the week.

If there will be twice as many hunters as last year, there is nothing to be alarmed about, according to enthusiasts who estimate "at least 10 times as many ducks as there were in the area last year." Most old timers are inclined to feel that the duck population will increase even more with the advent of colder weather, basing their predictions

Elevators Idle as Moist Grain Stays in Field

Tense farmers literally paced back and forth this week, occasionally cocking an eye toward cloud-laden skies Friday and Saturday morning, as they awaited the weather to get into lush but wet fields of brown and golden grain sorghums. Elevator men, too, were on pins and needles as they anticipated a day and night rush was soon as the weather cleared sufficiently to start harvest rolling.

"We say a prayer every night for light winds and hot, sunshiny days," declared one operator.

IN CHECKING with elevators and farmers, several facts become obvious:

"This area will have an exceptionally good crop for 1957 — provided it can be harvested without serious weather damage." The yield in 1956 was around 8 million bushels and most observers estimate a 25 per cent increase in 1957, placing their estimates between 10 and 12 million bushels.

"No serious damage so far." However, strong winds or a "freezing drizzle" might well wreak havoc among the fields.

Lettuce Cross Tops $1½ Million

Lettuce harvest moved toward a finish this week with most growers reporting a "good season." Estimates on lettuce production ranged up toward 600,000 cartons, bringing an average price of $2.75 per carton throughout the season and leaving a gross income of more than $1,650,000 in the community.

Lettuce prices this week were reported at a healthy $2.25 which, although well under the record $4.50 per carton two weeks ago, was still considered highly profitable by growers. The extreme high prices occurred during the wet weather which prevented gathering of the crop and sent the market soaring.

Most growers and handlers estimated that lettuce harvest will end next week, possibly sooner in case of an extreme hard freeze.

The $1½ million estimate on the crop is subject to heavy expenses, of course, including planting, fertilizing, cutting, hauling, packing, cooling and other expenses. Most growers, however, were happy with the 1957 lettuce crop, due chiefly to the generally good market.

Quality on Hereford lettuce as in the past, was reported as "Excellent." This factor established a demand for the crop and has sent Hereford lettuce into all parts of the nation, according to shippers.

PROOF POSITIVE—Dr. J. W. Hendrix, 507 W. Third, received proof to back up his big fish tales when this stuffed 32 inch, 22½-pound rainbow trout was returned by a taxidermist this week. Future Looking Brighter for Egg Producers COLLEGE STATION. — Decreased production and the purchase of fewer replacements for next year has resulted in a brighter outlook for egg producers.

The number of chickens raised on Texas farms in 1957 is about one-fourth less than in 1956, according to John G. McHaney, extension economist. During the first six months of 1957, production of egg-type chicks from commercial hatcheries in Texas was also about one-fourth less than that during the same period last year. Many farmers who raised chickens last year are raising none this year. The decrease is greater among the small flocks.

The laying flock on farms on January 1, 1958 in the U. S. is expected to be six to eight per cent smaller than a year earlier, says the specialist. During the first six months of 1957, egg prices averaged 22 per cent below the same period in 1956 and farmers bought 19 per cent fewer flock replacement chicks.

Recently, egg prices have shown some improvement and will probably continue to do so into 1958, because potential layers (hens and pullets of laying age plus pullets not of laying age) on farms, Aug. 1, 1957, were seven per cent below a year earlier and 17 per cent below the average.

Egg production during the last three months of this year will probably fall below the same period in 1956, points out McHaney, and we will enter 1958 with fewer layers on farms. Because of these trends, egg prices in the last three months of 1957 will likely be above those of 1956 at the same time; and prices during the first four months of 1958 should be better than for the same period in 1957.

DELAYED MEDAL
NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Joseph De-Cosi got his medal, the Army's Bronze Star, but nobody seems to know why it reached him 13 years after the award was made. He also isn't quite sure just what combat incident brought him the medal. He was fighting in Italy when the award was made on May 13, 1944.

CARIBOU HERDS
ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (AP) — Caribou population in Newfoundland is estimated at 6,500 by the provincial government. About 300 are taken by licensed hunters each year in a season opening in September. Iowa has 25 per cent of all Grade-A soil in the U. S.

Hints on Winter Pasture Managing

COLLEGE STATION. — Proper management of a winter pasture will pay big dividends to the operator. But first, the pasture must be established.

Winter pasture can still be planted this fall, according to E. M. Trew, extension pasture specialist. Late planting means less grazing, but this is still better than none at all. Oats, wheat, barley, rye, ryegrass and rescuegrass are some of the more important winter pasture crops. They may be planted alone or with a legume.

Trew says sod seeding is getting more attention in the eastern third of the state, but this is justifiable only in high-rainfall areas and then only when not enough cultivated land is available or when such pastures on prepared seedbeds are too wet to graze for long periods.

Trew advises that grazing of small grains and annual clovers be delayed until they have a good root system to prevent their being pulled up. Upright type plants such as Alamo oats and Goliad barley should be 8 inches high before being grazed. Prostrate types like Mustang oats may be grazed when they are 4 to 6 inches high and have established a good root system. The upright types should not be grazed closer than 4 inches, for they make poor regrowth when grazed closely.

Rotation grazing can greatly increase the efficiency of the pasture, says the specialist. This allows better regrowth and will permit taking silage or hay from that growth not needed for grazing. Do not allow the pasture to get too far ahead of the stock. The excess may be mowed for silage or sometimes hay.

Hay should be provided with the pasture, advises Trew. It provides dry matter not received from the pasture and helps reduce bloat troubles.

Fertilizer is also important for good growth and to insure proper mineral content of the plants. A soil test may be taken to determine the requirements.

Further information on winter pasture may be obtained by getting a copy of L-258 from the local county agent or the Agricultural Information Office, College Station.

Shortage of Water Killed El Copano

ROCKPORT. (AP) A shortage of water, a problem as real today as it was 75 years ago, was the final blow which made the once-thriving port of El Copano a ghost town.

A few old cisterns and the remains of a wall here and there are all that remain to mark the site of what once was one of the principal ports of Texas.

Situated on the northern shore of the bay after which it was named, El Copano was founded in 1785 by Don Jose Galvez. He later moved the Mexican customs house from Goliad to El Copano in an effort to thwart smugglers who otherwise landed at will along the bay.

El Copano was a port which supplied the missions at Goliad and San Antonio de Bexar. One of the earliest records of the area speaks of a Spanish ship wrecked by a tropical storm near the mouth of Barkentine Creek. The legend says the ship carried gold to pay Spanish soldiers in the area.

Hundreds of colonists famous in Texas history landed at El Copano. By the middle of the 19th Century a dozen houses of shell concrete, the customs house and a way station formed the small community.

A wharf supported on mesquite posts ran almost a thousand feet into Copano Bay. A number of the ancient posts still were visible in recent years.

However, the usual procedure when a ship arrived was for wagons to be driven into the bay as far as possible without wetting their loads. Small boats then took the cargo. The vessels had to stay 300 yards or more offshore to remain afloat because the water was so shallow.

There was a thriving shipping business with supplies brought in for settlers and missions in three-masted schooners. Outbound ships carried cargoes of hides and tallow prepared at a packery about six miles south of Refugio on the Mission River.

But the water problem finally proved the ruin of the settlement.

Rainwater captured in giant cisterns and supplemented by water hauled from Hynes Spring and Melohn Creek supplied the town.

But the rise of the towns of Rockport and St. Mary's with better supplies of water lured the population away, and about 1880 El Copano became a memory.

Woman Jailed on Forgery Charge

Virginia Mendoza, 25, of Laredo is being held in county jail on charges of forgery. She was arrested Friday afternoon and her bond was set at $1,000 in a preliminary hearing before JP Berry Miles.

She is charged with writing a forged check for $31. The complaint was filed by Al Trautmann, her employer. Miss Mendoza was timekeeper for Trautmann Bros.

The United States government started to build a canal through the Atlantic to the Pacific through Nicaragua in 1899, then abandoned it for the Panama Canal.

Big Child Has a Hard Time

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.

NANCY WAS 6 just in time to enter first grade in the fall. But Nancy looked at least 8, that is if you didn't look very closely. She was big, she weighed 75 pounds and was 4-feet tall. She towered above everyone else in her class, boys as well as girls. If you took a close look at her face you realized she was not as old as her size suggested. Her face was round with the babyish curves one sees in the young child. She hadn't begun to lose any of her first teeth. But you did have to observe carefully. Most people just assumed that Nancy was at least two years older than she really was.

It's hard enough to grow up in our complicated society, and it takes time to learn how to do, to feel, to act the way we are supposed to. It's not fair to expect a 6-year-old to be like an 8-year-old. She's had two years experience and you just can't skip over two important years.

People constantly made remarks about Nancy:

"What, a big girl like you, and you don't know your letters?"

"That child ought to be able to cross the street by herself."

"What's the matter with you, Nancy, that you can't braid your own hair?"

And so on; poor Nancy, the world seemed to expect her to act older than she really was.

The constant repetition of such disparaging remarks cannot help but make a child feel inadequate and not much good.

Fortunately for Nancy the important people in her life understood her. Both her parents were big, tall people who had lived through these experiences themselves. Mrs. King was 5-foot-10 and Mr. King 6-foot-4. They knew all the disadvantages of being too tall. Before Nancy entered first grade they'd had a long talk with both the teacher and the principal. The school accepted Nancy for what she was — a little 6-year-old girl. They treated her as they did all the other 6-year-olds and didn't assume she should know more than the others or be able to act more maturely than they.

So long as Nancy feels comfortable at home and at school she will probably be able to weather the remarks of other children and of casual adults. It's too bad that so many adults make remarks to and about children that can do so much harm. So many people are free with their criticisms even when they do not know the facts they are criticizing. We have to try to give our children the strength and confidence not to be hurt by the remarks of unthinking adults.

It's always hard on a child to be different from others. If she is just big like Nancy there is nothing that anyone can do to make her smaller, but we can in her important contacts minimize her difference and make her feel she is competent and able.

Farm Building Method Developed

Concrete tilt-up construction is a new development that can be a big help to farmers in constructing farm service buildings that are durable yet low in cost.

Tilt-up construction is a method of building erection which involves the casting of concrete panels on a carefully prepared sand bed or on a floor previously cast at the building site. These panels are tilted into a vertical position to form the building walls and, by means of concrete pilasters, are connected together to give the rigid construction necessary for a permanent farm service building.

This construction requires no skilled labor. Two men can handle any phase of the work. Form materials can be reused for other purposes, after the completion of a tilt-up structure.

A recently released Texas Agricultural Experiment Station bulletin, "Concrete Tilt-up Construction on the Farm," gives much helpful information on this new development. It contains sections on panel sizes, strength of panels, weight of solid panels, equipment for handling, casting procedure, erecting procedure, stabilizing the wall panels and a discussion of the time, labor and materials required.

