ABOUT GONE—Flames are destroying the Walter Neinast family's home, 21 miles northwest of Hereford, after an explosion, touched off by butane, rocked the house. Barbara Neinast, 14, was using butane to spray flies in the house. She was painfully burned in the resulting explosion. The home site was deserted when this picture was taken. After okaying the $653,216 budget estimate prepared by Judge Homer Henslee, they turned to unraveling a road opening dispute and reapportioned the split of road and bridge funds.

Girl Suffers Painful Burns from Explosion

Quick reaction probably saved the life of Barbara Neinast, 14, Monday afternoon. When her home exploded with a flaming roar, Barbara leaped outside and rolled in the dirt to put out her burning clothing.

BUTANE-FED FLAMES destroyed the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Neinast, and damaged a new pickup truck. The parents were in Amarillo at the time of the explosion and fire. The Neinast home is on the C. W. Newsum farm, 21 miles northwest of Hereford.

Barbara's younger sister, Rose Marie, 16, was in the yard at the time of the blast. Rose Marie was not injured. Barbara said she had come home from Hereford High School, where she is a freshman, and found the front door open and the house full of flames. The insecticide sprayer was broken and the keys to the pickup were gone so Barbara couldn't get another sprayer.

TAKING THE HOSE from a small butane tank on the nearby pickup she entered the house and started spraying with butane. The short hose kept her near the front door and that fact may have saved her life.

"Then the explosions came," she said. "The first one seemed like it was in the kitchen, maybe from the stove's pilot light. My clothes caught fire and I jumped out of the door and rolled in the dirt," Barbara said from her hospital bed Tuesday. She dropped the butane hose inside the house and the fuel continued to feed the flames. "I heard two more explosions," she said. "It was in flames all at once. Rose Marie, and I ran from the yard into the road. Mr. (Herschel) Burrus and Mr. (Garland) Solomon saw the smoke and came over. They live close to us. "Mr. Burrus brought me to the hospital," she added.

BARBARA SUFFERED second and third degree burns on her arms, hands, legs and feet. The attending physician said she is in good condition but will have a "prolonged recovery period."

"There is no danger, but it will take her a long time to get well again," the doctor said. The Hereford Volunteer Fire Department was not notified of the blaze, according to Fire Marshal Clay Angelo. Angelo and Sheriff Charles Skelton went to the scene and said the house was a total loss and the pickup was heavily scorched and had three tires burned off.

SKELTON waited on the highway for Mr. and Mrs. Neinast and stopped them when they returned from Amarillo about 11 p.m. He told them of the fire. "We lost everything, clothes, furniture and all," Mrs. Neinast said. (Continued On Page 2)

Sorghum Price Problem To Be Meeting Topic

A mass farm meeting to which not only farmers, but merchants and everyone interested in the economy of Deaf Smith County are invited has been scheduled to start at 2 p.m. Friday in the district courtroom by Ivan Block, president of the county Grain Sorghum Producers Assn.

"Purpose of the meeting," Block said, "is to discuss the grain sorghum price problem." Many grain sorghum producers and other observers fear that price supports for the crops will be cut out by the Secretary of Agriculture after the 1957 harvest. Present farm laws provide no mandatory support price for feed grains after the current year and leave to the discretion of the Secretary of Agriculture the setting of non-basic feed grain support levels between zero and 90 per cent.

BILL NELSON, of Amarillo recently named executive vice president of the National Grain Sorghum Producers Assn., will attend the meeting to take part in discussions of the problem and to describe the commodity group's proposals for building better markets for the product.

The NGSFA has recently taken part in efforts by 22 commodity groups to adopt proposals for new farm legislation that will be introduced into Congress at its next session. R. G. Peeler of Hereford, president, and Frank Moore of Plainview, were in Washington this week for the second national commodity groups meeting on Wednesday and Thursday.

Moore last week obtained endorsement of the NGSFA legislative plan, called the Surplus Reduction. (Continued On Page 6)

Wilson said. The campaign committee will meet again at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the chamber of commerce office to continue making plans for the drive.

Three guilty pleas were heard in county court Tuesday by Judge Homer Henslee. Lon Stewart, 59, 401 Lawton, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to five days in county jail for driving while intoxicated, first offense. He was arrested Monday night by city police.

John Randolph Bingham, 55-year-old transient, was sentenced to 60 days in jail for aggravated assault on Bud Brown, 52, of Hereford. Bingham originally was charged on Aug. 14 with assault with intent to murder, but the Deaf Smith County grand jury in its last session non-billed Bingham and recommended the charge be changed to aggravated assault.

Concepcion Velasquez pleaded guilty on two counts, one of possession of whiskey for sale and carrying a prohibited weapon. He was fined $100 and costs for carrying a blackjack and fined another $100 on the whiskey charge and given 10 days in jail. He was arrested Monday by city police.

northwest of Hereford in Commissioner Otto Mattle's Precinct Two on his motion. The road will extend from the northeast corner of section 21 and the northwest corner of section 20 in Block K-8 south between sections 20 and 21 and 19 and 22 to join an existing road and one mile west to the southwest corner of section 21 and the northwest corner of section 22 from the southeast corner of section 21 and southwest corner of section 20. Easements have already been obtained from four 111-owners affected and a jury of six recommended awarding $300 in damages to Mrs. W. E. Garrett, owner of section 20, Mattle reported.

Work on the proposed canal will begin as soon as irrigated land along their routes is 1/2 the commissioners said.

In discussing the apportionment of $198,695 budgets for road and bridge maintenance in 1958, the commissioners agreed on a change. Precinct Four for several years has received 37 cents of each dollar in the fund, while the other three precincts have each received 21 cents.

THE CUT was changed to 31 cents for Precinct Four and 23 cents for each of the other precincts.

Commissioner Hicks agreed to the change after Judge Henslee read a report of the expenditures of the various precincts. Precinct Four's larger share of the road and bridge fund is attributed to its having a greater mileage of county road to be maintained. Three road maintainers are used on 487 miles of road in Precinct Four, while the other precincts cover their smaller mileages with two machines each.

Farm Plan, by the board of directors of the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

The Surplus Reduction Farm Plan provides for support of all farm commodities at the same level.

"WE FEEL STRONGLY that the idea of supporting one commodity higher than another is indefensible," Moore explained.

The plan also provides for a per cent of the cultivated acres to be retired from production. This provision, it is claimed, would prevent acreages diverted from the basic crops causing a surplus of non-basic ones.

"There would be no discrimination among farms, as each farm could have the same percentage of price supported crops. Land values would not be determined by the allotments buy by true value of land," Moore said.

In exchange for no pay on acres retired from production, farmers will receive 75 per cent of old parity for presently price supported

Bible Words for Today

MATTHEW 1:1, "The book of the genealogy of Jesus Christ, . . ." (RSV)

Genealogical societies abound in America. Their purposes include the aim of keeping alive an interest in the people and events which played important roles in shaping the destiny of our nation.

Matthew was appealing to a genealogy-conscious people. They were a "chosen people" and had been ordered by the Lord to keep their lineage clear from foreign blood. Thus, he began his gospel by tracing the lineage of Christ back to Abraham, a person who had found favor with God.

Ancestry does not make great men by itself any more than it makes great race horses. However, like a horse owner, if we choose the greatest lineage, we have the best chance for greatness. One has a chance of choosing his own lineage in the Christian faith. Jesus said, "Ye must be born again." When one becomes a Christian the lineage in Matthew becomes his own lineage for he is then of the birth and lineage of Christ, spiritually speaking.

CHIEF TOPIC OF CONVERSATION these days has once again centered on the integration question, a la Arkansas. Overall aspects of the situation are indeed alarming as threats of mob violence flare up in a nation where folks like to think of themselves as civilized.

Outgrowth of the Arkansas situation could become much worse than the immediate circumstances, chiefly because any precedent set in Arkansas is likely to become a pattern of action in other Southern States — and it is highly probable that many areas, already integrated and rocking along, may join the strife. All in all, the condition is possibly more explosive than that which existed back in the days when our Civil War occurred.

