Accreditation Award Given To Chamber Of Commerce

By MARSHALL DAY
Staff Writer

Before a capacity crowd at the Herford Bull Barn Thursday night, the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce was presented a certificate of accreditation for being recognized as "an organization which maintains high and desirable qualitative standards of performance."

Clint Formby, who was master of ceremonies for the banquet, began the program with the introduction of the Herford High School Mixed Choir, which was Sweepstakes Winner this year. Dick Jackson, instructor for the choir, presented the award winning musical selections to the crowd at the banquet.

After the choir had presented its program, Ray Todd, president of the Herford Kiwanis Club, introduced the past presidents of the Chamber of Commerce and was followed by the introduction of the guest speaker for the evening, Dennis O'Rourke, director of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and chairman of the board of the Holly Sugar Corporation.

Termining the gathering as a historic occasion in his introductory remarks, O'Rourke reminded the people at the banquet that it was just a short time ago that in the very same building that Herford took a giant step toward the receiving of the accreditation when many were present for the opening ceremonies of the Herford sugar factory.

"Earlier, I used the word 'historic' and tonight is truly such an occasion. The members of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce worked hard for more than three years to achieve this distinction. When you consider that there are only five other accredited Chambers in the state of Texas, only 119 in the whole United States and that, even with Herford's great growth, there are still hundreds of larger cities in the United States, you get an idea of the magnitude of this accomplishment," he said. "But then, Texans are famous for their enthusiasm and accomplishments in the face of almost insurmountable odds. So tonight's achievement shouldn't come as a surprise to anyone in this room."

Explaining that the sugar beet industry was attracted to the High Plains area in the 1950's, O'Rourke pointed out that the local chamber became interested in obtaining a beet sugar factory and that many months and many thousands of dollars of unreimbursed travel expenses were required to secure the desired results. After much of this, he said, Herford took another first when the factory was built, and this was due greatly to the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce and interested citizens.

After discussing the sugar beet industry in Herford, O'Rourke said, "Now it is time to change hats again—my Chamber of Commerce hat this time so that I can more formally compliment the leadership of your Chamber in having earned the status of an accredited organization."

"As of today, 404 Chambers of Commerce have applied for accreditation, 119 are accredited."

"Accreditation means that the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce is certified by a body of competent judges as an organization which maintains high and desirable qualitative standards of performance," he explained.

"On behalf of your former Governor, Allan Shivers, who is now the distinguished and able president of the United States Chamber of Commerce and on behalf of the Chamber's board of directors, I congratulate you for having an outstanding organization. I now challenge you—the members of the Chamber—to accept this as only the beginning and to work harder and broaden your activities in the future and remain an accredited Chamber of Commerce," O'Rourke ended.

Receiving the award for the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce was the president, Earnest Langley who gave his acceptance remarks at the end of the banquet.

Area Jr. College Will Be Discussed

The Education Committee of the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the Community Center. The subject will be junior colleges, according to Leo Forrest, chairman of the committee.

Education, although one of the most important items in our national life, is becoming expensive and more complex. For this reason, the Governor of Texas appointed a coordinating committee to recommend some improvements in our higher education institutions in the state. The staff of the coordinating board has turned in an excellent report dealing with the junior colleges of Texas, Forrest said.

The staff recommends that there be 53 community junior colleges in different geographical locations in the state. A four-county area—composed of Deaf Smith, Castro, Oldham and Parmer counties—has been designated as Region 5. This meeting of community leaders, educators and other key people from each of the four counties has been set for Thursday. Forrest urges that all interested people attend.

Dr. Robert L. Clinton, assistant commissioner for the junior colleges and the man who is in charge of this junior college program for the entire State of Texas, will be present for the local discussion. "It is not likely that we will be able to have this top authority with us again," Forrest pointed out the importance of the meeting.

"We want everyone to know that this, in no way, means that the junior college will be built in any certain town," Forrest has advised the four-county representatives. "At this meeting, it is hoped that a committee representative of the leadership of each county can be elected. The elected representative group can then undertake a study to see if the four-county group is interested in a community junior college. We want everyone to understand that if a group of leaders from each county can be elected to be on a committee of some type to study the proposals and make recommendations, then positive steps toward acquiring a junior college can be taken."

Forrest said that he wanted everyone to know that "He... is hoped that the Chambers of Commerce in the four counties can be divorced from this committee as soon as possible and that it will be put into the hands of the interested citizens who will take the ball and make recommendations."

Forrest has sent out a number of copies of the coordinating board's proposals and recommendations concerning the development of junior colleges in Texas for study.

Absentee Voting Ends Tuesday In Trustee Races

Absentee voting for both the Herford Independent School District Board of Trustees and the Deaf Smith County School Board elections will end Tuesday, with the elections to be Saturday.

By Friday afternoon, there had been 69 absentee votes cast in the Herford school board election. Candidates seeking the two open positions are incumbents Hiley L. Aven of 135 Avenue J and Dr. A. T. Mims of 609 E. Fifth, and Al Dziuk of 311 Avenue K, who is seeking to unseat one of the men. Balloting in the election will be done at the school tax office at 790 Union.

In the county trustee election, the three candidates are Don Baugous of 228 Avenue B, for trustee at large; Floyd Brown of Westway, for Precinct 3, and Elmo Hall of Westway, for the Walcott district. Brown is the incumbent.

The county voting will be done in the Deaf Smith County Courthouse. There had been one absentee vote by Friday afternoon.

Four New Silos At Holly Sugar

Bob Ginn, agricultural manager at Holly Sugar, reported that four new sugar silos were going up there.

Each of these silos will hold 100,000 bags of sugar.

Ginn said the sidewalks on the silos were completed now, except for additional equipment and the paint job.

Mrs. Godwin To Represent City

Representing Herford at the Governor's Conference on Fine Arts at Austin Monday and Tuesday, the first ever held in Texas, will be Mrs. R. C. Godwin, 1968 chairman of Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce Fine Arts Committee.

Mrs. Godwin will leave Amnnoon, to reach the state capital in time for a part of the gala opening program which will precede the actual conferences. Texas artists are to be featured in the gala, which honors Carl Burnett, Trini Lopez and other entertainment personalities.

Between 2500 and 3000 persons from all parts of Texas are expected for the two days of lectures and discussions. General theme of the conference is Living Space For The Arts In Texas.

Governor John B. Connally will be host for a Monday night dinner, and afterward an award-winning film titled "A Texas Romance" will be screened.

Farmer Is Charged With Tax Evasion

Ray A. Barclay, Route 1, Herford, a farmer, was charged in an indictment by a Federal Grand Jury in Dallas, on March 26, 1968 on 3 counts of willful failure to file income tax returns for the years 1962, 1963, and 1964 in violation of Section 7203 Internal Revenue Code.

Barclay, who is 45 years old, is married and has two children. He has been a farmer in Oldham County near Vega, since 1946.

The indictment charges that Barclay, who realized a total gross income of $53,873.22 during the years 1962, 1963 and 1964 willfully and knowingly failed to file income tax returns for those years. The total gross income named in the indictment is one-half of the community gross income realized during the three years.

The charge against Barclay resulted from an investigation by Special Agents assigned to the office of the District Director of Internal Revenue, Dallas. The offense of willfully failing to file a return is punishable by possible imprisonment of one year or a fine of $10,000 or both, together with the cost of prosecution, on each count.

Schools Begin Vacation Friday

The Herford Independent School District will free the kids for Easter on Friday afternoon, with the vacation beginning extended for 10 days. They will not have to report back until Monday morning, April 15.

There will be many trips out of town, as usual. On the other hand, many will stay right here in Herford.

Whoopie! Anyway, the theatre downtown will have daily matinees to preserve the good health and sanity of parents.

Frio Baptists Set Open House

The Frio Baptist Church has announced plans to hold open house today, from 3 to 4:30 p.m. Dedication services are to be held this morning at 11 a.m. with the public invited to attend the services and open house.

Local Pastor And Welfare Worker Express Views On Alcoholics' Ways

By EARL MOSELEY
Staff Writer

The Deaf Smith County Council on Alcoholism began in the fall of 1968 and received its charter in October 1969. The council, not a political or wet or dry group, is rather an informational, educational and referral group to help those who have a drinking problem, and their families."

Francis Hardwick, who is on the council, said. The council is open to anyone who is interested in helping the alcoholic. It is not affiliated with Alcoholics Anonymous in any way but is one of its strongest allies. They are affiliated with the State Board of Alcoholism. The council's group consists of ministers, teachers, businessmen and non-practicing alcoholics.

They illustrate themselves thusly: "There is a lake. There are a lot of people around it. A man is drowning. No one can help him because no one can swim. They can't even throw him a life preserver. In this case, the drowning man is an alcoholic. It is the purpose of the council to teach him how to swim, by passing out literature—to keep the alcoholic from drowning."

The Council on Alcoholism arranges to meet, usually on Tuesday, immediately preceding the last Thursday night in the month. Alcoholics Anonymous Open Meeting. Actually this date is for the benefit of those who (alcoholics and non-alcoholics) desire aid prior to this public assembly.

Mrs. Jewel Smith, the administrator of the County Welfare Department, spoke at the last council meeting. She told of her experiences through welfare with the practicing alcoholic, from the beginning—when she first entered the department fifteen years ago.

"Some time afterward," Mrs. Smith said, "(former District Judge Harry Schultz came to my office to ask a favor. He said that he was in need of an adult probation officer for the county. He wanted me to do it. I was in shock at the responsibility, but in spite of the shock I agreed."

She had told them that she had had the same prejudices and was as totally uninformed then on the subject of the alcoholic as any other non-alcoholic. Judge Schultz had explained to her that the duties of the adult probation officer would include mostly alcoholics. "They could not drink—and they couldn't go to places where they could drink." So she had to learn.

Mrs. Smith said she usually had a copy of the probationary rules before her when the alcoholic was sent to her office. "I would ask him what church he preferred. Afterward, I contacted his minister. The alcoholic was usually most agreeable—they always said what they thought it wanted to hear them say; such as, 'I will go to

Herford Revisit Center Moving To Amarillo Soon

By EARL MOSELEY
Staff Writer

The Herford Revisit Center of the Institutes For The Achievement of Human Potential of Texas Inc. will move to Amarillo in April, according to Donald Zeman, director of the center. Zeman said that April 26 is the tentative date for the last day of appointments in his Herford offices at 321 N. Sampson. "We plan to move over the weekend and hope to have appointments beginning in Amarillo on April 29."

The Revisit Center, the only one of its kind in the United States, was officially opened here on March 20, 1967. Its home offices are in San Antonio. The institute is often noted for a therapy known as "patterning" in helping brain-injured children and adults.

During the past year, Zeman pointed out, the center in Herford has served to aid many brain-damaged individuals in a radius of 500 miles. "Every one of the kids we have had have shown improvement," Zeman said. "A few probably not as much as we would like, but greater successes possibly could have been obtained had we had various specialized equipment here at our disposal."

Zeman made a special point in offering the Institutes' appreciation to the people in Herford "in helping to establish the Revisit Center—the only one of its kind in the country—which was made possible through the contributions of people in Herford and the surrounding communities of Friona, Dimmitt, Happy, Amarillo and others."

But the Herford location was beset with problems of another nature, almost from the beginning. Dr. Bruce G. Beene of Herford, who had agreed to serve as the Revisit Center's medical director, died on April 16, 1967, after the center had been officially opened on March 20.

During the past year, Zeman explained, other doctors in Herford had been approached as medical directors, but "they actually felt that they were too busy with their own practices to accept it." After almost a year without a medical director, they located one in Canyon, Dr. Dudley Moore, who agreed to make a study of the treatments involved. Shortly thereafter, Dr. Moore consented to become their medical director, with some provisions.

Dr. Moore felt that he needed the help of three other specialists, a psychiatrist, a pediatrician and a neurosurgeon. He made contacts in his own location and throughout the state, but finally decided to contact the Patter-Randall Counties Medical Society—where he received their approval to initiate such a plan. Therefore, the decision was left with no other alternative but to consider a move to Amarillo.

Residents To Vote Tuesday In City Commission Race

Herford residents will put two new men on the City Commission Tuesday when they go to the polls to choose from the five candidates seeking the open spots.

Leaving the commission will be Lloyd Sharp, Place 4, and Albert Maxwell, Place 3. Three men are seeking Place 3 and two are seeking Place 4. Voting will be done from 8 a.m. until 7 p.m. at the Community Center instead of City Hall.

Ervin Ward, a candidate for City Commissioner in Place 4, has lived in Herford since 1935. Since 1955, he has been in the cafe business and automobile sales. He has been with the Hickory Log in Sugarland Mall since last July.

Ward is a member of the Masonic Lodge and the First Baptist Church.

He and his wife, who live at 139 Ranger Drive, are the parents of four children.

Johnny B. Pool, a candidate for City Commissioner in Place 4, is owner of the Western Auto Associate Store at 241 N. Main in Herford. Pool has been in the Panhandle for 30 years and a property owner in Deaf Smith County for the past 20 years.

He is past president of the Kiwanis Club here, vice-president of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce and a member of the Presbyterian Church. He is a Herford Hustler.

Pool has a daughter, Jane, who is now Mrs. E. L. Coplen, a public school teacher at Lordsburg, N. M. Pool's son, John, is a junior at Texas Tech.

Pool and his wife Jama live at 150 Centre.

W. B. (Bartley) Dowell, a candidate for City Commissioner in Place 3, has been a resident of Herford and Deaf Smith County since he was six years old. He has been an accountant with Brown, Graham and Glover for almost 14 years.

Dowell has been a member of the Herford Kiwanis Club since 1951 and was president of the Kiwanis in 1954. He is a member of the Methodist Church.

He is the father of two sons. The oldest is now in the service stationed in Germany. The youngest son is living with his wife here in Herford. Dowell has a granddaughter.

He and his wife, Jeanne, live at 132 Greenwood.

Charles Bell, a candidate for City Commissioner in Place 3, is manager of the Herford Federal Credit Union, after having been the local representative of Southwestern Life Insurance Co. for 8½ years.

she would have to be honest with herself, that she wasn't helping herself or the alcoholic. 'I just couldn't understand why a person on probation, who could convince me and the court that they wanted to quit drinking, would without fail get drunk. It just didn't make sense to me. At this point, who was the most frustrated? Me, the family, the minister or the court?'

But she said that a member of Alcoholics Anonymous came into her office. "I think the Lord sent him. And I started reading every book on alcoholism I could get, and started attending open A. A. meetings. But the first A. A. meeting was a revelation to me. I soon decided that A. A. was the answer."

"But do you think the alcoholic did? Not on your life! They will not admit that they are alcoholics. 'Not me — it's good for others.' I had to learn pretty soon that 'alcoholic' was a dirty word. Call an alcoholic anything but an alcoholic!" Mrs. Smith said that she began asking them to attend the A. A. meetings, and that most of them would reluctantly agree to do so — in her office. But not one of them ever attended an A. A. meeting on his own. So she changed her strategy. She would ask, "Is it possible that drink is the cause of your problems — although I don't think it is?"

She said the alcoholic would begin listing family problems. Again, she said she re-evaluated the situation.

"I found out that all alcoholics drink for a reason. I listened to all the good, sound reasons. I discovered that it wasn't important for me to know that he was not an alcoholic — it wasn't that he knew he was important that he knew he was."

Mrs. Smith would give them a questionnaire on alcoholism and tell them to answer it for themselves — honestly. After she would return to the room in a few minutes, many would say, "According to this, I must be one (never alcoholic)."

29 Questions

(All to be answered either "yes" or "no.")

Do you need a drink at a definite time every day? Do you prefer to drink alone? Do you in the morning crave a "hair of the dog"? Is your drinking harming your family in any way? Do you get the inner shakes unless you continue drinking? Is your drinking hurting your reputation? Do you lose time from work due to drinking? Has it made you careless of your family's welfare? Have you become jealous of your husband or wife? Has your initiative, ambition, or perseverance decreased? Do you drink to relieve feelings of inadequacy? Has your drinking made you more sensitive? Is it endangering your health? Do you turn to an inferior environment while drinking? Do you show a marked moodiness as a result of drinking? Has drinking made you harder to get along with? Is it making your homelife unhappy? Is it jeopardizing your job, business, or career? Has it made you irritable? Is it affecting your peace of mind? (Questions by Dr. Robert V. Selinger of the Neuropsychiatric Institute.)

Note: Any three "Yes" answers definitely indicate alcoholism!

"I have a friend I would like for you to meet," she would say, "someone who can help you understand yourself." (No lag.) "With your permission, I will call him right now" — as she was already busy dialing the telephone for a member of A. A. "Within short order, the A. A. member would be at my office, eager to help."

If there was no one available at A. A. at the moment, however, Mrs. Smith said she would ask, "Will you go to A. A. with me Thursday night?" At that point, she said, they would be shocked — What is she going for? And she took them.

"You cannot send the alcoholic to A. A., you must take him there. Then I would turn it over to A. A. All they needed from me then was prayers — and encouragement later."

Mrs. Smith said that A. A. and a Higher Power is the answer. She said that "working with them is most rewarding, but most depressing too. Progress is slow. But they didn't get into this condition overnight, therefore it will take a while to get them out of it."

She stated, "This matter of alcohol is robbing more than 5-million people. One-ninth of our population is affected by alcoholism. We can't afford to quibble. Alcoholism exacts an annual toll of approximately $2 billion from business and industry, through turnover, absenteeism and other operational costs. Its cost to the alcoholic and his family cannot be measured in dollars — not to mention the family suffering — which includes approximately three percent of the population."

She said that Hereford has between 500 and 600 alcoholics, based on the national figure of the National Council of Alcoholics, who used medical, police and court records.

Alcoholism is rated in the upper-5 national health problems.

Hardwick said that "I don't believe this organization (the Deaf Smith County Council on Alcoholism) could have been started without Jewel Smith's experience with alcoholics at the Court House."

In 1958, the Hereford Rotary Club made a survey. They discovered that 75 per cent of the welfare, police and court cases here were directly or indirectly involved with the use of alcohol. They recommended the organization of the council and helped in this respect. When it was organized, the Rotary made the council a separate unit. When the Council of Alcoholism began, Hereford A. A. had six members. Now Hereford A. A. has 35 members and is considered a very active and effective group. It came about with the two individual groups cooperating to solve the same deep problem.

They, together, are after the other approximately 465 alcoholics in the county who have not yet admitted that they need help.

Next week, more on the Deaf Smith County Council on Alcoholism.

For another side of the alcoholism story, the following letter was received by the Brand:

Dear Editor:

This letter has been requested of me as a result of my experience with an alcoholic, as well as from my viewpoint as a normal citizen.

Just a few weeks ago, the first series of articles appeared in the Sunday Brand on alcoholism. It is the composite made by three of the four alcoholic speakers in the first article (at the closed Alcoholics Anonymous meeting) that I want to answer. I am paraphrasing their statement: The reason for their alcoholism was too much strictness in a Christian-type home and "hellfire and brimstone preachers."

At the outset, I want it understood I have no desire to lead a campaign for temperance, but simply to express my views as a non-alcoholic.

This letter is not written with the ambition that it would change a host of non-committal people as everyone has their own views concerning alcoholism. It is not written in the defense of the Christian home or in the defense of God, as they need none. It is not written with the idea that he would be anti-social, but because it involves society I am concerned and feel obliged to simply register the other side.

It is not written to discredit any good the A. A. has accomplished but it does merit at least one other viewpoint. It is written with that hope and desire that all who are the victims will again return to society with a normal advantage to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

It is written in behalf of all who believe that alcoholism is a misfortune — not only for the alcoholic but for those who have had to live with its undesirable side effects, and that we can be as sympathetic as is humanly possible.

First of all, the statement which I suppose met with their approval, as there was no objection (in print), submitted that "strict families" and "hellfire and brimstone" preachers were the basic causes of their alcoholism.

I want to say that I wholeheartedly applaud for "strict families." I wish we had more responsible parents! And as far as the "hellfire and brimstone," I believe in both a real hell that is full of fire and brimstone, and that alcoholism have damned a lot of souls into the former.

To be more specific, to say that somebody or some thing has caused anybody to do anything is irresponsibility. To say that we are not responsible for what we are is much more what you could expect the average person to believe. You may save your conscience by saying you are not responsible for your life, but society isn't either.

Strange as it may seem, alcoholism is on a tremendous increase among all age groups, especially among the older and the teenage groups, and the strict home is on the decrease. As for the "hellfire and brimstone" preacher — he's almost extinct.

This all bears out my point, that generally speaking alcoholism is the result of what a man already is — not altogether what it made of him. In most cases, he is quite accustomed to excusing himself for the lack of purpose in life to his family, friends — and responsibility.

To say that we are not responsible for our acts against society, parenthood and God is pure deception.

I am sorry to say that in my experience with alcoholism, the never-falling point is always brought to the forefront that an alcoholic always renders an excuse for his condition. No one ever forced anybody to take the first drink, much less the succeeding ones.

Nobody wants anybody to suffer as an alcoholic. In spite of what many think, the individual turns to alcohol in the spite of the fact that he or she had a Godly mother, who in every respect set an example of Christian character, turned to that first drink. It was the "popular thing" and "all the other guys are doing it." Besides, I want to have a little fun.

Alcoholism is rebellion against responsibility, and society has been understanding enough to absorb its expensive costs and undesirable side effects.

To blame others for our behavior is perhaps tolerable, but to blame the God of the Bible and the confining ethics of a Christian home is a greater sin than irresponsibility.

Sincerely,
The son of an alcoholic.
Rev. Al Baum, Pastor,
Greenwood Baptist Church of Hereford.

past 11½ years, Bell first came here as director of the Whiteface Band, a position he held for three years.

Previously, he has served two terms as president of the Hereford Camp Fire Council, member of the National Campfire Council, president of the Oasis Shrine Club, district finance chairman of the Boy Scouts of America, director in the Khiva Temple, and producer and director of many Lions Club variety shows. He is a member of the Chamber of Commerce and is a Hereford Hustler.

Bell and his wife, Margaret, are the parents of four school-aged children. They live at 212 Northwest Drive and are members of the First Methodist Church.

Elmer Combs, a candidate for City Commissioner in Place 3, has been a resident of Deaf Smith County for 28 years. Now in the real estate business at 1503 E. and the board here on two occasions and discussed the situation. The board members — who are all the parents of "brain-damaged children" — agreed to support the doctor and the move to Amarillo, as they explained, "for the best interests of all the children" involved in the program.

At the first meeting, there was a total of 110 brain-damaged individuals going through the program.

