VOTING WAS considered light in two of the school trustee elections but heavier than usual in another. By noon yesterday 71 votes had been cast in the Hereford Rural High School District election where the only contest was held between incumbents Tom Robinson, Wilburn and candidate Bill Phipps. About 21 votes had been cast in the county trustee at large election, where Lee Forrest is the only candidate. Mrs. A. T. Frye reported eight votes cast at Dawn by noon and no contact could be made to reach the election judges at the Walcott school. Full election returns will be published in The Brand Thursday.

"Although we are not making a drive for this Wichita Falls disaster, anyone wishing to give a check may mail, or give it to the Red Cross office in the Court House and it will be sent to the Red Cross there," stated Mrs. Henry Neely, executive secretary of the Deaf Smith County Red Cross Chapter this week.

Hereford is continuing to grow, according to reports from two of the city's utility companies. For the month of March, Southwestern Public Service discontinued services to 18 homes, but connected 29. Pioneer Natural Gas Co., reported 30 new residences for March and two new houses connected.

Due to arrive in town Monday is a shipment of Storm-Warner barometers, according to Darrell Blanton. The instruments, in addition to serving as regular barometers, have a built-in siren which is set off automatically when the

Telephone Co-op Asks for $153,000

The board of directors of the West Texas Rural Telephone Co-op voted to approve the application for a $153,000 loan from the Rural Electrification Administration at a meeting held Thursday. The application was mailed the following morning.

Proposed by local manager Leo Forrest, the request is for $117,000 to re-connect rural telephones for 64 members and build to 305 new members; $23,000 for improving central office facilities; and $13,000 for system improvements.

The loan, if approved in Washington, D. C., will finance a five-year project, Forrest said.

The request is in response to a letter from David Hamill, administrator of the Rural Electrification Admin., who sent a letter recently to the agency's 1,572 electric and telephone borrowers asking them to step up needed construction and the purchase of necessary materials and equipment.

Building Permits Take March Jump

March building permits, for the first time in 1958, showed a substantial gain over the same month in 1957. March permits totaled $118,300 as compared with $67,050 for March, 1957 — a gain of $51,250 for the month.

Despite the gain, however, permit totals for the first quarter of 1958 were trailing the previous year by $50,865. Tabulated, the monthly totals read as follows:

January	$51,715	$21,950
February	122,900	50,450
March	67,050	118,300
Total	$241,565	$190,700

Twelve permits were issued in March this year with four residences totaling $70,000 leading the parade; two garages accounted for $1,400; the McGee Furniture Store $40,000, and five home additions totaling $6,900.

RESIDENTIAL STARTS were generally credited with slowing down the first two months in 1958. Two residential permits in January totaled $14,000, while only one residential permit was taken in February at $13,000.

So far in 1958, residential permits total $97,000; garages $2,950; commercial $74,200; dwelling additions $16,550.

Deaf Smith Chamber Protests Ike's Veto

IN PROTEST to President Eisenhower's veto of the Congressional bill to freeze farm price supports at the 1957 level, and as encouragement to the Texas governmental delegation in Washington, the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce board of directors this week sent telegrams to Walter Rogers, Lyndon B. Johnson and Ralph Yarborough stating the board's opinion on the subject.

"The membership of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce," stated the telegram,

Services are Held For Mrs. Tarlton

Final rites for Mrs. Ara Tarlton, 54, were held Friday afternoon at the First Christian Church with the Rev. Gilbert Davis, pastor, officiating.

Mrs. Tarlton died in Deaf Smith County Hospital Wednesday afternoon after an illness of three days.

She was born Aug. 24, 1903, in Reynolds County, Tex. She came to Deaf Smith County from Quahah in 1928. She was married to H. D. Tarlton in 1951. She was a member of the First Christian Church.

Mr. Tarlton is the only survivor. Burial was in West Park Cemetery. Gilliland Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

6,000 License Plates Sold; New Record

Deaf Smith County's Tax Assessor-Collector office reported having sold more than 6,000 vehicle license receipts by Friday afternoon, which is an increase of some 872 over the entire 1957 season.

BY TUESDAY evening, official deadline for driving vehicles without 1958 plates, the office, according to the manager Dave Alexander,

Baby Attacked By Silent Rat

One of the most unusual cases ever entered the ledgers of Deaf Smith County Hospital was recently discharged, but will be long to be forgotten.

Little Geneva Samuel, two-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Samuel, was taken to the hospital at 3:50 p.m. March had sold 5,801 new receipts for a total of $127,985.48.

Some 200 more plates were sold between the deadline and Friday afternoon.

A total of 5,128 receipts were sold for the entire 1957 season, amounting to only $99,692.36.

CONSIDERING the fact the 1957 plates actually sold until March 31, the 673 increase is staggering. And, that figure doesn't include the approximate 200 sold the following two days after deadline.

One of the major reasons for increase in revenue, other than the increase in vehicles, is the 10 per cent tax increase brought about this year by the Texas legislature. The money primarily is to be spent by counties for purchasing road right-of-way.

"As anticipated," said Alexander, "the last week of registration this year we sold 47.37 per cent of the license receipts issued during the entire two months of selling."

Research by the office person found that, during the final three days of selling 1957 plates last year, the office issued plates for 841 passenger cars, 168 commercial and 347 farm vehicles for a total of 1,256.

Far more than that number was handled during the final three days this year, though the actual figures are not yet available.

Spelling Champs Named

Nancy Boardman and Judy Wilman emerged winners of the senior and junior divisions respectively of the Deaf Smith County Spelling Bee conducted at Stanton Junior High School Wednesday afternoon.

Dolores Price, senior division, and Timothy Gallagher, junior were runners-up in the competition. Dolores attends Stanton, Timothy goes to St. Anthony's.

Nancy, Stanton seventh-grader daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Boardman, will compete in the 10th Annual Globe-News Bee April 26.

Winner of the regional event at Amarillo will compete in the national contest at Washington, D. C., with all expenses paid.

As a junior winner, Judy will not be eligible to compete at Amarillo, where the contest is held for senior contestants only. She will, however, get to attend a banquet held for the county winners and witness the senior competition.

Special Events Are Planned By Congregations

EASTER—the annual celebration commemorating Christ's resurrection — is expected to attract millions of people to thousands of churches across the nation today, as citizens observe the most important single event pertaining to Christian life. Hereford will, of course, be no exception, and most all churches during the past week were busy completing plans for the occasion. Special services were listed by many of the local churches, featuring special sermons, Easter music and, in several instances, Sun Rise Services sponsored by younger groups.

Veteran's Park will be the scene of a large gathering of young people from the Methodist, First Christian and Presbyterian Churches, who will attend a special Sun Rise Service, followed by a breakfast to be served in the County Bull Barn.

Easter songs will be featured by the choir at the Assembly of God Church, along with regular services.

Sun Rise Services will be a special feature at the Avenue Baptist Church, beginning at 6 a.m. Song and scripture will tell the Biblical story from "Gethsemane to the Resurrection."

The First Methodist Church will sponsor a Family Sun Rise Service, led by the Homebuilder's Class, along with regular church services.

St. Anthony's will hold Midnight Mass Saturday night, followed by regular Easter Services Sunday with masses at 6:30 a.m., 8 a.m. and 10 a.m.

St. Joseph's Mission will also hold Midnight Mass, followed by regular masses at 8 a.m. and 10 a.m. Sunday morning.

Sun Rise Service will be held at Lutheran Immanuel Church at 6:30 a.m. Sunday.

St. Thomas Episcopal Church observed Good Friday with a noon service last Friday, and will hold regular Easter services at the church Sunday.

The First Baptist Church choir will complete presentation of its

Easter Egg Hunt Today

Plans were completed Saturday for the annual Police Department Easter Egg Hunt, scheduled from 2 to 4 p.m., this afternoon in Veteran's Park. Chief Henry Aycock said that 90 dozen eggs have been prepared for the event.

THE HUNT will be divided into two sections. One group will be composed of children from two to six years of age, who may be accompanied by their parents; this group will hunt 300 eggs, including

Boy Struck By Car Friday

Nine-year-old Dennis Charles Owen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Owens, was struck while riding his bicycle by an automobile in front of the Owen farm home 11 miles northwest of Hereford about 11 a.m. Friday. The car was being driven by O. G. Hill Jr., 122 N. Texas Ave.

The boy was taken to Deaf Smith County Hospital for X-rays and observation. Though no evidence of fractures or internal injuries could be found, he was kept overnight for further observation by the attending physician.

According to the report by investigating highway patrolman Kenneth Maxwell, Dennis rode his bicycle out of the driveway and onto farm-to-market road 2356, in front of Hill.

When Hill saw the child, Maxwell said, he was traveling between 50 and 60 miles per hour. However, Hill was able to slow the speeding car enough to only knock the boy to the pavement.

Damages were reported as a slight dent to the front auto hood and rear wheel of the bicycle.

Fletcher said that one Eagle Scout award had been made at the Court of Honor to Joe Reinauer, on March 24; also six Tenderfoot, eight Second Class and two merit badges.

FHA ANNOUNCES

Additional Farm Credit Available in Deaf Smith

Additional farm credit, in the form of initial emergency loans is now available to Deaf Smith County Farmers. Walter T. McKay, State Director, this week advised Walter F. Johnson local county Farmers Home Administration supervisor.

The designation to authorize the making of initial emergency loans in Deaf Smith county was made by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson as a result of damage and losses sustained by local farmers from excessive rains, freeze and other adverse weather.

Loans to finance 1958 operations are available to farmers who suffered actual production losses, who have a good record of past operations, and who are unable to obtain the credit they need from private or cooperative credit sources.

Loans may be made for normal farm and home operating expenses, the interest rate is 3 per cent and loans are repayable annually, Johnson advised.

"This credit assistance is in addition to credit services already available from Farmers Home Administration," Johnson further stated. "Other credit services include subsequent emergency loans for farmers who suffered losses due to drought, subsequent livestock loans, and all loans authorized under the agency's regular lending activities."

Eligibility for all types of loan assistance is determined by the local County Committee and applications are now being accepted at the local Farmers Home Administration office. Frank J. Bezner, William J. "Bill" Messick, and Lewis A. Smith are now serving on the Deaf Smith County FHA committee.

Services Held for Le Ann Neill Sat.

Final rites were held Saturday at 4 p.m. for Le Ann Neill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Neill of Summerfield, in the Summerfield Baptist Church and conducted by Rev. Merle Weathers, pastor.

The year-old baby, born June 13, 1957, died Friday afternoon in the Palmer County Community Hospital in Friona.

Survivors, other than the parents, were three sisters, Cheryl, Sue, and Vekkie.

Burial services were held in West Park Cemetery under the direction of Gilliland Funeral Home.

Mitchell Urges Stepped Up Recruitment of Farm Workers

Recruitment for farm labor will be intensified and expanded this year in a major effort to make full use of the nation's domestic farm labor supply, provide jobs for unemployed workers, and curtail the use of foreign workers in agriculture.

That's the word the U. S. Department of Labor's regional office in Dallas has received from Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell.

"I have directed Assistant Secretary Newell Brown and Bureau of Employment Security Director Robert C. Goodwin not to approve employer requests for foreign workers where, through additional recruitment efforts of employers and the state employment services, domestic workers can be obtained to meet farm labor needs,"

Secretary Mitchell said. "Because of the current labor supply situation, employers will find workers available in areas which have not been sources of labor supply in recent years."

"I ANTICIPATE that in some areas the need for foreign workers can be eliminated. There will be areas, however, which will continue to need foreign workers to meet seasonal demands, and requests for such workers will be filled in accordance with approved procedures. Even in those areas it should be possible to effect some reduction in the number of foreign workers because of the increased number of available domestic workers. In all cases where foreign workers are brought into an area, the Department's policy of giving priority to qualified domestic farm workers for available farm jobs will be rigidly enforced."

The Secretary also stated that the Bureau of Employment Security had, at his request, been making a complete review of its procedures governing the employment of foreign workers in agriculture. The purpose of this review is to determine what new policies and programs are necessary to achieve the greatest use of domestic labor.

