Services Held for Boy, 12, Accidental Gunshot Victim

Funeral services for William Lee (Billy) Madden Jr., 12, were held Wednesday afternoon in the Avenue Baptist Church. Billy was accidentally killed by a shotgun blast Monday afternoon.

The Rev. J. T. Williams, pastor of Parview Baptist Church at Littlefield, and A. C. Hamilton, Avenue Baptist pastor, officiated at the services.

Billy died at 4:15 p.m. Monday after he was hit in the chest with a blast from a .410 gauge shotgun. The mishap occurred at the home of Charles Lefel, 15, 216 Whiteface.

Police said the Lefel boy was trying to unload the gun and it discharged, hitting the Madden boy. Justice of the Peace Berry Miles returned a verdict of death by accidental gunshot wound. Billy was dead on arrival at Deaf Smith County Hospital.

According to officers, Billy, Roy Slagle, 14, and Ronnie Greenway, 14, had gone to Charles' home to borrow the gun and go hunting. Billy had skipped football practice at Stanton Junior High to go hunting.

All the other boys are students at Stanton.

Billy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Madden, 804 Blevins. He was in the seventh grade at Stanton. He was born March 1, 1945, at Paducah and came to Hereford with his parents from Dimmitt two years ago. He was a member of the First Baptist Church at Dimmitt.

The Lefel boy was kept overnight Monday in Deaf Smith County Hospital for treatment of shock. He was released Tuesday morning.

Survivors include the parents; a brother, Jerry Dale, 10; a sister, Novelle, 14, and the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Watson of Springlake and Mrs. Ida Madden of Hereford.

Burial was in Rest Lawn Cemetery. Gilliland Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

FOR SEWAGE PLANT WORK

Sell City's Bonds at Bargain Rate

A bargain basement bid offer of 3.86 per cent interest was entered by Russ & Co., San Antonio, Tuesday for $96,000 worth of City of Hereford water and sewage revenue bonds. The city commission awarded the purchase contract to the low bidder just minutes after six bids were opened.

City Manager Dudley Bayne said that he was surprised and pleased by the Russ & Co. bid, pointing out that recent bond issues have cost other cities from 4.2 to 4.5 per cent. Cost of the issue over its 12-year period will be $30,324.50.

The bond money will be used to expand and improve the city's sewage disposal plant and sewage collection system. No definite time for start of the work has been set pending approval of plans for the improvements by the State Board of Health.

THE MAIN feature of the improvements will be a trickling filter, a device that will complete the present system.

As planned by McMorries &

Associates, engineers, the trickling filter system is expected to cost about $60,000, Bayne said. He added that it is possible the state will require installation of a final clarifier at the sewage plant, which might run costs to $90,000.

The city officials have requested federal aid, which might cover one-third of the total cost, for the project. Bayne said that the government's appropriations for such work was reduced for the current year, however, and that it appears doubtful that the grant will be obtained.

The decision to undertake the project followed inspection of the Hereford plant by an Amarillo specialist. The trickling filter installation is expected to raise the capacity of the plant to the extent that it could care for up to 15,000 residents.

The $96,000 in bonds represents the remaining portion of a large issue approved last year by Hereford residents. Most of the water and sewer bonds then authorized were used in expanding the water supply system. The remaining portion, earmarked at one time for expansion of water and sewage facilities to South Hereford, was (Continued On Page 2)

COUNTY OFFICIALS LEARN

New Bids Are Planned for Fire Wagon

County officials were extra-polite Monday in broaching a question for City Manager Dudley Bayne. "We are wondering," said County Judge Homer Henslee, "what the city is going to do on the purchase of a fire truck?"

The question came just eight months and nine days after county commissioners inked a city-prepared contract that called for the City of Hereford to purchase a new fire truck as soon as reasonably practical. In signing the contract, the county commissioners relieved city officials of responsibility for accidents happening within the county outside of the city limits—realization that the city dads were legally responsible in the case of accidents involving fire equipment operating outside the city limits prompted the drafting of the contract in the first place.

And in addition the county began paying $4,000 annually, at the rate of $333.37 for the first month and $333.33 in each subsequent month, for the fire protection afforded rural residents by the city's equipment and volunteer firemen.

Bayne, answering Judge Henslee's question, said, "We're going to take new bids on a fire truck. A new company has entered bidding in Texas and has lowered bids for trucks such as we need by $2,000 to $3,000."

COMMISSIONER J. T. Guinn volunteered the information that a lot of people were concerned over a newspaper story in which fixing-up the city's little Ford pump-truck for use against rural fires was suggested.

Bayne explained that the city will continue to send whatever truck seems best suited to combat a particular fire whether it occurs in the city or the country. He added that the new truck to be purchased by the city will be equipped with four-wheel drive designed especially for rural use.

Members of the county board at this point did a bit of advertising, citing the condition of county roads as probably less apt to damage expensive fire trucks than are the dips in City of Hereford streets.

An inconclusive discussion followed regarding the apparent delay by the city in meeting the terms of the city-county fire contract. Nobody lost their temper, in contrast to the rather lively session last February that ended in the signing of the contract.

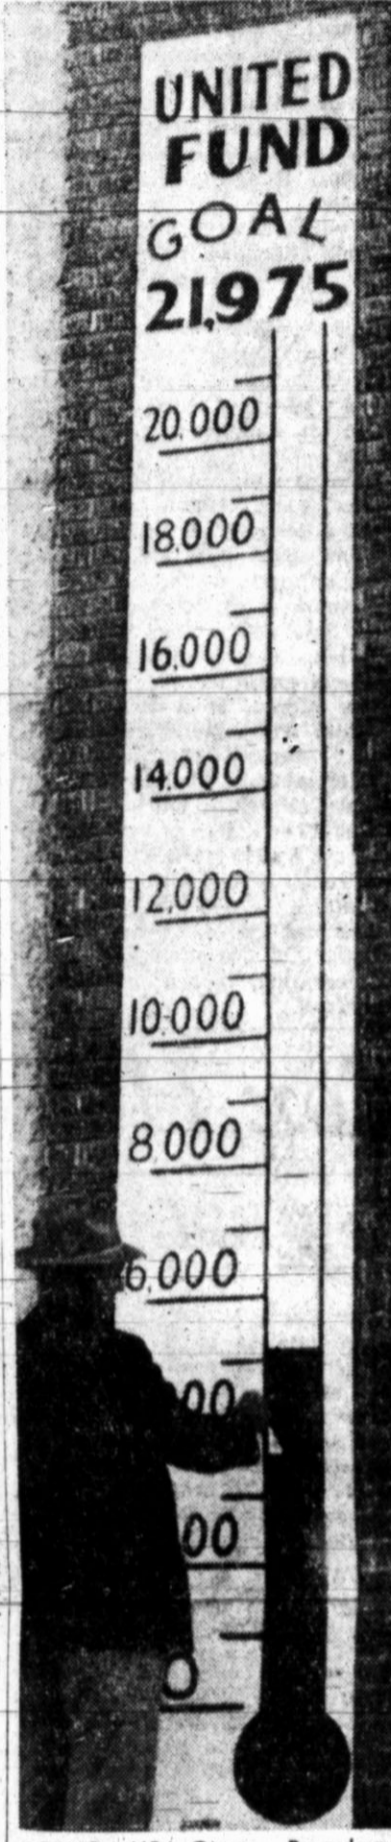

BAYNE, accompanied by Acting City Attorney John D. Aikin, had initially met with the county commission to discuss the keeping of vital statistics records.

County Clerk Ralph Smith, it was explained, has suggested that the city office should maintain birth and death records on its residents, a task that is currently undertaken for all county residents by Smith's office.

Bayne said that the city office could undoubtedly do the record keeping without employing any additional help or incurring any expense.

He suggested that maintaining the records in one place—that is in the county clerk's office—would result in less confusion for citizens of the county and city.

Guinn Predicts a Hard Winter

"We're in for the worst winter since 1923," predicted County Commissioner J. T. Guinn during Monday's session of the Commissioners Court. His description of the winter of '23:

"We couldn't get to town to buy fuel for 30 days and I had to burn fence posts and cow cakes to warm the house. Cow chips would have been a welcome fuel, but rains that began in November and then turned to snow in December kept them too wet to burn."

Commissioner Don Hicks said he believed the winter of 1943 was even worse than that of '23, recalled that "we couldn't get to town for 60 days."

Commissioner Charlie Sowell reminded the court that the winter of 1951 was "pretty bad," said he recollected "more rain than snow and cold back in '23."

Guinn held out for the 1923 winter as the "last real hard winter since 1918" and said that "all signs point to our having a winter like it this year."

The county board is considering the purchase of a snow plow, but plans further study of the matter before taking action.

Special Election Set for Tuesday

Absentee balloting ends tomorrow for the special election on Nov. 5 in which Texas residents will pass on three proposed constitutional amendments. County Clerk Ralph Smith said Wednesday that not a single vote has been cast. All county polling places will be open for voters next Tuesday.

The proposed amendments would provide changes in state employee retirement funds, in pensions for the aged, needy children and blind, and would authorize issuance of 200 million dollars in bonds by the state to provide assistance in local development of water resources.

AGAINST LITTLEFIELD

Herd Due for Rough Test Here on Friday

Opening District 1-AAA play against one of the favorites, the Hereford Whitefaces encounter the powerful Littlefield Wildcats here Friday at 8 p.m.

Littlefield has lived up to pre-season expectations and is favored along with Levelland to win the conference championship. Scouting reports from Hereford coaches indicate the Wildcats are similar to the team last year which went to the state semi-finals before losing to Garland.

"They have a well-balanced backfield and all three of their deep backs can run well. James Pressley, their first-team quarterback, was sick and didn't play at all against Phillips but Bill Jeffries did a good job," Hereford coach Jack Harris said.

LITTLEFIELD downed Phillips, 13-7, last week in the conference opener for both teams. In another District 1-AAA game Levelland measured Dumas, 42-7.

Left half back Buddy Jones lead the Wildcats to the win, scoring one touchdown and gaining 82 yards in 21 carries. He was chosen as AAA back of the week for his performance by the Amarillo Daily News.

Harris wasn't sure of his starting line up for Hereford but said regular quarterback Fred Lookingbill is now ready for full-time duties. Lookingbill was injured in the Plainview game on Oct. 11.

Harris said Durward Jacobs would probably play quite a bit a quarterback since he did a good job against Clovis last week. He said Robert Brown, who scored both Hereford touchdowns against Clovis, would probably start at left half or fullback.

Littlefield has four starters back from last year's championship team. They are Bill Berry, right tackle; Wallace Lee, left tackle;

Youngsters Will Manage City's Affairs for Day

Hereford youth will take over the operation of city offices on Friday, Nov. 8, as a feature of Youth Appreciation Week, Nov. 4-10.

Nomination of candidates and their election by high school students will give many teen-agers an opportunity to participate during the week in the activities planned to emphasize the contributions of youth to the welfare of the city. Sponsor of the Youth Appreciation Week, being held here for the first time, is the Hereford Optimist Club.

The Optimist's will sponsor two other special events for youth during the week. They will present the speaker, City Attorney Earnest Langley, at the high school's Wednesday morning assembly.

And on Saturday, Nov. 9, they will be hosts at the Star Theater to an expected crowd of 1,500 youngsters for free movies and candies.

The Youth Appreciation Week program is sponsored nationally by Optimists International and is slated to be backed-up with national publicity through the press, radio and television.

6th Graders Aid UF Drive

The United Fund Drive was enriched by 58 cents Tuesday when three students at Shirley School chipped in after hearing of the drive and its purpose.

B. H. Baldwin is a sixth grade teacher at the school and also is United Fund chairman for the school. Some of his students noticed the Fund button in his lapel and began asking questions.

Baldwin told them of the drive and what the money will be used for. One girl decided she would just drink one bottle of milk at lunch and gave him 3 cents. A lad said he could do without his noon candy bar and gave a nickel and another boy donated 50 cents.

Baldwin said other members of the class pledged candy money for Wednesday.

Pleads Guilty on Driving Charge

Alonzo Messenger, 41, of Fairview, N. M., pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated in county court Saturday afternoon and was sentenced to five days in jail and fined $100 and costs by Judge Homer Henslee.

Messenger was arrested Friday by city police after his car collided with a parked vehicle.

Honor 4-H Youth for Achievements

Highlight of the year for the 4-H club members of Deaf Smith County was an Achievement Banquet held in their honor at the Shirley School Gym Monday night.

