ACS chapter to hold rally

Volunteers and Hereford residents will hold the community's first-ever American Cancer Society Prevention Rally to develop local strategies for the prevention of cancer.

The rally will be 7-8 p.m. Tuesday at the Hereford Independent School District Administration Building, 601 N. 25 Mile

During the rally, Hereford community leaders and residents will learn about the cancer problem and how they can help Hereford residents prevent cancer. Everyone will be given the opportunity to build a customized prevention program, which can reduce cancer incidence and mortality by the year 2015.

Primary cancer prevention means taking the necessary precautions to prevent the occurrence of cancer in the first place. It is estimated more than twothirds of all cancers diagnosed could have been prevented. The American Cancer Society's prevention programs focus on tobacco control, nutrition and physical activity, promoting coordinated school health, and reducing the risk of skin

"We want to encourage all Hereford residents interested in preventing cancer or promoting healthy-lifestyles to attend the ... rally, If we all work together we can focus on fighting this disease through local cancer prevention activities," ACS volunteer Adam Treff said.

For more information on cancer prevention, early detection or services available call the American Cancer Society's 24-hour information line at 1-800-ACS-2345 or visit www.cancer.org.

The American Cancer Society is the nationwide, community-based, voluntary health organization dedicated to eliminating cancer as a major health problem by preventing cancer, saving lives and diminishing suffering from cancer, through research, education, advocacy, and service.

U.S. incomes post increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans' incomes rose last month even faster than spending, something that hasn't happened since October.

The Commerce Department reported today that personal income, which includes wages. interest and government benefits, increased by 0.7 percent in March, the fastest pace since January. Income growth was slightly stronger than the 0.6 percent rise many analysts were predicting.

Spending rose 0.5 percent, right on target with many analysts' expectations. On Wall Street, the blue-chip Dow Jones industrial average and the technology-heavy Nasdaq moved in opposite directions in early trading today. The Dow dropped 70 points and the Nasdaq gained 50. Yields on 30-year Treasury bonds dropped to 5.96 percent from 5.98 percent late Thursday.

The last time income rose faster than spending was five months ago, when Americans' incomes grew by 1.2 percent and their spending went up 0.5 percent.

The personal savings rate rose slightly to 0.4 percent in March from a record low of 0.2

percent in February, worse than the government previously estimated one month ago.

The savings rate isn't as bad as it seems because the calculation doesn't take into account gains realized from such things as rising stocks and higher real-estate values.

In February, income rose 0.4 percent, while spending grew by a torrid 1.4 percent, the fastest pace since 1994.

With plentiful jobs, rising incomes, stock markets gains and low inflation, Americans have been feeling in the mood to spend. In the first three months of this year, consumer spending rose at an annual rate of 8.3 percent, the biggest jump in nearly 17 years, the government said Thursday. The Federal Reserve has boosted interest rates five times since June 30 to slow the speeding economy, which grew at a 5.4 per-inflation under control.

The Fed's rate increases are designed to raise borrowing costs for big-ticket items such as homes and cars and in that way cool off demand and keep inflation from getting out of

Today, the country needs a modern equivalent of the Homestead Act - with new incentives - to bring people back to rural America, said Martin Jischke, president of Iowa State

New technologies give people greater flexibility in where they choose to live. But to attract and keep its so-called human capital, rural communities must better develop infrastructure such as Internet access and transportation, he said. And they need to give education a higher priority in today's informa-

Jischke was among 260 economists, bankers and other rural leaders gathered in Kansas City to attend a Federal Reserve confere called "Beyond Agriculture: New Policies Rural America.

Attendees listened via a live video linkup as Federal Reserve Chairman Alan Greenspan told them that 100 years ago rural citizens would have been incredulous had they known of the migration of millions of workers and the eclipse of many small towns and villages.

They would not have anticipated the diversity of modern rural America brought on by electricity, highways and modern communications, Greenspan said.

New technologies are again changing the rural landscape. Remote locations now have satellite television and telemedicine. And information technologies allow businesses to locate away from their central markets.

Agriculture, too, has changed, as well as many livestock operations that have become more like factories, he said. Electronic technologies, including satellite links, allow more precision farming. Genetic discoveries raise the productivity of both crops and livestock.

