U.S. PRESSURING CHINESE TO RELEASE 2 DISSIDENTS

WASHINGTON (AP) - Pressing the Chinese government to release two prominent dissidents, the Clinton administration contends the U.S.-China relationship can't reach its "full potential" if human rights abuses persist.

A week before a meeting between President Clinton and Chinese President Jiang Zemin that is intended to boost high-level contacts between the two nations, the State Department said Monday that China has so far rejected. requests to release Wei Jingsheng and Wang Dan, who are both ill.

Secretary of State Madeleine Albright, in her meetings with Chinese Foreign Minister Qian Qichen ahead of the Oct. 29 summit, has complained several times about the jailing of dissidents, particularly Wei and Wang, State Department spokesman James P. Rubin said.

"We have long made clear to the Chinese government ... that human rights are of deep concern to the United States, and the unjustified imprisonment of political dissidents is a major problem in our relationship and that we will never be able to have the full potential of our relationship with China realized so long as we have these kind of human-rights problems between us," Rubin told reporters.

JUSTICE DEPARTMENT ACCUSES MICROSOFT OF UNFAIR PRACTICES

NEW YORK (AP) - The latest battle between Microsoft Corp. and the Justice Department is about more than Internet browsers. It's about Microsoft's bid to retain its industry dominance and tame the World Wide Web.

The federal agency on Monday accused Microsoft of using its powerful position in the software operations market to steal customers from a niche it doesn't dominate: Internet browsers, the programs that help computer users find whatever it is they're looking for.

The government objects to Microsoft's requirement that personal computer manufacturers installing its Windows 95 operating system on their products also install Microsoft's browser, Internet Explorer.

"Microsoft is unlawfully taking advantage of its Windows monopoly to protect and extend that monopoly," Attorney General Janet Reno said "It's plain wrong.

U.S. STUDENTS GET FAILING GRADES FOR BASIC KNOWLEDGE OF SCIENCE

WASHINGTON (AP) - More than 40 percent of high school seniors lack a basic understanding of science and an equally "disturbing proportion" of younger students don't understand the subject either, the National Assessment Governing Board said today in a report card on the nation's schools.

Forty-three percent of high school seniors had a below-grade level knowledge of science, the board said. Only 39 percent of eighth-graders had a basic understanding of the subject appropriate to their level; for fourth-graders,

Only 3 percent of students at all of those grades performed at what was considered an advanced level.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Preventive occupational therapy that teaches elderly people how to keep up their daily activities improves their physical and mental health and helps them live independently, a new study shows.

The results suggest that in an age of medical cost-cutting, occupational therapy could provide savings by delaying reliance on expensive nursing home care, said lead study author Florence Clark of the University of Southern 'Healthy and independent is less expensive than sick and dependent," said Clark, chairman of USC's Department of Occupational Science and Occupational Therapy.

She was to present her results today at the American Medical Association's Science Reporters Conference in Washington. The study also appears in Wednesday's issue of The Journal of the American Medical Association.

Nolen: City's water is safe

By DONALD M. COOPER

Hereford's water supply is safe, according to the results of a water quality evaluation conducted recently for the city.

City Manager Chester Nolen told city commissioners Monday night there have been rumors and "bald-faced lies" about the quality of the city's water supply - rumors that he said he resented.

The city's water supply was evaluated, with several samples taken from all four pump stations, under the supervision of the Texas Department of Health, with the samples evaluated by Analab of Kilgore, the city manager

Most of the samples were found to have undetectable contaminants. Nolen said. Of those samples which did have contaminants, he said the laboratory said the levels were well within the amounts considered safe by the Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission, the health department and other water-quality agencies.

"We have an extremely safe water supply," Nolen said. "We are not endangering the people's health." He added he resented the innuendoes that there are "cancer-causing agents in the city water." The test results are available for the public to view at City Hall, Nolen

Commissioner Roger Eades added a small group of individuals have been spreading rumors and making complaints about the water quality, BORGER - The 170-member Mighty Maroon Band earned its 37th consecutive Division I rating Saturday night during participation in the UIL Region I Class 4A Marching Band competition.

The Division I rating earned the Hereford band a spot in the Saturday's Area A competition at Dick Bivins Stadium in Amarillo. The Mighty Maroon will compete against other Region I bands, as well as the Lubbock, Odessa and El Paso regional representatives, for the right to participate Nov. 3 in the state competition in Austin. Hereford will perform at 8:30 p.m.

