Local tax office now handling boat tax on computer system

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

Striking a bargain on sale -- or purchase, as the case may be -- on a pleasure boat and/or motor, is more than a deal between individuals.

It's also a matter of concern to the State of Texas because of a tax that must be paid on the selling price.

But, to ease the pain of paying the tax, the Deaf Smith County tax collector's office now can access the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department computer to complete paperwork.

Margaret Del Toro, tax collector, said the ability of her office to handle the necessary papers will save a trip to Amarillo for Deaf Smith residents.

A tax of 6 1/4 percent on boats and boat motors went into effect in Texas last fall. The tax is figured on the sale price of the items, less any trade-in of a boat or motor.

The Deaf Smith tax collector pointed out that the county will receive five percent of the sales tax collected.

"We won't necessarily make any money, but we will provide a service for our residents," she said.

In addition to the tax revenue, the county will keep 10 percent of income from boat registration and boat and motor title fees, said Del Toro.

She estimated revenue for a year

Terms assessed in district court

An eight-year term in the penitentiary was assessed a defendant in 222nd District Court Friday on revocation of probation of the sentence imposed in 1991.

And, during the court session, sentence was pronounced on a man found guilty by a jury of aggravated sexual assault of a child.

Francisco Flores Jr., was sentenced to 10 years in Texas Department of Criminal Justice institutional division, probated 10 years, for aggravated assault on Oct. 9, 1991.

Friday, Judge David Wesley Gulley ordered his probation revoked and sentenced him to eight years in TDCJ-ID.

Formal sentencing of John Puente, convicted on March 31 of aggravated sexual assault of a child, was pronounced by Judge Gulley. His sentence is five years in TDCJ-ID, probated for 10 years. He also was fined $5,000 and must serve 180 days in jail.

at approximately $1,000 which, she said, should cover expense.

Basically, the cost of the service will be in the telephone line to the TP&WD computer, Del Toro said.

Although TP&WD personnel still issue boat and motor registrations at lakes where the recreational items are used, owners may go to the Deaf Smith County tax office to register their boats and motors.

Registration fees are based on the length of the boat.

Del Toro said the primary reason for her to provide the service here is to accommodate residents, saving them a trip to another city.

Subject to the 6 1/4 percent sales tax are boats less than 65 feet in length that are used primarily for non-commercial purposes. Sailboats, jet skis and all gasoline outboard motors are included in the law as taxable items.

Boats not taxable are those used commercially. And, canoes, kayaks, rowboats and rafts -- those propelled by paddle, oar or pole -- are exempt from the sale tax provisions.

By law, gifts and even-trade boat and/or motor transactions are not taxable, either.

New residents of Texas will be subject to a $15 use tax on each boat and outboard motor brought into the state. However, credit may be allowed for a legally-imposed similar tax paid to another state, if sufficient proof is provided.

Two deputies in the county tax office have taken training through Texas Parks and Wildlife to work with boat and motor taxation. Teresa Garth and Jeannine Zimmerman took the training and now will share their expertise with a third deputy, Alison Esqueda.

242 HHS graduates live 'magic moment'

Sara Zinck named Honor StudentBy GARRY WESNER
Managing Editor

It was a magical moment for 242 young men and women and their families, and even the weather cooperated.

The members of the Hereford High School graduating class of 1993 had their last time on school property as seniors Friday, gathering at Whiteface Stadium for commencement exercises.

It was literally pomp and circumstance as the members of the class -- minus those playing one last time in the band -- paraded into the stadium as the shadows lengthened across the football field, marching in time to the strains of the traditional graduation march.

The seniors, wearing maroon robes and mortarboards -- some set off by gold honor graduate tassels, some with maroon and white tassels -- paraded past parents, family members and friends as they took their seats in front of school board members and administrators.

After the band's final number with its senior members, the class was complete and the ceremony began in earnest.

Salutatorian Veronica Hernandez told her peers to take challenges.

"We are all different, but the moments we have shared should never leave our thoughts," Miss Hernandez told the class.

Jayson Mines, who claimed valedictorian honors, confessed, "Farewells are sad and I don't like goodbyes."

Instead, he said, the Hawaiian word "Aloha" makes farewells and greetings "easier," because within every goodbye is the promise of a hello.

Mines -- who sprinkled his address with quotations from Henry David Thoreau, Pearl S. Buck, Eleanor Roosevelt and Ralph Waldo Emerson -- told his peers they need to set goals in life.

"Many of us accomplished goals we thought were impossible," he said.

Principal Terry Russell presented the final award to the Class of 1993, announcing the Highest Honor Student, who was selected by the school faculty for academic achievement, character, public service and school involvement.

The winner -- Sara Zinck -- was hailed as a top 5 percent graduate, three-year National Honor Society member and UIL participant.

Thirty minutes into the ceremony, the graduates were officially presented to the public by Superintendent Charles W. Greenawalt.

"We're extremely proud of all of you and your accomplishments over the past 12 years," Greenawalt said.

"You may now turn your tassels -- let's hand out the diplomas."

Dignity gave way to enthusiasm as the graduates waited somewhat patiently for assistant principal Mary Ontiveros to read their names and to receive their diplomas from former school board president John Fuston.

From there it was a walk past school board members and adminis-

SOAR is more than baby sitting session, says enthused teacher

By GARRY WESNER
Managing Editor

For the past 10 years, the Hereford Independent School District has had an alternative school program.

Unfortunately, that program did not always meet the needs of the students.

In fact, instead of being for students who, for a variety of reasons, were unable to succeed in a traditional classroom, it turned simply into a disciplinary tool.

So, a couple of years ago the district began planning something different -- something that would satisfy the legal requirements that such a program be offered, plus something that would attract students.

Mal Manchee, who was the district's Chapter 1 migrant program director and head of the pre-kindergarten unit, was tabbed to head up the new alternative school.

"I accepted it. I volunteered for it," Manchee said, adding that he dropped the Chapter 1 duties in order to become principal of the new school.

He said he was given the philosophy of the unit, as well as Susan Robbins, who did a great deal of work toward formation of the school.

By the summer of 1992, Manchee and Robbins had their school -- known as SOAR (Step Out and Reach) High -- ready to go.

All that was lacking was staff to teach the classes.

Along came three people, two women and a man, who have pioneered the SOAR program throughout the past nine months.

Only one of the three came from within the district.

Linda Gromowsky was tabbed by Manchee to teach the self-contained junior high section.

"Linda has been a teacher and assistant principal in the past and been very successful," Manchee said. "Linda was just the perfect person" because of her innovative ways of teaching a class.

In fact, Manchee said, he sought out Mrs. Gromowsky specifically because she was "someone who could handle a self-contained classroom."

On the other hand, Tony Barker was not so excited about coming to SOAR -- at first.

Barker said he was teaching in Bloomington, Texas, near Victoria, but wanted to be closer to his family in Oklahoma.

Early vote nears 600 for special June 5 election

The number of early voters for next Saturday's special election was climbing toward 600 Friday with only one day left in the early voting period.

Deadline for casting a ballot prior to election day is 5 p.m. Tuesday in the office of Deaf Smith County Clerk David Ruland.

Voters in Deaf Smith County and throughout Texas will choose a U.S. Senator in balloting next Saturday.

Seeking the unexpired term are Bob Krueger, appointed by Governor Ann Richards to serve until a senator is elected, and Texas Treasurer Kay Bailey Hutchison.

The Senate seat formerly was held by Lloyd Bentsen, who resigned to join the Clinton Administration as secretary of the Treasury.

Hutchison and Krueger topped a field of 24 candidates in May voting. She held a slight edge over him in that election.

More than 550 votes had been cast Friday afternoon in Deaf Smith County. In the May election, 683 ballots were marked early in a total of 1,941 voters.

ESTHER MENDEZ AGUILLON

May 28, 1993
Esther Mendez Aguillon, 70, died Friday in an Amarillo hospital. She had been a Hereford resident for 37 years, moving here from Rio Grande City.

Rosary was set at 7:30 p.m. Saturday night at Rix Chapel and at 7 p.m. Sunday in San Jose Catholic Church. Services will be Monday at 2 p.m. at San Jose Church with Father Darryl Birkenfield officiating. Burial will be in West Park Cemetery with arrangements by Rix Funeral Directors.

Mrs. Aguillon was born Dec. 22, 1922 in Galiane, Nuevo Laredo, Mexico. She married Alejo Aguillon in 1937 in Mexico. The family resides at 200 Catalpa.

Survivors include her husband, Alejo; four daughters, Mary Garza, Lupe Balderez and Sylvia Aguillon of Hereford, and Janie Ochoa of Amarillo; six sons, Carlos, Angel, Jesse and Alvaro of Hereford, and Fidencio of Alamo and Juventino of Rock Springs; one sister, Amparo Contreras of Mexico; 31 grandchildren and 30 great-grandchildren.

House okays school finance plan

AUSTIN (AP) - Just days before a court deadline for school finance reform, the Texas House sent Gov. Ann Richards a plan Friday to give property-rich school districts several options for sharing some wealth with poorer ones.

Lawmakers broke into applause after voting 103-41 vote for the measure. It is meant to meet a Texas Supreme Court order to even out funding available to school districts with differing property wealth.

Missing Tuesday's deadline for passing a plan would have meant a court-ordered cutoff of state education aid. School districts rely on state funds and local property taxes.

"I feel real relieved," said House Public Education Committee Chairwoman Libby Lineberger, D-Manchaca. "I'm confident that it (the plan) is going to pass court muster."

State District Judge F. Scott McCown of Austin, who oversees the long-running school funding case originated by poor school districts, has scheduled a Tuesday hearing.

McCown has said he would presume a bill passed by the Legislature is constitutional, but the measure will be open to legal challenge. Leaders say they expect such a challenge, but they believe their plan will prevail.

"I can't provide anyone a 100 percent guarantee, but this is the most equalizing bill this Legislature has passed since this issue has been before us for 25 years," Ms. Lineberger said.

Richards also lauded the measure: "It's very difficult for me to see any way in which this bill could not be viewed as constitutional," she said.

Others, however, criticized the plan and said lawmakers are risking another adverse court ruling. Three previous school funding plans have been ruled unconstitutional by the Supreme Court.

Friday's vote marked the end of legislative deliberations that went into overdrive following voter rejection on May 1 of an earlier school funding proposal.

The bill headed to the governor's desk is meant to ensure that none of Texas' 1,048 school districts has more than $280,000 in property wealth per weighted student. Students with special needs are counted as more than one pupil in the weighted system, to make up for the extra cost of educating them.

The 109 that exceed that level could choose among several options for giving away some wealth, including:

- Merging tax bases with one or more poorer districts;
- Sending money to the state;
- Contracting to educate students in other districts;
- Consolidating voluntarily with one or more districts; or
- Moving some taxable property to another district's tax rolls.

Voter approval would be required for the first three options.

SOAR-ing teachers

The three teachers who comprise the teaching staff of Hereford's SOAR (Step Out and Reach) High alternative program share an end-of-school laugh. The three led more than 40 students in grades seven through 12 through the first year of the program, learning as they went and molding the program along the way. Shown are, from left, Linda Gromowsky, Tony Barker and Maribeth Bavousett.

SOAR--

"Hereford called me for an interview," he said, and told him about the SOAR program.

However, he said, when he heard it would be an "alternative" program, he was turned off, having experienced similar programs that were nothing more than baby sitting sessions for dysfunctional students.

But, "Mal, he was persistent," Barker said, so he came to town to hear what the program was about.

"It intrigued me," he confessed, and was hired to teach math and physical sciences.

The third team member, Maribeth Bavousett, laughs when asked how she got here.

"I'm a first-year teacher," she said, and Hereford was the first district to offer her a job after graduation from West Texas State University. She handles English.

Rounding out the staff was Robbins, who has a background including counseling, and who did considerable work with Manchee designing the program. She also has worked with alternative programs in the past and has worked with Manchee before with troubled children and in the Chapter 1 Migrant program.

Manchee said his small staff is very unique, noting that Mrs. Gromowsky brings with her unique teaching methods that work well in the self-contained junior high; Mrs.

Bavousett is a new teacher, who does not carry stereotypical images of "alternative schools"; and Barker "to be honest, (brought) a male influence into the program."

Manchee laughed, noting also that Barker "brought in a quiet approach." The goal of SOAR High, Manchee said, is summed up in the Mission Statement: "To develop a unique educational setting which will provide individual students with the opportunity to be successful."

While it has not always been smooth, SOAR has survived its first year.

"This is a non-disciplinary program for kids who are having problems," Manchee said, noting that junior high and high school students come to SOAR voluntarily if administrators and teachers offer them that alternative.

"The key," Manchee said, "is volunteer."

And, he stressed, this is not a disciplinary measure -- Prime Time, taught by Brenda Reinauer, serves students who are removed from their classes for disciplinary reasons but who still need to be in school.

Instead, SOAR addresses a variety of needs -- academic, behavioral, social or disciplinary -- and offers an alternative before a student must be ordered to Prime Time.

Within SOAR High, there are two sections -- seventh and eighth grade, taught as a self-contained program by Mrs. Gromowsky, and ninth through twelfth, which interacts with the regular high school and is taught by Mrs. Bavousett and Barker.

Both sections feature a less structured environment, but one that stresses discipline as well.

Still, Mrs. Gromowsky said, "I am very structured. I have a very unorthodox method of being structured."

Because hers is a self-contained unit, Mrs. Gromowsky works with her 15 students -- the maximum that one teacher has within SOAR -- on all subjects, but in a way that sometimes lets her devote weeks to one subject.

The high school program operates differently from the junior high, if that students come to SOAR for the appropriate subjects, then walk the block from SOAR High in the Stanton Educational Service Center to Hereford High School for other classes.

That, said Manchee, is one change that will be made by next year.

