U.S. Officials Deny Rumor of Deal for Hostages

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials from President Carter on down, while denying that any deal has been made or is being negotiated, are sending conciliatory signals to Iran in a bid to free the 52 American hostages.

Carter said Thursday he would be willing to meet and discuss the hostages with Iranian Prime Minister Mohammad Ali Rajai, in New York for an unexpected appearance at the United Nations, "if he should be amenable." Secretary of State Edmund S. Muskie added that "the door is open" for negotiations.

Rajai arrived in New York shortly after midnight Thursday, about two hours after Carter had attended a charity banquet in the city, and was to plead Iran's case in its 26-day war with Iraq before the U.N. Security Council later today.

Rajai is the highest-ranking Iranian official to visit the United States since revolutionary forces overthrew the late Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi in January 1979.

There were no indications the hard-line Islamic fundamentalist would meet with Carter or any other U.S. official, but Rajai's trip nevertheless fueled frenzied speculation about the hostages and U.S. relations with Iran — all of which the Pentagon and the State Department tried to dispel.

Carter and other officials, meanwhile, were playing down the United States' tensions with Iran.

The president, who called Iraq an "invading nation" Wednesday night, continued to emphasize U.S. support for Iran's national integrity.

Asked on a campaign stop if the administration would support Iran's complaints against Iraq at the United Nations, Carter said, "Disputes like this should not be settled through aggression or invasion of another country's territory."

The Pentagon denied a published report that the United States and its allies have built up an armada of 60 warships to keep the Strait of Hormuz open to Persian Gulf oil traffic. The Iranians have threatened to mine the strait.

Muskie stressed that if the hostages are returned, the United States would lift its economic sanctions against Iran and possibly allow the shipment to Iran of military spare parts now stockpiled around the country.

Chicago television station WLS, quoting what it said were four "highly placed sources" on three continents, reported Thursday that a deal is in the works for the United States to trade military spare parts for release of the hostages, now spending their 349th day in captivity.

The station said the parts would have to be in the air by noon today for the deal to go through, but the trade would not be announced until next week.

It said the hostages, reported to have been dispersed around Iran after the aborted U.S. rescue mission last April, have been returned to the U.S. Embassy in Tehran in anticipation of their release.

Pentagon officials denied that any planes have been loaded with parts destined for Iran or that any preparations have been made for such a move.

Muskie said no negotiations with Iran are under way.

Carter added there is "no imminent prospect" that the hostages will be freed.

State Department spokesman John H. Trotter cautioned reporters not to "jump to conclusions," adding: "Your role could be important and even crucial."

Trotter also said, though, that if any meetings are held, they will not be publicly announced.

Asked during a campaign stop at Windsor Locks, Conn., Thursday whether he might meet with Rajai, the president replied: "There's always a potential. We have not made any arrangements to meet with Mr. Rajai, but if he should be amenable to a meeting, we would certainly continue to follow our practice of meeting with any Iranian official who had a possibility of speaking authoritatively for their government."

Still, White House press secretary Jody Powell said there is "no real possibility" the two men will meet.

And before his departure from Iran, the official Iranian news agency Pars quoted Rajai as telling reporters he had no intention of meeting with American officials.

Iran's religious leader, Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, has insisted that several demands be met before the hostages are released, and the United States has not yet met any of them.

Among the conditions are the return of all of the wealth of the late shah and the cancellation of all legal claims against Iran.

While sitting in my office hoping to come up with an idea for this column, my eyes came to rest on a treasured gift which hangs on my wall. It is a multi-colored, needlepoint piece that spells out "Nieman."

The thought crossed my mind that many of us have some gifts made by the giver's hands that mean more to us than some expensive gifts that carry the label of exclusive stores or manufacturers.

It makes no difference whether it's an amateurish creation or one that is almost professionally done—whether it is a simple drawing, a valentine cut out of red poster paper by a clumsy little hand, or a sweater with arms of unequal length.

The point is, of course, we can envision that person—be it son or daughter, brother or friend, grandmother or grandchild or mate—bent over that piece of work and doing it just for us.

It may have cost little to make, except for time, and it may be imperfect. But what we understand, when we take the gift and say "Thank you so much," is that while that dear person was holding the creation in his hands, he was holding us in his heart.

That makes it very special, doesn't it?

Chamber Board Resolution Seeks TRLA Funding Reduction

Reports on the election of new directors, tourism, the next Fun Breakfast, approval of a resolution, and Women's Division activities highlighted the regular monthly board meeting of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce directors Thursday afternoon.

The resolution passed by the board concerned the operation of the Texas Rural Legal Aid office in Hereford. It requested a reduction in funding and stricter accounting of the organization's activities.

The resolution expressed concern for the "the legal needs of poor people," but also expressed opposition to the "exploitation of these same people for the personal gain or satisfaction of the attorneys of the Legal Services Corporation."

The statement also requested that each local office funded by federal taxes through Legal Services Corporation "abide by all aspects of their charter in which a local board should be appointed and available to oversee the actions of these offices."

The resolution concluded: "Be it further resolved that as abuses of this federal tax-funded program are in fact occurring, we hereby ask that the future funding of this organization be reduced while stricter accounting of their activities should be assessed by the Governmental Accounting Office and that each year all funding for Legal Services Corporation and Rural Legal Services, in particular, be reviewed in total before approved."

Ballots will be mailed today to all C of C members for the election of four new directors. Eight candidates will be listed on the ballots. Nominated by the Past Presidents' Committee were Don Tardy, Virgil Slentz, Warner Lawson, Tony Cortez, George DeBoer, Buddy Peeler, Calvin Jones and Bob Sims.

Ballots must be returned by Nov. 3, and results of the election will be announced by the chamber on Nov. 4.

Mike Carr, executive vice president, reported that the tourism committee has finalized plans for the sponsorship of a pheasant hunt in the county. Land owners have volunteered the use of land on opening weekend, and the second and third weekends of the pheasant-hunting season.

Carr said the chamber already had more applications from hunters than the office could handle. Applications are being referred to the Dawn and Easter Lions Clubs, who sponsor hunting projects. Anyone who would like to offer land for the C of C project can contact the chamber office.

Carr also announced that plans are being made for "the biggest" Fun Breakfast of the year on Nov. 20. It will be the

Clayton Testifies Moore Worried over Contribution

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas House Speaker Billy Clayton says labor leader L.G. Moore seemed worried that the politician would report a $5,000 contribution to the Internal Revenue Service — a report that could cost the Deer Park union official his job.

Tapes secretly recorded during the FBI's 10-month investigation of labor corruption in the Southwest revealed Moore repeatedly asked Clayton not to report the contribution without first checking with him.

Clayton testified Thursday that Moore seemed "worried to death that the money would be reported as a campaign contribution and he knew that a campaign contribution to Billy Clayton could cost him his job."

Clayton, along with Austin attorneys Donald Ray and Randall Wood, is charged with extortion, fraud, bribery and conspiracy in an alleged insurance kickback scheme.

The two lawyers testified earlier this week and told U.S. District Judge Robert O'Connor the controversial tapes proved their innocence in the alleged scheme.

Moore, regional director of the International Operating Engineers Union, also was indicted with the three men but is to be tried separately.