Zeman said that "due to the articles of affiliation of the mother institute in Philadelphia, a medical director is necessary." If no medical director had been located, the Hereford Revisit Center would have faced the eventual danger of closing altogether. "We did not want this to happen."

Dr. Moore pointed out that this program for the brain-damaged children was new to the medical profession and would require a lot of study. Like the late Dr. Beene, he intends to cover the program thoroughly at his earliest opportunity. Dr. Moore has eight children and "took an interest" in the program for the welfare of those who are less fortunate than his own, he said.

It was also noted that such patients need special equipment, which is not available at Hereford or Canyon, whereas Amarillo does have such equipment and is fast becoming the medical center of the Western Plains. This was also an important factor in the decision to move.

The address of the new location in Amarillo is 807-A Lamar, just off Line Ave. Zeman described the building as larger than their present quarters here, with room for future expansion. It was reached from Interstate 40 at the Georgia Street exit (north) or west on Eighth Street from the downtown business district. It is near the Northwest Texas Hospital, at the Line-Eighth "Y."

"It may be possible that some of the donors for the Revisit Center in Hereford," Zeman said, "gave because they felt this was a local community project. However, it serviced not only Hereford but families from distances of 500 miles away. The move to Amarillo will present the Institute an opportunity to not only offer better services to the children of this area but many others in the future."

He pointed out that the move to Amarillo was not removing the Revisit Center from the Hereford area. "If there are those who feel they were misled in the use of their contributions," Zeman said, "they may make their request known at the Revisit Center in Hereford prior to April 30."

Zeman said he is in hopes that all donors will feel as the board members have — that the move was their only alternative toward the benefit of the children involved and backed Dr. Moore unanimously. The contributions are still needed.

"We not only wish to thank the people of Hereford for their cooperation and understanding," Zeman said, "but the officers and members of the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce. This kindness makes it difficult to make the necessary move."

Minnie Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cox, was Deaf Smith County's first white bride on record. She was married to Cal Walker on Jan. 14, 1890.

Lake Park was renamed Dameron Park in 1953, in honor of W. E. Dameron, who died while in his third term as mayor of Hereford.

Lions Auction Begins Monday

The Hereford Lions Club Auction will kick off at 4 p.m. Monday in an attempt to raise money to aid in construction of a new Campfire Girls building. For more than a week, Lions Club members have solicited gifts from Hereford merchants in exchange for radio advertising during the auction Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The bigger the gift, the more advertising the merchant receives.

The auction will be held from 4 until 6 p.m. each of the four days, with KPAN radio broadcasting live from the auction location on U. S. 60, across the highway from the Big Burger Drive-in. Bids will be taken over the telephone, and when approximately 80 per cent of the retail value is reached, it will be sold to the highest bidder.

Items to be sold during the auction will be displayed so that persons may look them over and get a merchandise sheet. Bids will not be taken until the auction begins.

La Plata Students Draw Laughs With Comedy About Teenagers

Audience laughter at LaPlata Junior High all-school play, "June Mad," Thursday and Friday nights was at situations familiar to parents in the crowd, the emotional growing pains of adolescents.

A competent student cast kept up the fast pace which moved the comedy from laugh to laugh, evidence of expert direction by Mrs. Spicer Gripp and John Murdock.

Cheryl Cole as Penny, almost 15 and smitten by a visiting college youth, and Nancy Brink as her harassed mother conveyed the sympathetic side of their roles as well as the comic.

Cheryl showed realistic anguish in Penny's efforts to scrape up money for a red party dress, "away down to here in the back", to look older at the party, and Nancy managed the illusion of being old enough for Penny's mother.

David Thomas as Chuck, the boy next door, just outgrowing his scorn of girls and jealous of Penny's friendship, was another who went below the surface of comedy. Jeff Loerwald and Daniel Higgins played the fathers, the latter with especially good makeup and mannerisms to turn a junior high schooler into a middle-aged man.

Pure humor was the assignment for Angela Grubbs as the cute, pesky younger girl who trailed the teenagers and meddled in their affairs, and for Sara Bell as the maid with practical mind, soft heart and sagging petticoat, who stopped the show with applause on one bit of action.

Gary London and Charles Allison as college boys and Joy Clark as the neighborhood glamour girl had the most difficult roles for junior high students, who can portray a 60-year-old easier than a 20-year-old.

Jay West drew numerous chuckles as the willing, if not too smart, hired man. Mary Wheeler and Rocky Andrews as a couple of party guests completed the cast. Cliff Herring was stage manager.

HHS Students Compete In UIL District Contests

Numerous students from Hereford High School were to have competed in district University Interscholastic League literary contest at Canyon Saturday, with several of the local instructors serving as judges.

The contests included number sense, science, slide rule, typing, shorthand, spelling, ready writing, girls and boys prose reading, girls and boys poetry interpretation, girls and boys persuasive speaking, girls and boys extemporaneous speaking and girls and boys debate. Students winning first place awards in the events will be eligible to compete in the regional UIL.

Damage Low In Wreck At Rink

A two-car accident in the parking lot of the local skating rink last Sunday night resulted in approximately $150 damage.

A 1965 Plymouth driven by Yolanda Vargas of 211 Lake sustained $100 damage and a 1963 Oldsmobile driven by Ben Lopez of 401 Bradley had $50 damage. Both cars were in a line of vehicles leaving the parking lot about 10:10 p. m. when one came to a stop. The other car waited, then started to go around the stopped car when it started up. There were no citations given.

meet to be held in Odessa. Hereford judges for the contests included David Henderson, number sense; Myrtle Thompson, ready writing; Daisy Hunt-singer, science; Floyd Payne, slide rule, and Marie Ratliff, spelling. Other judges were not listed, but it is expected that other local teachers assisted.

Results of the contests concerning Hereford students will be in Thursday's Brand.

Commissioners Let Road Easements

Deaf Smith County Commissioners granted the right-of-way easement to the Texas Highway Department Monday for construction of a Farm-to-Market road connecting U. S. 60 and U. S. 385 beginning just east of the city.

The new road, to be designated as FM 2943, will include 6.191 miles from U. S. 60 south to the Castro County line and less than a mile on to U. S. 385. Contract for the project, which will begin just south of the new Fifteenth Street Road east of the city, may be let in April, commissioners were told.

Tax rate for the county for 1968 was set at $1.63 by commissioners, the same rate as last year. The county gets 22 per cent of the amount collected from the taxpayer, and that amount is multiplied by $1.63. The tax rate for Walcott was raised from $1.65 to $1.90 by commissioners.

Changes in construction at the Deaf Smith Hospital were approved by commissioners. Included were lighting changes totaling an additional $1529 and extension of the new warehouse for an added $3371. The hospital board earlier had approved the changes.

The February fire report presented to commissioners by the City of Hereford showed there had been six fires in the city and four in the county during the month.

In other action, commissioners sent $400 to McMorries and Associates of Amarillo as part of the contract for tax consulting work here, and granted Justice of the Peace Ernest Wade PLOT THICKENERS.— Charles Allison, as a self-styled man of the world while he is associated with younger persons on a college vacation, reacts to his meeting with his best friend's sweetheart, played by Joy Clark, in LaPlata Junior High all-school comedy, June Mad. His attentions to the school girl daughter of his hosts, and turn to the older girl, supplied plot motivation in the play presented Thursday and Friday nights.

Sorghum Group To Hold Meeting

The Deaf Smith County Grain Sorghum Producers Association has announced that there will be a "Dutch Breakfast" at the Caisson House Friday at 7 a. m. for association members.

Speaker for the meeting will be Bill Nelson of Amarillo, executive vice-president and head of the organization.

Nelson, who has recently returned from Washington, D. C., will report on the Feed Grain Reserve Bill which is presently before Congress and will also give up-to-date information on this bill. Among other topics he will discuss will be other farm feed grain legislation, the crop outlook for 1968, carry over, research projects, grain sorghum exports, the financial position of grain sorghum producers, and the new IBM data concerning association dues.

The meeting will also feature election of new officers and directors.

Awards Brought By Garden Club

Honor roll rating, four awards and a special individual award for a member were won by Hereford Garden Club at the 40th annual convention of Texas Garden Clubs Inc. which ended Thursday in Corpus Christi.

The special award, one of three given in the state, went to Mrs. A. L. Manjeot. Termed an award of appreciation and achievement, it is based on her record of services to club and community. Mrs. Manjeot, who writes the gardening column for The Hereford Brand, received a similar citation from District I garden clubs at the district convention here last month.

Honor roll rating has been earned by Hereford Garden Club for several years. Based on the president's report of overall activities, it requires 200 points and the local club scored far above that figure.

Also received were awards for yearbook, in which the club had a grade of 96 on books prepared under chairmanship of Mrs. Ben Childers; for therapy, based chiefly on work at Kings Manor directed by Mrs. S. S. Williams, therapy chairman; and for best club program, with Mrs. Manjeot as chairman.

Mrs. O. G. Hill Sr. served on the state nominating committee with Mrs. Manjeot as alternate. Mrs. Ray Johnson, Hereford Garden Club president, also went to the convention. Mrs. Manjeot represented both Hereford and Bud To Blossom Garden Clubs.

Theme of the three-day convention was Forty Fabulous Years. Mrs. E. O. Barton of Houston, state president, was in charge of business sessions and speakers were horticulture and flower arranging authorities of national reputation. A publicity clinic was a special feature, and visitors were entertained with a boat trip on the Gulf of Mexico, meals and trips over the coast city.

Civil Defense Is Set For Reviw

Jerry Don George, chairman of the Civil Emergency Planning Committee, conducted a meeting with Bill Thompson, director of Civil Defense, and representatives of various local key businesses in the important subject of preparedness in cases of future disasters which might strike the city of Hereford. It was held at the Hickory Log at noon Friday.

Among the organizations represented were the city and county law and fire departments, the Red Cross, The American Legion, the schools, agriculture defense, a doctor, an ambulance service, gas and telephone utilities, and the post office.

George is principal at LaPlata Junior High and Thompson is manager of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce. It was a meeting directed toward "What your agency can do and how they are equipped," in view of the responsibilities of the personnel involved.

The civil emergency program is a difficult one to impress upon the people here, George pointed out, since there have been no major disasters in the area for some time, "but there is always the possibility of such emergencies and we must be prepared."

The main topic of conversation was tornadoes and natural phenomena.

Thompson stressed coordination between all agencies. He maintained that, in the case of a tornado, people here would be safer if they used the schools as shelters. Should a tornado occur during school hours, the kids are a lot safer where they are."

Roy Hartman, who with Bob Holman represented the schools concurred and expressed the opinion that "the news media could help in this advance knowledge tremendously."

Sheriff Ed Roberson explained that his office had a schedule of the necessary people to call in cases of tornadoes — which included Thompson — and pointed out how it would be followed without any loss of time. The utilities, the doctor and the ambulance service also described their present outlays.

Also discussed was the event of an airplane crash which involved a number of passengers in the county.

Reviewed at some length was the present alarm system, with the prospect that only a small percentage of the people here actually "remember what the system means." A review of this method with the public at large appeared to be the best solution with the planners.

"To get the ball rolling" on civil defense preparedness, they agreed to meet again the following Friday at noon, April 5, at the Hickory Log.

CIVIL DEFENSE MEETING — Jerry Don George, left, chairman of the Civil Emergency Planning Committee, discusses important literature on the subject presented by Bill Thompson, the Civil Defense director. They and other key members of the Hereford community are revitalizing plans to be used in cases of future unwanted but nonetheless probable disasters in the area.

Big Brother Program Is Sought By Local Citizens

By MARSHALL DAY
Staff Writer

With the need for the organizing of a Big Brother Program realized, local men met Friday in an effort to get the ball rolling in establishing one in Hereford.

Meeting at the Hickory Log, the group, consisting of nine men, discussed the possibility of arranging a date that could be met in agreement on by the members to hold regular meetings. They settled on another meeting for next Thursday, March 4th at 7 a. m. in the Hickory Log.

The purpose of this meeting is to elect the balance of board members consisting of D. C. Kinsey, H. C. Williams, Marshall Padgett, Roman Friemel, Garland Solomon, Gene Brink, Paul Abalos, Joe Soto, Melvin Jayroe, Jerry Detwiler, Don Zimmerman, and Ed Skypala.

Began in New York City back in 1964, the Big Brother Movement, headed by Colonel Ernest K. Coulter, was suggested to the Men's Club of the Central Presbyterian Church. Because the members felt that the boys' guilt in most cases was only that they had been deprived of a basic childhood right — the right to a father's love — they set upon the idea of the Big Brother Program. From the very beginning, forty members volunteered their services and this was how the first agency was organized.

Slowly but steadily expanding the Big Brothers Association had 13 groups join forces and form the Big Brothers of America in 1946 and shortly thereafter, was chartered by the Congress of the United States. Presently there are some 106-member agencies and it is still growing.

While the present organization in Hereford is still in its embryonic stage, there have already been numerous contributions from various merchants and companies, and because of the great amount of funds required to organize a program of this type, the present committee is still in search of interested workers who will contribute some of their time to the program.

Believing that "No man ever stands so straight as when he stoops to help a boy," the Big Brother Association has helped some 84,000 "Little Brothers" who headed down a "dead-end street of crime." And while supported solely by voluntary contributions, the program has 28 chapters in the principal cities of this country, and three in Canada.

Essential steps in establishing a Big Brother show basic needs to be: an influential, representative, and responsible Board of Directors; a large, capable led volunteer organizations; an experienced professional staff; the funds to support the staff; and harmonious, effective relations with the community in general and the social agencies in particular. The first step of these needs have been met by the local men interested in the program and with the help of the local citizens, steps are now being taken to go even farther with the BBA.

Female Cagers Still Competing

While the fever of basketball is slowly fading away for the year, the Hereford Women's Basketball League are keeping the spirit alive as they are still going strong.

In last week's action, the Double J's, led by the 26 point performance of hustling, Zula Arney, swept past the team of Lani's Lovelies by an 18 point margin of 42-24. Putting in the most points for the losers was Lani Walterscheid as she connected for nine.

Daisy Huntsinger led the action in the second game as she netted 16 points for the Gay Granny's in their 32-17 rout of Dooley's Dollies. Joan Fuston put 13 points through the net for the losing team in the contest.

Referees for the two games were Ed Schroter and Gary Tyler, and Joe Roddy did the honors of keeping score and running the clock.

The next games for the league is set for Tuesday, April 2, beginning at 7:30 p. m. in the high school gym. The first game will see the Gay Granny's meet Lani's Lovelies while the Double J's will encounter Dooley's Dollies. It was also mentioned that the games scheduled for April 9, will be cancelled due to Easter.

Herd Lines

By Marshall Day

If I should lose, let me stand by the road and cheer as the winners go by.

With every season, come battles for titles, and from these battles, victors emerge in hopes of continuing their reign. Also from these battles come the inevitable losers who have fought but fell. Locally, hopes are beginning to look rather bright for all of the sporting teams as golf, baseball, volleyball and track seem to be edging their way toward their perspective titles in district 1-AAA races.

While nothing can be definitely stated as being "taken," it can be certain that these four teams will be in the running for district honors.

Golf, the one sport which has consistently proven itself district champions over the past years, seems to be streaking its way to another district title as they now hold the South Zone lead by 14 strokes with only one more meet to be held. After getting off to a poor start, the linksters have rejuvenated since and now appear to be on their way once more. If the bottom doesn't fall out of the bucket, the golfers should easily collect another Zone title and then possibly a district trophy.

Baseballers, while not yet having begun district battle, with the ever-contending Dumas Demons and Canyon Eagles, will have their hands full throughout the district span. But one other thing, if pre-district competition can put any light on the matter, they will certainly be in contention. With a record of six wins and three losses, with victories over numerous AAAA schools, you can't help but keep an eye on these competitors.

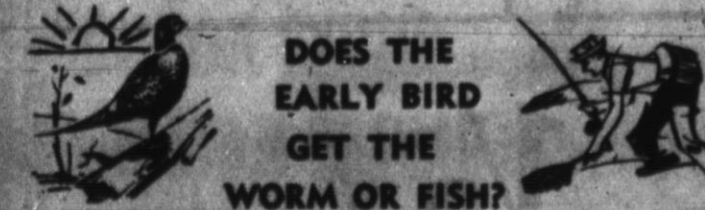

Volleyballers have found little competition in district play as they have practically devoured their opponents this season. With one lone game standing in their way of another South Zone title, hopes were riding the crest, as a Zone winner was decided Friday night in the local gymnasium. It seems that last year, the team won the Zone title but couldn't get around the Zone play-off titles as they fell just short of a district note.

Tracksters, while having a better chance to send someone to district, regional, and even state meets, will have their hands full it seems, as Perryton and Dumas, along with possibly the other schools, will be in the running for titles in District 1-AAA competition.

From the looks of things, if one were to take all the "ifs" out of the sporting scene, Hereford would have a clean sweep of the district titles, but since "ifs" were made just for things of this type, you've got to face the facts... and the "ifs."

"On the deck" and "in the hole," well-known baseball phrases, were, believe it or not, originated from some of those universal saying used by seafaring men back in the late 1800's.

It seems that back in 1872, a baseball team from Boston, Massachusetts, went to the seacoast town of Belfast, Maine for a game. Most of the Belfasters, which included the scorekeeper, were, as environmental things should be, seagoing men. Being the scorekeeper, a young man that he was, the man announced the next batter as "on deck" and the following one as "in the hold." "Hold" eventually became "hole," referring to the dugout, and the expressions have been a part of the game since.

Billy E. Mitchell Award Highlights CAP Banquet

By TYLER VANCE
The local Civil Air Patrol held their awards banquet Monday night at the Hickory Log. Highlighting the evening activities was the presentation of the Billy E. Mitchell award to Mark Roberson, and the surprise promotion of Capt. Milton Adams to the rank of Major.

Gene Fooks, chaplain of the local organization, presented the Mitchell award to Roberson. In listing the qualifications for the award, Fooks noted that Roberson had completed phase 2 of the program, and will be promoted to Master-Sergeant. He has completed the six tests in Operation Countdown and attended a summer encampment. The award makes the recipient eligible for scholarships and other programs to further his education. Roberson is the fifth cadet to receive the award in the local area.

Several other promotions were made during the meeting. Lynn McClarty was promoted to First Class, Jackie Almon was promoted to Staff Sergeant and Gerald Burnie was promoted to Master Sergeant. Lynn McClarty also was awarded his pilot wings.

Lt. Bennie Womble presented "101" or Emergency Service cards to Milton Adams, Wes Owens, John McClarty, himself and Bill Thompson. Curtis Traewick was not present for his award.

Bill Thompson also received the communicators badge. Senior member "Certificates of Proficiency" were made to John McClesky, Bill Thompson and Milton Adams.

Featured speaker for the evening was Dennis L. O'Brien, retired Major in the Air Force. O'Brien, while on active duty, was involved in Air Rescue work, spoke on the things necessary to have a good CAP squadron.

"CAP was created to fill the gap the Air Force couldn't fill," said the speaker. "Air Rescue could never fulfill the motto, 'That others may live', were it not for the CAP."

In outlining the necessary attitudes for a good local squadron, O'Brien said, "First, the people must set goals for themselves, and have a desire to attain these goals. Then confidence is important, along with a plan of action. Determination is the next big word."

O'Brien warned members of the "enemy" of any good squadron—complacency. Other awards made at the banquet included, Certificates in Aircraft Recognition to Rosemary Schetz, Thersa Rudd and Bill McClesky. These cadets also won the Col. Charles Lindberg award for navigation in weather. Airman Schetz and McClesky also advanced to Airman First Class.

Four year service ribbons were awarded to Bennie Womble, Wes Owens, Gene Fooks, Bill Thompson and Milton Adams.

Essay Contest Entries Are Due

"Deaf Smith's Part in the Battle of San Jacinto" is the subject matter for the essay contest sponsored by the Junior Historical Society of the Hereford schools. The rules set a maximum of 500 words and a minimum of 300. Deadline for the essays to be judged is Monday, April 8.

The contest is limited to students in the ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades. All entries must be turned into Junior Society members. Judging will be done by the LaPlata Club, and possibly a member of the Senior Historical Society.

Three cash prizes will be offered. First prize will be $10, second prize will be $5, and third prize $3. The winning entries will then be published in the April 21 Sunday Brand.

3-Street Coffee Is Ice Breaker

In a Northwest Hereford neighborhood where homes are all new and residents have not had time to become acquainted, an ice-breaking gesture was made by three hostesses at a neighborhood coffee-Friday morning.

Mrs. Ray Frye, Mrs. J. D. Kirkland and Mrs. Carroll F. Newsom invited women living on Mimosa, Liveoak and Kingwood Streets to the coffee in Mrs. Frye's home, 144 Liveoak. Object of the party was better acquaintance among occupants of the new houses.

Callers were greeted by the hostesses. Introductions were made informally and a casual atmosphere was maintained to encourage conversation among neighbors who were getting to know each other.

Mrs. Ray Polan poured coffee for guests in the dining room where a bouquet of spring blossoms featuring white hyacinths added a cheerful note.

Mrs. W. L. Barnes of Denver was a guest who accompanied her daughter, Mrs. Jeff Carlike, in whose home she is visiting.

Paisano Lions To Sponsor Rebel 9

Ed Salinas, president of the Paisano Lions Club, has announced that his club will serve as sponsor of the newly organized Irrigation League baseball team the Rebels.

The club has taken on the responsibility of providing money on all the expenses of the team, and will furnish the playing equipment needed with the exception of the players' gloves and shoes. The Paisano Lions will also be in charge of the gate charges for the games and the running of the concession stand, he pointed out.

While no set price has been announced as to the cost of admission to the games, the proceeds are expected to go toward the purchasing of glasses for needy children of school age. Salinas also stated that while most people think that the Paisano Lions Club is just for Latin people they are greatly misled. The club is planning to use the money for all children and he said that the idea of using it for solely Latin children would be way off target.

Charlie Moreno, player-coach of the Rebels, has also announced that there will be practice today at 1 p. m. and that there were still vacancies for some five or six boys. Suits will be handed out today to the players present and season play is scheduled to begin on May 5th.

Today's practice is to be at the high school park.

Under a Civilian Conservation Corps grant, work on the state park east of Hereford (now Veterans Memorial Park) was begun in 1934.

Chiming Of Clock Reminds Allred Of Constant Hobby

By PENNY YOUNG
Staff Writer

Over 20 rebuilt or newly-made clocks chime out the time every hour on the hour in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Allred at 204 N. Lawton Street. The clocks, some of them at least 80 years old, have been the constant hobby of J. C. Allred for over 35 years.

