Census Bureau 'finds' 650,000 new Texans

WASHINGTON (AP) - A new Census Bureau estimate that shows over 560,000 Texas residents were missed in the 1990 census count is proof enough of the need for an adjustment, state leaders say.

A Census Bureau estimate released Thursday pushes the state's population from 16.9 million to 17.5 million. The estimate shows 564,490 Texans were not counted.

Of those missed, tens of thousands are blacks and Hispanics living in Texas' urban centers and border communities, according to the estimate.

Gov. Ann Richards said the estimate is further evidence that Commerce Secretary Robert Mosbacher should adjust the 1990 census.

Mosbacher, under threat of a federal lawsuit, has until July 15 to decide whether to adjust the April 1990 headcount. If he agrees to an adjustment, Thursday's figures would likely be adopted, said Rep. Martin Frost, D-Dallas.

Texas is among several states and cities suing for an adjustment.

The decision to adjust the census could have profound implications on federal spending in Texas, on everything from health to highways.

"How can you admit you made a 560,000-count error and not make a correction. That's not possible," Richards said Thursday.

According to the Census Bureau's latest estimate, there are 17,551,000 people living in Texas - 564,490 more than the bureau counted in April 1990.

More than half of the undercount - or 343,573 - was in the state's biggest cities and largest counties on the border, according to Census Bureau figures.

Nationally, the Census Bureau estimated that its most significant undercount occurred among blacks and Hispanics.

Frost said the new estimates point to large undercounts of minorities in Texas' major cities. If the undercount is adopted, he said, it could result in significant shifts of power to blacks and Hispanics on school boards, city councils and county commissions, as well as in legislative seats.

Richards said she had been worried that the undercount would not be acknowledged "because it would mean the federal government would not be responsible for producing the money that they owed Texas based on its population."

"But that is really good news to hear that they have acknowledged that undercount," she said.

The Census Bureau said the greatest undercounts were in the state's most populous counties. It estimates it missed 120,801 people in Harris; 77,190 in Dallas; 42,897 in Tarrant; 35,606 in Bexar; 19,390 in El Paso; 17,593 in Travis. Significant undercounts were also noted in border counties: 15,455 in Hidalgo; 9,880 in Cameron; 4,761 in Webb.

While the new numbers would not be enough to give Texas another seat in the House - it is already boosting its delegation from 27 to 30 - the increase would result in millions more federal dollars being spent in Texas, Frost said.

Richards said she had been worried that the undercount would not be acknowledged "because it would mean the federal government would not be responsible for producing the money that they owed Texas based on its population."

"But that is really good news to hear that they have acknowledged that undercount," she said.

Richards calls for federal reform

WASHINGTON (AP) - Texas Gov. Ann Richards is asking Congress to strip the $2 trillion insurance industry of antitrust protections that allow it to fix prices, carve up markets and restrict coverage.

As a result of the legal collusion, she said, consumers are being denied insurance and prices are designed to "please the industry."

"All over this country, we make it more and more important for people to carry insurance, even as we make it more and more difficult for them with legislation to scale back the antitrust exemption it was granted in the McCarran-Ferguson Act of 1945. The bill would restore the federal antitrust prohibition against price-fixing in the industry.

Brooks, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee and its subcommittee on economic and commercial law, said the McCarran-Ferguson Act has allowed insurance companies to share information, even for the purpose of fixing premiums and policy provisions.

Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Beaumont, is also seeking to reform the industry

Ag commissioner approves HBP loan

An internal struggle over who actually has authority to make loans through the Texas Agricultural Finance Authority was put on hold Thursday as Texas Ag Commissioner Rick Perry approved loans to four businesses, including a $1.7 million loan to Hereford Bi-Products for expansion of its hide processing capabilities.

The loan to Hereford Bi-Products will add about 20 jobs to the industry, which will diversify its rendering and pet food operation and allow it to process more of the hides it receives. According to a news release from Perry, the state generates 5 million hides a year but exports almost all of them to foreign and domestic markets where they are processed into leather.

Hereford Bi-Products is still awaiting approval from other state agencies before it can fully launch its hide processing facility.

Under TAFE guidelines, local financial institutions lend money to agribusinesses. TAFE guarantees and participates in the loans.

Other loans were approved for a meat manufacturer in Abilene, a food processing company in Austin and to Cotton Unlimited in Post. The loans granted Thursday totaled $5.8 million.

"This funding will help these businesses create more than 200 new jobs and spur economic growth in our state," Perry said. "What's more, this will help bolster our efforts to create a thriving processing industry in Texas."

Last week, Perry launched "make it TEXAS," a new program aimed at increasing the state's level of commodity processing. Texas currently processes only eight percent of the goods it generates. The national average is 20 percent.

'Dream home' only a dream for many in US

WASHINGTON (AP) - Many Americans - particularly minorities, the young and single people - find the dream of home ownership slipping from their grasp, a Census Bureau study concludes.

The report, "Who Can Afford to Buy a House?," found that 57 percent of all households - both owners and renters - could not afford a median-priced house purchased with a conventional, 30-year, fixed-rate mortgage.

Thirty-six percent of current homeowners and 91 percent of renters did not qualify for a median-priced home.

Even a modestly priced house is too expensive for 48 percent of the nation's households, said the report, released Thursday. And 15 percent could not afford to buy a home at even the lowest prices.

A median-priced house is one that is more expensive than half the homes in a market and less expensive than half. A modestly priced house was defined as one where 75 percent of the homes in the market cost more.

"This seems to be telling us that the step from renting to home ownership is a big step for a large number of households and perhaps a bigger step than was generally realized," said economist Mark Obrinsky of the Federal National Mortgage Association.

The study, which analyzed the income, debt levels and savings of 12,000 households surveyed in the spring of 1988, found sharp differences in the ability to buy a home by region, age, marital status and race or ethnic background.

For instance, 77 percent of black families and 74 percent of Hispanic families could not buy a median-priced home, compared with 43 percent of whites and 46 percent of non-Hispanics.

Thirty-nine percent of married couples could not afford a median house, compared with 75 percent of all single people and 87 percent of single women with children.

Twenty-seven percent of families headed by people between 55 and 64 years old could not purchase a home against 94 percent headed by individuals younger than 25.

By region, the percentage of households who couldn't afford a median house were: the West, 63; Northeast, 59; South, 56, and Midwest, 51. The median prices were Northeast, $100,000; West, $95,000, and Midwest and South, $60,000.