"We are going to expand services. We are going to add some staff," he said, adding that the high school unit will change to one that is self-contained for four periods of the day, which eliminates the students having to walk back and forth so much.

In addition, they will add physical education and health classes for all students.

This will make the junior high program truly self-contained, because this past year, the junior high students had to travel by van to the regular junior high for these subjects and electives.

Initially, Manchee said, the time at the junior high was included to give the students interaction with their peers.

But, said Mrs. Gromowsky, "they chose not to go back to the junior high."

The teachers agreed that discipline is one area where SOAR changed over the course of the year.

For example, Mrs. Bavousett said, at the beginning of the year, her class rules were very vague and positive. She learned those didn't work and restructured them to tell the students specifically what she expected of them.

Mrs. Gromowsky said she jumps on them for language abuses, as well.

"If they cuss or they say 'shut up' in my room, they owe me 15 minutes," she said. Tardiness voids the privilege of buying a canned drink.

Mrs. Bavousett and Barker treat their tardy students differently -- "they owe us double after school and if they do not show up for their tardy time, they get an hour of detention the next day," Mrs. Bavousett said.

The goal of SOAR High, Manchee said, is "to meet their needs."

This means, he said, if a student's needs can be met by mainstreaming him back to the traditional school, then that is what will be done.

If the student is better off staying in SOAR until he or she graduates, then that will happen.

Mrs. Gromowsky said one student told her at the end of this year that he will try enrolling at the high school next year, while others have already said they want to return to SOAR.

But whichever method was chosen, that, the teachers said, was the best for that student.

HJH Roundup

By CAROLYN WATERS

My, doesn't time fly when you're having fun? And this year has indeed flown by and we are trying desperately to cram in some last bits of knowledge that we're sure that our students will need in order to continue their education!

Three seventh grade students received honors for their essay writing. Brandon Tidmore, who wrote about the 6666 Ranch received First Place in the Annual Ernest R. Archambeau Texas History Essay Contest. He was presented a plaque and a cash award. Amanda Kriegshauser, who wrote about the History of Saint Anthony's School and Coy Whitehorn, whose topic was Palo Duro Canyon, each received Honorable Mention plaques. Dr. Garry Nall, WTSU Professor, and Dr. Joe Taylor, retired professor and with Custom Trophies, are directors of this contest. Congratulations Brandon, Amanda and Coy!!

Other students who were in the runner-up division were Bryant McNutt, Renee Schulze, Gilbert Salinas, Justin Betzen, Dustin Whitaker, Rusty Dutton, James Barrett and Justin Landrum.

Fourteen Junior Historians took a guided tour of the Deaf Smith County Museum on Monday. During the tour, they acquired some ideas for the '94 History Fair, which has as its theme "The Impact of Geography on History: People, Places, Time." Students attending this event were Lauren Hansen, Candice Campbell, Bambi Brethour, Leslie Poarch, Kris Priel, Justin Landrum, Jim Bob Messer, Chip Barnett, Tyson Foerster, Heath Henderson, Jeremy GOnzaless, Daniel Cortez, Jim Moudy and Ryan Manning. Mrs. Brenda Campbell and Mrs. Linda Gonzales escorted the group to the Pizza Hut after the tour.

Teachers are encouraging students to use the county library this summer and improve their reading skills. The Panhandle Plains Museum is offering some exciting activities for junior high students, also.

Students of the fifth six weeks were Lauren Caviness and Isaac Walker and the sixth six weeks students were Sammy Balderaz and Melva Valle.

Hereford Junior High Twirlers for the 1993-94 year will be Elizabeth Cooper, Pamela Lange and Cindy Harder.

Gold cards were presented to Spelling Bee winner Marival Gamez and History Fair winners Andrew Carr, Andrew DeToro and Ryan Manning. Each of these students received HJH T-shirts, free video rental and passes to HJH games next year.

"Life is easier than you think. All you have to do is accept the impossible, do without the indispensable and bear the intolerable. (And be able to smile at anything.)"

Couple separated by Nazis celebrates 50th anniversary

By TODD J. GILLMAN
The Dallas Morning News
DALLAS (AP) - They met in the ghetto after the Nazis occupied Poland. They wed without festivity and honeymooned behind barbed wire.

When SS guards divided them at Auschwitz, they thought they'd never see each other again. But a year later, under circumstances that could reasonably be called miraculous, Henry and Freda Goldberg were reunited.

Their union turns 50 on Wednesday. For the Goldbergs, Dallas residents for three decades, it is a moment to celebrate love and survival - and to cope again with the most bitter of memories.

"Miraculous, incredible," said daughter-in-law Janet Goldberg, retelling how her in-laws managed to survive the death camps.

"When we first used to bring our children, Henry would roll on the floor with them laughing. I'd say to him, 'I've never seen a grandfather enjoy his grandchildren so much.' ... He'd say, 'You don't understand, I was never supposed to have grandchildren.'"

Hershel Goldberg, as Henry was known then, met Frania Chencinski, as Freda was known, in Lodz, Poland, a textile center that until the German occupation in September 1939 had Europe's second-largest Jewish population.

Their anniversary coincides with other Holocaust observances, and museums dedicated to keeping alive the memory have opened recently in Los Angeles and Washington.

In Dallas, a memorial at the Jewish Community Center, erected with help from some of the 125 local survivors, documents the deaths of Henry's parents, brother and sister and Freda's parents, two sisters, four brothers, a brother-in-law and a nephew.

The Goldbergs say their story is a small one, but there is heroism and tragedy enough.

Unknown to them at the time, they were married during the famed Warsaw ghetto uprising, when the 40,000 Jews left behind from the half-million once held there fought the Germans from April 19 until May 16, 1943.

In Lodz, the Nazis created a Jewish ghetto in April 1940, cramming 200,000 people into 1.6 square miles. A Jewish elder, Chaim Rumkowski, was designated to run the ghetto. He organized the deportations, as two-thirds of ghetto residents were sent to their deaths at the Chelmo death camp in the first nine months of 1942, including many of the Goldbergs' closest relatives.

For the Goldbergs, there was no "huppa," the traditional canopy that symbolizes the bridal chamber. There was no music or dancing, nor glass for Goldberg to break underfoot in the ancient custom.

"It was daytime, around noon, in the street someplace, in a marketplace," Goldberg said. "They just put up a table and got a bunch of people together ... There was nothing to celebrate."

Somewhere, they scrounged a simple strip of metal for a wedding band. It was confiscated later at Auschwitz, where they were separated in 1944 for more than a year.

"Did we have a little wine or not?" Goldberg asked his wife as they sat in the kitchen of their North Dallas home.

"Maybe a little juice," she said. "Everybody was watching the back, watching for the trucks," he said, adding that the Germans often tricked people into gathering so they could "take them away."

She was 20, he was 17. They stood in line with 30 or 40 other couples at a time and place set by the authorities. The ghetto elder, Rumkowski, married the Goldbergs.

"It was not such an honor. He sent people away," Mrs. Goldberg said. "In the end, they killed him, too."

Strict Jewish law requires only a bride, a groom and two independent witnesses to make a marriage legal. It also requires a marriage contract, called a "ketubah."

The Goldbergs went many years without one, until their younger child had one handwritten when he attended rabbinic college in Baltimore.

Marc Goldberg, now an Orthodox rabbi in Denver, called his parents' "ketubah" unique because it includes clauses to cover the possibility that the original was lost or destroyed.

Said his mother: "I always pictured myself having a real wedding. Which girl doesn't want to wear a white dress and a veil?"

The Goldbergs' romance started out of necessity.

When Henry Goldberg's father became sick, Goldberg took over his job as a teamster hauling flour and sugar that he siphoned off for his future wife and her family.

Mrs. Goldberg admits that was one of his attractions.

"She said, 'I didn't marry him because I loved him. I knew he could take care of us,'" Janet Goldberg said.

Still, said their daughter Edie Blaugrund, a real estate agent in Albuquerque, N.M., "I've always known that there's been a great love between the two of them."

The Goldbergs take great pleasure in their six grandchildren, two by Edie and her husband and four by Marc and Janet. Three are named after Henry and Freda's siblings, in the Jewish way of honoring the dead.

But, said Rabbi Goldberg, "You need many, many more to make up for what happened."

Goldberg, a retired clothing salesman, attributes his survival to the strength he inherited from his father. German soldiers used to bet on how far Henry could carry two of their obese comrades.

Janet Goldberg recounts the stories of how Goldberg smuggled cigarettes and chocolate, bribing guards to save strangers from the transports.

"He'd point to any lady, and he'd say, 'Hey, she's my mother,'" she said. "He'd just go from car to car and pull ladies off the train, until one day a Nazi caught on, because he'd been doing this for so long."

Friends had warned that Freda would have little to say about the events of her youth. In fact, she seemed eager to release the painful memories - although that night, her daughter said, she suffered bad nightmares.

"There still are lots of Hitlers here in America. Lots of skinheads. It frightens me," Mrs. Goldberg said.

The couple was separated in August 1944 when, as with most of the other 70,000 Jews still in Lodz, their turn came to be transported.

They recalled a five-day ordeal in a boxcar crammed with 150 people.

By the time they reached Auschwitz-Birkenau, 30 had died.

When the war ended a year later, Goldberg was in Dachau, a labor camp in Germany. Mrs. Goldberg was in Halpstat, a camp in Czechoslovakia that produced textiles and munitions.

HOW MUCH CAN WE AFFORD?

Before anyone begins to look for a home, it is important to know how much they can afford and how much they should spend each month for housing. As a general rule, monthly housing costs should be no more than 28% of the monthly income before taxes and insurance. If there are long term debts, (loans, car payments, etc.) or anything that will take longer than 6 months to repay, total debt plus housing costs should be less than 36% of the pre-tax income. An estimate of the monthly payments will help determine the price and size of the home they can afford to purchase depending on the mortgage option selected. Then weigh the pros and cons of the many mortgage options available. Usually an adjustable rate mortgage will enable them to qualify for a higher loan amount. We can help by making some basic calculations or refer you to a lender who will pre-qualify you for a mortgage.

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says nobody who can read is ever successful at cleaning out an attic.

At age 20 we worry about what other people think about us. At age 40 we don't care what they think about us. At age 60 we discover they haven't been thinking about us at all.

"I prefer teaching in an elementary school," said one teacher to another, who was teaching in high school. "At least I know I'll have a parking place."

The Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce has recently completed an update and revision of its community video—a film used for recruiting new business and other informational purposes. Copies are being made and it should be available for use by organizations and businesses in about three weeks.

A columnist with the Olathe, Kan., Daily News named David Chartrand has penned a classic pertaining to graduating seniors that will strike a responsive chord in the hearts of students and parents alike.

David says it's the commencement address he'd love to make if any high school ever asked him to speak. He wrote:

"Most of you graduates are no doubt salivating about the new experiences that await you as college freshmen. Like being able to eat pizza every day for breakfast. I am not here to titillate you with such notions. What I wish to alert you to are the sights and sounds that won't be there when you are left on campus to fend for yourselves.

"You'll know right off that this isn't high school anymore when you wake up and realize there is no one telling you:

- To get out of bed.
- To get back in bed.
- To turn off the television.
- To avoid strangers.
- To go to bed and I swear I am not kidding this time.
- To quit picking your nose.
- To wipe your nose...but no on your sleeve.

- To help with the dishes.
- To comb your hair, cut it or get it out of your eyes.
- To make your bed.
- To stand up straight.
- To speak up.
- To clean the 'pig sty' in your room.

- To come here right now before I count to three.
- To look at your mother when she talks to you.

An AP news analysis

Republicans having fun with Demo errors

By TOM RAUM
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - From listening to Republicans, it's hard to tell they lost the last presidential election. In fact, they're having such a good time cashing in on President Clinton's abundance of stumbles, it's almost as if they're glad they lost.

But with such ready-made material as the controversies over President Clinton's $200 haircut aboard Air Force One and the "firing" of his travel office staff, the Republican enthusiasm is understandable.

Democrats are now "in a perpetual state of snake bite," said Mary Matalin, one-time campaign political director for former President Bush.

Matalin, now a GOP adviser and cable TV talk show hostess, says she recognizes the syndrome from "having been there. ... One thing illuminates and exacerbates the next incident."

The White House about-face announcement Tuesday that five of the seven employees of the travel office really aren't fired at all - just suspended indefinitely, with pay - only gave more ammunition to the Republicans and added yet another bizarre twist to a week of trouble-some events.

Senate Republican Leader Bob Dole gleefully refers to the controversy over the travel office - and the White House's fumbling efforts to involve the FBI - as "travelgate."

"Travelgate is no longer just a perception problem, it's an outright scandal," Dole said Tuesday. He said the controversy—in particular questionable contacts between the White House press office and the FBI—"takes you back to Watergate, and as a Republican, I can tell you of the repercussions of that."

To NOT look at your mother that way.

- To eat your dinner.
- To take out the trash.
- To settle down.
- To grow up.
- To stop growing up so fast.
- To get in the bathtub.
- To hurry up.
- To check your shoes for mud.
- To go ask your father.
- To say thank you.
- To look both ways.
- To say you're sorry.
- To wipe your hands.
- ...But not on your clean shirt.
- To kiss your mother goodbye.
- Because I said so.

See what you're going to miss? "You're going to miss having teachers who know everyone in your family, who shop and worship in your neighborhood. Believe me, to the university professors, you'll be just another face. You'll have to siphon from the well of their knowledge, as they will not force you to drink from it.

"Never again will anyone remind you to do your homework on Sunday night. You can party all weekend. It's your life. Waste it only if you dare.

"You are about to jump into the deep end of the pool of life, to sink or swim on your own. Let no one throw you in too soon. There is no shame in waiting. If you aren't ready for this much responsibility and independence, then take some time off first. Read, travel. College will still be there when you get back—when you're more equipped to take what it has to dish out.

