

Water supply good despite increased use in peak period

A continuation of the current "dry spell" and a sharp increase in residential use of water could possibly put the city water supply in a pinch, city manager Dudley Bayne said this week.

The city is in its "peak" water usage period—July 15 to July 30—and Bayne said the city is encouraging residents to use their water only as it is needed and not to waste it.

"We are going to have water. We don't have any plans for rationing water at this time and everything is in good working order," he said. "But, if things continue like they are and the vegetable sheds, who use a lot of water, need more than usual it could be a little close."

Bayne said city water use is up considerably "over anything we've ever encountered before." He said the prolonged drought has forced city residents to use more water and the amount used since April is well above normal.

The maximum amount of water the city can store at one time is 3 million gallons in its underground facilities and slightly over 1 million in overhead water towers.

The two overhead storage facilities located in the city hold a total of 700,000 gallons while the tower located at the Wilson Plant is capable of holding 400,000 gallons.

"We can store about 800,000 gallons, depending on the time of day. This could last as little as two hours," he said.

Presently the city water consumption is about 7 million gallons a day and the pumping capacity of the city's 23 wells is about 13 million gallons a day. The wells, located throughout the city, are cut off from 10 p.m. to midnight after all storage facilities are full. They are turned on during the day as the water supply is depleted.

Just last week a number of homes in northwest Hereford experienced a loss of water pressure, Bayne said, due to a "lost signal" indicating the water supply in the overhead facilities was low. The northwest part of the city is on a higher incline than the other sections and will be the first to experience a depletion of the water supply.

"People can, in a peak day in a peak hour, use more water than we can supply," Bayne said, "and since we are in our peak period, we encourage them to conserve their water and not waste it, but at the same time use it if they need it."

Hospital board sets tax rate

Rate expected to show increase of $45,000 for county

BY MARSHALL DAY
Staff Writer

The Deaf Smith County Hospital Board has approved a 25 cent tax rate that assures the county a $45,000 savings without an increase in taxes.

The tax rate came with the approval Tuesday to the budget for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1.

The 25 cent tax rate is based on $100 valuation set by the county which is 22 per cent of the actual value of property assessed. The hospital's tax levy is set at 88 per cent collection.

"The county, in setting up the tax rate, estimates that only 90 per cent of the taxes will be collected," said hospital administrator T.E. Seigler. "Now then in the enabling act, the county will do the assessing and collecting and we would pay them 2 per cent so that is where our 25 cent tax rate is levied at 88 per cent collection."

Seigler said the tax rate will allow the county to wind up about $65,000 ahead of last year, including approximately $20,000 which the school system will get from the formation of the hospital district.

"People are not going to be paying any more total taxes than they did last year," he told the board. "Yet the county is going to wind up with about $65,000 more."

The budget, Seigler said, will not give the hospital district anything to off-set the charity and bad debt cases, but it will take care of the hospital insurance, bonds and general capital improvements.

He said he expects the hospital to lose about $300,000 in the coming year to charity and bad debts, so it still will have to operate on a tax basis. This is why, he said, the county lowered its tax rate from 4 per cent valuation to 22 per cent.

"We are entering our first year of trial and error in pretty good shape, but I can't promise that next February or March I won't come to you and say we need to raise this 5 cent tax rate."

"Actually we are in better shape than we have ever been in, financially," he said. "We hope to have about $30,000 on hand at the beginning of the fiscal year."

Seigler said what the situation boils down to is that the formation of a hospital district was done under the impression that taxes would not be raised. This has been done, he said, by the lowering of what the county would assess, which lowers what the state would assess.

The setting of the tax rate at 25 cents per $100 valuation as set by the county, also means there will be no increase in the room rates as was feared earlier by members of the hospital board.

In a meeting earlier this month, Seigler told the board that a low patient load and a high number of patients who leave without paying was putting the hospital in a financial pinch. He said he did not know whether the hospital could continue to absorb these costs without increasing the room rates.

The 5 cent tax rate would give the hospital an estimated $10,000. Of this, about $30,000 will be needed for repayment of bonds and the remaining $30,000 will be used to help make up the deficit caused by charity and bad debt cases.

"What this all boils down to is a manipulation of figures to separate the hospital from the county without raising taxes or room rates," Seigler said.

District Judge Archie McDonald Tuesday named deputy sheriff Harold Wheeler as the new adult probation officer to replace Howell Sharp, who resigned.

Wheeler, a 17-year veteran of law enforcement, will assume the duties of adult probation officer Aug. 1.

McDonald, in making the announcement, said he received eight applications for the office from residents of Hereford. He also received one telephone application from an Amarillo resident and another from a party in Goodwell, Okla.

"I have considered all applications from all persons residing in Hereford," he said. "It appears from the applications that everyone that applied could, and would have, made a good adult probation officer."

"However, there can be only one person appointed. I have decided to appoint Mr. Harold Wheeler."

Wheeler moved to Hereford about a year ago as deputy sheriff. He was previously sheriff at Vega for Oldham County for 15 years. He served as deputy sheriff here until about two months ago when he was appointed criminal investigator for Deaf Smith County under both the county sheriff and the district attorney.

"I think it is a privilege to be offered a job like this. I've always been interested in this type of work," Wheeler said Tuesday after being informed of his appointment.

Wheeler is past master of the Vega Masonic Lodge, past president of Kiwanis in Vega, past national president of the United Peace Officers of America and past president of the Panhandle Police Communications Association.

He is a member of the Hereford Lions Club, Hereford Peace Officers Association and the West Texas-Eastern New Mexico Peace Officers Association.

The proceeds from the carnival will be used in "standing" contributions made by the Lions Club during the coming year. These contributions include monthly donations to Girlstown, Boys Ranch, and other projects.

"This is our first project of the new year," Allred said, "and it normally proves to be the largest single project of the year. We are looking forward to making it a big success."

VACCINE HERE — Aaron Hutto, right, vaccinates one of the more than 200 horses that have been brought to his office. The vaccine against Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis (VEE) became available here Sunday, and Hutto said he had vaccinated over 600 animals since that time.

Vaccinations continue for horse disease

Approximately 1,000 of the county's equines lined up earlier this week to be vaccinated against the spreading Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis, and local veterinarians are expecting still more.

Aaron Hutto, of Hutto's Veterinary Clinic, said Wednesday morning he had vaccinated about 623 animals since first receiving the vaccine on Sunday. Jack Gilliland, of Hereford Vet Clinic, said he vaccinated about 300 through Wednesday.

The vaccine first became available from the Lubbock distribution center on Sunday and Hutto received 150 doses then, 100 on Monday and 400 on Tuesday. All of this was used up by Wednesday and he said he was making another attempt to get 150 doses Wednesday.