Prosecutors have argued the speaker took the bribe at a November 1979 with Moore and Joseph Hauser and was

Brand Carrier Gets Roughed Up

Thursday proved a tough day for a Hereford Brand carrier making his rounds, according to a report from the Hereford police department.

The 11-year-old paper boy was reportedly knocked from his bike by four other juveniles while making deliveries in the 400 block of Ave. D about 5:30 p.m. yesterday, and the juveniles subsequently scattered the carrier's papers before fleeing. Police have no suspects in the incident.

A 13-year-old girl notified police Thursday concerning an incident Wednesday in which she was allegedly assaulted by another juvenile on the grounds of La Plata junior high. The girl reportedly suffered facial bruises.

That matter has been turned over to juvenile authorities for investigation.

Mike Huffman of Idabel, Oklahoma informed police that the windshield of the truck with the 1977 Freightliner truck was damaged by a BB gun yesterday.

According to police, Huffman was traveling west on Park Ave. in his truck and upon passing Ave. F met a light-colored car occupied by several juveniles.

Huffman reported that one of the car's occupants shot the windshield of the truck with a BB gun, resulting in $150 in damage.

Police have no suspects in that incident of vandalism.

Officers answered four miscellaneous calls and worked two minor accidents Thursday, and also issued four traffic citations.

County History Book is Planned

Members of the Deaf Smith County Historical Society are working with Craftsman Printers, Inc., a division of Taylor Publishing Company, to print a history book of the county.

The book is being compiled by the Historical Society as a non-profit endeavor to preserve the history of the county as well as its residents. It will consist of history of communities, churches, organizations, education, historical landmarks and family histories. Every family presently living here, and everyone who has ever lived here, will be given space for 500 words for their family history.

Newcomers, as well as oldtimers, stories are sought. Memorial or tribute pages will be available.

More details about the book will be in a letter to be mailed to county residents next month.

Materials are to be compiled and published into a quality hardback book that will become a family heirloom and collectors item. Only the number of copies ordered prior to printing will be printed.

Troyce Hanna is the project chairman. Working on the committee with Mrs. Hanna are Sue Coleman, office manager; Marge Mehlberg, treasurer; and Kathryn Ruga, publicity.

At this time, the committee is busy with the selection of the logo and the formation of various working committees. The logo is being designed by Mrs. Charles Newell.

Anyone interested in helping is asked to contact a member of this group.

A meeting with the publisher's representative from Lubbock will be held later this month. Definite time and date for the meeting will be announced later by the Historical Society.

Officer Relieved From Duty

HOUSTON (AP) — A Houston police officer indicted on a misdemeanor charge in the slaying of a Gay Political Caucus leader has been relieved of duty with pay, Police Chief B.K. Johnson said.

Johnson said Thursday that officer Kevin McCoy will be relieved of duty until the case is resolved.

"It is not a suspension," said Johnson. He said McCoy still can perform non-patrol functions. The police chief declined further comment.

McCoy, 25, was indicted Wednesday on a charge of negligent homicide in the shooting death of Fred Paez, who was killed during Gay Pride Week here last June.

Grand jurors alleged McCoy acted negligently while trying to arrest Paez for public lewdness last June 28.

The charge carries a maximum sentence of a year in jail and a $2,000 fine.

The indictment said McCoy was under the influence of alcohol when he stuck a .45 caliber automatic pistol to Paez' head.

The officer contends Paez grabbed the gun and it discharged while they struggled.

Station Asking For Brilab Tapes

HOUSTON (AP) — A Dallas television station has asked a federal court to expedite a hearing on an injunction that could clear the way for the station to duplicate and broadcast secretly-recorded Brilab tapes.

Attorneys for Belo Broadcasting Corp.'s WFAA-TV said Thursday that their motion was a possible first step in appealing a federal judge's decision to deny the station access to the tapes.

U.S. District Judge Robert O'Connor, the presiding jurist in the Brilab trial of Texas House Speaker Billy Clayton and two Austin attorneys, denied the station's request for the tapes Wednesday.

Clayton and attorneys Donald Ray and Randall Wood are on trial on charges of extortion, fraud, conspiracy and racketeering in an alleged scheme to re-open bidding on a multi-million dollar state insurance contract.

Prosecutors in the case have built their case around conversations secretly tape recorded by an FBI informant.

WFAA attorney Robert Singleton said if the injunction is not granted, the station may appeal to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The station requested the tapes after a U.S. Supreme Court ruling Tuesday that released Abcam tapes that showed U.S. Rep. Michael Myers, D-Pa., accepting a payoff from an undercover FBI agent posing as an Arab sheik.

Evangelists Plan to Pray, Witches Talk at Seminar

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — Organizers of a weekend witches' seminar welcome a massive "pray in" that evangelists say they organized to thwart "demonic forces" that will be at work in this Panhandle city during the pre-Halloween gathering.

"We welcome their prayers because we don't want any demonic spirits either," said Skip Tarrant, director of the International School of Wicca in New Bern, N.C.

But Judy Mamou and her husband Jimmy say they are convinced that the seminar will conjure evil forces and they are organizing "several hundred people" for a prayer meeting at noon Saturday to cancel demonic spirits.

"We're not there to interfere with the seminar at all," she said. "We felt they would be chanting and using witchcraft and wizardry and that is forbidden in the Bible. We feel like the spirits they will be calling on will be demonic and we feel this is very dangerous and we're not even sure they realize it."

"If we stand together, our prayers of faith to the God Almighty will cancel those demonic forces," she said.

However, Tarrant says people who come to the seminar, sponsored by the Church of Wicca, will be disappointed if they expect to see bizarre rituals.

"We will not be chanting, holding rituals or calling upon demonic spirits. That is very dangerous and it's certainly not a regular feature of our activities," said Tarrant.

He said the "Samaian" seminar coincides with traditional witches' new year — a celebration of the full moon closest to the first day of November — which will occur this year on Oct. 23.

And he said the seminar would be nothing more than a series of discussions and lectures for "several hundred" witches that people outside the church may find boring.

"We are here for a seminar, not to cast circles, put on robes and dance around fires. Most of us do that at one time or another, but we do it at home."

"Frankly, as long as they will stay outside (the Holiday Inn), and do their protest, our avowed intention is to ignore them as much as possible," he said.

The seminar has attracted unusual attention here this year because of the pray-in and the involvement of Loy and Louise Stone, directors of the Church of Arinahu, a branch of the Church of Wicca.

Stone was acquitted of the Halloween 1977 shooting death of a 15-year-old girl in a widely publicized trial last February.

During the trial, Stone said he and his wife were conducting a witchcraft seminar the night of the shooting and had complained to police about harassment and vandalism by teen-agers. He said he fired a single shot in the air to scare off five teen-agers who pulled into his driveway near Dimmitt.

Roxanne Casas was killed by a shotgun blast and two other youths were wounded in the incident that touched off violent reactions in Dimmitt's Hispanic community.

The Stones have lived in seclusion since the trial, and rarely talk to reporters, although they have released a statement on the upcoming seminar.

"The primary reason for the Samaian seminars has been an attempt to promote understanding and unity among those who were interested," Mrs. Stone said in the statement. "... also to illustrate that witches — male or female — don't always have long, warty noses nor wear pointy hats and brew evil smelling concoctions in a cauldron."

Mrs. Stone said witches do not believe in Satan, but a god, or creator, who recognizes people for their individual talents. Tarrant said the group does believe in and teach witchcraft as part of the church's religious ceremonies.

