"Losing is painful for coaches, players and fans, but I think - I hope - we've turned the corner."

- Tom Simons, broadcaster, Whiteface football

'Voices of Herd' loving the job

By DONALD M. COOPER
Brand Editor

After 15 years, they've become synonymous with Hereford football, as much a part of the game as the players, coaches, cheerleaders and band.

They're Tom Simons and Cuby Kitchens, the "voices of the Herd." Simons, who in his other life is Deaf Smith County judge, has been broadcasting Whiteface football for 26 years. He was joined about 15 years ago by Cuby Kitchens, a former coach and Hereford Independent School District administrator, as the color man/analyst.

"I was with KPAN (the radio station that broadcasts the Herd games) for 14 years until I was elected county judge," Simons said.

Kitchens coached Hereford High basketball from 1956 until 1969, then transferred to Stanton Junior High School, where he was coach of both football and basketball.

He later was promoted to assistant principal at Stanton, a position he held until he retired - "in 1991 or '92, I believe," Kitchens said.

"Yeah, but it '94 before anyone figured out he'd retired," Simons joked about his partner.

"I doubt if anyone cared if I'm off a year or two," Kitchens responded.

Looking back over their years of sharing the broadcast booth, the two men said they've seen some good teams and players, but the 1981 team was the best. That squad just typified Hereford football, Simons said.

"That 1981 team was the best, and we've had several good teams," Simons said. "Other teams may have been just as good, but that one just had an air about it."

The 1981 Herd reached the state semifinals in Class 5A.

"They really thought they'd win. (Don) Cumpston was the coach and he thought they'd win. ... He promised they'd play in Texas Stadium and they did," Simons recalled.

The two men said one of the most surprising games was against Cleburne in 1986.

Hereford was trailing Cleburne 7-6 as the clock was ticking off the final seconds and Cleburne had the ball.

"Cleburne had the ball. All they had to do was just fall on the ball, and they'd win. But they handed off and fumbled. Hereford recovered deep in Cleburne's end of the field," Simons said.

"With time running out, Mark Artho kicked a 30-yard field goal to win," he said. "We'd already begun wrapping it up when Cleburne fumbled."

Kitchens said the Palo Duro game this season was "as great as any."

Simons agreed, noting that the Herd was down 21-0 with about nine minutes to play and came back for an overtime 27-21 victory - the first win of this season.

WEEKEND PROFILES

Tom Simons (left), a veteran broadcaster and current Deaf Smith County judge, and Cuby Kitchens, a former coach and junior high school principal, have become synonymous with Hereford football. For about 15 years, Simons and Kitchens have been the "voices of the Herd."

On the down side, Simons said the 1982 loss to Lubbock Coronado was one of the biggest disappointments he's experienced in broadcasting Hereford football.

"We had a chance to make the playoffs, but they just beat us," he said.

"Yeah, but remember Plainview in '80? We had the lead and Plainview threw a halfback pass. Our secondary came up and hit him ...," he said.

"Except he'd already thrown the ball," Simons jumped in.

"We had that game won. To me, that was devastating," Kitchens said, shaking his head at the memory of the loss.

However, Simons remembered, the Herd beat Plainview in 1982 on a fourth-down play to avenge the earlier loss.

"Back then, it was so different with just one team (in a district) going to the playoffs. There was a lot more pressure on the players and coaches," Simons said.

"The crowds here have always been fun. The people bring radios. Sometimes they look up here - usually when Cuby's made a mistake," he said with a laugh.

"It's been a lot of fun, but the last three or four years have been difficult, especially since we'd been going to the playoffs," Kitchens said.

"Losing is painful for coaches, players and fans, but I think - I hope - we've turned the corner," Simons said.

"We've always had really good defensive teams. Some of them played even better than they really were," Simons said.

"Yes, we would just play up a step. We've been lacking in (leadership), but we do have some good possibilities ...," Kitchens said.

"If they'll just step up," Simons added. "... You need ability, but what we are missing is that burning desire to get it done - I mean, that player everyone can look to."

"You need a 'go-to' guy," Kitchens added.

"It's been a lot of fun (broadcasting the football games). Cuby knows the game. As the color man, you know you've got a certain amount of time to say what you need to say, and he does that," Simons said.

"Sometimes he just cuts me off, though," Kitchens joked.

"We do enjoy it, we're rooting for the Whitefaces, and I'll keep doing it as long as I can get up those (stadium) steps," Simons said.

Good to be back

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says three keys to a happy life are hands that work, a mind that thinks and a heart that lives.

oOo
Wise is the man who builds friendships rather than wealth.

oOo
Speaking of friendships, I am reminded, once again, of the many caring and sharing folks in this community. After two emergency operations, about three weeks in the hospital and another two weeks of recuperation at home, I returned to work on a limited basis this week.

There is no way I can sufficiently express my thanks and appreciation to all the people in this community for their prayers, visits, food, flowers, cards and calls. The surgeon in Amarillo took the stitches out of my tummy a week ago, and he admitted I needed the prayers along with his medical work.

I would like to thank my pastor, Terry Cosby, for writing a few columns in my absence. He checked on me often and made the mistake of asking on his first visit, "What can I do to help?" I told him to fill in for me on my column.

Even though it was their job, I'd also like to commend The Hereford Brand staffers for their work in my absence.

Mauri Montgomery, my number one assistant, had to take over at a time when a new editor and reporter had just started and when we were still without a sports editor.

Editor Don Cooper worked with me just a few days before I checked out, then Bob Varmette later joined our staff as sports editor. With new reporter Dianna Dandridge here just a short time, that left Becky Camp, Lifestyle editor, as the only veteran on the editorial staff. Thanks to all for a job well done!

And, if you'll allow a personal reference, let's not forget Lavon - my lover, best friend, chief nurse and chauffeur. She attended to my needs so faithfully that I finally gave her a few hours off last week to go to the beauty salon!

As I started typing this column, it dawned on me that The Bull column has not been in the paper since a short version appeared on Aug. 17. It was at least a weekly column for about 26 years. My thanks, also, to those who have asked when The Bull would reappear!

I'll not bore readers with my experiences in the hospital. I would commend, however, the many dedicated people in the medical profession. As in any profession, there are always a few who are apparently unhappy with their job, and it shows.

I feel as though I've been out of circulation for many, many weeks. I'm getting my strength back, gradually, and hope to resume a regular schedule before too long.

Welfare rolls in Florida drop by 25%

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) - The number of people getting welfare checks in Florida dropped nearly 25 percent from January 1996 through May 1997, the state's top welfare reform administrators say.

Florida is among the seven states that account for over half the caseload in the welfare program formerly known as Aid to Families with Dependent Children and now called Temporary Assistance to Needy Families. None of the other six did as well in moving people off the program.

"It's been a heck of a year," Don Winstead, welfare reform administrator for the Department of Children and Families, said Friday. "We've had an extraordinary and unprecedented drop in the cash assistance rolls."

Pennsylvania and Texas saw reductions of 19 percent, followed by Michigan with 18 percent. The national reduction has been nearly 17 percent. New York saw a drop of almost 14 percent, followed by Ohio and California at 10 percent.

Since Florida implemented its welfare reform last

"Much of that (savings) has been then invested in things that support work, particularly child care, work activity."

- Don Winstead, welfare reform administrator, Florida Department of Children & Families

October, setting time limits and requiring work or efforts to get work, some 60,000 families have moved off welfare, according to Winstead and Barbara Griffin, assistant director of jobs and benefits for the state Department of Labor and Employment Security.

Most recently, 5,646 families dropped off the state's welfare rolls for next month, bringing the total number of families getting welfare checks to 135,291.

Griffin said she would give the state an "A" for the success it seen in the first year.

"However the tests are going to get tougher in year two and year three," she said.

Some of the first people to get off welfare were those with the most skills. People who have been dependent on government assistance will be harder - but not impossible - to make self-sufficient, Winstead said.

As people moved off welfare, the state saved $70 million in welfare benefits last year and expects to save $92 million in the fiscal year that ends in July.

"Much of that has been then invested in things that support work, particularly child care, work activity," Winstead said.

The key elements of the new welfare system are a two-year cap on getting cash benefits with a lifetime limit of four years. The 1996 law also provides for employer incentives - wage subsidies, training stipends, tax breaks - for hiring welfare recipients.

Nora's visit will be felt at markets

YUMA, Ariz. (AP) - Tropical Storm Nora went fairly easy on this region, where most of the nation's winter vegetables are grown. Still, the damage may be enough to boost prices a bit at groceries across the country.

Farmers spent Friday tallying the damage to newly planted lettuce seeds, broccoli seedlings and cotton on thousands of acres around Yuma and California's Imperial Valley.

Rain and mud a day earlier washed away many seeds, pushed others deeper into the soil where they can't germinate, drowned maturing crops and soaked piles of picked cotton waiting to be shipped to market.

Farmers say they will have to replant some of the damaged crops. Delays will likely mean temporary shortages of lettuce in December, increasing grocery store prices slightly.

"It's going to be a little more money, but we don't know how much yet," said Tim Dunn, Yuma County Farm Bureau president, who farms 1,500 acres of corn, cotton, vegetables and wheat.

Rain and mud ... washed away many seeds, pushed others deeper into the soil where they can't germinate, drowned maturing crops and soaked piles of picked cotton waiting to be shipped to market.

Ken Evans, president of the Arizona Farm Bureau Federation, said Nora caused up to $200 million in crop damage, a figure farmers say is grossly overstated. Across the Colorado River in California, Imperial County Agricultural Commissioner Steven Birdsall estimated crop damage at $4 million to $5 million.

Nora, a hurricane when it blasted Mexico's Baja peninsula that lost much of its strength by the time it got to Arizona, still left its mark. More than 5 inches of rain fell in the desert and mountains northwest of Phoenix, causing flash flooding and forcing evacuations.

Some people moved to higher ground, but many more rushed to market at normally dry washes and riverbeds churning with chocolate brown runoff.

"It's been a long time since we've had water here," said 14-year-old Nick Pecora on Friday, standing with his mountain bike on a bridge over the normally dry Hassayampa River in Wickenburg, about 50 miles northwest of Phoenix. Schools were closed after officials closed two bridges.

Twenty miles farther west, Centennial Wash flowed through cantaloupe fields and wiped out an earthen dike protecting Aguila. Up to 5 feet of water filled the town, which is home to 800 people, including migrant farm workers.

"We don't know where we're going to sleep tonight," said Dogoberto Duarte, a farm worker.

News Digest

CLINTON VISITS COMMUNITY COLLEGE

PASADENA, Texas (AP) - San Jacinto Community College students say it was hard to believe President Clinton was visiting their campus.

"I told my government professor he was a liar," student Courtney Burch said.

"I was in shock," added Jon De los Santos, a history student volunteering for Friday's event. "I thought I misheard. I thought it was a joke."

Students figured the president would pick a more prominent Houston-area school, like Rice University or the University of Houston, so his stop at San Jacinto's central campus was significant for them.

"I think he's going to be an inspiration to the students here," freshman Katherine Scheer said. "They're going to see that he came to a school that seems so small. It lets us know we're important."

ILLEGAL ALIENS MAY GET REPRIEVE

WASHINGTON (AP) - Illegal immigrants fearing next week's expiration of a program that lets them remain in the United States while seeking legal residence may get a three-week reprieve from Congress.

Thousands have been in a panic over Tuesday's scheduled expiration of a measure that lets undocumented immigrants file here for legal status instead of at U.S. consulates abroad. They also must pay a $1,000 fine.

With Congress still far from completing its appropriations process for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1, the House on Monday will consider a stopgap spending bill that would finance government operations through Oct. 23.

Included in that bill is a three-week extension of the immigration provision due to expire Tuesday.

"It's a small victory, but we're going in the right direction," said Rep. Luis Guterrez, D-Ill., who has been pushing for a long-term extension.

DNA PROOF OFTEN CONTRADICTS VICTIMS

AUSTIN (AP) - Genetic testing is proving to be a two-edged sword to prosecutors and defense attorneys, especially in rape cases.

Since its introduction in a 1987 California trial, DNA has come to be regarded as prosecutorial weapon second only to fingerprints as positive evidence of a suspect's guilt.

"That it is accurate is no longer in question," Travis County prosecutor Clay Strange told the Austin American-Statesman for a story published in Saturday's editions.

Strange warned that DNA evidence is only as infallible as the people testing and analyzing it. However, it has been sufficient to smash what appeared to be airtight evidence that has sent innocent people to prison.

"It is definitely an increasing phenomenon," said San Antonio defense attorney Gerald Goldstein. "What we're seeing are more and more individuals who can dramatically demonstrate their innocence in a way that was never possible before."

FCC opens up Texas phone markets

WASHINGTON (AP) - Federal regulators decided Friday to pre-empt a provision in a Texas telecommunications law governing how would-be local phone competitors build their networks.

Federal Communications Commission Chairman Reed Hundt said the action should "promote competition in the Texas telephone market."

The Public Utility Commission of Texas asked the FCC to review parts of its 1995 telecommunications law to determine whether they are consistent with a 1996 federal law that provides for deregulation of the telecommunications industries, FCC officials said.

Specifically, the FCC used its power under the 1996 federal law to, among other things, pre-empt provisions that limit the ability of the would-be rivals to lease parts of the existing local phone network or buy discounted local service from the existing phone company and sell it to customers - things they are free to do under the federal law.

A MCI official, speaking on condition of anonymity, called the pre-empted provisions "the single-most anticompetitive statute passed by a state legislature."

MCI officials said the pre-empted provisions essentially required would-be rivals to build their own networks if they wanted to provide local phone service in Texas, MCI officials said. The pre-empted provisions forced would-be competitors to first build these networks before they could obtain permission to re-sell local service or lease lines from the existing telephone company, they said.

By the end of the year MCI expects to be providing local phone service over its own network in some parts of Texas, said MCI spokeswoman Jamie DePeau.

It is not the first time the FCC has used its power under the federal 1996 law to pre-empt provisions in state telecommunications laws. On Wednesday the FCC pre-empted part of a 1995 Wyoming telecommunications law.

Air Force keeps stealth fighters grounded until probe finished

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Air Force says it will keep its F-117 stealth fighters grounded until it has an explanation for the crash of one of the warplanes earlier this month.

"This is a prudent measure until the cause of the accident can be identified and corrected," an Air Force statement said Friday.

One of the radar-evading planes broke apart and crashed during an air show Sept. 14 at Middle River, Md., setting two houses on fire and injuring six people. The pilot ejected safely.

The remaining 53 F-117s, which are based with the 49th Fighter Wing at Holloman Air Force Base in New Mexico, suspended routine flights the next day.

"We'll keep them down until we find out what caused the incident," said an Air Force spokesman, Capt. Leo Devine. "Safety is our top concern."

An investigation board has been studying the crash. Maintenance experts from the Air Force and the manufacturer are also involved.

Amateur video showed a piece of the aircraft, apparently from the tail or a wing, flying off before the wedge-shaped jet went into a slow spin and crashed.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Atlantic Command, based in Norfolk, Va., announced it has called off the search-and-rescue mission for survivors from an Air Force C-141 transport and a German military TU-154, both of which disappeared off the west coast of Africa on Sept. 13.

An announcement said officials have concluded "with regret, based upon the exhaustive efforts of the multinational forces involved in the search and rescue, that there are no survivors to this tragic event."

The C-141 was flying from Namibia with nine Americans aboard and apparently collided with the German military plane. In all, 33 were believed killed.

Those incidents were followed by a string of other crashes, prompting Defense Secretary William Cohen to order all military services to suspend training flights for 24 hours and go over safety procedures, a practice known as a "stand-down."

The Air Force suspended training flights for combat air crews at domestic bases Monday, while other commands held their stand-downs at various times during the week.

The Air Force had planned a servicewide halt of training flights for Friday, but its Air Combat Command, which operates all fighters and bombers at domestic bases, decided to move its up to Monday after one of its B-1 bombers crashed last week in Montana.

Despite the recent crashes, the Air Force's overall safety record for the past year has been one of its best.

It was the first suspension of all military pilot training. Cohen's order did not affect operational flights such as those over Iraq and in support of Bosnia peacekeeping.

Classics on list of banned books

CHICAGO (AP) - A Florida mother says the "Goosebumps" series of scary stories for kids are so violent, gory and vengeful that children shouldn't read them. A Chicago librarian says kids love the scary stuff.

One woman's horror story is another's literary landmark. And this year's list of 100 banned and challenged books includes a number that are considered American classics, including Mark Twain's "Huckleberry Finn" and John Steinbeck's "Of Mice and Men."

The Chicago-based American Library Association releases the list each year to raise awareness about censorship. This year's list coincides with the 16th Banned Books Week, which ended today.

The list includes Alice Walker's "The Color Purple," Herman Melville's "Moby Dick" and Nathaniel Hawthorne's "The Scarlet Letter."

Newer books that made the list include Earvin "Magic" Johnson's 1992 book "What You Can Do to Avoid AIDS," and the "Goosebumps" stories that R.L. Stine began writing in 1982.

Mary Dempsey, who heads Chicago's public library system, says Stine's tales - admittedly scary and gory - are wildly popular with the younger set.

"There's no reason I would ban 'Goosebumps,'" she said. "The kids love to read them. They're the 'Nancy Drew' of the '90s."

Lisa Clinton, the Florida mom, tried unsuccessfully to get the "Goosebumps" books banned in her third-grade daughter's school district.

She said her daughter's teacher stuffed cotton in the girl's ears when she asked not to hear Stine's "Night of the Living Dummy III."

"The Goosebumps series goes beyond being scary - it is filled with violence, fear, cruelty, revenge and murder," Clinton said.

The library association says freedom is at stake when books are banned.

"This is our nation's literary history," says Judith Krug, director of the Office of Intellectual Freedom for the association. "We're not dealing with cruddy literature. We're dealing with some of the best literature that's come out of the American pens."

Among the ALA's critics is the Colorado-based Christian ministry Focus on the Family.

"Banned Books Week is nothing more than an attempt to bully any parent, teacher or librarian who may disagree with the ALA's agenda," Tom Minnery, a Focus on the Family vice president, said in Chicago last week.

Krug said the ALA compiles its banned book lists through newspaper reports and that it's fine for parents to watch what their children read.

