AG files suit against Kings Manor Home

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

An investigation by a state agency into the circumstances surrounding the death of a resident of a Hereford care center has resulted in filing of a lawsuit seeking monetary penalties up to $10,000 from the center.

The suit filed in 222nd District Court in Hereford by Texas Attorney General Dan Morales alleges King's Manor Methodist Home personnel failed to contact the resident's physician when the patient's condition deteriorated during the night of Dec. 5-6, 1992.

Name of the resident of the nursing home was not disclosed under privacy provisions of the Texas Health and Safety Code.

The investigation conducted by the Texas Department of Health's Bureau of Long Term Care centered on a woman identified as "Resident A" to preserve the privacy of her and her family.

The suit filed at 1:29 p.m. Tuesday alleges that the resident's condition began deteriorating on Dec. 5.

After suffering a broken leg in November, she had been treated at an Amarillo hospital, then returned to the nursing home on Nov. 13, 1992.

"Her general health condition had not changed significantly upon her return to the facility," according to court papers.

The investigation charged that beginning at 1 p.m. on Dec. 5, the condition of the resident began to worsen and at 11:08 p.m., her physician was contacted.

The doctor, after hearing about the symptoms of bowel problems, chest pain and rapid and shallow breathing, said the resident was experiencing congestive heart failure and he ordered oxygen and monitoring.

Although the resident's condition continued to deteriorate, with vomiting recorded by nursing home personnel, through the night, the lawsuit alleges that nursing home personnel did not contact the physician again until the resident was "nonresponsive" and had no vital signs.

She was pronounced dead at 4:56

a.m. on Dec. 6.

The suit alleges that the physician was not contacted between 11:08 p.m. on Dec. 5 and the time of the woman's death, "despite her severe and abnormal symptoms" during that period.

"Had her condition been observed, recognized, recorded and reported to her physician as required by law, her death might have been prevented," the attorney general's filing claims.

Papers filed by the Texas attorney general allege the nursing home's conduct was in violation of rules of the Texas Department of Health.

The nursing home is charged with failure by personnel to "observe, recognize, record and report to a physician sudden and/or severe changes in residents' clinical signs and symptoms," as provided by TDH nursing home regulations.

Besides asking for civil penalties of an amount between $100 and $10,000, the suit requests attorney fees and "all other relief to which the State of Texas may be entitled."

Old-timer and friend

One of Hereford's oldest residents, Carl Perrin, celebrates his 105th birthday today. Here he visits with friend John Gilmore in his room at Golden Plains Care Center, where he has lived the past 2-1/2 years. To commemorate his birthday, Perrin was feted this morning with a party at the Hereford Senior Center. On Friday, he celebrates his 49th wedding anniversary with his wife, Katherine.

Deaf Smith County one of 36 with majority of minorities

WASHINGTON (AP) - Texas has more counties that have predominately minority populations than any other state, the Census Bureau says.

Thirty-six of the state's 254 counties posted minority ratios of 50 percent or more, the agency said Tuesday.

Deaf Smith County was listed as one of the 36, barely being included with a 50.8 percent minority ratio.

The Census Bureau grouped America's racial minorities along with Hispanics to calculate the minority share of the population. The agency classifies blacks, Asians, Pacific Islanders, American Indians, Eskimos and Aleuts as racial minorities.

Starr County, along the border with Mexico, has the highest minority population ratio of the nation's 3,248 counties, with only a 2 percent Anglo population.

More than 39,000 of Starr County's 40,518 residents were of Hispanic origin, the agency said in a study of 1990 Census data.

Texas also posted the most minority-dominated towns and places, with 227 locations having at least 50 percent minority populations. California was second, with 189; Alaska third, with 175; Georgia fourth, with 130; and Mississippi fifth, with 111.

Minorities comprise the majority in six of the eight American cities with more than a million people: New York, Los Angeles, Chicago, Houston, Detroit and Dallas.

Eleven other Texas counties joined Starr County among the nation's top 25 minority-dominated counties, the Census Bureau said. They were:

Maverick County, 95.7 percent minority; Webb County, 94.4 percent; Zavala County, 92.2 percent; Jim Hogg County, 91.7 percent; Brooks County, 90 percent; Duval County, 87.6 percent; Hidalgo County, 85.9 percent; Willacy County, 85 percent; Dimmit County, 84.1 percent;

Cameron County, 82.6 percent; and Presidio County, 82 percent. Those counties, all in South Texas with the exception of Presidio in West Texas, were dominated by Hispanic populations.

Also posting majority-minority populations in Texas were the following counties: Zapata, 81.4 percent; Kennedy, 79.8 percent; La Salle, 79 percent; Reeves, 75.3 percent; El Paso, 74.4 percent; Frio, 74 percent; Jim Wells, 73.2 percent; Val Verde, 73.1 percent; Culberson, 72.1 percent; Hudspeth, 67.2 percent; Kleberg, 66 percent; Uvalde, 61.3 percent; Bexar, 58.1 percent; Pecos, 57.7 percent; Nueces, 57.5 percent; Bee, 55.4 percent; Terrell, 53.8 percent; Atascosa, 53.5 percent; Kinney, 53.1 percent; San Patricio, 52.9 percent; Edwards, 52.5 percent; Deaf Smith, 50.8 percent; Karnes, 50.7 percent; and Crockett, 50.6 percent.

Perrin notes 105th birthday

By GARRY WESNER
Managing Editor

Carl Perrin doesn't ride his bicycle any more.

He doesn't work at the ranch at all and can't walk.

Of course, he does enjoy watching television, discussing things with his friends and taking rides in the country.

Not bad for a man who is celebrating his 105th birthday today.

Perrin was born on June 9, 1888, in Decatur, Texas, one of 12 children in the family.

He has lived in Deaf Smith County since 1929, when he passed through the area in search of a home.

He was honored with a birthday party this morning at the Hereford Senior Center.

"He was looking for a place to farm and this looked like a good place. He was ready to pull out and make it on his own," said Katherine Perrin, his wife of nearly 49 years.

Perrin farmed and ranched in the Hereford area from 1929 until around his 90th birthday, when he decided it was time to hang it up.

His wife said he approached her several years ago and said it was time for her to take the reins as family leader.

