John Southall, sophomore premed major from Hereford, has the role of Corin in the Texas Tech speech department spring production, "As You Like It."

The Shakespearean play will be given before the end of the spring semester, May 26. Miss Cecilia Thompson, assistant professor of speech at Tech and director of the play announced the cast of the play Monday.

George Graham was guest speaker for the athletic banquet in Canyon Thursday night.

Mrs. Dalton Criswell attended an area meeting of librarians in Levelland Friday.

The Commissioners Court Saturday accepted the State Highway Department's recommendation for the 1952 Farm-To-Market road allotment of 5.2 miles on the Adrian road.

Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Burgess Jr. are the parents of a new son, Ronald Ray, born Thursday at the Neblett hospital in Canyon. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Noble Willier and Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Burgess of Hereford.

Clint Formby, manager of KPAN, was the speaker at Thursday's meeting of the Kiwanis club. Formby told about the radio industry and recalled some classic "slips of the lip" which have gone out over the airwaves.

Howard Roberson, brother of Deward Roberson, is resting well in the Northwest Texas hospital at Amarillo following brain surgery this week. Howard suffered a brain hemorrhage following an accident in which he bumped his head on a cupboard door at his home.

The Hereford Safety Council will meet Tuesday at 2 p. m. in Mayor W. E. Dameron's office.

Pfc. Billy Evans, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Reilly, is home on a 30-day leave from the Air Force. He was stationed at Lowery Air Base, Denver, where he graduated from a munitions course. At the termination of his leave on April 29, he will report to Camp Stoneham, Calif.

The Hereford Kiwanis club will sponsor Prince Zogi, the magician, in the Hereford high school auditorium on Friday, April 11 at 8 p. m. President Pat Sullivan announced that the club's second anniversary will be observed on April 24 with a "Ladies Night" event. A meeting in the month of May will be held at Boys Ranch, he reported Thursday.

Four members of the Hereford Kiwanis club — Bob Wear, Lloyd Lovell, Ray McCullough and John Pool — presented an exchange program Thursday at Plainview. Wear spoke on "Liberty—Let's Keep It." This is the Kiwanis theme for 1952.

District 18 of the Lions club will have a cabinet meeting in Hereford at 12:30 Sunday, March 30. The wives are invited to attend the meeting.

Bippus Vs. Sam Houston Ins. Co. Case Settled

The case of Herbert Bippus vs. the Sam Houston Life Insurance company has been settled, James W. Witherspoon, attorney for Bippus, told The Brand.

Bippus asked for the return of $6,000 paid out by him as interest on a $100,000 annuity bond and the return of his $100,000 note because, his petition alleged, provisions of the annuity bond were fraudulently represented by an agent of the company.

The $6,000 has been returned to him Tuesday, Witherspoon said, and the note is in the process of being returned by the company.

Fractures Left Collarbone In Accident Thurs.

Pat Ranspot suffered a fractured collarbone on the left side and cuts over his left eye Thursday when the pick-up truck he was driving overturned on Harrison highway, one mile west of Hereford.

Ranspot's young son, Mike, suffered scratches and bruises in the accident. Ranspot was released from the hospital Friday.

The Ranspot vehicle, a 1951 Chevrolet, sustained damage estimated at $1,100, when it hit the left front fender of a truck driven by Malcom Beach.

Damage to the Beach pick-up was estimated at $10.

Jesse M. Osborn Candidate For Representative

In keeping with the nationwide trend to put government back into the hands of qualified business men came the announcement this week that Jesse M. Osborn of Muleshoe will be a candidate for State Representative, 96th legislative district of Texas.

A successful banker, rancher and farmer, Mr. Osborn entered the race at the request of many friends over the newly-formed, five-county district. Backers of Mr. Osborn say that although his interests are still extensive, he will have sufficient time to devote to the office. His election, friends feel, will be in keeping with the trend toward closer superision of spending of state money, and the replacement of professional politicians and college students in Austin by the kind of men who made Texas a great state.

Born at Oklahoma, Ark., Aug. 14, 1894, Mr. Osborn came to this area in 1924, when he became associated with the Friona State Bank. He remained in Parmer County until 1931, when he went to Muleshoe with the Muleshoe State Bank. He is still president of the Muleshoe Bank, but is assisted by an active vice-president. In addition to the banking business, Mr. Osborn has also engaged in farming and now has a small herd of registered cattle.

"I do not plan to make an active or extensive campaign," he said. "Many of my friends have come to me and asked me to make this race. If the people see fit to elect me to this office, I will do my best to represent these five counties honestly, to their best interests, and to the welfare of the State of Texas. If I could not go to Austin without obligation to any person or group of persons, I would not go at all. The campaigning will have to be done by my friends — and that's the way it should be. Like many of you, I feel that we must have some changes in our government, especially in regards to wild spending. If the people of the district want me to try this job, I am willing to do the best and only way I know, the way I have always tried to live and conduct my own business."

Mr. Osborn has never before sought or held a public office, but as always taken an interest

Beta Sigma Phi Will Sponsor "Fun Night" For Cancer Drive

A community-wide "Fun Night"—with all proceeds going to the Deaf Smith County Cancer Society—will be sponsored by the Beta Sigma Phi sorority at the Veterans clubhouse Tuesday night, April 8. Plans for the event were made at a meeting held Friday night of the local chapter of the American Cancer Society. Included in the evening's entertainment will be canasta, "42", bridge, dominoes, or any other game participants may wish to play.

This is the first special event for the month-long cancer fundraising campaign in the county, which has a goal of $910.

The drive itself begins this coming Tuesday, with the Beta Sigma Phi members maintaining booths in the post office and each of the Hereford banks.

During the week of April 13, the local chapter will have a series of 15-minute radio programs over station KPAN each morning on cancer education.

The Toastmasters club will put on the educational drive for the campaign, according to Harry Caylor, chairman.

On April 20, which is Cancer Sunday, the appeal will be taken to the churches in Hereford.

U. S. 60 Member Drive Is Opened

The 1952 membership drive of the U. S. Highway 60 Association will begin locally this week, according to Deward Roberson of Hereford, director of the Texas Division of the national group.

Annual dues have been set at $6, Roberson says. In the past, fees have been paid on a donation basis. Of the $6 annual dues, $2 remains in the state organization and $4 goes to the national association.

All funds, whether used for state or national work, go for the promotion of travel on U. S. Highway 60.

In his announcement of the membership drive, Roberson released figures relative to the District Court Jury Finds No Giles-Cole Partnership

A district court jury late Thursday night returned decisions favorable to Russell Giles, Hereford automobile dealer on three special issues in a suit brought against him by C. F. Cole of Amarillo.

The jury, which deliberated for about 30 minutes on the three issues with which it was charged, ruled that: a written contract entered into by Giles and Cole on July 29, 1950, was cancelled on August 4, 1950; that Cole had no further interest in the business after August 4, 1950; and that the provisions of the written contract signed on July 29, 1950, were not continued in any oral agreement made on August 4, 1950.

District Judge Harry Schultz left for Dalhart Friday morning and had not signed the judgment up until this time. Judge Schultz is to return to hold court again Monday.

Cole, according to a written partnership agreement with Giles on July 29, 1950, was to receive 49 percent of the business when profits from that business equalled the original investment of $43,500 made by Giles. Cole left the firm on August 3, 1950, writing a letter to Giles expressing his dissatisfaction with the arrangement.

Cole's attorney introduced the letter, which was sent to Giles, as evidence. Giles' attorney, James W. Witherspoon, charged that the letter nullified the contract of July 29, 1950. Giles testified that when Cole returned to work for him following the writing of the letter, no oral agreements were made embodying provisions of the written contract nullified when Cole left the firm. Cole testified that the business relationship between the two men was to remain the same, according to an oral agreement made before he returned to work for Giles.

The jurors deliberated on three special issues. They were:

1. Do you find, from the preponderance of the evidence, that on August 4, 1950, the plaintiff and defendant agreed to void or cancel the written contract of July 29, 1950?

The jury's answer was "They did so agree."

2. Do you find, from a preponderance of the evidence, that on August 4, 1950, the plaintiff

Dawn Co-op Buys Rodgers Grain

The Dawn Co-operative, a newly-organized association of farmers in the Dawn area, this week announced the purchase of the Rodgers Grain company of Dawn for $243,000.

H. H. Miller, president of the co-op, said the purchase price includes the Rodgers elevators, the feed mill, three residences in Dawn, and the haysheds at the elevator site.

The new group, with a capital authorization of a million dollars, will take over ownership of the enterprise on April 1. David Rodgers will continue with the firm as manager.

Name of the business will be the Dawn Co-operative. Officers, in addition to Miller, are: Wayne Higgins, vice-president; A. T. Frye, secretary-treasurer; and J. T. Gilbreath Jr., and Walter Galley, members of the board.

A total of 93 member-farmers have purchased stock in the co-operative, Miller said.

Rodgers will continue his ownership of the flour-milling business which produces his Arrow-head flour.

The new co-operative will be set up to do buying, selling and storing of grain, custom grinding and processing of feed, according to Miller. "Our policy will be to give prompt, efficient and fair service and we look forward to enjoying the same success as the Rodgers Grain company has in the past."

Capacity at the new Dawn Co-operative elevator is approximately 500,000 bushels of grain and about 1000 tons of hay.

Buildings at the elevator site include 12 tank elevators with a capacity of 30,000 bushels each and two of 15,000 bushels plus flat storage of 140,000 bushels.

Rodgers began the elevator at Dawn in 1947, building the units at that time. His flour enterprise will be operated at the elevator site, he commented.

Miller said stock is still being sold in the co-operative.

Seek Heavy City Vote

Hereford's city elections will be held Tuesday, April 1. Balloting for mayor and two city commissioners will be in one box at the city hall between the hours of 4 a. m. and 7 p. m.

The ballot will carry one slate of candidates — Incumbent Mayor W. E. Dameron and Incumbent Commissioners S. O. Wilson and Don Zimmerman.

In answer to a petition circulated among Hereford businessmen the three officials consented to return their names to the ballot for the purpose of presenting the home rule issue to the voters of Hereford.

If approved, the home rule form of government would bring to Hereford a changed administrative set-up.

While there is no ballot opposition in Tuesday's city voting, it is important to all in the community that a record turnout be had at the polls.

Under some form of home rule charters — incorporating the power of recall and referendum — a majority is determined by the turnout of voters at the last election. Thus, if apathy marks the city elections and a handful of voters turn up at the polls, there is the potential danger that a handful of voters — based on past election history — can control the policies of the city.

Progress has started on the home rule charter—the preparation of which citizens authorized at a mass meeting on March 13—and another meeting of the group's drafting committee is set for April 4.

A city-wide election on the home rule form of government for Hereford — available to the city since the population exceeded 5,000 persons — will be held in the near future.

Hereford Stop For Amarillo Goodwill Tour

Hereford will be one of 25 Panhandle cities to be visited by a special three-day goodwill train caravan made up of Amarillo businessmen during the month of April.

According to present plans, the nine-car special train will arrive in Hereford at 1 p. m. Thursday, April 17. When the train arrives, a parade will form to honor Jim Hill whose arrangements are being made for the group to eat lunch.

Following the luncheon, there will be a concert by the 100-piece Amarillo Air Force band.

Other details of the visit will be announced later. The group will leave for Amarillo at 3 p. m.

James P. Wilson Of Friona Dies

James Perry Wilson of Friona died suddenly Wednesday night at his home in Friona.

Funeral rites were conducted in Friona on Friday morning, March 28 at 10:30 by Rev. Russell Pogue.

Services were conducted on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 at the Fernwood Baptist church in Dallas. Rev. Pogue officiated at this service also.

Burial was in the Laureland cemetery in Dallas.

Wilson was born on November 4, 1897 in Mississippi and married Carrie Allen on January 23, 1909 in Dallas.

They moved to Parmer county in 1926 from Dallas. Wilson was a farmer in Parmer county at the time of his death.

Survivors include: his wife, Mrs. J. P. Wilson of Friona; one son, Elroy Wilson of Friona; one daughter, Marie Cox of Texico; a brother, A. D. Wilson of Dallas and four sisters, Mrs. Mollie Eubank, Dallas; Mrs. Lee Whitworth, Dallas; Ella McGlothlin, Dallas and Mrs. Ada Smith, Dallas.

Criminal Cases Open Monday In District Court

Two criminal cases will be tried in district court here on Monday, according to District Judge Harry Schultz.

To be tried are two charges of cattle theft against each Texan Joe Lovett and Arthur Miller Morris, both of whom were indicted by the grand jury on February 4, 1952.

Miller and Lovett are charged with theft of a calf from G. W. Beumley and Alfred May on November 29, 1951.

Both are free under $1000 bond. Also in district court next week will be two more civil suits, Judge Schultz told The Brand. The Staats - Miller damage suit, which has been reverted to district court from the state supreme court, will be tried Friday.

The Western Securities-Pickrell case will also be tried during the week.