Secretary Mitchell said that the Bureau of Employment Security is asking the full cooperation of agricultural employers in holding down the number of imported farm workers. The Bureau has written its agricultural advisory committee requesting its assistance. The Bureau has also asked all State Employment Security Agencies to intensify their farm labor recruitment activities, and to publicize existing farm job opportunities in urban areas in an effort to recruit unemployed workers with previous experience in farm work, the Secretary said.

REMEMBER WHEN?

By CHARLIE SEEDS

They say old Grover Cleveland Alexander had been out celebrating the night before that game, but no one knows if that's true. He had beaten the Yanks in the sixth game of a tight World Series, and no one expected to see him in the seventh game.

Alexander had been one of the National League's pitchers for sixteen years. The Cards were leading the Yanks 3-2.

but in the seventh inning trouble came, and it was only natural that Alexander was called on again, without even having warmed up.

The bases were loaded, and dangerous Tony Lazzeri was at bat, when "Old Pete" came to the mound. And the great pitcher showed the heart of a champion. He struck out Lazzeri on three pitches to get out of trouble. Then he set down the Yankee's famed "Murderers' Row" in order in the eighth and ninth to win the game.

Remember the year? That was a time when a man counted on a car to give him a lot of service, and when he bought a new car he made sure he bought it from a dealer who could continue to give him service for the life of the car.

The year was 1926. Services is just as important today, and when you buy a new 1938 FORD from us, you can be sure of the finest, most modern service facilities when you need them, by the most skilled mechanics. So for the best in auto sales and service, see CHARLIE SEEDS MOTOR CO., Inc. 116 E. Second, Phone EM 4-2727.

Stitch Up A Happy Easter

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor
A NEW EASTER OUTFIT is very important to a young lady. And when Mom has given it a special touch with button-on bunny faces, the new dress becomes an event.

Here's a suggestion for a little girl's Easter ensemble. Stitch a pretty, simple dress — perhaps one of crisp green-and-white striped cotton with a full skirt and a fitted bodice. Then make a button-on bib of a white rabbit with green eyes and a pink nose. Repeat the bunny on a miniature handbag and brighten up a straw sailor hat with a ribbon appliqued with bunny faces and Easter eggs.

The dress, handbag and hat can stand on their own later, without the Easter trimmings.

The pattern for the bunny bib with complete instructions for making it may be picked up at your local sewing center. With your automatic swing-needle sewing machine or with an automatic zigzag attachment, you can make quick work of the applique work. Button holes and fancy stitching. Simply set your machine or zigzagger for a narrow satin stitch, and you'll have smooth sewing.

Here's how to do the bunny on the handbag. Cut two bunny faces, leaving 3/8-inch seam allowance all around. Trace his eyes, nose, mouth and whiskers on the face. Back one bunny face with organdy. Cut out the eyes, nose and mouth, leaving seam allowance. Use grosgrain ribbon for this. Baste in place. Using narrow satin stitch, work around outline of fabric. Trim away excess fabric. Use gray thread in a satin stitch

EASTER EGG APPLIQUES—They're quick and easy to make, and add a gay note to an Easter hatband for a little girl.

To make eyebrows and whiskers. Make eyelashes, too, if you prefer a little-girl rabbit.

Place bunnies right sides together and stitch all edges, leaving a three-inch opening at the bottom. Trim seam allowance, clip curved edges and turn. Slipstitch open edge and press. Attach to any small handbag with snaps or invisible stitching.

To make bunny bib, follow directions for pocketbook bunny, but make face large enough to cover front of bodice. Extend ears so that they button in back under dress collar. Extend side sections to go around waist and button in back.

To do the hatband, trace Easter eggs and bunny faces on two-inch squares of pink and green ribbon. Baste in place on white ribbon. With machine set for a narrow stitch, sew around outlines of eggs and bunnies. Cut away excess fabric close to line of stitching. Arrange design so that appliques go around crown and down the long back streamers.

Nominated for Class Officer

DENTON, TEX. — Miss Joyrene Morton, sophomore English major from Hereford, is a candidate for president of the junior class at Texas Woman's University. Campaign speeches will be given April 10, and the election will be April 17. Miss Morton is president of Omega Rho Alpha and a member of the Delian literary-social club. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Grady Morton, 109 Pearl St.

Free Congressional mail has had a sharp drop recently, the lowest since 1948, says Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield.

DHS Senior Play Slated April 10-11

The Dimmitt Senior Class Play, Mister Angel, a comedy in three acts will be presented April 10-11 in the Dimmitt High School auditorium at 8:15 p.m. The play was originally scheduled in February, but had to be postponed due to a car wreck which involved three members of the cast.

The story is about Item, a small girl angel played by Charlotte McElroy, who has been waiting 10 years to be born to Stacy and Lydia Bolton, played by Jim Tate and Ann Smith, a famous Broadway actress-producer team. Heaven gives up hope of Stacy and Lydia doing their duty as parents and sends Charles, an angel, played by Cary Johnson, and his helper, Gloria, played by Donna Woodell, down to earth to bring Item back to Heaven. Charles arrives only to find that Item will not return to heaven with him. He decides to appear in the Bolton's home as "Slim" a Texas Cattle King from the Flyin' Angel ranch at Austin, Texas.

From the moment Slim arrives there is one hilarious event after another, until Stacy does some investigation into Slims background and finds there is no money, no ranch and that he is unknown in Texas.

Other members of the Cast are Frances Lane, Mrs. Sawyer; Joy Walker, Daphne Peters; Jerry Andrews, Tony Peters; Berle Hyatt, Harrison; Jerry McGowan, Jennings; Joyce Ann George, Stella; Patsy Mundell, Pearl; Jonalyn Alldredge, Regina; James William Bates, Director and Patsy Queary, Joyce Slough, Mickey Hathaway, Don Robb, Carrell West and Sandra Simms, assistants. Admission will be 50 cents for students and 75 for adults.

SEEK CLOSER RELIGIOUS RELATIONS NEW YORK — The United Church of Christ, America's newest Protestant denomination, has received a request for closer "fraternal relations" with a German church group. The suggestion comes from the Evangelical Church Union which includes Protestant churches in six German provinces both in East and West Germany. They represent a union of Reformed and Lutheran Churches. Among other points, the Germans proposed a joint declaration of intercommunion and mutual recognition of each other's ministries and sacraments, and an exchange of fraternal delegates at General Synod meetings. The United Church of Christ was formed last June by a merger of the Evangelical and Reformed Church and the Congregational Christian Churches. CHURCH GROUP ON WEST COAST PASADENA, Calif. — Protestants and Other Americans United for Separation of Church and State has opened a West Coast regional office here. The Rev. Frank H. Nelson, a Pasadena clergyman, was named director.

Summer Season Pastures Provide Adequate Grazing

Colleta Station — Summer temporary pastures provide the most dependable source of summer grazing that is available, according to E. M. Trew, extension pasture specialist. Too, he adds, they usually supply better quality grazing than is available from permanent pastures. But these are not the only advantages of summer temporary pastures, points out the specialist. They permit resting permanent pastures and provide grazing all through the summer. They also provide some reserve feed. Any excess grazing may be put up as hay or silage, something very few livestock raisers have enough of. Sudangrass and pearl millet make the best summer pastures, with sudangrass being the best bet in most areas, says Trew. However, pearl millet will be the choice in East Texas and certain Central Texas soils. The pasture can be planted from the time danger of frost is past until the moisture is too low in the summer. The grazing season may be extended by planting as soon as danger of frost is past and then making additional plantings at three or four week intervals. Proper fertilization will pay big dividends with good growing conditions, he says. A soil test is the best way to determine the soil requirements. The dollar for a soil test is the best fertilizer dollar that can be spent. Rotation grazing and mowing should be practiced in order to get the most out of the pasture, advises Trew. Rotation grazing permits resting the plants between grazings, giving higher yield and permits use of the plants while they are in their most palatable and nutritious stage. Too, blocks not needed may be put up as hay or silage. For additional information, Trew suggests obtaining L-279, Sudangrass, and L-332, Pearl Millet, from local county agents or from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

Jaundice Not Proper Name for Hepatitis

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.

Infectious hepatitis, often loosely called jaundice, is a disease we are hearing more and more about. This is not because it is a new disease; it is only that we know more about it. We know now how to recognize it, how to diagnose it for sure with laboratory tests.

Hepatitis is a disease of the liver — the word means inflammation of the liver. One of the functions of the liver is to make bile, a substance which is poured into the intestinal tract and helps with the digestion of fat. In hepatitis the part of the liver that makes bile is inflamed. As a result the bile backs up in the bile ducts and doesn't get into the intestine where it belongs. Bile is the substance that gives bowel movements their brown color, so one of the symptoms of this disease is clay-colored stools. When the bile backs up it is absorbed into the blood stream and carried all around the body. The deep brown bile tinges the whole body a yellowish color. This yellow color is called jaundice — hence the popular name of the disease.

There are other diseases which cause jaundice so it's not a very accurate name for this special disease. The first suggestions of the jaundice are seen in the whites of the eyes which develop a yellowish cast. Since there is more bile in the blood than there should be it has to get out of the body somewhere. It is excreted into the urine giving it a deep brown color.

These three signs, clay colored stools, a yellow tinge to the skin and especially to the whites of the eyes and brown urine suggest the disease infectious hepatitis. Along with these signs the patient usually runs a fever, feels nauseated, often has spells of vomiting and in general is sick.

In children the disease is often quite mild, but it is apt to be more severe in adults. When the disease is severe the diagnosis is usually quite clear without the need of laboratory tests. However, when it is very mild one cannot be sure that it is infectious hepatitis without performing a blood test. The blood test makes the diagnosis definite — it is, or it is not, infectious hepatitis.

The disease is infectious — you get it from some one else, but the incubation period is long, anywhere from 2 to 6 weeks. The virus that causes infectious hepatitis is present in the stool of the patient with the disease and it is transmitted to other people by contamination of food supplies with waste products — the same way typhoid fever and dysentery are transmitted. The acute symptoms of the disease do not as a rule last very long but it may take a long time for the damage done to the liver to be completely healed. During all this time, sometimes months, the patient is not acutely sick, but he just doesn't feel well. Also he is infectious to other people since he still harbors the virus in his intestinal tract.

While we now know a lot more about this disease than in years past we still have no miracle medicine to cure it. The patient must be put to bed until the tests show he is free of the virus. He is given a special diet, very low in fat since he doesn't have the normal amount of bile in his intestinal tract; to digest fat.

We cannot cure the disease quickly but we can prevent it in exposed members of a family. Injection of gamma globulin, given during the incubation period will protect exposed people for several months.

Like many other infectious diseases infectious hepatitis leaves a lifelong immunity. Second attacks are very rare.

Texas Tech Hosts First Space-Age Engineering Show

Total number of bales of cotton ginned and harvested from the 23 member counties of the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. off the 1957-58 crop according to the Bureau of Census, U. S. Department of Commerce stands at 1,570,520 bales.

The Bureau of the Census released the figures as of March 24. The 1957-58 crop total compares to approximately 1,650,000 bales produced in 1956-57.

For the entire state of Texas, production was higher in 1957 than it was in 1956. The '57 crop total was 3,600,425 for the state as compared to 3,555,106 bales in '56.

Nation-wide the 1957 crop totaled 10,875,297 running bales and compared with 13,151,208 bales ginned from the 1956 crop and 14,542,000 bales from the 1955 crop.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has reported that 1957 ginnings contained the smallest proportion of higher-grade cotton of any crop in the past eight years.

Strict low middling and lower white grades accounted for the smallest proportion of total ginnings since 1947-48. Spotted cotton comprised nearly one-third of the season's crop, the largest percentage of spotted cotton in any crop on record.

Cotton stapling 29/32" and shorter accounted for the smallest proportion of total ginnings since data became available.

California and Texas were the only two states that produced more cotton in 1957-58 than they did in 1956-57. California produced 1,555,696 bales this past year compared to 1,465,613 in 1956.