"His mind is pretty good, but it's not as alert as it used to be," Mrs. Perrin said, adding that, "you have to give him credit for knowing the situation."

The past month has been especially hard on Perrin, said family friend

John Gilmore, who said the centenarian suffered pneumonia, a urinary tract infection and edema during the month of May.

The hardship of taking antibiotics for 30 days, Gilmore said, has weakened Perrin to where he rarely talks.

Still, Gilmore said, the two friends do communicate, visiting over television programs and discussing their subjects.

Among Perrin's favorite TV shows, Gilmore said, are World War II movies and documentaries, especially those featuring John Wayne.

Perrin said the early days of farming in the Texas Panhandle featured hard work.

He said that plowing with mules in his hometown of Decatur gave way to operating a single-horse plow here.

By the time he retired, Gilmore said, Perrin's farming and ranching empire encompassed one section of farmland near Holly Sugar, plus ranch holdings anchored by a headquarters located some 40 miles northwest of town.

"Of course, he kept his finger in the pie" after leaving full-time work, Mrs. Perrin said.

Even after retirement, Mrs. Perrin said, her husband was active physically.

Gilmore said the two of them rode bicycles together until he broke his wrist at age 100.

He lived at home until his broken hip forced him into the nursing home.

Even then, Sherry Gilmore said, he was trying to rehabilitate his hip last year with her help.

Gilmore said his goal has been to keep Perrin alive until his 105th birthday.

"The next goal is a year and two days away."

One June 11, 1994, the couple will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary.

"She (Mrs. Perrin) always says he was born on the ninth and married two days later," Gilmore said with a laugh.

Gilmore said Mrs. Perrin's father and Perrin were good friends when he met his future wife.

"Neither one of us had been married before," said the 83-year-old Mrs. Perrin. At the time they wed, Perrin had just celebrated his 56th birthday.

"He's always been young to me," she said.

Mrs. Perrin also noted that, while living to old age has been prevalent in her husband's family, nobody has made it quite this far.

His father, she said, died in his 80s, while his mother was 97 when she died.

None of his brothers made it out of their 80s.

"Of course, Carl never smoked and all his brothers did," she said.

As for Perrin, he said he had never thought he'd live this long.

He said he feels pretty good.

When asked if he feels 105 years old, he said, "I guess so, that's what I am."

Teenager's statement allowed in bizarre murder-for-hire scheme

FORT WORTH (AP) - A statement about how a teen-ager and his companion bludgeoned a wealthy Fort Worth couple and slit their throats will be allowed as evidence in one defendant's trial.

Tuesday's ruling was crucial to the state's capital murder case against Jeffery Dillingham, 20, who is accused of the savage slaying last year of Caren Koslow, 40.

Jack Koslow, 49, also was beaten and slashed but survived the attack in the early morning hours of March 12, 1992.

"I hit Mr. Koslow in the back of the head, on the neck with a prybar," Dillingham said in the recorded statement. "Then I hit Mrs. Koslow. I hit Mr. Koslow some more, and Mrs. Koslow started screaming."

"And then I hit Mrs. Koslow some more."

The state maintains that Dillingham and longtime friend Brian Salter, also 20, were part of a bizarre murder-for-hire scheme orchestrated by Jack Koslow's teen-age daughter Kristi.

"I was supposed to get, from what Brian said, $500,000 up front and ... the rest of it through this company that we were going to start," Dillingham said.

Miss Koslow, now 18, told police two weeks after the slaying that she did, in fact, offer the two young men money she expected to receive from her slain parent's inheritance.

"I guess I meant it when I said it," the teen-ager told investigators. "But I didn't think it would actually happen."

Police believe an accidental gunshot by the intruders interrupted the attack and frightened them away before they could kill Jack Koslow. The three suspects have been jailed in lieu of bond since their arrest two weeks after the bloody assault at the Koslow's home in Rivercrest, an area of stately mansions occupied by some of the city's oldest and richest families.

Residents warned of scam involving police donations

Hereford residents are being contacted by telephone from callers saying they represent the Hereford Police Department, Chief David Wagner has announced.

The solicitors, Wagner said, say they are collecting donations and are affiliated with a Police Union, a Drug Abuse Program, or a Veteran Police Officers Association.

However, Wagner said, "The Hereford Police Department is not associated with any such organization and warns citizens of contributing to this phone scam."

Citizens having questions about such solicitations may contact the Police Department at 364-2323.

Dillingham, who police believe killed Caren Koslow, is the first of the three to stand trial on capital murder charges.

Jury selection is scheduled to begin next week in Wichita Falls where the case was transferred on a change of venue.

After a daylong hearing Tuesday, State District Judge Bob Gill denied the motion to suppress Dillingham's statement.

Defense lawyers claim it was obtained illegally and was not "freely and voluntarily" given to police.

"The defense further contends that any and all evidence, of whatever nature derived from the involuntary statement is likewise inadmissible as fruit of the poisonous tree," attorney Jack Strickland argued in the motion.

Dillingham, tall, dark-haired and soft-spoken took the stand to say he would not have given the statement had he known it was a capital offense and thereby punishable by death.

In response, chief prosecutor Alan Levy played the entire taped statement for the judge and then quizzed Dillingham extensively about his responses to homicide detective C.D. Brannan.

"You didn't know a murder committed during a robbery, burglary or for remuneration was capital murder?" Levy asked.

"No sir," Dillingham replied.

"You didn't have any idea it was capital murder?" Levy continued.

"No sir," he repeated.

"Did he ever call you a thug ... a murderer ... or a cutthroat?" Levy asked.

"No sir."

Senate Demos go to work on own deficit-reduction measure

WASHINGTON (AP) - Senate Democrats, given a White House blessing to write their own deficit-reduction plan, are trying to shrink President Clinton's proposed energy tax and make it less worrisome to U.S. exporters.

The tax still would be paid by consumers. Instead of raising the price of gasoline by 8 cents a gallon, the increase might be only 6 cents; the increase in the typical home electric bill might be $1.75 or so a month, rather than $2.25.

"We are talking and we are confident we'll get an agreement" that will pass the Senate Finance Committee and the Senate, Majority Leader George Mitchell, D-Maine, told reporters after a closed meeting of Democrats on Tuesday.

