

GRID DRILLS — Win Short, a sophomore lineman who made the varsity the last part of the 1970 season, moves in on a teammate during fundamental tackling drills Tuesday. More than 110 players from the 9th, 10th and 11th grades are going through spring training.

City looks at updated alert plan

By MARSHALL DAY
Staff Writer

A new tornado warning system that would blanket the entire city and continue operating even in the event of a power failure may be installed here in the near future.

The city commission, in discussing the inadequate warning system here Monday, authorized city manager Dudley Bayne to look into the possibility of the new system manufactured by Fire Appliance Company of Texas in Wichita Falls.

Bayne, who has been in contact with representatives of the firm, said the new system is "the nearest thing to a fool-proof system that I have seen."

The system has a battery pack in each of the sirens and if the power is knocked out by a storm, the units switch over to operating on a 12-volt battery.

"This is a pretty versatile unit," Bayne said. "I have never been satisfied with the system we have now, but I think this new one will work out just fine. If there is a power failure, it will still work."

The units cost about $800 each and Bayne said it would take about 15 to be heard adequately over the entire city. The sound would be more piercing than the present two-siren system now in use, and each unit would transmit a sound over a 3,250 foot radius.

The sound would carry farther, Bayne said, but up to 3,250 feet it would be a clear, definite sound. Also, the units will probably be placed where the sound radius would overlap each other to make sure everyone heard the siren. The sirens are very similar to those on police cars and fire trucks.

The units are not operated from a large motor as are the present ones, but from an electronic beam without connecting wires. Home and institution units also are available, Bayne said and can be purchased for about $120.

"These would be ideal for places such as the hospital and Kings Manor," he said. "They are not connected by wire and operate similar to the Plectron that firemen use. These are also available with audible warning but I don't think they are that necessary."

"But, if in later years, if we get real fancy, we can go in and add this audible without much trouble."

Mike Clark, Cowboy kicker, comes here Friday for banquet

Professional football player Mike Clark, of the Dallas Cowboys, will be the featured speaker here Friday at the second annual Youth Spring Banquet of First Baptist Church.

Theme for the banquet is "Out of This World" and is centered around modern day space exploration.

The banquet is open to area youth and will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church.

Tickets are on sale for $1 and can be purchased at the door or by contacting Sammie Vinson at 364-3360.

We need rain

Although Hereford has had 2.72 inches of rain this year, it's still "just barely a dent in the drought" and County Agricultural Agent Justin McBride said the county drastically needs a good rain.

The dryland wheat crop is in serious trouble because of the lack of rain, and some farmers feel it's already too late to be saved.

"I would hasten to say, in my opinion, that a good, slow, spring rain would help all the crops, there's not any question about that," McBride said. "It would be a tremendous benefit and we sure need it."

The severe thunderstorm and tornado that visited Hereford two weeks ago caused some damage because of the hail and high wind, McBride said. But the moisture it dropped on the area was a real help to many places, he added.

"The dryland wheat crop was about gone until we had that rain, and in some areas we saw a tremendous response from this. For the most part it was too late to be real beneficial, but we did see good response."

A Texas Employment Commission wheat production report based on April 1 estimates, put the county's wheat acreage at 155,000 acres, more than any other county in Texas.

McBride said much of that has already been taken out of production or abandoned, however. Much of it was planted for grazing purposes only.

He estimated that about 120,000 acres were seeded with the intention of harvesting and about 75,000 acres of irrigated wheat will be harvested.

"How much of the dryland wheat will be harvested is still debatable. We've got some dryland wheat that if we could get some rain in the next few days, we could get one or two bushels per acre," McBride said.

"But there's no question that each day without rain lessens the chances for the dryland wheat crop. We'll probably have some dryland wheat to cut a few bushels anyway, but certainly the crop has already been considerably reduced. In fact, most people are rather doubtful that a rain now would help it at all. But it certainly would help fill out what grain is already out and give us a heavier test weight."

Juvenile bill still hanging

AUSTIN (Special)—The bill to allow the creation of a juvenile board in Deaf Smith County was still on the desk of Gov. Preston Smith Wednesday—and still unsigned.

It cleared its final legislative hurdle last Thursday and Smith has 12 days to sign it. If he does not sign it by then, it goes into effect automatically.

An aide to Smith said Wednesday that the governor was in his office but had announced no plans to sign it right away.

Gridders hit field for spring drills

High school football players, in their fourth day of spring training, will have a scrimmage session today, head coach Larry Wartes indicated.

It will be either on the practice field west of La Plata Junior High or on the field north of the high school, he said, and will lead up to a fullscale scrimmage under game conditions Saturday. The coaches plan to film Saturday's skirmish.

"We've got some pretty good kids, if we can get the leadership and other things that it takes to make a good ball club," Wartes said this week as he watched his players swap blows on the field.

His main concern is injuries. Dan Higgins, a lineman who will be a senior next year, was lost on Monday's first day of drills with torn ligaments in an elbow. He will be out for the entire three weeks of spring training. A quarterback prospect, sophomore Joe Sheffy, broke the thumb on his throwing hand. Two other players had stitches taken — one on the nose and the other above the eye — early in the week. Another player had a possible head injury.

Keith Kitchens, sophomore quarterback of last fall's junior varsity team, is running at first team this spring. Rudy Gonzales, a junior and backup to all-South Plains QB Mike Wartes last year, missed Tuesday's drill because of a baseball game but will be running at flanker, at least for this spring. Gonzales also is a contender for a starting slot in the defensive secondary.

About 50 to 55 freshmen have turned out for the squad and about 60 sophomores and juniors. There are "several" prospects from the freshman team, Wartes said, although he is not looking at any of them as varsity candidates at this time.

"This week's workouts have been plagued by windy weather.

"It's terrible. You can't hear, you can't pass, you can't kick," Wartes complained. The stress has been on fundamentals.

Wartes said he has been especially impressed with John Page and Danny Harris, two returning lettermen, in the backfield. Page will be a senior and Harris a junior.

For conservation coverage

KPAN wins top state honor

Radio Station KPAN has captured the plaque for outstanding service in the field of soil conservation by a Texas radio station.

Roy Faubion, assistant manager, received the plaque at a statewide awards banquet in Fort Worth Saturday night from Gene Kraft of Texas State Network.

The Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce sponsors the awards, which are given out each year in various categories. The newspaper category was split into weeklies and dailies, but in the radio category, KPAN was competing against stations of all size and power.

J.C. Brown, Dan Herrington and Ed Blackwell of the local Soil Conservation Service office also were in Fort Worth for the award presentation.

The Tierra Blanca Conservation District, in nominating the local station for the award in competition with 25 other stations, made these points:

—KPAN each year has provided on-the-spot live coverage of the Conservation and Crops tour, interviewing persons in the fields;

—the station has furnished local SCS personnel with a 10-minute program each week for presentation of their views;

—the station used numerous public service 'spots' for soil conservation, probably 175 or more, during 1970;

—KPAN provided farmers with detailed weather information, such as for spraying, ground temperature, etc.;

—the station broadcast live the Junior Livestock Show and Sale;

—the station gave continuing coverage to various other agriculture and soil conservation news throughout the year.

About 600 persons from throughout the state were on the Texas Christian University campus for the awards banquet. Faubion was at the head table.

This is the 26th year of the Soil Conservation Awards Program.

STATE'S BEST — KPAN was honored last weekend as the state's outstanding radio station for service to conservation. Roy Faubion, assistant manager, right, was in Fort Worth to receive the award, which news director Darrell Rose is holding. J.C. Brown, left, head of the local SCS office, also went to Fort Worth for the presentation.

Local cancer drive booms over quota

Local officials of the American Cancer Society chapter were jubilant Wednesday with their one-week drive, which ended Monday more than $1,000 over the goal they were striving for.

The goal was $6,300 but local president, John David Bryant, said $1,399.25 was donated in memorials, $550 in advance gifts, $1,551.90 in the rural drive, $1,941.16 in the Hereford door-to-door drive, and $1,927.15 in the business drive, for a total of $7,309.46.

"Hereford has met the challenge of fighting cancer with a check with an overwhelming success," Bryant said. "Now, we must all get check-ups."

The cancer drive last year brought in $5,800, exactly the amount that had been set as a quota. The increase, by $1,500, over last year surpassed expectations.

"It is with sincere appreciation and thanks that the members of the local board of the American Cancer Society salute the citizens of Deaf Smith County," Bryant said.

He gave special commendation to those who headed the respective drives — Bobby Owens, crusade chairman; Bud Eades, business chairman; Margaret Carnahan, rural chairman; Sue James, memorial chairman; and Jim McDowell, advance gifts chairman.

The Key Club and Leo Club were responsible for collecting the money house-to-house in Hereford. They hit the streets on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week. The rural and business drives were on Tuesday of last week.

"Without the support and organization of all of these people it would have been unbelievable to have obtained our goal in only one week."

Bryant urged that Hereford residents take advantage of the services the Cancer Society has to offer locally. He pointed out the chapter has a service committee headed by Mrs. Claude McDougal, the Rev. C.

W. Allen and Irene McKinstler to provide beds for homes, wheel chairs, walkers, bandages and other services for cancer patients.

The chapter is willing to provide a program for any group at any time, he added, through the education committee, headed by Lynn Brisendine.

Communication, cooperation key tornado issues

A communications breakdown and the unwillingness of citizens to cooperate with law enforcement officials were the two key problems faced here during the April 19 tornado, it was revealed in a meeting Tuesday of some 20 city agency officials.