Saturday's contest will pit top 4A bands in head-to-head competition, with five judges awarding points in performance areas including music, marching, and general effect. Lending continuity to a grand tradition, band parents, cheering from the stands, had also marched in Hereford High School bands that had received

"The kids gave a spectacular performance Saturday night. They did the best job they've ever done with this show. All three contest judges awarded Division Is, and were complimentary of the band's good marching and good playing," said Scott Dodson, first-year HHS band director.

"The kids played with full, open sound. The transitions from loud to soft were locked in. Our band students worked really hard in preparation for Borger. Their pride was evident in the show that they gave. It was really fun and exciting. To the theme "The Mighty Maroon Visits Russia," Hereford band students performed selections, including "March Slav," "Legzchinka," and "Russian

The weekend performance was the second time within a week that the Hereford band garnered top-performance trophies. Hereford took Division I performance, best band in Division AAAA, best drum line, and best auxiliary trophies Oct. 11 at the Pioneer Music Festival in Plainview.

Dodson says the Mighty Maroon Band will "put a few flashy items in the program this week, and work toward perfecting it for area.'

Hereford will field one of the larger bands at area competition Saturday, and may have some additional bandsmen who have regained academic eligibility back on the field. At full strength, the HHS band has 190 members, Dodson said.

In addition to Dodson, members of the HHS band staff include assistant directors Bill Nelson, Gary Burch, Tim Cates and Kevin Henson, head junior high director Christy Henson, assistant Cindy Rogers, percussion specialist Geoff Elsner, drill team director Kristi Culpepper, twirler sponsor Donna Brooks and band announcer Joe D. Rogers.

The 170-member Hereford High School Mighty Maroon Band goes through its paces (top) during Saturday's UIL regional marching band competition at Borger. The Hereford band, which earned Division I honors for the 37th consecutive year, will pack up its gear (above) Saturday to participate in the area competition at Dick Bivins Stadium in Amarillo.

U.S trade deficit worsens on flood of Chinese imports

WASHINGTON (AP) _ America's trade deficit widened to $10.4 billion in August, the worst showing in seven months, as a flood of imported toys and Christmas decorations pushed the deficit with China to an all-time

The Commerce Department said the worse-than-expected showing represented a 3.4 percent increase from a revised July deficit of $10 billion. Exports edged up a tiny 0.2 percent, led by the first gain in sales of American farm products this year. But imports were up 0.6 percent to a record high as Americans' appetite for foreign products continued unabated.

So far this year, the gap between what America sells abroad and what it imports is running at an annual rate of $114 billion, even worse than the eight-year high of $111 billion set last year.

The widening trade gap is coming at a bad time for President Clinton, who is trying to round up enough votes in Congress to give him the authority to negotiate new free-trade agreements along the lines of the 1993 accord with Mexico.

While imports from China were surging to a record $6.1 billion, American exports fell to just $900 million, the lowest level in nearly a year. The Clinton administration has been pressing China to lower its trade barriers to American products as a way of redressing the soaring trade gap, which many believe will surpass America's deficit with Japan either this

The deficit with Japan narrowed for the first time since May, falling to $4.5 billion, but is still running 17 percent ahead of a year ago.

SUSPECT IN SLAYING HELD ON UNRELATED CHARGES

FRIENDSWOOD (AP) - A prime suspect in the abduction and slaying of a teen-age girl is now held on unrelated charges, six months after her body was found in a retention pond.

Arrest of the man by Friendswood police in connection with a Webster woman's aggravated kidnapping has prompted law officers in nearby La Marque to examine a possible connection in another disappearance.

Friendswood Police Chief Jared Stout said Monday that the suspect, who had been working at a construction site near Laura Kate Smither's home the day she disappeared, was arrested Thursday in the kidnapping of a 19-year-old woman in Webster.

EX-STATE SENATOR LINKED TO WILSON

DALLAS (AP) - A former state senator is the mysterious "Texas businessman C" suspected of splitting millions of dollars in kickbacks with former congressman Charles Wilson on Afghan arms deals in the 1980s, according to The Dallas Morning News' copyright report today.

An investigation into whether Wilson profited from his efforts to arm mujahedeen rebels was revealed recently when Switzerland's highest court rejected ex-Sen. Joe Christic's attempt to block U.S. investigators from examining his Swiss bank records.

The Swiss court said the Justice Department was investigating whether "Congressman W" and "Texas businessman C" were paid $3.5 million to $4 million in "commissions" for getting Congress to buy 20mm anti-aircraft guns made by "Firm X Ltd" for Afghan rebels.

A Swiss source confirmed that the "C" in the court's ruling stands for "Christie" and that "X Ltd." is a division of Ocrlikon-Buhrle Holding AG, a conglomerate based in Zurich, the newspaper said. U.S. sources said "Congressman W" is Wilson.