Secondary, even to the Negro question, emerges the age-old controversy of States Rights. Can the Supreme Court and its satellite courts go so far as to impeach the governor of Arkansas? Is the Tenth Amendment to our Constitution to become a farce? Will Arkansas — and Texas, for that matter — become a province or satrap instead of a sovereign state? These questions, to many people, are of greater consequence than whether a little Negro boy sits beside a white girl in his classes at school each day. Certainly, the answers will not carry the personal interest or the public flare of the integration question, but the form in which these answers finally appear can have a far greater effect upon our lives and the lives of our children.

NEARER HOME comes a protest from football enthusiast Clint Formby. Clint, an ardent Tech fan, along with his status as a Whiteface booster, also has an interest in the Tulsa radio station — and none of his three adopted teams have yet copped their first pigskin victory of the season. "All in all," admits Clint, "I am about ready for basketball season to get underway."

The folks at Littlefield went to work awhile back and organized an industrial foundation. Last Sunday they announced location of a $1 million culvert and pipe plant, a division of American Marietta Pipe Company. The notice said that 100 persons will be employed in the Littlefield plant by Jan. 1, 1958, and that the output of the firm will primarily serve the South Plains.

Street railings went up around the bank construction project at Main and Third this week, and things got off to a good start. If the building doesn't suit you, just blame Lee Cocanougher and Ed Skypala. Both were leaning over the rail Tuesday, doing initial sidewalk supervising.

METER MAID Larue Harris was a little bit upset when The Brand Sunday complained about folks getting tickets while they were inside stores after change. "If you could see the number of tickets each day, you wouldn't say that," asserts Mrs. Harris. Personally, I am sure that she is pretty close to being right. My personal criticism of Mrs. Harris along this line would be that of being too soft-hearted. She is so willing to cooperate that she is bound, sometimes, to show partiality to folks who come out and speak up, whereas the more meek individuals get into their cars and drive away — tickets and all.

People are just naturally unhappy when they get a parking ticket. It is human nature. However, parking meters should be enforced — or taken out. And if we didn't have meters, Main Street would become a bedlam. Meanwhile, Mrs. Harris is Hereford's first and only Meter Maid, but it is questionable if we will ever have another as polite and as efficient. She is bound to make mistakes from time to time, but surely no one can ever accuse her of being lax in covering her beat. Treating everyone the same will be her toughest job, chiefly because she leans over backward to be reasonable. Sooner or later, someone was bound to yell about unfair treatment. Anyway, we like her — and still say that no future Meter Maid will likely be as good.

FISHING SEASON is over PERIOD I learned one thing in 1957, though: "Don't ever go with a couple of experts." Next time I am going to team up with someone like Johnny Pool, Don Zimmerman, Grady Rogers, or Sam Nunnally. All I have had this week is a bunch of static from characters like F. W. Dool, Slim Wester, Otis Hall and a few other guys who always take along several cans of sardines — just in case. Moore and Reeves may be good fishermen, but they are also big talkers. I believe I'd rather eat sardines than listen to the ensuing slander.

MOST PEOPLE in this area are inclined to ignore the recent stock market breaks, chiefly because this is not a "market playing" country. However, the stock market does reflect U. S. economy rather accurately. The Wall Street Journal pointed to the Monday drop of 9.45 on Dow Jones Industrial averages as the biggest one-day crack since Oct. 10, 1955, when the market dropped 13 points following news of President Eisenhower's heart attack.

Actually, if the market keeps dropping, it is only natural that salary levels will follow the trend as industrials cut production and trim costs. It means we are not buying so many automobiles, refrigerators, and other commodities. In a lot of ways, it can be traced to lower supports on grain sorghum and other farm commodities. Another factor is the "tight money" program instituted by the Federal Reserve earlier in the year.

The market break has been quiet and without signs of panicky selling, which has the experts puzzled. Most big buyers are holding with few margin calls and very little short selling. All of which indicates that folks expect the market to dip for a while, then start back on an upward trend. On whether it does or not, depends how well we will live — even away off in Deaf Smith County.

The observers, bless their pointed pens & leads, had a completely normal weekend as far as their predilections were concerned. The wave of Mexican standoffs was enough to sear a seer's sanity in itself. However, most of the pro type guessers naively disregard all ties, which course, I'm sure, most mentors would also prefer to pursue. The wide misses, beyond the no-decisions, were: Hardin-Simmons over Tulsa; Houston calling Miami; SMU smashing Cal; Georgia Tech blanking Kentucky; North Carolina State repeating over North Carolina and VPI edging Tulane. Oddly enough, the sheet handicappers rather amazed one by rating BYU-Arizona and TCU-Kansas as even and that's exactly the way they finished. Well, mumbling won't efface the grumbling so leave us stumble at this week's hazarding, with last years game record first, if any, and then the consensus picks. It is understood, naturally, that if you expect to win you'll need to exercise your own tenets. Illinois at UCLA. dnp. UCLA. Both labeled Indians, but don't hock nuttin to bet agin the eastern type redskins. Tulsa at Arkansas. dnp. Ark. If the Tulsas regain their health in time it could be difficult. Houston at Baylor. dnp. Baylor. Whoops. Utah at Colorado. 7-21. Colorado. Even but rough. SMU at Ga. Tech. 7-9. Ga. Tech. The Wrecks featured last week a soph qb, Fred Braselton of Corpus Christi, Texas. SMU probably will want to veto that exodus after the wrastle. Vanderbilt at Georgia. 14-0. Vanderbilt. BYU at Kansas State. dnp. K. State. Oregon St. at Kansas. dnp. Ore. St. Rain would be a boon here for the Jays, likewise. Mississippi at Kentucky. 7-37. Ole Miss. U. S. RENAISSANCE

Good Design Booms

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor
Americans do too have good taste, says Tammis Keefe, textile designer whose tigers and steers are rampant on dish towels and barbecue tablecloths all over the country these days.
"I'm sick and tired of hearing people sneer at American design and American taste," says the blonde, blue-eyed Tammis, whose unusual name is Gaelic for Thomas. (Her father wanted a boy.) "Nobody can sneer at Grand Rapids any more. The best furniture in the world is being produced right in this country today."
"Good design is available on every Main Street from coast to coast. You can find it in the dime store or the supermarket. Almost anywhere you look today you can get enchanting pots, pans and dishes which stack up with comparable design anywhere in the world."
"We have wonderful textile designs, sound architecture, clean, contemporary lines in everything from automobiles to garbage cans."
"I say we are having a modern Renaissance of art and design right in the United States today."
Tammis, who hails from California, designs everything from dish towels to glassware in her airy studio in a fashionable section of New York. She made her first reputation as a textile designer, and today is branching out in all directions. Her most recent enthusiasm is for an ancient Italian mosaic work called Montici, which she plans to adapt for use as table tops and such. She also is helping to repopularize old English ironstone ware, giving it new uses. For instance, she has had great success with an old ironstone pitcher and bowl which has not varied from its original design except for the word "Martini" inscribed on the pitcher and "Ice" on the bowl. Tammis loves to dream up fantastic designs for dish towels and tablecloths. Before putting out her current series of barbecue cloths, decorated with steaks, chops and somewhat zany cattle she spent days in scientific consultation with her butcher, learning the anatomical parts of steers, and the cuts best suited for the barbecue. Tammis also designs handkerchiefs gay enough to cheer up anybody, even with a runny nose.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Awtrey Sr. returned Sunday from a visit with relatives in McKinney Shreveport, La., and Heaven, Okla. While in Heaven, they fished and reported that they caught all the fish they could eat. W. H. Awtrey Jr. and Deon Awtrey, sons of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. When you use meat as the base for a soup stock, be sure to simmer it a long time so that you extract full flavor and richness from the bones and the meat. The seasoned clear stock will make an excellent jellied soup for hot weather use if you thicken it with unflavored gelatin.