Meeting in an effort to better coordinate disaster procedures, representatives of the city, civil defense, fire department, law enforcement agencies and utility companies discussed the pros and cons of work done during and after the tornado that swept through Hereford last month.

Also discussed was:

—traffic congestion immediately after the tornado,

—communication problems with key personnel and agencies

—legal authority of preventing people from entering the disaster area, —identification of those working the stricken area, and —setting up a designated "office" from which key government heads would meet and make decisions.

The group met with civil defense coordinator Bill Thompson and Mayor Jim Sears. In the two-hour meeting, the group discussed the problems encountered by the various agencies and possible solutions to the problems.

Traffic congestion, in and around the areas hit by the tornado, was one of the main topics of the meeting, as was communication between key personnel.

"It is a matter of public education," said Sgt. Bill Wells of the Department of Public Safety. "We need to make these people realize that when that warning goes off, it means for them to take immediate action and cover and not get in their damn cars and drive to the other side of town."

Don French, a representative of Southwestern Public Service, said the traffic problem "made us lose a terrific number of man-hours because our men could not get through the traffic."

French said the traffic congestion caused delay in repairing broken electrical lines and there were some cases where men were still working at 10 p.m. Monday who could have been through by 4 p.m. that day had it not been for the traffic.

"It all boils back down to communications," said Wells. "If everyone could have kept in contact with the other agencies, we could have solved these problems."

Thompson said the power failure, though unavoidable, created numerous problems in contacting key people. He said the radio station was not notified soon enough, the utility companies were not notified, and the volunteer firemen could not be notified.

"There was no way to notify the gas company either," he said, "to let them know of the gas leaks that were being reported all over town."

City Manager Dudley Bayne said communications also played a big part in his job during and immediately after the tornado. He said he spent much of his time Monday and Tuesday going back and forth from the damaged area to a telephone, talking with officials in Austin and Washington.

"What we need is something to keep us in contact with one another during a situation such as this," Bayne said.

Thompson said there were several instances where people patrolling the stricken area were unable to identify people who needed to be in the area. These people were not admitted, he said, and should have been.

Since the tornado, a number of the agencies have gotten for their employees, identification cards that will be accepted in a disaster area, Thompson said the Lubbock tornado and Corpus Christi hurricanes were good examples where identification would have helped the overall situation.

City hall, in the past, has been designated as the official emergency headquarters, but during the tornado, only a handful of the top government officials were there. It was decided that the fire station be the future headquarters in emergency situations and that possibly better telephone hook-ups be installed for the base.

Local band meets tough rivals at CC

The Hereford High School band competed last weekend in "probably the toughest contest" it had ever been to and came home from Corpus Christi with a second division rating. The competition was at the Buccaneer Music Festival with 36 other Class AAAA bands on hand. All had earned their way to the competition by winning Sweepstakes awards in University Interscholastic League contests. That means a top rating in contest, sight reading and marching.

"They were probably some of the best bands in the world," local director Ben Gollehon said after his return to Hereford.

Five of the 37 bands were rated first division, 10 (including Hereford) were rated second division, and the remaining 22 bands were rated third division. No fourth division ratings were given.

"There were so many bands that they graded very tough. We played as well as we could play, but we were just not quite ready. We were competing with schools that had 3,000 kids. But we feel we can do it. We at least found out what we have to do."

The director heard several bands that got second division ratings and knew that Hereford would be ranked with them.

He said he also knew when he heard some of the top-rated bands that Hereford was not in their bracket.

"They just had a little more mature players and were better prepared. We were just outclassed a little bit. These other bands sounded more like a professional band than we did," Gollehon continued.

He said he and his band came away convinced they will have to work even harder next year to compete on an even basis with the bands they confronted at Corpus Christi.

Clovis, N.M., which won the outstanding band trophy over Hereford at the Greater Southwest Music Festival the previous weekend in Amarillo, also shined at Corpus Christi. The judges refused to try to break a tie between Clovis and Richardson, Tex., in the judging and named them dual winners of the outstanding band award at Corpus Christi.

Nostalgia surrounds 'Last Train West'

At 6:43 a. m. Saturday, the "Last Train West" pulled out of Hereford enroute to California, marking the end of the iron-horse era of passenger travel for this part of the country. About 20 Hereford residents climbed aboard for a short trip to Clovis where they were picked up by friends and relatives for the ride back to Hereford. Many of the passengers took the train only for the purpose of being able to say in the future they were among the handful that took the "Last Train West." Santa Fe was one of 20 railway systems that pooled their resources to form the quasi-government corporation known as Amtrak — short for the National Railroad Passenger Corporation. The merger of the 20 systems dealt a permanent blow to passenger service in this area and the train that went west Saturday was the final passenger service that will be offered in this area. The train departed from Chicago late Friday and made a

Herd challenges potent Monterey

The Hereford High School baseball team will close out its first district 4-AAAA season here Friday when it hosts the district champion Lubbock Monterey Plainsmen in a doubleheader beginning at 1 p. m. The Whitefaces dropped a 3-0 decision to the Lubbock Westerners in Lubbock Tuesday and fell to a 3-11 district mark. Hereford pitcher Alan Wagner, who absorbed the loss to the Westerners, cracked the only extra base hit for the Whitefaces in Tuesday's game, that being a double. The Whitefaces were held to only two hits by Lubbock pitcher Chad Utley.

Lubbock pushed across all three of its runs in the second inning. Monterey, who owns a 13-1 district mark and a 22-2 season record, took the district championship last week when Hereford tagged the second place Plainview Bulldogs with a loss. The loss dropped Plainview to 7-8, the same record held by the Lubbock Coronado team, followed by Lubbock High at 7-9 and Hereford at 3-11. Originally only one game was planned for Friday, but bad weather forced one game to be postponed. That game will be made up Friday.

Area ranchers meet today on branding issue

The results of two-month long investigation into the state livestock branding system will be revealed at 8 p.m. today in a meeting of area ranchers at the Bull Barn. An 18-member committee was appointed in a meeting in March to research the current branding system and return with a report for area ranchers. The committee was composed of three representatives each from Deaf Smith, Castro, Dallam, Oldham, Parmer and Randall counties. Those on the Deaf Smith County committee were Charles Hoover, Jack Brown and Ralph Hastings. Sheriff Travis McPherson, who was named to head the committee until a permanent chairman is elected, said letters were sent out last week inviting representatives of 38 counties to be here tonight for the meeting. Members of the Farmers Union also are expected to be present at tonight's meeting to discuss the brand legislation that organization has been pushing in Austin. Tony Hoffman of the Farmers Union, said the legislation before the legislators is not a new development. "We have been clawing at it over two years now and we are glad to give a helping hand with this meeting," he said. "If it is good for the brand law then we are going to back anything they do." Hoffman said the Farmers Union, in its effort to get new and better brand laws passed in Austin, has met strong opposition. He said there are "some few factors fighting it." The brand law change proposed by the Farmers Union would be similar to that in New Mexico.

Want a wig? Watch where you buy it

Chamber of Commerce manager Bill Thompson warned this week of a postcard mailing 'racket' operating in Hereford and offering high-priced human hair wigs at $2.96. Thompson said a check with the Amarillo office of the Better Business Bureau revealed the company, Ladies Fashions Wig Styling Club of Pennsylvania, is offering 'very poor quality wigs'. The company is mailing postcards telling people they can get a 100 per cent human hair wig valued at $89 for $2.96 plus postage and handling costs. Thompson said there have been reports where people have sent in their money and not received anything. Both the highest and the lowest points above sea level in the United States are in California. The first oil well in the U. S. was built in Titusville, Pa., in 1859.

WT spring game is set for Saturday

Big Ed Holwig will quarterback the Maroons, while Alan Magee and Ron Leach will divide time for the Whites in Saturday's spring training final for the West Texas State University football squad.

Holwig, the 6-4, 215-pounder from Highspire, Pa., played every play on offense last fall as the Buffaloes compiled a 7-3 record. Leach was on the varsity squad, but was red-shirted and Magee is a freshman.

Admission will be $1 for adults, 50 cents for students. Coach Gene Mayfield and his staff won't divide the squad for Saturday's 7:30 p. m. game in Buffalo Bowl until Thursday.

Lue Treadway of Hereford; three brothers, Ted of Hereford, Clyde of Midland and Clarence of Tow; and four grandchildren.

"We have had so many injuries lately, we will have to wait until then to see who will be able to play and which players will not be able," said Mayfield Monday.

Due to the number of injuries, Mayfield set his charges through a no-contact day of practice Monday and won't call a great deal of hitting for the remaining two practice sessions.

"We will probably divide the team as we have been doing for the Saturday afternoon scrimmages — the first team against the second," said Mayfield.

The new Buffalo head coach and athletic director has been pleased with the progress of his squad during spring drills, but is quick to point out that much more progress is needed.

"Our offensive line blocking has come along during the drills, but the young men know there is much more to be done. We still lack consistency with our blocking and our defense."

Mayfield praised the work of Holwig, but would like for either Leach or Magee, or both, to come along as passers. Leach has been bothered this spring by a sore shoulder and tender finger tips on his right throwing hand.

"Alan has good leadership qualities and does many things well, but he just doesn't throw the ball well at this time," said Mayfield. "We hope he will take a ball home with him this summer and work on that phase of his game."

The head Buffalo coach has been impressed all spring with Rusty Tucker and rookie Billy Pritchett, but he quickly admits there have been some pleasant backfield surprises.