"Campus life will not so much build your character as reveal it. Brace yourself now for the relativism you find on campus. Professors and dorm buddies will suggest to you that the rights and wrongs you learned at home are just circumstantial grays, that to reach a moral conclusion is to impose it on them. Stick to your guns. These people are not your friends.

"If you must choose between what Mom and Dad told you is right and wrong, and what college philosophy professors tell you, my money is with Mom and Dad. They have a bigger investment in you.

"One last thing. Be not surprised by the tears streaking down your parent's faces in September as they drop you off at the dorm. They are not sad. They weep because they are having an hallucinogenic experience. All they know is yesterday you were their little one.

"Remember always who you are, stand up for what you have become. But, for crying out loud, stand up straight, or I'll...

And while the travel office episode pales against Watergate crimes of the Nixon administration two decades ago, Dole and other Republicans have not let many opportunities pass without publicly needling Clinton.

"He has literally done more to unite the Republican Party than I'll ever do," said Haley Barbour, chairman of the Republican National Committee.

"The White House operation really has been a disaster from a very effectively run campaign to a disastrously run White House," said Sen. Mitch McConnell, R-Ky.

The White House is accused by Republicans and other critics of dismissing the seven travel office employees to make room for its friends and then pressing the FBI to justify the action.

Even Attorney General Janet Reno, who was bypassed by the White House when it contacted the FBI, voiced irritation at the turn of events.

On Tuesday, the White House put five of the fired travel employees on indefinite leave with pay. White House spokesman George Stephanopoulos conceded the situation had been badly handled and announced an internal White House investigation into the firings.

Republicans readily concede that Clinton can still turn things around if he works hard to regain control of his image and his message.

"He's only been president four months. I don't assume anything except that we ought to fight hard against (his economic) plan which won't work," Barbour said.

Out of the Blue

Heard any good jokes lately? You see, I really enjoy a good, clean joke now and then.

My favorite type of humor -- and the most difficult to create -- is the pun.

It seems like people cannot be neutral about puns -- either they love them or hate them.

Some people have said that the pun is the lowest form of humor. That may well be true, but as such, it is the foundation upon which all other humor is built.

I wish I could sit here and write a list of my favorite puns, but, unfortunately, so many puns are based on twists in what is said in conversation, or similar verbal slips that they lose their meaning out of context.

There are some pun anthologies out there on the market and one Christmas, my little sister gave me one.

It has some pretty funny jokes in it.

(By the way, my birthday is just over a month away, so if you're wondering what to buy that special newspaper editor in your life ...)

Anyway, I really have no reason for bringing all this up, but I would be interested in hearing your funny (and clean) jokes.

Write it on a piece of paper and drop it by the Brand office sometime.

Who knows, maybe one day I'll do a column featuring some of my favorites.

(This also is an easy way for me to find out if any of you really read this column!)

Speaking of jokes, how many of you have been keeping up with the latest faux pas and gaffes of our illustrious President, the Honorable Hillary Clinton and her husband, Bill. You all remember that Bill (why is it that our last two Democratic presidents have either had brothers named Bill who were hicks or who WERE hicks named Bill??) stopped in Hollywood for a fancy haircut.

All well and good, but he decided to do it sitting on the runway at one of the country's busiest airports, tying up traffic for an hour.

The thing is, I might not object so much if Bill didn't look as goofy now as he did before the haircut!

I mean, isn't a haircut supposed to help?

Anyway, Slick Willie told us that the haircut didn't cost the taxpayers anything.

However, the City of Los Angeles had to spend $1,800 on overtime for the officers and county sheriff's deputies assigned to security at the airport.

Seems like those are taxpayer expenses, but maybe I'm just dumb.

Maybe someone ought to bill Bill for it?

Along those same lines, there are some new polls out about Billy's popularity/approval among Americans.

Not surprising (at least not to me and anyone else with a modicum of intelligence), fewer and fewer people around the country approve of the way he is handling things.

One poll, done by USA Today-CNN-Gallup Poll, found 44 percent of Americans approve of his overall performance, while 46 percent give him a negative rating.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

The Conestoga Sams of Portales, N.M., had one great campout in Hereford May 17-20. Many citizens and organizations went all out to see that we had a good time. Most of the success of the campout was the result of the enthusiasm, bubbly personality and dedication of Margie Daniels to making people enjoy life to the fullest. Hereford has a jewel in that lady!

We were welcomed as we entered the city by the Senior Citizens delegation and the Good Sams of Hereford. The Jess Robinsons were with us several times. Henry Reid found us a parking lot for a dry camp. Glen Nelson joined our music sessions.

Arrangements of tours to the tortilla factory, Arrowhead Mills, the Bar-G Feedlot, the POW camp with the interesting Grant Hanna (that camp came alive with his presence); the tour of the church at Umbarger to view the paintings by the POWs, the Cowgirl Hall of Fame, the Black House, and the Museum. We saw a lot! Your town-people were so thoughtful and friendly.

We enjoyed the meals in the Senior Citizen Center and the warm welcome each time. Hereford will always be more interesting from now on. One of our member asked what there was to see and do in Hereford when it was announced that our campout would be there.

Hereford's hospitality was outstanding. Thanks for every thing that your citizens did for us. We had a GREAT TIME. We will be back.

Sincerely,
Mary Clotfeller, Sec.

Dear Editor:

Just a few thoughts about the military, cookie jars and kids.

Every soldier knows that when the enemy is closing in, it's time for diversionary tactics. You throw 'em off the track however you can. Whenever a smart youngster starts

To compare, the same survey found 58 percent approving and 20 percent disapproving in January.

An ABC News poll found support dropped from 59 percent in late February to 44 percent now, and opposition from up from 29 percent to 45 percent.

I guess this means the national media is starting to learn what all but 43 percent of Americans knew last November -- Bill Clinton is not the man for this job.

You know, it seems strange that the last two Democratic presidents we have had have suddenly found themselves in over their heads.

Think maybe this tells us something about the men who run for president as Democrats? (Or does it just tell us that Southern governors who are Democrats are not fit to be president?)

Finally, congratulations to the Hereford High School graduates -- you all are finally "free"!

Now that you've shown us you are mature adults, why don't you go out and do something that shows beyond a shadow of a doubt that you are grown up.

Why don't you clean your room, wash laundry, wash Dad's car or mow the lawn?

(See, I tied right back into the jokes!)

Well, that's all for this week. Have a good week and, remember, let's be careful out there.

acting stupid, it's a sure bet the child is up to something we're not supposed to know.

Bill Clinton, at this stage, resembles a little boy with his hand in the cookie jar, creating diversionary tactics such as his stupid-people trick airport haircut. His plans to spoon-feed disaster to American might have worked 10 year ago, but not now. Mainstream America is wide awake, and practically no one trusts Clinton anymore. So why does he keep on making "mistakes," if indeed that's what they are? There has to be a reason for his actions--and the most likely theory should be scaring the daylight out of us.

Several leading political analysts propose that Clinton not only knows exactly what he is doing, but that he is right on track in an attempt to destroy America's economy in the pursuit of WORLD leadership. The analysts say it has to do with the New World Order federation being attempted by European nations. To get a massive world government movement off the ground, they need America as a member nation, so chances are the U.S. president would head up the group's leaders. In other words, if Bill Clinton can put America in the proposed New World Order, there is an excellent chance he would be, in a sense, rule the world.

Everyone knows Americans will never give up their freedom voluntarily. The fastest method of getting this country to knuckle under would be to destroy us from within. This would time-tested techniques such as moral corruption, destruction of the family, religious censorship and economic collapse.

Are the political analysts wrong? Are they accusing Clinton unfairly? We can hope so, but with America in peril, hoping isn't enough. It's time for prayer. Millions of Americans are praying and fasting for our country, and for the conversion of our leaders. Please join us.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: My 33-year-old grandson has a place between his shoulder blades that looks like a can of biscuits. He doesn't know how long it's been there. A doctor told him it was a fatty tumor and not to worry about it, but to come back in three months to see if there was any change. What is a fatty tumor and can they be cancer? Should it be removed?

Main resigns as boys' basketball coach

Baseball coach T.R. Sartor also leaving

JOE MAIN

Joe Main has submitted his resignation as head boys' basketball coach, it was announced Friday afternoon by Danny Haney, HISD athletic director.

Main has held the position just one year, coming here last July after being named as the new HHS coach in May. His Whiteface team had a 7-21 won-lost record for the 1992-93 season and finished in a tie for fourth place in District 1-4A with a 1-9 mark.

Main gave the following statement to Haney: "It is with much regret I will not be able to stay and finish the job I started with the Hereford basketball program. Due to family concerns, we feel it necessary to move closer to our families.

Although I will not be able to see the program turned around completely, there is no doubt in my mind it will be done. With the commitment the players, the athletic department, and the administration are willing to make, great success is just around the corner."

Main moved here from Cypress-Fairbanks, a Class 5-A school near Houston. The veteran coach led Huntsville to the Class 4A title in 1978.

Haney said the search will begin immediately for Coach Main's replacement. "We will surely miss Coach Main's influence, attitude and coaching ability," said Haney. "He and his players made great strides in establishing Hereford a competitive program. Without doubt, we are all better for having known this man."

Main's resignation came on the heels of the resignation of head baseball coach T.R. Sartor. His resignation was submitted to the school board this week. Sartor decided to take the head baseball coaching job at Palestine, a Class 3A school.

Sartor had been baseball coach and an assistant football coach here for nine seasons. The University of Texas graduate has 16 years coaching experience and formerly coached at Red Oak, Kemp, Canton and Northwest.

Haney may have a busy summer with his search for new coaches. Head tennis coach Natalie Sims resigned her position May 17.

Partnership golf tourney set here

The annual Hereford Low-Ball Partnership Tournament, scheduled June 5-6 at Pitman Municipal Golf Course, will have more "extras" and the opportunity for more prizes this year as the United Way of Deaf Smith County becomes a sponsor for the event.

The entry fee of $80 per player, plus green fees, includes a hamburger cookout and "family night" Saturday. The swimming pool will be open and musical entertainment will be provided. Tickets for non-golfers are only $5. A Sunday steak dinner will be provided for tourney players and an awards presentation will be held. Both meals will be served at Hereford Country Club.

The tourney will have shotgun starts at 1 p.m. on Saturday and 9 a.m. on Sunday.

Rotary Club's hole-in-one event linked to tourney

The Hereford Rotary Club's annual Hole-In-One Contest will have qualifying shots June 1-4, with the top 25 qualifiers going to the finals on June 6 and the chance of winning $25,000 or a new vehicle.

Players can try to qualify from Tuesday through Friday from 5:30 to 8 p.m. at the No. 10 hole at Pitman Municipal Golf Course. Entrants get three shots for $5 and can take as many qualifying shots as they desire.

The contest will also be held in conjunction with the United Way/Hereford Partnership Tournament, June 5-6. Golfers in the tourney will try to qualify in the hole-in-one contest, and prizes will also be offered tourney entrants for aces on the other three-par holes.

The top 25 qualifiers, those closest to the pin, will try for the ace on June 6 at 6 p.m. A hole-in-one is rewarded with $25,000 or your choice of vehicles from Hereford Auto Center or Stevens Chevrolet.

BASKETBALL

PHILADELPHIA 76ERS-Exercised their option to buy out the contract of Armon Gilliam, forward, making him a free agent.

Players will also get three shots Saturday on hole No. 10 at qualifying for the Rotary Club's Hole-In-One Contest, and a chance at winning other major prizes for a hole-in-one on the other three-par holes.

The big prize will be on hole No. 10, where an ace will be rewarded with $25,000 cash or the choice of a new vehicle from Hereford Auto Center or Stevens Chevrolet. This contest is open to all interested golfers, who can take qualifying shots Tuesday through Friday (5:30 to 8 p.m.). The 25 entrants who get closest to the pin will be in the finals at 6 p.m. Sunday, June 6, for a shot at the $25,000 hole-in-one.

Prizes offered tourney players for aces on other holes either Saturday or Sunday include: No. 3--two Continental Airline tickets anywhere in the U.S. mainland; No. 6--A set of Mizuno MSX irons; No. 9--A 4-day golf vacation for two at the Sandestin Beach Hilton Resort in Destin, Fla.; No. 14--Portable cellular Oki Phones.

Suns take 2-1 series lead

SEATTLE (AP) - Kevin Johnson has been an all-star, so heroics can be expected from him.

Frank Johnson has been an afterthought late in his NBA career. Not much has been expected from him.

Both guards were something special Friday night as the Phoenix Suns took a 2-1 lead in the Western Conference finals with a 104-97 victory over Seattle.

While the SuperSonics still are looking for Eddie Johnson to show up for them, Frank Johnson came off the bench to make a major fourth-quarter contribution. And Kevin Johnson led Phoenix with 20 points and nine assists on a night when league MVP Charles Barkley had 16 points and 16 rebounds.

But it was Kevin Johnson's backup at point guard, Frank Johnson, and the Suns bench that were mainly responsible for the victory in Game 3.

Led by Cedric Ceballos' 14 points, the Suns bench outscored the Seattle reserves 45-11.

"This isn't new to me," Frank Johnson said. "I've had big games in the playoffs before."

The Sonics' Johnson was missing in playoff action again, going scoreless on 0-for-6 shooting and committing four turnovers. Eddie Johnson was Seattle's top scorer off the bench during the regular season.

But he's been in a miserable shooting slump in the playoffs.

"Eddie Johnson is a great scorer," Sonics coach George Karl said. "I'll go down with Eddie."

That just might happen, sooner than the Sonics want. Their season could be over in just four more days.

Phoenix can make it 3-1 by beating the Sonics on Sunday at the Seattle Coliseum. The Suns then could reach the NBA finals with a Game 5 victory Tuesday night in Phoenix.