Gilliland received 100 doses on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The premises quarantine, which prohibits the movement of any equine from where it now is, continues throughout the state, but owners can move the animals for vaccination. Hutto said he is trying to work out several central places throughout the county where equine owners can bring their animals for a mass inoculation.

He said he still has more than 200 animals on his waiting list. As of Monday morning, the cost of the vaccinations went on a fee base where the government pays for the vaccinations. Prior to that time, the individual owners were required to pay for the veterinarian's time. Anyone who paid for the vaccination prior to the fee base will not be refunded.

Hutto said he received his first supply of vaccine Saturday from the Lubbock distribution center, but because of a mistake in the mixing of the vaccine, he had to go back and re-vaccinate a number of animals he already had vaccinated before the mistake was discovered. Amarillo and Lubbock have been designated as the area's main distribution centers for the vaccine and veterinarians from throughout the area have been asked to pick the vaccine up themselves. Animals that are vaccinated will be given a certificate with the date of vaccination on it, along with a description of the animal. The animals then must be returned to where they were prior to vaccination and wait 14 days before being moved. Hutto will hold a vaccination clinic from 7 p. m. today at his clinic three blocks north of Sugarland Mall on U. S. 385. The vaccination clinic will be the final one for Hutto's Veterinary Clinic so any horse owner who has not had their animal vaccinated must do so today during the clinic. The vaccine, after being mixed into its final form, is good only for 12 hours, Hutto said, so horse owners must have their animals at his office between 3 and 7 p. m. today in order to get them vaccinated.

City seeks pilot test on warning system

The city commission, in a lengthy session Monday, authorized city manager Dudley Bayne to negotiate a proposal with Motorola to see if an experimental siren warning system could be installed here at no cost to the city.

The system, still in the experimental stage at Motorola, has not been approved by the Civil Defense. When this is done the system will go on sale for about $27,000.

In other business, the city commission:

—Accepted bids from Orval Watson Ford for the purchase of four trucks.

—Granted a variance of the city ordinance to allow a subdivision to be within five miles of the city limits.

—Annexed Progressive Road to give the city the power to participate in the cost-sharing of a flashing railroad signal at the road and railroad intersection.

—Rejected an offer from an architectural firm to plan the lay-out of Veteran's Park at a cost of $4,700 for the planning.

"We haven't even approached them (Motorola) about this thing yet," Bayne said. "What we want to try and do is to get them to try out the system on a pilot program and have them finance the whole thing."

"If we can do this we can save ourselves a bundle and at the same time help them."

The fall-proof system operates on built-in power packs which would not be affected by a power failure during a tornado, Bayne said. The system would be activated from a main switch, probably at city hall.

The sirens, mounted on 30-foot platforms, would distribute a high pitch warning sound that could be heard up to 1,500 feet. City attorney Earnest Langley said it would take about 15 of the units to make the sound audible in all sections of the city.

The present warning system consists of only two sirens and came under fire following the April tornado that struck Hereford. The warning could not be heard in many sections of the city and plans for updating the system came immediately afterwards.

The Motorola system also is available to carry voice warnings as well as siren warnings.

Ray Cowser, attorney representing the owners of the Yucca Hills subdivision, was granted a variance for the owners that would allow the subdivision to exist at its present location although it was inside the allowable five-mile distance from the city limits.

The city ordinance prohibits a subdivision inside a distance of five miles from the city limits, and when Yucca Hills was surveyed, the owners were told it was outside the allowable distance. A more recent survey showed the boundary of the subdivision to be only 4.8 miles outside the city limits, but the city granted the variance.

The city commission also asked

Clint Formby, a member of the Texas Tech board of regents, to look into the possibility of hiring a graduate student from the university to draw up some plans on a design for Veteran's Park.

The request came on the heels of an offer by Westhaven Flowers and Gardens, an architectural firm, to do the planning of the park for $4,700 plus a certain percentage of the construction costs. The city rejected the offer and agreed to look into the prospect of hiring a graduate student who needs the money and could possibly do the job at a lower cost.

"They used to have a program such as this at Tech," Bayne said, "but they did away with it a few years ago. It really was a good thing for cities who needed it and I think we could profit from it if we could get a graduate student to do it for us."

The planning of the park would include nine more holes for the present golf course, picnic areas, restrooms, storage and other facilities on the land east of the South Main Street bridge.

All Elks are urged to attend.

Annual carnival begins Friday

The annual Lions Club-sponsored carnival, featuring a large assortment of booths and several new rides, begins at 7 p.m. Friday and will continue through July 31 at the Bull Barn. The carnival will open at 7 p.m. each night and will close only when "the last customer is gone."

Booths, erected earlier this week by members of the Lions Club, include two concession stands, a balloon dart board, cigarette board, doll rack, number darts, key pitch, bear pitch, cork gun shoot, basketball pitch, glass pitch, soft drink bottle pitch, cotton candy booth, golf ball roll, hamburger and pie booth and the traditional bingo stand.

The rides will feature the octopus, tilt-o-whirl, hammer, merry-go-round, kiddie rides, spook-house, ferris wheel, boat ride, car ride and possibly a bumper-car ride.

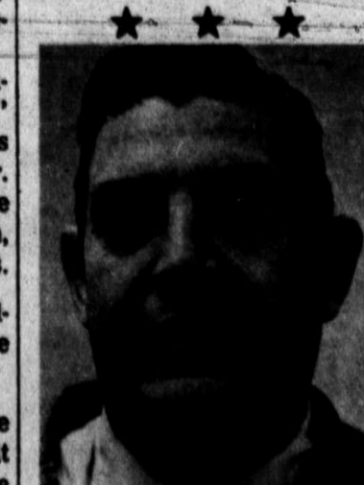

"We've got more and better prizes than we've ever had," said Lions Club president Lyn-ton Allred, "and we plan to get rid of all of them and make everybody happy."

"We've always had good community support for our carnival, and it gives us the opportunity to do a little more for Hereford."

The proceeds from the carnival will be used in "standing" contributions made by the Lions Club during the coming year. These contributions include monthly donations to Girlstown, Boys Ranch, and other projects.

Immediate past president Milton Adams is chairman for the carnival.

Labor drops 70 per cent

BY MARKIE McBRIDE
Staff Writer

With the rapid increase in farm machinery and herbicides the migrant labor force in this area has dropped 70 per cent during a five-year period, according to Joe Bradley of the local Texas Employment Commission.

Figures show that in 1965 there were 8,000 laborers working in the three-county area of Deaf Smith, Castro and Parmer, as compared to the 2,400 migrants employed this year.