"Saying, 'I don't want my child to read material is OK,'" said Krug. "But saying, 'I don't want my child to read this book and to protect my child I want you to remove the book so no one else has access to it' that's a horse of a different color."

Recovery teams at crash site

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) - Working in the choking haze, recovery teams pulled bodies from the wreckage of an Indonesian jetliner and investigators tried to determine today if the thick smoke over Southeast Asia was a factor in the crash that killed 234 people.

The Garuda Airlines A-300B4 Airbus went down on a flight from Jakarta to the Sumatra island city of Medan, an area clouded with smoke from hundreds of smoldering forest fires.

Some victims were found hundreds of yards from the crash site, hanging in trees or buried in mud in a 1,500-foot ravine, private television Antev reported today.

Teams wearing masks over their faces wrapped the bodies in sheets tied to poles and carried them from the lush, rugged terrain. By early today, 212 bodies had been located, airline official John Pieter said.

Gingrich hails GOP 'Contract'

WASHINGTON (AP) - House Speaker Newt Gingrich today saluted the third anniversary of the signing of the "Contract With America," the Republican political manifesto that figured in the 1994 GOP takeover of Congress. "And, frankly, you ain't seen nothing yet," he said.

Delivering the Republicans' weekly radio address, Gingrich said critical parts of the agenda have since become law - including the $500-a-child tax credit, other major tax cuts and a balanced-budget plan that were part of the bipartisan budget accord reached during the summer.

"The American people demanded change. And we knew we could produce it," Gingrich said.

On Sept. 27, 1994, more than 300 GOP House candidates gathered on the Capitol steps to sign the document, which included an ambitious conservative legislative agenda.

The document became the GOP rallying cry in the 1994 midterm congressional elections, in which Republicans seized control of both the House and the Senate from Democrats.

CLINTON SCORES GOP ON JUDICIAL STALLING

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) - President Clinton accused Republicans today of posing "a very real threat to our judicial system" by blocking the appointment of dozens of federal judges for political purposes.

"We can't let partisan politics shut down our courts and gut our judicial system," Clinton said, using his weekly radio address to join a rancorous debate that has been largely confined to the marble halls of Congress.

The Republicans' stalling tactics represent "the worst of partisan politics," he contended.

Across the nation, 100 federal judgeships are empty. The president said he has sent 70 nominations to the Senate this year but lawmakers have acted on only 18 - two of them Friday.

ATLANTIS TAKES SUPPLIES, CREWMAN TO MIR

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) - Packed with crucial supplies and a new American crew member for the run-down Russian Mir station, the space shuttle Atlantis hurtled today toward a docking 250 miles above Earth.

The afternoon's planned docking couldn't come soon enough for astronaut David Wolf, who didn't get the OK from NASA for his four-month stay on Mir until hours before Thursday night's launch.

There has been mounting pressure from members of Congress and others to no longer allow Americans to stay on the aging station. Wolf will replace American Michael Foale, who has endured a nearly catastrophic collision and repeated life-support equipment breakdowns.

Prior to the docking, NASA flight controllers kept tabs on the computer that controls Mir's position in space, since it has failed three times in the past three weeks. Flight director Paul Dye said Friday night he was not aware of any problems on Mir.

ALBERT'S ACCUSER SAYS HE SHOULDN'T GET JAIL

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP) - As legal experts predicted Marv Albert would avoid a jail term, the former lover who won an assault conviction against him revealed her name and wept as she said: "I don't want to see him in jail."

The woman, Vanessa Perhach, said she had nothing to hide as she discussed her relationship with the former NBC sportscaster in today's New York Post.

"It's time to take away the stigma of being the 'mystery woman,'" Ms. Perhach said. "I was portrayed on TV last night as evil and even called 'a Jezebel.' But I know myself. I can sleep at night."

Perhach spoke one day after Albert put a stop to testimony about his kinky sex life by pleading guilty to assault and battery charges punishable by up to a year behind bars and a $2,500 fine. In exchange, prosecutors dropped a forcible sodomy charge, which carries five years to life in prison.

RUSSIA GETS MORE TIME TO ELIMINATE MISSILES

UNITED NATIONS (AP) - Russia will have more time to get rid of long-range missiles banned by the 1993 START II treaty, and all five Pentagon programs to defend U.S. troops against missile attack have a green light from Moscow.

These are among the results of arms control accords signed Friday by the United States and Russia. Final U.S. approval will be up to the Senate.

At the signing, Russian Foreign Minister Yevgeny Primakov said the accords "for many years to come will determine the course of the arms control process."

Secretary of State Madeleine Albright, in an interview with The Associated Press, said giving Russia five more years to destroy outlawed missiles improves the chances the Russian parliament will ratify the 1993 treaty that cut U.S. and Russian long-range arsenals by about 50 percent.

CAMPAIGN FINANCE REFORM SPLITTING REPUBLICANS

WASHINGTON (AP) - The ideological split over revising campaign finance rules generally is along partisan lines. But it was Republican vs. Republican for much of the first day of debate on the Senate floor.

The system is "so awash in money that is taken so disproportionately from special interests that the people cannot help but suspect that our service is tainted by it," said Sen. John McCain, R-Ariz., who cosponsored the bipartisan bill with Sen. Russell Feingold, D-Wis. "If most Americans feel they have sufficient cause to doubt our integrity, then we must seek all reasonable means to persuade them otherwise," McCain said as debate opened Friday. "Reform of our campaign finance laws is indispensable to that end."

Sen. Mitch McConnell, R-Ky., a leading opponent of the McCain-Feingold bill, agreed that people oppose the influence of special interests. But he added: "Do you know the definition of a special interest? Special interest is a group that is against what I am trying to do."

Dear Editor:

UNITED WAY REVIEWS ALLOCATION PROCESS

Recently, questions have been raised about how United Way funds are allocated. United Way funding to the agencies is decided by a Budget and Allocations Committee. This committee is separate from the United Way board of directors. Once a year, each agency presents its request for funding to this committee. After hearing all the requests, the committee decides and recommends to the United Way board of directors the amount that each agency is to receive.

Some of the criteria that each agency must meet are:

1. They support and assist UW in the annual fund-raising campaign.
2. They maintain a responsible and representative governing body which serves without pay and which meets at least four times each year.
3. A budget and a request for funding are submitted before the Budget and Allocation Committee.
4. Accurate and complete records of finances and program information are kept.
5. Financial affairs are audited or an audit review is done each year.
6. United Way allocations are used for operating expenditures only - not for capital expenditures without approval from US.
7. Must have non-profit status.

When the agency receives the funding from United Way, it is then up to that agency to determine the best way to use those funds. United Way does not dictate to the agency how those funds are to be spent. Agencies keep accurate records and these are reviewed each year.

United Way funds the different agencies or organizations. It does not fund a portion of the agency. For example, Kid's Inc. receives United Way funds. We do not give money to a specific team that is part of Kid's Inc.

Currently we support six agencies whose main offices are in Amarillo. This funding is never enough to cover the benefits that we receive from these agencies. The services that come back to our community exceed the dollar amounts received from United Way. For example, United Way allocated $7,600 to Texas Panhandle Mental Health Authority in 1996. (The agency) spent more than $80,000 providing services to clients in Deaf Smith County. Girl Scouts received $3,000 and spent $19,000 providing services in our county.

At this time, our community does not have the resources to support separate administrative offices locally for these six agencies. However, the figures above indicate that we are getting back more than we are able to contribute in dollars.

This year, a new agency has been added to United Way. The Women's & Children's Crisis Center will receive funds beginning in 1997. This center is taking the place of Family Support Services, which is based in Amarillo. We are excited to be able to provide this service on a local basis. This occurred as a result of a collaborative effort among the Hereford Regional Medical Center, the City of Hereford, county funding, grants and United Way dollars, and the dedication of concerned citizens in our community who had a vision and put in the time and effort to make it a reality. United efforts work for the good of everybody and this is a prime example. Together, we are able to provide many needed services in our community.

Our board meets quarterly and these meetings are open to the public. If anyone has any questions or would like to attend our board meetings, please call 364-5220. We are here to serve our community and to insure that your dollars are providing services to local people with needs.

Tom Simons, president,
United Way Board of Directors

Dear Editor:

As the father of an Eagle Scout and a Scoutmaster in Hereford of 25 years, I have seen Scouts in Hereford and Deaf Smith County benefit from the support of the United Way.

Local Boy Scouts appreciate Hereford. Hereford troops depend upon sponsoring organizations for many large-item purchases - tents, cooking equipment. Scouts learn the importance of individual responsibility through such fund-raising activities as popcorn sales. Additionally, the local troops depend upon the United Way.

United Way aids local Scouts in many ways. A scouting professional from the Golden Spread Council of Boy Scouts of America helps local leaders in recruiting, training and carrying out troop activities. Scouts have access to year-round camping at Camp Don Harrington, south of Amarillo, and Camp M.K. Brown, near Wheeler, Texas.

The broad experiences Scouts have at local troop meetings and at camp are possible because the troops work together within the Council to offer outstanding leadership and programs. The Boy Scouts of America furnishes the framework; the Council brings the services to the troops; and the local Scoutmasters and Scouts receive the guidance and benefits, making the Scouts from Hereford, Texas, and the Scouts in Amarillo, Texas, equal in Scouting opportunities.

Local Scout leaders can serve their members in scouting because of the support of the sponsoring organizations, the community, and the Golden Spread Council. When you back United Way, you are backing scouting.

I urge the people of Hereford and Deaf Smith County to continue your support.

Gary Billingsley,
Hereford Troop 50, BSA

Dear Editor:

I want to respond to the recent letters to the editor by Kenneth Cook and Jeff Milam regarding the United Way funds and Boy Scouts of America. Having been active as den parents for Cub Scouts as parents of three boys who were active in Troop 52 in Hereford for several years (two became Eagle Scouts), we understand the dilemma faced by the local dens and troops in having to earn money for equipment and troop activities. The same applies to most other United Way-supported local organizations.

We have served in many capacities with both the local Scout organizations and at the council level of both Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, so we feel qualified to address the concerns addressed by local citizens. We would like to point out a few of the benefits received by local youth from having the Scout Council in Amarillo. Without the monies received from area United Way campaigns, the Golden Spread Council which serves Hereford and many other communities in the Panhandle of Texas could not exist. All the Scouting units must be chartered by the Golden Spread Council to use the Boy Scout program. The first concern of the Council is to keep the Scouting program strong for the youth of the area.

Gifts to the United Way help the Golden Spread Council keep a full-time Scout professional staff member working in Hereford to recruit, train and give ongoing program help to Hereford Scouting volunteers. Support through United Way helps provide a broad range of program materials available to the local units. Support through the United Way helps maintain the upkeep of year-round camping facilities for the use of all Cub packs, Scout troops and Explorer posts at a cost that is affordable. The council is also able to provide camperships for youth who otherwise might not be able to go to camp.

The local Scout leadership approached United Way in the past about having funds to use exclusively by the local units. The United Way board advised the local Scout leadership that the IRS requires all parties receiving funds from United Way to have and maintain non-profit status. The United Way board discussed the situation and was agreeable to leaving some funds locally for scholarships providing the local units would have an active board of local community leaders to oversee the distribution of those funds to be sure that they were equitably divided among the various Scout units in Hereford. The other option offered by the United Way board was to set up a fund at the Council Office for the purchase of uniforms for needy youngsters from Hereford. The local Scout leadership has not elected to comply with or choose either option.

Last, one of the main purposes of Scouting is to teach boys to earn their way. The Scout leaders' manual says: "The money to operate the troops comes from the Scouts themselves. As much as possible, Scouts should

What Others are Saying

By The Associated Press

Here are excerpts from editorials in newspapers in the United States and abroad:

The Charlotte Observer, Charlotte, N.C., on tobacco settlement:

President Clinton is right: the proposed $368 million tobacco settlement is inadequate. If it takes another year to make it right, that's fine.

Rushing to judgment now, when parts of the settlement so clearly won't do the job, might be good for the tobacco industry, but it would be foolish public policy. It's time to take a deep breath and reflect on what needs to be done.

After all, who gains most under the proposed settlement? It's hard to avoid concluding that the primary beneficiary is Big Tobacco, which would come away with a protective shield of immunity from lawsuits over the human health effects of smoking. ...

We think Mr. Clinton is right to insist that the settlement require a greater effort on the part of tobacco companies to reduce teenage smoking - especially if underage smoking does not decline after an initial period. ...

Joe Camel may be gone, but the marketing ingenuity of the tobacco industry is undiminished.

Journal Star, Peoria, Ill., on banning alcohol at fraternities and sororities:

Universities should turn away the whiners who say college just won't be fun anymore and ban alcohol from fraternity and sorority houses.

It is, after all, illegal for most college students who live in frat houses to have a beer or a shot. They're too young. By permitting keggers to be tapped, university officials sanction wholesale violations of the law by university-sanctioned, university-licensed organizations. ...

Most universities already control it in their dormitories but have permitted fraternities and sororities to make up their own rules. Most sororities ban alcohol. Most fraternities do not. ...

The extent of drinking on college campuses - it is up - and the damage that alcoholism encouraged in the young can do argue for cutting the free flow. Beyond that, alcohol makes it more difficult to develop good study habits, gets in the way of others trying to study and plays a part in date rape and other sexual activity. Having too much to drink is more than just good fun; it can have serious repercussions, some of them of legitimate concern to colleges.

The Daily Oklahoman, Oklahoma City, on campaign finances:

U.S. Attorney General Janet Reno's decision late to open an investigation of President Clinton's ties to campaign finance abuses is welcomed, but long overdue.

With The New York Times reporting yesterday that Clinton-like Vice President Al Gore - may have been involved in far more potentially illegal fund raising from the White House than previously acknowledged, the foundation for appointment of an independent counsel has never been firmer.

The Oklahoman has never supported the independent counsel statute, but the Supreme Court has upheld its validity. Neutral applica-

A good pub, archgrommets

Since moving to Hereford two months ago, I've found people to be friendly and helpful. When people have found out I'm a newcomer, they've always said, "We're glad to have you in Hereford."

Grocery store clerks have a smile for you and ask if you had any problems finding anything. In Daingerfield, the East Texas town where Annette and I lived before we moved to Hereford, you got more snarls than smiles and merchants seemed to be annoyed rather than pleased when you went into their stores.

Although Annette and I have found our short stay in Hereford to be pleasant, but I think there's something missing: a good neighborhood pub.

I don't mean one of those bars where you can't hear yourself think because of a blaring jukebox, or where the level of business is measured in the number of broken bottles in the parking lot, or which could almost be called a substation of the police department because the officers are called in so many times to break up fights that they might as well just stay there.

No, what I'm thinking about is one of those European-style pubs where people in the neighborhood congregate after work to relax and talk.

Back in the '60s, when I was stationed in Berlin, there was a neighborhood pub not far from the barracks. The Maerkische Hof was one of those little neighborhood bars that are so common in German cities. Nearly every neighborhood has a "local," or bar, where families congregate, swapping stories and enjoying the company of their neighbors.

The Maerkische Hof was spared the rowdiness so typical of the GI bars because its patrons were the neighborhood families. A GI occasionally would stop in the Maerkische Hof, look around and see the families. He'd gulp down his beer and dark out, unlikely to stop in again.

There were a few of us, most German linguists, who liked the Maerkische Hof simply because there seldom were any GIs in the place. It was where we could sit quietly, nurse our beers and listen to German marching music on the antiquated jukebox that stood against the wall in the long, narrow back room where birthday parties and other special events were held.

On Sunday evening in February, I went to the Maerkische Hof with Doc, a lanky New Yorker and one of my closest friends. There were a couple of regulars at the bar and a couple with a young child sitting at a table near the door leading into the back room. Doc and I ordered two dark beers and two bowls of Hungarian goulash and took a seat at an oval table in one corner of the front room.

While we were enjoying the goulash and beers, four old men entered. They headed toward our table, but suddenly drew up short and stared at us. They muttered to each other before shrugging and taking seats at another table on the other side of the room, from where they glared ferociously at us.

Doc and I finished our meal, then we ordered another round of beer. When the barmaid brought the two mugs, she asked if we would prefer to sit at another table.

"No, we're fine here," I said. "Are you sure you really wouldn't like that table by the window better? It has a good view of the outside," she said.

"It's dark outside, for crying out loud," Doc said. "Why should we move anyway?"

"Well, it's their table," she said, nodding toward the old men on the other side of the room. "They always sit here."

About the same time, the old men suddenly stood up as if they were soldiers snapping to attention. An incredibly old man, supporting himself on a high polished cane, came into the bar. He stopped when he saw Doc and me, glared at us, and moved slowly to the other table, where he was welcomed warmly by the other old men.

"He looks like the Kaiser," I said. "He probably IS the Kaiser," Doc said. "Let's get out of here."

We drained our beers and started outside. As I was pushing open the door, Doc suddenly whirled around and went to the bar and handed the

Tolerance fades if censorship's involved

For the most part, I have always considered myself to be rather mild-mannered.

Oh, there have been an occasional outburst of temper, when the combination of my Irish and Cherokee heritage comes through. However, I used to be fairly tolerant of people and incidents.

I don't know what has happened, but I'm not as accepting as I used to be.

I used to go into a public place, see a problem and say it was someone else's concern.

Little things like a mechanic telling me it will take about an hour to replace two radiator hoses at a cost of $168.

Right! I went down to the parts house, bought both hoses for a mere $9.17. Three hours later, the radiator was flushed out, the hoses were connected and clean anti-freeze had been added.

And, it sure didn't cost $168. Paying outrageous prices for services and merchandise is only one of the ways my intolerance is showing.

The thing that really aggravates me, though is the holier-than-thou attitude of people who think they have a right to censor books in a school or private library.

I'm not talking about people who don't want to see their kids reading a book full of curse words, violence or explicit sex scenes.

I don't want to see that either, but that should be between the young readers and their parents.

I'm talking about people who pull all-time favorites and classics from the shelves and say they have no place in today's society. Mark Twain penned "Tom Sawyer" and "Huckleberry Finn" long before anyone considered political correctness. He wrote in the language of the day, about lifestyles and customs he knew.

Surely the violence and cruelty written into the pages of "Black Beauty," "David Copperfield," "The Hiding Place" and "Lassie, Come Home" don't come close to the violence kids see on their computer games.