A day earlier, Clinton acknowledged he could not win his plan and gave the Finance Committee the green light to make necessary changes - within reason. He said any bill must cut the deficit by at least $500 billion over five years, most of the tax must be paid by upper-income people and the plan must include a broad energy tax.

Treasury Secretary Lloyd Bentsen said Tuesday night the idea of a "Btu tax," as proposed by the president and passed by the House, is dead and will be replaced by some other kind of broad energy tax. It will be up to the Finance Committee to determine what that tax will look like.

Although most Senate attention is focused on the energy tax, Clinton's bill includes sharply higher income taxes on the well-to-do and an increase in the portion of Social Security benefits subject to tax.

Any energy tax is expected to hit coal, oil, gasoline, natural gas and electricity and be paid by consumers.

In addition to being cut by perhaps one-third below the $72 billion, five-year total proposed by Clinton, the energy tax almost certainly will be modified so that it would not raise the price of U.S.-manufactured goods shipped abroad.

Concern about driving up the prices of those products - and making U.S. companies less competitive in world markets - has been paramount in the arguments against the tax by Sens. John Breaux, D-La., and David Boren, D-Okla., two swing votes on the Finance Committee.

Breaux planned today to propose a replacement for the Btu levy, called a transportation tax because it would apply to vehicle fuels, that would raise $40 billion in revenues, spokeswoman Bette Phelan said.

Testimony over in local fraud trial

Testimony ended Tuesday afternoon in a 222nd District Court trial that began Monday with jury selection.

The defendant, Twila G. Ortiz, was charged with obtaining a controlled substance by fraud. She was accused of ordering a prescription drug for a patient at a nursing home, without a doctor's prescription.

She was a charge nurse at Golden Plains Care Center at the time of the alleged incident.

Prosecution and defense attorneys concluded their cases Tuesday afternoon. Closing arguments and the charge to the jury from District Judge David Wesley Gully were scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

Church converts pub for worship services

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) - A former pub now features Bibles - not beer - with the "living waters" that are a non-denominational church's namesake as the only refreshment flowing inside.

The Church of Living Waters was in search of larger quarters for its congregation of about 100 when it found space in the Esplanade Market

Center, under a canopy that once read: "O'Neal's Pub."

"We loved this place. It had character. There used to be a dance floor over there," said the Rev. Benny Thomas, pointing to a back corner that now is filled with pews. "And the bar was where the platform (and speaker's podium) is."

Congregants now flock for prayer where patrons used to belly up to the bar. But the 51-year-old church pastor hasn't had a problem adjusting to the surroundings, and neither has his congregation.

"There's just something so challenging, something so like God to take something that was so worldly and turn it around," said longtime church member LaRue Nance, 44, of Winnie.

"I heard, too, that when it was a pub, it had a family-type of atmosphere. ... It blessed me that we took over a place that had a family-type atmosphere, and now the church is taking that over to redeem it for the Lord."

Another member, 43-year-old Mary Bostrom of Orange, agreed for personal reasons.

"Before my husband was saved, he had a drinking problem," she said. "If I could just redeem every bar, I would," she said.

Supercollider opponents join forces

Congressional foes, consumer groups take aim at project

WASHINGTON (AP) - Congressional opponents of the super collider are joining forces with consumer watchdog groups and deficit hawks in this year's bid to kill the controversial atom smasher.

Members of Organizations Opposing the Super Collider held a Capitol Hill news conference Tuesday to kick off the annual effort to slay the project, now projected at $10 billion or more to build.

"We think that the time has come to pull back the curtain on the SSC and strip away the pyrotechnic promises and propaganda," said Thomas Schatz, president of the Council for Citizens Against Government Waste, a leading OOPS member.

"When you do, you find a pork-barrel project of unparalleled dimensions, a wacky science project run amuck, a black hole for greenbacks and a full employment program for university physicists."

Other OOPS members include the Friends of the Earth, National Taxpayers Union, Citizens for a Sound Economy and the Concord Coalition.

Supporters wasted little time responding to the latest war of words, countering with a media gathering of their own just moments after the OOPS event.

Both sides are fighting for the votes of the 110 freshman House members, many of whom campaigned on the promise of cutting federal spending. "This will be one of their first key votes on an appropriations bill," said Rep. Jim Slattery, D-Kan., who has sought for three years to kill the collider.

Last year, the House passed a Slattery amendment to terminate the project on a 232-181 vote. The action was reversed in the Senate. But opponents predict eroding Senate support this year, in part because Texan Lloyd Bentsen no longer will be leading the effort there.

"1993 is the year to deliver a very gracious coup de grace to this whole thing," said Sen. Dale Bumpers, D-Ark., who has sought each of the last four years to kill the giant particle accelerator.

Asked if he expects opponents to prevail in the House, another leading foe, Rep. Sherwood Boehlert, R-N.Y., replied: "I'll bet you mortgage money on it."

But supporters also expect to succeed. A House appropriations subcommittee meets Thursday to consider the Clinton administration's request for $640 million next year for the collider, a 24 percent increase over the $517 million received this year. By October, $1.5 billion in federal money will have been spent on the project.

Rep. Martin Frost, whose Dallas district includes part of the collider, said he expects the subcommittee to approve funding - but wouldn't speculate whether the full administration request will be granted.

At their news conference, supporters sought to make the case that collider funding is compatible with attempts to rein in spending.

"We believe strongly that this is a national priority and a priority that could fit very comfortably within a balanced budget of $1.2 trillion - and certainly a budget of $1.5 trillion, which is what we're dealing with this year," said Rep. Pete Geren, D-Fort Worth.

"In these times of fiscal responsibility, we must make sure that we don't shortchange the future at the expense of the present," he added.

The backers also warned that cancellation of the collider would be a setback to the U.S. scientific community on a domestic and world stage.

"Without the SSC, fundamental physics in the U.S. is likely to stagnate in the future," British physicist and author Stephen Hawking wrote in a letter distributed by supporters. "This would be a great pity because it has done so much in recent years to move us closer towards the goal of a complete knowledge of the basic laws that govern the universe."