"The reason for this sharp increase is simple. Due to the rapid increase in the use of modern farm equipment, farmers just don't need hand laborers like they did," Bradley said. "For example, cotton used to be hand picked, but now it is stripped with strippers, and pickers are no longer needed," he said.

Bradley said the use of herbicides cut down on the need of hoe hands. The chemical added to the soil prevents the growth of weeds, so they would not have to be pulled.

"Compared to last year, migration in this area has dropped about 600 and most of the laborers coming in this year will be without a job," Bradley said.

Farms in Texas have decreased in number but have increased in size, Bradley said, thus demanding more machinery and mechanical equipment, contributing as another factor for migrational decrease.

Last year many migrants became stranded in other states when they went with "free wheelers" crew leaders who handled their own recruitment and employer relations.

To prevent this from happening again this year, Texas, being the migratory supply state, received many pleas from out-of-state employers asking employment commissions to discourage migrating in their area as extra labor is not needed.

What do these laborers do without a place to go?

"Most of the migrants settle down in one place and make a home. The majority get jobs, usually farm labor work.

"Some do seasonal labor, working during the potato and onion crop, for example, quit a

Former county resident dies

The funeral of Mrs. J.D. Buchanan, 81, of Plainview, who lived in Hereford from 1926 to 1935, is scheduled for 11 a.m. today in Grace Presbyterian Church at Plainview. Burial will be in Plainview Cemetery.

A member of a pioneer Hale County family, Mrs. Buchanan was born in Kentucky and came as a baby with her parents who homesteaded southeast of Plainview. After graduation from Plainview schools she attended West Texas State College and taught in that area.

She married J.D. Buchanan March 13, 1915. The couple moved from Hereford to Friona and then back to Plainview.

Survivors are her husband; two daughters, Mrs. W.O. Willingham of Sudan and Mrs. William Gardner of Shreveport, La.; a son, Ray F. Buchanan of

"Lay Witness Mission" in his church.

The church is located on Ave. K and Forrest.

Three qualify for AAU meet

Three members of the Hereford summer track program qualified Saturday at Borger for the Amateur Athletic Union-sanctioned state meet July 31 at Pasadena, Tex.

Charles High placed second in the 15-year-old division in the 70-yard high hurdles and second in the 120-yard low hurdles to qualify for the meet.

James Harris was third in the Plainview; a sister, Mrs. Carl Sissel of Dumas; a brother, George M. Schick Jr. of Plainview; five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

120-yard high hurdles and Danny Harris was first in the broad jump. The boys, brothers, qualified in the 16 and 17-year-old division.

The Hereford team, coached by high school track coach Don Cumpton, competed with some 500 other high school athletes from as far away as Snyder and Odessa. They competed only against those in their own age group.

Others who competed for the Hereford team were Charles Allison, fourth in the 100-yard dash and fifth in the 220-yard dash; Randy Williams, fifth in the pole vault; Jim Henson, sixth in the 300-yard run; and James Harris, fifth in the broad jump.

Rain finally comes again

BY MARKIE McBRIDE
Staff Writer

It is cloudy outside, the air is cool, and one feels a gentle splash of rain on his face. These are some of the conditions the people of Deaf Smith County witnessed early this week, as the rains finally came.

Late Monday night the rain began to fall, continuing through Wednesday, leaving the county with as much as one inch in some areas.

Most of the activity occurred Tuesday with the rainfall being very slow, but beneficial to the crops and coming at a good time of the year, as reported by area farmers.

"The rain was very beneficial to the crops. It could have come at no better time, since we needed it so badly. It was a soaking rain, with little run-off," Gene King of Community Grain Elevator at Easter, said.

King reported approximately one half inch of water fell in his area.

Five or six hours of steady rain gently fell on the H.L. Hershey farm, 13 miles northeast of Hereford. Hershey said he received about .70 of rain which gave his crops a wonderful boost.

"Any time it rains out here is the perfect time, and we were

Many analysts expect the newly eligible young people to be more receptive to government projects and less concerned with property tax increases. There are about 11 million persons in the 18-to-20
age group and although traditionally, many young people do not turn out to vote, the analysts feel that the ones which do will vote heavily in favor of the bonds.

That should make a lot of cities and school districts happy.

—HB—
On the other hand, it is the people in this particular age group that have the longest time ahead to pay property taxes, although they may not be doing so at the present time. Perhaps it is good that they will be allowed to help make the decision.

—HB—
And now it's the Democrats who are crying "foul." In New Jersey, where the GOP controls the state legislature, the Democrats are accusing the Republicans of drawing the new district lines to favor their party members and Gerrymandering Democrats out of house seats.

For shame. We can't imagine such a thing happening.

Higgins attends training school

Ted Higgins, volunteer fire-

by nearly 2,000 men represent-

Fireman Higgins is being of the school. Since volunteer firemen are interested in attending this school to help do a better job of fire fighting and fire

Bureaus and the Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies in the statewide program have sponsored 100 foremen to the school.

of loss involved by fire in rural areas," said president J. T.
(Red) Woodson of Gober. "It is our hope in sponsoring this pro-

Labor drops 70 per cent

BY MARKIE McBRIDE
Staff Writer

With the rapid increase in farm machinery and herbicides the migrant labor force in this area has dropped 70 per cent during a five-year period, according to Joe Bradley of the local Texas Employment Commission.

Figures show that in 1965 there were 8,000 laborers working in the three-county area of Deaf Smith, Castro and Parmer, as compared to the 2,400 migrants employed this year.

"The reason for this sharp increase is simple. Due to the rapid increase in the use of modern farm equipment, farmers just don't need hand laborers like they did," Bradley said.

"For example, cotton used to be hand picked, but now it is stripped with strippers, and pickers are no longer needed," he said.

Bradley said the use of herbicides cut down on the need of hoe hands. The chemical added to the soil prevents the growth of weeds, so they would not have to be pulled.

"Compared to last year, migration in this area has dropped about 600 and most of the laborers coming in this year will be without a job," Bradley said.

Farms in Texas have decreased in number but have increased in size, Bradley said, thus demanding more machinery and mechanical equipment, contributing as another factor for migrational decrease.

Last year many migrants became stranded in other states when they went with "free wheeler" crew leaders who handled their own recruitment and employer relations.

To prevent this from happening again this year, Texas, being the migratory supply state, received many pleas from out-of-state employers asking employment commissions to discourage migrating in their area as extra labor is not needed.

What do these laborers do without a place to go?

"Most of the migrants settle down in one place and make a home. The majority get jobs, usually farm labor work.