This bulletin may be obtained from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas. Ask for B-874.

BOOSTERS HAVE BUSY SESSION

Members of the Hereford Boosters had a busy session Friday morning in their regular monthly meeting in the Hotel Jim Hill ballroom. The Boosters heard reports on the Christmas decorations, parade and program; discussed shipping problems, gift wrapping, a checking service, the Maid of Cotton contest and passed a resolution commending the Hereford police department on its handling of Halloween. Neil Cooper told the group that $1,571 had been taken in of the $2,500 needed to decorate and light Hereford for Christmas. Cooper said the city and county governments had pledged $300 each and other funds are due in, so it "looks as though enough money will be available."

Paul Harvey suggested that merchants involved in gift-wrapping to consider setting a standard minimum fee and charge for wrapping of packages, varying with the type and cost of wrapping materials. "Gift wrapping is a big expense to merchants," Harvey said. Merchants concerned with gift wrapping agreed to talk it over and have a called meeting if any concrete decisions by the Boosters are needed. The group voted unanimously to congratulate the police department on its handling of Halloween and appointed Hardwick and Gerald McCaskill to write a letter to Chief Henry Aycock to that effect. Next scheduled general meeting for the Boosters will be held Dec. 6. The organization's board of directors meets every Friday.

Wawezupi Has Halloween Party

The Wawezupi Camp Fire group had a Halloween Party at the Camp Fire Hut Wednesday. They played games such as bobbing for apples, a trip through the old gold mine and string and live saver game. Refreshments were served to the group by Barbara Barrett and Ruth Ann Allison. Those present were Patsy Daniel, Betty Turner, Royce Gilland, Juana Turner, Ruth Ann Allison, Barbara Barrett, Charlene Rodgers, Diedra Thomas and the leader. Reporting on shipping problems, Bill Lenderman gave each member a list of 30 truck lines bringing freight into Amarillo. The list was supplied by Hub Motor Lines. Hereford merchants had been complaining about delayed and incomplete shipments of merchandise. By using the list, they can request specific routing of shipments in Amarillo. Mrs. H. A. Haseloff resigned from the Boosters board of directors and Paul Harvey was named to replace her. Mrs. Haseloff sold her business, Mode O Day, Friday. Hardwick asked the various members to write out suggestions for the Rotary Club on a checking service whereby each participating store would be checked periodically for courtesy and service to customers. The Rotary Club would do the checking and give information to store owners or managers. HARDWICK SAID he hoped to have a definite plan to offer the Boosters at the next meeting and see if members wanted to buy the service. Members voted not to participate in this year's Maid of Cotton contest, saying they had not had sufficient notice, but would place it on next year's agenda. Hereford's entry in the area's Maid of Cotton contest at Lubbock would have to be in Lubbock on Nov. 11 for the contest. Bill Lenderman said they had just been notified Friday. The members voted to advise the Plains Cotton Growers Assn. to give more notice next year. A national Maid of Cotton is selected from entries across the U. S.

HERE'S HOW:

Shop Keeps Man at Home

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

If you want to keep your man pinned to the old homestead, give him a tool shop. It seems the average man pines for such an outfit, even if he can't hammer a nail into a 4 x 5. Pretty soon he'll be so interested in his power saw and drill that you won't be able to budge him from his work bench.

A MAN AND HIS WORK BENCH—Help him keep it neat by using disposable paper plates under paint cans.

When choosing tools for him, keep in mind that he is an amateur. You don't want him to lose a couple of fingers the first time at the wheel. The most intelligent man can make mistakes in judging distance between hand and saw, as actor Raymond Massey realized when he lost a part of one finger to a home workshop project.

Will you get a return on your investment? That's the question that occurs to the housewife. The answer is yes. There is nothing that presents such a challenge as a tool shop, and your man will season the house with pine before you know it. Those book cases you've wanted, that toy chest for Junior's room, that little wall niche for your collection of salt shakers are likely to appear in jig time.

A husband who is particularly creative may make his own decoys for the hunting season or miniature birds for home decor. Then there are such items to come, depending on whether he adds a lathe, as salad bowls, bread boards and fruit bowls.

Where to put the tool shop if there is no room in the cellar or attic? Sometimes a space can be made underneath a staircase or in a roomy, seldom-used closet (is there such a thing?). This may be hidden from view with a screen.

If you are concerned with wood shavings (and you should be because these can be messy no matter how nice and clean the wood looks) put a large piece of oil cloth directly under the bench. Wall board with holes may hold the tools in a compact unit just above the bench.

The interesting fact about encouraging a man to own a few tools is that his interest will broaden to other do-it-yourself projects, such as painting the house or building a rock fence. A New Canadian, Conn., doctor, for example, has a chic office table with built-in units beneath that was evolved from his work bench.

The way you can help your man become neat in his handyman role is to supply him with "buffers" such as a denim apron with lots of pockets to hold paraphernalia. Glass jars will come in handy for classifying nails and screws, and paper plates are indispensable for keeping paint from dripping all over the place. The plates also come in handy for paint brushes.

Graveside Rites for Benson Baby

Graveside rites for the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Benton of Rt. 4, Hereford, were held in West Park Cemetery Saturday afternoon.

The baby was born and died Friday in Deaf Smith County Hospital. Survivors include two brothers, Wayne and Roger; three sisters, Shirley Jean, Carolyn Ann and Lennetta Sue; the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Benton of Plainview and Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Baker of Lorenzo.

COSTLY CALL
FORT WILLIAM, Ont. (AP) — A customer who obtained permission to use a cafe telephone here called Toronto and talked for 23 minutes. For not paying the $11.35 bill he was arrested and fined $100.

Ex-Fireman Has a Worm Ranch

CORPUS CHRISTI, (AP) — A. P. Richards is a railroad fireman with an odd sideline. He has a worm ranch.

"I fish a lot and I started raising them for my use and for my friends," he explains. He started 2 1/2 years ago with little red wigglers from California. Now he also raises regular earthworms common to this area. Richards says worms can be kept in any type container, but he uses wooden boxes painted with aluminum paint for protection and cement block bins.

The bins are filled with a mixture of ground-up leaves and peat-moss and must be kept moist. Richards says. The worms are fed a mixture of cow manure, finely ground-laying mash and cottonseed meal.

He says the worms are big enough for fish bait within two to four months, but must be kept five months for reproductive purposes.

A friend of his owns a skin diving rig and he and Richards have gone under water several times to observe the reaction of worms and fish.

From these forays and long observation, Richard advises fishermen to hook a worm in the middle and let it wiggle.

It's the wiggle that taunts the fish to bite," Richards says.

Causes of Gin Fires Studied

COLLEGE STATION. — Fire caused a loss of $26,474.58 in 176 Texas cotton gins under study in 1956. Purpose of the study was to determine the origins and causes of gin fires and the resulting losses.

The major causes of gin fires in 1956 studies were matches (48 per cent), friction in the roll box (17 per cent), metal (eight per cent) and miscellaneous causes such as choke up, sparks and rocks in that order.

Most of the fires originated in the overhead cleaners (34.7 per cent) and gin stands (27.4 per cent). Other origins in descending order of importance were bur extractors, conveyors, driers, press box and wagon or trailer on the yard.

The number of fires reported is low on the average. Sixty of the 176 gins reported no fires. Only 288 fires were reported by the 176 gins studied. Of the $26,474.58 lost, 58 per cent was loss of cotton, 20 per cent for buildings, 13 per cent for machinery and nine per cent for loss of labor. The average loss per fire was $91.92. Some 215 fires resulted in losses of less than $100 and 175 did damages of $50 or less.

One of the most significant observations about the causes of fires is the human element, indicating that many of them could be prevented. Matches, metal, rocks and smoking caused ed nearly 60 per cent of the total number of fires. Some metal gets into the cotton from mechanical pickers, but much of the metal and rocks get into the cotton from the carelessness of cotton pickers.

Contrary to expectations, gins without fire-prevention devices had about as good a record for fires and fire losses as did those with the devices.

A more detailed statistical report and summary of the study is contained in Progress Report 1979, "Origins and Causes of Gin Fires and Fire Losses of 176 Texas Gins, 1956." The author is Robert L.

Castro Petitions Seek New Hospital

Petitions are being circulated in Castro County calling for a bond election in December to build a new county hospital.

Sponsored by the Castro County Hospital Improvement Assn., the petitions are aiming for a $350,000, 32-bed, brick and tile hospital.

Steve Taylor, chairman of the group, said the effect of a $350,000 bond election would be to increase the total valuation about 24.1 per cent for 20 years and 18.1 per cent for 30 years.

Included in the proposed hospital would be eight private rooms with baths, six double rooms and two four-bed wards with adjoining baths. There would be two, two-bed isolation wards and an eight-bassinest nursery.

Other features would include an operating and delivery room, recovery room, two-bed labor room, one room each for laboratory, X-ray, central supply, drugs, laundry, kitchen and dining room.

School Acts To Prevent Tragedies

By STEVE LOWELL

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—Grade school pupils got a warning recently to "keep away from strangers."

The public school system sent a printed and illustrated page home with them to give to their parents so fathers and mothers could read and enlarge on the subject.

"Through the years, we have had quite a little trouble with children being lured away," says F. M. Wilson, safety director for the public school system. "The children would go with strangers, not thinking, and run into trouble."

The warning starts out with this statement to parents: "Children are not released to unidentified persons. Parents who want their children released must come to school and not telephone. School children are in the school's care from the beginning of the school day until the close of that day."

The leaflet shows a little girl standing on a sidewalk facing a man sitting in a parked car with the door open. The warning says: "If a man asks: Directions — Tell him if you know but do not go with him. Would you like a ride to school? — Tell him you do not ride with people you do not know. Would you like some candy? — Tell him you do not take things from strangers. Would you like a job for a few minutes? — Tell him you are on your way to school. Would you go with him because your parents want you to come home — Tell him you will see your principal and he will call your parents."

The well-illustrated leaflet goes on to warn: "Don't go with men or women you do not know. Don't play away from home, and always play with other children. Stay with people you know. Do not ask a stranger for help. Don't play alone on school playgrounds."

Each subject is accompanied by a photo depicting a fitting situation. It winds up with a picture of two husky, smiling policemen on each side of a little boy holding a school crossing patrol signal. The leaflet says: "When you need help, these are your best friends. Do not be afraid to talk to them if you are lost, sick or in any kind of trouble. They will help you."

Wilson says, "We think these warnings have done some good. We haven't had any unhappy experiences, that I can recall, in the past few years."

He gives this example of how well the warning sinks in: "About three years ago I noticed a boy having trouble with a broken bike. I offered to take him home. This little fourth or fifth-grader looked at me suspiciously and said, 'Well, we're not supposed to.' I had to prove to him that I was a school man before he would trust me. The principal OK'd me."