Man charged with student's death

SAN MARCOS, Texas (AP) — A Central Texas man posing as a woman through a computer chat room was so convincing that he lured a Texas A&M sophomore into a deadly meeting, law officers sav.

On the Internet, "Kelly" was a female Texas A&M pre-law

But police say the student's real identity was Kenny Wayne Lockwood, an unemployed 6-foot-2 man who treasured his electronic alter ego as a female and, faced with the discovery of his online gender deception, killed the suitor who had pushed for a face-to-face meeting

Lockwood, 31, of San Antonio was arrested Thursday in the killing of Kerry Kujawa. The 20-year-old from Richmond was found dead on a ranch near Dripping Springs, about 20 miles from Austin, on April 19.

Investigators think Lockwood may have killed Kujawa after he insisted on a face-to-face meeting and would discover his real identity.

Kenedy County gets high marks

HARLINGEN, Texas (AP) - An impact study shows that southern Kenedy County is a suitable location for a proposed spaceport that would serve as a launch and re-entry port for reusable rockets, a project spokesman says.

The study, conducted on an area about 17 miles east of Sarita, shows the location is a top site for the project, said Ray Covey, a representative for Central Power & Light Company's economic development program.

"We were told to do it (the study) to see if there were any red flags there, and there weren't any red flags, nothing insurmountable," Covey told the Harlingen Valley Morning Star in today's editions. "It appears to still be a viable project, I can assure you."

Heirs seek Texas painting

HOUSTON (AP) - A Matisse painting acquired a halfcentury ago by a Texas family may have been among hundreds of works stolen by Nazis from a French art collector.

The 11 heirs of French art collector Alphonse Kann's estate are tracing the chain of ownership to the 1907 oil-on-canvas landscape, "La Riviere aux aloes" (Brook with Aloes), by Henri Matisse. It has been on display in Houston's Menil Collection Menil director Ned Rifkin told the Houston Chronicle in today's editions that the investigation is continuing after Francis Warin of Paris, who represents the heirs, contacted the museum in a letter last July.

"We are in conversation with Mr. Warin," Rifkin told the newspaper, "but we have an agreement to not discuss it publicly at this time.

"We are doing research on the piece, as is Warin," he said. "We want to do what is right and best, and we will."

Extra jobs make ends meet

Educators find moonlighting a necessity

AUSTIN (AP) - By day they work to educate the state's children. By night, 28 percent of Texas' 250,000 public school teachers rent out videos, play at piano bars or tutor to make ends meet, according to a Sam Houston State University study released

"Teachers, they make enough but not to the point where they have their own kid going to college," said Ysrael Valencia, a high school math instructor in El Paso who teaches night school three times a week to supplement his income.

Valencia is not alone, according to the study, "Texas Teachers, Moonlighting and Morale: 1980-2000." It was compiled based on surveys mailed to 710 randomly selected members of the 80,000member Texas State Teachers Association. It had a margin of error of plus or minus 3.5 percent.

The association paid for mailing the surveys but had nothing to do with data compilation or analyzing, said David Henderson, the Sam Houston researcher who has been conducting the study

Not only are large numbers of Texas teachers working second jobs to add to their incomes, but 43 percent plan to leave the field or are considering leaving, the study said.

Although poor salary and benefits remained among the top reasons teachers left the profession, this survey reflected the additional amount of stress Texas educators face under the state's accountability system, based largely on results of the Texas Assess-

"Lots of them are saying it's the testing," Henderson said Thursday. "I've been everywhere and they say, 'We're not doing much in social studies and we're not doing much in science because the TAAS focuses on reading, writing and arithmetic."

"It's not surprising that 43 percent are seriously considering leaving the profession altogether," said Ignacio Salinas Jr., president of the Texas State Teachers Association. "This is bad news at a time when critical teacher shortages already exist throughout the country, but especially in

The State Board of Educator Certification estimates more than 44,000 teacher vacancies in the next school year with only 14,000 new recruits available to fill the jobs.

Additionally, more than 18 percent of current teachers are teaching at least one class for which they do not have the appropriate certificate.