But Rep. Christopher Shays questioned why American taxpayers should foot the bill for world knowledge. "We will spend the money, we will do the work and every country in the world who wants to reap the benefit will reap the benefit with a free ride," said Shays, R-Conn.

Lubbock assault charges dropped

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - A woman enraged at the alleged rape and taunting of her young daughter has had misdemeanor charges of assault and disorderly conduct dropped.

Prosecutors on Tuesday dismissed the charges against Reiko Phillips, who got into a screaming match last fall with a group of teen-age boys at a school bus stop.

Ms. Phillips maintains that the boy she initially confronted had raped her daughter last summer, then taunted the girl about the rape. Ms. Phillips says she grabbed his collar, shook him and warned him to cut out the harassment.

Ms. Phillips, 33, was charged with Class C misdemeanor assault. She also was charged with disorderly conduct for screaming threats and curses at three other boys at the bus stop.

Her trial was set for Tuesday. Lubbock County District Attorney Travis Ware said he dropped the charges because of news coverage he says branded the bystanders as rapists.

Neither of the two boys who pressed charges was a rape suspect, Ware said. He refused to confirm whether the boy initially confronted was the boy accused in the rape.

Parents of the two who pressed charges had "concerns that it would not be in their children's best interest to proceed with this criminal charge due to the fact that their kids had been erroneously labeled rapists," Ware said.

Ms. Phillips says she intended Sept. 8 to confront only the alleged rapist. She said she began screaming at the other teens when they screamed at her.

Her emotions were mixed Tuesday.

"I am ecstatic," she said. "But he (Ware) is making me out to look like I did something wrong."

Three women protested outside the Lubbock County Courthouse with signs including "Punish the Rapists, Not the Victim's Mother."

Ware said the boys accused of raping Ms. Phillips' 13-year-old daughter were not prosecuted because Ms. Phillips would not allow the girl to cooperate with authorities.

Day goes from bad to worse: evangelist gets pie in his face

TULSA, Okla. (AP) - After a day of testimony involving two companies that worked for evangelist Robert Tilton's ministry, things got messy when it was over.

Someone threw a piece of pie at Tilton as he left the federal courthouse Tuesday.

"This is the kind of thing I've had to put up with," Tilton said when he returned inside to clean up.

The pie incident followed the fourth day of testimony in Tilton's effort to block a rerun of ABC's "PrimeTime Live" expose of his ministry, which first aired in November 1991 and then again in July.

Tilton claims another showing would devastate his Dallas-based ministry. He has disputed allegations that he trashed prayer requests after depositing contributions, bought holy items from Taiwan and falsely claimed to support an orphanage in Haiti.

ABC has said it stands by its story. Tilton said the hearing is a "preseason game" to the libel lawsuit he has filed against ABC News Inc., anchor Diane Sawyer, producer Robbie Gordon and Capital CitiesABC Inc.

Tilton's attorney, J.C. Joyce, played two segments in court. One was Sawyer's prelude into a hidden camera interview by two undercover reporters with the owner of Tilton's direct mail company.

But Joyce also showed a two-hour version of the interview in which the reporters and Ole Anthony, a Dallas-based minister and one of Tilton's chief critics, talked to Jim Moore of Response Media about four months before the episode was broadcast.

Scout awarded Eagle rank

Tyson Ray Foerster, a member of Boy Scout Troop 50 was recently honored with his Court of Honor ceremony to mark his having attained the rank of Eagle Scout.

Foerster, son of Donnie and Debbie Foerster, received his Eagle Scout certificate from Scoutmaster Gary Billingsly during the ceremony Sunday in Avenue Baptist Church. The troop is sponsored by Hereford Lions Club.

The 14-year-old Foerster joined the Cub Scouts in 1987 and became a Boy Scout in November 1989. He earned the Arrow of Light Award in that same month. He was Historian, Librarian and Patrol Leader while in Troop 52, and has been Assistant Senior Patrol Leader and Senior Patrol Leader -- the office currently holds -- with Troop 50.

He has been a member of the Kwahadi Indian Dancers of Amarillo for four years, touring the country with this Boy Scout Exploring unit. He is a Chief in the organization and currently serves as Clan Chief for the Kiowa Clan.

Outside scouting, Foerster is a member of Avenue Baptist Church, L.I.F.E. Youth Group, choir and the youth committee.

He is a four-year member of the orchestra, was selected for the All-Region orchestra and is a founding member of the Hereford Junior High School Junior Historians chapter. He competes at UIL competitions Spirit Wind 1993, the Northwest Texas United Methodist annual Conference Youth Choir, will be performing at First United Methodist Church Friday at 7 p.m.

The choir is a select group of United Methodist senior high youth from all over the Panhandle and West Texas area. They have been selected from more than 180 who auditioned in Lubbock, Amarillo, Abilene and Midland in January of this year.

The choir was established in the late 1970s, and has grown from 20 at the start to more than 130 this year.

The music for this year's choir is that which would be used throughout the church year. The concert includes familiar texts, along with two spirituals which add another dimension to the choir's performance.

Spirit Wind for the 12th year is under the direction of Bert Bostic, director of program/music for the St. Luke's United Methodist Church in Midland. Jon Johnson, director of music for the UMC in Levelland, has co-directed the group for the past five years.

The choir is accompanied by Mrs.

Debby Vester, music assistant/organist from St. Luke's, and Jeremy Bruns, an organ performance major at Texas Tech University and associate organist of St. John's UMC. Other leadership for the group includes Patsy Giles, technical director; and Jo Beth Edwards, Carolyn Larson and Steven Jeffcoat.

The tour this year will include 15 performances all over West Texas and the Panhandle--including Wellington, Hereford, Lubbock, Dalhart, Levelland, Mulshoe, Borger, Perryton, Amarillo and Midland.

Chapel dedicated in memory of Dr. Don Davidson

Mrs. Don Davidson of Hereford recently attended a special dedication ceremony in Abilene, where a chapel was dedicated in memory of her late husband, Dr. Don Davidson.

The chapel is located on the campus of the Sears' Methodist Center, a retirement home which Dr. Davidson founded along with King's Manor in Hereford.