"Mike McCullough switched to the backfield from split end and has been impressive," said Mayfield. "George Crossman was a linebacker, a little too short for that position, but he's a strong runner at fullback. David Diederich, a Liberal, Kan., freshman, has impressed us at fullback also and little Mark Semkew has shown some real quickness and toughness."

Summer swim lessons to be discussed tonight

Swimming lessons for children and adults this summer in the Red Cross Water Safety program will be planned at a meeting

Mayfield said he and his staff considered dividing the team into equal groups for the Saturday night spring game, but changed their minds.

"Whichever team with Ed at quarterback would have a big advantage, unless the team was stacked against him, so we decided to go with first unit against second unit," said Mayfield.

ing at 8 p.m. today in the Community Center, called by Mrs. David Brumley, Water Safety chairman for Deaf Smith County Red Cross.

All water safety instructors are asked to be present, and other interested persons are invited, Mrs. Brumley said.

Scores of girls and boys of this area receive beginners' swimming lessons each summer through this program, and advanced classes are also included for youth and adult groups.

The classes are held at the municipal swimming pool in Dameron Park, with volunteer teachers.

Redistricting may affect us some

By BETTY HANNA
Statehouse Correspondent
AUSTIN — The six-county Texas House district that includes Deaf Smith County is in good enough shape with its population figures that it could escape redistricting, but losses in neighboring districts may force changes anyway.

State Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake said Wednesday the 1970 Census places 71,485 persons in his 72nd District, which embraces the counties of Bailey, Castro, Cochran, Deaf Smith, Lamb and Parmer. That's only 4.23 per cent under the magic number of 75,000.

However, nearly every neighboring district fell far under the required number, Clayton said, and the local district may get moved around to accommodate the changes which must come there. Immediately to the south, District 73, containing Andrews, Dawson, Gaines, Lynn, Martin and Yoakum, is 19.89 per cent short. District 74 north is 39.37 per cent short. And district 78 to the east is minus 25.57 per cent.

"Of course I would like to see my district remain just as it is," Clayton said, "but at this point I cannot say just what will happen."

After three months of hearings across the state, the chairman of the redistricting committee, Rep. Delwin Jones of Lubbock, said Monday he hopes to have a bill drafted by next Monday for House consideration the following week.

The remapping of state house lines should come out by Saturday week, he said, so it will be that time before Deaf Smith County residents will know if Clayton will continue to represent them in 1972.

"The most logical addition, of course, would be to add on the counties of Parmer, Castro, Swisher, Briscoe, Hall and Childress, which would add about 56,000 to the 31st District," Sherman said. He now has the Panhandle Counties above each of those counties.

The Amarillo senator said he expects no conflicts with other senators, since their location makes chances of colliding slim.

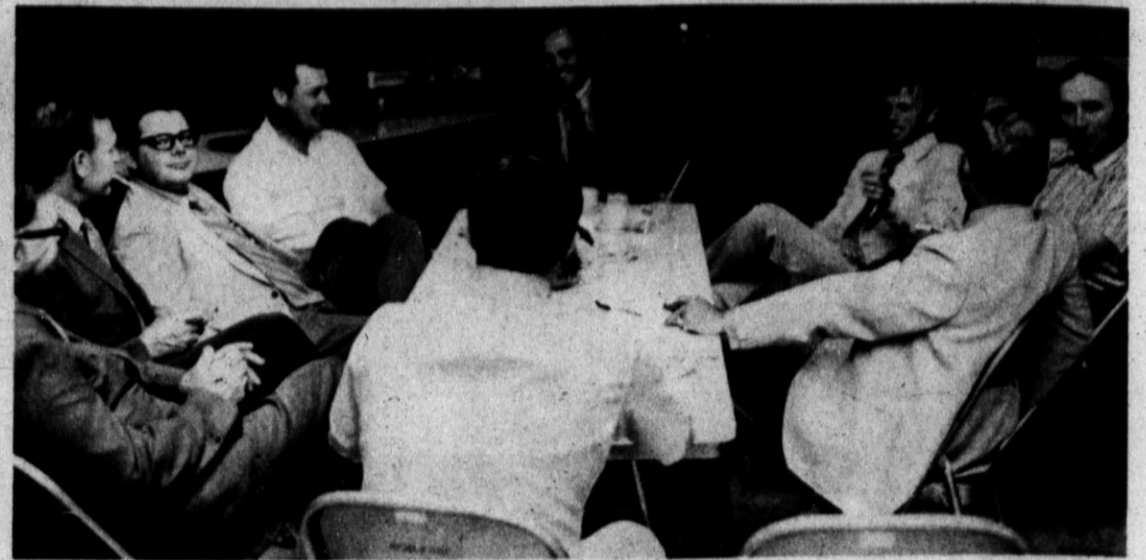

Demand rises for forms to stop bad mail

The request for forms to keep lewd and obscene mail from coming to a person's mail box jumped sharply in the past several days, Postmaster Nolan Grady said this week.

"Business has picked up considerably," he said. The forms had been going out at the rate of 'about four or five a day' until Thursday, when he spoke to the Kiwanis Club about the forms. He handed out about 50 of the forms Thursday, more than 30 on the next day, about 25 Monday and about 25 Tuesday.

Completed forms are sent to Washington, where the name of the person signing it will be put on a list. Publishers of sexually oriented advertising material must delete from their mailing lists any names on the list. If a person whose name is on the gets such mail, after 30 days from the time his name is put on it, the publisher is subject to prosecution.

Weekend shooting death was accident, JP rules

Justice of the Peace Glenn Nelson has ruled the shooting death of a 44-year-old Hereford man northwest of the city Saturday afternoon was accidental.

The victim was Sammie Edward West, who had lived here for 19 years. He had been involved in an accident with his pickup shortly before the shooting, officers said.

Nelson said it is believed the gun accidentally discharged as West got out of his pickup after the accident. The bullet struck him in the chest, right over the heart, and traveled downward through his body.

A passing motorist came upon the tragedy and called officers. The pickup ran into a bar ditch at the intersection of two dirt roads three miles west and one mile south of Milo Center. The Milo Center Community is 13 miles north of Hereford.

Funeral services were at 2:30 p.m. Monday in the First Baptist Church, with Dr. Gerald Mann officiating. Claborn Funeral Home of Friona directed the funeral.

West is survived by his widow, Wanda; two sons, Joe of Hereford and Jay of the home; a daughter, Jan, of the home; two sisters, Mrs. Jay Claborn of Friona and Mrs. Robert Lloyd of Hereford; a brother, Bill, of Hereford; and one grandson.

He was a veteran of World War II, a member of the First Baptist Church and a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Deputy Sheriff Harold Wheeler investigated the accident.

It is believed West was going east on a non-maintained county road, and his pickup truck failed to make the turn at the intersection with a county road. He apparently tried to hit his brakes, but the pickup bounced, went into the ditch and came to a stop.

The impact jammed West's face into the steering wheel. Two of his teeth were broken, and one of them was protruding through his lip when his body was found. The microphone of his radio phone was in the seat, indicating he tried to use it. Blood on the gun indicated it was in his lap at the time of the accident.

Neighbors told officers coyotes had been sighted in the area, and Nelson theorized West may have been chasing them at the time of the accident. He apparently opened the door of his pickup and stumbled outside. The gun then either fell from the seat or he reached for the gun barrel, possibly to fire and bring help, when it discharged, officers feel. Examination showed the gun to have an easy trigger.

Cancer hits, but victim learns new way to speak

(Editors Note: More than 200,000 Americans will be saved from cancer this year, according to the American Cancer Society. The ACS, which prepared this article for The Associated Press, stresses the quality of survival.

By SUSAN LICHTENDORF
Written for The Associated Press

Lucius Wade of Chicago stands 6-feet, 4-inches tall; he was with the Army in the South Pacific during World War II, and he doesn't scare easy. But seven years ago he was scared. He had come to Chicago from Jackson, Miss., started out as a busyboy in a hotel and had worked his way up to an important job in its catering department. He was a three-pack-a-day cigarette smoker and a doctor was telling him that he had to have an operation for cancer of the larynx — an operation that would rob him of his voice.

The doctor also told Wade that if he had the operation the chances were excellent his cancer would be cured. That decided Wade's family and they made up his mind. He's never regretted his decision because he is alive, and he has learned a new way of speaking called esophageal speech.

The night before the operation Wade was frightened. He was worried about his job. He asked to see a minister and spoke to him for a long time. Nonetheless, Wade can't remember the last thing he said in his natural voice. But, he does remember the first thing he said in his new voice. "I began to count aloud," he said recently.

Wade's new voice is husky like that of all laryngectomees. "People think that I'm very hoarse and they'll offer me a cough drop. It's a great compliment," he said.

Approximately under the knot of his tie, Wade has an opening that he uses to breathe. In order to speak, he has been taught to take air into his mouth and swallow. When the air is expelled it causes the walls of the esophagus to vibrate and a low-pitched sound results. He uses his tongue, lips and teeth to form the sound into words.

Wade is a member of a Lost Chord Club. In this country alone there are about 150 of such clubs affiliated with the International Association of Laryngectomees, which is sponsored by the American Cancer Society. These clubs are dedicated to speech rehabilitation and the emotional comeback of its members.

And a comeback is possible, said Wade, "I can't scream as loud as I used to but I've been promoted twice since the operation!"