He said the Church of Wicca, which has "several thousand members," is an umbrella organization for many different facets of witchcraft — much like Protestantism is an umbrella for various Christian denominations.

"We are very heavily into philosophy," he said. "It's a fairly intellectual type of individual religion for thinking people. We do very strongly encourage individual differences and encourage each individual to follow his own path. That's one of the reasons there are so few of us."

"We are not evangelists. We do not go out and recruit people. It is very difficult to tell a group of witches. We really don't wear Halloween costumes to seminars. It's slacks and sports shirts and maybe some Levis."

Tarrant said many witches are harassed about their beliefs and he is worried that the publicity about Saturday's seminar could endanger some participants.

And Holiday Inn sales representative Melinda Batchelor says the hotel has hired extra security staffers to keep the curious from bothering the witches.

"The thing I'm worried about is Halloween. People get far more excited than the situation warrants. Things have broken loose on Halloween. That's exactly what I fear — things done under impulse. Most witches I know take their kids out trick-or-treating and for pizza. I sometimes order out for pizza."

Mrs. Mamou, however, sees the pre-Halloween seminar as a sign that evil spirits are invading the area undetected.

"We're not fighting flesh and blood, we're fighting demonic spirits. It's more dangerous because it looks so good — those cute little people who knock on your doors at Halloween in witches hats and the cute little devils outfits with the little pointed tail."

"A lot of people think it's a big joke. But the Bible says the devil is a deceiver."

Tarrant says that is just the kind of attitude that angers him.

"I personally am really upset about what's going on, but I refuse to mount a tirade," he said. "I have the opportunity to educate someone who one day will understand that we are not a threat."

Iraqi Troops Reported Closing

BASRA, Iraq (AP) — Two columns of tank-led Iraqi troops were reported closing in on Iran's blazing refinery city of Abadan from their positions about a mile away, and Iraq offered to cease fire on its terms. But Iran's prime minister rejected the idea and prepared to address the U.N. Security Council today on "Iraq's aggression."

"According to the latest information from Abadan and Khorramshahr, the Iraqi mercenaries are advancing towards Abadan along two lines, accompanied by heavy armored forces. The fighting forces and the brave Moslems of the city of Abadan are defending their city bravely," the Iranian command said late Thursday night as the war entered its 26th day.

The communique said in Khorramshahr, Iran's key port 10 miles to the northwest on the disputed Shatt al-Arab estuary that "the people, helped by the personnel of the armed forces, using street dug-outs, are involved in street fighting...and have thrown most of the enemy forces out of the city..." There was no immediate reaction to the claim from the Iraqis, who on Thursday took this correspondent and others to Iraqi front lines about a mile north of Abadan after crossing a pontoon bridge spanning the Karun River, which flows from the northeast and enters the Shatt al-Arab at Khorramshahr. The bridge appeared to be secure and we saw Iraqi soldiers swimming in the river.

The highway between Khorramshahr and Ahwaz, the capital of Iran's oil-rich Khuzistan Province 70 miles to the north, and the highway connecting Abadan to Ahwaz and Tehran, the Iranian capital 380 miles to the northeast, was cut by the Iraqi army and there were many abandoned cars and trucks near the river crossing.

The six big oil pipelines that used to link the Abadan refinery with Ahwaz, Dezful, 75 miles further north, and Tehran were burning in four places near the crossing and balls of fire were bubbling from some of the pipelines. A clear liquid, apparently gasoline, occasionally gushed out before going up in flames. Turbels of smoke sprouted from the flaming towers and pipes of the Abadan refinery, turning the sky brown above the barren desert plain.

An Iraqi captain said the front-line troops inched a half-mile closer to Abadan on Wednesday night, putting

Hostage Issue 'October Suspense'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Was this the "October surprise"?

Or was it just a day of rumor feeding on rumor, a snake of speculation swallowing its own tail, hope coinciding with happenstance?

In Chicago, a television station reports, over and over, that the 52 American hostages are about to be returned to the United States.

Small Talk

By SUE COLEMAN

A sort of traveling family reunion was enjoyed by Jean Ballard and her sister, Verna Mae Brown of Adrian, who returned Wednesday from a two-week trip to Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Their parents, who were old-timers in the Adrian community, were both natives of that part of the United States and their are numerous kinfolks scattered about up there, Jean said.

Also, leaves were turning on the trees, very beautiful, and the Texans left just as the weather turned cold and rainy, with snow forecast.

They flew to Rochester, Minn. where there was a gathering of cousins including three women from Montana whom the local women had never met, but were glad they finally did.

After visiting other relatives in Houston and Mabel, Minn., they crossed the Mississippi to LaCrosse, Wis. and went on to Merrill to visit an uncle.

Gene Sparks, who grew up and graduated from high school here, and is the son of Georgia and Bub Sparks, is moving from Phoenix to San Francisco for a promotion in the firm where he has been employed several years, Feld Truck and Car Leasing-Rentals.

He will be sales promotion manager for the Western US division of the company; a job that entails holding seminars and other types of training for salesmen. For the past two and a half years he has been in Phoenix.

He and Ann Haviland of Phoenix plan to be married soon after the first of the year.

A tour of New Mexico mountains around Red River and Eagles Nest over the weekend revealed plenty of scenic foliage areas, Lois Ethridge reported after she got home Tuesday. The trees were still spectacular, with not nearly all their leaves lost.

With her on the excursion were her sons, Clayton Rutter of Austin and Nelson of Clovis and her daughter Clea, of Amarillo. They found a good fishing spot and a fish fry was a highlight of the trip, Lois said.

Don't forget the book sale at Sugarland Mall tomorrow, an annual event of the Friends of Deaf Smith County Library.

If you think it would be quaint and charming to browse among the book stalls on the left bank of the Seine in Paris, like you read about in travel brochures, try browsing among the books in the mall and see if somebody has donated a volume with value as an antique, or maybe you'll just find a bargain in a book you want to read.

Local Men To Speak At Temple Baptist Church

Bill Frazier and James Hutson will be preaching at Temple Baptist Church this Sunday.

Frazier will be preaching at the 11 a.m. service and Hutson will be preacher for the evening service at 7 p.m.

The public is invited to attend the services, according to Rev. J.L. Bozeman, pastor of Temple Baptist.

New Square Dance Club Schedules First Event

A new square dance club has organized for any square dancers in the area with the first meeting set for Oct. 24 according to Sandy Burrus.

Herrick Allen of Amarillo will call the first dance of the club which will begin at 8 p.m. at the Hereford Community Center.

The club will meet the first, third and fifth Friday of each month. Dues are $5 per month, per couple.

For more information call James and Sandy Burrus at 364-1346; Forrest and Ruth McDowell at 578-4390; or Ed and Joyce Geiger at 364-7378.

The Newspaper Bible

BELIEVE IT, SPEAK IT, IT'S YOURS!

Dear brothers, the longing of my heart and my prayer is that the Jewish people might be saved.

I know what enthusiasm you have for the honor of God, but it is misdirected zeal.

For you don't understand that Christ has died to make you right with God. Instead you are trying to make yourselves good enough to gain God's favor by keeping the Jewish laws and customs, but that is not God's way of salvation.

You don't understand that Christ gives to those who trust in Him everything you are trying to get by keeping His laws. He ends all that.

