$4,400 FOR RED CROSS

Patriotic Sale of Blooded Cattle Grand Success

Unheralded by the Associated Press, and even unknown to Commander-in-Chief Pershing himself, a sudden thrust was made into the German lines last Monday, July 15, which, merged with the numerous other thrusts being made into the enemy's territory in France, and at home, will have a telling effect upon the future outcome of the Great War.

The thrusts we have in mind was made in Hereford, by fifteen patriotic breeders of registered Hereford cattle in this community, when they voluntarily held an Auction Sale of fifteen head of pedigree and registered Herefords and donated the entire proceeds to the local chapter of the Red Cross. Our Government is calling upon us almost weekly for contributions of our time and money, but this was an "extra added attraction," unsolicited by Uncle Sam, but started and finished by our Hereford breeders in response to the need of our local Chapter for working funds.

Recent figures submitted by the local Chapter showed that it requires approximately $1,000 per month to run the Chapter activities, and this amazing generosity on the part of the fifteen breeders listed in this sale, will place their name and fame on the perpetual honor roll of the American Red Cross.

The sale netted an even $4,400, $4,125 of which came from the sale of the 15 Herefords, or an average of $275 per animal. As a happy afterthought the Pedigree books were put up at Auction and brought in the astonishing sum of $175, many loyal citizens buying a copy each for $5.00. Another patriot, whose name was not obtained by The Brand, contributed a cock and hen of the Red variety, and repeated sales of these birds, and even of the coop in which they came, netted an additional $75.

The Sale was conducted under the auspices of a volunteer committee composed of W. T. Womble, Ray Barber and Rat Jowell, assisted by the remaining members of the fifteen donors. The Sale was conducted by Colonel L. R. Brady of Manhattan, Kansas, a famous auctioneer of Hereford cattle, assisted by our own local Auctioneer, W. S. Williams, and Messrs. Erle E. Forbes of Clovis, and O. C. Snyder of Hurley, both professionals. These gentlemen contributed their services, and expenses were paid out of the fund derived from the sale of the catalogues and poultry.

A great share of the credit for the splendid outcome of the Sale belongs to these gentlemen, and especially to Colonel Brady, whose cheery personality and ripe experience proved to be irresistible. The majority of the cattle were purchased by local buyers, although some went out of the county. Every business house in Hereford closed between the hours of 3:00 and 4:00 p. m., while the Hereford Band led a parade to the Sale grounds, which was the Bowe Barn near the Depot, and it seemed as though every inhabitant of the county attended.

The Sale was a success in every sense of the word. All honor is due these generous men for the really BIG thing which was conceived by W. T. Womble, taken up by his sister, Mrs. D. R. Bradley, passed on as good by the remaining thirteen breeders who participated, and carried through to a happy conclusion without a jar. The Sale resulted as follows:

- Miss Carlos, donated by G. R. Jowell, sold to G. A. F. Parker for $500.00

W. F. WEST LEAVES FOR BEAUMONT TO WORK FOR UNCLE SAM

W. F. West, well known architect and builder, left for Beaumont the early part of the present week, where he has been offered an attractive proposition in the Shipyard at that point. While Mr. West's friends regret to lose him, it is hoped that conditions may adjust themselves so that he will return later. Uncle Sam is calling for men of Mr. West's training and qualifications, and while he is perhaps bettering his own condition in the same time rendering a patriotic service in this crisis. It is understood that Mrs. West will remain in Hereford for the present.

SUFFRAGETTES ONE VOTE AHEAD

There are just exactly 607 female voters in Deaf Smith county—and just exactly 606 men voters. If it were not for the exemptions for over age among the sterner sex their gentle partners could out count them at the coming primaries and run things with a "high hand," if they chose to do so.

These new voters are very puzzling, too, to the candidates. Those office seekers more experienced, or more bold, that the rest, have entered into a vigorous house-to-house campaign, interviewing the ladies and soliciting their support. Political dopesters will have a brand new analysis to make after the coming primaries, with no precedent to go by.

TO CONSERVE PAPER NEWSPAPERS CUT OUT UNNECESSARY COPIES

The War Industries Board has issued a request to all newspapers over the country to practice certain economies in order to conserve the paper supply of the country, among them being:

- Discontinue the acceptance of the return of unsold copies.
- Discontinue the use of all samples or free promotion copies.
- Discontinue giving copies to anybody, except for office-working copies or where required by statute law in the case of official advertising.
- Discontinue giving free copies to advertisers, except not more than one copy each for checking purposes.
- Discontinue the arbitrary forcing of copies on news dealers, (i. e., compelling them to buy more copies than they can legitimately sell in order to hold certain territory.)
- Discontinue the buying back of papers at either wholesale or retail selling price from dealers or agents in order to secure preferential representation.
- Discontinue the payment of salaries or commissions to agents, dealers, or newsboys for the purpose of securing the equivalent of return privileges.
- Discontinue all free exchanges.

On and after this issue The Hereford Brand will comply with the request of the Board.

FEDERAL OFFICIAL INSPECTS CAVALRYMEN

Colonel Wallace of the Adjutant General's office at Austin, accompanied by Lieutenant Colonel Ingerton of the Panhandle Cavalry Regiment, arrived in Hereford Wednesday morning and made a thorough inspection of Troop C, under command of Captain Mullins.

Individual members of the troop were subjected to a severe personal inspection and examination, and the Colonel mixed up his brickbats with his bouquets quite freely. No inkling of what kind of a report would be made by the Inspector was allowed to get out. Nine of the National Guardsmen including Second Lieutenant Robo McLean and Top Sergeant Earl Bennett, have been drafted, and will leave for Camp Travis next Monday. The other seven men from the troop are: Otto George Smith, Harrison Dorris Stanley, Francis Alexander Gyles, William Henry Farris, Luther Thomas, Albert Carl Saltzman and Ira James Johnson.

In spite of this loss Captain Mullins says he will have enough men left together with new recruits, to "get by" finally. Meanwhile the men have again been dismissed, to await federalization, and are scattered. The long delay is working severe hardships on some members of the troop, and is causing a great deal of dissatisfaction.

GEORGE GARRISON IS BACK FROM VISIT TO RANGER OIL FIELDS

George Garrison is back after a fifteen days vacation, combining business and pleasure. During his absence he visited Fort Worth and other north central Texas points, including a look at the Ranger oil fields. Like A. M. Jones and W. E. Dameron, who also have just returned from a trip to this oil belt, Mr. Garrison is much impressed with its possibilities and says "you can get real oil on your clothes there before you know it."

HON. T. J. TILSON TO ADDRESS OUR VOTERS ON SATURDAY, NEXT

The Brand is in receipt of a request from Captain T. J. Tilson, of Plainview, candidate for the Legislature from this district, that the fact be announced that he will address the voters of Deaf Smith county at the Courthouse next Saturday afternoon, July 20, at 3:00 p. m. He asks the farmers, stockmen, business men and new women voters give him a hearing on this occasion.

PRESBYTERIANS WILL HAVE NIGHT MEETINGS BEGINNING FRIDAY

Rev. F. T. Charlton of Dalhart, will preach at the Presbyterian church on Friday and Saturday nights of the present week, beginning promptly at 9:00 p. m. Also on Sunday night, beginning at 8:45 p. m., giving way in the forenoon Sunday to the union service at the Baptist church in honor of the drafted boys who leave Monday.

Rev. Charlton was to have continued revival services through next week, but definite arrangements after Sunday have been held up for the time being, owing to the sudden resignation and departure of Rev. W. M. Baker.

AMARILLO'S SECRETARY MAKES FLYING TRIP HERE ON BUSINESS

O. L. Williams, Secretary of the Board of City Development at Amarillo, came to Hereford last Monday, ate dinner with the Directors of the Chamber of Commerce, spent a few minutes with County Food Administrator J. S. Jones, then caught the local back to Amarillo.

Mr. Williams, who is also District Food Administrator for the Panhandle, came down on official business. Mr. Williams formerly was Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce at Bowie, Texas, and Las Vegas, N. M., and was also the first President of the Colorado-to-the-Gulf Highway.

SIMS SCHOOL HOUSE WENT OVER ITS QUOTA IN W. S. S. CAMPAIGN

Chairman R. T. Evans of the W. S. S. Campaign, informs The Brand that after a recheck with J. M. Chapman of the Sims School District it develops that the amount actually subscribed in that neighborhood amounted to $1875 instead of $975, as at first reported, which takes them over their quota with a substantial surplus. Nine hundred dollars subscribed at Sims was included in the Hereford city total, but should have been credited to the school district.

MRS. PHILLIPS IS HOLDING OWN

Mrs. W. B. Phillips, wife of County Commissioner, has been ill at the home of her father, J. C. Womble, in Hereford for several days past. At last accounts she was reported to be holding her own fairly well.

REV. W. M. BAKER RESIGNS

At a called meeting of the Session the past week the Rev. W. M. Baker, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of Hereford, tendered his resignation, to take effect immediately. At Sunday morning's services the matter was presented to the congregation, and the resignation accepted, after it appeared that Mr. Baker's action was irrevocable.

Rev. Baker was released with exceeding reluctance by his congregation, to whom he had administered spiritually for the past eleven years. He will be sorely missed in many other ways than by the church, as he has been an active and vigorous citizen who asserted his citizenship for the right, and for civic pride and morality.

Mrs. Baker's health is given as the reason for the change. For many months her health has been in jeopardy. Only recently she returned from several weeks' sojourn at the Wells at Marlin, Tex. Since her return, however, an unusually severe case of hay fever has been added to other worries, and Mr. Baker determined that a permanent change was imperative. It is understood that the family will go first to Las Vegas N. M., leaving Hereford the latter part of the present week.

The loss of Rev. Baker and his estimable family is a severe one to this community, and it is to be hoped that circumstances may so adjust themselves that he can be returned to us later.

24 MEN TO GO TO CAMP NEXT WEEK - JULY 22

J. L. JOHNSON PUTTING DOWN WELL-GETTING READY TO BUILD

J. L. Johnson, who sold his 85 acre irrigated farm at Jowell Switch to Mr. Slagle about a month ago, has moved out on his new place on 25-Mile Avenue, three miles north, and is now busy completing his well and getting ready to erect his modern concrete block home. Mr. Johnson, an experienced cement block man, is making his own blocks and says he will have as modern a home as can be found on the Plains when he is through.

His Jowell Switch place brought $100 per acre, and he has a crop on the new place already. He sold the improved place owing to a scarcity of labor and his desire to improve the newer farm in his own way. Temporarily, he is living in one of the houses on the place of Ole O. Olson, a neighbor.

BRODIE STORE AT UMBARGER A TOTAL LOSS

The general merchandise store of W. L. Brodie of Umbarger, was completely destroyed by fire of unknown origin about 5:00 a. m. last Tuesday morning. Mr. Brodie is a step-son of Eli Dunlap of Hereford.

Mr. Dunlap, who immediately went to the scene of the fire, stated upon his return that while there is no proof of any such thing still suspicion circumstances connected with the fire would lead one to suppose it might have been of incendiary origin. The back window screen, kept hooked and with a nail driven over it, was open when Mr. Brodie discovered the blaze. Another thing, the entire side of the building broke into blaze at one time.

The building and its entire contents was completely destroyed. Mr. Brodie broke in the front glass and rescued his books; otherwise sustained a complete loss, partly covered by insurance. The stock would probably run around $15,000. It was only after strenuous efforts that Mr. Brodie's home, closely adjoining the store, was saved from the flames.

OKLAHOMA CITY FOLKS ENROUTE TO MOUNTAINS

Dr. and Mrs. D. D. McHenry and daughter Florence, of Oklahoma City, Okla., were in Hereford last Saturday. Mrs. McHenry is a sister of Mr. W. R. Steckman, foreman of the Hereford Brand, and Mr. Steckman accompanied them to his home in Tucuman, N. M., where they spent the weekend. Mr. Steckman returned to Hereford Tuesday, however the other parties will make a tour of Colorado and other western states before returning home.

August and September Calls Will Exhaust Class No. 1

An additional 24 men for the United States National Army will be sent to Camp Travis from Deaf Smith county next Monday, July 22. One man, Edgar Webb was sent to Camp Mabry at Austin for technical training this week. He was accompanied by one man from Castro county, Clarence Shepard.

This call leaves about 19 men in Class One, exclusive of the 36 June registrants. Of these 36 who registered on June 5, 32 have been placed in Class One by the local board, and four in Class Two. Of course some of these 34 may appeal and secure deferred classification, and some may fail to pass the physical examination, but presuming that all are kept in Class One this would leave a total of only 51 men for future calls. Secretary Crouch believes the August and September calls will use up all these men.

The county also owes Uncle Sam three men, as H. E. Albertus, John Robert Smith and Willie Floyd Denny have been turned down at Camp Travis on the physical examination and sent home.

A call for 1800 men from Texas, to be sent to Camp Cody, N. M., on August 5 has been received. This will probably take about five or six men from this county. This call states that men who registered on June 5 can volunteer for this first August call if they so desire, or can be sent anyhow by the Board, if the local Class One ahead of them is exhausted.

