HARVESTING OF A NEW CROP for Deaf Smith County continued this week as cucumbers were picked again on a 45-acre test plot of the Jorde Potato Co. Operations began about Aug. 9 and will continue for a five to six week period. According to Keith Jorde, the crop is of superior quality. (Staff Photo)

ANOTHER CASH CROP ADDED

Cucumber Test Results In County Show Top Prospects

Around Town

Woody Wilson toted a sack into the office last week, shaking his head about having to deliver it to Jimmie Gillentine. The sack contained one large apple and one large peach, samples of the crop raised this year in the yard of the S. O. Wilsons. "I just hate to see fruit like that wasted on Jimmie," Woody declared. Well, Woody can rest easier now. That lovely fruit was wasted on yours truly. Since we got to write about it, we figured we should have the right to sample it and, being too occupied with other matters this week, Jimmie reluctantly agreed. Anyhow, the peach and the apple are large... and most delicious.

A 45-acre experimental plot of cucumbers in Deaf Smith County holds the promise of adding another cash crop to the long list of vegetables now being grown in the area.

The plot was put in as a test by Jorde Potato Co., to determine if cucumbers could be grown here. Sale of the crop has been contracted for by Craddock Foods, a division of Morton Food Co.

At present, according to Keith Jorde, the closest cucumbers grown to Hereford are in the Olton, Hale Center and Edmondson areas.

Jorde sounded a note of optimism as he stated the crop

Man Posts Bond On DWI Charge

A Hereford man posted $500 bond on a charge of driving while intoxicated, first offense, Saturday morning after he was arraigned in county court. Albert Robert Treadway, 38, of 120 Bradley posted bond after he had been arrested by the Highway Patrol at 4:15 p. m. Friday at the intersection of Park Avenue and U. S. Highway 385.

here is as good as "any field in the country".

"Actually, the cucumbers here are of top quality and superior to the crop grown in the area to the south," he commented.

He pointed out that the expected yield has been estimated at 500 bushels per acre with gross profit "conservatively estimated" to average about $600 per acre.

"The extremely good cucumber crop," Jorde explained, "is making the highest average of any being grown and is making the best grades."

Planting of the crop on the 45-acre plot about six miles west of Hereford on the Harrison Highway began during the last of May, he stated.

However, heavy rains caused the beds to wash, Jorde continued. Since the crop did not make a good stand, it was plowed up and re-planted about June 10.

He pointed out that it takes approximately two months for cucumbers to reach the fruiting stage and mature enough for picking to begin.

Harvesting of the crop usually is completed within a five-to-six-week period, he commented. Cucumbers are picked every three days during the period.

Jorde pointed out that it (Continued on page 8)

Judge Outlines Compulsory Laws On School Attendance

School-age children in Deaf Smith County will attend classes this year — or else, County Judge H. C. Williams warned Friday.

Judge Williams announced that he would carry on a program started in the county last year to enforce school attendance laws without exception.

The County Judge in Deaf Smith County automatically serves as ex-officio county schools superintendent and, as such is empowered to enforce the state compulsory attendance laws.

"I am in complete accord with the program carried out by Judge D. D. Zimmerman, the county school officials and our law enforcement officers," Judge Williams stated. "I intend to follow the law and to see that every school-age child in this county attends school regularly."

County Attorney Ed Line earlier had outlined the five basic school laws, which generally provide that every child between the ages of 7 and 18 (Continued on page 8)

Man Narrowly Escapes Death By Electrocuting

An Amarillo construction worker narrowly escaped death near Hereford about 11 a. m. Thursday as the electric cord of a power saw tangled in a 13,000-volt transmission line.

Following the accident, the worker, Bill McClure, 27, was rushed to Deaf Smith County Hospital for treatment. He was released by the hospital late Friday.

McClure is reported to have suffered burns on his head, right shoulder and arm as he escaped electrocution.

The man and a fellow construction worker, Carroll Roxorde, according to reports, were working on the roof of a home on the Clinton Jackson farm, four and a half miles north of Hereford, when the accident occurred.

When Jackson saw that the power saw cord had tangled with the high voltage line, he knocked McClure away from the power tool.

The quick-thinking worker then began giving artificial respiration to the unconscious man. McClure was in shock when he arrived at the hospital.

A Southwestern Public Service Co. spokesman said Friday that McClure would have been electrocuted if he had not been on top of the dwelling.

Between 3000 and 3500 children start the trek back to school within the next two weeks. Hereford Public Schools and Walcott School will begin classes on Thursday, Aug. 30. Classes will start at St. Anthony's Parochial School on Sept. 4.

Enrollment for Hereford Public Schools will begin for one grade on Tuesday, with most of the registration activity on Wednesday.

Incoming seventh grade students will enroll at Stanton Junior High between 1:30 - 4:30 p. m. Tuesday, Aug. 28.

Enrollment schedule for Wednesday, Aug. 29, includes all elementary grades between 8:30 a. m. and 3 p. m. All grades of high school students will enroll between 8:30 a. m. and 4:30 p. m. The eighth grade is to register between 8:30 a. m. and noon. Registration for ninth graders will be held between 1:30 - 4:30 p. m.

School superintendent Paul Stevens announced that elementary school boundary lines and rural bus routes would remain the same as for the 1961-62 school year.

Stevens and his staff are looking apprehensively toward registration this week. He estimated Friday that peak enrollment of 3200 to 3300 students should hit the school system in October. "If we have any more than 3300 at any one time, we're in trouble," Stevens admitted.

The school system was crowded at times last year, with fluctuating enrollments up to 3000-plus. Since then, a building program has been approved for the high school and Northwest Elementary, but construction hasn't started and the additions won't be ready until at least September of 1963.

Enrollment for Walcott Common School District, in the northwest part of the county, will be held Thursday, Aug. 30, as school starts. Principal T. L. Collins is looking for about 80 students in the eight grades taught by the school. Buses will run on the regular schedule Thursday, Collins said.

Registration for students who will attend St. Anthony's School started Saturday and will continue through Monday. Classes will not start until Tuesday, Sept. 4. About 285 students are expected this year, a slight increase from the peak of 270 (Continued on page 8)

Meharg Working Toward Proposed 'Eye Bank' Plan

Plans will be made Thursday evening in Amarillo for operation of the Hereford Lions Club Eye Bank as members of the organization's Board of Directors convene for the first meeting of the year.

Clee Meharg, past president of the Hereford Lions Club and member of the board, reports that the group will announce plans for the bank's operation following the meeting.

Pointing out that the High Plains Eye Bank is fast becoming a reality, Meharg stated that District 27-1 of Lions International will soon have the eye bank on an operational basis.

"We have already received the go-ahead from Saint Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo," Meharg explained. "They have agreed to receive and store eyes for use in transplant surgery."

Meharg explained that the High Plains Eye Bank will enable area residents to receive the benefits of a new technique in eye surgery.