"It is a huge issue in the state, there's no doubt about that," said board spokeswoman Stephanie Korchek. "Our board has said that the most important thing the state can do to help the teacher shortage problem is not recruitment, but retention."

several projects, including a federally-funded teacher support program, and joint initiatives with several state universities and colleges.

But Texas teachers - who, even with a $3,000 annual pay raise from the Legislature last year, earn $3,000 below the national average salary of $41,377 — say those initiatives aren't enough.

"The Texas Legislature must make recruitment and retention of teachers a top priority," Salinas said. "It can solve the financial problem by raising salaries to the national level and establishing a statewide health insurance plan for "The milk industry realized some years ago that it had to perk up its act a bit, or appear more relevant to consumers, especially young consumers," said John Sicher, editor of Beverage Digest.

For years, milk has been steadily losing market share to soft drinks, juice, bottled water and other beverages. Milk consumption dropped from 19.4 gallons per person in 1988 to 18.2 gallons in 1998.

Enter the Milk Chug, singleserve bottles of flavored milk introduced by the nation's second biggest dairy processor, Dean Foods Co. of Franklin Park, Ill. Sales totaled $100 million in 1999 and are projected to double to $200 million this year as the product is introduced nationwide, thanks to a new technology that the company says triples the shelf life of milk to six weeks or more.

The drinks give kids a healthy alternative to soda, said Eric Blanchard, a Dean Foods spokesman.

"That's the main goal, to get people to drink a healthier product that is still fun and tastes good," Blanchard said. "For years, you didn't have the convenience or the portability or the re-sealability with the standard half-pint or a pint of milk.'

The new three-liter milk jugs are aimed at younger kids — and their parents. First introduced in Canton, Ohio, last year, the new jug was designed so a child could pour a glass by tilting the bottle rather than lifting it up. Hereford wins in eight, 10-9

■ Lady Whitefaces set sights on Tuesday's match at Frenship

By Jeff Blackmon

Hereford Brand Sports Editor If one thing is certain in Hereford these days, it is that the town lacks no suspense and excitement when it comes to athletics.

The Hereford Lady Whitefaces varsity softball team won a grueling battle Thursday night in Midland against a gritty Pecos team 10-9 winning the area championship.

The game was an eight inning thriller as Hereford knocked in the winning run in the bottom of the eighth for the win. Head coach Penny Summers said she feels a lot of pride about the team.

"I am proud of our Lady Whiteface softball team," Sum-mers said. "The best feeling in the world is running out on that field and celebrating the win with the team."

The team almost missed out on the celebration, because they fell behind quickly to the Lady Eagles 5-1. Assistant coach Angela Stansell said the team decided to buckle down and play together after getting off to a rough start.

"I thought the girls did a great job at keeping their cool and pulling together to win," Stansell said. "Our motto is 'together we win' and that is exactly what we did."

The Lady Herd was able to catch up with Pecos in the third inning evening the score

The Lady Eagles and Hereford were each held without a score in the fourth inning keeping the game at a tie.

The Lady Herd stayed hot and took the lead for the first time on Thursday by scoring two runs in the bottom of the fifth to lead 7-5.

In the next inning, Pecos stormed back with four runs of their own to take back the lead 9-7.

Hereford went on to score a run in the next three innings while first baseman Teresa Zimmerman kept the Lady Eagles at bay for the Hereford win.

The game was not without controversy as two questionable calls were made in the seventh and eighth innings. In the bottom half of the seventh, Hereford was down 9-8 and scored one run to tie the game at 9-9. Crystal Luna hit a key triple to tie the game, and she was on third base in scoring position. The next bat-ter, Janae Schlabs, hit a fly ball to center which was caught by a Pecos outfielder for the out. Luna appeared to tag up at third and run home for the win, but the officials ruled that she did not tag up at third which ended the in-