Secretary J. E. Crouch of the Exemption Board announces the following names of 23 men to leave next Monday. One more man will be selected and notified in time, but his name was not available when going to press:

- Miles Roberson
- Luther Read Beadle
- Myers Bobo McLean
- Leroy F. Wilson
- John Wesley Bogard
- James C. Henderson
- Chester Allen Draper
- Earl Vandorn Bennett
- William Egbert Argo
- Floyd Underwood McCutchen
- Francis Alexander Gyles
- Floyd Ray Johnson
- Luther Thomas
- John Hiram Spencer
- Albert Carl Saltzman
- Emory Addison Elliott
- Otto George Smith
- Harrison Dorris Stanley
- William Henry Farris
- Melvin Alexander Jenkins
- Lee Blaylock
- Homer T. Luce
- Ira James Johnson

FERD STYLES IS DEAD FROM KICK OF WILD HORSE

Ferd Styles, a young man who resided at Big Square in Castro county, received a severe kick from a horse last Saturday afternoon at his home, while endeavoring to catch the animal. He proved to be so severely injured that Sunday afternoon he was brought to the Hereford Sanitarium where an operation was performed in an effort to save his life. However, in spite of all efforts he died Tuesday morning. Deceased leaves a wife and two children.

The body will be taken to Dimmitt Friday morning by E. B. Black Undertaking Co. For interment.

No further particulars concerning the young man, could be ascertained by The Brand up to press time.

Are the Packers Profiteers?

Plain Facts About the Meat Business

THE Federal Trade Commission in its recent report on war profits, stated that the five large meat packers have been profiteering and that they have a monopoly of the market.

THESE conclusions, if fair and just, are matters of serious concern not only to those engaged in the meat packing business but to every other citizen of our country.

THE figures given on profits are misleading and the statement that the packers have a monopoly is unsupported by the facts.

THE packers mentioned in the report stand ready to prove their profits reasonable and necessary.

THE meat business is one of the largest American industries. Any citizen who would familiarize himself with its details must be prepared for large totals.

THE report states that the aggregate profits of four large packers were $140,000,000 for the three war years.

THIS sum is compared with $19,000,000 as the average annual profit for the three years before the war, making it appear that the war profit was $121,000,000 greater than the pre-war profit.

THIS compares a three-year profit with a one-year profit—a manifestly unfair method of comparison. It is not only misleading, but the Federal Trade Commission apparently has made a mistake in the figures themselves.

THE aggregate three-year profit of $140,000,000 was earned on sales of over four and a half billion dollars. It means about three cents on each dollar of sales—or a mere fraction of a cent per pound of product.

PACKERS' profits are a negligible factor in prices of live stock and meats. No other large business is conducted upon such small margins of profit.

FURTHERMORE—and this is very important—only a small portion of this profit has been paid in dividends. The balance has been put back into the businesses. It had to be, as you realize when you consider the problems the packers have had to solve—and solve quickly—during these war years.

TO conduct this business in war times, with higher costs and the necessity of paying two or three times the former prices for live stock, has required the use of two or three times the ordinary amount of working capital. The additional profit makes only a fair return on this, and as has been stated, the larger portion of the profits earned has been used to finance huge stocks of goods and to provide additions and improvements made necessary by the enormous demands of our army and navy and the Allies.

IF you are a business man you will appreciate the significance of these facts. If you are unacquainted with business, talk this matter over with some business acquaintance—with your banker, say—and ask him to compare profits of the packing industry with those of any other large industry at the present time.

NO evidence is offered by the Federal Trade Commission in support of the statement that the large packers have a monopoly. The Commission's own report shows the large number and importance of other packers.

THE packers mentioned in the statement stand ready to prove to any fair minded person that they are in keen competition with each other, and that they have no power to manipulate prices.

IF this were not true they would not dare to make this positive statement.

FURTHERMORE, government figures show that the five large packers mentioned in the report account for only about one-third of the meat business of the country.

THEY wish it were possible to interest you in the details of their business. Of how, for instance, they can sell dressed beef for less than the cost of the live animal, owing to utilization of by-products, and of the wonderful story of the methods of distribution throughout this board land, as well as in other countries.

THE five packers mentioned feel justified in co-operating with each other to the extent of together presenting this public statement.

THEY have been able to do a big job for your government in its time of need; they have met all war time demands promptly and completely and they are willing to trust their case to the fairness of the American people with the facts before them.

SIZE OF ARMY CAMPS AND CANTONMENTS INCREASED

More than $22,000,000 have been expended during the past six months under the direction of the Construction Division of the Army in making additions and improvements to camps and cantonments. This sum does not include the cost of additions to the hospital equipment or the improvements made at other Army stations.

The improvement work consisted of additional buildings for housing the men and providing for their comforts and needs. Among buildings erected were quarters for officers and nurses, repair shops, additional barracks, coffee-roasting plants, kitchens and bakeries, and theatres. New roads were laid and sanitation works improved and extended.

Many additional buildings are contemplated, and general construction work will be rushed to completion during the summer and fall. In some instances the camp work has been extended to drainage of an entire district surrounding the camp to remove danger of disease arising from the proximity of swamps.

Liberty theatres have been erected at all national Army cantonments. Each of these theatres has an average enclosed seating capacity of 2,000. Theatres and amusement halls have been erected also in the National Guard camps and at other points where troops are in training.

What the Department of Agriculture is Doing

Little Items About Big War Jobs that Are Helping American Farmers to Feed Nations

SOUTHERN DAIRY EXTENSION WORKERS MEET

More than 40 dairy extension workers of the Department of Agriculture, State dairy workers of the various Southern States, directors of the State extension work, and others met at Memphis, Tenn., June 26, 27, and 28 to discuss dairy and creamery problems and the development of dairying in the Southern States. Feeding problems, problems involved in buying cattle, in the eradication of tuberculosis, organization of cow-testing associations, bull associations, and calf clubs, and other problems relating to the development of the Southern dairy industry were discussed. The relation of dairying to the conditions occasioned by the war occupied a prominent part of the program.

KINDERGARTEN TEACHERS GIVE FOOD DEMONSTRATIONS

Two hundred and fifty kindergarten teachers in Boston, Mass., have just completed an effective food-saving campaign. During the school year these women have received a course of instruction in conservation from the city home demonstration agents of the Department of Agriculture. This has fitted them to do volunteer food work among the mothers whom they visit frequently in connection with the regular school schedule. They give advice to the individual women in the home kitchens. They meet small groups at some neighbor's home and give many talks and demonstrations to mothers' clubs.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE SENDS FOOD TO HOSPITAL

Serius fruits and vegetables from the Arlington Experiment Farm of the Department of Agriculture are being taken care of by the war relief association of the department and sent to the Walter Reed Hospital of Washington for convalescent soldiers. The products are picked by volunteers from the Department who go out to the farm after office hours in the afternoon. Several thousand quarts of fresh strawberries, cherries, currants and gooseberries already have been sent to the hospital. During July and August the products will be canned in the department's kitchens and turned over to the hospital for winter use.

WOMEN ACT AS COW TESTERS

Five women cow testers have recently been appointed by dairy agents of the United States Department of Agriculture, cooperating with the State agricultural colleges and the State dairymen's associations. One of these has been placed in Iowa and the other four are in Wisconsin, where the first woman cow tester in the country is now starting her second year of work. These women have received training in agricultural high schools or have taken work in dairying at short courses, and all of them have been in close touch with dairy work.

BOYS HELP NEW YORK FARMERS

Farmers in many sections of New York State are dependent entirely on city boys to help them tend and harvest their crops, according to field men of the United States Department of Agriculture. Both farmers and boys seem to be satisfied, it is reported. Most of the boys are from New York City and have volunteered to spend the summer on the farms to help the Nation to produce food. They are organized in groups of from 40 to 60, each group being sent to a different community, where the boys are in charge of a supervisor who assigns them to the various farms. The supervisor visits each farm at least once a week to see that the youthful food producers are giving their employers satisfaction.

SEED MEN PLEDGE HELP

The American Seed Trade Association, after a recent meeting in Chicago, selected its war-service committee to cooperate with the Department of Agriculture and telegraphed to the Secretary of Agriculture a resolution pledging "unreservedly, our money, our lands, and ourselves," and "our entire resources to win the war and to so increase our efforts in producing crops that we may stay the dread scourge of famine."

TUBERCULOSIS-FREE HERDS TO BE LISTED

A list of the owners of accredited herds—pure-bred dairy herds that have shown by two annual tuberculosis tests that they are free from tuberculosis—together with owners of herds that have successfully passed one test, the number in the various herds and the breeds, will be published by the Bureau of Animal Industry in July. It is planned that this list with additions will be published periodically thereafter. This information will be of value to buyers and sellers of dairy cattle, as it will enable buyers to locate cattle that are free from tuberculosis and will help breeders in finding a more ready market.

MORE SILOS FOR BEEF-CATTLE BREEDERS

A silo campaign to increase the number of silos on beef-cattle farms is being conducted by the Bureau of Animal Industry in cooperation with State authorities and county agents. With more silos more beef cattle can be produced and economically fed during the winter. This campaign, therefore, has a direct bearing on increasing the meat supply of the Nation. The campaign is being given special attention in the southern States, particularly in territory which has recently been freed from cattle-tick quarantine, where the production of beef cattle is on the increase.

SEED OF CEREAL CROPS FOR 1919

To locate adequate supplies of good quality seed of cereal crops for 1919, field inspectors of the Department of Agriculture have already begun work in the southwest. Work is now being done in fields of Kanred wheat in Kansas and of Early Baart wheat in New Mexico and Arizona in order to make available large supplies of seed of this variety for use in these States and in California next year. This work will be extended with wheat and other grains in the more important grain producing areas of the United States as the season advances. The department is also cooperating with State authorities in selecting and inspecting potatoes to be used as seed next year.

PREVENTION AND TREATMENT OF WORMS IN HOGS

By Dr. Frank R. Jones, Veterinary Field Agent, United States Bureau of Animal Industry

The prevention of internal parasites in swine is very important and consists of methods having for their object the destruction of the eggs outside of the body so as to prevent further infestation. Inasmuch as moisture is an important element in assisting eggs to hatch, all pastures should be well drained and wallow holes should not be allowed to form, especially those of a stagnant nature. The water supply should come from deep wells and the feeding troughs and flumes should be kept as clean as possible.

Thorny headed worms on hogs are picked up around old straw stacks and accumulations of manure, therefore these conditions should be eliminated. Frequent plowing of hog lots seems to be advisable. One of the most beneficial medical agents in relieving hogs infected with internal parasites is the following formula:

Santonin	8 grams
Arca Nut	2 drams
Camel	1 gram
Sodium Bicarbonate (ordinary baking soda)	1 dram

The above quantities are for one hog weighing 100 pounds and the quantity should be increased or decreased according to the size of the hog and multiplied by the number of hogs.

The most satisfactory results are secured when the hogs are divided into lots of 30 or less. Feed should always be withheld for 24 hours prior to treatment. Mix the worm powder thoroughly with some moist ground feed and give it in such a way that each hog will get his share of the medicine in the feed. Do not use too much feed as it dilutes the medicine too much.

This treatment may be repeated in three weeks if the worms are not all removed by the first administration, but usually one treatment is sufficient.

The following formula is a hog tonic which is recommended by the United States Bureau of Animal Industry:

Wood Charcoal	1 pound
Sulphur	1 pound
Sodium Chloride (ordinary salt)	2 lbs
Sodium Bicarbonate (Ordinary baking soda)	2 pounds
Sodium Hyposulphite	2 pounds
Antimony Sulphide (Black Antimony)	1 pound
Sodium Sulphate (Glauber salt)	1 lb

This powder should be mixed with the feed in the proportion of a tablespoonful to each 200 lbs. of weight of hogs to be treated and should not be given oftener than once each day. This medicine cannot be relied upon to prevent the occurrence of disease except in so far as it improves the general health of the hog.

While on his way to a Y. M. C. A. hut in France he was booked to lecture, C. Grant Robertson, an Oxford professor, saw two houses struck by a shell. Both houses collapsed. Professor Grant's motor car stopped several yards from the shattered building, and a moment afterward another shell struck the ground at about the spot which the car would have reached if it had proceeded. In a jiffy the car was off in a detour of the crater thus made, and the next instant a third shell dropped at the point which the car had just left.

FOR WHICH OF THE TWO WILL YOU VOTE FOR GOVERNOR

Two weeks from tomorrow the Democratic voters of Texas will choose the party nominee to head the ticket for Governor at the November election.

For this high honor two names are submitted from which to make a choice—W. P. Hobby, now Governor, and J. E. Ferguson, a former Governor.

Every informed person in Texas understands that Ex-Governor Ferguson is a candidate in order to make an appeal to the voters of Texas to repudiate, by their voters, the action of the Texas Legislature, which impeached him last August; removing him from the Governor's chair and disqualified him from again holding any office of honor, trust or profit under the State.

