

Frosh Win; Bees Lose

The Hereford High freshman team, again paced by Clyde Whitaker, racked up its second straight win at Dimmitt Thursday, 41-13.

At Muleshoe the same night, the Hereford B team lost to Muleshoe, 6-0.

Whitaker, a halfback, scored three times, all on long runs. He tallied in the first quarter on a 60-yard dash; again in the third period on a pass-run play covering 65 yards and in the last stanza on a 70-yard run.

Fullback Ed Skypala got Hereford's second touchdown on a four-yard plunge in the first quarter and Ronnie Botkins ran the point to make it 13-0. Dimmitt scored in the second quarter for a 13-7 halftime score.

The first time Hereford had the ball in the second half Whitaker took a short pass from Botkins and went 65 for a TD and Skypala plunged for the point. Don Scott ran 45 yards around end for another Hereford score and Botkins ran the point, making it 27-7 going into the last quarter.

Whitaker unreeled his 70-yarder and Scott went 35 for the last Hereford touchdown. Botkins added both points. Dimmitt got one more score in the last period.

At Muleshoe a Mule defender intercepted a pass by Hereford quarterback James Brogdon and returned to the Hereford seven. The Mules were stopped for three plays and then Hereford was paralyzied to the one and Muleshoe scored on the fourth down try.

Coach Cuby Kitchens said put together two scoring threats but couldn't go across. He added that the line play, both offense and defense was outstanding for the Hereford Bees.

The B team has an open date next week. The freshmen play at Plainview Thursday at 6:30 p.m.

Nancy Cockrell Gains McMurry Chemistry Grant

ABILENE.—Two McMurry College freshmen students entered school here this fall on the second annual $330 chemistry scholarship awards program.

The two, Nancy Cockrell, 17, of Hereford, and Eddie Massey, 18-year-old Canadian student, were named winners in competitive examinations taken last spring.

Dr. W. Norton Jones Jr., chairman of the chemistry department at McMurry, said the students can retain the scholarships by maintaining a B scholastic average.

The department head also said object of the scholarship contest is to stimulate interest in chemistry among high school students, which will alleviate a shortage of trained chemists and scientists in industry.

Miss Cockrell is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Alby J. Cockrell, 429 N. Miles Hereford. Both her parents are former McMurry College students.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McCracken spent the past weekend in Fort Sumner, N. M., where they visited her brother, Sam Steele, and family.

How Can I?

By Anna Ashby

Q. How can I make it easier to varnish floors?

A. Place the can of varnish in a shallow pan of hot water and the varnish will not only flow more readily, making the task easier, but it will dry almost twice as quickly.

Q. How can I restore thin silk?
A. Dip it into a weak solution of gum arabic, two level teaspoons dissolved in a quart of water, and then strain through cheesecloth.

Q. How can I get rid of fleas?
A. These pests can often be exterminated by spraying the place which is infested with them with oil of pennyroyal.

Q. How can I shrink dress goods?
A. By placing it folded in a tub of cold water, to which a few handfuls of salt have been added. After a few hours, hang on the line without unfolding. The weight of the salt prevents wrinkles from drying in and also sets the color.

Q. How can I remedy a too-salty taste in food?
A. When soup, gravy, or vegetables are too salty, stir a little coarse brown sugar into it, and the salty taste will disappear. Or, add one tablespoon of sugar and one of vinegar.

Q. How can I keep the powder puff fluffy?
A. The puff will remain soft and fluffy if washed in warm, soapy water, and then rinsed in soapy water.

Q. How can I remove chewing gum from garments?
A. Take a piece of ice and hold it tightly over the gum for a few moments. The gum will harden and crumble. It can then be brushed off without injuring the material.

Q. How can I make a paste?
A. Take one-half cupful of lump starch and mix thoroughly into one quart of water, and boil slowly for a few minutes.

Q. How can I remove paint from window glass?
A. Rub with hot, strong vinegar.

Whitewing Movie Now Being Made

AUSTIN.—"Movie Safari for Whitewings" is the title of an interesting story in the September issue of TEXAS GAME AND FISH, official publication of the Game and Fish Commission. The article was prepared by Lon Fitzgerald, staff photographer. He has been spending weeks in the field shooting the Whitewing Dove story.

The film probably will be ready for release about the first of the year. It will be made available to clubs, schools, and organizations for free showing.

Fitzgerald describes how he set up recording equipment for catching the sounds made by the whitewings in their nesting area.

The pictures were made on 16 mm color film, using a new Arriflex telephoto lens. The shots were made from especially constructed blinds.

"THE BLIND was set up at numerous locations with excellent results, even though uncalculated obstacles were encountered," he wrote. "Number one bug-a-boo was the heat. In wildlife photography sometimes film must stay in the camera for long periods without advancement."

"This, in addition to long exposures, caused the softening of film emulsion. The result — a jammed camera."

"Our camera crew also returned with a healthy respect for predator-conscious whitewings. Setting up a blind in native whitewing nesting cover was... well, have you ever tried to retrieve a tennis ball from a bed of roses? It seemed the best location for a blind was always in a cluster of cactus, mesquite, and ebony."

Duck Conditions Now 'Excellent'

AUSTIN.—Conditions right now for a good duck hunting season this fall are excellent, according to J. R. Singleton, Wildlife Biologist of the Game and Fish Commission. Singleton is stationed in the Gulf Coast area, where he has been studying the duck and goose conditions for several years.

"There has been enough rain to bring on natural food and right conditions for growth," he said. "The summer showers over the area have been very beneficial. The rains of recent weeks have put new water on the ground to provide feed for the bird. Flooded fields make much more food available."

Pintails and teal are on schedule, with some spoonbills coming in, the Biologist said.

He will make his first flight over the coastline to estimate duck population about Oct. 15.

Singleton also is asking duck hunters of Texas to cooperate with

You Won't Lose MILQ HEADS when you use G&G MILO GUARDS

They form a "basket" to capture virtually every head flipped out by the auger. Their upswep design catches more grain, rolls it back to the platform. Yield increases up to 20% are common with these inexpensive guards that last for years. Even small heads and thin stands can be saved with the wire attachment shown at left.

G&G Milo Guards in stock for most makes and models. Order thru your dealer for quick delivery.

BALANCE OF NATURE
NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma's unusually heavy spring rains resulted in an abnormal number of insects and toads. However, nature appears to be balancing the situation, reported Dr. Arthur N. Bragg, University of Oklahoma zoologist. The toads now are busy eating the bugs.

Public Hunts for 200 Deer Begin Nov. 16
AUSTIN, — Permits will be issued this year for the killing of 220 deer on wildlife management areas in Texas, it has been announced by E. A. Walker, director of wildlife restoration of the Game and Fish Commission.

The hunt on the Kerr Wildlife Management area is scheduled for Nov. 16-30 inclusive. 150 permits will be issued for 60 bucks. Thirty hunters per day will be allowed.

The Black Cap area season, west of the Pecos, will be Nov. 20-27, inclusive, with 200 permits for 60 bucks and 200 javelina. There will be 50 hunters for each of the two-day periods.

On the Engeling area in East Texas, the season will be Nov. 16-25, inclusive. There will be 240 permits issued, with 100 deer of either sex to be harvested. Twenty-four hunters will be allowed each day.

LAST YEAR there were 149 deer killed on the Kerr area; 61 on the Black Gap area, and 53 on the Engeling area.

Applications can be made for a permit on only one of the areas. Parties also can make application where there are not more than four in the party. Persons under 17 are not eligible for permits.

A public drawing will be held in Austin for the permits about Nov. 1. No preference can be given as to dates.

Requests for applications for permits should be made immediately to the Game and Fish Commission in Austin. When these are received application blanks will be set out.

The Game and Fish Commission also retains the right of cancelling or stopping the hunt at any time the recommended quotas are met. This will prevent reduction of the herd below the number desired to house. However, he added, he continued to chew gum indoors.

La Madre Mia Study Club Stages a 'Bundle Party'

Mrs. Jesse Click was hostess to members of La Madre Mia Study Club Tuesday evening at a Bundle Party in the home of Mrs. O. L. Click with Mrs. Paul Schroeter serving as cohostess. Roll call entitled "Out of the mouths of babes" revealed cute sayings of their children.

The party one of the first social affairs of the year, was designed for fun only. Each member took a bundle of wearing apparel to the affair, then each member drew numbers for the bundles and modeled costumes found inside. Mrs. Jesse Click won first prize for the best ensemble which was modeled by Mrs. Terry Kirby. Honorable mention went to Mrs. Calvin Gooden on her bundle which was modeled by Mrs. Troys Riddle.

A money-raising fun stunt added to the club's coffers when legs were measured at three cents per inch. A short business session was held and refreshments were served to Mesdames Terry Kirby, Don Fudge, R. V. Hale, Ted Hardwick, Dean Herring, Glenn Hopson, Cubby Kitchens, Dennis Lomas, Hershel Miller, Bobby Owen, Troys Riddle, Donald Shipley, Eugene Sparks, Richard Pickens, Walter Kirkland, and the hostesses.

While cruising on his route, Patrolman Clarence Lester reportedly threw a piece of carbon paper out the cruiser window. A resident called police and complained. The officer was ordered to return to the scene.

World Unity Topic for Bay View Club

Mrs. Carl Perrin, yearbook chairman, gave a comprehensive discussion of the study course for the coming year at the Bay View Study Club session held in the home of Mrs. Jimmie Gillentine Thursday afternoon. Theme for the year's work is "Unity In The World" based on the great issues of time which point up the quotation "The multitude which does not reduce itself to unity is confusion; the unity which does not depend upon multitude, is tyranny."

Wills Are Discussed at L'Allegra Club Meeting

Mrs. Donald Shipley was in charge of the L'Allegra Study Club program Thursday afternoon when a meeting was held in the country home of Mrs. Hilton Higgins. Mrs. Shipley presented Earnest Langley, city attorney, who spoke on "Wills." He told of Texas laws regarding property, told how to make a simple will, how to add to a will or change a will previously made, how to make a joint will and explained trusteeship.