WESTWAY NEWS

Oil Well, Northern Lights Excite Talk

By MRS. T. B. THOMAS
Oil news is a new topic for the Westway residents. An oil well is being dug on the old Joe Evans place near Summerfield. On Sunday afternoon it was at 300 feet. Community residents were out in the yards Sunday night watching the Northern Lights. This is the second time recently that people living on the high plains were able to witness this mystery. Mrs. Merlin Kaul was hostess for a social on Tuesday night when a group of Hereford ladies called. Present during the evening were Mesdames Gladys Miller, Goldie Criswell, Alice Cox, Inez Welch, Mae Hare, and Bertie Lee Coconaugher. G. C. Merritt Jr. and Walter Kaul arrived home from Stillwater Thursday night. A group of Hereford teachers left Hereford on Friday morning to attend a meeting in Mineral Wells. Those going were Mrs. Leta Kaul, Mrs. Charles Bell, Mrs. O. Wintemberger and Mrs. Roy Calvert. A lot of sports enthusiasm was shown on Friday night for the boys on the Hereford Whiteface team. Those attending the game from this community were Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Merritt, Mrs. T. B. Thomas, Deidra, Don and Deborah, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Morrison, Judith, Mary Lynn, Raymond, Eugene Combs, Bill Combs, Gayle Waggoner, M. C. Kaul, and Walter Kaul. Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hill, Vicki and Carolyn of Andrews visited Mrs. Hill's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Merritt. They returned to their home on Saturday.

A NEWSPAPER WAS A RARITY IN MANY AMERICAN COMMUNITIES!

Then—a newspaper was a thing to be marveled at—for memories of the Press' fight for freedom were fresh in mind. Although newspapers are common in our country today, their existence should not be taken for granted. It is a wonderful fact that almost all of our modern communities have their own hometown newspapers, freely edited by members of their own communities—spreading the news, stimulating the business of the community, and keeping their readers informed of important events elsewhere. It is well to keep in mind that a free press and a free people are an unbeatable team.

Now Is Time To Redecorate

AP Newfeatures
Now that the children are back in school, many mothers are finding that they have time to get in a little redecorating. First chore often turns out to be the bedrooms.

WASHABLE BEDROOM—Spread and dust ruffle are striped and plain tansail, easy to make at home, a breeze to launder.

Washable bedspreads, slipcovers and drapes are a necessity, especially in homes with children and puppies. Now it's possible to make spreads and curtains of tansail, that long-wearing, gay and washable lightweight sailcloth that has been a standby in small-fry clothes and now is available in decorator widths of 48 inches.

The decorator topsail comes in patterns coordinated with solid colors. You may choose stripes, checks or plaids teamed with matching plain colors.

A fresh and pleasing combination is a pink and white striped bedspread with solid pink dust ruffle. Curtains may have plain valance and striped drapes.

Local sewing center experts suggest making a reversible bedspread, plain on one side, striped on the other, to go with a solid color dust ruffle. One full width of fabric goes down the middle of the bed, with a half-width stitched to each side to form the overhang.

Cut two complete spreads, one striped, one plain, round the corners at one end, and stitch right sides together around both sides and rounded end, leaving top open. Trim seams and turn to right side, just like a pillowcase. Press carefully to eliminate wrinkles and top-stitch open ends together.

Coordinated cafe curtains, in striped and plain topsail, make a good decorating note.

"In the red" a few years ago, Judge Henslee reported continued progress in keeping disbursements in line with receipts. He said that the deficit, whittled down to $17,624.18 by Jan. 1, 1956, and still further during that year, should show a slight balance by the end of 1958. An increase from 36 to 40 cents in the tax levy is expected to raise tax income from $4,068.21 for 1956 to $47,000 this year and $500 more next year. Fees, rentals and miscellaneous receipts add about $11,000 to the fund each year under the budget program.

THE GENERAL improvement fund, set at $9,028.56 for 1957 will be boosted to $17,975 for 1958. The increase is expected to be used primarily for repairs to the courthouse — cleanup, lighting, fixtures and other items, the judge said. He added "We never know what will happen to the plumbing in this building. We're afraid it won't last much longer."

Mrs. Bess Werner, one of nine county Home Demonstration Council members attending the hearing, made two suggestions for future budgets. These involved improvements of the hospital facility at the Labor Camp, and a program to eliminate anxious weeds — Johnson grass in particular.

T. M. (Max) Dreyer, chairman of the Deaf Smith County Tax Payers League, said he felt that improvements at the Labor Camp

Texas' natural gas provides fuel for 35 states and two foreign countries. Number of miles used on Texas farms has dropped almost 90 per cent during the past 20 years.

Texas ranks first among the states with railroad track mileage — some 21,500,000 miles.

Asian Flu...

quently complicated by bacterial infections. And, even when uncomplicated, the illness has a particularly dangerous impact on persons suffering from heart ailments or other chronic diseases.

Experience has shown that the average period of a local epidemic is about four weeks, but 80 per cent of those who become ill do so within a period of about two weeks. Frequently whole families get sick at the same time so there is no one to care for the sick, to fix meals, or look after family affairs.

THE UNUSUAL features associated with Asian influenza has pre-empted interest in events just preceding the world-wide epidemic of 1918-1919. It started in Western Europe in 1918, and by August had spread into Scandinavia and the Orient. By October most of the United States was involved.

In January and February of 1919, the epidemic intensified and mortality rates rose sharply. Before it was over it had killed more than 800,000 people in the United States alone.

Fortunately, with modern epidemiology and laboratory techniques, we are in a better position today to cope with the situation. Too, for the first time in history this nation is in the unique position of having already begun production on a vaccine before an anticipated epidemic actually struck. Six drug houses have been licensed to produce the vaccine and are working on a round-the-clock schedule. Vaccine will be released to states on the basis of population as it becomes available.

Private Ivan G. Strauss applied for a direct commission several months before he got his "greetings" to be inducted. The day he arrived at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., recently to begin his basic training, he received orders promoting him to second lieutenant.

Sale of State Poll Taxes To Open Oct. 1

By VERN SANFORD Texas Press Association

AUSTIN, — "Tickets" for Texas' 1958 political bouts go on sale next week. Poll taxes, $1.75 each, can be bought from Oct. 1 until Jan. 31.

Holder of the small white tax receipts not only can watch, but participate in the semi-annual struggle to decide who'll be "top dog" for the next two years. In the ring will be contenders for the offices now held by U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough, Gov. Price Daniel, Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey, and so on down the line. "Ticket" holders also can attend their Democratic Party precinct conventions next May, where the first round of a fight for party control will be staged.

Assuming you have $1.75, paying a poll tax shouldn't be hard. Dozens of groups — Jaycees, labor unions, Women Voters, etc. — plan massive drives. Most voters probably will be able to find a poll tax selling booth within blocks.

Exact number of potential voters is not known, of course. But some civic leaders hope as many as three million persons will pay poll taxes. Previous record is 2,410,188 for 1956, a presidential election year.

Another peak is expected in 1960 when census projections show more than 5 1/2 million should be eligible to vote in Texas.

OIL QUOTAS SAG — Lean days are ahead for Texas' top industry — oil.

After three months on an all-time low producing pattern of 13 days, the Railroad Commission cut the October production to 12 days. Daily allowable will be 2,264,062 barrels.

Major oil buyers at the Commission hearing indicated that any more production would result in an oversupply. For a state heavily dependent on oil tax revenue and already faced with fiscal problems, the oil cut means tough times for the state budgeters.

MORE TAXES, SAYS BOARD — Even before the oil slash, the Legislative Budget Board had some hard facts to share with Texas taxpayers.

By 1958, says the Board the average Texan will pay 6.4 cents of each dollar he earns, in state taxes. This is compared to 5.3 cents per dollar in '57.

It's the inevitable result of a billion-dollar-a-year budget, say the fiscal experts. They attribute the soaring expenses to inflation and citizen demand for more government services.

As to paying for it, the Board says "All taxes ultimately come from the individual. There's no one else to pay them."

On the brighter side, State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert reported the state started the new fiscal year this fall in the black. Calvert's report showed Texas took an approximately $100,000,000 more than it spent up to Aug. 31.