Hollander Here Studying Farm Implements

Jaap Vogelsang, a native of Holland, who now calls Toronto, Canada, his home, was in Hereford several days this week studying the various uses of farm implements in this part of the country.

Vogelsang has been in the United States for about six weeks training to become a special representative of a farm implement company in India.

During World War II he was associated with the Dutch underground movement. Vogelsang was captured twice as he tried to escape to the Allied lines in Italy but managed to escape both times and get back to Holland. The third time he made it to the Allied lines although he was nearly captured again.

Following the war Vogelsang spent some time in England and later went to Indonesia.

Before moving to Canada, he returned to Amsterdam, Holland and spent a year.

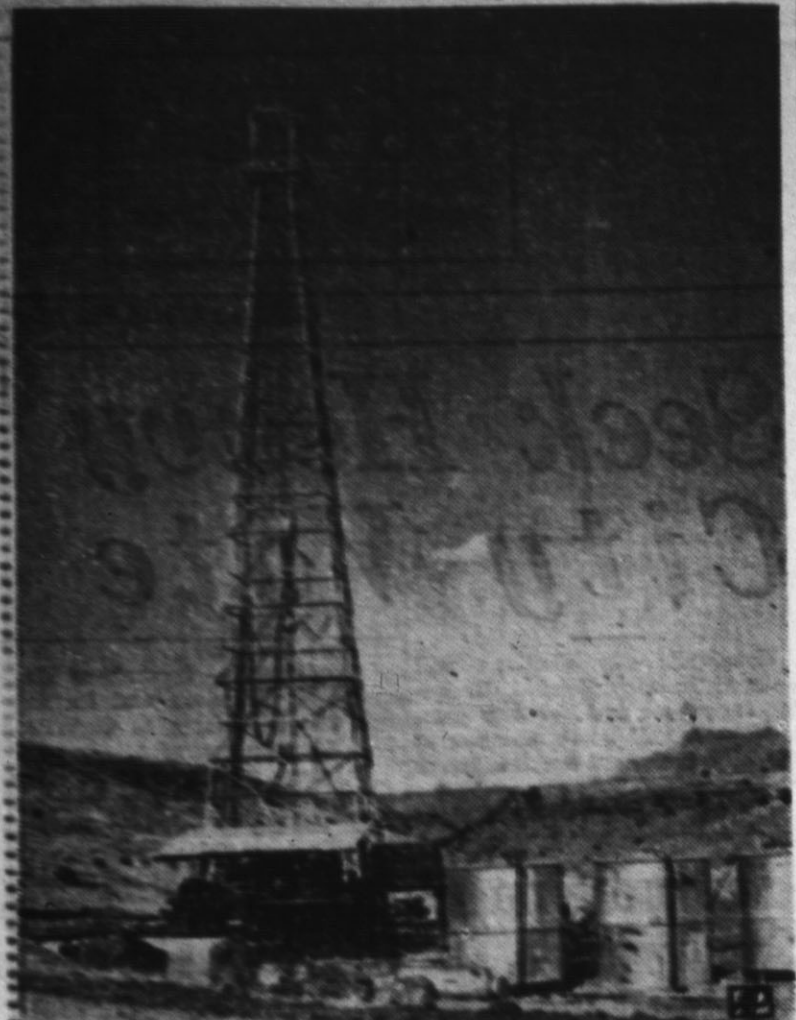

Vogelsang went to high school and college in Holland.

From Hereford he will go to southern Texas and Louisiana and then back to his home in Canada. The next assignment for Vogelsang will be in India.

While Vogelsang was in Hereford he talked to an assembly of the students at Shirley school who were studying about Holland.—N. G. L.

Farm Commodity Program Of OPS Meshed With CCC

The Office of Price Stabilization has moved to bring the agency's ceiling price program for farm commodities in line with provisions of the Agricultural Act of 1949, the district OPS office said today.

In one action it authorized sales of processed or unprocessed agricultural commodities at prices equalling support or purchase prices in cases where such prices have been announced by the Commodity Credit Corporation.

In another, it provided a new formula for ceiling prices on CCC sales of non-storable non-basic agricultural commodities, whether processed or unprocessed, which were acquired under price support programs.

The first authorization is granted by General Overriding Regulation 26 and became effective this week. It provides in general that the ceiling price for sales of a supported farm commodity shall not be less than the support purchase price, announced by CCC, whether the sales are of a commercial nature between private individuals or to the CCC.

The second authorization is granted by Amendment 2 to Supplementary Regulation 14 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation, also effective this week. This prescribes generally that the ceiling price on sales of non-storable non-basic commodities held by CCC shall be the highest of: (1) the highest ceiling price the purchaser could pay any of his usual suppliers for the commodity; (2) the cost of acquisition by CCC plus reasonable carrying charges, or (3) the latest announced support price, or purchase price carrying charges.

In issuing the first regulation, OPS pointed out that the farm price support programs of the CCC frequently take the form of purchasing processed agricultural commodities, such as butter and dry skim milk, at a price that enables the processor to pay producers a specific percentage of parity for the raw commodity.

It is possible, the agency explained, that in some cases the OPS ceiling prices for these processed products, as established by the general price freeze of January, 1951, may be lower than the announced support prices.

Because the Defense Production Act specifically prohibits OPS from issuing any regulation that conflicts with the Agricultural Act of 1949—the law governing farm price supports—OPS said it is incumbent upon the price control agency to provide ceilings for sales of supported commodities to the CCC no lower than announced support prices.

OPS pointed out that the CCC, in supporting prices of processed agricultural commodities, in effect, not only fixes producer prices but also the processor margins.

ON HIM IT WOULD LOOK GOOD

GRASS ROOTS

I have had my hand called and wasn't in the least surprised. M. L. Simpson Jr., in a very polite way, which is characteristic of M. L., as all of you who know him will agree, informed me that showing new alfalfa stands for seed control is for the birds. M. L. has done this and states that by mowing, the plants stop their growth to the extent that the first cutting is delayed. His advice—Let the weeds come and bale them with the first cutting. For feed value there are things worse than weeds.

About the Dryland grass seedings. There is still quite a bit of doubt about dusting in grass seed. Under dryland conditions this is the only way. It is impossible to seed grasses into moisture and expect to get them up to a decent stand. Grasses must be planted over a quarter of an inch deep. Of course, plowing of the seeded land is always a hazard, and it is necessary to take precautions. Bill Waldrip has a big tractor and is going to pull a Sudan drill, a Home plow and our grass seeder all at the same time. He will seed the Sudan in wide rows and chisel in between, followed by the grass seeder. This scheme was used by Cecil Guseman, excluding the Sudan seeding. Cecil pulled a gang harrow, followed by his grass seeder and then pulled his chisel over the seeded area. This section hasn't moved though during our recent high winds to cause any damage to the seeding. Other dryland seedings have been handled in a similar fashion. E. L. Brown, John Cavin, W. A. Carter, Mrs. Francis Donegan, Robert Wagoner and Joe Reimauer.

For the most part these seedings are mixtures of our native dryland grasses. Blue grama, sideoats grama and buffalo (mesquite grass for the benefit of you old timers) are the natives, and Intermediate wheatgrass and Sand lovegrass show the most promise as introduced species. There are lots of inquiries about Blue panicum on dryland, as well as irrigated, and I will have more to say about this fine grass later on. It should not be seeded for several weeks yet, but the sooner these others are in, the better.

JOKE: A brand new graduate from the state agricultural school was expounding to an old colored farmer about the damage he was doing, by burning off his grass pasture in the Fall. Several agricultural pamphlets were presented the old dandy by the new graduate, and after an hour or so of harang the old dandy was pretty well subdued. Finally he was asked what he had learned from this fine discussion on progressive agriculture.

"Well sah!! When I burns this pasture off in the Fall, it's as black as I am, but when it comes out early in the spring, it will be as green as you are!"

I can't get all into this space that I would like, concerning the seeding of dryland pastures, but am a little pressed for time and space. It looks like it is going to be a job again this Spring, in routing our grass drills, so if you are interested in seeding your alfalfa or pastures, stop by and get your name in the hat.

Johnsons Return From Purchasing Farmland In Arkasas, To Move

By Mrs. R. C. Childers
 Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Johnson of this vicinity and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Johnson of Pampa returned from Harrison, Ark., where the Earl Johnsons purchased ranch property. They plan to move immediately. The Earl Johnsons are parents of Wayne Johnson and Mrs. R. C. Childers.

Mrs. J. T. Richardson was taken to St. Anthony's hospital in Amarillo Thursday for a minor operation Friday morning. It is thought that she will be able to come home the same day.

Mrs. Paul S. Corbett, who recently was released from the hospital, is not doing so well. Mrs. John Hunter has been staying in the Corbett home caring for Mrs. Corbett.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvis Southward plan to spend the week end in Dallas with friends. They plan to leave Friday.

Fred Wolfington has been ill this week with a throat infection.

Mrs. R. C. Childers, Raymon and Patsy attended the fourth and final concert in the high school auditorium on Thursday. Joan Field, violinist and Howard Barr at the piano, entertained the group.

Mrs. Clyde Sherrich of Friona was a guest in the Marvis Southward home Thursday, and a visitor at the regular meeting of the Cultural Home Demonstration club.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Gehres from Kansas City, Mo., were visitors in the Leona Packard home Wednesday. Mr. Gehres is an uncle of Mrs. Packard.

Hospital Notes

Patients In Hospital
 Mrs. Seale Stevens, med.; Robert 27.

Mrs. C. P. Norton was a caller in the homes of Mrs. Earl Dehart, Mrs. R. C. Childers and Mrs. Paul Corbett Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Argen Draper was a caller at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Childers Thursday afternoon.

Mr. C. S. Barclay was in Lubbock on business Thursday. Mrs. C. S. Barclay spent the day with her mother, Mrs. R. C. Childers, while Mr. Barclay was out of town.

Social Security For Farm Labor Cultural Topic

The Cultural Home Demonstration club met in the Marvis Southward home Thursday for a program on "Social Security for Farm Labor."

Mrs. R. C. Childers introduced Mrs. Earl Dehart who brought the program to the club.

During the business session, which was presided over by the president, Mrs. Fred Wolfington, a International Relations chairman was appointed. She was Mrs. Earl Dehart.

Another item of business was the Wayne Paul Corbett farm sale which is slated to be held April 10. The club voted to serve lunch at this sale.

Plans were also made for the scrap book for 1952, and the marketing committee requested to order 75 Danny Duzits, to be bought by club members.

Members attending the meeting were Mrs. Charles Owens, Mrs. R. C. Childers, Mrs. Fred Wolfington, Mrs. John Hunter, Mrs. Arnold Hershey, Mrs. Louie Olson, Mrs. Earl Dehart, Mrs. C. S. Barclay, a visitor, Mrs. Clyde Sherrich of Friona, and the hostess.

Golf Meeting In County Court Room Wednesday

A general meeting of interest to all golfing enthusiasts in the area — both men and women—will be held Wednesday night at 8 p. m. in the county court room.

Under the sponsorship of the Hereford Golf Association, the meeting will be devoted largely to a general discussion of how to improve the local course and other local problems.

A PGA pro will be on hand to explain all the new rulings also, according to Dub Reeves, vice-president.

Reeves told The Brand that the membership drive being carried on by the golf association is coming along well, with 11 new shares sold. The club has a total of 23 full shares that can be sold under the existing charter limitations.

Eighty Attend Annual DeMolay Banquet Wed.

Approximately 80 DeMolay members and their guests attended the annual DeMolay Sweetheart banquet Wednesday night. Clayton Rutter, master councilor, gave the welcome address and Sharon Dee Moore, past worthy advisor of the Order of Rainbow gave the response. Special music for the banquet was by the girls' sextet under the direction of Don Moore. Highlight of the evening was the presentation of the DeMolay Sweetheart, Peggy Sowell, and DeMolay sister, Betty Ramsey. Roy Ford was the speaker for the evening.

in community and regional affairs.

Friends of Mr. Osborn say: "We got Jess into this race, because we think it's time the people who pay the bill take more interest. It will be a financial sacrifice on his part to accept, but he is willing on the basis of service. He is a successful business man, and we feel that more men of this type are needed in our government. If you want more information regarding Jess Osborn, just ask some of the folks who have known or been associated with him."

Four Enlistees During Week In Army, Air Force

Four Hereford men enlisted in the Air Force and Regular Army this week, according to Sgt.

Robert Bills, local Army and Air Force recruiter.

Two of the men were Air Force enlistees and two were Regular Army enlistees, Bills said. Wallace H. Miles, 29, a World War II veteran, enlisted in the Air Force Thursday for a four-year period. He left Thursday for Reese Air Force base, Lubbock, where he will be stationed.

Clifford J. Green, 22, left Thursday for Lackland Air Force base to undergo his basic training period.

Army enlistees were: James R. Hudson, 18; and Milton Lee Newman, 18. All enlisted for a three-year period and went to Ft. Sill, Okla., Friday for further processing and assignment.

Whether or not any of the enlistees will be sent to a special Army or Air Force school will depend on their basic training record.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hershey from Lubbock are spending the week-end in Hereford visiting with friends and relatives.