Only Operator in Maypearl Doesn't Listen in on Talks

MAYPEARL, (AP) — Maypearl's one and only telephone operator, one of the nation's vanishing group of "number please" workers, says she doesn't have time to listen in on the calls through her small exchange. And besides "that would get old," Mrs. Lester Maxwell says. Mrs. Maxwell is known as Johnnie to most of this Ellis county town's 377 persons. Few phone subscribers know any numbers. They depend on Johnnie's memory.

HER OFFICE is bounded by the office rail, a switchboard and an ironing board. A mirror is arranged so Johnnie can see any number that drops on the switchboard while ironing. Her bed is not quite an arm's length away. At night she plugs in a bell which awakens her whenever a subscriber turns a crank on his box-type set.

Johnnie said the night bell wasn't loud enough to be heard above the "frying" sounds in the kitchen, however, so she installed a special kitchen bell. Now she can even throw a load of clothes in the washing machine and still hear the bell above the noise.

For nine years Johnnie and her husband have lived in the house leased by the Texas Telephone and Telegraph Co. One of her four sons usually takes over when she has to leave the house. When she first took over, she didn't know any of the town's telephone numbers. Now hardly anyone else in town does.

Shrimpers Now Go First Class

ROCKPORT, (AP) — Some shrimp fishermen out of Rockport will be able to go to sea in air conditioned comfort. An 83-foot converted Coast Guard cutter outfitted by G. P. Begnaud boasts a two-ton air conditioner for crew protection.

Begnaud bought the vessel in 1950 and used it for some time as a shrimp trawler. It is capable of holding 100 barrels of loed down shrimp.

Three years ago he converted the vessel, the Katherine B, into a crew boat when offshore drilling began to pick up. As an added attraction Begnaud air conditioned the cabins and crew quarters.

Oil companies later demanded swifter vessels than the Katherine B, however, and Begnaud made plans to reconvert the twinscrew cutter into a shrimper, leaving the air conditioning equipment.

He also installed a modified shrimping rig perfected in recent years at Rockport. Instead of towing one huge net more than 100 feet wide, it pulls a 52-foot net on each side of the boat.

The operation requires less power and deck room.

he wondered if something could have happened, so he went to the station. Officers rushed out to investigate. They found the buddy sleeping on the pier.

MONEY CHANGERS MELBOURNE, (AP) — A Decimal Currency Council has been formed in Melbourne to establish and foster a decimal coinage system. Australia now has the pounds, shillings, and pence system; five Australian pounds are equal to four pounds sterling or $11.40 U.S. Chairman of the council is Sir Louis Meville, vice-chancellor of the Australian National University. The council will seek the support of the federal government and of 200 of the country's most powerful organizations. A Royal Commission recommended the introduction of the decimal coinage system to Australia 20 years ago.

Brothers Catch Fish Every Time

FLOWERS BLUFF, (AP) — Any time you mention the Johnson brothers down here, folks tell you "they're gone fishing... and they are catching fish."

The Johnson brothers are Jess and Bud, and in this little town not far from Corpus Christi and Padre Island they are known as just about the best saltwater fishermen in the business.

The other day A. A. Khoury and Mitchell Fadal came down from Waco to fish with Frank Buhidar, also from Flowers Bluff, and Sam Aboud, from Corpus Christi.

"Tomorrow," said Frank Buhidar, "I'm going to let you fellows watch the Johnson brothers fish... and you're going to see something you've never seen before." And Frank was right.

Mitchell Fadal, after it was all over, still couldn't believe it.

"I'VE HEARD of cattle herders and sheep herders," Fadal said. "But those Johnson boys are fish herders."

They're so good at reading water and telling where to find fish, Mitch says, that it appears they're actually herding the fish up in a circle and then catching them.

"The Johnsons and Frank fished from one boat, and we fished from the other," Mitch says, "and it was something to watch them. One brother would stand up and watch the water. After awhile, he'd start waving his hands, the other one would cut the motor, and they'd cast."

"They'd immediately catch fish. They must have changed locations 25 times that morning, and nearly every time they'd catch fish right off as soon as they'd stop the motor at a new place. No other boat down there could do it. "They couldn't see those fish either... but somehow, they knew they were down there."

MITCH SAYS the Johnsons use lumber rods and spinning reels... and he said they looked as though they'd "horse in" those big fish.

One time Fadal shouted "you're horsing him, Bud!" Bud just grinned, and drawled back:

"Naw, I'm not Mitch. It sorta looks like I'm horsing him... but that little light tip takes care of everything."

"I'd say those fellows," praised Mitchell Fadal, "represent the most skillful saltwater fishermen in Texas."

New Dryland Conservation Idea Drawing Attention

By MAX SCHRADER

A newly developed dryland conservation practice at the Southwestern Great Plains Field Station has been drawing the attention of farmers recently.

This practice might well be called bench-terracing because it is a variation of both conventional terraces and the bench-leveling operation found on irrigated land.

Developed in the search for a means of stabilizing-dryland farm production, it appears to encompass the elements needed to get the most from our often scanty rainfall.

In constructing a system of this type approximately one-third of the area immediately above each terrace is leveled. This, of course, is called the bench and is level from side to side for the length of the terrace. The unlevelled part of the terrace interval is farmed on the contour—using the terrace above as a guide line.

The great advantage of a system such as this is its capacity for holding heavy rains. We can all remember losing large quantities of water from heavy rains during the spring and early summer. At this time we also knew this moisture we were losing would be sorely needed later on. The use of bench-terracing provides an opportunity to hold this surplus-moisture until needed. Instead of being confined to a narrow channel, as in our conventional systems, the water is spread out over a greater area insuring an equal proportion of moisture to more of the crop.

Production on the unlevelled part will also be more sure. On this all of the rows will be level and able to hold considerable more rain. These rows are well protected by the terrace above and less liable to break over during heavy rains. Should too much moisture accumulate and endanger crops the ends can be opened and the bench drained.

The men associated with the development of this system will quickly state it won't take the place of good soil management. A structural practice such as this is only a tool to use in securing maximum use of our moisture. Failure to use sound soil management practices such as stubble mulching—and the lack of high residue producing crops in the rotation will lessen the effectiveness of the system considerably.

A terrace system of this type must be provided with an adequate waterway. The field must have this protection from outside water and a place to dump the excess water from the system during continuing rains.

Most observers feel that this type of operation will assure the operator a fair crop where he likely would have made none without it. It presents an opportunity for making each rain count toward production.

Publisher's Fall Lists Feature Unlimited Variety of Reading

By W. G. ROGERS
Associated Press Arts Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—"Cornflake Crusade," "North American Head Hunting," "The Call Girl," "The Education of a Poker Player," "Motels, Hotels, Restaurants and Bars," "Why We Behave Like Americans," "Does Man Survive Death?" "How to Live with a Neurotic"—these titles give you an idea, but not really an adequate one, of the unlimited range of reading which the versatile and generous publishers are making available to you this fall.

The length of the lists seems to indicate the choice is bigger than ever—and so does the staggering number of copies under which already this month a critic's desk begins to sag and threatens to collapse.

Highlighting the lists are names with which every reader is familiar, so familiar first names may be dispensed with: Sagan, McCullers, Ma-Leish, Lerner, Agee, Sitwell (Edith, not one of the brothers) and many others.

MORE ARTISTS than usual are writing their autobiographies, or are being written about, or are appearing in handsome picture books: Picasso, Calder, Shah, Dali, Chagall, Rodin, Michelangelo.

Besides, some unusually fine art books are promised: Rome, Venice, Vienna, South America, the whole wide world in collections of photos, records of Flemish art, American art. In particular you will want to bear in mind "900 Years of American Painting," a Time magazine project by Time editor Alexander Elliot. Frank Lloyd Wright is doing "A Testament."

Biographies and autobiographies of a long list of leaders in various fields, the living and the dead, are upcoming also between now and Christmas: James Whitcomb Riley, Byron, Fanny Burney, Verlaine, Steinbeck, Roger Williams, Bernard Baruch—the Margaret Coit biography following the autobiography—Walt Disney, Conrad Hilton, Branch Rickey, David Dubinsky.

ON FALL BOOK LISTS—Archibald Mac Leish, left, and Françoise Sagan are among the prominent writers whose books will be published this fall. MacLeish has written "J. B." and Miss Sagan "Those Without Shadow."

IS THE Civil War your pet subject? There will be "This Was Andersonville," by John McElroy. Do you lose sleep over the battle of the ideologies? Then you must read "The Naked God," Howard Fast's story of his break with communism. Do you want to know the record of the Atlantic? There is "Jubilee: 100 Years of the Atlantic," edited by editor Edward Weeks and Emily Flint. Are you interested in history? There will be "Atlas of World History?" How do you stand on Colin Wilson? The author of the popular "The Outsider" follows it up with "Religion and the Rebel."

From the writers already mentioned there are coming these books: "Those Without Shadow," Françoise Sagan; "The Square Root of Wonderful," Carson McCullers; "J. B.," Archibald MacLeish; "America as a Civilization," Max Lerner; "A Death in the Family," James Agee; "English Eccentrics," Dame Edith Sitwell.

There also will be the much touted "Not by Bread Alone," by Vladimir Dudintsev, the Communist who writes with hazardous frankness about his land.

Other scheduled fiction is: "The Violated," Vance Bourjaily; "The Return of Lady Brace," Nancy Betty Smith; "Something About a Soldier," Mark Harris.

From Edwin O'Connor comes "Benji: A Ferocious Fairy Tale." Ogden Nash will write about "The Christmas That Almost Wasn't."

Local Tour Is a Revelation

If you are a stay-at-home, whether by choice or necessity, don't let some gadabout overwhelm you with tales of the "breathtaking aspens" to be seen over in New Mexico or Colorado. Rock the traveler back with an invitation to just look around Hereford.