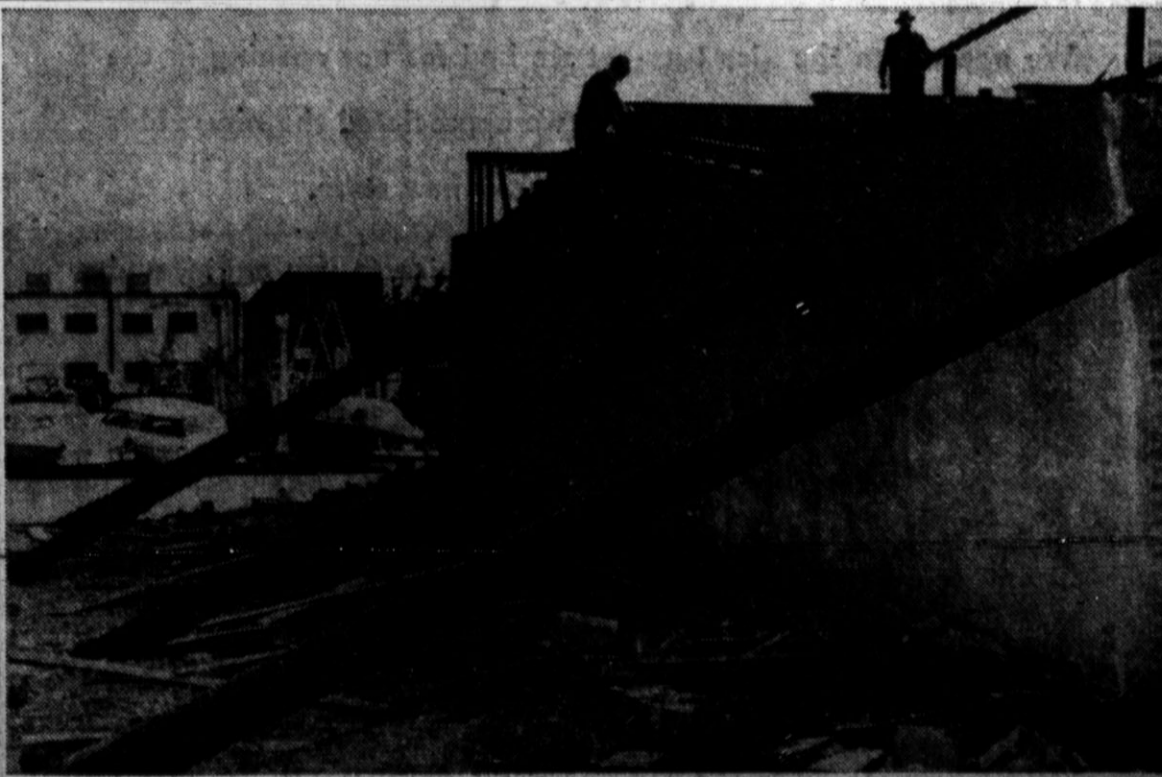

Banquet tables were laid with Halloween decorations, consisting of paper pumpkins and witches. The center piece for the head table was the horn of plenty.

The mistress of ceremonies for the occasion was Miss Pat Dawson.

The highest award of all was the Gold Star Award presented to Peggy Browning and Jody Bezner by Hugh L. Clearman, county agent. Receivers of this award are chosen annually for doing top work in 4-H. Students who received awards for achievement were Nancy Parsons, Joe Reinauer, Gary Guseman, and Danny Thomas, the awards being presented by Bill Morris for the Ford Motor Co. Sharon Bezner and Jody Bezner were presented awards for beautification of home grounds by Mrs. A. L. Manjeot for Mrs. Charles R. Walgreen. International Harvester presented awards to Pete Plank, Frank Day and Tommy Tatum for boy's agriculture.

New Easy Stitching Sews Up Gift List

CHRISTMAS PILLOWS... Easy to make and fun to give.

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

WOMEN WHO SEW are discovering that automatic decorative stitching has opened up a whole new vista of gay Christmas gifts that may be made at home in a fraction of the time they used to take. All kinds of gay and colorful accessories may be turned out on a modern sewing machine, with personalized decorations to give them special meaning for everyone on your gift list.

A festive pair of Christmas pillows, for instance, would delight anybody who lives in a house—or add a holiday note to your own living room. Local sewing center experts tell you how to make them, using either a slantneedle automatic sewing machine or a standard machine with automatic zigzag attachment.

To make two pillows you will need one piece of white felt measuring 18 by 72 inches, one piece of red felt measuring 8½ by 18 inches, a piece of yellow felt 1 by 2 inches and a piece of black felt 1½ by 6 inches. Also required is one bag of kapok to stuff both pillows.

approved for the current project after residents south of the city failed to meet requirements outlined for their admission to the corporate city limits.

"FUNDS LEFT over from the bond issue, after the plant improvements are completed, will be used to revamp the sewage lines at the plant and to expand the sewage collection system," Bayne said.

Bidders for the bond issue, which will provide for retirement of the bonds over a 12 year period ending in 1960, included Burt-Hamilton, First Southwest Co., Columbian Securities Corp., Muir Investment Corp., W. N. Edwards, and Russ & Co.

Three bidders offered effective interest rates below four per cent, while three others offered bids ranging from 4.17 to 4.39 per cent. The net interest cost difference between the low and high bid was over $1,000.

Mayor Ray Godwin opened the bids. Commissioners present were Dr. R. R. Wills and Neil Cooper. Absent were Commissioners Troy Moore and Don Little. Acting City Attorney John D. Aikin and representatives of each of the bidders except Russ & Co. attended the special commission session which began at 2 p.m. Tuesday in City Hall.

Pin rectangles together. Select decorative stitch and stitch together, one inch from edge. Leave 6-inch opening for stuffing and close with same stitch after stuffing is completed.

This is just one suggestion from an almost endless number of possibilities for gay and original gifts that the seamstress can turn out at home.

He suggested that the State Board of Health be requested to combine the two districts for registration purposes rather than to order duplicating services.

The county board took no action on the matter pending a further check with the state board.

The court's only official act during Monday's regular session was to approve the purchase of $300 in Christmas lighting equipment, to be used in the Jaycee-sponsored holiday decoration program for Hereford.

PALESTINE — The most popular sporting dog in Texas, says a man who is as qualified to know as any, is the fox hound.

The ranking comes from Bill Wittie whose job as dog food salesman has kept him in contact with hound men throughout the state for many years.

He estimates the average number of hounds owned by each fox hunter would fall between 8 and 12.

"Only the wolf hunters keep more hounds per man," Wittie says, "but there aren't as many wolf hunters."

He says wolf hunters average keeping from 15 to 25 hounds a piece, coon hunters three hounds each, and beaglers, a comparatively new breed in Texas, about six dogs each. Bird men usually own one or two dogs.

Bill says there's no accurate way to tell how many hunting hounds there are in this state.

"A lot of boys who keep hounds are just country hunters. They do a lot of it but you never know them. They don't compete in the big competitive hunts and shows, and don't register their hounds."

Wittie, is a hound man. He's a coon hunter who goes in mostly for the hunting side of the sport, but once won a national bench show with Andy, a model redbone. He's well-known among hound men throughout Texas, and often acts as a judge in big competitive hunts.

About those fox hounds, Wittie says there are more in Texas now than he's ever known. Hunters are keeping more dogs, he says, because "they have more money to take care of them than they did years ago."

AROUND THE WORLD

58 FORD COMING NOV. 7

Nothing newer

The 58 Ford has been proved around the world. This is the most dramatic and most grueling test ever given a new car before its public announcement.

The whole world was used as a test track for the 58 Ford. The car drove through England, France, Switzerland, Italy, Yugoslavia, Greece, Turkey, Iran, Afghanistan, Pakistan, India, Malaya, Thailand, Cambodia, Vietnam, and finally back to the place it started—Detroit, Michigan, U.S.A.

The Ford powered over the great mountain ranges of three continents: from the Alps to the Himalayas and the Rockies. It crossed the great rivers of history: the Thames, the Seine, the Tiber, the Arno, the Tigris, the Euphrates, the Indus, the Ganges.

This car stood at Buckingham Palace, rolled up the Champs Elysees to the Arc de Triomphe, and paused at the Eiffel Tower. It was greeted by the great Paris couturiers at the famous fashion salons where its "sculptured in steel" styling was applauded by the most style-conscious audience in the world.

The 58 Ford rode smoothly down the rugged, beautiful seacoast of Tito's country, to a festival in Dubrovnik, and into Greece to Athens, where this newest classic met such ancient classics as the Parthenon and the Temple of Poseidon.

Into Turkey: and the 58 Ford passed the great white lacework palaces of the Sultans along the Bosphorus and the Golden Horn. Then the Ford went where few but nomads travel, up into the hot days and chill nights of the ancient mountains of Afghanistan. And thence along the route Alexander the Great followed with his chariots to cross the historic Indus river.

On and on the Ford moved, down into the heat of mysterious India, through New Delhi to the Taj Mahal, and to the great pink palace of the Maharajah of Jaipur.

This great new car met the challenge of the monsoons—rains that for centuries have stopped all road movement throughout Indo-China, but didn't stop the 58 Ford. It drove on to Penang in Malaya, and then north to Bangkok.

Further on came Saigon, the Paris of the Orient, at the farthest tip of Southeast Asia. Finally, it powered across the great Rockies and plains of North America and back, at long last, to Detroit Michigan.

The 58 Ford... has been proved and approved around the world. A natural question arises: Why did Ford go to such great lengths with its 1958 model? Why spend so much money and time and go through all the problems of negotiations, customs, border transit, diplomacy in so many countries?

The answer: in the competitive automobile market of today, only the best in all-around value can survive. And this round-the-world test is the most decisive possible demonstration of the best.

The 1958 Ford is value: hard-dollar value. It is also style, power, performance, and a dozen great new features. But above all, it is value.

This is the car you've been waiting for. See it November 7—there's nothing newer in the world than the 58 Ford!

Bible Words for Today

ISAIAH 40:31 — "They who wait for the Lord shall renew their strength, they shall mount up with wings like eagles, they shall run and not be weary, they shall walk and not faint." (RSV)

Even steel gets tired, declare the metallurgists. Bridges, railroad trestles, and supports for buildings are always made several times stronger than ever required against the threat of metal fatigue.

Men get tired too. The routine of the daily tasks, the wear and tear of heavy lifting, the ugliness of the operations of some of the jobs that men have to do, all contribute to the weariness of the flesh. All need the "sabbath rest by Galilee," the "day of rest and gladness," a regular release from work.

But we need more than physical rest from the grinding monotony of the week. We need the spiritual dynamic which releases purpose to our strivings. We need spiritual peace which conserves the energies for better results in spiritual living. We need the joy of divine guidance which, more than anything else, renews our strength.

If the time should come and we should say "Oh what a drudge it is!" let's sit down, or lie down, or better still, kneel down, and ask God for divine direction in our lives.

5 BURGLARIES SOLVED WITH SINGLE ARREST

Arrest of M. O. Yarbrough, 27, Monday solved five recent burglaries in Hereford.

Yarbrough was arrested Monday morning at the Bill Shulte farm, 15 miles north and 7 1/2 miles west of Hereford, by city police and sheriff's officers who had been working on the burglaries.

In a statement to Sheriff Charles Skelton, Yarbrough admitted breaking into the Fraser Oil Co. service station on Wednesday of last week and again on Sunday and Consumers Fuel Co-op, Continental Grain and Packard Milling Co., all on Sunday.

Yarbrough admitted taking $90 in cash from Fraser's on Wednesday but said he didn't get any money from the other break-ins.

Yarbrough was charged specifically with breaking into Continental Grain and knocking the handle off a safe. He waived preliminary hearing and his bond was set at $2,000 by Justice of the Peace Berry Miles. Yarbrough is being held in county jail in lieu of bond.

Officers said all the Sunday break-ins were made during the afternoon. While Yarbrough was in Consumers, H. F. Benson and W. J. Hacker came in to buy some pipe-fittings, thinking the place was open for business.

Yarbrough waited on them but when they started to pay he said he didn't know the price, didn't work there and then walked out. Sheriff Skelton credited city patrolman Leon Atchley with tracing Yarbrough to Shulte's farm. Yarbrough said he had been working there three weeks and came to the Hereford area from El Reno, Okla.

Yarbrough has been bound over to the county grand jury which meets next month.

Antonion Circle Holds Session

The Antonion Circle of St. Anthony's Catholic Church met in St. Anthony's school cafeteria Friday with Mrs. Elmer Reinart, president, presiding.

Mesdames A. C. Stengel, E. N. Reinart, George Turrentine, Howard Walker, and Max Schrader were appointed to serve on a fund raising committee.

A fun program was enjoyed with members baby pictures displayed for identification.

Refreshments were served by Mesdames Elmer Reinart, and J. W. Stengel to Father Michael Suggs S. A., and Mesdames Tony Urbanczyk, a special guest, Joe Hucker, Edward Dziuk Jr., George Turrentine, Mike Betzen, Johnny Jesko, Howard Walker, Wern Koelzer, Lester Wagner, Raymond Schiabi, Alvin Anderle, Erwin Bartels, Carl Strauss, Herman Schaefer, Max Schrader, John Warren, E. N. Reinart and A. C. Stengel.

Quattlebaum With WTS Fraternity

CANYON (Special) — Charles Quattlebaum, Hereford junior, has been pledged by the Alpha Sigma Xi, men's social club at West Texas State College.