Howard A. Savage, a Census Bureau statistician who wrote the report with Peter J. Fronczek, said the most surprising finding was that lower interest rates, which translate into lower monthly mortgage payments, did almost nothing to improve renters' prospects of home ownership.

"It helps some, but it's not statistically significant. They just flat don't have the money. You can lower monthly payments, but if they don't have enough for a down payment then it's an irrelevant question," Savage said.

He said the findings are still valid three years later. Home prices in many markets have risen less rapidly or even declined and mortgage rates have fallen from between 10 percent and 10.5 percent in 1988 to 9.5 percent this spring. However, with the onset of the recession, fewer lenders are offering low-down-payment mortgages.

The problem of declining home ownership rates is not new.

people who talk the most loudly, extolling the virtues of American business are first to stand in line and say "All except the insurance industry."

Richards said that under Texas' new law, insurance companies doing business in the state have to compete with each other and must meet stronger solvency requirements. The law repeals the insurance industry's exemption from state antitrust laws.

"In Texas, the insurance situation had reached crisis level," Richards said.

Airline celebrates 20th birthday

DALLAS (AP) - Check your socks and bone up on airline trivia if you fly Southwest Airlines next week.

The Dallas-based discount carrier turns 20 on Tuesday and will celebrate all week long in its cut-loose, get-hip style.

"Southwest Airlines has succeeded for 20 years because we are high on fun, love, service and people," said company chairman Herb Kelleher.

Flight attendants next week will be allowed to wear any uniform from the past 20 years, including the infamous hot pants-and-cowboy boots of the mid-1970s and sportswear and sneakers in vogue now.

Southwest planes will be decorated with party favors and passengers will be given cookies and cake. Free cocktails and champagne will be served Tuesday.

Contests for the sock with biggest hole or pantyhose with the longest run, which have become rare on Southwest flights in recent years, are being revived. Passengers with 1971-dated coins may win $20 off coupons for future trips, said Southwest spokeswoman Ginger Shearburn.

Passengers may also win prizes for knowing that Kelleher was dressed like Elvis for an appearance on the cover of Texas Monthly a few years ago or that Southwest's stock ticker symbol is "LUV," after Love Field, its Dallas base.

There will be special meals and events for employees at Southwest's 34 airports, four reservations centers and Dallas headquarters. Employees will also prepare meals for Ronald McDonald houses in Southwest cities.

On Saturday, the airline will give Lone Star One, its jet painted in the colors of the Texas flag, for a day to a Dallas businessman who won a 20th anniversary contest for essays that reflect pride in Texas.

Gary Kusin, president of the computer software retailer Babbages Inc., plans to take his family and about 100 other children to Sea World in San Antonio.

"My kids were very excited to go on a plane ride," Kusin said. "Their excitement led me to think the right thing to do with this trip would be to take children."

Kusin first invited the 35 students with the highest grade-point average from the I Have A Dream Foundation's program at Maynard Jackson Elementary School.

He also invited 25 students with high grade-point averages from the private St. Mark's School of Texas.

Fourteen teachers, seven from each school, will chaperone the trip. The I Have A Dream Foundation also recommended 14 Dallas-area teen-agers to serve as junior chaperones and Kusin invited them.

"What started out as an effort to celebrate our 20th anniversary and award one of our loyal customers has turned into an event to recognize some outstanding school children," Ms. Shearburn said.

"It was his idea. We're just delighted with all the arrangements he has made," she said.

The airline and Sea World are helping with admission to the park for Kusin's guests. Kusin has arranged ground transportation in San Antonio and is hosting a picnic for his guests.

"I think it's going to be a blast," Kusin said. "I know how my kids are when they fly on planes. I think it's going to be a day the kids never forget."

In his winning essay, Kusin described how, while living in Sacramento, Calif., he sneaked Texas soil into the delivery room when his wife gave birth to their first child.

There were more than 1,500 entries in the contest.

Iran develops nuclear weapons

WASHINGTON (AP) - Iran is trying to join the growing club of Third World powers developing nuclear weapons, U.S. officials and a top Iranian opposition leader say.

Since March 1990, the Iranian government has allocated $200 million to its nuclear weapons program, which is being aided by Pakistan, Argentina and China, says Mohammad Mohaddessin, director of the International Affairs Section of the People's Mojahedeen of Iran.

Mohaddessin, whose organization is based in Iraq, spoke in an interview at the start of a U.S. visit to meet with members of Congress and urge them to keep boycotting Iran.

With Iraq severely weakened by the Persian Gulf War, Iran has been trying to reassert itself as a regional power and has reached out to Europe for economic cooperation to ease its international isolation.

The United States "believes Iran has aspirations to acquire nuclear weapons," said one Bush administration official, speaking on condition of anonymity. He said the administration had been trying to dissuade Pakistan, Argentina and China from selling equipment to Iran or providing it with expertise for its program.

The nuclear program, begun in the mid-1960s by the late shah of Iran, was seriously set back by the revolution that brought Moslem clerics to power in 1979 and by the eight-year Iran-Iraq war that ended in 1988, the official said.

Iran is a signatory of the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty, which means its nuclear facilities and material are subject to periodic inspections by the International Atomic Energy Agency.

"But that never stopped anyone if they were serious. It didn't stop Iraq," said another administration official. Iraq was believed to be secretly trying to produce nuclear weapons-grade material which it hid from IAEA inspectors. Allied bombers are believed to have dealt the program a major, if not fatal, setback.

The shah bought one small research reactor from the United States that he placed at Tehran University. He also contracted for West German construction of two other reactors. However, he was overthrown before the project was completed, said a congressional official who follows nuclear proliferation.

The official said Iran received some enriched uranium along with the reactors, which had been under regular IAEA inspections.

The late Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini asked the German companies to finish the construction in the mid-1980s, but they never did - possibly because of the war with Iraq, the congressional source said.

Khomeini, said Mohaddessin, was so keen to revive the nuclear program that he formed a special unit within the Revolutionary Guards - the elite force tasked with implementing the repressive fundamentalist tenets of his rule.

The Guards unit moved parts of the Tehran nuclear facility to the city of Isfahan. It also built a larger research and development site near the city of Qazvin northwest of Tehran, he said. The large facility is known as Moallem Kelaich, he said.