Through the eye bank, donors "will" their eyes to persons with certain visual difficulties. Upon the death of donors, their eyes are removed and literally transplanted to replace damaged eyes of living persons.

In Thursday's meeting, the board of directors will prepare a statement for release concerning the operation and future of the High Plains Eye Bank.

"We are already in a further stage of development than we have ever been before on this project," Meharg stated. "A drive for eye donors is already being carried on in a small scale. Legal hurdles concerning donation of eyes have been ironed out."

Meharg stated that the High Plains Eye Bank is a project sponsored by District 27-1 of Lions International, which includes the local club. The seven Amarillo Lions clubs originated the drive for the eye bank only a few years ago.

$500 Bonds Set As Misdemeanor Cases Are Filed

Bonds were set here last week as misdemeanor charges were filed against three out-of-town men by the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's office.

A bond of $500 was set Thursday in County Court, Judge H. C. Williams presiding, as swindling with worthless check charges, two counts, were filed against Osby Lois James, 44, of Littlefield.

James was arrested by Lamb County law enforcement officers. He was returned here to face charges by the sheriff's office.

Bonds of $500 each were set Friday as misdemeanor theft charges were filed against Allen Stacy Burney, 43, of Stamford, and Frenchie Adair, 46, Alvin, Tex. Bonds were set by Judge Williams.

Both were arrested in Hereford on Thursday, Aug. 16, by Sheriff Lowell Sharp.

BIG DOMINO BANDSMEN of Hereford High School started back to school this week as band practice began Monday. The high school musicians are having concert practice followed by marching drills during the evenings. With the football season about ready to begin, Hereford High will field a 90-piece marching band, the largest in the past two years. (Staff Photo)

Expect Word Soon On Shrine Center

By Wain Miller
Brand Staff Reporter

A verdict affecting six million persons should come within the next few months. Climaxing a case which has been in review for 15 years, a committee meets in Chicago in mid-September to hear the pleas of three Hereford men.

These men represent the Khiva Shrine Temple, which includes 38 Panhandle counties, in an effort to locate a huge medical center in the Hereford vicinity.

Meeting with the Site Selection Committee for the proposed Shrine Burn Center Hospital, the representatives carry a staggering load of facts showing advantages for the establishment of a Shrine Hospital in the area.

Dr. L. B. Barnett, chairman of the Khiva Temple Hospital Committee, Dub Reeves, president of the Oasis Shrine Club of Hereford, and Harry Bennett, Oasis Shrine Club member, form the delegation.

The group met last week with the Noble Harry Beffa Sr., chairman of the Site Selection Committee, in St. Louis, Mo.

There they summarized the need for, and the advantages of, the establishment here of one of the three proposed Shrine hospitals. They also made themselves available for future consultation with the Site Selection Committee.

The representatives may be called to Chicago in three weeks to plead their case before the entire committee.

Following the Chicago meet, the Site Selection Committee will select five or six possible sites for the establishment of three burn center hospitals. They will then make a personal inspection of the possible sites before making a final decision.

North American Shriners have already approved funds for the establishment of three burn centers in the United States. These three centers have a planned total cost of over ten million dollars and will operate on an annual budget of over one and one-quarter million dollars each.

These hospitals will serve not only as medical treatment centers, but will also be used (Continued on page 8)

Damaged Mail Policy Stated By Postmaster

"There is a general misunderstanding among the mailing public that indemnity will be paid by the Post Office Department, on all lost or damaged mail," said Nolan Grady, Hereford postmaster.

Patrons are often disturbed, he continued, when they present damaged parcels to the post office and discover that an indemnity will not be paid unless the packages are registered, insured or collect-on-delivery.

"Although every effort is made to protect all mail," Grady commented, "circumstances sometimes occur which result in mail being lost or damaged."

The postmaster pointed out that mailers may reduce the possibility of financial loss on valuable items by using the services offered to insure mail. These services are insured, registered, or collect-on-delivery mail.

The fact that indemnity is not paid on ordinary mail, however, does not mean the post office has no interest when parcels are lost or damaged, the postmaster added.

Reports by the public concerning loss, rifling, delay or damage to ordinary mail are of the greatest value in finding and correcting faults in postal service, Grady stated.

Complaints on postal service may be made in writing to the postmaster, he said, or by calling the Hereford Post Office EM4-2054. If the complaint concerns mishandling, the envelope or wrapper should be submitted.

James Rockwell Funeral Is Held

Funeral services for a pioneer lumber dealer and co-owner of a local lumber yard were held Saturday in Houston.

Mr. James Wade Rockwell died in the St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital in Houston Thursday evening, Aug. 23, following a lengthy illness.

The brother of Cecil C. Rockwell of Hereford, Mr. Rockwell was a co-owner of the Rockwell Brothers Lumber Co. chain and a pioneer in the lumber business.

He served as head of the Houston office of the firm until a few years ago, when his health forced him to retire.

Survivors include his wife, of the home in Houston; and two brothers, Henry of Houston, and Cecil.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at the Trinity Episcopal Church in Houston. Interment was in Forest Park, Lawndale Mausoleum of Houston.

BOSTON — The Museum of Science's transparent woman is being flown to Cologne, Germany — for surgery.
The transparent lady, brought here from Cologne in 1955, has been viewed by an estimated 750,000 persons.
But her innards have gone awry. The lighting system is on the blink.
When her heart lighted, so too, did her gall bladder.
That created considerable confusion.

NEW OFFICERS of the Chamber of Commerce Executives Association of West Texas were elected last week in a meeting at Brownwood. Among the group is Bill Thompson of Hereford, right. He was named vice president of the group. Thompson is manager of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce. Other officers include Russell Willis, top, of San Angelo, who will be president. Left is John Reus, the new secretary-treasurer, from Floydada. At bottom is R. T. Wilson of Monahans, elected as editor of the association's publication. (Personal Photo)

Families Are Vacationing

By Mrs. Owen Andrews
Several families from this community have been vacationing recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Julian Johnson and daughters, Melissa and Patricia, have recently returned from a two-weeks trip to several scenic spots. They visited Yellowstone National Park, saw the Mormon Temple in Salt Lake City, went to Bryce Canyon and Zion Canyon in Utah, looked at Grand Canyon and watched the Indian Festival at Gallup, N. M. They also enjoyed touring cave dwellings and ruins at Mesa Verde National Park in Colorado.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Andrews, Rocky, Kirk and Lorette, were vacationing in Kansas and Colorado the past week. At Stafford, Kan., they visited Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Brister and family. The Bristers formerly lived at Nazareth, where Emerson taught agriculture. Emerson and Clark were in the Army together at Fort Bliss in 1953 and 1954.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hudgens and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Cross, all of Huntington Beach, Cal., are here visiting their sister and daughter, Mrs. Walter Hodges Jr. and family, and other relatives in this area.