Three members of Phoenix's bench - Frank Johnson, Danny Ainge and Tom Chambers - like to call themselves the Class of '81. All came into the NBA that year.

"We're geezers," Ainge said with a grin. "But we can still play."

They showed that Friday.

Ainge put the Suns ahead to stay 83-80 with a 3-pointer 16 seconds into the fourth quarter. That started a 12-0 run that included a 3-pointer, a 20-footer and a 17-footer by Frank Johnson.

When the run was over, Phoenix led 92-80 with 7:48 left. The Sonics never got closer than two points after that.

With Phoenix in front 100-96, Seattle's Sam Perkins missed a 3-point attempt with 62 seconds left. Dan Majerle of the Suns sent the crowd heading to the exits when he made a 3-pointer with 37.9 seconds left.

The Sonics were able to get the homecourt advantage by winning Game 2 Wednesday night in Phoenix. They lost it in Game 3 despite a 7-for-20 shooting performance from Barkley and a 55-38 rebounding advantage.

The colorful, talkative Barkley spent much of the game exchanging words with the fans. He's an MVP that opposing fans love to hate.

"If we win on the road and he talks, then that's fine," Westphal said. "I have no trouble with him doing that. Some people gets their days made when Charles talks to them."

Texas scores win over McNeese

AUSTIN (AP) - Marcus Hendry hit a three-run homer as Texas scored all its runs in the first inning of a 7-4 victory over McNeese State in an NCAA Central II Regional game Friday.

The homer was the first this season for Hendry, who added a single and a walk after getting only 14 at-bats in 60 regular season games for top-seeded Texas (47-14).

The Longhorns will face the winner of Friday night's Southern California-Kentucky game on Saturday afternoon.

— YOUR EYES —

WHAT MEDICARE COVERS

While Medicare is not designed to cover such vision needs as eye-glasses and general testing for visual acuity, it does cover eye health issues for those over 65.

The rule of thumb is that any eye health care services provided by a licensed optometrist is covered if it is necessitated by a health-related condition, symptom or complaint. For instance, an eye examination for a patient with a history of diabetes or headaches would be covered. If a patient reports blurry side vision, which might be a symptom of glaucoma, then the test for that, and the rest of the eye exam, would be covered. Testing for cataracts qualifies as a Medicare expense; so do the glasses and contact lenses required for after-the-surgery care.

In most states, optometrists are permitted to treat eye conditions as well as diagnose them. Where permitted, this is covered, too.

Clemens strikes out Rangers in 4-1 win

By The Associated Press
The good, the bad and the ugly were on display in the American League.

The good: a three-hitter by New York's Jimmy Key, an 11-strikeout performance by Boston's Roger Clemens and a four-hitter by Milwaukee's Cal Eldred.

The bad: Cleveland catcher Lance Parrish, whose passed ball on an attempted intentional walk allowed Minnesota to score the winning run in the ninth inning.

And the ugly, was turned in by the Toronto Blue Jays, who committed five errors Friday night in a 3-2 loss to Oakland.

Elsewhere in the AL, it was New York 4, Chicago 0; Boston 4, Texas 1; Minnesota 7, Cleveland 6;

Milwaukee 5, Kansas City 1; California 8, Baltimore 4; and Seattle 4, Detroit 3 in 10 innings.

Red Sox 4, Rangers 1

At Boston, Clemens pitched two-hit ball over eight innings to snap his Fenway Park slump.

Clemens (6-4), who had lost seven of his previous eight decisions at home, allowed only a single by Rafael Palmeiro in the second and an RBI triple by Ivan Rodriguez in the seventh.

"From the first few pitches I saw him throw, I knew it was going to be a tough night," Rangers manager Kevin Kennedy said. "I'd have to say that's as well as anyone's thrown against us this year."

Andre Dawson singled in two runs for Boston in the first and Billy Hatcher hit a two-run homer in the fourth. All the Red Sox runs came off Roger Pavlik (1-1).

Yankees 4, White Sox 0

At New York, Key (5-2) pitched his second shutout of the season, limiting Chicago to three singles and allowing only one runner past second base. He struck out nine and walked one.

"It was as good as I've thrown in any other one," said Key. "Tonight I didn't have a bad spot, really."

The Yankees scored all their runs in the first inning off Kirk McCaskill (2-5). Dion James hit a solo homer, Jim Leyritz added a two-run shot and Spike Owen had an RBI single.

Brewers 5, Royals 1

At Milwaukee, Eldred (6-5) led the Brewers to their third straight victory, striking out eight and walking one for his first complete game of the season.

Kevin Reimer and Bill Spiers each drove in two runs for the Brewers with bases-loaded singles. Reimer also had a solo homer in the eighth. Loser Kevin Appier (5-4) allowed four runs on eight hits in 6 1-3 innings.

Twins 7, Indians 6

At Minneapolis, Chuck Knoblauch scored the winning run from third when Eric Plunk's pitch got past Parrish on an attempted intentional walk to Kirby Puckett.

Plunk's pitch sailed high and to the right of Parrish, who got his glove on it, but couldn't prevent it from going back to the screen. Knoblauch, who started the rally with a single off Ted Power (0-2), scored easily. Rick Aguilera (1-1) got the win.

Athletics 3, Blue Jays 2

At Oakland, Ed Sprague's wild throw in the eighth inning allowed the A's to score the winning run.

With the score tied 2-2, Kevin Seitzer singled off Danny Cox (4-1) and went to second when catcher Pat Borders misplayed Mike Bordick's bunt. Seitzer scored when Lance Blankenship hit a grounder to third baseman Sprague, who threw wide to first.

Bobby Witt (5-2) gave up seven hits and two runs in eight innings for the win.

Angels 8, Orioles 4

At Anaheim, Chad Curtis and Chili

Davis homered in the third inning off Fernando Valenzuela as California gained sole possession of first in the AL West.

Valenzuela (1-5) gave up six runs and seven hits in four-plus innings.

Julio Valera (3-3) went 5 2-3 innings for the Angels, giving up two runs on nine hits.

Dodgers in streak

By The Associated Press

Now, the Los Angeles Dodgers even are winning on artificial turf.

Los Angeles won its 10th straight game as Pedro Astacio (3-3) pitched seven shutout innings to help the Dodgers beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-2 Friday night at Three Rivers Stadium. LA entered the game with a record of 0-9 on artificial surfaces this season.

Thanks to a brainstorm, the players sent out for patches of sod that they placed in the visitors' dugout. With the familiar feel of grass beneath their feet even briefly, the Dodgers continued their surprising run to the top.

"Nobody has a grass dugout," said outfielder Eric Davis, who hit a home run. "History was made tonight."

The winning streak is the longest in the majors this season, and the Dodgers' longest since a 10-game streak from April 20-30, 1980. They won 11 straight in 1976. At 24-22, LA is two games over .500, a season high.

Elsewhere in the NL, it was Cincinnati 5, New York 2 in 10 innings; Atlanta 7, San Francisco 4; St. Louis 3, San Diego 2; Philadelphia 15, Colorado 9; Florida 5, Houston 4 in 12 innings; and Montreal and Chicago played a 2-2 tie in a game called after five innings by rain.

Marlins 5, Astros 4

Speedy Chuck Carr beat out an infield single to score Jeff Conine from third base with two outs in the 12th, lifting Florida over visiting Houston. The Marlins overcame a 4-0 deficit, three Houston homers and four rain delays.

Conine walked against Tom Edens (0-1) to lead off the 12th, was sacrificed to second and took third on a groundout before Carr's single.

Richie Lewis (3-0) pitched one scoreless inning for the victory.

Marriage planned

Susan Elaine Sherwood and Joseph Dale McCabe, both of Amarillo, plan to marry June 19 in the Lawndale Church of Christ in Amarillo.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Marshall and Stella Sherwood of Panhandle and the prospective bridegroom is the son of Jim and June McCabe of Dawn.

Miss Sherwood graduated from Panhandle High School in 1989. She received a bachelor degree from Abilene Christian University and a master's degree this year. She is a speech therapist in the Amarillo schools.

McCabe graduated from Hereford High School in 1984. He served in the U.S. Marine Corps for four years and was in the reserves for four years--radio tech A-1 communication.

FAST FACTS

Five ways to save energy in the kitchen this summer:

- Don't stand in front of the refrigerator with the door open! Cold air escapes, and once closed it takes more energy to cool.
- Only run the dishwasher when it's full.
- Use the microwave or toaster oven when possible.

Teacher elected director

Robert Horton, an eighth-grade social studies teacher at Hereford Junior High School, has been elected to the board of directors of the 30,000-member Texas Classroom Teachers Association.

Horton was elected to represent District 16, an area covering 26 counties in the Texas Panhandle. He was selected for the post in February at TCTA's annual convention in Austin, and will begin his two-year term on June 1.

He has been a TCTA member for several years, and is also active in the Deaf Smith County Classroom Teachers Association.

Greg Coplen to perform today

Greg Coplen, piano student of Evelyn Hacker, will be presented in a senior piano recital at 2:30 p.m. today, Sunday, in the sanctuary of First Presbyterian Church. All friends are invited to attend.

Greg, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Coplen, has been Hacker's student for 11 years and has earned 11 consecutive superior ratings in the Annual Junior Music Festival. He has been awarded gold cups in solo and hymn playing and is the recipient of the Hereford Music Study Club Scholarship.

Greg will be performing his arrangements of "How Great Thou Art" and "Amazing Grace." He will also play "Solfeggietto" (Bach); "Prelude" (Keenan); "Lake at Evening" (Griffes); "Malaguena" (Lecuona); "Prelude in C# Minor" (Rachmaninoff); and "Rhapsody in Blue" (Gershwin).

Refreshments will be served by members of the Hereford Music Study Club.

During high school, Greg was active in football, basketball and tennis and was in the PALS class his senior year. He is also active in the church youth and music ministry.

Students receive one rating

FOOD SAFE: JAMS, JELLIES, AND MARMALADES

Sweet spreads are a class of foods with many textures, flavors, and colors. They all consist of fruits preserved mostly by means of sugar and they are thickened or jellied to some extent. Fruit jelly is a semi-solid mixture of fruit juice and sugar that is clear and firm enough to hold its shape. Other spreads are made from crushed or ground fruit.

Jam also will hold its shape, but it is less firm than jelly. Jam is made from crushed or chopped fruits and sugar. Jams made from a mixture of fruits are usually called conserves, especially when they include citrus fruits, nuts, raisins, or coconut. Preserves are made of small, whole fruits or uniform-size pieces of fruits in a clear, thick, slightly jellied syrup. Marmalades are soft fruit jellies with small pieces of fruit or citrus peel evenly suspended in a transparent jelly. Fruit butters are made from fruit pulp cooked with sugar until thickened to a spreadable consistency.

Preventing Spoilage--Even though sugar helps preserve jellies and jams, molds can grow on the surface of these products. Research now indicates that the mold which people usually scrape off the surface of jellies may not be as harmless as it seems. Mycotoxins have been found in some jars of jelly having surface mold growth. Mycotoxins are known to cause cancer in animals; their effects on humans are still being researched.

Because of possible mold contamination, paraffin or wax seals are no longer recommended for any sweet spread, including jellies. To prevent growth of molds and loss of good flavor or color, fill products hot into sterile jars, leaving 1/4-inch headspace, seal with self-sealing lids, and process.

NEW YORK (AP) - John F. Kennedy Jr., an assistant district attorney in Manhattan, says the job is a mix of drama and comedy.

In an interview in the June issue of Vogue magazine, Kennedy described his office as "a marvelous assembly of characters, from the police department, to the victims, to the opposing lawyers."

"Everyone is overwhelmed, and there aren't enough resources," he said. "It generates a great irony about the place and a sense of humor is the only way you can get by."

Kennedy said that his mother, Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, never had an "agenda" for him or his sister.

"That's probably why we're all so close and have had a relatively normal life," he said. "Whatever Caroline and I chose to do, provided we were serious and committed about it, she would have supported."

Correct process time at higher elevations by adding 1 additional minute per 1,000 ft above sea level. Processing time for Deaf Smith County is achieved by adding 2 minutes to recipe times.

Ingredients--For proper texture, jellied fruit products require the correct combination of fruit, pectin, acid, and sugar. The fruit gives each spread its unique flavor and color. It also supplies the water to dissolve the rest of the necessary ingredients and furnishes some or all of the pectin and acid. Good-quality, flavorful fruits make the best jellied products.

Pectins are substances in fruits that form a gel if they are in the right combination with acid and sugar. All fruits contain some pectin. Apples, crab apples, gooseberries, and some plums and grapes usually contain enough natural pectin to form a gel. Other fruits, such as strawberries, cherries, and blueberries, contain little pectin and must be combined with other fruits high in pectin or with commercial pectin products to obtain gels. Because fully ripened fruit has less pectin, one-fourth of the fruit used in making jellies without added pectin should be underripe.

The proper level of acidity is critical to gel information. If there is too little acid, the gel will never set; if there is too much acid, the gel will lose liquid (weep). For fruits low in acid, add lemon juice or other acid ingredients as directed. Commercial pectin products contain acids which help to ensure gelling.

Sugar serves as a preserving agent, contributes flavor, and aids in gelling. Cane and beet sugar are the usual sources of sugar for jelly or jam. Corn syrup and honey may be used to replace part of the sugar in recipes, but too much will mask the flavor and alter the gel structure. Use tested recipes for replacing sugar with honey and corn syrup. Do not try to reduce the amount of sugar in traditional recipes. Too little sugar prevents gelling and may allow yeasts and molds to grow.

Sour Cherry Jelly--Several have reported difficulty in finding a sour cherry jelly recipe. The below recipe is a general one.