Far North Now Getting Milk in Frozen Blocks

WINNIPEG (AP) — Delivery of fresh milk in frozen quart-size blocks, to be melted at room temperature for use, is believed to have solved the problem of milk delivery at a northern Canadian military base, an army spokesman says.

Experimental deliveries in this form, believed to be the first in Canada, were successful. The spokesman said 10,000 quarts of milk, frozen in wax-paper, quart containers, were shipped 1,000 miles by railway refrigerator car from Winnipeg to Fort Churchill, Man.

He said medical authorities found the milk's quality was not altered by freezing and melting and it remained good for from seven to 10 days. They said it might even be superior in quality to fluid milk delivered nearer the source.

Previously the base had no fresh milk. Cows can not be pastured on the barren lands around the base. Slow delivery of fluid milk by rail was not feasible.

Army authorities asked a Winnipeg creamery to experiment with freezing. The creamery reduces the milk's temperature to 45 degrees below zero as soon as it is pasteurized. Then it is placed in refrigerator cars for shipment.

The cars move to Churchill on the three-weekly service of Canadian National Railways.

Hereford Bands in Contest at Canyon Tuesday

Bands from Hereford High and Stanton Junior High will compete in the University Interscholastic League marching contest Tuesday night in Buffalo Stadium at Canyon.

The contest will start at 7 p.m. with 38 bands expected to compete. Admission will be 25 and 50 cents. The contest originally had been scheduled for Oct. 17 but was postponed because of bad weather and illness among bandmen.

Last year the Hereford High band received a first division rating, the highest possible score. This will be the first year for the junior high group to enter the contest.

Correction

In reporting tabling of heating, air conditioning bids by the City Commission this week, The Brand erroneously showed the wrong figures.

The bids were $2,212 for a water-cooled system and $2,573 for an air cooled system as bid by Brown Sheet Metal. The other bid was $2,322.86 on water cooled and $2,701.15 on air cooled as bid by Carl McCaslin Lumber Company.

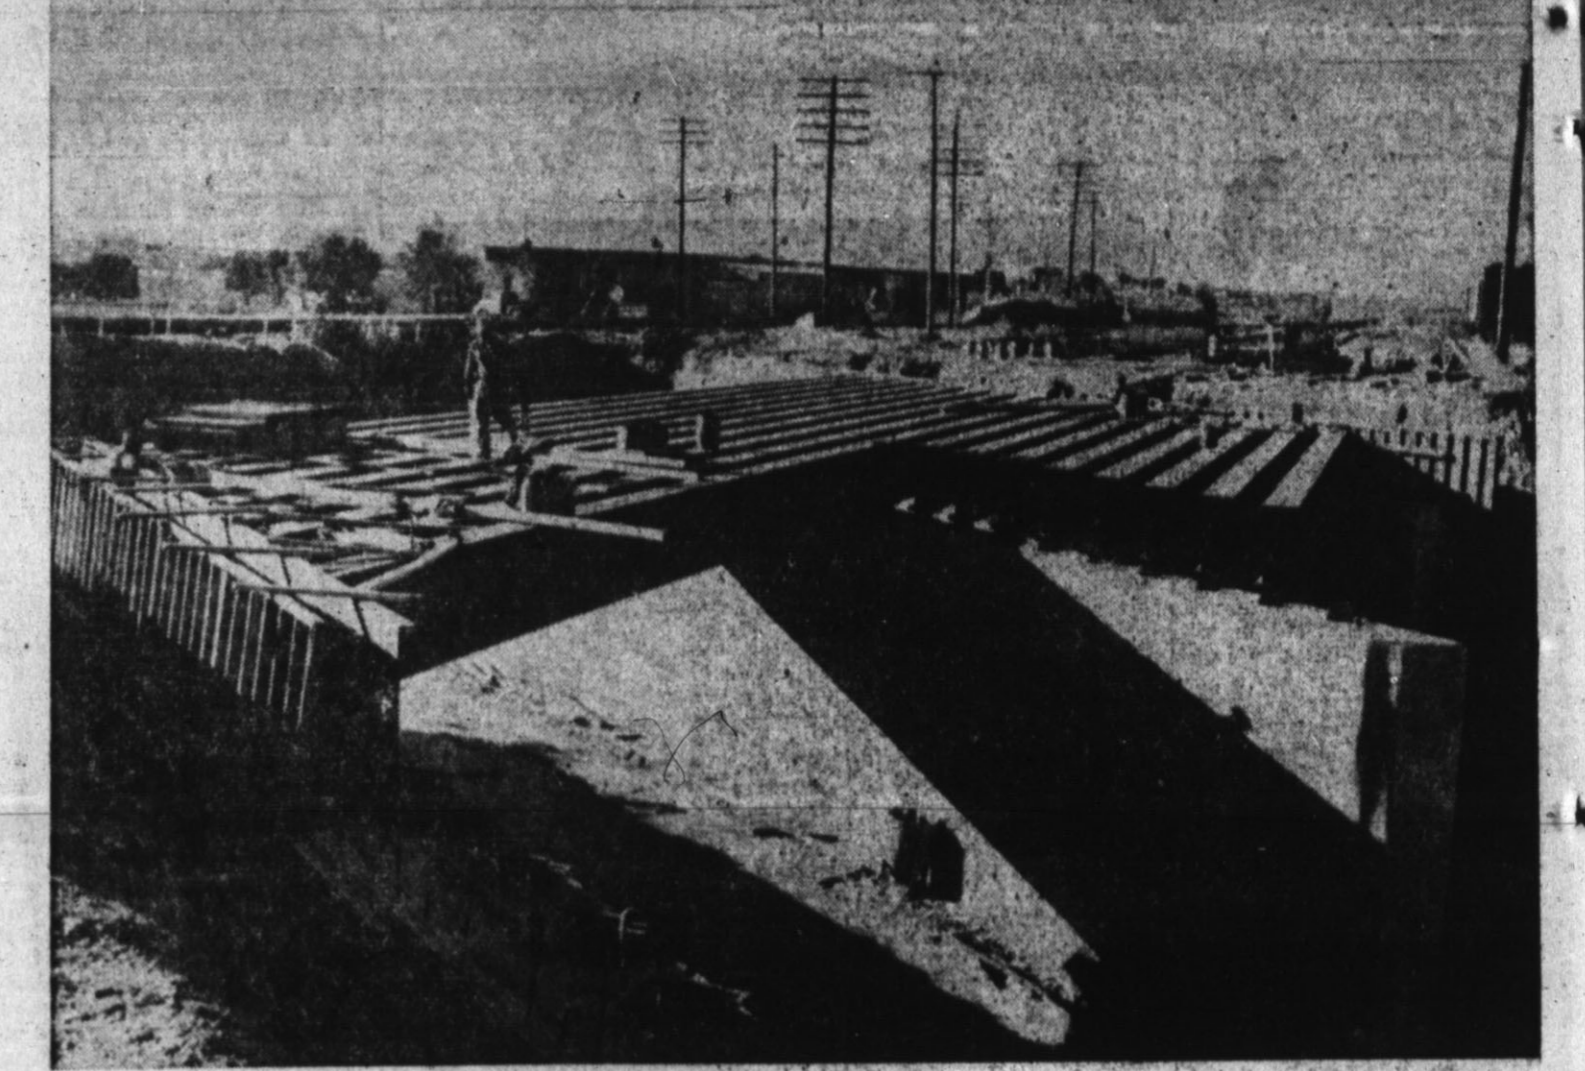

As reported in the original article, the bids were tabled for further study and discussion by the commission.

Freshmen, Bees Both Lose Games

Hereford High School's freshmen and B teams both took losses Thursday night, the frosh losing to Plainview, 27-6, and the Bees to Littlefield, 38-0.

Halfback Clyde Whitaker scored the freshmen's TD in the fourth quarter on a 10-yard pass from quarterback Ronnie Botkins.

Tech Group Will Study Long-Range Weather 'Casts'

LUBBOCK, — Plans to gather data to aid in long-range weather forecasts for the Southwest have been announced at Texas Tech.

Dr. Fred Wendorf, Tech anthropologist, will head a team of 10 scientific specialists that will gather archaeological information on Southwest climate. The National Science Foundation has provided $15,500 for the first year of study that will take place west of Odesa in the Monahan dunes.

An unusual set of lake beds in the 30-mile by 100-mile area of sand dunes may hold the story of Southwest weather for the past 150-centuries — the minimum period of time that will give proper perspective for long range forecasts, Wendorf said. Present Southwest weather record only go back 100 years.

No rivers drain into the lake beds, only waters from the surrounding flat country. Consequently, waters of the centuries have drained into the lakes, carrying with them identifiable pieces of vegetation, fossils and soils of the area.

With no river to bring foreign matter that would cloud the archaeological picture of the section, the history of its climate should be awaiting scientists, Wendorf stated.

More than half of the population of Delaware lives in Wilmington.

Project 'Christmas Card' FOR 1957

IS NOW Underway

Project "Christmas Card" which last year furnished much of the new Children's Wing of the hospital is again in progress for 1957. The amount raised in 1956 was $4,743.55.

This year funds brought in by Project "Christmas Card" will be used to purchase five beds for the new children's wing of Deaf Smith County Hospital, redecorate the original wing of the hospital and put new furnishings in the obstetrics ward.

The Hereford State Bank commends the ladies of the Hereford Women's Medical Auxiliary, sponsoring organization, for their efforts in this cause.

We are happy to cooperate in this project, and we urge you to bring your "Project Christmas Card" deposits to the Hereford State Bank.

The Hallmark of Circulation Value

In the same way that STERLING on silver signifies a standard of known value, so is the A.B.C. emblem a symbol of integrity for the circulation of newspapers and periodicals. It means that circulation so identified is measured according to the rules and standards of the AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS.

The A.B.C. is a cooperative and non-profit association of 3,450 publishers, advertisers and advertising agencies. Organized in 1914, these buyers and sellers of advertising brought order out of advertising chaos by setting up standards for paid circulation and establishing rules and methods for measuring, auditing and reporting circulations.

Therefore, the work of the A.B.C., of which this newspaper is proud to be a member, provides you with a direct and valuable service. You can buy advertising as you would make any other sound business investment — on the basis of well known standards, known values.

At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors makes a thorough audit of our circulation records. The results of this exacting audit show: How much circulation we have; where our circulation goes; how it was obtained; and many other FACTS that you need in order to know just what you get for your advertising dollars. This audited information is published by the Bureau in easy-to-read A.B.C. reports which are available to our advertisers on request. Ask for a copy of our latest A.B.C. report.

tion and maintenance program of the Highway Department, according to Smith, who summarized this phase of the designation as follows:

"The State Highway Commission, at its October meeting, approved this appropriation of $2,000 to improve already existing farm-to-market roads in this county. A total of $20 million was allotted to 183 Texas counties for farm road improvement in 1958. This $20 million will be spent for shoulder widening, seal coat jobs, additional surfacing, and for widening of structures and roads.