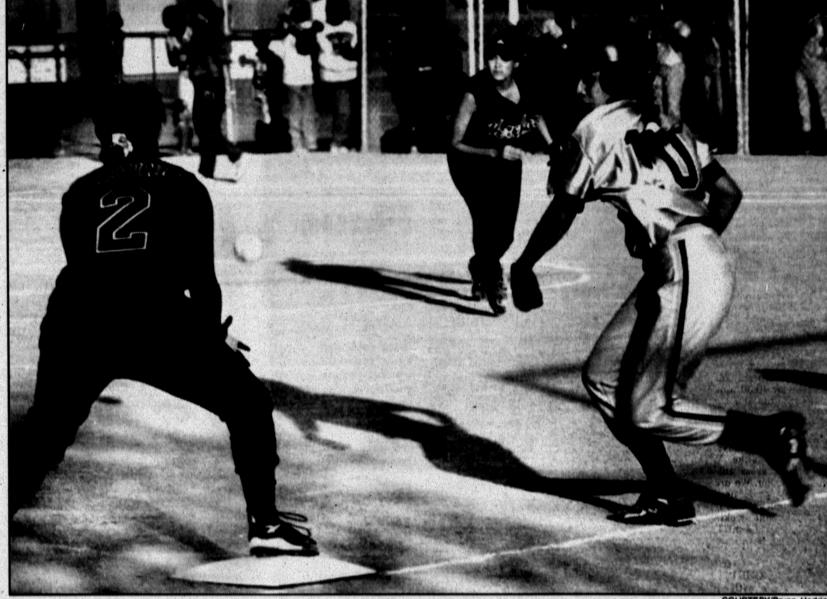

Coach Stansell said she could tell the call shook up the team as they headed to extra innings.

"We were disappointed with the call in the seventh but realized that it could not pull us down," Stansell said.

Summers said she noticed the girls were down after the call but knew they could come

They thought it was the end of the world, but I told them we were tied up and it was a whole new ball game," Summers said.

The Lady Whitefaces began the eighth in a nerve racking way. The team allowed a Pecos runner to get all the way to third when the bizarre oc-curred again. The runner on third for Pecos appeared to score on a sacrifice fly, but the officials also said she did not tag up properly to end the inning.

In the bottom of the eighth the Lady Whitefaces were determined to come home with the win. April Trevizo reached first base on an error and was able to move to second base on the bad throw to first. Coach Summers said she told Trevizo that the team needed her to reach base.

"I told her she had to get on base some way," Summers said. "She is one of our fastest players and when she got to second I knew I could relax a little bit."

HEREFORD'S HURLER

Hereford's Hurler—Kurtis Flood (above) looks to see where his disc would land on Tuesday

By Jeff Blackmon Hereford Brand Sports Editor

Even though he has only thrown in the discus competition for three years, Hereford High School senior Kurtis Flood throws the metal saucer like he has been throwing since birth.

At the district 3-4A track meet, Flood made his best throw of year with a mark of 160 feet even propelling him to the regional meet in San Angelo. Flood went to regionals last year as an alternate, but he is glad to be going to compete this year.

"I threw 132 feet in district last year," Flood said. "I got to go, but I couldn't throw."

Flood said he has worked hard to get to this point this year. Flood said working out during football season has helped with his strength, and he keeps working on his form to make himself better.

"I am learning new steps and new forms I didn't know last year," Flood said. "I have been able to advance my level of learning because last year was just my second year to get to throw.

Flood said throwing the discus has more to do with form than anything. He said the form determines how far the discus is thrown. "If you don't have form you are not going to be able to throw very far at all," Flood said. "You're muscle isn't going to get it out there." Even though the regional meet will bring together many discus hurlers to San Angelo to compete, Flood said he likes his chances against the competition. "I am excited," Flood said.

'I have a great shot at going to state and winning this thing."
Flood said he can not wait to take the next step toward winning state, and he feels as excited as he did before the district meet.

"I am as excited as I was before district," Flood said. "I think I slept a total of three hours the night before."
Flood said he thinks that will probably happen again as he readies for regionals.

"I am real impatient, and I am ready to go," Flood said.

Coach Jim Conger has worked with Hereford discus throwers for almost the last 15 years and said Flood's willingness to learn and desire to improve makes him the thrower that he is. Conger said he also admires Flood's attitude of never giving up.

"He was really challenged his sophomore year, but he stuck with it," Conger said.
"He has the hard work and persistence it takes to win."