"Some do seasonal labor, working during the potato and onion crop, for example, quit a

Former county resident dies

The funeral of Mrs. J.D. Buchanan, 81, of Plainview, who lived in Hereford from 1926 to 1935, is scheduled for 11 a.m. today in Grace Presbyterian Church at Plainview. Burial will be in Plainview Cemetery.

A member of a pioneer Hale County family, Mrs. Buchanan was born in Kentucky and came as a baby with her parents who homesteaded southeast of Plainview. After graduation from Plainview schools she attended West Texas State College and taught in that area.

She married J.D. Buchanan March 13, 1915. The couple moved from Hereford to Friona and then back to Plainview.

Survivors are her husband; two daughters, Mrs. W.O. Willingham of Sudan and Mrs. William Gardner of Shreveport, La.; a son, Ray F. Buchanan of

"Lay Witness Mission" in his church.

The church is located on Ave. K and Forrest.

Three qualify for AAU meet

Three members of the Hereford summer track program qualified Saturday at Borger for the Amateur Athletic Union-sanctioned state meet July 31 at Pasadena, Tex.

Charles High placed second in the 15-year-old division in the 70-yard high hurdles and second in the 120-yard low hurdles to qualify for the meet.

James Harris was third in the Plainview; a sister, Mrs. Carl Sissel of Dumas; a brother, George M. Schick Jr. of Plainview; five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

120-yard high hurdles and Danny Harris was first in the broad jump. The boys, brothers, qualified in the 16 and 17-year-old division.

The Hereford team, coached by high school track coach Don Cumpton, competed with some 500 other high school athletes from as far away as Snyder and Odessa. They competed only against those in their own age group.

Others who competed for the Hereford team were Charles Allison, fourth in the 100-yard dash and fifth in the 220-yard dash; Randy Williams, fifth in the pole vault; Jim Henson, sixth in the 800-yard run; and James Harris, fifth in the broad jump.

Rain finally comes again

BY MARKIE McBRIDE
Staff Writer

It is cloudy outside, the air is cool, and one feels a gentle splash of rain on his face. These are some of the conditions the people of Deaf Smith County witnessed early this week, as the rains finally came.

Late Monday night the rain began to fall, continuing through Wednesday, leaving the county with as much as one inch in some areas.

Most of the activity occurred Tuesday with the rainfall being very slow, but beneficial to the crops and coming at a good time of the year, as reported by area farmers.

"The rain was very beneficial to the crops. It could have come at no better time, since we needed it so badly. It was a soaking rain, with little run-off," Gene King of Community Grain Elevator at Easter, said.

King reported approximately one half inch of water fell in his area.

Five or six hours of steady rain gently fell on the H.L. Hershey farm, 13 miles northeast of Hereford. Hershey said he received about .70 of rain which gave his crops a wonderful boost.

"Any time it rains out here is the perfect time, and we were

Mangement of pasture pays off

J.H. Fish is giving his irrigated pastures all the care they deserve and it is paying off.

Fish, who farms with his son, Buryl, five miles northeast of Hereford, has provided his Tall Wheatgrass with the same care he normally would give a grain sorghum crop or sugar beet crop and the results have been per day.

Fish is planning to put a new bunch of steers on the same pasture in September and is giving the Tall Wheatgrass, which is a cool season grass, a summer rest. He also plans to establish 30 additional acres this fall to help with the feed program.

Through the Great Plains Conservation Program, Fish has constructed permanent fencing, built water storage facilities for livestock watering, installed livestock water pipeline and pasture planted.

The average gain on the steers was 1.5 pounds per head the irrigated pastures," said Ed Blackwell of the Soil Conservation Service.

"Good management of irrigated pastures helps to prolong the life of the grass, it maintains or improves the quantity and quality of forage and provides soil protection," he said.

Gold mine out of coal

BY CAROL DEEGAN
Associated Press Writer
WHITESVILLE, W. Va. (AP)—Utilizing ingenuity and hard work, a native West Virginian in this community of 800 has found a way to prosper without moving out of his beloved hills. Lonnie Stone makes jewelry out of coal. In fact, he says he's the largest coal jewelry manufacturer in the world. "Well, the bottom came out of everything," Stone said of the early 1960s when a depression set in over the southern coal fields as automation replaced men and as the demand for coal fell. "The mines shut down and the business wasn't here. But we didn't want to leave. And we decided that whatever we decided to do would have to be shipped out of here to sell it." So Stone and his wife Gladys, after quickly giving up the idea of moving elsewhere, opened a jewelry store in a small corner store in this Boone County community. At the same time they set about the task of making jewelry from the hard, bituminous coal which has controlled this region's economy for nearly a century. "At first, I filed a piece of coal, made a necklace and gave to my wife," Stone said. But that method was too slow, so Stone bought sanders and other tools and set out to make the jewelry faster. The native West Virginia craftsman labored for three years on his new methods before he hit on the idea of using molds for even faster production. First, Stone made a plaster mold similar to the ones used by old time pottery craftsmen. But that method took the "coal look" out of his jewelry, Stone said, and the market remained small and not too demanding. Then Stone made a rubber mold, and in 1967 his business began to boom. To make the figurines, the workers in the shop behind Stone's retail jewelry store pour a coal resin, made from powdered coal and mixed with a hardener, into the rubber mold, which is then encased in the plaster shell and baked "for about an hour." One of the items produced by this method is a comical caricature of a coal miner, which was first marketed in 1967. Stone now estimates some 10,000 of these figurines have been sold, not only throughout the United States but also in Australia, Germany and Japan. The coal miner has proved to be such a popular item that the "laughing coal miner"—which more resembles the actual coal miner—was created and marketed for retail sale late last year.

A third coal miner figurine—more along the lines of a caricature—is expected to be in production early this year. Although Stone's staff is small—"only four and me," says Mrs. Stone—the group makes 50 to 60 figurines a week. Other items include a pin and an ashtray in the geographical shape of the state, a pin in the shape of a maple leaf, candelabras and various small figurines.

COAL CARVER — Lonnie Stone makes jewelry out of coal at Whitesville, W. Va. He also makes figurines, such as the one he is holding here. He and his wife have a staff of four to help them produce the coal items.

Bride-elect is party honoree

A coffee-shower Saturday morning in the home of Mrs. Gwen McFarland of Happy, honored Miss Dianna Golden, bride-elect of Oren Davis. The couple will be married this evening. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Golden of Dawn and Mr. and Mrs. Abe Davis, 615 Union. Mrs. Golden and Mrs. Davis received guests with the honoree. Miss Janet Carthel invited guests to register. Assisting Mrs. McFarland with the shower were Mrs. Kip Morgan, Mrs. Larry Carter and Miss Kippa McFarland. Mrs. Roy Golden and Mrs. J. M. Carthel served refreshments from a fresh watermelon rind with a handle resembling a basket of fruit. Members of the houseparty were presented white daisy corsages tied with blue ribbon and blue baby breath. For the morning the honoree wore a white crepe A-line style dress with long, pleated sleeves featuring limestone buttons down the dress front.