Quattlebaum, who was named Personality King, is a member of the Student Senate, WT's governing body. He is majoring in biology and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Quattlebaum.

POOR RABBIT HUNTING — SCHUYLER, Va. — John Mayo thinks railroading is still a fine thing, but he deprecates the fact that rabbit hunting isn't as good as it used to be.

Mayo, retiring after 51 years on the Nelson and Albemarle railroad, owned by a stone company, says he used to stop the engine almost any time and shoot a rabbit — got 14 in one season. As engineer he covered the railroad's 32 miles every day after he advanced from fireman in 1925.

WILL STAY SINGLE — MILWAUKEE — Miss Wisconsin has issued a forecast for herself: "There'll be wedding showers, but not until her reign is over."

Miss Joan Hentschel, 18-year-old Wauwatosa beauty, said she will wed William Luebke, 20-year-old University of Wisconsin junior, but not until her year's tour as Miss Wisconsin ends.

She said that changing her Miss to Mrs. two months after her election might embarrass the state.

CRUISE SPOILED — CLEVELAND — The maiden voyage of the cruise ship Aquarama on the Cleveland-Detroit run was anything but auspicious.

Ship-to-shore telephones weren't working, somebody forgot to stock the ship with cigarettes, foghorns were too loud — and an apprentice bartender put sweet vermouth in the martinis.

SHORT SHOW — DONCASTER, England — Pretty Pamela Phillips, wearing a bikini bathing suit, danced mambos at a miners' club here, and the miners loved it. But as she was changing into a leopard-skin bikini for a jungle dance, she was told the show was over. The miners' wives objected.

4-H ROUNDUP

Table Setting Is on Program

One program in each 4-H club this month has been on table setting. This is one of the many phases in home making studied by 4-H club girls.

Basic rules in table setting are stressed. The girls are encouraged to give their tables an uncluttered look by using no unnecessary accessories. Color and decoration should be used smartly but with restraint. The right setting for the right occasion and suited to their way of life is emphasized.

Girls are encouraged to develop a habit of correct table setting by using it every day.

Jolly Girls

The Jolly Girls 4-H Club was presented a program on table setting by their agent, Mrs. Dorothea Prowell, at a meeting Oct. 10, in the home of Peggy and Nancy Browning.

Refreshments were served to the members present.

Those present were Wynona Roberts, Fern Coursey, Joy Pickens, Peggy Browning, Nancy Browning and Mrs. Dorothea Prowell.

Doris Mahaffey

The Doris Mahaffey 4-H Club was organized on Wednesday, Oct. 9, in the home of Karen Jane Shearhart. Mrs. Dorothea Prowell, assistant home demonstration agent, explained the duties of each club officer to the group before their election of officers.

The officers elected were Kathryn Smith, president; Beverly Lemons, vice president; Sandra Townsend, secretary; Kathryn Smith, song leader; Karen Jane Shearhart, drill leader, and Linda Stephan, reporter.

Other members of the new club are Terry Townsend, Diana Remling and Cynthia Haile. Mrs. Harold Shearhart is club leader and Mrs. Ed Lemons is assistant club leader.

Mrs. Dorothea Prowell presented a program on table setting to the group.

Caprock

A table setting demonstration was presented to the Caprock 4-H Club at its meeting in the Adrian School Cafeteria Oct. 16. Mrs. Dorothea Prowell had charge of the program.

Paula Creitz and Marlene Williams served refreshments to the group.

Those present were Doris Horton, Vicki Burns, Marlene Williams, Paula Creitz, Kathy Homfeld, Myrna Zaring, Kathy Kromer, Linda Pinnell, Carla Fortenberry and the leaders.

ALBUQUERQUE GROWS

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. — Enrollment in Albuquerque schools for 1957 hit the 50,000 mark recently. School officials noted that the figure is about 15,000 greater than Albuquerque's entire population in 1940.

STUCK DUCK

TULSA, Okla. — It was a strange request for the Tulsa Fire Department — aid for a drowning duck.

But the call was answered to a drain near Swan Lake, and firemen found a duckling stuck in the mud. The duck was unstuck.

SMITH PICKS 20 WINNERS IN CONTEST

J. F. Smith, 505 Ross, came closest to the correct score of the Hereford-Clovis football game and won first prize in The Brand's sixth weekly grid guessing contest.

Smith edged Roy Boyer, 225 Ave. J, for the $50 in trade at Main Street 66 Service Station. Smith picked Hereford over Clovis 13-12 and Boyer said Hereford by 19-13. Hereford won, 12-7. Both Smith and Boyer had 20 correct selections. Boyer wins $3 in cash.

Edwin Thomas, 322 Ave. J, also used the Hereford-Clovis score to his advantage in winning third prize of $2 in cash. Thomas had 19 right guesses, but so did three other people.

Thomas chose Hereford by 13-7. Richard Pickens, James Gentry and Mrs. Don Steele all had 19 right and all had Hereford by 13-6. This week's first prize will be $5 in trade at Master Cleaners.

BEYERS HOME AGAIN

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Beyer have returned from a three weeks stay with relatives in California. In La Puente they attended the golden wedding anniversary of their niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Will Sauder, and in Hollywood they visited his sister, Mrs. Glenn Felts. They also spent some time with relatives in Long Beach.

GAY FLORAL MOTIF in a child's room is achieved by decorating her lamp shade with the bright covers of seed packets.

HERE'S HOW

Try Brightening Rooms with Odd Bits of Color

By VIVIAN BROWN
ARE YOU the saving type?

You know, the kind that can't bear to part with greeting cards, old seed packets, used theater tickets, pretty magazine pictures, and other bright bits of color.

If you are, here's a chance to show the family you really had something in mind all along.

One way is to use your treasures as decoration on a room divider screen, a popular method of screening off a cluttered area in a room. Make a screen yourself out of plywood, or buy an unpainted one, and then paste attractive cutouts on the board, choosing them to blend in with the decor of a room.

A screen in a child's room may be dressed up with cut-outs from picture books, greeting cards of the child's own drawings. If the screen is to go into library or den, cover it with the pick of your Christmas cards, old magazines or theater tickets. A living room screen would take handsomely colored pictures of antiques, flowers, birds, it may take a while to finish your collection, if your project is an ambitious one, but it is better to stick to a single motif or category than to wind up with a mish-mash.

Many lady gardeners collect seed packet envelopes just because they do not like to throw them away. If you haven't used these little packets with their brilliant blossoms to perk up some little area of your home, give it some thought now.

A border of flowers or vegetable packets in the kitchen can look lovely. Use them around a window, just below the ceiling or around a door for a special effect. Harness the little packets to your color scheme so that if the kitchen is yellow, you will choose colors that harmonize — corn, carrots, mums.

Another place where the little seed packets may be used is in a youngster's room. Paste them to a lamp shade or some other item in the child's room. Cover with a light layer of clear shellac or varnish for protection.

To-he-ha Camp Fire Plans Party

The To-he-ha Camp Fire Girls made plans for a Halloween Party at a meeting in the Camp Fire Hut Tuesday, Oct. 22.

After the business session the girls were served refreshments.

Present were Beverly Barrett, Virginia Clark, Barbara Clements, Barbara Dearing, Nancy Gripp, Patricia Maxwell, Janis Medley, Patricia Price, Linda Scott, Patsy Story, and the leaders, Mrs. Lola Scott and Mrs. Ben Medley.

By JIMMIE GILLETINE

There are few homes in Hereford not directly affected by the current "flu" epidemic, which seems to be sweeping the country. Someone always wants to be different, though, and several small fry are getting over the flu — just in time to come down with the mumps.

GEORGE GRAHAM, former Hereford school superintendent, now associated with Hardin-Simmons University, was visiting here over the week-end when a friend mentioned George's receding hair line as getting no better.

"I went into a barber shop in Abilene the other day," said George "and jokingly told the barber I wanted a crew cut."

"I got news for you, buddy," answered the barber. "Your crew has already bailed out."

Dan Eddy, the Salvation Army man from Dallas, was telling about an acquaintance in "Big-D" who, after an unusually good year in '56, went home and offered to buy his wife a Cadillac. "No," said the little woman. "I've got a good car." He next offered a milk coat, but Mama vetoed the idea in view of the fact she had a good coat; likewise, she turned thumbs down on a diamond ring and a wrist watch, but added: "How about just giving me the cash?" "Yow, Oh Yow," moaned the husband. "You know that's the only thing I can't get wholesale."

BESS MOORE and Skeeter Hall had calls this week from South Dakota, where son, Gene, and hubby, Otis, are shooting pheasant. The boys are getting their three-per-day limit in about two hours each day, which means that hunting is good. It also means that they will start back home Wednesday afternoon or Thursday morning, which is about the best you can do on the 15 limit at three a day.

You can't coast a minute these days without someone stealing your thunder—I forecast fair weather this week for the maize harvest and it was coming along fine, which had just about decided me to go back into the weather predicting business on a rather extensive scale. And what happens? The Deaf Smith County Commissioners got together Monday and started undermining me. You will notice they prattle on the front page of this issue. I don't mind competition, but I do hate for them to assess taxes against me to pay their salaries — and then turn around on official time and cut my throat. The Federal government has been meddling with the weather a long time, and now it has started on a county level.

ONE THING, THOUGH, maybe they will get so messed up on the weather that I will be called back by popular request. Meanwhile, I said back in 1956 that '57 would bring a good amount of moisture; also that 1958 and 1959 (one or both) would descend on us in a deluge of snow and rain. The smarter farmers have already taken advantage of this prediction and have put in all of the wheat their allotments allow.

Furthermore, I hate to agree with the competing commissioners, but it looks like they are pretty close to right. Things may not be quite so drastic as they think, but it will be a rough, cold winter. Look at the fine lush coats of hair on the dogs and cats around town. If we had any horses left, it would be the same story. J. T. Guinn probably does his forecasting by observing his turkeys — but I will have to admit that he is on the right track. Be sure and have your roof in good shape before January. You'll need it during 1958 and 1959 more than any time in the past 10 years.

"Don't knock your church," advises one of our favorite ministers. "It may have improved a lot since you were there."

NEW CAR MODELS went on display in showrooms this week and it looks like the same old story: longer fins, more chromium, dual headlights and horsepower galore. They are a lot like past models, though, in view of the fact that they make your old car look pretty well dilapidated. A lot of people passed up the '57 models but, considering how much they have packed into the 1958 jobs, it is probable that quite a few resolutions about driving the old buggy another year will be thrown out the window.

Texan Robert Anderson, after being officially installed as Secretary of the Treasury, signed his name for a batch of bills and was later escorted through the printing department while the batch bearing his signature was being printed. The guide also pointed out that these were the first bills to carry the motto: "In God We Trust."

Anderson took a long look, scratched his head and quipped: "Looks as if they might not have too much confidence in the new Secretary."

JACK RENFRO has been worrying me a lot during the past few weeks. Jack is a boy who plants strictly by the moon — and he has done very well. However, since the advent of "Sputnik," I am wondering what will happen if he gets mixed up and plants by the wrong moon. It sure could lead to complications. When Uncle Sam sticks up a third moon, it will be even more complex. Looks as if the farmers are going to have to go scientific, whether they like it or not. M. C. Littlejohn is another moon-planter who has something to worry about.

Hereford Kiwanians are busy selling pancake supper tickets for Friday, Nov. 1, just preceding the football game. Folks who went last year won't need any selling, but it is an excellent deal. Actually, the food is good but, even if it were bad, it is worth 50 cents to see characters like Townsend Douglas, Bill Patton and Lowell Sharp roll up their sleeves and really go to work. If you survive the Westway chili Thursday night, be sure to plan on attending the Kiwanis pancake supper Friday night. It is 50 cents well spent.

GRANDFATHERS seem to have more fun than anybody. I notice Ray Cowser chaperoning his grandson to the picture show almost every Saturday afternoon. The youngster and Ray both have smiles a mile wide; but of the two, I honestly believe Ray is having the most fun.

Carlsbad Caverns are visited by a half million people annually.

The Hallmark of Circulation Value

In the same way that STERLING on silver signifies a standard of known value, so is the A.B.C. emblem a symbol of integrity for the circulation of newspapers and periodicals. It means that circulation so identified is measured according to the rules and standards of the AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATION.

The A.B.C. is a cooperative and non-profit association of 3,450 publishers, advertisers and advertising agencies. Organized in 1914, these buyers and sellers of advertising brought order out of advertising chaos by setting up standards for paid circulation and establishing rules and methods for measuring, auditing and reporting circulations.

Therefore, the work of the A.B.C., of which this newspaper is proud to be a member, provides you with a direct and valuable service. You can buy advertising as you would make any other sound business investment — on the basis of well known standards, known values.

At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors makes a thorough audit of our circulation records. The results of this exacting audit show: How much circulation we have; where our circulation goes; how it was obtained; and many other FACTS that you need in order to know just what you get for your advertising dollars. This audited information is published by the Bureau in easy-to-read A.B.C. reports which are available to our advertisers on request. Ask for a copy of our latest A.B.C. report.