Home for Holidays

Several of the college students came home for the Easter holidays. Among those were Mary Lou McCullough, Thomas Armstrong, Jerryce Rowland, Pat Carthel, Bonnie Axe, Jerry Reece and Kenneth West, Abilene Christian College; Lynn Bybee, J. B. Progressive H. D. Hears Mrs. Draper

Mrs. Argen Draper, home demonstration agent, presented a program on "Home Improvement" to the Progressive Home Demonstration Tuesday in the home of Mrs. H. L. Hershey.

"Wood finishes tend toward a greater variety of natural tones, which is good in this part of the country where dusting is a daily job. Natural finishes do not show dust as much as darker tones, however, many people like the darker finishes," Mrs. Draper told the group.

During the business meeting the Progressive club decided to entertain the North Hereford Club April 15, in the Taft McGee home.

Present were Mesdames Fred Saltzman, Floyd McGee, P. L. Carmichael, C. V. Burgess, Taft McGee, Leon Coffin, Earl Plank, E. C. Hammit, Tom Draper, C. C. Billingslea, H. L. Hershey and L. H. Lookingbill, a visitor.

Plants Grow Faster When Kept 'Awake'

LUBBOCK — Keep plants "awake" longer and they may grow faster, experiments conducted in Texas Tech's horticulture department show.

Edward W. Zukauckas, assistant professor of horticulture at Tech, is currently conducting research on plants that are "photo-periodic responsive" — those that grow more under lighted conditions.

"We may influence the hardiness of plant materials by garden lighting," Zukauckas said. The process keeps plants from going dormant and stimulates growth by keeping them in continuous day and incandescent light or by just lengthening the day.

He said that variety tests are being conducted with chrysanthemums — normally short day plants — and investigations show that a number of woody plants are also responsive.

Photo-periodic research on plants was originated at Cornell

University and is also being conducted at Rutgers University, Zukauckas said.

Experiments with bur oak and photo-periodic responsiveness have been encouraging, Zukauckas said. Some bur oak seedlings in the Tech greenhouses sprouted leaves that eventually began to turn color indicating the seedlings were going dormant. They were then subjected to long day light and new leaves began to appear.

"Our purpose, of course, is getting as large a plant as possible in as short a length of time," he said. "We may be able to produce two or three years of growth in one year's time by manipulating lights."

Zukauckas pointed out there is a practical application of this research for both Tech and West Texas.

Both the Tech campus and West Texas could use more trees. By causing seedling bur oak and other tree seedlings to grow faster, larger, more hardy trees may be planted — and have a better chance of surviving in this climate.

Other trees that show they are responsive to extended light periods are cotton wood, sumac, American elm, black locust, and Pyracantha. Post oak is definitely responsive as are some red oaks. Zukauckas said.

SELKIRK DRIVE CLEARED STADIUM

DENVER, Colo. — George (Twinkletoes) Selkirk disagrees with those who say that nobody ever hit a fair ball out of Yankee Stadium.

"I don't want to get into an argument with anybody about it," Selkirk says. "But I did hit one out and it went up on the elevated tracks which run out beyond right centerfield."

Selkirk says his blow came in 1936 off Oral Hildebrand, then a pitcher for the Cleveland Indians.

Twinkletoes is assistant manager of the Kansas City Athletics.

Spanish-Speaking Jobs Are Opened

If you speak Spanish (habla español) and are qualified to perform other duties in the Mexican Farm Labor program, the U. S. Department of Labor may have a job for you.

This announcement came today from William E. Corwin, Executive Secretary of the U. S. Civil Service Board of Examiners for the Labor Department's Bureau of Employment Security. He said the grade for the position starts at GS-7, $4,525 per year.

The required civil service examination is not a written test. Applicants will be judged on the basis of their experience and training, and their fluency in Spanish. Application forms and information are available at most large post offices and at the U. S. Civil Service Board of Examiners for the Bureau of Employment Security, 630 Sansome Street, San Francisco.

The men accepted will work for the Labor Department in various western states, from Texas to California. They will provide enforcement and information services on the Federal law and international agreement under which Mexican citizens may be imported to work on U. S. farms if domestic labor is not available.

Real Borge 'Floor Show' Occurs Nightly at Home

FAMILY FLOOR SHOW—Victor Borge believes in reaching children on their own level, and sometimes winds up even lower than that. Affection, he says, has better results than spankings.

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Do you act like an animal trainer around you child's play pen? If so, lay down that whip, you're just a big coward, in the opinion of comedian Victor Borge, father of five.

"Why spank a small child, who doesn't know the difference between right and wrong?" he asks. "He'll do the same naughty trick again, because he doesn't understand why he shouldn't."

Borge's formula for father-child happiness includes playing with the children. He doesn't charm them with his violin or a magic flute. He gets down to their level—right on the floor, rolling around with his two youngest, Veebee, 3½, and Rikki 2, in what he describes as the "Real Borge Floor Show."

"You see," he explains, painting tousled, while the children still have him pinned to the floorboards, "it'll take less out of you than spanking them anyway, always harder on the parent." (His method of appeasement looks hard on a good back, Borge has a bad one.)

Parents are always telling children to "go away and leave me alone," especially after they give them a present like a book or a game, hoping they'll "get lost," he continues. "That's the very time you should sit down happily and engage in the new fun, at least for a little while. After that they'll be content on their own, probably."

Save your spanking strength until your youngsters grow up, he advises. "Then they'll respect it, even though it may seem "undignified way to get your point across."

Borge, his lovely wife Sanna, and three of their five children live in Southbury, Conn., on 500-acre Vibo Farm, where he raises his famous Rock Cornish game hens. The family, including the older children, Sanna, Janet, and Ronald, spend summers at a castle in Denmark owned by Borge. But there are times in between when Borge is on the road with his one-man show. Of these trips, he says:

"I always regret them when the times comes, especially when I look back and see all the little noses pressed against the window pane, watching me go. It is heart-breaking."

Children are to love, he says, and parents should remember it. "But who knows if he is a good father?" Borge shrugs. "You can't tell really until the children are grown. Then, for all we know, perhaps it was mother who really influenced them for the better. It usually is."

Dimmitt Soldier In Army Maneuver

FORT CAMPBELL, Ky. (AHT NC) — Army Pvt. Richard L. Wood, whose wife, Karen, lives at 323 S. Park St., Medford, Okla., is scheduled to participate in "Exercise Eagle Wing," a 101st Airborne Division maneuver at Fort Campbell, Ky., April 16-30.

The maneuver, which will involve more than 15,000 paratroopers, is designed to test the effectiveness of the division under simulated combat conditions.

Wood, an assistant gunner in Company A of the division's 506th Infantry, entered the Army last June and completed basic training at Fort Polk, La.

The 21-year-old soldier is a 1955 graduate of Dimmitt High School. He attended Southwestern State College, Weatherford, Okla. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Wood, live in Dimmitt.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our appreciation to each of you who helped in anyway during the recent illness and death of our father. May God bless each of you who stood by us during that time.

DRAMATIC SCRIPTURE READING

NEW YORK — "Choral-speech," something new in Scripture reading, has been inaugurated at the Park Avenue Methodist Church here.

The dramatic reading consists of alternating voice and pitch levels, solo talking and choral singing and chanting. The rhythm and beat are modern.

Members of the church's young adult group staged the reading for the first time recently, with most of the participants professional actors and actresses.

Cologne toilet water was created in honor of Colonia Agrippina, mother of Roman Emperor Nero.

AUTHORITIES SAY . . .

Atomic Schools Will Be Costly

COLLEGE STATION (Sp)—More than a hundred atomic scientists, engineers and educators wound up three days of conference on atomic age problems here Wednesday by hearing a top AEC official declare that future nuclear training programs are going to be extremely costly, require more trained manpower, and will be essentially a job for the colleges and universities of the nation.

The speaker was Dr. Kenneth S. Colmen, manpower and education specialist for the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission, who addressed the final technical session of the First Texas Conference on Utilization of Atomic Energy at Texas A. and M. College Wednesday morning.

Dr. Colmen pointed out that in privately supported institutions tuition and fees amount to only about 55 per cent of average operating costs—and at publicly-supported colleges these sources account for only about 18 per cent of total costs. In view of the fact that college enrollments are expected to double in about 10 years, he said, colleges are confronted with problems of providing more buildings, teachers, equipment, plus the highly expensive materials allied to nuclear education programs—“if we are to keep up in world scientific education.”

Industry, he said, can help carry part of the future load through support of educational programs. “This is appropriate,” he added “because in the long run private industry will be a primary beneficiary of advances in nuclear technology.”

“But,” he continued, “only through concerted effort of government, industry and the universities can we be assured that when the heavy demand for trained personnel hits us, in the not too distant future, we will be ready with the required manpower.”

The three-day conference at Texas A. and M. College attracted some 20 of the nation's top atomic scientists, and more than 100 delegates from over the nation to a meeting covering the general peacetime phases of atomic energy relating to reactor design and construction, use of radioisotopes in industry and agriculture, problems of nuclear waste disposal, applications of radioisotopes to the petroleum industry and needs in nuclear education.

Wednesday afternoon's closing sessions consisted of an informal tour of the Nuclear Reactor Center located on the Texas A. and M. College campus, an explanation of its functions, and discussions of the Texas A. and M. College System's plans for a Nuclear Science Center which will be built for instruction, research and production of radioisotopes. The System's board of directors recently allocated $675,000 for construction of the first unit of the Nuclear Science Center, which will cost approximately $2,000,000 when finished.

Massie Says He's Still a Candidate

Otto Massie, Commissioner of Precinct 2, said Friday that he will definitely be a candidate for re-election.

“I make this statement in view of the fact that I have been asked by numerous friends concerning the race following my heart attack in March.

“I have talked with my doctor and he assures me that there will be absolutely no danger as a result of the race, or, if elected, in filling the duties of the office.

“I feel the same way. So, if you see fit to re-elect me for a second term, I am sure that my illness will, in no way, prevent me from making you a hand—to the best of my ability.”

YOUNG MODERNS

Teens Best Text Book--Daily Paper

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

“I saw Sputnik way up in the sky,” bragged a little fellow to his high school baby sitter, a while back.

Do you think she understood that kind of baby talk? Perish the thought. She'd never heard of earth satellites, it turned out, and perhaps doesn't now know that the United States has tossed two of its own into orbit.

How many teen-agers live in that little vacuum, passing through this wondrous age without curiosity or awareness? And why hasn't their interest been aroused by parents or teachers?

Time was when the daily newspaper was required reading for high school students, considered essential to keeping up with current events. But maybe Susie, like Johnny, can't read.

The American newspaper is the most rewarding investment that one can make at a price that doesn't even pay for the newspaper. Just test it. Go through the paper from start to finish, and see for yourself.

A newspaper offers diaries of events that history may never record in such detail. These accounts of our times are painless ways to absorb knowledge, step by step, on the educational ladder.

What's in a daily newspaper anyway?

There is news—everything you want to know that has happened since the last edition, if it is fit to print.

The newspaper is pure gold for today's science student, acquainting him with the strides being made in the vast scientific world. Book reviews stimulate a literary bent. Theatre reviews dissect drama, opera, the state. And where, I ask you, but in the newspaper can you find a daily vocabulary builder like the challenging crossword puzzle?

There are news feature stories to offer a forward look into the world of other people—the way they live, sleep, eat, dress, their work and hobbies. We get the latest word from the world of sports, brush with the business world. A student of economics can learn a great deal about debentures and deficits from financial pages. And then there are the editorials, helping to analyze the news and the paper's interpretation of it. You don't have to agree with the writer, but it's stimulating to see the other fellow's point of view. Newspapers haven't lost their sense of humor through the years either, and you can still find cartoons and comics strips to give you a laugh.

Reporters over the world write first hand accounts of their news experiences, sometimes gathered at great personal risk. It's for you to read today, why wait until you are a college senior to read the digested version?

The daily newspaper keeps us informed, too, of what is happening in government and community. Our syndicated news service also keep radio and TV updated with news and they may pick up the slack until newspaper edition time. From weather forecast to want ads, the newspaper spells service to the citizen. It is such a time honored institution that perhaps it is taken for granted, especially by young people.