Mohaddessin said his information was based on intelligence gathered by his organization's supporters in Iran.

"The mullahs (clerics) have made this project a very high priority," he said.

Iranian President Hashemi Rafsanjani favors buying expertise and material from China, which already sells Iran laser technology and which is eager for foreign currency, he said.

But although Chinese officials have held discussions with Iran on selling nuclear-related equipment, it's unclear whether China agreed, the congressional official said.

Pregnant woman hunger strikes

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) - An official with the Texas Department of Human Resources said a pregnant woman's hunger strike could prove harmful to her unborn baby, but the problem is outside the realm of state law.

"In some states, doing something like that would be enough to charge a woman with endangering the life of a baby," said Remberto Arteaga of the child protective services division of the Texas Department of Human Resources.

Such charges are made frequently in other states against women who use drugs, he said.

"But unfortunately, there is nothing we can do here," Arteaga said. "We can't apply any of our child protection laws until the baby is born."

Sylvia Ibarra, who is four months pregnant, carried her hunger strike into a fifth day Thursday as part of a protest against a Brownsville homebuilder accused of taking nearly $2 million from more than 200 people under promises of building homes for them.

But her protest triggered concerns by some over the effects food deprivation may have on her unborn baby.

Ms. Ibarra said she was aware that her protest could be harmful for her baby. She said she was trying to minimize that risk by drinking vegetable juices and taking vitamins.

She went back to her demonstration site in front of the Cameron County Courthouse early in the day

Thursday after spending the night at home, then took a break to attend a mid-morning meeting with District Attorney Luis Saenz and Assistant Attorney General Rudy Juarez.

Ms. Ibarra and others met for two hours at the Cameron County courthouse to discuss a plan to finance homes for those who lost money to homebuilder Lina Mar.

The woman and other members of the Committee Against Lina Mar emerged from the meeting saying they were no closer to a solution, but reached an understanding to work together.

TORONTO (AP) - Actress Lynn Redgrave says she has battled food addiction most of her 48 years.

"Food and its control over me was absolutely intertwined until seven or eight years ago," said the copper-haired actress, who was in town Monday to promote her autobiography, "This is Living: How I Found Health And Happiness."

Redgrave lost 35 pounds with Weight Watchers in the early 1980s and went on to become the company's TV spokeswoman.

Redgrave received an Oscar nomination in 1966 for "Georgy Girl." Her other films include "Sunday Lovers," "Tom Jones," "Girl With the Green Eyes," "Everything You Always Wanted to Know About Sex" and "The Happy Hooker."

Father's Day gift ideas for dads who think younger

A generation ago the typical gifts for Father's Day were a pipe and slippers. This tells you what the image of dad was -- sedentary. To some extent this was a reflection of harsh reality, as many men worked long hours at physically demanding jobs and used their remaining time mostly to rest. But there were cultural factors, too. As George Orwell observed of Englishmen of the period, at the moment of marriage they went straight from youth to middle age. And that was largely the case on this side of the Atlantic, too.

Today's dad is likely to work shorter hours, and even if his work is physical, he has lots of technology to help him. But more than that, he does not give up his youth at the time of marriage. He continues to participate in active sports, takes vacations in a variety of places and climates, and leads a social life that includes clubs, parties and business-related gatherings. He hardly has time for pipes and slippers.

So here it is 1991. Father's Day is Sunday and you are shopping for a day (or uncle, grandfather, neighbor, stepfather, coach, teacher, friend) with many interests and a youthful self-image. What do you get him?

If dad attends a lot of informal get-togethers, he may need updates and replacements for his casual wardrobe. Some of this season's possibilities include:

The dressy T-shirt -- Think of it as a summer turtleneck. It's a comfortable step up from the kick-around T-shirt that boasts team insignias and advertising logos, and coordinates nicely with lightweight sportcoats and slacks. Many are solid colors (black is popular), while others have tasteful decorations, like embroidered pocket emblems or contrast trim on the neckline or sleeves. And some have handsome patterns that run all over the front and back, just like a sportshirt. Dressy T-shirts can cost as much as $100 for an exclusive all-silk version, but there's a wide selection in the $15-$25 price range.

The colorful accessory -- It's that added touch that "makes" the outfit. Patterned socks are one example. They are available in all colors, from light to bright to dark, with lots of pattern choices -- dots, paisleys, squares and stripes.

The same social-minded dad we've been shopping for may also have an active side to his life and each sports pastime offers gift possibilities that are new, appropriate and useful. Some examples:

* Golf is probably the fastest growing sport for "dad"-type men, and every golfer needs at least one golf cardigan. What makes a golf cardigan different from other button-front sweaters is that it has bell sleeves (full sleeves that flare out at the wrist) and extra fabric in the body. This loose design permits free movement, and allows the golfer to wear the cardigan while he's playing. And don't be afraid to go for color in golfwear, because in this most traditional of sports, there is a great tradition of lime greens, Madras, prints, patchworks and other bright looks.

* Tennis is a sport with two fashion directions -- the traditional all-white outfit and the upstart outfit in flamboyant colors and patterns. Much of the current crop of attractive tenniswear falls exactly in-between -- white outfits with colorful but neat imprints on the chest and/or sleeves. Tennis shorts take a lot of punishment, so check dad's wardrobe for this very likely replacement gift.

* Boating produces some of the most attractive fashions for men, year after year. Nautical blazers, zipper jackets, slickers, sweaters, deck pants and deck shoes are always popular, and have found a permanent place on land as well as sea. Some of the newest nautical looks will be found in sweaters, where combination patterns (stripes-plus-anchors, for example) are being offered in traditional red, white, blue and gold.

The beauty of giving some kind of wearable item for Father's Day is that it literally brings the giver close to dad. It was noticed that one father never forgot to wear his bicycle helmet when he was out riding. When asked why, he replied, "Because my family gave it to me for Father's Day. If they care enough to worry about my safety, how can I do less."

NEW YORK (AP) - Sports maven Howard Cosell says he's doing fine after surgery this week to remove a malignant tumor from his chest.

The 73-year-old former play-by-play man said he underwent a three-hour operation Monday at Mount Sinai Hospital and was released Tuesday.

"I'll be fine," The New York Times today quoted him as saying.

Cosell, whose acerbic, often hammy style brought legions of fans and critics, quit announcing boxing in 1982, saying he was fed up with poor regulation of the sport. He quit football in 1984, saying it had become boring.