YOUNG MODERNS Teenagers' Author Bans Steady Dates

By VIVIAN BROWN AP Newsfeatures Writer

Rosamund du Jardin, author of popular books for young people, says she'd be happy if just a small percentage of the 75,000 teen agers who each year read her books took the hint that is woven through her stories — "it isn't a good idea to steady date."

"I don't come right out and say so," says Mrs. du Jardin, a sweet motherly type, "but my heroine, Tobey, indicates her experiences show steady dating isn't the greatest. In 'Class Ring', for instance, Tobey does accept a ring, then gives it back, with the boy understanding that he is still top-of-the-list, but that they must wait before coming to a definite agreement."

Mrs. du Jardin doesn't dismiss the boy from Tobey's life. Several books, and many dates later, when Tobey is a college freshman, she discovers in "The Real Thing" that the boy is the right one after all.

"I'm certainly not averse to any girl marrying young, if she knows what she is doing," Mrs. du Jardin explains. "But I do think that a girl should date a few boys before she ties herself down. Inexperience is a threat to her marriage."

It isn't just the problems that arise as the result of this inexperience, she says. Think of the fun a girl misses — dating lots of boys, that wonderful spirit of competition, waiting for the phone to ring, and a call that may not even come, and the old-fashioned dance card, more or less carried for laughs these days. How in the world can you have a dance card filled out when the idea is to dance every dance with your steady date?"

When it comes to marriage, girls, please consider your parents, says Mrs. du Jardin, who has married off a girl and a boy of her own, and has another daughter, 19-year-old Judy, a student at Park College, Mo.

"Consult your parents when you decide to marry" she says. "If you marry without their consent it'll be another problem to work out. Parents aren't old-fashioned really. It may just take them a little while to adjust to the idea. Avoid being belligerent and they will try to understand the tensions of your generation. They above all, have your best interests at heart, and have the greater experience." Young people should date for at least a year before getting married, Mrs. du Jardin says, they should consider every angle carefully before giving up a college education for early marriage, and should not postpone having a family indefinitely, just because they marry young.

"There are special situations, of course," she says, "but my experiences with young people through fan mail, and otherwise, has led me to believe that many of their problems are due to the fact that they aren't mature enough to cope with today's changing world."

The area of Europe is 3,842,000 square miles.

P-TA Sponsors Halloween Party

By MRS. T. L. COLLINS

The Walcott P-TA sponsored a costume Halloween party Friday night for the people of the community. The committee which had been chosen to plan the program had decorated the auditorium in black and orange with sketches of the witches' pot, shocks of feed and pumpkins. People in several different types of costumes were present at the party.

A ghost story was told to the group by Mrs. J. V. Perrin and unknown characters in the audience gave the proper sound effects for the atmosphere.
A parade of those in costume was presented and Thomas L. Collins crowned John Perrin as the Halloween witch queen and David Brown witch king.
With masks removed games and relays were played by the group.
Refreshments were served to all present by Mrs. H. D. Buse, Mrs. Melvin Henderson and Mrs. G. V. Hall.
Present for the party were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Weaver, Janell, Mary Ruth, Charlene and Joe Don, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Stocks, Mrs. N. A. Brown, Barbara and David, Mr. and Mrs. Eldred Brown and Tommy, Mr. and Mrs. Gloyd Brown, Roger and Earl Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Burrus, Kathryn, and Elizabeth, Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Burrus, Mary Alice and James, Mr. and Mrs. J. Days of Preparation Point Toward 48 Minutes of Football on Friday

Intense Study, Analysis Enter into the Game

"Be Prepared" may be the Boy Scouts' motto, but it also applies to the Hereford Whitefaces football team and its coaching staff.

When the team trots on the field Friday night to meet Littlefield, everything that might possibly happen during the game has been covered by the coaches and the squad.

What happens then depends on how well the players have been prepared and how well they have learned.

Those 48 minutes of actual playing time reflect more than 100 hours work during the past seven days.

FACTORS THAT go into the result of the game include scouting reports on the opponent, study of a movie of last week's game, grading of each boy's performance in that game, minutely planned practice sessions, analysis of each practice, physical conditioning, work on the Hereford team's weak points and mental attitude of the players.

This week's preparation has been typical, but perhaps more important because the Whitefaces open District 1-AAA play and winning district games is the point of the entire season. Last Friday Hereford took its second win of the year, beating Clovis, 12-7, in the last 58 seconds. Saturday morning preparation for the Littlefield game began.

Assistant coaches Ken McCullough and Cuby Kitchens, turned in detailed scouting reports on Littlefield. The reports included information on offense, defense, personnel and punt return patterns.

THE REPORTS are broken down for pertinent information and then a complete report, usually consisting of six to eight pages, is mimeographed and a copy is readied for each player.

After that the films of the Clovis game are edited and pieced together. Bill Patton shoots each Hereford game and the films are rushed to Amarillo for developing and usually are back in Hereford Saturday morning.

The coaches watch the film and grade each player on his performance. The grades range from 0 to 3 on each play. If a player does all of his assignment correctly on a play, he is given a 3, if he does it partially right, he may get a 1 or 2; and if he fails to do anything correctly, he rates 0.

Each player is graded only on the number of plays he is in the game. His overall grade is figured on a percentage basis. The team's overall average is then figured.

Head coach Jack Harris says it takes a minimum of 70 per cent to win a game and the Whitefaces had exactly 70 per cent in the win over Clovis.

"IF YOU fall below 70 per cent, you're probably going to lose the game. That's held true every game this year," he said.

After the players are graded, a mimeographed report on their grades is prepared. Grades are also posted on a big chart in the dressing room.

Saturday night, after the grading and scouting reports are done, the varsity coaches, Harris, Silverii and McCullough, get together and plan the next week's workouts.

Sunday afternoon the game film is shown to the squad and the grades and scouting reports are given to the players. The coaches go over the scouting with the players.

On Monday, the physical preparation begins. Each workout, usually two to two and one half hours long, is planned down to the last minute. Linemen and backs work in separate groups and pay close attention to details. Then they work together for a while, gaining the necessary cohesion.

EACH NIGHT after a workout, the coaching staff has a conference and plans the next day's schedule, determining what part of the game needs the most attention.

"We try to work first on what we need most and at the same time try to cover every phase of the game that can possibly happen to the team on the field. We have weekly and yearly check-lists," Harris said.

Physical conditioning is stressed by Harris and his assistants. The varsity squad only has 25 members and several play the whole game, sometimes shifting from one position to another during the game.

Harris played football at the University of Texas and Hardin-Simmons University. He has coached at H-SU, Breckenridge and Nocona. At Breckenridge he worked with Joe Kerbel, now coach of the undefeated Amarillo High School Sandies. "I learned a lot of football from Kerbel," Harris says.

Harris estimates that his working day averages around 16 to 17 hours and so do those of his assistants. In addition to coaching, each coach carries a full teaching load except Harris, who is assistant principal. They also take care of the equipment and laundry for the squad.

"ACTUALLY, the easiest part of the job is coaching the boys in the afternoons," Harris says.

After three days of strenuous work, the team lightens up on Thursday and spends Friday afternoon getting ready for the game. On the day of a home game the schedule starts with Harris lining off the playing field at noon. During the last period of the school day the team has a skull practice, a final review of strategy and plans.

After that the team has a pre-game meal at the school cafeteria at 4:30 p.m. From there the team goes to the 5-5 house and the boys who need it are taped. There are mats on the floor for the boys to rest on. About 7 p.m. they start dressing and about 7:30 they go out for the pre-game warm-up. The players never go home of the afternoon of a game.

"We keep them here so they can get their minds on the game and stay away from possible injuries, like a car wreck or something," Harris said.

So at 8 p.m., kick-off time, Harris and his staff see what the results of the preparation are. Only Harris and Silverii are present at the game, all the others, including Rookie Rogers, B team coach, Kitchens, freshman coach, McCullough, backfield coach, and J. E. Moad, Junior High coach, are all out of town scouting, getting ready for next week.

SLIGHTLY SUSPICIOUS
SANTA FE, N. M. — A visitor to this New Mexico city seemed uneasy recently when asking what the bits of white fluff floating over the town were. He was told it was the yearly fall of "cotton" from the city's many cotton-wood trees.

He was relieved when told. He said he was afraid it might be some kind of a fallout from the Nevada nuclear tests.

Dartmouth 33-33 Tie in 1931 Was Wildest Ever in Yale Bowl

By LOU BLACK
NEW HAVEN, Conn. — Twenty-six years ago, Yale and Dartmouth played a delicious 33-33 tie football game. It still rates as the wildest, weirdest, most exciting gridiron battle ever seen in the Yale Bowl.

The crowd was left limp and exhausted at the finish. Fortunately witnesses, many of them grandparents today, still thrill over it, and for good reason.

New generations of fans, their curiosity aroused by the freescoring, write hundreds of letters annually to the Yale and Dartmouth athletic officials for details. Some want to know if the 33-33 tie isn't a typographical error. Who can blame them.

Albie Booth, Yale's famed "Little Boy Blue," who with Dartmouth's "Wild Bill" McCall emerged from this frenzy of scoring and long runs as the outstanding performers, said only recently that he still can't believe it happened.

The fact is that no adjectives can describe that Oct. 31, 1931 game so well as a simple, chronological report of what happened.

There was no score in the first quarter. But in the next period, Yale Blue and Dartmouth Green jerseys raced up and down the gridiron in dizzy patterns and wild moments.

Bill (Air Mail) Morton shot underdog Dartmouth ahead with a field goal from the 24-yard line. Capt. Booth took the next kickoff on his 6-yard line, and with solid blocking, twisted and side-stepped 96 yards for a touchdown. He missed the point. Yale 6 Dartmouth 3.

Kay Todd, a left-handed passer, connected with Booth on a 22-yard aerial for a touchdown. Ed Rotan, Yale guard, missed the extra point. Yale 12 Dartmouth 3.

Booth broke off tackle and ran 53 yards for his third and final touchdown. He drop-kicked the extra point. Yale 19 Dartmouth 3.

Morton threw a 22-yard pass to McCall. The ball bounced off a Yale player's hands. Wild Bill nabbed it and raced 54 yards for the score. Morton kicked the extra point. Yale 19 Dartmouth 10.

Bob Lassiter ran 50 yards to Dartmouth's 7. Three plays later, Clem Williamson bulled over from the 2. Carl Sanberg converted. Yale 26 Dartmouth 10.

Early in the third quarter, Lassiter pitched 20 yards to Herster Barres for a touchdown. Rotan converted. Yale 33 Dartmouth 10.

McCall ran the kickoff back 92 yards for a touchdown. His second. Morton place-kicked the conversion. Yale 33 Dartmouth 17.

Dartmouth end Roger Donner blocked a kick on Yale's picked up the bounding ball on the 17 and ran for the score. Morton converted. Yale 33 Dartmouth 24.

In the final period, McCall intercepted a pass and ran 60 yards for his third touchdown, equalling Booth's spectacular performance. Morton missed the extra point. Yale 33 Dartmouth 30.

Morton kicked a 23-yard field goal, his second of the game. Yale 33 Dartmouth 33.

With darkness settling down, Yale tried desperately to score again. The contest ended as Booth was preparing for a try at a field goal on Dartmouth's 20.

STRANGE NOISE
HOBBES, N. M. — "I've been hearing a very peculiar noise out here," a woman caller told police, "and I wish you would come out and find out what's making it."

Police sped to the eastern edge of the city where the noise was reported.

The woman had indeed been hearing a strange noise.

Police found a cageful of lions belonging to a circus. They were asking for their evening meal in the only way lions can express themselves — by roaring.

VACATION DETAIL
NORFOLK, Va. — C. L. Taylor, assistant superintendent of a prison camp at Aboskie, N. C., came here on vacation to get away from routine duties. At Ocean View beach he saw a familiar face — a man who had escaped from the camp just before Taylor's vacation started. Taylor interrupted his vacation to attend to duty.

POLICE PADLOCKED
TOLEDO, Ohio — Sheriff's deputies Clarence Merce and Richard Saunders radioed their office to send out a supermarket employee with a key to lock a door they found open. A half hour later Merce called again by phone the store and he locked us in." A second trip by the store employee freed the deputies.

Weather and Flu Slow Community

By MRS. R. L. PINNELL

The community was slowed this week due to the weather and the flu. The superintendent, Allan P. Jones, and Mrs. J. R. Cullender were both sick this week. Mrs. Glenn Watley, school nurse, reported school attendance down 33 on Wednesday. Almost every family has been bitten by the flu bug. School buses were unable to make their rounds Friday because of the rain. This caused school attendance to fall even more. Monday morning the superintendent reported that attendance was off 23.8 per cent due to flu and reactions to the serum. Many are back as the crest seems to have been reached.

Mrs. Lillie Reynolds is visiting in the home of a daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Holmes, at Big Lake this week.