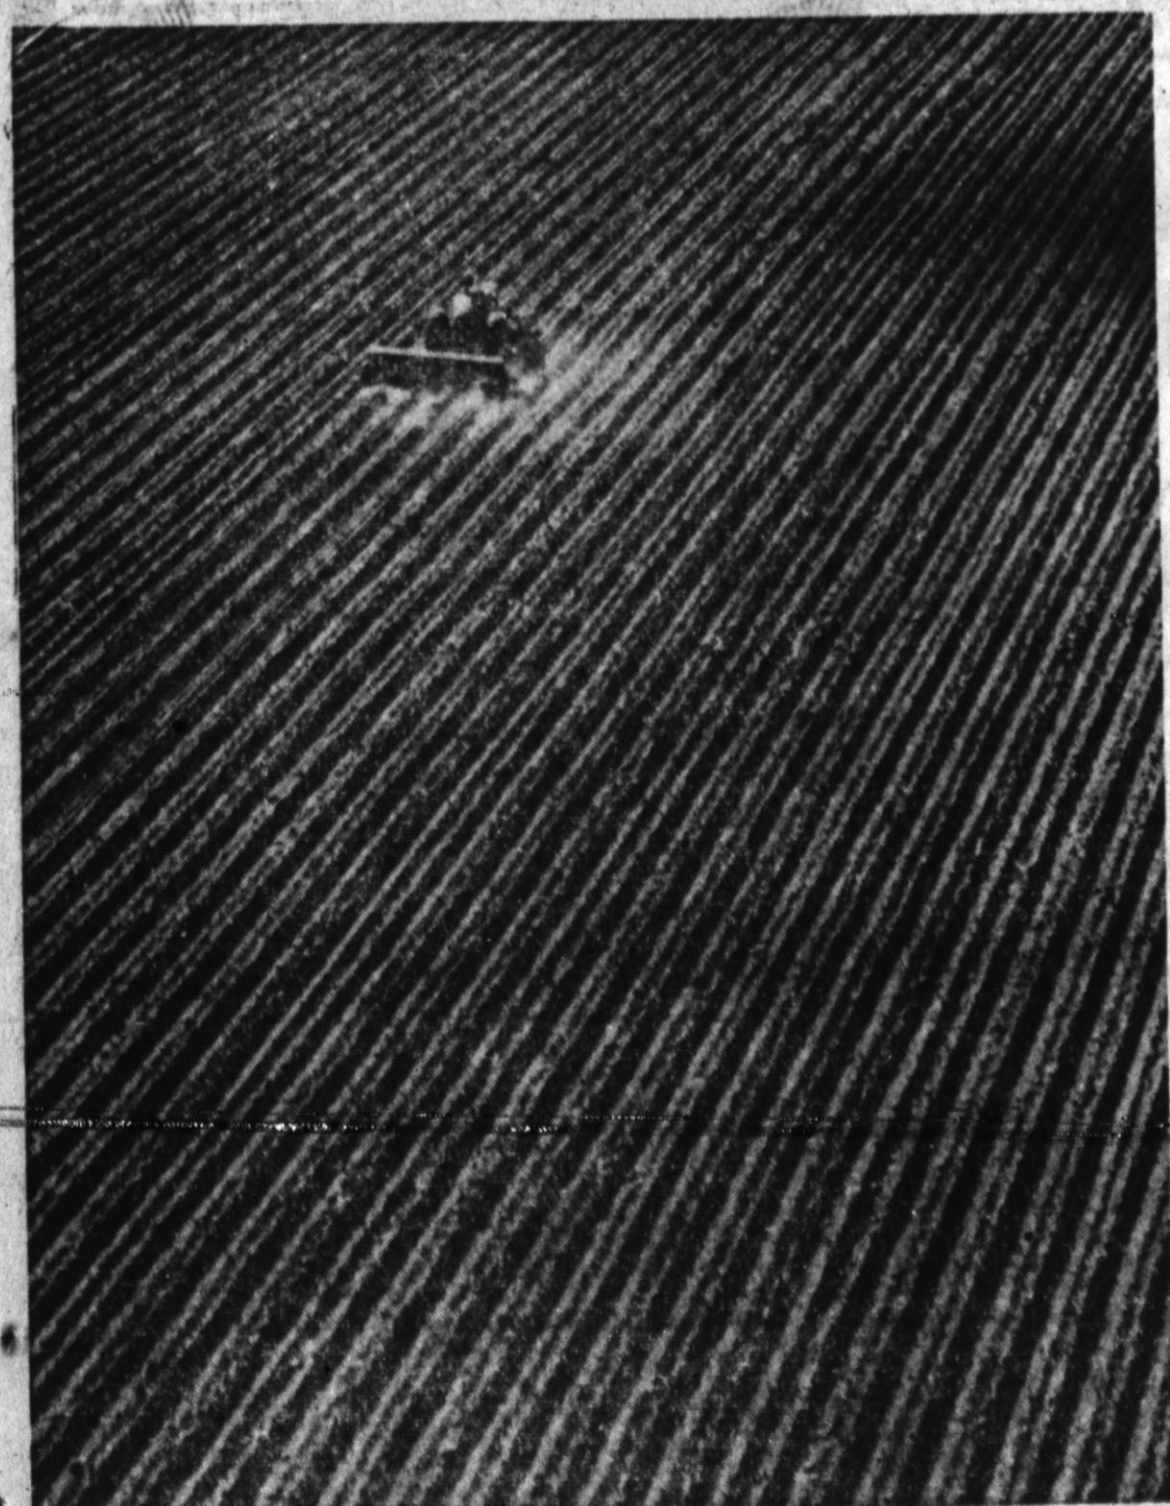

The crops are as colorful this season as most anything you might see anyplace. And you can see all sorts of breathtaking vistas by driving around the countryside in most any direction from Hereford.

One advantage you'll appreciate: You'll be able to stay on familiar roads and get an eyeful of fall's most striking colors for less than a tank of gas. If you're interested, you might try flying over the area as did Roy Clark in taking the pictures on this page. From the air you'll get a new perspective that no mountainside covered with near worthless aspen bushes can equal.

The grain sorghum presents a variety of reds, from light to very dark. The lettuce is a fascinating green, not so dark as that of the carrots. Shocks of forage sorghums, particularly redtop cane, are a welcome addition to the scene that changes constantly from field to field.

But let's not read about it. Get out and look about. The countryside is sensational.

Bible Words for Today

NEHEMIAH 3:13 "Hanun and the inhabitants of Zanoah repaired the Valley Gate—and a thousand cubits of the wall." 3:23 "Azariah... repaired beside his own house."

PHILIPPIANS 2:4 "Let each of you look not only to his own interests, but also the interests of others." (RSV)

At the beginning of the Fourth Century B.C. Nehemiah led the Jews of Jerusalem in rebuilding the broken walls of their city. The third chapter of the book of Nehemiah gives a graphic picture of how the walls were rebuilt, section by section, each man assuming responsibility for constructing a certain portion of the wall. Some, like Azariah, repaired only that stretch of wall opposite their own houses. We wonder what would have happened to the wide open spaces, had each one imitated Azariah. Fortunately, others, like Hanun and the men of Zanoah, repaired much longer sections and so the wall was completed. Thank God for those in every age whose labors extend beyond their own welfare to include the common good. To these we owe our peace and security. "Let each of you look not only to his own interests, but also to the interests of others."

Refreshments of cake, fruit salad and coffee were served to Lorena Curtis, Marjorie Douglas, Betty Rice, Reba Minor, Maude Story, Betty May Damron, Oma Lee Dickerson, Alta Mae Higgins, Ruth Allison, Letrus Clark and the hostess, Mrs. Owen Stagner.

PART TIME CLOCK
BURLINGTON, Vt. — City Hall clock is sounding again — but it rests between midnight and seven in the morning so nearby residents can do the same.

The clock was halted a year and a half ago when area householders and hotels objected to its loud bonging of the wee hours.

It was electrified by a Harrisburg, Pa., firm, which also changed the mechanism to assure a discreet, sleep-saving silence for seven hours out of each day.

The Inside Story On that TV Debut IT'S: HER POINT OF VIEW

By BETTY BABIONE

Well now I've seen everything! A dog in a style show! The Jack Bradley family's toy poodle, Fifi, made her debut in the world of fashion last Sunday during a review presented by The Vogue at the Jim Hill Hotel. Medemol-selle Fifi, looking very chic in her jeweled collar, remained completely composed as she shared the spot light with model Lavern Clay to the tune of "O Where Has My Little Dog Gone?"

Ya know, there are four, lovely femmes from Deaf Smith County who are so adept at the business of modeling that they could hold their own against any four professionals from New York to California. Mix a good figure and a pretty face with a portion of poise and a dash of vivaciousness, then adorn this mixture with beautiful clothes and the result is known as Fashion Model. Or if you want to get personal: Billie Slagle, Lavern Clay, Maxine Daniels, or Dawnie Johnson.

WOMEN'S CLOTHES styles have not changed a great deal from last year's. Designs reminiscent of the "twenties" which were introduced in 1956 have gained widespread popularity in all articles of wearing apparel. The slim heels and pointed toes on milady's slippers have become accepted as the fashionable rule, rather than the extreme style feature as of last year.

About the biggest change is the revival of the use of fur for trim and ornamentation and fur accessories. Also, hosiery manufacturers are once again featuring a variety of colored stockings and have renewed their campaign to influence women to wear hose to match the color of their ensembles. This idea has met with mild acceptance in the East and hardly any response at all in this part of the country. But time may tell.

If you can't locate Charlie Hill, Stan Sigman or Francis Hill these warm afternoons, look for a watermelon patch. . . betcha they'll be around there someplace.

There are still plenty of good watermelons available for the eating one place or another around here. Hubby still brings one home every now and then and it seems like they taste even better this time of year. . . cleaning up the mess of seeds and rind is sure gettin' old though.

IT SEEMS as if everyone you talk to has been canning something or other lately. Peg Hoff is certainly no exception. . . but unlike Peg, most everyone else does their canning before midnight.

Don't know how our Chamber of Commerce representatives feel about their TV experience last week, but I know a group of women who sure could suggest some changes behind the scenes on Channel 4.