3 1/2 cups Sour Cherry Juice
4 1/2 cups Sugar
1 box Fruit Pectin
Measure sugar and set aside.
Stir box of pectin into juice.
Bring to boil over high heat, stirring constantly.
Add sugar and return to full rolling boil.
Boil for 1 minute stirring constantly.
Remove from heat. Ladle into hot jars.
Process 12 minutes in a boiling water bath canner.

Between The Covers

By REBECCA WALLS

We wish you all a happy holiday on May 31, Memorial Day. In case you have not noticed the library is closed, but we will be open again June 9. Children 4 years and up may come in and preregister for the Summer Reading Club during the first two weeks of June. The Summer Reading Club's theme this year is "Lions and tigers, and books...Oh My!" The reading program actually begins on June 14th, 1993 and goes through July 24th. We will have two different activity days, 6 different terrific prizes, and hundreds of good books for everyone enrolled in the program. Remember parents your children are depending on you to help them get started.

Speaking of good books, there are several that will be available June 1st.

Darkest Hour by V.C. Andrews takes the reader back to the story of Dawn's grandmother. Lillian Booth is captivated by everything life has to offer her on the thriving plantation called "Meadows." Lillian's younger sister Eugenia is gentle, sweet and very frail holding on to life by a fine thread. Emily, Lillian's other sister reveals the shattering secret of Lillian's birth calling her evil. Lillian struggles to endure Emily's malicious pranks and taunts but begins to fear the truth of them when tragedy befalls her young sweetheart. Lillian's world is further torn apart when her father loses "Meadows" in a card game. Bill Cutler, the winner of the game, offers to return the plantation if Lillian will marry him and become mistress of the hotel called Cutler's Cove.

Lilian Jackson Braun's new book The Cat Who Went Into The Closet finds Quill and Koko moving into the Gage mansion with its 15 closets packed full of generations of junk. It isn't long before the junk turns out to be something else. The action begins when Quill decides to simulate a news cast covering the great fire of 1869, which resulted in the destruction of half of the county. Euphonia Gage, the former occupant of the mansion is enjoying a new life in Florida when she is suddenly found dead, an apparent suicide. But why would anyone that happy commit suicide?

I'll be Seeing You is "Mary Higgins Clark's most suspenseful book to date." Edwin Collins has disappeared and was presumed lost in a tragic accident that caused cars, trucks, and fuel tankers to crash through the bridge railing and plunge into the icy Hudson River. Now ten months later Edwin's daughter Meghan, a television news reporter, is covering a story that takes her to the ER of a large city hospital. While Meghan is there, a young woman suffering from stab wounds is rushed in. As Meghan stares down at the dead Jane Doe, she begins a chain of discoveries that will expose the secret lives of people closest to her. In absentia Edwin Collins becomes the suspect of this brutal murder. Meghan becomes determined to identify the dead girl, find the murderer and clear Edwin's name.

Mary, Mary by Ed McBain finds Mary Barton accused of the monstrous murder of three innocent young girls. Defense attorney, Matthew Hope, believes the hard talking, eccentric Mary Barton incapable of harming a soul, but the evidence is overwhelming. Eyewitnesses place Mary with the victims and one witness even claims to have seen Mary burying the bodies. When the real story begins to surface Matthew Hope discovers just how much he has to lose.

Norma Jean Almodovar's book Call Girl is the true story of a former member of the Los Angeles Police Dept. who became a high-priced Beverly Hills prostitute. During her 10 years as a traffic cop Norma Jean had seen it all in the Hollywood Division, but some of the worst offenders wore an L.A.P.D. badge. Disillusioned, Norma Jean changed from the blue uniform to the lacy lingerie of an upscale call girl. When the police learned Norma Jean was writing a book that revealed her life as well as criticize the L.A.P.D., she was arrested for pandering. Instead of silencing Norma Jean, she became outraged and went public with her protest against the violation of her First amendment rights. This resulted in a jail sentence in which she was placed in solitary confinement. When finally released Norma Jean ran for public office as a candidate for Lieutenant Governor of California, winning more than 100,000 votes. This street wise and absorbing story of an intelligent, courageous woman leading a fascinating life on both sides of the law lets the chips fall where they may.

Mice help fight disease

By ROGER J. BULGER, M.D.

In 1967, Helen Bunker at the Jackson Laboratory encountered a problem when she tried to pick up a particular mouse. She noticed that the skin over the mouse's shoulder was particularly tight. It was found that this trait could be inherited, and a colony of these mice was raised. Now, some 25 years after the first fortuitous mutant mouse was born and noticed, these mice are increasingly valuable in the fight against two important human diseases--emphysema and scleroderma.

Chronic obstructive pulmonary disease, or emphysema, leads to coughing, wheezing and shortness of breath. The lungs of emphysema sufferers lose their elasticity. Once inflated, they do not deflate normally and are incapable of taking in sufficient air with the next inward breath. Heart function and size may also be affected with advanced stages of the disease. Cigarette smoking is the most common cause.

IBS faces major challenge with collapse of communism

By STEVEN K. PAULSON
Associated Press Writer
COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo.
(AP) - Civil war in Yugoslavia. Riots in Los Angeles. A coup in the Soviet Union.

These are just some of the challenges that were faced by the International Bible Society during the past few years as it distributed millions of Bibles around the world. Lars B. Dunberg, 48, international president, has been around the world more than 50 times—distributing Bibles and Gospel books. He was held at gunpoint in Uganda by Idi Amin's drunken soldiers. In Lebanon, he had to cross the dangerous Green Line five times a day.

"I had to crawl on the floor in a taxi," he says. "There were snipers everywhere."

Days after the Los Angeles riots in May 1992, more than 30,000 Bibles were distributed through churches and bookstores to anxious residents in burned-out neighborhoods.

The non-denominational society has distributed more than 300 million Bibles in 540 languages since it was founded in New York City in 1809 by Theodor Van Wyck "to extend the knowledge of the Holy Scriptures in which God has revealed the way of salvation to our lost and ruined race."

The society now has an annual budget of $20 million, mostly from book sales and donations, and employs 105 people at its Colorado Springs headquarters.

Despite the society's colorful history, Dunberg says, it has never faced a challenge like the one presented by the collapse of the Soviet Union and the opening of the former Soviet-bloc nations.

"I don't think anyone was quite ready for the quick way things changed," he says.

"Up until 1988, it was basically impossible to get Bibles into the Soviet Union. If we had 5,000 a year, it would be fantastic."

Now the society has launched a project to deliver 725,000 books on the life of Christ to 5,600 state-run orphanages in five new nations in the Commonwealth of Independent States.

The society will provide elementary school pupils with a Bible picture book and a coloring book. Junior high and high school students will be given a miniature Bible in Russian. Each orphanage worker will get a New Testament and a booklet with the answers to questions children ask most about God.

The society also is working with relief organizations in Europe to distribute clothing, toys and badly needed supplies, along with books to feed their spiritual needs.

"We don't want them saying, 'Here come the Christians and all they gave us is a lousy book,'" Dunberg says. "We want them to say, 'Here come the Christians and they care about us.'"

Dunberg says there is a spiritual vacuum created by 70 years of communism. It was summed up by one Russian who said, "My generation was a generation without hope. Today, we're going to study this book (the Bible) together to see if there is some hope for our generation."

"The main point of our project was to deliver books to the children, but adults are interested, too," Dunberg says. "They're trying to find some values in their lives."

But he says the society has to work fast. Things are unstable in the Commonwealth of Independent States and the doors could slam shut as quickly as they opened.

"We have to work quickly while the doors are open," he says. "We don't know what it will be like in a year, or even three months."

In addition to the collapse of the Soviet Union, the society also was presented with opportunities by the collapse of the Soviet bloc in Eastern Europe.

"I think the past few years we have been involved in are unprecedented in history, not just the Commonwealth of Independent States, but all of Eastern Europe," Dunberg says. "We have opportunities in Cuba we haven't seen in a long time. All of these people are hungry for food and hungry for Scriptures."

Worldwide, there are still 4,580 language groups representing 350 million people who have no Bible translation, according to the society. Only 250 of Africa's 1,800 major languages have Bibles, New Testament and Gospels written in their languages, the society says.

The work of translating the Bible and other religious works is tedious, with 900 scholars working for the society worldwide, Dunberg says.

Each language presents a special challenge. This has led to crossed swords between Dunberg and fundamentalists, who believe no portion of the Bible should be altered.

"In one portion of the Bible, it says, 'I stand before your door and knock.' But in Africa, only a thief knocks at the door," Dunberg says.

MRS. RUSSELL REYNOLDS
...nee Valerie Childress

Residents' grandson married Saturday

Valerie Faye Childress and Russell Rolf Reynolds, both of Kerrville, were united in marriage early Saturday evening in First United Methodist Church of Kerrville.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Faulkner of Kerrville and Gary Childress of Stockdale. The bridegroom is the son of Doris Willoughby Reynolds of Kerrville and Jack Reynolds, who has residences in Kerrville and Ruidoso, N.M. The groom is the grandson of Hereford residents, Irving and Gladys Willoughby.

Officiating for the wedding was the Rev. John Platt of the Kerrville church.

The bride's sister, Stephanie Childress of Kerrville, was maid of honor and best man was the groom's brother, Dusty Reynolds of Kerrville.

Serving as bridesmaids were the groom's sister, Lara Reynolds of Kerrville; Bonnie Robertson, San Angelo; Elizabeth Robertson, Kerrville; Allison Robertson, Sherman; Teresa Faulkner, Austin; JoBeth Montgomery, Victoria; Suzanne Jost, Kerrville; and Shawn Moore, San Marcos.

Groomsmen included the groom's brother, Todd Reynolds of Austin; Troy Robertson, San Angelo; Doug Robertson, Kerrville; Clay Robertson, Sherman; the bride's stepbrother, Chuck Faulkner of San Marcos; Michael Cervantez, San Marcos; Pat Gilger, Houston; and Jeff Gelsone, San Marcos.

Ushering guests were Lee Secor, Irving; the bride's stepbrother, Craig Faulkner of Nixon; the groom's cousin, Jake Sylvester of Lubbock; Tom Junkin, Hunt; and Kent Bowers, Corpus Christi.

Serving as flower girls were Haley Montgomery, daughter of Jodie and JoBeth Montgomery of Victoria, and Hannah Ellwanger, daughter of John and Karol Ellwanger of Kerrville.

Kerrville residents, Ann Robertson and Scott Monroe, sang "Cross My Heart" and "To Me." They were accompanied by organist, Ruth Thom of Kerrville, and the groom's cousin, Eric Willoughby of Alpharetta, Ga., who played the trumpet.

Presented in marriage by Bobby Faulkner, the bride wore a designer's dress of ivory satin styled with a fitted bodice, which was accented with applique lace and pearls, and a portrait collar. The long fitted sleeves were also enhanced with lace cutouts and encrusted with seed pearls.

The bridal illusion veil formed a pouf at the back of a wreath of seed pearls, beads and pearl sprays.

Bridal attendants wore peach dresses fashioned with portrait collars and fitted bodices. Each carried a peach rose.

Hollie Witt of Austin invited guests to register at the reception held at the Y.O. Ranch Hotel in Kerrville.

Traci Nichols of Nixon served cake and Alison Moffet of Kerrville poured punch and coffee. Also, assisting was the groom's sister-in-law, Dana Reynolds of Austin.

The couple will make their home in San Antonio following a wedding trip to Cancun, Mexico.

The bride is an interdisciplinary studies major specializing in early childhood education at Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Southwest Texas State University and is admissions manager for Medical Center Hospital in San Antonio.

CHARITY LYLES, KYLE ANDREWS

Couple to wed

August 21 is the wedding date set by Charity Breanne Lyles of Canyon and Kyle Lynn Andrews of Amarillo. The couple plans to exchange wedding vows in First Baptist Church of Pampa.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Lyles of Pampa and the prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Andrews of Hereford.

Miss Lyles is an elementary education major at West Texas State University and is employed by the law firm of Sanders, Baker and Jesko in Amarillo. She is a 1989 graduate of Pampa High School.

Andrews is an engineering major at West Texas State University and is employed by the Canyon Independent School District as bus manager. He is a 1989 graduate of Hereford High School.

Some Of The Best Recovery Rooms Aren't Located In Any Hospital.

Simply put, there's no place like home. And increasingly, health care professionals are recognizing the unique advantages afforded by home health care.

In-home covered services include everything from Nursing and Physical Therapy to Medical Social Services, offering the best in both worlds. The comfort, convenience and familiarity of a home setting are irreplaceable in the recovery process. At the same time, these experienced professionals can provide a range of medical services which were previously restricted to a clinical setting. Best of all, a typical home health visit costs one-tenth the price of an average day in the hospital, making it an invaluable asset.

HEALTH CARE AT HOME

Keeping Families Together

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I would like to say a word or two to that grocery clerk whose nose was out of joint because a woman used food stamps to buy a $17 birthday cake and a $32 bag of shrimp.

I didn't buy a $17 cake, but I did buy a big bag of shrimp with food stamps. So what? My husband had been working at a plant for 15 years when it shut down. The shrimp casserole I made was for our wedding anniversary dinner, and it lasted three days. Perhaps the grocery clerk who criticized that woman would have a different view of life after walking a mile in my shoes.--A Casualty of the Economy in Michigan

DEAR MICHIGAN: The letter you refer to was the catalyst for a ton of the angriest mail I have seen in a very long time. Here's more:

From New Orleans: My husband works full-time and goes to college at night. I am a housewife and mother of three small children. Our annual income is between $16,000 and $22,000 which means we have to watch every nickel. But we are well and happy and thankful for our blessings. Calling all food-stamp recipients "lazy and wasteful" is like calling all blondes "dumb."