Easter Centers Around Consecrated Alters, Happy Hearts and Beauty

EASTER TOGS AND TOYS—Charles William, 4½, and Beverly Ann Seeds, 3, model their new Easter togs with their favorite toys. They are children of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Seeds, 516 Star, and will be joining the Easter parade to Sunday School this morning. Ann would really like to play dolls but Charles William scoffs at the idea and to hold her own she plays with little cars and trucks and rides horses just like he does. (Staff Photo)

TODAY IS being celebrated throughout the Christian world in memory of the resurrection of Christ. Worship at consecrated altars in church services all over the land, in keeping with the religious meaning of the day, are the most important, but there are many other customs that have become a part of the day's observances.

THE EASTER parade goes back to the universal desire to "dress up" at a time when all nature is blooming with new life. The acquisition of new clothes at Easter time extends through the male and female population, especially in the United States. Children love to join the Easter parade of new clothes and eagerly pose for pictures in their Easter finery.

AS FAR AS the children are concerned, however, the Easter bunny is a very real and important part of the day. The bunny is a busy little fellow leaving colored Easter eggs and pretty baskets for the children wherever Mr. Bunny is known. Baby chicks and baby ducklings are also a part of the lighter side of Easter, and a party fun goes hand in hand with the day's observances.

SPRING FLOWERS—Flowers play such an important part in Easter that Kathy Brown is delighted with her flowered hat and new Easter finery, and is femininely pleased at being a part of the Easter Fashion Parade. She is the 3-year-old daughter of Dwaine Brown and lives with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Brown, 310 Ave I. She loves to sing the songs she learns in Sunday School, but best of all she likes playing with an uncle who is just 6 years old. (Angel Photo)

MR. PETER COTTONTAIL—The bunny rabbit and the Easter egg basket are exemplified in this picture showing Janey and Doug Little dressed in their Easter clothes. They are sure to find plenty of eggs for their basket for Peter, taking a ride in the basket, is a live playmate. Janey is 5 and Doug is 3. They are children of Mr. and Mrs. Don Little, 133 Star. Janey has learned a lot about Easter at kindergarten, but Doug has his own ideas about it all. (Staff Photo)

APRIL SHOWERS—"Rain, rain go away—come again some other day" says blonde Suzanne Smith as she tries out a gay little umbrella for size. She is the 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayland Smith, 401 Star. She is all set to follow the Easter Bunny, hippity hopping through the grass leaving in its wake, according to the imaginary tale the youngsters dote on, dozens upon dozens of beautifully dyed, decorated and even initialed Easter eggs. (Angel Photo)

Ah! Spring's Sprung, Yard Work's Begun!

IT'S: HER POINT OF VIEW

By BETTY BABONE

My goodness! Activity around town has certainly accelerated — everybody is busy doing something — sure no signs of any loafing going on. Guess it's being Easter week has been partly responsible. Also, with the return of dry weather (cross your fingers!), the farmers are back in high gear. It does seem that when the farmers are in high gear, everybody else is, too. Only hope that business is as booming as the busy-ness is.

Have you kept up with the latest where concerns Hereford's Walking Blood Bank? If so, you know that Monday, April 14, is the day we should all get ourselves down to the hospital to have our blood typed.

Even if you know your blood type, you ought to make certain its on record at the local hospital. Also ought to have an official card, stating your type, to carry with your usual identification at all times — even I can see the wisdom in that. . . never can tell when proving what kind of blood you have will be more important than proving who you are.

Have always heard about blood types being rare or common, positive or negative, and one thing or another. But I'm curious as to how many people know all they should about their own blood — I'm sure don't. Furthermore, I am in that great majority of people who would be up a stump if had to name somebody with identical blood type. How about you? Do you know, offhand, of anyone who could definitely be called on to be the "giving" end of your transfusion, should you have to have one without notice?

Well, no one will question the importance of knowledge and records concerning blood types. By setting a special day for the typing procedure, and thoroughly publicizing it, our local medical men and the Red Cross have surely done their bit for the cause. Now, it we will all co-operate and get ourselves to the hospital on the 14th, it would be real fine.

One more thing: as advertised in the publicity letters to clubs and organizations, the procedure is absolutely painless — in case you didn't know already.

You may have noticed Wilma Hill's little ad in The Brand last week. Wilma is forming classes for bridge instruction.

She is interested in advanced players as well as beginners — anyone who would like to learn to play better bridge under Charles Goren's scientific point-count system. Groups of individuals and couples are being organized for morning, afternoon, and night sessions and a phone call to Wilma at EM 4-1933 is all that's necessary to find out more of the particulars.

For the past few weeks, Wilma has been under the tutelage of Mrs. Cora Lewis, who is widely known for her successful bridge classes at Dumas. Mrs. Lewis was in Hereford Friday to assist Wilma with the inauguration of the course and there is, apparently, a considerable amount of interest in the lessons.

Wonder who will appear chemise-wise on this Easter morn. Margaret London, Helen Higgins, and LaJean Henry ventured forth in their respective chemises before Easter — don't imagine it took as awful lot of courage of the part of any one of them 'cause the style is becoming to each.

Chemise suits look very good on some people — Ann Seeds, for example. And Jane Kirby is as cute as a bug in her modified chemise style, two-piece dress — Jane's dress features the brilliant tangerine color which, with other orange and coral hues, is responsible for the added dash in this spring's parade of fashions.

Am eagerly anticipating my own account of what the local ladies choose to wear to church today — might do the unusual and note some of the men, too.

If you haven't had enough Easter-egging around your house, take the kiddies to Veterans' Park around 2:00 this afternoon. By some miracle, the police force have again collected and hidden some 900 colored eggs for the delight of our county's small fry. Wonder if Mrs. Henry Aycock had the job of dyeing the eggs for this event, as she did in the past.

Gotta go now. See you at church!

Miss Patsy Jackson

Miss Patsy Jackson To Wed George Snider of Borger

Shades of pink and white prevailed at a tea given yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Charles W. Seed, 129 Star honoring Miss Patricia Ann Jackson, bride-elect of George Snider, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Snider of Borger. Miss Jackson's parents and Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Jackson.

The engagement and approaching marriage was revealed at the attractively arranged tea table done in the bride-elect's chosen colors of shades of pink and white. A white cloth overlaid with white lace covered the table where lovebirds flanked a crystal swan holding an arrangement of pink and rose and white stock and carnations. Linking the lovebirds were names of the couple and the wedding date "Patsy and George - May 30" inscribed in silver on a pink satin runner. Appointments were in crystal and silver.

Receiving the guests were the hostess, the bride-elect's aunt, the honoree and her mother, Mrs. Clinton Jackson, and the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. E. G. Snider of Borger.

Members of the house party assisting with the hospitalities were Mesdames Jerry Albracht, R. L. Layman, Tommy Braddy, Joe Story, Don Steele, Dorothy Parker, E. W. Young, Ben Conklin, Jim Alston, Leonard Hicks of Austin, and Misses Earline Plank and Becky Jackson.

Music was provided throughout the calling hours from 3 to 6 by Joy Wiman, Nancy Story, Nancy Parsons, Mary Ann Young and Mrs. Jerry Murphy of Denton.

Out of town guests included Mesdames Leonard Hicks of Austin, John Luttrell and Louis Mainer of Waco and Guy Flynn of Amarillo. Approximately 200 invitations were extended.

SUMMERFIELD NEWS

Crops, Yards are Now Top Topics

By BETTY WALSER
The farmers, as well as everyone else, are certainly taking in all the nice weather we have been having. Planting which has had to be put off and put off, is at last on the road. Most of the crops will be well under way to growing after this week. Yards which have really been needing to be mowed and fixed can at last be worked on. The weather will certainly add zest to the Easter holidays, if it continues.

Bay View Study Club Studies 'Christianity and World Unity'

Members of the Bay View Study Club met in the Friendship Room of the Hereford State Bank Thursday afternoon for the annual business session when officers reports and committee reports were heard.

During the business session Mrs. J. P. Siaton was given honorary membership into the club.

The program on "Christianity and World Unity" was presented by Mrs. Max Drever who read a paper prepared by Mrs. Lee Benefield who is traveling in Europe.

The work of the YMCA, YWCA, Student Christian Movement, World Council of Churches and the International Mission Council and their connection with world unity was described, the program for world fellowship in all areas of the United Nations in the creating and maintaining world order was noted, for out of the United Nations may come a unified world. Continuing to read, Mrs. Drever stated "The church has a mission to the whole world. It is the individual Christian's duty to help prevent World War III. Man is now able to provide physical needs but he is not ready to solve the problem of his own soul. He has put gold and national pride above his creator, and has even exploited his neighbor. If we are to have a unified world, we must all share in the work of bringing about a Christian world."

Mrs. Will S. Kerr, president, led the group in repeating the quotation for the day "It is not the business of Christianity to provide an organization for the world but to infuse the Spirit of Christ into the organizations of the world," by Dr. Fred Fisher.

Members of the club attending were Mesdames D. H. Alexander, Phillip Barkley, Max Dreves, Howard Gault, W. J. Gilliland, Jimmie Gillentine, Francis Hardwick, A. M. Jones, Will S. Kerr, J. W. Kirby, Ansel McDowell, John McLean, Eugene Naugle, Carl Perzin, J. W. Spradley, and Miss Sue Kirby of Lubbock was a guest.

Karen Sue McGee

Engagement of Karen Sue McGee Revealed at Tea in Amarillo

The engagement of Miss Karen Sue McGee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McGee, formerly of Hereford and now of Amarillo, to Carroll H. Herring of Dimmitt, was revealed at a tea given recently by the bride-elect's mother in the Amarillo home.

Both Miss McGee and her fiancé are junior students at Abilene Christian College and plan to continue their schooling.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Hereford High School and was football queen her junior year. She also served as Lion's Club Sweetheart for one year.

She was the honoree and her mother, her sister Barbara and the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Homer Herring. Approximately 75 guests were registered in the bride's book of names.

Receiving the guests at the tea were the bride's mother, Mrs. Lawrence McGee, and her fiancé's mother, Mrs. Homer Herring.

The young couple will be married in the Central Church of Christ in Amarillo on May 20.

Wedding Is Held In Adrian

Miss Betty Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. N. Johnson of Adrian, became the bride of Johnnie T. Cavitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Cavitt of Plainview Thursday evening March 27 in the Adrian Baptist Church. Rev. Bill Lewis performed the single ring ceremony before an altar lighted by cathedral tapers and decorated with white chrysanthemums and greenery.

Miss Ninette Pounds provided the wedding music and Miss Mary Jean Jackson served as maid of honor. Miss Jackson wore a pale pink lace frock fashioned along simple lines. Candelighters were Gail Brown and Sue Johnson. They wore dresses of ice blue crystalline fashioned similar to that worn by the maid of honor. All the attendants wore white carnation corsages. Billie Dawn Johnson and Rex Johnson, niece and nephew of the bride, were ring bearers.

The best man was Rowland Howe of Amarillo and ushers were Jimmie Zaring and Oscar Bronneman.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a waltz-length gown of white nylon over satin. Styled with a deep bodice, the dress featured a low round neckline and cap sleeves accented with beaded embroidery and the skirt fell from the pointed bodice in full folds. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a small white hat and she carried a white Bible topped with a bridal bouquet of white carnations.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Johnson, brother and sister-in-law of the bride.

Out of town guests included the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Garland Cavitt of Dumas, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bishop of Plainview, Mr. and Mrs. Billy D. Johnson and family of Canyon, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Haberman and family of Henrietta.

The bride is a junior in Adrian High School and Cavitt is presently employed with the Trujillo Cattle Company north of Adrian where the couple will make their home.

Time Is Past When Towns and Counties Can Split Forces--And Still Survive

(The following editorial in addition to stressing the need for city-county cooperation also points out that the drop in farm population is state and national in scope, rather than local. A recent check of poll taxes in Deaf Smith County showed a total of 2,668 of which 1,740—approximately 70 per cent—are in Precinct 2, the Hereford residential area.)

Texas' tremendous population growth since 1945 has been mostly in the big cities and the rest in the small cities. The rural areas have, for the most part, lost population.

Texas' future lies in the development of its towns and cities, but each small town is badly in need of assistance in competition with the larger one. Small towns need all the help they can get.