My mercy! A body can't help but get the nervous jitters because none of the regular personnel show up for their own programs until one minute after the show goes on the air.

The poor amateurs who are scheduled for an appearance just sit around wondering what's gonna happen. . . then next thing ya know, it has already happened.

OF COURSE, to mention television without saying something about the World Series would not be in keeping. And so far as I can see, business houses which employ males only, may as well close up from 11 to 2 every day there's a game.

Went by Mrs. John McLean's on Thursday and she was busy trying chicken to take down to the McLean Agency so John and George wouldn't have to miss a minute of the viewing on their office set.

If I were a bettin' gal I'd probably bet on the Yankees, but I sure would like to have Milwaukee win. Wish I had a dime for every "pot" that's made up by the local fans for this series.

MRS. JOHNNY BLOCKER has reported that the Hereford FHA girls will begin their annual fundraising project Monday. Each year the Future Homemakers here take orders for household products bearing a famous brand name — everything from floor wax to silver polish. Lovely prizes are always given by the Company to the top member-salesmen during this FHA campaign but more important, the girls are aiming at a goal which will enable one of their local organization to go to Europe next summer on the exchange plan.

Also, a portion of the proceeds from these sales will help to defray the expenses of the wonderful little lady from Italy who is attending Hereford High School this year.

The campaign will last from the 7th to the 17th. Good luck to Mrs. Durham, Mrs. Hodges, and Mrs. Shook and all their teenage proteges.

Progressive H. D. Discusses Mending

The Progressive Home Demonstration club met in the home of Mrs. V. C. Virgis Tuesday for a discussion on mending clothes for economy and to prevent accident.

It was pointed out by Mrs. Leot Coffin that the slip patch, hert patch and patch by hand would make garments look nicer.

The club had one visitor present for its meeting and that was Mabel Henry.

Members present were Mesdames Pete Carmichael, Est Plank, Leon Coffin, Taft McGee, H. L. Hershey, Lester English and V. C. Virgis, hostess.

Highway or Building? Tokyo Combines Both

By RENE GEORGES INAGAKI

TOKYO — The longest building in Tokyo is a road — and the city's only expressway is a building.

This Oriental paradox is the result of combining a two-story building with an elevated highway: the road runs on the roof and the building curves as dictated by the course of the road. Arising from the bed of a drained canal, the building-highway will run for almost a mile through the heart of downtown Tokyo.

BEGUN IN 1953, the project now is scheduled for completion next year — one year late. It has been dubbed "the long castle of profits," and made the object of loud criticism and public investigation.

A private firm headed by Minoru Higuchi is building it. When completed, the building — interrupted by six bridges carrying its roof-road over intersections — will provide some 630,000 square feet of rentable space.

Higuchi's firm is collecting elegant dollars per square foot as a "loan" from tenants, reimbursable in 15 years at a low interest rate.

It is estimated that the total "loans" will amount to five million dollars. Annual rents charged users will bring in $800,000. Estimated total construction cost is seven million dollars.

Despite its location in the heart of the downtown area where land is more precious than gold, the city of Tokyo is paid only a small rent for use of the land, which, as a one-time canal, is public property.

HIGUCHI'S company started with a paid capital of $33,000 and its shares are held by 39 stockholders, including the presidents of two giant Tokyo department stores, the president of a large radio station, and president of two of Japan's largest newspapers.

Takehisa Hayashi, a director of the company, denies charges of high profits. "Look around you," he says, waving a hand at the company's drab and crowded two-room office,

ROAD ABOVE, BUILDING BELOW—Here's a Japanese method for conquering city traffic problems—an expressway on the roof of a serpentine building. The roadway will not be complete until next year, but stores and tea shops already occupy parts of the building which winds through the heart of Tokyo.

"We don't even have an electric fan here. That should prove to you that we are not making money. We only rent the office space in order to be able to provide the elevated highway as a free public service."

"Another proof that we are not trying to make money is that we will turn over the highway to Tokyo city as soon as it pays for itself, at the latest in 30 years."

LAST MONTH a section of the Bridge, the real heart of Tokyo, was completed and a 200-yard-long, all air-conditioned smart shopping arcade opened for business.

The company rented this section to the Ginza Shopping Center Assn.

which has leased space to some 80 swanky coffee-bars, tea parlors, dressmakers, restaurants, camera, stationery, sporting goods and other specialty shops.

While construction of the new highway has created criticism and some scandal, no one argues that the shopping center and elevated highway are anything but a great asset to this metropolis which claims to be the world's largest city.

This is also the view of the city planners who visualize this short-mile elevated highway as a model and link in a five-road elevated network to be constructed at an expected cost of 200 million dollars in the next 10 years.

B&PW Club Moves at a Hectic Pace

By SANDRA GLENN

The Business and Professional Women's Club has really been on the go these past few weeks with all the teas, breakfasts and banquets, which have been held in its honor. To give a good idea of what we mean here is a brief outline of how they have spent the past two weeks.

The Hereford B&PW Club opened Business and Professional Women's Week with a tea held in the home of Mrs. J. K. Baker Sunday, Sept. 22.

The ladies were served from a table decorated with a lace tablecloth over pink and the center piece was dyed pink chrysanthemums arranged effectively in a silver bowl. A silver candelabrum was placed on the table along with the matching tea service.

Mrs. Bruce Carter, president, and the officers, Mrs. Jackie Lisbenbe, Miss Bea Barrett and Miss Marie Bourn served the tea. Mrs. Marie Sears and Mrs. Teddie Alexander registered the guests.

Saturday, Sept. 28, the Hereford B&PW Club ended its week of observing National Business Women's Week with a breakfast held in the dining room of the Western Wheel Inn.

The table center piece was fall grains and vegetables falling from a glass blown cornucopia.

Miss Della Stagner gave the invocation. About 20 members and five guests were present.

Local members of the B&PW Club attended the 29th annual B&PW District Conference which was held in Plainview yesterday and today.

Honor guest and banquet speaker of the conference was Mrs. Claudia Hazlewood, president of State Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs Inc.

Activities of the district conference included a tea on Saturday afternoon honoring state officers and club presidents, and a banquet Saturday night. A Sunday morning breakfast will be followed by work shop skits, given by each of the clubs in District Nine, which include Amarillo, Borger, Dimmitt, Dumas, Hereford, Lockney, Pampa, Panhandle, Perryton, Plainview and Post.

Hereford, women who were among those present were Mrs. Bruce Carter, Miss Hilda Havens, Mrs. Sophia Snare, Mrs. Ursalee Jacobsen, Mrs. Johnnie Morris, Miss Della Stagner, Miss Bea Barrett and Miss Erma Walker.

Mrs. Burl Caudel and son, Richie, were in Anson last week visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Dutton. They were there for the Dutton reunion which is an annual affair. Mrs. Caudel and Richie returned home Monday.

A note of interest about one of the hometown girls is the election of Beth Scott as secretary of the freshman class at Howard Payne College.

Miss Scott is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Howard Edwards Scott, 215 Ave. B. She is a 1957 graduate of Hereford High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmore Raines and relatives of Mrs. Raines spent last weekend horseback riding and mountain climbing at Red River. They reported that they had a wonderful time.

Thomas Elliston of Billings, Mont., is visiting in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Elliston. He is sales manager of the North American Van Lines and before coming to Hereford attended the National Committee Con-

Mrs. J. H. Griffin of Galveston, Mrs. Bertie Posey of Houston and Mrs. J. A. Parrish of Overton are visiting this week with their niece, Mrs. Ralph Paul and family. Mrs. Paul's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Greene are visiting with her also.

The Faithful Workers Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. Louie Olson Tuesday for a salad supper to honor the new and old members of the class.

A short business session was held and group captains were selected for the coming year.

Present were Mesdames Grady Parsons, Ralph McCullough, Louie Olson, Roy Calvert, F. A. Tucker, Jeff Robinson, O. H. Herring, Ruby Virden, Gladys Miller, Goldie Criswell, Hazel Bruner, Leora Calhoun and Miss Della Stagner.

WSCS Has Luncheon Studies Missions

Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church held its regular Fellowship luncheon program at the church Wednesday.

Mrs. Lee Benefield opened the program with a devotional lesson, tying in with the lesson subject, "Methodist Missions At Home and Abroad."

Mrs. Ellen Carter, president of the United Church Council, was guest speaker. She told of Christian women's duties in mission work, of the local Labor Camp and its needs, and of what has been done by the United Council of Church Women.

A display of Christmas cards, toys and gifts, which has been assembled for sale by the WSCS was on display and it was announced that the collection will be on display all day Wednesday in Fellowship Hall and may be purchased there.

Roger Babson, the noted writer in business, real estate and investments, came out recently with a long column on hobbies. He pointed out that a hobby, after all, can be the best investment a man makes. And when you stop to recall the men you know who suffer from heart attacks, Mr. Babson has a point. Many people run their hobbies into the ground, but even that is better than letting themselves for a serious breakdown.

IN ADDITION to things like fishing, hunting, fishing, boating, collecting, radio hamming and the usually expected hobbies, many men these days seem to be taking up ART and PAINTING, a field in which Churchill and Eisenhower have had much publicity. I was surprised, however, to note that many busy executives have kept their nerves from cracking with MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS. Some take up the fad as their children start taking band and learn with the kids. Others, like Dr. R. E. Mims and Earnest Langley, have carried the ability over from high school days — and still have the old piccolo or trap drums stored away in the garage attic.

Cooking, outdoors and indoors, occupies quite a few men; others turn to ceramics, enameling, etching of glassware, nature study, photography, shell painting, silver woodworking, wood burning — and a million other variations of so-called fun.

The big idea is to get their minds off their business worries and troubles for a few hours. The men, of course, won't pay much attention to the advice, which leaves the problem

AFTER SLIM WESTER started wearing Bermuda shorts this summer you never can tell what will happen. However, I do not ever expect to see Miles Roberson or Marion Rutter prancing down the street wearing a zebra fur jacket and carrying a leather handbag. It's just too much! Besides, the rig would look funny with those Western hats most of the men wear around here.