The local W.S.C.S. has issued invitations to a book review by Mrs. Joe Coffee of Amarillo in the Methodist Church Nov. 1, at 2 p.m. The book will be on prayer and in line with the "Day of Prayer and Self Denial" theme of the day. Ladies from Vega, Wildorado and the vicinity are to be present.

Baptist Men's Brotherhood gathered for its monthly meeting and breakfast Monday morning with eighteen in attendance. The Rev. Milton Kresse of Vega was guest speaker and his subject was "He was a man sent from God whose name was John" - John 1:6. Cooks were E. B. Pounds, W. B. Betts, Bob Caldwell and Bill Lewis.

Present were H. B. Allison, Horace Betts, Melvin Green, E. B. Pounds, R. L. Hoffman, Joe Jordan, Skeet Fincher, R. M. Grubeky, W. B. Betts, Bob Caldwell, the Rev. Lewis and the Rev. Kresse.

D. R. Kelly, father of Mrs. Bill Lewis, came for Mrs. Kelly Sunday and returned her to their Memphis home. She has been here for some time helping take care of Becky Lynn, a new member of the Lewis household.

Visiting in Amarillo Monday afternoon were the Earl Croffs.

They saw Mrs. Jessie Jordan, formerly of Adrian and Erna Lou, who is a student nurse at North West Texas Hospital. They were surprised to see Mrs. Jordan's mother, Mrs. Annie Surratt of Sudan.

Robert and Priscilla Jacobson left immediately after church Sunday morning for a visit with Mrs. Jacobson's mother, Mrs. Joe Baumgardner of Wellington. They plan to return the first of the week.

The V. E. Lemke family left Wednesday morning for Waco to visit a daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Askue. While there they plan to go to Temple for a medical check-up at the Scott and White Clinic.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Sassauer announced the arrival of a new son, born Friday in Amarillo. Arnold is with the Robert's Construction Company and has been located away from Amarillo some time but the family returned to their home on Wednesday before the baby was born.

The entire Methodist congregation was invited to Fellowship services at Vega Sunday night. The film, "Martin Luther" was shown to the group. Those from Adrian attending were Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Jacobson, Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Jacobson, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Jewett, Mr. and Mrs. Lorin Creutz, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Frank, Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Williams, Mrs. Fred Harwood, Mrs. Leland Burns, Marlene Williams and Twilla Story.

Mrs. J. A. Leslie of Childress is visiting in the home of her son, Bill Leslie and family, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Phillips and three children of Alamogordo, N. M., surprised the B. L. Kinsey family this week with a visit. Clyde graduated from Adrian High School. They were on their way to Amarillo to visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. O. Phillips.

Jim Bob Briggs celebrated his second birthday Sunday and several friends helped to celebrate it. Those included Bobby and Bobby Sue Allen, W. C. and Easter Briggs, Betty and Austin Briggs, Annie, Billy Mac and Mike Briggs, and Pearlene and Ersel Harris.

W. C. and Easter Briggs spent Saturday in Tucuman with Easter's sister, Mrs. Lawrence Rowland.

Mrs. Hazel Chilton was unable to return to Adrian and to her school room from Amarillo Monday. She has been sick with the flu.

Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Morgan took Kippy and Don Morgan, Perry Grubeky and Wayland Allen to the homecoming football game at West Texas which was played between West Texas and Harden Simmons.

Sunday dinner guests of the Arthur Jewetts were Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Frank.

Cal and Dorothy Jackson visited the Albert Glass family at Rock Camp on the Bridwell Ranch Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Poole Doherty attended the funeral of a brother-in-law Monday afternoon at the San Jacinto Church of Nazarene in Amarillo. Ira Huckabee died Thursday night at 8:45 of a brain hemorrhage.

Bill Klein and son, Billy Jack spent from Thursday until Saturday morning with his brother, Edd Klein and family.

The Sims Study Craft club held a meeting Thursday at the community house. The ladies completed the year books and discussed plans for the community meeting for November. The next meeting will be held Oct. 6 at the home of Mrs. James Cavin.

Present at the meeting were Mesdames A. G. Grisham, J. V. Perrin, C. L. Bogle, Glenn Hetzler, Jimmy Stocks and James Cavin. Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Pinnell went to Seminole to be with Mrs. Pin-nell's mother, Mrs. A. R. Stone, who is ill. Mrs. Pinnell plans to stay several days but Pinnell returned home Sunday.

Mrs. Nannie Fortenberry spent the weekend with her daughters, law, Mrs. Ida Bea Fortenberry, and family in Amarillo.

Battle to the End Heads Wrestling

A battle to the finish between Art Nelson and Dory Funk will highlight the wrestling schedule at the Bull Barn Saturday night. No falls and no time limits have been placed on the bout. The winner will take all.

Bob Geigel and the Great Bolo, who wrestled unmasked for the first time last week, will meet in a preliminary match which is scheduled for two out of three falls with a one-hour time limit. The action will begin at 8:30 p.m.

Last week Bolo, who's real name is Al Lackwell from Paris, Tex., and Nelson successfully defended their world's tag team championship by downing Country Boy Cahoun and Funk before 600 fans.

Nelson won the first fall for his team by pinning Cahoun in eight minutes. Funk then took Bolo in 11:20 for the second fall and Nelson and Bolo won the match when their opponents were disqualified. In two preliminary bouts Cahoun defeated Nelson by disqualification and Bolo took Funk by the same route.

Check Your Charm Supplies

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

It's the little beauty items that help keep a girl up to par. She may have a vanity table that is loaded with expensive perfumes and lipsticks, but if she doesn't have a nail file or emery board when an emergency demands that she display her nails, she may just as well toss in her charm pin.

The little beauty props must be on hand when you want them. When the quantity is exhausting itself, jot a reminder down, just as you do when the kitchen staples get low in the cupboard. A good place to keep your reminder list is in your mirror frame where you are sure to see it from time to time.

It's amazing how the beauty wheels seem to stop running when some of these items give out. Take bobby pins, for instance. What's a fastidious type to do when her hair needs to be pincurled before a big date, and no bobby pins? Hairpins are a substitute, but usually these are among the missing.

A catastrophe may be in the making when you run out of nail polish remover and nails are chipped and peeled. Can you sit on your hands all evening? A girl would be miserable keeping a date when her unkempt nails might be in the spotlight.

Razor blades, too, must be kept on tap if a safety razor is used for defuzzing arms or legs. The bare-armed look necessitates hair-free underarms, and you'll need that smooth-arm look to wear an evening dress. What can you do if there isn't a blade left in the house?

Cotton buds, the little sticks with white swabs at the tips are handy to have around when occasions arise for their use. They may replace the missing mascara brush, are ideal for cleaning up the nail cuticle, and for cleaning the nails after being dipped in lotion or peroxide. Moisten one, too, and run it over your eyebrows for a clean sweep.

These little beauty items are inexpensive, yet are almost indispensable to the dressing table. How could you take a bath without soap and feel clean? That's why it's wise to keep a good supply on hand.

Other items to keep on hand include false fingernails if your nails are usually brittle and dry shampoo for times when you can't get to the beauty parlor.

Wee Spooks Due To Roam Tonight

By SANDRA GLENN

Tonight is the night when the witches shall again ride across the face of the yellow moon and evil spirits will bewitch the world.

On this night, if you listen closely enough, you can hear the spooks about their evil chores, according to a certain legend.

However, much closer to the lives of most of us is the real live spooks made up of Hereford's own little tots. On this night they can be seen running from door to door, and as a wise hint, there should be some sort of treat to meet the eyes of these little youngsters or you will find just how hard it is to scrub soaped windows!

We took it at liberty to sneak in on a couple of the children who were preparing for a night of spooking. If by any chance you should happen to see a gypsy dressed in black and yellow with bats and witches flying on her skirt this would most certainly be Cynthia McLean, and if there happened to be a funny looking clown traveling close on her trail you could be almost sure that this was her brother, Bill McLean.

Yes, tonight the little tots will don their funny costumes touched off with the evil mask and make their way from house to house to celebrate another Halloween, but at the stroke of midnight each of these little ones will be sleeping soundly and dreaming of the wonderful thrill which has just been theirs.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Dutton of Anson visited in the home of their daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Burl Caudle and Richie from Tuesday until Thursday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. John McLean returned home Monday afternoon from Austin where they had been staying with their grandchildren.

Laura and Mike, while their son, Dr. William F. McLean, and his wife were away. Dr. and Mrs. McLean attended the American College of Surgeons convention in Atlantic City, N. J., where Dr. McLean received his College of Surgeons Degree. While away Dr. and Mrs. McLean also attended the annual meeting of the American Academy of Obstetrics and Gynecology where Dr. McLean was initiated as a member.

An addition to the Brand Staff is Mrs. Pat Frye who is working in the advertising department. Pat moved to the Dawn community in September from Bakersville, Calif.

Earl Duwayne Wallace of Hereford is among the 131 men students pledging one of ten national social fraternities at Texas Tech. He is among the nine men who pledged Kappa Sigma.

Duwayne is the son of Mrs. Virginia Wallace.

Girl Makes Living by Clipping Men

By GAVIN SCOTT

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Jewell Bennett is a vivacious blonde who likes to clip men — that is, all men except bald ones.

For Jewell is a lady barber. Miss Bennett, who lathers and trims at the historic Maxwell House Hotel here, sees nothing odd in her choice of a vocation. But she snips away at "discrimination against women" in her profession. "We can do as good a job as a man barber," she declares.

How did an attractive young girl from a nearby farming community happen to land in what is generally regarded as a masculine occupation?

"I've actually been barbering all my life," she says. "Ever since I can remember, I've been cutting hair, starting off practicing on my daddy and three brothers.

"When I decided to take up barbering, Dad thought I'd gone crazy," Miss Bennett remarks as she clips the curly black locks from one of her regular male customers.

She worked her way through night barber college as a manicurist, finishing in March, 1956. She works alongside several male barbers.

How do men react when faced with a lady barber?

"Unless a customer knows me," Jewell says laughingly, "he just automatically seems to shy away from my chair. They seem to hate to get in my chair when a male barber is idle.

"But my regular customers seem very satisfied," she adds.

Fellow-workers in the basement shop say Miss Bennett is too modest.

"Not a man could build up the trade she has in the length of time she has," declares Mrs. Charlene Holt, a red-headed manicurist. "These men just like a woman's touch."

Henry Rucker, the shop manager, agrees:

"There's not a barber in Nashville that has more customers than Miss Jewell. I'd hire another woman barber if I could get one.

"Another thing," adds Rucker, "a man can't seem to say no to a lady when she suggests some of the extras, like special shampoos or treatments. The customer who'd say okay to Miss Jewell would turn down the male barber."

Miss Bennett says she never cuts women's hair.

"I just prefer to wait on men. They're easier to please."

Barbers are noted as great talkers and she is no exception. While trimming a customer's hair, she carries on a running conversation "in what ever he's interested in." She particularly likes to talk about hunting and fishing — her two favorite off-duty sports.

Although she's fond of "my regulars," as she calls them, Miss Bennett says she never expects to meet the man of her life in a barber shop.

Because of her profession, does she patronize a beauty parlor like many women? No indeed!

"I'm one of those cranky women. I fix my own hair," she says with a nod that sends her long blonde locks waving.

She doesn't regret her decision to enter a field usually considered reserved for men.

"I plan to keep on as long as I can stand up," Miss Bennett says. "Someday I'd like to own a barbershop of my own, with just women barbers, but I can't get enough women interested in learning the profession."

DOUBLE SENTENCE

TOLEDO, Ohio, — Donald Brewster, 20, who stole a typewriter from the University of Toledo bookstore so he could buy his girl an engagement ring, got the same treatment from the girl and a judge. When Judge John N. McCabe asked him how he was getting along with his girl, Brewster said "she's put me on probation." The judge said "that's good enough for me" and put him on three-year probation.

Roast Duck Good Holiday Choice

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
IF THERE ARE TO BE NO MORE than four around your Thanksgiving table, a roast duck is a perfectly good choice for your main course; for eight you will need two ducks.

As a stuffing for the duck, we recommend this one prepared from packaged herb-seasoned stuffing, butter or margarine, orange and raisins. Then for a garnish festive enough for the holiday, serve the duck with preserved kumquats and pineapple chunks alternated on short skewers.

ROAST DUCK WITH ORANGE-RAISIN STUFFING
Ingredients: 4 to 5 pound (ready-to-cook weight) Long Island duckling, 1 cup water, 1/2 pound (1/2 cup) butter or margarine, 1 tablespoon grated orange rind, 2 tablespoons orange juice, 1/2 cup seedless raisins (rinsed in hot water and drained), 1 package (8 ounces herb-seasoned stuffing.