Conger said he has enjoyed working with Flood because of his knowledge and realization that it takes work to reach a goal. He said Flood has the ability to look forward and know what he has to do to reach his goal.

"He has the intelligence and ability to see what he has to

Cubs rock Houston at Enron, 12-3

Gutierrez not kind to former Astros team mates

HOUSTON (AP) - Ricky Gutierrez went beyond the natural desire to do well against a team that discarded

Gutierrez, a Houston shortstop for five years before going to the Chicago Cubs as a free agent this season, had a big three-game series against the Astros. It ended with him going 3-for-4, including a home run and three runs scored, to allowing five home runs and help the Cubs win 12-3 Thursday.

For the series, Gutierrez went 7for-12 (.583), hit two home runs and two doubles. scored four runs and drove in nine.

"I have a lot of friends over there, but I wanted to do well against Gutierrez said of his prethem," Gutierrez said. "We respect each other, but we're competitors. I wanted to come here and have a good series, but I want to do that against every team we play.

"The fans here were good to me, but I'm a Cub now and I want to win."

to have him.

"Ricky really had a fantastic series," manager Don Baylor said. "He couldn't have written a better script for and try to work my way out going against his old team if of this. I know it can't get he wrote it himself.

"You always root for free agents to do well against their former teams, but it doesn't always happen. Ricky really came through, and I feel happy for him. He is really locked in right now."

The Astros were impressed.

"Ricky's hitting real good," manager Larry Dierker said.

"They have got him in a little different stance and he is really playing well.

"I always liked Ricky. After tonight, I wish him well. But I wish he wasn't destroying us like he has."

Gutierrez and his old friend, Astros pitcher Jose Lima, joked before the game about what they would do to each other. Lima, obviously, got the worst end of it.

Lima set team records by giving up four homers in the first inning. He gave up 12 runs and 13 hits in five intied a team record set in 1930 with four homers in an inning.

"It's good-natured, we both want to get the other one," game joking with Lima. "He wants to strike me out and I want to hit a home run off him. I don't think I'll get on him today, though.

"He'll be OK. He had a bad game, that's all. But he'll be all right."

Lima certainly wasn't in The Cubs are certainly glad the mood for joking afterward. "I want to shoot myself," Lima said. "But I'm not going to give up on myself. I'm going to keep throwing worse.

Cubs starter Jon Lieber was all right Thursday, recording his first complete game of the year by striking out seven and allowing only one earned run. "He made good pitches, win no matter where you're pitching," Baylor said. "He went 120 pitches, but he was still going strong. He spotted his fastball well and kept the ball down. He also kept them in the vard, except for Daryle Ward's home run."

The Astros are glad to be one from new Enron Field for a while.

"It wasn't pretty," Dierker said. "It was almost over before it began. Now we go on the road and we get a chance to see if the ballpark's got us psyched out or if we're just playing this badly. I don't think it's the ballpark."

Ward's home run extended the Astros' streak of games with a home run to six. Craig Biggio ended a craeer high 16-game hitting streak by going 0-for-3, and Eric Young's first-inning home run was the 11th time in his career he has hit a leadoff home run. When Gutierrez hit his home run right- after Young's, it was the third time this season the Cubs have hit backto-back homers.

do," Conger said. "He is a very insightful young man."

Conger also said when Flood makes up his mind to do something he will do it. Conger said this year Flood has made up his mind to go back to regionals and win.

"If he tells you he is going to do something, you can take it to the bank," Conger said. "He has made up his mind to go back and get it."

Conger said the main difference he can see in Flood from when he began to throw as a sophomore and today is his confidence level. Conger said he has Flood turn up the competitiveness in his throwing because he believes in him-

"He made a big jump last year," Conger said. "I like to joke around with him that he has become a little bit surly. He can turn that on and that helps his competitiveness."

Flood is the only member of the varsity track team to go to the regional meet this year, and he said he hopes his that's what you have to do to example has helped the team.

"I hope I was able to demonstrate a little bit of leadership to them," Flood said. "I hope they can see that regionals is a fun time and worth working toward."

The most important thing to Flood though is going to state and representing the school well and bringing home a medal.

"I just want to go to regionals and win this thing,' Flood said.