Jay McWhorter was by and subscribed to the paper. He says that they are moving to Dallas, where he is going into the oil business with one of his old classmates. Chiefly, the firm will engage in exploration and drilling.

"Sounds screwy, I admit," declared Jay, "but it is something I have wanted to do for a long time, and the right chance came along — so here we go!"

Bob Lewis, former hospital manager and local business man, was back in town this week. He and Mrs. Lewis visited friends and got around quite a bit. They now operate a dude ranch and fishing resort on the Poudre River, some 45 miles out of Ft. Collins, Colo.

FISHING DEPARTMENT — The black bass were fighting for lures at Possum Kingdom this week, according to Dale Tinnin, who called back for someone to come down with a trailer. This of course, is a scurvy trick. Who wants to go fishing when they can stay at home and watch the World Series?

Milwaukee — the town that the World Series is making famous — is also making a lot of Hereford fans happy. Most of them are "against" the Yankees, probably due to the old American custom of favoring the "under-dog." Anyway, we have a lot of Milwaukee boosters for such a dry town.

MILO GROWERS are reaping a three-cent benefit from efforts of the growers' association in 1956, when they got the milo support tied to corn. When the new corn support went into effect recently, it automatically gave the milo grower another three cents per der relocation to keep up with population trends.

CAMPUS RELOCATION

CHICAGO — An educational expert says colleges should consider relocation to keep up with population trends.

Arthur E. Nealy, director of the Educational Department at "Who's Who in America," says there are no less than 155 four-year colleges, junior colleges, denominational colleges, coeducational colleges and women's colleges that are located in the wrong place.

He examined college buildings and studied endowments, capital funds and area potentials all over the United States before concluding that the 155 should move.

Nealy reports that only a few of the 155 are seriously considering moving at this point. Some of the 155, in fact, don't even agree with him that they should move.

Shower Courtesy Compliments Bride-Elect Rose Ann McAtee

A pre-nuptial shower honoring the prospective bride of Don Fraser, Miss Rose McAtee of Albuquerque, N. M., was given here recently in the home of Mrs. N. E. Milburn.

In keeping with the honoree's name a low arrangement of Aristocrat, creamy beige, roses was the focal point of the serving table which was laid with a natural embroidered linen cloth. Rose asters decorated the coffee table and bouquets of mixed roses were used throughout the house. Appointments were in silver. Mrs. Terry Kirby and Mrs. Jack McCracken presided.

Charlotte Moore greeted the guests at the door and guests were received by Mrs. Milburn, the bride-to-be, Mrs. Alton Fraser, mother of the prospective bridegroom and Miss Sue McClure of Albuquerque, a member of the wedding party. Recorded music provided appropriate background. Approximately 100 guests signed their names in the bride's book.

Hostesses for the courtesy included Mesdames Milburn, Oscar Easley, Bill Waldrep, J. C. McCracken, F. L. Alexander, Colby Conkwright, Doc Kirby, Jimmie Gillentine, V. O. Hennen, Ben Wiltshire, and Bess Moore.

Church Is Scene of Marriage of Miss McAtee, Don Fraser

A WEDDING of interest here is that of Miss Rose McAtee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Edward McAtee, 4240 Brockmont NE, Albuquerque, N. M., and Don George Fraser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Fraser of this city.

Vows were exchanged on Saturday, Sept. 28, at 2 p.m. in Our Lady of Fatima Catholic Church in Albuquerque with the Rev. Joseph Charewicz performing the marriage ceremony.

Decorations for the church featured giant yellow chrysanthemums combined with white daisy poms and greenery.

Musicians were Miss Arlene Hanosh, the bride's Alpha Delta Pi sorority sister, who was the vocalist and Miss Lu Ellen Ross at the organ in a presentation of traditional nuptial selections.

MISS EVELYN McATEE served her sister as maid of honor. She wore a beige ballerina length dress of the same material as that worn by the bride. Bridesmaids were Misses Sue Ann McClure, Kay Claude, Stephanie Kimbrough and Elizabeth Josephine. Their dresses were in shades of green designed similar to that worn by the maid of honor. All the feminine attendants carried colonial nosegays of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums.

Kathleen Elizabeth McAtee, the bride's sister, served as flower girl and Richard Faris, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

Alton Fraser was his son's best man. The ushers were Walter Kirkland, and William Kelly of Hereford, William LuAllen of Jal, Joe Borne of Carlsbad and Ray Farrow and James Farrar of Albuquerque.

GIVEN IN marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional wedding gown of white bridal satin designed with molded bodice featuring applique of chantilly lace and long fitted sleeves coming to petal points at the hands. The floor length bouffant skirt was dramatized with break-away front of applied lace with inset of pleated tulle, and a graceful chapel train in the back. Her veil of illusion was held by a coronet of satin and lace encrusted with jewel trim. She carried a white orchid surrounded by gardenias on a white prayer book.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. McAtee wore a mauve colored dress of chantilly lace over silk with matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a light beige chiffon dress with antique gold accessories. Both wore corsages of white orchids.

at 4 p.m. with Mrs. Charles Laing serving as arrangement chairman. As attribute to Beta Sigma Phi, the Bud To Blossom club arranged the refreshment table using a white cutwork linen cloth and an arrangement of purple phlox. White tapers burned in crystal holders and appointments were in crystal and silver. Mrs. Ed Johnson and Mrs. D. R. Johnson, chapter presidents, presided.

Following the tea Mrs. Ray Suit, assisted by Mrs. Norman Moore, Mrs. T. D. Deavenport and Mesdames Paul Harvey and Ronald Babione who gave a vocal duet,

The decorative setting for the luncheon held in the hotel ballroom established the theme "Wonderland U. S. A." with an archway of greenery and various vegetables from surrounding farms marking the entrance to the ballroom. Touches of black and gold gave accent to the sorority colors and cornucopias spilling over with contrasting colored vegetables of assorted sizes and grain adorned the center of the tables length. Miniature bags of vegetables served as plate favors.

PROGRAMS for the day done in yellow gold and black, featured jackets depicting an irrigation theme.

Mrs. Ronald Babione served as mistress of ceremonies and Mrs. Harry Cayler, director, gave the welcome.

Mrs. Aubyn Hodges, chairman of awards, presented awards to Spearman for the largest group traveling the farthest, to Borger for scrap book winning first place, to Plainview for first place yearbooks and the door prize went to Stratford.

Mrs. D. R. Johnson, president of Kappa Iota, Ritual of Jewels chapter, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. E. B. Staton of Kansas City, Beta Sigma Phi, International Field Executive.

Taking her theme from Drummond's "The Best Things in Our Lives" the executive spoke on Love of humanity whose basic principles are patience, kindness, humility and understanding as applied to the meaning of Beta Sigma Phi ideals. She quoted "I have learned of this man called Christ who went about doing good" and suggested that members avoid "just going about" but to follow Christ's example and go about doing good.

Mrs. Ed Johnson, president of the Exemplar chapter, Xi Epsilon Alpha, announced the 1958 Area Council will be held in Borger.

Tourists Love Silver

WHAT IS IT Why, it's an antique silver compote, says dealer Rudy Starita, of Palm Beach, Fla., in London on a buying trip. He's wondering if the folks back home will like it enough to shell out 500 smackers for it.

By JOHN GALE
LONDON (AP)—Britain is a land where you can pay $1,400 for a soup tureen, if it happens to be silver and made by an 18th-century character called Paul Storr.

It is also a land where one genuine American dollar will purchase one genuine Georgian teaspoon — the moral being you don't have to be a millionaire to take home an authentic silver antique.

The soup tureen in question is at present owned by a Liverpool woman, who as a sideline sells second-hand underwear to Lascar seamen.

Of such varied stuff are some British antique shops made.

Nevertheless, they attract annually a huge stream of American tourists, generally spearheaded by a task force of American dealers.

ONE SUCH is Rudy Starita, who runs an antique shop at Palm Beach, Fla., and says:

"I come here every year to stock up my shop. London is not only the cultural center of the world, but it has cheaper markets than back home and it has the goods that count."

Starita does not always buy the costly silver treasures from Italy, France, Germany and Holland that can be found behind British counters. Experience has shown that most of his Palm Beach customers will settle for an English cutlery set, just so long as it is stamped "made in Sheffield."

For the connoisseur, however, there is a good deal here that is unique.

The period from 1714 to 1820, covered by the reigns of the first three Georgian kings, is considered to have produced the best work by British silversmiths. Today, it also produces the best prices.

That one dollar Georgian teaspoon can cost up to 20 dollars, if it happens to carry the name of a famous maker, such as Asin or Hester Bateman, or Paul Storr.

SILVER PLATE also runs high. One magnificent platter, circa 1746 but only large enough to carry half a dozen coffee cups, was priced at $700 recently in a London salesroom. Curiosity value got in here. It carried the arms of a noble family.

Step up a reign to George IV and prices fall back slightly. An embossed teapot, coffee pot and cream jug, circa 1824, sold recently for $280.

Victorian period silver is also

Fraser was graduated from Hereford High School and attended UNM where he majored in business administration. He is employed by the Fraser Milling Co. at Dove Creek, Colo.

Other out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. John Kelly and son Mike, Mrs. Zephia Lloyd, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McCracken, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Easley, all of Hereford and Mr. and Mrs. Raylan Evans of Moffat, Colo.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Fraser were hosts at the rehearsal dinner given at the Robin Hood Inn on Friday evening preceding the wedding and several social functions were given to honor the bride previous to her marriage, both in Albuquerque and Hereford.

somewhat cheaper, but some of it is less than 100 years old and therefore not antique in the purest sense.

London dealers nevertheless report a big market for this sort of thing, especially if there's a story attached.

To go really mad, it's best to turn to French silver. It's not unusual to find $500 asked for a single glittering compote, dated about 1760.

At the top of the ornate, gilded receptacle, there's just room to hold a bunch of grapes — that is if the grapes aren't over-ripe.

