Commission delays vote to set up Enterprise Zone

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

Action on establishing an enterprise zone in Hereford and Deaf Smith County was delayed by the City Commission Monday night because of some confusion over incentives the city would offer to new business locating within the zone.

In other business, the commission adopted a city ordinance to close access to Veterans Park at night and approved issuance of bonds for the Panhandle-Plains Higher Education Authority.

And, a new city commissioner, Scott Hall, took the oath of office. He will fill the unexpired term of Dennis Hicks, who resigned.

Conducting a hearing on the enterprise zone proposal, the city heard from Mike Hatley, executive director of the Hereford Economic Development Corporation, that among incentives the city could consider would be waiver of certain city-imposed fees and sales taxes.

City Attorney Terry Langehennig, citing the state statute allowing for enterprise zones, said the law gives cities and counties the option of offering certain incentives but the model ordinance mandates the incentives.

Mayor Bob Josseland questioned the discrepancy in the proposal. Other commissioners agreed that additional information should be provided before action is taken.

The apparent issue during the discussion centered on whether the city would be required to rebate the one-cent sales tax levied on purchases in the city. The sales tax is a major source of revenue for the City of Hereford.

Creation of the enterprise zone would give new business and industry located within the zone a rebate on state sales tax. Langehennig said the model ordinance, provided by the Texas Department of Commerce offers the same rebate of city and county sales taxes.

Hatley said incentives offered must not be available outside the enterprise zone.

Josseland said he had "no clear picture" of the details involved in creating the zone.

Commissioner Roger Eades had suggested that administrative expenses of the enterprise zone should be vested in the Hereford Economic Develop Corporation.

However, Hatley said criteria for enterprise zones would not permit administrative expense to be covered by HEDC.

An interlocal agreement, adopted earlier by Deaf Smith County Commissioners' Court, provides for an even split of administrative expenses by the county and city. The city commission has not considered the interlocal agreement.

The ordinance related to Veterans Park is the outgrowth of the commission's park development study in 1994.

Because of misuse of park facilities and vandalism, the commission decided to install fencing to enclose the area and place gates at south and north entrances.

City Manager Chester Nolen told the commission Monday night that fences are in place. Gates to the park will be locked between the hours of 11 p.m. and 7 a.m. each day.

A permit from the city manager's office will be required of any group wishing to use the park during the closing hours.

The ordinance adopted by the commission also provides for a fine of up to $500 for any violation.

Nolen said enforcement of the ordinance will begin April 15 when city police officers will be responsible for locking the gates. At the same time, officers will begin issuing citations for violations.

Drivers traveling off designated roadways also will receive tickets, Nolen said.

"All-terrain vehicles must also stay on roadways -- there are no designated trails for ATV use in Veterans Park," Nolen emphasized.

John Aiken, legal counsel for the Panhandle-Plains Higher Education Authority, presented a resolution for commission action on issuance of $50 million in bonds by the authority.

The Hereford City Commission is the sponsoring entity for the authority but assumes no responsibility for its indebtedness or operation except to appoint board members.

Unusual sight

Drivers along East Park Avenue Monday afternoon had to slow down when approaching Avenue C because of a stream of water caused by rains that fell on the city during the day. A storm that swept over the area dropped 0.11 of an inch of rain, dampening streets, yards and fields throughout the Hereford area. KPAN

Radio, which maintains city weather information, reported Hereford had not received that much rain in one day since Dec. 31, 1994, when 0.22 of an inch fell. Before that, 0.11 of an inch was recorded on Sept. 11, 0.28 on Sept. 8 and 0.17 on Sept. 1. July and August also recorded significant rainfall.

Caucus bill passes state House; would limit fundraising activities

By PAULINE ARRILLAGA
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) - The Texas House tentatively approved a bill Monday that would limit when legislative caucuses can raise money and require them to open their finances to the public.

The bill by Rep. Layton Black, D-Goldthwaite, would bring caucuses under the same contribution and expense reporting requirements as legislators.

"As elected officials and members of caucuses and members of this House, we should not have a double standard as to how the public looks at our business," Black said. "This bill clearly puts us all on the playing field; it levels it."

The bill, approved on a voice vote, faces a final vote of the House before heading to the Senate for consideration.

Caucuses are groups of lawmakers who spend money on staff and research to monitor bills and gather information for their legislative agenda.

There are 24 caucuses in the House, representing groups including Republicans, Democrats, conservatives, progressives, blacks and Hispanics. In the Senate there are two caucuses, representing Hispanics and blacks.

Black's bill would prohibit the organizations from accepting contributions 30 days before and during a legislative session. Making or accepting a contribution during those periods would be a Class A misdeemeanor, and violators would be liable to the state for three times the amount of the contribution.

The measure also requires caucuses to file reports twice a year with the Texas Ethics Commission showing who contributes to the groups and how much as well as expenditures.

Caucuses would file their first reports in January 1996, unless the bill wins two-thirds approval by both the House and Senate. In that case, the groups would have to begin filing on July 15.

Caucus funding came under scrutiny earlier this year when the Texas Conservative Coalition held a luncheon with special-interest lobbyists the day before the Legislature convened with plates selling for up to $10,000.

The coalition on Monday tried unsuccessfully to kill the disclosure bill on technicalities.

Caution issued about solicitation

Hereford police have issued an alert to residents about someone calling people and asking for donations while representing himself as a Hereford police officer.