Jerry Hodges is playing with a band, "Ray Ruff and the Checkmates", on a tour of North and South Dakota. The band played there in June, went back in July and is up there again. Members of the band are from Hereford and Amarillo.

Several from this community visited in the D. O. Benson home on Sunday, during an open house marking the Golden Wedding anniversary of the Bentons. Hosting the occasion were their daughters and their husbands, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Simpson of Albuquerque, N. M.; Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Simms of Amarillo and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Cruse of Farwell.

Mr. and Mrs. S. B. McLallen of Dallas spent Friday night with Mr. and Mrs. Owen Andrews. The McLallens spent the weekend visiting friends in Hereford and Frio while on their way to Colorado for a visit with their parents and other relatives.

The McLallens are associated with Buckner's Children's Home in Dallas, where he is supervisor in charge of food, clothing and merchandise for the 500 children and many employees who live there.
Ann and Cay Zetsche spent the weekend visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Andrews, while their parents were vacationing at Ruidoso, N. M. The Leonard Schmidts also spent part of the weekend in the mountains with the Zetsches.

Sweet Adelines Rehearsing For Coming Events

Members of Hereford's prospective Sweet Adeline Chapter met with the Amarillo chapter at the St. Paul's Methodist Church on Thursday evening.

In preparation for their annual Festival of Music program in October, the groups rehearsed their musical numbers.

Plans were made for a "bush league" barbershop contest for Sept. 15 in Amarillo at the St. Paul's Methodist Church.
The Hereford group will enter two quartets in the contest. These will compete with groups from Amarillo and Hooker, Okla.

Hereford's Sweet Adelines will hold their next meeting Thursday, Aug. 30 in the Hereford Community Center at 7:30 p. m. Mrs. Jean Coleman, president of the local prospective chapter, urged all women who "like to sing" to attend the meeting.

The local chapter is currently in a drive to gain enough members to become a regular chapter of the national organization.

Mrs. Coleman pointed out, "All a person has to do to become a Sweet Adeline is 'like to sing.' A Sweet Adeline does not have to be able to read music or have previous vocal training. Our musical arrangements are strictly 'barbershop' style."

Members of the local prospective chapter attending the Thursday night meeting in Amarillo were Dyan Roberson, Billie Penn, Jeanette Roe, Mrs. Gene Byars of Shamrock, Pat Loerwald, Linda Kidds, and Jean Coleman.

Miss Margaret Boomer, Robert Oliver Pledge Troth Sunday

The Rev. Herschel L. Thurston, pastor, read double ring rites Sunday, Aug. 19, at 3 p.m. in the First Methodist Church of Hereford for Miss Margaret Jo Boomer and Robert E. Oliver.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert M. Boomer, 138 Star, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gates E. Oliver, Ardmore, Okla.

The couple repeated wedding vows before an altar banked with emerald palms, which formed the background for altar candles lighted by Scott Boomer of Claude, cousin of the bride. Focal point was the cross, flanked by altar vases of large white daisies and gladioli. Candelabra of voice lights flanked the altar. Entrance to the sanctuary was marked by a tall, fan arrangement of Shasta daisies and gladioli on a Grecian urn, closing the white carpeted center aisle. Pews leading to the altar were marked with white satin bows and the chancel rail was covered in white satin. White satin brocaded pillows were placed on the white prayer bench before the altar.

Miss Boomer, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a long gown of silk tulle peap de soie. The bodice featured an empire waistline with a scooped neckline and elbow-length sleeves. French applique accented the edge of the neckline and sleeves, encircled the empire waist in front and flowed down and around the long chapel train. She wore a diamond sunburst, belonging to her maternal grandmother, as her only accessory. Her veil of imported hand-made Battenberg lace fell in soft folds to the elbows. She carried a bouquet of gardenias and stephanotis atop a white Bible. Miss Carol Ann Newell, organist, played the "Bridal Chorus" by Lohengrin as the bridal party entered. She also accompanied vocalist Ronnie Gray as he sang "O Perfect Love" and, as the couple knelt, "The Lord's Prayer" by Motette. Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" was played during the recessional.

Miss Carolyn Aven of Hereford served as maid of honor. Miss Ginger Boomer of Claude, and Miss Susan Blackwell of McLean were bridesmaids. All the attendants are cousins of the bride. They were attired in light blue organza dresses with bouffant skirts. Matching shoes and hats made of satin, with circular scalloped veils and short white gloves, completed their costumes. They carried colonial nosegays of large white daisies. Miss Cathy Blackwell of McLean, a cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a light blue dress of organza with embroidered bodice and bouffant skirt. Her wristlet was a fashioned of white mums. She wore white gloves and carried a white basket filled with blue daisy petals.

Gates E. Oliver Jr. of Oklahoma City served his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Bob Bellinghausen, Ponca City, Okla., and Lynn Boomer, brother of the bride, Moriarty, N. M. Ushers were Stephen Matthews of Austin and Larry Edwards and Ronnie Gray, both of Hereford.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 138 Star. Miss Kay Robertson of Enid, Okla., presided at the guest book. Miss Cherry Ann Holt of Hereford presided at the punch bowl and Miss Ruth Justias, Claude, served wedding cake from a bride's table laid with white net cloth and appointed in silver. A five-tiered candelabra and the attendants' bouquets formed the decorative accessories for the table.

As the couple left for Santa Fe and Taos, N. M., the bride wore a green and beige silk tweed suit and contrasting accessories. Her gardenia corsage was lifted from the bridal bouquet.

After Aug. 27, the couple will be at home in Stillwater, Okla., where the groom will continue work toward a master's degree and the bride will continue her college education.

Miss Boomer is a 1960 graduate of Hereford High School and has completed two years at Oklahoma State University in Stillwater. She is a member of Alpha Delta social sorority.

The groom is a 1958 graduate of Springer, Okla.; High School and a 1962 graduate of Oklahoma State University with a degree in mathematics. He is a member of Pi Mu Epsilon and Alpha Tau Omega fraternities.

Out of town guests for the ceremony and reception included: Mr. and Mrs. Gates E. Oliver Sr., Ardmore, Okla.; Mrs. George M. Hurt, Davis, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Gates E. Oliver Jr., Oklahoma City; Mrs. Fred Wewerka, El Reno, Okla.; Miss Mildred Martin and Miss Helen Martin, El Reno; Miss Kay Robertson, Enid, Okla.;

SOUNDS LIKE A BARGAIN
CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — It sounded like an intriguing bargain.

The Pinellas County Commission said it had a surplus tetrahedron, slightly rusted but in good condition otherwise and it wished to get rid of it. It asked for bids.

Fascinated, two reporters entered bids of 50 cents and $1. Then they asked what they were bidding on.

Commissioners explained that a tetrahedron is a triangular pyramid, and this particular tetrahedron is a wind direction indicator that is no longer used at St. Petersburg-Clearwater International Airport.

The reporters didn't get the instrument. The commission is holding out for a better bid from a public agency.