"BUG" ON THE LOOSE — In schools, colleges, offices — even jails — over Texas, thousands of people are abed.

Nearly 3,000 cases, with flu-like symptoms, have been reported to the State Health Department. Finding out whether it's Asian flu requires special tests. Health Department offices are swamped with specimens and requests for tests.

Whatever the disease, it meant that football games and other school activities had to be called off in a number of areas.

So far, only a dribble of Asian flu vaccine has come to Texas. Dr. Henry Holle, Health Commissioner urges these precautions for the general public:

- 1. Stay away from crowds. 2. Drink plenty of liquids — water and fruit juices. 3. Go to bed at the first sign of symptoms. (Symptoms are fever, chills, headache, sore throat and aching back and limbs.)

DEMOS HAVE CHOICE — In some areas people contributing to the Oct. 11-12 Dollars for Democrats drive can choose where they want their money to go.

One set of fund-seekers will be working at the behest of the official Texas organization, the State Democratic Executive Committee. In accordance with a formula set up by national officials, they will keep two-thirds of what they collect for Texas work, send one-third to national headquarters.

Workers for the liberal-minded Democrats of Texas, at odds with official party leaders, say they'll turn to money over to the state office. All DOT collections are to go to national.

Concert Series a Good Program

By ARGEN DRAPER

The meeting Friday of the County Federation was well attended and the program was given by a string quartet of the Amarillo Symphony. Those of you who missed it certainly missed a treat. A. Clyde Roller and Eddie Melin talked about the musical programs which are being sponsored in Hereford.

Having these programs this winter seems to me like an opportunity for us to get good entertainment at a reasonable price. The way I understand it there will be four programs. One program of the Amarillo Symphony and the high school choir here, the high school band and the privilege of attending one symphony program in Amarillo. If enough tickets are sold, a fifth program will be presented in Hereford.

Eddie Melin commented that the Concert Association is non profit financially but very profitable to the enjoyment of the community and young people. Mr. Melin also commented that symphony programs are not just for city people

REP. ROGERS WRITES:

TV Medium Should Be Kept Free

To the people of the 18th District: In a little more than 10 short years, the television industry has become one of the giants of our economic structure. Forty million families have spent more than 17 million dollars on receivers at which they look an average of more than five hours a day. This means more time is spent watching television than in any other single activity except working and sleeping.

There are some places still isolated from television, but these are few and far between. It is estimated that more than 150 million people in this country are within range of at least one of the 479 existing stations. More than 120 million people have a choice of four or more channels. Nothing in the history of the world has paralleled television as a medium of information, education and entertainment.

The influence this medium can have on the lives of people it reaches is inconceivable. It is only 10 years old now, which means that it is a baby, relatively speaking, in the industrial world. Its future growth and development will provide many surprises for all of us.

It is well to point out that the industry has grown to its tremendous proportions by its ability to contribute to the welfare of the people in their daily pursuits, under the great American system of private enterprise. It is subject to government regulation, but this regulation is kept at a minimum and is employed primarily in policing the operation of the industry to the desires and needs of the American people.

Let us hope the television industry will be operated with full appreciation of its obligations and responsibilities to the people entitled to be served, and that abuses will not be of such nature as to necessitate more rigid controls. The impact this medium has on the lives of the American people in the advertising and entertainment fields provides ample evidence that a proper portion of television time and wave lengths should be devoted to educational purposes.

This is a business that falls within the category of public service under the American system, and unless proper respect is shown for the responsibilities to the public, demands for government control can be expected. Let us all hope this medium can be kept free.

BUDGET CUTS AND DEFENSE There has been considerable misinformation regarding the relationship between the budget cuts in the past session of Congress and the defense program. It would appear from some of the announcements by the military that the reduction of personnel and the cut-back of some programs are chargeable directly to the budget cuts by Congress. However, the true facts do not bear out such representations. The truth is that Congress has not fixed an annual expenditure figure for the Defense Department. This figure is fixed by the President, the Bureau of the Budget and the Defense Department. Congress approves programs and provides the funds to finance them. The completion of a program may require several years, due to the complexities of

A number of people are selling tickets in town, so get your ticket early so the members of the association can make final plans for the concert series.

I have heard a lot of favorable comments of the marching of the school bands. Congratulations to Charles Bell and the band members.

Dollar Day Is Essential

By SANDRA GLENN

After pondering with idea that maybe Dollar Day sales really made a difference, we interviewed some of the clerks and merchants in the Hereford stores.

The idea came to us quite by accident. Monday, Sept. 23, was a beautiful morning, except for the chilling breeze which had blown up from the North. The stores' downtown slowly began to open, one by one, and each merchant swept the dust from the front of his store.

No customers paced the streets for 8 a.m. was much too early to leave the comfort of their homes. Mary and Pick Harman arrived at the store a few minutes after 8 a.m. to unlock their doors and with them were two of their clerks, Wilmer Studer and Max Winkler. A few minutes later Irving Alexander came out of the Popular Store and headed for the post office on the daily routine of picking up the mail.

By this time the stores were open and ready for business. Still the streets remained undisturbed.

However, three weeks ago on a Tuesday morning after Labor Day the merchants had little time to cover this daily routine. On that day the parking spaces along Main were filled almost to the brim by 8:30 and people were flocking in the local stores.

One of the clerks we interviewed was Lupe Cerda at C. R. Anthony & Co. Her only comment was, "Oh, yes there's a difference. People come in early to look at our bargains and we stay busy all of the day." Francis Thomas at Harman's agreed with Lupe and she added, "We sell twice as much on dollar day as on a regular day."

Gaston Bear, proprietor of the Popular Store, says that Dollar Day does bring in more people. He also commented, "I like Dollar Day because it stimulates more business and the bargains help to bring people into the store."

It seems that everyone agreed Dollar Day was essential.

Buff Coach Warns Fans of Over-Enthusiasm for Team

CANYON. (Special) — After West Texas State's decisive 19-0 win over Texas Tech of the South-west Conference Saturday, Coach Frank Kimbrough warned Buff fans "not to let your enthusiasm run away with you."

"We will face a tougher team this week when we play Texas Western in El Paso," cautioned the barrel-chested Buff coach. "Western has returning the same backfield that won the Border Conference title last year and they could easily be the strongest team on our schedule."

Not forgetting the Miners' last-second 16-13 win over West Texas at Homecoming in '56, Kimbrough points to Western's fast-striking backs and contends they can score on you any time from any place on the field.

"THE MINERS proved that in their 14-13 win over North Texas Saturday," recalled Kimbrough. "Beaten in several statistical departments, they still won the game on a long pass and an intercepted pass by their great halfback, Don Maynard."

While registering their second straight win, the Buffs completely dominated the Texas Tech game and make it two years in a row over the Red Raiders. Flashing a good passing attack, the Buffs scored twice on passes by halfback Ron Mills and Bob Wheeler-plunged a yard for the other touchdowns. West Texas led in first downs, 19-10, and allowed Tech to get no closer than the Buff 45-yard line until the third unit entered the game in closing minutes.

It was an extremely rough game with West Texas being penalized 25 yards and Tech 110. A player from each team was ejected for fighting.

Despite the roughness, West Texas came out of the game with nothing more than a few bruises and will be at top strength for the defending Border champions. The Buffs have not defeated Texas Western since 1950 when West Texas won the conference title.

A 40-man travelling squad will leave for El Paso Friday morning and arrive in time for a workout at Kidd Field that afternoon.

modern aircraft and war machinery.

Last year defense spending amounted to 38.4 billion dollars. During the latter part of the year, defense spending was at a rate of 40.2 billion dollars annually, although previous estimates of the Department of Defense and the Budget Bureau had been that such spending would be 36 billion dollars for last year. The important thing is, the Defense Department had available to it for expenditure last year the sum of 74.7 billion dollars.

This amount was made up of two parts, one being the 36.2 billion dollars which was appropriated by Congress last year, and the other part being 38.5 billion representing funds carried over from appropriations of previous years; that is, funds for such things as ships, aircraft, ballistic missiles and other long-term items.