YOUNG MODERNS

To Kiss or Not To Kiss? It Depends

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer
Dating season is in full swing again, judging by the letters from puzzled types. These questions are from students 16 to 18 years of age. Here goes:

Q. Our group has decided to put a controversial question up to you. It is this: Should girls kiss on a first date?

A. First-date-kissing depends entirely on the boy's character. If he is just kissing you goodnight, it is definitely "no." Ditto if he acts like he expects to be kissed goodnight or complains because you resist his advances.

Q. My best friend dated a boy all summer, then they broke off, and have not seen each other for several months. Now he has called me and asked me to a big dance. She will be going also, with another boy. I do not know whether to accept the invitation in the circumstances.

A. You should not worry about past friendships if you like the boy. It would be different if he had dated your friend until a recent quarrel, but since they haven't seen each other for a long time, the companionship seems to have come to a halt.

Q. How often can you see a boy without giving the impression of "going steady" to which my parents object.

A. If you are seeing other boys too, then you certainly are not in the steady dating class. Some girls, however, do use the technique called "5 to 1," seeing the boy they like five times as often as other dates, and thereby hope to deceive their parents who object to steady dating.

Q. A boy I like will not come to our house because he does not get along with my father. My father says I may not date him unless he picks me up at the house. Would it be better for me to meet him on the sly or should I give him up if he refuses to meet me at the house?

A. If he cares enough for you he will swallow his pride and come to see you. If there is no chance that he and your father can be friends, it might be better to break off the relationship anyway before it gets to the serious stage.

Q. Do you believe in Dutch Treat? A boy I know suggests that he would like to see more of me, but can't afford to.

A. I do not believe in Dutch Treat, except when a couple is engaged and saving their money. Then it doesn't seem to make much difference which pocket it comes out of. If a boy can't afford to take you out then he should see you on a date that doesn't cost him anything. House party invitations are one way. There is no reason why you should not invite him to your house, however, if you want to see him more often.

Q. I want to give a boy who has been very kind to me a birthday present. My mother says it would look very strange since he has never given me anything. I have known him for several years.

A. Your mother is right. On the other hand there is no reason why you can't give him a small gift — such as a book — in repayment of his kindnesses, but do not tie it to his birthday. There is no reason why you can't send him a birthday card, though.

Deb's Dream Room Is Castle

A GIRL'S ROOM IS HER CASTLE—Lovely Debutante Rita Arthur, of Irvington, N. Y., is shown in the room she helped plan and decorate. The unpainted furniture was stained driftwood. The bedspread is white with pink and grey motif.

By VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newfeatures
How to evolve that dream room that every school girl wants? The answer wasn't a problem to popular, pretty, debutante Rita Arthur, 18, of Irvington, New York. She knew what she wanted.
But now that she has her little castle completed, off she goes to college. And, she says, looking mournfully around her enchanted room, "you can't take it with you."
While packing for her trip to the University of Redlands in California, she added:
"It took me years to get this room organized. Just the right color scheme, storage cabinets, book shelves, typewriter niche and other things a girl dreams of. But now I'll only see it summers."

Rita decorated the room herself, with the assistance of her parents, and she thinks every girl should have the opportunity.
"I used unpainted furniture because I could fit in all the pieces I needed, rather than having a lot of bulky bureau drawers that never look neat."
She has a double dresser that holds such items as sweaters, jewel case, blouses. A small chest above it has sliding doors, ideal to hold the myriad of little articles that make a room look messy—school books, letters, scarves. She has a corner arrangement that consists of a desk with a drawer and an open space for a typewriter. It fits perfectly. Another corner section is rounded for books beneath and a television set above.

Between that and the next unit is a bookcase and Rita has utilized the space for a vanity arrangement. She set a tray between the two units, putting a slim mirror on the wall to complete the dressing table arrangement.
All the furniture glistens with a professional finish, yet the Arthurs used nothing more than their own elbow grease, double-o sandpaper, and white and gray paint to get a handsome driftwood effect. The white paint is applied first, left to dry for 24 hours. Gray paint is applied over that and mostly removed in 15 or 20 minutes to get the silvery-gray tone. The Arthurs used a squeegee for the purpose, a good idea for getting the job done effortlessly. Two coats of thinned shellac then were applied.
This finish takes a little time but it was worth it. The furniture is

When It Comes to Community Service . . .

No Other Group Rivals Local Fire Department

A fire department, to most people, is very much the same as a parachute to a pilot. Neither get much consideration until they are needed but, when that time of need arises, nothing else can take their place.

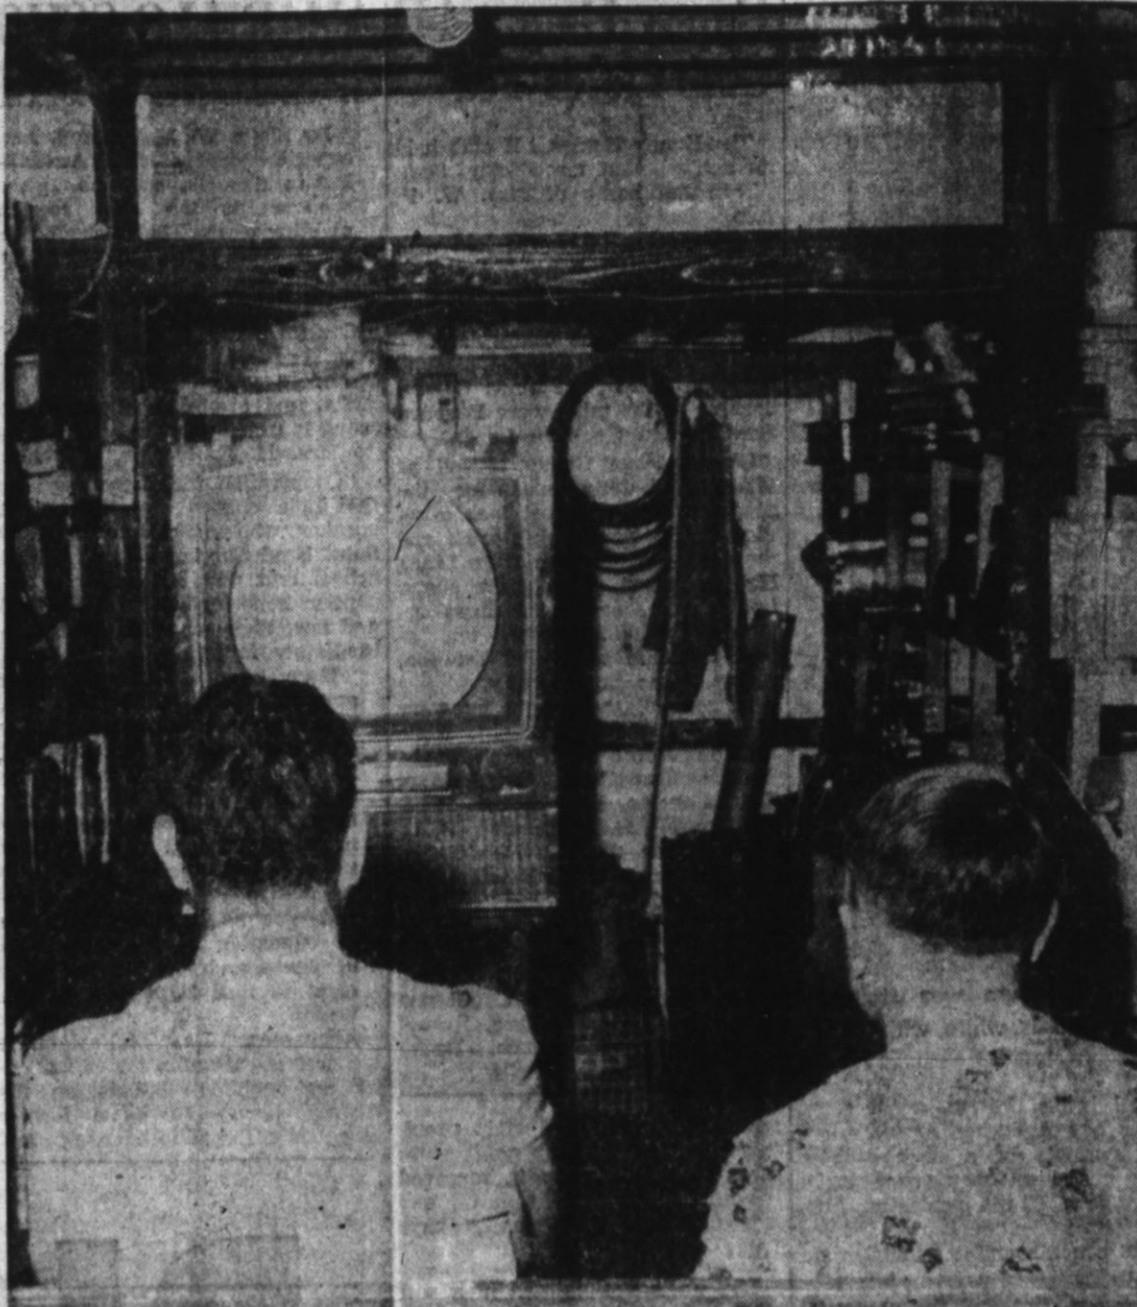

This week Hereford's volunteer fire department saw action in two large-scale fires. How much they saved the persons involved would be impossible to calculate, but additional losses could easily have soared on past the $100,000 mark. Efforts of the department, at the same time, resulted in tremendous savings for the community in the form of future insurance penalties—had the fires been allowed to spread.

Unquestionably, Hereford today boasts one of the best qualified, best trained and most alert fire departments in Texas. The situation is a result of hard work, intense interest and devotion to public service on the part of approximately 30 men who spend untold hours in pursuit of more efficient fire fighting. Behind this group stands a progressive board of city officials who were willing to invest funds in trucks and other equipment, making the achievement possible.