WRONG TIME, WRONG PLACE

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — The emergency room at Morton F. Plant hospital was busy with an attempted suicide, a knife victim and a patient frantic with the hives. The telephone rang.

"I don't know what to do and I thought you might be able to advise me," the caller said. "You see our little dog has chewed up my husband's blood pressure pills and I'm unable to contact my vet."

The emergency room nurse's advice was short and to the point: "Call another vet."

ONE PITCH THEN TIME

WASHINGTON, D. C. (AP) — One of the few snafus in the Washington All-Star game cropped up in the first inning. After the first pitch by Detroit's Jim Bunning, time was called while the National League bullpen crew trotted across the outfield to the bullpen entrance gate in centerfield.

(Continued from page 1) must attend school in the district of their residence for at least 120 days during each school year.

There are only five exceptions to the law, according to Line:

1. Attendance regularly at a private or parochial school;
2. Mental or physical disability;
3. Those children who are blind, deaf, dumb or retarded, for which special schools are provided by the state;
4. Those children who live more than two and one-half miles, by the most direct route, from a school without free transportation;
5. Those over 16 who have completed the ninth grade and are needed to help provide financial support for the family.

Line also pointed out that free bus transportation is available throughout the county from one of several school systems, which eliminates the fourth reason given previously. Line said that, by law, all excuses for non-attendance must be supported by written explanations by the parents or guardian.

Judge Williams also pointed out that the attendance law "has teeth in it" for those who fail to abide by the regulations.

Pupils who persist in insubordination or non-attendance can be brought in for a juvenile hearing. Parents of such children may be placed under a surety bond of $10 and the child placed on probation. For a second offense, the parents' bond would be higher. Upon a third offense, the child can be remanded to a state training school.

For truancy, or willful action on the part of parents in keeping children out of school, the punishment may be more severe. The parents could be tried in either Justice Court or County Court. If found guilty, the parents could be fined $5 and costs for the first offense, $10 and costs for the second offense and $25 and costs for each subsequent offense.

This becomes much more severe than it first appears, since each day's absence is treated as a separate offense and the absence of each child is also a separate offense.

If necessary, the Federal Child Labor Law may be invoked after school starts. This law provides that any person who hires a child who should be in school is in violation. This is true, even if the employer contracted the child's labor through a foreman or labor contractor and did not hire the child himself or had no knowledge that the child was working in violation of the law.

"Our purpose is to see that each child is given the best possible education," Judge Williams declared. "We will not

"The machine we used," he commented, "can be used effectively on plots smaller than 10 acres. But, for large acreages it is impractical."

He told of the company's proposed plan to build another type of picker now in use which utilizes a conveyor belt.

"A harvester of this type with pickers following along behind," he declared, "would cut the needed labor by approximately 35 per cent."

In commenting on the future prospects of the crop in the Deaf Smith County area, Jorde declared that he hoped a buying shed would be established here.

He also pointed out that if there is enough interest in the area in growing cucumbers commercially, a pickling concern may be interested in locating here.

At present, the nearest buying sheds to Hereford are in the Hale Center and Edmondson areas.

Jorde pointed out that as the crop is harvested here, it is bagged and trucked in bulk to one of these two areas.

Oasis Shrine Club and the Khiva Shrine Temple have high hopes that one of these hospitals will be built in this immediate area.

For the past 15 years, officials of the Khiva-Temple have made repeated attempts to bring before the North American Shrine's Board of Trustees and its Medical Advisory Board the extreme need for a Shrine institution in this area, the hospital committee pointed out.

Dr. Barnett, Reeves, Bennett and Lyle Blanton met earlier this year in Toronto, Canada, with the Board of Trustees and the Medical Advisory Board.

Many Shrine organizations in the United States would like to claim one of these three hospitals, however, But the Khiva Temple and the Oasis Shrine Club have maintained a 15-year plan for the location of a hospital here.

Top Shrine officials have been impressed with the need and advantage of a hospital in the Hereford area, partly because of the success of the annual Oasis Shrine Club Crippled Children's Clinic.

During the seven-year history of the Oasis Shrine Club clinic, more than 1500 handicapped children have been examined. Medical assistance has been provided by the club.

Local Shriners have also succeeded in showing the advantage of a Hereford hospital site to two top Shriners, in person.

The club has been visited by two past international Imperial Potentates, the late Imperial Noble Galloway Calhoun and at his request, the Chairman of the Shrine Medical Advisory Board, Dr. Guy Caldwell.

"We were deeply honored to have these two men visit us," Dr. Barnett declared, "and we believe their appraisal of this area as a proposed site was a most valuable one."

The delegation outlined the criteria which the Site Selection Committee will use as a basis for their final decision and pointed out that "No finer points could be used by any committee in selecting sites for the hospitals."

"Need, medical facilities available, and the prospect for growth and research will be of prime consideration by the committee."

Jack Meredith really is teaching "hard-nosed" football for the high school team this year. The team might not win too many games, but they'll be in good condition and ready to hit hard. Practice sessions are at 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. until school starts, with the public invited to attend any or all workouts. Having a few interested spectators out watching surely doesn't hurt the boys' morale.

"We are prepared to show to the Site Selection Committee our area's advantages in all three points," the delegation stated.

They pointed out that in 1958 the Khiva Temple directed the preparation of an extensive survey depicting all facts pertaining to the proposed establishment of a hospital.

Findings from the survey will be presented to the Site Selection Committee.

Prepared by Burt C. Blanton, M. E., consulting industrial engineer and business economist of Dallas, the technical report portrays the advantages of a Shrine hospital in the vicinity.

As evidenced by the survey, local Shriners' "have a strong argument for establishing a site here," the committee stated.

"On the surface it might appear unusual for a city of Hereford's size to hope to be selected for such a site. But we have many things in our favor."

"Among these are our strategic location, the fact that a majority of the six million people within a 350-mile radius of Hereford live in rural homes, the fact that an increasing portion of these people are Latin-Americans who tend to have large family units, and the fact that a large amount of research has been carried on here in the past which could be used as a basis for future work."

"Another of our main points in the effort to locate a burn center here is the need for a 'decentralization' of medical centers. In the past it has been the policy to concentrate large medical centers in metropolitan areas, but we are firmly convinced that some of these units should be located outside of metropolitan areas," the delegation explained.

In a statement submitted to the chairman of the Site Selection Committee, the Khiva Temple hospital ambassadors pointed out that metropolitan areas are not in such dire need of such a facility as is the area which would be served by a Hereford unit.

Main purpose of the proposed Shrine Hospitals will be to provide medical treatment to children who have received burn injuries, as well as to carry on research and instruction.

Within a 350-mile radius of the Hereford area during the year of 1961, there were 3,301 burn cases admitted to area hospitals, the survey points out.

"Of these, approximately 60 per cent were children and a large per cent of these were from the Latin-American and colored population."