Allred gets his clocks from different places—from neighbors, from different towns such as Dallas and Wichita Falls, and even from trash cans and junk yards. These clocks he will take apart piece by piece to find the error in the regulation, and rebuild them.

Up until a year ago, Allred only did small work on the fixtures of the clocks, but lately, he has carved the cases for ten new fixtures sent to him from Germany through a company in North Carolina. The new insides come unregulated and take a bit of work to make them run, which Allred does. He then adds a new case that he has carved out of soft pine wood which he gets from the lumber yard. Most of the designs that turn up on a clock case were drawn out on paper first, then carved on the wood and finished.

Allred began his clock hobby by working on an old clock that belonged to his father. It now sits on a shelf of their home and has been running for over 80 years. Before he gave himself up entirely to his hobby, Allred helped his son Jimmy at the Oil Co.

"I never tried to charge for it. Never did figure that I was good enough to charge. One thing about it though," Allred commented, "you always turn out satisfied customers. I sell the clocks by what they cost me. I don't make a profit on them. They are just a hobby. I've sold four of the original ten that I made and six are still sitting on a shelf here at home."

Allred's work isn't limited to building new clocks. One time, he fixed a clock that some boys were fixing to haul off. They had found it in a trash can. Allred rescued the clock for his purposes and even re-made a few of the parts for it. He re-made the case and the clock has been running for four or five years now.

Cookoo clocks are another interesting type of timepiece that Allred has worked on.

"One thing about cookoo clocks, he said, "My wife and I were in Wichita Falls one time and found a man that had a box of broken cookoo with the parts in a mess. The parts were actually mixed together. So, I asked the man how much that he would like for the whole box which he sold for $20. I brought the box home, and managed to make ten cookoo out of the mixed up works, later giving them to children around town. My idea is to help someone and children I like to help. I'll fix up clocks as a hobby and never try to sell them."

Before the doctor limited his work, Allred fixed, rebuilt, or just made 604 clocks and keeps a record book of his customers. None of them have come from overseas unless it would be one of his 400-day clocks, but a lot have come over from Canada to be fixed.

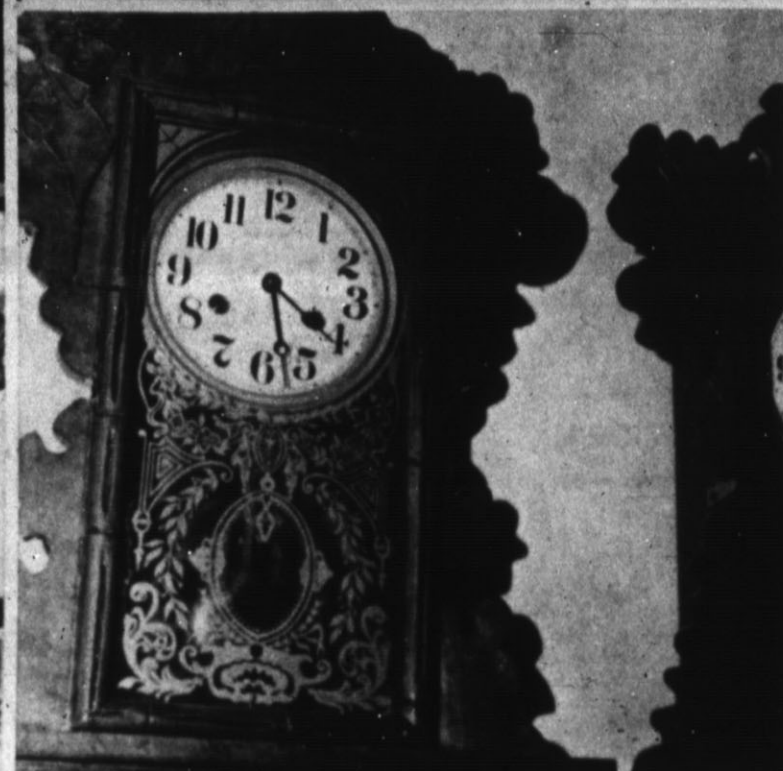

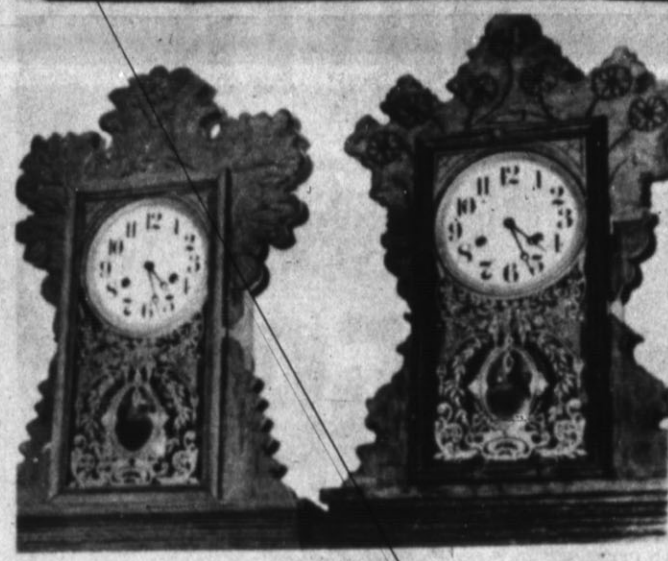

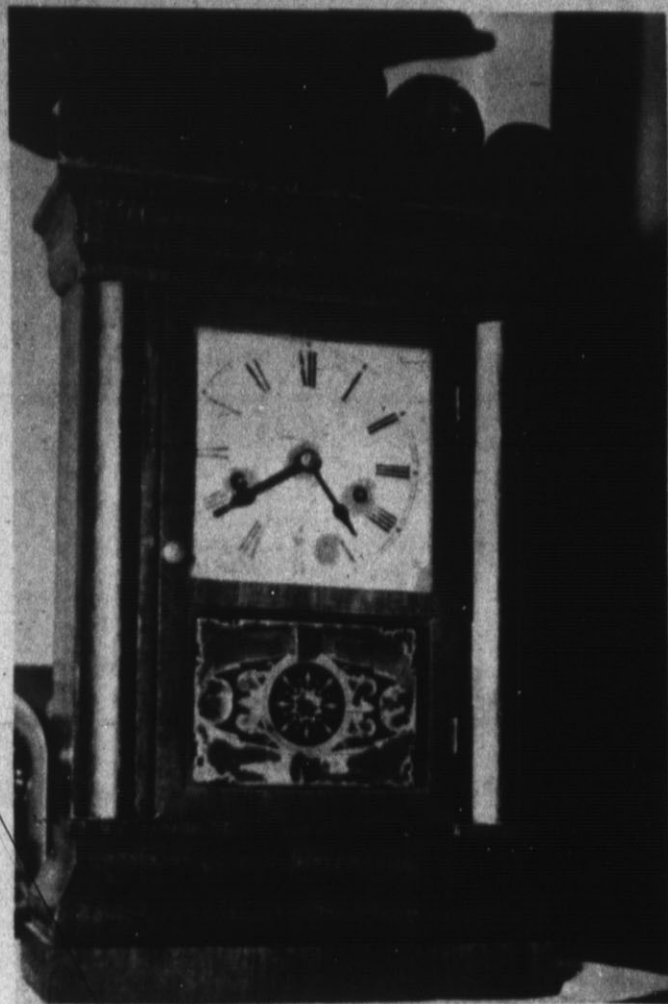

One clock, sent to him by a friend in Colorado, has been running for 95 years now. The clock was sent to him during the war and, not having access to the necessary parts, Allred had to construct a few of them himself, such as the pendulum that regulates the clocks action. This clock has been passed all around town to customers leaving their own for repair work and in need of a clock until theirs is fixed.

"One clock that was brought in from out of town to be fixed had a broken spring," stated Allred, "and not being a standard clock, I had to have one made, and tear the clock apart and repair. So, the people now owe me for the broken spring I fixed, but they have no idea how much it cost to repair the main spring."

The Allred's have been married for 61 years, and the last few have been filled with the chime of the many clocks around the house. However, as Mrs. Allred comments, "All this time with these clocks, they never wake us up at night. I guess you just get used to them."

Valedictorian of the Hereford High School class of 1906 was Sam G. Bratton. His class was the first to be given diplomas in formal graduation exercises.

CLOCKS OCCUPY THE TIME FOR J. C. ALLRED and provide for an enjoyable hobby. LEFT TOP—One of the oldest clocks in his collection, and one that was rescued from the junk heap, Allred commenced to make new parts for it such as the pendulum made from cork and string and perfectly balanced. The case enclosing the clock was also remade. It has been running ever since. RIGHT TOP—A clock that was retrieved from the clutches of trash men proved to be in repairable shape as Allred began by making repairs on it. It has been a reliable timepiece for several years now. LOWER PICTURES—These clocks, or at least the mechanisms for them were ordered from Germany. The cases in which the clocks are in were carved by Allred out of soft pine wood. Before the clocks would run, they all required a bit of regulating.

Easter Seal Drive Closes April 14

J. A. Hodges Jr., who serves as the Hereford Easter Seal Appeal Treasurer, reported as a Deaf Smith County Easter Seal representative that "the appeal is going well."

As Easter Seal representative, Hodges is the person to contact for services from the Easter Seal Society. He can be reached at the Hereford State Bank, Hereford 79045. When contacted for services, Hodges will request the Easter Seal Society to investigate the needs of the disabled person and will ask that the Society advise the handicapped person of the best resources available to help him. He added that additional contributions to the Easter Seal Appeal should be sent as soon as possible, as the 1968 Appeal ends on Easter Sunday, April 14. These contributions should be sent to Hodges encare of his bank address.

The 1968 Easter Seal Appeal will finance the Easter Seal Society's rehabilitation program for children and adults in Texas. Last year, the Society helped 17,622 disabled persons through its program of assistance in finding and making effective use of services for the disabled and their families.

The Easter Seal Society helps support 21 treatment facilities in Texas, where children and adults are treated irregardless of ability to pay.

These centers offer physical therapy, medical diagnosis speech and hearing programs and related services to help the disabled build happier and more useful lives.

A Scottish parliament decreed in Leap Year 1228 that any single man refusing an offer of marriage from a maiden "shall be mulcted in ye sum" of one pound or less according to his means.

Approximately $250 damage was caused in a recent two-car collision at the intersection of Grand Avenue and Avenue B.

A 1962 Chevrolet driven by Ramirez Alejandro Torres of Hereford was going south on Avenue B and a 1959 Ford driven by Elizabeth Joyce Martin of 341 Avenue A was going east on Grand when the vehicles collided as one driver failed to yield at the intersection.

There was an estimated $50 damage to the Torres car, $300 damage to the Martin vehicle and $5 damage to a stop sign. Torres received a citation for driving while intoxicated in the March 22 accident.

LION'S BILLBOARDS — Ed Salinas, local Paisano Lion's club president, displays a model of the billboard signs to be constructed all over the state of Texas to welcome members to the National Lion's convention in Dallas. See story.

Lion's Bill Boards Herald Convention

"It's great to be a Lion," is the message that will be on thousands of billboards across the State of Texas, heralding the National Lion's Club Convention to be held in Dallas in June.

The message, printed in seven foreign languages representing the countries where the club is active, will greet travelers to the convention and also the Hemisfare in San Antonio.

According to Ed Salinas, local Lion's member, this is the second time the National Convention will be held in Texas.

Some 25,000 clubs are expected to be represented at the meeting.

The announcement of the billboard project came from Ken Waugh, district 21-1 Governor, who also urged local members to make plans now to attend the convention.

The name of C. R. Moreman appeared quite frequently in reports of civic activities in Hereford and Deaf Smith County in the early days. Moreman had cypress lumber shipped here for his home and for the construction of a building.

Close Following Causes Accident

The Sunday Brand, Hereford, Texas, Sunday, March 31, 1968

I. N. Dillard was one of a group of five who bought the first of the XIT land to be sold when it was dispersed in 1960.

Alfred Ellison and his brother came to Deaf Smith County in 1907 and built the first house in the Escarbada pasture when land from the XIT was being sold. They were strictly cattlemen until about 1920. Afterward, they farmed.

Officers said a 1967 Ford driven by James B. Halle of Route 4 and a 1964 Chevrolet driven by Jerry Greenwood of Trinidad, Colo., both were traveling on U. S. 385 when the accident occurred Saturday night, March 23.

Halle told officers that a pickup had turned in his path and he had to skid to keep from hitting it. Greenwood couldn't stop in time and slammed into Halle. There was an estimated $200 damage to Halle's car and $350 damage to Greenwood's vehicle.

What's Happening To Money??

Editor's note: Because of the interest area residents have expressed in recent events concerning British devaluation of the pound and the gold crisis in this country, the Brand is reprinting this important story from the March issue of the American Legion Magazine. In the article Charles E. Walker, executive vice president of the American Bankers Association, answers submitted by the Legion president.

Q. What we are trying to do is to make some sense out of all the news about gold, the pound and the dollar — which is plainly viewed as a crisis of world proportions. For the record, will you identify yourself?

Dr. Walker: I am Charles E. Walker. I have been executive vice president and general manager of the American Bankers Association since 1961.

Q. Is it also correct that you have a PhD in economics, you were Assistant Secretary of the Treasury from 1959 to 1961, you are a trustee of the Joint Council on Economic Education and among other things have taught business and finance at the Universities of Pennsylvania and Texas?

A. Yes.
Q. Dr. Walker, for many years we have all been concerned about the flow of gold out of the United States. Last fall, Britain devalued the pound. This New Year's Day President Johnson announced emergency steps to "protect the dollar." And they were pretty drastic.

What is there about all this news that is so serious for everyone?
A. We face the danger of a serious slump in free world trade — trade between nations — and in the free world's economies.

Q. How serious would that be for most people?

A. A slump in world trade could carry the seeds of economic depression for everyone. Take one of our big industries — autos, chemicals or steel. If they lose a good part of their overseas markets, they must cut back production. That means layoffs of workers in their own industries, and reductions in what they buy from other industries, thus widening the layoffs. Americans who get less work will spend less at their local stores. Soon the store owners must tighten their own belts and cut back their own buying and hiring.

Thus a world trade slump can quickly produce a domestic trade slump, with general unemployment and hardship. We've been through that once in this century, and all would agree that it is a serious thing for everyone.

Q. What is there about what's happening to money — to the pound, to dollars, to gold — that threatens the health of world trade?

A. We are threatened with a weakening of faith in the system of money that must change hands in trade across national borders. No matter how badly anyone wants to trade, he doesn't want to take a bad check. So it's only natural that a weakening of faith in the international money system threatens to slow trade.

Q. There's no official international money, and no law between nations that controls money. So what is the money system you speak of?

A. It is the familiar one created voluntarily by the United States and our free world friends after WW2. It grew out of the Great Depression. We recognized that a sound international money system would spur world trade and help avoid another depression.

During the Great Depression, since we could control money at home by law and regulation, we went off the gold standard at home. Then we put the international world, where there is no law or regulation, on the gold standard.

Our government called in all the monetary gold in the United States (leaving some for industry, dentistry, art and jewelry). It was then worth about $21 an ounce. We raised the price to $35 an ounce and guaranteed that any friendly foreign nation could swap any U. S. dollars that it had for gold at that price at any time. We also guaranteed to buy gold for dollars at that price. At Bretton Woods, N. H., in 1945, we met with other nations and worked out more details of the plan.

We have kept our gold pledge ever since 1934, and for 34 years the soundness of the U. S. dollar has kept the machinery of world trade oiled. It has served us and the rest of the free world well.

Q. Will you give a simple example of how it works?

A. Understand that its chief virtue is that it simply helps trade to happen. Let's pretend a Brazilian firm wants to buy Italian roller bearings. The Italians want to sell but have no faith in the Brazilian money. If that were all they could get, no deal. But the Brazilians offer U. S. dollars that Brazil got by selling us coffee. The Italians believe in the gold-backed U. S. dollar, so the deal goes through.

Now let's show, too, how this might help our own economy. The Italian firm may spend some of those dollars in Pittsburgh to buy more steel to make more roller bearings. So what started with an Italian deal in Brazil ends up in bigger payrolls in Pittsburgh.

Q. Does that mean we always have had an ounce of gold in reserve for every $5 U. S. dollars held abroad?

A. No. Sometimes more. In recent years much less. The two needn't match, and it isn't necessary to the system that we have gold for every dollar outstanding overseas. If that were so, it could be a poor system.

Q. Why? One would suppose the opposite.

A. World trade must have many more dollars circulating than the $43 billion that all the monetary gold in the free world is worth. That much isn't enough by far to carry on the world's business today, and nobody would accept restriction on the future growth of world trade that would be tied forever to the limit of the gold available. A precious metal may serve trade, but mustn't be its master.

Q. But if we don't have the gold to buy back all the dollars on demand, how can anyone believe our promise to do so?

A. What you need is more than enough gold in reserve to meet the normal demand, and then manage it so that there's no abnormal demand.

Gold is almost the last thing anyone wants for his dollars if all is going well. The purpose of dollars in international trade is to buy goods, not gold. The normal demand for gold in exchange for dollars is small. Thus, a well-managed gold system can support a money supply far larger than the gold reserve. That's the whole value of the gold-based dollar and all the other nations recognize it. Most of the dollars circulate buying wheat, cotton, steel, oil, coffee or you name it, with a profit on every deal. Dollars that are swapped for gold go out of circulation, while the gold goes into a costly vault where it doesn't earn the owner interest.

Q. Then what purpose does the gold serve?

A. In a smooth-working world economy most of it just sits in our vaults breathing confidence. That comes from our actually meeting all normal demands on it for 34 years, which our reserve has always been able to do.

But let's make it absolutely clear that every nation that will accept a dollar in payment for a dollar's worth of goods is baking up the dollar with wheat, steel, coffee, sugar, rubber, lumber, tea, radios and cameras quite as much as we are backing it up with gold. That is why, when the system works smoothly, many more dollars can circulate than our gold could redeem. The value of the world's trade goods supports them.

Q. You have repeatedly said "when it works smoothly," and you have warned that the gold dollar works "if we manage it so that there's no abnormal demand for gold." This brings us to the question of what is not working smoothly today.

A. Well, of course. Most people have heard for some years that there is a sort of run on the bank. The demand for our gold from abroad has been abnormal, and now we are alarmed about the drain, and even more, the threat of a worse one. In 1949, we had $24 billion in gold. This is now down to just about $12 billion. That is still one fourth of all the monetary gold in the free world. But under present conditions only a little less than $2 billion of that gold now stands behind more than 30 billion U. S. dollars held by foreigners.

Q. Why less than $2 billion if we have about $12 billion?

A. Under present law, 25 cents of every paper dollar we use at home is backed by gold. You and I can't get that gold, but, as a sort of check on our just printing paper money with abandon, Congress long since required that 25 cents in gold be held to stand behind each Federal Reserve dollar in use here. A little more than ten billion dollars of our gold backs our domestic dollars. (In an emergency, the Federal Reserve does have power to tap that $10 billion for foreign use.)

So, point one. There has long been an abnormal demand for our gold. It has drained away half of all we held in 19 years. If you exempt the $10 billion to back up our domestic dollar, six sevenths of our normal supply for the overseas dollar is gone. This, all by itself, is making many of our

H.D. CHATTER Knits Have Classic Look

Some styles, fabrics and weaves seem to have no age. The shirtwaist style, the coat dress are two that seem ever to be favorites. Many think that knits will become ageless. Most of the garments that need no pressing are made of knits. Too, there are finishes that need no "touching up" before wearing.

"KNITOVATION." This new work illustrates how the textile technologists and fashion designers have gone wild over textured knits. The results are happy ones for clothes-conscious consumers.

Man-made fibers, natural fibers and blends feature the many textures in all ranges of apparel. Textured means that smooth, continuous filament yarn has been modified by introducing the permanent crimp, coils, curls, loops and disarrangement, says Rhea Boyles, Extension clothing specialist at Texas A&M University.

Yarn usually is textured to:

(1) create an unusual surface interest to fabric; (2) to give a fabric increased bulk, usually producing greater fabric volume for the same weight of yarn; (3) provide greater cover and cut down on the show-through of relatively lightweight fabrics; or (4) give fabrics stretch or recovery characteristics.

MAY IS Senior Citizen Month with an emphasis on safety. Begin now to check for hazards in the home so it will be impossible for elderly people to get hurt. Minnie Bell is a newly appointed specialist at Texas A&M University and is doing a good job with family living programs and releases.

Many elderly people find it difficult to get about because they are plagued by failing eyesight and weakened muscles. Miss Bell offers a dozen inexpensive ways to help oldsters with those problems.

1. Place a night light near the floor in bedrooms, halls and baths.

2. Install long rails in hallways to grip while walking.

3. Mount bars firmly to bathroom walls as an aid in getting in and out of tubs.

4. Secure bathtub seats to allow a full-tub bath rather than a sponge bath.

5. Obtain a tripod-tipped cane to provide good support.

6. Get a pick-up stick with a magnet on one end for metals and a spike on the other end for soft items.

7. Use a long handled shoe horn to eliminate stooping.

8. Use a polejack held between the floor and the ceiling to help when rising from a chair or the bed.

9. Glue a piece of sandpaper or tape on a bottle to warn of medicine not to be taken internally.

10. Mark positions on a stove to show heat levels. Use large initials in bright paint as an "L" for low, "M" for medium and "H" for hot.

11. Remove all slipping or tripping hazards, such as rugs, mats or low furniture.

12. Supply easily accessible storage between hip and eye level for personal articles to eliminate need for bending and climbing.

TO THOSE who fasten seat belts only on long trips; It is true that most accidents occur close to home. In 1966, 77 per cent of the drivers involved in motor accidents were local residents, 16 per cent resided elsewhere in the state and 7 per cent were nonresident of the state. This is for the state of TEXAS.

CARMELA BURGESS of Ford 4-H Club entered this delicious dish in the Food Show. She was kind to let me give it to you. Cynthia Hanna, the group leader, worked out this recipe. You will find it very good.

CHICKEN TETRAZZINI

1 large fryer cooked and boned
4 tbs. butter or margarine
1 small can sliced mushrooms
1 C. Chopped celery
4 tbs. chopped green pepper

3 tbs. chopped onion
2 tbs. flour
2 to 3 C. chicken stock or more
4 tbs. steak sauce
Salt and pepper to taste

Melt butter in skillet, add celery, green pepper and onion and cook until tender. Add mushrooms and steak sauce. Add flour and mix well. (Carmela cooks the noodles in the chicken stock)

Combine vegetables, noodles and chicken. If you need more liquid, add a can of cream of mushroom soup. This can be frozen and reheated. Serves 10-12.