This year there is a total availability of 76.8 billion for the Defense Department. Out of this amount the Defense Department expects to spend 38 billion. The Congress this year appropriated 35.9 billion in new appropriations for the Defense Department. This amount, added to the carry-over from previous appropriations, makes up the 76.8 billion available for expenditure.

Therefore, ample funds are available to the Defense Department to finance a defense program this year of 42 billion or such other amount as it might desire; however, it was obviously the opinion of the Administration and the Defense Department that vast sums should be held in reserve so that defense spending for the year could be held at 38 billions of dollars.

These facts are pointed out not for the purpose of criticizing anyone or any group, but for the purpose of showing as briefly as possible that ample funds are available to the Defense Department to properly maintain the defenses of this country and to allay the fears of many who have concluded that the recent cuts by Congress might materially affect our defenses.

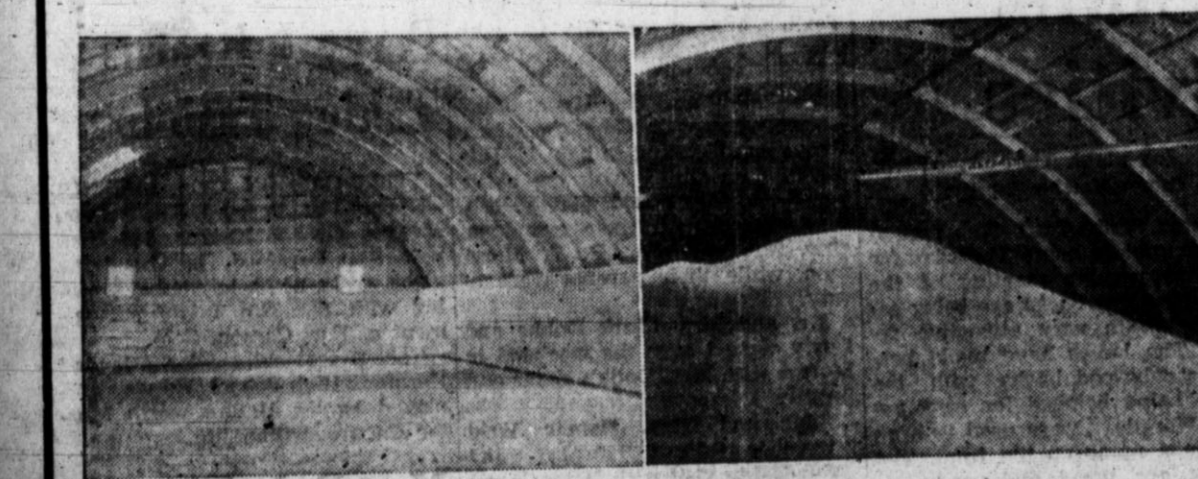

These figures were put together by the Hon. George Mahon, the very able Member of Congress from the Lubbock district. He is Chairman of the Appropriations Subcommittee having jurisdiction over military expenditures.

Paris Booms Small Hats

PUSSY-WILLOW BONNET—Achille of Paris makes free-form helmet in silky gray pussy-willow buds, part of "Shooting Star" group.

PIXIE CAP—Typical of the new small, head-hugging Paris hats is this pointed cap in dark green and white printed jersey, velvet trim.

CHINCHILLA ELEGANCE—Paris hatter Orceel shapes priceless chinchilla like a page-boy hair-do, over gold cap centered with diamond.

By NADEANE WALKER
PARIS — So you don't wear a hat?
 Paris hatters are out to change that.

This season they have come up with something to please every woman. The big hats frankly never caught on madly, so without making a hullaballoo about it, the milliners have brought back the small hat.

You can have it squatting on the eyebrows or shooting up backwards like an Egyptian bonnet, pixie pointed or slouching over one ear in the form of a beret.

Please, ma'am, take your choice — just so you wear a hat.

By bringing out hats in printed jerseys and brilliant hues — beetle's-wing blue, vivid green, coral and rose-red — hatters are fearlessly predicting a dark season in dresses and coats. Do they know what they're doing?

Says Achille, boldest of Paris hatters:

"I don't know a thing, except that the customers tell me they want hats to flatter them, to make them look younger instead of older."

SO ACHILLE, who is obliging enough to bring out his own models for fashion writers who call after hours, has brought out a "Shooting Star" collection, with star-fish and star shapes. He sold some of them to American buyers even before his official opening.

Trust Achille for one utter folly. He is the hatter who made a hat of spaghetti, and another of orange peel.

This time it's a pussy-willow bonnet with a star-fish curl. It shed a bit of pollen on his nose when he tried it on, but he brushed it off and said rather sadly:

"It was all in velvety bud when I picked it."

Pussy-willow bonnets aside, other Paris hatters agree that the new hats ought to please. They're designed to fold in four and be stuck in a pocket, to be pushed forward or back, up or down.

Principal materials are soft velvet felts, plain or printed jerseys, fluffy feathers and furs.

Madame Claude Saint-Cyr, who makes millinery for the Queen of England, goes in for soft draped shapes that can be folded up, as well as profiled-backwards bonnets that recall Queen Nefertite. Sloppy berets slouch low on the neck. They come in flowered jersey for daytime and in jeweled tulle with fantails down the back for bare-backed evening wear. Detachable veils are colored like madame's mascara.

ALBOUY FAVORS high-crowned, crushed-looking models with a flatterer's peak over the eyes. Spider-web veiling is frizzled out in a wispy fringe all around. There are pixie-peaked caps and draped turbans, floppy-brimmed models with brim and crown in contrasting colors and materials.

Heim-Svend call some of their creations "monkey caps." They vary them with snail-curl toques, backward-soaring bonnets and evening hats like oversized mink buttons or cut-out velvet whirrigies. All Svend's hats have bird names. Brimmed models turn sharply back in front, and some are made of draped kidskin.

"Troika toques" contribute to the Russian look of Gilbert Orceel's furry and feathery collection. A chinchilla and gold velvet turban is centered with a 35-carat-canary diamond on a golden wing. There's a sheep dog look about a sand-colored model in shaggy, uncurled ostrich-plumes.

Alexandre, who creates coiffures for evening and special occasions, has also gone in for swans-down and ostrich feathers, intertwined in pinned-on chignons and decorated with diamond jewels.

YOUNG DR. BARNES CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. — Say, who was baby sitting for who?

Mrs. Rose Lambright fainted while caring for her grandson, Arthur Barnes, 2½.

When she revived, Arthur was patting her neck and wrists with alcohol. Then he toddled off and returned with aspirin and a glass of water, she said.

Throw Away All Your Old Shoes

NEW LOOK GOES TO THE FEET—Mr. Stanley, shoe designer, holds an alligator pump with new pointed toe, needle heel. Center are two styles in satin evening shoes, one with Rhinestone-trimmed heel, one with jeweled ornament on vamp. Right, a pair of evening pumps in gold lame with closed, pointed toe, rapier heel, bow trim.

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

American women are going to have a sock this fall, when they start checking their shoe closets and getting out last year's shoes. "They're going to find all their old shoes look out of date," says Stanley Phillipson, a pink-cheeked, beaming shoe designer and manufacturer known to shoe buyers throughout the country as Mr. Stanley. "This year has seen the first major change in shoe design in 30 years. The pointed toe and needle-thin heel are here to stay for a while, since practically every shoe manufacturer in the country has had to retool in order to make them. With all that investment in new lasts and machinery, you can be sure they're not going to change back to round toes and open effects next season." Mr. Stanley is the third generation of his family in the shoe business, but this year he added a factory in Italy to the ancestral plant in Brooklyn. "I had to have the new closed, pointed toe styles made in Italy until I could get tooled up here," he says. "This is one time that Italian designers called the turn on a radical new fashion, and the whole world has followed their lead." Mr. Stanley is known for high-style, dressy feminine shoes, especially for late day and evening wear. Up to this year he made nothing but open-toed shoes. When the new closed-toe Italian style swept the country, he faced radical retooling problems as well as a designing challenge. Could he make closed pumps as fragile-looking and delicate as the open styles on which he had won fame? The answer is in his new collection. Toes are closed and pointed, heels are rapier-like and materials range from glove-soft leather to shining satins and lames. This designer also has solved the problem of the new "skinny" heels, which had many women tearing their hair earlier in the year because of their high mortality rate. The high, thin heels were prone to break and shoe repair shops often split them when trying to put on new lifts.