"The large amount of transient Latin-American population that is necessary to provide the man-power for the irrigated type of farming accounts for this extremely high rate for hospitalization due to burns," Dr. Barnett, chairman of the committee stated in pointing out the need for a burn center in this area.

"At the present time there are no large children's hospitals in the region," he added. "A large portion of these people are not covered by any form of protective insurance, such as that which is found in industrial employment," he added.

In the area which would be served by a Hereford hospital, there are now slightly over six million people. A population projection prepared by the Dallas engineer predicts a total of over seven and one half million residents within a 350-mile radius of Hereford by 1980.

The survey also shows factors which will lead to a substantial economic growth in the area, thus assuring proper support for a medical center here.

Within the same area, there are 11 Shrine Temples which would aid the hospital.

Khiva Temple will offer a suitable 100-acre site for the establishment of a burn center in the area, and has pledged heavy financial support.

Speaking on behalf of the hospital committee, Dr. Barnett stated, "We will continue to do everything we can to obtain a hospital in this area."

"We feel sure that area residents will join with Shriners in support of the project, but at the present time we are still awaiting the decision of the Site Selection Committee," he concluded.

Your Red Cross In Action
By Ramona Noel

After participating in an active summer swimming program our interest is now being turned toward the coming fall and winter activities.

At a recent Gray Lady Luncheon and business meeting in the home of Mrs. C. A. Sauley seven members and three guests were present. Reports were made and plans lined up for the Retrainee Party at the Air Force Base in Amarillo, which our local Gray Ladies sponsor twice a year. Three Gray Ladies, Mrs. Earl Plank, Mrs. Guyrene Carter and Miss Audni Miller, were hosts for the party serving cakes and cookies furnished by all of the Gray Ladies. Four from the Junior Red Cross furnished the entertainment. Our group of Gray Ladies and Jr. Red Crossers are very popular with the servicemen there.

Plans are being made by the Jr. Red Cross and High School Red Cross committee for the coming year in the schools with Mrs. H. H. Miller, new chairman, heading the group. Two new High School Red Cross trained leaders, Audni Miller and Kathleen Kuper, were part of the committee and gave a report to chapter board members of their school they attended in Kansas. Mrs. O. Wertenberger and Mrs. Billye Buck, teacher sponsors, were not able to attend the committee group meeting.

Our booth at the Harvest Festival Farm and Home Show was decorated by Mrs. O. Wertenberger and Miss Audni Miller. The Allred Oil Company and Hereford Butane sponsored our booth again for the fourth time and we wish to send our appreciation to them.

Since so many were not able to attend the business meeting of the board in July the program on Public Relations will be held at the next meeting in September.

Our Water Safety classes are over and certificates are being made out and mailed. Over 400 registered for swimming classes this year, but the number of certificates issued are incomplete at this time. Next column we will cover more details on the Water Safety classes.

See you in the next column.

'Deaf' Smith Says

TO: The Spirit of General Sam Houston
FROM: The Spirit of Erasmus "Deaf" Smith
SUBJECT: ME

One of the most frequently heard questions around my Chamber of Commerce concerns the origin of the name of my county. Now I think I know me pretty well, Sam, but here in our spirit world we forget that it has been a hundred years since we have been around the mortal world. Many of the newer generations of Texans just never heard of old "Deaf" Smith — but most everyone, I reckon, has heard of you, Sam, though some probably think you were named for that big city down in the bayou country.

The chamber office was given a box of old newspapers, copies of the Hereford Brand dating back to 1930, and have been busy clipping items of historical interest. One article, appearing in the Brand for August 7th, 1930, quotes an old friend of mine talking about me. For the edification of these modern Texans I'd like to reproduce it in this scouting report. It is headlined: "Veteran Jurist, Who knew Deaf Smith, Texas Hero, In Now In Hereford As Presiding Judge" — and goes on to say —

"Local residents are living in "Deaf" Smith County, and the authority is no less than that of Judge Joseph Jones of Del Rio, who is holding district court here. Judge Jones personally knew the county's name-hero of the Texas-Mexican war sake, the original Deaf Smith, and the prefixed descriptive name was pronounced "Deef," he says.

"Judge Jones is a Texan of the old school. He is still of the West and his background is wholly of the West. He is district judge from the Del Rio territory and is in Hereford for two weeks through an exchange of benches with Judge Reese Tatum.

"Not only was Judge Jones acquainted with Deaf Smith whose first name was Erasmus or 'Rastus,' but he was one of the commissioners who helped settle the estate of the hero following his death in the seventies. In those early days Joseph Jones was a district surveyor and was familiar with the land grant of 3100 acres patented to Smith at the junction of the San Felipe with the Rio Grande river. His expert testimony was called in as to the impracticability of division of the land among the several heirs.

"As surveyor in 1878, Judge Jones had many frontier experiences and encounters with the Indians. His escort was Lieut. Bullis with a few men, the Bullis that became one of America's great soldiers and commanders.

"The Judge is famed for his legal lore and notable judicial dispensations, and it is claimed that his straight thinking started about 53 years ago when he had broiled horse meat for breakfast, purloined from the Indians. Harry Williams, writing in the San Antonio Light, makes this pertinent surmise:

"If it might produce more judges who were possessed of horse sense as in Judge Joe Jones, why it would be an aid to the country to feed all the young lawyers of the nation on horse meat now and then!

"Judge Jones is a veteran of the law and the bench and he is in his 78th year, but he handles court matters with much greater dispatch than most of the young judges, being a thorough believer in speeding up the wheels of justice. His smile, when refusing counsel's request, is so disarming that acquiescence is usually made without argument.

"His presence in Hereford and his bringing a message, so to speak, from the San Jacinto warrior and scout who gave the county its revered name make an occasion of note, and the citizenship welcomes this distinguished jurist whose life has been spent in service of the Reporting on his trip to the Lions Crippled Children's Camp at Kerrville was Larry Ogleby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Ogleby.

David Dowell, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Dowell, told of his trip to Boys State held at Austin. He was one of the two youths from Hereford to attend and was sponsored by the club.

Larry outlined briefly the program of the camp and discussed the schedule followed each day by campers. He pointed out that those attending participated in athletics as well as handicraft programs.

The handicraft program, he said, gave campers a chance to make leather belts, billfolds, purses and pocket comb holders. Other crafts besides leatherwork were also available.

He pointed out that in athletics, a camper could play golf, volleyball, ping pong, softball, and swim.

The camp ended, he commented, with an awards night program. Those attending were presented pins and awards for their participation in the athletic and handicraft programs at the Lions camp.

According to the Rev. Joel Treadwell, Boys and Girls Program committee chairman, the Hereford youth received more awards than any other camper sponsored by the Lions Club here.

In his opening remarks, Dowell, who attended Boys State, expressed his appreciation to the club for sponsoring his trip to Austin.

"It was the greatest thing that any boy can do," said the Hereford High School senior as he commented on his trip.

He told Lions Club members that boys attending were organized into cities, counties and political parties — the Longhorns and the Pioneers.