What's Happening

friends nervous about the dollars they hold.

Q. Well, they have the gold that's gone, don't they?

A. Yes. But they are still loaded with dollars, too. That is where we didn't manage the system correctly. If our friends in the free world had had just the right amount of dollars that they need for healthy trade with other nations, they wouldn't have been buying up our gold. They'd have kept their dollars for trade. The basic bad management from the start of our gold decline has been that we let a situation develop in which the other nations had too many dollars.

Q. Their extra dollars permitted them to buy gold without sacrificing their trade currency. But it didn't force them to, did it?

A. No, but when they have too many dollars they worry about it. President De Gaulle, of course, has been demanding gold for his dollars all along. He is a sort of Peck's Bad Boy of international finance and politics. But some very friendly governments and central banks have become worried in recent years that the dollar will not remain as good as gold. When they see dollars piling up in their hands at a faster rate than they can use them back over here in trade, they start to ask questions. Will this never stop? Is this good money or are they just piling up a big mess of IOU's from the same fellow?

Q. Have they gotten to many dollars by selling us more goods than we buy from them?

A. No. We sell wheat abroad and automobiles. We sell steel, all the products of industry, and we sell services. We collect dollars for them. There's a pretty good flow of income on our foreign investment into the United States. All of this takes some of their excess dollars away from them. Of course we spend dollars abroad to buy foreign goods — Scotch whiskey; British wools; French perfume and champagne; Mercedes automobiles and Volkswagens; Japanese and German cameras, TV's, tape recorders and stereo sets. But we sell a lot more goods abroad than we buy from abroad and have a trade surplus that's strongly in our favor. The flow of dollars in foreign trade is in our direction.

Q. That raises two questions about what has already happened. How did the other free countries get too many dollars, and what started them actually turning their excess dollars in to gold to the degree that that has already happened?

A. You can hardly turn around without reading about our "balance-of-payment deficit." By now everyone knows the President wants to check the flow of dollars abroad by restrictions on travel and investment abroad. Yet neither travel nor investment created the bad balance.

For a long period of time investments abroad by American firms and individuals sent dollars abroad without promptly bringing them home again in some other form. Over a period of 50 years, investment by Americans in Europe, Japan, Taiwan and elsewhere tended to build up an excess of dollars outside of this country. But that did not create a permanent retreat of dollars from our shore, because today we get back each year in income from our foreign investments more than we send abroad in new investments.

We are in trouble because of our government's operations. Because of the large amount of dollars flowing abroad in connection with foreign economic aid and military expenditures overseas. Foreign economic aid is not the big item, the military expenditures are. Adding these two together, we are on the average sending from one to four billion dollars a year overseas that don't come back in any form of trade. They are spent overseas and remain there. We have been doing this ever since 1950, and through 1967 we had sent over $35 billion overseas without getting them back in trade. That is our "balance-of-payments deficit" that you hear so much about. Foreign countries have collected about $12 billion in gold. They have accumulated about 23 billion in dollars and other American securities that they are holding. They had about seven billion in dollars before these deficits of ours began. That leaves them holding about 30 billion in dollars today. What can they do with these dollars? There are only two main possibilities at present. Hold onto them or swap them in for more of our gold.

Of course the house of cards would collapse if they should try to cash the whole $30 billion in for the $12 billion in gold that is our whole present stock. We would have such a run on the bank that the United States would have no choice but to suspend its gold guarantee. Then the entire fabric of international trade would be strained and perhaps ripped apart.

Q. That prospect should frighten them out of asking for the gold, shouldn't it?

A. It does, up to the point where they take genuine alarm. But once they take alarm it is every man for himself. This is as true of nations as it is of people. Rather than sink the system and themselves with it, most of them would rather hold onto the dollars if they could work with us for a less drastic solution than a run on the bank. But, meanwhile, we have been scaring them in another way, more to come.

Q. How?

A. By letting inflation of the dollar get out of hand at home. Consider what this means to West Germany; as an example of a friend that is doing its best to hold onto its extra dollars. In the last few years she has seen prices and wages get out of hand in the United States again, with the result that the value of our dollar is falling. How long can you ask West Germany simply to hold her excess dollars when she can see that their value is shrinking day-by-day unless she turns them into gold?

Q. Do these matters cover the basic causes of the present money mess in international trade?

A. Yes. You could talk about a lot of other things, all of them important. But none of them are as serious as (1) the flow of dollars abroad through the government operations that don't provide for their return, and (2) the cheapening of dollars at home, to the alarm of those who are holding more than they can use overseas. We must find a way to manage these directly or there is serious trouble ahead for everyone.

Q. Let's talk about solutions.

A. Well, people from the President on down have proposed all sorts of solutions — and many stop-gap remedies that would not be solutions. It would be possible, in an emergency, to devalue the dollar as the British devalued the pound.

For instance if we doubled the price of gold, raised it to $70 an ounce, that would let us redeem twice as many dollars with the same amount of gold. Fear that we might thus devalue our money by surprise, as Britain did, is already one of the things that is shaking confidence in the dollar today.

But if worse comes to worse we might be driven to this, and perhaps it could be done in an orderly way in consultation with our friends, although I doubt it. As a last gasp emergency step it has this in its favor — that half a pie is better than none. But even then, this would benefit most those nations that have already been the least cooperative, those that have cornered the most gold already. We'd maintain the value of their gold while halving the value of dollars held by the faithful. Then, to it, would select those nations that are the biggest gold producers for special benefit — the Soviet Union and South Africa.

Another solution often proposed is that we erect more tariff barriers or impose quotas on foreign sales here. The theory is that we would continue to sell goods abroad and collect dollars from overseas. Meantime foreign sales here, for which we pay out dollars, would shrink. Pretty soon we'd have such a big trade surplus in our favor that it would bring the missing dollars back.

But two can play this game. The other countries could and would impose tariffs and quotas on American goods in retaliation. This was done in the 1930's, and it shrank the total volume of world trade until everyone was worse off.

But we can build up our trade surplus without artificial barriers, and attack our inflation at home at the same time.

Q. How?

A. By making our goods more competitive abroad. That would bring us more dollars for goods. To be competitive we must keep our costs from rising faster than the cost of production overseas. To do this we have to make certain that the total income of American labor — the total wages paid in this country — do not rise faster than our productivity.

Q. That's something we often hear, but usually in language that doesn't make it too clear to the working man. To him it sounds like an excuse to keep his pay down, though all the economists say it's the only thing that will really make him richer.

A. OK, let's take one item only. Say one auto that we want to sell overseas. It costs $2,000 to make it. We can sell it abroad for $2,500, but if the price is higher than that we can't sell it. With shipping and sales costs added to the manufacturing cost, let's say we can just make a profit selling it at $2,500. Now labor gets a raise.

If the company doesn't produce more cars with the same labor, then the cost of making each car goes up, and pushes us out of the market. But if the firm can make more cars with the same labor force, then it can pay labor more per man without raising the price of each car. What the plant gets for the extra cars made absorbs the cost of the increased wages without raising prices.

Q. Is that what the President was getting at a few years ago when he suggested a "guideline" for labor of no more than about 3 1/2 percent increase in wages per year?

A. Yes. We were increasing our productivity by about 3 1/2 percent a year, so we could afford that much more for labor. It really worked that way from 1961 to 1965. Almost everyone's income rose, but our productivity rose rapidly at the same time. In the process we increased our competitiveness in world markets.

Q. That checked inflation too, didn't it?

A. Yes. When both wages and prices go up, that's inflation, and nobody is better off. The new wages are burned up when the workers themselves pay higher prices for what they need. But when wage increases are hitched to more production, prices needn't rise and the wage increases are real.

In the last two years we have seen prices and wages go up much faster than the rate of production. Thus each item costs more, and it is easier for other nations to undersell us in world markets. And the result here has been the very dangerous cheapening of our money.

You can't separate runaway production costs from the world-wide money crisis. The settlements that were made recently in the auto industry, starting with Ford last autumn, and then General Motors, come to nearly twice the increase in the nation's average productivity — between 6 percent and 8 percent, versus 3 percent to 4 percent productivity increase. Why such big labor increases? Inflation got so out of hand that labor leaders and workers who would normally settle for 3 percent or so felt they needed more than that just to stand in the same place.

Q. Labor didn't start the recent inflation, then?

A. I think our internal trouble since 1965 was kicked off by government programs that boosted spending without sufficient checks against inflation. I am critical of the present Administration on this score. Government spending, without due attention to its prudent management, set prices rising. Labor hiked wages above the "Guideline" in self defense, after which business upped prices again, in self defense.

Q. Isn't that the shape of the British situation?

A. Yes. Britain has had rising wages, prices and government spending without increased productivity to match it for years. As the cost and price of her goods rose, without similar increase in their total value to anyone else, she couldn't compete abroad as successfully. She lost business and her people lost work. British labor got higher wages and other benefits without producing enough real value to back them up. The recent devaluation of the pound admits the bitter truth. Britain has several times devalued the pound since the 1930's. In 1931 it was worth $4.86. The devaluation last fall chopped it to $2.40. Unless she uses the time gained by the last devaluation to change her basic habits, she'll still be in trouble.

Q. How can we get back on the track?

A. Here is where I agree with the President. I support his proposed tax increase to check inflation. It will (a) take money out of circulation that is boosting prices and (b) help pay for necessary federal spending that has been on the cuff, and hence inflationary.

Q. Rep. Wilbur Mills, key Congressional chairman on taxes, has been making noises against the tax increase.

A. His point is that the Administration might simply spend more if it takes in more taxes. I agree. I hope the President and Representative Mills both have their way. I hope Congress grants the tax increase, and the President reduces spending as part of the deal. Let the tax rise cut private spending and let government self-discipline cut its own deficit spending. Then we can get back on the track.

Q. And that would strike a blow at the world money crisis?

A. Sure. If we check our own inflation, dollars won't look so much like bad paper to hold overseas. If we keep our prices level, we can sell more goods overseas, and recapture more dollars from abroad.

Q. Now, how else can we check the flow of dollars abroad?

A. Let's make one thing clear. The problem is not to stop the flow, it is to put the flow in balance. Many billions of dollars are flowing back and forth now, but they are not the problem. The problem is the steady two-to-four-billion-dollars-a-year that we send abroad that don't come back.

Q. You said our military commitments are the chief cause of it. The British have just slashed their military commitments overseas. If we do the same, the Communists will get the world on a silver platter.

A. And if we mismanage the free world's money supply into a depression, the Communists may get it on a gold platter.

The solution is not to give up anything vital, but to manage the whole so as to preserve and strengthen all that is important.

Let's break our military expenditures down a little. Is the cost of the Vietnam war about $25 billion a year now? Most of it is spent here, making planes training troops and so on. It is not going to Vietnam in dollars. About 1 1/2 billion spent on Vietnam escapes us. We can easily manage that if we manage the rest.

The big outflow of military dollars that are spent abroad and stay abroad goes to keep our permanent military bases in other countries. We should insist that these countries support more of their own defense. We needn't abandon them, but only insist that they do more to bring things in balance.

We should review our permanent bases with an eye to reducing or eliminating those that are maintained more for political than military reasons.

We should reduce military bases abroad to the extent that new technology permits. We have developed rapid airlift to the point that we should reevaluate the size of some old bases abroad. Need we keep as many divisions permanently overseas, when we can fly so many troops over promptly whenever things get warm?

I would not suggest that we give up a single military essential overseas. But if we can fly the 101st Airborne to Vietnam on a few days notice, as we have done, I would suggest that we can reduce a great deal of our overseas military establishment without reducing anything essential.

If some of this reduction requires larger forces here in the States, so be it. Maintaining necessary troops here doesn't hurt the dollar. Maintaining them abroad does.

Q. How about foreign aid?

A. Foreign aid is part of the drain. Years ago we started insisting that if we gave, say, India, $1 million toward a fertilizer factory, she must make any foreign purchases in connection with it here. That has tended to bring many of the foreign aid dollars back without creating too much of a dollar deficit.

Still, there is a dollar leak whenever we give money grants in foreign aid, regardless of how much of the material is bought here. In many cases I think we can manage better than that. If we decide to give some country ten locomotives, we might just give them the locomotives and ship them there, and never export a dollar in the deal.

Q. The President has focussed more attention on banning American travel abroad, and on cutting U. S. investment abroad, than on these things. And has he not also asked Congress to eliminate the 25 per cent gold base of our money at home, so as to free another $10 billion or so in gold to back up our dollars overseas? Why don't you emphasize these remedies?

A. They are not solutions, they are stopgaps. Banning American travel abroad is like putting quotas or tariffs on trade. The other countries can retaliate, and probably will. This is in restraint of trade. We want to encourage trade.

Today we are getting back $2 billion more from our investments overseas than we are investing abroad. If we hope to be in the same happy situation in 1978, we must continue to invest abroad in 1968. As for freeing our last $10 billion in gold to reinforce our overseas dollar today, yes, it would be a great help. But we can only do it once.

Q. So you oppose all these steps?

A. No. If stopgaps are needed to give us time to put our house in order, let's use them. But if we take the steps and then fail to use the breathing spell they give us to correct the basic troubles, we will be worse off than before.

Q. In short, our government operations abroad must be balanced to the whole dollar flow or all else will fail?

A. Yes, because they are the root of the trouble.

Q. Do I take it that we must not only stop running dollar deficits of $2 to $4 billion a year, but must recapture the $30 billion excess of dollars now held abroad?

A. No. We don't have to recapture any of it to stabilize the dollar. All we must do is stop running up new deficits.

Q. Why?

A. Because it is the continued deficits, year after year, that shake confidence in our dollar. It isn't the $30 billion that frightens our friends, it is the never-ending trend. It is the threat of $30 billion turning to $40 billion, then $50 billion and so on. If we stop it right where we are, I expect they would say: "America has changed her habits. She isn't cheapening her money (See MONEY, Page Thirteen)

Dear sir,

I know you don't know me. I was born and raised in Hereford, Texas. There are folks there I care a great deal about. I have two sisters still living there that mean the world to me. They are Mrs. J. B. Digby and Mrs. Dondie Rhey Thompson. I am married and my wife and three children live in Denver, Colo.

I wish to congratulate you and your staff on the fine work you are doing. I have read both articles about PFC Paul A. Hager and PFC David Daniels, and both men have done much to be proud of.

If and when the going gets rough and our sons have to go to war, we can look them in the face and truly from the bottom of our hearts say, "I tried son."

For God gave us our freedom and land. And many a good man, husband and father died to preserve it for us. The least we can do is to secure it for the next.

Some people may say I am a patriotic fool, but I am willing to give up my life for my God, and MY country and my family.

The men who ran to Canada and the ones who carry the anti-war signs and burning their draft cards are trying for a free ride on the river of blood of many a good man. Can anyone tell me these men died in vain? I won't buy it.

I had a brother over here last year. He was wounded up near Da Nang. He'll tell you the same thing.

There are men and boys alike, around me here that gripe about spending two years for their country. Would they rather spend it in a slave-labor camp somewhere?

I once heard a man say, "If you don't like the way the U.S. A. is run, pack your bags and move somewhere else." I agree with him 100 per cent.

I dislike war as much as the next man. Maybe I am just a patriotic fool, but I had rather fight Communism or any other enemy of freedom in Vietnam, South Korea, or even on the moon, than on the Texas coast.

I thank you for your time. It makes a man feel good to know that everyone is not against him. It makes me feel real good that I can point at a column in a newspaper and say "That's my home town."

I was drafted in 1966. I plan to make a career out of the army. And I'm not one bit ashamed of it as some men I know.

Sincerely yours,
SP-4 Norman T. Martin, U.S. Army

What's Happening

any more. Let's hold onto these dollars. We can invest those we can't spend and earn interest on them. They are better than gold again."

Even France, I think, would have to come back in step.

Q. Why?
A. De Gaulle's gold isn't doing him any good. He must be betting that the dollar will go on the rocks. He can't continually tie France's health up in idle gold. If the dollar doesn't go on the rocks, then at some point he, or his successor, is going to want to use it as money. He'll have to sell it back in order to have money again instead of a lot of metal.

Q. Dr. Walker, in this conversation you have been critical of our government policies. You could be suspected of political motives, couldn't you?

A. Let's at least understand politicians. It is in the nature of our politics, as it is of Britain's, to support free spending, to cheapen money by promising everybody everything, to make friends here and abroad by giving. It is always popular to line everyone's pockets, even when the net result is to make the lining worthless. Let's not be too hard on politicians when that's what people vote for.

Q. That puts the burden on the people.

A. On the breadth of their understanding, which goes all the way back to their education. If most Americans better understood the difference between economic policies that really enrich them, and those that only seem to while impoverishing them, they would vote differently. Then you'd find more politicians more cheerfully supporting sounder economic policies.

Did you see any of the photos of the British people jeering at Wilson for devaluing the pound? He was saving their hides for their past sins? But not understanding the economics of it, they jeered him.

Q. Is there a way out of this dilemma?

A. I hope so. I am a member of the Joint Council on Economic Education. It includes labor leaders, teachers, businessmen, bankers and many others. We are putting a good deal of money and work into an effort to improve the teaching of the economic facts of life in our schools. Even if it takes 20 or 30 years, we have hopes.

Q. What would the main point of such an education be?

A. That the world is full of billions of people whose wants are insatiable. That we and they can all be far richer if we concentrate on producing more and more to satisfy their wants through trade that helps everyone. But that every step we take to get more without creating more defeats our personal ambitions as well as our idealistic ambitions to make the world a better place for all.

An economic education that explained that in detail at the public school level would go a long way toward making life easier for everyone, including politicians.

Barbara Buck Is Bride In Afternoon Wedding

Marriage vows were pledged by Miss Barbara Glyn Buck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn E. Walker, 605 Irving, and Donald Lynn Worthington, son of Mrs. Robert Worthington of Flagler, Colo. and the late Mr. Worthington, in an early afternoon ceremony Saturday at Temple Baptist Church.

The Rev. Gene Suttle, pastor, officiated as the wedding party stood before an altar draped in white and an arch of emerald foliage. Massed arrangements of white pom-pom mums and greenery were placed on either side, designed by the bride's aunt, Mrs. R. L. Ethridge.

Miss Shirley Simpson, maid of honor, Misses Martha Saffer and Donna Flesher, bridesmaids attended Miss Buck, who was given in marriage by her grandfather, Glenn Butler of Flagler, a former Hereford resident.

The best man, Joe Fritzier, and groomsmen, Ronnie and Ralph Worthington, brothers of the bridegroom, are all from Flagler. Joanna Sledge was the flower girl and Lori Reed the ring bearer. Ushers were Jim Hawks of Denver, cousin of the bride, James Simpson and Ronnie Matthews.

Wedding songs, The Lord's Prayer and Pledge, were by Ben Gollehon.

Family heirlooms were a part of the bride's costume. She carried a linen handkerchief which had belonged to her great-grandmother's wedding. The bracelet she wore was loaned by the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Opal Konkite of Flagler.

Her gown of Chantilly lace was styled in the romantic mode with wide-spreading skirt caught up at the center front hemline over airy layers of tulle, and figurine bodice with lace scallops outlining a portrait neckline. Sleeves were long and closely fitted.

A coronet of pearl-embroidered lace held her fingertip veil. She carried an arm bouquet of white pom-pom mums and a bridal Bible, traditional gift of the Woman's Missionary Union of Temple Church to brides in the congregation.

Her attendants were attired alike in yellow street-length dresses. Their headpieces were brief veils and they carried nosegays of yellow blossoms. The small flower girl and ring bearer wore frocks in the same shade of springtime yellow.

For the wedding and the reception following in the church fellowship hall, Mrs. Walker chose an ensemble of orange dress with coordinated coat of white and orange, and all-white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a two-piece costume in pink with matching accessories. Both had corsages of white pom-poms.

Miss Joy Emmons received guests in the church hall, and Miss Bobbie Walker, the bride's sister, was at the register. In the houseparty were Misses Dale Williams, Becky Long, Jan Dean, Patsy Bower and Kathy Williams.

The newlywed couple left on a trip to Oklahoma and back to Denver, where they will be at home after April 4 at 15345 East Colfax. Mrs. Worthington wore for travel a brown and white suit with white accessories and a corsage from her bouquet.

A recent graduate of LaPlata Beauty School here, she completed studies in Hereford High School with the class of 1967, and was a member of the school band four years.

Worthington is in the U. S. Air Force, a dental assistant stationed at Lowry AFB, Denver. He is a graduate of Flagler High School and Denver Tech College.

Out-of-city guests for the wedding included the bridegroom's mother and grandmother, the bride's grandparents and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Bender, all of Flagler; the bride's father, C. D. Buck of Atlanta, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Jay Buck and Melody, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Buck and Kris, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Buck and Keith, Mr. and Mrs. Travis Lanier, all of Vega.

Also Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Mooney, Debbie and Pat of Lockney; Mr. and Mrs. Lamar Aten, Mr. and Mrs. Quinn Aten of Lelia Lake.

Lone Star Club Sees Tour Views

A picture tour of New England and into Canada entertained Lone Star Study Club members at their meeting this week in the home of Mrs. Hardy Benson. Slides which the hostess and her husband brought back from a bus trip through that area were shown by Mr. Benson.

Informal comment added interest to the pictured scenic or historic spots. At roll call, 18 members mentioned places on the tour route which they have visited, or would most like to visit.

Purchase of a spring wardrobe and an Easter costume for Kim Piazza, the Girlstown resident whom the club has "adopted," was planned in the business session. Mrs. Benson presided and appointed the year-book committee for next club season, Mrs. C. D. Kelton, Mrs. Baker Womble and Mrs. Ray Suit.

Mrs. G. W. Newsom and Mrs. J. J. Durham were hostesses

4-H Club Members Are Program Guests Of St. Anthony's Guild

Exhibits and demonstrations of things they are learning in 4-H Clubs were presented by a group of young program guests for women of the Guild in St. Anthony's Catholic Church Thursday evening. The meeting was at the parish school auditorium.

Larry Justice of the Public Speaking Group gave a speech titled The Great Hunger, discussing modern man's hunger for tranquility, and the dangerous search for it with drugs.

Beth Bezner and Susie Hickman showed an exhibit on forestry, demonstrating the use of windbreak paintings on farms of the Plains area. Charlotte Bezner's exhibit on foods and nutrition emphasized the need for substantial breakfasts for good nutrition.