STATE ORDERS INSURANCE RATE REDUCTIONS

HOUSTON (AP) - The state is ordering insurance companies to cut rates by $610 million next year in an attempt to give consumers some benefit from lawsuit reform.

Texas Insurance Commissioner Elton Bomer said Monday that he was ordering cuts of an estimated $436 million for 1996 and $441 million for Altogether, the cuts for the three years bring the insurance impact of tort reform to $1.5 billion in savings, Bomer said in a joint appearance with Gov. George W. Bush.

The rollbacks stem from 1995 legislation, authored by Rep. Mark Stiles, D-Beaumont, mandating that insurance companies pass on to their customers the savings triggered by civil justice reforms.

The legislative changes included a cap on civil damages and was intended to limit frivolous lawsuits in Texas.

TEXAS BISHOPS OPPOSE DEATH PENALTY

AUSTIN (AP) - The Catholic bishops of Texas - the state that leads the nation in executing convicted murderers - are urging a public outcry to change the ultimate penalty.

'As religious leaders, we are deeply concerned that the state of Texas is usurping the sovereign dominion of God over human life by employing capital punishment for heinous crimes," the bishops said Monday in a statement reiterating their opposition to capital punishment.

"We implore all citizens to call on our elected officials to reject the violence of the death penalty and replace it with non-lethal means of punishment, which are sufficient to protect society from violent offenders of human life and public order."

The bishops recommend life sentences without the possibility of parole

New tissue helps heal old wounds

WASHINGTON (AP) - Laboratory-engineered tissue from newborns' circumcised foreskin and from cow tendons is being used experimentally to heal skin ulcers and other chronic wounds that have not responded to traditional care.

In ways not clearly understood, the engineered tissue triggers the normal

University of Miami School of Medicine in Florida said Monday at an American Medical Association conference.

"This tissue sends signals to the body to heal sites that the body has not been willing to heal before," said Eaglstein.

Just how the laboratory-made healing process in gaping, open sores tissue sends these signals is not that affect some 6 million patients, known, but he said that in clinical Dr. William H. Eaglstein of the studies with 300 patients, the technique increased healing by 50 percent when compared to traditional ethods.

Unhealed wounds are common mong patients with diabetes or poor blood circulation in the legs and among the bedridden. Diabetics often lose feeling in their feet and chronic sores can develop from ill-fitting shoes. Sores on the ankle or shin often will not close in patients with clogged blood vessels in the legs.

Patients confined to bed or wheelchair can develop pressure-point sores that get larger and larger.

More than $5 billion is spent annually to treat unhealed wounds, said Eaglstein, and often the only successful therapy is amputation of the affected limb.

With the engineered tissue, the wounds are covered by a thin film that contains living cells cultured in the laboratory from foreskin cells.

Texas capital cases watched by courts

WASHINGTON (AP) - Four of the Supreme Court's nine justices put Texas and its courts on notice Monday: They're carefully watching how the state lets juries choose between death or life in prison for convicted murderers.

The extraordinary warning came as the nation's highest court rejected the appeal of Texas death row inmate Arthur Brown Jr., convicted of four drug-related murders in Houston five vears ago.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals had upheld Brown's death sentence.

In an opinion accompanying the order rejecting Brown's appeal, Justice John Paul Stevens criticized Texas' capital sentencing law - one that has helped make Texas the hation's far-and-away leader in executions.

Of the 59 executions in the United States this year, 31 have been in Texas. Since the Supreme Court ended a four-year legal moratorium on capital punishment in 1976, 417 have been executed -138 of them in

"Although juries are required to assess a capital defendant's 'future dangerousness' before sentencing him to death," Stevens noted, "he is prohibited from presenting truthful information to the jury about when he would be eligible for parole if sentenced to life.

Stevens, whose opinion was joined by Justices David H. Souter, Ruth had to spend 35 years in prison before being eligible for parole if sentenced

Brown sought to have the jury learn of that fact but was prevented from doing so by Texas law.

Stevens' opinion cited a 1994 Supreme Court ruling that said convicted murderers can tell with the court's action in Brown's sentencing juries when there's no case, however. In fact, only four chance they could be paroled if sentenced to life in prison, and added such appeals. there is obvious tension between this rule and our basic holding" in that decision.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell 'Average Girl," who is in an abusive relationship, to get out quick. The longer she stays, the harder it will be to leave.

Loads of toys

I never thought I'd let a man hit me, but three years ago, it happened. I met "Mike," who seemed like a swell guy. I was in total shock when, in the middle of an argument, he punched me in the face. He hit me so hard I thought my jaw was broken. He swore it would never happen again, but it did.