Another Illinois laryngectomee, Mrs. Earl Benson of Rockford, Ill., was blessed twice after her operation — she gave birth to twins within the same year. The year was 1952 and Mrs. Benson had never seen, or heard of a laryngectomee. She did have persistent sore throats and she finally put off delaying and went to a doctor.

The operation was performed soon thereafter and in two weeks Mrs. Benson was home without a voice. "It was very frustrating," she said in her distinct whispery new voice. "My husband who worked at a service station would call during the day and I would tap to show that I was alright."

Friends and neighbors rallied around. A dance was held by the local chapter of the Order of the Moose and a check was presented to the Benson family. "It was a long way around that dance floor and everyone kept expecting me to speak. One woman sat at her table and wrote me a four page note for her husband to hand me because she assumed I couldn't hear."

Mrs. Benson, regional manager for a cosmetics firm, was hired on the basis of a long distance call, and the executive never guessed he was talking to a person without a natural voice. Now, Mrs. Benson does style show commentary as part of her job.

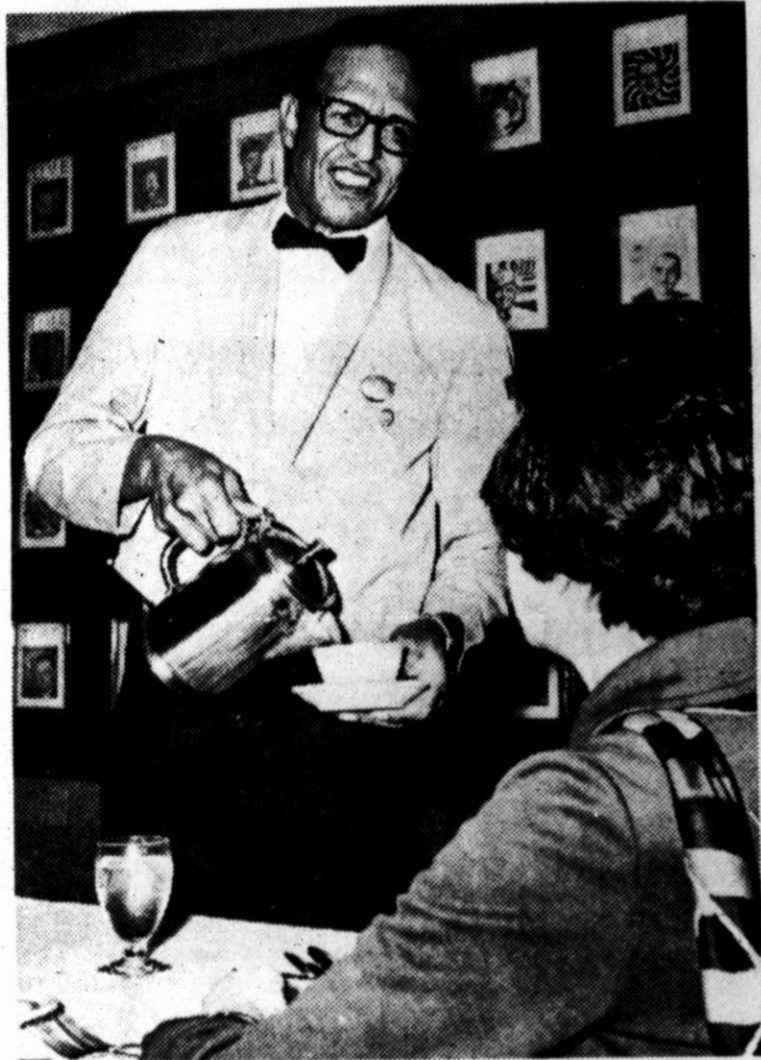

A member of the Rockford Nu-Voice Club, Mrs. Benson visits new patients and provides visible — and audible proof that a laryngectomee can go on with life.

On the subject of speech, laryngectomees are quite vocal. Some are adamantly in favor of esophageal speech others advocate the use of mechanical devices.

Lucius Wade tried a device until one of his friends took it away. "I used it about a week," he remembers. "My friend pointed to someone who handled esophageal speech beautifully and he said, 'if he can do it you can do it.'"

Comfortable in his new way of speaking Wade goes out of his way to talk to teenagers about cigarette smoking. He said he tells young people "if you don't smoke don't start."

Cigarette smoking is statistically linked with cancer of the larynx. There will be some 7,000 new cases of this form of cancer diagnosed this year. It will be the cause of 3,000 deaths. Nonetheless cancer of the larynx is highly curable if detected early and treated promptly. Radiation and surgery are the two

Brussels women say men have best jobs

By CARL HARTMAN

BRUSSELS (AP) —There's a man shortage at the international organizations that have made Brussels one of the most important capitals in Europe. But you'll never get the girls to admit it.

They say when they're unhappy, it's because men have all the best jobs and the girls don't get much chance for promotion. "I've never had any trouble finding men," said a blue eyed typist at the NATO coffee bar. "First," she said, "there was this man I met on the plane coming over. Then there were people at the place where I stayed. And everyone in the office has been very nice."

At the headquarters of the European Common Market a middle aged Italian social worker admitted to no problems of her own, but she said:

"They called our office once from NATO when they were organizing something out there. If we had any surplus men, would we send them along? But where would we get any surplus men?"

The Common Market has more unattached women than NATO does, about 800 to 500. The girl-to-bachelor ratio is about 5-to-1.

At the NATO bar a serious, blonde English secretary explained:

main types of treatment. For those who must undergo surgery there is the possibility of continued normal life. Through its support of the IAL and service programs the American Cancer Society is trying to meet that goal.

"It's not the lack of men. It's the way the men act on the job. It's much more of a man's world than in Britain or the United States. The idea here is that the men give the orders and the women serve."

The reason for the shortage of eligible men is that the staff at both organizations is made up largely of diplomats or army officers, economists and technicians well along in their careers.

On the way up they have acquired either wives and children, or such hardened ways of bachelorhood that a poor secretary hasn't a hope.

The girls' working conditions are good by European standards. A typist starting at NATO gets over $280 a month, free of tax. She has an extra month's pay for settling in and another $40 a month that goes into a "provident fund." She can collect it when she leaves.

She has six weeks vacation a year, plus another two weeks home leave every second year. The complaint heard most is the slowness of promotion.

A capable Dutch secretary at the Common Market said:

"I've been here eight years. And I had experience at the U. N. before that. I'm still in the lowest pay category. There aren't enough better jobs available."

Both organizations give the girls a hand with their social life. They sponsor dozens of clubs as well as dances and other get togethers. Recently the Common Market hired an "amateur" to liven up its recreation center. But even he is married.

NATO doesn't have a recreation center. It wanted to build one as part of some construction now going on. Fourteen of 15 member countries agreed. But the U. S. Congress, which would have had to supply about $250,000, wrote a clause into the appropriation bill to provide that none of the money was to be used for that purpose.

U. S. officials, embarrassed at having their country odd man out, still are trying to get the money.

84th Birthday Marked

The 84th birthday of Mrs. Susie Tiefel was celebrated Tuesday afternoon when her daughters, Mrs. Jim Loving and Mrs. J. B. Sowell, were hostesses with an informal tea in Mrs. Tiefel's home, 336 East Fourth.

A decorated birthday cake was cut and served with coffee to guests who spent the hour visiting informally. Numerous cards and gifts sent with birthday greetings to the honoree were on display.

Guests included Mrs. George Tiefel and son Ted, Mrs. Tom Johnson and sons, Brent and Blake, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tiefel, P. B. Sowell, Mrs. Rodney Symons, Roddy and Tad Symons, Mrs. Raymond Paetzold, Susan and John Paetzold, Mrs. Charles Kropff and Jill Pickens.

First graders attend round-ups at city's schools

Pre-school "round-ups" for all children entering the first grade next August are being scheduled at the various elementary schools. For the first time in the Hereford Schools, this "round-up" will replace individual conferences which have been scheduled in the past.

The objectives of the "Round-Ups" are to assist the child to prepare for school, to disseminate pertinent information on school policies, to offer health information to obtain a medical history on each child and give each child and parent an opportunity to visit the school he will be attending.

The school nurses will be hostesses for these, assisted by various personnel from each school.

Each pre-school child and his parents is invited to attend the Round-up scheduled at the school the child will attend. If this cannot be done, parents are urged to select another scheduled at one of the six elementary schools.

The first Round-up was at the Bluebonnet Cafeteria Tuesday night.

Others are scheduled from today through next Thursday.

One will be at the Central Cafeteria, at 2:30 p. m. today; at Tierra Blanca Cafeteria, at 1:30 p. m. Monday; at Northwest Cafeteria, at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday; at Shirley Cafeteria, at 1:35 p. m. Tuesday; and at Aikman Music Room, at 2 p. m. next Thursday.

Horses were replaced by automobiles in the White House stables in 1909 when President William Howard Taft bought a White steamer, a Baker electric and two Pierce Arrows.

memo to advertisers

What is the A.B.C.?

Chatting with a merchant the other day, we mentioned our "ABC figure."

"What," he asked, "is an ABC figure?"

Perhaps what we told him will also interest you.

This newspaper is a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, an independent, nonprofit organization of nearly 4,000 advertisers, advertising agencies, and publishers.

Its purpose is to provide accurate and factual reports on the circulations of member publishers. In the advertising and publishing industry, the ABC insignia is often referred to as the "hallmark of circulation values."

At regular intervals an ABC traveling auditor visits our office to check our records. The findings of this physical audit are embodied in an Audit Report published by ABC — the report literally tells us what our circulation is.