For Moses wrote that if a person could be perfectly good and hold out against temptation all his life and never sin once, only then could he be pardoned and saved.

But the salvation that comes through faith says, "You don't need to search the heavens to find Christ and bring Him down to help you," and,

"You don't need to go among the dead to bring Christ back to life again."

For salvation that comes from trusting Christ - which is what we preach - is already within easy reach of us; in fact, it is as near as our own hearts and mouths.

For if you tell others with your own mouth that Jesus Christ is your Lord, and believe in your own heart that God has raised Him from the dead, you will be saved.

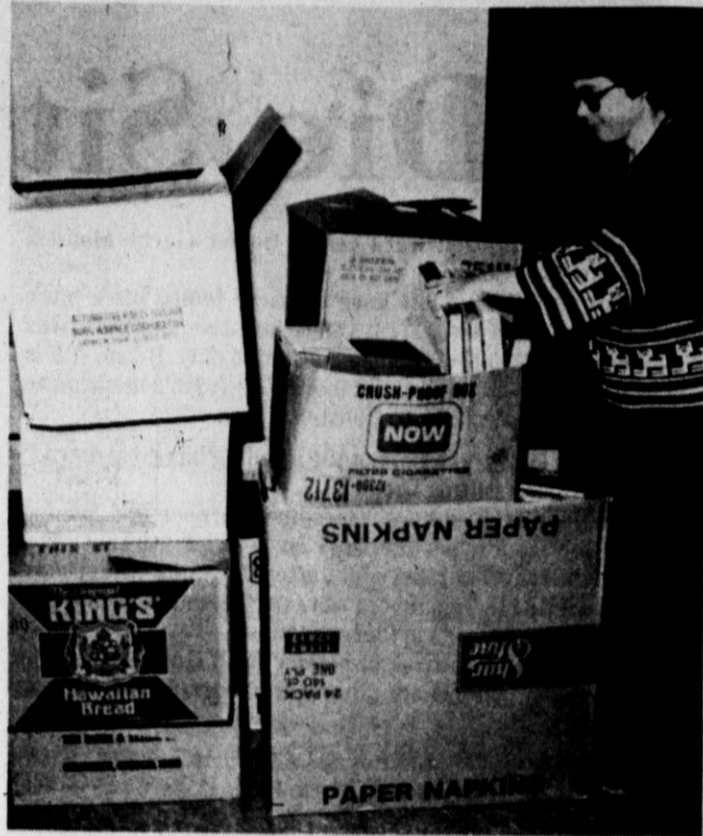

For it is by believing in his heart that a man becomes right with God; and with his mouth he tells others of his faith, confirming his salvation.

For the Scriptures tell us that no one who believes in Christ will ever be disappointed.

Jew and Gentile are the same in this respect: they all have the same Lord who generously gives His riches to all those who ask Him for them.

Sorting Books for Sale

The Friends of the Library will conduct a book sale tomorrow at Sugarland Mall from 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. The donated books will be priced in the range of 10 cents - 50 cents. Books available will include childrens, adults, fiction, non-fiction, readers digest condense, paperback, and textbooks. Over 800 books have been donated to the sale. Above Becky Walls, librarian, is shown sorting just a few of the boxes donated to the fund raising event.

Music Club Members Plan Chili Supper

Plans for the Dawn Music Club's Halloween Chili Supper were finalized this week when members held their regular member.

The supper will be served at the Dawn Community Center Oct. 31 from 5:30-9 p.m. Chili, stew and pie will be on the menu at 50 cents per serving. Drinks will be served for an extra price.

In other business Mrs. R.E. Curtsinger was elected as delegate to the District I Federated Music Club Convention to be held in Spearman Nov. 1. Mrs. J.B. Caraway presided at the meeting which was held at the home of Corrine Smith.

Members listened to the music of the production of "Oliver" which was composed by Lionel Bart and arranged by John Green.

Present at the meeting were Mrs. Caraway, Mrs. Carl Wimberly, Mrs. Ronnie Johnson and Cory, Mrs. Curtsinger and a guest Mrs. Clarence Betzen.

HHS College Night Slated for Tuesday

Representatives from at least 32 colleges, universities and trade schools will be at Hereford High School Tuesday to participate in College Night.

"This will be a good opportunity for all students and parents to find out more about education and training after high school," said Willie Braddy, senior counselor at the high school.

The representatives will be at the high school library from 7-8:30 p.m. with information about the school they represent. According to Mrs. Braddy several schools will have films available for students and parents to view.

Schools represented include Texas A&M, Texas Women's University, University of Houston, University of Oklahoma, University of Texas at El Paso, Virginia Military Institute, Waylon Baptist College, West Texas State University and ROTC at West Texas State.

Also South Western University, South West Texas State University, St. Mary's University, Tarleton State University, Texas Christian University, Texas Lutheran College, Amarillo College, Angelo State University and Austin College.

Also Baylor University, Clarendon Junior College, Columbia University, East Texas State University, Texas Tech University, Eastern New Mexico University, Frank Phillips College and Hardin-Simmons University.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Ms. Ryan,

On September 28, the Hereford Brand carried the picture and story of my daughter Cheryl Drinkards wedding to Murray Hazlett. As the newspapers of Dallas, Ft. Worth could not possibly print the complete wedding as there are so many weddings in this area we were thrilled at such a nice and complete article in your paper. We want you to know how much we appreciated the time and space you gave to this wedding.

Thanking you again, Mrs. Evelyn Drinkard 5800 Bunker Blvd. Watauga, Texas 76148

Five Assistant Principals Attend Conference in Austin

Five assistant principals from Hereford attended the second annual Texas Elementary Assistant Principals conference in Austin this past Oct. 12-14. Theme of the conference was "Improvement of Job Performance by the Assistant Principal."

Those attending were John Dominguez, Tierra Blanca; Nena Veazey, Shirley Intermediate; Robert Stewart, Bluebonnet Intermediate; George Ochs, West Central Intermediate; and Ron Kelley, Northwest Intermediate.

Following the event all in attendance expressed statements which indicated a new awareness of various activities around which they structure their daily routines.

Dominguez of Tierra Blanca appreciated Texas Education Agency personnel presentations. "Information provided by TEA and Larry Garcia of the Region 20 Service Center in San Antonio will be very valuable for our third grade teachers. Also, leadership qualities stated by Yvonne Katz, Northside Independent School District in San Antonio will be usable in future teacher evaluation procedures," said Dominguez.

Mrs. Veazey of Shirley Intermediate was pleased with Mrs. Katz presentation. "Techniques to be used by the successful principal were presented in understandable fashion. Alton Bowen, Texas Education Agency Commissioner, gave us future trends regarding teacher certification, growth, and shifting of minority populations and the effect of these items in a future sense on the educational system. It was nice to learn that we are improving the educational function of the public schools. This must be true since minority and majority students are staying in school longer, according to Bowen's statistics," stated Mrs. Veazey.

Stewart of Bluebonnet Intermediate stated that his greatest benefit was a new awareness of employee organizations. "Dwayne Bliss, formerly with the Corpus Christi Independent School District, provided an overview of their employee organizations, contributions to the total educational process of students in the public schools," according to Stewart.

"Understanding employee organizations and their ultimate goals are very important to me now," he added.