Each of the dorms where the boys stayed, he explained, was run like a city with officers elected from the two parties. City and County and State officials were elected by a general election following party primaries.

He also told of the day's schedule which began at 6 a. m. During the morning following breakfast, city, county and state political meetings were held.

In the afternoon, he commented, there was a recreation program with each city being represented by teams in different sports. A tournament was held to determine a state champion.

Also during Boy's State, the high school student said, those attending toured the state capitol to learn how the government functioned.

"It was a great experience," said David. "I learned more about how the state government functions in one week than I could have ever learned in school."

Mrs. Wills has instructed literally hundreds of area residents in the art of mosaics. Many of these students will display work in Sunday's show.

After seeing her first mosaic art objects a few years ago, Mrs. Wills immediately began to hunt for someone to teach her the art. She studied mosaics under Mrs. Jack Wright (formerly Moretta Pazzali of Italy and France, who is recognized as a leading mosaic instructor).

Mrs. Viola Chisholm's art students will also exhibit work in the display. Mrs. Chisholm is art instructor at Hereford High School.

Featured in the exhibit over 20 tiled tables, some 32 wall panels, and numerous trays, lamps, trivets bowls, bottles, and other objects. Mosaic pieces are fashioned from imported Italian Venetian glass, Italian Smalti (or Byzantine) and Japanese porcelain tile.

In a special display, Miss Ann Wingert will exhibit mosaics, pastels, charcoal drawings, photography, and conte crayon sketches.

Much of Miss Wingert's work was completed during courses she has taken at Texas Women's University, where she is a commercial art, advertising, and design major.

Mosaics as a hobby is relatively new to this area, Miss Wills pointed out. But mosaic art dates back to the days of ancient history, shortly following the birth of civilization in Asia Minor.

The art has enjoyed renewed interest in recent years, and its popularity has skyrocketed during the past few years.

As a result, Mrs. Wills has taught numerous students in the area the art of making beautiful objects from tiny individual colored tiles.

Requiring nothing more than simple "tile snippers", grout (a sort of mortar cement), and a unique artistic talent, mosaics is a time-consuming, but rewarding hobby according to Mrs. Wills.

In order to stimulate interest in the hobby and to offer a showcase for local artists' creations, the Mosaic Art Show was arranged by Mrs. Wills.

background of white gladioli and greenery flanked by wedding candelabra.

Mrs. Melvin Young sang "I Pledge My Love" and Miss Marsha Hudson sang "Whither Thou Goest". Other traditional wedding music was provided by the church wedding chorus.

Miss Sandra Green of Hereford, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She was attired in a mint-green brocaded satin dress, fashioned with a fitted bodice, cap sleeves and a bell-shaped skirt. Her headpiece was brocaded rose with a short net veil. She wore short white gloves and matching brocaded shoes.

Bridesmaids were Miss Pat Fowler of Hereford, Misses Sue Delaney and Kay Short of Slaton and Miss Sue Lee of Lamesa. Their dresses, of mint-green cotton satin, were identical in fashion to the maid of honor's. They carried nosegays of white, feathered carnations.

Ben Templeton, brother of the groom, served as best man. Groomsmen were Reed Green, brother of the bride, Elvin Stinson, Wendell Maloney, and Bill McCortley, all of Hereford. Candelighters were Janie Green, sister of the bride, and Jana Denton of Hereford.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a long, formal wedding gown of silk-faced peau de soie. Re-embroidered Alencon lace appliques, sequins and pearls complemented the fitted bodice, fashioned with a sabrina neckline and long fitted sleeves tapering to petal points over her hands. The bouffant skirt was fashioned with large rosettes and a trim, extending into a chapel train.

Her pouf veil of imported silk illusion was held by a princess crown of rosettes. The bridal bouquet was an arrangement of white roses.

The bride's mother wore a beige silk dress with green accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a two-piece beige dress of brocade, complemented with green and beige accessories. Both had rose corsages.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church fellowship hall. Miss Carolyn Hammett of Hereford registered the guests.

The bride's table, laid with a white lace cloth over green, was centered with a tiered wedding cake. White candles in silver holders flanked the centerpiece.

Alternating at the table were Misses LuArne Higgins, Sharon Farmer, Nickey Bradford, all of Hereford, and Brenda Sherrod of Levelland.

For the wedding trip, the bride was dressed in a two-piece blue dress, with black and white accessories and a corsage of roses.

The bride was graduated from Hereford High School in 1961 and attended Lubbock Christian College. The groom is a graduate of Dublin, Tex., High School and Abilene Christian College.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Hereford, where the groom is a teacher at Stanton Junior High School.

Deaf Smith Sets Pattern For State By Enforcement Of Education Laws

Repeating a campaign started last year, the Deaf Smith County Judge has announced that he will follow a strict policy of having all children in the county attending school during the 1962-63 term.

In an announcement last week, Judge H. C. Williams said he would follow the general plan adopted last year by his predecessor, former Judge D. D. Zimmerman. As it worked out last year, school officials worked closely with law officers and the County Judge, who also serves as ex-officio county school superintendent.

We heartily endorse this policy and hope that its enforcement will be as good as it was last year.

This is not just a harrassment policy to give children and their parents "a hard time". It is simply enforcement of laws which have been in force in this state for many years.

Nor is the policy aimed just at Latin-American children. It covers all children, regardless of racial background or permanent residence.

This law should be stringently enforced in every county of Texas, but too often is ignored by officials in many places. Under the law, every child between the age of 7 and 16 must attend school regularly. Failure to do so may result in punishment of the child or his parents or both.

But why the sudden concern about who attends school? Texas faces a big problem and should start working on the solution now. Some state observers have announced that by 1970, or shortly thereafter, there will be more Latin-Americans or Americans of Latin extraction in the state than Anglos. If this is true, and there is no reason to doubt the basic trend, the state also faces a problem of a large mass of comparatively uneducated residents.

The only solution is education and more education. And that long process should start with the elementary public school grades and continue through high school and state-supported colleges. Deaf Smith County officials have recognized the problem that was ignored for several years and have ordered a "crackdown" on truants.

The general rule of thumb adopted in this county is that if the child is living or working in the county, he must attend school regularly. And this applies even if the family plans to be here only another week or another month.

Judge Zimmerman's firmness on "no exceptions" was carried out last year and Judge Williams has pledged to follow the same line. And both judges have pointed out that employers of school-age children during regular school hours also may be faced with prosecution, thus closing another possible loophole.

Mass education is one of the cornerstones of this nation. Rules have been adopted to insure at least a basic education for every child. Education is the only hope for those who have traditionally done manual labor that gradually is being eliminated by machines. This state's children must be given enough education to fit themselves into a future that is becoming more complex and demanding upon its citizens. Compulsory education is a big step in the right direction.