Celebrant Singers concert Saturday

Jon Stemkoski's Celebrant Singers, a Christian music ministry, will be in concert Saturday, 7:30 p.m. at St. Anthony's Catholic Church.

The two-hour service is a blend of music, praise, worship and preaching.

The group features singers and orchestra. Various members share words of testimony and a documentary film on the singers.

Members of the group come from various parts of the United States and Canada.

Currently, the singers are involved in a "report" tour throughout North America. The present nightly services in churches, auditoriums, colleges, service clubs, military bases, hospitals and prisons to nearly a quarter of a million people.

Hints from Heloise

MUSTY DRESSER DRAWERS
Dear Heloise: My mother gave me an old dresser. When I put clothing in it, it gets a musty odor. I can't seem to get rid of the smell.

Can you offer any suggestions? — Joyce Averna, Staten Island, N.Y.

The drawers could probably use a good airing. Put them outside on a sunny day and let Mother Nature do some work. Place fragrant sachets around the drawer to help freshen it or scented shelf liners are also available and may be just what you need. Good luck! — Heloise

Red Cross meeting set

The annual membership meeting of the Deaf Smith County Chapter of the American Red Cross will be held Saturday at the Hereford Community Center.

A hamburger cookout will begin at 6 p.m. and the business meeting will follow at 7. New members of the board of directors will be elected. All volunteers are invited to attend.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - James Brown reclaimed his title as Godfather of Soul when he returned to the stage for the first time since he got out of prison.

"I feel good!" he told the Wiltern Theatre and cable TV audience Monday.

Brown received standing ovations and shouts of approval when he broke into his trademark dance moves.

He was hailed by young rap stars like M.C. Hammer and Al B. Sure! and music veterans such as Quincy Jones.

"Nobody can tear the cover off the ball like James Brown," Jones said. Also performing were the C&C Music Factory, Bell Biv DeVoe, En Vogue, Tone Loc, Ice-T, The Boys, Kool Moe Dee and comic actor Sherman Hemsley.

Brown began his performance with an offstage prayer by the civil rights activist the Rev. Al Sharpton.

"Dear God," Sharpton intoned, "we thank you for surviving the difficult times" and allowing "the Godfather to come back to the head of the family."

Keith Craft and STRIKE FORCE

Strike force to perform

Strike Force, a group of internationally known athletes, travel the world demonstrating feats of strength like those seen on the "World's Strongest Man" contest, "That's Incredible", and "Wide World of Sports".

The group will be performing at the Hereford High School auditorium on June 17, 18, and 19, at 7 p.m. Admission is free. For more information call 364-8303.

One man bends steel bars in his teeth. Another breaks 12 feet of ice with his head. A third crushes five feet of concrete as it bursts into flames, with his fist.

Keith Craft, who was recruited two years by the Dallas Cowboys for his size and strength, breaks out of steel handcuffs. "These feats of strength are a tool we use to get peoples' attention," explains Keith Craft, leader of the team. "We then speak a powerful message of hope. During the school assemblies we encourage young people to take a stand against drugs, alcohol, suicide and immoral sex. Dramatic feats are performed and we are able to present our relationship with Jesus Christ."

Good self image critical in sexual abuse prevention

While public awareness of the problem of sexual abuse of children has grown during recent years, the problem continues to be very real. One in four girls and one in eight to 10 boys will be the victims of sexual abuse before reaching the age of 18.

Dr. Constance Fournier, pediatric psychologist in the Department of Psychiatry at Scott and White in Temple, says there are several observable characteristics in both sexually abused children and in their families.

SIGNS

In the younger child, indications might include behavior that is aggressive, regressive and/or sexual; sexual or violent themes in drawings or stories; or the appearance of begin very mature or very immature for the child's age. Physical signs might include difficulty in walking, sitting, frequent urination, unexplained injuries and/or neglect.

In older children, indications might include running away from home, engaging in sexually suggestive or promiscuous behavior, early marriage, withdrawal, social isolation, a dislike of family members, venereal disease or pregnancy or substance abuse.

FAMILIES MAY BE ISOLATED

Families of abused children may be isolated from the community, or may attempt to isolate their children, generally overprotecting them.

The family may have a strong paternal dominance. Roles may be reversed, with a son as "the man of the family" or a daughter as "the little mother."

Families of abused children may overreact to their children receiving sex education at school. A family member may be absent for a prolonged time from the home. There may also be alcohol or drug abuse by either parent.

Dr. Fournier emphasizes that the most important step a parent can take to prevent a child from becoming a victim of sexual abuse is to make sure the child grows up with a healthy self concept.

WHAT TO DO

"Having a good self image can give a child the confidence to say no to such abuse," says Dr. Fournier. "Giving children the feeling that they have the right to say what happens to their bodies is perhaps the greatest single thing we can do to protect our children from sexual abuse. Children who feel good about themselves feel that they can say no to an adult in an uncomfortable situation."

Dr. Fournier offers these suggestions for helping to teach a child to say no to sexual abuse. For younger children, utilize the "bathing suit" rule. No one should touch the parts of their bodies that a bathing suit would cover except for medical reasons.

Teach children that if someone touches them in their "bathing suit" areas, they should tell someone and keep telling until someone listens. Emphasize that such touching problems are to the child's fault. "No child should ever be made to feel responsible for not saying no," Dr. Fournier emphasizes. "Abuse situations occur where the child is threatened, or is abused by someone they trust. The child may not be able to say no, or may be ignored or harmed if they say no."

RIGHT TO MAKE DECISIONS

Help children to understand that they have the right to make decisions about their own bodies. Help them understand that if the tell, they are not betraying anyone, but helping everyone to get the help they need.

If you suspect that a child you know is being abused, call your local office of the Texas Department of Human Resource listed in your local telephone directory or the 24-hour Child Abuse Hotline, 1-80-252-3515. A call today could help a child tomorrow.

Social Security

Several parents of newborns in the Texas and Oklahoma Panhandle area have apparently fallen prey to a company that charges a fee for services available free of charge from Social Security. Reports have come in alleging that this company, located in Washington, D.S., has charged $15 for helping to process Social Security number applications for parents of newborns.

Some people have reported sending in the $15 fee but getting nothing in return. Those who do receive these services will get less than what Social Security provides at no cost whatsoever. This is because only Social Security can process applications for Social Security numbers.