Ochs of West Central Intermediate found a lot of help from Ms. Katz presentation. He stated following the meeting, "Ms. Katz advice will enable me to take a fresh look at the tools to be used in helping teachers overcome learning problems in their classrooms."

Kelley at Northwest was impressed with the information provided by Commissioner Bowen. "Statistics provided by Bowen related that 70 percent of Texas High school ninth graders were able to do the minimum amount of math and reading required of a twelfth grader. It is a reassuring message in the sense that we are doing a better job at the early levels of public school education than many critics would have the taxpaying public believe," stated Kelley.

Information from the conference has been returned by those in attendance, a summary of the material given follows:

Commissioner Bowen spoke of quality control of future college graduates entering the teaching field. New procedures for obtaining credentials will possibly go into effect if recommendations of the Texas Education Agency are accepted by the legislature. These new credentials will require competency testing and renewal dates. Bowen's statistics indicate that the dropout rate of Hispanic students is being

Unisex Concept Causes Confusion

NEW YORK (AP) — The life expectancy at birth of a U.S. female is just over 77 years. For a man it is just over 69 years. That's eight years by most calculations, but some see it as no difference at all.

They assert that to claim a difference is to discriminate unfairly. Male and female are equally human, they say, and human life expectancy at birth in the United States is 73 years. They are the unisexers.

As you might expect, the unisex concept is producing considerable confusion in the insurance industry, in which insurance costs and benefits, and annuities too, are based on precise actuarial tables.

You might even say actuarial tables, the mathematical odds, are the foundation of the business, and that the business of insurance is merely that of spreading the known risks, in the manner of a casino.

That neat, ostensibly objective arrangement is now threatened with disarray because, as some actuaries say, the unisexers refuse to believe in differences, including mathematical and genetic.

The unisexers won't buy that. Individuals are individuals, not actuarial contrivances, they say. William M. Mercer Inc., the nation's largest employee benefit consulting firm, puts it this way:

Gives direction, tips on travel, helpful hints for meals, shopping, points the way to better living, picks the winners that's your newspaper. Prints news, too.

lowered each year, since recent data indicates an increase in Hispanic high school graduates. Bowen further believes that quality in school programs will rise, as the schools will not continue to be a "dumping ground" for social programs that have no

"A particular woman may not live longer than a particular man, and our discrimination laws have focused on individuals, not groups. Therefore, it is argued that sex differentiated mortality tables can no longer be used to establish different benefit amounts."

Mercer, which must advise companies on their benefits programs, is justifiably worried. It can search through legislative, judicial and regulatory decisions, but it will find more confusion than guidance.

"The differences in life expectancy have not changed," it states ruefully. "Social attitudes have changed."

Reflecting those changes, a major retirement fund — the Teachers Insurance and Annuity Association-College Retirement Equities Fund — is considering a unisex mortality table to determine monthly benefits.

Under the plan, men and women of the same age would receive the same monthly benefits if they contribute the same amount of premium dollars, regardless of the likelihood that the women will collect for a longer period of time. Equality of sexes would override the actuarial tables.

While the teachers' plan might finally resolve some difficulties, it seems likely to produce others, including some that will demand a refinement of hair-splitting beyond the discernment of some judges.

What, for example, will be asked of life insurers who several years ago lowered their insurance rates for women because, they explained, the actuarial tables showed women to be the better risk?

In the name of unisexuality and equality will they be asked to raise their rates for women? Will they be asked to lower their rates for men?

So far, nobody has the answers.

place to go. Time will be spent on the basics of reading, writing and arithmetic.

Ms. Katz, the Northside ISD middle-school principal, provided a two-hour orientation on leadership styles, stressed the motivational human, and conceptual skills necessary for the assistant principal to grasp the full principalship.

Pat Sachse and Raymond Magallanes gave presentations designed to acquaint those present with statistical results of last year's fifth and ninth grade Texas Assessment of Basic Skills Tests and bilingual programs. Both the test and statewide bilingual programs are a result of taxpayer and federal government pressure on local school districts.

Rounding out the conference was information on school employee labor organizations and legal implications for administrators. Pressure tactics used on local administrators and taxpayers were explained by Dwayne Bliss, administrator Association attorney Bob Doyle urged those present to know local school board policies well in order to function in an increasingly lawsuit-conscious society.

Pressure on school district administrators come not just from court actions, according to Doyle. The United States and Texas Constitutions, federal and state laws, federal and state regulations, and local boards of education policies are in action always. Doyle enlivened the two day conference by stressing that many unreasonable lawsuits have and are increasing the costs of public education at the expense of not allowing schools to meet their functions as an educational entity.

In Third Game of World Series

Royals Face Do-or-Die Situation

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Kansas City Royals rested a little easier today when they learned they probably would have the services of George Brett in tonight's third game of the World Series against the Philadelphia Phillies.

Trailing 2-0 in the Series, the Royals face a virtual do-or-die situation. A loss would all but hand the Phillies their first World Series title on a gilded platter. No team in the 78 years of World Series play has rebounded from a 3-0 deficit to win the best-of-seven-game set.

Brett, who hit .390 during the season and drove in 118 runs, underwent minor surgery Thursday to have a painfully swollen hemorrhoid lanced. The operation, performed by Kansas City proctologist John Heryer took about 20 minutes. Heryer said Brett would remain in the hospital until this morning.

"It was a simple operation," Heryer said. "We simply lanced a blood clot and removed it, thereby removing the pressure and hopefully the pain."

Heryer said Brett would soak in hot tubs and keep off his feet until this morning.

Heryer said Brett probably would not be 100 percent for the game but that he should have no problems playing. Kansas City Manager Jim Frey had to replace Brett in the sixth inning of Game Two when the problem became too painful. Brett was limping and had trouble running.

At the same time, the Phillies, who won the first and second games of the Series at home, had problems with their own casualties.

Slugging outfielder Greg Luzinski, who was used as a designated hitter in the Series opener, missed Wednesday night's game with the flu and did not make the trip to Kansas City. He had a temperature of 103 Wednesday night and 101 Thursday morning.

Phillies Manager Dallas Green said Luzinski probably would join the team today. Green said he planned to use rookie Keith Moreland in the designated hitter's role, as he did Wednesday.

Also slightly injured were center fielder Garry Maddox and catcher Bob Boone.

Maddox injured his left knee when he fouled off a pitch against it in Game Two. X-rays were negative, but there was some fluid in the knee. He was expected to play. Boone still is recovering from an injured left foot sustained in a home plate collision in the playoffs with Houston.

"It's still black and blue, but the swelling has gone down," Boone said. "It's getting better."

The Phillies arrived here Thursday afternoon and headed immediately to Royals Stadium for a brief workout. The Royals, who traveled home right after the game Wednesday night, cancelled their plans to workout Thursday because of rain and thunderstorms in the morning.

Frey planned to start right-hander Rich Gale, 13-9 in the regular season, against Phillies right-hander Dick Ruthven, 17-10, tonight.

Gale did not pitch in the Royals' American League Championship playoffs against New York. His last start was on the final day of the regular season, Oct. 5.

A 6-foot-7 fastballer, Gale won 11 straight games for the Royals from June 17-Sept. 1.

Top-Ranked Tide Faces Tough Test

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD
AP Sports Writer

The Alabama Crimson Tide, slowed to a ripple last week compared to its usually overwhelming wave, faces one of its toughest tests en route to a possible third straight national title when it meets Tennessee Saturday.