Is the written word more offensive than some of the rap music which comes blaring out of radios, boom boxes and car windows? Before you answer, you may need to really listen to some of the music.

Just because something is in the form of new technology doesn't make it acceptable.

Granted, I would much rather see a kid reading a classic or western, or even a cheap romance novel, than some of the things I see published for young readers, but at least they are reading.

Without the array of choices found in literature, there can be no growth and society will find itself stagnate and no longer progressing.

To pull a book from a library shelf or ban it in the school halls because the language is now considered politically incorrect only acts to destroy one of the freedoms most Americans feel they have the right to claim - the freedom of choice.

barmaid some money.
 "What was that all about?" I asked.
 "I just bought the old geezers a round of beer," he said.
 "Why?"
 "I don't know. It just seemed like the thing to do," he said.
 "I wonder who they were," I said.
 "They probably were in the Kaiser's army."
 "They were grommets," Doc said.
 "What's a grommet?"
 "When I was a kid, there were some old guys who always hung out in the bar down the street from my house. They always sat in the same place, ordered the same things and all looked pretty much the same. I think these guys were grommets. The youngest guys are 'apprentice grommets,' the older guys are 'master grommets,' and the really old guy is the 'archgrommet.'"

I didn't see Doc for several days. I had drawn a special assignment, driving a busload of golfers to the course every day for the Army Security Agency's European tournament. On the last day of the tournament, I left the golfers at their hotel, turned in my bus and headed for the Maerkische Hof for a quiet night, a few beers and a heaping bowl of goulash.
 The sounds of German marching music was floating through the air when I pushed open the door. As I headed for the bar, I glanced toward the oval table in the corner. There was the group of old men seated at the table, but I got a surprise when I saw Doc sitting directly across from the old man who looked like the Kaiser.
 Spotting me, Doc excused himself and joined me at the bar.
 "What's going on?" I asked.
 "Getting my wings, Coop. I'm getting my wings. I'm going to be an archgrommet someday."
 "What do you have to do to become an archgrommet?"
 "I'm not sure," Doc said. "But what I can make out, you just have to drink a lot of beer and live a long time."
 Doc got out of the Army a few months later. After hiking through the "mysterious Balkans," as he liked to say, he went back to the States. I haven't talked to him in years, but I heard he moved down South and became a graduate assistant at some small college. Later, he bought a part-interest in a bar in town and is still there.
 I guess he's still working on becoming an archgrommet.

 It is a person's right to choose which books to read, just as it was my choice at one time to ignore a problem or to do a repair myself rather than pay an outrageous price. The loss of this right of choice would be even more costly than any price I have ever paid. To that end, I will be intolerant of unbridled censorship that would take books from the shelves, depriving others of their right to choose to read those books, and hope that my example will rub off on others.

McCartney doesn't find chancellor's recipes to his taste
 STUTTGART, Germany (AP) - No stuffed pig's stomach please, we're British vegetarians.
 That was the message Paul McCartney gave to Chancellor Helmut Kohl as he returned a copy of the German leader's cookbook.
 Dismayed by the chancellor's famously carnivorous ways, an international animal rights group got the former Beatle to send Kohl an autographed copy of "Veganissimo," a vegetarian celebrity cookbook that includes recipes from McCartney and his wife, Linda.
 Kohl responded by sending the McCartneys a copy of the cookbook he wrote with his wife, Hannelore, "Culinary Excursion Through German Lands."

tion of the law to administrations of both parties is essential for public confidence in government. Republicans had more than their share of such investigations for 12 years.
 It's long past Clinton's turn. Mounting allegations against Clinton and Gore, and Reno's slothful approach to investigating them, make the strongest case for someone to take over the probe from outside the president's self-proclaimed "most ethical administration in history."

The Greenwood Commonwealth, Greenwood, Miss., on home health care:
 The move by the Clinton administration to tighten controls on the home health industry should be welcomed by taxpayers and users of the service alike.
 Home health care delivery, the fastest growing portion of the vast Medicare system, has accomplished many of the positive things its supporters like to point to: The elderly can get adequate medical care at home, in-hospital costs are lowered and doctors have yet another option for treating patients.
 But the home health care system has also been a blank check to unscrupulous operators and health care professionals who saw the gaping loopholes in the Medicare rules before the ink was dry on the rule books. ...
 President Clinton has placed a six-month moratorium on new home health care agencies, and said audits of the firms now working will be stepped up. ... A limited stall in forming new companies, which doesn't stop expansion of present companies, won't solve the long-range problems, and the failure to push for some financial responsibility from patients receiving the help leaves the door ajar for further and repeated abuse.

Fort Worth Star-Telegram, Fort Worth, on U.S. trade sanctions:
 This week, two of the most reasonable members of Congress - Sen. Richard Lugar, R-Ind., and Rep.

The Oregonian, Portland, Ore., on discrimination against Asian Americans:
 Asian Americans have been the unlucky targets of heightened suspicions from a number of quarters since questions were raised about the sources of contributions to last year's presidential campaign.
 The latest episodes involve U.S. citizens with advance security clearance to visit the White House. A number were initially prevented from entering because security guards jumped to the wrong conclusions, assuming that Asian surnames meant foreign.
 A Secret Service worker changed one visitor's citizen designation from U.S. citizen to foreign, according to a report in The Washington Post. Yvonne Lee, the insulted guest, is a member of the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights.
 That's irony at its sharpest.

Albuquerque Journal, Albuquerque, N.M., on backroom dealing:
 Too clever by far, they were. The House of Representatives, through a subterfuge obviously intended to prevent internal debate, passed a bill which routinely in recent years has included a provision blocking the automatic cost-of-living raise lawmakers programmed in for themselves years ago.
 "No one was trying to pull a fast one on anybody," said Rep. Jim Kolbe, R-Ariz., who steered the bill to passage. It apparently was the result of a deal worked out quietly among senior law-makers, including Speaker Newt Gingrich, R-Ga., and Rep. Richard Gephardt, D-Mo.
 But, they did it - and the reports of discussions in closed caucuses make clear the pay raise issue was going to move.
 It must be a disease that afflicts only the majority party. Whatever happened to the Republican fervor to stamp out backroom politics and power center deals that burned so brightly when the GOP was itching to oust the long-entrenched Democrats? On important things like congressional pay hikes and taking care of tobacco, it seems to have evaporated.

Lee Hamilton, D-Ind., will introduce a bill to make Congress actually think about what it is doing before it legislates unilateral sanctions against foreign countries.
 Under their proposal, such sanctions could be applied only if they are likely to have the desired effect, will not be costly to innocent parties, will be reviewed to see if results meet expectations, and will expire after two years unless Congress votes to extend them.
 The point is that sanctions such as those against Cuba and Burma, and past grain embargoes against the old Soviet Union, have been born of good intentions but have had no effect on the offensive behavior of the targeted nations.
 Too often, sanctions make somebody or some group in this country feel good without accomplishing a thing. They may even be counterproductive, leading to unnecessary ill feelings toward the United States and/or costing Americans more than they cost somebody else.

The Sun News, Myrtle Beach, S.C., on Americans' health:
 In most public pronouncements concerning our collective health, gloom is almost always accompanied by doom. If you've become accustomed to the negative, a new federal health report will come as a surprise.
 According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, accidents now kill more Americans than AIDS does. The CDC also says infant mortality has reached a new low, and on the other end of the spectrum, we are living a bit longer. There was a decline in the rate of homicides and suicides as well.
 As might be expected, not all the news was good. A health gap continues to exist between the races. Still, the trends seem to be toward the positive, and progress can even be found in fighting dreaded diseases such as AIDS.
 Perhaps we'd feel better if we just didn't worry about our health so much.

 earn their own way for dues, uniforms, personal equipment and expendable supplies. It is part of the character-developing process. Scouts work on unit money-earning projects to meet the troop needs." The S.M. handbook also states: "The council budget is developed annually by an executive board made up of adults from your local community. Most councils receive part of their funds from the United Way." Having served on the executive board, I personally know how the funds are raised and the budget work that is done at the council level. Our boys' troop earned money through pumpkin sales, pancake breakfast and sale of hams during the holidays. While we were personally able to help our boys with their expenses, we felt it a great lesson for them to work in these activities to help other less-fortunate boys earn money for camping trips and other activities of the troop. This community has always generously supported the efforts of boys to earn their way in any Scouting activity.
 We do not want to see these grievances hurt the United Way drive. Any disagreement local Scouting has with the Golden Spread Council should be addressed before the Council Executive Board, not to the United Way volunteers or the public.

Chiropractic Care for Headache Relief
 Headaches have many causes. Some can be dietary - for instance, eating too much chocolate - and about 5 percent are warning signals caused by physical problems. But the vast majority of headaches are caused by tension.
 Sitting for long periods of time at the computer increases muscle tension in the neck, upper back and scalp - and can cause your head to ache. That's one of the reasons nine out of 10 Americans suffer from headaches. A visit to the chiropractor may be just what the doctor ordered.
 In addition to performing spinal adjustments, chiropractors provide advice about nutrition, posture, exercises and relaxation techniques. To learn more, contact the American Chiropractic Association at 1-800-986-4636.

Stars sign Modano

DALLAS (AP) -- After weeks of wrangling, the Dallas Stars finally have signed center Mike Modano to a one-year, $3.5 million contract, the team has announced.

He said he hopes to play in Saturday's final pre-season game against Phoenix at Reunion Arena, even though he has not practiced with his teammates for more than three weeks.

Houston reserves shut out Pirates, 2-0

HOUSTON (AP) -- The regulars joked on the bench while the reserves had fun on the field.

On the night after they clinched the NL Central title, the Houston Astros rested their starters as Ramon Garcia and a reserve-laden lineup beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 2-0 Friday night.

Jeff Bagwell, Craig Biggio and Derek Bell all were out of the starting lineup but the Astros still had enough to get past the second-place Pirates.

"It was so nice to relax and have some fun," said left fielder Luis

Gonzalez, who set Bagwell's shoelaces on fire during the game. "Winning yesterday, took all the pressure off this series."

Biggio came into the dugout sporting a puffy-cheeked mask and wearing hitting coach Tom McCraw's uniform. He playfully dispensed hitting information to all who would listen. Outfielder Richard Hidalgo also found his shoelaces blazing.

Gonzalez put on his baseball cap after the inside was painted with a black marker.

"Yeah, they got me, I think it was (Brad) Ausmus," Gonzalez said. "I'll have to do some investigating."

Manager Larry Dierker worried about a letdown.

"I didn't want us to play a poor game, I didn't know what to expect after last night," Dierker said. "I sensed they might not have their same energy level but the confidence level is way up."

"Some guys who haven't been playing a lot got a chance and they appreciated that."

The runnerup Pirates had hoped to still be competing for the division title in the three-game series at the Astrodome. But Houston clinched the crown Thursday night with a 9-1 win over Chicago.

Instead, the Pirates were just playing out the schedule.

"I didn't think about whether they clinched or didn't clinch," pitcher Estoban Loaiza (11-11) said. "I just wanted to go out and win my 12th."

Garcia (9-8) won his fourth straight decision, allowing six hits in seven innings. He struck out three and walked one.

"I feel very good," Garcia said. "It was the last game of the season for me. I've done my job and now I just have to keep working for the playoffs."

"We can beat Atlanta. They have some of the best pitchers in the league, but so do we. If we get four runs a game, we can beat Atlanta."

Billy Wagner struck out the side in the ninth for his 23rd save.

Borger snuffs Herd rally to claim 35-18 win in district opener

By BOB VARMETTE
Staff writer

Maybe you can go to the well once too often.

Two weeks earlier against Amarillo Palo Duro, the Hereford Whitefaces rallied from a 21-0 deficit to forced overtime and then win 27-21.

But Friday night at Whiteface Stadium, it was not to be.

Hereford (1-4, 0-1) closed to within three points of the Borger Bulldogs at 21-18, but on the ensuing drive Borger marched 62 yards in five plays to go ahead 28-18 on a four-yard touchdown run by senior quarterback Victor Escobar and then went on to win 35-18 in both team's District 1-4A opener.

"That drive was the stake in our heart," Hereford head coach Craig Yencer said. "We still just don't have the confidence to overcome bad things on the field."

Borger (3-1, 1-0) scored on their first drive of the game, going 62 yards in six plays. Kevin Massey, who finished the night with 24 carries for 135 yards, took it in from two yards out.

The Bulldogs then added two touchdowns within a span of two and a half minutes early in the second quarter to extend their lead to 21-0.

"I was disappointed with our first half effort," Yencer said. "We tried some new things . . . and we didn't handle it. Defensively, we just couldn't stop them. Give them the credit. They made the plays in the first half and it was just too much to dig out from."

Hereford finally got on the board with 2:50 remaining before halftime on a 25-yard field goal by Jose Martinez following a Zach Wall interception of Escobar.

Escobar entered the contest not having thrown an interception in three games and was ranked as one of the top quarterbacks in Class 4A.

Within about two minutes of his first interception, Escobar was picked off again and it was a turnover that almost turned the game around.

Fidencio Ruiz picked off a pass in the deep left flat intended for Borger wide receiver Zane Willard and returned it 28 yards for a touchdown with 13 seconds left in the first half.

"That was my fault," said Borger head coach Marty McClintock. "We never should have thrown that pass."

Stevens slams Anaheim

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) -- Lee Stevens, given up on by the Angels a few years ago, seems finally to be fulfilling his early promise.

Now with Texas, the 30-year-old Stevens hit a tie-breaking grand slam Friday night to lift the Rangers to an 8-4 victory over Anaheim.

It was the fifth homer in four games for Stevens, including a pair in Thursday night's victory over the Angels.

Stevens, completing just his second full major league season, is hitting .302 with 21 homers and 74 RBIs.

In his other full season, he hit .221, with seven homers and 37 RBIs in 106 games for the Angels in 1992. They traded him that winter.

"I got my first major league hit here, I hit my first homer here," Stevens recalled. "There are a lot of good memories and bad memories for me here."

Stevens played in Japan before making his way back to the United States and playing for the Rangers' Oklahoma City farm team most of last year.

"It was hard to get back (to the majors)," he said. "But I persevered and now it's starting to pay off."

Stevens, who was the DH earlier this season, has gotten a chance to start at first base for the past month because Will Clark is out with an injury.

In addition to his grand slam, he made a couple of fine fielding plays in the win over Anaheim.

"He's playing very well right

Ryder Cup tied 3-3 after first day

SOTOGRADE, Spain (AP) -- Nick Faldo had already broken the record for Ryder Cup appearances. Now all he needed was a short putt by his teammate to break the record for Ryder Cup points.

But his American opponents weren't about to let him off so easily. Instead, they made him wait another day. Then with more heavy rain this morning, the English star had to wait out another delay.

With darkness falling over the Valderrama course Friday night, Faldo and Lee Westwood were 2-up against Justin Leonard and Jeff Maggert after 15 holes of their alternate-shot match.

The United States and Europe were tied 3-3 for the day.

After Faldo hit his approach to 6 feet at the par-4, 422-yard 16th, Westwood was poised for a birdie putt. But Maggert, facing a 25-footer, said it was too dark to continue and the match was suspended at around 8:20 p.m.

The decision was greeted by boos and catcalls from the large, pro-European gallery. Faldo wasn't happy either.

"We agreed to play one more hole and that's it," he said. "But they changed their minds and said it was too dark."

Earlier, Faldo made history by appearing in his 11th Ryder Cup. All he needed was one more win to break Billy Casper's record of 23 points.

The match was scheduled to resume this morning, but play was delayed again by heavy rain. When it finally resumes, Faldo can get the record without hitting a shot if Maggert misses his putt and Westwood makes his.

U.S. captain Tom Kite defended the decision to halt the match as "great strategy" by his players.

"They agreed to play until it was too dark to play," he said. "If one player decides it's too dark, then it's his option. I felt comfortable with it. I can assure you if the situation were reversed, (the Europeans) would be comfortable with it too."

European captain Seve Ballesteros, who was elsewhere on the course at the time, seemed to agree.

"I don't know if they were upset," he said of his players. "I'll ask them tonight, but I don't think they should be."

Also to be completed was the match between Tom Lehman-Phil Mickelson and Jesper Parnevik-Ignacio Garrido, which was level after 12 holes.

The start of play Friday was delayed for an hour and 40 minutes after fierce thunderstorms lashed the area, flooding many bunkers.

Wannstedt looks for turnaround

IRVING (AP) -- Dave Wannstedt has been down on his luck before.

It was his first year with the Dallas Cowboys and Jimmy Johnson. The team was short on talent and lost 15 of 16 games.

The only ray of hope was a win at Washington.

But the Cowboys eventually started winning Super Bowl rings again. Wannstedt draws upon that experience to help him through his current rough ride, a bad news journey that travels Sunday to Texas Stadium, where hard times didn't last back in his defensive coordinator days.

There were several things Wannstedt learned:

-- "You go to Mass as many times as you can during the week."

-- "You don't waver in what you believe in."

-- "You don't start changing your offense and defensive schemes."

The 14-point underdog Bears (0-4), who will face the Cowboys (2-1) Sunday, have been plagued by injuries, mistakes, mediocre quarterbacking and a failure to produce in the clutch.

"We had six starters out last week," Wannstedt said. "We've had that, plus a quarterback change. We're trying to overcome a lot."

Wannstedt is receiving a lot of criticism in his fifth year with the Bears.

"I'm still very confident in my abilities," Wannstedt said. "People around the league know we are doing things right. I feel like our plan will be successful. But the injuries have been brutal, more brutal than last year."

Rick Mirer, who never has faced the Cowboys, will start at quarterback for Chicago. He has yet to produce since being acquired from Seattle during the offseason.

Wannstedt is waiting. "Rick has talent, a strong arm, mobility, intelligence and can be a good quarterback in this league," Wannstedt said. "At Seattle, he lost his confidence. I think he can be a winner."

"I think you could say we are desperate," Mirer said. "We need a win badly."

Dallas players, who had an off week to prepare for the game, know Wannstedt. They expect the Bears to rebound big, but hope it isn't this week.