The former Governor is charging that the action of the Legislature was a "frame up" on the part of his political enemies; that his impeachment was unjust and without authority of law; that the charges made in the impeachment indictment were not such violations of the law as to justify the verdict as rendered by the Legislature; and that the "frame up" was the result of his refusal to approve the State University Bill as passed by the Legislature.

Upon the other hand, the House of Representatives filed charges of impeachment with thirteen counts in the indictment.

After witnesses on each side testified as to facts, and the issues thoroughly debated, pro and con, the House sustained the charges by a vote of 75 to 45.

After the House sustained the impeachment charges the Senate, under the constitution, was organized into a trial court and the former Governor was tried according to the rule and laws governing such proceedings. The Senate sustaining ten of the thirteen counts as follows:

Misappropriation of $5,000 of Canyon City Normal funds to pay his personal debt, twenty-seven for impeachment, four against.

Personal profit from the deposits of the Canyon City Normal fund which belonged to the State, twenty-six for impeachment, five against.

Deposit of State funds in the Temple State Bank contrary to law, twenty-four for impeachment, seven against.

Deposit of $250,000 of State funds in the Temple Bank, twenty-six for impeachment, five against.

Refusal to sell where he got the $150,000 in currency, twenty-seven for impeachment, four against.

Diversion of the Adjutant General's funds to take the place of the $5,000 which had been used to pay his personal note and interest, twenty-seven for impeachment, four against.

Borrowing more money from the Temple State Bank than the law allows notwithstanding his knowledge of the banking laws, twenty-six for impeachment, five against.

Seeking to compel the Board of Regents of the State University to do his bidding, twenty-six for impeachment, nine against.

Violation of law in removing regents without cause, twenty-two for impeachment, eight against.

Remission of $5,000 bail bond of Wilbur P. Allen in order to influence his action as chairman of the Board of Regents of the State University, twenty-one for impeachment, ten against.

By virtue of the fact that Gov. Hobby was Lieutenant Governor at the time Mr. Ferguson was impeached, he became Governor of the State and is now a candidate to succeed himself by election of the votes of the people.

This is a brief statement of facts as to the issues involved and the two leading candidates.

The Herald will not undertake to discuss the merits or demerits of the issues and candidates further than to say that as between the two candidates we would support Hobby, even though there had been no impeachment proceedings for the reason that a comparison of the public records of the two, as Governor of Texas, shows Mr. Hobby responding to the demands and needs of the people unselfishly and in a manner as to obtain real results, while Mr. Ferguson is inclined toward Ferguson first, and then the people.

Mr. Hobby, as Governor, convened the Legislature which enacted laws banishing from the State of Texas the liquor traffic thus protecting our army boys in the several cantonments in the State, as well as other useful and needed laws, all of which he recommended to the Legislature and officially approved.

Referring to the action of the Legislature in passing the zone law, Mr. Ferguson said in a speech on the 8th of June at Paris:

"They passed the zone law in an effort to deny the poor lonely soldier who is a thousand miles from home, thinking of an old father and mother back there, a chance to take a drink to relieve his loneliness."

It is to be inferred from this Mr. Ferguson disapproves the zone law and other anti-liquor laws as enacted last March. And if perchance, he should be the next Governor, would use his endeavors and influence to have these laws repealed. And the chances are that if he is elected, he will have a Legislature in sympathy with him, because in most of the districts there is a Ferguson and an anti-Ferguson candidate for the Legislature and it is reasonable to suppose that those who vote for Ferguson will also vote for the Ferguson candidate for the Legislature.

So again, if the impeachment issue was not involved, this difference between the two candidates would be sufficient for the Herald to support Mr. Hobby as against Mr. Ferguson. But the more serious issue, as a matter of course, is the one of impeachment.

If Mr. Ferguson sincerely believed that he was illegally impeached he should have tested the matter through the courts at the time he was impeached; for the status of the case now is, he could not be legally seated as Governor, even though he should receive all the votes in Texas.

The constitution provides that the election returns for Governor and Lieutenant Governor shall be sent to the Secretary of State, who shall deliver the same to the Speaker of the House of Representatives as soon as the Speaker shall be chosen, and the said Speaker shall, during the first week of the session of the Legislature, open and publish them in the presence of both houses of the Legislature. The person voted for at said election having the highest number of votes for each said office respectfully, AND BEING CONSTITUTIONALLY ELIGIBLE, shall be declared by the Speaker, UNDER SANCTION OF THE LEGISLATURE, to be elected to said office.

Before there can be a Legislature legally organized each member must subscribe to an oath which says in part: "That I will faithfully and impartially discharge and perform all the duties incumbent upon me as a member of the Legislature according to the best of my skill and ability, AGREEABLY TO THE CONSTITUTION AND LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES AND OF THIS STATE."

Now with these statements of facts before you, how can you vote for Ferguson, except in doing so you invite a very serious and complicated situation?

A vote for Mr. Ferguson is an approval of his acts as Governor, for the trial records show that he admitted, under oath, that he committed the acts as charged in the impeachment indictment, pleading, however, that the gravity of the acts was not sufficient for impeachment.

But even if a voter should take the same view, as to the punishment, his vote would still mean a sanction of the deeds committed.

So then let us hope that every voter in Carson county will seriously consider the situation, without prejudice, but strictly upon the merits involved, and on the 27th go to the polls and vote for the best interests of the State.

From all outside indications it is safe to forecast at least nine tenths of the votes in the county for Hobby, but it would be better if the other tenth should also be cast for Hobby.

WORK OR FIGHT

The decree has gone forth—"work or fight". It is well—as far as it goes. But, limited to subjects of the selective draft, it does not begin to reach far enough. It should be made to reach all classes and conditions of American life; from the hobo by the roadside to the millionaire in his limousine. "No drones in America" should be the watch-ery till the great conflict is won.

America expects every man to do his duty. Will public sentiment see that he does it? Giving is not enough, though one give to his last mite. Money can not win this war; but that which money can buy—the fruits of toil—can and will win. The millionaire gives hundreds of thousands to buy cannon—but if no cannon are made, the gift is abortive.

It is labor that is needed—now—intelligent, persistent, increasing labor, that shall go to furnish and create those vital sinews of war, without which our great armies will be impotent.

Bar the sluggard. Place him under the ban of a supreme public contempt. It matters not his poverty or his millions, demand that he WORK—and at some needful occupation.

Labor is king, and must hold the throne until it has made this world safe for all peaceful peoples.

WE ARE ALL creatures of habit, and the thrift stamp habit is an excellent one. Cultivate it.

Miss Edith Rayzor is in receipt of the following letter from her brother, Herbert:

U. S. S. Brooklyn, Asiatic Station,
May 30, 1918.

Dear Little Sister:

I received your letter and the candy the other day, but I have been busy and have neglected to write. The candy was in the shape of a brick when it came, but that didn't hurt the flavor any, for it was sure good. Jake says you are a regular candy queen, and so did some of my other friends. It melted coming through the tropics.

Well, I guess that the Russians have about decided to quit squabbling among themselves and go for Fritz again. They have ousted the socialist party, and I'm glad to see it too. They are not going by conscription, they go voluntarily, to fight for a cause. Don't that sound good?

We had a big track meet here between the Americans and English. We won first in all things. The English won two second prizes—that's all.

I took first, second and third places first in the shot put, second in the discus, and third in the high jump. We've beat them at basket ball and everything else, so they challenged us to a boat race, in a whale boat. We accepted and they backed down. They said our crew was no good, and we told them they were yellow. They were afraid we would beat them at that too. They are as sore as a boiled owl about it, and I expect there will be a battle Royal ashore tomorrow, (first fight).

Well we have beat them at every thing else and an Englishman was never known to lick an American, so I guess we'll just lick 'em out of them at that too—they they will know how to treat a "Bluddy Yank" as they call us. The English sailor and American sailor were never known to get along any way.

I have a big batch of curios to send home when I get some where else besides here, and I've good reasons for not sending them from here. I'll sure be glad when we leave here for I hate this place, it's worse than lonesome here. We don't live, we just exist, and that's all.

Sis, I've got to stop and go to bed. Will write again soon.

With lots of love,

HERBERT.

WULFF IDENTIFIED AS BOXCAR MURDERER

Earl E. Wilson, whose brother Clarence was murdered in a box car near Wellington, Kansas, recently, is in receipt of the following account of the preliminary trial of a suspect, arrested in connection with the case. The account is taken from a Wellington paper:

Carl F. Wulff, arrested here last week on the charge of forgery, after he had attempted to pass a check for $38 on W. W. Thompson's account at the National Bank of Commerce, will have to answer to the charge of murder. He is being held for the murder of Clarence Wilson of McGregor, Texas, who was shot and killed early on the morning of June 27 in a Rock Island box car on the northbound Rock Island freight No. 2001, when it was about two miles north of town.

The news of the attempted hold-up and shooting was brought to town by two harvest hands, who, after telling all they knew of the affair to the officers, left their future addresses and went on north to work. When Wulff was arrested the officers found in his possession guns and other paraphernalia which caused them to believe that he might have had something to do with the murder of the boy.

With this in mind one of the young men was brought to Wellington and Wulff was taken before him. In the office of the county attorney sat the young man who had come to do the identifying, another party, the county attorney, and the reporter when Sheriff Vavor and Julien walked in with Wulff.

The suspected man was given a chair directly in front of the man who had been in the car with him. He was dressed in a khaki colored shirt, light trousers and an old pair of tan shoes. His shoes showed signs of much wear and the toes of his right foot were visible thru a hole in the toe of his shoe. He carried a light crushed hat, which he placed rather to one side of his head when he left the county attorney's office.

He had no idea for what purpose he was being brought into the county attorney's office and from his attitude and composure he didn't seem to care. He says he stands six feet even in his stocking feet.

He told the county attorney that his home was in Logan county, Oklahoma and that his parents came from Germany. He couldn't tell when, he said, but his father and mother were married in this country. He was asked about how long he had been in Wellington, where he had worked, and several other questions. He answered them very freely, much more so this time than when he visited the county attorney soon after his arrest on the charge of forgery. After some minutes of questioning Mr. Taggart, the county attorney, leaned to one side and asked the young man who had come to identify him, if he thought Wulff was the man. He replied that he was.

Then Mr. Taggart began to grill him about his whereabouts on the night of June 26 and the morning of June 27. He avoided some of the questions by saying that he "couldn't tell much about it," but when asked why he had murdered the boy, he replied that he had never killed anybody.

"Did you ever see this man before?" asked the county attorney of Wulff and pointed to the young man who had come to make the identification.

"No, I can't say that I have", replied Wulff.

"Well, he is the man who was in the box car the morning you killed that lad north of town" Mr. Taggart fired at him.

Wulff was somewhat taken back and seemed to flinch, then he caught himself in a moment and looked at the young man. He didn't say much but looked a lot, then he set his keen active eye on the young man and asked point blank, "Where do you live?" "In this state," the young man replied.

"Whereabouts?" asked Wulff, but the young man had been given the sign not to answer. If possible the officers would like to locate the man with Wulff that morning and will do all they can to shield the young men who reported the shooting, and for that reason their names and addresses are being withheld. The other young man has been sent for in the hope that he can add something to the identification.

The young man who was killed was Clarence Wilson of McGregor, Texas. One shot entered the right arm and the other punctured a lung. He was dead when the train arrived at Wichita.

Wilson has a brother in the furniture business at Hereford, Texas and he has been wired that the officers think they have the murderer of his brother.

It is an established fact that Wulff is somewhat of a bad man. The fact that in his belongings were two guns and a flashlight and other hold-up paraphernalia lead the officers to believe that he might be wanted elsewhere if he isn't the man who killed Wilson. The fact, however, that one of the guns which the officers found in Wulff's suitcase had been fired twice, the same number of time that the lad was shot, that it is of the same calibre and showed no evidences of ever having been fired before, are peculiar circumstances against Wulff.

Wulff admits that he fired the gun but says he shot it at a dog when at home in Logan county about three weeks ago. The officers believe that Wulff is lying about this and think they can prove that he was here three weeks ago.

Mr. Taggart announces that on the strength of the identification already made a charge of murder will be filed against Wulff which will supplant that of forgery.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT HAS MOBILE APPARATUS TO PROVIDE FRESH WATER

The American soldier in France gets pure drinking water from mobile water trains. The trains are under the jurisdiction of the Army Medical Department. They are miniature water works, which chemically treat, filter, and sterilize water, making it fit for consumption. What municipal water works do to insure healthful water to the people of a city these trains do for the soldiers.

A number of purification units with attached motor-tank trucks constitute a train. Each unit is a complete filtration plant including laboratory. Arriving at a stream it sets hose into the water and pumps the water thru a pressure tank. Before the water passes through a sand filter it is treated chemically to rid it of disease germs. The pure water is pumped into tanks mounted on trucks, which carry the water to the soldiers.