Mr. Stanley's shoes now have heels made of aluminum covered in the shoe fabric, and the leather lifts screw on. The customer may lay in a supply of extra lifts, complete with screw holes, and have her repair man put them on when the originals wear out. "You have to be an engineer as well as a designer to get perfect balance and support with these new shoe styles," says Mr. Stanley. "But women's beautiful feet are worth all the trouble."

How Can I?

By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I remove white marks from furniture?

A. Spread a thick coating of petroleum jelly over the white spots. Allow to remain on the spot for 48 hours or more. Wipe off the jelly and the white spots will have disappeared if they are only on the surface.

Q. How can I remedy a dry skin?

A. Cleanse the face night and morning with a good cold cream instead of using soap and water. This will keep the skin soft, and no trouble will be experienced in making the powder adhere to the face.

Q. How can I remove indelible pencil stains from fabrics?

A. Soak the fabric in denatured alcohol and then launder.

Q. How can I make gloves look like new after washing them?

A. When laundering gloves, wash them in warm soap water and rinse in tepid soapsuds, adding to the last rinsing water one tablespoon of glycerine. This method will make the gloves look like new.

Q. How can I keep brown sugar from lumping?

A. Keep the brown sugar in an open jar in the refrigerator and it will become and remain soft and free from lumps.

Q. How can I get rid of crickets?

A. Put cucumber peeling cut into thin strips, on the floor at night near their haunts.

Q. How can I keep the hands soft?

A. The hands will be softened and whitened if washed every night in cornmeal, moistened with vinegar. Another treatment that is often effective is to rub the hands with buttermilk.

Q. How can I clean gift frames?

A. Gift frames can be cleaned by dipping a soft cloth in milk and rubbing it gently over the soiled spots. Repeat several times, if necessary.

Q. How can I keep cheese fresh?

A. When one wishes to keep cheese fresh for a long time, cover it with a thin coating of paraffin. Before serving, remove the paraffin.

Q. How can I keep cork floors clean?

A. By sweeping with an ordinary broom or floor brush, then putting a small amount of neutral soap in a basin of warm water and washing the floor. Stains can often be removed by rubbing lightly with a fine grade of sandpaper or steel wool.

Q. How can I make a home remedy for a sick headache?

A. Try cracking the juice of half of a lemon into a cup of black coffee, without sugar or milk.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

THIS MODERN RANCH neatly combines luxury with economy. Among its novel features are a bay design in the front of the sleeping wing which creates alcoves in two bedrooms, a study shielded from the living room by the fireplace, and space off the kitchen which can either be a recreation room or bedroom. The plan covers 1,697 square feet, excluding garage and porches. It is HF35AP9607 by Architect Peter S. Hopf, 118-20 Queens Blvd., Forest Hills 75, New York.

DELINQUENT BORROWER — BANGOR, Maine (M) — For 11,009 days "Walter of Tiverton," a novel of knighthood, had been missing from the Bangor Public Library. The Hallmark of Circulation Value

In the same way that STERLING on silver signifies a standard of known value, so is the A.B.C. emblem a symbol of integrity for the circulation of newspapers and periodicals. It means that circulation so identified is measured according to the rules and standards of the AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS.

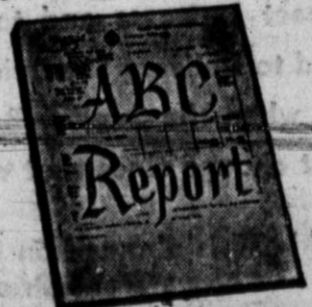

The A.B.C. is a cooperative and non-profit association of 3,450 publishers, advertisers and advertising agencies. Organized in 1914, these buyers and sellers of advertising brought order out of advertising chaos by setting up standards for paid circulation and establishing rules and methods for measuring, auditing and reporting circulations.

Therefore, the work of the A.B.C., of which this newspaper is proud to be a member, provides you with a direct and valuable service. You can buy advertising as you would make any other sound business investment — on the basis of well known standards, known values.

At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors makes a thorough audit of our circulation records. The results of this exacting audit show: How much circulation we have; where our circulation goes; how it was obtained; and many other facts that you need in order to know just what you get for your advertising dollars. This audited information is published by the Bureau in easy-to-read A.B.C. reports which are available to our advertisers on request. Ask for a copy of our latest A.B.C. report.

Mrs. Sam Gilbreath Speaker for Garden Beautiful Club

Mrs. Sam Gilbreath, past president of the Dimmitt Garden Club, was guest speaker at the Garden Beautiful Club regular session held Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Ray Cowser. Mrs. E. W. Harrison and Mrs. G. W. Edwards were assisting hostesses. Floral arrangement for the day was made by Mrs. Harrison who used deep pink dahlias and asters in a dark green container. Roll call given by the entire membership had to do with individual topics previously assigned by the yearbook committee.

Mrs. Gilbreath's subject was "Day Lilies For Every Garden." She gave an interesting account of the origin of day lilies, how to prepare the soil, how to plant and care for, and told something of the variety of colors that may be had. She concluded with a discussion of arrangements of day lilies for different occasions.

During the business session plans for the annual tour of homes scheduled for Oct. 18, were discussed and it was announced that the flower show committee will conduct a yard pilgrimage at the next meeting on Oct. 4.

Reports from the tour of homes committee and from the flower show committee (a flower show will be held in connection with the tour of homes) were heard.

Those in attendance were Mesdames Howard Armstrong, Tom Carter, Townsend Douglas, S. L. Easley, G. W. Edwards, E. W. Harrison, Charles Hood, V. O. Hennen, L. H. Lookingbill Sr., F. P. Lyons, Ansel McDowell, G. P. Owen, J. B. Pool, Lloyd Pool, B. E. Roberson, D. B. CHESTER, Va. — The Rev. Roy Everett Jr. heard a commotion outside the basement door of Providence Methodist Church. He opened it and in dashed a red fox, who was trapped by closing the doors to a hall.

Pastor - Playwright Recommends Laughter as Cold War Remedy

By SEYMOUR TOPPING

BERLIN. — Guenther Rutenborn, the pastor-playwright who preaches in Communist East Germany, says the theater should help end the Cold War by making people laugh.

This is what the pastor tries to do in his latest play "The Potsdam Treaty," which follows his "The Sign of Jonah," which received excellent notices recently in New York.

Rutenborn says Christians and Communists will find it easier to live together if they can "laugh at the problem of our time."

"And through the medium of the theater I want to teach people how to laugh."

Coming from a man who for 12 years has preached the Evangelical (Lutheran) faith under the hostile eyes of the Communists, the laughter formula for getting along with the Reds can't be dismissed lightly.

RUTENBORN, 45, the first of Germany's postwar dramatists to win critical acclaim in New York, is a tall, spare balding man with merry blue eyes behind thick horned-rim glasses.

Under Communist rule Potsdam remains a "bomb-shattered town" suffering the regimentation and economic pinch common to East Germany. This is the setting for Rutenborn's "grin and bear it" comedy "The Potsdam Treaty."

To be interviewed the pastor walked over the bridge from Potsdam to meet the writer in free West Berlin.

"I always tell my congregation," said the pastor: "Don't forget the sun is shining, even in Potsdam. That is the primary fact. 'The other facts include Communist officials. But we have had to learn how to live with them, to invite them to have a drink or tea with cake."

"The world of the 20th Century is divided between communism and democracy and we cannot destroy their world."

"In Potsdam we have not been able to work with the Communist officials — Christian and confess our opinions."

"THEREFORE the theme of my comedy is the wisdom of living together."