"We know the Bears are desperate and we know what kind of coach

Hold on there

Hereford's Bobby Barba (78) grabs Borger's Kevin Massey as L.J. Vallejo (31) closes in to assist on the tackle. Massey rushed 24 times for 135 yards as the Bulldogs won 35-18 Friday night at Whiteface Stadium in both teams' District 1-4A opener. Hereford is 1-4 overall, 0-1 in district; Borger 3-1, 1-0.

Here, there, Seve's everywhere

Ryder

SOTOGRADE, Spain (AP) -- The most anticipated day of the week here on the Costa del Sol is apparently still manana.

Money that's owed, projects that were promised, repair work that was absolutely going to be finished today -- in this sleepy little corner of Spain, people still like to say everything will get done ... manana.

Perhaps it was preordained then, that the wait for the complete results from the first day of European captain Seve Ballesteros' experiment in Ryder Cup micro-managing will spill over into ... manana.

Ballesteros is as Spanish as they come, but he's from the north and a definite "Type A" personality besides, so nobody was unhappier about Friday's unfinished business than he. Or more powerless to do anything about it.

An early morning storm that started percolating in North Africa swept across the Mediterranean, over the Rock of Gibraltar, and then pounded the Spanish coastline without letup for a good two hours. That caused a 1-hour, 40-minute delay in the start of the day's play, which explained why two of the eight matches were still out on the course at day's end.

"Things started out well, then not so well, then it looked bad, then it was going better, but still not great," Ballesteros said.

"Then," he paused while a smile creased his lips, "good."

A quick translation: The four completed better-ball matches produced a split with the Americans (2-2). So did the two completed alternate-shot matches (1-1). The Europeans led one of the two remaining alternate-shot matches still out on the course and the final one was tied. Both will be resumed Saturday morning.

After spending most of the past week outmaneuvering Tom Kite, his American counterpart, and keeping secrets from his own team, Ballesteros seemed glad to move on to the matches themselves. For someone so intent on keeping the Americans from starting fast that he probably considered stealing the laces from their shoes, nothing but results were going to validate his means.

A day earlier, Ballesteros named his pairings for opening-round play. He left veteran Ian Woosnam and all three rookies on the bench. They found out by watching his announcement on television. For a guy who fashioned a brilliant golf career by escaping from impossible places, he found himself in a really difficult lie. "If the job is to be here, sitting and watching the matches on television," he said, "then I am not needed to be the captain."

That wouldn't quite work as a job description for Kite, either. But it would certainly come much closer.

Once the actual matches begin, a Ryder Cup captain's job is at least as much a glorified third-base coach as an actual manager.

A captain doesn't decide when to bunt, which zone defense to fall back into, or what changes are needed when the team goes down a man because somebody gets sent to the penalty box. No. A Ryder Cup captain makes up the pairings, takes them over the officials, and waves his guys on their way.

So Friday, Kite turned up on the first tee with a few words of encouragement for every group that went off in the first round. And the only obvious move he made from that point on until the end of the day was change from a long-sleeved argyle sweater into a white sweater vest.

Ballesteros, on the other hand, stayed in the same outfit throughout the day. But he turned up so many times in so different many places that people started wondering whether he'd been cloned.

When Tiger Woods looked up from a six-foot putt that could have won the first hole of his match against Colin Montgomerie and Bernhard Langer, there, with arms folded and skepticism written all over his face, stood Seve.

Parnevik wasn't looking for a second opinion at the time. Then he threw an outstanding mid-iron shot within 15 feet of the flag. He didn't need a second opinion on that, either. But he didn't have time to hand the club back to his caddy before Seve was there, clapping him on the back.

And with that, the Spaniard was off, trying to figure out how he was going to get some playing time for the four guys he neglected.

suspended matches was to be followed by four better-ball matches in the morning and four alternate-shot matches in the afternoon. The captains were to submit their pairings today.

The teams split Friday's better-ball matches, with three of them going down to the 18th hole.

Jose Maria Olazabal and Costantino Rocca rallied to win the first match 1-up against Davis Love III and Mickelson; Fred Couples and Brad Faxon beat Faldo and Westwood 1-up; Parnevik and fellow Swede Per-Ulrik Johansson were 1-up winners over Lehman and Jim Furyk; and Tiger Woods and Mark O'Meara downed Colin Montgomerie and Bernhard Langer 3 and 2.

The teams scored a point apiece in the two Friday foursome matches that were completed. Montgomerie and Langer beat Woods and O'Meara 5 and 3, while Scott Hoch and Lee Janzen downed Olazabal and Rocca 1-up.

Langer changed putters between matches and Montgomerie got tips during the break from his former coach, Bill Ferguson. The European pair, without a birdie in the morning match, were 3-under in the afternoon. "I took a risk (pairing them together again)," Ballesteros said. "I was convinced that they'd find their rhythm in the afternoon. And they got their revenge."

The first day's memorable performances included Olazabal's 131-yard wedge for an eagle 2 at the 14th and Tom Lehman's 30-foot chip-in at the 15th.

There were also big putts from Parnevik and Faxon.

The Swede made successive 15-foot birdie putts at the 17th and 18th to win the better-ball match against Lehman and Furyk.

Bitten

We gave them the momentum going into the half."

The Whitefaces then closed to 21-18 when senior tailback Jeremy Miller ran in from two yards out with 3:20 left in the third quarter. The run capped an eight-play, 42-yard drive.

"We thought we had the momentum," Yenser said. "Cody (Hodges) leads us to that score and we're right in it."

Borger would score their final touchdown with 7:29 left in the game. The drive was a backbreaker.

The Bulldogs went 75 yards in 11 plays with Massey scoring his second touchdown of the night from four yards out. On the drive, Massey carried the ball seven times for 64 yards.

"That drive pretty much iced it for us," McClintock said. "It was a great win. . . . You have to be happy anytime you're 1-0 in district, especially playing a team like Hereford. I give Coach Yenser and his staff all the credit in the world."

A gambling, blitz-happy Bulldog defense gave the Whiteface offense trouble all night. Hereford managed only 126 yards of total offense and picked up only eight first downs.

"We scored 18 points. At times we did well. At times we didn't. We had to be able to stop them on defense," Yenser said.

Pass protection was also a problem for Hereford. Quarterback Jeremy Urbanczyk and Hodges were harassed much of the night and Hereford misfired on its first eight passes.

"Pass protection was a problem," Yenser said. "We were missing stunts. . . . There was some miscommunication on the offensive line. We have some protection problems to clear up."

Escobar, on the hand, seem to have a field day, except for the two interceptions.

"He's an awful good quarterback," Yenser said. "He executed their offense real well, and his ability to find open receivers really impressed me."

McClintock, however, wasn't totally happy with his offense.

"We have some things we're going to need to work on. I'm not happy with the two interceptions, but a lot of the problems we had was what Hereford did," McClintock said.

Hereford got the ball back with 7:17 in the final quarter.

The Whitefaces managed only one first down in the quarter as the gap-jumping Bulldogs nailed Urbanczyk twice behind the line of scrimmage for 12 yards in losses to force Hereford to punt.

The Whiteface defense held, forcing a three and out for Borger, but again Hereford's offense was stymied by Borger. On fourth and 22 at their own 28-yard line, the Whitefaces were forced to punt the ball away with 31 seconds on the clock.

Odessa High finally beats Permian, 20-17

By CHARLES RICHARDS
Associated Press Writer

It took 33 years, but finally the fans of Odessa High School got to experience the ecstasy of counting down a victory in a football game against crosstown rival Odessa Permian.

"4-3-2-1!!!" "It feels great," OHS defensive end Jeffrey Kupper said after Odessa's 20-17 victory over the Mojo before 20,000 fans. "It's indescribable; 32 years, man. I've been watching this stuff since my uncle played."

At long last, the Odessa High football team wiggled free of the 32-year-old monkey that had set up camp on the backs of the Bronchos.

Hundreds of Permian supporters stayed around to witness the onfield celebration, no doubt shocked at the scene that hadn't been seen since 1964.

Permian struck first on Casey Waite's 36-yard touchdown pass to flanker Chad Bell.

Hennings listed as questionable

IRVING (AP) -- Cowboys defensive tackle Chad Hennings, who suffered a groin injury in practice two weeks ago, worked out Friday but was questionable for Sunday's game against the Chicago Bears.

"He participated in part of the practice and basically his playing status for Sunday will be determined on game day," Cowboys spokesman Rich Dalrymple said.

"As a precautionary measure, we didn't have him participate in all the drills," he said. "They just want to be conservative."

Hennings, whose strained left groin kept him out of most of the team's 21-20 win over the Philadelphia Eagles on Sept. 15, went through his first practice Thursday.

"Chad said he felt good," coach Barry Switzer said after Thursday's drills. "He felt like he could play. If he feels like he could play today, I think he could play on Sunday."

But Switzer said the team would still exercise extreme caution regarding the injury.

"I said, 'Let's be smart about it,'" the coach said.

Guard Larry Allen, however, likely will play Sunday. Allen, the Cowboys' best blocker, strained his left hamstring in the second period of the game against Philadelphia and didn't return.

The winless Chicago Bears are tied for 24th in the NFL offense, but rank 10th in rushing offense with 121 yards. Raymont Harris, third in the NFC with 335 yards, averages 5.2 yards per carry. He moved from fullback to halfback last week, when Rashaan Salaam broke his leg in the Bears' third game.

"Raymont Harris is one of the better running backs in the league," Cowboys defensive coordinator Dave Campo said. "He does a great job of getting through little cracks.

"If you're late coming off a block, he's already through the hole."

If Hennings can't play Sunday, Switzer has said that rookie Antonio Anderson will make his first start. Anderson ranks third on the team among defensive linemen with 10 tackles.

"I've played a lot in the first three games, so it's not like I'm completely green," Anderson said. "I'm trying to approach the game the same way because our job is to stop Raymont Harris from gaining 100 yards."

"I just hope the defense doesn't go down because I'm playing."

If Hennings stays out, Hurvin McCormack becomes the third player in the Cowboys' defensive tackle rotation, and Dallas would make three-year veteran Darren Benson active for the first time this season.

Fire

Dave is," running back Emmitt Smith said. "We'll get their best shot. I know they'll come after me trying to stop the run. That's the way Dave's defenses always play."

Wannstedt showed last year he can devise a game plan to stop the Cowboys and Smith. Chicago beat Dallas 22-6 on Monday night to open the 1996 season and Smith had to go to the hospital with a neck injury.

"I sure remember that game," Smith said. "It was kind of scary. I learned my lesson. I haven't dove like that since."

"One of our toughest games is the Chicago Bears. When they play us they feel they can win. They know that if they beat the Cowboys, like they did last year, they will be back on track.

"We don't want to be the first team to lose to the Bears this year," Smith said.

TCU holds lead in women's golf

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) -- TCU, led by Susan Horton's 4-under-par 69, took a 10-shot lead over Oklahoma State and Texas A&M after Friday's second round of the Dick McGuire women's collegiate tournament.

Horton held a one-shot lead over New Mexico's J.J. McCormick heading into Saturday's final 18 holes. Horton was at 3-under 143, while McCormick shot her second straight 72 on Friday.

TCU had a team score of 592 through 36 holes.

MLB ROUNDUP

Athletics 8, Mariners 5
SEATTLE (AP) -- The Seattle Mariners, with Ken Griffey Jr. taking the night off, hit two more home runs to give them 261 for the season, but lost 8-5 Friday to the Oakland Athletics.

Rick Wilkins and Raul Ibanez homered for Seattle.

Jamie Moyer (1-7) lost for the first time since July 31, allowing five runs on seven hits and a walk in three innings.

In seven innings, Mike Oquist (4-6) allowed four runs on four hits and got his second victory in September. T.J. Mathews pitched the ninth for his third save.

Blue Jays 3, Red Sox 0
TORONTO (AP) -- Woody Williams and two relievers combined on Toronto's league-leading 16th shutout, pitching the Blue Jays past the Boston Red Sox 3-0 Friday night.

Williams (9-14) allowed nine hits in seven innings, striking out six without a walk. He ended the first, third and fifth innings by fanning Mo Vaughn.

Dan Plesac faced five batters and struck out four. Kelvin Escobar got two outs for his 15th save.

Butch Henry (7-3) took the loss.

Brewers 4, Orioles 2
MILWAUKEE (AP) -- Pete Harnisch won for the first time since August 1996 and Doug Jones converted his 25th straight save chance as the pair of former Baltimore pitchers led the Milwaukee Brewers over the Orioles 4-2 Friday night.

Orioles third baseman Cal Ripken had an early night, playing just three innings while appearing in his 2,476th consecutive game. The AL East champions are trying to rest their regulars before starting the playoffs, and want Ripken to take it easy on his sore back.

Ripken was 0-for-2 when Jeff Reboulet took over to start the fourth inning. It was the earliest Ripken had been replaced this season -- he was ejected in the second inning on July 20 for arguing a called strike.

Harnisch (1-1), who missed most of this season because of clinical depression, won for the first time since Aug. 8, 1996.

Yankees 8, Tigers 2
DETROIT (AP) -- Bernie Williams hit a bases-loaded triple in a six-run ninth and four New York pitchers combined on a one-hitter Friday night as the Yankees beat the Detroit Tigers 8-2.

Andy Pettitte allowed one hit -- Travis Fryman's two-run single -- in four innings and was lifted after throwing 75 pitches.

Brian Boehringer pitched three perfect innings and Mariano Rivera (6-4) pitched a hitless eighth for the win. Jeff Nelson finished the combined one-hitter by pitching the ninth.

Todd Jones (5-4), who got out of a bases loaded jam in the eighth when Cecil Fielder hit into double play, reloaded the bases in the ninth to set up New York's inning.

White Sox 7, Royals 2
CHICAGO (AP) -- Ron Karkovice homered and drove in three runs that led Chicago past the Kansas City Royals 7-2 Friday night.

Mike Siroka (3-0) gave up two runs and seven hits in seven innings, striking out five.

Kevin Appier (9-13) allowed six runs on seven hits and four walks in five innings. He finished the year with just three wins in his last 17 starts.

Indians 7, Twins 2
CLEVELAND (AP) -- Sandy Alomar Jr. hit two home runs and the Cleveland Indians beat the Minnesota Twins 7-2 Friday night.

Alomar hit a three-run homer in the first inning and a solo shot in the third off Brad Radke (20-10).

Alomar has 83 RBIs, the most ever by a Cleveland catcher. John Romano had 81 RBIs in 1962. Chad Ogea (8-9) allowed one run on six hits in five innings.

Dodgers 10, Rockies 4
DENVER (AP) -- Mike Piazza launched the longest home run in Coors Field history, a 496-footer that enabled the Los Angeles Dodgers to remain in the NL West race with a 10-4 win over the Colorado Rockies on Friday night.

Ismael Valdes (10-11) held the Rockies to one run on five hits through seven innings before four errors set up three runs in the eighth.

Los Angeles scored four runs in the first inning before Jamey Wright (8-12) could retire a batter.

Braves 7, Mets 6, 11 Innings
NEW YORK (AP) -- Rafael Belliard hit his first home run in more than 10 years and Danny Bautista drove in the go-ahead run with two outs in the 11th Friday night, giving the Atlanta Braves a 7-6 win over the New York Mets.

John LeRoy (1-0) pitched two innings to win in his first major league appearance, and Kerry Ligtenberg pitched the 11th for his first major league save.

Cubs 5, Cardinals 2
ST. LOUIS (AP) -- Mark McGwire went homerless for the sixth time in the last seven games Friday night as the St. Louis Cardinals lost 5-2 to the Chicago Cubs.

McGwire just missed a homer in the first off Cubs starter Kevin Tapani (9-3), flying out to deep right. He struck out swinging in the third, nudged a grounder in the sixth to Tapani, and walked in the ninth.

The Cardinals' rookie starters included right-hander Mike Busby (0-2), who fell behind 3-0 in the first.

Phillies 5, Marlins 3
PHILADELPHIA (AP) -- Curt Schilling set the NL record for strikeouts by a right-hander in a season before being ejected in the eighth inning Friday night to lead the Philadelphia Phillies to a 5-3 win over the Florida Marlins.

Schilling (17-11) needed only one strikeout to break the record, and he wasted no time, getting leadoff hitter Devon White swinging for his 314th this year. He passed the old mark of 313 set by Houston's J.R. Richard in 1979.

The right-hander allowed three hits and struck out six. In the eighth, Schilling was tossed by home plate umpire Wally Bell after hitting pinch-hitter John Wehner leading off.

It was in apparent retaliation for Florida's Antonio Alfonseca hitting rookie Scott Rolen in the seventh.

Reds 7, Expos 1
MONTREAL (AP) -- Mike Morgan pitched a three-hitter and Jon Nunnally hit his first grand slam as the Cincinnati Reds beat the Montreal Expos 7-1 Friday night.

Morgan (9-12) allowed just a double to Chris Widger in the third inning, a bloop single to Brad Fullmer in the seventh and a single to Mark Grudzielanek in the ninth.

Morgan struck out a season-high seven and walked one in his first complete game of the season. Nunnally hit his slam off Mike Johnson (2-5) with two outs in the fourth, giving the Reds a 6-1 lead.

Giants 17, Padres 4
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) -- The San Francisco Giants clinched a tie for their first NL West title since 1989 with a 17-4 victory over the San Diego Padres on Friday night as Shawn Estes pitched seven strong innings for his 19th win.

The Giants can win the division crown with one win or one Los Angeles loss. Both teams have two games remaining.

The Dodgers won 10-4 Friday night at Colorado, preventing the Giants from clinching the title and keeping 10 cases of champagne on ice in the San Francisco clubhouse.

Rose applies for reinstatement

NEW YORK (AP) -- Pete Rose, trying to eliminate the barrier keeping him out of the Hall of Fame, applied Friday for reinstatement to baseball in an attempt to end his lifetime ban.

"He has requested that baseball reinstate him so he can spend the rest of his life in the game he loves," Rose's lawyer, S. Gary Spicer, said.

Acting commissioner Bud Selig, who has shown no rush to deal with Rose, said, "The matter will be handled in due course," a signal that no decision is likely until next year at the earliest.

None of the 14 people banned for life by baseball for gambling has been reinstated. Other baseball officials, speaking on the condition they not be identified, have said that Rose, 56, never will be reinstated until he admits he bet on baseball.