Each mobile water unit carries an expert chemist, bacteriologist, and pump man. There is a complete laboratory in the front of the machine for the testing of the water. Tests are made every two hours or more often when it is thought necessary. The water is lifted into the filter by a gasoline pump engine, and a complete supply of extra pipes and tools are carried so that all repairs, either from accident or shell fire, can be made on the spot. The trucks are equipped with electric lights so that the work can be carried on at night. Many of the chemists and bacteriologists assigned to the mobile laboratories were formerly connected with municipal water works and filtration plants.

WHAT TO HAVE ON PICNICS

Say "picnic" and the mind leaps to thoughts of bacon, or beef and cardines. It's not necessary, and it's not patriotic to picnic with foods needed by the soldiers. Notice these picnic suppers suggested by the United States Food Administration.

- 1. Potatoes (baked in bouffe) - Butter, Hard Boiled Eggs, Tomatoes, Barley Flour Cookies, Ice Cream or Fruit

- 2. Wheatless Bread Sandwiches of Lettuce and of Jam, Potato Salad, Dates Stuffed with Cream Cheese, Coffee in Thermos Bottle

- 3. Wheatless Bread and Butter, Jelly, Cream Cheese, Oranges, Marshmallows to Roast

WHEATLESS BREAD

1 cup liquid, 4 tablespoons fat, 1 egg, 4 tablespoons syrup, 2 cups barley flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 cup ground rolled oats.

Mix with the liquid the melted fat, syrup and eggs. Combine the liquid and well-mixed dry ingredients. Bake as a loaf in a moderately hot oven for one hour or until thoroughly baked. Nuts, raisins or dates may be added if desired.

BARLEY FLOUR COOKIES

1/2 cup fat, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons milk, 2 cups barley flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder.

Combine the ingredients as for cake. Add enough barley flour to make a dough still enough to be rolled. Roll thin, shape with small cookie cutter and bake on tin sheet.

MILK IS MEAT.

It has become necessary to save meat and to adopt a ration of 1 1/2 to 2 pounds per person per week in the home. The following recipes for use of milk as a meat substitute are offered to the householders of Texas who are anxious to help win the war and help to keep strong our soldiers in the winning of the war.

Milk is meat. It does the same sort of work as meat. It may be used all through the day to take the place of meat.

Hills, whose residence is unknown, to be and appear before the District Court, to be holden in and for the County of Oldham, at the Courthouse thereof, in the City of Vega, on the first Monday in August, A. D. 1918, the same being the 5th day of said month, then and there to answer the first amended original petition of O. A. Morris as plaintiff, filed in said Court on the 7th day of June, A. D. 1918, against J. W. Wright, Sam S. Wright, E. VanMetre, and C. L. Hills, as defendants, said suit being numbered 201; the nature of which demand is as follows, to-wit: That on December 1st, 1910, E. VanMetre, J. W. and Sam S. proceedings, said note payable at Amarillo, Texas, Default being made plaintiff sued in the District Court of Potter County, Texas, May 20, 1912, and after personal service on said defendants on October 3, 1913, secured judgment in the sum of $5,018.38 with 10 per cent interest from that date and costs of suit with foreclosure on said land with order of sale, under which said land was sold January 6, 1914, for $32.58, the amount of costs, leaving said $5,018.38 unpaid, which, with interest, amounts to about $7,290.33 which remains unpaid. That said Wrights and VanMetre reside at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, but have property in Texas, on which attachment may be levied. That by original petition filed April 6, 1918, plaintiff sued out attachment to Deaf Smith County, which was on April 19, 1918, levied upon the North half of sec. 85, and the N. E. quarter of sec. 84, all in blk. K-5, G. B. & C. N. G. Ry. Co. survey of land in Deaf Smith County, Texas, copy of which writ of attachment, with officers return was duly recorded among the attachment records of Deaf Smith County on April 20, 1918, whereby valid lien was fixed to secure payment of said indebtedness. That on December 1, 1917, plaintiff filed in this court Suit No. 197, against J. W. Wright, et al, on the cause of action above set out, and sued out attachment to Oldham and Swisher Counties, which was on December 4, 1917, levied on the N. W. quarter of sec. 62, blk. M-8, A. B. & M, that on Feb. 12, 1918, judgment was rendered in said 197, for $6715.25 with foreclosure on said Swisher county land, which was on May 7, 1918, sold and bid in by plaintiff for $500.00 which after deducting costs of $36.75 net credit of $463.25 was made on said claim. That defendant Hills is claiming some interest in the N. W. quarter sec. 84, blk. K-5, G. B. & C. N. G. Ry. Co. survey of land in Deaf Smith County, Texas, on account of three vendor's lien notes dated June 8, 1900, but which according to plaintiff's information have been paid as indicated by releases recorded in Deaf Smith County, but in which said quarter section is not properly described. That if said Hills' notes have not been paid, they are barred by limitation and cease to be a charge on said land. Defendants Wrights and VanMetre being non-residents, and the residence of defendant Hills being unknown, plaintiff prays for Citation by Publication and for judgment against said Wrights and VanMetre for the amount of said debt with foreclosure of attachment lien against all of the defendants, for removal of cloud as to said Hills' notes, and for relief general and special both in law and equity. Herein Fall Not, but have you then and there before said Court, J. W. Wright, with your return, thereon, showing how you have executed the same. Witness, W. A. Pulliam, Clerk of the District Court of Oldham County, Texas. Given under my hand and seal of said Court in Vega, this 12th day of July, A. D. 1918. (Seal) W. A. MISS CECIL GILLILLAND, Phone 36

ELLISTON-HEVEL

As the pleasant climax to a pretty romance comes the news of the marriage of Miss Grace Elliston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Elliston, 909 Huntington Boulevard, Los Angeles, Calif. The wedding ceremony was solemnized at the Alhambra apartment in Los Angeles at 12 o'clock m. Saturday, June 26th, 1918. Only the bride's father, mother, and brother Pat were in attendance at the wedding.

The bride will be remembered by her Hereford friends, for the ties of childhood friendship can never be broken even though separation may come.

Mr. Hevel is in the service department of the Goodrich Rubber Company as one of the head adjusters and was stationed in San Francisco. Recently he was transferred to Los Angeles. The happy couple will make their home at 1022 South Hill Street, Los Angeles, Calif. The many Hereford friends extend best wishes and hearty congratulations.

On Friday evening, July 5, Miss Clyde Wilson threw open the doors of her hospitable home to all the Liberty girls and one or two others with a bunting party. It would take a pen guided by far more spice and bravery than the writer has to tell all the stunts which were pulled off.

First, this hilarious bunch hitched two mules, which were reported to be gentle to a wagon. There were many arguments, mistakes and laughable errors, as all fifteen girls tried to put the harness on. Though five insisted on turning the rear of it the other way, one had a poor mule's ear bent double, and two almost wept because they felt sure certain parts of the harness were too tight. Those who knew triumphed and the gay load started on their joy ride in a hayless wagon.

The goal (our paved streets), which sooner or later is every Herefordites destination, was reached. A moment later the drivers pulled up at the corner drug store for refreshments. The orders were given and while the crowd waited with blissful expectancy the even trend of their thoughts was suddenly thrown into confusion.

Bliss, the Honorable Bliss, Miss Clyde Wilson's most wonderful and magnificent lion appearing dog. (Though she says he has a sweet disposition) who had been lying peacefully in the bottom of the wagon came up with precise suddenness. He stretched his massive body into a flying leap such as one reads about in the ancient Roman Amphitheatre and with a blood curdling howl landed on the back of another variety of dog. Thereupon started a most ferocious dog fight. One girl said that her hair was standing on end, but soon found that it was only the removal of her switch which Bliss had gracefully caught on one foot as he went overboard.

The gentle mule now took action. Another young lady tried to imitate Bliss' leap and so landed on the ground in the middle of the dog fight. This looked like death and the mules looked like "And her name was Maud."

At this point Miss Wilson stopped the battle, the ice cream cones arrived, hysteria closed, hair was restored, the party resettled itself, and the return trip was soon made.

You think after this it was time to retire, but no, there were other stunts. As the crowd settled down in the living room to discuss in just what costumes they wear on the stroll to Mrs. Hicks' tank two girls were horror-stricken faces rose as one and with these words: "Man on the porch, Mexican."

A dash was made for the front door. Three girls gallantly held the knob but the man outside was proving himself the stronger when someone said, "Get the gun." "No! No! don't shoot!" cried another who was on to the joke. It's Mrs. Then the door was opened and another gay member was added to the party.

This last named pulled over several stunts which can't be written, followed them to the swimming pool and there betrayed her womanly timidity by refusing to go in.

However, those who took the plunge had as one expressed it "a rip-snorting time", and felt like anything but a nincompoop when it was over.

Two who wore white bathing suits at first rather startled the crowd and had to delay a few moments in their antics to disprove the scandal, and there when the swim was over had trouble over some lost wearing apparel, large black umbrellas, settled their difficulties and the crowd again reached Miss Wilson's in a happy frame of mind.

A semblance of order now settled on the crowd but not for long, for a few started gymnastic stunts and others followed suit. However nothing serious resulted—well one kicked too high and cracked a toenail, on the chandalier. One grew too affectionate with herself—just hugging a foot around her neck, aided in its removal and only one joint cracked. Another entangled with the broom and the crowd hit the hay in a happy frame of mind.

When morning came and the bugle blew it was to an unresponsive audience, though delicious odors came from the direction of the kitchen. But it only took two or three bright minds to put yeast in the crowd. They started the Star Spangled Banner, and the lazy slugs in beds arouse as one body and sang it to the end. Shortly afterwards the party gathered on the lawn and sat themselves down to a most delightful breakfast.

Then after declaring that they had never had a more unusual or better time the full and happy crowd scattered toward their respective paths.

REPORT OF CIRCLE NO. THREE

Quite an enthusiastic and happy crowd met at the beautiful and hospitable home of Mrs. Dr. Gabbert, last Wednesday. The lovely flowers gave an added charm and cheerfulness to the occasion.

Mrs. Bourje led in the devotional by reading the third chapter of Ecclesiastes. It was very appropriate; speaking of a time for every purpose under Heaven, even bringing in a time for "war and peace". The Circle appreciated and enjoyed the comments. Mother Hough made an earnest prayer.

Mrs. Carl Gilliland was teacher, asking questions that led to discussions and experiences that were interesting and instructive.

We were glad to have Mrs. Orr with us again, also Mrs. Marshall and cousins, the Misses Lee as visitors. Mrs. Dr. Gabbert wrote down the minutes, meeting, then called the roll, each Mrs. Pittman read the minutes of last member responding with a verse of scripture and the hours given to Red Cross, also visits to sick and strangers. Our next subject will be "Patience". There was a short business session. Mrs. J. H. Miller paid dues.

Mother LeGrand dismissed the meeting with prayer.

Our next meeting will be at Mrs. Carl Gilliland's with Mrs. Dr. Gabbert as leader. Mrs. S. J. Orr will be teacher. Every member is urged to be present as there is business of importance.

REPORT OF CIRCLE NO. 1

On entering the Barnhart home Monday afternoon July 15, we were greeted with a number of smiling faces sewing for the Red Cross and piecing quilts. After spending several hours sewing we had our devotional and business meeting.

Roll call by our president, each member responding with a verse of scripture.

Mrs. Estes read the 14th chapter of John. Several joined her in commenting on it, which was very helpful.

Prayer by Mrs. Burns. Eight members present. Three visitors.

Only six visitors reported. Next meeting will be with Mrs. Geo. Burns, July 22.

After we were dismissed we were served with cream and cake by our hostess.

Mrs. Head, Sec'y.

The Arney Red Cross chapter met with Mrs. E. Robertson on Thursday of last week. As the day of the meeting was on Mrs. Robertson's birthday, the ladies of the community planned a surprise for her. So, to Mrs. Robertson's astonishment cars began to stop in front of her house long before the regular hour of the Red Cross meeting. Each guest had brought a well filled basket and a Hoover spread was enjoyed by all present.

After dinner the Red Cross work began and fifty-one yards of cloth was made into garments for the Red Cross.

Mesdames Harry Whitechurch, John L. Wilson of Hereford and Mrs. Wilson's cousin Mrs. Turner, of Denton, Texas, were guests of the Chapter.

Death of J. B. Linville

J. B. Linville, aged 75, a resident of Spring Lake, Castro county, died at the Hereford Sanitarium last Sunday evening after a protracted illness. W. J. Linville, a brother, came in from Colorado Thursday morning, as did a son, C. R. Linville, from Boston, California. The body was taken to Spring Lake Thursday by the E. B. Black Undertaking Co. for interment.

The Medical Department, United States Army, needs women as reconstruction aids. The office of the Surgeon General announces: "The work of reconstruction aids is divided into two sections, (1) those women who are well trained in massage and the other forms of physiotherapy; and (2) those who are trained in simple handicrafts." Foreign service pay is $60, home service pay $50 per month and quarters allowances.

SYRUP TO SAVE THE SUGAR.

Corn syrup or other syrup can be used to sweeten cakes, loaves, desserts of all kinds, to make pudding sauces, and for canning and preserving. In canning and preserving fruits, one-third by weight of the original amount of sugar used can be replaced by syrup. Here are some recipes suggested by the United States Food Administration.