Hereford Group Sets Area Pace

More than 600 breeders, representing 14 states, this week attended the third annual Hereford Capital tour, which has become one of the highlights for Hereford breeders all over the nation. At the same time, it can be classified as one of the most progressive steps seen in this area since the underground irrigation water was tapped back around 1911.

We go along with Breeder Bill Dameron, who pointed out that it is a distinct compliment to have another breeder visit an owner's ranch. In the first place, it indicates that the rancher does produce outstanding purebred cattle — or the visitor would not be interested. As on other tours, many direct sales can be expected to follow, and the cattle industry has many "Hereford Capital" boosters who never before realized the quality and extent of fine cattle in this community.

Most important, though, is the fact that local Hereford breeders are cooperatively putting the Golden Triangle territory on the map. Hereford, of course, got its name from the fine cattle which this community produces, and for well over 50 years Hereford cattle have contributed heavily to the economy and growth of the Castro, Parmer and Deaf Smith areas.

Frequently, we stimulate much enthusiasm in the production of potatoes, onions, grain sorghum and, more recently, sugar beets. This is fine, and likewise contributes much to the community. Cattle provided the foundation of our origin, however, and still play a highly important role in the economy of the country. With feed lots shifting from the Mid-west to the Southwest, the factor of cattle will become more important as time passes and, as always, the existence of quality, finebred stock will provide the basis of future growth and expansion.

In the 1930's and 1940's, this territory viewed an extensive "let-down" in promotion and enthusiasm on the part of Hereford breeders. During the past four years, however, they have made a startling comeback, and may well be pointed out as the most progressive, enthusiastic economic group within the three-county area. From their efforts, all of us are bound to benefit.

A classic record of a classified ad gone berserk. It happened to the Carferet County News - Times of Morehead, N. C.:

Monday: FOR SALE: R. D. Smith has one sewing machine for sale. Phone 958. Call after 7 p.m. and ask for Mrs. Kelly who lives with him cheap.

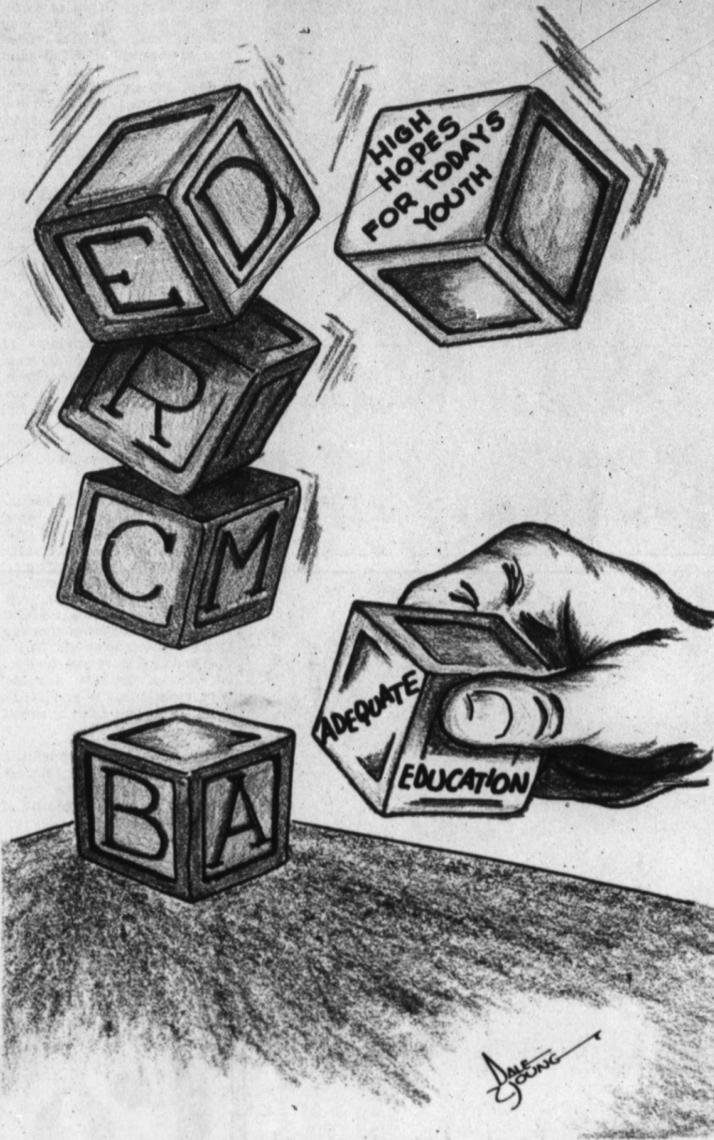

Tuesday: "We regret having erred in R. D. Smith's ad yesterday. It should have read: FOR SALE, R. D. Smith has one sewing machine for sale, Cheap, Phone 958 and ask for Mrs. Kelly who lives with him after 7 p. m."

Wednesday: "R. D. Smith has informed us that he has received several annoying telephone calls because of an error we made in his classified ad yesterday. His ad stands corrected: FOR SALE, R. D. Smith has one sewing machine for sale. Cheap. Phone Mrs. Kelly who loves him."

Thursday: "NOTICE — I R. D. Smith, have no sewing machine for sale. I smashed it. Don't call 958, the phone has been taken out. I have not been carrying on with Mrs. Kelly. Until yesterday, she was my housekeeper."

'Come-On' Type Puzzle Contests Are Condemned

For years, the National Better Business Bureau Inc., has condemned "come-on" type puzzle contests, said Bill Thompson, Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce manager.

Quoting from an article appearing in a recent service bulletin prepared for chamber of commerce members, Thompson pointed out that the gullible are induced to enter because of the use of overly-simple puzzles in the initial contest.

These are followed, according to the report, by veritable "brain-busters" designed to weed out all but mental Goliaths.

Experience over the years shows that "come-on" type contest promoters frequently depend upon monies received from contestants, either in the form of entrance fees, purchase of articles, or both to finance the promotion, pay off winners, and provide profits.

If the prize money is not placed in escrow, according to the article, contestants gamble on whether funds will be available at the end of the contest to pay off the prize winners.

A recent action of the Attorney General of the State of New York illustrates what may happen when contest prize money is not secured.

In the case, 25 puzzle contest winners, who anticipated more than $11,000 in prize money, were left with only $1.32 by the promoters.

The 25 winners were the survivors of numerous tie-breaker contests. Promoters maintained interest by increasing the amount of cash prizes, but used the funds on promotional and personal expenses.

This disclosure was made, states the report, when the attorney general obtained a court order dissolving the corporation sponsoring the contest.

According to the paper filed in court, the first contest sponsored by the firm was promoted through an advertisement in a New York City newspaper. Prizes originally totaled more than $800.

At the beginning of the contest, the corporation had $1500 with which to pay for prizes. But, after the initial expense of the advertisement, insufficient funds remained to pay the announced prizes.