Rose, the career hits leader, was manager of the Cincinnati Reds when he agreed to the lifetime ban Aug. 23, 1989, a penalty then-commissioner A. Bartlett Giamatti made public the following day.

Baseball investigator John Dowd concluded Rose bet $2,000 per game on the Reds to win while he was their manager. Dowd uncovered betting slips for Reds games that he said were in Rose's handwriting and had Rose's fingerprints.

Rose, who has steadfastly denied betting on baseball, signed a settlement agreement with Giamatti in which Rose agreed to the ban and Giamatti agreed to make no formal finding on whether Rose bet on his own sport.

In announcing the agreement, Giamatti said that he personally concluded Rose had bet on baseball.

"Pete wrote that while he did not want to say anything adverse about Mr. Giamatti, he (Giamatti) did violate the settlement agreement by saying Pete had gambled, and Pete has never recovered from that public statement," Spicer said.

Rose, who was not immediately available for comment, has been kept off the Hall of Fame ballot because of the lifetime ban. In his letter to Selig, which was not released, Rose remained critical of Dowd's investigation.

"He pointed out in his request that he felt John Dowd's investigation was unbalanced and John Dowd did not fairly represent the facts to Bart Giamatti," Spicer said.

Given the outcry following this week's congressional hearing on the IRS, Spicer said Rose also was critical of the way his tax case was handled. In April 1990, Rose pleaded guilty to two counts of filing false income taxes by failing to report $354,968 in income from autograph appearances, memorabilia sales and gambling.

He repaid the IRS $366,041 in back taxes, interest and penalties, and served five months at a federal prison in Marion, Ill. Rose then spent three months in a halfway house and performed 1,000 hours of community service.

"Pete has some legitimate concerns about the way the IRS handled this particular file," Spicer said. "He never should have been charged in any criminal way when he had paid 93 percent of his taxes and $2 million. He certainly wasn't trying to hide any money."

Sharon Zealey, the U.S. attorney for the southern district of Ohio, would not respond to Spicer's allegations.

"I know that he was convicted and he served his time and he paid his debt and the case is closed as far as we're concerned," said Zealey, whose office handled Rose's prosecution.

The Major League Agreement gives the commissioner sole discretion to determine applications for reinstatement. In the absence of a commissioner, that power goes to the ruling executive council, which currently has nine voting members.

Griffey ends bid for record

SEATTLE (AP) -- Ken Griffey Jr.'s bid to replace Roger Maris as baseball's single-season home run king is going to have to wait for another year.

St. Louis' Mark McGwire can go on without him.

On Friday night, the Seattle Mariners star decided his rest was more important than trying to catch up with the odds -- and Maris' record of 61 homers set in 1961.

"Do I have a chance to break the record?" Griffey asked after pulling himself out of the lineup for the start of a season-ending three-game series against Oakland. "I've got six bombs to go and there ain't no way I'm going to break it."

Griffey, tied with McGwire for the major league lead at 55, has insisted all season that breaking Maris' record was not his primary focus.

By dropping out of the race, he said it was more important now to get some rest to get ready for Wednesday night's AL playoff opener against Baltimore.

"What do I keep telling everybody? The record's not important. What's important is getting the trophy with all the flags on it," he said.

"The fans may not understand it, but that's the way it is. It's a team. It's not a one-man show."

Griffey hit his 54th and 55th homers Monday night in Oakland. He was Seattle's designated hitter and batted leadoff in Wednesday night's game against Anaheim, but took himself out for a pinch-hitter in the eighth inning after going 0-for-3.

The Mariners clinched the AL West by beating the Angels on Tuesday night.

now; that's an understatement," manager Johnny Oates said. "He's hot with the bat, he's playing fine defense. ... Wow."

Stevens' homer off reliever Mike Holtz capped a seven-run seventh-inning and was one of four home runs by the Rangers. The other three were solo shots by Juan Gonzalez, his 42nd; and Fernando Tatis and Alex Diaz leading off the seventh against Dennis Springer.

The Rangers have scored 38 runs in winning their last four games.

"Where were those runs all summer?" Oates said.

Trailing 4-1, Tatis led off the seventh with his eighth homer and Diaz followed with his second. Holtz (3-4) relieved Springer one out later.

Tom Goodwin reached on a bunt single and eventually scored on a fielder's choice grounder by Ivan Rodriguez, who also was safe when Anaheim second baseman Luis Alicea, thinking he had caught the ball in the air, failed to make a throw on the play.

Tyler John Tyler wins No. 1 battle

LA MARQUE (AP) -- The battle at the top lived up to its billing as Tyler John Tyler prevailed over La Marque 35-32, after trading touchdowns until the last seconds Friday night.

Torrey McMiller led all rushers for John Tyler with 121 yards on 23 carries.

La Marque, the state's No. 1-ranked Class 4A team, came up short but earned respect in the much anticipated inter-class game against the Lions, the No. 1 5A team.

The Cougars, who lost 22-0 at Tyler last season, missed on three two-point conversion attempts which proved to be the difference, but still nearly rallied for the victory. The loss snapped La Marque's 32-game home winning streak.

"Our kids are hurt right now, but they gave it their all," Cougars coach Alan Weddell said. "We're not victorious on the scoreboard, but I think we're victorious everywhere else. They're the best 5A team in the best football state in America and we're just a play or two away from them."

La Marque's first missed two-point try came after the Cougars pulled within 21-13 late in the third quarter. They went for two twice in the fourth quarter and missed.

Clinton's task tougher than Harry's

WASHINGTON (AP) - When Harry S. Truman muscled a Republican Congress into an extra session 49 years ago, what he really wanted them to do was nothing. Congress obliged and his comeback presidential campaign got its theme.

President Clinton set a far more difficult task with his demand that the Senate do something on campaign finance reform, or face a special session.

He got part of what he wanted when the Senate Republican leader unexpectedly put the campaign finance bill on the floor Friday for debate. Still, the upshot could be similar - no bill, but an issue.

Speaker Newt Gingrich called the bill a disaster and said he does not think it can pass the House. And even Clinton has acknowledged formidable odds in the Senate.

A president has the constitutional power to convene the Senate, the House, or both in special session "on extraordinary occasions." Presidents have done so 27 times, none since Truman in 1948. But the power is to make them meet, not to pass anything.

Senate Majority Leader Trent Lott surprised even the sponsors of the bill when he announced on Thursday he was calling it up on Friday. That had not been expected until the latter part of October.

Now there are likely to be votes early next month, although there won't necessarily be a direct one on the bill. There is sure to be a filibuster by GOP foes of the measure.

It would take 60 votes to end one. At this point, the sponsors can't count 50.

Republicans said Clinton's threat of a special session was political theatrics. Sen. John McCain, Republican sponsor of the bill that Clinton supports, said when it was issued on Tuesday that the president was playing politics. And when the measure was called up, McCain said it proved the ploy wasn't necessary.

Perhaps, but the knots came untied after Clinton made it. The president's spokesman, Mike McCurry, said Clinton wants a vote that will put senators on record, for or against the reform bill.

Against would be grist for Democratic campaigners in the congressional election campaigns next year.

All 45 Senate Democrats have endorsed the trimmed reform bill Clinton favors, which now centers on banning unrestricted donations to political parties. Those contributions are called "soft money" because they aren't subject to the legal limits applied to donations to candidates.

"Soft money" donations were behind the Democratic abuses of 1996, and the current controversy over the fund-raising roles of Clinton and Vice President Al Gore.

During the first six months of 1997, Republicans raised $21.7 million that way, Democrats $13.7 million.

Democrats have less money but more trouble over fund raising, so the reform issue could work to their advantage.

Republicans say the Democrats are trying to change the subject from

Washington Today

By Walter R. Mears

their fund-raising excesses of 1996.

Probably so, just as the Republicans are trying to avoid being cast as obstructionists on campaign reform.

"For years, the special interests and their allies have filibustered reform," Clinton said in his letter warning of a special session. "But this year, the American people will hold accountable those who vote to maintain the status quo."

A filibuster isn't the only barrier. There's also the risk of amendments that would doom the reform bill. Republicans will press for a ban on the use of union dues for political purposes; were that in the bill, Democrats would turn against it.

Clinton said unacceptable amendments would be "nothing less than attempts to defeat campaign finance reform."

"The American people will be watching," he said.

And hearing about it from the Democrats.

As they heard from Truman after the 1948 special session, which his campaign advisers recommended as a way to divide Republicans and "focus attention on the rotten record of the 80th Congress."

Truman proposed measures on inflation, civil rights, the minimum wage, public housing and Social Security, most of which had been vaguely endorsed in the Republican platform earlier that summer. None passed, and Truman had another issue for his campaign against the do-nothing Congress.

Clinton's aim is passage of a reform bill, styled bipartisan but with the Democratic imprint on it.

"I have made clear where I stand, all 45 of our Democratic senators have made clear where they stand, and you have made clear where you stand," he told the AFL-CIO convention in Pittsburgh on Wednesday. "We will soon see where the Senate stands and then where the House stands."

TED KENNEDY
ORRIN HATCH

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) - Sen. Ted Kennedy tried to make up with Sen. Orrin Hatch - and got a love song.

Hatch wrote the song, "Souls Along the Way," for Kennedy and his wife, Vicki. And now Kennedy thinks Grammy-winning rock singer Jewel should record it.

After the senators quarreled last spring about the child health-care bill, Kennedy stopped by Hatch's office the next day to patch things up. Hatch then told him about the song, and Kennedy asked to hear it.

"I played it on a stereo cassette in my office" - it was performed by country singer Madeline Stone - "and he got teary-eyed," Hatch said. "The song acknowledges they have joined souls along the way, that they have a beautiful thing going for them."

Hatch gave the Massachusetts Democrat, a longtime friend, a copy. A few weeks later, Kennedy phoned Hatch at the Utah Republican's Salt Lake City office. Kennedy was calling from the sailboat where he and his wife were celebrating their fifth wedding anniversary.

"I just played it for Vicki, and she's crying. It's so beautiful," Hatch recalled Kennedy saying.

Farm and Ranch

Effects of last winter plague cattleman

PIERRE, S.D. (AP) - As if last winter's blizzards were not hard enough on South Dakota cattlemen, many of their cows are not pregnant, and that is going to hit farmers and ranchers in the pocketbook next year.

About 300,000 head of cattle died in the storms, and a lot of the survivors were in shaky condition at breeding time, said Dr. Sam Holland, state veterinarian.

"I've talked to some people who said the pregnancy rate in bred heifers is less than average," he said. "It may be down 15 percent plus."

A 90 percent pregnancy rate is about average each year. But some farmers and ranchers in areas hard hit by blizzards may only have 70 percent of their cows and heifers pregnant, Holland said.

Kory Bierle, a cow-calf rancher at Midland who just tested his heifers, confirmed that many did not get pregnant.

"We normally predict and expect about 10 percent open, but we saw a little bit higher, in that 15 to 16 percent range," Bierle said.

An early April snowstorm was especially hard on cows and heifers, he said.

"It stressed them just enough that a lot of them didn't come into heat," Bierle said. "It was just at the wrong time, especially right before when we turn our bulls out."

Even though range and pasture conditions have been good through the summer and cattle have recovered from the stressful winter, they were in poor health at breeding time, said Doug Zalesky, Extension Service beef specialist at South Dakota State University.

Initial reports from some ranchers indicate that 30 percent to 50 percent of heifers are not pregnant in the areas hit hardest this past winter, he said. "It's been running between 6 and 15 percent in those areas where the winter wasn't quite so bad."

Zalesky said producers should think twice before selling cattle that did not get pregnant because replacement costs for breeding stock are high.

"Everybody just needs to put a real sharp pencil to that and look at what economically is the best way to go," he said. "With the younger cows and heifers, if there's nothing else wrong with them it may be cheaper to go ahead and hold them over" the winter.

The bright spot for cattlemen is that hay and grass conditions in western South Dakota are the best in three decades, and corn prices are down, Zalesky said.

No season, no limit on wild Texas hogs Pests multiply regardless of hunting PADUCAH, Texas (AP) - Prized game like whitetail deer, mourning doves and sandhill cranes enjoy the legal sanctuary of bag limits and established seasons. The idea is to keep the species thriving for future generations.

Not so for vilified wild hogs. For them, it's open season 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. Lawmakers have even kicked in $50,000 for state-paid hunters to bag a few themselves.

Yet, the agricultural pests don't just die; they multiply. As they continue to fan out across Texas, the big pigs are becoming popular targets for experienced hunters and weekend warriors alike.

"For the most part, what got me involved in it is that there's more of an element of danger than pretty much anything else you'll find in this state to hunt," said Ben Cromeens, 21, who's bagged boars for eight years. "I'll be honest, though. You get a lot more opportunity to do it. With whitetail deer, you're allowed one buck a year, and you're restricted to killing that buck between the first weekend of November and the first weekend of January."

"With hogs, you can hunt as many as you want. You can hunt at night. You can hunt any time of year. It helps continue your hunting skills, and it lets me practice."

Cromeens lives in Robertson County, between Bryan and Waco. It's one of 185 Texas counties where landowners have reported seeing the animals, which feast on crops and almost anything remotely edible.

Here in Paducah, set on the economically stagnant rolling plains between Wichita Falls and Lubbock, wild swine populations increase as people slowly stream away. Folks who remain have turned their blight into a boon.

Welcome to the self-proclaimed "Wild Hog Capital of Texas."

"Doctors, lawyers, plumbers, people from California, Colorado, Ohio and all over come here to hog hunt," said Stu Moore, who runs the Paducah Chamber of Commerce from his cramped Sanderson Motel lobby. "When I bought this place (in 1993), all the quail died. I had depended on them. But we're really pushing the wild hog hunts now."

The profile of the wild hog stalker often differs from that of the traditional Texas hunter, Moore said. To an extent, hog hunts have become the bungee jumping of the sporting world as participants often increase the thrill - and risk - by using single-shot muskets or bows.

Nearly anyone involved with the sport suggests that those using primitive weapons have a sidearm at the ready, just in case. People usually can't outrun hogs, especially angry ones.

For the less adventurous, it's perfectly OK to use any legal means to smite a wild hog, sporting or not. The state doesn't care.

"You can use anything up to and including hand grenades to kill the poor fellas," Moore said.

Official numbers place Texas' undomesticated hog population at a million. "It may be closer to 2 million," said Mark Matston, Uvalde district supervisor for the Texas Animal Damage Control Service. He said surveys show hog populations intensifying and spreading, especially in East Texas.

It wasn't always so.

The Spanish brought the first hogs to the New World. Once a few escaped their pens, it didn't take long for the clever brutes to adapt to their surroundings.

Earlier this century, some Texas landowners imported tusked Russian boars for private hunts. Feral hogs, former domestic pigs, soon mixed with the boars to create the resilient breed now roaming Texas plains, forests and badlands.

Unlike buffalo, deer and other animals, hogs appear eradication-proof.

"If the United States had feral hogs instead of bison, we would probably still be fighting the Indians, as the white men would be unable to kill the Indians' food supply," said J.D. Brooks, the resident hog expert for the Triangle Ranch near Paducah.

Big and small, hogs are more than targets for ranchers and farmers, who watch hogs devour row crops and muck up watering holes. Because sows can produce two litters of 6-10 piglets annually, they seem to be expanding exponentially.

"It takes some very intensive hunting to keep populations down," Matston said.

Hunters find market for giant wild hogs

CROWELL, Texas (AP) - Snorting and rooting, the sow prowls the Texas outback searching for a snack. She's not what you'd call picky, but the scent of soured wheat nearby attracts her like a swine magnet.

Smart as she is, supposedly more so than a dog, she ignores the wire cage holding the pungent morsels. As the hog prepares to dine, her back nudges a fragile clasp holding open a door, which slams shut behind her.

In a few days, the mud-caked Texas hog might be accompanied by a salad, Shiitake mushrooms and a glass of wine, thanks to trapper Max Gerhardt.

"You can go to a crop or a field and find them, especially in the wintertime, though they are getting more scarce," said Gerhardt, who traps and sells hogs from this region between Lubbock and Wichita Falls for a South Texas processor.

A Highway Department inspector by day, Gerhardt calls his porcine pursuit "fun profit." After a full day on the state's roadways, his winter hog rounds might keep him out until 11 p.m.

Southwest Wild Game, based in Devine, pays him from 15 cents to 55 cents per pound, depending on size. Those rare hogs weighing more than 250 pounds draw the highest prices, making them much more prized than those under 100 pounds.

The company, which only processes game animals, has found a niche with hogs as the agricultural pests multiply and spread virtually statewide. Severe drought blunted their growth here and elsewhere, but a year of heavy rain should change that.

"There weren't any hogs in '88," said Eckhardt of the rolling plains where Gerhardt finds plenty nowadays. "Buddies I went to school with in the Brownfield and Tahoka areas (south of Lubbock) say they can't let their kids ride bikes at dark anymore the way hogs are coming into the country."

Hunting traditionally has been the common eradication method. But since boar meat is slowly catching on for many restaurants, particularly on the coasts, the market for live animals is stout.

Eckhardt, who once worked for the San Antonio Zoo, deals with 30 buyers like Gerhardt, mostly in East and South Texas. The animals are processed alongside deer, antelope, wild sheep and other exotics, then shipped away.

Demand sometimes outstrips supply, according to one Houston restaurant manager.

"Most of the time we run out of them," said Essie Azar, who runs the Basil's, which generally keeps some kind of gamey dish on the menu.

Wild boar, served there with rice and mixed vegetables, seems to be more similar to veal than domestic pork, Azar said.

They make rather elegant entrees for such aggressive and dirty beasts.

"I've been put up a tree sometimes," said Gerhardt, who also hunts them. "You've got to watch out."

SWCD election zone 5

An election of a soil and water conservation district director to serve in Zone 5 of the Tierra Blanca Soil and Water conservation district is scheduled for 8:30, Tuesday, Oct. 7, at Farmer's Elevator, five miles north of Dawn on State Highway 809.

In order to serve a four year term as a director for Zone 5 of the Tierra Blanca SWCD, the person must be at least 18 years old, an eligible voter, actively engaged in farming or ranching, own land within the zone and be a resident of the county all or part of which is included in the conservation district.