Make no mistake about it, Flood wants to win but when he thinks he may be getting too confident or cocky he just reminds himself of how he used to throw when he began. Flood said doing this also helps him deal with pressure.

"I just take a deep breath, look at my discus and remember all the marks I have put in it when I hit a post or a ring," Flood said. "That makes me laugh and calm down."

Flood is in action this afternoon at Angelo State University. The discus event at the regional meet begins at 4 p.m.

With Trevizo in scoring position, Zimmerman played the hero off the mound by hitting the ball past the short stop for the win.

Coach Summers said the win was a result of the Lady Herd's team play and the understanding of each player's

"We played together as a team and won together as a team," Summers said. "Every girl on our team has an important role, and I appreciate the girls' positive attitude and desire to win."

Summers said the win was incredible for the team, but she wants the team to still focus on getting better. Summers said she believes the team has started to use their heads more, but she would still like to see more hits.

"They are starting to think now. They have some game in their heads," Summers said. "I want to see more hits though."

The team totaled 11 hits in Thursday's game with four errors. Trevizo led the team in hits with three singles, and Ashley Gonzalez and Zimmerman each added two hits in the winning effort.

The team's next game is against Frenship on Tuesday at 7 p.m. in Frenship. Hereford's playoff run ties Pampa with the farthest any district 3-4A softball team has gone in the playoffs. Pampa made it to round three last vear.

Frenship beat Hereford in their first meeting this year, but coach Summers said the game took place early in the year, and now they are a different team.

"They beat us in the first game, but we can beat them," Summers said. "We had a lot of players involved in other sports, and we were intimidated by fast pitchers at the time. Summers said she is ready to face them again and go after their pitching. "They throw with a speed we like to hit now." Summers

Microsoft breakup plan expected to be released

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

digest

WASHINGTON - Details of a plan to break up Microsoft will be released today when the Justice Department and 19 states that successfully sued the software giant for antitrust violations submit their joint proposal on what sanctions to impose.

The remedy, which would split Microsoft into two parts, is intended to prevent the company from engaging in any illegal behavior in the future. The proposal would forbid the split companies from recombining for 10 years, according to a published report.

The proposal will be submitted after financial markets close to U.S. District Court Judge Thomas Penfield Jackson, who on April 3 ruled that Microsoft repeatedly violated federal antitrust laws intended to maintain fair competition by using its monopoly power in the operating systems market to crush rivals.

Jackson gave the govern-ment and the states the option of submitting separate briefs if they failed to agree on a remedy. Despite doubts expressed by some states on the divestiture plan, a single proposal will be filed with the court, according to people close to the talks.

New York State Attorney General Eliot Spitzer called the recent comments by Gates, along with those by the chief executive officer, Steve The nameless, faceless Ballmer, distortive." "fundamentally

Court ruling keeps Miami relatives' appeal alive

MIAMI - A lawyer for the Miami relatives of Elian Gonzalez says they are pleased with a ruling that keeps alive their appeal of a government decision to reunite the 6-yearold with his Cuban father.

However, the three-judge panel of the 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Atlanta also denied the relatives' request to see Elian, who is now with his father in Maryland.

Kendall Coffey, a lawyer for the Miami relatives, said his legal team found Thursday's ruling to be fair.

"The court amplified and essentially reaffirmed the ruling it had previously made to assure that under no way shape or form is Elian Gonzalez leaving this country for Cuba until after this appeal is heard," he

The ruling came amid political fallout in Miami. Mayor Joe Carollo fired the city manager Thursday in a dispute over the police chief's role in Saturday's federal raid in Little Havana that returned Elian to his father.

Meanwhile, a group of nine

Cubans arrived in the United States to see Elian in Maryland: four schoolmates from his hometown of Cardenas, four of their parents and Elian's doctor. President Fidel Castro saw them off.

Communists come to life

HO CHI MINH CITY, Vietnam - They were the nameless, faceless communist jungle fighters the Americans never saw, willing to pay any price, to fight to the last soldier to free their country of foreign domination.

Today was their day to reminisce, and nearly 200 of them celebrated the 25th anniversary of their victory with songs and speeches, dances and drinks.