Ernest Langley New Attorney With Local Firm

James W. Witherspoon and his associates in the legal profession, John D. Aiken, Wayne E. Thomas and Mel Ruth Aikin, announce the association with them of Ernest L. Langley.

Langley, a former Amarillo attorney, has been associated with the law firm of McEachern, Ochsner, Lockhart & Langley.

LANGLEY

Prior to his arrival here, Langley received a B. A. degree in philosophy from Texas Tech in Lubbock, where he was a member of Alpha Chi and Kappa Kappa Psi.

He served four years in the ordnance department of the United States Army with the rank of captain, and at the present time retains a reserve commission.

He attended the University of Texas Law school where he received an L. L. B. degree in 1951. While in law school, Mr. Langley was editor-in-chief of the Texas Law Review; member of Chancellors, high honorary legal order; and Phi Delta Phi, international legal fraternity, from which he was selected "Graduate of the Year." He was the recipient of the James Lockhart Autrey scholarship, and an award from the Vernon Law Book company for published writings in the Texas Law Review. Mr.

tourist industry and what it means to Hereford. He said that of each tourist dollar spent in Hereford, 17c goes to the service stations and garages; 23c directly to the merchant downtown; and 43c to restaurants, hotels and tourist courts.

The balance of the tourist dollar, Roberson stated, is spent for amusement, medical care, attorney's fees and other miscellaneous items.

"In addition to the 23c that is spent with downtown merchants," Roberson continued, "the biggest percent of the income of the highway merchant is also spent with downtown merchants."

"Without a doubt, more traffic over U. S. Highway 60 will help Hereford financially in all channels of business."

Roberson produced figures showing how much tourist money was spent last year by states along the route of U. S. Highway 60. Last year, tourists spent: $225 million in Missouri; $100 million in Oklahoma; $275 million in Texas; $150 million in New Mexico; $250 million in Arizona; and $839 million in California.

Tourism is New Mexico's chief industry. It ranks second or third in most of the states listed above.

The national U. S. Highway 60 convention will be held in Pampa this year on May 15 and 16.

With the completion very shortly of the last unpaved strip of 60 in northeastern Oklahoma, the highway will be an all-paved coast-to-coast transcontinental route. Traffic is increasing daily over U. S. 60 and the Convention to be held in Pampa in May is expected to set up a plan of advertising and general promotion that will still increase the number of tourists choosing 60 over other east-west routes.

Howard Buckingham of Pampa is the Texas president and G. H. McWhirter of Mountainair, N. M. is the national president.

Langley ranked first in his graduating class.

Langley is married and has two daughters. He is a member of the Methodist church, Junior Chamber of Commerce, and Toastmasters International. The Langleys plan to move to Hereford early this week.

Kiwanis Club's "Farmers' Day" Next Thursday

The Hereford Kiwanis club will sponsor its second annual "Farmers' Day" observance Thursday noon.

Farmers of the area will be guests of club members. Speaker for the occasion will be the new head agronomist at West Texas College. His topic will be, "Facts and Figures on Feeding Cattle in This Area."

Bill Nafzger, Kiwanis agriculture committee chairman, is in charge of the event.

A good crowd attended the first annual "Farmers Day" last year. The public is invited to attend the meeting if they desire, Nafzger said.

Grandstand Gropings

By Kent Stone

This evening I hustled over and scooped a bit in the purchase of the afternoon gazette to the northeast, thereupon I hid me home, much in anticipation of the wrap-up on last night's NCAA finals in Seattle. . . . And what do I find? Not a scratch and before my indignation cooled, I received two telephone calls from other interested investors. We awaited ourselves of Clint Forney's indulgence and he informed us that Kansas defeated St. John's, 40-43. . . . He also brooded a bit about the absence of news in the aforesaid gazette. . . . All of us, long ago, have despaired of receiving all the late national sports news in the morning gazette, but it really isn't asking much for them to carry the story on the afternoon following the night before, wherein the championship of the National Collegiate Association was decided. I did pick the eventual winner, Kansas, but I deplored the fact that St. John's was even invited, so what ensues, they mostly knock off Kentucky, number one nationally, and Illinois, number two in the same league. However, they no answer to Lovellette, who dumped in 33 permits, totaling 144 for four NCAA contracts, requiring the total of 48 compiled by Don Sunderlage of Illinois last year. . . . The Kansas biggie broke practically every scoring record that the NCAA had achieved. . . . The same scribbling character, who recently observed there was no defense in basketball, excepted with some more quaint quotes in the same sheet, to wit: That in the last week's TCU loss to Kansas, the Frog mentor had instructed his center, McLeod, to stay away from Lovellette and allow him to shoot but that McLeod tried to guard the Kansas computer and fouled out in the first quarter. To quote Scannon, the TCU coach: McLeod fouling out so quickly hurt us badly. I was going to get him out of there and started to after he got his third foul. But he picked up the fourth and fifth fouls before I could even get the warmup suit off a replacement. 'Til drilled George (McLeod) all this time on orders to stay away from Lovellette and let him shoot. We figured him for 30 or 35 points anyway and I believe now McLeod could have matched him and probably out-scored him, but he tried to guard him." unique. . . . Scannon neglected to mention that Olson, McLeod's replacement, scored 20 points against Kansas and was named to the second all-tourney team, while McLeod was not mentioned. . . . What kind of left-handed coaching philosophy is that, to let the major national scoring leader shoot at will (Lovellette set the all-time collegiate scoring record until

"Buy" Today On Lay-A-Way

By JIMMIE GILLETIN

Here we go again. Whiskers and fuzz. Mostly fuzz. After all the screaming last year, especially from this corner, we are right back where we started. Who wants to grow a beard? The answer is: "Mostly people who can't." Why should we grow beards anyway? What do they represent? The Indians, I guess, were at least among the first settlers of this country — and they are widely renowned for the fact that they were beardless. Just because somebody's great-grandfather was too lazy to shave seems a mighty poor reason for me to suffer untold agonies. I respect the pioneers — but whether I shave or not should be my business. Besides, the idea is out of date. It was OK the first time, but has been used too often. Let the youngsters who enjoy the whiskers go ahead and have their fun. My money is on Jerry Witherspoon. Some of those old games like "Post Office" will live forever, but whisker growing is a different matter. Notice where they also have the women included this year. No make up. I always thought it was Cecil Williams and some of those other B. and P. W. gals who started this whisker deal. I apologize for the things I thought about them. The fact that they are this year included certainly proves them innocent. Cecil always claimed she was against the movement but, to be truthful, I never did believe her before. Anyway, I am in the market for a shaving permit. I figure the sponsors will have quite a bit of static from the ladies this year. Some of them are already riled up, especially the girls who work around town.

Cecil Massey, the new Chamber of Commerce secretary, was telling this one:

A certain dowager in a Southern community called the army camp of a neighboring town, demanded to speak to the commanding officer, and generously offered to entertain eight soldiers the following Sunday for dinner. She closed her invitation with the following words, "Just one request, Colonel. No Jewish boys, please. You know what I mean."

Sunday afternoon rolled around and, much to her surprise and chagrin, eight strapping, khaki-clad Negro GIs walked up and knocked on her front door. The lady stammered and spluttered a few seconds, then said: "I'm sure there must be some mistake."

"No Ma'am," replied one of the Negroes, "Col. Goldberg never makes no mistakes."

Here's a letter from Vega. "We have neglected to thank you for the invitation to attend the Star Theatre on our anniversary, Feb. 25th. However, we do thank you now. We were unable to come because of the bad weather at that time, but appreciate it just the same. Sincerely, Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Roberts" tain the anniversary list — and it is a wonderful gesture. I wish we could honestly take the credit, but we can't. In addition to the free tickets on the occasion, I know a lot of fellows who would otherwise forget their anniversaries and get in the doghouse, but plenty. It is a community service second to none. Incidentally, if they do not have your name and anniversary date on the list, drop a card or leave the information at the box office. They are anxious to have these names and dates and, like I said, it is a most pleasant reminder. I asked Mr. Hardwick how many they have. He reports a few more than 1,200. It is estimated that collecting, handling and mailing the anniversary cards costs the theatre around $1 a year for each couple, including tax.

Do you know anyone who can be more "onery" than Urlin Streu? Last week he didn't get his Diary in on time, so we just put it in with a brief note. Now he is making nasty cracks about me and, even worse, says he isn't going to pay for the space. However, I've got him over the barrel. I know WHY he was late. The only trouble is I can't involve Streu without involving my own self. Maybe he's got me over a barrel. Anyway, Streu, couldn't you be a gentleman just once in your life? Do you always have to be hard-headed and so penny-pinching? Why can't you be a good neighbor? After all, our locations are just next-door and it is most important for you to have the cooperation and goodwill of your neighbors. Just send us a check and all will be forgotten.

He won't, though. Even after a generous appeal like this. Furthermore, Streu wears a little "two-bit" mustache all the time and, to show how contrary he is, I'll bet he shaves it off — just because they are asking everyone to grow whiskers. Just wait and see. All I know is that Mrs. Streu is a most, most remarkable woman. How she can go around smiling and cheerful is beyond me.

Mrs. Essie Cardwell is another woman with a lot of patience. She is chief collector at the gas office and people are screaming their heads off about their gas bills these months. Boy, I would hate to have her job. Folks who are trying to grow wheat can maybe be happy if they have a crop failure. At least, that's how a lot of elevator men are beginning to feel. The Pure Food and Drug agency is cracking down on elevators (a separate deal from shortages and Commodity Credit). Insect particles have been consistently showing up in flour. Practically every miller has faced troubles, and the Pure Food and Drug people are indicating trouble with storage. This is due, in part, to high moisture content under which condition the weevils and bugs multiply rapidly. Storage restrictions could become almost impossible. Farm storage will also probably come under the hammer — at least when the grain goes to the market. A prediction: You'll be hearing plenty about this before harvest time.

Not long ago an upset citizen nervously asked a prominent astronomer whether it was possible for the atomic bomb to destroy the earth.

"Suppose it does," said the scientist with a casual shrug. "It isn't as if the earth were a major planet."

Bruce Woodell, Dub Reeves and Dale Tinnan are talking about going fishing. It won't be long, Jim Lipscomb is also getting the fever. He's talking Arkansas this year.

They say someone last summer asked Mrs. Reeves where he could find Dub. She said, "Just go down to Buffalo Lake and look around until you find a pole with a worm on each end."

What this country really needs is about four more candidates and a good three inch rain. If we get these within the next 15 days, we'll be hard to stop.

Allen White of Emporium, Penn., spent Friday in the home of his sister, Mrs. J. W. McIver. White is on a sales service tour and stopped in Hereford on his way to the west coast.

Amateur Rose Gardening Methods Are Outlined

Making roses bloom in her garden has proved fun for Mrs. Ralph McCullough, who has devised a workable plan for amateur gardeners from the first desire to plant them to the bedding away for winter.

Mrs. McCullough has been a rose fancier for years and has given the care of roses a good deal of study. They completed a new home last year and she began at once to intensify her study and has started a rose project where she can observe and develop her favorites.

Up to now, she has 53 rose bushes including climbers, the Fashion Rose — a whole string of them in front of the porch — a new floribunda which blooms continually from June to frost, a whole hedge of floribundas and hybrid teas.

She has many other flowers about the place but the roses are her favorites. There are crape myrtles, Lythium pansies, mahonias and other shrubs, and there are scores of bulbs and perennials for constant bloom.

Many Hereford gardeners have become interested in roses and by popular request we print Mrs. McCullough's methods of selection, planting, care and cultivation of roses in this area.

Roses Bloom In My Garden

One of the loveliest pleasures a rose garden offers is its appeal to our sense of color. Certainly color, when in harmony with its surroundings, is the beauty spot of our gardens.

No flower has been so greatly favored by mankind throughout the ages as the rose — nor grown in so many forms, nor grown for so many reasons or practicality and sentiment — yet no comparable plant has been so high-pressure into a few narrow channels as the rose, as most of us know it today.

Cultivated since the dawn of history, the production, dissemination and cultivation of new roses has been most active during the past 150 years. We sense no let-up, but instead an added increase of interest and a broader study and development of more new types.

In habit of growth, roses range from the pint-sized Pixie to enormous dimensions of the climber species. Number of leaflets range to 17, some heavy, waxy leaves to the ferny types. — in number of petals they range from the single rose of five petals to 100 or more in the double kinds. They range in size from a half-inch across to six inches or more.

Good roses don't "just happen," but are products of testing, growing and special care. Bargain roses are never bargains. A good rose is well worth its cost.

Roses, like children, each have their individual problem, so you will have to treat each rose individually.

Certainly, color is in a state of confusion as far as roses are concerned. Various catalog descriptions of the same rose may be entirely different. Sometimes the catalog writers do not agree upon the exact color of a certain variety.

Location and soil conditions cause a difference in the shades of roses. A lot of catalogs name colors only as pink, whites, reds, yellows, etc.