Annual reunion of Progressive residents held

Former and present residents of the Progressive community held their 12th annual reunion Sunday, with 88 persons attending a dinner and afternoon program at Community Center. Persons who have lived in this Deaf Smith County community northeast of Hereford meet each year on the third Sunday in July to renew acquaintance and talk over past experiences. Many of them are ex-students in the Progressive School which was located in that neighborhood. Pete Carmichael was elected president of the group for the next year to succeed Cecil Lady, and Mrs. Forrest Ricketts was named to replace Mrs. Calvin Edwards as secretary. The business meeting followed a basket lunch, as did a memorial service conducted by Mrs. Clyde Russell, who read poems memorializing residents whose deaths occurred in the last year. Cecil Boyer was in charge of a program of music with solos by Albert Ricketts, Sara Ricketts and Mike Kemp, and selections by a quartet comprising Mr. and Mrs. Boyer, Mrs. Russell and Jake Gregory, with Miss Augustine Gregory as piano accompanist. Group singing and informal visiting was the entertainment for the remainder of the day. Recognized as coming the farthest distance for the reunion were Mrs. Don Sorengren and her daughter, Pat of Houston.

Coffee honors bride-to-be

Miss Peggy Duffy, bride-elect of Dick Combs, former Hereford resident, was honored at a coffee-shower Saturday morning in Hereford Country Club.

The couple will marry this weekend in Denver, where they both now reside. Miss Duffy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Duffy of Burlington, Wisc. Combs is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Combs, 150 Ranger.

Clayton at annual meet

State Representative Bill Clayton of Springlake is one of ten House members accompanying Texas House Speaker Gus Mutscher this week in Tulsa for the 25th annual meeting of the Southern Conference of the Council of State Governments. The Texas delegates are participating in the meeting, which began Tuesday, with legislative leaders from 15 southern states.

Mutscher, a member of the Southern Conference Executive Committee, selected Representative Clayton as a delegate saying, "he has exemplified the attributes of conscientious legislative service and has a solid background in several cases of vital legislative concern."

Topics scheduled for discussion during the conference include federal-state revenue sharing, methods of improving the legislative process, the future of public education, environmental protection, court reform, drug abuse, and mass transportation.

Mutscher said the meeting will help prepare the Texas delegates for "their roles as leaders during future legislative sessions."

Representative Clayton is serving his fifth term as a member of the Texas House. During the 62nd session, Clayton was Chairman of the Counties Committee and Vice Chairman of the Banks and Banking Committee.

memo to advertisers

CONFUSED?

Sometimes it is difficult to find your way through all the claims and counter-claims of advertising media.

But there is one no-nonsense report that tells it exactly like it is—not like we (or anyone else) dreams it to be.

That's the report of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, an advertiser controlled circulation fact-finding and fact-reporting organization.

Next time you question a circulation claim, just ask to see proof—the ABC report.

And that's a fact, for sure.

Actor sacrifices much for Siberian prison camp film

By PHIL THOMAS

AP Newsfeatures Writer NEW YORK (AP) — After doing without for several months, actor Tom Courtenay now has his long hair back, the caps on his teeth again, and has regained several lost pounds. Courtenay willingly had given up these things in order to play the title role in "One Day in the Life of Ivan Denisovich," a film based on the novel of the same name by Nobel Prize-winning author Alexander Solzhenitsyn. The book, and the film, painstakingly detail the incidents which compose one day — in this case, one "good" day — of the 3,653 days Denisovich must spend in a frigid, forced labor camp in Siberia. Courtenay, 34, whose previous film appearances include "Billy Liar" and "Doctor Zhivago," regards "One Day" as "much the best film I've been in — it has such humanity. I think it very splendid." In an effort to duplicate Siberia's freezing emptiness, the film was shot near Roros, a Norwegian mining town not far from the Arctic Circle. Courtenay and the others in the film spent seven icy weeks on location at Roros working in sub-zero temperatures. "Once it got to 40 below zero," Courtenay says, "but the worst we ever filmed in was 30 below. That's probably because we filmed mostly in the evening, which is the coldest part of the day. We'd start shooting about 4 p. m. and quit about midnight. Once it was so cold out there the camera wouldn't turn." Since much of the action takes place out of doors, Courtenay says "it was fortunate that with those awful baggy uniforms the prisoners wore it was possible to wear a great deal underneath. The only time the cold really hurt was when we had to appear hatless out of doors. You had to be very careful then." The cold did offer one advantage, Courtenay says. "It's easier to act very cold when you are very cold. When we were jumping around and slapping our arms together to keep warm we were not pretending." To escape the bitterness, the actors would "scamp into little warm trailers" after a scene was shot "to have coffee, play scrabble, and just warm up." Courtenay says. Courtenay had his head shaved for the role, "a degrading experience but it grew back nice and uniform." He lost "seven or eight pounds to look like a constantly hungry person, but I've got it back on now." And he had "two of the crowns removed from my teeth so they would look rotten. Your teeth would rot, you know, in such a camp." He feels the shaven head and hungry look "was wonderful for the eyes. It makes them stand right out. Next to his voice, the best part of any actor is his equipment." Courtenay also read and re-read the novel "many times" to prepare for his role. "I studied it thoroughly — to see how each incident led to the other. How it was put together and shaped. It's terribly moving." He also tried to keep to himself as much as possible in order "to get simple and calm. It's so hard to be reposed. Which you had to be in that camp, since there's no one to impress there. We in our society, are always putting on a show, aren't we? But this is another world — a microcosm." The location shooting was followed by four weeks of studio work in Oslo, and then Courtenay's work was done. "After I saw the film," he says, "I woke up the next day and I felt very good. I don't care if I make another film now." Courtenay currently is acting in "She Stoops to Conquer" for British television, but has no movies in sight at the moment. "I haven't decided yet what I want to do," he says. "I'd like a nice film to come along. I'm not a rich man, but I don't have to accept everything I'm offered."

POLITICAL PRISONER — Actor Tom Courtenay appears as he did during the filming of the movie "One Day in the Life of Ivan Denisovich," in which he played the title role. The film is based on the novel by Nobel Prize winner Alexander Solzhenitsyn and tells of one day spent by Denisovich in a Siberian prison camp.