Few Americans can understand how they won the war, spending long periods far from home. Awkward as soldiers, they moved through jungle in sandals and pitted their rifles against the mighty American weapons that U.S. generals said would bring them to their knees.

But Col. Pham Ngoc Loi, who was in the final assault that toppled the U.S.-backed Saigon government 25 years ago Sunday, said it was very simple: "We fought a legitimate struggle for our national independence. We also firmly believed in the leadership of Ho Chi Minh. We thought we would win eventually, so we faced many hardships."

Writing Want Ads that really sell!

Unsure how to write a Classified Ad that will get results? Follow these pointers and you'll soon have an empty space in your storage room and cash in your pocket.

For starters, look at ads which offer the same intem/products. Get a sense of going rates and ideas for how to make your ad stand out. Once you're ready to write, begin with exactly what you're selling: "Dining room set, maple, six chairs.'

Then rememeber these hints: Give the price. A newpaper consultant says 70 percent of classified readers won't respnd to an ad with no price. Use key words to describe what you're selling. The key words for a car are make, model, year, body style, color, mileage and price. If it's a house, key words are location, type of construction, number of bedrooms and baths, and condition.

money if ads are billed by the line. Brand ads are billed by the words, so spell them out so readers won't be confused trying to figure out abbreviations.

· Don't use abbreviations. It's tempting to abbreviate and save

· Don't be misleading. Think accurate and factual when you write. Be sure to include a phone number and the best times to reach

"Although dislocations are bound to accompany economic growth, we should not shrink from accepting the changes that technology will bring," Greenspan said, "but rather should rise to its challenges and look forward to the great benefits that it can provide over time to all our people, whether they live in congested urban areas or in the still-open spaces of rural

That was not something that Ann Jorgensen, a board member of the Farm Credit Association and an Iowa farmer, found easy to

"I found it very depressing in terms of where rural America is going," she said after Greenspan's speech. "I think it is accurate, and it is up to us to figure out what to do next."

Jeffrey Walser of the Kansas City-based FDIC attended the conference because of his interest in the health of rural banks.

He called Greenspan's speech appropriate for a luncheon address, but said it had little new. "Forces affecting rural areas are very fundamental, very long-term - not conducive for quick policy fixes.

■ Top advisers to Bush, McCain hope to salvage meeting between two former Republican oppoents

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top advisers to George W. Bush and vanquished rival John McCain hope to salvage a May 9 meeting between the Republican heavyweights after the show-of-unity event was nearly scrapped in a dispute over its agenda.

Senior McCain advisers said the first face-to-face meeting since Bush ran McCain from the race would likely be postponed - if not canceled. Bush advisers said they were still confident the session would be held. Aides in both camps spoke only on condition they not be identified.

In an effort tosalvage the event, which is important to the political futures of both McCain and Bush. their top advisers planned to meet today in Washington.

Bush and McCain need a successful meeting for different reasons. Bush wants to unify zona senator, who still has presidential ambitions, wants to show Republicans he is a party man.

There are downsides for both men, too. Bush is unlikely to gain McCain's endorsement, which he needs to help court independent voters. And McCain fears he could damage his political maverick image if he unites with Bush at a meeting that independent voters recognize as, in the words of one aide, "a political charade."

"The status of the meeting is tenuous," said McCain spokesman Todd Harris. "We feel that any meeting between Senator McCain and Governor Bush should be a substantial one. We don't view a meeting whose primary purpose is to go over once again whether John McCain wants to be vice president - when everyone knows he doesn't want to - falls into the substantial category

McCain and his advisers have been chafing ever since Bush took the unusual step last week of announcing that he would ask McCain in the meeting whether he was willing to serve as vice president.

McCain has said repeatedly that he doesn't want the job.

Bush, however, has been under pressure from some Republicans who think McCain's appeal is worth a full-court effort to get him on the ticket. McCain and his advisers believed that Bush was turning the meeting into a high-profile forum for the Arizona senator to take himself out of the run-

Their discomfort with that notion suggests that some top McCain supporters want him to remain a vice presidential pros-pect. Some of them say they suspect that McCain could be persuaded to serve on the ticket if Bush waged a sincere campaign to do so.