In selecting a place for your rose garden, pick a place where there is sun at least half the day. They do better in full sun where they can be protected from the wind if possible. If they have sun for only half a day, the east side is preferable. Plant away from trees and shrubs.

Landscape your roses to suit your taste to the outside effects in landscaping. Outside effect is best achieved by putting roses closer together. If you want roses for cut flowers, then plant farther apart.

Spring planting is preferable in this part of the country. Our falls are warm and new growth is encouraged, thus causing heavy freeze back when cold weather really sets in. Plant anywhere from the middle of March through April.

Prepare your bed in late winter or early spring. Dig out your soil 15 to 20 inches deep, setting aside the top soil. Drainage here is good so don't usually have to worry about that, but if your drainage is poor, be sure to put rocks and gravel about three inches deep in your trench. Then mix your topsoil with the necessary fertilizers which should consist of at least one-third cow fertilizer. Cow fertilizer is the best for roses. This must be aged and not green, for the lack of acid in our soil it is well to add aluminum sulphate and for the chlorophyll molecule necessary, add either epsom salts or magnesium sulphate.

Don't use chemical fertilizers as they give nothing to the soil. We must put back into the soil that which we take from it and this can only be done with organic matter. (Continued on page 2)

Garden Clubs To Meet In Lubbock

Approximately 25 members of three Hereford Garden clubs are planning to attend the sixth annual meeting of District 1 of the Texas Garden Clubs, Inc., in Lubbock on April 9 and 10.

Local district officers who will be at the meeting include: Mrs. John P. Slaton, parliamentarian; Mrs. Ralph McCullough, treasurer; and Mrs. A. L. Manjoet, sectional chairman.

Mrs. Laston Wilson, district counsellor, will present the awards at the two-day event. Mrs. J. F. Hankins, Lubbock, general chairman of the Lubbock Garden Clubs, will preside over the convention.

Convention speaker will be Mrs. Fred D. Gealy of Dallas, who will give a lecture and demonstration on flower arranging. Mrs. Gealy lived in Japan for 13 years and studied under Japanese women. Her husband, a professor at SMU, was with the Methodist mission school in Tokyo.

Mrs. Gealy will demonstrate for the convention delegates the dramatic floral designs the Japinese affect.

Mrs. Wilson, a former Hereford resident now living in Amarillo, said that there are 59 counties in the Panhandle and West Texas covered in this district. There are 69 clubs in the district, boasting more than 1700 members.

Hereford's three garden clubs whose members will attend the convention are the Garden Beautiful, Bud-To-Blossom and Hereford Garden clubs.

Headquarters for the two-day affair, will be the Hilton hotel.

District-wide awards for year-books, junior clubs, and for flower show scrapbooks will be presented at the convention by Mrs. Wilson. The awards luncheon will be held Thursday, April 10.

All club presidents will be honored at a banquet Wednesday night. John McCarty, concessionaire at Palo Duro canyon, will be the main speaker. General sessions will be held on Wednesday and business sessions will be on Thursday.

"Mental Mechanisms" Lone Star Club Topic

A program on "Mental Mechanisms," with allied subjects discussed by each of the members, was presented at the weekly meeting of the Lone Star Study club at the home of Mrs. H. E. Henslee Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. E. W. Hobson served as co-hostess.

Mrs. Coy Phillips discussed an article on mental health entitled, "Where do you take your troubles?" In the course of her discussion, she told of the work of some of our mental hospitals.

Mrs. Robert Lingenfelter reported on "Can You Remember" and "Make a Note of It." Both are clever articles on learning how to remember and increase your powers of retention.

Plans for the next meeting, which will be held in the home of Mrs. C. D. Kelton, were prepared. This meeting will be a "Guest Day."

Members present were: Mesdames R. G. Blue, V. E. Dodson, W. S. Fluit, Leo Forrest, H. E. Henslee, Jim Higgins, E. W. Hobson, C. D. Kelton, Joe Kendall, Robert Lingenfelter, Vivian Major, Guy Newsom, Coy Phillips, Earl Phillips, Robert Thompson, Ed Warren and L. L. Womble.

MRS. W. S. FLUITT

Tuna-Noodle Dish Is Ideal For Lenten Days, Nourishing, Too

One nice thing about the change of seasons is that it brings different foods back to the grocer's stands and any seasonal observance brings traditional foods to mind. Many housewives like to follow observances of the season just for variety and for that reason the Lenten season is observed by serving fish more than any other food.

Mrs. W. S. Fluit has had many requests for this tuna-noodle dish for besides being good to eat, it is so easily and quickly prepared. Try it before Easter.

Tuna Noodle Dish
1 6 oz. package of noodles (cooked)

- 1 cup medium white sauce
- 1 small can mushrooms
- 1 medium size can tuna (flaked)
- 1 pound can asparagus tips
- 1 small green pepper cut fine
- 1 cup grated American cheese
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- pepper to taste

Place in layers in order given, adding a bit of the salt and pepper to each layer, in casserole and bake in moderate oven 30 minutes.

The noodles should be cooked in salted boiling water and drained before placing in the casserole. If directions are followed it all comes out a delicious concoction, brown as toast and tempting to the entire family.

Early Days Of Hereford, Deaf Smith County Told

The Pioneer Study club had a program about Hereford and Deaf Smith county when they met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Carl Gilliland. Mrs. C. P. Williams was co-hostess for the meeting.

Roll call was answered with "What I Like and Dislike About Hereford."

Mrs. A. G. Bell was program leader and introduced the program by telling about a fire in the business district in the early days and of early day immigrants.

Mrs. J. M. Gilliland discussed the various churches telling about when they started. She also told about the first Christmas tree in Hereford.

Early day methods of farming were discussed by Mrs. Al Werner who also talked about the ways of travel in the early days.

Mrs. J. B. France gave a report on the prices of land in the early days of Hereford and how land had advanced from $1.50 an acre to the present prices.

Mrs. Wirt Phillips told of the first schools in Hereford including the first school she taught. Horseback riding as an entertainment was discussed by Mrs. Carl Gilliland.

During the business session, Mrs. A. L. Manjoet, president, was chosen as a delegate to the district convention which will be held in Borger on April 17, 18 and 19. Mrs. H. A. Close, vice-president, was elected as alternate to the convention.

Those attending the meeting were: Mesdames Fred Barrett, A. G. Bell, Bonnie Brumley, Burl France, Carl Gilliland, O. G. Hill, F. M. Kester, A. L. Manjoet, Ralph McCullough, John Patton, Wirt Phillips, Mary Seigler, R. A. Tynes, A. L. Werner, C. B. Williams, J. B. Jones and J. M. Gilliland.

"Guest Night" Observed By El'Nino Club Monday

"Guest Night" was observed by the El Nino Study club members at their weekly meeting held last Monday at the home of Mrs. T. J. Clay.

Co-hostesses with Mrs. Clay for the event were Mesdames S. G. Nelson, J. W. Barnett and Darrell Blanton.

Mrs. Byron Durham, program chairman, introduced the speaker, Mrs. Don Davidson. Mrs. Davidson's topic was entitled, "A Child's Approach to Religion."

In her talk, Mrs. Davidson broke her subject into two parts — the direct approach, which included reading the Bible and teaching. The indirect approach included influence and example.

"Religion begins before birth," Mrs. Davidson explained to the members and their guests. She stressed methods to develop character in a child. The foremost of these methods, she said, is religion.

Other points for developing character outlined by Mrs. Davidson included:

Love and prayer, unselfishness and honesty, forgiveness and kindness, sharing and conquering fear.

Guests at the session were: Mesdames Frank A. Gyles Jr., Paul Harvey, Wayne Thomas, Wayne Edwards, W. J. Messick, G. C. Hartman, Walker Seed, Herbert Haseloff, Hank Williams, S. E. Walton Jr., H. D. Blythe and Mrs. Edwin Goodall of Gatesville.

Club members present included: Mesdames J. W. Barnett, Darrell Blanton, Jim Bookout, Ben Childers, T. J. Clay, Paul Coneway, Byron Durham, O. G. Hill Jr., John Jacobsen, John Kelly, Bob Lindsey, S. G. Nelson, Bill Patton, Dub Reeves, Ed Skypala and Bruce Woodell.

ganic fertilizers. That is why cow fertilizer is so highly recommended for roses. It contains practically every needed element for the rose.

Our soil is a tight soil and needs that added fibrous content that barnyard manure can give. Siper phosphate may be added to secure larger blooms. Bone meal is a good organic fertilizer as it is a long lasting one.

Mix For 100 Square Feet
1/3 well-rotted cow manure.
5 pounds of soil sulphur.
10 pounds of super phosphate.
5 pounds of ammonia sulphate.
Large handful of Epsom Salts to each rose mixed with soil, placed in trench and watered down well, permitted to settle. If bone meal is used, use peat moss to give the fibrous content. Mix the above well with top soil and back into trench. If you have more top soil or new soil, fill trench a little high as when you water this down, it will settle some. Be sure to settle by watering and keep moist until time to plant.

Roses will grow and give good returns on any fertile garden soil that is well-drained. Roses prefer a fibrous loam. That is why barnyard fertilizer is so important. Beds should not be more than six feet wide, as this will enable you to cut the flowers, prune and do such other work as may be necessary without walking over the beds.

Next in importance is the selection of good roses. Demand a No. 1 rose bush that is two years old and field-grown. A No. 1 plant has at least three strong canes.

As soon as your roses arrive, soak the roots in water for at least a couple of hours, preferably overnight. If the bushes cannot be planted immediately, dig a trench and bury plants, roots down in soil and cover except for about two or three inches of the tops of the canes. Pack soil by slight tamping and water if soil is dry. Plant as soon as possible.

When ready to set out, trim any broken canes or roots if they are much over 12 inches long.

Bushes may be spaced as closely as 18 inches if planted in a row but 24 to 30 inches is much better. Dig hole for your rose and make a mound of dirt in the bottom over which you can place the roots slanting downward. Fill hole half full of water. Gently move the plant and lift slightly to get rid of air pockets and firmly pack the soil.

Plant rose shallow enough so the soil is just at the base of the union or crown and does not touch the branches during the growing season. Roses should never be planted deeper than two inches above the union for as you add fertilizers and mulches, you naturally bury the union deeper and if too deep, you might get a rose grown on your graft rose.

Tamp your soil well around your roses. This can be done with the foot. No pruning is necessary for new roses other than the broken canes or roots as they come well-pruned from the nursery.

On the established roses, never prune in the fall as they have an exceeding amount of kill back in the winter and if you prune you may turn up with one inch canes in the spring. Prune after the leaf buds start swelling. Prune out all dead wood and all weak canes. Prune only enough of the top growth to keep the bushes in size and shape.

If you wish to grow exhibition roses and few blooms, you may prune down to about six inches, longer canes more bloom and smaller blossoms. Make the pruning cuts close to the joints or just above the leaf buds.

The first year, your new beds will not need any more fertilizer if you prepare your bed but on established beds, apply fertilizer in the spring about the time growth starts. Fall applications definitely are not advised. Apply an inch or two of well-rotted cow manure around each bush being careful not to touch the canes and fertilize lightly after each blooming.

Watering is exceedingly important. Never spray a rose as this encourages black spot. Irrigate and let soak good. A good soaking once a week is usually sufficient. A mulch of two inches of peat moss — no more — is a good mulch. Peat moss is a non-conductor of heat and cold and will not only keep the moisture in the ground by protecting it from the sun's absorbing rays but will also greatly reduce the actual temperature of the bed. It is a good mulch, summer or winter.

A good healthy plant, well-fed and well-cared for, will not be attacked by as many pests and diseases. Spraying should start just as soon as plants start into active growth. Be sure to spray the under sides of your leaves as they harbor insects and fungus spores.

BLACK SPOT

Black spot is usually evidenced by yellow-margined black spots on the upper surface of the leaves. Badly affected leaves drop off. If not checked, it will completely defoliate the plant in a few months. Loss of foliage also makes the plant susceptible to dieback, a dread disease closely associated with black spot.

If a rose goes into November and December with a full blanket of leaves, it will be in fine condition in the spring.

Spray early for black spot before spores come in contact with leaves. It can be controlled with a dusting sulphur alone but added with copper dust better.

Do not apply sulphur when temperature is above 90 degrees F.

FOR BLACK SPOT

Use a sulphur - copper rose dust. Dust lightly within 24 hours after each rain or once a week early in the morning while leaves still have dew on them if there is a lot of rain. Treat when air is still. Black spot usually appears when there is a lot of rain or from wetting the leaves. For mildew, use the same, but once or twice a week, regardless of rain. Ten pounds of dust fungicide will care for about 50 rose bushes a year.

INSECTICIDES

Insecticides are needed when aphids appear. Benzene Hexachloride, nicotine sulphate, pyrethrum or rotenone are suitable but avoid getting the first two on vegetables.

BEETLES, CATERPILLARS

For beetles, caterpillars and other leaf-chewing insects, use lead arsenate or DDT — not the household kind, however. These may be obtained for dusting or spraying. Avoid using sprays that contain oil as they might burn.