SPICE CAKE

With part of the sugar replaced by corn syrup.

- 1/2 cup fat
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1/2 cup syrup
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/2 teaspoon ginger
- 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon cloves
- 1/2 teaspoon allspice
- 3/4 cup barley flour
- 1 cup raisins

Cream the fat, sugar and egg yolks. Add the syrup, milk and vanilla and mix well. Add alternately the liquid and the dry ingredients sifted together. Add the flavoring and fold in the well-beaten egg whites. Lastly, add the raisins. Bake for one hour in a moderate oven.

PINEAPPLE SHERBET.

- 1 cup corn syrup
  - 2 cups boiling water
  - 1 cup grated pineapple
  - Juice of 1 lemon
  - White of 1 egg
- Combine the ingredients with the exception of the egg white. Cool the mixture and freeze it. Add the beaten egg white just before the freezing is completed.

EGG FLIP.

- 1 egg
  - 2 tablespoons corn syrup
  - 1/2 cup milk
  - 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
  - Salt
- Add the corn syrup to the egg and beat the mixture with an egg beater until it is light. Add the milk and the flavoring. Stir the mixture thoroughly and serve it ice cold.

PRESIDENT APPROVES STATE FAIR OF TEXAS

"WIN THE WAR" SESSION TO BE HELD IN DALLAS OCTOBER 15 TO 27, INCLUSIVE.

President Wilson has approved the idea of holding the State Fair of Texas as usual this year. He has done so because he believes strongly in its inspirational value to stimulate patriotism. He considers it a splendid medium for this, the results to be accomplished through education.

The people also demand relaxation. Just as the Government provides plenty of diversion for the men of our armed forces, so the State Fair of Texas provides diversions for the Texas farmer, stockman, banker, manufacturer, merchant, laboring man, and other civilian workers. They can get both instruction and amusement of the very highest class this year. And it will have a special "win the war" flavor.

The Federal Authorities, as well as the State Fair management, are confident the Fair will be of great value to the cause of world freedom during the present momentous struggle. It will be a splendid medium for instructing the people in essential war facts, to stimulate production of food and feeds, and to encourage conservation and thrift.

To this end President R. E. L. Knight announces the Army, Navy, Food, Commerce, Public Information, Agriculture and Labor Departments at Washington will send extensive displays that will far surpass anything of the kind formerly shown at Dallas. A number of our faithful Allies are also co-operating to make the Fair this year bigger and better than ever.

The furrows on the farms are equally as important as the firing lines at the front. Culinary skill must back up military skill. Money and machinery must support our fighting men. New ideas for raising feed go hand in hand with new ideas for raising Fritz. All are essential. All will be visualized this year at the State Fair of Texas.

NEW ATTRACTIONS WILL BE IN EVIDENCE OCT. 15-27

Amusements at State Fair of Texas Will be First-Class and Varied.

The Coliseum attractions at the 1918 "Win the War" session of the State Fair of Texas will be of greater variety and even higher grade than ever before. Instruction as well as amusement will be the keynotes of this department.

The headliner offering will be the Karasokoff Ballet. It is the most pretentious terpsichorean presentation ever seen in the Southwest. It is a "whirl-wind top-notch" and no mistake. There are numerous other beautiful and entrancing acts about which a lot of curiosity is being shown by many enquirers, but the management only smiles and looks mysterious when further questioned.

But Secretary Stratton has secured and announces one of the most wonderful pyrotechnic attractions ever produced. This will be presented before the Grand Stand. The spectacle is staged by the Theatrical Duffield Fireworks company, and is known as "The World War." It portrays the battle fields of the western front in a most astonishingly realistic manner. Three hundred people present it on a 450 foot stage.

CATTLE PREMIUMS LARGEST YET AT THE STATE FAIR

Premiums larger than any heretofore offered for live stock will be given at the 1918 "Win the War" session of the State Fair of Texas. Secretary W. H. Stratton announces. Prizes totaling $26,000.00 will be offered for Beef Cattle—$10,000.00 for Herefords; $7,500.00 for Short-horns; $4,000.00 for Aberdeen-Angus; besides smaller amounts for other breeds.

Then the Sheep premiums will aggregate $4,500.00, while $5,500.00, including numerous specials, will be offered for Swine. Poultry will come in for $2,250.00 in prizes; while Percheron Horses will compete for amounts aggregating $1,400.00.

The hundreds of cattle raisers of the north and east, as well as of Texas, who are planning to send their choice stock to the Fair, will insure the greatest exhibition of thoroughbreds ever assembled in the South. Expressions of appreciation for the greatly increased awards are coming in from everywhere.

The restocking of the drought-stricken districts of the Plains country has been kept well in mind by the Fair management this year for they desire to be of service in that direction. President R. E. L. Knight, Col. Jno. N. Simpson, director in charge of Live Stock, and Secretary W. H. Stratton are working hard to carry out these ideas and make the 1918 cattle show the best ever.

DOES THE FOOD ADMINISTRATION PAY? THE ANSWER

A BRIEF RESUME OF HOW SUGAR AND FLOUR HAS BEEN KEPT WITHIN THE BOUNDS OF CONSUMER DURING YEAR ENDING MAY 31, 1918.

Does the Food Administration pay?

Here is the answer of the Food Administration:

"The chief job of the Food Administration is to feed the allies and our soldiers.

"Saving of money to the consumer is a secondary job. This money is saved through the elimination of speculation, through elimination of profiteering, and through stabilization of all food prices. In general, the Food Administration claims to have steadied all food prices by keeping the public informed of the presence of cheap and abundant foods, such as potatoes, and by urging conservation of less abundant foods, particularly those foods which can be shipped abroad. Two important foods may be taken as example. They are wheat and sugar.

"Herbert Hoover was appointed Food Administrator May 15, 1917. On that day flour sold at $16.75 a barrel f.o.b. Minneapolis. One year later it sold for $9.80 a barrel, or a decrease of 41 per cent. That reduction came in the face of the greatest worldwide wheat shortage ever known since the days of Jacob and Joseph.

"In May, 1917, the difference between the price the farmer got for his wheat and the price the wholesaler got for the flour was $5.68 a barrel. The difference in May, 1918, was 64 cents a barrel.

"As for sugar, the average whole sale price for refined sugar is 7.3 cents a pound. One year ago it was 8.35 cents a pound, a decrease of 12 per cent. The margin between the price of raw and refined sugar has been decreased from 2.12 cents a pound to 1.2 cents a pound. And this in spite of the fact that sugar offered unprecedented opportunities for speculation. During the civil war sugar went to 36 cents a pound when there was no world shortage. The retail price of sugar is less than one-third that price and there is a world shortage such as has never existed since the world began eating refined sugar.

"A rise of 1 cent a pound in the price of sugar costs the American public $80,000,000. A rise of 20 or 30 cents a pound costs thirty or forty times $80,000,000. Had the Food Administration not stepped in and saved the sugar situation, the American public would have been billions of dollars poorer today, or the poor would have gone without sugar while the rich would have eaten it all.

"So the Food Administration admits it pays the taxpayer. It admits that it has saved the consumer enough to oversubscribe all the Red Cross drives and possibly all the Liberty Bond drives, as well. Speculators would have gotten those billions had the government not interfered."

TEXAS IS PLACED IN SOUTHWESTERN ZONE FOOD ADMINISTRATION.

Administrator Feden, Federal Food Administrator for Texas, arrived June 9 from a two weeks' visit to Washington, where he attended a conference of State Administrators and later conferred with the different departments of the National Food headquarters Monday night, June 10, he left for Fort Worth, Texas, to attend a special meeting of the Texas Cattle Raisers' Association called by its president, James Callam, to discuss problems affecting the territory so seriously retarded during the drought and from which so many cattle were shipped to other pastures and sold to the packers.

As a result of the Washington conference the nation was divided into zones, and the zone in which Texas is placed consists of Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas, Tennessee and Oklahoma. This zone is called the Southwestern Zone, while its sister zone is the Southeastern Zone, consisting of Georgia, Alabama, Florida and the Carolinas. The problems of the two zones are identical in many ways. On Tuesday, June 11, the Southeastern Zone administrators met in Atlanta, and on June 15 the Southwestern Zone administrators met in Vicksburg. Administrator Feden was represented at the Vicksburg meeting by E. L. Beville, director of the grocery division, and H. Wirt Steele, director of organization. The principal topic at the two meetings was the question of flour allowance to farmers from their own home-grown wheat.

HOOVER EXPLAINS BREWING POLICY

CEREALS CONSUMED IN BEER TRIVIAL COMPARED TO NATIONAL DANGER IN FORCING GIN AND WHISKY BASIS.

Food Administration Head Says the Question Is Legislative. Hoover Life-long Believer in National Temperance.

Many church congregations in the State, when asked to go on a wheatless diet a week ago, adopted resolutions calling upon the United States Food Administrator to prohibit the use of cereals in the manufacture of beer. "You are probably aware," says Mr. Hoover, in a letter on the subject to Senator Sheppard of Texas, "that I have been a life-long believer in national temperance; on the other hand, as a purely administrative officer of the government, I have felt strongly that I should not enter into any contentious matters."

Hoover Is Personally a Dry Advocate.

As a pronounced dry Mr. Hoover feels, from a national viewpoint, the complete extermination of beer would do more damage to constructive prohibition through the deliberate encouragement of whiskey and gin drinking, of which there is enormous supply still left in the country, than could possibly come from the small saving of wheat now consumed in America in the manufacture of beer. On this point Mr. Hoover says: "I wish to say emphatically that from a strictly food conservation point of view I should like to see the use of foodstuffs suppressed in all drinks, hard and soft. This is not, however, the whole story. We stopped distilling a year ago.

Beer Supply Short, Whiskey Enormous.

There is a long supply of whiskey, gin and other 20% and 40% distilled drinks in the country. We have reduced the consumption of foodstuffs in brewing by 30% and reduced the alcohol content of beer to 2%. If we stop brewing the saloons of the country will still be open, but confined practically to a whiskey and gin basis. Any true advocate of temperance and of national efficiency in these times will shrink from this situation, for the national danger in it is greater than the use of some 4,000,000 bushels of grain monthly in the brewery.

Stop Passing the Buck—Appeal to Congress.

If the American people want prohibition it should prohibit by legislation to that end, and not force the Food Administration to the responsibility for an orgy of drunkenness. It is mighty difficult to get drunk on 2% beer; it will be easy enough if we force a substitution of distilled drinks for it.

The Food Administration has gone as far as it can towards temperance, without precipitating a worse situation. If the American people or congress will stop the sale of distilled liquors, the administration will find no difficulty in stopping brewing.

HISTORIC PRECEDENTS

"Four thousand years ago Food Commissioner Joseph, in the land of Egypt, commandeered one-fifth of the wheat crop of Egypt each year for seven years and stored it in the cities nearest the wheat fields. His drastic action at that time saved the world from starvation.

"Two thousand five hundred years ago Nebuchadnezzar, King of Babylon, instructed that certain men whom he wished to have attached to his court be fed on king's food and wine to give them a well-nourished look. One of these men, named Daniel, persuaded his caterer that himself and friends could be better nourished on pulse and water, and requested that he make a test covering a sufficient length of time; the others to be fed on king's food and wine. The test showed that those who lived on pulse (lentils) and water were better nourished than those fed on king's food (luxury and wine).

"Two thousand years ago Bible history records the miracle of feeding five thousand with a few barley loaves and fishes. The people were commanded to sit in rows of 50 to the row, and the servers passed before each and gave to everyone his portion, so that all were served. It was an instance where a little food went a long way, and the fragments that remained were gathered up so that no food was wasted."—Hotel Monthly.

MUCH WOOL WILL BE DEMANDED FOR USE BY ARMY

Coming requirements of the Army for wool look large. Besides clothing for the soldiers in France and at home a reserve must be accumulated sufficient to take care of any emergency. There are large stocks of manufactured clothing and cloth on hand adequate for essential civilian needs, but woolen suits will not be cheap or plentiful during the coming winter season.

Wool stocks from abroad to supplement the domestic supply is restricted by shipping conditions. The Shipping Board states the movement of Argentine wool will be heavier the coming year, than in any preceding year. But a large portion of the raw wool stock in this country and stock to be produced or imported to January, 1920, will be needed for military uses.

The war service committee of the National Association of Woolen Manufacturers and the American Association of Woolen and Worsted Manufacturers conferred with the War Industries Board and representatives from the Shipping Board, War Trade Board, and Army and Navy over difficulties in the wool supply situation. The policy of the War Industries Board is to regulate prices and distribution when a scarcity arises due to Government demands.

CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTORS DECIDE TO GO INTO FIGHTING BRANCHES

Conscientious objection to military service may be brushed aside by friendly argument and reason the War Department learns through reports from Maj. Richard C. Stoddard, Judge Julian W. Mack, Chicago, and Dean Harlan F. Stone, Columbia University Law School, a board designed by Secretary of War Baker to confer personally with such objectors at the training camps.