Sue Shirley and Layne Young, junior winners in the recent county foods contests, each had set a table for serving their respective dishes, tuna casserole and rolls, and exhibited the recipes they used.

Rita Huckert, assistant coun- with Mrs. Benson, and assisted in serving refreshments in the social period.

ty H. D. Agent and director of 4-H Club work, was a guest, as was the young speaker's mother.

Misses Walter Kuper, Edward Bezner, Lester Wagner and Walter Spinhrne were hostesses and served refreshments to the guests and 30 members. Mrs. S. J. Albracht received the door prize.

The next meeting will be on Apr. 25 with members of the Antonion Circle invited to hear a program by the American Field Service students from other countries at Hereford High School.

MEETING POSTPONED

Postponed a week, the Callipian Study Club program scheduled Thursday evening will be given instead at 8 p.m. Apr. 4 in the home of Mrs. A. T. Mims. The time change was made because of the dinner honoring Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, held Thursday with the Kiwanis, Lions, Optimist and Rotary Clubs as hosts.

J. T. Inmon served as sheriff and tax collector for Deaf Smith County from Jan. 1, 1961, to Dec. 31, 1966.

Frio News

By MRS. OWEN ANDREWS
Brand Correspondent

Students home for Spring break include Jana Cole of Baylor, and Monte Gripp of Tarleton State.

Mrs. Laura Littrell and W. H. Andrews went to Amarillo Wednesday to meet a niece, Mrs. Leonard Rogers from Fremont Calif. at the airport. She was coming to be with her parents, the W. F. Andrews, and sister, Mrs. Lloyd Roberts and Mr. Roberts. Funeral services for Freddie Roberts, son of the Lloyd Roberts, who was killed in Viet Nam March 16, were scheduled for Saturday morning at Melrose Baptist Church.

Other sisters of Mrs. Roberts coming were Mrs. Betty Heede, Visalia, Calif. and Mrs. Gene Morey, Roswell.

Mrs. T. L. Sparkman was able to return home Wednesday after a weeks stay in the Hereford hospital.

Martin Hodges, brother of W. N. Hodges of Hereford, passed away Saturday March 23, at an Amarillo hospital. The W. N. Hodges had been there several days with the family. Also attending the funeral at White Deer Methodist Church Monday afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. Julian Johnson Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Hodges, Jr. and Aubyn E. Hodges. Mr. Hodges was a farmer and lived in the White Deer area.

A family gathering took place at the home of Mrs. H. M. Mobley last Sunday. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Reno of Midland, the Floyd Coles, the Don Mobleys, the D. C. Millers and Austin Mobley. The group had supper Saturday night with the D. C. Millers.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Andrews took her mother, Mrs. E. B. Berryman, to Amarillo Wednesday to visit her sisters, Mrs. Ciaila Jones and Mrs. Sadie Franks, and brother, Howard Lowery. Another brother, Earnest Lowery and Mrs. Lowery from Hammond, Okla. were there to visit the family group during the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Sparkman, Kevin and Kirk, spent Friday through Monday on a trip in West Texas. They were at Rock Springs and Ft. Stockton and visited Saturday and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Ritchie and two little sons at El Paso. The Ritchies are former Hereford residents and he and Tommy were school day chums.

Visiting the Earnest Harders

Thursday night was his mother, Mrs. G. H. Harder of Meade Kan, and her sister, Mrs. B. H. Janzen and Mr. Janzen of Hydro, Okla. The visitors were on their way home after a three-weeks visit with other relatives in California.

Mrs. J. W. Duffey, of Pittsburgh, Tex., is visiting her mother, Mrs. R. L. Mason of the Westway community. The two of them have visited the Gary Masons. Mrs. Duffey came Monday to visit several days.

Russell Harkins was honoree at a party celebrating his ninth birthday at his home on Thursday afternoon. Games, refreshments and play filled the afternoon. The guests included Julie and Stevie Cortez, Dennis Terry and Patricia, Yarbby, Kevin and Varla Welch and Jay Manion and Terri and Sandy Harkins, his sisters.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Key Saturday were their grandson, Mike Delano and Mrs. Delano of Amarillo.

KIWANIAN OF THE MONTH — John Gilliland was presented the Kiwanian of the Month award at the noon meeting of the club on Thursday. See story.

Gilliland Gets Monthly Award

John Gilliland received the Kiwanian of the Month award at the noon meeting of the club Thursday.

Gilliland was program chairman for the month of February. The noon program was presented by Charles Duvall, with the film, "The Man Who Wears the K." The film was followed by a question and answer period on Kiwanianism.

Bobby Owen announced the results of the fertilizer sale, held last weekend, and added that some 400 bags remained to be sold.

Attending the meeting were clubs from Canyon, and from Tucumcari, N. M. Scott Lewis and Steve Jones represented the Key Club.

NEW VOLUNTEER

By MARY SHINNICK
The newest VISTA Volunteer to join the "War On Poverty" in the Labor Camp is Vicki Montoya. Vicki is 24 year old. She was born in San Louis Potise, Mexico and was brought to the United States by her parents at the age of two. She lived in San Juan, Texas until she was fifteen, at which time her family moved to Hollister, California. Vicki is a permanent resident of the United States and plans to become a citizen.

Vicki graduated from San Benito High School. She held several jobs before she went to work for the Office of Economic Opportunity as an aid in a community center. She worked in two community centers, both of which were part of Community Action Programs. One center was located in San Jose, California and the other in Sunnyvale, California.

As an aid in the community centers Vicki was called upon to do a number of jobs. She taught pre-school and adult education. She also did some work in community organization. Vicki lived and worked with VISTAS who were also employed at the centers.

Vicki joined Volunteers In Service to America in 1967. She trained at Austin, Texas with Mary Shinnick who has been a VISTA Volunteer in Hereford for eight months. Vicki spent most of her six weeks training in East Austin where she lived with a family of seventeen. In the short time she was there Vicki started a girls' club which is still in existence and held Spanish-English classes.

Vicki transferred from San Antonio, Texas where she was working in Guadalupe Community Center. She taught pre-school and adult education there also. She served as a recreation supervisor at the center and organized two girls' clubs, teen and pre-teen.

Vicki is a welcomed addition at the Casa De Amigos. There have been only two volunteers in at the camp since January of this year. She is especially welcomed as she brings with her the ability to speak Spanish and two years experience in the type of work being done at the Casa De Amigos.

Vicki has two brothers; Adolfo, 22 and Noel, 13. Adolfo has just completed a tour of duty in Germany and has requested assignment in Viet Nam.

Vicki requested her transfer because she wanted to work with migrants. She felt that her job at Guadalupe Community Center involved the more stable Spanish community which was not as much in need of her services as a VISTA Volunteer.

Price Is Given Trip In F-111

Panhandle Congressman Bob Price was scheduled for an evaluation flight in the new Air Force F-111 fighter-bomber Saturday. The plane has just entered combat service in Korea.

A former jet fighter pilot himself, Price said he wanted to see for himself how the new plane handles. He has kept his pilot's rating since leaving the Air Force and has flown other new Air Force jets.

Because of the controversy over the F-111 including Congressional hearings, Price said he wanted to check out in the plane and test its flight and performance characteristics.

The flight was to have been made with a test pilot from the General Dynamics plant in Fort Worth, where the plane is made.

GUARANTEE AGAINST FAILURE

Penneys guarantees every Foremost® tire against all failures to use — this guarantee lasts for the entire guarantee period stated for each tire. If the tire fails during the guarantee period, return it with your guarantee certificate and Penneys will, at its option: (1) repair the tire, (2) replace it with a new tire, or (3) give you an immediate refund. If we replace the tire during the free replacement period, there is no charge; if we replace the tire after the free replacement period, you pay 50% or 25% less than the current selling price of the tire including the Federal Excise Tax (see guarantee against failure chart for details).

GUARANTEE AGAINST TREAD WEAROUT

Penneys guarantees every Foremost® tire (except the 72 series) against tread wearout for the entire guarantee period. You benefit as follows: if your tire wears out during the first half of the guarantee period, return it with your guarantee certificate and Penneys will replace your tire with a new tire (the charge for this will be 50% of the current selling price including Federal Excise Tax); if your tire wears out during the second half, the charge will be 75% of the current selling price including Federal Excise Tax.

These guarantees do not apply to commercial use of tires.

Here's how your guarantee against failure works:

J. F. Carter
 Carter Is Active ROTC Member

J. F. Carter, son of Mrs. Gwyrene Carter of 138 Texas in Hereford and a member of the ROTC Counterguerrilla Unit at Texas Tech, was one of the ROTC members recognized for outstanding work during a recent banquet. Carter is a senior government major at Tech. Awards presented him in ROTC include Good Conduct, Military Excellence, Scholastic Achievement, C. G. Award, Marksmanship, Superior Cadet, Scabbard and Blade, Best Pledge, DMS, and Academic Achievement. Mission of the Counterguerrilla Unit is to "enable a member to be a better combat leader and or civilian leader by helping to prepare him mentally and physically, and by developing his leadership abilities and confidence in himself."

Concerning Veterans

More than 150 million pieces of mail flow through the Veterans Administration each year and far too many cannot be properly identified, the Waco Veterans Administration Regional Office Manager said today. "Too many veterans and their beneficiaries only sign their names to correspondence," Coker said, "and names are not enough." Almost all of the 30 million names in VA's master index file are duplicated. For instance there are 305,000 Smiths on file and 9,000 of these are John Smith. The Johnsons number 204,000, and, contrary to popular belief, the Williamses with 151,000 outnumber both the Browns, 145,000, and the Joneses, 143,000. Each veteran who applied for VA benefits is assigned a file number. This file number and the number assigned to a veteran's insurance policy are never duplicated. When these numbers are used in correspondence, Coker said, prompt and efficient service is almost certain. When neither of the numbers is included in a letter, the VA often must respond with a form letter requesting further identifying information from the correspondent. The form letter requests the veteran's full name, date of birth, social security number, branch of service, dates of service, military service number and, if possible, the file number or insurance number. Coker advised those who might write to VA: "If you don't know your claim number or insurance policy number, include as much identifying information as possible. Then VA will be able to give the prompt service you like and we like to give."

Distances Interest Her

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

Not a complete stranger to Texas, Mrs. Robert Ginn found this area quite different from the part of the state she had formerly known, when she moved here in January from Delta, Colo. Her husband came earlier on a job transfer with Holly Sugar Corp.

HER PREVIOUS experience with this state acquainted her with the San Antonio region. In fact, the Ginn's were married at San Antonio while he was stationed there in military service. Their homes since have been in Wyoming and at Grand Junction, then Delta, in Colorado.

Mrs. Ginn's home state is Nebraska, generally classed as a prairie state, but of the Texas plains the native Nebraskan says, "I never saw anything as flat as this before!" She was born and grew up in Madison, where there are rolling hills, creeks and trees rather than actual plains.

Flying over this area, as well as driving, Mrs. Ginn has found the vast distances and open look fascinating. She has not yet visited Palo Duro Canyon and the Caprock country to see the edge of the plains, but is looking forward to that.

THE WHOLE family misses nearby fishing and camping spots which were plentiful near their home in Colorado. One of their favorite recreations was fishing, then building a campfire and cooking their catch. Now they are checking on lakes in this vicinity for possible spring and summer trips.

Daughter Linda, 9, and son

Micky, 14, are family members at home while the older son, Kenny, is stationed at Scott Air Force Base, Illinois, in military service.

Their move to Hereford was delayed until the school semester break, to make the shift easier for the younger members. Ginn is agricultural manager for Holly in this district.

BEFORE HER marriage, dark-eyed Mrs. Ginn was Marcia Johnson. She and her husband were hometown sweethearts who attended high school together in the Nebraska town.

Their home here is at 117 Fir, and since the furniture they moved here did not entirely fill the rooms, they are living with some vacant spaces, as are many other families in new homes here.

While they take their time in choosing living room furniture, that space is serving as a pleasant setting for Linda's playhouse and a convenient sewing room for Mrs. Ginn.

SEWING IS not her favorite homemaking task, and Marcia Ginn admits that she does not like to cook so she is happy that her husband is an enthusiastic amateur chef and her older son likes to try out gourmet dishes.

Her own preference is yard work; she enjoys planting and cultivating flower beds. To continue the hobby through the winter she has a large collection of indoor plants. Arranging flowers is another phase of that hobby.

She has been chosen to membership in Bud To Blossom Garden Club and expects to find its programs helpful in learning to adapt her gardening skill to an unaccustomed climate and soil. She previously was a member of a craft club and the Rebekah Lodge.

Mrs. Robert Ginn likes gardening, fishing

Lions To Aid Campfire Project, Announce Special Meeting Dates

Members of the Hereford Lions Club voted during their regular noon meeting Wednesday to pay 25 per cent, or no more than $7500, toward construction of a new Campfire Girls building.

The Lions Board of Directors had earlier recommended that the club pay 25 per cent of the cost, but members decided during discussion that the construction costs could possibly go much higher than anticipated and the Lions still would be obligated to pay. The vote favoring the amended recommendation was near unanimous.

It was announced during Wednesday's meeting that an Election Party and Ladies Night will be held at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the high school cafeteria, with the program to be from Girlstown. Therefore, there will be no noon meeting Wednesday.

On Wednesday, April 10, the Lions Club members will attend special services at the Methodist Church at noon and return to the Jim Hill Hotel for the regular luncheon at 12:30 p. m.

For the first three meetings, during March, Boss Lion Rocky Lee announced Wednesday, the club had 100 per cent attendance from its 48 members. Lee also recognized Charles Bell as the Lion of the Month for March.

Wednesday's program for the Lions was presented by Ed Richards, of the Texas Highway Department. Richards detailed three main causes of fatal accidents, including "speed too fast for conditions, drunken drivers and wrong side of road violations."

On the first cause, Richards included weather, defective vehicle, road conditions, the road itself, and does not mean only that the driver is going to fast. "Take time to think," he emphasized.

Following his brief talk, Richards presented a film entitled "Mechanized Death" which showed numerous accidents and how they were needlessly caused.

In closing, Richards gave three defensive driving tips which he urged those present to use. They included not taking the right of way "until you're sure the other driver will stop," watch the driver coming up behind you, and "set a good example of driving for children."

Price Testifies During Hearings

Gas gathering lines in rural areas were excluded from Federal regulation in a bill approved by a House Commerce Committee Tuesday.

Panhandle Congressman Bob Price who testified in hearings on the bill said he hoped the full Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee would sustain the action of the subcommittee in amending the Pipeline Safety Bill as it was passed by the Senate.

Price told subcommittee members during hearings that the application of interstate inspection procedures or Federal standards proposed in the legislation would not be possible or feasible in remote rural areas and that the cost would be prohibitive to both oil and gas operators and the Federal government.

Fine Arts Group Plans Big Events

The Fine Arts Committee of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce met Tuesday at the Community Center. There was a discussion of Fine Arts Week, beginning April 21, and a list was given of important dates in this connection.

Following a review of some of the objectives set out for the committee, and the membership of the committee as to representation to the various arts, the floor was opened for discussion of the events to be associated with Fine Arts Week.

Present at the meeting were Mrs. R. C. Godwin, chairman; Mrs. W. C. Hromas, Mrs. O. Wertenberger, Mrs. J. C. McCracken, Mrs. D. W. Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. John Claypool, Mr. and Mrs. John Gilliland, Horace McGuffin, Mrs. Jeff Carlile, Lewis Larrimore, Mrs. Henry Sears, Dr. Wes Owen, Mrs. George Turrentine and Chamber Manager Bill Thompson.

A one-act play with some musical selections will be presented at the Deaf Smith County Museum on Sunday, April 21.

On Monday, there will be a piano recital by Nicky Osborn at 8 p. m. in the First Baptist Church.

On Tuesday, the Federation of Women's Clubs meeting at the Community Center will have an open program following a covered-dish luncheon. This program will be given by Larrimore on the art of the ballet.

At this Tuesday meeting, it is reported that it is probable that the Junior High instrumental ensemble may participate, as well as an art display of Jon Birdsong's works in the ballroom, accompanied by some porcelain and ceramic art exhibitions.

On Wednesday, April 24, a repetition of the play based on the life of Deaf Smith will be presented at the Deaf Smith County Museum.

On Thursday, April 25, the Fine Arts Committee will sponsor a Hereford High School Concert Performance is scheduled for 8 p. m. in the Hereford High School auditorium. Price for the tickets has been set at $2.50 each — proceeds to go towards the transportation of the band, and other expenses therefrom, to the Chicago Music Festival in the spring of 1969.

On Friday, the Senior High drama department will present a one-act play at 8 p. m. in the High School auditorium.

Concluding on Saturday will be the Student Art Festival in the ballroom of the Community Center, which will feature the art work of Junior and Senior High School pupils.

It was announced that Mrs. Godwin would represent the community and the Chamber of Commerce at the Governor's Conference on the Fine Arts, to be held three days in the first work of April.

Plans Continue On Cancer Crusade

Dale Young, the crusade chairman of the local American Cancer Society Crusade, announced last week that Mrs. Bud Thomas has been named House-to-House Chairman for the April 29 collections.

Mrs. Armon Lauderback is president of the American Cancer Society in Hereford.

They pointed out that one sure way to help fight cancer is to contribute to the American Cancer Society's April Crusade. By supporting them, you help support the Society's research programs. They need the support of all Americans in its fight against cancer.

About 200,000 Americans will be saved from cancer this year because of early detection and prompt, proper treatment. With 1,400,000 alive today cured of cancer, the American Cancer Society needs support to widen the gains made against this killer.

Half of the 600,000 new cases of cancer this year could be cured by early diagnosis and prompt treatment.

Some 4,500 youngsters under the age of 15 will die this year of cancer, says the American Cancer Society.

Knock on any door and you'll find that people are anxious to fight cancer. To fight cancer, have an annual physical check-up and give generously to the American Cancer Society.

Collections will be made on the last Monday in the month of April.

Chamber Warns Of Banking Swindle

The Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce warned today that the so-called "bank examiner" swindle — a bizarre con game widely used a few years ago to bilk elderly widows of their savings — has cropped up again in some areas of the country.

Bill Thompson, Manager of the Chamber, said the most recent case involved an elderly La Salle, Illinois, woman who was defrauded of $1,800 by a fast talking con man who represented himself as an officer of the local bank.

Typically, the victim was led to believe she was helping the bank lay a trap for a dishonest bank employee.

According to the National Better Business Bureau, with which the local Chamber is affiliated through membership, the swindle was widespread two years ago and may be on the rise again.

NBBB, which first exposed the racket in 1964, said the swindlers, generally two or three men working as a team and posing as bank examiners, security officers of FBI agents, choose their victims carefully.

They often spend time in lines in front of bank tellers' windows in an attempt to observe account numbers, withdrawals or deposits of potential victims.

In the case of the Illinois woman, the swindler, posing as a bank officer, used a name that was familiar to the victim and cited the number on her passbook.

Convinced that she was being asked to help the bank in its efforts to check on the honesty of a teller, the woman, following instructions, withdrew $1,800 from her account, took the money home and later turned it over to a man who flashed a gold badge.

The woman was told the money would be redeposited in her account and a new passbook issued.

When the victim finally began to worry and called the bank for reassurance, it was too late.

According to NBBB, the best advice is this:

If you are contacted by a self-proclaimed bank examiner, FBI agent or bank security officer, advise him that you will call back. Disregard the number he provides and contact the local police or FBI office and explain why you are calling.

The coming of the Higgins clan to Deaf Smith County could have been considered almost an invasion. In fact, at one time someone remarked that the Higgins were about to crowd out the prairie dogs. The immigration was begun in 1890 when W. S. (Uncle Summy), W. H. (Uncle Billy), and Uncle Billy's son, John R. Higgins, moved their families into the county.

Jeff T. Gilbreath first came to Deaf Smith County in 1890 because his father, J. A. Gilbreath, thought the High Plains a land of opportunity.

Sp-5 Charles Callaway

Callaway Gets Army Promotion

Charles Callaway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Callaway of 322 Blevins, Hereford, has been promoted to Specialist 5th — Class E-5, at his station in Muenster, Germany. Sp-5 Callaway is a Nuclear Weapons Maintenance Specialist.

He has been in Germany since July 1966. Muenster is 120 miles north of Frankfurt.

Callaway was born in Hereford, in the building where the Brand Publishing Company is now located, when it was a clinic in 1945. He graduated from Hereford High School in 1963.

He has had three years in the Army.

FHA Week To Be Observed At La Plata School

The Future Homemakers Chapter of La Plata Junior High will begin observation of National FHA Week today by attending services at the First Baptist Church.

Monday evening, the girls and their mothers will attend a Sallad Supper along with the other Hereford FHA Chapters and Frions. On Tuesday, the members will be dressed in Red and White, while Wednesday and Thursday will wear tags saying "ham" and will give a compliment.

Friday will be Mr. FHA Day and the girls will try to resist talking to the boys in school.

Local Girl On TCU Honor Roll

FORT WORTH — Twenty-six Texas Christian University coeds, all freshmen, are wearing purple and white ribbons in recognition of their newly announced selection as sophomore sponsors for the 1968-69 academic year.

"Tapped" for the honor this week, the group includes Jean Roberson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Roberson of 137 Greenwood in Hereford. She is a graduate of Hereford High School.

The sponsors, who will function as "big sisters" to freshmen living in TCU's women's dormitories next year, were chosen after consideration of campus activities, grades and interviews of officers of the Association of Women Students. They were introduced officially at Women's Recognition Night on campus March 28.

The idea of sophomore sponsors originated through freshmen girls about how sophomores could aid students in making the transition to college life. Direction of the program is under the AWS, representative body for TCU women students. The organization's purposes are affording adequate opportunities for the discussion of all matters involving University coeds and devising, administering and coordinating programs for their benefit.

Assistant Dean of Women Deborah Slade is faculty adviser for the group.

"ham" radio operator. Several times while there, he was able to speak to his wife via the short-wave radio.

George reportedly said that he does not think we should pull out of Vietnam. "That would mean too many boys gave up their lives in vain — and we would have to go back into it again, anyway," he said.

He went out on various engineering missions with his company there. His main job was to sweep the roads for mines, to make them safe for the convoys when they were assigned to missions. He also helped build bridges and airstrips.

Spt. George arrived at Amarillo on March 1. There he met Christopher Lee for the first time — when the baby was already five-and-a-half months old.

Sp-5 George, his wife and son will be living at the Bell Apartments at Lampasas. He will be in the motor pool when he reports to Fort Hood on Wednesday, where he will be stationed until September.