A Chapel Development Team, composed of 14 retired ministers and a minister's widow, raised the $150,000 for the construction of the building in a short time. Others contributed for the stained glass windows, a cross, the organ and piano, pews and the carpeting. The chapel seats more than 200 people.

Dr. Alfred L. Norris, bishop of the Northwest Texas/New Mexico area, led the dedication ceremony.

Others attending the ceremonies from Hereford were Rev. and Mrs. Joe Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Josseland, Mrs. Margaret Bell, Mrs. Zula Arney and Mrs. Hester Moore.

The seven-day week - the only calendar unit that doesn't trace its origins to astronomy - may have originated from the array of weekly cycles that some body-clock watchers believe help regulate the human body.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: In a recent column of yours in the Los Angeles Times, there was a fascinating item that took me back a few years. Richard Ferris, former chairman of United Airlines, was quoted in your Gem of the Day as having said, "The airline industry has certainly changed. Now it is possible for a flight attendant to get a pilot pregnant."

Far be it from me to step on a good line, but let's get real, Ann. If this was accomplished in-flight, the only available places would be the cockpit or a rest room. Either would require the agility of a gymnast. Forty-two years ago, when I worked for Northwest Airlines, similarly dexterous young people could practice for their next airline flight in the back seat of a Volkswagen bug.

In those days, all flight attendants were female, had to be within specific height and weight parameters, and were forced to quit on or before their 28th birthday. They also had to be mighty quick on their feet when delivering coffee, tea or milk to the cockpit. Today, they call it harassment. In those days, the pilots thought of it as a "divine right." After all, hadn't they all flown during World War II ("coming in on a wing and a prayer"), and weren't they all considered American heroes?

Ah, those were the days.--F.O., Los Angeles that pieces of history that sounds like ancient folklore.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is in response to the letter from the man who didn't want to have any children. My mother has been waiting for 42 years for me to have a child. I hate to disappoint her, but it's not going to happen.

I am a recovering alcoholic who comes from a long line of drunks. Growing up was rough, but I don't blame anyone. It's just the way it was. It has taken me 30 years to learn how to live in a healthy relationship. My 11-year marriage is the best thing that ever happened to me. My husband and I share his grandchildren who are delightful.

I don't want to have children. My heart aches when I read the stories, day after day, of unwanted, abused and poverty-stricken little ones. I've decided that motherhood is not for me. The best thing I can do for this earth is refrain from adding to overpopulation.

There is no right or wrong on this issue, but I suspect there are more people out there having babies because of pressure, rather than because they really want them. Even you, Ann, couldn't keep from adding a little note on the joys of children. Please allow us our opinion without putting on more pressure.--Childless and Fulfilled in Kalamazoo.

DEAR KALAMAZOO: I cannot imagine a more personal decision than whether or not to have children. You do not "owe" the world children, and feeling as you do, I agree it is best not to even consider it.

I'm not apologizing for adding that "little note on the joys of children," because I happen to believe they can be the best things in a person's life. On the other hand, they can also be the worst--and my mail attests to that fact on a daily basis.

Thanks for your views on this controversial subject. I'm glad you wrote.

Wilson gets A&M degree; several students honored

Diplomas were awarded to more than 3,600 Texas A&M University graduates during May commencement ceremonies. Among those receiving degrees were Cody L. Wilson of Hereford, who earned a BS degree with a major in biochemistry.

Honor students for the spring semester were also honored at A&M. Among those making the Dean's Honor Roll were Gina Alley, Teresa Baker, Camille Betzen, David Bone and Susan Emmons of Hereford. These students maintained at least a 3.75 grade average out of a possible 4.0.

Earning "Distinguished Student" status with an average of 3.25 to 3.74 were these Hereford students: Kirsten Abney, Blake Buckley, Cara Printz, Craig Rohrbach, Trisha Teel and Brady Wilson.

Suarez wins state boxing championship

Thomas Suarez of Hereford won his division in the Junior Olympic State Boxing Tournament, which was held Friday, Saturday and Sunday in Fort Stockton.

Suarez advanced Friday by decisioning Cesar Morales of Fort Worth. Morales was the undefeated national champion before losing to Suarez, according to Hereford coach Robert Suarez.

Thomas went on to beat Salvador Avila of San Antonio in the finals of the 100-pound class of the 12-13-year-old division.

Another boxer from Hereford, Francisco Vasquez, fought at 106 pounds in the 14-15 division. He lost in the first round to Gilbert Elizondo, who eventually won the division.

Tech's athletic director resigns

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - On the heels of possibly Texas Tech's most successful year in athletics, T. Jones has announced he'll step down as athletic director on Aug. 31.

"I don't know that you can ever pick a right time to leave," Jones said Tuesday. "The facilities are in good shape, we've got a good staff and good coaches. Why not leave with a smile on your face and feel good?"

In this last of eight years with Jones as athletic director, Texas Tech's women's basketball team won the NCAA championship, the men's basketball team won the Southwest Conference post-season tournament and the football team tied for second in the SWC for the second straight year.

Jones said he made the decision this weekend. "It's a very recent one, frankly," said Jones, whose contract expires Sept. 1, 1994.

"I'm proud of the quality of coaches we have been able to bring in. And I feel like the facilities have been upgraded to the point Tech can be competitive in recruiting across the board. It's just time for me to turn the reins over to somebody else."

He makes $100,011 annually, but said because the resignation was his idea he does not expect Texas Tech to honor the remaining year of his contract.

Jones, 62, has headed Tech's athletic program since 1985, when he left a position as assistant and associate athletic director at Texas.

The school has not named Jones' successor. Texas Tech President Robert Lawless did not return a telephone call from The Associated Press.

Jones oversaw the merging of the men's and women's departments shortly after his arrival and hired several coaches, including football coach Spike Dykes, basketball coach James Dickey and baseball coach Larry Hays.

The most significant accomplishments under his eight-year leadership, he said, were improvements to the football and baseball fields and better recruiting of student athletes. Jones also said more Tech athletes are graduating.

James Carroll Jones got his nickname "T" growing up in Childress. He earned All-Southwest Conference honors as quarterback for Texas, the 1952 SWC champions, and returned to UT as an assistant coach for eight years under Ed Price and Darrell Royal.