Bryan, Texas: My husband works in the oil fields for $6.50 an hour, hauling tanks for a service company. When the weather is bad, there is no work. I am employed full-time in a convenience store for minimum wage. Without food stamps, we would go hungry the last two weeks of each month. There are millions of people like us, and millions more who are worse off, so I'm not complaining. That checkout clerk is in no position to pass judgement on people.

Little Rock, Ark.: My aunt, who receives food stamps, collected aluminum cans to earn a little extra money. She collected about $25 worth of cans and sold them. When she reported that "income" to the local food stamp office, her next month's allotment for food stamps was cut by $25. Our system discourages people from working by penalizing them this way. It sends the wrong message.

Kansas City: Please tell checkout clerks to keep their noses out of other people's groceries. Otherwise, I may start to make comments about the artery-clogging items and cartons of cigarettes I see them putting into THEIR shopping carts. This stuff costs the American taxpayer billions in health care.

Braddock, Pa.: I wonder why that checkout person was so annoyed when a man bought a 10-cent lemon and received 90 cents in change. I have done it many times and for a very good reason. With that 90 cents, I buy toilet paper and soap, which cannot be purchased with food stamps. Millions of people do, so what's the beef, and whose business is it anyway?

Jamestown, N.Y.: I too, am on food stamps. Last week, I did something that angered the checkout woman behind the counter. I bought a box of cookies -- something special for my grandchildren when they visit. The woman shoved my bag of groceries into my chest with such force that I almost fell over. I got the message.

Wedding VOWS repeated

Hereford residents, Mr. and Mrs. Juan O. Pesina, repeated their wedding vows Saturday afternoon in a special ceremony held in the Saint Francis Church in Waco.

Family and friends were invited to observe the couple's golden wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Pesina is the former Andrea Lozano, daughter of the late Vicente and Concepcion Lozano of Waco, and Mr. Pesina is the son of Joe Pesina of Hereford and the late Petra Pesina.

The church was decorated with fresh floral arrangements and Mariachis performed.

The bride carried a bouquet consisting of eight roses accented with gold trim. Each rose represented the couple's children.

The reception was held in the Hilton Banquet Room and the dance was held in the ballroom of the Convention Center.

A specially designed three-tiered ivory cake, accented with gold and filled with fruit, was topped with "50 years." The groom's cake was chocolate. The table was decorated with floral arrangements.

The couple resides at 313 Ave. F. Mr. Pesina is a retired paint contractor.

Guests present at the ceremony represented Hereford, Rio Grande, Colorado, New Mexico, Dallas, San Antonio, Lubbock, Amarillo, Fort Worth, Austin and London, England.

MR. AND MRS. JUAN PESINA

Class of 1938 has reunion

The Hereford High School graduating class of 1938 met May 21-22 for its 55th reunion.

Those participating in the Friday evening festivities included Nedra Ward, Aurelia Urbanczyk, Sylvester and Hope Loerwald, and Mary Virginia and Verdon Watts, all of Hereford; Claude Rea, Canyon; Virginia (Reed) and Darrell T. Staggers, Tucson, Ariz.; Glen and Joyce Ricketts, Albuquerque, N.M.;

L.A. and Helen Ricketts, Arlington; Mildred (Rutherford) Roller, Amarillo; Helen Ann (Synders) and Paul Sanders, Bellevue, Wash.; Elsie and Bill Smith, Las Cruces, N.M.; and Jasper Vaughn of Las Vegas, Nev.

The Saturday activities were held in the Reddy Room of Southwestern Public Service. Guests included Mrs. Arthur (Bertha) Tiefel, Melva Rea Ford and Juanita Warren Owens, all of Hereford.

LINDA HUNER

Fellowship meeting set Thursday

Linda Huner of Amarillo, a well-known speaker in the Panhandle area, will be the guest speaker at the Hereford Flame Fellowship meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, June 3, at the Hereford Community Center. The public is invited to attend.

Huner conducts weekly Bible studies in her home and is a frequent speaker at women's seminars and children's camps.

The speaker and her husband, Roy, minister to the Navajo Indians in Arizona and established the Liberty Church in Amarillo where they pastored for five years.

Roy Huner is a State Farm Insurance agent. The couple has three children, two are students at West Texas State University and one will graduate from Amarillo High School this spring.

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) - Sonny Bono and his wife have obtained a restraining order against a transient they say is stalking and threatening them.

"You're concerned about going to the store, leaving the kids home," Bono said. "It's terrifying."

James Hamlin, 40, was committed to a state hospital last week after a judge found him incompetent to stand trial on charges he set fire to a hotel room. Under the restraining order obtained Tuesday, Hamlin - if he gets out - will have to stay at least 150 yards from the Bonos and not bother them.

Veleda Study Club officers installed at closing meeting

Continuing their chosen theme "Rediscover Our World", members of the Veleda Study Club met recently for a dinner in the home of Juanita Brown for their closing meeting of the club year.

Outgoing President Joyce Ritter installed the new officers using the theme of a new voyage on a ship set sail to discover the New World. The "crew" consisted of Betty Roberts, who will serve as president; Theda Seiver, vice president; Frances Crume, treasurer; De Aun Sisson, secretary; and Betty Olson, historian.

New officers were presented with sailor pins of their office "to guide the club to discoveries of the new world for another year."

Boyd, Houpt exchange vows during candlelight ceremony

During a candlelight wedding ceremony, Bethany Jane Boyd of Austin became the bride of Clelon E. Houpt, also of Austin. The couple exchanged wedding vows late Saturday afternoon, May 22, in First United Methodist Church of Hereford.

Officiating at the marriage was Dr. Jordan Grooms, retired Methodist minister and former pastor of the First United Methodist Church of Hereford.

The bride's parents are Bobby and Bera Boyd of Hereford. The groom is the son of the late E.M. and Lorene Houpt of Hot Springs, Ark.

Behind the church altar was an arch candelabrum entwined with baby's breath and greenery. Flanking the altar were two white wicker baskets filled with jewel toned colors of gladioli, star gazer lilies, Dutch iris, blue statice, feathered carnations and liatris. Pews were marked by white bows.

Serving as maid of honor was Marissa Schlaifer of Houston and best man was the groom's son, Chuck Houpt.

Bridesmaids were Karen Etheredge of Austin, Nancy Beach of Stamford and Julie Mitchell of San Antonio.

Groomsmen were the groom's sons, Pete and Kyle Houpt of Mesquite, and the bride's brother, Brent Boyd of Midland.

Joshua Houpt, son of Kyle and Dianna Houpt, was ring bearer. He carried a white satin lace trimmed pillow made by the bride's maternal grandmother for her parents' wedding.

Featured vocalists included the bride's parents, Bobby and Bera Boyd who sang a vocal duet, "On Eagles' Wings." Elaine Calkins played the organ and Dee Anne Trotter played the piano.

As special family members were seated, an organ solo, "O Perfect Love," was played. The song was sung at the bride's parents' wedding ceremony. Family members included the bride's sister-in-law, Amy Boyd of Midland; the bride's grandmother, Vurda Mae Boyd of Idalou; and the groom's aunt, Lola Lovett of Hot Springs, Ark.

The piano solo, "Dedication," was played as the mother of the bride was seated and as the bridal party entered the sanctuary. "Wedding Processional" was the organ selection played as the bride entered and the congregational hymn, played on the organ and piano, was titled "Joyful, Joyful We Adore Thee." For the recessional, the pianist and organist performed "Allegro Maestoso."

Brent Boyd read Psalms 100 and Chuck Houpt read I Corinthians 13.

Presented in marriage by her parents, the bride was attired in an elegant white sheath style handmade peau de'soi satin gown with a lace overlay. It was fashioned with a V-shape neckline which was accented with scalloped lace, and the fitted bodice was highlighted with Venice lace and touched with seed pearls. The short sleeves were trimmed with lace and pearls and accented with white satin bows. A double bow accented the bustle and the semi-cathedral length train of peau de'soi satin which was detachable.

The fingertip bridal illusion veil with pencil edging formed a delicate pouf at the crown of the floral wreath which was adorned with white satin rosettes and pearl sprays.

The bride carried a hand-tied bouquet of white Casablanca lilies, Dutch iris, wax flower, baby's breath and liatris.

In keeping with bridal tradition, the bride wore an engagement ring belonging to her maternal grandmother and a blue garter which was made for her mother's wedding by a friend of her maternal grandmother.

Bridal attendants wore hot pink faille fitted short-sleeved jackets with black peach skin skirts which featured full black chiffon overlays. They carried hand-tied arrangements of Dutch iris, star gazer lilies, feathered carnations, baby's breath and liatris in jewel toned colors.

The bride's cousin, Sheryl Spann of Ennis invited guests to register at the reception held in the E.B. Black House. Special musical entertainment was provided by the string quartet, "The Vienna Conspiracy."

The bride's cake was served by Jennifer Eggen of Hereford and the groom's cake was served by Phyllis Newcomb of Amarillo.

Punch was ladled by Jeri Ann Beach of Clovis, N.M. and coffee was poured by Kitty Clemons of Lubbock.

Special bridal assistants were Joan Bookout and Sharon Bodner, both of Hereford, and Joyce Boyd of Grapevine.

The bride's table was covered with a white cloth designed with a full skirt. Placed on the table were spring colored mints, silver and crystal serving pieces, white napkins, silver candelabra with tall white tapers, and a crystal punch bowl. The bride's three tiered white chocolate cake with raspberry filling was decorated with fresh flowers in jewel toned colors matching the altar basket flowers.

Served at the groom's table, which featured a chocolate cake topped with dipped strawberries, were trays of ham, cheese, turkey, crackers and assorted fruit.

Leaving for a wedding trip to Hawaii, the bride wore a double breasted navy blazer, a red and white striped nautical blouse and white walking shorts.

The couple will reside in Austin. The bride is a 1983 graduate of Hereford High School. She attended Texas Tech University and received a bachelor of science degree in pharmacy from the University of Texas in Austin. She will complete studies for a master's degree this fall when she enters the doctoral studies at the University of Texas. She is employed as a registered pharmacist in the Austin area.

The groom received a bachelor of business administration degree from the University of Texas in Arlington. He is employed as a sales manager for the Unifirst Corporation in Austin.

Wedding guests represented Hot Springs, Ark., Huntingdon, Tenn., Amarillo, Canyon, Lubbock, Idalou, Lorenzo, Wolforth, Floydada, Irving, Grapevine, Ennis, Mesquite, Houston, Austin, Galveston and Weatherford.

The wedding rehearsal dinner, which featured a western theme and was hosted by the bride's parents, was held at the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center.

The bridesmaids' luncheon was held in the home of Mary Herring and was hosted by the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Brent and Amy Boyd.

Hints for homemakers

Do you know:

-How to turn off a wild smoke alarm? Mist the air underneath with a plant watering bottle.

-What's the best replacement for a tub plug? A golf ball-if dislodged, it'll roll back into place.

-Some great tricks when buying a house? Look at the date inside the toilet tank-it'll show when the fixture was first installed, so you may be able to tell when the house was built.

-Some unusual tools for cleaning? A can of compressed air from the photo supply store; a helium balloon covered with a clean, slightly damp dustcloth.

Such fascinating facts may be found in a new book, Mary Ellen's Clean House! that could be a good read for anyone who has lived in an apartment, a house, a co-op or even a trailer-or would like to buy or rent one. It's by Mary Ellen Pinkham, Woman's Day columnist and "Good Morning America" regular from 1979-81. Her previous book, Best of Helpful Hints, has sold over a million copies.

Clean House! includes the type of information you'd clip out of a magazine or newspaper article but can't find when you need it. Now it's all in one place. "The book answers all of the questions I have been asked over the years," says Pinkham. "It tells you how to clean and fix your home and possessions. It also tells you how to buy them, because if you buy the right things, you'll spend less time cleaning and fixing them."

Clean House! includes sections on cleaning stains from your clothes to your carpets; guidelines for cleaning your bathroom, kitchen and other rooms; checklists for entertaining and seasonal maintenance chores; shopping lists for stocking your broom closet, your cleaning supply closet, your sewing kit and your tool kit. You'll also find ways to get rid of all your kitchen odors, from your garbage disposal to your freezer. There is even a list of appliance sounds to help you figure out which ones are okay and which ones signify a larger problem.

When there are home repairs, maintenance or a sprucing up job to be done, Clean House! makes it clear which ones you can do and how to do them better. It will also make it clear when to leave things untouched and call a pro instead. You'll find this handy helper at many local booksellers.

Doss, Borman vows exchanged Saturday

Wedding vows were spoken by Kristine Renae Doss of Wolforth and Gregg Joseph Borman of Adrian in an early evening ceremony Saturday at First Baptist Church in Wolforth.

Officiating at the wedding were Mark McMillan of the church and Monsignor Peter DiBenedetto of the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church of Vega.

The bride is the daughter of Scott and Kristy Doss of Wolforth and the bridegroom is the son of John and Elaine Borman of Adrian.

Matron of honor was Tiffany Whitley of Odessa and best man was the groom's brother, Randy Borman of Adrian.

Serving as bridesmaids were Ame Petty of Evant and DeAnna Bullock and Elizabeth Bodden, both of Lubbock.

Groomsmen were the groom's cousin, Clyde Borman of Vega, and Rodney and Chad Strafuss, both of Hereford.

Guests were escorted by the groom's cousins, Mike Borman of Little Rock, Ark. and Mark Artho of Dallas; the bride's brother, Scott Doss of Wolforth; and the bride's cousin, Kurt Hess of O'Donnell.

Flower girl was Morgan Miller, daughter of Alan and Dani Miller, and ring bearer was the groom's nephew, Zachary Blankenship, son of David and Julie Blankenship of Marshall, Minn.