Janet lived with her parents at Hereford while her husband was in Vietnam. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim George, live at Brownfield.

Husband Of Local Woman Gets New Assignment After Vietnam

U. S. Army Sp-5 Leroy George whose wife Janet is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Reinart of Rt. 3, Hereford, has returned to Texas after a tour of duty in Vietnam. He left Hereford for Lampasas on Friday, where he and his family will live while stationed at Fort Hood.

Sp. George took his basic training at Fort Bliss near El Paso beginning in September 1966, followed by his Advanced Individual Training (AIT) at Fort Leonard Wood in Missouri. He is in the engineering division.

George arrived in Cam Rahn Bay at Vietnam on March 8, 1967. At that time, it was reported, the camp construction was just beginning and the G. I.'s lived in tents. During the time he was there, however, it was built into a main base.

He specialized in construction work and mine detecting. He helped build air strips and buildings around Cam Rahn, and a generator plant.

Sp. George was at this site when President Lyndon B. Johnson visited the base.

The most exciting of George's experiences while there, however, was when his First Sergeant brought him the Red Cross message announcing the birth of his son, Christopher Lee. The baby was born September 16, 1967.

Sp. George also received a message transmitted to him by Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce manager Bill Thompson, who is also a local

Wedding Plans Told

Engagement of Miss Jean Denton of Dallas to Charles Dudley Bayne Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Bayne, 514 Star, is being announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde J. Denton of Dallas. The marriage is planned for April 27 in Highland Park Methodist Church of that City.

The couple is to reside in Boston. Bayne is employed with the Analytical Sciences Corporation in Winchester, Mass. He received a masters degree in electrical engineering from Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1965, after graduation from Texas Tech the previous year. His high school work was completed in Hereford.

Miss Denton is a fashion designer who received her bachelors degree as an art major from Southern Methodist University, then studied at the Fashion Institute in New York City.

Club Talk Given By Katie Laine

Assisted by her American "sister", Cindy Cavness, the American Field Service student here from Finland, Katie Laine, gave the program for Valeda Study Club Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Gid Brown, who introduced them.

Cindy showed a travel film of Finland, which the young native of that country said was perhaps a bit exaggerated, but in general gave a good picture of scenic spots and cities. Mrs. H. A. Cavness, Cindy's mother, and Janet Brady were other guests.

Miss Laine, who is spending this year in the Cavness home while she attends Hereford High School, delighted Valeda members with her lively and witty account of life and people of Finland, mixed with informative facts about the nation.

It is not always cold in Finland, she said of her North European homeland; summers are pleasant and bring many tourists there to view the noted midnight sun and the lovely lakes and forests. After her prepared talk the student answered numerous questions.

Mrs. Armon Lauderback presided, filling the president's office after the recent resignation of Mrs. Robert Willmot, who is to leave soon for a new home in El Centro, Calif. She appointed Mmes. Hugh Clearman, Don Baugous and Brown as a committee to nominate officers for next year, to be elected at the next meeting, Apr. 9.

Members voted to contribute to a local American Field Service fund to permit Miss Laine and the other AFS student in school here, Housien Shevki of Cyprus, to join in student trips this spring.

Mrs. Glenn Thomas was voted to club membership. Others present Tuesday were Mmes. Bill Brady, Ronald Harpster, George Olson, George Ritter, Gene Parsley, Billy Sisson, Glenn Watts, Lewis McQuistan and Willmot.

H.D. Style Show Part Planned By Club Group

Plans to join other Home Demonstration Clubs of the county in a style show to be presented at Dawn May 3, were made by West Hereford H. D. Club members at a Tuesday afternoon meeting in Pioneer Gas Co. Flame Room. Mrs. N. E. Gass was hostess.

This club will also assist in a Red Cross project to make lap spreads and shirts for patients in military and veterans hospitals.

Mrs. N. B. Hood gave the program on Pictures For The Home. She said pictures should be chosen to fit the tastes of the family, and gave some suggestions for hanging them for best effect. Small pictures may be grouped for enjoyment in a work area or in halls, she said.

Favorite picture of most club members, named at roll call, was the western scene, The Lone Wolf.

Announcement was made that Mrs. Robert Boyd will present the program on Venereal Diseases at the next meeting, April 9, when Mrs. Alice Cox will be hostess.

Present were Mmes. Blanche Hardin, U. V. Pierce, John Jacobson Sr., Carlos Vaughn, W. H. Awtrey, Carl Schroeder and Boyd.

WEDDING DATE ANNOUNCED — Miss Linda Miller and Joe Whiteborn are to be married June 1, shortly after her graduation from Hereford High School in 1968 commencement program, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Miller of 817 Brevard, announce.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Ruby Whiteborn, 107 Avenue J. Miss Miller is a member of the National Honor Society in HHS. Whiteborn, who is employed as a mechanic at H&W Implement Company, attended Hereford schools.

Health Campaign Aid Is Planned

A community service project, assistance in a measles immunization campaign, was planned by Young Mothers Study Club members who met Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Al Hunter, with Mrs. David Brunley as co-hostess. Mrs. Frank Powell was the program guest.

April 28 has been set as the day for immunization of preschool and school children, with local doctors cooperating. Place and times are to be announced. Club members will make a preliminary survey in an effort to contact parents of all children.

The immunization will be given to pre-school children and those to the second grade under a state program, and to older children whose parents wish to pay the cost. It was explained to club members. Information slips will be distributed to schools of the city as a part of the club's survey.

Mrs. Prowell was the speaker on Spring Clothes for Today. She discussed new fashions for this year, showed patterns and fabrics which give new ideas in sewing and gave some suggestions for easier home dressmaking.

COUNTY NAMED AFTER Deaf Smith County was named in honor of Erastus "Deaf" Smith, noted Texas scout, guide and Indian fighter who gained fame for his part in the fight for Texas Independence under Gen. Sam Houston. His tombstone reads "The Texas Spy" because of his ability to obtain vital information from those who thought he was deaf. Actually, Smith was hard of hearing.

A Good Producing Cotton With A High Turnout

If there is any one thing that has been on farmer's minds for the past 50 years it is a cotton with a good turnout, and this is certainly emphasized when a farmer has to take 3,000 lbs. of stripped cotton to the gin to make a bale in the fall of the year. Likewise, he also wants a high production cotton along with that good turnout, but where will you find such a cotton? Our new Gregg 45 will meet all the requirements of high production and high turnout.

In 1965 the first year there was a seed block of Gregg 45, Mr. Troy Pritchard of Plainview produced 90 running bales (avg. 505 lbs. compress weight) produced from 38 acres of Gregg 45, and it took 695 lbs. seed to make a 500 lb. bale. The turnout was 26.5%. 1965 was a fair year for growing cotton, however, it did turn rather cool after the 15th of september.

Mr. Robert Tipton who lives in Plainview, farms in the Halfway community, and is a director of the Halfway Co-Op Gin, has had excellent results growing Gregg 45 the past two years (1966-67), two very adverse years for cotton farming. In 1966 he had practically all of his farm in the 45, and it did so well that he planted it again in 1967, but was hailed out on all but one farm. In '66 some of his cotton made 2 bales to the acre, and in '67 the field of 58.8 acres that was left made 1,004 pounds lint to the acre, net weight after deducting bagging and ties.

In looking through some experimental tests in which the new Gregg 45 has been included we find one on the Plains in 1965 with 1189 lb. production; one in Oklahoma in '65 with 1,066 pounds, with a 31.1% turnout hand pulled; and one at Chickasha 1966 (dryland) with 777 lbs. This last mentioned is very impressive for dry land production.

Miss Simpson Marries Ronnie Clark Andrews

Miss Carolyn Jane Simpson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Simpson Jr., and Ronnie Clark Andrews, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Andrews, were married in First Presbyterian Church Saturday evening in a double ring service read by the Rev. Russell Wingert, pastor. Both families reside south of Hereford.

White stock and green foliage were arranged at the altar with white tapers in paired candelabra. Votive candles and greenery marked the center aisle for the bridal procession.

Miss Carolyn Dunn, maid of honor, followed Miss Patty Simpson, sister of the bride, Miss Candy Van Sant of Wichita Falls and Connie Nobles of Boise City, Okla., bridesmaids, down the aisle. Lisa Simpson, another of the bride's sisters, was junior bridesmaid and Melinda Ford of Hart the flower girl.

Jackie Andrews attended his brother as best man. Groomsman were Troy Manley, Rickey Hutson and the bride's brother, Mark L. Simpson, with Sammy Ogan as junior groomsman. Kelly Nelson carried the rings; Brent and Brad Sanders, brothers of the bride, lighted candles. Preceding the organ procession by Miss Janice Mooney, she played other wedding music, and accompanied by Mrs. Richard Solomon of Amarillo as she sang More and Twelfth of Never.

Joe Bob and Bill Sanders ushered guests to the pews and Miss Betsy Simpson was at the registry.

As her father escorted Miss Simpson to the altar, she was gowned in lace-trimmed angel-skin satin designed on slender lines, with Sabrina neckline, fitted waistline and skirt fullness controlled by slight gathers.

Re-embroidered Alencon lace motifs were inset at the wrists and on the skirt front. A chapel train fell from the shoulders and an illusion veil bordered with lace floated over it to the waist. A tiara of seed pearls held the veil to her hair.

She carried a white Bible with a bouquet of carnations and stock surrounding a single white orchid. An heirloom piece was her handkerchief which belonged to her great-grandmother Hunter and she wore pearls which were owned by her late mother.

Her attendants were all dressed in empire gowns of moss green peau de soie with matching velvet ribbon trim. Each carried a votive candle on a base of lemon leaves, net and ribbon.

Mrs. Simpson wore a pink suit with pink and white accessories and the bridegroom's mother chose a mauve suit with accents of white.

After the ceremony, the couple and their parents greeted guests at a reception in First National Community Room. Mrs. Jackie Andrews and the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Godfrey Baldwin of Austin, served refreshments at the brides' table, Misses Denise Hartman of Albuquerque and Cynthia McMinn cousins of the bride, at the groom's table.

Moss green net over satin of the same color covered the bride's table, which was centered with white stock and greenery with votive candles. The other table cover was of ivory linen.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrews will be at home on a farm south of Hereford after a short trip. For travel the bride's suit was in red, white and navy plaid, worn with navy accessories and the orchid from her bouquet.

She was a 1967 graduate of Dimmitt High School and attended Amarillo Junior College. The bridegroom, a farmer, was graduated from Hereford High School last spring.

YWCA Benefit Show Announced

An interior design show will be staged in the Amarillo YWCA building, 11th and Jackson, through the week of April 1-7 as a benefit for the YWCA, with area residents invited during open hours, from 12 noon to 9 p. m. daily. Mrs. Hugh Ford is general chairman.

Tickets are priced at a dollar and a ticket holder may attend as often as he likes. Door prizes have been contributed by the designers who are exhibiting. The dining room in the building will be open to serve meals during the show.

A house is literally being built inside the 'Y' building, the sponsors say, and exhibitors will show all types of interior settings.

Oscar Martinez Explains Fortunes Of War: No Medal Of Honor Now

Mrs. Barry Harbison
nee Carol Brashear

Sp-4 Oscar Martinez, the much decorated Hereford Army man for his actions in Vietnam, has written home explaining that he will not receive the Congressional Medal of Honor and the reason he is not eligible.

Martinez also described the action in which he has received a number of other high awards for his bravery.

Specialist Martinez receives the Brand through a subscription from his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Amadeo Martinez of 211 Harrah. The story of his brother, Mario, was in the February 29 issue, a story which contained his personal letter to Mrs. Paul Zinser of Westway printed on March 3, and pictures of himself and his parents displaying the medals he had won in the March 7 issue.

Evidently, Martinez had not as yet received the Brand issue of March 7 when he contacted an employee of the Brand, staff writer Earl Moseley.

As in the case of Mrs. Zinser's letter, his letter to Moseley was a personal one. But Moseley felt pretty much the same as Mrs. Zinser had earlier and agreed that publication without editing would show further cause to amplify the type of man he is:

March 19, 1968

Dear Mr. Moseley:

Writing you these few lines just to say hello and hoping that you are in good health. That when this one leaves me in good health, thanks to God.

Mr. Moseley, I received your letter today and also your newspaper. And I was overjoyed to see my letter on the paper. I never did expect to see it there. You see, I only wrote it just for the reason of thanking Mrs. Zinser of her wonderful letter she sent to the newspaper. So I thought of as writing her while I was in the hospital in Cam Ranh Bay.

(Mrs. Zinser's letter, which had been published by the Brand as a Letter to the Editor late last year, had to do with the death of Lt. James Pavlicek, Hereford's first fatality as a result of the war in Vietnam. Her letter was a plea for the people of Hereford to pay their respects to Pavlicek and all the others who have died there, solely in the interests of patriotism.)

You asked me to tell you about myself and information. Well, I guess there is no harm done on that, right?

Well, first of all I left the states in the month of August and came to Vietnam. After close to a month in this country I was given a squad of men and machine guns. So I started my weapon squad. I was a squad leader with 9 men to take charge of and also a machine gunner with an M-60.

Well, after several operations with the enemy we were sent to the Kontum Providence and to Dak To — where probably you all heard of our contact with the NVA (North Vietnamese Army regulars) and some of the worst hills ever encountered with. Some were 1338, 1184, 1034 and a few more. We lost a few men but we came out victorious, with several hundred enemy killed.

And thanks to God that I am, alive yet to talk about it, even though it is nothing to be proud of — that is of killing — but what can you possibly do to prevent it? It is either your life or theirs, so the choice has to be made.

Well, according to the newspaper about the Medal of Honor — well, it was true, but it was turned down by the board of decorations here in Camp Envari in Pleiku. For the reasons that of what I did was not under fire of the enemy. Even though the enemy had mortared us and rocketed us but we were not engaged in fight at that moment. So, instead I am for the Soldiers Medal.

It is because in the month of January the enemy started our main ammo dump on fire in which there were over 1, 000 rounds of 4.2 mortar rounds each weighing about 26 pounds apiece. The rounds started exploding and several of our men were wounded by the shrapnel of the exploding rounds.

So then the Lieutenant Colonel said that if there was anybody to volunteer to put it out — and nobody volunteered. Then two of my friends and myself went and started putting it out and nobody still went to help us.

Finally, we put it out. Three rounds exploded underneath us knocking us down from the bunker — yet not injuring none of us three. As far as I am concerned, God is the one that helped us and gave us strength.

Well, that was when they put me and the other two (down) for Medal — for we had risked our lives trying to put fire out while saving the whole base and several deaths.

But was turned down for the reason listed above.

As for decorations, well right now I have the Vietnamese Cross of Gallantry with the Gold Star, the second highest Vietnamese decorations. Also the Vietnamese Cross and the Vietnamese Service Medal Bronze Star with "V" for Valor, and the highest award for risking life for the safety of others, while not under enemy fire, which is the only medal given during peace or wartime; The Soldiers Medal.

Well, I guess that is all I can say, just that what I have said above is true. Please let this be confidential.

And I thank you again for your wonderful article. Thank you — God bless you.

Sincerely yours,
Oscar Martinez.

P. S. As for some decorations, I have sent them home already. The others not yet. "Answer if desired." If I can be of any assistance or help-to you, please let me know. If you have any more questions about this place, feel free to ask any time.

FIRST HEREFORD CITIZEN:
C. G. Witherspoon, who built the first residence in La Plata, is also claimed to be the first real citizen of Hereford. He occupied a small tent-house here first in which he handled real estate transactions for a few weeks.

In 1902, the A. H. Elliston family was attracted to Hereford by the ambitious young town's institution of higher learning, Add-Ran College.

Recent Vows At Dallas Announced

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Brashear, 311 North 25 Mile Avenue, announce the recent marriage of their daughter, Norma Carol, to Barry Harbison in Dallas. The couple will be at home in Nashville, Tenn., after April 15.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Harbison of Nashville, now residing in Laos while he is directing a construction project in that Asian nation.

The bride has been employed in Dallas this winter. She is a 1966 graduate of Hereford High School and attended West Texas State University at Canyon.

Harbison is enrolled in Elkins Institute of Broadcasting at Dallas, after completing a term of military service in the U. S. Marine Corps. He was graduated from a Nashville high school in 1962.

There are 2,050 independent telephone companies in operation over the country now, compared to 6,000 operating 20 years ago.

There are 300,000 Indians living on reservations in the United States.

Chamber Success Depends Mainly On Unselfish People

While, like most other people, we are not completely "hep" when it comes to full meaning of the national accreditation certificate awarded our Chamber of Commerce this week, we are quite impressed with the fact that only 119 other chambers in the entire nation have received the award, including only five in Texas.

We knew that we had a good Chamber of Commerce, because we keep growing and getting things done. At the same time, it is interesting to note that interests of the Hereford Chamber are so well diversified that we can hardly bring up a problem which does not fall within the category of some particular C-C committee or group.

While seldom emphasized, it seems to us that general harmony within a Chamber of Commerce may well indicate success or failure of a community. Except for a recent store hours squabble, Hereford has a long record of uninterrupted serenity along this line. Without doubt, this accounts tremendously in the success of the community and unfortunately, it is the point where most communities and chambers fall down.

Needless to say, a Chamber of Commerce is like "people," because it is composed of people. These people must consider the welfare and interests of others, along with selfish programs, and be willing to give and take in behalf of community advancement. A good manager is important, but without the right type of citizenship to back him up, no manager in the world can achieve ultimate growth and total progress. The same, of course, goes for elected leaders in the organization; these folks are limited by the spirit, the cooperation and the total outlook of people in general.

What we are trying to get across is the fact that any achievement our Chamber may make is not limited to leaders who, although they contribute extensively, are still bound in scope by the population of the community. We say this, knowing full well that some people are not interested — and that a few are even opposed to an active Chamber of Commerce.

There is an old question about whether a Chamber builds the town, or if the progressive towns support active chambers but, like the man said:

"We don't know, but we do know that we never run across a good town without one, and in view of recent local achievements, we might also note that the success of every town we know appears reflected in the type of Chamber it boasts."

It Is Not A Free Country!

It is AMAZING indeed how many Americans labor under the false illusion that this is a FREE country.

It is not!

And thank goodness it isn't. We have rights and privileges under our representative form of government, but by no stretch of the imagination are we FREE. If every American were really FREE, pandemonium would follow. There would be no law or order. There would be nothing but chaos. If all people had complete freedom, no one would be safe. Rape, robbery and murder would follow in the wake of a sudden gift of freedom.

Our government would crumble. Few would be willing to voluntarily pay taxes for the support of our city, county, state or federal governments. There would be no schools, or if we did have them, with all the students FREE to do as they pleased, we would be just as well-off, without schools.

Does anyone think for one moment that our boys in military service are free? Their freedom was taken from them the moment they raised their hand to be sworn into the service. Or from the moment they received that special salutation from Uncle Sam telling them when and where to report.

Doctors must get approval from the state before they can begin practice; so must lawyers, pharmacists and many others in special fields. A person isn't free to build a home without a permit.

The building contractor is required by law to conform to certain regulations. Or cities have zoning laws that restrict landowners from placing certain types of buildings in certain areas.

A businessman must secure a permit from the Secretary of State before he can go in business. He has labor laws, Social Security, unemployment compensation, income tax withholding and other regulations to comply with.

We are a nation governed by laws. These laws sometimes infringe upon our freedom, but after a long test, they are conceived to be best for the largest number of people. If they do not prove out this way, they are rescinded by our law makers.

Cities have ordinances invoked because of apparent need or because the majority residents of a city demand them.

We have the RIGHTS to speak or write what we wish. . . we even have the right to blast the highest official in our land, but we do not have the FREEDOM to lie about or assassinate the character of another, no matter what his social or financial status may be.

We could go on at great length pointing out that we are not free. We Americans have a misconception about freedom. We pound our chests and expound vociferously about how free we are, when we actually aren't.

Nor should we be. We have rights, privileges and opportunities in this country. We should also have responsibilities.

But complete freedom we do not have. . . thank goodness.
Lewisville Leader

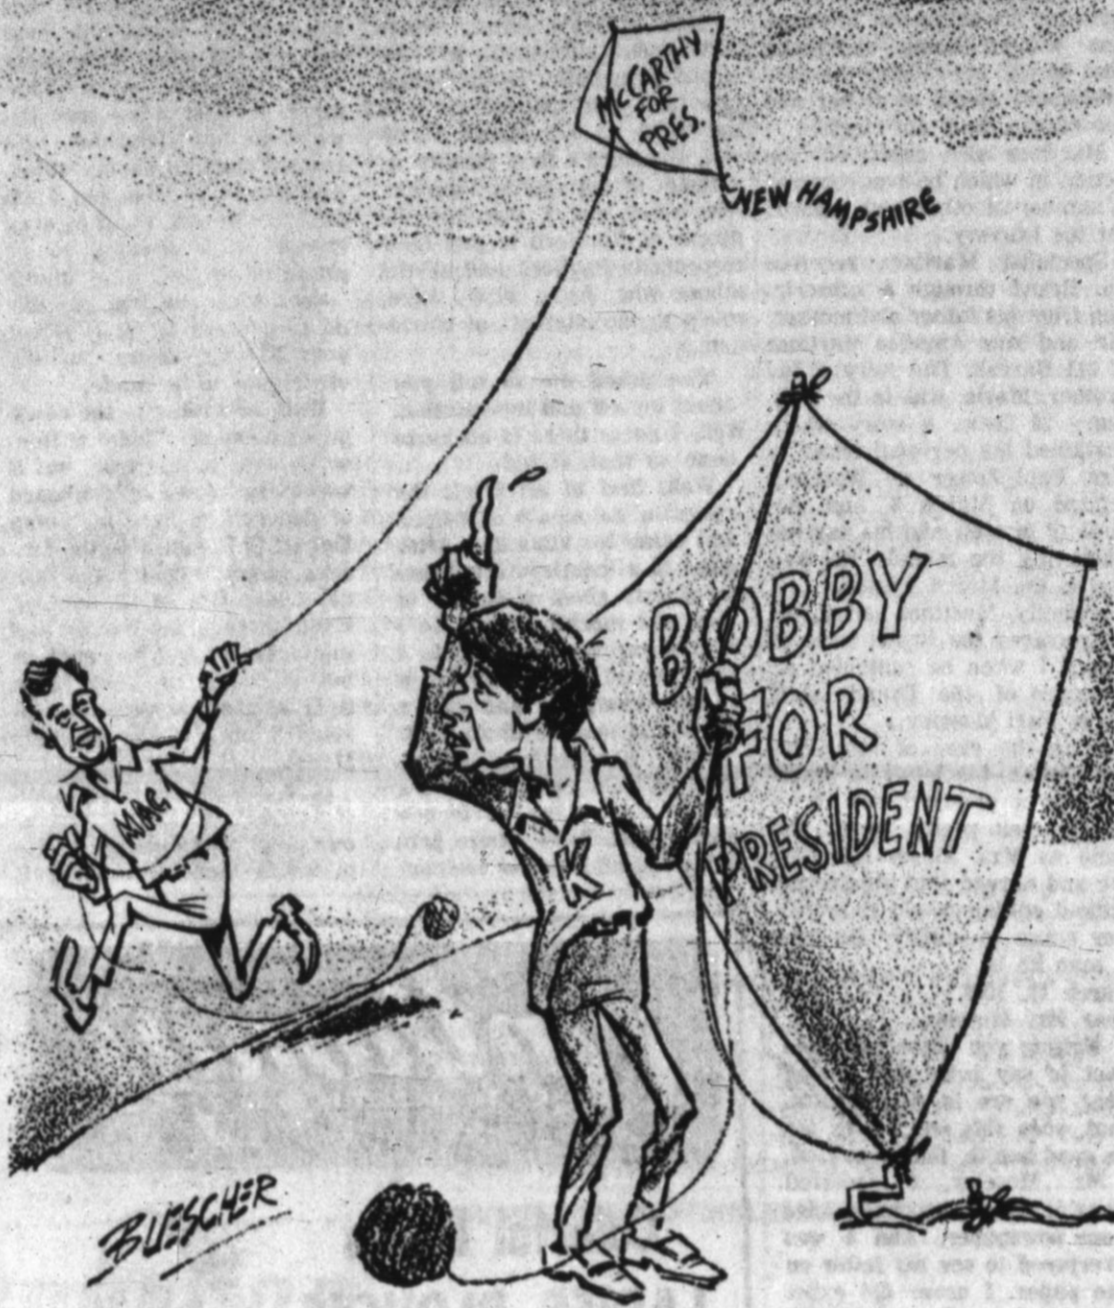

Competition Is A Must

School administrators should encourage their most talented students to enter some of the Interscholastic League's academic contests. And coaches and sponsors should know about the opportunities available to contestants. The earlier students enter academic competitions, the better chance they will have to qualify for State Meet, and thus be eligible to apply for one of the League's academic awards.