For hundreds of years, fire has been a hazard as well as a boon to mankind. The only thing people can do is what Hereford has done, and that is to combat the situation in the most efficient manner possible and practical. As a result, each of us owes the individual members of the fire department a debt we can never pay. The only time we fully realize the extent of this debt is the time when fire strikes our own homes, our businesses or threatens our loved ones.

Meanwhile, a pat on the back and an occasional word of encouragement will go a long way toward making the volunteer fireman happy. He is primarily a citizen, interested in his community, or he would not belong to the organization—and we know of no other single group which renders equal service to that of the Hereford Volunteer firemen.

NATIONAL NEWSPAPER WEEK

Free Press and Freedom of Religion Backbone of "American Way of Life"

Sunday is the sixth day of National Newspaper Week. Specifically, it is "Religion and Press Day."

In a very real sense the press and the pulpit are partners, though we fell sure that some pastors will view the statement with a question mark.

You have heard it said that churches and newspapers rise and fall together. In every land which has bowed to the tyrant's yoke, two things stand out: (1) a controlled press and (2) an intimidated church. Certainly, there cannot for long exist a free church in the nation which has a slave press. By the same token, a free press cannot long exist alongside a controlled or imprisoned church.

The two are dependent on each other. The press strives to maintain a freedom of mind, while the church preserves freedom of spirit. Both are necessary. Take away one and the other is sorely distressed.

These things we take for granted in Hereford—in all America for that matter—and such was the cherished hope of our forefathers who fought and bled for both rights.

Certainly, both were recognized in the first Article of the Bill of Rights by providing that Congress shall make no law respecting the establishment of religion, and no law abridging freedom of the press.

Down through the years, both tenets have served the people of the nation well. No faithful nation served by an informed press is likely to fall prey to false god or false doctrine and, by the same token, no nation based on freedom of religion is likely to enslave its press.

People who fail to take advantage of either freedom are failing to make the most of their American heritage. As you lay this paper aside, why not make it complete by attending the church of your choice—today? In addition to becoming a better balanced individual, you will live amid a happier, truly American family.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

World Series Doesn't Bother Some People

- Has the World Series affected your business or daily routine? How?
- BETTY LADY—Definitely, yes! At the office we take time out to watch it every day.
- ROY ROBERTSON—I don't think that it has affected us. We listen to it but we wait on business just the same.
- MRS. J. E. MOODY—No, I don't think it has interrupted with my work.
- WAYNE EDWARDS—No. The type of business I am in it makes no difference. People can't pick the time to get sick and we keep just as steady as ever.
- MRS. CARL M. STAPP—No, not that I can tell. I don't have time to watch, and as much as I like baseball games I don't turn my set on.
- ANSEL McDOWELL—No, I think the ballgames give people something to talk about but they still come in. I don't listen because I can't get it on my radio. If I could I would, however.
- F. A. PHIFER—Not a bit. Don't have time to listen so we don't. Everyone talks about the games.
- OLIVER STREU—Yes, we have about 15 people in our store constantly doing nothing but watching the series on our colored TV set.

ESTATE LOTS READY FOR 'NEGLECTED' MILLIONAIRES

By BEN FUNK

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Pity the poor millionaire. There's almost no place for him to live any more.

That's the authoritative opinion of a fellow who has studied the rich man's housing situation from Beverly Hills to Westchester County.

"The forgotten man of today is the one you would least suspect," says H. B. Layne, 46, head of a big land developing and building firm. "He's the one who desperately needs shelter in the $75,000-and-up home class.

"The truth is that builders are taking care of the low and medium priced home markets but ignoring the luxury market."

One of the main reasons for the shortage of fine homes, Layne says, has been the "squeezing out" of the rich from their old dwelling areas.

"New York's Long Island, for instance, has yielded to the pressure of the multitudes, and the big old estates have been carved up into medium price developments. It's the same in Evanston, Ill., and Nob Hill, San Francisco.

"Where can the millionaire go if he wants to live with neighbors on his own financial level? "He can buy other people's houses in the 'good' places like Grosse Point, Mich., or Bedford Village, N. Y. But if he wants to erect his own home, there is practically no land available in established areas for the wealthy."

Putting his theory to practice, Layne has taken a sorry looking coastal swamp a few miles north of here and is turning it into one of the plushiest home and apartment developments in the nation.

Appropriately, he has named his 550-acre, multi-island community Golden Isles. There's no place here for the guy who wants to pay a thousand bucks down and 60 a month. It costs $12,000 and up just for a lot—with cash on the barrelhead—and nothing worth less than $50,000 can be built on the lot.

Six months after Layne ordered an array of earth-moving and canal-digging machines into the swamp, three seawalled and perfectly maneuvered islands have been sculptured and 14 more are to be carved out of the morass.

In the center of the first island, Layne built a $100,000 home and has moved into it. He also maintains a home in Springfield, Ohio, from where he directs his northern operations. He has built more than 5,000 low-cost dwellings up there.

What has happened so far at Golden Isles indicates that Layne's thinking about superquality is on the beam. In six months, he has sold three million dollars worth of lots and expects to sell another eight million dollars worth during the coming winter season.

Charles Schrage, head of the Chicago-based construction company which bears his name, bought half a million dollars worth of land in a single transaction.

"I don't think Golden Isles alone will solve the problem of the homeless wealthy," Layne says. "But it's a step in the right direction."

Galveston Claims Many 'Firsts' in Texas' History

GALVESTON, (AP)—Galveston's long list of "firsts" may well stretch from the footsteps of Cabeza de Vaca to the dialing of the first wrong number in Texas.

It was the Spanish explorer who is credited with being the first white man to set foot on Texas soil. That was in 1523.

The first wrong number in the state came with the start of operations of Southwestern Telegraph and Telephone Co. in Galveston in 1878.

The Galveston News and Tribune say that's only a bare start of the firsts.

There was the then little-known collector of the Port of Galveston who came up with the idea for condensed milk. His name was Gall Borden.

AND A quarter of a century before the first telephone in Texas, a railroad train chugged into the state's first such terminal, known today as Galveston Wharves.

It was the Buffalo Bayou, Brazos & Colorado, which struggled over a 26-mile line from Harrisburg to Stafford's Point in 1853.

The newspaper says the first steamship line in Texas was organized in Galveston in 1865. It was the Mallory Line, formed by Galveston and New York interests.

One of the firsts in newspapering is the Galveston Daily News, founded when Texas was a Republic.

THE NOW all but forgotten but once important mule cars first plodded the streets of Texas in the island resort city in 1868. Twenty-two years later Galveston came up with the mule teams' successor and was the first city in Texas to roll out the new fangled electric street car.

Then came the horseless carriage and Henry Ford's first agency in Texas. A. J. Rasmussen & Sons, organized in 1895, claims the distinction.

Galveston also claims many military firsts. The short-lived colorful Texas Navy got its start here. The state's oldest military company, now known as the Galveston Artillery Company, was chartered here in 1841.

THE FIRST military unit in the state to train for service in World War I was the Texas Naval Militia of Galveston. It pulled out on April 6, 1917, the day war was declared.

The claims list also is well sprinkled with the fields of cotton, utilities, medicine and business.

One "first" not so easily proven but which Galveston likes to claim lies in the field of flowers.

It's the first oleanders which were brought to Galveston from the old world in 1841 and now adorn Galveston streets and boulevards.

HARVEST BEGINS IN LAMB COUNTY

The largest milo harvest in the county's history is getting underway, if the frost stays off long enough. Loaded trucks of grain are arriving at the elevators in increasing numbers. To date about 75 cars of grain have come into Littlefield. A good year of dryland production topped by an outstanding yield of hybrid grains on irrigated land, has caused the prediction of the large crop.—COUNTY WIDE NEWS.

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm apparently doesn't understand the difference between international and local language, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:

I never was so flabbergasted in my life. I was standing there by my fence looking over into my neighbor's pasture, understand, I wasn't coveting it, I've got sense enough to know more land means more work, although if put to it I believe I could work as little on two farms as one, when my neighbor walked up and handed me a newspaper and said, "Here, I understand you like to read these things."

Sure, I admit it, I like to read newspapers, and if a lot of other people didn't too, where would you and me be, especially you, Mr. Gillentine?

So I thanked him and took the paper and went back home and sat down and read it.

The main thing that caught my attention was an article on guided missiles. As I understand it, a guided missile is something you shoot into space, duck, and wonder where it's going. It's sort of like sending a man to Congress—you can aim him in the right direction, but you never know where he'll land and it's sometimes hard to track him even when he's still in flight—but what really interested me was the way the governments of the world describe the accomplishments of their missiles.

For example, Russia says she has flown a guided missile "a huge distance." The U. S. comes right back and says we've flown one "many miles through space." England says hers has gone "an unrevealed distance through her majesty's atmosphere."

Now this is a system of language I admire, and what I want to know is why can't you and me have access to the same arrangement?

For instance, say I come in about dark after a day. I claimed I spent on my tractor and my wife asks me how much plowing I got done.

"Quite a bit," I say, but my wife, who is ignorant of the international situation, ain't satisfied, and starts pinning me down to exactly, how much. A thing like that will ruin your supper.

But she's not by herself. Try using international language on your banker when he asks you how much you already owe when you're after a loan. What do you think the internal revenue collector would say when he asks you how much income you made last year and you said, "well, several dollars," or "an unrevealed amount?"

I'll tell you, this world would be a lot more comfortable, as far as I'm concerned, if more people got up on the international language level.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Conductor Is on Disc with Radio City Orchestra

By HUGH MULLIGAN
 AP Newsfeatures Writer

Symphony conductor Raymond Paige rarely gets to play a classical piece all the way through, seldom hits the concert trail and never hears a "bravo" bellowed from the balcony, yet more people attend his performances than any other conductor in the world. Paige is conductor of the Radio City Music Hall Symphony Orchestra. Each year more than five million people watch him wave a baton over the ornate and sprightly stage shows in the nation's largest theater.