The abuse continued, but I was afraid to leave because Mike threatened to hunt me down and kill me. He said if he couldn't have me, no one else would. I finally realized I had to get out.

The solution for me was to sneak out of town without telling him. I moved a thousand miles away to live with a relative. My life is 100 percent better now. I have a good job and am self-supporting, but best of all, I have my self-respect. Please print my letter so other women in abusive relationships will know they don't have to live like that. -- The New Me in a New Town

Dear New You: Thanks for a letter that could change lives. Here's another one from a soul sister:

Dear Ann Landers: I have never felt so compelled to write to you as right now, after reading the letter from "Average Girl in Every City, U.S.A."

I was a battered wife for three years. I will not give you a blow-by-blow description of what my life was like. Just let me say it was horrible. After numerous black eyes and broken teeth, the final straw was when I lost twin babies in my seventh month of pregnancy because of a

It took me almost a year to save (and hide) enough money to move my two children and myself across the state to be with my family. Two months after field, he served me with divorce papers. It was the best Christmas present I ever received. I hope every woman who is living with a batterer will realize there is help available. First, she needs to get out. Next, she needs to know there are more sources for help now than ever before. She should check with her local hospital, her doctor, the police and a crisis clinic. There are some wonderful support groups for abused women these days, and she can avail herself of their services.

Dear Ann Landers: My girlfriend and I were driving up the Pacific Coast Highway to San Francisco recently. We stayed overnight in Oakland. In the morning, when we prepared to leave, my friend took out her car keys and placed them on the roof of the car. I'm sure a lot of people do this.

In the process of stowing the bags, we completely forgot that the keys were up there and spent almost 15 minutes searching for them. Fortunately, my friend had given me a spare set of keys "just in case."

We set off across the Oakland Bay Bridge, drove up a steep hill and came down on Lombard Street -- the one that zigzags like crazy all the way down. Then, we drove straight up Nob Hill. When we stopped to take some photographs of the beautiful scenery, another tourist pointed to the roof of our car. To our complete surprise, the keys were still up there.

I simply cannot explain this. The keys had no magnetic key rings or anything else that would make them stick. My friend and I agree it was an act of God, but tell me, Ann, according to the laws of gravity, shouldn't the keys have fallen off? --Dumbfounded Fans from Arizona and Kentucky few aches and pains at one time or Latinos. another. Maybe you have noticed a little stiffness after a workout or some soreness you attributed to the weather. For millions of people those little aches and pains could be the early signs of a life-threatening disease called lupus.

Lupus is a chronic autoimmune disease that can affect virtually any organ in the body. The immune system of a person with lupus produces antibodies that attack healthy tissue instead of protecting it against foreign invaders such as infections and viruses. More people have lupus than leukemia, multiple sclerosis, sickle-cell anemia or cystic fibrosis and can be every bit as Since most lupus victims are women, the symptoms often make the patient sound like a "complaining woman." This may lead to unsympathetic family and friends. The lack of family support causes women with lupus to hide it so others will not think of them as hypochondriacs.

It is believed that many more people have lupus without knowing it. The symptoms mimic other diseases and may not be diagnosed as lupus. The most common symptoms include achy and/or swollen joints, fever, prolonged fatigue, skin rashes and anemia. Although lupus affects every individual differently, its effects range from mild to life-threatening and thousands of Americans die from lupus complications each year.

While medical science has not discovered the cause nor developed a method for curing lupus, continued research brings new hope each year.

Nearly 100 local chapters throughout the United States provide their local communities with a range of patient services including monthly support group meetings, community outreach and public education programs, patient referral services, and free up-to-date medical information. The LFA and its chapters also raise money for lupus research.

IN BRIEF Worm says no deal

DEERFIELD, III. (AP) -Dennis Rodman is unhappy with the contract agreement he reached more than a week ago and still isn't officially a member of the Chicago Bulls.

Rodman and his agent, Dwight Manley, had separate meetings with Bulls general manager Jerry Krause on Monday, but there was no word that the NBA's six-time rebounding leader had signed a contract.

Rodman, who is threatening to sit out the start of the regular season if certain incentive clauses aren't rewritten or eliminated, wasn't available for comment Monday. Krause and Manley refused to talk to reporters.

Player not employee

AUSTIN (AP) -- A paralyzed former Texas Christian University football player was not an employee of the university when he was injured, according to a state district court jury.

After deliberating for about an hour, 10 of the 12 jurors Monday ruled against Alvis Kent Waldrep Jr.'s contention that he was an employee when he broke his neck during a football game against the University of Alabama in 1974. Had he been classified an employee Waldrep would have been eligible for worker's compensation benefits.