Zone 5 consists of that portion of Deaf Smith County lying east of a point on the Castro County line south of the southwest corner of Section 48, block M-7, and running north to a point on the Oldham County line north of the northwest corner of Section 15, block K-5.

The purpose of the Tierra Blanca SWCD is to promote sound soil and water conservation programs on agricultural lands within the district and to serve as a voice for farmers, ranchers, and local community entities on conservation matters.

All conservation programs managed by the district are of a voluntary nature to the landowner or operator or other potential users of the SWCD's programs.

Five years ago: Aides to President Bush and Democrat Bill Clinton met in Dallas with supporters of Ross Perot, who hinted afterward he might re-enter the presidential race. A Pakistani jetliner crashed in Nepal, killing all 167 people aboard.

One year ago: With the United States abstaining, the U.N. Security Council passed a resolution indirectly calling on Israel to close an archaeological tunnel in Jerusalem that had touched off fighting between Israelis and Palestinians. “Welcome to World History students. We’re going to cover 700 Years in Six Weeks”

And to hear this Mr. Rogers tell it, there have been many memorable days in the global neighborhood.

HISTORY STORY

“You have to go where the kids are,” Joe D. Rogers, History teacher, HISD

Ho! Hum! Just another history class.

Not so for students in Joe D. Rogers classes. With a mad dash through the oddly arranged classroom, more theatrics than is normally associated with history and a honest appreciation of all the subject has to offer, Rogers gets the attention of students and teaches its importance. From the tips of his silver, curly hair and the points of his handlebar mustache to the ends of his never still feet, Rogers allows the frustrated actor, he proclaims himself to be, to bring history to life. “I like to think of history as a narrative or storytelling rather than a lecture,” said Rogers. “Everyone likes a good story and when the students see it as an ongoing story, they’re more apt to learn its importance.” Students learn very early that Mr. Rogers may do anything, but the class is never dull. Artifacts, memorabilia and dated art all work to grab the students’ attention. A favorite trick is to pass around a rock like object, give it its scientific name and when its halfway round the class, he’ll tell the students it is petrified dino dung. “Someone is bound to smell it. That’s when I know I have them hooked,” says Rogers. Rogers says that one of the first attention getters he uses is during the study of early Rome. With the help of props on hand (yard sticks, rulers and broom handles) he proclaims Julius Caesar’s dying words “et to Brutus” plunges the pretend sword into his chest and keels over backwards. “After that, they don’t know what to expect,” said Rogers. But, Rogers is more than just a clownish teacher. He is a living, breathing piece of history in the making. From the historical house he lives in, to the wooden desk in his classroom and the vacations he enjoys, Rogers is always looking for historical value. He graduated from Hereford in 1966 and began his studies at West Texas in the music department. He completed a stint in the Air Force during Viet Nam and came home and worked in his father’s garage for a while; nights and summers he attended classes at WT until he received degree in occupational education.

Along the way, Rogers somehow got interested in the planes of World War II. With this interest he has built a collection of wooden models of the legendary aircraft. Rogers came back to the school district and started his teaching career in the old Auto Shop at Stanton. Later he completed his master’s studies in history. He spent some time at La Plata teaching history, but for the last several years has been “carrying on” at the high school level. Facts and the dates of history can be found in books, says Rogers, but what the students need to get is the never-ending effects of the causes and results of events. Rogers incorporates modern technology with the natural interest of today’s teens to teach the value of history. During recent historic events, such as the Gulf War and the Oklahoma City bombing, Rogers dropped the lecture for a while and allows students to watch as the news unfolds. “History can be fun,” said Rogers. “I want the students to find a reason to continue to study history. Whether it’s humor, tragedy, or drama I have to find something to catch their attention,” he said. Rogers says the students today are more world wise than students of previous generations, but working with the kids in this school system is the best job in the world. He attributes his success in the classroom to his philosophy of “You have to go where the kids are.” For Rogers this means approaching students on their own grounds. “If they are interested in hot rods, you go down around their cars; if they’re into stock shows, you meet them at the stock show. If I can get their trust outside the classroom, then they’ll learn in the class room.”

Family and Household Literacy Activities

There are many ways that parents can help their children be better learners. Many of these require few materials and very little expense.

Through the use of family and household activities, parents can show the importance of education to their children. No special training is required for the following activities. All that is needed is the desire to help build a child's interest in learning by spending time with them. Each activity requires 10 to 15 minutes of time.

Our Family Order
Materials: Paper and pencil
Skills Taught: Sequencing, writing practice

Ask the child to name the members of their immediate family. Ask older children to write the names of the family members. Younger children will need help writing the names. Ask the child to name the members in order of youngest to oldest.

Make or Bake
Materials: Jello or Muffin/cake mix
Skills Taught: Following instructions, measurements, vocabulary (names of ingredients)

Either make or bake the child's favorite treat together. Read the instructions for the younger children. Have the older children read the instructions to you. Remember to let them do most of the cooking while you only assist.

Kitchen Count
Materials: Use of kitchen area
Skills Taught: Counting and vocabulary

As the child helps the parent clean the kitchen, have the child identify the items and count them. Then ask questions like: how many pots did we put away, how many plates did we put up? On a smaller scale, have the child count how many forks, knives and spoons that were put away.

When You Were Small
Materials: None
Skills Taught: Listening, self-esteem

Take a walk with the child. While walking, talk about when the child was a baby. What was their favorite food, toy or person? What made them smile or laugh? Tell them the positive things that make them feel good about themselves.

Draw the House
Materials: Family snapshots
Skills Taught: Observation and storytelling

Using family snapshots, have the child name the people in the photo and then make them make up an imaginary story about what's happening in the photo.

These and many other family/household activities emphasize the importance of application and practice of life skills. Helping children become involved in the learning process can be a rewarding experience for both the parent and child.

HJH Roundup

By CAROLYN WATERS

Take time today to express your gratitude, overcome an old fear and appreciate the beauty of nature.

Students are completing assignments and trying to turn in any extra work to enhance their grades. Of course, for some, it is too little too late, but that, too, can be a learning experience. The first six weeks ended last week and report cards will go out this week.

Ninety-three students gathered for the Junior Historian picture for the yearbook on Wednesday. At least 15 who had expressed an interest missed the picture. This is a record and we are so pleased that many of these are returnees and new eighth grade members who will be leaders for the seventh grad members. We plan to have enough activities to have all on committees to learn more about local and regional history and to be ready to serve their community.

Seventh grade history students will begin their unit of study on Indians of Texas this week. This unit proves to be one that gains the students' interest and they usually enjoy the activities that relate to it.

Congratulations to Sarah and John Griffin whose art work was selected to be featured in the 1998 Caring Touch Calendar. With one other exception, all the other selections were from high school students, so this makes us even more excited about their work. Calendars can be ordered from Circle of Friends, 1500 Wallace Blvd., Amarillo, Texas 79106. Every calendar sold means a little more help for a cancer patient! Sarah is an HJH seventh grader, and John, a future HJHer, is a fifth grader at St. Anthony's. Least we forget, the price is $12, plus $2 postage and handling.

Some students, and perhaps some parents, feel that we are too strict at junior high, but we feel that our methods are important in preparing our students for high school and for the future. We hear that K-6 teachers are receiving some of the same comments. The reality of it is that we want the best for and from our students. Sometimes that requires being strict about following directions, cultivating listening skills and taking the responsibility for their own actions. Just keep in mind, if we didn't care, we wouldn't be teaching. We invite you to visit us and "walk in our shoes." you might decide that we aren't strict enough!

The 1998 HJH Yearbook can be ordered from Sept. 29 through Oct. 3. The cost is $14 with name stamped on the front for an additional $3. Either the full amount or a payment of $5 can be made. The books can be ordered in the hall between the gyms each morning or during HAT. Staff members are Vanessa Barrientez, Amanda Dominguez, Rebecca Fuller, Jessica Powers, Kris Ramirez and Lori Rodriguez. Yearbook sponsor is Mrs. Reiter.

HJH students will be involved in the United Way campaign which is another opportunity for our students to be involved in community activities. We feel that they should learn that cooperating in the community benefits all.

Progress always involves risk; you can't steal second if you keep your foot on first!

Every reform, however necessary, will by weak minds be carried to an excess which will itself need reforming.

—Samuel Taylor Coleridge

MINDING YOUR OWN BUSINESS

Don Taylor

Business Truth - I know it when I hear it.

An art critic asked an art collector this question: "What is art?" The collector responded, "I can't explain it, but I know it when I see it." Some folks feel the same way about truth. They can't define it, but they know it when they hear it.

My dictionary defines truth as: "a judgement, proposition or idea that is true or accepted as true." Therefore, I offer to you some business ideas and judgements that I accept as truth. If you agree, you may wish to use them in your business operations or personal life.

These things are true

- If the speed of change (improvement) outside your business is greater than the speed of change (improvement) inside your business, expect to see hard times ahead. It is likely that in the future you will lose market share to competitors that react more quickly to customer needs and changing market trends.

- No one can take you out of business by cutting price if you become the low-cost provider. Stay focused on eliminating waste and reducing costs.

- Saying "I'm sorry," does not compensate your customers for frequent mistakes. Find and eliminate the cause of mistakes, then you'll not have to say I'm sorry at all. I'm not saying not to apologize for mistakes - that still shows respect and good manners - I'm saying that eliminating the mistakes does away with the need to say I'm sorry in the first place.

- If you don't know what is wrong, it is easy to purpose a solution. Of course, it is very likely the solution won't solve the original, undefined problem.

- A business is like a milk stool: three legs are more stable than one or two. The three most important business legs (working principles) are honesty, knowledge and a desire to serve the customer.

- What you know is not as important as what you do. Recently, I conducted a workshop where a small-business owner evaluated the workshop with these words, "I already knew everything this workshop covered." I thought it might be interesting to visit this very knowledgeable person's store. It was a mess. You won't impress customers with what you know unless you put it into practice.

- Profit is not "the reason" we play the game of business, it is only a method of keeping score. We play the game to win customers, please customers and keep customers. Profit is the result if we play the game well.

- Truth from a cowboy business person: If you're going to shoot your mouth off, be sure you're riding a fast horse.

- The fewer people you tell about a new business idea the better. Secondary truth: Don't expect an objective response to your idea from your family or close friends.

- New products are like babies: more fun to conceive than deliver.

- Every business owner begins each week with the same number of usable hours. Some spend those hours wisely, others don't. You can usually see the difference in the businesses.

- Three important business questions: What business are we in?, What do we do that is most important? and Are we doing it well? Learn to answer these questions correctly and you can improve your business.

- Every customer comes to your business with an invisible sign hanging around his or her neck. It says: Please notice me. Please make me feel important. I'll be a good customer if you'll treat me well.

- Running a business with high levels of debt is like swimming with a millstone tied around your neck. You'll either become a strong swimmer or drown quickly.

- The largest room in most business buildings is the "room for improvement."

Once more we are made aware of the benefits of membership in the Texas Panhandle Library System and the Harrington Library Consortium.

TPLS has furnished us with a new fax machine. That might not sound like a big deal to you, but you haven't seen the machine. I asked the technician who installed it if it does the laundry. It looks like it should. It's big and has a bunch of buttons and trays and you name it. You can even use it as a copier in a pinch. Someone is supposed to come this week to train us how to use it.

This is a plain paper fax rather than a thermal fax. If that goes over your head, you have lots of company. The bottom line of it is that if you have something faxed here, now your copies will not fade in a few weeks like the thermal copies do.

And, in addition, the machine is much faster at sending. Of course, the difference in sending time is only a few seconds. When did we get so picky about seconds on something like this, yet we can waste hours in front of the TV? One of the great imponderables of life, I suppose.

The fiction new book shelf this week features large print books. While the new large print books are mostly new popular fiction, they are not printed and distributed as quickly as the regular version. So, some of them are titles that have been out for a while.

New large print this week are:

The English Patient by Michael Ondaatje.

The Butter Did It by Phyllis Richman.

The Spirit Caller by Jean Hager.

The Unlikely Spy by Daniel Silva.

Ashworth Hall by Anne Perry.

The Wild Baron by Catherine Coulter.

Radigan by Louis L'Amour

The Lightning Warrior by Max Brand.

We are on a standing order plan with Simon and Schuster to receive a packet of westerns, a packet of mysteries, and a general fiction packet periodically. So, we do have continual supply of large print books coming in. Texas Panhandle Library System also sends us a packet of large print books about four times a year.

You don't have to be visually impaired to enjoy large print. I sometimes choose the large print just to give my eyes a treat. However, there are some people who absolutely refuse to read a large print book until they can read nothing else. It has something to do with an aversion to aging, I think.

Another service for the visually impaired is the Aladdin Personal Reader. This machine enlarges print or anything else so that you may read from books, magazines, newspapers, or even write a letter. This wonder of modern technology has not had much use, possibly because those who need it do not know about it. If you know someone who might benefit, send them to your county library and we will be glad to assist them.

Since I discovered Patricia Cornwell several months ago, I have devoured all of her books about the fictitious Chief Medical Examiner of Virginia, Kay Scarpetta. After reading graphic, often gory, accounts of autopsies and murder scenes, it was something of a surprise to see that her latest book is a biography of Ruth (Mrs. Billy) Graham, entitled Ruth: A Portrait.

Patricia Daniels Cornwell grew up down the road from the Grahams' mountain home in Montreat, N.C. As is typical of Ruth Graham, she befriended the young neighbor, giving her first leather-bound journal, telling her she should be a writer. Cornwell says of Ruth, "When she wanted to read my poetry, I didn't believe it was true. I found out she wrote poems, too, and painted funny creatures on the shutter of log cabins and cupboards."

This biography was written several years ago before the best-selling novels of morgues, homicides, and medical examiners. Cornwell writes, "I am often asked about what seems an incongruous and jolting transition in my career, but it really does make sense. Ruth is good. She is love and life. Knowing her inspired me to create a character (Kay Scarpetta) who wants to leave the world a little better than she found it."

Cornwell paints a picture of Ruth Graham as a spunky woman, raised in China, who grew up to be a slightly unconventional, but courageous friend of all who search for Christ. She has ministered to her handymen, local college students, and anyone who wrote, called, or showed up at her doorstep looking for hope.

Being left alone to keep home and family in tact while her husband was gone on his many crusades around the world, Ruth designed and oversaw the building of their log home. She traveled throughout the region buying log cabins to use for building materials, and searched through second-hand and antique stores, as well as junk piles and flea markets to furnish their home in a way that reflected her eclectic personality and tastes. When it came to fireplaces in the home Billy limited them to two, but Ruth prevailed and had five fireplaces built in their home.

The account of her first motorcycle ride reminded me of my first attempt to drive one of the beasts. She roared off down the road and plunged over a steep embankment. When a passing truck driver offered to help, she replied, "Thanks! If you could just get it on the pavement headed in the other direction, I've a friend at the end of the road who'll help me stop." The second try landed her in a lake. On the third attempt, she accelerated instead of braking and crashed through her split-rail fence, severing a vein in her leg.

I came away from the book with an admiration and respect for a strong and talented woman who lives in the shadow of a great man. They say that behind every great man is a great woman. Ruth Graham is one of these.

Chicago: My 86-year-old father should not be driving. He has had a heart attack and is stone deaf, and his vision is poor. He refuses to give up his car keys. Driving is his whole life. When my mother was on her deathbed, his main worry was that people who came to see her would block the driveway and he wouldn't be able to get out. What can we do? -- Between a Rock and a Hard Place

Dear Between: You can bite the bullet, take away his car keys and arrange with family members or a livery service to take him wherever he wants to go. Expensive? Yes, but a lot cheaper than hospital bills or a wrongful death suit.

Thanks to all who wrote for those excellent letters. You have helped save some lives today, and I am grateful.

was an elderly man returning to his retirement home. An ambulance arrived, and the elderly driver and I were told to get in, even though neither of us was hurt. Soon, it became obvious from his senseless babbling that he was in the latter stages of senility. Something must be done to get these very old drivers off the road. They are every bit as dangerous as drunks.

Eules, Texas: Many elderly people quit driving when their eyesight fails. Bless them. The ones who are too stubborn to give up their independence will continue to victimize others because of their selfishness.

Waco, Texas: I am an M.D. who had to take my father's driver's license away because I knew if I didn't, something terrible was sure to happen. My mother was furious with me. She said I was not "defending" him as a son should. I told her I was "defending" the pedestrians and other drivers because driving is not a right, it's a privilege. -- Harry Slade, M.D.

Boca Raton, Fla.: Two years before my father died at 85, he tried to drive while experiencing a heart attack. When we arrived at the hospital, I told him his driving days were over. Although I provided him with alternate transportation, he never forgave me. If an elderly parent insists on driving, hide the keys, disconnect the battery, remove the

Dear Ann Landers: I was furious when I read the letter about "Uncle Bob," the 86-year-old man who is fighting to hang on to his driver's privileges even though he has failed his driving test five times and his doctor has ordered him to stop driving.

Last year, I was struck by a car while crossing the street with a green "walk" signal. The driver was an 86-year-old woman in a 1984 Cadillac Coupe De Ville. She told the police she didn't see me until I landed on the hood of her car. I was lucky to escape with two sprained ankles. Her driver's license? She didn't have one. -- Oakland, Calif.

Dear Oakland: I don't know when I've received so much angry mail. The readers were truly incensed. They called Uncle Bob a potential murderer, among other things. Keep reading:

From San Francisco: At age 85, Dad bought a new car. It wasn't easy to wrest the old Dodge Dart from him, but we did it. When he turned 90, we knew it was time for him to stop driving. He did, too, but resisted. Then, we showed him a news story about a 90-year-old man who went for a Sunday drive, encountered a steep hill, lost control and plowed into a car, killing the driver and her four young children. That did it.

Santa Ana, Calif.: Two years ago, I was driving along, five months pregnant, when out of nowhere, a car slammed into me. I was stunned and terrified. The driver of the other car

Warner returns as guest speaker

Hereford Flame Fellowship will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Community Center. Guest speaker will be Jean Warner of Mesquite.

Warner has served in Flame Fellowship since 1977 in various offices including Flame chapter president, director, assistant Texas State overseer, Texas State overseer and international vice president of conventions. In 1994, she moved into the office of Advisor for the fellowship.