Besides conducting a full-size symphony orchestra for five shows a day, seven days a week, Paige also serves as musical director for the stage shows, guides the destiny of the Music Hall Glee Club and supervises the chorale ensemble. In his spare time, he may work out the background music for a trained dog act, select an accompaniment for a soft shoe routine or integrate the work of a harmonica soloist or musical sawist with the overall musical production. To do all this and keep step with the ever changing trends in never dead vaudeville, Paige must be as familiar with calypso and rock 'n' roll as he is with Verdi.

Now, miraculously having found even more spare time, conductor Paige has turned to making records. Conducting the Radio City Symphony Orchestra in an excellently recorded Roulette album, he brings to hi-fi the same blend of high musical taste and expert showmanship that has made him the toast of Sixth Avenue for the past seven years. The selections, taken from an actual stage show, include a rollicking Latin overture of Ernesto Lecuona melodies, a ballet arrangement of Richard Rodgers' "Slaughter on Tenth Avenue," some Calypso songs arranged for the fast-stepping Rockettes, and a grand finale of Viennese waltzes and polkas.

Good showmanship shines through several other recent record releases that also harken back to the days of vaudeville. Eddie Cantor, in a VIK album, brings back the era of the Ziegfeld Follies and the songs that made him famous: "Making Woppee," "If You Knew Susie," "Margie" and "Ida, Sweet as Apple Cider." The recordings, all recent, are interspersed with a commentary by Cantor on his old days and old friends in show business.

One of these old friends, Jimmy Durante, who played piano when Cantor was a singing waiter at Coney Island, is featured on a new Decca record called "Club Durant." It features excerpts from some of Durante's top radio shows of the past and, despite the antiquity of the material, is surprisingly funny, particularly where guests Helen Traubel, Peter Lawford and Bob Hope share the billing.

Still in a nostalgic vein, Decca offers "Among My Souvenirs," a new album of old Al Jolson songs recorded for the Kraft Music Hall broadcasts. Given the hi-fi treatment, songs like "Roses of Picardy" and "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows" prove once again that Jolson was a gifted balladier along with being the greatest of the minstrel singers.

Also getting in on the vaudeville revival, Columbia offers "Anna Russell in Darkest Africa," some mildly amusing monologues by British comedienne Anna Russell.

COOL COPS

WALTHAM, Mass. — To make it hot for traffic violators, first make it cool for the traffic cop.

That's the prescription here, where traffic division police taxed themselves $1 a week to buy a one-ton air conditioner for their office and a smaller one for the squad commander's office.

Similarly the men got new floors for their quarters by trimming and laying the tiles themselves.

Capt. Walter T. Weir, head of the squad, says he's sold on do-it-yourself.

Brick Fireplace Wall Needs Solid Support

By JOHN O. B. WALLACE
AP Newsfeatures

QUESTIONS IN THIS WEEK'S mailbag show there's no slackening in the zeal of the do-it-yourself man around the house.

Their activities, and subsequently their problems, range from floor tiles to brick fireplace construction. Pop-out nail heads also are mentioned in this columnist's incoming do-it-yourself mail.

From Roslyn Heights, N. Y., J. B. writes:

IS THERE A PROBLEM OF EXTRA FLOOR WEIGHT IF YOU WANT TO SUBSTITUTE BRICK WALLING FOR REGULAR WALLING ON, SAY, A FIREPLACE WALL?

Yes, if you wish to replace the entire fireplace wall with brick masonry. A masonry wall adds a lot of weight and almost all building regulations forbid the supporting of a brick wall with wood.

If there is a foundation ledge, however, under the fireplace wall now in your home or if your house is of slab construction, you will have no support problem.

Without such a ledge, it will be necessary for you to cut out the floor under that portion of the wall and install an angle iron support or a piece of steel to support the bricks. This is a big job, and not one to be undertaken lightly.

Brick facing, as thin as 3/4 of an inch, are available. Light weight plastic materials also are on the market.

Other questions:
HOW CAN YOU DISGUISE THE SEAMS IN DRY-WALL CONSTRUCTION SO THAT THEY DON'T SHOW THROUGH THE PAINT?

There's a handy item on the market for this purpose. It's perforated tape, about 2 inches wide, which binds and seals the seams, and generally is made of heavy paper and fiber.

Strip the tape over the seams, then spread a coat of spackle over the tape, feathering the spackle out beyond the edges of the tape.

Allow the spackle to dry thoroughly, then use a fine grade of sandpaper to smooth any small ridges. Then apply a coat of thin shellac over the spackled areas. After the shellac dries, the dry wall and seams are ready for painting.

CAN YOU GUARD AGAINST NAILS SWELLING THROUGH A DRY WALL AND SHOWING UP UNDER THE PAINT?

Be sure, first of all, that dry wall nails are used in putting up the walls. These nails have a lot of holding power but they must go into a solid piece of wood for maximum security.

After the nail is driven in to a point where the head is even with the dry wall, tap the nail once more with the hammer. This will leave the head of the nail slightly depressed below the face of the wall.

Fill the depression with spackle, let it dry, then sand it lightly to make sure the surface is smooth. A coat of thin shellac over the spackle and the walls are ready for painting.

CAN YOU LAY NEW ASPHALT TILE OVER OLD TILE?

Most manufacturers and floor tile installation men recommend that all old floor coverings be removed before new tile is installed. This is the best insurance for a good job.

If the old tile floor was properly installed, however, and is smooth, even and solid underfoot there should be no real problem in laying new tile over it. The old tile, though, must be completely free of all oil, dirt, wax or other surface preparations.

If this is the case, proceed with the new tile as you would on top of sub flooring. Spread the adhesive on top of the old tile and carefully place the new tile, working only on a small area at a time. A felt underlayment also could be placed first on top of the old tile.

This would add resiliency to the new flooring. But remember that the felt underlayment and the new tile are going to add considerable height to the flooring when placed over old tile flooring.

WALTER ROGERS WRITES:

Some Cold Facts On The I.G. Year

To the people of the 18th District: A fascinating and concerted program, and one of world-wide scope, commenced on July 1 of this year. I speak of the International Geophysical Year which is a cooperative endeavor to expand man's knowledge of the observation of natural phenomena in all parts of the world. During the period from July 1, 1957, to Dec. 31, 1958, scientists from 56 nations will study such topics as cosmic rays, geomagnetism, meteorology, ionospheric physics, gravity, seismology, glaciology, aurora and air glow, and others. The data from these observations will be pooled and the results made available to all participants.

Of all the useful and necessary information to be assimilated in the period, some of the most interesting will come from one of the least known parts of the earth—the Antarctic or the South Polar Region. This country's interests lie in several considerations of this region, among them being the establishment of future great circle routes such as those now in operation over the Arctic Region, and the possible mineral deposits in the Antarctic.

In this connection, a subcommittee of the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, of which I am a member, recently heard some pertinent testimony by Adm. George J. Dufek, who has succeeded the late, famed explorer, Adm. Richard E. Byrd, as U. S. Antarctic Projects Officer. He currently heads up a program called "Operation Deepfreeze" which began in 1955 with the establishment of two bases in the Antarctic at McMurdo Sound and Ganey Bay. The second phase of Operation Deepfreeze, the 1956 season, had as its objective the construction of two stations in the interior, one of which is at the geographic South Pole. The United States has established a total of seven stations on the Antarctic Continent to carry out observations during the International Geophysical Year. Space will not permit a complete description of the interesting data being gathered by Adm. Dufek, but you might be interested in some cold facts about the continent outlined by him.

1. Antarctica is the world's largest continent, embracing 5,100,000 square miles of territory and equaling in size the United States and Mexico together. Having an average altitude of 6,000 feet, it is the world's highest continent.

2. The coldest temperature ever recorded was -100.4 degrees F. at the U. S. South Pole Station last May 12. Formerly it was -93.6 degrees F. at Verkhoyansk (Siberia), in 1920.

3. Fifteen minerals of potential commercial value have already been found in the Antarctic. Although no uranium-bearing ore has yet been discovered, it is felt that because Antarctica is a shield area, such deposits do exist.

4. Due to the earth's centrifugal force, objects weigh more at the Poles than they do at the Equator. This means that 5,000 tons of cargo loaded on a ship in the vicinity of the Equator would actually weigh about 50,000 pounds more at the Poles.

5. There are no polar bears or land animals in the Antarctic. Killer Whales and Leopard Seals are the big villains in waters surrounding Antarctica. As a result, penguins and other seal species find haven on the sea-ice.

6. The Antarctic contains 86 percent of the world's glacial ice supply. It has been estimated that its melting would raise the surface of the oceans over one hundred feet and completely inundate the seaports of the world as we know them today.

7. Great square-shaped icebergs are sloughed from the ice shelves surrounding Antarctica. One of these tabular bergs, sighted by the icebreaker USS Glacier between the Antarctic Continent and New Zealand on Nov. 12, 1956, was 208 miles long and 60 miles wide, approximately the size of Connecticut.

8. An atmospheric condition known as a "white out" is a frequent Antarctic occurrence and endangers both plane and trail operations. Aviators say it is like flying in a bowl of milk. Loss of horizon and shadows, which give perspective, is caused by reflected light.

9. In spite of its being a land of ice and snow, the Antarctic continent is the home of a large, active volcano, 13,000 feet high Mount Erebus, which is located in the McMurdo Sound area.

10. The Antarctic Continent is theoretically located at the North Pole, since its south magnetic pole is attracted by the south pole of a magnet. It is a law of physics that like poles repel and unlike poles attract.

11. The intense cold and sterility of Antarctic air preserves food and materials almost indefinitely. For instance, corned beef, canned beans, and sugar cached by the Swedish Explorer, Nordenskjold, provided a most satisfactory meal for the British Falkland Islands Dependencies Survey Party 45 years later. The print on a magazine, too, was as readable as ever.

12. The Antarctic Seas, scientists contend, produce more food per acre than anywhere else in the world, on land or sea. Most of

COLUMBUS DAY - 1957

YES, it's time to rediscover America — the land of freedom, opportunity and progress. Time, too, to discover that freedom, opportunity and progress have many enemies — right here in our own country. Enemies who say the government should be in business, should provide our medical care, should control the education of our children.