He said he had hoped his case would lead to worker's compensation insurance for all college athletes.

Under Texas law, only 10 jurors have to agree on a civil case verdict. None of them would discuss the decision.

Thomas gave the winless Indianapolis Colts plenty of respect, but no sympathy.

And why should he? The Buffalo Bills have their own problems.

"I don't feel sorry for them, because we have had some battles with them over the years. They've come out on top before," Thomas said after Buffalo's 9-6 victory Monday night, only the second game in NFL history played without a touchdown or turnover.

"We were lucky to get this one from them. They never really quit." Thomas, who left the game briefly with a sore knee, had 42 yards on 10

"It will be something nice to tell my grandkids about, but I'm going to keep on going," the 10-year veteran said. "I still feel like I have some time left in this league. I'm still having fun."

. It was no fun at all for the Colts (0-7), who have lost five games by a total of 17 points this season. They blew a 26-0 lead over the Bills last month, and last week they couldn't hold a 10-0 lead over Pittsburgh.

But Buffalo (4-3), blown out 33-6 at New England in its previous game, has had to fight for every victory.

"Obviously, if we lost here tonight, it would put us back. At least we're up in the right column there," said kicker Steve Christie, whose third field goal, a 27-yarder as time expired, gave the Bills their winning points. "It was a big win for us to get things rolling. We've got Denver next week, so hopefully we can play off this win.

It was bad enough Hereford lost a district ball game.

But for the second time in three weeks, the Whitefaces have lost their starting quarterback.

Freshman quarterback Cody Hodges reinjured what was believed to be a shoulder bruise in Friday night's District 1-4A 27-20 loss to Canyon Randall.

After an examination Monday in Amarillo, it was determined to be a broken collarbone.

Hereford head coach Craig Yenzer said Hodges will probably be out for the rest of year.

knee prior to the Pampa game.

That means junior Pedro Hernandez, who replaced Hodges early in the second quarter of the Randall game, will get the start in this Friday's game with Dumas.

tackles that, defens game.

The loss of Hodges exacerbated execution problems cited by Yenzer as one of the reasons for Hereford's lack of offensive success against the Raiders.

Hernandez struggled early, but did lead the Whitefaces on their final scoring drive, tossing a 12-yard touchdown pass to Jeremy High with 1:03 left in the game. Hernandez was 7-for-14 for 51 yards with no interceptions on the night.

But in the final analysis, the most important battle -- the battle in the trenches -- was where the game was lost by Hereford.

"They whipped us up front," he said. "Their defensive line on our offensive line, in the second half, they just started whipping up on us. I don't know whether it was momentum thing or not."

In the second half, the Raider defense held the Hereford ground game to minus-20 yards on 13 attempts.

Jeremy Miller, Hereford's senior tailback was effective in the first half, but defensive adjustments in the second half limited him to nine yards on seven rushes. For the game, he gained 79 yards on 19 carries.

"They stunted from the perimeter a lot," Yenzer said, "And they were slanting their defensive tackles out a little bit."

"We played an excellent game defensively, except for those two plays," Yenzer said, "We just missed tackles on those plays. Other than that, I was very pleased. (Our defense) certainly kept us in the ball game."

Hereford gave up 27 points and allowed 382 total yards to the Raiders. But it certainly could have been a lot worse. The Whitefaces turned the ball over three times themselves, and were victimized by a high snap on a punt. In addition, Hereford had a punt partially blocked.

Ultimately, it was the Hereford offense that failed to produce. The Whitefaces gained only 136 total yards for the game, most in the first half and on their final drive in the fouth quarter.

"We were real disappointed. We didn't get the push from our offensive line that we had been getting. And then there were the execution problems that caused us to put the ball on the ground," Yenzer said.

Hereford's special teams, which had been a strong point all season, were even suspect against Randall. Yenzer said the Whitefaces struggled after the loss of Hodges, who is also the Hereford punter.

Yenzer said he didn't sense the Whitefaces were looking ahead to a possible playoff berth. He said it was a matter of mental discipline on a handful of plays.

"(The loss) was due to a little lack of mental discipline on both sides of the ball," he said. "Our mental discipline really concerns me. In close games, it's those little things that you have to do to win."

Cornelius

Morris, said Cornelius' ankle continues to make progress, and that with the heavy taping she undergoes prior to each match, there's little chance her recovery will be less than total.

"She's fine," Morris said. "The coaches have done a great job of working with me to get her back in shape."