THE FIG TREE

We have all been impressed with the pathetic story of the barren fig tree. It was destined to perennial barrenness. The owner found this wilted tree and ordered it cut down but his vine-keeper pled for it to have another chance. This is a good parable of the Grace of God. Our religion is essentially a religion of redemption. God gives everyone of us another chance. We have failed more than once but the Almighty has been patient, kind and forgiving. Perhaps Luke 15 is our truest picture of God. He is like a woman who seeks until she finds her lost coin; like the shepherd who left the ninety and nine to find the lost one; like the father who received his prodigal son. The lesson is plain. God gives another chance and He will gather all the ripe figs.

Mrs. Robert Harris
and sons, Ronne, Randy and Mike

Let's cook something

Wife-mother enjoys sports her men like

By JANIE BANNER
Staff Writer

When conversing with the Robert Harris family, which consists of mother, father, three medium-sized sons, a dog, a cat and a black raven named Whittie, the subject usually turns to camping, fishing and waterskiing, because that's what they like to do most.

"We go to Ute Lake, Clarendon and Amstead Dam at Del Rio every chance we get," said Sue Harris, the only "girl member" of the group.

Mike, the eldest son, and his father are the most avid waterskiers according to Mrs. Harris, and number two and three sons, Randy and Ronne agree.

With Mike and Randy on the major Giants baseball team, Ronne a minor Giant, and Harris, manager of his son's minor league, team baseball is a family involvement.

The Harrises take part in scout activities as well since their sons are Boy-Cub-and-Webelo Scouts.

Even though Mrs. Harris is without a daughter, she gets a helping hand from her sons when it's time to do dishes and especially in early stages of summer canning.

She had the boys' help in picking plums and apples just recently for jelly and apple sauce. They certainly considered it more fun than work.

"We like to bake cookies, too!" one added enthusiastically.

"I like to cook and bake," said Mrs. Harris, explaining part of the reason, "because no matter what I put on the table, the boys will eat it."

Baked goods that disappear rapidly around the Harris household are Sue's refrigerator rolls and a vanilla, butter and nut cake.

The cake, she says, is moist and keeps well, and the Vanilla, Butter and Nut flavoring ingredient of this recipe, as far as Sue is aware, can only be purchased through the local chapter of the Order of Eastern Star. She is OES associate conductress of the chapter.

VANILLA, BUTTER AND NUT CAKE
2 sticks margarine
2 cups sugar
3 cups plain flour (sift before measuring)
1 cup buttermilk

1 teaspoon soda
1/4 teaspoon salt
3 eggs, separate and beat whites until stiff.
3 teaspoons Superior vanilla, butter and nut flavoring
Heat oven to 350. Grease 10-inch tube pan and dust with flour. Have ingredients at room temperature to start. Cream margarine and sugar together well.

Mix soda and salt in buttermilk until foamy, adding alternately with the flour to above mixture, stirring after each addition. Add flavor and egg yolks one at a time, mixing well.

Gently fold into stiffly beaten egg whites. Place in prepared pan and bake at 350 for 1 hour or until done. May use for strawberry shortcake.

Mrs. Harris's refrigerator roll recipe keeps up to one week in the refrigerator and has many uses, doughnuts being the most often used by Sue.

REFRIGERATOR ROLLS
Combine: 1/2 cup sugar and

1/2 cup fat.
Add: 2 well-beaten eggs, slowly, 1 cup boiling water, and 1 cup cold milk.
Add: 1 package yeast in 1/4 cup warm water (in which 1 teaspoon sugar has been dissolved).
Add: 6 cups flour and 1 1/2 teaspoon salt.

Blend well, cover tightly and place in refrigerator at once. When you wish to use, pinch off desired amount and place remaining dough in refrigerator. Let rise one hour before baking. Bake at 400 for 20-25 minutes. Good for use for doughnuts, cinnamon rolls, hot rolls and loaves.

Other things Sue likes to do with her free time is sew, for herself and husband.

Last fall she attempted something new and challenging in sewing, when she sewed her husband four suit coats. She earned quite a lot of compliments on them.

At the library Suspense fiction contains murder

This suspense fiction now available at Deaf Smith County Library is the third in a series written by Dorothy Dunnett, and is probably the most mysterious of the three. Check it out today.

MATCH FOR MURDER

By Dorothy Dunnett

"You would barely believe that a group of coherent, mixed adults could agree to meet the next afternoon at the golf course at Great Harbor Cay and there compete... for the privilege of marrying Dr. B. Douglas MacRannoch: winner gets the bride."

"At first all my brain could grasp was that I was being asked to mortgage my whole future for Johnson's despicable safety. It further came to me that I risked being linked in holy matrimony with a murderer."

Unfolding its delightfully scary tale in the Bahamas, New York, and Miami, the third in Dorothy Dunnett's series of suspense entertainments presents perhaps the most engaging and certainly the most outrageous heroine so far. She is Beltano MacRannoch, a no-nonsense, thirty-two-year-old Edinburgh doctor and spinster who attaches herself to a Nassau hospital to keep a close eye on her ailing father.

But before long Beltano is discovered keeping an even closer and far more frantic watch on Sir Bartholomew Edgecombe, resident Intelligence agent, whose life is in danger, as she learns from his colleague Johnson, the distinguished portraitist and occasional student of murder.

Would-be killers seem common as coconut palms: there is Mr. Tiko, a Japanese golf fanatic madly embroiled in the affairs of the MacRannochs; and Wallace Brady, a presentable American bridge builder who sees no reason why Beltano should continue a spinster; there is Trotter, an English professional soldier dedicated to the organization overseas of the perfect military tattoo; and Krishof Bey from Turkey, mischief-maker, dancer and playboy.

Before Johnson Johnson unravels this mystery, Beltano has been dragged into more emergencies than medical life ever prepared her for.

Match for a Murderer, with its unexpected action, abundance of authentic local color,

Dos, don'ts of pants outfits

By AP Newsfeatures
It's hard to believe that just 25 years ago, pants for the distaff set were taboo, and that when Jack Winter started designing "fancy pants" for women about that time he was called a freak.

Do wear your pants with confidence, says pants designer Jack Winter. This means trying them on, and bending and stretching in front of a three-way mirror before you even take them home.

Now, however, the world has accepted pants outfits for women, but Winter, who currently is designing pants in 10 different lengths, says women still have a lot to learn about wearing them.

"No matter what style you wear," he says, "it's all in the way you put yourself together." Here are some of Winter's do's and don'ts for the pants wearer:

Do wear your pants with confidence. Know they are well tailored, and look as though they were made for you rather than your best friend.