"The Potsdam Treaty" takes place in a house divided into two apartments, one of a Christian family and the other belonging to the family of a Communist official. They share a common kitchen and bathroom.

The Christians fear the future. But the wife of the Communist official — "wives are so much wiser than husbands" — teaches her spouse that while at home he must behave like a Christian.

Peace then reigns in the house and Rutenborn explains that the two families have accepted the lesson of the Bible which teaches that "in the olden days men of faith lived beside men without faith."

Rutenborn's one-act play "The Sign of Jonah" is to be televised in the United States this fall. The play was first shown in America

CHEYENNE, Okla. — City officials here are clamping down on persons who fail to pay their water bills on time.

TORRINGTON, Wyo. — Periodic tests are held by Torrington city officials on gas driven engines for standby generators which are used to pump the local water supply in case of power failure.

The pastor likes to quote one distinguished New York drama critic who said of the play: "In one hour is concentrated the tragedy of human life."

Rutenborn said: "You know when you write a play, you don't always know what you are writing. But when I read what this man wrote about 'The Sign of Jonah,' I said to my wife, he is right. That is what I meant."

"THE SIGN OF JONAH" is a morality play. It deals with war guilt and responsibility for the Nazi

'How To Plant Iris' Topic for Bud To Blossom Club

"How To Plant Iris" was the subject for the Bud To Blossom Club program when a meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Sam Long Friday afternoon. The arrangement for the day of rose and white dahlias, was made by Mrs. Sam Long.

Mrs. Delmo Williams spoke on "Perennial Transplanting—Time" and told how to cut back the plant to seven inches when the foliage is dead. She also told when and how to divide the plant when the tubers have multiplied to five or six.

Mrs. Don Martin gave a back yard demonstration in the Long garden of planting iris, demonstrating the use of bone meal and barnyard fertilizer and placing the plant itself two inches below the surface of the soil. She recommended planting where the plant will get seven hours of sunshine per day and suggested watering sparingly. Iris bulbs from Mrs. A. O. Thompson's garden were distributed for members to plant in their own gardens.

Members present were Mesdames Glyn Bilbrey, R. A. Daniel, Preston Hagans, C. R. Higgins, E. R. Kendall, Don Martin, J. F. Martin, W. H. Patton, Pat Robinson, Ira Scott, Lloyd Sharp, Clinton West, Jimmy White, Delmo Williams, W. Glenn Williams, Jim Wood, R. N. Yarbrow, H. A. Hasehoff and the hostess.

Farmers, Merchants! EVERYONE

INTERESTED IN THE ECONOMY OF

Deaf Smith County

Attend the Mass Farm Meeting

2:00 P.M. - District Courtroom, Hereford - Friday, SEPTEMBER 27

The PROBLEMS:

No more price supports on Sorghums after this year. Secretary of Agriculture Benson is requesting an end to fixed price supports on wheat, cotton, corn and peanuts.

We have all talked about these problems day after day. The time has come for action and you should attend this meeting for your own good and the economy of Deaf Smith County.

Bill Nelson

Executive Vice President of the National Grain Sorghum Producers Association, who has offices in Amarillo, will be here Friday to meet with the Deaf Smith County group.

THE AMERICAN FARMER, like the rest of the various segments of our economy, can only prosper when his business is expanding and he is getting a fair return for his labor and capital outlay.

The Grain Sorghum Producers Association does not like government controls and support program any more than anybody else but with the rest of the American Economy continually inflated by Defense and Foreign Aid Programs, the cost-price squeeze is fast reaching the breaking point for the farmer.

Band Chooses Merit System

A new system has been started in the Whiteface Band. The purpose is to get more spirit into the band thus making it a lot better, according to Bandmaster Charles Bell.

"We hope this works for a lot of effort has gone in to it. The grading will be a lot easier and more fair by this system," he said.

The band has elected a council which consists of the officers and representatives. Members are Ella Marie Williams, David Larsen, Twyla Springer, Eddie May, Sue Sowell, Zell Crump, and Joan Brown.

STOP YOUR CAR AS BUS STOPS

Texas drivers, do you know the state laws concerning school buses?

The state law reads that cars should come to a complete stop behind a bus, when the bus is stopped, and then proceed at a speed not to exceed ten miles per hour. The bus drivers have observed that most out-of-state cars obey this law better than Texas drivers.

In the Hereford Transportation System on Sept. 12, we had a near accident caused by violation of this law. Please be cautious!

Ceramic tile is coming out of the bathroom. It's been a fixture there for years, as flooring and wall material. Now it's spreading throughout the house — in living and dining rooms, basements, terraces, foyers and on walls and fireplaces.

'Tile has been employed for 7,000 years as a building material but its uses have been somewhat limited. Today it seems to be undergoing a renaissance.

Why? Its increasing range of colors and textures, as well as simpler methods of installation, are credited for its new popularity.

A FIRED, clay product, ceramic tile has two qualities which give it merit as a surfacing material: it requires little care and it has esthetic appeal. It's waterproof, colorfast, easily cleaned and durable, and it requires no waxing, polishing, painting or other redecorating.

Tile products come in a wide range of colors, sizes, shapes and textures.

Although its use in dwellings dates back many centuries, not too many do-it-yourself homeowners have been willing to take on the job of installing tile with mortar. It can be a messy job, and one best left for the professional.

The popularity of tile with the average man about the house has been enhanced, however, by an adhesive method of installation. In new construction, the adhesive technique for tile is particularly suited to dry-wall construction. In remodeling, it permits the installation of tile over most existing surfaces in proper condition. The remodeling chore thus becomes less painstaking.

Today's architects, builders and interior designers are making wider use, too, of ceramic tile because of its utility and beauty. One architect, for example, transformed an otherwise uninteresting open brick wall into a conversation piece by mounting on it an intricate and colorful design of tiles. The brick wall thus served as a textured background for a smooth-surfaced painting in tiles.

TILE ALSO is finding use as surface decoration for planters and room dividers. Planters and room dividers, of course, are being utilized to achieve the so-called "open-plan" and "partitionless definition" of various areas of the home.

Un glazed tile provides a safe and comfortable walking surface. Some homeowners even have made use of glazed tile as a flooring surface, but it's more expensive. It's more easily chipped than unglazed tile and its glassy-smooth surface presents some hazards.

In the modern kitchen, tile goes on surfaces in need of a sanitary, easily cleaned finish. A tiled panel surrounding the range, for example, eliminates the need to redecorate that often-spilled space.

Cooking fats and steam stains will not affect the tile. A cloth, dampened in a detergent solution, will restore its brightness. Tile is being used for kitchen drain-boards, counters and splashbacks. IN CHILDREN'S rooms tile can serve a useful purpose because its surface is sanitary and the smudges left by small hands can be easily removed. Tile on toy shelves and on windowsills in the children's rooms make paint or varnish jobs unnecessary.

Tiled fireplaces are becoming popular again, too; and in recreation rooms the functional qualities of this material make it highly suitable. Recreation rooms get rough treatment, and tile is tough. There are three main types of ceramic tile: glazed wall tile, ceramic mosaic and quarry tile.

Glazed wall tile is made from a pre-fired "bisquit" of white clay to which ceramic color glazes are applied and re-fired in kilns. Under the high temperature of the kilns, the color glazes are fused into the white tiles.

Ceramic mosaics generally are unglazed, porcelain or natural clay tiles with color penetrating throughout. They are made in small shapes, usually squares and rectangles, and now come factory-painted on paper sheets for easy application. Ceramic mosaics are most popular for floors and as coverings for the tops of tables and counters.

Quarry tile often has been called "red tile." Much of it is red but improved manufacturing methods have introduced other colors to this type of tile.

Today's homeowner can buy cerabsolutely correct. The "home" was a robin's nest in a neon sign outside a tavern, from which a patron turned in the alarm when a short circuit gave off sparks.

OLDEST MAGNOLIA
PASCAGOULA, Miss. (AP) — The United States' largest magnolia tree stands beside a marsh off the Escatawpa River just north of Pascagoula.