The easiest way to get a Social Security number is to apply at the hospital where the child is born. To simplify the Social Security number application process for parents of newborns, local hospitals are offering the service free. Parents who have selected a name for their baby can authorize the State of Texas to send birth information to Social Security to issue a number.

All the parent has to do is check a block on the birth information form that is sent to the Texas Bureau of Vital Statistics indicating that they want this done. The State sends a computer tape to Social Security in Baltimore, Md. and Social Security cards are issued from there. It usually takes about two weeks to receive the card once Social Security receives the necessary information from the State.

The way to get a Social Security number for your newborn is to call, write, or visit any Social Security office. We can send you the application and you send it back with an original copy of the child's birth certificate and a document showing identity. You will also need to provide evidence of your own identity. You should receive a Social Security card in about two weeks from the date the application is submitted. We'll send the original birth certificate and identity documents back to you.

If an organization wants to charge you for a Social Security product or service, remember that your taxes have already paid for our service.

Tragedy strikes Open

CHASKA, Minn. (AP) - Fourteen hours that saw moments of brilliant golf and sudden tragedy in the U.S. Open climaxed with Payne Stewart squinting into the purple dusk to watch his final putt drop.

Stewart's yellow knickers and cap stood out like neon as he picked up his ball and walked away tied for the first-round lead with young Nolan Henke.

Thirty-three players were still on the Hazeltine National course when play was suspended at 9:08 p.m., ending one of the Open's longest and saddest days. The unfinished rounds were scheduled to be completed today at the same time as the second round starts.

Thursday will be remembered not for John Inman's hole-in-one, nor Henke's opening eagle, nor even 51-year-old Jack Nicklaus' late charge to a 70 that put him in a group behind Stewart, Henke, Tom Byrum at 68 and Mark Calcavecchia and Scott Hoch at 69.

In Open history, this will forever be the day lightning struck, killing a 27-year-old fan, seriously injuring another man and sending four others to the hospital with numbness in their legs.

Stunningly long bolts of white lightning split the fairways, stripped a jagged line of bark from a tree, snapped branches and frightened the 156 golfers and 40,000 spectators who sought shelter.

Everyone knew the danger. Lee Trevino, in mid-round when the lightning struck, was seriously injured along with partners Jerry Heard and Bobby Nichols by a lightning burst in 1975.

It was, simply, "the nightmare you hope you'll never have," said U.S. Golf Association executive director David Fay.

The downpour didn't last long, but play was held up for two hours, 41 minutes while paramedics worked on the injured and officials watched for the possibility of more lightning.

When play resumed in warm sunshine, it seemed as if a whole day had passed.

"It was almost like we weren't playing the U.S. Open. People were hurt and killed out there. So how can you be upset or concerned about a bad hole or bad score?" said Byrum.

"I wasn't quite so concerned with my golf game after such a tragedy," said Davis Love II, whose round of 70 tied him with Nicklaus and Fred Couples.

The scores improved in the afternoon as the wind died away and the softer fairways and greens showed more kindness.

Henke, a dimpled, long-haired 26-year-old in his third year on the tour, began his round with an eagle 2 on the first hole just before the lightning struck.

Billy Andrade started as fast as he finished last Sunday when he won his second straight tournament. He birdied the third, fourth, sixth, seventh and eighth holes, but then fell apart with a triple-bogey 8 on the 11th and a quadruple-bogey 8 on the 16th.

"I was very tired," said Andrade, who slept through the thunderstorm in a van that took him and other golfers off the course.

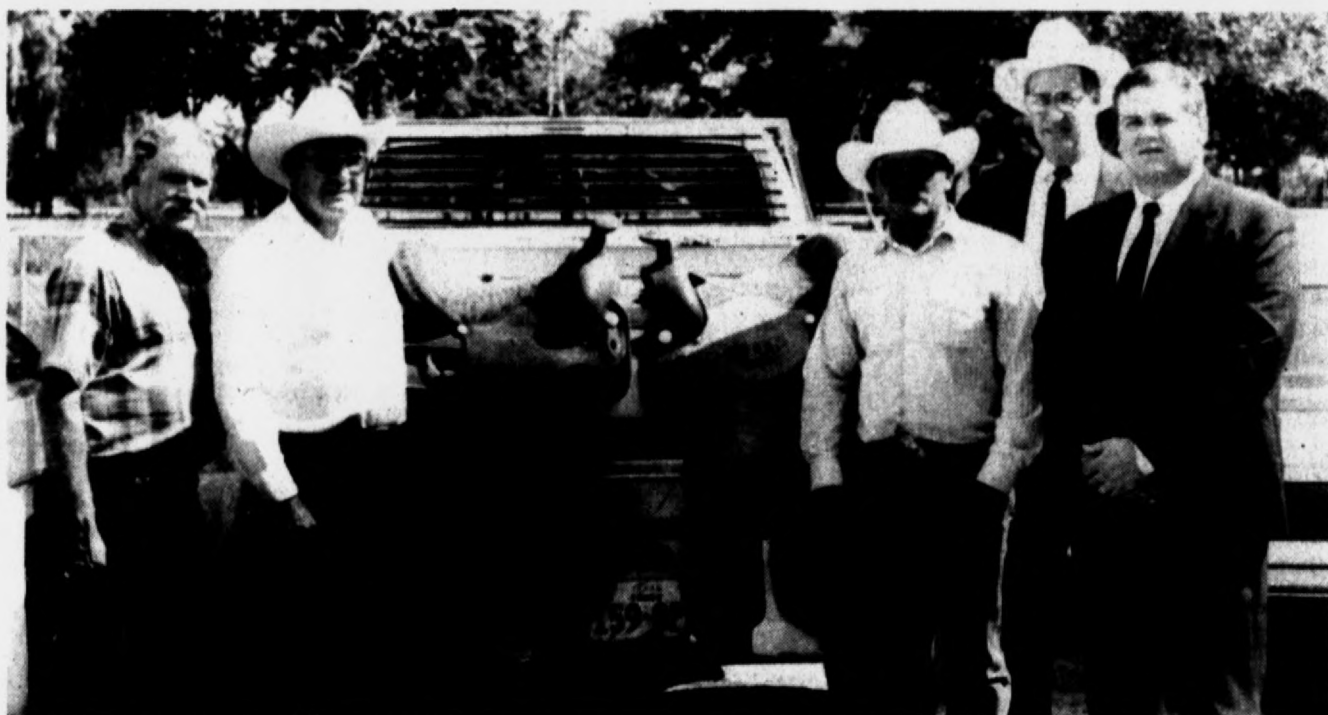

"I'm not a superman. It's going to happen sometime. When you start making mistakes, they magnify, especially in a tournament like this, the way this course is set up."