Do practice some simple exercises until pants posture becomes natural. One easy exercise is to stand with feet apart and arms at sides. Relax. Then pull tummy muscles in. Pull shoulders back, then force them down.

and highly individual style, is particular grist for those who like the unusual in their suspense fiction.

thighs. Do wear opaque tights with no lines of demarcation, or brief-topped hose whose makes are hip to city shorts.

Don't wear pants that are too tight anywhere. Look at yourself in a three-way mirror. Sit down, bend over, test the way they look and feel in action before you make a final decision.

Don't straddle chairs with your legs. Even with pants, they still can be crossed gracefully.

Don't go bare-legged. Don't wear a postage stamp length for the office. Mini-shorts should show below tunic or jacket level.

HHS High Steppers drill squad attends American Drill Team school

Hereford High School High Steppers drill team captain, Carol Newton, and her lieutenants, Diana Zinser and Janice Marnell, recently attended drill team officer camp at Oklahoma State University at Norman, Okla.

The trio placed ninth in dance competition.

Twenty-eight of the 39 drill team members attended American Drill Team School on the campus of Southern Methodist University at Dallas earlier this month.

They were Lilli Lyons, Susan Wartes, Nancy Newsom, Donna Durham, Becky London, Holly Young, Debbie Smith, Karen Posten, Valerie Chisholm, Rhonda Stephen, Darla Springer and LaNita Herr.

Also Joyce Brady, Nancy Barrett, Judy Wilson, Jackie Pickens, Diedra Dziuk, Shari Hughes, Jana Balden, Sherry Hetzel, Genie Robbins, Tracy Barber, Sharon Powell, Meredith Wilcox, Pam Garrison, and the captain and lieutenants.

Dances they learned at camp were high-kick and jazz routines plus routines with props such as the banjo, suitcase and colored balls. In-the-stand hand routines were included.

Sponsor of the group this year is Mrs. Milton Durham. A class offered at HHS for drill team members will grant a full credit for those taking the course. The drill team will participate in a marching parade Saturday afternoon at Canyon where they will do military hand routines, according to the team captain.

For the remainder of the summer the group will practice three times each week.

Thomas honored at open house

An open house, honoring David Thomas, United Nations Delegate for the Hereford Odd Fellows is scheduled to begin at 8:30 p.m. Monday, at the IOOF Hall.

The public is invited to hear Thomas give a presentation concerning his recent trip to the U.N.

The Grand Master of the state, Clyde O. Hicks and the Grand Secretary, P.W. McLendon have been invited to attend and have tentatively accepted.

At the last meeting, held Monday in the IOOF Hall Jerry Johnson was installed the Noble Grand of the Hereford Odd Fellows by District Deputy Grand Master, H.C. Nelson and his staff. Also installed was William H. Austin as Vice Grand.

ending my vacation would have brought on the nice cool weather we had Monday, I'd have been back to work a week or two sooner.

The three weeks off during the heat wave were surely nice, though, even if there was nothing to do but take the choice of staying close at home with the air conditioner or getting out and frying.

As the temperature went up any idea of going visiting went down, especially as my hoped-for visit was downstate. Not with 100-plus days at Dallas, where 90 is too hot!

It was better to stay home and clean house; besides, a row of clean kitchen cabinets gives you such a virtuous feeling. And just sitting comfortably with a good book isn't a bad way to spend a super-July afternoon.

SOME PEOPLE, NOT so lazy as I, have been going right ahead with their summer visiting. The Owen family had a weekend reunion at Eagle Mountain Lake near Ft. Worth, in the Broadway Baptist Church Lodge.

The Lawrence Owens and their children, Athena, Ashley and Beatrice, of St. Peter, Minn., had been here visiting Owen's mother, Mrs. G. P. Owen Sr. and other relatives.

They all went down for the reunion, along with the Gerald Wilsons and son, James Neil, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Owen, Mr. and Mrs. Gwynne Owen, the Bobby Owens and daughters, Becky, Barbara, Brenda and Beth, and Jewel Hargrave.

Others present were the Homer Owens and sons, Warren, Donnie, Robert and Mark, of Waco; the Dan Belbecks of Stephenville, Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Owen Jr. and children, Steven and Susan, of Fort Worth. Besides the family, a friend, Kirk Pattow of New York, was there too.

FOR ANOTHER reunion, Pauline and Bill Howard were in Wichita Falls for a Howard family gathering that ended Sunday. Faye and Tom Howard, former Hereford folks, flying home to Denver from the reuion had a Sunday afternoon stop in Amarillo and were visited at the airport there by Mrs. J. W.

EVERY YEAR about this time we get some requests for "that good pickle recipe" and we know the one that is wanted is for Sunshine Dill Pickles. It was Barbara Swimmer's recipe to begin with, and we keep it on file to use in cucumber season. This time we dug it out for Tillie Miller, but someone else is sure to want it. Here 'tis:
Pack cucumbers in quart jars with 1 stem dill in each jar. Mix 1 cup salt, 1 qt. vinegar and 2 pts. water, bring to a boil and pour over cucumbers to fill jars. Seal and set in the sun 24

DISASTER AVERTED
CARLE PLACE, N. Y. — A possible train wreck involving some 1,000 commuters may have been averted by a sharp-eyed motorman on the 4:23 p.m. electric Long Island Railroad train from New York to Huntington. "There is a steel bar across the tracks and it's touching the third rail," he told a conductor as he brought the 10-car train to a halt. "There will be a slight delay," said the conductor over the intercom. "We will have to shut off the power to remove a steel bar from the tracks."
The train arrived 15 minutes late but passengers were relieved to know the motorman was on the alert.

It's too quiet...

Charles Richards

Back in the old Cowboy and Indian days, the scout used to raise his hand quickly out of the midst of a campfire gathering on the Plains and whisper... "Listen!"

"I don't hear anything," one cowboy would say.

"That's just it," the scout would retort. "I don't either. It's too quiet. Something's wrong." Maybe Indians were creeping up, and their presence scared all the birds away.

Everyone has gone through the experience of hearing a sudden noise or loud boom, causing you to jump, or look up suddenly.

It's funny how it also works in the reverse. If you're used to hearing a certain noise, and it's suddenly no longer there, the silence can be almost deafening.

When I was little, I used to go to sleep on a bundle of newspaper while my dad ran off that week's edition of the newspaper on a loud, rumbling hand-fed press. It took an hour or so to run off the five or six hundred copies of The Anton News that had to be printed.

It was so loud when that press started rolling that you had to shout to be heard. But it really wasn't very hard to go to sleep, even lying down right beside it.

Whenever he shut off the press, the silence was so "deafening" I always woke up immediately and began looking around, wondering what had happened.