Because of the relative simplicity of the contest, the report continues, the attorney general's office charged that tie-breaker puzzles were necessary. And, the firm advised contest participants in tie-breakers they could increase their prize potential by purchasing handkerchiefs from the firm.

Despite the lack of funds by the corporation and in the officers' personal bank accounts, contestants were notified that prizes had been increased to $1430. With each subsequent tie-breaker, the total value of prizes was increased with the final prize being more than $8000.

To compound matters, stated the NBBB report, the defendants also sponsored a second puzzle contest with prizes totaling $3100 for contestants who had been eliminated from the original.

Approximately 8000 persons entered both contests sponsored by the defendant corporation. Approximately $7000 was received from contestants who voluntarily purchased merchandise from the firm, the attorney general's office said.

Upon the conclusion of both contests, the bureau's report concluded, the corporation had the sum of $1.32 with which to pay prizes totaling $11,300.

FUND MEMORIALIZES CRASH VICTIMS

"Please express our deepest sympathy to the families." This was the text of the hundreds of messages which poured into Olton this week from all over the country. Many came from people who knew none of the youths involved. At Olton State Bank, money was still coming in Wednesday for a memorial fund for the Olton youths killed in a train-automobile crash near Shallowater last Thursday about 7 p. m. The fund has topped $1000 and is expected to go much higher. Of the seven killed in the tragedy five were from Olton, one from Springlake and one from Sunnyside.

OIL TEST BEING MADE

Oil exploration came back to Floyd County this week with the beginning of an oil test on the W. J. Griffith land, some three miles northwest of Lockney. Leasing activities have been underway for some six weeks although no information had been released on the matter until this week. Dr. C. A. Griffith, chiropractor and masseur of Plainview, is the lessee and is putting down the test. Dr. Griffith has been active in oil exploration for several years in this area. He said Wednesday that he had leased an area running from northeast to southwest in a checkboard pattern in northwestern Floyd County. Bogle and Flake Drilling Co. of Plainview moved a rig in on the site early this week and completed drilling into the red bed Wednesday.

THE BOOTLEG —Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm continues unenthusiastic about outer space, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:
A neighbor of mine was awfully depressed the other day while those two Russians were sailing through space. "They're just too far ahead of us," he kept saying. "We debate whether our men will stay up for three or four hours, while they debate whether theirs will stay up for three or four days."

He shook his head as though all was lost and it might not even be worth while farming again another year. Well, now, I'll tell you. It's true that ever since Columbus discovered America and opened up the best source of foreign aid Europe ever had, man has been trying to reach out and explore some more, but I'm not sure the moon will be as rewarding to mankind as the discovery of America was. It may not have the soil we've got down here.

I don't know, nobody does, but it's possible that when man, Russian or American, does reach the moon and the first wild excitement of the feat is over and he has a chance to look around up there, he may discover that the earth sure looks good to him. May be like climbing a high mountain — once it's done, it ain't worth doing again. Then I suppose man will try some other planet, then another, then some more, and still it's possible he won't find anything that'll come within a country mile — or in space terms a million miles — of the pleasant things right outside of my front door or yours.

I'm not saying it's so, but you've got to consider the possibility that being the first man to get to the moon may not be any more important in the long run than being the first man to pole vault 16 feet. It's quite an achievement, but it has little bearing on the continuing fun of living on this fairly comfortable earth.

Understand, I'm not saying there's nothing out in space worth exploring, all I'm saying is that I have a notion that the happiest moment in an astronaut's experience is the feel of the earth when he gets back down. It's no doubt thrilling to orbit the earth, but after three days of it, round and round, twiddling with knobs and looking out a window at nothing, it must get mighty boring, even worse than riding a tractor up one row and down another.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Booster Club Is On The Job

The Whiteface Booster Club is already on the job in preparation for the coming football season, which reminds us that the organization is one of the best to come our way in a long time.

Foremost among the many benefits derived through the Booster Club is that of association between fans and players. The boys are encouraged more than a little by interest of adult business men, farmers, ranchers and professional men and, often, this interest later extends into other fields which prove valuable to all concerned.

Like most Americans, Boosters would always rather win than lose, but they realize that someone must lose in any competitive sport and, consequently, do much to keep up team spirit when losses do occur. As a liaison between community and school, the Booster Club provides a much needed connecting link.

Consequently, everyone is happy to see the organization back with plenty of zip and enthusiasm.

In an impressive candlelight ceremony at 7 p.m. Friday, Aug. 24, Miss Ruth Wagner became the bride of Larry Allen Dobbs. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Wagner, Star Route, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Dobbs, Route 5.

The double-ring service was performed in Immanuel Lutheran Church in Hereford by the Rev. Fred Beversdorf, minister. Vows were repeated before an altar featuring two large vases of gladioli and greenery. Two branched candelabra with 14 white wedding tapers were interspersed by greenery and accented by large white satin bows.

The attendants were dressed identically in pale pink dresses of lace and chiffon. The fitted bodices were styled in pink lace with skirts of matching chiffon. They wore hats with a leaf-shaped design of pink organdy with circular illusion veils. Short white gloves and short, capped sleeves completed their ensembles.

nephew of the groom, served as ring-bearer.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church. The bride's table was laid with a white satin cloth covered with pink net. Three tapered candles that formed the centerpiece were surrounded by the attendants' bouquets. The white, three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with pink rosebuds.

Members of the house party were Mrs. Verl Taylor of Amarillo, who presided at the guest book; Mrs. James Dobbs, who poured punch, and Mrs. Clark Dobbs, who served cake.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to points in Colorado and New Mexico, the bride was wearing a black cotton knit suit with black and white accessories. Her corsage was the white orchid from her wedding bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Hereford High School and attended Concordia Lutheran College in Austin the past year.

The bridegroom was graduated from Hereford High School and attended West Texas State College, Canyon, for two years.

After their trip, the couple will be at home at 613 Texas. The groom is engaged in farming with his father.

IT'S BEEN A LONG TIME since these two gentlemen were schoolmates. J. L. White, 92, left, dropped by to see his old friend F. H. Oberthier, 93, on Saturday. The two went to school together 77 years ago, and have written each other frequently since that time, but during the brief visit they had much to talk about. As Oberthier explained it, "A lot of water has passed under the bridge since we last saw each other," and then corrected himself, "or anyway a lot of dry years." Both of the men lived in log cabins at the time they were school buddies during the period of 1878-1885. "Times have changed since then," they agreed. (Staff Photo)

Boy Scouts Seek More Members

Plans for expanding the Scout program were outlined during a meeting of the Tierra Blanca District at noon Tuesday in the Jim Hill Hotel.

Chairman Orpha Click and Organization and Extension chairman Bruce Miller told of plans to contact every boy in the district between the age of 7 and 14, offering a chance to participate in a Scout program. This annual recruiting program is set for early September.

Scout unit leaders and representatives will discuss plans for the coming year at a joint Roundtable meeting at 7:30 p. m. on Monday, Sept. 10, in the Hereford Community Center.