Virtually everything an advertiser should know about our circulation is found in this report, facts and figures without opinions.

Few retailers bother to ask to see a copy of our report, yet we want you to know one is available anytime you are interested in the quality and quantity of our circulation audience — the audience for your advertising messages.

What is an ABC figure?

 TOO much light for close-ups and too little for a group which is about 10 feet away!
 These have been common complaints in flash shooting for years. They cause an untold number of washed-out faces in the first case or muddy, indistinguishable features in the second.

Naturally, camera and flash designers have been wrestling with the problem trying to produce a cure. It would have to be simple, yet automatic, so as to eliminate normal human carelessness in handling.
 Well, the team of Polaroid and General Electric currently announce a solution: the "focused flash" system. It is ingenious yet simple.

Basically, it's a camera-coupled flash unit which automatically varies the amount of light emitted according to the distance being focused upon. This is accomplished by a louver arrangement on the flash shield. The louvers work like a venetian blind — they open and close.

To go with it, GE came up with a more powerful flashcube producing more than twice the light than a standard cube. At full strength — when the louvers are completely open — the hi-power cube illuminates a group at a 10-foot distance for a correctly exposed color picture.

As the camera focuses at closer distances, the louvers start to close, permitting less and less light through. At the closest distance of about 3½ feet, the focused flash unit lets only a minimum amount of light through. This corrects over-exposure at that close-up distance.

The focused flash system is incorporated in a new 400 series of four Polaroid color pack cameras. It clips onto a shoe mount which is coupled with the focusing mechanism so that the operation of getting the subject sharp regulates the proper amount of flash illumination reaching the subject. Each hi-power cube produces the CLOSEUPS, which can be heart-warming and significant, often are spoiled by over-exposure in flash shots. A correctly calculated picture (above) won an award for Annette Scaglia, 13, Seattle high school student, in a previous Scholastic-Anso contest. same amount of light — about 4,800 beam candlepower seconds — but only the amount required by a subject at a specific distance is utilized.

The flashcube is rotated for each picture by a handy thumb advance lever. After the fourth flash, the cube stops at an angle. It alerts the photographer to put in a fresh cube.

The unit is powered by two tiny AAA batteries. Only hi-power cubes will be accepted — no others will fit. A "lighten..."

darken" dial on the unit's back permits an adjustment of flash picture tone to suit one's personal taste.

Magnets take their name from the ancient Greek city of Magnesia, where lodestones first were discovered. A lodestone is a piece of iron oxide with natural magnetic properties.

NO NOSE — The ancient noseless lion of Babylon stands guard near the site of the old temple of Babylon. It is not known how he lost his nose. (AP Photo)

No trace remains at Babylon of the ancient hanging gardens

BABYLON, Iraq (AP) — The Socialist government of Iraq has been urged to replant the Hanging Gardens of Babylon and revive one of the ancient seven wonders of the world to lure tourists to Iraq.

Baghdad newspapers have asked the government to restore the fabled gardens to their ancient splendor. "By rebuilding the Hanging Gardens, the government will encourage tourists to visit the site of Babylon," said one editorial.

Not a trace of the gardens remains at this dusty archaeological site 60 miles south of Baghdad. Of the city of Babylon itself, once glowing with a splendour unrivalled in the ancient world, only a few low brick walls, mounds of earth and the main gate have survived the centuries.

And, of course, the Lion of Babylon.

The Lion is a stone figure erected near the site of the old temple of Babylon. Through much smaller than the Sphinx of Giza in Egypt, it has one thing in common with that enigmatic half-man half-lion — it has no nose.

Egyptian history books say Napoleon lopped off the Sphinx's nose with one of his cannon just to put the Egyptians in their place.

No one knows how the Lion of Babylon lost his nose. And little is really known about the Hanging Gardens. Iraqi tourist pamphlets say the Hanging Gardens were built by Nebuchadnezzar in the 6th century BC to please his queen. She came from the highlands and pined for some greenery to refresh the arid plains of Mesopotamia.

Water from the nearby Euphrates River readily was available and Nebuchadnezzar — cast as a villain in history because he deported the Jews from Jerusalem to Babylon — fulfilled his wife's whim and planted the gardens.

Victorian artists in England pictured the gardens as fabulous botanical treasure houses, refulgent with rare and splendid plants.

They were represented as terrace upon terrace of lush cool greenery, full of the scent of fragrant flowers, bushes and trees. The portrayal was in keeping with Babylon's slightly decadent reputation from the time it was the capital of the Babylonian civilization in Mesopotamia.

Archeologists and historians in more recent times have cast a colder eye on the Hanging Gardens.

To begin with, it appears they weren't hanging at all. The gardens were vast fields planted outside the walls of the old city. There was a fragrance, but it probably was the smell of onions, not the aroma of some rare and fragile plant.

For the gardens really were large vegetable patches, where Babylonian farmers grew cucumbers, onions and other staples. Some sections were also planted with vines to provide grapes for wine.

At any rate, the gardens now are not existent. A wooden signpost next to a low brick wall here says in English and Arabic "Hanging Gardens — One of the Seven Wonders of the World."

Donkeys and sheep nibble on the dry grass. A trickle of visitors turn off the road to have a look at the site and have a bite to eat at a restaurant.

A small museum houses artifacts and relics dug up in the surroundings. The only touch of color is provided by the remnants of the Ishtar Gate, through which triumphant processions used to pass into the city.

A yellow brick structure, it is adorned with lions and bulls in glazed blue tile. The noseless Lion of Babylon is grey.

The Vanishing Species...

101MAR 71 Form 36

Thirteen more species were added this year to the US list of wildlife near extinction, bringing the total to 102. Will man be number 103?

It stands to reason, because we share the natural environment with the wildlife, pollution affects both species. They are man's barometer of life and it is falling fast. How long man has left is in question, but at the present rate of pollution and wildlife loss, not long. The warning signs are there for all to see, but we are not reading them. Not only are we the wildlife's enemy . . . but our own!

Mama Cass has interesting past

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer
Her name is Cass Elliott. Born 28 years ago in Baltimore. She has an interesting past in show business and hopefully an interesting future but what people remember strongest about her is her days singing in the Mamas and Papas, and they still call her Mama Cass.

"That's been over almost four years," Miss Elliott says. "I introduce myself as Cass Elliott. But if that's the way people think of me — I've been an entertainer almost 11 years — it's taken me a long time to get any recognition at all."

Miss Elliott first sang in the Big Three, with Tim Rose and Denny Doherty. Then she and Doherty, Zal Yanovsky and James Hendricks formed the Mugwumps, which Lillian Roxon's Rock Encyclopedia describes as "singing very sophisticated folksy stuff" that was ahead of its time.

"Then we went to California at the end of that summer, got there just in time for the biggest heat wave they ever had and the Watts riot. Zally went into the Lovin' Spoonful, Denny and I and John and Michelle Phillips started the Mamas and Papas."

Talking about the eventual break up of the Mamas and Papas, and other groups, Miss Elliott says, "You live so intimately with each other it is like marriage, only you're not in love and don't have the love thing to carry you over all the time. You try to reserve as much of your warmth and honesty for being on stage. Somebody may say something that seems innocuous at the time. Later it becomes a misunderstanding and you can get into beer bottle fights. I'm not saying we got into beer bottle fights.

"I had a baby and my husband (Hendricks of the Mugwumps) and I were separated and I wanted to be home. I felt a rock 'n' roll group has a responsibility to the fans. They have a right to see you perform on stage.

"I didn't want to be on the road. I'd been on the road a long time and I was basically tired of the road."

As a solo performer, Miss Elliott cut records for Dunhill, was a guest on a number of TV variety shows and for eight months hosted a Saturday morning show with Dick Clark aimed at viewers around age 13.

"Most of the TV variety shows are done in Hollywood and I found I could live at home and do a guest spot — sing a song, do a comedy bit — and keep the career going. I haven't been on Dean Martin's show, but I've been on all the rest and luckily every one has asked me back.

"Talk shows came later. Nobody wanted to take a chance on me on talk shows, I guess they thought I'd come out smoking a joint and freak out on them. Rock 'n' roll musicians have such bad reputations."

Also, two years ago last October, Miss Elliott opened in Las Vegas. "Disaster! I don't think there is a word in the English language to say what a disaster that was. I had a contract for $40,000 a week. Flip Wilson was working for me. I was ill and didn't know it. After that first night, I went into the hospital for eight weeks.

"I bounced back a lot faster than the industry did. I was ready to go back to work and nobody would hire me.

"My house is sort of like a salon. People drop in and we rap. We decide the fate of the world in my kitchen. Dave Mason (formerly bass guitarist in Traffic) wrote his entire album 'A lone Together' in and around my house. I loved his singing and his songs.

"We started singing together. Boy, our voices really sounded great together. But I'd just spent two years building a new image.

"Last summer I went to London and saw him and his wife and baby, just dropped in to say hello. We sat down and started singing. For four days we didn't stop singing. We said, 'Who are we kidding? We know we have to sing. The music is so good and it's honest.'

"The music had a bright light about it. It was so nice and kind of sweet in an old-fashioned way. What the hell, we'd go on the road, we'd make a record. We were signed to two different companies, but no record company could stop us, we had a just motivation. Sure enough, it got together."

Their first single, "Something To Make You Happy," is out on Dunhill and their first LP, "Mason and Cass," soon will be out on Blue Thumb. The next releases will have the single on Blue Thumb and the album on Dunhill.

Woman under attack should scream as loud as she can

KALAMAZOO (AP) — You're a woman walking alone.