One of the sources of assistance for towns such as Gilmer, Pittsburg, Mineola, Quitman, One City and Big Sandy is its own county government. The time is past when the "county" can work independently of the city or towns in that county.

If the county is to keep from becoming a "ghost" county, its towns must survive. If its towns are to survive the total resources of the county must be channeled toward this.

When outsiders plan to move new plants or industries into an area, they look over the towns because that is where their employees, managers and their wives will live. If the town is unsuitable to the eye, we lose a chance for new payrolls without ever knowing it.

And in Upshur County's case, there is one thing certain. As long as oil is here, the county spending can continue at its present rate. When the oil is gone, there is no more county spending. But could not the oil revenue be spent toward such permanent improvements

Sales Tax On Way

Mention of the words "Sales Tax" is, to many Texans, the equivalent of waving a red flag in front of an enraged bull. The fact is, however, that Texas will probably have a sales tax within the next decade.

Natural resources have carried a heavy burden in state financing in recent years. This is only just and fair but, as costs continue to rise, taxation on these resources has gradually climbed its way to the point that it might easily become a costly burden. Much the same story is true concerning real estate. Today, many people do not consider land and property a sound investment, due to local and state taxes.

Meanwhile, literally thousands of citizens enjoy the benefits of city, school, county and state government—and never pay one single cent of taxes, except through the purchase of gasoline which, in itself, is a sales tax.

To us, a combination of the two methods seems practical. Certainly, our natural resources and real estate should provide a generous portion of our governmental revenues. But should they continue to share the entire burden?

A sales tax is a pesky nuisance. No doubt about it. On the other hand, it has solved this serious problem in other states and, without question, will become a reality in Texas. Perhaps much sooner than most of us realize.

THE GOLDEN YEARS

Ira Ricketts Recalls 'A Wide-Open Country'

By MRS. R. L. CRISWELL

"I came to this country in the year of 1904," said Ira Ricketts. "This was wide-open country and from where we lived in the Jumbo Community to Hereford there was only one gate. I will remember Hereford in those days.

"That fall as we came up on the Caprock the lakes were full of water and in places two lakes would run together and become one. We came up the Denver Railroad from Estelline, across to Silvertown, Tulla and then to Hereford. There was so much rain we had to pitch a tent every night to keep our household goods dry. We slept in the wagons and had a fine time seeing the new country. At that time parts of the land were covered with grass so tall it looked like grain waving in the wind. It was very beautiful and we were delighted to live in such a wonderful country.

"AFTER WE got settled we built fences around our place. We got the posts from Happy Canyon with the aid of a horse. We would lead the horse down to the posts and when they were cut we tied them to the harness and lead the horse out. Any posts that could have been reached by wagon had long since been hauled out. We hauled some wood for cooking and heating, but mostly used cowchips for this purpose. We would soak them in fuel oil to make them last longer and to make a hotter fire.

"We planted cotton the spring of 1902 but it was so dry that it did not sprout until 1903. Father cut his feed with a knife about three feet long. He sat on a sled pulled by one horse. The horse was trained to stop when he had cut enough stalks for a bundle. We lived on what we made and we were happy. We had very little money but we got along fine.

"I made a chicken house of beargrass. I set posts the length I needed and not too far apart. I then hauled the beargrass clumps that had been cut off just below the spines. Next I strung a wire about 10 or 12 inches from the ground and turned the grass spines down and set them as closely together as possible. When I reached the end of the wire I strung another 8 or 10 inches about the wire and began all over again. As soon as I had the wall the correct height I strung hog wire up for a roof and then covered it thickly with the grass, turning the spines down and packing them closely. It was warm and water proof. The spines acted as shingles in shedding the water off the roof. A lot of people used the beargrass for this but I guess more used the Russian Thistle as it was more plentiful than the beargrass.

"I MET THE lady who is now my wife at a party in the Keithley home. It was located just across the road from the Tom Draper farm. She was so pretty and graceful that I guess I lost my heart right there. I was rather bashful but I mustered enough courage to take her out to church and other places. It took me awhile to convince her that I was the man for her. We have had a wonderful life together and Hereford is a friendly town to live in."

"We came through Amarillo to Hereford and I thought Hereford was the noisiest place I had ever entered," said Mrs. Ira Ricketts. "We had quite a time finding a place to stay over night but finally located friends. They knew we were coming but did not know just when we would arrive. There was a saloon on the west side of Main Street. It was so noisy it could be heard all over town. I thought it was a terrible place. I longed for my friends with whom I had grown up in Navarero, Colo. I remember it began snowing that night and the next morning the ground was covered with a deep layer of snow. The whole country looked very pretty. Since then I have learned to love it.

"There were no roads or fences and it was such a long drive my father drove us to school. One day he was very busy and his nephew said he would drive us in. He scoffed at the idea of getting lost, even though the morning was very foggy. We drove and drove and we thought it was the longest drive we had ever made to school. At last we arrived, but not at school. We had driven in a circle and reached home about 11 a.m. My brothers, sisters and I did not let him forget that drive for sometime, you can be sure.

"I, TOO, REMEMBER the party and meeting Mr. Ricketts there. I had quite a time finding someone to introduce us. There was another girl that had set her cap for him and she had prevailed on the other girls not to introduce us. "We went steady, but not every day and night as the young folk do today. There was a hill about five miles from our house and I always watched for him to come over the hill. I could first see the horse as a speck on the horizon and then the buggy as it came into view over the hill. He was very shy and my little brother once passed him some cornbread and said it was cake. Ira was so embarrassed that I wondered if he would come back needless to say he did.

"There was to be a picnic in Hereford and we had a date for it. A heavy rain fell in the night and our roof leaked. It filled my best shoes full of water. I didn't know this until I started to put them on for the picnic. I had to wear my sister's shoes and they were too small. I couldn't even enjoy myself, my feet hurt so bad.

"He was a lot of fun and I enjoyed his company but I just didn't think he was the one for me. He soon changed my mind with his persuasive ways. We were married on Aug. 26, 1906, in a home wedding with a few friends and neighbors as guests. The Rev. J. N. Wooten read the ceremony for us.

"We set up housekeeping and I cooked on what was called an Old Bachelor Stove. It had a drum on the pipe about the stove for baking. I enjoyed cooking, except when the wind and sand were blowing. One day I was preparing our noon meal when the wind got so high it sucked the flames up the flue. If we hadn't put the fire out it would have burned the house down.

"MR. RICKETTS has told you what he did with beargrass, let me tell you what I did. Cows love to eat the flowers of beargrass. I had no idea that it would affect the milk and butter. I might add that butter at that time was five cents a pound. I began churning with about one half gallon of cream. I churned but no butter. I kept at it and when I stopped I had three gallons of foam but not one grain of butter.

"We were always hungry for greens in the early spring and since the cows seemed to enjoy the Russian Thistles so much I thought I would cook some. They were too potent and I never tried them again.

"We have six children, 28 grandchildren and 18 great grandchildren which we love dearly. I have an heirloom which I am very proud of. It is an oil painting done on paper. It is of Calla Lillies in white, green and brown. It is more than 100 years old and has been handed down to different members of the family for several generations."

YOUNG MODERNS

Discussion Best Answer To Problems

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newstfeatures Writer

IS A YOUNG girl entitled to a car, just because she's 17 and her parents can afford it? Should mothers be barred from teen parties in the home? Those are just a couple of questions asked by young people in the latest batch of mail. Here they are:

Q. Every girl I know has her own car or is entitled to use one that belongs to the family. My family forbids me to drive a car, even though I have taken lessons and my instructor says I should be a good driver. I feel like a child, even though I am 17.

A. A girl of 17 should certainly not feel underprivileged because she doesn't own a car of her own. But perhaps if she discusses the car situation with her parents on the basis that she would like to practice driving so that she does not forget what she has learned, maybe they will agree to that plan. Once parents feel sure you can control the wheel they will undoubtedly let you borrow the car occasionally.

Q. Every time I have a group in for dancing, my mother who is a very young looking 35 insists on entering into the fun, dancing with the boys, telling jokes and eating with us. I think she overdoes her part. I don't know how to tell her, but I really think she should welcome the guests, and then retire to her room.

A. Perhaps your mother feels that you are not capable of hosting the group. Maybe she is trying to show you how to be popular. Why not discuss it with her, jokingly asking, perhaps: "Now mother, don't you think I'm old enough to entertain my friends, without prompting?" Perhaps, then, she will let you know the real reason why she barges in on the festivities.

Q. I am very fond of a classmate, and as a matter of fact we have been going steady for two years. He has been avoiding me recently, and a friend of his told me he resents the fact that I have a higher class average. I can't imagine him worrying about such a small thing, he is so forthright, but I can't account for his sudden lack of interest.

A. Since you have gone out with him two years, the simplest plan would be to ask him why he is avoiding you. It is true that some men cannot bear to have women exceed them in anything, from books to badminton. It is just the challenge of his sex which makes him want to keep ahead of his girl, to earn her respect. If you think he is worried about his grades, seize every opportunity to brag on his prowess in other things.

Q. My parents have forbidden me to see a boy. I have been secretly seeing him around the campus of my school, where I board. Soon it will be vacation time and I will be home again. I cannot bear to go through a summer without dating this boy. How can I tell this to my parents?

A. Confess to your wrong doing. Then put the situation up to them. Do they have good reasons for asking you to stop seeing the boy? Is there any way the boy can put their fears to rest? If they have serious doubts about the boy, with legitimate reasons to back up their feelings, perhaps you should heed their wiser evaluation of the situation.

SERIES OF BURGLARIES CONTINUE

The series of burglaries in the Springlake-Earth area continued last week. Two Springlake businesses—Busby Motor Company and Springlake Motor Supply and service station—were broken into Friday night. This was the sixth break-in in that area in the past 60 days, according to Deputy Sheriff V. L. "Smitty" Smith, who investigated. From a loss standpoint, the service station was hit harder than the motor company. A safe was stolen from the station. Smith said it contained 24 50 cent pieces, $65 in bills and checks, $5 in change, $40 in pennies and nickels, $30 in tickets, four car titles and two pickup titles.—THE OLTON ENTERPRISE

PAVING AIDS INTERNATIONAL ROUTE

With the completion late this summer of new pavement on Highway 51, a distance of approximately 19 miles between Littlefield and Springlake, Lamb County and the State of Texas will have made an important contribution to development and travel over a great international north and south route extending from Mexico to Regina, Canada. Rich in agriculture activity, oil development and thrilling scenery, the route is commonly thought of as the "main street" of central United States.—COUNTY WIDE NEWS

EX-CON CAUGHT DRIVING STOLEN VEHICLE

Tulia police captured an ex-convict driving a stolen car belonging to an Amarillo man late Thursday afternoon on Highway 87 in West Tulia. The 1951 Plymouth had been reported stolen by Potter County Sheriff's Department which had reported an erroneous license number. However, the Tulia police suspected the the car and made the arrest. Traveling with the ex-con was his pregnant wife. The apprehended driver told the Tulia police that if he had had a gun they would never have stopped him. Potter County came for the couple that night. The man was charged with car theft.—TULIA HERALD

MERCURY VAPOR LIGHTS INSTALLED AT SHAMROCK

The West Texas Utilities Company completed installation of new mercury vapor street lights in Shamrock in record time. Eli Smith, local manager, and T. A. Shahan of Childress, district manager, said Tuesday the system was actually completed on March 15, with exception of painting some poles with aluminum. The Shamrock system embraces 85 mercury vapor lights, most of which are on US Highway 83 (Main Street). The brighter lights have also been installed at Rock Island street crossings on Madden and Wall Streets, and at the new high school building, in addition to replacements in some residential areas.—THE SHAMROCK TEXAN.

The BOOTLEG —Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm is off on the subject of economics this week, with what success you'll have to decide for yourself.

Dear editor:
For the past few weeks I've been reading everything I could get my hands on about the cause and cure of recessions, and so far all I've been able to figure out is that a recession is like a virus—medical science isn't sure what causes it or what cures it, but it has no trouble discovering when you've got one.

However, there's been an argument going on over one of the proposed cures of the recession that interests me.