Cut blooms short until bushes become well-established and assume a good size. Food is manufactured through the leaves as well as through the roots, so it is best to leave at least two or three leaves of each flower stem on the bush, making each cut close as possible above leaf joint. Do not leave stubs after cutting or pruning. Remove dead wood any time of the year.

Cultivate shallow or just enough to kill the weeds. Roses put out surface roots or feeders and you may do a lot of harm cultivating too deeply.

Winter care is exceedingly important. Getting ready for winter, rake up and burn all old rose leaves. This will help get rid of leaf spot. Mound up earth around plants. Keep mulch on ground all winter. About three inches of grass clippings is an effective mulch or peat moss. Keep ground moist all winter, but do not fertilize.

AND ABOVE ALL

Remember To:

1. Keep ground mulched.
2. Never cultivate deeply.
3. Keep water off leaves.
4. Water deeply once a week.
5. Spray once a week.

Curry Children Held Reunion On March 23

By Bobbie Walker

Thirteen children of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Curry held a reunion in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arch Glenn in Weatherford Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Curry moved to Weatherford from Beech- enridge in 1913. They had thirteen children, all of whom are still living. The oldest is 75 and the youngest is 58.

The children who were present Sunday in the Glenn home were: Mrs. Connet Russell, Mr. Bronner Dudge, both of Weatherford; Lee Curry, Summerfield; Mrs. Annie Sandberg, Denton; John Curry, Mansfield; Joe Curry, Midland; Eugene Curry, Mrs. E. M. Pharris, both of Fort Worth; Mrs. Effie Kinchen, Mrs. Fred Lawson, Claude Curry and Ernest Curry, all of Brook- ensville and the hostess, Mrs. Arch Glenn.

This is the first time the family had been together for some time.

Lee Curry is from Summer- field and he and Mrs. Curry stayed over after the reunion for a visit in Fort Worth with their daughter, Mrs. Pat Moss, and family.

Texas produces about 80 per cent of the sulphur of the nation.

Mary Kingry He Merry Workers Club President

Mary Kingry was elected secretary and reporter of the Merry Workers club when they met last week at the home of Mrs. Alva Teos.

The group discussed several projects for the club during the afternoon.

A birthday party was given for Mrs. Marion Ferguson.

Those attending were: Mes- sames Lois Blankenship, Catherine Higgins, Nettie Lee Teos and Mary Kingry.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Lois Blankenship.

"I WAS A COMMUNIST FOR THE F.B.I."

KPAN - SUNDAY - 3:30 P. M.

For nine agonizing years he listened in on the communist top secrets, and pipelined them to the F. B. I. During those nine years, his mother died thinking him a communist, his wife labeled him a spy, his son rejected and shunned him, his friends thought him a traitor. Those nine years gave America a new kind of hero.

Now, on radio, in a brilliant series based on the authentic experiences of this undercover agent, and starring Hollywood's Dana Andrews, is "I Was a Communist for the F. B. I." heard over KPAN every Sunday at 3:30 sponsored by the Hereford State Bank.

One of the most provocative documents in America's war on communism, formerly a sensational series in the Saturday Evening Post and a "must see" movie now emerges as the most timely and powerful radio show in America.

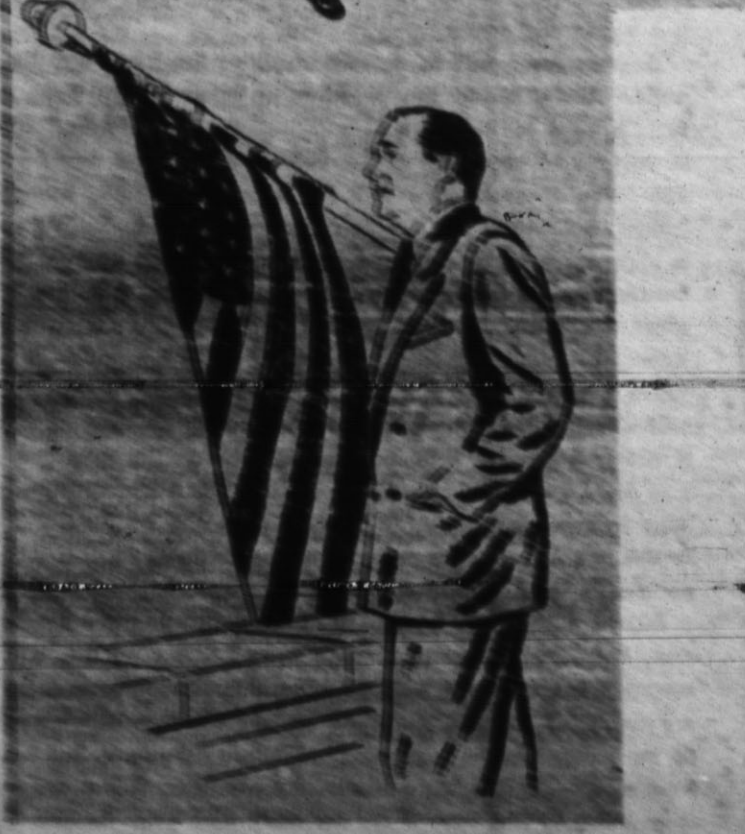

This power-packed series dramatizes the actual experiences of Matt Cvetic who posed as a communist for the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Dressed in the plainest of plain clothes, with no bodyguard, no avenue of escape, this undercover man kept the F. B. I. posted on each move that the "Commies" made. Dana Andrews, the one actor ideally suited for this demanding part, brings his masterful acting ability to this terrifying real-life drama, surpassing his great performances in such movies as "The Iron Curtain," "A Walk in the Sun," "Suez Canal," "Edge of Doom," "Sword in the Desert," and many others.

"I Was a Communist for the F. B. I." is more than an intense, breath-taking, momentous dramatization; it is a message designed to make every American conscious of the communist elements that may be lurking in each and every community, threatening schools, industries, the American way of life.

Be sure to hear every complete and exciting half-hour episode of "I Was a Communist for the F. B. I." on KPAN every Sunday at 3:30 P. M.

People Not Taxing Selves Into Poorhouse Locally

Taxes are just like the weather—everyone talks about it but nobody does anything about it.

That was the idea behind the following article, based on an editorial in the Rockland County (N.Y.) Journal-News. The article reprinted here is taken from the latest issue of the Texas Tax Journal.

So you're making about $3,000 a year and you're crying your eyes out because you got a school tax bill this month for $65. Another two months and you'll be getting a tax bill from the town collector for about the same amount. That'll be $130 for the year. Later on if you live in a village you'll be getting another bill. Say your local taxes run about $200 for the year. It's terrific. It's outrageous. You're going right out and blast away at the first official you see. Our hearts bleed for you; things are getting tougher all the time.

You're darn right they are, but you're barking up the wrong tree when you sound off about local taxation. It's just a handy whipping boy.

Did you take a look at those tables that came out after Congress had pretty well settled the income tax hash? No, we don't believe that you did; even if you did, you just shrugged your shoulders, figured it was a matter of no consequence.

What's the sense of hollering about local taxation when income taxes are so high? Your local taxes are only a fleabite by comparison. What you have to do is get after the Federal government, which is yourself, and see where actual savings can be made. You say you want a strong defense effort; OK, you pay for it; you say you want to give the rest of the world economic assistance; you pay for that too; there are all kinds of government payments to stabilize prices of this, that, and the other thing; that's added to the bill; you want Federal assistance for housing projects, for road building, for all sorts of things; it's money out of your own pocket; you ask for economy in running the government but you don't go beyond the asking; it's added to the bill.

You remember that thing called withholding, too, don't you? It's the gimmick that makes your take-home pay that much less each payday; it's the money that you earn but never see. Where would you be, though, if you had a bill for $544.40 starting you in the face come the fifteenth of March?

Your take-home pay is less than it was before the first of last November; higher taxes, more withholding. If you're getting $45 a week and you have no exemptions you'll never see $9.10; if you have one exemption, you'll miss $6.50. Getting up to the $60-62 bracket for that annual $3,000 a couple of paragraphs back, if you're single you get touched for $12.20 a week; married and no dependents $9.60. Getting up to the $100-105 gentry, it's $20.50 and $17.90.

And you complain about a local tax? bill? Stop being ridiculous!

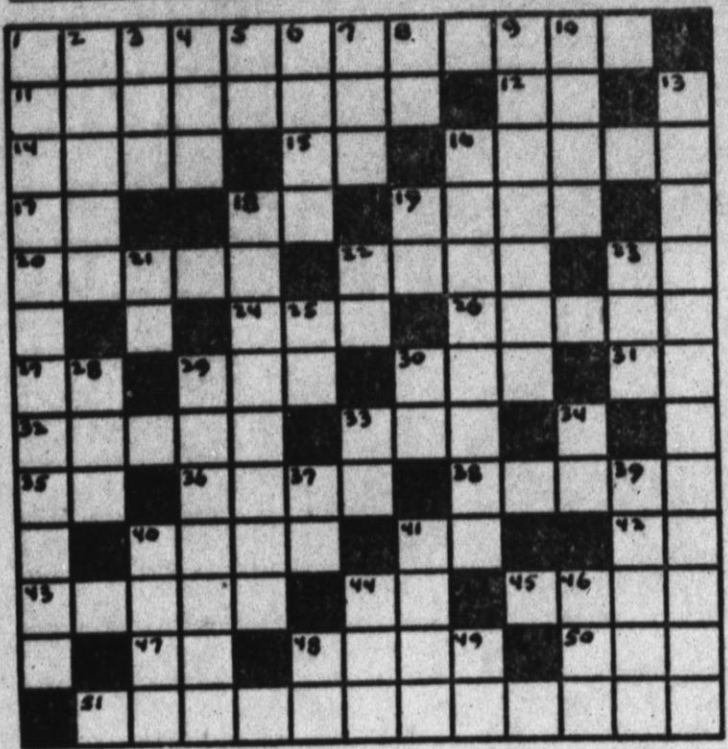

That's one of the troubles with the withholding tax—you're not tax-conscious. You never see the money from the time you earn it to the time it's credited against your income tax and the amount you see on the annual slip doesn't mean a whole lot. It would mean plenty if you had to cough up the whole lump the middle of March. You'd be tax-conscious in a big way and set about in earnest to reform your national spending habits. Just don't forget that you're the one who is actually doing the spending.

Your local tax bills seem big when it hits you all at one time but you can't honestly compare it to your Federal bill. It doesn't play in the same league.

And about these local taxes. You may be complaining but are you complaining in the right places? If you think the state, county and town bill is too high, there are budget hearings coming up in all the towns and in the county. Last year there were two citizens who appeared at the county hearing, not many more at the town hearings. You ask for all sorts of services and you have to pay for them. If you don't want them, the hearing is the place to make your wishes known. You'll say salaries for some officials or employees are too high but you mean what you say you have to speak up at headquarters, not the corner.

Don't try to tell us you're taxing yourself to the poorhouse at the local level. That's not so. You're spending yourself to the poorhouse by what you let go on at Washington.

I'll Never Forget

Hereford sure wasn't anything like it is today when I landed in Hereford in the latter part of 1907. It was in December when we came.

I rented a 20-acre tract of land north of town. It had a big old house on it and we lived there. I also rented 40 acres and put in a row crop.

I sowed my 20-acre tract in oats and when they got ripe I had them bound and sowed the tract in cane and raised a good cane crop too.

I also raised a little patch of watermelons there that year and peddled them in town and did pretty well with them. I remember I raised one watermelon on that patch that weighed 50 pounds and they say this isn't watermelon country.

Me and another man swapped off work that year and both of us made good row crops. I sold my crop in the field after it had been cut and shocked. I sold it for 2 1/2 c a bundle.

When I got my crop harvested I moved over the line into New Mexico on some land I had filed on.

I had gone over in the spring of 1908 and filed on a quarter section of land. In order to file I had to agree to move on the land within six months. So we moved over there in November 1908.

When we moved there, there was a half dugout on the place. The walls were about four feet high. The dugout had never

SUNDAY'S CURRENT QUESTION

"Feature Old Pioneers" Most Say When Asked How To Celebrate Day

What activities would you like to see included in the 1952 Pioneer Day celebration?

JOHNNIE POOL—I would like to see an all-day horse shoe pitching contest. They had a little bit of that last year but I would like to see a little more this time.

MRS. EARL WOOD—The things I enjoy most about the Pioneer Day celebrations are naturally the parade and then I'm in favor of the square dances in the street and the chuck wagon supper. The children especially enjoy the carnival and I hope they will have one this year for them.

MRS. LEO FORREST—I feel as if the celebration should be centered around the pioneers and old settlers and what ever would make them happy and bring them honor I think the rest of us should concentrate on doing that. Whether it is a picnic or anything.

YERN WITHERSPOON—I'd rather just visit with the old-timers more than anything else. It would be worth more than anything. I would like to see a good square dance too. Then maybe a barbecue at least for the oldtimers if they thought that they couldn't feed the whole crowd.