After 11 years serving as senior vice president of City National Bank of Austin, he worked for five years as Texas' assistant and associate athletic director.

"T. has made substantial contributions to the Southwest Conference during his tenure at Texas Tech and he will be sorely missed," said Britton Banowsky, assistant Southwest Conference commissioner.

"He has been a leader in the development of women's programs in the conference," Banowsky said. "He always approached the conference issues with a spirit of cooperation and has demonstrated excellent judgment."

Baylor Athletic Director Grant Teaff credited Jones with insight and an unselfish attitude.

"I'm shocked," said Teaff, who has known Jones for 21 years. "We were just together in Dallas. He was being very creative helping us on a problem we had in scheduling in 1994. I just think he's been one of the rare statesmen in the conference."

Larry Hays said Jones' resignation came as a shock and a disappointment.

"He just does such a great job here. It's a big surprise for me just because things are going so well," Hays said.

Texas H.S. Rodeo starts in Abilene

Three members of the Hereford high school rodeo team placed in the first go-round of the Texas High School Rodeo, which is being held in Abilene.

Chasty Rickman was second in goat tying with a time of 8.103 seconds, while Samantha Winters was 14th in 9.070. Justin Henderson was fourth in bareback riding with a score of 66.

A&M, UT bounced from CWS

By STEVE KLINE
Associated Press Writer
OMAHA, Neb. (AP) - College baseball's national championship is down to its final four teams, none from Texas.

Long Beach State and Oklahoma State, winners of elimination games Tuesday, must win two additional games each to reach Saturday's championship of the double-elimination tournament.

Long Beach plays Louisiana State (51-16-1) this afternoon, and the Cowboys play Wichita State (57-16) on Thursday. The Tigers and Shockers have yet to lose in CWS play.

The 49ers beat top-seeded Texas A&M 6-2 and Oklahoma State rallied to beat Texas 7-6 Tuesday to make it to the final four.

After an emotional and hard-fought game with the Longhorns, Oklahoma State coach Gary Ward doesn't relish the thought of having to beat Wichita State twice.

"I wish we could flip for one and play the other. Beating them back-to-back will take a lot of effort," Ward said.

It might take some effort for Texas A&M coach Mark Johnson to wipe the memory of the 1993 CWS from his mind.

The top-seeded Aggies committed three errors and were doomed by shoddy infield play.

"It's a lot easier to get whipped. It's harder to look at mistakes," Johnson said.

"We gave things away," Johnson said of Long Beach's four-run seventh inning.

Dave Snow, head coach of the 49ers, saw it differently.

"We saw an opportunity and came up big with it," Snow said.

Cobi Cradle drove in two runs and Jeff Liefer homered in support of Daniel Choi for Long Beach.

Cradle singled in runs in the third and seventh innings, the latter sparking a four-run uprising by the 49ers (45-18). Liefer's homer in the fourth put Long Beach State ahead for good at 2-1.

Choi (17-2), pitching with only three days of rest, found himself in immediate trouble when Texas A&M (53-11) loaded the bases with one out in the first. Choi got catcher Robert Lewis on a foul pop and Rob Trimble on a grounder to get out of the inning.

Robert Harris accounted for both Texas A&M runs with a homer in the third and a run-scoring single in the seventh.

In the second game, Sean Hugo homered and Hunter Triplett's run-scoring double in the top of the ninth inning capped the Cowboy rally that eliminated Texas (51-16).

Longhorn Steve Heinrich scored on a controversial balk called on Oklahoma State pitcher Rob Gaiko in the bottom of the eighth to give Texas a 6-5 lead.

NBA Finals start tonight

PHOENIX (AP) - Finally, the focus is on the finals, not on how much Michael Jordan lost on golf bets or how well Charles Barkley knows Madonna. Just on how brilliantly Michael and Charles play basketball.

Will the pressure-tested Chicago Bulls become the third team in NBA history to win three straight titles? Will the Phoenix Suns, with a first-year coach and a superstar in his first season with them, prevent that?

Can Phoenix rookie Richard Dumas guard multi-talented Scottie Pippen? Can Chicago's team defense stop the drives of Kevin Johnson or the 3-pointers of Dan Majerle and Danny Ainge?

Can Chicago take away the homecourt advantage in tonight's opener of the best-of-7 series?

And can the media ever get enough gossip?

"That stuff doesn't bother me, although it bothers my in-laws to be called at home and asked about Madonna," Barkley said. "I have more pressing matters to worry about."

Reports have linked Barkley with the flashy entertainer, although he said they only met once and they're not dating.

Baseball games delayed by widespread storms

By BEN WALKER
AP Baseball Writer

There are all kinds of giveaway days at ballparks. There is Ball Day and Bat Day and Helmet Day.

Tuesday would've been a good time for Umbrella Night.

In Milwaukee, the Brewers and Seattle waited for 2 hours, 34 minutes in the fifth inning. The game, won by Milwaukee 2-1, took only 2 hours, 26 minutes.

In Cleveland, the Indians fell behind 4-0 to Roger Clemens and the Boston Red Sox. But following a 27-minute stop in the fifth inning, the Indians rallied for a 5-4 victory.

"After the rain delay - every time something like that happens, it changes the game," said Carlos Baerga, who hit a three-run homer for Cleveland.

In Chicago, there were three rain delays, including a wait of 2 1/2 hours at the start of game, before Detroit defeated the White Sox 6-4.

There also was rain in Baltimore, where the Orioles beat Oakland 6-4. There was no rain in Toronto, where the Blue Jays beat California 14-6 at the Skydome. Also, Minnesota defeated Texas 3-2 in 10 innings and New York topped Kansas City 9-4.

Twins 3, Rangers 2
Pedro Munoz hit a solo home run with one out in the 10th inning, and Minnesota won at Texas.

Munoz's fifth homer came against Matt Whiteside (1-1). Carl Willis (1-0) was the winner and Rick Aguilera pitched the 10th for his 17th save.

Orioles 6, Athletics 4
Chris Hoiles homered and drove in four runs as Baltimore extended its longest winning streak of the season to six.

Winner Alan Mills (1-3) relieved Fernando Valenzuela after the rain delay. Gregg Olson got his 15th save. Storm Davis (1-5), appropriately named to start on the rainy day, took the loss.