Bush's pledge to pop the question to McCain also guaranteed a "circus atmosphere" at the meeting, a senior McCain ad-viser said. The advisers saw it as an attempt to narrow the agenda, which McCain had hoped would include fruitful discussions about campaign finance reform, Social Security, military spending and his role in the Republican National Convention McCain's advisers were preparing a list of suggested agenda items to submit to the Bush campaign Thursday when a syndicated columnist reported that Bush advisers expected "little satisfaction" from the meeting and might prefer "a short, unhappy get-together in Pittsburgh than a long, tendentious partnership."

McCain, traveling in Vietnam to commemorate the 25th anniversary of the fall of Saigon, was angered by the column. He told aides to cancel the meeting unless they could be assured that Bush wanted to hold substantial talks on a variety of McCain strategist John Weaver and Bush campaign manager Joe Allbaugh agreed to keep an appointment today to discuss the agenda:

"We are looking foward to the completion of this renova-tion process and the opening of our new exhibit People of the Plains: Experiments in Living in the summer of 2001," museum director Walt Davis said. "Included in the renovation plans is the transformation of Pioneer Hall into a friendly and informative orientation space that will serve as the introduction to the museum itself and a gateway to the hsitory of the Panhandle region."

Atlantis' next launch attempt, as a result, will be May 18.

Shuttle launch off until May 18

The three-week delay means the space station may have to dip into its limited fuel supply to boost its orbit, which has been slipping almost 2 miles a week because of increased solar activity and its effect on the Earth's atmosphere. Atlantis' crew was supposed to raise the uled for that day, and Atlantis station using shuttle fuel.

Facts About 1 JOHN THE BIBLE HAS BEEN THE WORLD'S "BEST SELLER" FOR MANY YEARS. ONE CAN TRAVEL TO THE FAR CORNERS OF THE EARTH AND STILL FIND A COPY OF THE BIBLE WAITING FOR HIM THERE. IT HAS BEEN TRANSLATED INTO 195 DIFFERENT LANGUAGES AND MILLIONS OF COPIES ARE SOLD EACH YEAR. IN A SINGLE YEAR, ENOUGH COPIES ARE DISTRIBUTED TO AVERAGE 47 FOR EVERY MINUTE OF EVERY HOUR, NIGHT AND DAY. WITH SO MANY EDITIONS AND SO MANY PRINTINGS OF THIS GREAT BOOK, OVER THE YEARS, SMALL WONDER THAT THERE HAVE BEEN OCCASIONAL ERRORS MADE IN ITS PRINTING! HERE ARE A FEW THE BREECHES BIBLE: IN 1560 AN EDITION OF THE BIBLE SAID ADAM AND EVE "SEWED FIG LEAVES TOGETHER AND MADE THEMSELVES BREECHES." THE VINEGAR BIBLE : IN 1717, AN EDITION HAD THE 20TH CHAPTER OF LUKE HEADED AS "THE PARABLE OF THE VINEGAR" INSTEAD OF "VINEYARD! THE WICKED BIBLE : IN 1631, A PRINTER WAS FINED 300 POUNDS BECAUSE HE LEFT OUT "NOT" IN ONE OF THE TREACLE BIBLE: AN THE TEN COMMANDMENTS EDITION IN 1568 HAD JEREMIAH 8:22 SO THAT IT APPEARED IN READING IS THERE NO TREACLE IN GILEAD" INSTEAD OF "BALM". EXODUS 20:14 "THOU SHALT COMMIT ADULTERY THE PRINTERS BIBLE: IN 1702 THE 119TH PSALM, VERSE IGI, READ : "PRINTERS HAVE PERSECUTED ME WITHOUT CAUSE" INSTEAD OF "PRINCES!"

NOTWITHSTANDING THE ERRORS, THE BIBLE, IN THE THOUSANDS OF EDITIONS PUBLISHED AND THE MANY MILLIONS OF COPIES THAT HAVE BEEN DISTRIBUTED, CONTINUES TO BRING TO HUMANITY THE SPIRITUAL AND MORAL VALUES SO NEEDED BY THE WORLD AT LARGE!