Bear Bryant's top-ranked team, with a nation's-best 26-game winning streak, must travel to Knoxville to play before a capacity crowd of some 92,000 Volunteer fans. Tennessee, under Coach Johnny Majors, who led Pittsburgh to a national title in 1976, has a 3-2 mark but one of the losses was in the last minute to second-ranked Southern Cal.

"The Alabama offense gives everybody problems," Majors says. "It will give us problems because we see the Wishbone formation only once a year. Alabama has power and finesse inside and they also have ability to get outside with the option game."

Alabama beat unheralded Rutgers 17-13 last week, rushing for only 230 yards compared to its season average of 363. The Crimson Tide dropped to No. 2 nationally in that department and is now seventh in total offense with 433 yards per game.

"We must not beat ourselves and not get into trouble offensively," Majors said, "because that's what Alabama lives and thrives on — making other teams make offensive mistakes."

Bryant, who says Tennessee "is the best team in America with two losses," depends on a stable of backs who average six or more yards per carry but don't pile up big totals. His leading rusher, freshman Lennie Patrick, is only sixth in the Southeastern Conference with 255 yards but has averaged 10.2 per carry.

"Based on what I saw last week I'm not sure we'll score that much," Bryant said. "I think they'll do some scoring."

The Alabama-Tennessee game will be televised regionally by ABC but will be carried by the most stations nationally. Other regional games include Washington at No. 20 Stanford, Brigham Young at Utah State and Houston at Southern Methodist.

Other afternoon games involving ranked teams have No. 2 Southern Cal at Oregon, Army at No. 5 Notre Dame, Vanderbilt at No. 6 Georgia, North Carolina State at No. 8

North Carolina, Indiana at No. 9 Ohio State, Oklahoma State at No. 10 Nebraska, West Virginia at No. 11 Pitt, Syracuse at No. 12 Penn State, No. 13 Baylor at Texas A&M, Colorado at No. 16 Missouri, Kansas State at No. 17 Oklahoma, Mississippi State at No. 18 Miami, Fla., and No. 19 Iowa State at Kansas.

Saturday night, Boston College is at No. 7 Florida State and Cincinnati travels to No. 15 South Carolina.

No. 4 UCLA is idle, along with No. 3 Texas and No. 14 Arkansas, who moved their game, originally scheduled for Saturday, to Sept. 1.

Stanford has several highly skilled offensive players, including sophomore quarterback John Elway, wide receiver Ken Margerum and halfback Darrin Nelson, but has had problems defensively against big offensive lines.

Boston College has a mediocre record but it beat Stanford 30-13 with the help of

La Plata Loses Battles To Plainview Teams

Both the La Plata 8th and 9th grade Maverick football teams had less than enlightening outings this past week after the 8th grade squad fell to Plainview Blue 32-20 and the 9th grade grid crew sustained a 24-6 loss at the hands of a tougher Plainview team.

Robert Martinez scored on a dive play from five yards out to cap a 50-yard drive and keep the upperclass squad within calling distance of Plainview's early first quarter advantage 7-6.

But the La Plata scoring spree was a brief one and one that would not appear for the rest of the contest as the Plainview Blue squad went unmoled to score two more TD's in the second period, one in the third quarter and one more in the fourth.

The 9th grade team slipped to a 1-5 overall mark on the season with the loss and fell to 1-3 in district play. The squad has an open date next week.

The eight grade Mavericks were much more successful in their tilt even though the decision wasn't a victorious one.

La Plata quarterback Mike Scott capped a 45-yard scoring drive in the opening quarter of play after diving over from 3-yards out to give the Maverick team an early 6-0 advantage over Plainview.

But after an untimely defensive letdown in the second period, Plainview climbed ahead in the clash with a 24-6 scoring spree.

That advantage was cut in half during the fourth quarter as Mark Salas (racking up 92 yards on 18 carries as the Maverick team's leading rusher of the evening) scored on a dive play from the five yard-line. The scoring drive was set up following Jose Villalobos' recovery of a Plainview fumble on their own 15-yard line.

And Villalobos wasn't finished for the night in his one man war against the Maverick's opponents. Later, in the final period of the contest, he blocked a Plainview punt on the 20-yard line and ran it back for the La Plata team's third and final score. The 32-20 decision left the 8th grade with a 2-2-1 ledger on the year and a 1-3 slate in the district thoroughfare.

The squad's next outing is slated to pair off against Pampa here next week in continuing grid play.

Shorthorns Prevail Over Estacado

The HHS sophomore Shorthorns pushed their season mark to 5-2 here Thursday after they escaped with 6-0 decision over the Lubbock High junior varsity.

Following the combination of consistent defensive standoffs and turnovers between the two squads, the Whitefaces finally drilled in the winning score in the final quarter of play, on a 35 yard Ernest Villalobos TD scamper.

"We moved the ball quite a bit, but we had some mistakes a crucial times — we got inside the 20-yard line three or four times and fumbled our possessions away on all but one of them."

"They (Lubbock High) really only threatened to score once after moving to our 15, but they made the same miscue we had been doing, they fumbled it and didn't get in for the score."

The Shorthorns will take their 5-2 mark against the Lubbock High sophomore team here next Thursday at 3 p.m. The HHS junior varsity team had an open date this week, and is scheduled to pair off against Estacado at 1 p.m. here Thursday before the sophomore clash gets underway.

Eagles Try to Establish Superiority Over Dallas

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Two words will be rumbling around Veterans Stadium Sunday.

No, not "World Series," although the Philadelphia Phillies' exploits against the Kansas City Royals certainly is a topic of conversation.

The words are "Super Bowl." Philadelphia's fanatic fans, only partially wrapped up in baseball fever, are dreaming of a National Football League championship, too.

Which is why Sunday's game against the Dallas Cowboys is so crucial. Each team is 5-1 (in the National Conference, only Detroit has that good a record) and the two are tied for first place in the NFC East. The Eagles, picked by many to beat out the Cowboys for the crown — and perhaps to be the NFC's

Super Bowl team — see this as a chance to finally establish their superiority over Dallas. "We'll be just as emotional as they will be, I can tell you that, even if the whole city is talking Super Bowl," Cowboys defensive tackle Randy White warned. "It will be a championship game for them... It should be wild!" They finished tied atop it last season at 11-5, the Cowboys getting the title and the Eagles settling for a wild card based on their respective conference records.

When Philadelphia beat the Cowboys 31-21 in Dallas last year, a victory built on Harold Carmichael's two touchdown catches of Ron Jaworski passes and Tony Franklin's 59-yard field goal, the second longest in NFL history, the Eagles thought they had proven that superiority. But it all blew up in their faces a few weeks later in Philadelphia, when the Cowboys won 24-17. "They were cocky when we walked in there last year," White said. "Just because they beat us in Dallas they thought they had it won before we went up there. They thought they were the division champions just because they had embarrassed us. It didn't turn out that way."

If it turns out the way Eagles Coach Dick Vermeil hopes, it'll mean a victory over the Cowboys in Philadelphia for the first time since 1974. "It means if we win we'll be 6-1 and they'll be 5-2," he said succinctly, "but it also means if you're going to be the division champion you have to find ways to beat a division champion."