According to one expert, the way to cure the recession is to cut income taxes 20 per cent, starting next week. This way, he says, everybody who gets paid by the week and has his income tax withheld from each pay check, which is the installment method of paying taxes, would have a little more money to spend, and any close student of human nature knows he'll spend it, which will increase the demand for goods, stir the factories up, and get things rolling again.

Another expert though argues that if you cut income taxes 20 per cent now, just intending to keep 'em cut for the duration of the recession, you'll hit a stump when you try to restore 'em later on when things are booming again. He says it'd be dangerous to tamper with the tax rate.

Frankly, I can't follow this line of reasoning, and think it demonstrates a gross lack of confidence in the government. I have never seen a government, from the local level to the state to Washington, that couldn't manage to raise taxes when it really put its mind to the job. People have been running for office on a platform of more economy and getting elected since elections were invented, and the cost of government has been going up steadily from the same date.

Understand, I'm not saying government ought to cost less, or more, I'm just saying that anybody who thinks any government can't figure out how to restore a tax, is just not familiar with modern governmental leaders, regardless of which party he runs under.

If cutting taxes for a few months will end whatever recession we've got, I say go ahead and try it and don't be worrying about Congress' ability to restore it later on. I've got confidence in Congress. I figure it'll restore my tax the minute it figures I can pay it, and frequently it jumps the gun and does it before I'm ready.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Some Folks Planning A Bit of Yard Work

Have you made plans to improve the appearance of your yard this year?

MRS. KENNETH GOOCH—We plan to put some shrubs and other things out.

JAMIE CLEARMAN—I'm just living home with the family and I just wouldn't know if they were planning to or not.

MRS. C. W. GRESHAM—We are just going to fill in the corner of the yard and plant more grass.

DALTON ROBERTS—No, I sure haven't.

MRS. BILLY HUTTON—Oh yes, we are re-doing our flower beds, digging more flower beds, planting plants in the planter, trying to rid the yard of dandelions, prune trees and other things.

DENNIS LOMAS—Oh, if it doesn't require too much work I plan to put out some trees and things—besides a little painting that will be all I plan to do.

MRS. HOMER HAMILTON—No, not especially. We will probably do some improving because of the widening of the highway. We have no definite plans.

BILL GWERHART—I just rent, but it does need a good cleaning up.

so that industry and people would be attracted here to take its place?

If that can happen, then the new valuation from plants and homes will replace the oil valuation and the "county" spending can continue. It's something for our county administrators to think about.

It boils down to this. We're too small to be splitting our forces and our funds all the time. We need to fight the battle of survival as a small community on a united front. The old "town versus country" in these times will only get both swallowed up into the whirlpool of the huge Dallas-size metropolis. And then we've lost both town and county.—The Gilmer Mirror, Upshur County, Texas.

Sparrows, Growing Grass And Peddlers

Spring, if not already here, is definitely just around the corner. Following a long seige of cloudy weather, over-average moisture and humidity, we might also say that it was probably never more welcome in the vicinity of Deaf Smith County.

With Spring comes many things. Sparrows, fresh turned soil, blades of grass shooting up through the sidewalks—and the annual influx of out-of-town salesmen and peddlers.

In fairness, The Brand seldom harps about "trading at home." We always felt that the merchant who remained alert, kept adequate stocks, maintained fair prices and advertised his wares would do better than average. Generally, it works out that way, too. There are always a few folks, though, who are taken in by glib salesmen with cheap bids on roofing jobs, house painting, air conditioner repairs and the like.

We admit that very few of the local dealers in these lines ever advertise their wares in the newspaper or on the local radio, but they still have to pay taxes. In the first place, they just can't get around it. Furthermore, a lot of these fellows have deals just as good, often far better, than those offered by the out-of-town vendors.

It stands to reason, if these folks help educate our children; if they help pay our policemen and share in the costs of our fire trucks, they deserve some consideration. Besides, they are here where you can fuss at them when things go wrong. This is especially true on "bargain" deals the visiting boys have to offer, including vacuum cleaners for $9.99.

Why not make a 1958 "Spring Resolution?" Why not give the local store or dealer an even break? Call him and check his price before you place your order. Look in the local stores and shop their windows before you make that trip to Amarillo or Lubbock. One thing for sure, you both chose the same town in which to live—which gives you at least one thing in common. If he is discourteous, unfriendly or completely out of line, you have done your part, and have every reason to go merrily along your way. Most times, though, you will be pleasantly surprised to find that he will actually save you money as you establish what often becomes a life-long friendship.

The Sunday Brand Famous Last Words

We have always felt that Nature is a great unseen giant sitting out there in space, smiling stily, holding in one hand the world and its pitiful men and in the other a pigeon ready to drop.

It is only when a man opens his mouth that he gives Nature a chance.

For instance, we have seen strange things happen after the following quotations:

"—This is a good old model-T and never kicks when you crank it."

"—Nobody will ever be able to lick Jess Willard."

"—A 5-inch shell will not explode unless fused."

"—Well, the wind may blow a lot in West Texas, but one good thing about it, you never have any cyclones."

"—Yes, I am going to run for re-election, but whatever comes, I will never give up my principles."—Paul Crume in Dallas News.

Dior Heir Shows 'Pyramid' Look

YVES SAINT-LAURENT—The youthful successor to the late Christian Dior designed a short evening dress in white Chantilly lace. He calls the silhouette the "pyramid" look, flaring out and down from a narrow bodice, dramatically ballooning out in back with a gathered panel. A white satin rose is framed in a satin bow with long streamers knotted just under the bosom. The dress is shorter in front than in back, barely reaching the knee cap. The headdress is of matching lace.

Talk About Texas Dead Serious To Breeder of Longhorn Cattle

BARKER, Tex. (U)—Across the large brass belt buckle E. H. Marks wears is the word "Texas."

It's a good word for Marks because everything about the 76-year-old rancher is pure Texas. The spurs he straps to his beaten old brown boots, the gray Stetson he wears, his talk, and, above all, the herd of longhorn cattle he raises, all reflect his love of Texas.

Emil Henry Marks, owner of the Lh7 ranch here, has one of the world's largest private herds of longhorn cattle. The 144 longhorns that roam his 940-acre ranch, along with about 200 Brahman cattle, are a large part of Marks' cattle business.

"THE LONGHORN" cattle brought in the first money Texas ever had. They helped make this state," Marks said in his loud, throaty voice. He said he started raising the large, bony animals about 1923 "when I saw they were starting to die out."

Both Marks and his father have taken part in long cattle drives during the days when the longhorn was a main source of meat in the United States.

Marks maintains that if ranchers had taken as much care of the longhorns as they did their other cattle, the longhorn would still be popular.

"Longhorns were the only cattle we had years ago that could survive Texas droughts, heat and ticks," he said.

Marks built a log cabin museum next to his home several years ago when his house became filled with his collection of rocks, guns, trophies, iron kettles, hides, pictures, Indian relics, canes, and rocks.

THE MUSEUM was built of logs imported from Colorado. When Marks could not find anyone who could build the log cabin for him, he paid a Colorado man $1,000 to come to Texas to put it together.

When Marks talks of Texas, his youth or his longhorn cattle, he breaks into poetry to express himself. More than 50 poems and his colorful stories have made him a popular after-dinner speaker. Most years he averages about 150 talks throughout the country.

His favorite poem is the "Code of the Cow Country." Marks has given away more than 5,000 copies to friends and those who enter his log cabin museum. The code includes such advice as:

"Treat with respect all woman-kind, same as you would your sister."

"Take care of neighbors' strays you find, and don't call a cowboy 'mister.'"

"Talk straight, shoot straight, an' never break your word to man or boss."

Darold Baldwin will be the preacher for both services.

THEIR OWN FAULT

SALT LAKE CITY (U)—One reason many women earn less than men for similar work is that they are willing to accept less, according to Economics Professor Reed Richardson of the University of Utah.

He said this is because their earnings only supplement the family income. The tradition that women are not permanent job-holders also contributes to inequitable pay scales, Richardson said.

Movie Slated For Community Meeting Thursday

By MRS. DICK ROCKEY

Next community meeting will be April 10 at which time the film, Seven Lean Years That Waxed Fat, will be shown. The meeting will begin at 8 p.m.

The past week was a week for weather. Black community had fog, rain, wind, sleet and snow, all within a few hours Friday. The moisture amounted to a half an inch.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Tatum and Tommie spent last weekend in Albany visiting relatives and friends. Mr. and Mrs. Claude Edelman, Billy and Judy moved from Black community to Friona recently.

Coy Patton, J. R. Braxton and Jimmy Buckley returned home Friday from a business trip to New Mexico.

Fern Barnett, Ellis Tatum and Dick Rockey made a business trip to Plainview and Lubbock Thursday.

An all day meeting was held at the Community house Thursday at which time a Lamp Shade Work Shop was held. Those attending were Anna Mae Hays, Mildred Barnett, Lois Whitaker, Altha Presley, Lucille Rockey, Helen Fangman and Carrie Tatum. Afternoon callers were Maxine Thompson and Leona Wolfe.

Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Prewett, Graham and Ann spent Sunday at Lubbock visiting with Mrs. Prewett's sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Brays. While there they attended the revival at the First Baptist Church. Angel Martinez was the speaker.

Vernon Christian from Center, Colo., spent Saturday visiting in the Glen Roberson home.

O. B. Roberson is reported to be improving. He is still in the Deaf Smith County Hospital where he has been since March 2. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Elmore are vacationing at Glen Rose. Visiting in the R. E. Barnett home last week was their daughter, Mrs. George Brock, of Lubbock.

The Sunday Brand, Hereford, Texas, Sunday, April 6, 1958

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Agee and family have moved into the house which was vacated recently by the Claud Edelman family.

Mrs. Ralph Price, Mrs. Ella Tatum and Mrs. Dick Rockey attended the Home Demonstration Council at Farwell last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Roberson and Marie spent Sunday and Monday at Center, Colo., visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Christian and daughters.

NAME MISSIONARIES SEWANEE, Tenn. (U)—The Episcopal Church named three new missionary bishops at a recent meeting here.

They are the Rev. Jose Guadalupe Sausedo, missionary bishop for Mexico; the Rt. Rev. David Richards, Central America, and the Rt. Rev. Lyman Ogild, the Philippines.

the Miracle of Easter

The world has only one certified religion, one religion which bears the signature of heaven, and that is the religion of Jesus Christ.

The miracle of the first Easter is God's own signature, attesting the validity of every claim and every promise which Jesus Christ made.

He had claimed that He was in truth the very Son of God. He had claimed that He would lay down His life for the sins of the world and would rise again on the third day.

He had promised that all who would repent of their sins and would trust in His death for their redemption would be assured of a place in His "Father's House" above.

Did He have the right to make these promises? Did He have the power to fulfill them? The miracle of Easter speaks a loud affirmative. "He was declared to be the Son of God ... by the resurrection from the dead!"

Christians throughout the world rejoice in the knowledge that they are worshipping not a dead prophet, but a living Christ, a Christ who is eternal in the heavens, a Christ whose Easter resurrection stands unique and unassailed as the signature of heaven.

Curlyheads Thank Scientists

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

Is your hair easy to control? If so, you're mighty lucky. More than 50 per cent of women find they get tangled up trying to put curl in their hair. Some hair is amenable to curlers, bobby pins and even old rags. But some hair resists curling by any of these means.

The great thing about our age of beauty is the number of little assists we get in helping nature improve on itself. Girls with absolutely straight hair, for instance, can become curly-haired types, however briefly, in a matter of seconds. Those who choose the right type of permanent wave can make the curly-haired periods last indefinitely.

A new self-styling hair spray helps not only to keep waves in place, but assists in helping you fashion a professionally finished hair style at home, even if your hair is straight as a broom straw. If you'd make the pin-curling project easier, just spray your hair strand by strand, then pin up. Or pin-curl your hair first, then spray. Take your choice of methods, but either way, comb your hair and the curls are there to stay even if the day is damp or rainy.

This spray does not leave thick layers of sticky stuff over the hair or scalp if used properly. Follow directions, and your hair will look just as dreamy as the ads of the models you see in the newspaper. Any girl who has even a semblance of a wave can enjoy a manageable hair style every day with one of these new invisible sprays. Just spray before you comb your hair, then with your comb, or even a hairbrush, push in a wave or coax a curl exactly where you want it, the way a professional hair stylist does.