Authority for the claim is the American Forestry Assn. The tree is 51 feet tall, has a crown spread of more than 90 feet and the trunk is 12½ feet around at its largest point. Paul M. Myers, owner of the tree, counted 9,000 blossoms on it one year.

No one knows exactly how old it is but one 90-year-old Pascagoula resident remembers the tree "being just about like it is now" when she was a little girl.

EARTH CLEARING MACHINE DEMONSTRATED
—A giant earth clearing machine whose developers say is capable of clearing jungles by yanking out trees by their roots and smashing them into splinters, is shown during a demonstration at Longview. Built by R. G. LeTourneau, Inc., and labeled the "Tree Crusher" the machine can cut a path 20 feet wide and clear an acre of land every 15 minutes. The machine is expected to be of great value in areas such as Africa or South America. (AP Photo)

Sauerbraten Is Zesty Meat Dish

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

COOKS OF GERMAN BACKGROUND long ago introduced Americans to the delicious and hearty meat dish called Sauerbraten — beef marinated in spiced vinegar, then cooked on top of the range and served with gingersnap-flavored gravy. Now this cosmopolitan version of pot roast is often sought after here.

Although Sauerbraten is usually accompanied by potato pancakes, you might like to save yourself the chore of preparing them and serve egg noodles instead. Noodles are so much a part of the German cuisine that you needn't feel you are going too far afield in offering them.

When we served Sauerbraten, made from the following recipe, to some old devotees of this dish they gave it high praise. You'll have to begin your marinating preparations a couple of days before you cook the meat, so plan accordingly.

SAUERBRATEN WITH NOODLES

Ingredients: 2 cups cider vinegar, 1 cup water, 3 medium-sized onions (thinly sliced), 2 tablespoons sugar, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1/2 teaspoon whole cloves, 4 bay leaves, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 1/2 teaspoons dry mustard, 4 pounds boneless beef rump, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1/4 cup salad oil, 1/3 cup finely crushed gingersnap crumbs.

Method: Mix together well the vinegar, water, sliced onions, sugar, peppercorns, whole cloves, bay leaves, 2 teaspoons salt and mustard. Pour over meat in a non-metallic container; cover. Chill for 2 days, turning meat each day. Drain meat and wipe dry; strain marinade mixture and reserve. Mix together the 1 table-spoon flour, 1 teaspoon salt and 1/2 teaspoon pepper; rub this mixture into the meat. Heat oil in a kettle; add meat and brown on all sides. Add 1/4 cup of the marinade mixture. Cover and cook over low heat 3 1/2 to 4 hours or until meat is tender when center is pierced with a long fork; turn meat occasionally as it cooks. Remove marinade; add gingersnap crumbs and marinade mixture (to taste) to drippings in kettle. Cook and stir constantly until blended; strain. Because the amount of meat drippings will vary, you may have to correct this gravy by adding water or stock, more gingersnap crumbs or marinade mixture, or by thickening it with a little flour. Slice meat thin and reheat it in the gravy. Makes 8 servings. The first few slices of beef on either side will be less firm than the remaining slices.

Note: You'll need 8 or 9 gingersnaps that are 1 1/2 inches wide to make 1/3 cup fine crumbs. Noodles: Use 1 pound (about 8 cups) medium egg noodles and add gradually to 4 to 6 quarts of boiling water and 2 tablespoons of salt, so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Serve noodles with Sauerbraten.

It did, but not the way they figured.

The fox dashed across a highway and was struck and killed by an auto. As the hunters watched from a distance, the driver got out, tossed the fox into the trunk and drove off — possibly headed for the court house to collect a $5 bounty.

AGED APPLICANT

HARLAN, Ky. — The circuit clerk looked twice at the driver's license that Bert Wilson wanted renewed.

The license listed Wilson's birth as 1863. "I don't drive too much anymore," explained the 94-year-old motorist. "But when I do, I usually have somebody with me." He got his license.

END OF THE HUNT

MEQUON, Wis. — The hunters rode in hot pursuit, but they didn't get the fox.

A group of Ozaukee County hunters and their hounds had chased a red fox through swamps, up hill and down and after hours of the pursuit figured the hunt must end.

G. A. F. Parker has been designated by William C. Hawk, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to serve as Governor for R-S. Sterling's representative in the preparation and submission of Deaf Smith County's application for funds out of the $300,000,000 provided by the Federal Emergency Relief and Construction Act of 1932.

The efforts of Governor Sterling to prevent the printing of Mrs. Miriam Ferguson's name as Democratic nominee goes into a new endeavor this week with the announcement of Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum, secretary of state, that under the election laws she cannot certify Mrs. Ferguson as nominee as long as there is litigation relative to who is the party's selection, and Governor Sterling's suit, now in progress, left the question in doubt. To offset this, Attorney General James V. Alfred has now served notice to Mrs. McCallum to go ahead and certify Mrs. Ferguson's nomination for printing on the ballot, as the election was not intended to deal with such a situation as is now before the state.

Beauty at Home

By Lynn Carter

Q. I have a rather large head and very narrow shoulders. Can I disguise these features by wearing short, full, and fluffy hairdo?
A. Decidedly not. This would make you look more top-heavy than ever and emphasize the narrowness of your shoulders. You must dress your hair smoothly, and usually a diagonal part on the side provides a needed illusion of face length. Since, nine times out of ten, the neck is short, the hair should be kept off the nape of the neck by a high effect or similar treatment. It should not be allowed to show behind and below the ears from a front view.
Q. Please suggest a good treatment for dry and callused feet.
A. Nightly massages with olive oil. Leave some oil on overnight, wearing some short hose to bed to protect your liners, and in the morning, after a warm foot bath, rub the feet lightly with some pumice.

Q. How can I remove some carbon paper stains from my clothing?
A. Launder washables in a heavy suds of soap and water. Sponge non-washables with a liquid of one cup alcohol and two cups of water; then sponge with cold water.

Q. How should I apply my cake makeup?
A. Use a very wet sponge or cotton pad, and leave only a thin film over your laugh wrinkles, but a thicker coating over any blemish or eye circles. After covering face and throat, blot away excess moisture with face tissues, wait a few minutes, then press on your face powder — of the same shade as the cake makeup.

Q. What exercise will encourage a firmer, lovelier bustline?
A. Sit cross-legged on floor, slumped forward a bit, with arms crossed so that right hand rests near left knee, left hand near right knee. Now swing arms up swiftly and out as far as you can. In this wide spread, the hands should

Q. How can I encourage the growth and thickness of my eyelashes?
A. Dip a soft brush into lanolin or baby oil containing lanolin, and apply this lightly to the lashes every night before retiring.

Q. How do I go about giving myself a peroxide rinse?
A. This is used for a highlighting or brightening effect. Use 17-volume peroxide, from half an ounce to a full ounce in a quart of water. Pour over the head and allow to remain for 10 to 15 minutes, according to the degree of lightening desired. Then rinse off with clear, tepid water.

Q. What can I do to help refine a coarse skin?
A. Good for this is an egg pack. Beat the white of an egg lightly, and apply to the skin, patting well in. Cleansing cream is then massaged into the skin over this pack. Remove, apply nourishing cream, with the usual up-and-down rotating motions. After removing this cream, sponge the face with witch hazel. The yolk of the egg is then applied and permitted to dry on the face. This should be removed with towels or cotton dipped in tepid water. Follow with freshener. Do this no less than once a week — or oftener.

Eternity

There is a term to grapple with . . . ETERNITY! Endless past time; endless future time . . . foreverness. That state or condition which begins at death. From everlasting to everlasting . . . ETERNITY. The time it would take the sea gull pictured above to empty the Pacific Ocean into the Atlantic . . . that would be Eternity. It is too big to understand but I know what it means for me. When this earthly house is dismantled, my soul will live on and on. That is actually what it means. But one question: Is my life worth all that? Is yours? Here is where the church can help you to be useful . . . to help bring in the Kingdom . . . to be an Ambassador for God . . . to prepare the world for His coming . . . for ETERNITY.