Method: If duck is frozen, thaw according to package directions and remove giblets. Wash and dry duck. Fold back wing tips. Put water and butter in a 3-quart kettle; heat slowly until butter melts. Add orange rind, orange juice, raisins and stuffing; stir with a fork until all of the stuffing is moistened. Stand duck in a large mixing bowl; lightly fill body cavity with dressing; close cavity by sewing up or lacing string around small skewers inserted from side to side of vent. Lightly fill neck cavity with stuffing; fasten neck skin down with small skewers. Place duck on rack in shallow roasting pan. Roast in moderate (350 to 375 degrees) oven until skin is crisp and well browned and drumstick joint moves easily or twists out — about 2 1/2 hours. Remove skewers and cord or thread before serving.

Note: If you prefer, you may roast the duck in a slow (325 degrees) oven until tender — about 2 1/2 hours for a medium well done bird. In this case, about half an hour before the duck is done, brush with kitchen bouquet to ac-

Music Charms the Baseball Bunch

By DICK WHALEN

BATAVIA, N. Y. (AP) — Third baseman, Alan Steiner, home from a Little League practice game, threw his glove in the corner, bolted a glass of milk and two cookies, and picked up his cello.

He was off to practice Mozart's String Quartet in G Major with three other seventh graders.

From the baseball diamond to the music room is an easy step for Alan. He's the cellist in a quartet that was started as an experiment to show beginners that playing string instruments can be as much fun as playing baseball, or — for the girls — collecting dolls.

Four years ago, when they were in the third grade, they played their first quartet, "Baa, Baa Black Sheep," arranged for string quartet by their instructor, Hermon Dilmore.

Now they are all 12 years old and are playing quartets by the masters — Mozart, Beethoven, Schubert.

Dilmore found that solving one problem — how to enliven string instruction — turned up another: Where to find quartet music that beginners could play.

To fill the gap he began arranging familiar tunes for quartet. Soon he found himself writing a book to combine instruction in the technique of string instruments with progressively more difficult quartets as exercises. He hopes some day to publish it.

Child Prodigies? Musical geniuses? Probably not. But by playing together from the start they've learned fast and had fun doing it.

Dilmore, string teacher in the Batavia school system, founded the quartet with Alan on the cello; David Smith, viola; Cheryl Churchill, first violin; and Patricia Ireland, second violin.

Most children who study violin or some other stringed instrument spend long, lonely hours practicing. They seldom play in a group until they are well advanced.

Dilmore brought his 8-year-old musicians together after only a few lessons in holding the instruments and drawing the bow across the strings.

Dilmore says that playing together, besides being more fun, does away with the often heard complaint that the strings sound "scratchy and squeaky."

The quartet plays together twice a week during the school year and once a week summers. Both teacher and parents agree they have no trouble getting the children to practice an hour a day at home. Some work longer.

Dilmore says the four youngsters beam with satisfaction when they go back over quartets they had so much trouble with two or three years ago and see how easy they are today.

But it took a recording to show them how well they had progressed.

"Two Christmases ago," says Cheryl Churchill, "we made records of Christmas carols for our parents. We thought they were fine. Now they sound terrible." Dilmore is convinced that teaching the children music together in quartet has created a strong feeling of accomplishment and has enabled them to learn much faster than most youngsters would. He plans to start five or six more groups this fall.

"And besides," he adds, "they have a lot of fun doing it."

LEGAL LOOPHOLE PLUGGED
MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Middletown law officers wanting to charge an inmate with breaking out of jail ran into a problem — there was no law against breaking out of the city jail.
They finally charged the escapee with destruction of city property — he broke a window in his escape — and city fathers promptly adopted an ordinance plugging the embarrassing legal loophole.

MESSY INTRUDER
BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — Jack Reimer says the burglar who broke into his house certainly was a lousy housekeeper.

When Reimer returned from a recent vacation he found the sink stacked with dirty dishes, beds unmade and food spilled on the floor. Whoever broke into the house didn't take anything, just ate and slept, Reimer said, "But he was a real slob."

ARRESTING TOWN
VALLEY GROVE, W. Va. (AP) — This community of 800, near Wheeling, is an arresting little town — it lives on fines collected from unwary motorists.

In its levy estimate submitted to the state tax commissioner, Valley Grove listed anticipated municipal income in the current fiscal year of $30,240 — $30,000 from police fines and $240 — from rents, buildings and concessions.

Last state to enter the union was Arizona in 1912.

Foibles--Fancy and Plain

By KENT SNARE

Curiosity prompted me to compare the present top 10 teams with the preseason picks and five changes have already transpired. Out are Georgia Tech, Navy, Minnesota, Tennessee and Oregon State. In are Iowa, Auburn, Notre Dame, Ohio State and Army. The Bowl picture is taking form also, Oklahoma and Duke seem all but in the Orange. In the Rose, Oregon has the edge, with Washington State shaving still and from the Big 10, there remains Michigan, Iowa, Ohio State and Michigan State. Iowa and Ohio S. are undefeated but the Hawkeyes tussle Michigan this week and Ohio State still has Michigan and Iowa to get by. Michigan, S. has the bulge, schedule-wise. In the Cotton, Texas A&M and Texas are undefeated in the SWC but they butt heads in the finale, if they are unscathed till then, which is not likely. All the other SWC teams, except Baylor and TCU, are still in the race and it could be a scramble. Even the Bryants have yet to go to Fayetteville. The SWC titleholders opponent likely will fall between the winner of Tennessee and Mississippi on Nov. 16, unless Auburn stumbles, which is contrary to their remaining schedule and to date performance. Ole Miss has to beat the Vols and the balance of her sched in order to win 6 conference games, while Auburn can post seven conference victories if it has an unblemished slate. All this conjecture, if so, would put Auburn in the Sugar with who? Probably Navy, if the Middies can take Notre Dame, Duke and Army, which will require some doing. To get to this week's roster, which follows with last year's results, in case there were any, and then the consensus picks (not mine):

Shrimp Fondue Thrifty Dish

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

INTERESTED IN AN ECONOMICAL DISH for lunch or supper? Then try this Shrimp Fondue. A small can of shrimp plus a couple of eggs, milk, and bread go into it and produce a puffy, flavorful dish that's thrifty, too.

Use a can of small-sized shrimp for this fondue because they are of good quality and cost less than the larger-sized sea-food. There are usually more than four dozen small shrimp in a 4½-ounce can; the shrimp liquid they are packed in is used in the fondue.

Don't hesitate to bake this dish even if there are to be only two of you home for the meal. The fondue reheats extremely well if it is put in the top of a double boiler and allowed to stand over simmering water until hot through. When we did just this we found little of the original puffiness was lost.

FOND OF FONDUE? Shrimp, eggs, milk and bread are combined in flavorful shrimp fondue, economical enough to eat even the night before payday.

SHRIMP FONDUE
Ingredients: 1 can (4½ ounces) devalined small shrimp, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, 9 slices white bread (crusts removed and cut into small squares), 2 eggs, 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind, cayenne pepper, 1 tablespoon finely grated onion (pulp and juice), 1½ cups milk (scalded), salt, Tomato Sauce.

Method: Drain shrimp; there should be about 1/3 cup liquid; reserve shrimp and liquid. Melt butter in 10-inch skillet; add bread squares and brown lightly over moderate heat for about 5 minutes, stirring often. Turn toasted bread into a 1½-quart baking dish. Beat eggs enough to combine yolks and white; mix in lemon rind, a dash of pepper, grated onion, milk and reserved shrimp liquid. Break up shrimp slightly with a fork and add. Pour over bread. Taste and add a dash of salt if needed. Set casserole in a pan of very hot water and bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until firm — 1 hour or more. A silver knife inserted near the center should come out clean when fondue is done. If center of fondue seems soft, remove from oven but allow to stand in the pan of hot water for 5 minutes or so, and center will become firm. Serve while very hot with Tomato Sauce. Makes 4 servings.

TOMATO SAUCE
You can make a quick and delicious sauce for this Shrimp Fondue by heating a one-pound can of seasoned stewed tomatoes with a tablespoon or two of butter, curry powder and dried, crumbled thyme. We like ½ teaspoon of the curry powder and the same amount of thyme, but you may wish to change these amounts. Allow the tomatoes and extra seasonings to simmer slowly so flavors will develop, stirring occasionally to break up tomatoes.

SALAD TIP
Add chopped fresh mint to a salad of cooked green peas and diced raw celery. Good with cold lamb or veal.

SPINACH TIP
Lemon juice, crisp bacon and sliced hard-cooked egg do wonders for buttered cooked fresh spinach.

COLLEGE FIRST

Woman, 73, Plans Missionary Work

SHERMAN, Ok. — Mrs. Sallie Darnell of Denison is looking forward to a new career and is studying for it at Austin College.

But there's a considerable difference between Mrs. Darnell and the other juniors on the campus. She's 73.

She returned to Austin College this fall to resume preparation for home mission service. Mrs. Darnell last was in the school in 1932.

The would-be missionary first entered the college in the summer of 1916 at the age of 62.

"How in the world would you expect to go to college without even a high school education?" her eldest daughter asked her in 1916.

"If the Lord wants me to do it, He will provide a new way," was Mrs. Darnell's answer.

An active church worker, she has dreamed for years of becoming a missionary and felt that she must have a college education.

She had little formal schooling as a girl in Farmington, Tenn. Married at 16, she moved to Denison in 1903 with her husband. Here she "worked awfully hard" rearing her six children and one foster child.

"I didn't miss a day of school for 24 months," she states proudly. Mrs. Darnell attended AC in the summer of 1913, during the 1916-17 long term, in the summer of 1917, and during the 1917-18 school year.

Austin College records reveal that she never flunked a course. She appeared again on the campus in the summer of 1932 for a voice course.

"I had planned to go to college only through the end of the 1947-48 school year," she said. A missionary couple in Hawaii had asked her to join them in their work after that time.

Although she wanted very much to go to Hawaii, she said, "I hadn't consulted the Lord about it, it was all my own idea."

An appeal from a friend interrupted both the Hawaiian venture and college work. Mrs. Darnell was asked to take over the management of the Park Hotel in Denison. "I told my friend that I would take the job only if I could run it my own way," she said.

Running it "her own way" meant giving food and shelter to many who couldn't afford to pay.

Many times during the past nine years with the hotel, she has been urged by her children to give up work and take a rest.

"Instead of being in the old rocking chair being served, I want to be in the field serving others," she avows.

This fall she left her job at the hotel and returned to the college. She took an apartment near the campus. Mrs. Darnell is majoring in Bible and carries 16 hours of academic work.

She hopes to attend Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth, after graduation. She would prepare for home mission service among Latin Americans.

"I'm old, but I've got a young spirit. I feel inadequate to do God's work without an education," she said.

GEORGE HEARD WRITES:

Arab World Schools Prove Frustrating for American

(EDITOR'S NOTE: George Heard of Hereford, still working for the Iraq government oil refinery in Baghdad, is concerned with the school situation there. His interest is more than sympathetic, as his latest letter reveals.)
Oct. 21
Dear Folks:
I think that some of us have mentioned some of the trouble we have had finding a school for George. It is really a mess. By some standards the schools here are ahead of Stateside schools but the products of the schools lack a lot of being up to that of the American graduate.

cancelled his daughters room reservation because of her health. Their doctor had not seen the girl in eight months. They had to ship the girl back to the states with the hopes that the Dept of Agriculture could make some arrangements for her schooling.
These things seem unreasonable, but they are usual as this is the Arab world of the middle east. It is a frustrating thing to try to get anything done here.
Bad will leave here probably in December and take some time seeing some of Europe. He is going to take the slow cheap route. He came over here on the deluxe, seven courses plus wines tour. posed to complete the first year of an American high school and they do offer the courses. But some things seem wrong in the way it is taught because the kids do not learn that much. I am much more pleased with Hereford schools than ever.

ONE OF THE things that may be of interest to you is the system of examinations here. I do not know that this system is in the lower schools but I do know it is in High school. When the examinations are given, the teacher who taught the course does not give the exams or make out the questions. The examination questions are assembled in the inspectors office in the ministry of education. Then at the same hour on the same day, the exam is given in all of the schools in Iraq.

The passing of the course is out of the hands of the teacher and is determined by the exam. The rate of failure is so high that it is no particular disgrace not to pass but it is an honor to have never failed. No consideration is given for attitude, and there is no such thing as a social promotion.

There are a number of things in favor of the system. The teacher is graded by the percentage of passing students and the school is graded by the same standard. I have sometimes suspected that some teachers did not teach everything as they wanted something to ask on the examination. Incidentally, the school with the highest rate of passing grades was not a government school. It was one run by the Jesuit Fathers who came from the states.

The grades made by the students in the high school determine the kind of course they are allowed to take in college. As far as I can learn, aptitude and desire are secondary to the grades. The highest grades allow the student to study medicine. The next highest can take engineering or physics. I am not sure of the remainder order but I believe it goes something like this: Science, teaching, accounting, law, clerical, and somewhere down the line, agriculture.

I am not trying to cast any reflections on Hugh Clearman or Bruce Miller, it is just the way they do things here. Law over here is of three kinds, civil, tribal and religious.