MRS. REED WILLIAMS—Well, since it is a pioneer day celebration I would like to see them feature the pioneers. I would like to see a place provided where old settlers could sit down and relax and visit with each other and if they were not physically able to get around, there would be food provided for them right there. In other words, I think they should feature the old settlers here.

been dug so I dug a cellar under the house and we lived there for five years.

One real pretty Sunday right after we moved some folks by the name of Farrell from Hereford came over to see us. During the afternoon we got out in front of the house and took some pictures. In one of the pictures the man—he was about six feet tall—was standing leaning against the house. I sent a copy of this picture to some of my folks in Missouri. They wrote back and wanted to know how tall that man was that was standing beside the house. I had forgot to tell them that part of our house was below the ground and I guess it did look funny to see a man towering about two feet above the roof of a house.

I lived on that quarter for five years and then I was given (Continued on page five)

By Roberta Campbell

Every time we see Ruth Ann Fincher's name on the honor roll at Central where she is a fourth grader in Mrs. Miller's room we feel a warm glow inside.

Ruth Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Fincher but she sort of belongs to us too as she was our little neighbor almost all her life until she started to school.

We didn't know this over extended dry spell was good for anybody but apparently it's just the thing to keep Howard Armstrong, the owner of the Armstrong nursery on Park Ave. on the job. He seems to be very busy with shrubs, rose bushes and such every day but just as sure as he digs up three or four big worms he threatens to get fishing.

Whether credit should go to her mother, her grandmother Reynolds or her aunt, June Caraway as a hair dresser we wouldn't know but last Sunday little Christy Gyles who belongs Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gyles Jr. was wearing the most attractive hair do we've seen for a very young lady.

We learned a new word when we read the latest edition of The Krause Plowman sent to us by the H&W Implement company—Krilium a new miracle chemical that shows dramatic growth in plants.

And by the way have you noticed the new landscapin at Lesly Vaughn Motor Co. Neatly planted rows of new Massey Harris tractors.

Your Opinion Is Valuable If Freed From Prejudice

Have you ever been forced to register "disgust" with someone who couldn't grasp your point of view on a certain subject or issue?

Did you ever take the time—in that event—to delve deeper into the matter and see if possibly YOU were the unreasonable one?

Never occurred to you? Well, listen! Even the great minds of the world—in the present and in the past—have had to temper their deliberations with a spirit of give and take.

Recently, one reader of The Brand put it rather well with a small discourse on "opinion." His view is this:

Your own opinion is the most valuable thing you possess, but somehow it isn't as valuable to others. We all have a right to our beliefs, but we do not have the right to ram them down the throats of our friends just because they happen to be good listeners. We should all remember that prejudice is one of the easiest things in the world to acquire and one of the hardest to get rid of, and that the opinion of a man on a subject on which he is prejudiced is not very dependable. Sometimes we will not admit that a new idea is good simply because it would show that we have been wrong all these years.

That bit of philosophy—and others like it—is the key that will open the way for settlement of all our disputes—both personal, national and world. We can live with our neighbor—be he across the street or across the ocean—if we will only check our enthusiasm and listen to the other side of the story. The other fellow, too, must assume the same attitude.

There are many phases of everyday living where we can show better judgment through understanding the problems of the other fellow and trying to see the picture through his eyes.

One of the great tenets of our American way of life is that we uphold the other man's right to his own beliefs, whether WE AGREE WITH THEM OR NOT. Those views can deal with spiritual or temporal approaches to our everyday living.

The words of Bovee, "The great obstacle to progress is prejudice," are true whether we're dealing with the man next door or with an international neighbor.

Your opinion IS the most valuable thing in the world—to you. It can be valuable to others, too, if it is offered in a spirit free of prejudice. Your ideas—if presented in humility—CAN serve as a step in the stairway to mutual understanding.—W. W. K.

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his farm near Bootleg is taking a mighty bold stand this week, his letter reveals.

Dear editor: There are a lot of people who will argue we need a change in the national administration, but there's one change that's needed that outdistances that all to pieces.

It's the weather. Something has gone wrong with the weather the past twelve months.

Here we are into Spring and as far as I can tell Winter hasn't gotten here yet. Of course it was cold in places in Texas this past winter occasionally, but on the whole winter just never did arrive.

Skippin from Fall to Spring wouldn't be bad, but the situation has affected the weather in other ways. Take rainfall. It used to be, and I don't believe the national administration had anything to do with it, we'd have rainy spells. Rain would set in and fall for a week or two, sometimes longer, and when the sun finally came out everybody heaved a sigh of relief and school children ran wild, but it's been nearly two years now since we had an old-fashioned rainy spell. It'll cloud up, thunder and lightning, and rain will beat down for maybe fifteen minutes, then it'll shower a little while, and the clouds will go on off and the rain gauge will show .19 of an inch and you can plow that afternoon if that's what you had in mind. As far as the weather system goes now, that constitutes a rain, but it's mighty piddlin. Why I got a pair of rubber boots I ain't had on but five times in the last 18 months, and a couple of those times I just put 'em on for sentimental reasons.

Now I ain't made up my mind on the national administration, I always follow the majority and I've seen lots of administrations changed without no noticeable difference in my financial standin out here on my farm, which manages to be pretty weedy regardless of who's President, but I ain't beatin around the bush about the weather. What we need is a change. The way it is, we ain't had year before last's rainfall yet, which is the reason I ain't planted year before last's crops yet.

Yours faithfully, J. A.

Local Residents Attend Funerals of Relatives In Other States

By Mrs. Owen Andrews
Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Robbins left Wednesday for Tennessee, upon receipt of news of the death of his mother. Sympathy is extended to the family by your correspondent in behalf of the community.

Miss Alma Andrews is in Amarillo this week visiting her sister, Mrs. Charles King and family. She went there last Friday, accompanying the Henry Andrews as they went on business. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cole took

THE EARL DEHART home above is one of the many new homes in the Northwest Hereford community. DeHart built the house during his spare time. It has been completed for about two months. The house is located about three miles northwest of Hereford.—Photo by Mrs. R. C. Childers.

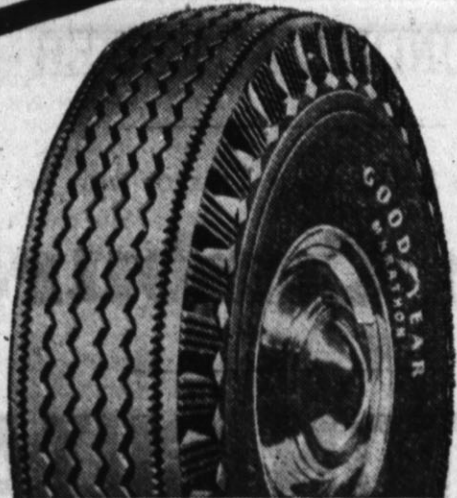

Sunday dinner at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Harold Shearhart. The Shearharts are living northwest of Hereford. The Coles report that they like their new location very much and have been busy getting established, starting a lawn, etc.
Next Sunday night, the young people will sponsor the showing of a moving picture after church services. The picture is entitled, "Preudicism." All who wish to come are most cordially invited.
Visiting in the W. H. Thompson home on Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. H. Teague and son, Sgt. Houston Teague, and Mrs. John Hobbs, all of Blanchard, Okla., and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Odum and children of south of Dimmitt. The Teagues are the parents of Mrs. Raymond Odum.

Taking Sunday dinner at the T. L. Sparkman Jr. home were the Owen Andrews family, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Sparkman Sr. and Dolores, Jackie and Ronnie Andrews.
Mrs. Robert Simpson and Mrs. Sam Lindley were in Amarillo on Wednesday shopping.
Miss Lylia Robbins of Abernathy spent the week end with her folks here.
Frio Homemakers club met Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Spicer Gripp. The program was on "Child Psychology." The next meeting will be on April 9 in the home of Mrs. Henry Dobbs and will be on "Lighting the Home." Mrs. W. A. Springer, who was to have had the April 9th meeting, will be hostess on May 14th instead, because of the illness of her mother.
The Elza Warrick and Ted Bush families attended funeral services Sunday for Robert Greeson of Sulphur, Okla. Greeson, a relative, was killed in an accident on Saturday. Services were held at Mannsville, Okla.
Mrs. Sam Lindley was hostess Friday at a shower honoring Mrs. Billy Warrick. She was assisted by Mrs. H. E. Lindley and Mrs. Owen Andrews.
The entertainment was in the form of a "Garden Party," with games concerning identification of various garden seeds and a flower story game. A treasure hunt produced an apron presented by the hostess to a newcomer in the community as a prelude to introduction of the show-er for Mrs. Warrick.
A second treasure hunt led the honoree to the gifts.
Attending were: Mesdames E. H. Little, Floyd Cole, A. B. Glenn, Henry Dobbs, Glenn Gripp, J. C. Simpson, H. E. Lindley, J. E. Warrick, Owen Andrews and the hostess.
Sending gifts were the John Simpsons, Robert Simpsons, Joe Deavenports, Elza Warricks and Henry Andrews.
The Warricks who were married on February 15 at Clovis, are living on the J. E. Warrick place where he is working. Billy is a brother of Elza Warrick and a distant relative of the J. E. Warricks. Mrs. Billy Warrick is the former Ellen Bingham, daughter of Mrs. Addie Bingham of Valliant, Okla. Both attended Valliant schools.
Mrs. W. A. Springer has been staying with her Mother, Mrs. J. H. Stone, who is hospitalized at Plainview. Mrs. Stone was to have a foot removed on Thursday. She became ill with some form of blood stream infection while spending the winter on the Gulf Coast and has not been able to overcome the disease.
Only three members braved the sandstorm on Wednesday, March 12 to attend the club meeting at Mrs. Glenn Gripps' home.
Rev. Wilson was ill Sunday night and, Rev. Danny McLellan filled in as pastor. Rev. McLellan was ill all last week and was not able to go back to Wayland. However, he planned to return to school on Monday.
Mr. and Mrs. Lee Dowdy of Washington, Okla. visited the home of their daughter, Mrs. Leonard Irwin on Thursday. Mrs. Dowdy has been ill and is visiting her children while she is recovering. They have been at the Luther Dowdy home at Tulia for several days.
On Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Simpson and Nelle attended the wedding of a niece, Miss Annie Hudson, to Jim Allbright. The wedding took place at the Church of the Nazarene, at 8 p. m. Nelle was bridesmaid for her cousin. The Simpsons returned home that night.
Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Andrews left Sunday morning for Lawton, Okla. to be with Mrs. Andrews' mother, Mrs. Atkinson, who was seriously ill. The children, Delores, Jackie and Ronnie stayed with the Owen Andrews while their parents were away. W. H. returned home on Monday night and reported that Mrs. Atkinson underwent surgery Monday morning and was resting well when he left there. Mrs. Andrews remained and planned to stay there all this week with her mother.
Mr. and Mrs. Billy Warrick were visiting her relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Golden at Plainview Saturday night and Sunday.
Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Vogler and family were at Tulia most of last week with Mrs. Vogler's folks after the death of a sister, Mrs. Henry Beckman, at the Beckman home near Tulia on Friday, March 14.
Funeral services were held at the St. Williams Catholic church in Tulia on Tuesday.
Mrs. Beckman was the former Pauline Drager and lived for awhile at Hereford. Her mother is Mrs. Anna Drager of Friona. Your correspondent takes this means of extending sympathy to the Voglers and other members of the family, in behalf of the community.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Johnson of Seminole visited her mother, Mrs. H. M. Mobley and other relatives during the week end. The Floyd Coles and Raymond Mobleys were there Sunday when the whole family was together.
Mr. and Mrs. Herb Schmidt and boys went to Cordell, Okla. Sunday afternoon to be with her father, Mr. Lonnie Hinds, who was critically ill. His condition was such that all the children were called home. A sister and her family from California, stopped at the Schmidts Saturday afternoon as they were enroute to Cordell.
Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Roberts and family visited his sister, Mrs. Robert Simpson and family during the week end.
Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Springer of Kress were visiting Mr. J. E. Warrick on Monday. Mr. Warrick is still not able to be out of bed since the car accident in which he was injured about two weeks ago.

Streu's Diary

March 28, 1952

Dear Diary: I'm sorry to have missed you last week — doubly sorry since Gillentine insists that I pay for the space I didn't use! However, that old boy is going to have a time collecting for that particular space — he could have held up the printing of the paper for another half day without hurting anyone.

I sometimes wonder if it pays to advertise, anyway. The other day a lady happened to stumble into our radio-record department — which we have advertised in this paper and on the air for some three years — and this lady says, "My, when did you put in this department? I've been going to — for my records all this time." Seems this lady reads the — paper and listens to their radio stations — and does all her shopping there — on account, I suppose, that the — merchants contribute so generally to the upkeep of our schools and streets, and roads — and to all the local campaigns for funds. I wonder?

I will state at this time, that we have for sale at Streu's RCA Victor radios, radio-victrolas, consoles that play all three speeds of records (without using fillers in the '45's) and having the finest tone quality imaginable—the famous "Golden Throat." We also carry an excellent selection of RCA Victor '45' records in childrens, western, popular, and classical numbers — in singles and albums. Also a few '78' albums and some long play records.