The improvement to be made in Deaf Smith County is the replacement of bridges across Palo Duro Creek and Palo Duro Draw on FM Road 808, 8 and 10 miles north of US Highway 60 respectively.

"The project in Deaf Smith County will be under the supervision of W. V. York, senior resident engineer.

"We should have this program moving by spring," Smith said. "We believe the money spent in this county will go a long way toward bringing these roads up to date."

Neighboring counties were also included in the highway designations as follows:

RANDALL — From intersection of FM 1541 (Washington street) and SH 217 east of Canyon, south to FM 2390, 7.4 miles, $100,000.

PARMER — From U. S. 84 at 9th street in Farwell south on ninth one mile and west to New Mexico state line, 1.7 miles, $20,000. on the existence of far more water and a greater number of lakes than at any time in recent years. Geese, too, are anticipated in record-breaking numbers.

While the increased amount of water will attract more ducks, it will also create problems for the nimbler as he finds the birds out in the middle of the lakes — and "always out of range." This situation, experienced hunters believe, is creating the demand for decoys and duck callers.

Just for the record, the season on ducks and geese opened Friday, Nov. 1; duck season runs through Jan. 14, while goose season ends Dec. 30. The daily bag limit on ducks is five, and any person may not legally possess more than 10 at any time. Bag limit on geese is six per day, and not more than one day's limit in possession at any time. Special varieties of both fowls are also covered in the 1957 game regulations.

Little change is to be noted on the method and means of taking geese and ducks. You still cannot use a shotgun larger than 10 gauge, but the Texas Game Digest says you can take either duck or geese with a bow and arrow — and if you can, please let us know.

HALLOWEEN is like the Old Day Mare: It just ain't what it used to be! Not around Hereford, at least. Such was the sentiment of the brigade of bosses who were washing store windows Friday morning. They were all hap-happy about the deal, of course. Oliver got to talking about how his generation used to soap windows and he figures the new generation kids is far better behaved than his generation he has seen here.

The feeling is not all downtown, either. Mrs. S. L. Easley called to express her appreciation for the fine, well-mannered youngsters who dropped in at her place, 701 East Grand, for "tricks or treats." "There were between 50 and 60 young people during the evening," said Mrs. Easley, "and they were a lovely bunch of boys and girls. The nicest and most polite youngsters I have ever seen on any Halloween in the past 25 years."

SUCH REPORTS should do a lot toward eradicating the term, "juvenile delinquent" from the vocabulary of some of us parents, often prone to be critical of the younger generation. Unquestionably the CROP bunch who collected almost $700 for charity is a direct contrast to the gang fights in Amarillo and other towns across Texas.

JACK WRIGHT is an old boy who devoted many years of service to the Volunteer Fire Department. Like the rest of the boys, Jack always pitched in and did his level best to help his neighbors when a fire broke out. He got up in the middle of the night and answered calls without a fret or complaint. Last week Jack's feed store underwent an explosion, followed by fire, and the tables were turned. The volunteers were out there helping Old Jack — and there never was a more grateful guy in the world than Jack. Like the other boys, I am sure he never even thought of his own contribution along this line. I would also be willing to bet that he now appreciates the department more than at any time during the many years he has been a member.

Jack is an old boy who has a wealth of pioneer stories tucked away in his memory. He ran a dray wagon back in the days before roads and literally grew up with the country. Probably no one in Deaf Smith County has a better "on the spot" recollection of Hereford and Deaf Smith County in its early days.

I noticed a survey where automobile dealers are predicting record sales on 1958 models. After seeing most of them this week, I agree. They really have something on the new models. A lot of folks who weren't planning on a new car until 1960 will break down and trade in 1958.

ARKANSAS JOKE — Gov. Faubus and his wife are having domestic troubles. It all started when she bought a colored TV set.

Neil Cooper is fast becoming a photography expert. Next time you see him just mention that you would like to see the shots he made in Santa Fe. I hear by the grapevine that he shot two rolls — all blank.

TUESDAY IS ELECTION day on the proposed amendments. If you don't understand them now, you probably never will. Most controversial of the lot is the one authorizing $200 million in bonds by the state to provide assistance in local development of water resources. The vote will be light all over the state. This will be especially true in our area.

Lots of favorable comment followed shifting of the horror film from the kiddie toy show Saturday. Bill and Francis Hardwick previewed the film Thursday night and decided to make the switch. Some of the kids, it seems, get quite upset over those horror jobs — and the switch made a lot of parents happy. Incidentally, if you

Bay View Club Sees Films Of Recent European Tour

Bay View Study Club held a meeting in the Friendship Room at the First State Bank Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Howard Gault presenting a program of colored slides covering a recent trip abroad.

Mrs. Phillip Barkley, first vice president, conducted a business session when amendments to the constitution were adopted and by-laws were revised. Reports from various committees were heard and the Nov. 7 meeting was announced to be held in the home of Mrs. Paul Mathers, 120 Star St.

Mrs. Gault began the showing with pictures of the New York harbor from where she and her husband and daughter Glenna sailed on the "Independence" on Jan. 23, 1957, the landing in Gibraltar and on to Port Lyauatey, Morocco, North Africa where her daughter and son-in-law, Ensign and Mrs. Phillip Kendall are stationed.

Much of the beauty of the countries, many historic spots and more particularly the people and how they live, were brought to life as she narrated descriptions and incidents of the journey. In Africa they visited many spots of interest including a Sultan's palace, Casa Blanca and other interesting places and in Monaco, a land of sheer beauty, they visited the church where Princess Grace was married and where her baby was christened, the Casino at Monte Carlo on the French Riviera.

Mrs. Kendall accompanied them as they left on a tour of Europe where their first stop was in Spain and many high spots of that country were shown including the wonderful city of Madrid.

Upon conclusion, members of the club voted for another showing of the pictures for the completion of the European tour at a later date.

Those attending were Mesdames Phillip Barkley, Lee Benefield, T. M. Drever, Leo Forrest, Howard Gault, W. J. Gilliland, E. W. Harrison, J. W. Kirby, Paul Mathers, J. C. McCracken, John McLean, R. B. Miller, Carl Perrin, and Miss Frances Turrentine.

Country Kitchen Makes Comeback

By JOHN O. B. WALLACE
AP Newsfeatures

THE AMERICAN FAMILY is moving back into the kitchen! It's the best news we've heard in many an autumn moon.

In the kitchen, you're closer to the victuals — and far removed from the dreary twaddle of television.

But more than that seems to be behind this joyous journey.

Mother, the experts tell us, has lost her appetite for those gleaming-white, antiseptic kitchens.

This is not to say that Mother is forfeiting her right to any of those modern, labor-saving appliances which have made life in the kitchen so much easier.

Mother, the experts tell us, just wants to get some of that old-fashioned atmosphere back into the kitchen.

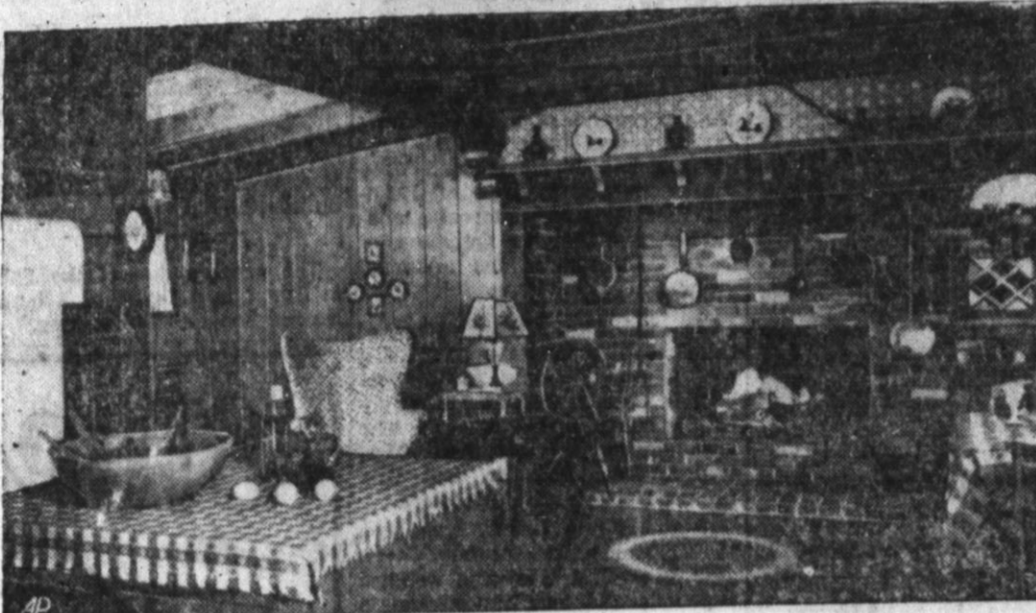

It's a return to the old Dutch kitchen — or, as it is known also, the country kitchen — where there is ample space as well as the facilities for family living.

The trend today in kitchen design is away from cold, white efficiency — and back to the rich, warm atmosphere of colonial day kitchens. The Dutch kitchen of today is a combination of the old and new. It is old in its friendly warmth — and new in its use of modern materials.

Its basic components are still there — the large, open kitchen area with a fireplace and a dining table and a decor of wood and brick. There is still a door from the kitchen to the outside.

—Elsewhere there are changes. Modern flooring materials, for example, are being used — rubber, vinyl, asphalt or ceramic tile.

But to achieve warmth, increasing use is being made of the old standby materials — brick, stone, cheerful wall paper and wood.

A MODERN VERSION OF AN OLD DUTCH KITCHEN—The flooring material is tile, and the appliances are the latest. Yet the warmth of earlier kitchens is retained by the use of exposed wooden beams in the ceiling and pine paneling on the walls. Today's designers are enlarging kitchens in order to take in more elements of family activity—eating, relaxing and informal entertaining.

Modern appliances, of course, continue to be added. However, even the appliances, themselves, have been discarding the white finishes in favor of color and texture.

For paneling and built-in storage space, knotty or clear western pine woods are becoming increasingly popular. A variety of new and interesting finishes have been developed. These increase the lustre and warmth of wood while still retaining the natural beauty of the many available grains.

There are new ways of treating wood, too, and the pine-paneled kitchens of today thus are clean and as easy to maintain as almost any other material.

With the accent on wood, a new concept in built-ins and storage space has been achieved. There are island counters with cabinets and drawers that open on both sides.

There are floor-to-ceiling cabinets for groceries and utensils. There are even high-fidelity units built into a paneled wall, for an ultra modern touch.

Still, the important features of the earlier kitchens are there — especially the huge brick or stone fireplace with perhaps a barbecue oven or grill added, and the open wooden beamed ceiling.