They usually consider two years the usual course. I understand the really good lawyers are trained elsewhere. There are only two places where a college agriculture graduate can work. One is the government and the other for some tribal shiek. The pay for the college graduate is determined by the school attended, the degree obtained. As an example, a doctor working for the minister of health gets higher pay if he graduated from a college in England than a graduate from the medical school in Baghdad. A PhD. gets a higher salary than a BS degree as a base salary.

But the sad thing is that knowledge gained out of school and ability to use the knowledge counts for nothing. Fifteen years out of college the man with the BS degree may have gained knowledge and have grown in ability but he can never be paid as much as the PhD degree holder who has gone to seed and not used his advanced training.

THE HIGH SCHOOL students are as a whole more serious about their studies and seem to work hard. They have five years of high school. A science student in high school will have completed two years each of physics, chemistry, biology, five years of math and a foreign language for four years, usually English. But in spite of what they are supposed to have had, something is not right. They don't seem to know when or how CAGE FOUND GUILTY—Ben Jack Cage, center, former president of the now defunct ICT Insurance Co., comforts his wife Dorcus in courtroom at Dallas after he was found guilty and given a 10 year prison sentence for embezzling $100,000 from the company. to use what they know.

They can't do anything. To them, Bud is a peculiar character. He can drive a car, bake bread, paint a room, repair the car, has earned money, does a lot of our shopping. He tells them of boys who earn enough money to buy an automobile, earn enough for a college expense. These things are foreign to the boys here. And the reality said thing about all this is, most of these educated boys feel that doing things is beneath them.

The Fulbright teachers over here for a year are amazed at the unorganization of the colleges. A math teacher told me that the first day of classes, he had no students. He found that it was because they were still making the schedule. Three weeks have passed and he is still on the first lesson because each day brings more students and he has to start over. The text book has been changed, in an effort to try to choose one that will have sufficient copies available for the students. He now has more students than he can get into the room, even by standing, and the text book situation is not solved.

It is not all bad. They are trying to improve. And the math courses must be good as I have found that all students from here find math easy in American colleges. I suppose it should be, didn't the Arabs invent our number system and algebra?

jects to be paid out of revenues.

TEXAS' CHIEF executive also cited the flood damages and the tremendous loss of lives and property that have resulted from uncontrolled waters.

"Why should Texans continue to suffer millions of dollars in property damage every year? Why should good water that can be used by cities, by industries and by agriculture be allowed to flow unrestricted off our rich lands and on into the Gulf of Mexico?"

"The recreational advantages that would follow the addition of more lakes and reservoirs naturally will be of interest to hunting and fishing enthusiasts as well as those who enjoy boating and other outdoor sports, but most important to the State are the financial aspects of the program. And they are vitally important," Daniel stated.

Then, as if to answer all questions, he summed up his remarks with the statement that "the water development amendment, which is third on the Nov. 5 ballot, is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity for Texas and all Texans to have what is greatly needed and without taxes. For this is a self-financing program that not only will pay itself out, but eventually may mean millions of dollars in revenue to the State."

WHILE DISCUSSING the water amendment the governor also tossed in his recommendations of the other two proposals appearing on the Nov. 5 ballot.

"It is my sincere hope," he concluded, "that Texas voters also will approve the two other proposals — the old age pension increase and the state employees retirement plan."

Daniel will make a statewide TV and radio broadcast on the night of Nov. 4 in support of all three amendments.

He will make a special broadcast to the aged citizens of Texas in behalf of the old age pension measure on Friday afternoon, Nov. 1, and will urge all to go to the polls and cast their votes for all three amendments.

Congress. You will recall this is the program where certain commodities are exported and sold in foreign countries in exchange for the local currency in that country rather than United States dollars. Since the beginning of the program through Sept. 30, 1957, some 88,140,489 bushels of feed grains have been marketed in foreign countries. Of this amount 5,795,000 bushels were grain sorghums. These figures are estimates and there doubtless will be measurable disposition of grain sorghums in the balance of fiscal 1958. The aggregate value of feed grains marketed in foreign countries through Sept. 30 was 113.2 million dollars.

COMING
NOV. 7

Nothing newer

AROUND THE WORLD

The 58 Ford has been proved around the world. This is the most dramatic and most grueling test ever given a new car before its public announcement.

The whole world was used as a test track for the 58 Ford. The car drove through England, France, Switzerland, Italy, Yugoslavia, Greece, Turkey, Iran, Afghanistan, Pakistan, India, Malaya, Thailand, Cambodia, Vietnam, and finally back to the place it started—Detroit, Michigan, U.S.A.

The Ford powered over the great mountain ranges of three continents: from the Alps to the Himalayas and the Rockies. It crossed the great rivers of history: the Thames, the Seine, the Tiber, the Arno, the Tigris, the Euphrates, the Indus, the Ganges.

This car stood at Buckingham Palace, rolled up the Champs Elysees to the Arc de Triomphe, and passed at the Eiffel Tower. It was greeted by the great Paris couturiers at the famous fashion salons where its "sculptured in steel" styling was applauded by the most style-conscious audience in the world.

The 58 Ford rode smoothly down the rugged, beautiful seacoast of Tito's country, to a festival in Dubrovnik, and into Greece to Athens, where this newest classic met such ancient classics as the Parthenon and the Temple of Poseidon.

Into Turkey: and the 58 Ford passed the great white lacework palaces of the Sultans along the Bosphorus and the Golden Horn. Then the Ford went where few but nomads travel, up into the hot days and chill nights of the ancient mountains of Afghanistan. And thence along the route Alexander the Great followed with his chariots to cross the historic Indus river.

On and on the Ford moved, down into the heat of mysterious India, through New Delhi to the Taj Mahal, and to the great pink palace of the Maharajah of Jaipur.

This great new car met the challenge of the monsoons—rains that for centuries have stopped all road movement throughout Indo-China, but didn't stop the 58 Ford. It drove on to Penang in Malaya, and then north to Bangkok.

Further on came Saigon, the Paris of the Orient, at the farthest tip of Southeast Asia. Finally, it powered across the great Rockies and plains of North America and back, at long last, to Detroit, Michigan.

The 58 Ford... has been proved and approved around the world. A natural question arises. Why did Ford go to such great lengths with its 1958 model? Why spend so much money and time and go through all the problems of negotiations, customs, border transit, diplomacy in so many countries?

The answer: in the competitive automobile market of today, only the best in all-around value can survive. And this round-the-world test is the most decisive possible demonstration of the best.

The 1958 Ford is value: hard-dollar value. It is also style, power, performance, and a dozen great new features. But above all, it is value.

This is the car you've been waiting for. See it November 7—there's nothing newer in the world than the 58 Ford!

Lovely Scenery, No Nightlife on 'South Pacific' Location

WORK OR VACATION? Mitzi Gaynor, here standing before Luther Billis' famous bath club for a scene in "South Pacific," says living on Kauai is too pleasant to be called work.

By JIM BECKER

KAUAI, Hawaii — "On Sundays," says a bored stage and, "we drive into town and watch the stop light go on and off."

And the rest of the week, 150 actors, dancers and technicians from 20th Century-Fox are slowly finding out scenes for the 6 1/2-billion-dollar motion picture version of "South Pacific."

After more than two months of filming, crew and cast have settled into the placid, tropical routine of this sparsely-settled "garden island."

The island of Kauai — perhaps the most beautiful of the Hawaiian chain — is long on waving palms and sparkling beaches, but mighty short on stirring night life. As a result, some of the toilers on "South Pacific" have found life pretty dull in the Pacific.

For others, it's a "paid vacation."

Vivacious Mitzi Gaynor says she is one of these. She has the coveted lead role of nurse Nellie Forbush in the picture — "the first woman being I've ever had a chance to play."

Director Joshua Logan is another. He directs the beach scenes, swim trunks, and immediately lunges into the surf for a dip at the call of "cut."

Italian star Rossano Brazzi, the French planter in the film, disappears, somewhat. "Hawaii is a wonderful place NOT to work," says, "I find it hard to concentrate on the picture... the sun, the lazy atmosphere... they get your blood."

But Mrs. Brazzi, who is not working, "will cry her head off when we leave," he says.

On one thing, all principals are agreed. They feel they have a tremendous picture in the works.

"This is my 88th motion picture," says Brazzi, 40, "and I seldom get excited about one any more. But I expect this picture to be shown for 20 to 25 years."

A sweet smile of satisfaction comes over Logan's face when he talks about the progress being made.

"We are sending the rushes back to Hollywood every day," he says, "and they report that so many people on the lot are fighting to get to see them that work schedules are being disrupted."

Bobby Holland Is Jump School Grad

FORT BRAGG, N. C. (AHTNC) — Army Pvt. Bobby I. Holland, whose wife, Donna, lives at 234 Ave. D, Hereford, recently was graduated from the 82d Airborne Division Jump School at Fort Bragg, N. C.

Holland received his parachutist wings after having completed the course, which included five training jumps.

Holland, a gunner in Company D of the division's 325th Infantry, entered the Army in May 1957 and completed basic training at Fort Chaffee, Ark.

The 22-year-old soldier, son of Mrs. C. W. Martin, Clarendon, is a 1953 graduate of Clarendon High School.

Egypt's First Coed Recalls Early Days

CARIO — The young Egyptian girl hesitated at the gates of the American University in Cairo. Then, overcoming her fears, she ran up the stairs and became Egypt's first coed.

Today, almost 30 years later, Eva El Masri recalls with a touch of pride how she blazed a trail which thousands of other young Egyptian girls have since followed.

In the Egypt of 30 years ago, it was almost unthinkable for a girl to venture far into the halls of knowledge. Her place was in the home, her purpose to prepare for marriage and children. Women were heavily veiled. Polygamy was commonplace. Seclusion of women in harems was more or less the rule.

But Eva — now Mrs. Yousef Sidhom — came from a family with an almost unquenchable thirst for knowledge. She cracked a barrier of prejudice against women and found a surprisingly small amount of hostility. She says: "I was very reserved. As the only girl, I had to be. As a rule I brought my lunch with me. Only on rare occasions would I go to the luncheon room to eat with the rest

Stubborn Stains
To rectify urine stains on non-washable materials, sponge the spot with some lukewarm soapy water, and then with a cloth dipped into clear cold water. Flush the spot with a solution of one-fifth ammonia and four-fifths water, and follow this by wiping with another cold water cloth.

Patent Leather
The patent leather handbag, or other such article, can be easily cleaned of finger marks by using a cloth dipped in milk. After the leather has dried, polish with a soft cloth.

Upholstering
A wet chamois, wrung dry, will remove all lint from the upholstered furniture.

Quick Repair
One way to patch a leaky hot water bottle is to melt part of an old jar rubber, rub the molten rubber over the hole with a flat-bladed knife, and press it down with your fingers.

Perspiration Stains
To remove perspiration stains, soak the garment in strong salt water before laundering. The stains on colored silk can be sponged with lukewarm water.

White Potatoes
If potatoes turn dark when boiled, put a cup of milk in the water before starting to boil them. They will be white and mealy.

Rusty Tile
If the rust stains on tile are not too old, they will usually yield to kerosene. Cover the spots with kerosene for about two hours, and then wash with soap and piping hot water.

Buying Shoes
It is better to buy shoes in the afternoon, as by that time the feet will have spread from being on them, and the shoes will always be comfortable.

Parsley
If the parsley is washed in hot water it will retain its flavor better. This also makes it easier to chop.

Sweeping Cellar
When sweeping the cellar floor, try using a damp sweeping compound, which will get the floor cleaner and prevent flying dust. Save all your old coffee grounds and tea leaves, soak them with water, sprinkle on the floor, and then make your clean sweep.

SHOULDA STAYED IN BED
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. — Beginning of school meant nothing but bad luck for Michael Feyen of Albuquerque.

The first day of school, Mike's best friend — Dennis Drury — was hit by a car and suffered head injuries. A week later Mike lost a prize rod and reel at a fishing derby. Returning home from the derby, Mike discovered his new bike which he bought with summer earnings had been stolen.

How Can I?

By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I remove gloss from a painted surface before repainting?

A. Before painting the kitchen woodwork, try washing it with gold dust and a little ammonia in warm water. The gold dust removes all dirt and grease, while the ammonia takes off the gloss of the old paint.

Q. How can I remove a fish bone caught in the throat?

A. One of the best ways is to swallow a raw egg. This seldom fails to carry the bone down with it.

Q. How can I keep cheese fresh for a long time?

A. Cover it with a thin coating of paraffin. Before serving remove the paraffin.

Q. How can I make a good brown face paint for a masquerade?

A. Take 1 part umber, 6 parts cacao butter, 5 drops oil of neroli. Melt the cacao, add the umber, and while cooling mix well, adding the perfume last.

Q. How can I make a dessert out of stale cake?

A. An inexpensive and delicious dessert can be made by pouring hot lemon sauce over stale cake that has been heated in the oven.

Q. How can I relieve the pain of burns?

A. Try applying the white of an egg.

Q. How can I test jelly to know if the jelling point has been reached?

A. Put a little on a cold plate and draw a path through it with the point of a spoon. If the path stays and the jelly does not run together, the jelling point has been reached.