As her ministry over the past few years began to expand into churches, seminars, conventions and women's groups, it became clear that the ministry was changing direction. Following the Lord's direction, Warner has stepped fully into the ministry that God has called and ordained for her and Jean Warner Ministries was born.

Besides her activities with this ministry, she is an associate minister with God's Handmaidens, serving on the ordination committee. She is also advisor for Operation Bootcamp, a spiritual mentoring task force and Kentucky Ministry House.

Come with expectations to receive and be blessed by the message that she will bring. Everyone is invited to attend.

Get involved at your child's and teen's school When parents and teachers work together, children get a better education and a better foundation for the future. The benefits are as follows:

- *Children whose parents are involved in their education do better in school than children whose parents are not involved.

- *Children have reinforcement at home of the lessons they learn in school.

- *Children learn crucial life skills while mastering academics with the school and home partnership.

- *Teachers and parents together can develop new tools to positively involve parents in their children's education.

- *Teachers have new tools and resources available to enhance their academic lesson when parents are involved.

Red Cross Update

Clothing will be given on Tuesday beginning at 9:30 at the Red Cross office, weather permitting.

The Board of Directors orientation scheduled for Monday has been postponed and the new date will be announced later.

A CPR class will begin Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the Red Cross office. Cost of the class will be $20. Register by calling the office.

Volunteers in our Chapter will give programs for clubs and other groups. To request a program, call the office at 364-3761. Some topics for programs include First Aid and CPR, Water Safety, AIDS/HIV topics, disaster preparedness for adults and children and Red Cross history.

The Red Cross movement was inspired by a young Swiss philanthropist Henry Dunant. Dunant's compassion was kindled to action by the suffering and inhumanity he witnessed in the aftermath of the Battle of Solferino, which took place in northern Italy in 1859. His book, "A Memory of Solferino," published in 1862, aroused international interest in providing protection of the victims of war. Dunant's efforts laid the groundwork for the Geneva Conventions or Treaties and the related system of national Red Cross societies.

The American Association of the Red Cross was formed in 1881, and was granted a charter in 1905 which is still in force.

The history of the American Red Cross is part of the orientation for volunteers scheduled for Oct. 7 at the office. All volunteers are invited.

The Tri County Chapter of the American Red Cross is a United Way Agency.

Why Advertising Works!

Maybe you figure other retailers in your line are going to cut back their advertising, so it's safe for you, too. Right? Wrong! You're in competition for the consumer's dollar with every other retailer in town, no matter what he sells. People have only so many dollars to spend, and if they don't spend them for what you sell, they'll spend them for something else.

You're invited!

Prayer, Praise & Fasting

Do you or a member of your family need prayer? Do you need a personal miracle from God? The purpose of Prayer, Praise and Fasting, is to draw near to God through worship, to experience His presence, and to pray for the needs of our own families as well as the needs of our Community. We invite you and your family to join us as we gather together to present our requests before God and believe for YOUR miracle!

Service begins at 6pm, but come when you can. Prayer requests are always welcome, so call 364-8303, or bring your requests with you!

We're believing God for Your Miracle, so come expecting!

We recycle these locally.

When money circulates, it acts as the lifeblood nourishing our local economy. For example, when you deposit your paycheck at a bank, it flows out in the form of a loan.

Where deposits get reinvested into local loans.

But to whom? And where? To us, these are very important questions because the dollar you deposit at Hereford State Bank is loaned to a person or business right here in the area. Not to someone halfway across the country.

That loan could be the seed money for a business that employs the person — who buys the vacant house on your street — which boosts the value of your house and makes your street safer.

Think about it.

Any bank can say it cares about the community. Don't you want to bank with one that's really doing it.

Writing Want Ads that really sell!

Unsured how to write a Classified Ad that will get results? Follow these pointers and you'll soon have an empty space in your storage room and cash in your pocket.

For starters, look at ads which offer the same item/products. Get a sense of going rates and ideas for how to make your ad stand out. Once you're ready to write, begin with exactly what you're selling: "Dining room set, maple, six chairs." Then, remember these hints:

--Give the price. A newspaper consultant says 70 percent of classified readers won't respond to an ad with no price.

--Use key words to describe what you're selling. The key words for a car are make, model, year, body style, color, mileage and price. If it's a house, key words are location, type of construction, number of bedrooms and baths, and condition.

--Don't use abbreviations. It's tempting to abbreviate and save money if ads are billed by the line. Brand ads are billed by the words, so spell them out so readers won't be confused trying to figure out abbreviations.

-- Don't be misleading. Think accurate and factual when you write. Be sure to include a phone number and the best times to reach you.

The House of the Week

Stylish and Bright

G-36

A STONE CHIMNEY is located between tall living-room and dining-room windows, while stylish vertical siding further provides a contemporary look.

By BRUCE A. NATHAN
AP Newsfeatures
Plan G-36, by HomeStyles Designers Network, features 1,966 square feet of living space, and is both contemporary and elegant in design.
A stylish exterior and an open, bright interior are highlights of this two-level home.

The covered entry leads to a central gallery. The huge living room and dining room combination has a 15 1/2-ft. cathedral ceiling, a fireplace and tall flanking windows.
The informal spaces in the rear overlook a terrace and the backyard. A family room, sunny semi-circular dinette and modern kitchen share a snack bar.

The main-floor master suite has a 13-ft. sloped ceiling, private terrace, dressing area and a personal bath with a whirlpool tub.
Two or three extra bedrooms with 11-ft. ceilings share a skylighted bath on the upper floor.

(For a more detailed, scaled plan of this house, including guides to estimating costs and financing, send $4 to House of the Week, P.O. Box 1562, New York, N.Y. 10116-1562. Be sure to include the plan number.

G-36 STATISTICS

Design G-36 has a gallery, living room, dining room, kitchen, family room, three to four bedrooms, two and one-half baths and a mudroom, totaling 1,966 square feet of living space. This plan offers a standard basement or slab foundation, and 2x4 or 2x6 exterior wall framing. Its two-car garage provides 487 square feet of space.

G-36

BEYOND THE COVERED ENTRY, an open gallery gives way to the bright living and dining areas. The kitchen has a unique U-shaped design and a snack bar. The large double garage leads to a mudroom, which, in turn, leads to the kitchen. Sliding glass doors in the master suite open to an attached terrace making that space bright and sunny. The master bath features a whirlpool tub and dual vanities. Upstairs are two bedrooms and a loft that easily can be converted into a third one. A skylighted full bath is a highlight of the upper level.

McCarthy's Jenny proves a charming surprise

Former Singled Out host Jenny McCarthy (left) and Heather Paige Kent star as best friends who head out to Los Angeles in pursuit of their dreams in Jenny. The new NBC sitcom debuts Sunday following the season premiere of Men Behaving Badly.

Jenny McCarthy isn't sticking her tongue out for her new NBC sitcom. This time she's sticking her neck out.

Those familiar with the former Singled Out host's goofball work on MTV might be wary of her latest project, but viewers who give it a chance are in for a pleasant surprise.

Contrary to expectations, McCarthy's Jenny, premiering Sunday, Sept. 28, is not only funny but also quite charming.

Jenny casts the young ex-Playboy model as beautiful but naive Jenny McMillan, a grocery clerk in Utica, N.Y., who flies to Los Angeles with best friend Maggie (Heather Paige Kent, Life With Roger) to receive a bequest from the father she never knew: B-movie star Guy Hathaway (George Hamilton), who leaves her his bachelor pad.

Jazzed with the excitement of a new beginning, the women decide to move to L.A. and set off on a series of adventures reminiscent of Laverne & Shirley.

The premise isn't inherently fresh, but the leading lady is. McCarthy reins in the cross-eyed mugging and low-comedy goofing of her MTV sketch show to present a credible character who is vivacious and likable.

The actress says she's delighted for a chance to show that she takes her craft seriously.

"People are going to see a much wider variety of what I can do instead of just sticking my tongue out," she says with a laugh. "They'll see a serious side, a friendship, a growing side, even a little naiveness."

"I'm looking forward to (showing that to) ... the people who just see me on TV and magazine covers with, you know, my finger in my nose."

The friendship between Jenny and Maggie drives the sitcom, with Kent as a dynamite second banana in the tradition of Rhoda Morgenstern on The Mary Tyler Moore Show. In fact, it was the chemistry between the two actresses that scuttled an earlier premise that had Jenny working for one of her father's movie star friends.

"We missed the two of them together," executive producer Mark Reisman says. "We liked the idea that these girls ... will be interviewing for the coolest (jobs, but) they wind up at Kinko's."

Which could be better than the slot Jenny has been given. The series airs in the less-than-must-see Sunday slot opposite CBS' beloved Touched by an Angel. And its lead-in, Men Behaving Badly, is not much help. Since its premiere last season, Men has been one of the most troubled shows on NBC.

Two members of last season's cast, Ron Eldard and Justine Bateman, reportedly took the title a little too seriously in a series of acrimonious backstage battles with the producers and writers.

Bateman is gone, Eldard leaves in the season premiere, which airs Sunday, and two new cast members — Ken Marino (The State) and Jenica Bergere (Ink) — join Rob Schneider in a heavily retooled version of the British-based sitcom.

NBC, which owns a piece of the show, badly wants Men to be a success, and heavily promoted the sitcom this past summer in its high-profile Thursday lineup.

But regardless of how Men behaves in the Nielsen race, Jenny deserves to be tended with care. It's a small but very real pleasure, one that is especially welcome in a season remarkable only for its mediocrity.

HOROSCOPES

★ ★ Sept. 28-Oct. 4 ★ ★

ARIES - March 21/April 20
While it's difficult for you to be tactful sometimes, Aries, try to be just that early in the week. A delicate situation with a loved one calls for diplomacy and thoughtfulness. Be careful of what you say, because you don't want to hurt anyone's feelings. You get a surprise during the weekend.

TAURUS - April 21/May 21
Don't be stubborn when it comes to romance this week. An old friend re-enters your life and wants to get close. Take a risk, and enjoy yourself. A co-worker needs your help. Don't let him or her down. Cancer and Gemini play important roles later in the week.

GEMINI - May 22/June 21
Boredom overtakes you this week, Gemini. You've got a lot to do, but you just don't feel like doing any of it. Take some time to relax and get motivated. A loved one wants to spend the day with you later in the week. Do it — you two haven't had any quality time in a while.

CANCER - June 22/July 22
Express yourself during the middle of the week. Don't keep all of your emotions bottled up inside; it only will stress you out. A friend asks you for advice. Give it freely, but cautiously. He or she is not ready to hear what you have to say. Treat yourself to something new during the weekend. Scorpio plays a key role.

LEO - July 23/August 23
Your playful nature wins you praise from an acquaintance, Leo. You brighten his or her day and make yourself feel good, too. A problem at work gets you down at the end of the week. Try not to let it bother you, because it is not your fault. Loved ones try to cheer you up.

VIRGO - Aug 24/Sept 22
Be wary when a friend of a friend asks to borrow money. Think before you say yes. You've got a heavy workload this week, Virgo, so don't get distracted. Keep your shoulder to the wheel, and you can get everything done on time. A close friend tells you a secret — keep it to yourself.

LIBRA - Sept 23/Oct 23
Bad news about a close relative gets you down. However, sulking about it won't remedy the situation. Give your family your full support. You meet an intriguing stranger later in the week. Don't be shy; make a move. You'll be surprised at how fast he or she will reciprocate. Cancer and Taurus play key roles.

SCORPIO - Oct 24/Nov 22
Stay determined this week, Scorpio, even though it will be hard with so many people distracting you. If you set your priorities, you can accomplish everything on your agenda. A loved one brings a touchy family matter to your attention. Be supportive. Aquarius plays a role.

SAGITTARIUS - Nov 23/Dec 21
Your temper comes out early in the week when a grouchy stranger crosses your path. However, don't let him or her ruin your mood. Try to forget about the incident. Spend some time with loved ones. They care about you and want to be a part of your life. You get an important message later in the week.

CAPRICORN - Dec 22/Jan 20
Your shy nature comes out when you are at a large social gathering. Don't get nervous; just try to be yourself. A loved one has a question to ask you. Don't avoid it, because it's not as bad as you think. Aries plays an important role on Thursday.

AQUARIUS - Jan 21/Feb 18
Be realistic this week, Aquarius. Your goals are a little too ambitious. You know your limitations; don't push yourself too hard. That special someone wants to intensify your relationship. Think about your true feelings before getting too serious. It's time to look out for No. 1.

PISCES - Feb 19/March 20
You're on the go early in the week. There's a lot you want to get done, and you're determined to do it.

Don't let a stubborn loved one stand in your way. The person you've been dating stops calling. Don't get discouraged. There is a good reason for his or her actions. You'll find out soon. Sagittarius plays a role.

TV PIPELINE

By Taylor Michaels

Q: I am an ardent fan of Star Trek: Deep Space Nine. I notice that in early episodes Dr. Bashir was played by Siddig El Fadil. The newer episodes list Alexander Siddig in the role. It's clearly the same person. Why the name change? -Cecelia Pelicon, Millbrae, Calif.

A: The son of a Sudanese father and an English mother, Siddig, 31, changed his name simply because fans couldn't figure out how to pronounce El Fadil. At least, that's the story he's been telling at Star Trek conventions. By the way, his uncle is actor Malcolm McDowell (Star Trek: Generations).

Q: What can you tell me about the underrated actress Lindsay Crouse? I remember her briefly on Hill Street Blues and in a number of movies. Also, what was the name of the Sharon Gless-Dorian Harewood drama series a few years ago? -Jason T. via e-mail.

A: A native New Yorker, Crouse, 49, is the daughter of playwright-lyricist Russel Crouse (The Sound of Music, Life With Father), who named her after his writing partner, Howard Lindsay. After getting her start in theater, she made her movie debut as Kay Eddy in All the President's Men. Her film credits include Daniel, Communion, Desperate Hours, The Indian in the Cupboard and House of Games, which was written and directed by her then-husband, David Mamet. Last season she was a guest star on an episode of Millennium titled "Kingdom Come."

Gless and Harewood starred in The Trials of Rosie O'Neill, which ran 1990-92 on CBS.

Q: Is Date With an Angel the only movie starring the lovely Emmanuelle Beart? Where is she from and what is she doing now? -W.T.D. in Florida.

Alexander Siddig

A: The daughter of French singer and poet Guy Beart, the 32-year-old actress most recently starred with Tom Cruise in Mission: Impossible, but has concentrated mainly on film work in her native France.

She became a star there (and later in North America) via her extraordinary work in 1986's Manon des sources (Manon of the Spring), in which she starred with her husband, Daniel Auteuil.

If you can tolerate subtitles, Beart's work in French films is truly exceptional. Apart from Manon (be sure to see Jean de Florette first, which sets up the Manon story), look for Un coeur en hiver, L'Amour en douce and Nelly & Monsieur Arnaud in particular. Any well-stocked video store should be able to help you.

Q: Please identify the movie about bootleggers starring Robby Benson, Burt Reynolds and Liza Minnelli. -"Cosmos" via e-mail.

A: Lucky Lady (1975).

Andrea Thompson stars as Detective Jill Kirkendall in NYPD Blue. The acclaimed Steven Bochco drama returns for its fifth season Tuesday on ABC.

Thompson hits the beat full time on NYPD Blue

By Jennifer B. Miller

Like a good cop, Andrea Thompson is tough and smart. Unlike many cops, she can't say enough nice things about her boss and her beat.

Thompson, who plays Detective Jill Kirkendall on NYPD Blue, becomes a full-fledged cast member when the drama returns Tuesday, Sept. 30, on ABC. And she is thrilled about the development.

"What do I look forward to most in the new season? Going to work every day. I'm working with the best people in the business. (Writer) David Milch is an astonishing, brilliant man and the cast is fabulous." Laughing, she adds, "And I don't have to kiss their butts anymore; now they're stuck with me."

Steven Bochco's NYPD Blue has been one of TV's most critically acclaimed and provocative shows since its 1993 premiere, and Kirkendall brings a new edge to the eclectic cast. A sharp contrast to the show's other female detective, the mercurial Diane Russell (Kim Delaney), Kirkendall is a coolheaded, no-nonsense cop. "She reminds me of people I knew when I was a kid in Michigan," Thompson says of her character. "She's a no-frills kind of gal. The people I knew growing up were like that. They were diligent; their jobs mattered to them."

Thompson says spending time on the beat with New York homicide detectives also shaped her view of her character and gave her some ideas for possible story lines. "The cops I met were so dedicated. There were things they were haunted by, crimes they never solved," she says. "I think it would be really interesting to do a show focusing on a cop obsessed with a crime from the past."

This season, Kirkendall's personal life gets a little more attention. A romantic interlude is in store for the character, and some viewers wonder whether Kirkendall's dinner with Detective Bobby Simone (Jimmy Smits) last spring indicates a possible rift in his engagement to Russell. "All I know is that she will have a love interest and we'll also get more into her background," Thompson says. "David (Milch) does ask me what I think she would do, but a lot of what happens is still a surprise."

The Fly II ★★½ (1989) Eric Stoltz, Daphne Zuniga. A scientist's accursed son begins to transform into a monstrous insect in this sequel to David Cronenberg's 1986 film. (In Stereo) 2:00. October 3 11am, 12am.

Four Daughters ★★★ (1938) Claude Rains, May Robson. The daughters of a small-town music professor experience the trials and tribulations of romance. 2:00. October 2 5pm.

The 400 Blows ★★★★★ (1959) Jean-Pierre Leaud, Patrick Auffay. A boy deprived of parental warmth and the acceptance of his peers turns his despair toward a life of petty crime. (Subtitled) 2:00. October 3 11pm.

Friday the 13th Part VIII: Jason Takes Manhattan ★½ (1989) Jensen Daggett, Scott Reeves. High-school graduates on a cruise to New York City discover an uninvited guest on board -- Camp Crystal Lake's killer. (In Stereo) 2:00. October 4 11:30pm.

Funny Face ★★★ (1957) Fred Astaire, Audrey Hepburn. A Madison Avenue photographer transforms a timid saleswoman into one of the fashion world's most glamorous models. 2:00. October 4 12pm.

Margie's Notes

By Margie Daniels, HSCA Executive Director

The weather has certainly let us know it is almost time for the Festival of Trees! Please, we need all FOT volunteers to meet at 9 a.m. Monday in the Golden K Room.