At Camp Gordon, Atlanta, there was an unusually large number of men segregated as objectors. Kindly logic used by the special board resulted in 72 of the number accepting noncombatant service, and 12 withdrew objection or announced they had misunderstood the original questions.

The board accepted as sincere the convictions of 23 members of religious denominations opposed to any form of military service and recommended them for furlough at a private's pay. There was doubt in four cases and the board recommended the men be sent to Fort Leavenworth for further examination.

Fifty-four men failed to convince the board of their inability to take up military service without violation of their consciences and must accept service specified for them by the commanding officer or stand court-martial. Eight claimed to be citizens of enemy countries but had no way of substantiating their claims and it was held should not be so classed. The board failed to examine four others who were in hospitals.

SOME SUGGESTIONS ON MANAGEMENT OF SHEEP

By J. M. Jones, Animal Husbandman in charge Breeding Investigations, Texas Experiment Station.

The Texas farmer does not have to provide such expensive barns or sheds for sheep as are required in the North.

It is desirable however, that farmers allow their flock access to sheds during the cold and penetrating winter rains. Sheep can withstand low temperature without any ill effects whatever so long as they remain dry, but a sheep whose wool has become saturated with water quite frequently succumbs when exposed to a cold and penetrating Norther.

Many Texas farmers have ample room for housing a few head of sheep during wet weather under an unused shed or in one end of the barn. When the weather is dry, the sheep thrive better out of doors in an enclosed lot at night.

A sheep shed should be located on a high, well-drained piece of land, the open front having a southern exposure. The shed should be from 18 to 20 feet in depth and of any desired length, depending upon the size of the flock. The main points to keep in mind is to provide a water-tight roof and a dry floor upon which the sheep may lie down and rest.

The farm flock owner should provide some green forage crop for the winter grazing of the flock. Winter wheat, oats, rye, and barley, sown after the removal of the summer crop, grow rapidly, provided there is sufficient moisture in the soil. If the pregnant ewe flock is allowed to graze on a green forage crop during the winter months they should be in splendid condition to deliver lambs. The green feed increases the milk production and the lambs gain at a rapid rate. Where there is an abundance of green feed, it is not essential to supply the breeding flock with silage. On the other hand, when a green forage crop is not available on the farm, it is a good plan to supply the breeding flock with silage. On the other hand, when a green forage crop is not available on the farm, it is a good plan to supply each ewe with from two to two and one-half pounds of good silage daily. Never feed mouldy silage to sheep as it is likely to cause death. If the ewes are thin, one-half to three-fourths of a pound of feterita, milo or kafir should be added to the daily ration a few weeks before lambing time.

The flock owner should be careful to avoid an excess of such feeds as cotton seed meal, cotton seed hulls, oats, etc., which are high in protein content, because unless these concentrates are fed in moderation, difficulty is very likely to result at parturition time, owing to the tendency of highly nitrogenous feeds to increase the development of the young in utero to such an extent that losses are likely to occur unless assistance is given the ewes during delivery of lambs. After the lambs have been dropped, the grain ration should be increased gradually after the first few days so that the ewes will provide enough milk to keep the lambs gaining steadily. The lamb that has once been stunted never attains the size and development that it otherwise would, had its growth never been checked. After the lambs are two to three weeks old they will begin to nibble at grain, and at this age it is well to provide what sheepmen call a "lamb creep", which is nothing more than a small pen containing feed-troughs for the young lambs. The entrance to this "creep" is slatted so that the mature sheep cannot gain an entrance. During the first few weeks, the lambs should be allowed all the grain they will eat, as they will not consume enough to injure them. A desirable mixture is four parts oats and one part bran. Another desirable ration for the lambs, is seven parts ground feterita or milo and one part cotton seed meal, well mixed. The troughs should be constructed so as to keep the lambs from climbing into them, as they contaminate the feed and refuse to eat it. The feeder should learn to judge their appetites and feed them the amount they will consume daily.

The male lambs should be castrated at from one to two weeks of age. The entire lamb flock should be de-tailed when the lambs are from one to two weeks old. In the de-tailing operation the tail is severed at the second or third joint from the tail head. There is not much loss of blood when the lamb is de-tailed at a young age, but when this operation is deferred until a time when the lamb is a month or two old there will be a considerable loss of blood and probably some deaths. In case of severe bleeding after the tail has been severed, tie a string tightly about the stump of the tail and the bleeding will stop in a few minutes.

FARM AND HOME HINTS TOMATO RECEIPTS

Tomatoes—Canned

Select well-colored, ripe fruit. Scald the tomatoes in boiling water and plunge into cold water to loosen the skin. Peel and remove the core. Pack the fruit into the cans to within 1-4 inch of the top. Add juice to fill nearly full and a teaspoon of salt to each No. 3 can. Cap and exhaust five minutes. Seal the vent hole and sterilize for 30 minutes in boiling water.

Tomato Catsup

Use ripe, red varieties. Wash, cut into pieces and boil in porcelain-lined kettle until soft. Mash through fine sieve to remove seed, skins and cores. To each gallon of the liquid add 3 teaspoonfuls of salt and 1-4 teaspoonful of red pepper. Place again in the kettle and suspend in it a little flannel bag containing, for each gallon: 2 level teaspoonfuls of whole allspice 4 level teaspoonfuls of unground mustard seed 1 level teaspoonful of whole cloves 2 level teaspoonfuls of celery seed 1 ounce of stick cinnamon 3 ounces of green ginger root. Add two large onions and boil, with frequent stirring, until the mixture begins to thicken; then add 1 pint of vinegar and 3 level tablespoonfuls of sugar. Continue boiling until it becomes so thick that when a teaspoonful is removed and placed in a saucer no water will run from it. Remove the onions and spices, put the catsup into jars or bottles that have been previously washed in boiling water, and seal or cork while hot. If kept corked, catsup made in this way will keep indefinitely.

Tomato Pulp

This produce is usually made during the height of the tomato canning season from trimmings, over-ripe or partly injured wholesome fruit. It is used to make catsup, puree, sauces, etc. Only red varieties are used. The tomatoes or trimmings from the peeling tables are placed in a porcelain-lined kettle and covered with water. They are cooked until soft and then run through a sieve to separate the seed, cores and skins. The pulp may go at once to the cooking kettle or it may be allowed to stand for a few hours when the solids will be found at the top while at the bottom is a watery liquid. This liquor may be drawn off and thrown away, thus reducing the length of cooking. The pulp is now boiled down to about the thickness of catsup. From this stage it may go into cans for soup stock, be made into catsup or concentrated still farther into tomato paste.

Tomato Paste

The old home method of making tomato paste is as follows: Select ripe red fruit, cut into pieces and boil slowly until soft. Run through a sieve to separate the seed and skins. The pulp is then placed in a porcelain-lined kettle and cooked slowly until it becomes thick. It is then spread upon clean boards and placed in the sun (or a slow oven) until dry enough to be cut into cubes. It is then cut into cubes and wrapped in oiled paper. To use, the cubes are dissolved by boiling for a few minutes in water. In this condition, it is used for soup, flavoring, sauces, etc.

Tomato Syrup

This is also made from cull fruit or trimmings from the peeling table. Either red or yellow varieties may be used but must be fully ripe. The fruit is crushed and allowed to stand on the skins for twelve hours to extract the coloring. The material is then pressed or allowed to drip thru a muslin bag. The juice is then strained, weighed and an equal amount of sugar added. It is now boiled in a porcelain-lined kettle until of the desired thickness. It may be put away in cans or jars.

Tomato Jam

This is made from ripe fruit. The fruit should be peeled, weighed and an equal amount of sugar added. It is now cooked to a paste and is run hot into jars and sealed without sterilizing.

Tomato Relish

Scald and peel 15 ripe tomatoes. Peel and slice 6 sour apples and 5 medium sized onions. Chop all very fine, put into kettle and add: 2 level tablespoonfuls of salt 3 green peppers or 1 level teaspoonful of black pepper 1-3 teaspoonful of cayenne pepper 1-2 pint of vinegar. Boil all slowly for 1-4 hours. Put into bottles or jars and seal while hot.

DEMAND FOR VETERINARY SURGEONS IS FILED FOR THE PRESENT

The Army has sufficient veterinarians, Surg. Gen. Gorgas announces. Examinations for commissions in the Veterinary Corps have closed. There is a waiting list of those eligible to commissions, and until this list is exhausted there will be no more examinations. The corps has 1,700 officers and 10,000 enlisted men for active duty.

Veterinary graduates called by the draft will enter the Army service as privates. Later they will be allowed to take examinations for veterinary officer commissions to fill vacancies. Men over the draft age and under 40 may enlist as privates and secure an equal chance with selected men for commissions. One hundred men are graduated each month from the training school for commissioned veterinary officers on active duty at Camp Greenleaf, Chickamauga Park, Ga.

NEW SHELL-LOADING PLANT WILL HANDLE 52,000 SHELLS A DAY

Quantity if not capacity shipments will start soon from a new Government shell-loading factory in New Jersey, one of four such Government plants each of which is larger than any similar plant in the world.

When turning out 52,000 loaded shells a day under full operation the plant will use 2,000 tons of shells and explosives daily, the products of some 75 factories. More than 5,000 workmen will be required. Plans contemplate the employment of a large number of women. The marketing of shells to designate size, load, and range will require 250,000 operations each day.

The plant has a total area of approximately 2,500 acres. More than 100 buildings with an aggregate floor space of 1,300,000 square feet, will provide storage for shells and parts and for material. A small city, with heating and lighting plants, water and sewage systems, hospitals, fire-fighting plant, and restaurants, was built to house the employees. There is equipment to protect the health of those who work with poisonous gases, and a school for instruction in the loading of artillery ammunition with high explosives.

The operating plant consists of 13 shell-loading units, each independent of the other, with equipment for loading 13 sizes of shells, ranging from the recently developed 37-millimeter to 16 inches. On two sizes of shells the propelling charge also will be loaded, the shell and cartridge case being assembled at the plant. All other shells are assembled in France.

In the construction of the shell-loading units the problem was far greater than one of mere building. Immense fans have been installed to dispose of the poisonous fumes from the high explosives. When a unit is in operation the air in the loading room is changed every few minutes. Specially designed suits will be worn during work with the explosives.

NAVY DEPARTMENT TELLS OF FIGHTING NEAR THE CLOUDS

Ensign Stephen Potter, United States Naval Reserve Force, killed in action with German planes April 25 last, was the first American naval aviator to shoot down and destroy a German seaplane, according to a Navy Department statement.

The report states that on March 19, 1918, a long-distance reconnaissance of the German coast was made by large American flying boats operating from a British Royal Air Force station. Ensign Potter was one of two American naval aviators accompanying this expedition, and Potter was successful in shooting down a German seaplane which attacked the reconnaissance formation. A second enemy seaplane found safety in running away.

Potter's death reflects credit on his courage. He was killed in a fight with seven enemy single-seaters. He was second pilot to a British Air Force captain, who was with him when he shot down the German plane in March. Two British planes had flown to a point 6 miles from Hinder Light, when two enemy planes headed toward them. The British planes closed on the nearest German and opened fire. Two more hostile planes then appeared overhead and attacked vicariously, while three other enemy planes passed astern. The two British planes dived and speeded westward under continuous volleys from the rear. One of the Germans disappeared.

Of the seven Germans in action four were attacking Potter, who fell behind his companion and began to signal. Potter dodged, but was broad side to all the enemy machines and under their fire only 50 feet from the water. His companion, 250 feet above, saw Potter's machine burst in to flame, come down part of the way under control, then crash on the pool wing tip. Potter was seen last on the surface of the water amid flames which turned suddenly to a huge cloud of smoke. When the pall had cleared, not even wreckage was visible and the circling enemy disappeared.

According to a cablegram received by the Y. M. C. A. War Work Council more secretaries have been under liquid fire attacks, as well as gas and shell fire. The American Expeditionary force officers have sent scores of letters to the Paris headquarters of the "Y" praising the work of the Red Triangle workers and declaring them to be indispensable.

John D. Antinis, of No. 238 Pine St. Springfield, Mass., was gassed, then not seriously, during a heavy gas attack on a wood in which he remained at his post in a "Y" dug-out. Thomas S. Barber, of No. 905 Bleeker Street, Utica, N. Y., displayed conspicuous heroism through a severe bombardment and gas attack. Thomas T. Richard, of No. 324 Main Street, Scranton, Pa. went through a liquid fire and gas attack in a manner winning for him a reputation for heroism.

More than a hundred "Y" secretaries are in advance positions and dug-out under constant shell fire. There are no quitters and they refuse to be relieved, it is said. They have been accepted by the Army as a part of itself. The officers have written that the "Y" men shirk no job. Their motor trucks carry up supplies at night under fire to the post exchanges beneath the trees, in the open without shelter. The deliver the Paris editions of American newspapers and daily distribute free chocolate and cigarettes to the men without pay or going into battle. House Joint Resolution No. 27.
Proposing an amendment to Art. 7 of the Constitution of the State of Texas by changing Sec. 3, providing for a thirty-five cent tax levy for the maintenance of the public schools of Texas, and providing free text books in public schools of the State of Texas, and making an appropriation therefor.

Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas:

Section 1. That Section 3, Article 7, of the Constitution, be so changed as to read as follows: (creating a new section 3):

Sec. 3. One-fourth of the revenue derived from the State occupation taxes and a poll tax of one (1.00) dollar on every male inhabitant of this State, between the ages of twenty-one and sixty years, shall be set apart annually for the benefit of the public free schools; and in addition thereto, there shall be levied and collected an annual ad valorem State tax of such an amount not to exceed thirty-five cents on the one hundred (100.00) dollar valuation, as, with the available school fund arising from all other sources, will be sufficient to maintain and support the public schools of this State for a period of not less than six months in each year, and it shall be the duty of the State Board of Education to set a sufficient amount out of the said tax to provide free text books for the use of children attending the public free schools of this State; provided, however, that should the limit of taxation herein named be insufficient, the deficit may be met by appropriation from the general funds of the State, and the Legislature may also provide for the formation of school districts by general or special law without the local notice required in other cases of special legislation; and all such school districts, whether created by general or special law, may embrace parts of two or more counties. And the Legislature shall be authorized to pass laws for the assessment and collection of taxes in all said districts, and for the management and control of the public school or schools of such district, whether such districts are composed of territory wholly within a county or in parts of two, or more counties. And the Legislature may authorize an additional ad valorem tax to be levied and collected within all school districts heretofore formed, or hereafter formed, for the further maintenance of public free schools, and the erection and equipment of school buildings thereat; provided, that a majority of the qualified property tax-paying voters of the district, voting at an election to be held for that purpose, shall vote such tax, not to exceed in any one year fifty cents on the one hundred dollar valuation of the property subject to taxation in such districts, but the limitation upon the amount of school district tax herein authorized shall not apply to incorporated cities or towns constituting separate and independent school districts.

Sec. 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of the State at an election to be held throughout the State on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1918, at which election all voters favoring said proposed amendment shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "For the amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas providing for the levy of a special school tax for the maintenance of the public schools of the State and to provide free text books in the public schools of the State of Texas," and all those opposed shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "Against the amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas providing for the levy of a special school tax for the maintenance of the public schools of the State and to provide free text books in the public schools of the State of Texas."

Sec. 3. The Governor of the State is hereby directed to issue the necessary proclamation for said election and to have same published as required by the Constitution and existing laws of the State.

Sec. 4. That the sum of two thousand ($2,000.00) dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated out of any funds in the Treasury of the State of Texas not otherwise appropriated, to pay the expenses of such publication and election.

LOCAL ATTORNEYS ENDORSE CANDIDATES FOR HIGHER COURT

A few days ago the lawyers of Hereford unananimously adopted and signed the following endorsements, expressing their sentiments as to the fitness of certain candidates for positions on the courts of last resort.

The endorsement explains itself and shows how every lawyer in Hereford feels about the matter.

"We, the lawyers of Deaf Smith County, appreciating the peculiar political conditions existing in Texas at this time, and realizing the very great importance of electing to the courts of last resort men of the best type of citizenship and of unquestioned moral character of the highest legal attainments, do hereby unananimously and most heartily endorse the candidacy of Judge Nelson Phillips for Chief Justice and of Thos. B. Greenwood for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, and of O. S. Lattimore, the present senator from Tarrant County, for a member of the Court of Criminal Appeals."

And we hereby pledge ourselves to make all reasonable and proper efforts to secure their nominations in the approaching election.

zation tedious. The fact that secure sealing of glass jars is often not accomplished is responsible for spoiling, even after the corn has been well cooked in the jars.

There is a way to save green corn for winter use, which is commonly practiced in some sections of the United States and which is less expensive than canning. When properly prepared dried green corn is a delicious winter dish.

Recipe: Plant some variety of corn suitable for table use. When well filled out, but not too hard, boil the corn on the cob, in water which is slightly salted, until the milk in the grain is thick. Do not have it too done. Drain off all water. Cut the corn from the cob and dry as quickly as possible in the hot sun or on board or papers near a hot stove.

Since files are so fond of green corn, a screened sunny porch is a good place to dry it. Iron roofing covered by wire screening and placed in the sun and wind makes a clean, hot drying pan for corn, okra and fruits. Naturally, the corn dried quickly near a hot stove will be whiter than that dried more slowly by the outdoor method.

When the stove is used, the corn can be dried without first boiling it.

When dry enough not to stick and mildew, put into thin cloth sacks and place in the sun every day. It can be closed up in tin cans when the weather gets cool.

To serve this dried corn, wash and soak over night to swell. Then cook slowly in just enough water to cover. When tender, drain and season with pepper and salt. It may be served with a cream sauce or it may be fried or made into fritters as you would prepare fresh green corn.

NATURAL STRENGTH IS THE BEST STRENGTH

Stimulants Only Last Temporarily and in the End Leave Your System in Bad Condition

Pep Systemic Pills give quick results in strengthening you up, but are entirely different in their after effects from the majority of stimulants. When the organs of the body are overworked or are unable to perform their functions properly, nature demands help, and unless the appeal is heeded many wearisome troubles or serious ailments are the result.

One of the greatest essentials to a strong healthy body is to keep the body supplied with sufficient rich, red corpuscles. And no other ingredient has ever been found to take the place of iron. Bland's Mass has long been recognized as the most assimilable and effective form of iron salts.

Pep Systemic Pills, which contain iron in Bland's Mass form, are proving especially beneficial for building up natural strength and doing it in a natural way, and being reinforced by other nerve, blood and alternative tonics these pills bring surprising results for any of the ailments that are caused from a lazy liver, impure blood or a run-down system.

Any one suffering from constipation, stomach trouble, sleeplessness, loss of appetite, malaria, nervous trouble, dizziness, heartburn, sallow complexion or any kindred ailment should start a course of Pep Systemic Pills at once. You will be astonished how quickly any of these ailments will be relieved and with no bad after effects whatever. Pep Pills recommended not to upset the stomach nor discolor the teeth.

AN AMERICAN SOLDIER WHO WENT

ARTHUR GUY EMPEY

MACHINE GUNNER, SERVING IN FRANCE

BY ARTHUR GUY EMPEY

Looking into the guardhouse, the sentry noticed the cowering attitude of Lloyd, and, with a sneer, said to him: "Instead of whimpering in that corner, you ought to be saying your prayers. It's bally conscripts like you what's spoiling our record. We've been out here nine onto eighteen months, and you're the first man to desert his post. The whole battalion is laughing and pokin' fun at D company, bad luck to you! but you won't get another chance to disgrace us. They'll put your lights out in the mornin'."

He Betrayed His Country.

After listening to this tirade, Lloyd, in a faltering voice, asked: "They are not going to shoot me, are they? Why, the other sentry said they'd pardon me. For God's sake—don't tell me I'm to be shot!" and his voice died away in a sob.

"Of course, they're going to shoot you. The other sentry was just a kid-din' you. Jest like old Smith. Always a-tryin' to cheer some one. You ain't got no more chance o' bein' pardoned than I have of gettin' to be colonel of my 'batt.'"

When the fact that all hope was gone finally entered Lloyd's brain, a calm seemed to settle over him, and rising to his knees, with his arms stretched out to heaven, he prayed, and all of his soul entered into the prayer.

"O, good and merciful God, give me strength to die like a man! Deliver me from this coward's death. Give me a chance to die like my mates in the fighting line, to die fighting for my country. I ask this of thee."

A peace, hitherto unknown, came to him, and he crouched and covered no more, but calmly waited the dawn, ready to go to his death. The shells were bursting all around the guardroom, but he hardly noticed them.

While waiting there, the voice of the sentry, singing in a low tone, came to him. He was singing the chorus of the popular trench ditty:

I want to go home, I want to go home. I don't want to go to the trenches no more. Where the "whizzbangs" and "sausages" rear galore. Take me over the sea, where the Allemand can't get at me. Oh, my, I don't want to die! I want to go home.

Lloyd listened to the words with a strange interest, and wondered what kind of a home he would go to across the Great Divide. It would be the only home he had ever known.

Suddenly there came a great rushing through the air, a blinding, a deafening report, and the sandbag walls of the guardroom toppled over, and then—blackness.

When Lloyd recovered consciousness, he was lying on his right side, facing what used to be the entrance of the guardroom. Now, it was only a jumble of rent and torn sandbags. His head seemed bursting. He slowly rose on his elbow, and there in the east the dawn was breaking. But what was that mangled shape lying over there among the sandbags? Slowly dragging himself to it, he saw the body of the sentry. One look was enough to know that he was dead. The soldier's head was missing. The sentry had had his wish gratified. He had "gone home." He was safe at last from the "whizzbangs" and the Allemand.

Like a flash it came to Lloyd that he was free. Free to go "over the top" with his company. Free to die like a true Briton fighting for his king and country. A great gladness and warmth came over him. Carefully stepping over the body of the sentry, he started on a mad race down the ruined street of the village, amid the bursting shells, minding them not, dodging through or around hurrying platoons on their way to also go "over the top." Coming to a communication trench he could not get through. It was blocked with laughing, cheering and cursing soldiers. Climbing out of the trench, he ran wildly along the top, never heeding the rain of machine-gun bullets and shells, not even hearing the shouts of the officers, telling him to get back into the trench. He was going to join his company who were in the front line. He was going to fight with them. He, the despised coward, had come into his own.

While he was racing along, jumping over trenches crowded with soldiers, a ringing cheer broke out all along the front line, and his heart sank. He knew he was too late. His company had gone over. But still he ran madly. He would catch them. He would die with them. Meanwhile his company had gone "over." They, with the other companies had taken the first and second German trenches, and had pushed steadily on to the third line. D company, led by their captain, the one who had sent Lloyd to division headquarters for trial, charged with desertion, had pushed steadily forward until they found themselves far in advance of the rest of the attacking force. "Bombing out" trench after trench, and using their bayonets, they came to a German communication trench, which ended in a blind sap, and then the captain, and what was left of his men, knew they were in a trap. They would not retire. D company never retired, and they were D company. Right in front of them they could see hundreds of German soldiers preparing to rush them with bomb and bayonet. They would have some chance if ammunition and bombs could reach them from the rear. Their supply was exhausted, and the men realized it would be a case of dying as bravely as possible, or making a run for it. But D company would not run. It was against their traditions and principles.

The Germans would have to advance across an open space of three to four hundred yards before they could get within bombing distance of the trench, and then it would be all their own way. Turning to his company, the captain said:

"Men, it's a case of going West for us. We are out of ammunition and bombs, and the Boches have us in a trap. They will bomb us out. Our bayonets are useless here. We will have to go over and meet them, and it's a case of thirty to one, so send every trust home, and die like the men of D company should. When I give the word, follow me, and up and at them. Give them hell! Lord, if we only had a machine gun, we could wipe them out! Here they come, get ready, men!"

Just as he finished speaking, the welcome "pup-pup" of a machine gun in their rear rang out, and the front line of the onrushing Germans seemed to melt away. They wavered, but once again came rushing onward. Down went their second line. The machine gun was taking an awful toll of lives. Then again they tried to advance, but the machine gun mowed them down. Dropping their rifles and bombs, they broke and fled in a wild rush back to their trench, amid the cheers of "D" company. They were forming again for another attempt, when in the rear of D company came a mighty cheer. The ammunition had arrived and with it a battalion of Scotch to re-enforce them. They were saved. The unknown machine gunner had come to the rescue in the nick of time.

With the re-enforcements it was an easy task to take the third German line.

After the attack was over, the captain and three of his noncommissioned officers, wended their way back to the position where the machine gun had done its deadly work. He wanted to thank the gunner in the name of D company for his magnificent deed. They arrived at the gun, and an awful sight met their eyes.

Lloyd had reached the front line trench, after his company had left it. A strange company was nimbly crawling up the trench ladders. They were re-enforcements going over. They were Scotch, and they made a magnificent sight in their brightly colored kilts and bare knees.

Jumping over the trench, Lloyd raced across "No Man's Land," unheeding the rain of bullets, leaping over dark forms on the ground, some of which lay still, while others called out to him as he speeded past.

He came to the German front line, but it was deserted, except for heaps of dead and wounded—a grim tribute to the work of his company, good old D company. Leaping trenches, and gasping for breath, Lloyd could see right ahead of him his company in a dead-ended sap of a communication trench, and across the open, away in front of them, a mass of Germans preparing for a charge. Why didn't D company fire on them? Why were they so strangely silent? What were they waiting for? Then he knew—their ammunition was exhausted.

But what was that on his right? A machine gun. Why didn't it open fire and save them? He would make that gun's crew do their duty. Rushing over to the gun he saw why it had not opened fire. Scattered around its base lay six still forms. They had brought their gun to consolidate the captured position, but a German machine gun had decreed they would never fire again.