Questions and answers:

Q. Can you tell me an easy way to cut ceramic wall tiles?

A. With a pencil, mark the glazed surface along the line of the cut to be made. If there are ridges on the backs of the tiles, make the cut parallel to the ridges, not across them. Now, using a ruler or another piece of tile as a straight edge, scratch the glazed surface along the indicated cut with a glass cutter. To break the tile, place it on the floor (glazed side face up) over a finishing nail. Line the nail up with the cut and step on both sides of the tile. The tile will break along the indicated line. Finish off the cut edge with an abrasive stone.

Q. What is a cavity wall?

A. This is formed by two brick walls built a few inches apart and connected with metal ties.

Kaiser and Michigan State Aiming at Rose Bowl Again

By BOB VOGES

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Dave (Golden Toe) Kaiser is flexing his kicking leg in hopes of getting in another Rose Bowl boot.

Kaiser will be remembered by the nation's football fans as the sophomore end who kicked a field goal in the last few seconds to give Michigan State a 17-14 Rose Bowl victory over UCLA on Jan. 2, 1956.

MSU is eligible for the West Coast trip again this season.

Kaiser was slowed by a twisted ankle and injured foot suffered in the second game of the season last fall but has come back strong.

"He should have his greatest season," says Coach Duffy Daugherty of the 22-year-old, 6-foot-1, 200-pound senior. "A lot of people just remember that Rose Bowl show and forget that he was our best pass-catching and all-around end as a sophomore. He still is."

When the Spartans routed Indiana 54-0, in their Big Ten opener this season, Kaiser kicked five straight extra points.

Kaiser, a high average geology major, doesn't look like a football player. His straw-colored hair is thinning and he wears horn-rimmed glasses off the field and contact lenses sometimes when playing.

The shoe he used in making the bowl three-pointer was goldplated and has a place of honor in the Spartan sports museum.

Kaiser still works like an eager sophomore at his football.

He was on a field geology trip in northern Michigan just before fall practice opened and drove all night to be on time for the first workout.

He's the last player off the practice field every night, staying behind after the formal drill is over to practice his extra point and field goal kicking. A student manager shags the footballs.

It was notable that when Daugherty, reshuffled his line earlier this fall because he thought some of the seniors weren't putting out, Kaiser and one other player were the only regulars to hold on to their positions.

Kaiser has a curious football history.

A fullback at Alpena, Mich., High, he first went to Notre Dame. The Irish were deep in talent at the time — that was several years ago — and he was considered just another back.

Kaiser transferred to Michigan State where coaches saw his possibilities at end. He found himself with the switch of positions and schools and had his first great day helping the Spartans beat the Irish 21-7 in 1955.

before the moisture started falling. Other Panhandle counties had cut less than three per cent of their grain.

Dry land producers also will be heard from this year, provided the harvest is possible. Most producers figured that the bulk of the grain will come from irrigated districts, but estimate that a greater amount of dry land maize will be seen than at any time in the past seven years.

"Some of the farmers are mighty nervous," said one elevator man but, after all, you can hardly blame them. "If you had 12 months of hard work, along with $25,000 of your own money wrapped up in the maize crop, I have an idea you'd be watching the clouds too."

The situation was also reflected by merchants and business men over the Panhandle area. Like field hands, combine crews and others directly interested in the crop, the merchants have been twiddling their thumbs and marking time as they awaited the 1957 grain sorghum harvest.

All were unanimous in predicting that once harvest starts, it will really roll as farmers use every possible minute of the day to gather the 1957 crop.

at all. Harris said the team now is in the worse shape physically than it has been all year.

Halfback Buddy Jones took the opening kickoff in the endzone and was tackled there for a touchback, the ball being brought out to the Littlefield 20. Had Jones touched the ball before it went into the endzone and then been tackled it would have been two points for Hereford.

Littlefield drove 80 yards in 13 plays for a touchdown with fullback Bobby Cunningham going the final yard on a fourth down try. Floyd Pierce's kick for point was wide with 5:53 left in the period.

In one minute and 29 seconds the Wildcats had another score. After taking the kickoff Hereford was forced to punt to the Littlefield 39. Jones got 15 around end, Cunningham was stopped for no gain and then quarterback James Pressley rolled out to the left, reversed his field and went 47 yards to the Hereford two before Teas caught him. On the next play Jones swept wide around left end for the touchdown. Pierce's kick was no good.

Again Hereford was unable to move and as Jim Curtisinger's attempted punt was blocked by Hilton Hemphill and the ball rolled back to the Hereford eight where Littlefield took over. Again Jones sprinted wide to the left for the score on the first play and Pierce kicked true this time to make it 19-0 with 1:03 remaining in the first period.

LITTLEFIELD scored again in the early minutes of the second quarter with halfback James Gold-

Farmers...

Some scattered stalks seem to be falling, but no fields were reported as seriously damaged.

Elevator men were unanimous in declaring the 1957 harvest is running a good "30 days behind last year," when the peak was recorded on Oct. 27. The present harvest, according to all contacted, has not even started or, as several put it, "the surface has not been scratched."

Most of the 1957 grain has come in in dribbles and has tested so high in moisture content that the farmers have been forced to stop running their combines. Thursday and Friday were the two best days during the past week with most tests running drier on Thursday than on Friday. Saturday's cloud-laden skies again brought harvest to an abrupt halt.

YIELDS ON the small strips cut have been running high, according to all predictions. Quality was also reported as being beyond reproach with the exception of moisture content.

Caught in the weather squeeze are Deaf Smith, Randall, Hale and Parmer Counties. Castro County, on the south, was reported to have cut 15 to 20 per cent of its grain

POTPOURRI

Local College Students in News

By SANDRA GLENN

It is interesting to hear what is going on with those college students at school away from home and this week it seems as if several of our home town students have made the headlines.

For instance, Cadet Sammy Lee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Lee, Route 4, Hereford, has earned a promotion at Wentworth Military academy.

Lt. Col. H. E. Link, professor of military science and tactics at the school, said Sammy has been advanced from the rank of cadet first sergeant to that of cadet second lieutenant for displaying outstanding leadership qualities and for assuming major responsibilities. With his new rank, Sammy also received a new duty assignment, that of a platoon leader in Company D.

Another student going up in this world is Mary Kathrine Huckert, freshman interior decoration major at Denton, who was recently chosen as a member of the 1957-58 Caperettes, a performing group of 19 tap dancers at Texas Woman's University. Caperettes perform for high school assemblies, banquets, service clubs and hospitals in the area as well as for activities on campus. They have a standing invitation each year to the McKinney Veterans' Hospital. Mary Kathrine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Huckert.

Several of the college students have been pledging fraternities this year. Pledging one of the 10 national social fraternities at Texas Tech are Hubert Wayne Godfrey, who is pledging Phi Delta Theta; Arthur Eugene Miles, Phi Kappa Psi, and Donald Lee Zimmerman, Sigma Chi. These boys are among the 131 men students who pledged a fraternity at Tech.

News about a college student a little closer to home is that of Tommy Culpepper, Hereford sophomore. Tommy sang in a "Show of Shows" which was presented Thursday in the Education Building auditorium at West Texas State College. Culpepper, a speech major, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lunas Culpepper.

and Mrs. Don T. Guseman.

To open the service the officers who were to take part in the main program seated themselves on the stage behind the speakers table. The table was laid with a white cloth and displayed a centerpiece of red roses, signifying the club's colors.

Margaret Boomer stood behind a small table to the right of the girls and as each speaker stepped forward to give one of the eight parts of the emblem and what it meant, Margaret placed the emblem together.

The purposes of the club were then given and as each speaker gave her part a white rose was placed among the red roses.

Betty Hagar, vice president of the Royal Rose Chapter, said the creed and as she finished each member and each candidate for membership stood.

The candidates were then accepted as official members of F. H. A. and were given their personal membership card by the president of their chapter.

As a conclusion to the ceremony all members stood and sang the F. H. A. song, "Toward New Horizons," led by the choir directors from both chapters.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for the guests and members in the high school gym.

LITTER BUGS

Willard A. Youts Serves in Korea

1ST CAV. DIV., Korea (AHTNC) — Army Sgt. Willard A. Youts Jr., whose wife, Mae, and parents live in Dimmitt, is a member of the 1st Cavalry Division in Korea.

The division, previously in Japan, has absorbed all units of the 24th Infantry Division in Korea, since the latter's recent deactivation.

Sergeant Youts, formerly a member of the 24th, is a section chief in Battery A of the 1st Division's 52d Field Artillery Battalion. He arrived overseas in March 1957 from an assignment at Fort Riley, Kan. The 28-year-old soldier entered the Army in 1948.

African pygmies have no language of their own. They borrow from full grown neighboring tribes.

Mrs. Paul Coneway Reviews Book for Callicopian Club

Mrs. Paul Coneway reviewed the book "Fifty Fabulous Years" by A. V. Kaltenborn at a recent meeting of the Callicopian Club held in the home of Mrs. W. L. Davis Jr.

She said in part, "In the book 'Fifty Fabulous Years,' Mr. Kaltenborn tells the story of his life from the time he entered the Spanish American War down to the present. Today he is the acknowledged dean of radio commentators and one of America's most influential molders of public opinion. The book has the same personal and popular touch that has created an audience of millions for his N. B. C. reports."

Mrs. N. E. Milburn conducted a short business session. Members present were Mesdames Dick Barnard, B. F. Cain, Clyde Cave, Paul Coneway, J. B. Fowlkes, Alton Fraser, Roy Grubbs, Ernest Langley, D. C. McWhorter, W. J. Messick, N. E. Milburn, A. T. Mims, M. W. Nobles, Carl Perrin, and the hostess.

Rochester Scientist Perfecting Household Salt Water Purifier

ROCHESTER, N. Y. — The white-haired scientist waited for the ticking of the small, square machine to stop. Then, from a glass jar which was connected to the machine by tubing, he drew a glass of clear, odorless fluid and drank it.

Dr. Kenneth C. D. Hickman smacked his lips. "Not bad."

The fluid was plain water which a short time before had entered the machine as heavy brine. It had been purified in a vapor compression still Dr. Hickman designed.

No bigger than an automatic washing machine, the unit, as yet unnamed, is tailored for householders on coastal lands where supplies of pure water are slim or non-existent.