Indians 5, Red Sox 4
Jeff Treadway singled home the winning run with two outs in the bottom of the ninth inning as Cleveland beat Boston.

Roger Clemens could not hold an early four-run lead.

In the Cleveland ninth, Albert Belle reached on a throwing error by shortstop Luis Rivera, inserted for defensive purposes. Reggie Jefferson singled with two outs off Greg Harris (2-1), and Treadway grounded a single on Jeff Russell's first pitch. Derek Lilliquist (2-1) was the winner.

Brewers 2, Mariners 1
Mike Boddicker and five relievers teamed on a five-hitter.

Boddicker gave up two hits in 4 2-3 innings before a 2 1/2-hour rain delay. James Austin (1-2) worked 1 2-3 innings and Doug Henry pitched the ninth for his 11th save.

Milwaukee took a 1-0 lead in the second inning. B.J. Surhoff extended his career-best hitting streak to 13 games with a leadoff single, John Jaha singled and Juan Bell had an RBI grounder off Tim Leary (3-3).

Blue Jays 14, Angels 6
Joe Carter hit his seventh career grand slam and John Olerud hit a three-run homer.

Darrin Jackson had a two-run homer and Roberto Alomar hit a solo shot for Toronto.

Chili Davis homered, doubled and drove in three runs for the Angels.

Woody Williams (2-0) got the victory after relieving starter Pat Hentgen, who was hit in the right forearm by a line drive. Julio Valera (3-5) did not allow a hit until Paul Molitor's RBI double in the fourth.

Yankees 9, Royals 4
Pat Kelly had the biggest game of his career with a home run, two doubles and the go-ahead single in the ninth inning as New York won at Kansas City.

Kelly had his first four-hit game and drove in three runs.

Steve Howe (2-1) pitched 1 1-3 innings for the victory. Billy Brewer (1-1) began the New York ninth by walking pinch hitter Spike Owen. Reliever Rusty Meacham gave up RBI singles to Kelly, Bernie Williams and Jim Leyritz, and a two-run double to Mike Gallego.

Mets' Young loses 20th game

By The Associated Press

Move over Craig Anderson. Make room Cliff Curtis. Anthony Young's streak is still going strong.

Young established a club record Tuesday night when he lost his 20th straight decision as the Chicago Cubs beat the New York Mets 5-1 at Shea Stadium.

Young (0-6) had been tied with Anderson (1962-1964) for most consecutive losses by a Mets pitcher. The all-time record is 23 in a row by Curtis of the 1910-1911 Boston Braves.

"I never could see that this could ever happen," Young said. "I'm still throwing well, not any differently. You can't win if you don't score runs."

He's still losing, too.

"I can't think about the losing streak," Young said. "If you don't have your good stuff, you have to battle. Today, I didn't have good stuff. I had no location on my fastball."

Mike Morgan (4-7) pitched six-hit ball over 8 2-3 innings for the Cubs and Rick Wilkins hit his ninth homer.

Young, 2-14 last season, pitched six innings and gave up four runs and nine hits. It was his first loss as a starter this year.

"We'd all love to get the kid a win and get this off his back, but he has to help, too," manager Dallas Green said.

Elsewhere in the NL, it was St. Louis 4, San Francisco 3; Montreal 4, Cincinnati 2; Houston 6, Philadelphia 3; Colorado 4, Pittsburgh 1; San Diego 5, Atlanta 4; and Los Angeles 2, Florida 1.

Astros 6, Phillies 3
Eric Anthony hit a two-run triple in the first inning off Ben Rivera (4-3) and Houston went on to beat Philadelphia in a game delayed 1 hour, 51 minutes by rain in the bottom of the sixth at Veterans Stadium.

Darryl Kile (5-1) allowed six hits in 5 1-3 innings as he won his third straight decision. Doug Jones pitched the final two innings for his 13th save.

Rockies 4, Pirates 1
Andres Galarraga continued swinging the hottest bat in the majors by going 2 for 3 with a homer and a triple, leading Colorado to rain-delayed victory at Pittsburgh. He is up to 421.

Bruce Ruffin (2-2) and Keith Shepherd combined on a four-hitter.

Paul Wagner (1-3) took the loss.

Cardinals 4, Giants 3
Pinch-hitter Rod Brewer hit a two-run double and Ozzie Smith added a two-run triple as St. Louis scored four runs in the eighth inning to beat San Francisco at Candlestick Park.

As for Philip, an angel of the Lord said to him, "Go over to the road that runs from Jerusalem through the Gaza Desert. So he did, and who should be coming down the road but the Treasurer of Ethiopia, a eunuch of great authority under Candace the queen. He had gone to Jerusalem to worship at the Temple, and was now returning in his chariot, reading aloud from the book of the prophet Isaiah. The Holy Spirit said to Philip, "Go over and walk along beside the chariot!" Philip ran over and heard what he was reading and asked, "Do you understand it?" "Of course not!" the man replied. "How can I when there is no one to instruct me?" And he begged Philip to come up into the chariot and sit with him! The passage of Scripture he had been reading from was this: "He was led as a sheep to the slaughter, and as a lamb is silent before the shearers, so He opened not his mouth; in his humiliation, justice was denied him; and who can express the wickedness of the people of His

Four relatives attend quiet burial of Koresh

HOUSTON (AP) - In stark contrast to the international headlines he garnered for two months, apocalyptic preacher David Koresh was quietly buried recently in an unmarked grave in East Texas. People across the world watched in horror April 19 as television carried live pictures of the raging fire that devoured the cult leader's compound outside Waco. Dozens of his Branch Davidian followers and 17 children died in fire and gunfire that day.

Yet only four relatives were there for Koresh's burial May 27 in Memorial Park Cemetery in Tyler, the Houston Chronicle reported Saturday in a copyright story.

Hereford Animal Control Officer Mark Loyd has announced the following animals are available for adoption from the city Animal Shelter.

All dogs listed will be destroyed after 8 a.m. Thursday if they are not adopted. Dogs might be held additional days if the department is contacted in advance.