Principal wedding selections included Claire D'Loon, "Gone With the Wind," and "Trumpet Voluntary." Randy Brantly sang and Betty Bell played the piano.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of candlelight satin worn off-the-shoulder. It was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and a chapel-length train trimmed in pearls. The imported handmade beaded alencon lace surrounded the portrait collar and the hemline was adorned with matching lace overlays encrusted with pearls and beads.

The bridal illusion veil was attached to a pearl encrusted headpiece. The bride carried a bouquet of darling roses.

Each bridal attendant was attired in a two-piece hunter green suit fashioned with a fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline with pearl buttons closing the jacket front, and a street-length skirt. Each carried a nosegay of apricot roses.

Lori Smithwick and Stacy Gilbert invited guests to register at the reception held in the Christian Renewal Center in Lubbock.

The groom's sisters, Jeanne Cross and Jennifer Borman, served cake. Punch and coffee were poured by Ginger Petty and Katy Petty.

The red velvet heart-shaped wedding cake was decorated with fresh flowers.

Following a wedding trip to Disney World in Florida, the couple plans to reside in Adrian.

The bride received a B.S. degree in ag communications from Texas Tech University.

The groom received a B.S. degree in ag economics from Texas Tech University and is presently engaged in farming near Adrian.

English evangelical preacher John Wesley, the man who founded Methodism, was born in 1703. An ordained priest in the Church of England, Wesley and his brother, Charles, were part of a group of students who were called Methodists for their methodical study habits and religious attitude. In 1784, Wesley established the legal status of the Methodist societies and made plans for their perpetuation after his death.

The French missionaries Marquette and Juliette reached the Mississippi in 1673.

Hints from Heloise

SHOPPING LIST

Dear Heloise: While I was shopping at the supermarket a while back, a woman in the store told me to write you with my idea.

When I do my weekly shopping I write my grocery list on the type of note paper that has a self-stick coating on one of the ends.

I then place the sticky end of the note onto the handle of the shopping cart. This way the list is visible at all times and leaves my hands free to do my shopping. —Barbara Russo, West Caldwell, N.J.

CREAM SOUP RECIPE

Dear Heloise: I found your recipe for cream soup from scratch in the Houston Chronicle very good. But cost effectiveness is not why I like it so much. It is fat-free!

Maybe this information about mixing non-fat dry milk, corn starch, etc. has been around for a while, but nobody had ever told me.

I am thrilled to finally find a substitute for those fat- and calorie-laden canned soups. Thanks a million! —Gale Bullock, Houston, Texas

I'm glad you like the recipe. I tried to keep the recipes in my soup pamphlet as low in fat as possible so they are good for you.

For those who wish to order a pamphlet, send $2 and a long, self-addressed, stamped (52 cents) envelope to: Heloise/Soup, PO Box 795001, San Antonio TX 78279-5001. —Heloise

MINDING YOUR OWN BUSINESS

WORDS OF WISDOM VIII

I love surprises. So, when a thick package arrived for me at the newspaper office, I couldn't wait to find out what it was. I tore it open to discover a publicity packet from Rutledge Hill Press, the publisher of H. Jackson Brown Jr.'s best-seller "Life's Little Instruction Book." They also enclosed a copy of Brown's newest book "Life's Little Instruction Book - Volume II."

The publisher sent the packet as a follow-up to a column I wrote in March of last year. In that column I shared a few of Brown's gems of wisdom.

Brown has packed his newest book with more common sense. It has a retail price under $6 and it would make an excellent gift for a graduate, friend or secret pal. I'll tease you with just a few tidbits of wisdom from Volume II.

Brown's best

- Never sign contracts with blank spaces.
- Seize every opportunity for additional training in your job.
- Remember that just the moment you say, "I give up," someone else seeing the same situation is saying, "My what a great opportunity."
- Remember the three Rs: Respect for self; Respect for others; Responsibility for all your actions.
- Don't overlook life's small joys while searching for the big ones.
- Carry a small pocket knife.
- Give people more than they expect and do it cheerfully.
- Don't believe all you hear, spend all you have, or sleep all you want.
- Remember that a good example is the best sermon.
- Trust in God but lock your car.
- Mind the store. No one cares about your business the way you do.
- Become famous for finishing important, difficult tasks.
- Do a good job because you want to, not because you have to. This puts you in charge instead of your boss.
- Mind your own business.
- Perform your job better than anyone else can. That's the best job security I know.

- Never be ashamed of your patriotism.

MODEST HOUSE PLAN FOR THAT FIRST HOME

First Time Home Buyers Can Afford This House

© BY W.D. FARMER, A.I.B.D.

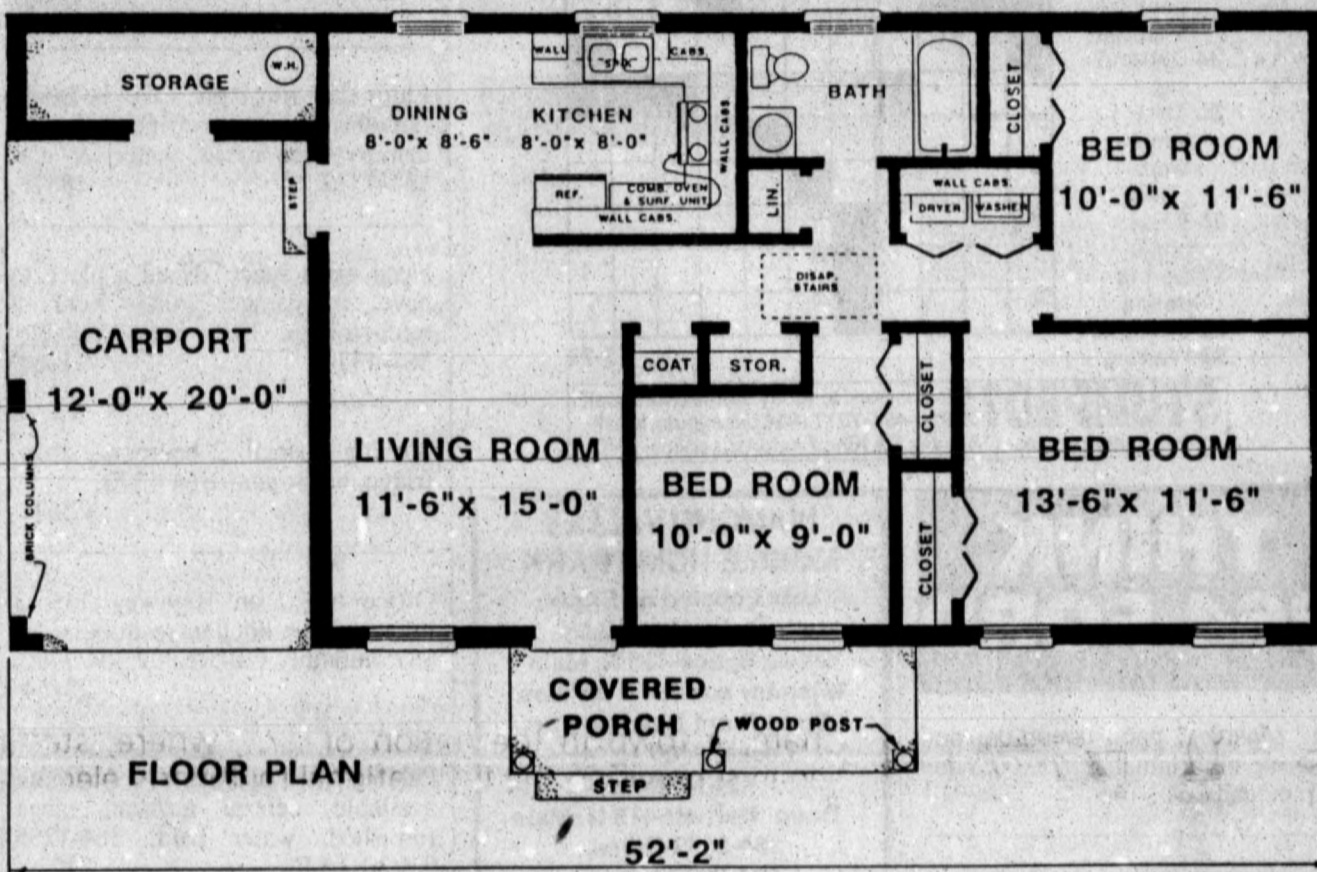

A covered porch entrance is to the living and dining rooms. The full kitchen is extremely well planned and sized for great meal preparation. It is shown with built in appliances and the built in stove is a combination oven and surface unit.

There are three bedrooms, a centrally located large bath and laundry facilities in the bedroom wing. Closets are comparatively plentiful for this small home.

Carport access is direct to the living and dining rooms and outside storage is provided at the rear of the carport. The plan is available with either slab or crawl space foundations.

The colonial exterior is constructed of brick veneer and the roof style is straight gable.

The plan is Number 196. It includes only 1,007 square feet of heated space. It is a computer generated plan. All W. D. Farmer plans are drawn in accordance with FHA and VA requirements and include energy efficiency details. For further information write W. D. Farmer, P. O. Box 450025, Atlanta, GA 30345.

Questions/Answers

Q: Please advise on the problem with a building that has two coats of oil-base paint and needs painting. I would like to change to a water base paint. Would this idea be possible? I intend to perform this work myself.

A: According to the technical department at Benjamin Moore Paint, there is no reason that prevents you from spreading latex over oil-based paint. In fact, you can go back and forth between latex and oil. However, the wall surface must be properly prepared before painting.

The surfaces must be clean, free of dirt and grease spots and should not be excessively chalked. A good way to ensure proper surface preparation is to have the walls power washed. The wash water also usually contains additives to kill mildew. Priming the surface is not necessary if the surface is in good condition. That is, there are no peeling sections or blisters.

If there are, those sections should be scraped and spot primed. You can then apply one coat of a good quality house paint; although two coats would be better. A good quality paint, applied correctly, should last 6 to 7 years.

Q: How do I remove the mildew off the door gaskets of my side-by-side refrigerator-freezer? I have tried several cleaners and none of them have worked.

A: Remove the mildew with a solution of household bleach and water by dipping a rag or an old soft toothbrush into the solution and running it over the discolored gasket. Wear rubber gloves when you apply it, and unplug the refrigerator and remove the food to prevent the odor from getting into the food.

The energy-saver switch controls the heater that runs around the door opening, and prevents moisture from condensing on the outside of the refrigerator. When the switch is on, the heater is deactivated, so the appliance does not use as much electricity.

Keep the switch off during humid weather, usually in the summer. During the winter months, turn the switch on. Humidity is generally lower during the winter and it's less likely that mildew will form during periods of low humidity.

One play could run you clear of home buying interference.

Financing, Down Payments, Price negotiations, Inspections. All obstacles that could block you from buying a home.

But one move could get you right through that red tape. A call to an experienced real estate agent.

An expert agent can coach you smoothly through the entire home buying process. From using the sophisticated multiple listing service to find the home that fits your needs and your budget. To tackling financing options. Setting up and monitoring inspections. Negotiating price. And even maneuvering you through closing.

So when you need a skilled teammate, get someone who really knows the housing field--a real estate agent.

Read The Hereford Brand for more information about qualified agents. Every day, the real estate classifieds list many properties and agents. And on Sundays the housing section examines the latest market trends and home buying opportunities.

Getting the right coaching now could mean the difference between confusion and closing.

CLASSIFIED ADS
 Classified advertising rates are based on 15 cents a word for first insertion ($3.00 minimum), and 11 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy change, straight word ads.

TIMES	RATE	MIN
1 day per word	.15	3.00
2 days per word	.26	5.20
3 days per word	.37	7.40
4 days per word	.48	9.60
5 days per word	.59	11.80

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY
 Classified display rates apply to all other ads not in solid word lines-those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing; all capital letters. Rates are $4.15 per column inch; $3.45 an inch for consecutive additional insertions.

LEGALIS
 Ad rates for legal notices are same as for classified display.

ERRORS
 Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

Judy Collins heads ensemble of PBS' Memorial Day show

BY STEVEN ALAN MCGAW

Judy Collins long ago became a permanent part of American popular culture. Since the 1961 release of her first album, "Maid of Constant Sorrow," Collins' clear, soaring voice has become a matchless vehicle for traditional American folk songs, spirituals, Broadway tunes and the best work of contemporary American songwriters such as Bob Dylan, Randy Newman and Paul Simon. Her recording of "Amazing Grace" is regarded by many as definitive and led to her participation in journalist Bill Moyers' TV documentary about the song. She has identified herself with a variety of social and political causes, answering the call for benefit performances whenever possible, and nurtured the growth of both her talents and her audience with successful forays into children's music and film production. Her performances with symphony orchestras are frequent sellouts and her most recent album, 1991's "Fires of Eden," has been hailed as "a highlight of her career." Collins herself was immortalized in Stephen Stills' epic song "Suite: Judy Blue Eyes."

Collins takes her rightful place at the forefront of an American celebration on Sunday, May 30, when she heads the list of performers participating in PBS' "National Memorial Day Concert." Joining Collins in the 90-minute program are Mac Davis, Pete Fountain, actors James Whitmore and James Earl Jones and Gen. Colin Powell. Erich Kunzel conducts the National Symphony Orchestra and E.G. Marshall serves as host.

Collins reports she'll be performing "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," as well as a "special version" of "America the Beautiful."

"I've been doing that song in concert for about two years now," the singer says, "and I always end it with 'And crown thy good / with brother- and sisterhood.' Now I've been presumptuous enough to write a new verse for the song."

Collins explains that the new lyrics came to her last fall, while recording.

Judy Collins

for the presidential campaign season, a version of the song featuring more than 150 female vocalists including Odetta, Barbara Cook and Cissy Houston. The new verse, placed after the original lyrics, says: "Oh, beautiful / for tapestry / of every face and form / for courage in adversity / and triumph in the storm."

Collins says the added verse needn't confuse her listeners on the Capitol's West Lawn, or over the airwaves.