Former NCAA champion John Inman sank the first hole-in-one, knocking the ball in with a 4-iron on the par-3 fourth hole and holding the lead at 3-under through eighth holes when the storm hit. But he couldn't keep his concentration afterward and finished with a par 72.

Southwest Outdoors

with Mel Phillips

With Father's Day racing upon us, permit me to share several additional ideas that should make that special guy very happy. The outdoorsman can now choose some beautiful jewelry from David Darden (311 E. 11th; Wolfthorpe, Texas 79382). For less than $100, anglers can select a gold bass charm with a diamond or emerald chip for an eye. This charm can be used as a tie tack, necklace charm or to dress up that lucky fishing hat. The option of wearing a bass as an earring is not recommended unless your guy is the Michael Jordan of the fishing world. Want to bet that by the year 2000, some fishing ace will step to a B.A.S.S. weigh-in wearing an earring, and right there on TV, ol' Ray Scott will expire.

Dick's Pro Style Lures (1624 Summit; Garden City, Kan. 67846) has a new catalog hot off the press. It is full of great lures and a tremendous selection of worms and craw lures. Call Dick Apple at (316) 275-4049, and ask for his catalog. As a sponsor of the Fun Tournaments (both Meredith and White River), Dick is doing something to help the fishermen in our region. It makes sense for area fisherman to support lure manufacturers that are supporting fishing in our region.

Lake Meredith Fun Tournament results show that 60 anglers braved the rain, wind and threat of hail June 6. Congratulations to J.V. Parks of Pampa for earning first-place prize money of more than $400 with a 5.35-pound largemouth. Sandy Carroll, also of Pampa, earned second place money of $200 but failed to repeat his submarine performance of last tournament.

The next tournament at Lake Meredith will feature a cookout for the anglers courtesy of Kenneth and Alan Jones of Top-of-the-Line Marine. For an entry fee of only $20, free food, good fishing, the $50 luck-of-the-draw and an evening of fun await you. It will be June 20 at Cedar Canyon with registration from 3-6 p.m. and fishing from 6-9 p.m.

TIP OF THE WEEK--Sun screens should be a part of each fishing trip. My wife found some that is rated 45 and is water-proof. After applying the sun screen, use some of the odor blocking soaps (Berkely or Dr. Juice are excellent) to keep your sun screen from repelling the fish. The pros use these soaps, and so should the rest of us.

Saddles given to IFCA winners

Saddles were presented Tuesday to the winners of the regional qualifying roping and barrel races held by Region 11 of the International Feedlot Cowboys' Association May 5 and 26 at the Circle A in Hereford. Region 11 encompasses the part of the Texas Panhandle south of the Canadian River as well as most of New Mexico.

The winners of the saddles were: in open roping, James Ward and Ray Paul of MC 6 Cattle Feeders; in century roping, Harold Greenhouse of Springlake Feedyard and Bobby Jones of Owl Feedyard; and in mixed roping, Eugenie and Jeff Crist of Sudan East.

In addition, the saddle winners plus several other top finishers qualified to compete in the IFCA's National Feedlot Finals to be held in Elko, Nev., July 20-25.

They are, with order of finish and feedlot affiliation:

Barrel race: 1, Eugenie Crist; 2, Fawna Lee Speer of Mesa Livestock; 3, Sammy Winters of Bar G Feedyard; and 4, Robyn Wats of Great Plains North.

Mixed roping: 1, Eugenie and Jeff Crist; 2, Dywan Lane of Two Way Cattle and Lloyd Lujan of Hereford Feedyard; 3, Lane and Jesse Valdez of Hereford Feedyard; and 4, Valdez and Tammy Valdez of Cattle town.

Century roping: 1, Harold Greenhouse and Bobby Jones; 2, Juan Tena of Circle 3 and Ralph Sanchez of Champion Feeders; 3, Greenhouse and Wake Northcutt of Northcutt Feeders; and 4, Sanchez and Joe Tarango of Circle 3.

Open roping: 1, James Ward and Ray Paul; 2, J.R. Hogue and Charles Thompson of Napi; 3, Bob Arnold of Sudan East and Scott Williams of Caprock/Lockney; and 4, Arnold and Jeff Crist.

Sponsors roping, headers: 1,

Buddy Edwards of A-1 Chemical; 2, Chris Cabbiness of BJM Sales and Service; 2, Robert Campbell of Campbell Bits and Spurs; and 3, Curt Garrison of Pioneer Hi-Bred International.

Smith may complete Braves' rotation

By DICK BRINSTER
AP Sports Writer

What the Atlanta Braves need in their pursuit of Los Angeles is another starter to match the Dodgers' stout rotation.

And the Braves - already blessed with an impressive young staff led by 10-game winner Tom Glavine - may have found him in 25-year-old Pete Smith.

It's not that they didn't know about Smith. It's his shoulder they weren't sure of ... well, most of them. Don't include manager Bobby Cox in that group of naysayers.

"There was never any doubt in my mind he would come back," Cox said after Smith beat the New York Mets 3-2 Thursday night for his first victory in more than a year.

Smith, whose last victory was against Los Angeles last June 5, was lost for the season 19 days later because of tendinitis in his right shoulder. He underwent arthroscopic surgery Sept. 24.

Smith combined with Juan Berenguer on a four-hitter, and Sid Bream had a decisive two-run homer.

"It was big surgery," Smith said. "They had to take a lot of things out. I'm sure there was some doubt. ... I turned that negative into motivation. I wanted to prove everybody wrong."

Smith, 0-4 in seven previous starts against the Mets and decision-less in his first four starts this season, allowed two runs in the first inning. He permitted only two hits over the next five before giving way to Berenguer, who pitched three hitless innings.

New York's Wally Whitehurst (3-3) allowed three runs on five hits - including Bream's fourth-inning homer - in seven innings. Whitehurst struck out five and walked two.

Phillies 5, Astros 4
Philadelphia, scoring all its runs without benefit of a hit, took advantage of four Houston errors and two bases-loaded walks.