Pabst can't wait to have her at 100 percent. He's expecting big things from the big middle blocker.

"She'll have a chance, before she leaves Oklahoma, to be the best player we've ever had," said the longtime Sooner coach. "And we've have some really good players."

Pabst said he first took notice of Cornelius while she was playing with the Junior Olympic team.

"She's such a great athlete. She's got a great heart; she's got a great mind," Pabst said. "You know, there are a lot of kids who have talent, but that combination for an athlete is hard to find."

Cornelius said the decision to attend Oklahoma was more of a personal decision than one based on what different programs offered.

"It was totally God," she said. "I just prayed about it and God told me I was going to OU.

"I wanted to get it done early, so I could just play," she said. "I'm glad I did. The coaches here have been wonderful... My teammates and the coaches have a lot of confidence in me."

Pabst is glad the Big Guy was on his side. Cornelius was an integral part of the Sooners' five-set 10-15, 17-15, 12-15, 15-7, 15-13 victory Saturday night.

Cornelius entered as the second substitution for the Sooners. Maybe a little nervous, she had only one kill and four hitting errors in the first game.

Cornelius started each of the subsequent four games, and saw considerable playing time. She finished the match with 15 kills and eight block assists for Oklahoma.

Cornelius, however, didn't impress herself. She said there were things she could've done better.

"I still have a lot of areas to improve on," she said. "I need to work on my blocking and my hitting approach."

The numbers weren't what they'll someday be. Against the Red Raiders, Cornelius was overshadowed by teammates Patrice Arrington and Melissa Peterson who had 32 and 27 kills, respectively, and Texas Tech's Courtney Putnam who set a school record with 32 kills.

Pabst said she still has an area of weakness -- her backcourt defense. She was substituted out several times by Sarah Lane, a 5-11 redshirt freshman from Solano, N.M.

"She's not there yet," Pabst said.
"But she will be. She'll be an outstanding defensive player. Plus, I want to give a her a rest, and Sarah's an outstanding freshman, too, and I want to get her some playing time."

Pabst pointed out while Cornelius is a tremendous talent, he said he's most impressed by her mental attitude.

"You find a lot of great athletes," Pabst said. "But there are not a whole lot of great athletes with that mentality
... the mentality Danielle has.

"It's her upbringing," Pabst said.
"It's a rarity to see her kind of heart and dedication."

Cody Sargent shot an 81 for the Whitefaces' second-lowest score. He was followed by Kent Reinart with an 82.

"It's probably the best I've played in a long time," Maldonado said. "I was playing smart. If I got into trouble, I got myself out. I was doing smart things instead of hitting stupid shots.

On the girls side, Hereford was second to Amarillo Tascosa in a dual, also at Pheasant Trails, shooting a 367 to the Rebels 358. Senior Jacque Bezner led the Lady Whitefaces with a 76, tying Melissa Gindorf of Pampa for low round.

Bezner said her success on the greens was because of a different putter. Prior to the dual, she switched to an STX putter.

rusher this season, set up Christie's winning field goal with an 11-yard run to the Indianapolis 9 in the closing minutes. He ran twice more for 2 yards, then quarterback Todd Collins took a knee and let the clock run down to three seconds before calling a timeout.

Christie, who kicked earlier field goals of 22 and 47 yards, then lofted the game-winner, leaving the Colts and the Chicago Bears as the only winless teams in the NFL.

"It was do or die time," Smith said. "We wanted to put a couple first downs together and score a touchdown. If not, most definitely get in field goal range, Quinn Early made some great catches and it was a tremendous victory for us.

"I was just trying to keep loose and focus and pay attention, really. From there, it's just all technique," he said. "You, just wait for it. If it comes, it comes. If it doesn't, it doesn't. But if it does come, you'd better be ready."

The Colts' 94 points this season are the fewest in the NFL.

The Lady Whitefaces were hurt by the absence of senior Lindsay Ward. Ward did not play Saturday because of a recurring back problem.

"She's just not getting any better,"
Hereford head coach Stacy Bixler said. "She's gone to a chiropractor.
We're going to have to get her to go to the doctor."

The boys and girls teams face one more test during the fall season. Saturday, the boys will be at Walnut Creek in Amarillo and the girls will be at Plainview.

Stacy Bixler said the Walnut Creek course will require some unique preparation for the boys.

"Walnut Creek is a nine-hole course and it's full of sand. This week, we're going to work some (on our sand shots)," he said.

He added the course will also present the Whitefaces with some uneven lies and a few blind shots.

The Plainview course presents a tighter layout for the Lady White-faces.