Suddenly you hear a noise behind you and someone grabs you. He goes for your purse. Your first reaction is to hold on for dear life. Should you?

No, advises Mrs. Jacqueline Moss of the Kalamazoo Police Department. And she also cautions women not to fight back.

"Nothing you have is that important to you," she says. "Chances are that the police will recover it later anyway and there's nothing valuable enough in your purse to lose your life over."

Mrs. Moss, who joined the Kalamazoo force as a policeman last fall, has been speaking to women in area clubs, as has her co-worker, Mrs. Ann Straubel. Their talks are accompanied by the film, "Attack!," put out by the International Association of Police in cooperation with Taft Broadcasting Co.

According to Mrs. Moss, the film is as good as any available on the subject, but it isn't really applicable to the average person. She tells her audiences to disregard most of the self-defense tactics they see in the film.

Basically, this is because the film features a policeman who has a brown belt in karate, and the moves she goes through just can't be tried by someone who doesn't know what she's doing.

"Attack!" advises the woman to get into the best position (usually face to face) to kick or scratch her assailant, or to grind her heel into his instep. It also suggests that the woman search her purse for a suitable weapon — nail file, comb, etc., — with which to defend herself. Mrs. Moss says most of these ideas just aren't logical in the split seconds the average woman has to think.

"First of all," she says, "nine times out of 10 any move you make will just antagonize your attacker more than he already is. He's not going to stand around while you say, 'excuse me, I have to get a nail file out of my purse,' or 'would you mind turning around so I can aim a good kick?' You just aren't going to have time to plan your moves. The best thing I can think of is for the woman to scream as loud as she can."

"I know in large cities there have been reports of people screaming for help and being ignored by passers-by," she continues, "but I think these are just isolated cases that get talked about. If you scream loud enough, someone is bound to come and help you. And it just might frighten your attacker so much he'll run away."

The best defense, of course, is for a woman not to get herself into a dangerous situation in the first place. Mrs. Moss has several suggestions.

"Have someone with you when you go out at night," she advises. "Rarely are two women attacked when they're together. When you leave a meeting, always walk to the parking lot with a friend.

"Once you get to your car (which should be locked) always check the back seat before getting in. Someone may have gained access to the car while you were gone and could be hiding on the floor.

"Whether walking or driving, plan a sensible route and stay away from dark streets. If someone is following you on foot and you're in a residential area, run up to the nearest house with a light on — if people see you're agitated about something they won't think you are crazy for pounding on their door. If there are no lighted houses, take off your shoes and run as fast as you can.

"It helps if you don't walk the same route every day. That way someone won't be able to learn your pattern," she continues.

"In your car, if you think you're being followed, let the car pass you. If he won't, pull into a gas station, restaurant, or some other well-lighted place and you'll lose him. I don't think I have to stress this, but never pick up a hitchhiker," she warns.

Officers named at XEA dinner

Dinner out, at Big Daddy's Restaurant, preceded the annual election of officers in Xi Epsilon Alpha Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Melvin Fowler was named president to succeed Pat McDonald.

To serve with her through the 1971-72 term, Mrs. Jim Aldridge was elected vice president. Mrs. Jim Craner secretary and Mrs. Max Goforth treasurer. Plans were made for salad supper the final meeting of this season. The new officers will be installed then.

A cash donation was voted to the state BSP project, aid to the University of Texas' pediatric hematology research laboratory at San Antonio.

Mrs. McDonlad presided for the business period. Entertainment of the evening was informal conversation. In addition to those named, Mrs. C.D. Fitzgerald and Mrs. Rudy Metz were present.

"My man wears English Leather. All of him."

It all started with an innocent gift of English Leather After Shave. Which he liked very much (and I liked even more). Then I gave him some English Leather Shave Cream. He wanted more. So I gave him Deodorant. And Talc. And then Shampoo Soap. Hair Dressing. Nothing seemed to satiate his obsession for English Leather. Fortunately, there are 21 different English Leather products, so I've been able to indulge all of him. I don't mind. I love him. From head to toe.

The next controversy we suppose, will be whether or not "Hot Pants" can be worn news that some doctors think Vitamin C can prevent, lessen, or cure the common cold, while others say "Bunk!"

Is that why doctors say they are "practicing" their profession?

Here are a few other tidbits that you might enjoy:

From Italy: Love prevents hardening of the arteries, encouraging the production of a chemical in the blood that works against the calcification of the pipelines. So says an Italian physician.

From England: Lovemaking may be a hazard to heart patients, causing emotional stress, excitement and worry to present a coronary risk that is as great, say, as running for a bus.

And from Peking: Love is a physical activity that wastes time and energy, according to an editorial in the magazine, Chinese Woman.

Ah, so.

This is the big weekend for the Civic Club golf tournament and we sincerely hope that the wind calms to about 10 or 20 miles an hour for this event. That would seem like a nice quiet day.

Rotarians, Kiwanians and Lions have covered the links this week trying to perfect their game, hoping to clip the other clubs and perhaps some of their own club members, and it should be an interesting weekend. The challenging Rotarians have placed Cliff Arnold in charge of the event and he reports that everything is moving along according to expectations. It should be fun.

We have heard incidentally, that a couple of Rotarians have suggested that the Lions concede the tournament and not bother to show up for play. They should, however, go ahead and pay their entry fee. We'll need that to buy prizes for the Rotarians and Kiwanians.

The insurance agents tell us that the adjustors have settled most of the tornado damage claims and that work repairing the homes is progressing well. For the most part, claims have been settled rapidly with little fuss or bother, and it appears that the companies have done everything within their power to get the community back to normal and the families back in their homes. There are, of course, a few homes that may have to be completely rebuilt, and this will take a little longer. Clean-up operations throughout the city are also going well.

It won't be long until the scars have been removed and another near-disaster will become history.

Nine persons have cast absentee ballots so far in the May 18 election. Absentee balloting will continue through May 14, so if you plan to be out of town on the 18th, be sure to go by now and vote.

The May 18th election will decide the fate of the proposed hospital district, as well as picking a man for the newly created post of Criminal District Attorney.

It is important that every-one vote in this election.

Mrs. Yelverton will be here Saturday. She is area demonstration agent for Patricia Nimocks Connoisseur Studio of Louisville, Ky.

The business is located upstairs at the lumber company. The arts and crafts shop carries a full line of supplies which includes oil paints, water colors, pastels, tile paintings, golf leafing, paper tile, and prints.

Also, the business carries a large number of frame materials and ready-made frames.

Adrian student, Patty Zaring, wins state in poetry interpretation

Patty Zaring of Adrian captured the Class B state championship in poetry interpretation recently at the state meet. It duplicated her first place finishes earlier in both district and region.

Miss Zaring read 'Five Bells' a modern selection by Kenneth Slosser.

Two other Adrian students competed in the state literary meet and finished high. Bobby Harwood finished third in ready writing at Austin and Beth Lloyd finished sixth in typing. Harwood was required to analyze a quote from Geoffrey Gorer and also derive a topic for discussion from this statement. He had won first place in both district and region competition.

Miss Lloyd had finished second place in both the district and region typing contests.

The three visited the state capitol and briefly watched the Texas Legislature in session. They also toured the home of Gov. Preston Smith and the University of Texas campus.

All school kids need updated shot records

Parents of children who are attending public schools in Texas should have their children immunized and their records brought up to date as soon as possible.

Jo Solomon, school nurse, said recent legislation in Texas makes it mandatory for each child enrolling in a public school to furnish written evidence of the complete series of immunizations against six childhood diseases.

These diseases are diphtheria, whooping cough, rubella, rubola, small pox and polio.

"If the child needs additional immunizations to meet this mandatory requirement, these should be given and all records collected prior to the enrollment date in August", Mrs. Solomon said.

Rebekahs vote to present cash eye bank gift

A cash donation to the Hi-Plains Eye Bank was voted by Rebekah Lodge members at their meeting Tuesday evening. George Green acted as noble grand in the absence of Mrs. Jim Loving, and presided for business.

Mrs. Roy Manning, recently elected lodge deputy, received her citation to that office.

A program on a Mothers Day theme was presented by Mrs. Henry Murrell.

Mrs. Manning was hostess, and served refreshments to 25 members.

Small talk

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

IT WAS A whole-family reunion in the Olen Caviness home last weekend, and since five brothers were together, I assume it was rather a noisy one even though their mother, Fronie Caviness of Portales, was also present.

In addition to Olen and Pete of Hereford, the brothers Caviness are George of Kinchloe Air Force Base, Michigan, Herschel of Causey, N.M., and Buster of Phillips.

All their wives were there, too and I may hear a masculine Plainview hosts organ concert Monday night

An organ concert will be presented at 8:15 p.m. Monday in Harrel Memorial Auditorium on the Wayland Baptist College Campus in Plainview.

Wesley Selby will present the program on the three manual, 58-rank Wicks Pipe Organ installed last year. The concert is open to the public with no admission charge.

The Lubbock Chapter of the American Guild of Organists is sponsoring the concert. Dr. Judson Maynard, Texas Tech University, is Dean; Earl W. Miller, Sub Dean, is from Wayland Baptist College.

The organist, Mr. Wesley Selby, comes from the University of New Mexico, Albuquerque, to present the varied program by such composers as Conrad Paumann, Palestrina, Andrea Gabrieli, Francois Couperin, Francisco Correa de Araujo, J. S. Bach, Max Reger, and Alberto Ginastera.