And both veteran linebacker Bill Bergey and defensive end Carl Hairston said the Eagles are no longer going into games against the Cowboys with an inferiority complex.

"I don't think we're in awe of the Dallas Cowboys perhaps like we used to be," said Bergey. "I really feel we're on the same competitive level. There were times it would take a stroke of genius or fortune to beat them."

And Hairston added: "We felt we couldn't play with them. We didn't have the attitude and type of people to play. It's a thrill for me that our defense can go in and play like the Dallas defense. It's knowing you can play with the best."

Houston Hosts Injury Stricken Buccaneers

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers, unveiling a two tight end offense featuring all pro Dave Casper will host injury riddled Tampa Bay Sunday in a battle of two 1979 playoff teams trying to recapture last year's form.

The Oilers reached the American Football Conference title game last year, and the Bucs played in the National Conference title game, but neither has shown championship form in 1980.

The Oilers, striking one minute before the National Football League trading deadline last week, obtained Casper from the Oakland Raiders in the third trade between the two teams since last season.

Houston coach Bum Phillips is hoping the acquisition of Casper will shape the Oilers out of the doldrums that sends them into the game with a 3-3 record and two consecutive losses. The Buccaneers are 2-3-1 and seeking consistency despite mounting injuries.

Coach John McKay doesn't see a need for trades, however, reasoning that the same team last year led the NFL in total defense. "This team still seems to be living in the past," McKay said. "I hope they don't think they can just turn it on like a faucet, because sometimes you turn it on and nothing comes out."

Phillips appeared to be living in the present in bringing in Casper to line up with veteran tight end Mike Barber. The alignment, Phillips said, gives us the two best tight ends in the league. Barber, the Oilers leading receiver, was initially angered that he wasn't informed of the deal in advance. But he conceded that Casper would help the Oilers.

"When I get mad I speak from the heart and not the head," Barber said. "But the trade had nothing to do with it. I've watched Dave Casper and I think he's the best. A lot of tight ends catch the ball but they don't work as hard as he does at blocking." Casper, a country-western music buff, said his first reaction to the trade was that it put him closer to the home of Willie Nelson.

"I don't give a damn about the Super Bowl or the playoffs right now," he said. "All I'm concerned with is finding a helmet that fits and learning how to play Oiler football." The Buccaneers, who led the NFL in total defense last year, last Sunday gave up 418 yards passing to Green Bay quarterback Lynn Dickey.

Rams Meet Lagging San Francisco

By BRUCE LOWITT AP Sports Writer

If Vince Ferragamo and Danny White end up 1-2 among National Football League passers at the end of the season, they may have the San Francisco 49ers to thank.

Two weeks ago in Los Angeles the Rams met the 49ers and Ferragamo, who guided LA to the Super Bowl in the 1979 season, threw four touchdown passes in a 48-26 romp.

Last week it was White's turn. He, too, threw for four TDs as the Cowboys demolished San Francisco 59-14 in Dallas.

"I wish someone would pass me that flu bug that keeps you in bed for two weeks," 49ers Coach Bill Walsh muttered.

Perhaps he'd prefer three weeks. It's Ferragamo's turn again as the Rams, 4-2, visit San Francisco Sunday, hoping to strengthen their hold on first place in the NFC West. They lead the 49ers and Atlanta by one game.

Sunday's other games are Atlanta at New Orleans, Dallas at Philadelphia, New England at Baltimore, Buffalo at Miami, Green Bay at Cleveland, Minnesota at Cincinnati, St. Louis at Washington, Seattle at the New York Jets, Detroit at Chicago, Kansas City at Denver, the New York Giants at San Diego and Tampa Bay at Houston. On Monday night it's Oakland at Pittsburgh.

Ferragamo, who completed 20 of 27 passes for 304 yards in the Rams' earlier game against the 49ers, rode that performance to the top of the NFL passing charts. But last Sunday, White, with a 16-of-22 day for 239 yards, moved up to No. 1, bumping Ferragamo down a notch.

Dallas, Houston Favored to Win Tilts

By HAL BOCK AP Sports Writer

Sometimes, at this time of the year, it's hard to keep your sports separated. Philadelphia is reaching for a world championship, but against Kansas City, not Dallas.

Kansas City, on the other hand, has won two in a row, but with passes and punts, not bats and balls.

Look for the Phillies to do better than the Eagles this weekend and the Chiefs to fall just as short as the Royals have been.

Last week's 8-5 (one tie) made the season's won-lost record 47-35. Against the points, it was 8-6 last week and 34-49 for the year.

The picks: Cowboys 21, Eagles 17. Stay with the old order in the NFC East, for now at least. Philadelphia is favored in the spread by 3½ points.

Broncos 17, Chiefs 14. Denver is tough at home and the Broncos will have to be against improving Kansas City. Denver favored by 4.

Patriots 31, Colts 24. Whenever you can get the Pats AND the points, take 'em. Baltimore favored by 2.

Baseball's Personal Reactions Should Be Given Television Rating System

By WILL GRIMSLEY AP Special Correspondent

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Careful there, fellows, remember you're on Candid Camera.

Well, not exactly, but all you high-priced guys in short stretch pants and high socks playing a kid's game for the multi-million dollar stakes of a World Series baseball championship are not in a vacuum.

You're out there on a diamond-shaped stage for all the world to see. That one-eyed electronic Cyclops called TV has got you in the center of its focus.

So maybe you'd better watch your tongue. World Series television is undoubtedly the most dramatic of all major sports events. It catches all the drama, the emotion, the agony and distress of the competitors. It misses nothing.

Among other things, it reads lips, and that's where the monster eye is on rather sensitive turf.

A big hitter like Bake McBride or Willie Wilson — we use them hypothetically — swings at a third strike and makes no attempt to conceal his frustration.

"&!$?&%-!" he mumbles. The Royals' Amos Otis lashes a double to the outfield wall and the camera shifts to Manager Dallas Green and other Phillies in the Philadelphia dugout.

touch tender chords.

You don't hear 'em. But you can see 'em and read 'em as plain as the nose on Pinocchio's face.

The network ought to carry the usual warning: "Parental guidance suggested. The following program will carry material that may be offensive to some people. Lip readers are warned to watch at their own risk."

However, it's this openness which gives baseball an appeal that no other major sport attraction can claim. Football players, for instance, are so heavily helmeted and armored that they lack personal identity.

Basketball is too fast-paced to catch personal reactions. In golf, most of the scenes are of a ball flying through space or trickling into a six-inch cup.

Yet none can match baseball, particularly World Series baseball, for theatrics. It's "Edge of Night" and "As The World Turns," with all the varied characters and cliff-hanging thrills you get in those afternoon soap operas.

This is fostered by the pace of the game — slow, deliberate, batter against pitcher, defense against power, the machinations of the rival managers plotting their strategy from dugouts that resemble trenches.

Old Cyclops can be great but also a nuisance. It's a shame the way he can alter the tempo, leaving players and umpires standing around awkwardly and fans clapping impatiently while the network hawks its tires and razor blades.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN -- During the 1978 gubernatorial election, the Mexican-American voters were touted as an up-and-coming political bloc, and one on which would hinge the outcome of several political races.

The Democrats traditionally drew strong support from the Hispanic voters, and both parties may have taken it for granted. For whatever reasons, including a lack of incentives or political hopes, Hispanic voters turned out in low numbers. Consequently, Democrats were surprised and Republicans joyful to learn that GOP nominees Bill Clements and John Tower had defeated Democrats John Hill and Bob Krueger.