HOLD THAT WAVE—Use hair spray to hold wave in place or set new hairdo at home.

Run your comb through the hair, and test your wave by pushing the hair up gently from the ends with the hands. When you see how the hair determines a wave on its own, you may emphasize it with the comb. Hours after you use this spray-and-set method, you can refresh your hair style merely by whisking a dampened comb through your tresses, and pushing them back into place without re-spraying the hair. The damp comb reactivates the spray and restores a hair style to original loveliness.

Cooks' Fancies Turn to Books

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

COOKS WITH HERB gardens can reap extra rewards from a new cook book, "Accent on Seasoning," by Irma G. Mazza (Little, Brown). If fresh herbs are bought, or dried varieties are on kitchen shelves, this fine book may still be used to advantage. Irma Mazza's writing is as pleasurable to read as it is to cook by, and her book is a delightful companion. She's witty and practical — whether she is quoting a Victorian cook book that advised parents "to give corn poppings and chestnut roasts, to keep girls out of ice-cream parlours," or detailing directions for preparing casseroles and curries so a hostess "won't be cooked to death." The results of careful home-kitchen testing, the recipes are clearly written, and should improve most cooks' repertoires.

"The Book of Herb Cookery" by Irene Botsford Hoffmann (Houghton Mifflin) has recently been revised and enlarged. Included are a plan for a sunken herb garden and recipes for many dishes that benefit from herbs.

"Treadway Inns Cook Book" by Ann Roe Robbins (Little, Brown) may be of interest to summer vacationers who like to cook. Travelers who have enjoyed particular dishes at these inns may find rules for them here. Mrs. Robbins visited all the inns, talked to their chefs, watched them work and put their recipes into family-size proportions in her own kitchen. She has a thorough acquaintance with cooking and enjoys imparting her knowledge — qualities that, lamentably, not all food writers possess. (I've never seen a better description of how to prepare meat for scalloping than is given here.) Interspersed with recipes for all the courses of a meal are descriptions of the inns and their surrounding country.

"Unforbidden Sweets" by Poppy Cannon (Crowell) boasts 150 recipes and 17 variations of desserts of 100 calories or less. Poppy Cannon always presents food material in interesting fashion and this latest book is no exception. There are chapters on meringues, puddings and custards, gelatin and frozen desserts, cakes, pies and cookies and fruit. Dietetic fruits, nonfat dry milk solids, non-calorie sweeteners, low-calorie puddings and flavored gelatin desserts are some of the weight-watching aids the recipes call for. Here is a dessert adapted from "Unforbidden Sweets."

VANILLA REMEKINS WITH COFFEE TOPPING

Ingredients: 1 envelope low-calorie vanilla pudding, 1 cup liquefied nonfat dry milk, ¼ cup water, ½ teaspoon vanilla, ¼ cup nonfat dry milk solids, 1 teaspoon instant coffee, 1 tablespoon sugar.

Method: Make up the vanilla pudding according to directions on the envelope, using the 1 cup liquefied nonfat dry milk. Pour into 2 ramekins or small custard cups; chill. Shortly before serving time, pour ¼ cup water and vanilla into a deep 1-quart mixing bowl. Sprinkle the ¼ cup nonfat dry milk solids and instant coffee over. Beat rapidly with rotary beater

THIS DESSERT FOR WEIGHT-WATCHERS, light in calories, was adapted from a new cook book, "Unforbidden Sweets."

(hand or electric) until stiff; this may take as long as 8 minutes. Gradually beat in sugar; continue to beat until mixture is stiff enough to hold peaks — 2 or 3 minutes longer. Chill until served. Makes about 1 2/3 cups topping — part may be used with the diet ramekins; the rest may be used to top standard vanilla pudding or custard for non-dieting members of the family.

At The Movies

STAR THEATER

Operation Mad Ball: With the war's end, Private Al Hogan, in love with Army nurse Betty Bixby, involves M/Sgt. Skibo, the enlisted men and nurses of their hospital unit, war prisoners and French civilians in increasingly complicated arrangements for an off-limits Mad Ball, despite the growing suspicions of Capt. Paul Lock, Hogan's pet phobia. When Col. Rousch learns of the affair, through Betty, he delightfully drives her to it, on condition he be permitted to crash the party. En route, they find that Hogan's final maneuver, while placing him from the Mad Ball, has placed Capt. Lock in wholesale trouble with the MP's. The colonel pretends he doesn't know the frantic officer, and he also arranges for Hogan to be present to enjoy the Mad Ball, with Betty, Jack Lemmon and Ernie Kovacs, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Noah's Ark: Story of the flood which destroyed the world. It gives several of the Biblical events which took place in the time of Noah and his famous ark. Although this movie is not starring any actor or actress of great importance it is one of the most spectacular movies of its type. Events of the movie follow very closely to the story which is found in the Bible. With Dolores Costello and George O'Brian and booked for Wednesday and Thursday.

Remodeling Topic For Black H. D.

Emma Elmore and Lois Whitaker presented a demonstration on remodeling lamp shades to the Black Home Demonstration Club at a meeting at the community house. Hostess for the meeting was Mildred Barnett.

Lois Whitaker had charge of the business meeting. Roll call was answered with "My favorite pastime." Present were Maxine Price, Anna Mae Hays, Helen Fangman, Geneva Ivie, Altha Presley, Emma Elmore, Lois Whitaker and Mrs. Jerry Bell, the new member.

CARD OF THANKS

For every token of friendship for our mother during her life, in health and in sickness, we express appreciation. We are deeply grateful for all expressions of understanding and sympathy and for all actions which made for our comfort after Jesus came for her. We would give public thanks to the Rev. and Mrs. Wingert, the choir and organist of the Hereford Presbyterian Church and to the Gilliland Funeral directors. The Eula L. Kerr Memorial fund of the church is a tangible memorial to her, our beloved mother.

The Bendix Gas Duomatic combination washer-dryer.

Through this porthole pass the world's quickest and easiest launderings

Anything GAS can do... gas can do BETTER!

When it comes to doing TWO of housekeeping's toughest jobs, no longer is it necessary to transfer clothes from the washer to the dryer because here's ONE handsome appliance that does BOTH jobs! Once your clothes pass through its porthole, the entire cycle of washing, rinsing, drying is completed with no attention from you. You save time and work all right, but that's not all! Think of the space you save with one appliance doing the work of two and doing it with a minimum of wear on your clothes and strain on your budget. For all the facts on this wonderful household helper, consult us — then see a gas appliance dealer.

In any case, wouldn't YOU say one is enough?

1. For needed protection
2. For adequate coverage
3. To carry the load
4. For all your property insurance

Do you carry three or four—or even more—insurance policies on your home, when just one may be enough? A single package insurance policy on your home and its contents can protect you against fire and other perils. And you can include protection on almost any risk you are likely to face as a home owner.

We'll be glad to tell you about the advantages of a package policy. Should you choose one, we offer Stock Company Insurance, known for quality protection and full-time service. And remember: if you're not fully insured — it's not enough.

How Nutritious Are Your Meals?

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

MANY AMERICAN cooks are ingenious about using nutritious foods in delicious and inviting fashion.

We're thinking of the ways we have evolved of serving fruit and vegetable beverages as a first course; of our appetizer salads that appeal to both men and women; of our special ham-and-egg combinations; of our barbecued meats, poultry and fish; of our unique fruit desserts; of our refreshing flavored milk drinks.

It's unfortunate that more women do not take steady advantage of presenting basic foods in ways attractive enough to have families eat and relish them. We say this because studies made recently by the USDA's Institute of Human Nutrition and Home Economics indicate that many families are still not getting, in their everyday diets, the nutrients essential to good health.

During the war, providing balanced meals was emphasized and many families heeded advice from nutrition specialists. Nowadays it's a good idea to review the basic foods needed every day and to check up to make sure they are being included in meals. With all the dieting that is going on in this country, some of these foods are too often skipped. To provide high-quality protein we need meat, poultry, fish and eggs. Milk is a necessary food, and cheese and ice cream can help supply it. We need vegetables, including leafy green and yellow varieties, and potatoes; citrus as well as other fruits. Breads and cereals are still the staff of life.

It's fun to dream up new ways of serving nutritious foods. If your family eschews vegetables, for instance, there are many guises in which they may be offered so they will be welcome. We've seen them gobbled up when served as an hors d'oeuvre. Here's how to serve fresh asparagus well in this fashion — though frankly we can't understand why anyone would want to bypass this utterly delightful spring and early-summer vegetable no matter how it is served.

ASPARAGUS HORS D'OEUVRE welcome spring and good health to your table.

Cut off tough ends of asparagus stalks. Remove fibrous outer covering with swivel-blade vegetable peeler. Wash asparagus well in cold water; cut into diagonal 1-inch lengths. Cook in a small amount of boiling salted water in a deep skillet just until tender-crisp; cover, but lift cover several times to help keep asparagus green. Drain. Serve warm with a cream-cheese dip made by mixing the cheese with lemon juice, milk, paprika, salt and white pepper. Provide toothpicks.

EASILY EXPLAINED
CHICAGO (AP) — You have the thermostat set at 70 on a cold day, yet you are chilly. Why?

A maker of automatic indicators says an indoor thermometer isn't an accurate measure of comfort. Engineers say it's because heat travels from a warm surface to a cold one. Heat is drawn from your body by cold indoor surfaces such as windows and walls which react directly to outdoor conditions. The colder they get the more body heat you can lose.

Commenting upon the heavy silt that flows in its waters, old-timers used to say that the Colorado River is "too thick to drink and too thin to plow."

Don't Overdo Praise or Criticism

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.

When children reach their teens, they begin to take a pretty realistic view of themselves. There is nothing more important for the truly mature person than to be able to evaluate himself honestly, and further to be able to accept that evaluation without fears, doubts and recriminations. It's the job of the wise parent to tread that narrow path between praising and urging on to greater accomplishments on the one hand, and accepting real limitations on the other.

Kurt had always been a good student in the lower grades but as he went on into senior high school the going was harder. One evening he told his dad he was going to drop out of the debating club before they kicked him off the team. Dad was shocked and he began with some remarks to the effect that of course he could do it, but there was something in the boy's face and manner that pulled his dad up short. The boy wasn't asking for encouragement, he was stating a fact.

"I'm sorry, Dad," he said, "but I know I can't do it."
"Well, son," replied dad thoughtfully, "nobody can do everything and maybe it is better you get off the team gracefully." Relief dripped from the boy.

"I hoped you'd understand, Dad," he said.

Kurt felt better because his dad could accept him even if he wasn't the ball of fire it would be nice to be. But if dad had brushed off the boy's worries, given him a glib pat on the back and told him he would not have been convinced. He would have felt resentful and guilty and a good bit more inadequate than he had had to be.

Anne was talking to her younger brother.

"All right, Dick," she said, "you and I are bright. Let's face it without beating around the bush. We're probably above average but neither one of us is the genius Dad is, nor the genius he thinks we are. Dad's a genius at engineering but he's a dumbbell when it comes to knowing anything about people."

"Dad wants me to go to engineering school."
"Yes, I know," said Anne, "and he wants you to go to M. I. T. because he went there."
"Anne, I know I can't be as good an engineer as Dad and besides I don't want to be an engineer anyhow."

"Don't let him force you, kiddo. I don't think you'd make a top-flight engineer either but you're bright enough to do what you want and what's more you're bright enough to know what you can't do."

Singer Johnny Mathis Discovers Success Has Bittersweet Flavor

By ALAN CLINE

Johnny Mathis, a current juke box hero, is having an affair with success. And, as with all romances, it's not all sweet talk and happiness.

The 22-year-old San Francisco Negro has six big record hits; he sings in the best nightclubs, in movies and on television. His latest Columbia album, "Good Night, Dear Lord," seems destined to a long stay in the top 10. It is a collection of religious hymns and spirituals.

His income this year is expected to top the $200,000 mark.

"This is a hard life," the handsome, slight entertainer said in an interview, "but stimulating. Physically and mentally it's very tiring, but there are some wonderful advantages to offset this."