Civic club volleyball meet is next week

Volleyball teams representing the various Hereford civic clubs will go to each other next week for the city title in the first Hereford Civic Club Volleyball Tournament.

The tournament will pit two Lions Clubs, two Rotary Clubs, two Kiwanis Clubs, a Jaycee and another morning Kiwanis club against each other. The tournament will be Monday, Tuesday and Thursday at the high school gymnasium.

Entry fee for the eight-team tournament is $5 per team and admission to the tournament will be 25 cents per person. Proceeds from the event will go to local charity.

Games will be played at 7, 7:45, 8:30 and 9:15 p.m. on Monday and Tuesday, and on Thursday, two games will be played to determine the winner. The games Thursday will be at 7 and 8 p.m.

Trophies will be awarded to first, second and consolation teams.

voice opining that the reason the reunion may have been noisy was the talk by all those women, including the senior Mrs. Caviness.

Also at the dinner Friday were Mr. and Mrs. Larry Turner and son, Brent, of Amarillo, and Mr. and Mrs. Terry Caviness, family members who get down into younger generations.

A GOOD PLACE to meet friends whom you haven't seen in too long a time is the check-out counter at the grocery store, and who should be there Tuesday but Carmen Jorde and one of her pretty twin daughters — Julianne, I'm pretty sure, but it could have been Jennifer.

Anyway, I learned that one reason I haven't had the pleasure of seeing Elvina Jorde lately is that she was visiting her daughter in Iowa. And earlier, she spent some time visiting a son in California, getting a firsthand experience of a West Coast earthquake.

The quake which shook the Los Angeles area violently a few weeks ago, occurred on the day Mrs. Jorde was getting ready to fly back home. Nice that it did not stop her.

TALKING about his daughters' summer plans, Grant Hanna implies that he is not raising stupid children. He is going to Denton this weekend to drive them, and their college dorm furnishings, back home for vacation from Texas Woman's University.

Cynthia and Joette have got themselves summer jobs and will live and work in Amarillo. They have arranged living quarters, their father says, and are looking for an inexpensive car. But not so inexpensive that it won't get them home and back.

"They plan to drive it over here every once in a while. Whenever they need some more groceries," he states.

HONEST, I had no inkling when I wrote something about Irene McKinster and the enforcement of parliamentary laws in the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division, that she and some other members were taking a short course in that subject at Amarillo.

But it seems that Kathryn Keister and Ruth Knox went with her for the instruction, and Wilma Townsend for a part of it, so we may find the Women's Division so properly parliamentary that nobody will dare to open a mouth without consulting Robert's Rules.

MANY VOTERS WIESBADEN, Germany — More than 86 per cent of West Germany's 38 million eligible voters cast ballots in the 1969 parliamentary elections that brought Chancellor Willy Brandt to power.

Male voters between 50 and 60 years of age showed the most interest in the election with ninety-two per cent of them casting ballots, the Federal Statistics Office reports.

HANG-OVER REMEDY

DUESSELDORF, Germany—A West German professor claims that plain mineral water is the best remedy for a hang-over. Prof. Hans Glatzel, formerly of the Max Planck Scientific Institute in nearby Dortmund, said that after a drinking spree, the human kidney must secrete more liquid than usual and with it too much salt. Sodium in mineral water replenishes the salt level, the professor said.

FACTS EVERY CITIZEN SHOULD KNOW CONCERNING THE PROPOSED DEAF SMITH COUNTY HOSPITAL DISTRICT

1. The State Legislature has recently passed legislation authorizing the creation of Deaf Smith County Hospital District by a majority vote of the electors voting in an election called for such purpose on May 18, 1971.
2. The boundaries of Deaf Smith County Hospital District would be co-extensive with the boundaries of Deaf Smith County, and all residents of Deaf Smith County would be residents of Deaf Smith County Hospital District. Additional territory can be annexed in the future to such district by an election held as provided in the Statute.
3. The proposition to be voted on at the election for the creation of Deaf Smith County Hospital District is whether or not we want to create such a district, and giving the district the power and authority to levy a tax at a rate of not more than $.50 per $100.00 valuation on taxable real and personal property within the district, and authorizing the Deaf Smith County Hospital District to assume the outstanding bonds of Deaf Smith County Hospital.
4. If Deaf Smith County Hospital District is created as a result of the election, the actual tax rate to be levied will be decided by the Directors of the Hospital District after they ascertain the amount of money needed to be raised to service outstanding bonds and to provide for the annual budget of the hospital. The tax rate could be set by the Directors at a rate not to exceed $.50 per $100.00 valuation.
5. Deaf Smith County Hospital District would be operated by a Board of Directors composed of six persons. The first Board of Directors would be appointed by the Commissioner's Court to serve until the first Saturday in April following the election, which would be April of 1972, and at that time, three Directors would be appointed by the Commissioner's Court for a term of two years and three Directors would be appointed by the Commissioner's Court for a term of one year, and thereafter, each Director would serve for two years. All vacancies on the Board of Directors would be filled by appointment by the Commissioner's Court. If as many as 250 qualified electors decide that the Board of Directors should be elected rather than appointed, they can petition the Commissioner's Court to order an election to determine whether the Board of Directors will thereafter be elected rather than appointed.
6. Director must be a resident of the district, a qualified voter and a freeholder, which means he must own an interest in real estate.
7. The officers of the Board of Directors will be a president, vice-president and secretary, and those officers are selected by the Board of Directors, and each officer shall be elected for a term of one year. Any four members of the Board of Directors constitute a quorum.
8. The Board of Directors will serve without compensation, but they may be reimbursed for actual expenses incurred in the performance of their official duties upon approval of such expenses by the Board of Directors.
9. The Board of Directors shall manage, control and administer the hospital system, and the Board shall appoint a qualified person to be known as the Administrator or Manager of the Hospital District, and the Board could appoint an assistant to the Administrator or Manager if necessary.
10. No bonds shall be issued by the Board of Directors until authorized by a majority of the qualified electors of the district who own taxable property therein and who have duly rendered the same for taxation, voting at an election called for that purpose.
11. All contracts for construction or purchase involving the expenditure of more than $2,000.00 may be made only after advertising for bids as provided in Article 2368a of Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes.
12. The Board of Directors shall annually levy a tax for the purpose of (a) paying interest on and creating a sinking fund for bonds or other obligation assumed by the hospital district for hospital purposes; and (b) providing for the operation and maintenance of the hospital district and hospital system; and (c) making further improvements and additions to the hospital system. The Directors have the authority to levy taxes for the entire year in which the district is established as the result of the election.

13. All taxes of the district shall be assessed and collected on county tax valuations, unless the Directors by a majority vote elect to have taxes assessed and collected by its own tax assessor-collector.
14. Hospital district taxes will be assessed and collected on county tax values in the same manner as provided by law in relation to county taxes. The county tax assessor-collector shall charge and deduct from payments to the hospital district an amount as fees for assessing and collecting taxes at the rate of not exceeding 2% of the amounts collected as may be determined by contract, but not in any event shall the amount paid exceed $7,500.00 in any one calendar year. Interest and penalties on taxes paid to the hospital district shall be the same as in the case of county taxes. Discounts shall be the same as allowed by the county.
15. After creation of the district, no city or political subdivision within the boundaries of the district shall have the power to levy taxes or issue bonds or other obligations for hospital purposes or for providing medical care.
16. The hospital district will assume full responsibility for providing hospital care for the indigents residing within the district.
17. When a patient residing within the district is admitted to the hospital, the Administrator may cause inquiry to be made as to his circumstances and those of the relatives of such patient legally liable for his support. If he finds the patient or relatives are able to pay for his care and treatment, in whole or in part, an order shall be made directing the patient or relatives to pay the hospital district for the care and support of such patient a specified sum per week in proportion to their financial ability. The Administrator shall have the power and authority to collect such sums from the estate of the patient or his relatives legally liable for his support in the manner provided by law. If the Administrator finds that such patient or relatives are not able to pay, either in whole or in part, for his care and treatment, the same shall become a charge upon the hospital district as to the amount of the inability to pay. Any dispute as to ability to pay will be heard by the Board of Directors, and the proper order shall be made after the hearing of witnesses. An appeal from such order of the Board is permitted to the District Court.
18. If Deaf Smith County Hospital District is created as a result of the election, all of the property of Deaf Smith County Hospital, real estate, personal property and designated funds, shall be transferred by Deaf Smith County to Deaf Smith County Hospital District, and Deaf Smith County Hospital District will assume the outstanding bonded indebtedness of Deaf Smith County Hospital which is in the amount of $925,000.00; and such obligation will thereafter be the obligations of the hospital district.
19. There is some confusion as to the proper qualification of electors in the light of recent Court decisions. One view is that a qualified elector is one who resides within the district, is a qualified voter, and owns taxable property which has been duly rendered for taxation within the district, and there is another view that any qualified elector may vote in such election without regard to the ownership of taxable property within the district which has been duly rendered for taxation. Provision has been made for the voting, tabulating, and counting of the ballots of the resident qualified property-taxpaying electors who own taxable property which has been duly rendered for taxation separately from those who are qualified electors.
20. If a hospital district is created, the only additional administration cost which will be incurred other than what is now being paid by the hospital for administration is the amount to be paid to the county tax collector for the collection of taxes; however, such funds paid to the county tax collector will be deposited in the officers' salary fund for the county and reported as fees of office of the county tax assessor-collector. The Board of Directors now serve without compensation, the manager of the county hospital draws a salary and would continue to draw a salary as manager of the hospital for the hospital district.