The low turnout had its punitive repercussions, at least in the Legislature where Hispanics won few committee plums. Since Hispanic leaders did not deliver the votes, the plums were not delivered to them, so to speak.

Second Time Around
As this year's presidential race nears the finish line, the Hispanics are again receiving their fair share of attention, by both Democrats and Republicans.

Both President Jimmy Carter and Ronald Reagan have made campaign swings through South Texas with promises to be back soon. Both campaigns say carrying Texas is vital to winning on Nov. 4. Thus, Reagan elaborated on Clements' plan to issue work-visas to illegal aliens and Carter bragged on more Hispanic appointments by him than any other presidents.

Growing Bloc
The politically emerging Mexican-American vote has doubled since the 1976 presidential election, when nearly 400,000 voted. A voter registration drive has bumped it to an estimated 800,000, or about 18 percent of the total Texas vote.

And Hispanic leaders are again touting their bloc's role in making a president. The winner, they say, will have to make gains among Hispanic voters.

The Republicans are aiming to capture 30 percent of

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
Different types of skin cancer

DEAR DR. LAMB — A friend of mine recently had a basal cell spot removed from her chin. Her doctors assured her she is fine, since this is a "good" kind of cancer. Is there such a thing as a "good" cancer?

DEAR READER — You are having a communications problem. I'm sure the doctors were trying their best to explain that basal cell cancers of the skin are usually very slow growing and when they are removed the entire cancer is removed. That is, it is cured. That is different from a malignant melanoma that may arise from a skin mole and is far more difficult to treat.

Strictly speaking, there is no such thing as a "good" cancer. But everything is relative and compared to other forms you could express it that way.

It is important for your friend to realize that her cancer has been cured. That does not mean she will not have skin cancer again. These skin lesions tend to develop in people who are fair-skinned or exposed to the sun a lot. One can be removed and cured and later an entirely different area of the skin may develop another one. These, too, can be removed, resulting in a cure. Many other patients do not develop any additional skin cancers.

The different types of skin cancer are discussed in The Health Letter number 7-10, Your Skin: Sun, Aging, Spots and Cancer, that I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box

POLLY'S POINTERS

Polly Cramer
Her pantyhose faded

DEAR POLLY — I once heard that the color can be restored to faded pantyhose with coffee. I would like to know how this is done. — MARILYN

DEAR MARILYN — The coffee must be very strong and hot and the hose completely damp. Any dry spot may not come out the same color. After reading your letter I tried this and found I had to boil mine for a few minutes to get the color as deep as I wanted. While the hose are in the dye bath they must be kept moving around so as to avoid streaking. Do remember that the wet stockings should be a shade or two deeper than what you want — they will get lighter as they dry. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — When going to a ball game or any night-time event that is outdoors and brightly lit I take along some little cotton balls to put in my ears for protection against the bugs. Don't forget them for the children, too. One night I did get a bug in my ear and had to be rushed to the emergency room at the hospital. — LAVINIA

DEAR POLLY — One does not need to waste electricity on a heating pad to warm dough so it will rise. I mix my dough in a large bowl, put the bowl with the dough over a pot of very hot water and put a clean dish towel over the dough. Then I cover it with two heavy bath towels or a blanket and the dough stays warm. In about 30 minutes mine rises to the top of the bowl. I have been doing this for years. — LOUISE

DEAR POLLY — I am in the habit of saving those last bits of shampoo, hand cream, etc. that are slow in draining from the bottle. After frustrated attempts at balancing the mouth of one bottle over the other I came up with a good idea. I now put a medium-sized funnel in the mouth of the lower bottle and then balance the other bottle, neck down, into the funnel. They can be left to drain all day if one likes and this also works for jars. — ELLEN 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have not had a good night's sleep for a year or more. I wake up with my hands asleep and hurting and I have to shake them to get the feeling back. One doctor said my breasts are too large. I help my husband pull out bales of hay for the cattle. Could that be doing it?

DEAR READER — There are a lot of reasons for a person's hands going to sleep but I have never seen or heard of read of this problem being caused by large breasts. The most likely explanation is some pressure on the arteries or nerves to your arms and hands. This can occur because of the position of your arms while sleeping.

You could also have pressure on the arteries and veins in the shoulder area from various muscles in the neck and shoulder region. If these were well-developed, that might create part of the problem and that's about the only connection I can think of that pulling bales of hay out would have with your complaint.

You could also have pressure from the clavicle (collarbone) if it were pulled back as you see in people who carry backpacks. It could be caused by an arthritic spur in the cervical spine or from a ruptured disc in the cervical spine. Other causes include the carpal tunnel syndrome which is compression of the arteries, veins and nerves in the wrist area.

Some people have an extra rib called a cervical rib which is in the neck area that creates pressure. If your doctor is having trouble finding the cause of your numbness, ask him to refer you to a cardiovascular specialist who also sees peripheral vascular problems and perhaps by a series of different tests he can locate where the pressure area is.

DEAR DR. LAMB — We live on a farm and have a few cows. We are wondering if pasteurized skim milk is good for children. Is the whole milk better than the skim milk? Does the milk lose anything when it's pasteurized? Our children are from infants to 6 years old.

DEAR READER — Use it and be thankful for pasteurization. Prior to the days of pasteurization, we had a lot of milk-borne diseases in the country. These were largely caused by bacteria in unclean milk originating from innumerable sources. Milk is good food and bacteria thrive in it. All pasteurization does is to elevate the temperature of the milk sufficiently to kill harmful bacteria. It really has no significant effect on milk's nutrition. Skim milk is fine for children. I really prefer for them to have fortified skim milk because that provides even more calcium and more good quality protein than you get from normal whole milk. You lose nothing but the fat when you use skim milk. Milk of all varieties — whole milk, fortified skim milk and even milk substitutes — today must have a certain amount of vitamin A and D in them. These are added if for any reason they have been removed in the processing.

I'd like to add that for most children there shouldn't be any problem with their consuming pasteurized whole milk. The exception might be a small number of children who early in life show a tendency toward elevated cholesterol levels. Our adult diet is often determined by our previous habits. If you train your children to like whole milk they may not be willing to switch to fortified skim milk when they get older and it's important to eliminate excess fat from their diet. Why not train children to eat the foods that are most conducive to good health for a lifetime while they are in their formative years.

To give you more information about milk I am sending you The Health Letter number 7-2, Milk Products: Good And Bad. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Ninety-five percent of the world's gem emeralds are produced by Colombia. The Muzo emerald mines, 75 miles from the capital of Bogota, have been in operation for four centuries. The mineral-rich South American nation also produces such precious metals as gold, silver, copper and platinum as well as lead, mercury, manganese, iron, nickel and coal.

In someone else's yard.
The magic thing we call success
Eludes us, come what may;
And thus it seems that happiness
Will never come our way.
However, through the Church we find
That there's no need to roam,
For happiness and peace of mind
Are always close to home.
So, don't go searching all around,
And some day you'll agree:
The greenest grass of all is found Wherever you may be!
— Gloria Nowak

A man travels the world in search of what he needs and returns home to find it.
— George Moore

"The Lord...shall bless thee
in the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee."
— Deuteronomy 28:8