"It's not a long course," Stacy Bixler said. "But it requires accuracy off the 'tee. . . . It's a tighter course and it's tree-lined. You have to chip and putt well. It's got little, fast greens with lots of slope."

Stacy Bixler said the girls will be working on those things in practice this week.

"We're going to work on our approach shots, and on our putting an chipping," he said.

The boys will tee off at 1 p.m. Saturday and the girls get under way in Plainview 8:30 a.m. Saturday morning.

Lady Harvesters when Betzen sent a kill to the Pampa backcourt.

The Lady Harvesters put up more of a fight in the second game. Pampa got the early lead at 1-0m but Hereford zipped back to take a 5-1 lead, capitalizing upon Pampa unforced errors.

Hereford increased their advantage to 9-2 and looked to be on their eay to easily finishing off the the Lady Harvesters when they started to bog down a problem they've had before.

"We've talked about finishing strong," Kitten said. "We were frustrated with that."

Pampa closed to 9-4 when sophomore Tandi Norton nailed a kill.

But the Lady Harvesters lost serve and Hereford ripped off five straight points behind senior Briar Baker.

points behind senior Briar Baker.
Pampa picked up two more points,
but Hereford finished off the Lady
Harvesters with a Betzen kill.

Rampley led the Lady Whitefaces with 10 kills on the match. Sophomore Tori Walker added six kills. Betzen had fivekills and had nine digs.

"We were able to hit down the line," Kitten said. "That's what we wanted to do . . . I wasn't thrilled with the end, but I was pleased with our hitting, how aggressively we were swinging. We're going to have to continue to do that."

Writing Want Ads that really sell!

Manager

Unsure how to write a Classified Ad that will get results? Follow these pointers and you'll soon have an empty space in your storage room and cash in your pocket. For starters, look at ads which offer the same item/ products. Get a sense of going rates and ideas for how to make your ad stand out. Once you're ready to write, begin with exactly what you're selling: "Dining room set, maple, six chairs." Then, remember these hints: -- Give the price. A newspaper consultant says 70 percent of classified readers won't respond to an ad with no price. -- Use key words to describe what you're selling. The key words for a car are make, model, year, body style, color, mileage and price. If it's a house, key words are location, type of construction, number of bedrooms and baths, and condition. -- Don't use abbreviations. It's tempting to abbreviate and save money if ads are billed by the line. Brand ads are billed by the words, so spell them out so readers won't be confused trying to figure out abbreviations.

-- Don't be misleading. Think accurate and factual when you write. Be sure to include a phone number and the best times to reach you.

ASPIRIN CAN HELP PREVENT HEART ATTACKS

DALLAS (AP) - As many as 10,000 American lives a year could be saved if more people who think they're having a heart attack took an aspirin at the onset of chest pains, according to a new report.

The American Heart Association first recommended in 1993 that people take one, full 325-milligram aspirin at the onset of chest pain or other symptoms of a severe heart attack.

A follow-up report published today in the association's journal Circulation shows not enough people are taking that seemingly simple life-saving step. An author of the report, Valentin Fuster, president-elect of the AHA and a professor of medicine at Mount Sinai Medical Center in New York, said research in the past four years shows that only 20 percent to 40 percent of heart attack victims have popped an aspirin at the onset of trouble.

RESTAURANT CHAIN REJECTS TAKEOVER BID

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) - The owner of Black-eyed Pea restaurants has rejected an unsolicited $69 million bid for the chain, and that could produce a bidding war. DenAmerica Corp., based in Scottsdale, said Monday that the offer from WAM Acquisitions is "totally inadequate and unsubstantial." Jack Lloyd, DenAmerica chairman, said the offer made Friday came as a surprise. "Unfortunately, once things like this are announced, there could be other offers," he said.

WAM Acquisitions's Wayne McIntosh was acting on behalf of Tech Electro Industries, a Dallas company that imports electronic components used in making and assembling high-tech products. The publicly held company is led by William Kim Wah Tan.

UP SAYS SERVICE PROBLEMS EASING

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) - Union Pacific Railroad's crisis with its congested rail lines can be measured in part by the hours its chief executive has devoted to clearing up the problem.

'In the last several months, almost every day and a lot of the night of my life," said UP Corp. chairman Dick Davidson. Based in Dallas, Davidson has spent four or five days a week in Omaha, as opposed to one or two days a week if things had gone smoothly.