PUPPIES
• Chow Chow Mix, female, black & gray in color
• Mix Breed Heinz 57 female black and red in color

ADULT DOGS
• Alaskan Husky black and white in color, male
• Rotweiler female black & brown
• Chow Chow Mix red in color
• Female Black and gray Heeler
• (2) Female Heelers red & gray in color
• Chih. mix tan in color

Kittens
No cats or cat traps available this listing. Several dog traps available. The cost for adopting puppies is $4, which includes a $3 pound fee and $1 city registration fee.

The cost for full-grown dogs is $15, including $11 for rabies vaccination, $3 pound fee and $1 city registration. There are no cats available at the shelter this week. The shelter also has dog traps available to place at residences. There are no cat traps available, but those interested in getting one can put their names on a waiting list. The public is invited out to the shelter to see its newly remodeled facilities. Information about animals or to find out about adopting them is available by calling the Hereford Animal Control Authority at 364-2323.

"It was a very small affair," Koresh's mother, Bonnie Haldeman of Chandler, told the Chronicle. "Only close family members were told. We did not want the publicity of a funeral or anything else. There were no clergy there. David would not have wanted a traditional funeral."

Mrs. Haldeman, her husband, Roy, Koresh's brother, Roger Howell of Waco, and maternal grandmother, Erlene Clark of Chandler, prayed quietly and read Biblical passages. Koresh's birth name was Vernon Howell.

"The funeral only puts to rest one phase of this," Mrs. Haldeman said. "I don't think I will ever rest in my heart. I didn't get to see the body, and I'm not even positive that is David there. Who knows?"

There is nothing to note the demise of the man who held federal authorities at bay for 51 days. Mrs. Haldeman has not ordered a headstone and doesn't plan to for the foreseeable future because she is afraid of curiosity seekers.

Koresh, 33, died of a gunshot wound to the forehead sometime during the inferno that authorities say was set by the cult leader's followers. But authorities have not determined if the fatal wound was self-inflicted.

The blaze broke out several hours after the FBI began ramming the compound with tanks and injecting tear gas inside in an attempt to drive out the cult members. Koresh and as many as 85 of his followers died that day.

generation? For His life is taken from the earth." The eunuch asked Philip, "Was Isaiah talking about himself or someone else?" So Philip began with this same Scripture and then used many others to tell him about Jesus. As they rode along, they came to a small body of water, and the eunuch said, "Look! Water! Why can't I be baptized?" "You can," Philip answered, "if you believe with all your heart." And the eunuch replied, "I believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God." He stopped the chariot, and they went down into the water and Philip baptized him. And when they came up out of the water, the Spirit of the Lord caught away Philip, and the eunuch never saw him again, but went on his way rejoicing. Acts 8:26-39

Bridal shower held

Melinda Wilson, bride-elect of Brian Thomas(center), was honored with a bridal shower here Saturday in the home of Linda Daniel. Brenda Thomas, mother of the groom, and LaWanda Wilson, right, mother of the bride-elect, helped greet guests.

Bride-elect is honored at shower

A bridal shower in honor of Melinda Wilson, bride-elect of Brian Thomas, was held Saturday in the home of Linda Daniel. The wedding is set June 12 in Hart.

Greeting guests at the shower were the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Glenn (LaWanda) Wilson of Hart; the groom's mother, Mrs. Bud (Brenda) Thomas of Hereford; and the groom's grandmothers, Winnie Tyler and Jessie Mae Thomas.

Refreshments of punch, coffee, sausage balls, fruit platter, and assorted breads were served by Kristina Burch and Laura Kerr. The table was decorated with a white Battenburg tablecloth, silver service and crystal. The centerpiece featured pink roses, carnations, lillies, snapdragons and Queen Ann's lace.

The hostesses' gift was a barbecue grill. Hostesses were: Linda Daniel, Velta King, Lynn Kreigshauser, Kathy Moore, Judy Mitts, Peggy Fox, Gerry Taylor, Martha Lytal, Betty Martin, Sheri Kerr, Shirley Wilson, Sue Sims, Mary Thomas, Peggy Danley, Barbara Manning, Linda Block, Glenda Hansen, and Pete Hodges.

The Mount St. Helens volcano in Washington state exploded May 10, 1980. The blast took 1,300 feet off the top of the mountain, left 57 people dead or missing, devastated 150 square miles of forest and blew an ash cloud around the world.

According to Tacitus, the Roman senator and historian, "The more corrupt the state, the more numerous the laws."

Tips for reading with children

Reading with your children can add a new chapter to your life and theirs. The experts on "The Magic Box," a new fun-filled television series for preschoolers on The Learning Channel, offer these helpful tips:

- Read aloud to your children. Hearing the words while seeing the pictures helps children learn to read.
- Read stories again and again so your child knows the story well enough to join in.
- Select books where each page is accompanied by vivid illustrations. The illustrations provide clues to reading the words on the page (and other words around it) successfully.
- Help your child find the words-say "Let's see what the words say" and point to them.
- Learn to like your child's mistakes. Be positive. Making mistakes is a sign your child is learning.

The Learning Channel is providing these tips to parents as part of its Ready, Set, Learn! initiative, which offers six hours of commercial-free programming for pre-school children every weekday morning. Ready, set, Learn! was created in direct response to the national call to action for the Advancement of Teaching to achieve the first of the nation's six educational goals - that all children come to school "ready to learn" by the year 2000.

Dog care clinic set here June 14

By JILL JOHNSON

The Deaf Smith County 4-H will sponsor a Dog Care Clinic on Monday, June 14th. The Clinic will be held at the Hereford Community Center in the Lounge from 9am-12noon.

This program is open to all school age youth. The program will provide information on nutrition, health, grooming, and training.

Anyone interested in attending should contact the Deaf Smith County Extension Office at 364-3573.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap, or national origin.

Local students on honor roll

Jimmie Howell and James Hund of Hereford were among 208 students named to the Dean's Honor Roll for the spring semester at Oklahoma Panhandle State University in Goodwell, OK.

The honor roll contains the names of those students who earned at least at 3.3 grade average or above. To qualify, a student must carry at least 12 hours of university courses.

Club awards

Betty Taylor, president of Hereford Pilot Club, on Tuesday displayed some of the recent awards the club has received.