Spring luncheon ends LAE year

Iris blooms from members' yards were the appropriate decoration for the annual spring luncheon of La Afflatus Estudio, when it closed a year Tuesday.

Mrs. George Suggs, chairman, Mrs. Sam Morgan and Mrs. T.W. Roberson of the social committee were hostesses in Mrs. Suggs' home, the handsome

GOLDEN WEDDING HONOREES — Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Brunsteter of Alva, Okla., celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary April 24 with a reception in their home, and special guests were Mr. and Mrs. George Parker of Hereford, parents of Mrs. Brunsteter. Also guests from this city were Mrs. Clinton Jackson, sister of Mrs. Brunsteter, and Mr. Jackson.

Electric Coop draws big crowd at annual meeting

Some 1,000 people attended last week's 33rd annual meeting of Deaf Smith County Electric Cooperative in the Bull Barn.

The meeting last Thursday became crowded at times because of the crowd registering and eating the barbeque luncheon served by the Hereford Rotary Club. The West Texas State University Stage Band played during the luncheon.

Awards were presented to Government-in-Action Youth Tour winners, Sally Kendrick of Friona, and Pat Acker of Nazareth. Troy White, first place alternate from Friona, accepted the award for Miss Kendrick, who was unable to attend.

Manager James Hull, in his report to the member-owners, talked of the establishment of C. F. C., the Bank for Rural Electric Cooperatives. He said this bank was established because of the change in government appropriations over the years. Eventually, all money needed for construction will come through loans from this bank.

In future years, member-owners will see lesser capital credits with the possibility of them being abandoned, Hull said. This, of course, he said, will depend entirely on the influences of the money market as it exists in today's changing world, with the ultimate purpose of keeping the cooperative in sound financial position.

The meeting concluded with the re-election of two of its present directors, Raymond Higginbotham of Deaf Smith County and A. W. Anthony Jr. of Parmer County.

Train victim improves from broken neck

Betty Morgan, injured in a car-train collision here April 26, is in good condition at home here after being treated last week at an Amarillo hospital for a broken neck.

Mrs. Morgan, 19, was taken to Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo Thursday where doctors put a cast around her neck. She will return soon to have a brace fitted.

Mrs. Morgan was first reported in good condition at Deaf Smith County Hospital with three broken ribs and several bruises. It was later learned her neck was broken.

The accident occurred when Mrs. Morgan, traveling south on brick house at 503 N. Miles which has just been rebuilt from the 70-year-old home of Suggs' grandparents.

Lunch was served buffet style from a table in the small family dining room, and guests were seated at tables in the wide living-dining room across the front of the house.

Afterward, Mrs. A.H. Cook presided for final business of this season. She appointed as the yearbook committee for 1971-72, Miss Della Stagner, Mrs. Emmett Hale and Mrs. Walter Johnson.

Club officers serve a two-year term in La Afflatus Estudio, so Mrs. Cook will continue as president, Mrs. Morgan as vice president, Mrs. Al Hewitt secretary-treasurer, Mrs. B.F. Markham councilor, Mrs. Earl Clark reporter and Mrs. Johnson parliamentarian.

The meeting ended with informal talk and inspection of the Suggs' home. In addition to those named, members present were Mmes. A.N. Hopson, Glen Nelson, S.C. Ramey, Glenn Witherspoon and A.B. Higgins.

Book review and lunch scheduled

Women from all churches in this area are invited to an unusual book review and covered dish lunch from 11 a. m. to 2 p. m. Friday, when Church Women United of Hereford will observe May Fellowship Day at First Presbyterian Church.

Review of the book, 'I'm O.K., You're O.K.', by the Rev. Norman Cobb, associate pastor of First United Methodist Church, and the Rev. Eugene Brink, First Christian minister, will be followed by a general discussion with emphasis on the family in this era.

Mrs. Claude McDougal, CWU president, will be in charge of a short business session. Any woman who wishes to attend the program is invited to bring a dish for the lunch. A nursery will be open to care for small children during the meeting.

It was the third vehicle-train accident in the past two years at the crossing. A person died in one of the accidents.

A GAS outdoor grill gives food a tangy outdoor flavor without the time and bother of charcoal fire. Char-broiled flavor comes from the smoke of meat juices dripping on hot briquets. Charcoal itself provides no flavor.

Permanent ceramic briquets in the gas grill reach cooking heat in a few minutes, and there is no long wait to start cooking. The heat is regulated manually so there is no need to move a grill up or down.

For God So Loved The World

about My MOTHER

Most all other things come by twos, threes, or even by dozens. See the roses, the stars, the sunsets. Ah, there's brothers and sisters, too, and uncles and aunts and cousins a plenty. But in all the whole big world there's just one mother. There's much more about my mother and good it all must be. In fact she's as good as goodness is, and that's enough for me. Her words are kind, her faith is strong, and her hope as high as the highest tree. You can see from here that she is a dear, — she means everything to me. Not one single emotion comes nearer the divine than my mother's love for me. She is the soaring cloud of radiant rapture that lifts me to new attempts and the strength I need to see me through. I'm taking my mother to church this Mother's Day — what about you???

You In The Church
The Church In You
— form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

Mrs. John Walden . . .

Let's cook something

Leisure time spent 'horsing around'

By JANIE BANNER
Staff Writer

LENGHTY hours at work allow little spare time for a young couple who enjoy riding and caring for their horses then entering them in area rodeos.

Donna and John Walden spend much of their free time attending and participating in rodeos. Barrel racing has been a combined sports effort between the two until last summer when Mrs. Walden's horse died.

"I haven't ridden as much since then but we're trying to get another horse now so I can get back into it next year," she explained.

DURING WINTER months Walden and his wife's brother, David Hill, enter team roping.

Donna and John both grew up around horses. Walden's family lived on a ranch in Nevada before coming to Hereford only two years ago and Donna's family, the Charlie Hills, have always owned horses.

The couple, married in April of 1969, lives slightly north of the city in a beautifully decorated spacious mobile home. Donna says she likes to keep her home neat and tidy at all times.

SHE HAS been receptionist for Dr. E. H. Hendon, optometrist, for one year. Her husband works in the doctoring department at Circle Three Feedyards.

"I generally cook one meal a day," said Donna. "Since John works so far from home he takes his lunch. We have casseroles quite often." The one they like best is a "different-sounding"

CHICKEN CASSEROLE
1 boned, cut up chicken
1 medium onion, chopped
1 can cream of mushroom soup

1 can green chiles

Saute onion and add soup. Heat and add cheese and green chiles. Add cut-up chicken.

Place Doritos on bottom of casserole dish, add chicken mixture and place more Doritos on top.

Bake in 350 degree oven for 30 minutes.

THE RECIPE for this dish was given to Mrs. Walden by her aunt, Mrs. J. T. Gilbreath Jr.

Donna was born and reared in Hereford and graduated from Hereford High School in 1967. Walden is a 1966 graduate of Winnemucca, Nev. High School. Both attended South Plains College in Levelland and West Texas State University.

They are active members of the First Presbyterian Church where Walden is deacon.

They have two pet dogs, Rufus and Sam, and Donna is quite attached to them. She spends a lot of her time with them when John is working and she is home alone.

DEADLY HALL
by James Dickson Carr
It was April 1927, and novelist Jeff Caldwell, New Orleans born and bred but educated in the North, was coming back home.

Jeff was a wealthy man (his grandfather had founded the Dixieland Tobacco Company), and just then he was a curious man, traveling back to the city of his birth in response to an unexpected and half-frantic letter from a boyhood friend, Dave Hobart.

Dave's grandfather, Commodore Fitzburgh Hobart, had also been rich enough to satisfy his whims, and one of them had been to move an immense 1500 manor house from England to New Orleans.

He had willed the remarkable Tudor building to his grandchildren, David and Serena. But there were a number of stipulations in the will, which, together with the possibility of hidden treasure, made for a great deal of trouble.

Was Delys Hall haunted? Certainly it wouldn't have been nicknamed Deadly Hall unless some pretty awful things had taken place in its great stone hallways. What was the real mystery of the place? Who walked it in the dark of the night?

Jeff quickly found himself embroiled in old legends and new terrors, in local politics — in love — and, eventually, in a very murderous atmosphere.

WHIM TO KILL
by Dell Shannon
The routine of the Los Angeles Police Department (Homicide) is always less than leisurely, but when there is a rapid upsurge in crime — look out!

This time, the elegant Lt. Luis Mendoza comes close to losing his cool when the sudden spate of violence lands virtually on his doorstep with the disappearance of quiet, capable George Higgins, one of his most trusted colleagues.

All the evidence points to three escaped convicts, fiendishly unpredictable when loaded with drugs, as, indeed, they are now.

If you enjoy reading a good murder mystery you'll like this one!

Queen named, contests begun in TOPS club

Sugar Blues TOPS Club Queen for the Week, Mrs. Charles Godfrey, was named and two new contests, weekly and monthly, were begun at a Monday evening meeting.

The group showed a 10% pound weight loss.

The monthly contest requires that each member bring one-half book trading stamps. At the end of the month the person with the greatest weight loss wins the books.

Weekly, members are to bring fruit or fruit juice. The member with the most weight loss receives the fruit bowl.

The resignation of Mrs. Larry Paschel was accepted and Mrs. Bartley Dowell, former co-leader, elected to take her place. Mrs. Holland Cook was named co-leader in turn.

Mrs. Andrew Batterman reported on the April 30-May 1