Lloyd rushed to the gun and, grasping the traversing handles, trained it on the Germans. He pressed the thumb piece, but only a sharp click was the result. The gun was unloaded. Then he realized his helplessness. He did not know how to load the gun. Oh, why hadn't he attended the machine-gun course in England? He'd been offered the chance, but with a blush of shame he remembered that he had been afraid. The nickname of the machine gunners had frightened him. They were called the "Suicide club." Now, because of this fear, his company would be destroyed, the men of D company would have to die, because he, Albert Lloyd, had been afraid of a name. In his shame he cried like a baby. Anyway he could die with them and, rising to his feet, he stumbled over the body of one of the gunners, who emitted a faint moan. A gleam of hope flashed through him. Perhaps this man could tell him how to load the gun. Stooping over the body he gently shook it and the soldier opened his eyes. Seeing Lloyd, he closed them again and, in a faint voice, said:

"Get away, you blighter, leave me alone. I don't want any coward around me."

The words cut Lloyd like a knife, but he was desperate. Taking the revolver out of the holster of the dying man he pressed the cylinder muzzle to the soldier's head and replied:

"Yes, it is Lloyd, the coward of Company D, but so help me God, if you don't tell me how to load that gun I'll put a bullet through your brain!"

A sunny smile came over the countenance of the dying man and he said in a faint whisper:

"Good old boy! I knew you wouldn't disgrace our company—"

Lloyd interposed: "For God's sake, if you want to save that company you are so proud of, tell me how to load that d—d gun!"

As if reciting a lesson in school, the soldier replied in a weak, singsong voice: "Insert tag end of belt in feed block, with left hand pull belt left front. Pull crank handle back on roller, let go, and repeat motion. Gun is now loaded. To fire, raise automatic safety latch, and press thumbpiece. Gun is now firing. If gun stops, ascertain position of crank handle—"

But Lloyd waited for no more. With wild joy at his heart, he took a belt from one of the ammunition boxes lying beside the gun, and followed the dying man's instructions. Then he pressed the thumbpiece and a burst of fire rewarded his efforts. The gun was working.

Training it on the Germans he shouted for joy as their front rank went down.

Traversing the gun back and forth along the mass of Germans, he saw them break and run back to the cover of their trench, leaving their dead and wounded behind. He had saved his company, he, Lloyd, the coward, had "done his bit." Releasing the thumb-piece, he looked at the watch on his wrist. He was still alive at "3:38."

"Ping!"—a bullet sang through the air, and Lloyd fell forward across the gun. A thin trickle of blood ran down his face from a little, black round hole in his forehead.

"The sentence of the court had been 'duly carried out.'"

The captain slowly raised the limp form drooping over the gun and, wiping the blood from the white face, recognized it as Lloyd, the coward of D company. Reverently covering the face with his handkerchief he turned to his "noncoms" and, in a voice husky with emotions, addressed them:

"Boys, it's Lloyd, the deserter. He has redeemed himself, died the death of a hero—died that his mates might live."

That afternoon a solemn procession wended its way toward the cemetery. In the front a stretcher was carried by two sergeants. Across the stretcher the Union Jack was carefully spread. Behind the stretcher came a captain and forty-three men, all that were left of D company.

Arriving at the cemetery, they halted in front of an open grave. All about them wooden crosses were broken and trampled into the ground.

A grizzled old sergeant, noting this destruction, muttered under his breath: "Curse the cowardly blighter who wrecked those crosses! If I could only get these two hands around his neck his trip West would be short."

The corpse on the stretcher seemed to move, or it might have been the wind blowing the folds of the Union Jack.

CHAPTER XXV.

Preparing for the Big Push. Rejoining Atwell after the execution I had a hard time trying to keep my secret from him. I think I must have lost at least ten pounds worrying over the affair.

Beginning at seven in the evening it was our duty to patrol all communication and front-line trenches, making note of unusual occurrences, and arresting anyone who should, to us, appear to be acting in a suspicious manner. We slept during the day.

Behind the lines there was great activity, supplies and ammunition pouring in, and long columns of troops constantly passing. We were preparing for the big offensive, the forerunner of the battle of the Somme or "Big Push."

The never-ending stream of men, supplies, ammunition and guns pouring into the front lines made a mighty spectacle, one that cannot be described. It has to be witnessed with your own eyes to appreciate its vastness.

At our part of the line the influx of supplies never ended. It looked like a huge snake slowly crawling forward, never a hitch or break, a wonderful tribute to the system and efficiency of Great Britain's "contemptible little army" of five millions of men.

Huge fifteen-inch guns snaked along, foot by foot, by powerful steam tractors. Then a long line of "four point five" batteries, each gun drawn by six horses, then a couple of "nine point two" howitzers pulled by immense caterpillar engines.

When one of these caterpillars would pass me with its mighty monster in tow, a flush of pride would mount to my face, because I could plainly read on the name plate, "Made in U. S. A.," and I would remember that if I wore a name plate it would also read, "From the U. S. A." Then I would stop to think how thin and straggly that mighty stream would be if all the "Made in U. S. A." parts of it were withdrawn.

Then would come hundreds of limbers and "G. S." wagons drawn by sleek, well-fed mules, ridden by sleek, well-fed men, ever smiling, although grimy with sweat and covered with the fine, white dust of the marvelously well-made French roads.

What a discouraging report the German airmen must have taken back to their division commanders, and this stream is slowly but surely getting bigger and bigger every day, and the pace is always the same. No slower, no faster, but ever onward, ever forward.

Three weeks before the big push of July 1—as the battle of the Somme has been called—started, exact duplicates of the German trenches were dug about thirty kilos behind our lines. The layout of the trenches was taken from airplane photographs submitted by the Royal flying corps. The trenches were correct to the foot; they showed dugouts, saps, barbed wire defenses and danger spots.

Battalions that were to go over in the first waves were sent back for three days to study these trenches, engage in practice attacks and have night maneuvers. Each man was required to make a map of the trenches and familiarize himself with the names and location of the parts his battalion was to attack.

In the American army non-commissioned officers are put through a course of map making or road sketching, and during my six years' service in the United States cavalry I had plenty of practice in this work, therefore mapping these trenches was a comparatively easy task for me. Each man had to submit his map to the company commander to be passed upon, and I was lucky enough to have mine selected as being sufficiently authentic to use in the attack.

No photographs or maps are allowed to leave France, but in this case it appealed to me as a valuable souvenir of the great war and I managed to smuggle it through. At this time it carries no military importance as the British lines, I am happy to say, have since been advanced beyond this point, so in having it in my possession I am not breaking any regulation or cautions of the British army.

GIRLS! IT'S YOUR STEP THAT ATTRACTS

Says women pay too much heed to their face instead of their corns.

Watch your step! A brisk, lively step is what charms more than a lovely skin, but your high heels have caused corns and you limp a little. That's bad, girls, and you know it. Corns destroy beauty and grace, besides corns are very easy to remove.

Rid your feet of every corn by asking at any drug store for a quarter of an ounce of freezone. This will cost little but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet.

A few drops applied directly upon a tender, touchy corn relieves the soreness and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts right out without pain.

This freezone is a gummy substance which dries instantly and simply shrivels up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding skin.

Women must keep in mind that cornless feet create a youthful step which enhances her attractiveness.

I was constipated, my liver didn't act. My digestion was bad, and it took so little to upset me. My appetite was gone. I was very weak... I decided I would give Black-Draught a thorough trial as I knew it was highly recommended for this trouble. I began taking it. I felt better after a few doses. STUDENT NURSES ENTER CAMP SCHOOLS

Three hundred applicants for student nurses to enter training schools in the base hospitals at cantonments were accepted recently.

Whoa Fritz!

Does look like those Master German Military Minds would have discovered enough after a month of experience, to let our Sammies alone.

Tried to run over us, and were turned upside down!

Meanwhile, Secretary Baker says we have 1,100,000 men over there NOW, and more going over at the rate of 90,000 per week!

We have another Liberty Bond Drive in the fall, and probably a Y. M. C. A. Drive right after that. And there are lots of odds and ends of the last Drives to clean up!

Under the circumstances it is an awfully good thing to have an anchor in the shape of a Bank Account and Bank Credit, especially during these uncertain times.

Come in and see us.

J. L. LACKEY, CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS

TO THE VOTERS OF DEAF SMITH COUNTY: I have endeavored to meet each of you and present to you a card upon which is printed some of the main planks of my platform so that you might know the things for which I stand.

"INCREASED PRODUCTION IS NECESSARY TO WIN THE WAR—WE MUST WIN IT." My plan to increase production is to let the producer be paid WELL for his products and the worker be paid WELL for his work.

"I am against price-fixing on ANY necessity, unless it be fixed on ALL necessities." I am against the creation of any board that will take from the President any of his constitutional powers.

"I am in favor of amending our immigration laws so that NO MORE undesirable aliens can get into our country." I am in favor of Congressmen paying the SAME AMOUNT of income tax on their salaries as OTHER people have to pay on incomes of the same amount.

"Our National Democratic Convention two years ago ordered by an overwhelming majority that women be given the right to vote; they now only have the right to vote in the Primaries. I shall strive to see that the mandate of the convention is carried out and that they be given full right of suffrage."

I have always thought a candidate for Congress should tell the people how he stands on national issues, so that they can judge him and I have done so.

So far as I am informed, Mr. Jones has no platform but his pictures with a statement thereon that he is for winning the war in the shortest possible time, and in favor of subordinating all other issues. I will say that I heartily endorse the first part of the statement. But I cannot agree with Mr. Jones that the issues of vital interests to the farmer, stockraiser, laborer and necessary business man should be neglected or forgotten.

Because the class or people above mentioned supply every essential implement of war, and without them the war cannot be won in a short time, or any time so far as that is concerned. So if I am elected, I will strive to help them so that they may be able to supply the necessities to carry on and win the war in the shortest time.

I do not ask any one to vote for me solely through friendship. Let your test be: "Who is the best man for the place at this critical time?" If you vote for either of us through any other reason, you will be purely a compliment. President Wilson said, when so many people wanted to send Mr. Roosevelt to France with an army, "This is no time to pass around compliments."

If I am elected, I promise you: 1. That I will not forget your interests. 2. That there will never be coming from me any peace talk or peace resolutions, until Imperial Germany asks our commander upon what terms she may have peace. 3. That I will not speak one way and vote another.

I respectfully ask you to vote for me, if you think I am right. Yours very truly, J. L. LACKEY.

25-11-pd-adv. Department of Agriculture specialists appealing for increased production of poultry and eggs, make these suggestions: Keep better poultry; select healthy vigorous breeders; hatch early; preserve eggs; call the flocks; grow as much poultry feed as possible; supply the family table; eat more poultry and eggs and conserve the meat supply.

VEEDOL The Lubricant That Resists Heat

If it were not for heat almost any automobile oil would do. As it is the terrific heat in the engine breaks down ordinary oil and forms sediment.

Veedol is manufactured under the Faulkner Process, a new and exclusive scientific method which gives it surprising heat and wear resisting properties.

Repeated tests show more than five times as much sediment in the average oil as in Veedol. Sediment means increased friction, wear and expense. Use Veedol and keep down operating expenses.

PHOTOGRAPHS OF NAVY HEROES WANTED

The Navy Department is collecting photographs of enlisted men who lost their lives in the war that their memory may be perpetuated. Secretary Daniels asks relatives or others, having such photographs to lend them to the Navy that copies may be made for the Navy's records. Originals will be returned to the owners as fast as copies can be made.

A photograph of each man is to be forwarded by the Navy Department to the training station where he began his career in the service. At each of such stations a memorial gallery of honor or a hero's corner is to be established so that for all time the face of the man of the Navy who has made a supreme sacrifice may be honored by the youth of the future sent to the station for training.

All pictures, loaned or contributed, should be securely wrapped for mailing after they have been marked with the name, branch of service, and training station the young man entered after enlistment. They should be addressed to the Recruiting Division, Bureau of Navigation, Navy Department, Washington, D. C. Care will be taken to return safely the photograph to the sender, when desired, together with one of the copies made from it.

NEWSPAPERS MUST ECONOMICIZE ON PRINT PAPER

ing a daily and weekly edition: Discontinue the acceptance of the return of unsold copies.

Discontinue the use of all samples or free promotion copies.

Discontinue giving copies to anybody, except for office-working copies or where required by statute, law in the case of official advertising.

Discontinue giving free copies to advertisers, except not more than one copy each for checking purposes.

Discontinue the arbitrary forcing of copies on news dealers (i. e., compelling them to buy more copies than they can legitimately sell in order to hold certain territory).

Discontinue the buying back of papers at either wholesale or retail selling price from dealers or agents in order to secure preferential representation.

Discontinue the payment of salaries or commissions to agents, dealers, or newsmen for the purpose of securing the equivalent of return privileges.

Discontinue all free exchanges.

CRACK NAVY GUNNER STOPS SUBMARINE

The fourth shot from a gun manned by a Navy armed guard on an American merchant ship struck the conning tower of a German submarine, which attacked the ship May 12 last at 1,000 yards distance. The submarine was compelled to submerge after having launched four torpedoes, two of which missed the steamer's bow by about 12 feet. Chief Gunner's Mate Harry R. Chambers commanding the armed guard was commended by Secretary Daniels for efficient conduct.