Have lots of other items to sell, also, such as garden and lawn tools, wheelbarrows and handy carts, hose and sprinklers, and for those who decline such menial work, we have fishing tackle galore. And baseball stuff and tennis equipment and table tennis stuff, etc., etc.

Just might mention the fact that Streu's is the place where farmers can buy those hard-to-get sizes of bolts and nuts and set screws and all those things. Excuse all this advertising, but I have to make up for missing last week — which once more reminds me—a certain bald-headed editor is going to have a time collecting for certain advertising??

STREU

S. S. Did you know that an individual in these United States who makes and spends $20,000 per annum pays in direct and indirect taxes 77% of that amount? Think about it and those who have imposed this tax burden on all of us.

en a free deed to the land. All it cost me was the price of filling on the land. I think it amounted to about 14 dollars and some cents.

After I got the deed to this I bought some more land about 3/4 of a mile from my place.

The land I bought had a little two room shack on it so I moved what improvements I had up to the new place and we lived there.

I moved back to Hereford from New Mexico in 1926 or 27 and lived at the Westway store.

Jacqueline Newell, who is a student at West Texas State college spent the week-end in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Newell. Mrs. Newell entertained her with a surprise hamburger supper Saturday night. Reuben Knox and Mr. and Mrs. Obed Caraway attended the supper.

Daylight saving time was first adopted in the U. S. in New York City in 1918.

Grapefruit Juice Makes Slimming Salad Dressing

These spring days are just the time to indulge in sensible tonics as part of your meals—tonics such as salads made with juicy Florida citrus fruits right now at their best. They help cut calories and fit into diets perfectly. For the final finishing touch, still in the diet direction, add a dressing made of Florida grapefruit juice. The salad shown here is grapefruit sections and cottage cheese on a bed of crisp greens. The dressing is so good you'll keep the jar handy for use on mixed greens, vegetables, and all types of fruit salads. And because so little oil is used, 1 tablespoon of this dressing will cost you only 25 calories as compared to the 80 or 100 found in a serving of the average French dressing!

Florida Low-Calorie French Dressing

1 cup Florida grapefruit juice 1/2 teaspoon paprika
2 teaspoons cornstarch 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
2 tablespoons salad oil 1/2 teaspoon Tabasco
1/2 teaspoon salt 1/4 cup catchup
1 teaspoon sugar 1 peeled clove garlic (optional)

Blend 1/2 cup of the grapefruit juice and cornstarch. Cook over low heat stirring constantly, until thickened and clear. Remove from heat; add remaining 1/2 cup grapefruit juice. Measure into small mixing bowl remaining ingredients; add cornstarch mixture and beat with rotary beater until smooth. Store covered in refrigerator. Shake before using. YIELD: 1 1/4 cups.

Feelable new power guaranteed with RISLONE in your motor oil

.. Frees sticking valves for full compression and power.. by dissolving gums and sludge instantly

Rislone "motor magic" works in cars of any age. And cars of every age need Rislone.

Rislone is a super-lubricant itself, with no harmful ingredients. Keep it in your car all the time — to keep your motor-oil doing a good job. It dissolves gum and sludge immediately, prevents new deposits. Actually it cleans your engine as you drive; protects it with full, instant lubrication; gives you new power.

Count on Rislone to keep your car running "like new", to pep up sluggish motors, and to eliminate slow-speed jerkiness and poor starting. Put it in new cars, to avoid slow-speed break-in and permit driving at normal speeds immediately — with safety.

Money-Back Guarantee!

Make this test today:

1. Have your regular service man put a quart of Rislone in your oil today.
2. Drive 10 miles. Watch for those feelable improvements: smoother, quieter power; new "get-up-and-go"; power-surge pick-up.
3. If you don't actually feel this difference in just 10 miles — return to your dealer for a full refund.

Political Temperature Rises As Big Decisions Draw Near

TIME was running short for bigwigs of the Democratic party. A campaign had to be waged. An election won or lost. What part would Harry S. Truman play?

As the Saturday evening dinner hour approached in Washington this week, political savants thought the answer was near. The President would speak at the Jefferson-Jackson dinner then.

At the same time the crystal ball gazers also were busy in Wisconsin and Nebraska where the people speak Tuesday, April 1, in presidential primaries.

In Wisconsin, most political analysts thought Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio had the inside track and was coming up fast in the race for the state's 30 GOP convention delegates.

Warren Is Factor

They were not, however, ruling out the amiable governor of California, Earl Warren, who was collecting friends fast. Harold Stassen, ex-governor of Minnesota, is the third major candidate. He is considered, at best, a very long shot.

In a very real way, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the man who isn't there, can be considered a decisive factor in the destinies of the other GOP campaigns in Wisconsin.

The general is not entered in the Wisconsin primary and there can be no repetition of the Minnesota write-in wave there. Wisconsin does not count write-ins.

Consequently, both the Warren and Stassen organizations are trying hard to identify their man with Eisenhower, to put the votes that would have gone to him into their own columns.

Possible Eisenhower Support

Warren's delegates, originally, were Eisenhower men. They called on the governor when Eisenhower's required consent was not forthcoming. They say their votes will go to Eisenhower at the convention if or when Warren is unable to obtain the nomination.

Warren says he will release his delegates, whoever they may be, to make their own choice in that event. Stassen, openly bidding, told people in Wisconsin this week he would share with Eisenhower any delegates he [Stassen] might win in the upcoming primary. Stassen's effort to attract to himself Eisenhower backers in Wisconsin meant that he was giving permission to half of the 30 delegates listed on his slate to vote for Eisenhower on the first ballot at the Chicago Convention in July.

In a sense, the Wisconsin primary—and it is a crucial one—may turn entirely on the success the managers have in winning to themselves the Eisenhower vote.

On the Democratic side, leaders are conceding the race to Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee. Kefauver attracted wide attention in Wisconsin last year through the televised crime committee hearings. Most observers look for him to sweep the board, winning all 28 convention delegates.

In Omaha, meanwhile, a four-way Republican fight in the Nebraska primary shaped up this week as "write-in" talk swept the Eisenhower and Taft camps.

Stassen and Mrs. Mary Kenny, Lincoln housewife, backing Gen. Douglas MacArthur, are the only persons listed on Nebraska's Republican primary ballot. Sen. Kefauver is pitted against Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.) on the Democratic ticket.

The preference vote is not binding on national convention delegates, also elected at the primary. In Nebraska, voters are permitted to write in the names of any candidates that they choose.

Steel

Shadow of Inflation

A new complication cropped up this week in the extended steel labor dispute.

Sen. Maybank (D-SC) said in Washington that Congress may refuse to extend controls if the Truman Administration allows steel industry wage and price boosts which lift the bars on inflation.

The CIO Steelworkers Union called off a strike last week, accepting proposals put forth by the Wage Stabilization Board (WSB) for settling the dispute. The union promised a walk-out on April 8 if the industry hasn't incorporated the proposals into contracts by that time.

The WSB suggested a three-installment pay boost amounting eventually to 17½ cents an hour. It proposed a 12½-cent increase dating from last Jan. 1, another 2½ cent boost next July 1, and still another 2½-cent increase next Jan. 1.

Negotiations Opened

Mobilization Chief Charles E. Wilson held a series of conferences with President Truman on the steel situation. Wilson, disturbed by the size of the wage "package" proposed by the WSB as a settlement of the steelworkers' demands, said there was no question but that the WSB recommendations, if put into effect, would threaten the economic stabilization program.

Wilson said he had a plan which would avoid the steel shutdown threatened for next month. He arranged to present his formula to leaders of the steel industry and the CIO Steelworkers Union.

The mobilization director did not comment on his formula immediately after his conference with President Truman, but some union officials warned that it might lead to a labor walkout from the Wage Stabilization Board. They said there was little purpose in continuing the board if its recommendations were to be set aside by Wilson.

Egypt

Wafid on the Spot

Diplomats in Cairo speculated this week on the political future of Egypt's powerful Wafid party.

It was the Wafid government of Mustapha Nahas Pasha which last October ordered the British out of Egypt. Nahas Pasha's successor, Aly Maher Pasha, attempted a policy of negotiations with Britain and compromise with the Wafid. Wafid intransigence appeared likely to wreck this policy and Ahmed Hilaly Pasha took over the government on March 2.

Hilaly decided to suspend parliament for 30 days in order to wage a vigorous campaign against corruption—allegedly widespread among Wafidist officials—in the government. The Wafid withheld support from Hilaly's government.

Hilaly thereupon accused the Wafid of planning a campaign of sedition which would "expose the country to anarchy and destruction." Two of the Wafid's strongest leaders, former interior minister Faud Serag el Din Pasha and former social affairs minister Abdel Fattah Pasha were arrested last week.

Early this week King Farouk dissolved the Wafid-dominated lower house of parliament and called a new general election May 18. The royal action was requested by Hilaly.

Farouk's decision to dissolve parliament came on the heels of the first British-Egyptian conversations on Egyptian demands for British evacuation of the Suez Canal zone and recognition of Farouk as king of the Sudan.

CONGRESS: Lowdown on NATO Blackout In Korea

CONGRESS got the inside story this week on Nato defense strategy in western Europe.

Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's chief aide under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, told about the strategy planning in testifying before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in connection with the Administration's $7.9 billion foreign aid program.

Basically, the Nato strategy boils down to this: A heavy concentration of ground and air strength in the central parts of western Europe. Smaller land and air forces plus assigned naval forces on each flank. Ground, air and naval commands with their own headquarters under the supreme command of Gen. Eisenhower.

Gruenther said the staffs of all these forces, drawn from 10 nations, have demonstrated by their understanding of the problems of defense on an international basis the feasibility of international military cooperation.

Speculation Rife

"We have intelligent, effective leadership, strong in its devotion to the common mission. The nations of Nato have given us of their best in the training, experience and ability of the officers they have provided."

As Gruenther testified, speculation that he would succeed Eisenhower when the five-star general resigns was rife on Capitol Hill.

There were plenty of signs, meanwhile, that Congress wanted to economize on the foreign aid measure. Alabama's Democratic Sen. Sparkman predicted a slash of one billion dollars from the $7.9 billion total.

Gruenther confined his testimony to an outline of the military picture and side-stepped any questions on the over-all total.

GEN. ALFRED M. GRUENTHER AND SEN. TOM CONNALLY
"We have intelligent, effective leadership . . ."

Congressional probers were busy again this week.

The House Rules Committee voted 7 to 4 for an investigation of the Wage Stabilization Board (WSB). Those voting made it plain they were moved largely by the controversy over the board's recommendations in the steel wage dispute.

Liquor importer Hyman Harvey Klein appeared before a House ways and means subcommittee seeking to find out why Sen. Bridges (R-NH) and Henry Grunewald, Washington public relations man, interceded with the Internal Revenue Bureau in Klein's behalf.

Klein testified he and three partners netted 20 million dollars in 1944-46 on $4,000 capital in tax-exempt foreign corporations through which they imported Canadian whiskey to the U.S.

He said he sold out in 1947 for a five-million-dollar profit and paid $1,200,000 in taxes. Later he got a tax bill for seven million dollars.

Still later Grunewald and Bridges entered the tax case. Klein testified he knew neither.

UNITED NATIONS negotiators at Panmunjom have long believed the Korean truce talks would have a better chance of success if the propaganda limelight could be switched off.

In the middle of a news blackout it was hoped the Reds might be more willing to talk about compromises. This week Korean truce negotiators went to work on that theory and drew a curtain of secrecy around their talks on exchanging prisoners of war.

Results To Be Announced

"The negotiations are being conducted in secrecy or privacy, but the results if any will be published," said Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckolls, U.N. Command spokesman.

As the secret talks got underway, the U.N. stuck to its demand that prisoners of war be allowed to choose for themselves whether they will be sent home. The Reds wanted all POWs repatriated, whether they liked it or not.

A second group of staff officers reached general agreement on the question of ports of entry to be used during an armistice. The key issue of whether Russia should be recognized as a neutral nation supervising the truce still caused trouble.

Warning to Reds

The U.N. Command warned the Communists this week the secrecy would be lifted immediately if the Reds tried to make propaganda capital of the confidential talks.

U.N. officers said the idea behind the secret talks was "to permit the representatives of both sides to express themselves freely, informally and frankly without any implication of a commitment prior to the full development of their respective views."

Plea for Patience

Actually, newsmen have never been admitted to the truce sessions. They rely on official communiques, comments of negotiators outside the Panmunjom truce tents, and official briefings.

The communiques and briefings continued this week but reflected the requirements for the negotiators on both sides to have complete freedom of discussion.

In Tokyo, meanwhile, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, the Allied supreme commander, said he prays constantly that Americans will be extremely patient while U.N. negotiators withstand Communist deceit and stalling.

Ridgway conceded that the nine-month-old truce talks try one's patience, but added:

"Patience is a necessity. The stakes in this case are not only the lives of Allied prisoners in Communist hands, but world peace itself. I think our people realize the situation in which we find ourselves today. A situation so potentially grave calls for the most soul-searching objective analysis."