Q. How can I make brown shoes a darker shade?

A. By rubbing with milk, to which a few drops of household ammonia have been added. Polish with a dry cloth as soon as dry.

Q. How can I keep blankets clean?

A. Blankets will keep clean for a much longer time if the sheet is folded back over the top of the blankets.

Q. How can I take care of feet that are hot and swollen?

A. Try bathing them in warm water, in which a few grains of permanganate of potash have been dissolved, just enough of the potash to make the water a bright pink. Then massage with rubbing alcohol, or mentholated spirit, and finally dust the feet with boric acid powder.

Q. How can I keep winter plants in good condition?

A. Cold tea or milk will make plants blossom during the winter months. One should alternate with water every other day.

POTENT POTATO
PARIS, Ky. — Mrs. Howard Hurst has a recipe for splattered potatoes.

She baked several potatoes for dinner. At the table, she speared one for her husband and another for her son.

Then she speared a third potato. Pop! By chance, the peel contained more steam than potato. The steam spurted every way and ditto for the potato.

The Greatest Sermon

Dear Sinner:

Please don't scoff the Lord. He is long suffering and His mercy is great to them that fear Him. He is our only hope, but hope deferred maketh the heart sick. Life's road would quickly come to a dead end without Him. Why not take Him at His word today? He can perform miracles with your life. He can give you the desire to attend church. He can make your deeds shine, your good works glow, so that others may be constrained to glorify the Lord, to find their way before it is too late. He says, "Come unto Me all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest." — A-men.

As a respite from your labor and troubles of the past week—

SPANIEL RETURNS
 OWENSBORO, Ky. (AP) — When Hugh Shelton returned to his parking car, his beloved cocker spaniel had disappeared.

After a two-hour search, Shelton drove back to his farm alone. Two days later he returned to Owensboro, parked his car in the same place, and walked into a newspaper office to advertise for his dog.

Shelton returned to his car and underneath it was the dog which had found the familiar auto and was awaiting his master's return.

AUTOMATIC ALARM
 TYRRELL'S LAKE, Ala. (AP) — A fire at the home of Ernie Shoemaker was confined to the basement when occupants were roused by rattle shells exploding at the heat.

CONFUSING THE AIR FORCE
 SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — When John Henderson Jr. is causing a lot of confusion at nearby McClellan Air Force Base.

There are two of them. Both are first lieutenants and members of the same squadron.

In hope of reducing mix-ups, one of the lieutenants, from Escanaba, Mich., dropped the "junior" from his name. The other, from Dover, N. J., dropped his middle initial. But the confusion continues.

He still gets all his checks and get all his bills. Says William Stull, military police sergeant at a wheelbarrow.

Long Time Ago

48 Years Ago
 J. D. Harmon was flaunting five $20 and one $5 gold piece in the faces of his friends this week and when called upon to explain his unseemly audacity he said that the coins were the prize money for the best loads of cattle shown at the Kansas City Fat Stock Show, winning first, second and third. His explanation was perfectly satisfactory and mention would not be made of his conduct if he had let the reporter "feel" of the cold cash, but he wouldn't.

 A young couple bent on matrimonial inclinations came to Hereford Monday morning from the northeast part of the county and after securing the necessary license called on Rev. W. M. Baker of the Presbyterian Church, who said the words that made them "one." The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Hammer and the bridegroom is a young man recently from California. The ceremony was performed at Betts-Clark Drug Store in the presence of friends.

25 Years Ago
 S. L. Harmon, just north of Hereford, is reported to have made one of the best returns from intensive farming that has been brought to the attention of the Brand this year. On a measured area of irrigated Irish potatoes, Mr. Harmon gathered 133 sacks. His entire cost for the crop was figured at $33 for the acre, leaving a profit — even at the low price of one cent a pound — of $100 for the acre of potatoes.

Winter snapped down on the Panhandle and Deaf Smith County in particular Tuesday morning of this week when snow fell heavily for several hours. Clearing weather during the day brought the lowest temperatures yet recorded this fall on Tuesday night, thermometers over town registering from 26 to 28 degrees and up to one-fourth inch of ice Wednesday morning.

HONESTY MARKET
 SUNSET BEACH, Calif. (AP) — There is a roadside stand near the Meadowlark Country Club and people in the vicinity have come to know it as "Honesty Market."

The stand has fresh fruits and vegetables. One customer wrote to the Long Beach Independent about the operation, saying: "In four years we have never seen a clerk at this market. The prices of all items are marked and in bags and boxes, and you simply drop your money in a box. Today the cars were lined up 10 deep while people shopped."

WHEAT AND SMALL GRAINS NEED NITROGEN!

For the nitrogen your crops need, apply Phillips 66 Ammonium Nitrate. The nitrogen and other plant foods removed by last year's crops must be replenished to maintain higher yields and profits per acre. Wheat and other small grains respond quickly to nitrogen to help stimulate early growth... produce and support bigger heads per plant and more plants per acre.

For fall-seeded small grains, apply nitrogen this spring before plants reach the jointing stage. For spring-seeded small grains, apply nitrogen before seeding or as a top dressing early in the season.

Long Distance Magic

... For Hereford!

ONE AND TWO-PARTY CUSTOMERS WILL DIAL DIRECT FROM COAST-TO-COAST

ONE OF THE MOST important developments of modern telephone science will be introduced to Hereford on December 15... DIRECT DISTANCE DIALING!

It means that one and two-party customers here will be able to dial their own station-to-station long distance calls to many points in Texas and throughout the United States.

The Direct Distance Dialing system will be placed in effect here at the time Hereford's telephone system is changed to dial operation. For technical reasons, Direct Distance Dialing will be available only to one and two-party customers on station-to-station calls.

INITIALLY, you will be able to call telephones in about 750 cities in the United States. The rest are scattered from Boston to Santa Monica, California.

One and two-party telephone users here will be able to pick up their telephones and, without the services of an operator, dial numbers in Oklahoma City, Chicago, New York City, Detroit, Washington D. C., San Francisco, and many other large and small cities.

IN TEXAS, you will be able to dial direct to telephones in Amarillo, Lubbock, Plainview, Fort Worth, Dallas, and many other localities.

We are glad to bring dial telephone service and Direct Distance Dialing to Hereford, and we are sure you will like the speed, accuracy, and convenience of dialing your local and long distance calls.

When SMU Smelled the Rose

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) The national college football champion ship and the Rose Bowl rose in the mighty pass Bob Finley hurled in Texas Christian University stadium that day in 1955.

BOBBY WILSON

Finley faked a punt then faked far back. From past midfield he saw Wilson at the loyward line. He threw the ball and it went like a shot. Wilson turned at the 4-yard line and plucked the pigskin out of the air. He stumbled crazily toward the goal line and fell across it with the pass that made Southwest Conference history.

SMU won the game 20-14 and the band played "California Here I Come." It was the Rose Bowl, the goal of almost every major college football team in the nation. In the bowl game, Stanford beat SMU, 7-0.

be seen only for 25,000. Thousands more stood on a knoll overlooking the stadium. SMU drove 73 yards for a touch-down in the first period with Finley taking the ball across from the 1-yard line. In the second quarter SMU rolled 80 yards to another touchdown with Finley supplying the big punch on a 47-yard pass to end Mace Stewart.

A great kick by Baugh that put SMU in a deep hole set up a TCU touchdown in the third period, and early in the last quarter Baugh punted for a second touchdown. Thus the score was tied at 14-14 when SMU got the ball on its 47-yard line after the kickoff. SMU drove to the TCU 37 but needed four yards for a first down with fourth down coming up.

It was then that Finley hurled the pass that put his team into the Rose Bowl. Southern Methodist won 12 straight games that season and was named national champion. Texas Christian won 11 out of 12 and was rated No. 2 in the nation. Finley's mighty throw was called the "$5,000 pass" because it meant $5,000 to SMU. And the Methodists needed the money. That was the amount due on their stadium.

DANGEROUS AGE

LOSING CAUSE

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) A man who tried to hold up Charles B. Aimo's grocery lost money on the deal. He ordered and paid for sandwiches, cookies, bread and cigars. Then he pulled a gun and told Aimo to fork over his cash. But he lost his nerve and ran, minus his groceries.

Beauty At Home

Q Please tell me what I can do about excessive oiliness in my scalp.

A This, of course, is caused by overactive oil glands, and it can be helped by a diet free of oily foods and candy, rich in fruits and vegetables. If your hair tends to be oily, try an egg shampoo to counteract the condition. Be as most fanatical about rinsing. Any trace of soap left in the hair after rinsing irritates the scalp. Vigorous brushing will help normalize this same condition.

Q What is a good treatment for keeping hair off the legs? A After smoothing the leg with a depilatory or razor, make a practice once or twice weekly of rubbing the leg either with a fine emery or a wet pumice stone. This will discourage hair growth and is possibly the best way to preserve constant leg smoothness.

Q Is there anything besides exercise and massage which will help to reduce a double chin? A Try rubbing the double chin with ice covered with gauze or cotton, or ice-water applications frequently. This contracts the skin and increases its elasticity.

Q What is the best way to apply face powder? A Powders are usually best applied with fresh pieces of cotton. A whisking over the skin is all that is needed in some cases, whereas for the mat finish you must dip the cotton into the powder, carry the dust to the skin, and press it on. Do not touch all the face has been covered. Then whisk away the excess with a powder brush, and smooth the powder deposits.

Q What do you suggest for bringing out eyebrows that are practically invisible? A You might try using two eyebrow pencils, instead of one, in brown and black. First stroke with strokes of brown pencil, followed by one-third as many strokes of black and this will impart a natural look to your brows.

Q When would you say is the perfect time for applying pomade or tonic to the scalp? A Right after the shampoo when the scalp is glowing and receptive. Massage of the scalp at this time is doubly effective, too, when the warmth and friction of your shampooing has brought the blood to your scalp tissues.

Q What is a good makeup hint for the girl with a very high forehead? A She should use only dark powder on her forehead, and highlight the lower part of her face with light makeup. The eyebrows should also be darkened a little more than usual.

Q How can I prepare myself a good, general-purpose facial beauty mask? A Using just enough sour milk to fill the tip of a small spoon, add an equal amount of honey. Mix this together and spread it over the face, under the eyes and over the eyelids. Leave on at least a half hour, until dry, then wash off with lukewarm water.

Q How much does one's hair grow in a month? A On the average, approximately one-half inch.

Army Has Another Glenn Davis in Bob Anderson

HANDY ANDY—This is Bob Anderson who it shows running 81 yards through the Notre Dame team the first time he got the ball. Army Coach Earl Black compares him with three-time All-America Glenn Davis, like Davis, Anderson also plays baseball and basketball and is a trackman.

By FRANK LICK AP News Features Sports Editor PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Glenn Davis in this quarter-century of football, about an Army player named Bob Anderson. Anderson, a countless others will be remembered in the national record books of Army Navy sports on Nov. 10.

Anderson is the West Point second year halfback who, on Army's second offensive play, dashed 81 yards through Notre Dame's entire team for the long est scrimmage run in the 1956 history of the Cadet Irish rivalry.

It is a known fact that at half the U.S. Military and Naval Academy, the number of players who are named in the national record books is only 100.

West Point coaches see Anderson as potentially one of the greatest athletes to grace the grounds. He is compared to the 1941 All-America Glenn Davis of Army in years ago.

Anderson has been out for a long so far this season," says Earl Black who is a running mate of the author. "He is the best player I have ever seen since the days of Glenn Davis."

Davis scored 20 touchdowns in nine games as a sophomore in 1941. Anderson scored six touchdowns in Army's first four games, going 80 yards in his first game. "Anderson also looks like a fine varsity pitcher prospect for next spring," says Orvis. "Anderson coached the club baseball team last spring. Like Davis, Anderson also is a basketball player and a trackman."

where he also shot puffed, and tossed the discus 145 feet. He won 13 varsity letters, 4 in football, 4 in basketball, the captain of both teams, 1 in baseball and 4 in track.

Anderson's father, he also played at base of the outfield. In 1956, Anderson had him held in the basement in a Tony Karp because of his arm. Anderson not only runs with a 4:30 mile but also can pass, and est scrimmage run in the 1956 history of the Cadet Irish rivalry. Anderson is a professional basketball player and a professional football player. The remarkable thing about Anderson is that he will only be 29 next March 31. He looks lighter than his 26 pounds and has terrific reach for a 6-foot 6.

A native of El Paso, N. J., Anderson is a kid headlines of Cooch. He is a graduate of a civil service employee. His father, John, was an Army sergeant and the son is a brother who is an Air Force lieutenant. The wife, Anderson failed two Notre Dame college men the first time he handled the ball, made a 100-yard dash in Stadium. Fans were amazed. In fact his performance in that day, he wears No. 10. He made a 100-yard dash in 1956. A sophomore soldier replaces a senior at West Point especially one as famous as Roosevelt. It only means an Anderson's super ability and he has the rest of this football season, plus two more.