A "War Room" at the railroad's main dispatching center in Omaha has five or six extra people managing the service recovery plan 24 hours Under pressure from shippers and federal regulators to unclog its congested system, the railroad told the Surface Transportation Board on Monday that the recovery plan filed with the board Oct. 1 has made progress. TOWNS UPSET ABOUT "ABANDONED" TRAINS ABILENE, Texas (AP) - Twice in the past two weeks, Union Pacific Railroad crew members have run "out of hours" on their trips and parked freight trains, refusing to go any farther, officials in two West Texas towns Saturday, Clyde police chief Ron Young said, a train blocked three intersections from 11:30 a.m. until 2:30 p.m., after a crew stopped working to wait for a relief crew, then left the 1.3-mile train unattended. The week before, another Union Pacific train was left unattended and idling on a Sweetwater side track for several hours. The train was parked near a motel area, and paramedics were called to treat one woman for respiratory difficulties related to inhaling diesel exhaust fumes. The woman was treated at the scene while police attempted for several hours to contact Union Pacific officials on Oct. 12.

JON VOIGHT

NEW YORK (AP) - Jon Voight is doing well by looking bad.

The 58-year-old actor is long removed from his Oscar-winning performance as a 1970s sensitive guy in "Coming Home." He admits it took some effort to accept letting go of his leading-man status.

"But I just determined that I wasn't going through face-lifts," he said in Time magazine's Oct. 27 issue. decided to use my jowls and wrinkles."

He's put them to good use, with unalluring roles in "Anaconda," "Heat" and "U-Turn." For "Heat," Voight was in a makeup chair for four hours seeking what he called a "fungal quality" for his skin.

When I first arrived on the set, a guy went up to my makeup artist and said, 'I used to drive for Jon. What happened - drugs?""

WOLF CREEK, Mont. (AP) - Bald eagles circled overhead, a Mandan Indian played a flute and an American flag with 15 stars and 15 stripes snapped in the chill autumn breeze - a perfect backdrop for Ken Burns to promote his documentary about the Lewis and Clark expedition.

Burns, co-producer Dayton Duncan and historian Stephen Ambrose took a motor launch down the Missouri River between the limestone cliffs that Meriwether Lewis dubbed the Gates of the Rocky Mountains.

The four-hour show, "Lewis and Clark: The Journey of the Corps of Discovery," airs Nov. 4-5 on the Public Broadcasting System. It traces the 1804-1806 expedition from St. Louis to the Oregon coast and back to St. Louis, Burns said Sunday as he started a weeklong tour along the route.

"What they saw transformed us, from a small country into a great one," he said. "In the end, you realize that the Lewis and Clark expedition is far more important than men landing on the moon.'

CAPTAIN KANGAROO

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - The original Captain Kangaroo believes the average American parent doesn't care what their children watch on television.

Television is a baby sitter, then years later (the parents) have a rotten kid on their hands and wonder why," Bob Keeshan said in the Oct. 25 issue of TV Guide.

The former children's program star is critical of TV violence, including shows like "Mighty Morphin Power Rangers," produced by Saban Entertainment.

'What bothers me more than anything is that these people make hundreds of millions of dollars corrupting the minds of American children with shows that say violence is OK as long as you're a good guy," Keeshan said.

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP) - Jena Malone is playing serious roles for someone not even in her teens. Malone, who turns 13 next month, played a sexually abused stepdaughter in last year's Showtime TV movie, "Bastard Out of Carolina." Her latest role is a Southern girl confronting racism in the 1960s in "Hope," which was broadcast Sunday on the TNT network.

NEW YORK (AP) A report that New Yorkers think "Seinfeld" is going stale sent the star of the top-rated show straight to the telephone.

Jerry Seinfeld called the New York Post after the tabloid published results of an unscientific fax poll that found a slim majority of New Yorkers were displeased with the sitcom's first month of new fall

"I think four episodes doesn't seem like a fair sampling out of a 24-episode season," Seinfeld said in Sunday's editions. "I think most seasons go that way. It takes a few weeks to kind of get back on track, get back into it and get groovy again.' The Post said hundreds responded to its "TV Plus Flash-Fax Poll," which asked whether readers were satisfied with "Seinfeld." Fifty-two percent expressed mild displeasure, while 48 percent said the showremained brilliant, the newspaper said.

Seinfeld called the paper after learning about the report, the Post said, to say he has completed work on three upcoming episodes that will change doubters'

"I feel like we've totally taken off _ they're so totally unique and original," Seinfeld said.

The stand-up comic who plays himself on the program that has called itself "the show about nothing" because its comedy comes from everyday mundane events defended its nontraditional premise.

"Every week, you have no idea what you're in for," Seinfeld said. "Most shows have a certain formula ... but we try to keep it very unexpected."

'Seinfeld" remains the top-rated show in America. In its first four weeks this season it finished second in the Neilsen ratings only once, to "ER."