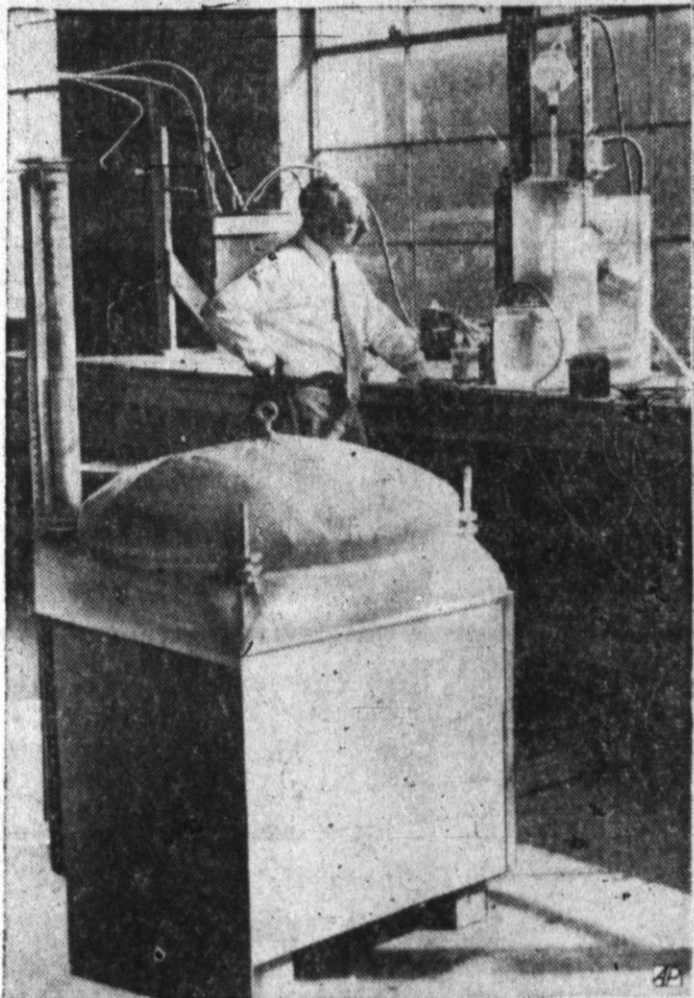

The unit can also be used, the doctor says, to purify polluted waters inland.

It is a "baby" version of a large, commercial unit which Hickman designed for the U. S. Department of Interior. The department is planning a test run for this in the near future at Wrightsville Beach, N. C.

The little unit was built in a laboratory owned by Aqua Stills, Inc., a Rochester research company established to develop the process. Hickman is vice president of the company.

Entirely automatic, the still uses less electricity than a home laundry machine and can turn out 500 gallons of pure water a day, Hickman says, about 100 more than the daily requirements of the average family.

Hickman says plans are under

LEGAL STILL—Dr. Kenneth C. D. Hickman patiently waits for his vapor compression still, foreground, to turn salty brine into fresh water. The machine has a capacity of 500 gallons a day.

way to put the little still into production within a year.

Manufactured in small quantities, it will sell for about $1,500 but in mass production its price could be trimmed to $300 a unit, the doctor says.

An electrical pump maintains the still's supply of water. Inside, the impure water is passed through heat exchangers, rapidly whirling cylinders, changed to steam, condensed back to water and finally run into a storage tank.

When the tank is full, the electrical pump shuts off. When the purified water is used, the pump starts ticking again to replace the amount drawn off.

Two engineers from the Interior Department's office of saline water recently inspected the machine and called it the most promising of several water conversion processes now under departmental study.

Hickman expects the unit to find immediate use in nations around the Baltic Sea, in the Caribbean Islands and along the U. S. Pacific Coast, all areas in acute need of good water supplies.

More Fifth Weeks Are Needed by All IT'S: HER POINT OF VIEW

By BETTY BABIONE
 OCTOBER WAS an especially good month for everyone it seemed. Even those rare fifth-week days, which usually come as a "bonus" time, were all up before they rolled around the calendar. 'Twas mostly on account of Halloween activities. Many people who have meetings scheduled regularly on the first and third Mondays of the month, or the second and fourth Tuesdays etc., etc., always appreciate the fifth Mondays and Tuesdays and so forth that happen along during the year. Wives and mothers often wish that every month had a fifth week — those extra days to be used in special ways. Such as catching up on tasks around the house which have been put off for too long. Or visiting with friends whom you never get to see any more. Or writing overdue letters. Or reading. Or just plain resting. Someone interested enough in this idea could start a movement to revise the calendar whereby all months would have a fifth week. Just think what it would mean to have twelve added weeks just for doing all the things we never have time to do anymore. Only thing is... as sure as the plan was perfected and in effect, one organization then another would start scheduling regular activities for that week. And with that extra time there would no doubt be more things to do and more places to go. Eventually we'd be right back where we started. Guess this idea will have to be filed away with the thousand and one other idealistic notions that would be so dandy if only they'd work. THERE HAVE been some humorous complications to arise when the "fifth week" days happen along. For instance, Temple Hill was trying frantically to reach members of her club which meets bi-monthly. She was afraid the girls would show up at her house for a meeting this past week, and she had to remind them that it was a fifth Thursday. She caught some of them just in time, too. There are few occasions more embarrassing than when you present yourself someplace at the wrong time. Most everyone has had one experience or another along this line. Jeanie Caison joined this exclusive group not long ago. Maybe Jeanie was so excited over moving into her new home that she didn't know what day it was, but she went on Wednesday to a gift shower which was scheduled on Thursday. The whole thing was to have been a surprise for the honoree — at the honoree's house. It was small consolation to Jeanie that the phrase "letting the cat out of the bag" originated a hundred years ago and that people have been pulling similar boo-boos ever since.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Peters of San Angelo have announced the engagement of their daughter, Billie Gerald, to Theodore Lee Sumner of this city. The marriage will take place on December 21 in Amarillo. Mr. Sumner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin W. Sumner, 515 Irving St. He is a junior student at West Texas State College. Miss Peters is employed in Amarillo.

John Robinson. The program will deal with schiafitto painting. Members attending were Mesdames Leon Denton, Alice Steen, W. S. Fluit, John Hickman, Carlos Vaughn, Robert Veigel and the hostess.

OFF COURSE SHORT PUMP, Va. — A flamingo, which should have been flitting about palm trees and sandy tropical areas, turned up in a pond with three domestic ducks here. The three-and-a-half foot tall bird drawed the attention of the Virginia Game Commission. Commission experts said it wasn't impossible for the bird to fly to Virginia but highly improbable, and expressed the view that it had escaped from a bird dealer.

FOUR GENTLEMEN who were certainly at the right place at the right time Halloween night were C. C. Billingslea, Virgil Dodson, L. J. Clark and D. R. Vanderver. These fellas gave of their time and efforts to work with the young people of the churches in their drive for the Christian Rural Overseas Program Thursday night. Bet that was one time when the men had full consent from their wives in the matter of a night out.

LAW, IT'S a sight just to drive around town on Halloween! Up and down the street there are all manner of little spooks and goblins travelling in groups from house to house, and many times there are scatterings of parked cars in which a mom or dad patiently keeps an eye on the toddlers who think they are just as big as anybody on this special night.

One of the cutest sights I saw was a gathering of small fry standing timidly on Mrs. J. F. Ward's front porch. They were typical "trick or treaters" — rather shy but very eager over the prospects of the sweet morsels in their sacks. And so much for another Halloween.

Mrs. Dick Godwin Leads Program of Music Study Club

Mrs. Dick Godwin was leader of the program at the Music Study Club meeting held Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. W. J. Stanford. Mrs. C. J. Mountz served as cohostess.

Mrs. Stanford, president, presided and led the group in reading the club collect. She completed her introduction by reading "Club Beatitudes," taken from the October issue of The Texas Music News: "Blessed are those who come for they shall receive inspiration. Blessed are those who sit in front for they shall hear—all that is said. Blessed are those who come on time for their souls shall be lifted by devotionals. Blessed are those who speak clearly for their message shall reach all hearers. Blessed are those who show themselves friendly for they shall have many friends. Blessed are those who sing for they are praising God. Blessed are those who stay for the end for they shall reap all the benefits," she quoted.

Continuing the study of "The Romantics" Mrs. Godwin opened the program on Chopin by giving a brief historical sketch of his life and works, pointing out that he was not only a famous composer but a brilliant performer.

Chopin compositions presented included Preludes, Op. 28, Numbers four and six, Mrs. Bill Bradley, Chant Polonaise played by Mrs. W. J. Stanford, and a piano duet Polonaise, Op. 53, played by Mesdames Wayne Thomas and John Sims.

Announcement was made of the annual Seventh District, TFM Convention to be held in Seagraves on Nov. 7-8-9 which was postponed from Oct. 10-11-12.

Mrs. T. J. Clay Holds El 'Nino Study Club Group

Mrs. John Jacobsen Jr. presented the program at the El 'Nino Study Club session held in the home of Mrs. T. J. Clay Monday evening.

In a discussion of the subject "How Character Develops" Mrs. Jacobsen pointed out that character begins developing in the crib and that the pattern is usually established by the time the child starts to school. "The influence of the teacher, the school and the church in further developing the type of character cannot be underrated" she said, and in conclusion she stressed the child's need for love shown by the parents through the formative years.

Members of the club attending the meeting were Mesdames Darrell Blanton, Ivan Block, Elizabeth Bonessio, Jim Bookout, Ben Childers, R. A. Daniel, O. G. Hill Jr., John Jacobsen Jr., Sam Nunnally, Wayne Thomas, Bill Waldrep, Margaret Woodall, Melvin Young, Dorval Young and the hostess.

United Church Women Group Installs New Officers Here

The Hereford Council of United Church Women held its annual World Community Day Observance Friday afternoon in St. Thomas Episcopal Church. Mrs. A. Peterson, president, presided.

New officers for the 1957-58 season were installed by Mrs. Louis Woodford. They included Mrs. Herbert Boardman, president; Mrs. Jim Loving, first vice president; Mrs. Floyd Dunavant, second vice president; Mrs. Clyde Coconough, secretary, and Mrs. Curtis Traweck, treasurer.

The program under the direction of Mrs. Earl Plank was in the form of a panel discussion of the topic "Race Relationship in the United States" with panel members including Mrs. Jim Loving, Mrs. Alton Fraser, Mrs. Ronald Babione and Mrs. Plank.

Communal meditation on the role members of the council, their city and their churches play in the world community centered around these topics: The position and convictions of our churches on the Christian attitude in race relationship; Is the decision of the Supreme Court on segregation a step forward; What the Negro wants; Minority groups in the U. S.; How churches work together in behalf of the American Indians; Migrant people and what the church is doing for them; The tide of hate literature that is flooding the country; The efforts being made by the National Council of Christians and Jews to promote understanding and cooperation among religious and racial groups; The fact that discrimination is costing American industry an amazing amount; Action taken by the U. N. for rights and freedoms of minority groups: What the Declaration of Independence tells us; and in conclusion, a summarization of the fact that only in the application of Christian principles can there ever be a satisfactory solution to the stag-geringly complex problem of race relationships.