There are some openings for the Branson Tour, Dec. 8-12. I need your deposits as soon as possible. The itinerary is printed in this issue.

Our Annual Business Meeting is scheduled for Oct. 7 at 7 p.m. Please come if at all possible.

WATCH OUT FOR SCAM LETTERS! Some of us are getting letters, looking very professional, asking for as much as $1,000. When you receive a letter like this, please call Officer Keyes at the Hereford Police Department. Officer Keyes and Captain Michael have been presenting very informational programs on Fridays at 12:30 p.m. This is also a good time to get acquainted with them and tell them about some of your concerns.

Remember, the flu shots Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Thanks to WorkSmart at HRMC for providing this service for us.

Thanks to all who donate to the Thriftstore, both as a volunteer and a donor. We have been receiving some good merchandise but are extremely short of furniture. If you have some let us know and we will pick it up.

Remember the best vitamin to take for friendship is "B-1".

President's Corner

By Norma Thurston, HSCA President

Dear Friends,

It is hard to believe that another year has come and gone, making it time for changes on the HSCA's board of directors. Three board members will need to be elected to replace retiring directors. This will be the main order of business at the Association's Oct. 7 meeting set at the Center at 7 p.m.

At that meeting, we will recognize Cecil Boyer, Carole McGilvary and Clara Reinart as outgoing directors.

Cecil has helped with fund-raisers and in several areas around the Center. He works as cashier at the Thrift Store each Friday and helps stock it each Tuesday afternoon.

Carole serves as secretary while completing the term of her late husband, Rueben. She has assisted in several different areas, including dinner theaters, dramas and dealing with children.

Clara has served as our treasurer and chairman of the Festival of Trees bazaar, making baskets for that event. She, too, helps with the Thrift Store, as well as helping wherever needed at the Center.

Because of their experience and expertise, it is hard to lose these directors. We have been blessed to have such hard-working board members and we hope they will continue to help us as volunteers.

Please come to the Oct. 7 meeting at 7 p.m. and take part in selecting board members for three-year terms!

Dolls and more dolls

Members of Hereford Senior Citizens Center participate in porcelain doll classes offered at the Centereach Monday from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Teacher of the class (not pictured) is Rosalee McGowen, assisted by her husband, Jelly. Members of the class shown are, from left, Regina Walterscheid, Trellis Jackson, Effie Robinson and Doris Bryant.

Surrendering car keys is tough decision for most elderly drivers

By STEPHEN W. SPIVEY
Killeen Daily Herald
KILLEEN, Texas - For KCEN-TV meteorologist Bruce Thomas, the decision to take the car keys from his aging father was a difficult one.

Thomas said his father, the late Mitchell Thomas of Jackson, Miss., was 81 years old and blind in one eye at the time. He had had several minor accidents when the family decided he should no longer be behind the wheel. "It was tough. He was real hard to convince," Thomas recalled. "But when he realized he was a danger to others, he finally relented."

As the youngest of nine children, Thomas said the difficult task of confiscating his father's keys fell in his lap. Although it was not easy, he said, he is sure it was the right decision.

"Sometimes you've got to play the heavy," he said. "It comes down to the question of 'Is my parent a danger to himself and others?'"

The tragic death of a Salado couple who wandered more than 350 miles from their home has family members and other observers wondering if more can be done to prevent similar episodes.

"We all wish we had done some things differently," said Cathy Drake, the daughter of Raymond Howard. "With everyone seeing what happened to us, maybe they will realize they need to take things into their own hands."

Howard, 88, and his wife, Lela, 83, were found dead July 12 near Hot Springs National Park in Arkansas.

The couple left their Salado home June 28 for a routine 15-mile trip to Temple. They never made it to their intended destination. They were last seen that evening by an Arkansas state trooper who stopped their Oldsmobile Delta 88 for a headlight violation and directed them to a motel. The couple never checked in.

Within days, Arkansas detectives conducted unsuccessful air searches across portions of the state in hopes of finding their car. Efforts to locate the couple included appearances on CBS's "This Morning" and Fox's "America's Most Wanted."

A 14-year-old boy found the Howards' car on July 12 at the bottom of a 20-foot ravine at the intersection of two Arkansas highways. The couple was apparently traveling south when they ran off the road, officials said.

"I am very thankful no one else was injured or killed because that was one thing I was really concerned about," Ms. Drake said. "We were not only taking their lives at risk, but we were putting other people at risk too."

Ms. Drake said family members had tried repeatedly to keep the Howards off the road. She said Lela Howard's son, Hal Ray Copeland of Salado, offered to join them before they left home on their trip to Temple.

"He said 'At least let me follow you over there so that I know you made it there OK,'" Ms. Drake said.

Copeland returned to his home next door to prepare for the drive, she explained, but the Howards had

SOCIAL SECURITY QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q: I read that if everyone received his or her Social Security benefits by direct deposit that it would save the government $8.4 millions month. There's no way this can be true--can it?

A: Yes, besides direct deposit being safer and more convenient for beneficiaries, direct deposit is more efficient and saves money for the government because it's cheaper than preparing and mailing monthly checks. The government saves 40 cents each time someone uses direct deposit instead of a check. It costs 42 cents deposit. And yes, if everyone signed up for direct deposit, it would save the government $8.4 millions a month!

Q: My neighbor will start cleaning my house two times a month. I'll be paying her $80 a month. Do I need to report this to Social Security?

A: If you pay your household worker $1,000 or more in cash wages during a year, you are responsible for reporting the household worker's wages. Since you'll be paying less than $1,000 ($960) for the year, you do not have to report your household worker's wages. For more information about household employees, call Social Security's toll-free number, 1-800-772-1213, and ask for the factsheet, "Household Workers."

Q: I am receiving Social Security disability benefits. I've heard that you can continue to receive benefits while you attempt to work, but I'm afraid to ask my Social Security office because they might think I'm not disabled. Can you tell me about this?

A: There are a number of special rules, called "work incentives," which may make it possible for you to continue to receive disability benefits while you work. These work incentives may also help with your work expenses, medical bills and rehabilitation and vocational training. They are designed to eliminate that risk of losing benefits while you attempt to work. Social Security encourages people to use work incentives. You should contact your local Social Security office or call Social Security's toll-free number, 1-800-772-1213 and ask for the leaflet, "Working While Disabled...How Social Security Can Help."

Q: Is it true that the retirement age is going up?

A: Yes. Because of longer life expectancies, the full retirement age will be increased in gradual steps until it reaches age 67. This change starts in the year 2000 and affects people born in 1938 and later. No matter what your "full" retirement age is, you may start receiving a reduced retirement benefit as early as age 62. If you'd like more information about retirement, call Social Security at 1-800-772-1213 and ask for the booklet, "Retirement."

Q: Will I automatically start getting Social Security benefits when I turn age 65?

A: No, Social Security does not start automatically. You've got to apply for it. If you're nearing retirement, you should know that it's best to contact Social Security several months ... even a year ... before your planned retirement date. Then you can be sure that you start your Social Security when it's best for you.

Weight Management: Strategies for Success

One in every three Americans is fighting the weight loss battle. Tipping the energy balance scale in favor of using more calories than you consume is the bottom line for losing weight.

Sounds easy! Then why are so many people losing the weight loss battle instead of the weight? Whether you have tried to lose weight on your own or with the help of an organized program, the focus is too often on severely restrictive diets and unrealistic goals. Not being able to reach these goals can set you up for an endless cycle of failure and discouragement. Also, extremely limited food choices may trigger binge eating, which can undermine your efforts.

Increase your chances for success by focusing on managing your weight. Weight management involves adopting a lifestyle that includes a healthful eating plan and regular physical activity. The key to managing weight throughout life is a positive attitude and the right kind of motivation. Internal motivators such as health, increased energy, self-esteem, and personal control increase your chances for lifelong weight management success. Your physician can determine the appropriate type of weight management plan for you. A registered dietitian can tailor a plan to meet your individual needs and show you how to follow these strategies for long-term success.

Strategy 1: Make health, not appearance, your weight management priority. A realistic goal is to achieve a healthy weight, not necessarily the lowest weight you can reach or an "ideal" weight from a chart.

Strategy 2: Focus on a healthy eating style, not on "dieting." Dieting usually lasts for only the short term and rarely produces long-term success.

Strategy 3: Eating for good health and eating to control weight are virtually the same. Choosing a healthful eating plan includes a variety of food choices from the Food Guide Pyramid can accomplish both objectives.

All foods can fit into a nutritious, reduced-calorie eating plan, rich in foods with complex carbohydrates and fiber, like whole grains, fruits and vegetables, and low in fat.

You can feel full and satisfied with the suggested number of servings from each good group: 6 to 11 servings of bread, cereal, rice or pasta; 2 to 3 servings of fruits; 3 to 5 servings of vegetables; 2 to 3 servings of milk, yogurt or cheese; and 5 to 7 ounces of lean meat, poultry, fish or meat alternatives such as dried beans, eggs, peanut butter, or nuts.

The number of servings you need depends on your age, gender, activity level and weight loss goals. Usually for weight management you should choose servings amounts from the lower end of the range for each food group.

Strategy 4: People who keep physically active are more successful at losing and keeping off extra pounds. A physically active lifestyle offers many reward in addition to weight management, such as heart health, strong bones and stress relief. For weight management, experts recommend a combined total of 30 minutes of moderate activity on most days.

Smaller amounts are okay, but try to accumulate at least 30 minutes a day. If you haven't been physically active, build up the time gradually. Focus on increasing daily physical activity, rather than setting unrealistic "exercise" goals. Pick an activity that you enjoy and are likely to continue, such as a brisk walk in the morning or a swim after work. Before beginning any exercise program, however, be sure to consult your physician.

Strategy 5: Prescription medication may be part of a weight management program for obese patients that also includes nutrition counseling and a regular physical activity. Prescription medications for weight loss generally reduce appetite, making it easier to control food intake. Talk with your physician to learn about possible side effects and determine if prescription medications are safe and should be part of your weight management program.

PUTTING IT ALL TOGETHER

To make sure your weight management plan is safe and effective, ask yourself a few questions before you begin. DOES YOUR PLAN *include a variety of foods from all five major groups in the Food Guide Pyramid?

*include appealing foods you will enjoy eating for the rest of your life, not just a few weeks or months?

*include foods available at the supermarket where you usually shop?

*allow you to eat your favorite foods in moderation?

*recommend changes in your lifestyle and budget?

*include at least the minimum number of servings from the Food Guide Pyramid?

*include regular physical activity?

If you can answer yes to all these questions, chances are your weight-loss program will allow you to achieve long-term success.

'Home for the Holidays' program will provide tickets for seniors

Southwest Airlines and the Area Agency on Aging of the Panhandle have announced the start of the 19th annual "Home for the Holidays" program which will provide Panhandle seniors with complimentary tickets to visit family and friends over the holidays.

Applications are available at senior centers across the Panhandle and by contacting the Area Agency on Aging at 806-372-3381 if calling from the Amarillo/Canyon area or 1-800-642-6008 outside of Amarillo.

To apply, a person must be 65 years of age or older and demonstrate a strong economic need. Deadline for submission of applications is Oct. 17.

Fifteen applicants from the Panhandle area will be selected to receive complimentary round-trip tickets based on their need for economic assistance and their reason for travel.

Married couples may name their spouses on the application if they would like the selection committee to consider both as possible recipients. Past recipients may apply, and only one application per person will be accepted.

No ground transportation or additional travel expenses will be provided. Recipients may travel anytime between Dec. 1, 1997, through Jan. 10, 1998.

Since the program began in 1979, thousands of senior citizens have been sent "Home for the Holidays." In 1986, President Reagan cited the program as an outstanding community service program and awarded it the Presidential Award for Private Sector Initiatives.

AARP seeking tax return preparers

AARP, American Association of Retired Persons, is actively searching for people interested in helping people by assisting taxpayers in the preparation of their 1997 income tax returns. Those of you who fill out your own tax returns may wish to help other taxpayers in what many feel to be the worst part of any year.

For those persons who are absolute beginners, we will hold a training session for familiarization with basic forms and procedures. For those taking the beginners session and for all other prospective counselors, an additional session of four days is held in early January after which everyone is tested and hopefully approved. All training sessions will be held in Amarillo.

During the tax season, we try to have at least two counselors at every location so that one can check the other. There is no fear or apprehension to be experienced for our philosophy is to handle only the returns we feel capable of completing correctly.

We are interested in applicants from all cities and counties within 80 miles of Amarillo and any Senior Citizen Clubs, or any one interested in sharing his or her time with fellow citizens. Believe me, the program is very rewarding in the sincere thanks exhibited by grateful recipients of your efforts.

For further information, please contact Anna Ruppanner at 806-249-2000. Call collect.

Annual tree festival raises funds for HSC

The Festival of Trees benefiting Hereford Senior Citizens Association will be held this year Nov. 19-23 at the Senior Center.

The Festival of Trees marks the beginning of the holiday season at the center. The main feature of the event is the display of beautifully decorated trees for the residents of the community and visitors to the area to enjoy during five days of entertainment and activities for people of all ages.

This display, within a festival setting, is a major community involvement and fund-raising project for the Hereford Senior Citizens Association.

The event is made possible by the cooperation of numerous businesses and individuals who donate their time, talent and money to decorate the trees which are sold at auction during the festival.

This year's festival agenda is printed on Page 7.

Poetry contest seeking entries

OWING MILLS, MD. -- The U.S. National Library of Poetry has announced that $48,000 in prizes will be awarded this year to over 250 poets in the North American Open Poetry Contest. The deadline for the contest is Oct. 31. The contest is open to everyone and entry is free.

"Many of our previous winners have come from the ranks of senior citizens," said Howard Ely, contest director. "Maybe it's because they have had the opportunity to experience the many things in life which provide the 'raw material' for artistic creation."

Any poet, whether previously published or not, can be a winner. Many poets from the Hereford area have successfully competed in past competitions. Every poem entered also has a chance to be published in a deluxe, hardbound anthology.

To enter, send one original poem, any subject and any style to: The National Library of Poetry, Suite 19012, 1 Poetry Plaza, Owing Mills, MD 21117-6282. The poem should be no more than 20 lines, and the poet's name and address should appear on the top of the page. Entries must be postmarked by Oct. 31. A new contest opens Nov. 1.

The National Library of Poetry, founded in 1982, is the largest poetry organization in the world.

already left by the time he returned. "They were very independent people," Ms. Drake said. "I seriously doubt that many elderly people who should not be driving really realize they shouldn't be on the road."

State Rep. Dianne White Delisi, R-Temple, said there have been past attempts in the Legislature to restrict the rights of elderly motorists, including a proposed bill that would have made it more difficult for seniors to obtain driver's licenses. Those proposals were not fair and had little support, she added.

"The problem with it is that it's arbitrary," Ms. Delisi said. "There are many senior Texans who are living longer and healthier lives and it's just totally inappropriate.

"That decision should be left to family members and health care providers," she said.

Statistics released by the Texas Department of Public Safety appear to support Ms. Delisi's claim.

Last year, there were 1,474,273 Texas licenses issued to drivers over the age of 65, representing about 11.8 percent of total license holders. They accounted for 6.2 percent of motor vehicle accidents last year, the statistics indicate.

By comparison, drivers 25 years of age and younger represent 17.5 percent of total license holders and accounted for 29.1 percent of vehicle wrecks last year.

Longtime Killeen resident James

H. "Screwdriver" Arnold said the Legislature should avoid taking driver's licenses from senior citizens. The 80-year-old Arnold said he still drives his vehicle during the day, but avoids driving at night.

"I'm dead against that (license restrictions), because they have too much power anyway," Arnold said. "They'll be taking away the keys from a lot of people who need them."

"When you take a car away from a senior citizen, you've taken everything," he said. "They've got nowhere to go."

State Sen. John Carona, R-Dallas, who authored a proposed measure aimed at senior drivers, said his bill would have required re-examination of licensed drivers at age 80 and every four years afterward.

"The purpose was to make certain drivers at that point were aware of the most recent traffic safety laws and were physically able to meet the challenges of travel by road," Carona said. "The primary complaint was one based upon age discrimination, which I vehemently disagreed with. It is no more discriminatory to re-examine someone at age 80 than it is to make someone wait until age 16."

Carona said other states have implemented measures similar to his proposal and that Texas will soon have no choice but to do the same.

"With people living significantly longer, there is no question we are going to have to deal with this issue as a state," he said. "It is a matter of life or death not only for the senior citizen drivers, but for those on the roads besides them."

"By age 45 you begin to have slightly diminished (driving) skills," Carona said. "By age 65, they're noticeably diminished and by age 80, I think there's indisputable medical evidence that a driver loses substantial reflexive skills and can significantly impact the safety of the roadway."

He said the voting power of seniors may have scared other legislators from supporting his idea.

"Senior citizens are active voters and dedicated voters and, unfortunately, that makes for a frightening issue for too many politicians," Carona said. "Hopefully, we'll soon see the day when public safety concerns override a very vocal minority who, at this time, happen to have the ear of legislators."

DPS spokeswoman Sherry Green said there currently is recourse available for citizens who believe that certain drivers are a danger to themselves and others, but stressed that the agency does not practice age discrimination.

"You can't have someone's driver's license pulled or treat them any differently just because they reach a certain age," Ms. Green said.

"However, if a family member or a physician has reason to believe that an individual should not be driving because of physical limitations, they can write the Department of Public Safety and request a hearing before the Medical Advisory Board. They can decide that this person should not be driving."

The Medical Advisory Board is a coalition of physicians and other health care providers affiliated with the Texas Department of Health. They review each case submitted on behalf of elderly drivers and make decisions to deny or revoke the licenses of unfit drivers. Drivers may appeal the decisions.

According to Ms. Green, the DPS examined 13,180 cases for possible referral to the advisory board during the last fiscal year, which began Sept. 1, 1995, and ended Aug. 31, 1996. Of these cases, 9,592 were actually referred to the board. Only 1,592 were denied or revoked last year, she said.

More than 900,000 copies of The Hereford Brand were distributed in 1996. If your advertising message was not included in many of these issues, you probably missed some sales. Call Mauri Montgomery or Julius Bodner, 364-2030, and let them put together an advertising program to fit your budget.