The Phillies managed only two hits off starter Darryl Kile (0-2) and three overall, but made the most of four errors, seven walks, a balk and a wild pitch.

Jose DeJesus (3-2) pitched seven innings and Mitch Williams the last two for his 11th save.

Reds 3, Expos 2
Pitcher Chris Hammond - helping himself with an RBI single - broke a personal five-game losing streak and Glenn Braggs got the winning hit.

Hammond (4-5) allowed only two hits in six innings, one of them Mike Fitzgerald's two-run homer that tied the game in the fourth. Hammond, whose single gave Cincinnati a 2-0 lead, had gone six starts without a victory.

Dodgers 3, Pirates 2
Lenny Harris, reaching as a hit batsman when umpire Ed Rapuano changed his call, scored the winning run on Alfredo Griffin's ninth-inning single.

The Dodger bullpen had three scoreless innings in relief of Tim Belcher, with Jay Howell working the ninth for his 11th save. Randy Tomlin (3-3) pitched a complete game, allowing seven hits.

Stan Javier, whose two-run double tied the game in the sixth, singled to start the ninth. Rapuano ruled the pitch to Harris struck the bat, then reversed himself, leading to the ejection of Pittsburgh manager Jim Leyland.

Cardinals 12, Padres 1
Ozzie Smith tied a career high with four RBIs as St. Louis made the most of errors by each San Diego starting infielder.

Half the runs by the visitors were unearned. Bob Tewksbury (5-2) allowed seven hits over seven innings, striking out five and walking one in addition to getting two hits and an RBI.

Cubs 4, Giants 3
Chicago's Andre Dawson caught Mike Kingery's one-out fly to right, then threw out Tony Perezchica at the plate to end the game.

Left-hander Paul Assenmacher, called on in relief of Mike Bielecki (8-4) with one out, got his fifth save.

Ryne Sandberg's two-run single off Jeff Brantley in the seventh proved decisive. George Bell and Dawson homered on successive pitches in the fourth.

Twins' Erickson sets club record

By BEN WALKER
AP Baseball Writer

They say winning is contagious, and Scott Erickson's success has spread to the Minnesota Twins.

The Twins tied a team record with their 12th straight victory while Erickson set a club mark with his 10th consecutive win Thursday night as Minnesota beat New York 10-3.

"It doesn't even seem like we've won 12 in a row," Erickson said. "And really, the guys aren't all that excited about the streak. We're approaching each game the same as if we've lost five out of the last six."

Chili Davis hit two home runs as Minnesota matched its record of 12 straight wins in 1980.

In other games, Kansas City beat Baltimore 6-4, Toronto topped Cleveland 1-0, Seattle downed Detroit 6-5 and Texas defeated Chicago 8-4.

Erickson (10-2), leading the majors with a 1.60 ERA, broke the Twins' record for consecutive victories in one season, previously held by Frank Viola and Stan Williams.

Erickson gave up two runs on nine hits in seven innings. He struck out five, walked none.

Davis hit two home runs in a game for the third time this season. His solo shot in the third inning was his 13th homer of the year, surpassing last season's total, and the Twins went on to lead 7-0 after four innings. Davis hit a two-run, 459-foot drive in the eighth.

Mike Witt (0-1) pitched to only four batters before leaving with a sore right elbow. The Twins scored four times in the first inning against Witt and Chuck Cary, getting RBI doubles by Kent Hrbek and Gene Larkin.

Royals 6, Orioles 4

Kirk Gibson became just the 13th player to hit 200 career home runs and steal 200 bases, and he did it with style. His two-run homer in the ninth inning broke a 4-all tie.

Danny Tartabull hit his third home run in two days and drove in two runs.

Brian McRae got an infield hit in the ninth and Gibson connected against Paul Kilgus (0-2).

Mark Davis (3-1) pitched the eighth and Jeff Montgomery got his 13th save.

Blue Jays 1, Indians 0
Jimmy Key pitched Toronto's second straight two-hitter and the Blue Jays won in Cleveland for the second night in a row by the same score.

Key (10-2) retired the final 20 batters. He struck out five and walked none.

The Indians, blanked by Mike Timlin on Wednesday, have scored only 22 runs in their last 13 games.

Charles Nagy (2-7) lost despite allowing only an unearned run.

Toronto scored in the third when Roberto Alomar singled, Kelly Gruber was hit by a pitch and second baseman Mark Lewis threw wildly while trying to complete a double play on Joe Carter's grounder.

Mariners 6, Tigers 5
Alvin Davis hit a two-run homer, capping a three-run rally in the eighth inning. The Mariners overcame home runs by Detroit's Cecil Fielder, Rob Deer and Milt Cuyler.

The Mariners trailed 5-3 when Ken Griffey Jr. opened the eighth with a double off Paul Gibson (2-3). Pete O'Brien hit an RBI single and Davis followed his sixth home run of the season.

Bill Swift (1-1) went 1 1-3 innings for the victory and Mike Jackson got his ninth save.

Rangers 8, White Sox 4
Julio Franco and Ruben Sierra each homered. The Rangers also took advantage of three errors to score five unearned runs.

Franco went 3-for-4, including a three-run homer, his sixth, off Greg Hibbard (4-5). Sierra hit a two-run shot, his ninth.

Gerald Alexander (4-1) allowed three runs on seven hits in five innings. Kenny Rogers pitched four innings for his first save. Craig Grebeck homered in the ninth for Chicago.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN L.E. '71

DID LOT'S WIFE TURN TO SALT?

BIBLICAL SCHOLARS DISAGREE! SOME ARGUE THAT THE EXPRESSION "BECAME A PILLAR OF SALT" WAS MERELY A CURRENT SLANG PHRASE MEANING SHE DROPPED DEAD OF FRIGHT! (GENESIS 19:24-26)

"SHE-DID-TURN-TO-SALT" SCHOLARS QUOTE ARCHEOLOGISTS WHO HAVE AUTHENTICATED THE GENESIS ACCOUNT OF A DOWNPOUR OF "BRIMSTONE AND FIRE" ABOUT 2050 B.C., NEAR THE DEAD SEA, AN EXPLOSION OF SULPHUR AND HOT SALT ERUPTED INTO THE AIR WITH A FORCE EQUAL TO A MODERN DAY ATOMIC EXPLOSION AND LOT'S WIFE, LAGGING BEHIND HER FLEEING FAMILY, WAS CAUGHT IN THE DOWNPOUR, COVERED WITH THE HOT SALT, AND THUS DIED. TO THIS DAY, BIZARRE SALT FORMATIONS CAN BE SEEN IN THE AREA!