"We'll end with a big chorus," she says, "and hopefully the whole audience will join in, even the ones at home."

"Amazing Grace," Collins' signature tune, will be performed a cappella with the Harlem Boys Choir. Asked if she ever tires of the song, her answer is swift and emphatic: "Oh, no, not at all," she says. "I love that song, always did. I learned it from my Methodist grandmother."

If she has her way, Collins will add one more song to the list: "The song I'm trying desperately to insert," she says. "It's 'I Had the Strangest Dream Last Night.' If we're memorializing people who have left the planet under sad circumstances, I think we should talk about a time when we don't have to do that."

Davis is scheduled to sing "You've Got a Friend" and diarmetis Fountain will lead his New Orleans-based band in a medley of wartime favorites. Whitmore and James pool their talents for an oral history of the Korean War.

Feltsman to return to Russia after being shunned

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP) - When Soviet-born pianist Vladimir Feltsman was 27, he was among Russia's top young pianists.

He wanted to tour abroad, but the government denied him permission. So, in April 1979, he applied for an exit visa. Two hours after he applied, Moscow radio and TV stations were ordered to stop playing his recordings. His concerts were canceled, to show what happens to people wishing to emigrate.

American ambassador Arthur Harman says Feltsman was ordered to play a few concerts that were amended to humiliate him. Mrs. Harman says that one was on an out-of-tune piano before an audience of a few children, in a factory with the machinery blasting away.

Feltsman, who was finally allowed to leave Russia after suffering through eight concertless years, vowed he'd never go back. But he did go back, for a week in October 1991. And that chapter of what he calls "my pretty strange life" is the subject of the PBS program "Journey from Home: Vladimir Feltsman in Moscow" on June 6.

Feltsman is seen giving a recital and having a reunion with his father, a well-known pop composer who publicly opposed his son's desire to leave Russia.

Among the people commenting about Feltsman are Ambassador Harman, who invited the pianist to play at the embassy during his "lost years." Others are an old school friend, now a Russian impresario, who persuaded Feltsman to return for two concerts, a novelist friend and fellow dissident, Victor Erofeev, a music critic and a cousin who has lived in America a long time.

Feltsman will probably return to Russia this year to perform with three symphonies, he says. "It's in spite of all the bitterness, which I guess stays under your skin. You cannot rid yourself of it."

Talking by phone from Gardiner, N.Y., on a day when he was leaving to play Brahms in Calgary, Canada, and Mozart in Portland, Ore., the 41-year-old Feltsman says music holds prime importance in his life.

In the PBS program, he tells a pupil, "Be less emotional. Music is emotional enough by itself."

Later he talks about Mozart composing under the dictation of God. "We interpreters have a unique opportunity to get to the source of that energy which was guiding Mozart to write. It is the highest reward a musician can get, when it is happening."

His cousin, Simon Pichasov, says that it was necessary to "market"

Feltsman in America as a political dissident, to focus attention on him. Feltsman says that is happily behind him. He has become known as a pianist and now has a contract with MusicMasters Records, to record German music, which he prefers. When first here, he was expected to play and record Russian music.

When Feltsman was suddenly given an exit visa in August 1987, Alice Chandler, president of the State University of New York in New Paltz, offered him a professorship. This year he has nine pupils.

"And I have a nice, quiet bungalow, nestled in six acres of woods, all the privacy money can buy. I have a very nice concert Steinway and a fax machine.

"But most of the time I'm on the road playing concerts.

"It's not as crazy as it used to be when I came here almost six years ago...I was too hungry. I played too much. I have done more than 100 a season. Now I play 40 or 50.

"It was a lot of good things and wrong things at the beginning. A lot was out of my hands. My story as a human rights activist took on a life of its own.

"Thank God, that's over. I finally have the life I always wanted."

He and his father, pop composer Oskar Feltsman, "didn't talk about our differences of opinion," Feltsman says. "We don't come back to that. This is a part of life which neither of us enjoyed. We love each other.

"I can only repeat what I said on TV. He was not the bravest man in the world. People who went through the Stalin time were scared. I cannot blame him."

Feltsman and his wife Anya separated two years ago and now are divorcing. She and their 10-year-old son Daniel live in Manhattan.

About the PBS program, Feltsman says, "I understand you cannot see a whole life in one hour. I think what is coming through, in spite of whatever ups and downs of my pretty strange life, is that my life is all around music."

HIGHLIGHTS

On Sunday, May 30, A&E's "Breakfast With the Arts" serves up the basic cable premiere of Abel Gance's 1927 silent epic, "Napoleon." The 5-hour film was restored in 1981 by Francis Ford Coppola, who commissioned his father, Carmine Coppola, to write a new soundtrack for the film. The story of the megalomaniac French leader begins with his boyhood at a military college. Vladimir Koudenko gives a stunning portrayal of the young Napoleon. Albert Dieudonne (pictured) plays the ill-fated military strategist in his adult years.

'Killer Instinct' offers good acting, fiery action; trivializes history

By STEVEN ALAN MOGAW

In 1961, Gene Hackman made his film debut playing a policeman in a low-budget crime drama titled "Mad Dog Coll." John Davis Chandler played the title character, one of England's most vicious killers, and Vincent Gardenia ("Moonstruck") portrayed hot-tempered boss Dutch Schultz.

Schultz is a familiar figure in the movies. James Remar offered a fierce portrayal of the hot-headed criminal in Francis Ford Coppola's "The Cotton Club" (1984), and Dustin Hoffman gave a fine performance as the aging Schultz in 1991's underrated "Billy Bathgate."

Coll, meanwhile, figured as a minor character in 1991's "Mobsters."

In the fall of 1991, producer Menahem Golan ("Missing in Action," "Runaway Train") assembled actors, tommy guns and fake blood to shoot back-to-back movies about Schultz and Coll. Interestingly (and cost-effectively), both films feature the same cast. Both pictures never saw wide release. "Hit the Dutchman" is currently unavailable, but "Killer Instinct," starring Christopher Bradley ("Gunsmoke: The Long Ride," "An Early Frost") as brutal Vincent "Mad Dog" Coll, has just been released on Vidmark home video. (Curiously, the video release spells the name "Cole.")

The darkly handsome Bradley gives a memorable performance as Cole, changing from a loving brother and comically awkward suitor in some scenes to a ruthless killer in others. Bruce Nozick, though never the equal of Remar or Hoffman, is sufficiently maniacal as the savage Schultz, and Rachel York is touchingly effective as Lotti, the bleached-blond chanteuse who spurns Schultz for the sometimes boyish Cole.

The film's period details are perfect. Terry Palmer's music complements the action, and the fine cinematography is by Janusz Kaminski ("Huckleberry Finn," Steven Spielberg's upcoming "Schindler's List"). Sadly, the direction by Greydon Clark and Ken Stein is as listless as Neil Rutenberg's script. History needn't be this slow.

SOAP WORLD

Williams plays a doctor on TV

BY CANDACE HAVENS

She's beautiful, sexy and savvy; Tonya Lee Williams is on her way to having it all.

Williams portrays Dr. Olivia Barber Hastings on the top-rated soap opera "The Young and the Restless." But acting is only one aspect of this multi-talented woman's life. She is an accomplished musician and plays the piano, violin and tenor sax proficiently. She writes fiction and someday hopes to produce and direct feature films.

"I love acting and working on 'Y&R,'" says Williams, "but someday I want to make movies. I want to be involved from the very beginning with writing the prose, getting the financing and putting the actors together. It is all so exciting."

For now, Williams is content to focus on acting and enjoying her time on 'Y&R.' "The other day I was talking to Veronica (Redd-Forrest), who plays Aunt Mammie on the show," says Williams, "and we commented on how much like a family we really are. We sometimes bicker with one another, but at the same time we are supportive of one another. It is a great place to work."

Williams enjoys playing her character and says she is involved in a terrific story line. "My sister and mother on the show don't get along and I'm trying my best to get them together. In my heart I think it is the sister's fault. I don't see the fact that our mother played favorites, because I was the favored one. The whole situation has made for some great conflict."

Off the set, Tonya shares her home with her two dogs. She says eventually she would like to get married and have a family, but right now her mind is set on her career. "I like going out there and auditioning and working on different things," says the actress.

"This business takes a lot of patience. The other day Bill Bell told us how after the first year of 'Y&R' he went to CBS to talk about taking the show off the air because it wasn't doing well in the ratings. CBS told him to hang in there, and look what happened. I'm taking things step by step, and eventually I get there."

Rapper Heavy D is featured on Monday's Uptown Records edition of "MTV Unplugged." The program's week of premiere episodes includes performances by 10,000 Maniacs, Soul Asylum and Midnight Oil.

Week of 'Unplugged' offers rap, folk, alternative

BY MICHAEL SCOGIN

MTV switches off the amplifiers all week long as it premieres four new episodes of the critically acclaimed "MTV Unplugged" Monday, May 31, through Thursday, June 3.

The series of programs begins with a private party including some of Uptown Records' hottest rhythm and blues and rap acts. Solo artist Mary J. Blige opens the show with her blend of '60s and '70s-influenced R&B, hip hop and soul. Blige performs "Real Love" and "Sweet Thing" from her 1992 debut album "What's the 411?"

Father MC joins singer-actor Christopher Williams ("New Jack City") for "One-Night Stand" and "Every Little Thing You Do."

Rotund rapper Heavy D takes the stage with "Is It Good For You?" and "Blue Funk," the title track from his latest, hardest and funkiest release yet.

The soulful, gospel-style R&B four-part harmonies of Jodeci follow with "Come and Talk to Me" and "Lately."

On Tuesday, folk-rock group 10,000 Maniacs becomes the first band to make a second "MTV Unplugged" appearance. Singer Natalie Merchant and the rest of the band first graced the "MTV Unplugged" stage on Feb. 4, 1990, with Michael Penn. Ex-Talking Head frontman David Byrne joins the Maniacs for a few songs this time.

Minneapolis' own Soul Asylum appears Wednesday. Though the band has only recently garnered national attention from its critically and publically praised new release "Grave Dancers Union," Soul Asylum has been plugging away on the fringes of alternative music success since their 1983 debut EP "Say What You Will." Dave Pirner (the man with the nappiest hair in the music business) and friends' selections include "Runaway Train," "Black Gold," and "Somebody to Shove." Watch for a special performance of "To Sir With Love" accompanied by British pop star Lulu.

Australia's own Midnight Oil brings their brand of politically charged rock to the "MTV Unplugged" stage on Thursday, performing "Truganini," from their new release "Earth and Sun and Moon," as well as "Beds Are Burning" from "Diesel and Dust" and the title cut from "Blue Sky Mining."

Bob Costas is host of NBC's coverage of the NBA's Western Conference Finals on Tuesday.

ENTERTAINMENT NEWS

Turner takes in trophies; Bridges gets 'Blown Away'

A little encouragement goes a long way. Hats off to the folks of Turner Broadcasting System, the big winner in April's 26th Annual Worldfest-Houston International Film Festival. Ted Turner's CNN won a Special Gold Jury Award for "Democracy in Action," its coverage of the 1992 presidential campaign, as well as prizes for programs about Somalia, Sarajevo and the changing role of women in the workplace. TBS won five commendations for its environmental series "Network Earth" and a silver medal for the light-hearted special "Elvis USA." TNT received two silver medals for its presentations "Katharine Hepburn: All About Me" and "The Water Engine."

R.E. "Ted" Turner: His cable networks are winners

Keep that popcorn comin'. Feature films in production include "National Lampoon's Scuba School," starring Corey Haim and Corey Feldman (do they ever work apart?), "Silence of the Hams" with Dom DeLuise and Charlene Tilton, and a remake of "The Three Musketeers," starring Kiefer Sutherland, Chris O'Donnell, Charlie Sheen and Rebecca DeMornay. (Subtitled, possibly, "Young Swords?") Jeff Bridges has signed to play the leader of a big-city bomb squad in MGM's "Blown Away." Soon to begin filming in Virginia Beach, Va., is "Psycho Kickboxer: The Dark Angel."

Take a bow. Congratulations to Dick Clark, John Chancellor, Phil Donahue, Mark Goodson, Bob Newhart, Agnes Nixon and Jack Webb, recently announced as this year's inductees to the Academy of Television Arts & Sciences' Hall of Fame. The ceremony will take place on Nov. 20.

Wait awhile. David Letterman's "Late Night" successor Conan O'Brien says sudden celebrity has changed his life a bit. "I get recognized," he reports. "People say, 'Look, there's a guy who doesn't deserve a show.'"

TV FOR KIDS

'Power Rangers' join 'Batman' for fall on Fox

BY SCOTT WHITE

Fox Children's Network has become the powerhouse in kids television, reaching more children than Disney, Nickelodeon or any of the networks in just under three years. Programs such as "Batman," "X-Men" and "Tiny Toon Adventures" deliver fun and adventure for kids and adults alike. In Fox's fall '93 schedule, things look more exciting than ever.

"Our goal has been to do more of what works and do it better," says Margaret Loesch, president of Fox Children's Network. "We had a strategy. That strategy was and still is to build a superior distribution system, create high quality and entertaining programs, and to promote those programs in a smart, kid-friendly way."

Weekday mornings will see returning favorite "Merrie Melodies" joined by "Mighty Morphin Power Rangers," a live-action sci-fi series. In the afternoon, Steven Spielberg's "Animaniacs" will join returning shows "Merrie Melodies," "Tiny Toons," "Tom & Jerry Kids" and the top-rated "Batman."

Other exciting projects waiting in the wings for later scheduling include series based on "Spider-Man" (with executive producer Stan Lee), "The Tick" and Robert Heinlein's "Red Planet."

Next week we'll take a look at the fall Fox Saturday morning lineup. Look for the new Fox kids' show in September.