The Texas Interscholastic Foundation will have approximately 80 scholarships to give for the 1968-69 school term, ranging from $500 to $4,000. Twenty of these will pay $1,000 a year for four years.

Juniors in high school might well begin preparing now, since many first time contestants are not able to progress beyond district or region. Experience this year will help their chances of reaching State Meet during their senior year. Interscholastic Leaguer

Census Bureau Is Accused Of Invasion Of Privacy

By BERT MILLS
Washington, D. C. — Cries of invasion of privacy are being heard across the land over questions the Census Bureau will ask during the 1970 Census Population and Housing.

The charge is that the government has no right to insist that people disclose whether they enjoy inside plumbing, how many children they have, and how much rent they pay. Answers to such personal questions, the critics say, should be voluntary and not mandatory.

One Republican Congressman, Rep. Jackson E. Betts, an 18-year veteran from Findlay, Ohio, started the fuss. He has attracted a score of Republicans to his cause, and a number of newspapers editorial writers have taken up the chant. The Census Bureau is concerned that its plans might be upset by Congressional action, or that enough citizens will rebel to make it impossible to collect reliable statistics vitally needed for a variety of purposes.

One state legislature, Colorado, has adopted a resolution objecting to Census plans. A national group which purports to speak for small business claims that 83 percent of independent businessmen are opposed to mandatory answers and in favor of a bill sponsored by Rep. Betts and others to limit the required answers to seven.

The Betts bill, H. R. 10952, would change existing law and compel citizens to respond only to questions on their name and address, family relationship, sex, age, race or color, marital status, and visitors in the home at the time of the Census. All other questions could be ignored.

New Forms Little Changed
Actually the next Census will differ little from the last in 1960. What has changed is the public attitude toward Federal snooping. Today there is widespread concern that the government is too inquisitive, that it might misuse data collected in confidence, and that use of computers would allow Uncle Sam to compile a cradle-to-grave dossier on every individual.

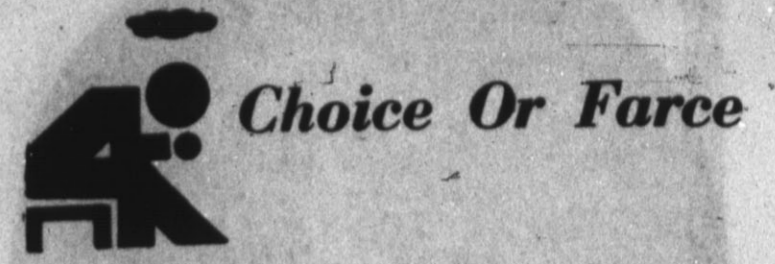

The fact is, however, that these fears are groundless. There is a Federal law that protects the confidentiality of Census data. The Bureau collects information on incomes, but not even the Internal Revenue Service or Federal Bureau of Investigation can peek in Census files to get such data on individuals.

Another charge that has been made is that tax dollars are spent to collect information primarily for the benefit of business. Undoubtedly business does benefit from the information collected in the Census, but the primary beneficiary is the U. S. itself. It is even true that the same members of Congress who are protecting are themselves dependent upon the facts collected by the Census.

Billions are being spent these days on a wide variety of welfare programs. For example, the first problem of the poverty fighters is to locate the poor. The research starts with Census information. It is almost literally true that the government would be hamstrung without the benchmark data dredged up by the Census Bureau.

Business Cuts Its Own Throat
It is ironical that most of those agitating against mandatory Census questionnaires are pro-business in their political orientation. Yet business could not get along without Census data any more than the government could. If you are planning a shopping center, the first thing you want to know is whether there are enough prospective customers to make the project succeed. All available statistics useful in deciding that question stem from the Census.

How many people live where? How many children do they have? What are their ages? What is family income in the See MAIN STREET Page 6

Looking ahead to November, a voter can wonder whether the upcoming presidential election will be a glowing example of democracy in action or a farce created by political rigidity; since candidates are nominated by parties rather than the population at large, it is possible for voters to end up with no choice in deciding policy of the United States in Vietnam. The only way out would be a via a third party nominee, or even a fourth in this particular year.

What if the Democrats put up Lyndon Johnson: continued war. The Republicans put up Nixon: an end to the war, but judging from his statements in times past, this does not necessarily mean cessation of fighting. And the third party nominates George Wallace: still war. The populace may never be able to effectively determine what this country's policy is to be.

Neither was there a choice in 1964; it was either go to war or go to war. This year the war is an even greater issue. Four years of "going to war" hasn't solved anything, it hasn't won anything, and it hasn't shown signs of winning anything. It is indeed ironic to read opinions that "we are definitely winning in Vietnam, all we need is more men. . . and then read stories of guerilla warfare in South Vietnam's capital city, all on the same news page. Yet we are led to believe that war is the only answer, that negotiations are out of the question, that advocating anything besides an all-out military victory is unthinkable.

But the parties are too dominated by war elements to let the issue get to the voters. The voters in 1968 may get this choice: keep fighting or escalate. It would take a very established third party to beat that kind of choice.

The point is, leading contenders for the Democratic nomination are among both doves and hawks. Republicans are going to put up a candidate who may be in either camp, but there are no definite signs that any Republican would advocate cessation of hostilities.

If Democrats put up a hawk, and Republicans put up a hawk, the voter really has a tremendous choice: war or war. While some people may think continued warfare is the solution to the current Vietnamese problem, they shouldn't object to someone with a definite peace platform being put on the ballot. It at least would allow the electorate to express an effective opinion.

If one party puts up a hawk, voters had better hope the other party will nominate a dove. If such an event doesn't occur, the idea that two parties can give voters a meaningful choice is a farce.

50 YEARS AGO

A single-barreled rabbit gun, carried on the frame of a lister, was accidentally discharged on Monday and blew off a whole side of the face of D. S. Swanson, who resided 26 miles north of Hereford. Mr. Swanson expired soon afterward.

The election held on Tuesday for a board of city commissioners for the City of Hereford, was probably the quietest thing of the kind ever held here before. There was no opposition to the present incumbents. Mayor William M. Knight and commissioners D. F. Ashbrook and J. H. Cardwell. With no fight on and the outcome a foregone conclusion, very little interest was manifested, and the great bulk of the voters did not vote at all. The result showed only 41 ballots cast during the day.

You can't go to sleep on the job if you expect to get ahead of those High School Seniors — in fact, you can't go to bed at all! W. H. Ray, general manager of the Red Cross Auction next Saturday, when the spotted Holstein calf is to be put on the block, offered to donate $25 to the first solicitor from the Senior or Junior classes who reached him Thursday morning. At one second after twelve o'clock Thursday morning, while Ray was sleeping peacefully, he was aroused by a delegation of zealous Seniors who demanded the check.

Hereford Lodge No. 849, A. F. & A. M. meets Saturday night on or before the full moon in each month. Visiting brothers cordially invited. George Beams, W. F.; J. S. Jones, secretary.

25 YEARS AGO

Dr. Weston A. Price, world-famous dental scientist and anthropologist, is scheduled to arrive here within the next few days to make observations and studies to determine the reason for the low tooth decay rate of Deaf Smith County.

Henry Clark, Summerfield farmer, escaped uninjured Wednesday night when an engine collided with his wheat truck at the Main Street crossing in Hereford. But the truck was badly damaged and the wheat scattered all over the road.

In conjunction with the rest of the nation's theatres, the Star and Texas theatres, starting today, are observing "Red Cross Week" with a salute to the Red Cross activities in the form of a short subject, "Somewhere in This World," in which the commentary is made by Captain Eddie Rickenbacker. At the Star: There's never been anyone like him. James Cagney as George M. Cohan in "Yankee Doodle Dandy" with Joan Leslie and Walter Huston. At the Texas: Ann Corio in a thrilling story of the wild African jungle, "The Jungle Siren" with Buster Crabbe.

Hereford's unexpected 45-minute blackout is still unexplained, according to Sam Batten, local manager of Southwestern Public Service Company. "We don't know what happened," Batten said. "Power was shut off from the main lines and we presume the lack of power must have been due to trouble at the plant, or on the mainline."

The Whiteface Round-Up: George L. Olson was born April 28, 1928, in Hereford. He is now 5 feet 8½ inches tall, and weighs 145 pounds. He has black hair and blue eyes. George has determined to remember at least one thing from his senior English. That one thing he is always saying is, "To be or not to be — that is the question." He is always whistling, singing or humming that tune — "Deep in the Heart of Texas." His hobby is horseback riding, and his favorite food is fried chicken and apple pie. His favorite sport is football.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q—As a result of large itemized deductions I'm due a big refund this year even though I'm taking all my withholding exemptions. Is there any way I can reduce my withholding so that next year's refund won't be so big?

A—You may be able to decrease your withholding if the size of your itemized deductions exceed certain amounts. Details on this are contained in Schedule A, Form W-4. To obtain this schedule send a postcard to your IRS district office.

Q—I think the figures are wrong on the W-3 statement my boss gave me. What should I do?

A—Ask your employer to check the accuracy of the figures and issue you a corrected W-3 if necessary.

Q—Can I deduct the Social Security taxes I pay for my maid?

A—No, Social Security taxes paid for domestic employees are not deductible.

Q—If I pay someone to prepare my return, won't he be responsible for its accuracy?

A—No, the taxpayer is legally responsible for the accuracy of the return. For this reason, make sure you get dependable tax help. Avoid anybody who offers to split the refund with you, asks you to sign a blank return or prepares it in pencil or who suggests that a refund be sent to his address.

If you have someone prepare your return, be sure to put your preaddressed label on the return you file. This label can be lifted off the form mailed you and placed on another Form 1040 if necessary. If the information on the label is incorrect, it should be corrected to facilitate prompt processing.

Q—I owned stock in a company that split three for two last year. Do I have to pay tax on the shares of stock I received?

A—No, stock splits are usually considered tax free distributions.

Q—Do I have to put my wife's number on our return? All she has is a little interest income.

A—Your wife's Social Security number is required on a joint return, if she had wages subject to withholding, interest, dividends, commission income, prize income, or income from any other source.

Q—What records should I keep on my charitable contributions?

A—Your records should be sufficient to establish that you made a charitable contribution for the amount listed on your tax return. Cancelled checks, receipts and other records will be helpful in providing this substantiation.

Ask for a receipt whenever you make a cash contribution to charity. Otherwise, you will have no record of the gift.

Q—My son is working his way through college. If we continue to provide over half his support, can we still claim him as a dependent?

A—Yes. As long as you provide more than half his support and he is a full-time student, the amount of his income will not disqualify him from being claimed as a dependent.

If your son is required to file a return, he may also claim his personal exemption. This is one exception where the same exemption may be claimed on two tax returns.

Q—I loaned some money to a friend of mine so he could go into business. The business failed and he can't pay me back. Can I deduct this loan as a loss?

A—If you have taken reasonable steps to collect the loan and if there is no likelihood that the debt may be recovered even by going to court, then you may deduct the amount of the debt as a short-term capital loss. Report it on Schedule D, Form 1040.

Should you recover any part of the debt at any time in the future it must be included in your income, subject to special rules. Note that loans to children and certain other relatives are presumed to be gifts.

Q—I'm a widow. How long can I file a joint return?

A—You can file a joint return for the year of death. However, you may file as a "surviving spouse" using joint return rates for the two years succeeding the year of your husband's death if you maintain your home as the principal residence for a dependent child. Check page 3 of the 1040 instructions for details.

Q—I sent my ex-wife $110 every month last year to support our daughter. Is this non-deductible?

A—Child support payments are not deductible and do not have to be declared as income by the recipient. However, the payments could entitle you to claim the child as a dependent, since they are over $1,200 a year unless your ex-wife can clearly show that she provided more.

Q—I'm in the Army and sold my home when I was transferred last year. Is there any way I can avoid taxes on any profit I might have?

A—A tax is postponed on profits from the sale of a home if another costing the same or more than the "adjusted sales price" of the one sold is purchased within one year of the sale. This also applies if construction is begun on another house before the sale or not more than a year afterwards.

NEW VISTA WORKER—Vicky Montoya has just recently arrived at the Hereford Labor Camp to begin work with the migrants there. Miss Montoya left her post in San Antonio to come to Hereford.

Concerning Veterans

EDITOR'S NOTE: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.

Q—I am 61 years of age. May I convert my National Service Life Insurance term policy to the Modified Life-Plan? What would the new premium be?

A—It is not possible to convert to the Modified Life Plan after age 60.

Q—I served in the Army from 1956 to 1959. Am I eligible for any G. I. Bill benefits, particularly a business loan?

A—You are eligible for many benefits, from education and training to home and farm home loans, under the "Veterans Readjustment Benefits Act of 1966," popularly known as the Post-and it is occupied not later than 18 months after the sale.

For Armed Services members on active duty, taxes on the profits from a home sale may be postponed for up to four years from the date of the sale.

Korean G. I. Bill. However, this Act, which covers veterans who served in our Armed Forces after Jan. 31, 1955, does not include business loans for veterans among the benefits it provides. The Small Business Administration, though, may make business loans to veterans. Check with your nearest U. S. Veterans Assistance Center or VA office for information and assistance on all your veteran benefits.

Q—My husband is a veteran of World War II and has a service-connected disability of 100 per cent. What benefits do members of his family have if one of them needs hospitalization?

A—By law, the Veterans Administration's program of hospital and medical care is available to veterans only. VA may not provide hospitalization for the dependents of veterans. Even veterans are admitted to VA hospitals on a priority basis; i. e. (1) veterans with a service-connected disability requiring hospitalization for this disability

(2) veterans with a service-connected disability requiring hospitalization for a non-service connected illness; (3) veterans without a service-connected disability requiring hospitalization are admitted when beds are available if they are unable to afford private hospital care.

Legal Notice

THE STATE OF TEXAS

TO: N. B. BENNETT and wife, O. C. BENNETT, and if they are deceased, to the heirs, the unknown heirs, and legal representatives of the said N. B. Bennett and O. C. Bennett.

Defendants, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to appear before the Honorable District Court of Deaf Smith County at the Court House thereof, in Hereford, Texas, at or before 10 o'clock A. M. of the first Monday next after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being the 29th day of May, A. D. 1968, then and there to answer Plaintiff's Petition filed in said Court, on the 28th day of March, A. D. 1968, in this cause, numbered 8463 on the docket of said court and styled J. T. BOYNTON, Plaintiff, vs. N. B. BENNETT and wife, O. C. BENNETT, and if they are deceased, their heirs, their unknown heirs, and legal representatives, Defendants.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to wit:

Plaintiff sues in trespass to try title to recover the title to and possession of the South 54 feet of Lot 20-in-Block-7, Womble Addition to the City of Hereford, Deaf Smith County, Texas, and Plaintiff says that he is entitled to recover the title and possession of the above described property under the Twenty-Five, the Ten, and the Five Year Statutes of Limitation of the State of Texas, and Plaintiff sues to remove the cloud cast upon his title by the Defendants.

as is more fully shown by Plaintiff's Petition on file in this suit.

The officer executing this process shall promptly execute the same according to law, and area? How many families have cars? How many women have jobs outside the home? Answers to all these questions come from Census data and there is no substitute for this basic information.

Suppose the Betts bill passed, and answers to all except seven basic questions became voluntary. Most people would take the easy way out, and not supply the answers. The result would be that the government would lack reliable information, and the entire public would be the loser.

It will take about 30 minutes to complete the Census questionnaire. It will be time well spent for everybody.

Before the closing of the Suez Canal, Egypt's foreign-exchange earnings from the canal amounted to some $200 million a year. Her earnings from the tourist trade amounted to some $100 million.

The famous silver jewelry made by Navajo Indians is a borrowed art. They learned silversmithing from Mexicans in the mid-19th Century, the National Geographic says. The plastic bottle industry expects to ship a record 4.25 to 4.5 billion plastic bottles in 1968, 17 per cent more than 1967.

Talk of Texas

By JACK MAGUIRE

FOOTNOTE TO HISTORY—America's problems with the recent gold drain are reminiscent of the days when the Republic of Texas issued paper money without any precious metal to guarantee its worth.

On June 9, 1837, the Texas Congress authorized the issuance of $500,000 in currency. Actually this was not currency in the sense the word is used today. Each bill was a promissory note paying 10 per cent interest and redeemable 12 months from the date of issue.

Called Star Money because each note contained a large Texas star in its center, the bills were receivable as cash for any money owed by or due to the Republic. Since Texas had neither gold nor silver to guarantee the currency, Congress authorized the sale of 500,000 acres of public lands on Galveston and other islands.

Surprisingly, this system of issuing paper money worked so well that a similar act was passed in 1838. Shortly after, however, the promissory notes began to depreciate in value and Texas went into a period of inflation that lasted until it achieved statehood in 1845.

THE COMFORTS OF HOME—For more than 30 years, Governors of Texas had to leave their residence to take a bath.

When the Executive Mansion was built in 1855, the only bathroom was a lean-to outside the main building. It was finally moved inside in the 1880's, but it was not until 1913 that additional bathrooms were added.

HOW HISTORY REPEATS—Medicare is old stuff in Texas; at least one doctor practiced its principles as early as 1855.

He was Dr. Auguste Savardan, who was 63 when he came to Dallas to help establish a French socialistic colony called a "La Reunion." He believed strongly that a physician shouldn't collect fees from patients. He insisted that the colony establish a fund of 10,000 French francs to take care of such things.

Dr. Savardan argued that medicine was not a business. He thought of it as a calling equal to the priesthood. By not collecting fees, he felt that he could be more professional as well as more generous and spontaneous in his treatment of patients.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?—Houston's Rice Hotel originally was called the Capitol Hotel because it occupies the site where the government of the Republic of Texas was headquartered in 1837-39 before it was moved to Austin.

William Marsh Rice (whose legacy created Rice University) bought the hotel in 1885, three years after it opened, and named it for himself. Later it was purchased by Jesse H. Jones, who razed the original hotel in 1912 and built the first two wings of the present structure.

BIG TEXAS—Brewster, Jeff Davis and Presidio Counties, popularly known as the Big Bend Country of Texas, have a total population of less than 5,000 people. They comprise an area larger than Connecticut and Rhode Island.

WWI Vet Heads Speak In City

District heads of World War I Veterans and Auxiliary were guests of Hereford members at meetings Monday evening, both in the American Legion Building. Supper was served to approximately 30 persons.
 H. G. Lawrence, district commander of the events, and Mrs. Clyde Batson, district auxiliary president, spoke to the respective groups. Both are from Pampa. Mrs. Lawrence and Batson were also guests. Mrs. Batson conducted a school of instruction for the auxiliary and announced the department convention to be held in Fort Worth in July.

Parties Given For Linda Price

An early April bride-elect, Miss Linda Price has been complimented recently at parties here and in Lubbock, where she is a student at Texas Tech. A tea-shower Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Marvin Coffey was the latest event.
 Miss Price and Gary Tilroy, also a Tech student, are to be married next Saturday evening in Bowman Chapel of Lubbock's First Methodist Church.
 Miss Carole Coffey, who is to be maid of honor in the wedding, received shower guests with Miss Price and her mother, Mrs. J. C. Price. The honoree's sister, Mrs. Charles Lefel, was at the tea table and Miss Sherri Bryant of Dalhart, who is to be a bridesmaid, at the registry.
 Springtime colors, yellow and white, which Miss Price has selected for the wedding were used in decorations at the Coffey home. Yellow blossoms centered the table where punch and cookies were served. Houseparty members wore corsages of daisies.
 Hostesses with Mrs. Coffey were Miss Clara Beth Holt, Mmes. Mary Stapp, O. Z. Golden, Oskar Schweriner, Curtis Roach and M. L. Cline.
 In addition to informal parties by college friends, parties at Lubbock included a shower in the home of Mrs. T. J. Hensley, where 76 callers registered. Mmes. Wales Dunlop, F. B. Kyle and W. B. Feazel were other hostesses. Daisies brightened the rooms.

 The prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. A. W. Tilroy of Duncanville, was among the guests, and from Hereford were the honoree's mother and an aunt, Mrs. Carl McIntyre, Mrs. Coffey, Miss Coffey, Mrs. Gerald Warren and Miss Nancy Warren.
 East Anglia, a flat expanse of land north of the Thames Estuary in England, became a leading textile center in the 14th and 15th centuries.
 Youth predominates in both the Soviet Union and United States. More than half the population in each country is 26 years old or younger.
 Four out of every five acres of crops failed in 1934.