"Success is great. You have lots of fun, you meet lots of people, people you like and people you don't like, and you get a chance to evaluate them and find out if it's all worth it. It feels great."

Has success changed Johnny Mathis, a singer practically all his 22 years, but a full-time professional only the past three?

"I can't possibly be the same old Johnny," he admits, "I have new interests now. I'm living on the run."

"My ideas, my ideals and my conception of so many things have changed and in some degree it's almost as though I were a different person from the one who started out in San Francisco."

"I expected to change and I think I have. Of course when I change, I always hope it's for the good."

Don Sherwood, a San Francisco disc jockey and TV actor who is credited with giving the tenor one of his initial breaks, calls Mathis "different... an awfully nice guy who reflects it in his singing."

Anne had fought her battle with dad. She was close to the problem and could give her kid brother the understanding he couldn't get from his father.

It's very hard for many parents to see their children as they really are.

The parents' hopes and dreams of the future becloud their judgment. All too often their subtle pushing, their ready and unrealistic encouragement only breeds hostility and rebellion in their soon-to-be-grown-up children.

Sherwood says Mathis has improved "9,000 per cent" since he first entered show business. "The more he does, the better he gets," the disc jockey adds. Sherwood says Mathis' popularity may cool off but that he has the voice to bounce back.

Mathis has a resonant, vibrant delivery. He doodles sometimes with his lyrics, floats over a wide range and varies his pace from silky-smooth ballads to songs with a rapid tempo.

Currently Mathis limits himself to singing. His ultimate goal is acting as well.

"There's a real difference between an entertainer and just a singer. To be able to stay on a stage for an hour and carry the show," he remarked.

Mathis is the fourth of seven children and is devoted to his parents, Clem and Mildred.

Mr. Farmer... The New Plains Cotton Guide

Recommended By

Plains Cotton Growers Inc., Agricultural Experiment Station & Extension Service

CAN MAKE YOU MONEY WITH HIGHER QUALITY COTTON IN 1958

Production practices govern quality and yield. Do your best to see that your land preparation is adequate. Check your soil fertility needs now so that maximum production of quality cotton will not be hampered by lack of nitrogen, phosphorus, potassium or organic matter. Sub soil moisture may be adequate — but check to be sure.

Planting time is almost here. Optimum planting dates on the High Plains are May 5-20. Later planting usually results in lower quality. Before planting be sure the minimum soil temperature averages 60 degrees for 10 days at an 8-inch depth from the top of the bed. Use delinted, treated seed and check for germination. A uniform stand of approximately four stalks per foot in 40-inch rows is recommended. The method of harvest to be used should help determine the variety planted.

Hereford's Female 'Magellan' Writes

(Editor's Note: Mrs. E. C. Eubanks, currently on a tour of the world, has written the second letter for publication on interesting facts about her trip. This letter was written from Indonesia. On the letter's dateline she wrote "Wed. — I think March 26 or 27." She explained having lost March 5 when crossing the international dateline and being confused ever since.)

Looking out on Malacca Strait and thinking of how lucky we Americans are that Columbus went sailing in search of a shorter and safer route to the Spice Islands, on one of which I am now.

Spent the day driving around the island looking at the clove, nutmeg and rubber trees and saw the Snake Temple.

THE NUTMEG is a fruit about the size of an average sized peach. The seed is what we know as the ungrated or unground nutmeg. Here the meat around the nut is sliced around and around much as evaporated apples at home, and made into a connection. It is really nutmeg, and at first too strong, as we just use it for a mild flavoring. But the taste for it grows on you and you eat and eat and eat.

The clove tree has a long glossy leaf about 4 or 5 inches long and about 2 inches wide. The clove is the flowerleaf. They grow and bloom in bunches, not like grapes, but more like elderberry flowers or Dill. Each flowerleaf dried is the clove we know. The leaf tastes much as one would expect, like cloves.

The island is about 10 miles by 10 miles. Much is given over to the jungle but mostly cultivated. We were at a rubber plantation this morning. The rubber is gathered much as sap for maple syrup is in Canada and the United States. It is put in an acid bath, made up of acetic acid and vinegar, and then it is bleached to come out white. It is rolled in sheets about diaper size and dried. When dried it is smacked with coconut shells, and this is the brown, semi-transparent rubber we have rubber bands for offices made of in the States. It is used here largely in building highways in a crude state along with rocks, etc.

The coconuts are wonderful if eaten green, as the people here eat them. The trees live about 30 years and are then cut down and the plantations are replanted, using the nut with the husk still on it. When the nuts are husked for making copra-commercial coconuts the thick husk is made into coke.

THE PINEAPPLES I have eaten and eaten, more than one small woman normally should contain. They are quite small. Much smaller than the ones on our markets but they are sweeter.

While driving around the island today we made several stops. One to dip our feet in the Indian Ocean. Heavens! How many oceans, seas, straights and other waters I have crossed the past four years. Most with strange sounding names and in far away places. Right now I think of the China Sea, Scaggerat, Zuzzerzee, Irish Sea, Arctic Ocean, Atlantic and Pacific. I can't spell half of the others. I have been told that I am now on the Bay of Bengal. We will return to Singapore tomorrow, an island much like this one, only larger.

Singapore is five degrees north of the equator and Manila is some degrees south so I have crossed it without any fanfare and didn't realize it. Seems they should have red ribbons to cut with the prow of the ship or the nose of the plane when one crosses the Arctic Circle or Equator.

Of course it is hot as blazes. Damp and sea level so I feel the heat excessively. My room looks out on the bay and has been cool all day, but now the wind has dropped and it is getting hot as it was last night.

We are not near the harbor where the freighters come in so the sea is just an expanse of mirror with now and then a fishing boat. Singapore harbor, outside my window here, had hundreds of ships anchored or moving about. From deluxe Ocean liners to fishing boats. I find them all interesting.

THE GROUP I travel with consists of a director, youngster from Los Angeles, Obstetrician and hospital manager from K. C. and his lovely wife, a text book publisher from Wichita, Kan., and his wife, two widows from Michigan, a woman lawyer from San Francisco, a widow from Palm Beach, Calif., and me. It is a bit difficult for me to adjust to traveling in a group. I am sort of a 'lone wolfer.' I think I will be glad when I leave them at Rome and go on my own until October. I say October, because I want to come home through England that time of the year. Just to prove to myself that I am not mistaken the USA is beautiful too.

Forgot to say we had a snake charmer entertain us today. Also visited snake temple where they are considered sacred and the people feed them in the temple each day. They (the snakes), come in by hundreds, big, little, and every color under the sun, then they return to the jungle at night. I can't tell you much about it. I ducked the party and stayed in the car. I figured they'd bite just as deadly as if they were not reincarnated saints!

REV. E. J. KEITH

Avenue Baptists Holding Revival

Rev. E. J. Keith, Farwell First Baptist Church Evangelist, will be the guest speaker at a revival at the Avenue Baptist Church now in session, according to Rev. A. C. Hamilton, pastor.

The revival, which started Friday, will last through April 13. Services are held at 10 a.m. and 8 p.m. daily.

Leader of the special singing sessions will be Homer Thomas. Musicians will be Mrs. Billy Wall, organ, and Mrs. Carl Jackson, piano.

Rev. Keith received his B. S. Degree from Wayland College in 1952. He has pastored several churches in the area, and has been at Farwell for the past three and a half years.

A nursery will be provided for smaller children during the revival meetings.

MAY BYPASS PRIEST ISSUE

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U. S. claimant right to keep an American priest in Moscow may be bypassed at a meeting of U. S.-Soviet cultural and technical contacts here in October.

Officials here say no decision has yet been made as to whether the United States will raise the question at the meeting. If so, Russia is not expected to permit it to go on the agenda.

The Rev. Georges Bissonette was expelled from Moscow in 1955 by the Soviet government, and the Roman Catholic Order of Assumptionists named the Rev. Louis F. Dion to take his place. But the Russians have refused to admit Father Dion.

The Russians never gave a reason for the expulsion but it appeared to be in retaliation for U. S. refusal to extend a stay in this country at that time by Russian Orthodox Archbishop Boris.

NEGRO PASTOR OF ALL-WHITE CONGREGATION

CHAMPLIN, Minn. (AP) — Dr. Charles M. Sexton, a Negro, has assumed full-time pastorate over the Champlin Methodist Church's all-white congregation.

James Cook, Champlin church chairman, said the vote for calling Rev. Sexton was unanimous among the 160-member congregation.

"This is a fine advancement in race relations, a Christian demonstration," said Rev. Sexton after his appointment. He was called after preaching several sermons as a substitute pastor. The congregation had been without a regular minister for many months.

The world's printing presses turn out 5 billion books each year, reports UNESCO. This includes school text books.

At Inspection Time, Hand Signals Fly

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Railroads have modernized their signals and communications systems with some pretty fancy electronic gadgets. But railroad men still hang on to the old hand signal — for personal conversations as well as moving a train.

The Seaboard Air Line Railroad good naturedly discloses that it has discovered a large family of "home-made" hand signals in use along with those in the line's official list.

Like the bottle of catsup in the dining car galley window — the traditional warning that a company bigwig is aboard — many are designed to tip off a colleague to look sharp.

Here are some of them — all tipoffs on the approach of a superintendent:

Brushing hair back — bald headed superintendent around.

Raising arm high, palm down — tall superintendent.

Sawing off arm with hand — short superintendent.

Doing hand in yak-yak motion — inquisitive superintendent.

The railroaders depart from the book, too, to improvise time-saving signals for purely business purposes on local freights.

The Seaboard listed these:

Tap the back of one hand with the other — engineer back up.

Tap it and make a roof with hands — back up on company loading siding.

Tap it, make a roof, cut throat with hand, hold up fist four times — back up in the house track, cut off four cars.

Hold nose with one hand, tap head with other — hot box on the head end; touch waist — it's in the middle; touch back — it's on the tail end.

One superintendent reported that he was on the scene but failed to see what must have been one of the most expressive signal communications in the Seaboard's history. He became aware of it when an engineer, slightly ruffled, swung down from the cab and headed back for the caboose.

"Where you going?" asked the superintendent.

"Back to the caboose for a minute," the engineer replied. "That brakeman ain't going to get away with what he just called me with that lantern."

HARMLESS FUN

WICKENBURG, Ariz. (AP) — Phoenix, Ariz., is getting to be a mite "too stuffy" as far as Wickenburg rancher Ralph Mertens is concerned.

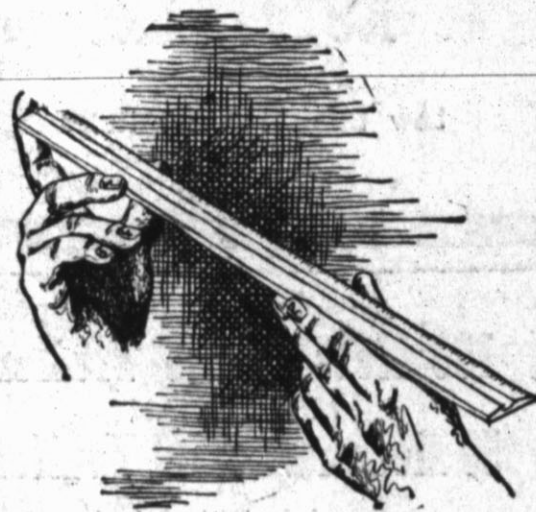

Mertens heads a civic group that whoops it up every year for Wickenburg's annual Gold Rush Days celebration. He said Phoenix police have banned the firing of six-shooters, riding horses through bank lobbies, herding burros into hotel elevators and other such harmless fun as was the custom in past years.

DEAD SEA SCROLLS ON FILM

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Writer-producer John Sutherland is working on a motion picture about the discovery of the Dead Sea scrolls. Part of the filming will be done in Jordan.

NEW PASTOR, SAME NAME

NOWATA, Okla. (AP) — The First Assembly of God Church got a change of ministers, but the congregation won't have to worry about remembering the new pastor's name. The Rev. P. A. Hengar succeeds the Rev. J. W. Hengar. The new pastor is the father of the outgoing minister.