The local United Church Women perform works of brotherly love in cooperation with state and national CUCW projects and serve their neighbors in their project of Migrant Ministry at the Day Center at the Labor Camp. They have been given state recognition for their work done at the Labor Camp and for the past two years have averaged $1,000 per year in carrying out their project. (Continued on Page 8)

Once Again, It's Our Move!

School District Must Jump In Deeper, Or Fall Short

Residents of this area recently read a survey report on school conditions and, in all probability, viewed the report with mixed emotions.

Coming on top of record high taxes, low farm support prices and unfavorable weather for harvest, the report was anything from encouraging to the economy-minded citizen. Still, facts are facts. The school district is faced with the necessity of additional building, in one form or another, during the next few years. In a nutshell, it boils down to the fact that we can anticipate the needs and be ready—or we can wait and ultimately house several classes in local churches as we have done in the past.

Unquestionably, the survey concerning present and long-range needs is a good thing. The people are entitled to know the facts as they exist. In turn, they should be able to choose which course they would prefer to follow. Since appearance of the survey, we have heard several alternate suggestions concerning smaller buildings, located in strategic points in an effort to better serve more people.

Instead of flying off the handle and denouncing any and all plans, it definitely behooves the people of the area to pitch in with suggestions, preferences and assistance to members of the school board, elected for the express purpose of representing the people as a whole. Like most other citizens, the individual board members are probably dead set against fancy construction, unnecessary rooms or wasted space. Inevitably, however, they sooner or later come face to face with the necessity of additional room. The big problem is how to solve the situation in the best, long-range manner from the standpoint of durability, service and efficiency.

It is a big problem here—and in other towns across the nation. There seems to be no "happy" solution, and the first to agree would be the seven board members who contribute their time, night after night, without pay and often without sympathy. Interested, conscientious cooperation should be the least these men could expect.

Certainly, we do not have to agree with them. On the other hand, we do have the obligation to study the problem and offer a sensible alternate before we object too strenuously. It seems to us that the trustees have gone about the study on a business-like basis, including an advisory committee, a special survey and some direct conclusions. Furthermore, they will obviously welcome suggestions from interested groups concerning proposed expansion.

Most of us are "for" good schools. Primarily, we just don't like to pay for them. This is especially true in our area which might well classify itself as "school poor" following an expansion program second to none in the community's history. Meanwhile, we definitely agree with those who predict that a large-scale bond issue for additional buildings would likely fail to pass at the present time.

All of which leaves us right where we started. Certainly, the school board has investigated and presented the school problem to the public. From this point on, it is up to the citizens and tax payers. Whether we go further into debt, or whether we wind up with our children attending classes in church buildings, can be answered only by the people who live within the school district. The next move, it seems, is up to us.

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON

2 Small Town Boys in Midst of Queen's Visit

By TEX EASLEY

AP Special Washington Service
WASHINGTON, D. C. — Two small town Texas boys who made good were in the midst of the fanfare surrounding the visit here of Queen Elizabeth II.

Wiley T. Buchanan, 43, a native of Grand Saline, is the State Department's chief of protocol. He stage-managed the queen's round of calls, and was the official greeter of Her Majesty when she arrived in this country from Canada.

Julius Walker, 30, born and reared in Plainview, did most of the work in setting up press, radio and television facilities for covering the queen's stay in the United States.

The job fell into his lap when a State Department press division superior was called away because of a death in the family.

MRS. WALKER, the former Savannah Tunnel of Lubbock, said she was beginning to feel almost like a widow as a result of the whole affair. Her husband, a former Waco newspaperman, had to go to Williamsburg, Va., days ahead of the queen's arrival there from Canada to make sure that all was in readiness for the reporters, TV and radio people.

"Even after the queen came to Washington," she added with a smile, "I hardly got to see him. He had to keep on the go continuously. But, I did get to see him, and the Queen, at the big press reception here."

That reception, attended by more than a thousand men and women, drew much commendation. British newsmen remarked that they had seen nothing like it. Here was their queen, in an unprecedented manner shaking hands of all those who filed by, commoners all and some with hands stained by typewriter ribbon ink.

AFTER GRADUATION from Plainview High, Walker attended the University of Texas. He then studied law at Baylor while before quitting to work as a reporter. Months later, interviewing a State Department official recruiting employees, he decided to try that for a career.

His wife is a member of the secretarial staff of Rep. George Mahon of Lubbock. The Walkers, married a little more than a year ago, became the proud parents of a girl Sept. 11. She's named Savannah Waring Walker.

Buchanan is a graduate of S. M. U. During World War II he was with the War Production Board and directed machine tool production. Formerly an executive of a Reading, Pa. parachute company, he served as ambassador to Luxembourg before assuming his present post. His wife is the former Ruth Hale of Washington, D. C. They have three children.

AROUND THE CAPITAL:

Sputnik may have caused a lot of concern among Texans, but they haven't expressed it much in letters to their congressmen.

A check among most of the Texas congressional offices disclosed a surprisingly small amount of mail on the subject. Most of the offices had received not one letter. Staffers suggested that some mail may have been directed to the home district offices, since most of the legislators are in Texas.

Rep. Albert Thomas of Houston did receive a number, most of them saying we had better get busy. Thomas in a statement from his office here, suggested that maybe the Russian launching of the satellite ahead of us would wake up those in the Defense Department handling the program. A member of the appropriations committee, he said it wasn't a question of money.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson, as a member of the Armed Services Defense preparedness subcommittee checking up on our missile and satellite program, got perhaps 50 letters from all over the state.

William D. Powell Jr., June graduate of S. M. U. law school, took the oath of admission to practice before the Texas bar in an unusual ceremony here in the Capital.

It was administered by a fellow Texan, Associate Justice Tom Clark, in the latter's office in the U. S. Supreme Court building.

Powell, who hopes eventually to hang out his shingle somewhere in Texas, is now a law clerk to Justice Clark.

Witnessing the ceremony were Powell's wife and his mother and step father, Mr. and Mrs. Fredrick Dietrick of Fort Smith, Ark.

AND HURRY!

WHITE SANDS PROVING GROUND, N. M. — A space-minded youngster in Australia says he is willing to let scientists at this missile base in on his space travel secrets.

Young Garry Jack makes the announcement in an urgent note airmailed from his home in New South Wales and addressed to "Person in Charge, White Sands." "I've read one of Walt Disney's comics," Garry wrote, "and things you plan to do are silly. I could give you a plan that would take you hundreds of years to find out."

"One of my plans is a flying saucer. "If you are interested, write me and tell me when you are going to send a fast plane to take me to your headquarters. . . and hurry!"

steps of the State Capital in Austin. The contestants were State Agriculture Commissioner John C. White who has a bachelor degree in agriculture in the field of animal husbandry and State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert, a lawyer by profession. Calvert made his cow give down 10.8 pounds of milk in five minutes while White managed to produce only 5.4 pounds in five minutes.

There is a profound moral lesson somewhere in this incident but it has somewhat escaped us. All we can do is join farmers in wondering. We should be the last to suggest, of course, that practical farming should be turned over to lawyers.—Denison Herald.

Cold Weather Increases Danger of Farm Fires

COLLEGE STATION. — Fire cost the nation's farmers last year an estimated $145 million. During the past 10 years, almost a billion and a half dollars worth of farm property has gone up in flames, according to economists in the USDA's Agricultural Research Service.

"Don't let a fire happen on your farm or in your home," is the word of caution from the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council. "As the weather becomes colder and heating equipment is put back into active service, the chances for fires takes a big jump," says the Council. They add that the USDA survey shows that farm fires are due to seven principal causes and most are preventable. The chief causes are: faulty flues and heaters, combustible roofs, spontaneous combustion, matches and smoking, defective electrical wiring, gasoline and kerosene and lightning.

"All heating equipment should be checked carefully and adjusted by a qualified person," says the Council. A check of all lines and connections should be made for leaks, and flues and chimneys should be thoroughly examined for cracks and breaks. "The most important item of all," points out the Council, "is don't give fire a place to start. In other words, prevention by following the rules of good safe farm and home living can save not only the loss in dollars but also the misery and suffering from injuries and even death to family members. Some 3,500 rural residents annually are killed in farm fires and another 300,000 persons are injured," says the Council.

Also, reminds the Council, most deaths from fires involve the very young and the old. . . those less able to make their exit from a burning building. Provisions should be made for getting such persons out of a building and for that extra insurance, the councilmen believe every farm home and other buildings should be protected by some type of fire fighting equipment including extinguishers. But to be effective, extinguishers and other equipment must be in top operating condition. Check it regularly to make sure it is ready for use in case of an emergency.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Opinions Vary on Hobbies for Young People of City

What hobbies do you think prove of the greatest benefit to young people?

MRS. VIRGIL ZUMWALT—I think outdoor sports because they would get more outdoor exercises and this would benefit their body more.

BILL STANFORD—To me, a hobby is a personal thing and I don't think that you could assign one certain hobby to any one. There are several hobbies that I think would benefit, but you can't pick out one certain hobby for everyone. Personalities are different and so are hobbies.

MRS. J. E. YOUNG—For girls I would say sewing and I also think that music or painting would be beneficial.

J. H. HINDS—I feel that reading would be most beneficial to young people. It would be intellectual and in some ways provide recreation.

MRS. OTIS LEE—I think that this should be school work and sports, office work, churchwork or community work.

DON WATTS—I would say reading and possibly collections of some type, stamps or something on that order.

MRS. ROBERT THOMPSON—In our own particular family I have found that music is something that has helped our family and it has really helped to bring the family closer together.

G. P. OWEN—Several different things, but one of the best would be to do some type of work which would cause their thoughts to go out to world affairs and would give them an idea to choose leaders.

GENE WAITS—It's certainly not reading books! I think that athletics benefit best because they teach you how to cooperate with people, it shows you that you can't think only of yourself, there are others to be considered, and it teaches you how to work with other people.

this, the fact that such allowables would be only fair and equitable—and you have the basis for a cause which is worth fighting.

Maybe Lawyer Had A Lot More 'Pull'

Many a farmer must have shaken his head in wonderment recently when a lawyer got twice as much milk from a cow in five minutes as a bachelor of agriculture in animal husbandry.

The occasion was a milking contest on the Water Depletion Allowables In High Plains Would Be Fair and Equitable

Owners of land in this area would be wise to shift from neutral to high gear in an effort to push through the proposed "Water Depletion Allowables" as recently outlined by leaders in High Plains Water District. In addition to putting hundreds of thousands of dollars into the pockets of land owners, the plan appears to be sensible and equitable.

Proof that irrigable land is worth more than dry land is elementary in view of established prices, which generally run to a 4-to-1 ratio. How long the water will last is, of course, a matter which will have to be established. Geological surveys conducted through the High Plains District indicate from 35 to 50 years in this particular area. Regardless of the time, though, there seems to be little question but that the value of the land is being depleted from year to year.