Until March a year ago, I spent more than six years with a wire service, United Press International. Especially in the Dallas office, which is one of six regional headquarters in the U. S., and in the New York national headquarters, there are teletype machines all over the place, clicking away.

A lot of people have trouble adjusting to the situation. Imagine 30 or 40 teletype machines in a room smaller than the Hereford Brand newsroom, which is the situation in Dallas, or 100 or more teletype machines in New York, in a room not much bigger than the floor space of the customer part of either local bank.

I've had a slight hearing problem the last three or four years, and I suspect it had something to do with absorbing all that drum of noise, day after day after day.

The most eerie feeling is when all those wires stop, though. If it's in the middle of the day, it means only one thing. Something has malfunctioned and thousands of newspapers all across the country are not getting any news to put in their next editions. You can count off the seconds and then the phones

Floral shop moves site

Park Avenue Floral, located for the past five years at 501 Park Ave., opened up its doors Monday at its new location at 315 Park Ave.

Ray Seale, owner of the floral shop, said the new floral shop has some 2,700 square feet as compared to the old building which had only 1,000 square feet.

Seale has been in the floral business for the past 18 years. He began at the age of 15 with the Boston Green House in Amarillo in 1954. He worked at Zelsmans Flowers for a short time then returned to the Boston Green House.

After several years there he branched out on his own and opened his floral business here.

are going to be ringing off the walls from angry newspaper publishers.

Even at night, some wire or another is running all the time. If one newspaper in New York has already passed its deadline, another in the Central time zone still is putting news in its paper. And Denver and San Francisco newspapers will be needing late stories for a couple of hours or more yet. Radio stations will be needing fresh stories throughout the night.

And afternoon newspapers will need plenty of updated stories to greet them when their first workers began to show up about 4 a. m.

Saturday night is the only exception. About a couple of hours after midnight, the wires sometimes all stop at once, since there are no Sunday afternoon newspapers.

When that happens, it's almost like you were back in the Cowboy and Indian days again. Somebody looks up from his typewriter and says, "Something is wrong, it's too quiet."

"You count the seconds, and sure enough, the phones begin to ring..."

Shower is given for Miss Kuper

Summery colors of yellow and white with touches of avocado, which Miss Evelyn Kuper has chosen for her August 7 wedding, were used in decorations for a shower honoring her Wednesday evening in Pioneer Gas Flame Room.

Bride-to-be of Charles Lyles,

Miss Kuper is the daughter of the Walter Kupers. She and her fiance are both students at West Texas State University.

Hostesses for the shower were Mmes. M.J. Koelzer, C. W. James, Alfred Reinart, Leander Reinart, Frank Zinser Jr., Oscar Schwertner, Herschel Burrus, Henry Kuper.

Also Mmes. Arnold Betzen, Grover Fleming, Eddie Hoffman, Allen Evers, Joe Schumacher, Johnnie Dupnik, Joe Schulte, Olin Baird, and Donald Adams.

A flower arrangement combining yellow and white roses with dove figurines and white tapers centered the table where Miss Rhonda Stewart served petit fours and Miss Alice Kuper, sister of the honoree, poured punch.

Gifts for the bride-elect were opened and viewed by guests who spent an informal hour in conversation.

EXPORTS INCREASE

Rodney Herr in summer training

Cadet Rodney D. Herr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Herr, 103 Aspen, is participating in six weeks practical work in military leadership at the Army reserve officers' training corps advanced summer camp at Ft. Riley, Kan.
 Herr, who will enter his senior year at Texas A&M University, College Station, this fall, is one of more than 13,000 students attending ROTC summer training at six installations in the United States.
 The Army ROTC advanced camp is devoted to the practical application of leadership principles. Field training emphasizes the exercise of command and the making of sound decisions under pressure. These lessons reinforce the essential mission of Army ROTC — to provide the nation with young men who have excellent civilian educations and who voluntarily qualify themselves during their student days for commissions in the Army.

Boys attending church camp in far West Texas
 A group of boys and adult leaders from First Assembly of God Church here are attending a three-day Royal Ranger Pow-Wow Wednesday through Friday on the Prude Ranch near Fort Davis. The Rev. H. T. Goodwin, Hereford pastor, is serving as camp chaplain.
 Boys from 9 to 17 years of age are in the Royal Ranger group. Orval Galley is senior commander of the local Rangers, and with N. E. Stowers accompanies the local boys to this West Texas District camp. Approximately 200 boys from churches of the area attend the event.
 They set up tents, do their own cooking, attend classes in first aid, compass, tool craft and rope craft. Activities include horseback riding, hiking, swimming and a trip to the University of Texas' McDonald Observatory on Mt. Locke.
 The Royal Ranger program is an international organization for boys in Assemblies of God, with about 150,000 members now in the United States.

Unattached residents on increase locally

Living alone has become a modern-day development in Deaf Smith County. Many unattached men and women in the local area, who would have had no alternative in former years but to reside with relatives or friends, have now found it possible to support themselves and have their own living quarters.

Included in this unattached group are young people and older people who are unmarried as well as divorced and widowed persons who have remained single.

As a result of the living alone trend among this group, the number of dwelling units in Deaf Smith County that are occupied by only one person has risen considerably in the last ten years.

According to the Department of Commerce, the proportion of housing units in the local area that are occupied by singles is now 12.3 per cent. This compares with the 1960 average of 11.0 per cent.

Elsewhere in the United States, the one-person households amount to 17.6 per cent. In the West South Central States they represent 16.7 per cent and, in the State of Texas, 16.3 per cent.

The report notes that it was common, years ago, for parents, when widowed, to move in with their married children so that they would not spend their twilight years alone.

Today, however, the three-generation household is a rarity. More and more of these grandparents are living alone and liking it. Many of them are holding down jobs, full time or part time. They are aided by social security benefits and other income.

As for the young people, because of the greater freedom they have acquired in the last decade there is an increasing tendency on their part to live in their own apartments or houses away from the parental home.

The net result, because of these separations, has been a reduction in the number of people per household. It has dropped from a median of 3.0 persons per unit to 2.7 in the course of the last ten years.

The figures show that the number of one-person households in Deaf Smith County is now 634, a big increase over 1960, when the total was 401.

NEEDS NEW VOICES
GARDEN CITY, N. Y. — "Both political parties need a generation of new voices," former Secretary of the Interior and ex-Alaska governor Walter J. Hickel told Adelphi University graduates, faculty and guests. "Mistrust of government is running wild," Hickel said. "The people feel that the popular will is being ignored."

ANEW CAULIFLOWER
LONDON — A cauliflower grown for supermarket sales is expected to spread over 1,000 acres in Britain this year. The plant is called Minicoli and can be dropped straight into the cooking pot from the farm.