LOT'S WIFE — SALT OR NOT? IT'S A QUESTION STILL OPEN TO DEBATE!

NEXT WEEK: THE LORD'S DELIGHT!

CLASSIFIED ADS
 Classified advertising rates are based on 15 cents a word for first insertion ($3.00 minimum), and 11 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy change, straight word ads.

TIMES	RATE	MIN
1 day per word	.15	3.00
2 days per word	.26	5.20
3 days per word	.37	7.40
4 days per word	.48	9.60
5 days per word	.59	11.80

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY
 Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid word lines, those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing, all capital letters. Rates are $4.15 per column inch; $3.45 an inch for consecutive additional insertions.

LEGALS
 Ad rates for legal notices are same as for classified display.

ERRORS
 Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

We want to help your garage sale be a success.

That's why we are introducing our special "Garage Sale Directory" that will appear in the Hereford Brand each Thursday.

For your listing to appear in the directory, just pay to have your regular garage sale classified appear in the Brand for three consecutive days (like Wednesday, Thursday and Friday). If your ad runs in three consecutive issues, you get a free listing in the directory. The directory will make it even easier for bargain hunters to find your garage sale. It will look like this:

Address	Dates	Times
313 N. Lee	Th, Fri, Sat	8-5 each day

Come by the Hereford Brand today (sorry, cash only on a deal like this), place your classified ad with us for three days and get a listing in our weekly Garage Sale Directory.

Chicago celebration violent--but not like Detroit

CHICAGO (AP) - You'd expect fans to gloat a little after the Chicago Bulls won the NBA championship, but the target of the gloating might surprise you.

The Los Angeles Lakers didn't even merit a mention when the Bulls came home. Folks were too busy chastising the Detroit Pistons.

"We're proud to be able to come back after winning three in a row in Los Angeles," Bulls coach Phil Jackson said when the Bulls arrived Thursday at O'Hare International Airport. "We want to thank the Detroit team and their fans for encouraging us to do this."

About 500 fans pressed against a fence to catch a glimpse of their heroes greeted that remark with impolite chants assailing the Pistons. "It's got nothing to do with them beating us three years in a row," said Angelo Panoutsos, one of the fans who joined in the cheering and the chants.

The Bulls beat Detroit in the Eastern Conference semifinals this year. Afterward, most of the Detroit players did not shake hands with the Bulls or offer them congratulations or good luck.

"When we finally beat them, for them to act like that is terrible," Panoutsos said.

The animosity continues. A spokesman for Detroit Mayor Coleman A. Young said Thursday that the mayor thought media coverage of Pistons championship celebrations last year was more negative than coverage of Bulls celebrations.

"He finds it awfully ironic (that) when stores are looted in Chicago, it gets treated as people getting a little rowdy, and when similar things happen here, it's called a riot," said spokesman Robert Berg.

The Pistons' 1990 championship, their second in a row, triggered mayhem in Detroit and its suburbs.

The deaths of at least seven people, including four killed when a man plowed his car into pedestrians, were blamed on postgame celebrations as thousands of people jammed city streets.

Detroit police reported 141 arrests and dozens more were reported in surrounding communities in the hours after Vinnie Johnson's jumper with 0.7 seconds left gave Detroit a clinching 92-90 win over the Portland Trail Blazers in Portland.

Hundreds of people hurt by gunfire, stabbings and fighting were treated at area hospitals, and looters ransacked through the city.

Wednesday night in Chicago, two people were injured by stray gunfire. More than 100 people were arrested in Chicago on charges ranging from mob action to firing a gun in public, police spokeswoman Tina Vicini said.

Three stores at a strip mall were reported looted, including an athletic wear store that was totally stripped. Seventeen people were arrested at the scene, police said.

The manager of a Church's Fried Chicken estimated that the restaurant had lost $4,000 to vandals - not counting the cost of nine plate-glass windows that were smashed.

South Africa may return to Olympics

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP) - After an absence of more than 30 years, South Africa could find itself back in the Olympics in 1992.

"There is reason for hope and we have hope," vice president Keba Mbaye of the International Olympic Committee said Thursday.

The IOC will invite South Africa to compete in the 1992 Olympics on the condition that the last pillars of apartheid are removed, Mbaye said.

To clear the way for quick reinstatement, IOC members gave the 11-member executive board and president Juan Antonio Samaranch the authority to readmit South Africa once the condition has been met.

Mbaye said that IOC members were gratified at the progress on South Africa, but didn't want to rush into a decision.

"Almost everyone said we must not allow ourselves to be bound by deadlines," he said. "We must let ourselves be guided by events and circumstances. It is necessary to proceed with care, not to act in a precipitous fashion which could compromise all that has been done until now."

South Africa last competed in the Olympics in the 1960 Summer Games at Rome. It was expelled from the IOC in 1970 for its policies of racial segregation.

South African president F.W. de Klerk has promised the IOC that all apartheid legislation would be repealed by the end of June.

Invitations for the Barcelona Games will be issued July 25, two weeks after a key meeting between IOC officials and South African sports leaders at Lausanne, Switzerland, on July 9.

However, there is a possibility that South Africa would be allowed to send a team to the Winter Olympics at Albertville, France, in February.

"It is very difficult to say right now, because those Games are not very far away. ... I don't see why it could not be done," he said.

Mbaye, a native of Senegal, is the head of the IOC's Commission on Apartheid and Olympism. He led a delegation to South Africa in March which granted provisional recognition to an interim national Olympic committee and set the conditions for full reinstatement.

Mbaye presented his report on South Africa during the 97th session of the IOC, whose members are meeting at Birmingham to choose the site of the 1998 Winter Games.

LONG HIATUS

ALBANY, Calif. (AP) - It was something like a Broadway play that opens and closes in less than a week.

Golden Gate Fields race track opened for its inaugural race meet Feb. 1, 1941. After five days of racing the track was forced to close because severe rainstorms washed away the racing surface.

Repairs proved difficult and on Dec. 7, 1941, the attack on Pearl Harbor resulted in a total shutdown of racing on the West Coast.

Six years and seven months later, on Sept. 9, 1947, Golden Gate reopened.