Big Rush Ahead For Inspections

"There are three weeks left to do what has been done in the last eight months," the Department of Public Safety told the Brand Tuesday in warning Deaf Smith County residents of the vehicle inspection deadline.
 As of noon Tuesday, only 7600 vehicles had been inspected at the Hereford Official Inspection stations. There are an estimated 12,300 vehicles to be registered in the county, and the deadline is April 15. Inspections began August 1.
 One of the biggest problems which may arise, DPS officials predict, may be lack of seat belts when the big rush begins. All cars of the 1962 model or later must have seat belt requirements this year.
 Official Inspection Stations in Hereford include Kemp Auto Repair, East Highway 60; McRight Garage and Supply, 643 E. Second; Kinsey-Osborn Motors, 142 N. Miles; Orborn Chevrolet-Olds, 211 N. Schley; and Orval Watson Ford, 200 W. First.

 Also Beavers Motor Co., 330 E. Third; Dishman-Hale Chrysler-Plymouth, 345 E. First; Vernon Lewis Enco Service Center, 403 N. 25 Mile Avenue; Hedrick Dodge, 146 E. Second; Hereford Radiator, 120 Schley; and Penny's Auto Center, Sugarland Mall.

Legion, Auxiliary Invite Public For Program On Child Welfare

Annual observance of Child Welfare Month in the American Legion and Auxiliary will be highlighted here by a program Tuesday evening with the American Legion Auxiliary as hostess in the Legion Building. Legion members will be guests and the public is invited.
 Courtney Atkins, director of reading disability at the San Antonio branch of the Institute for Achievement of Human Potential, will be the speaker, stressing one phase of child welfare which is included in the Legion's continuing program. He will be introduced by Mrs. Bill Gilleland, chairman of child welfare in the Auxiliary here.
 In this program the Hereford Post and Auxiliary join with more than 16,000 Legion posts and 14,000 Auxiliary units in the nation in a special observance of April as Child Welfare Month.
 The Legion and its affiliated organizations have conducted year-round child welfare programs since 1925, involving an expenditure of more than $200 million and many hours of personal effort on behalf of the nation's children.
 Theme of the 1968 observance is Programming For Children In The Computer Age, emphasizing the fact that the growing complexity of American life is creating new child welfare problems, for which there is little or no precedent to aid in solution.
 Legion and Auxiliary attention is directed now to such problems as juvenile delinquency, improved services for emotionally disturbed children, child safety, expansion of outdoor recreational facilities, and inclusion of family life education courses in public schools.
 Speakers Cited By Toastmasters
 The Toastmasters, a local club dealing with self-training in public speaking and thinking, held their regular meeting Thursday night in the Hickory Log.
 Recognized at the meeting as the General Critic was Connie Goeringer, while Stan Knox and Roger Shipley tied on two occasions for Best Table Topic Speaker and Most Improved Speaker. The Best Speaker Award also went to Shipley and Robert Lohr was the Best Evaluator.
 Toastmaster of the evening was Tom Doyle.

BOY'S CHOIR? — Open mouths don't necessarily mean singing is coming out of them as you can tell here.

These boys are just getting in shape for the Second Annual Kiwanis Relays to be held April 23.

FHA Members Plan Big Week

In observance of National FHA Week today through Saturday, members of the Hereford Future Homemakers of America have planned many activities.

All of the FHA members will attend St. Anthony's Church at 8 a. m. today to begin the week's activities. On Monday, the local homemakers will host the Friona chapters to a salad supper at 6:30 p. m.

Secret Sisters will be chosen early Monday morning. During the week each girl will show her appreciation to her Secret Sister by leaving surprises in her locker.

Members of FHA will be wearing the colors of their organization — red and white — throughout the special week; however, on Tuesday red and white will especially be noticed in the halls of HHS. All girls who have been honored by receiving their State Degree will be seen wearing all white.

Newlyweds To Live In California

Mr. and Mrs. Don Ballard plan a home in Marysville, Calif. after term end in Hereford High School, where the bride is to be a May graduate. She is the former Miss Sharon Fulton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Fulton.

Her marriage to Airman Ballard, son of Mrs. Ann Ballard of Brownfield and J. W. Ballard of Hereford, was conducted in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Sikes at Bovina March 17, by the Rev. Ken Moore. Miss Karen Moody was maid of honor and Ronnie Ballard best man. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length lace dress with illusion veil held by a cluster of roses. She carried white carnations atop a bridal Bible. Miss Moody was dressed in mint green.

A reception was held in the Sikes home with Miss Kathy Sikes and Mrs. Ronnie Ballard at the serving table, Miss Loretta Fulton at the guest book. Airman Ballard is stationed at Beale Air Force Base, Marysville.

During both lunch hours at school Wednesday, the FHA girls will sponsor a cookie and doughnut sale.

On Thursday, an assembly will be presented to the entire student body by the FHA members. The special week will close at HHS Friday when FHA members will honor the faculty with a special treat of cookies.

TOWN WITHOUT TOOTHACH

The world first became aware of Hereford as "The Town Without a Toothache" when Dr. Edward Taylor, Director for Dental Health for the Texas State Board of Health, told the research section of the American Dental Association in 1941, of findings in a survey of native Deaf Smith County children.

Hawaii's 80-year-old Iolani Palace is the only royal palace in the United States.

Inseparable Is Difficult Word

Rodney O'Rand, who was runner-up in the Junior Spelling Bee on Tuesday and number three in the bee on Wednesday, reported that the word he misspelled was "inseparable," and that the Brand also misspelled it.

Rodney is right. It was misspelled in the Thursday issue. The reporter goofed on it, the typesetter copied it wrong and it was not caught on proof reading.

But now we all — including Rodney — know how to spell "inseparable" — we hope.

HONORED BY ART GUILD — Mrs. Bess Werner, left, and Mrs. Ray Conaway were presented plaques designating them as life members of Hereford Art Guild, at a special program in the fine arts room of Deaf Smith County Museum this week. Both are active members of the Guild and have been for a number of years. Inscription on the plaques conveyed appreciation for their services and for inspiration they have afforded fellow members.

—Small Talk—

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

Unless the weather forecast is hit by something like a blue norther, which is always probable in March, it is maybe safe to mention the beautiful spring days we're having (or were having) and the sudden burst of bloom all over town.

IT WOULD BE nice to name some of the prettier spots, but as you get ready to make a note of one as you drive past, another across the street or down the block catches your attention — there are too many beds of bulbs, fruit trees and first-of-spring shrubs like forsythia and the lovely pink flowering quince (or do you call it sidonia japonica?)

By whatever name, several of the bushes on the south side of the house at 108 W. Eighth are in full bloom and quite spectacular.

Ford H.D. Club Votes Part In AFS Trip Fund

A new member, Mrs. W. H. Mason, was welcomed by Ford Home Demonstration Club at its meeting Wednesday afternoon in Ford Community Building with Mrs. W. A. Carter as hostess.

Members voted to contribute to the financing of spring trips for foreign students in Hereford High School under the American Field Service. The club will replace its May meeting with attendance at a county H. D. fashion show at Dawn May 3.

Mrs. John A. Smith presided for business and Mrs. Tex McKnight led a game, Name the Cake, to preface the program, which was given by Argen Draper, County H. D. Agent. The subject was What's New In Clothing?

Designers change styles often to stimulate demand for new garments, she said, but this season fashion is so varied that any woman can choose a style becoming to her. She spoke of the popularity of "hardware" — metal buttons, chains and buckles — to trim garments, and of prints in bright designs.

Samples of new fabrics and patterns were shown to demonstrate choice of material suitable for a pattern. She also explained brand and generic names of fabrics, such as polyester, dacron and Kodol.

Others attending the meeting were Mmes. Frank Brorman, Harry Brorman, Raymond Flores, J. C. Gossett, Joe Meyer, Raymond Smith, Troy Waller and W. H. Mason.

Three Greats of Texas
Many great people from various walks of life have written pieces for the book, Three Men in Texas. Compiled and edited by Ronnie Dugger, the volume is of three greats of Texas literature, Roy Bedichek, Walter Prescott Webb and J. Frank Dobie.

It is a book every Texan should read, native or by choice. Why? These men are considered our greatest authors, not only by Texas critics, but nationally and internationally. They loved the state of Texas and wrote of it knowingly and proudly. Each had his own creed of life and his own way of writing about what he liked best. They knew too exactly what they wanted to leave to future generations in the way of literary contributions.

Among the contributors to this compilation were newspapermen, university professors, students, friends, other authors and publishers. Each writer has his own remembrances and interpretations of one or all the men. Since the three men were such great friends and closely associated, it was hard to know or write about only one of them.

All three men were non-conformists or rugged individualists in their way-quietly or beligerently. Webb was the first type, Dobie was at times the last kind and Bedichek was in between.

Roy Bedichek was interested most in nature and natural ways of life in Texas. He is considered the tops in this field and writes of it in a scholar-like style.

Walter Prescott Webb was the historian of the three and his preferred area was West Texas. Because he had once been helped with finances to attend college, he in turn aided many Texas University students in a like manner.

J. Frank Dobie was prominent as a Southwest chronicler

Hereford Man's Mother Buried

Funeral services for Mrs. Ethel Irene Hairgrove of Plainview, mother of Roland Hairgrove of Hereford, were conducted Friday afternoon in First Methodist Church at Plainview, and burial was at Spur, where she had resided 38 years before moving to Plainview last year.

Mrs. Hairgrove, 74, died Wednesday in a Plainview hospital. In addition to the son here, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Albert Steinfath of Plainview; three other sons, Michael Hairgrove of Bryan, Van of Camarillo Calif., and Kenneth of Wall, S. D.; two sisters, three brothers and 12 grandchildren.

Food For Peace Bill Is Extended

The life of the Food for Peace Act, Public Law 480, was extended for one year in a bill approved by the House Agriculture Committee Tuesday.

and has more books to his credit than the other two. Because of his teachings and beliefs, he was always a controversial figure.

This book of Texans is both unique and fascinating because of its subjects. Their great intellect, interests, memories and influence, as teachers and otherwise, make for good reading.

Corinne J. Neely

Panhandle Congressman Bob Price, one of the sponsors of the bill and a member of the committee, said several changes were made in an effort to ease present restrictions now imposed on the uses this country may make in the foreign currencies it receives in sales abroad of American farm commodities.

Price said they were proposed as a means of improving the dollar balance of payment situation in international trade.

"The PL 480 program has been one of the most useful and helpful programs we have had both for the United States and countries we have helped," Price said. But the nations we help with the program must recognize that cooperation means help for the United States as well and that we can extend this aid only if we keep our own balance of payments sound."

One provision in the bill changing the existing program gives authority to those handling negotiations for the United States to enter into agreements specifying that up to 50 percent of foreign currencies accumulated by P. L. 480 sales could be sold at the current rate of exchange to U. S. importers for the procurement of materials or commodities from the recipient nation.

Another provision of the measure strips from the existing law certain reference to barters. It would bar all three-way barter, but leave intact the direct bartering authority for off-shore

Community Calendar

The Community Calendar, which includes major events which will be of interest to Hereford and residents of the immediate area, will run in each issue of the Brand. The calendar will include events for the coming six months, and all individuals and organizations are urged to write or mail their event for inclusion.

The PHANTOM

By Lee Falk

AT THE JUNGLE'S EDGE—THE NEW MODERN CITY OF MORRISTOWN—AT THE BENGALI COAST—

— THEN HUNDREDS OF MILES OF TRACKLESS JUNGLE — WHERE CLAW, FANG AND SPEAR REIGN.

— IN THE SECRET HEART OF THIS VAST JUNGLE—THE FABULOUS SKULL THRONE AND SKULL CAVE— THIS IS ANCIENT PHANTOM COUNTRY—

SECRETS— A TABOO PLACE — "WHISPERING GROVE."

ANOTHER SECRET PLACE — THE PHANTOM'S ISLE OF EDEN— WHERE ALL ANIMALS LIVE IN PEACE.

OF ALL SECRET AND TABOO PLACES IN THE JUNGLE— THERE IS— ACROSS THE MYSTERIOUS RIVER OF HOT LAVA—

— THE MOST SECRET OF ALL — THE PLACE OF THE LITTLE PEOPLE!

NEXT WEEK — THE LITTLE ONES

BRINGING UP FATHER

MAGGIE SURE WAS BURNED UP WHEN I CRITICIZED THAT BREAKFAST SHE COOKED ME!

I HOPE SHE'S COOLED OFF BY NOW!— BUT IT MIGHT NOT BE A BAD IDEA TO BUY HER A PEACE OFFERING—

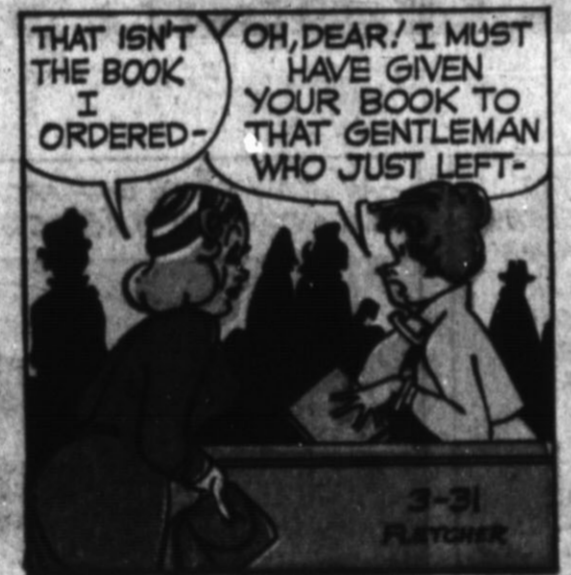

INSTEAD OF CANDY OR FLOWERS, I'LL BUY HER A BOOK FOR A CHANGE —

MAGGIE WILL LIKE THIS— SHE'S VERY ROMANTIC—

THANK YOU, SIR—

THAT ISN'T THE BOOK I ORDERED— OH, DEAR! I MUST HAVE GIVEN YOUR BOOK TO THAT GENTLEMAN WHO JUST LEFT—

FOR-ME? HOW NICE!

INSECT! I'VE HAD ENOUGH OF YOUR INSULTS!

WHERE DOES THIRSTY GET THOSE ODD BALLS HE USES?

I DON'T KNOW. I'VE NEVER HEARD OF ANY OF THE BRANDS BEFORE.

MAYBE HE GETS THEM IN CEREAL BOXES OR SOME-THING.

I THINK SOME WERE GIVE-AWAYS AT CONVENTIONS—

OOPS! IN THE WOODS AGAIN!

HELP ME FIND IT, WILLYA? IT'S ONE OF MY BEST BALLS. I JUST FOUND IT LAST WEEK!

HERE'S A BALL UNDER THIS BUSH, THIRSTY.

IT COULD BE MINE. WHAT KIND IS IT?

I THINK IT SAYS "LADY BLOOPER"!

WHAT NUMBER?

THE ONLY WAY TO DO THIS IS ONE AT A TIME

SIGH

STOP SLOUCHING, BEETLE!

DARN IT, SARGE! YOU'RE ALWAYS CRITICIZING!

CAN'T YOU EVER FIND ANYTHING GOOD TO SAY?

WELL, I DO ADMIRE THE WAY YOU PEEL A POTATO. YES, SIR, NOBODY PRODUCES A LONGER, THINNER PEEL THAN YOU DO

AND WHEN IT COMES TO REMOVING THE EYES, YOU HAVE NO PEER! YOU'RE THE MASTER!

BUT THE GRACE OF THE WHOLE OPERATION! THAT'S WHERE YOU EXCEL! THE FLUID MOVEMENT OF THE FINGERS! THE PRECISION TURNING OF THE WRIST... PURE ART!

YOU SHOULD GO DOWN IN HISTORY AS ONE OF THE ALL-TIME GREAT POTATO PEELERS, IN MY HUMBLE OPINION!

I GUESS ANYONE WHO OVERDOES CRITICISM TENDS TO OVERDO PRAISE

FLASH GORDON by DAN BARRY

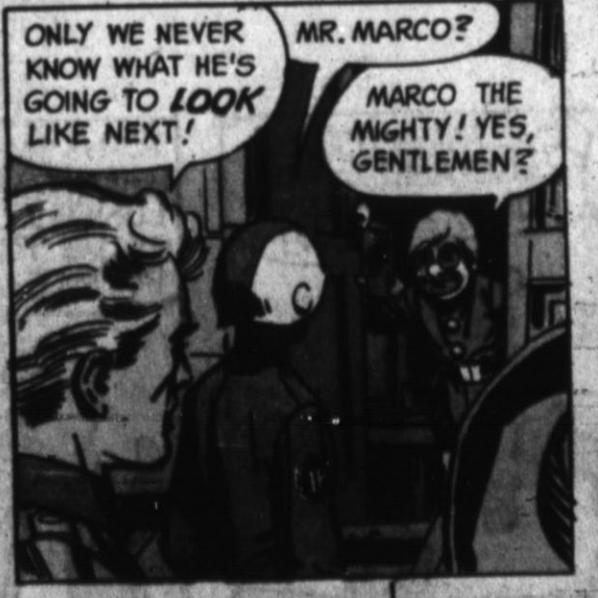

THE MIDWAY OF A MARSPORT CARNIVAL...

YOU ALL HAD YOUR POCKETS PICKED WITHIN JUST A FEW MINUTES? WHERE WERE YOU WHEN IT HAPPENED?

RIGHT HERE... WE WERE TALKING TO THAT MIDGET ACROBAT, MARCO.

THE THIEF WENT TO WORK WHILE WE WERE BUSY! HE GOT A DIAMOND RING RIGHT OFF MY FINGER!

WE'VE RUN EVERY KNOWN DRIFTER AND PICKPOCKET OUT OF MARSPORT! THIS CAPER WAS DONE BY AN EXPERT, FLASH!

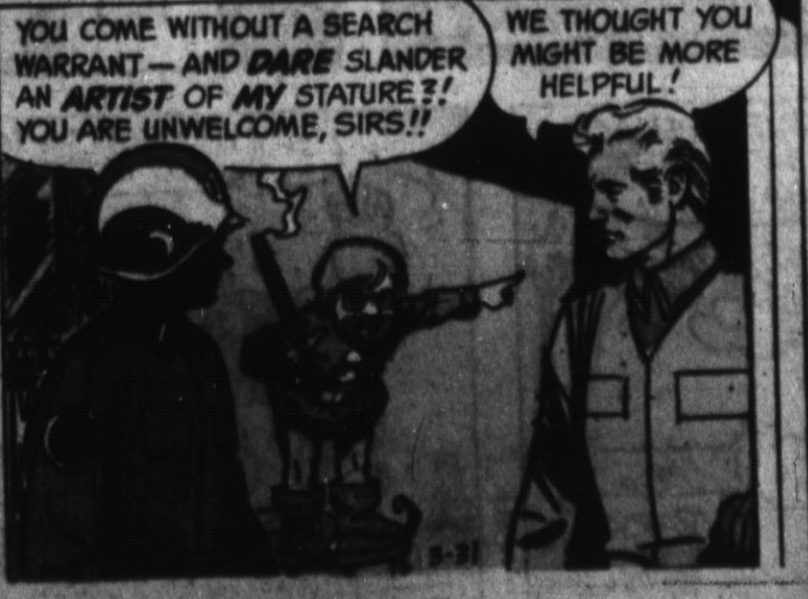

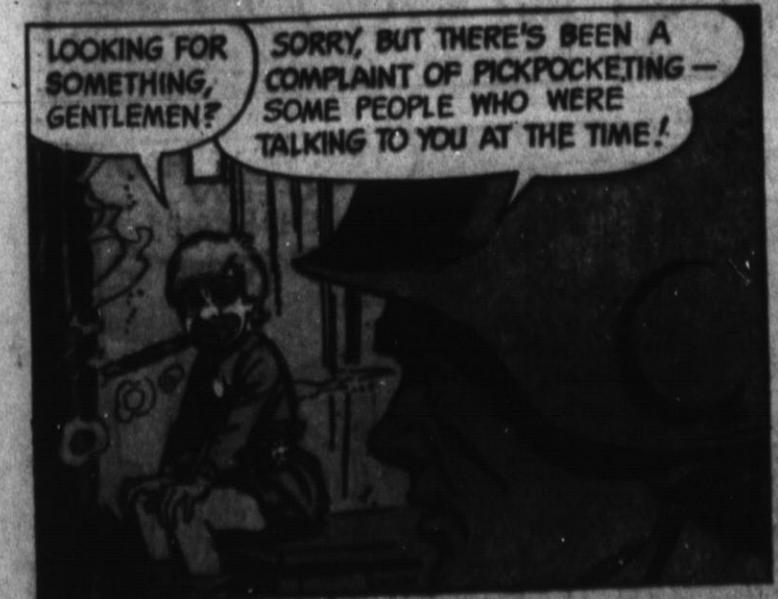

DID YOU KNOW THE "CHAMELEON" IS HERE ON MARS? HE'S THE GREATEST LIGHTFINGER IN CREATION!

NEW SENSATION! MARCO THE MIGHTY! THE GREATEST THIEF ARTIST IN THE UNIVERSE!

ONLY WE NEVER KNOW WHAT HE'S GOING TO LOOK LIKE NEXT!

MR. MARCO? MARCO THE MIGHTY! YES, GENTLEMEN?

WELL, WELL, WELL! MY OLD FRIEND, FLASH GORDON! THE MAN WHO EXILED ME TO THAT MISERABLE PLANET K-32! I AM GLAD TO FIND HIM!

LOOKING FOR SOMETHING, GENTLEMEN?

SORRY, BUT THERE'S BEEN A COMPLAINT OF PICKPOCKETING— SOME PEOPLE WHO WERE TALKING TO YOU AT THE TIME!

YOU COME WITHOUT A SEARCH WARRANT— AND DARE SLANDER AN ARTIST OF MY STATURE?! YOU ARE UNWELCOME, SIRSI!

WE THOUGHT YOU MIGHT BE MORE HELPFUL!

HA-HAA! FLASH GORDON HERE! PROBABLY ON MY TRAIL!

HE'LL NEVER GUESS THAT LITTLE MARCO IS "THE CHAMELEON"— BUT I'LL GIVE HIM ENOUGH BAIT TO HANG HIMSELF!

NEXT WEEK: STALKING THE HUNTER!