The government recognizes a similar existing condition in the oil business, allowing deductions on income taxes for depletion and liberal deductions for exploration. These deductions, in many instances, have been the motivating force which has drawn new people and new capital into the business.

Controversy over water rights is an old question in the United States, and more especially in Texas, where some of the laws trace back to Spanish land grants. Legally speaking, a question is sure to arise over rights and ownership of underground water. There will likely be other problems to arise.

Despite these things, however, the basic fact still remains: Water depletion is a reality! As the water is "mined" or pumped out from year to year, it is inevitable that the value of the property surely must depreciate in value—sooner or later. Unlike the oil reserves, no resource depletion is allowed on underground irrigation by the Department of Internal Revenue. Such allowance would naturally—and justly—return thousands of dollars to land owners of the High Plains each year, especially in those years when good yields throw producers in higher income brackets.

In recognizing the alertness of High Plains Water District in bringing the attention of the matter to local land owners, it is also logical that every land owner should support the movement with 100 percent cooperation. The district has asked for information regarding abandoned wells, and that information should be forthcoming immediately. Likewise, any further assistance should be furnished as rapidly as possible.

To estimate in dollars and cents the savings which might be effected through depletion allowables on wells would be next to impossible. However, we feel sure that the total amount each year would be startling. We also believe that each land owner, if he realized the full significance of the movement, would be doing everything within his power to get the measure through. Add to

FLU AT EPIDEMIC STAGE

County health officials see no immediate relief from the epidemic of influenza which now grips Moore County, and estimates that more than 2,000 cases have already been reported. Even though absentees in the Dumas Independent School District began a gradual drop Tuesday and Wednesday of last week, after a peak total of 670 Monday, authorities say the epidemic is merely spreading into other age categories. Laboratory tests reveal that some of the local cases are the much-publicized "Asiatic Flu," but the majority of all cases appear to be attacks of common influenza. The "Asiatic Flu" is usually found in younger patients, and is often distinguishable by sudden, high temperatures.—MOORE COUNTY NEWS.

OIL DEVELOPMENT BOOMS

"Conspicuous Absence" of public information marks two new wells in the Motley County's Roaring Springs oil development. The two wells, the No. 3 L. A. Stearns Estate, drilled by Sinclair, and the Pan American Petroleum Corp's No. 2-A O. C. Campbell, struck pay formation the same day, or within a few hours of each other. Neither of the two wells was cored. An electric eye test in the Stearns well showed pay formation at 4134-4142 feet. Casing has been set in both wells.—MATADOR TRIBUNE.

CITY BUILDS NEW AIRPORT

Littlefield city commissioners Friday told the Civil Aeronautics Administration it can take its federal aid for a new airport in Littlefield—totaling $42,375—and keep it. The city, Mayor Ellis Foust said, figures it can build a "much, much better" airport on its own. The city's rejection of the CAA offer came in a letter to the government agency after commissioners voted to take this step in a hurriedly called meeting Wednesday night. The move climaxed almost two years of negotiations.—COUNTY WIDE NEWS (Littlefield)

OLTON BOY SHOWS TOP PIG

Olton FFA boys brought home a reserve grand champion banner and $7,410 in cold cash from the State Fair at Dallas. Dewey Hukill exhibited the reserve champion barrow of the show and the cash came from sale of top grade livestock which took the eyes of both judges and buyers. It was only on in a long line of triumphs for one of the Lone Star State's most outstanding chapters. Just last week representatives of the Olton Chapter went to Kansas City, Mo., to accept the Gold Medal Chapter Award—one of three such honors bestowed upon Texas chapters this year.—THE OLTON ENTERPRISE.

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm reviews the satellite situation once more, with a different slant, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editor:

You may think I'm in a rut, writing about the Russian satellite for the third week in a row, and I may be, although if I am I got there on my own without the help of the Russians and anyway I don't mind, being in a rut is a lot safer than being on most highways I know about, but I have been thinking some more and have come to the conclusion the reasons the Russians were in a hurry to get that satellite up into space was to take the Russian farmers' minds off their share of the earth.

Now I don't know anything about the Russian farmers personally, but I have an idea the average farmer over there, working the land for the government and being told how many hours a day he has to work and how much of his crop he can keep, had just as soon believe the earth is flat and own some of it, than to work for the state and conquer space.

Khrushchev may chortle when that satellite goes hurtling around the globe, but I imagine a Russian farmer, looking up in the twilight from his job of milking a government cow, would enjoy the sight of Sputnik more if the cream went to him instead of Moscow.

Understand, I'm in favor of the United States getting on a little faster with its guided missile program, and I have an idea it will, now that Washington has heard from the folks at home, but I'd like to point out that science is not the complete answer. The man who thought up the idea of a system that allows me to own a piece of land out here and live on it like I please, with nobody able to take it away from me as long as I pay the taxes, well, he was a pretty smart man, but he wasn't a scientist.

Science makes freedom more fun, but science without freedom is like a penitentiary with air-conditioning—it's still a penitentiary.

I wouldn't swap my farm for a dozen satellites, but I have an idea there are a good many Russian farmers who'd swap all the Sputniks the Communists can launch for one little piece of land they could call their own. But they needn't be looking to me. This bindweed farm out here is not for sale or trade.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Determined Actress Wins Part by Acting Like Streetwalker

By SEYMOUR TOPPING

BERLIN (AP) — Miss Geri Hamburg, a Chicago-born soprano who came to Berlin on a U. S. government Fulbright study fellowship, has landed a movie part portraying a street walker.

The exotic Miss Hamburg is to appear in Erich Maria Remarque's film story "There's a Time to Love," co-starring John Gavin and Lisa Pulver.

Universal-International is shooting the World War II story in West Berlin.

Miss Hamburg says Director Douglas Sirk picked her from among 53 applicants for the role of the prostitute because she took the trouble to "look the part" when applying.

"I consider it a tribute to my acting that he didn't think I was acting," she said with a smile.

It wasn't until Sirk praised her "authentic" portrayal that Miss Hamburg jolted the director by disclosing that she had been a Fulbright scholar.

On the recommendation of Metropolitan Opera Conductor Wilfred Feltner, Miss Hamburg came to Berlin three years ago to study voice under Frida Leder. When her fellowship ended, she stayed on to work in films and the theater.

Miss Hamburg is a graduate of New York's Juilliard School of Music. She sang under the direction of the late Arturo Toscanini in the school's production of "Othello" and portrayed Lady Tyang in the Broadway production of "The King and I" as understudy to Dorothy Sarnoff.

She first attracted attention in America as the female lead in a hit production of "The Beggar's Opera" at Carnegie Hall.

Sorghum Hybrid Looks Favorable

COLLEGE STATION, — A white-seeded sorghum hybrid, showing a very favorable performance when compared with the other hybrids, has been developed by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Seed will be available in limited quantity for the 1958 crop.

This new hybrid, RS 630, is the first white-seeded hybrid released by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. In 25 tests in nine states, it yielded 67 bushels per acre — higher than any of the other hybrids tested. It is a medium-early grain sorghum hybrid that matures in 90 to 100 days after planting. The head is well above the upper leaf and dries readily, thereby permitting harvesting soon after the grain is mature.

A recently released leaflet, L-362, gives detailed information on this new hybrid. It contains sections on parentage, yield record, production of certified seed and gives a complete description. This leaflet may be obtained from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

HERE'S A SHORT-CUT
RECIPE for a Thanksgiving dessert that deserves consideration. We found it lived up to its promise.

If your family enjoys a fluffy refrigerator type pie, we have no hesitation in recommending this rule to you. It produces a dessert with real pumpkin flavor that cuts well and may be made quickly and easily.

Use a thin rich flaky pastry as a base for the pie and garnish the filling with whipped cream and toasted coconut. Or use a graham-cracker crust and plain whipped cream minus the coconut for the garnish.

HOLIDAY DESSERT—This easily made pumpkin pie is a delightful Thanksgiving Day dessert for the family that likes a fluffy, refrigerator-type pie.

HEAVENLY PUMPKIN PIE
Ingredients: 1 package (3 1/2 ounces) vanilla pudding and pie filling, 1/4 cup dark brown sugar (firmly packed), 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon ginger, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg, 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 1/4 cups milk, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, 1 1/2 cups canned pumpkin, 1 baked 9-inch pie shell (made from pastry or graham crackers).

and North Hereford stated they donated to the Blue Birds and that they were financing a girl. Mrs. Argen Draper gave a summary of her trip to Minneapolis. Ten clubs were represented.

Those present were Mrs. Elmo Hall and Mrs. L. V. Hall, Bippus; Mrs. H. S. Fuller, and Mrs. Zed Steward, Dawn; Mrs. N. A. Brown and Mrs. W. D. Howard, Messenger; Mrs. A. E. Hodges and Roberta Campbell, North Hereford; Mrs. W. P. Axe, Wyche; Mrs. Edgar Telchik, Cultural; Mrs. L. J. Straffuss, Ford; Mrs. Cecil Boyer, Mrs. T. J. Parsons and Mrs. Taft McGee, Progressive; Mrs. W. H. Goettsch and Mrs. Clara Shore, South Hereford; Mrs. George Turrentine and Mrs. P. B. Sowell, Westway; Mrs. Carlos Vaughn and Mrs. W. H. Awtrey Sr., West Hereford.

1 cup heavy cream, confectioners' sugar, vanilla, toasted coconut (if desired).

Method: Empty vanilla pudding and pie filling into a 1 1/4 quart saucepan. Add the brown sugar, salt, ginger, nutmeg and cinnamon; stir thoroughly. Gradually add the milk, stirring until smooth after each addition; add butter. Cook and stir over moderate heat until mixture comes to a full boil; remove from heat. Cool only about 5 minutes, stirring twice. Add pumpkin; stir until blended. Turn into prepared pie shell. Chill until firm. At serving time, whip cream and sweeten to taste with confectioners' sugar; flavor with vanilla. Garnish pie with whipped cream, or serve separately as a topping. If pastry shell is used, whipped cream may be sprinkled with toasted coconut.

Celestial Pumpkin Pie: Use recipe for Heavenly Pumpkin Pie but cool and chill pumpkin mixture. Then whip 1/3 cup of the cream and fold in; pour into pie shell and chill until firm (at least 1 hour) before serving. Whip remaining cream and sweeten to taste with confectioners' sugar; flavor with vanilla. Garnish pie with whipped cream, or serve separately as a topping. If pastry shell is used, whipped cream may be sprinkled with toasted coconut.

If you have canned pumpkin leftover after making a pie, remember that it can be used in cake, muffins or custard with delicious results.

It's a dear bargain if you can't get immediate insurance service in time of need, if you can't get quick help after an auto accident or other loss.

We have a hunch you'd rather BUY FROM AN AGENT who can have a man on the job quickly, prepared to give you personal assistance in settlement of any claim. After all, that's the true test of insurance.

That's how this Agency conducts its business.