FREAKISH WRECKAGE AFTER TORNADO PASSED

The living worked grimly . . .

EVERY spring, in the Central Mississippi Valley, warm, moist air from the Gulf of Mexico smashes against a stream of cool, clear air from the north. It's an ideal condition for tornadoes.

Last week tornadoes cut a swath from Arkansas, through Missouri, Mississippi, Tennessee, Alabama and Kentucky, killing hundreds and leaving thousands homeless.

The storms, which boiled out of leaden skies, caused millions of dollars worth of material damage.

Relief Measures

The American Red Cross rushed emergency relief to the six states affected and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation placed the area on an emergency basis, opening the way for government loans to storm victims. President Truman later granted $700,000 for immediate emergency relief.

Sharply cooler weather brought frost and added hardships to homeless families on the heels of the tornado terror. A new anxiety arose at some points where the downpours

President Harry S. Truman: "We are not just sitting by waiting to put out fires in some far-away place. We are actively at work, every day, with our neighbors and our friends around the world to overcome any threats to world peace and to strengthen peace. Our efforts are turning back the threat of Communism."

At the eastern tip of Hokkaido only three miles of water separate Japan from the Soviet-occupied Habomai Islands."

In Short

Sentenced: James P. Finnegan, personal friend of President Harry S. Truman, to two years in prison and a $10,000 fine after being convicted of misconduct as internal revenue collector in St. Louis.

Staged: in Pretoria, South Africa, a tumultuous demonstration against the government of Prime Minister Daniel F. Malan who threatened to curb the powers of the South African supreme court because of its invalidation of a law placing colored persons on separate electoral rolls.

Erupted: political riots in Trieste and Italy involving demonstrators favoring Italian rule for Trieste. Claimed by both Yugoslavia and Italy, the city is ruled by a British-American military government.

Sidelights

In Havana, Cuba, Dictator Fulgencio Batista's absence from official functions this week gave rise to rumors that he was a prisoner of the army. His secretary finally announced the Cuban strong man was down with chicken pox.

In New York, a 40-year-old pig farmer held a campaign rally at a Broadway dance hall after announcing his candidacy for the White House on the "Poor Man's Party" ticket. His platform: "More beer parties for the poor man."

Lenten Reading Received At County Library

For the Lenten season the Deaf Smith county library has just received books recommended for both Catholic and Protestant readers.

"The Pillar of Fire" by Karl Slesam is the story of the author's childhood and young manhood. It is told superbly. His adventures in philosophy and psychiatry which lead to his conversion are also told.

Helen C. Day is the author of "Color, Ebony", which tells the story of a Negro girl's search for God. Beautifully recounted, the book offers a challenge to both Negro and white.

In her autobiography, Dorothy Day writes a great deal more than a revelation of a life. A document of social justice and Christian love is above average in its entirety and is titled "The Long Loneliness."

Carrying the reader beyond race and color the story of Dr. Wu has for its theme, "beyond east and west is Faith." The whole is written with insight and charm and is fittingly called, "Beyond East and West."

"The Betrothal" is a translation by Archibald Colquhoun of a novel written by Alessandro Manzoni. Historical background is laid in Milan in the 17th century. It is claimed by critics to have something similar to Dickens' humor and quality.

The above list is particularly recommended for Catholics and the ones following are for the

The turtle—three feet long, 19 inches across the middle and nine inches across at the head—could snap tree limbs with its powerful jaws. The men broke two gaff hooks before they subdued the beast with five pistol shots. (AP Photo)

Protestants

Outstanding for some time now has been the book, "A Man Called Peter," written by Peter Marshall's widow, Catherine. The story of his loss as a man who glorified the office of a Chaplain to the United States Senate almost comes to be a loss when the impact of his charming and dedicated life goes on through such a book as she has written.

"Ladder of Light," by Harold B. Walker could be a great aid to any Lenten reader. It has strong appeal for those who are searching for honesty and splendid expression as well as inspiration at this season. The author is a pastor of a modern church in a famous American suburb.

Majroy Bracher tells us that "Love is No Luxury" in a refreshing manner in a story by that name. The meaning and purpose of a Christian family are told simply but with critical insight, and is above the average in this type of a book.

E. Stanley Jones' new book, according to his followers, bids to be as fine as any of his earlier ones. Recently added to his growing place on the religious shelf at the library is the new one, "How to Be a Transformed Person."

Besides the above suggested books, there are many others, which may be used to supplement your religious reading for the Easter season says Mrs. J. J. Boydston, county librarian.

FEATURING HIS PAL
ROSCO SWEENEY
By ROY CRANE

WHAT ON EARTH ARE YOU DOING, BROTHER?

BUILDING THE FENCE HIGHER, SO FAUNTLEROY CAN'T GET OUT.

THERE! NOW I'LL RUN INTO TOWN FOR A MINUTE.

WHY, WHAT A COINCIDENCE! THERE'S ANOTHER KANGAROO. HE'LL MAKE A NICE PLAYMATE FOR FAUNTLEROY.

GROCERIES

EEEK! LET GO MY TURNIP GREENS, YOU BEAST!

GROCE

ON SECOND THOUGHT, I WON'T LET FAUNTLEROY PLAY WITH HIM.

SPLASH!

SWEENEY! STOP HIM! GET HIM OUT OF HERE!

I'LL SUE! I'LL HAVE THE LAW ON YOU!

HA, HA, HA! HE'S NOT MY KANGAROO! MINE'S AT HOME.

BABY SISTER, WHERE'S FAUNTLEROY?

DIDN'T YOU SEE HIM? THE MOMENT YOU LEFT HE JUMPED THE FENCE AND WENT TEARING AFTER YOU.

WHAT'S WRONG, BROTHER? ARE YOU SICK?

NO, BUT I THINK I'M GOING TO BE.

MANDRAKE THE MAGICIAN

BY LEE FALK & PHIL DAVIS

GOODNIGHT! THERE'S NARDA--
IN THE RIVER! NARDA! GET OUT OF THE WATER! PIRANHA!
DANGEROUS FISH! NARDA--

HELLO! WHAT'S THAT? I CAN'T HEAR YOU!
COME ON IN, THE WATER'S FINE!

AS MANDRAKE IS ABOUT TO SWING
ACROSS THE RIVER
TO THE NATIVE
VILLAGE--

3 PIRANHA - FLESH-EATING FISH! THE
MOST FEROCIOUS FISH FOR ITS SIZE ON EARTH!

MANDRAKE MOVES FAST, SWINGING ACROSS THE RIVER--

YOUR HAND--
YOUR HAND--

WHY ON EARTH DID YOU
DO THAT? YOU MEAN I SHOULD BE AFRAID OF
THOSE LITTLE FISH?

LITTLE FISH? WATCH YOUR BOOT, I'LL DIP IT IN AMONG THE "LITTLE FISH"--

GOOD--HEAVENS!
OH, MANDRAKE-- THAT WAS MY BEST BOOT!

GOOD. NOW YOU WON'T FORGET
THIS DEMONSTRATION, THAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN YOU, INSTEAD OF YOUR BEST BOOT.

YOU! WHY, YOU FLAP-EARED PYGMY! WERE YOU SPYING ON ME ALL THE TIME? HOW DID YOU GET IN HERE?

GERISE HAS FOUND "THE GREAT THIRD EYE" IN A PASSAGE UNDER THE TEMPLE. SHE "HIDES" IT BY PLACING IT IN THE IDOL'S HEAD WHERE GRIPPMAN HAD PUT A PASTE IMITATION. HOWEVER, SHE HAS BEEN SEEN....

WAIT A MINUTE... THERE'S NOTHING TO BE SCARED OF! THIS ELEPHANT IS SMART, BUT HE CAN'T TALK... OR CAN HE?

HE COULD LEAD SOMEBODY IN HERE! GOT TO FIGURE SOME WAY TO SILENCE HIM!

MEANWHILE HE CAN LEAD ME OUT OF HERE... THE WAY HE CAME IN!

THERE IT IS! THIS PLACE MUST HAVE A HUNDRED ENTRANCES AND EXITS!

WAIT A MINUTE, STUPID! LET ME MAKE SURE THE COAST IS CLEAR! YEP... COME ON NOW... FAST!

BUT I TELL YOU IT'S UTTERLY IMPOSSIBLE! YOU'RE IMAGINING THINGS!

NO, GOOD SAIR GRIPPMAN... NO IMAGINE... ME SEE!

WHAT'S THE BIG CONFERENCE ALL ABOUT?

ME TELL GOOD SAIR GRIPPMAN... ME SEE TRACKS OF TIGER NEAR CAMP!

TIGER!! OH, NO! LET'S GET OUT OF HERE!!

NOW, NOW, CALM YOURSELF GERISE! THE MAN'S MAD! THERE'S NOT A TIGER WITHIN FIVE HUNDRED MILES OF THIS AREA... I KNOW! BESIDES...

FEW TIGERS ARE EVER MAN-EATERS, ANYHOW! HUMAN ODORS FRIGHTEN AND CONFUSE THEM. THEY STALK HELPLESS ANIMALS MOSTLY!

OH... HELPLESS ANIMALS... THAT'S DIFFERENT!

WHAT'S THE HORRIBLE ODOR COMING FROM THE BASEMENT?

A FRIEND OF MINE GAVE ME A RECIPE FOR COOKING HASENPFEFFER

WHAT'S HASENPFEFFER?

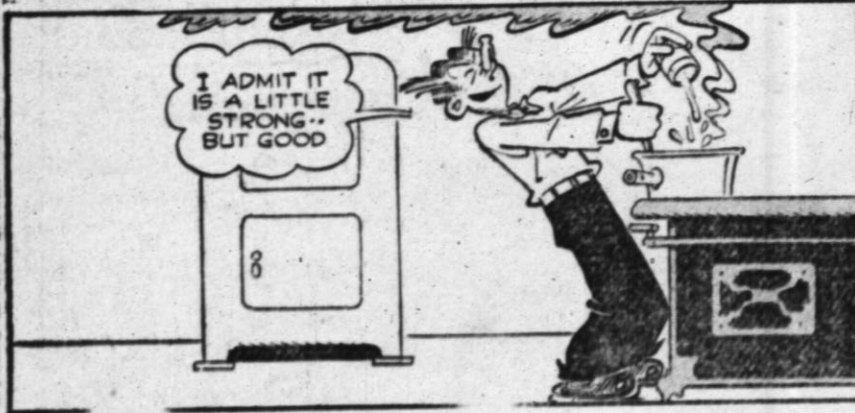

YOU SOAK A RABBIT FOR THREE DAYS IN VINEGAR AND THEN COOK IT IN ALL KINDS OF FANCY SPICES AND STUFF

IT'S READY TO BE COOKED NOW... I WAS GOING TO SURPRISE YOU WITH IT

WE'LL HAVE TO GET OUT OF THE HOUSE-- THE FUMES WILL ASPHYXIATE US

I ADMIT IT IS A LITTLE STRONG-- BUT GOOD

DON'T WORRY DEAR, THE CITY EMERGENCY SQUAD WILL TAKE CARE OF EVERYTHING

PHEW

DUGAN FAINTED

TAKE HIM OUT IN THE AIR AND BRING US GAS MASKS

I'LL THROW OPEN ALL THE WINDOWS

THIS MUST BE THE HUSBAND

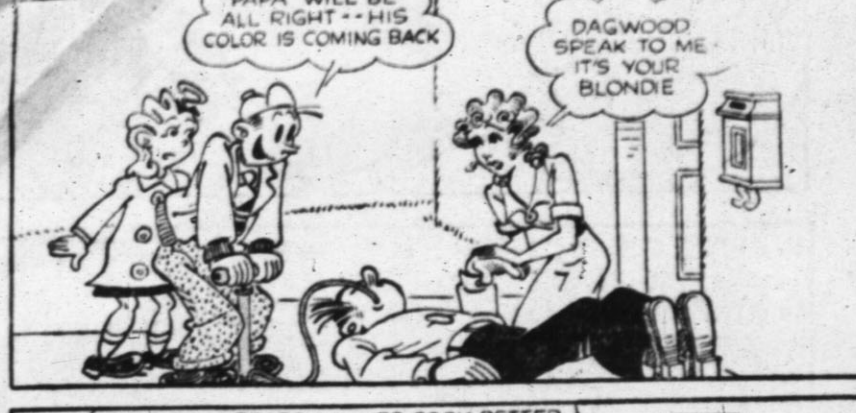

GET HIM OUTSIDE, QUICK

BE SURE YOU BURY THAT STUFF DEEP

I DUG THE HOLE SIX FEET

I WONDER WHAT IT IS?

PAPA WILL BE ALL RIGHT-- HIS COLOR IS COMING BACK

DAGWOOD SPEAK TO ME IT'S YOUR BLONDIE

MY HASENPFEFFER! WHAT HAPPENED TO MY HASENPFEFFER?

THE ONLY REASON WIVES COOK BETTER THAN HUSBANDS IS BECAUSE WIVES DON'T LET THEM PRACTICE