Det. Ronnie Lyons said local chiropractor Dr. Todd Gray reported that someone called his office asking for a donation of $300 and saying he was raising money for "the drug awareness campaign for the police department."

The caller also gave Gray a name that he said was a Hereford police officer, although there is no such officer on the department.

"We have no such thing as a drug awareness program," Lyons said, adding that any fundraising done by the Hereford Police Department is done in person by uniformed officers and never by telephone.

"If someone calls and you think you want to give something, call the department," Lyons said, and check out the organization before making a gift.

"The best advice to them is not to donate to someone they don't know," he continued. "People tend to call a lot and throw our name around" to hook people into giving to a phony charity.

Lyons said people who have been victimized by a person such as the one who called Gray can report the matter to police.

"If they get victimized, we need to look at any evidence they get from the person," Lyons said, including any receipts, telephone numbers or other items.

People with questions about this solicitation or others are urged to call the Hereford Police Department at 364-2323.

Star-struck committee approves Moses, Ryan, TV star to various posts

AUSTIN (AP) - The Senate Nominations Committee was a little starstruck Monday in considering Gov. George W. Bush's nomination of baseball legend Nolan Ryan and actress Susan Howard to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission.

Before the committee unanimously recommended Senate confirmation of the appointments - along with Parks and Wildlife nominees Richard Heath of Dallas and Lee Bass of Fort Worth, who was reappointed - one senator sent an aide to Ryan's end of the table with a baseball for him to autograph.

Another called Ms. Howard, "Donna," the first name of the character she played on the long-running television show "Dallas."

Even Bush's choice for education commissioner, Lubbock school Superintendent Mike Moses, wasn't immune.

Moses' wife, who watched as her husband was questioned by senators and then endorsed for confirmation, "was more interested in getting baseballs autographed today than anything else," Moses quipped.

All were recommended for confirmation with a 7-0 vote by the committee, which met in the Senate chamber to accommodate an expected larger-than-usual crowd. Bush stopped by to wish his nominees well.

The panel's chairman, Sen. Teel Bivins, R-Amarillo, said he expected the full Senate to consider Moses' appointment, and that of the Parks and Wildlife nominees, on Wednesday.

The committee's vote came after Sen. Gonzalo Barrientos, D-Austin, praised Bush for nominating a woman to Parks and Wildlife but said he was disappointed that none of the appointments was Hispanic or black.

"I hope that this is not an emerging pattern in Gov. Bush's appointments," said Barrientos.

Barrientos also questioned Ryan, saying, "Mr. Ryan, you are without a doubt one of the finest pitchers, if not the finest ever in baseball... but can you tell me one thing: Why do you want to serve on this board, and what qualifications do you have?"

As for the overshadowed appointment of Moses, his confirmation came after he voiced concern about some education reforms that have been proposed in the Legislature, such as giving out separate diplomas for students who plan to go into jobs after high school and those who plan to go to college.

Hereford youth participate in steer show in Houston

From Staff, Wire Reports
The grand champion steer of Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo brought a world record price of $500,000, show officials said.

The steer, a black Chianina named Shoop, was shown by Morgan Moyla, 14, of Eastland.

Local students also placed in the show. Job Skiles captured the reserve breed title with his heavyweights limousine and then went on to win breed grand champion. He also won fourth place with his middleweight Maine-Anjou.

Nelson Beville was first in his class and went on to win reserve in breed with his middleweight Santa-Gertrudis.

Colby Christie won second place middleweight in the all other breeds category (AOB) and went on to capture reserve breed champion AOB.

First place heavyweight Charlois went to Brent Carlson.

Zachary Vasek won first place with his lightweight limousine and second place went to Amanda Wall.

Zack Wall took 13th with his light weight Chianina.

Brittany Binder had the first place winner in the middleweight Angus division and Cassie Abney won 12th with her heavyweight Angus.

Bric Wall took fourth with his middle weight Hereford and Ivory Isaacson won third with her middle weight polled Hereford.

Other local students who showed steers in Houston were: Catherine Beville, Chad Christie, Jeremy Henning and Krista Beville.

LeRoy and Lucille Melcher, along with Tom and Mary Steele bought the grand champion steer and received a standing ovation for their combined bid when the auction was over.

"Mary and I have a desire to help all of our young people in this state, and everywhere else, for that matter," Steele said in explaining their bid.

Stock show vice president George DeMontond, also the officer in charge of the steer committee, said the auction records don't represent market value of the animal, but the show's multi-million dollar effort to fund college scholarships for urban and rural students.

Ms. Moylan will receive $60,000, and $440,000 will go into the stock show's educational fund for scholarships.

The price paid for the reserve champion steer, a Limousine exhibited by Justin Stacener of Leveland, also set a record at $35,000 for his steer.

"I'm going to spend it," he said.

Panel seeking information relating to Kennedy killing

WASHINGTON (AP) - Hoping to dispel notions that the government is concealing information about President Kennedy's assassination, an independent panel is gearing up to launch a nationwide search for records.

"We may debunk certain conspiracy theories because the records aren't there to support those theories, or we might create new possibilities," said John Tunheim, Minnesota's chief deputy attorney general and chairman of the Assassination Records Review Board.

"At least we will have gotten to the point where the federal government no longer is hiding information from the public," Tunheim said in a recent interview. "That's an issue of trust."

After a slow start, the board, with a 1995 budget of $2.15 million and $2.4 million proposed for 1996, is beginning its work of seeking out new materials related to the assassination and reviewing records that government agencies would rather keep secret.

To uncover materials that might be in the hands of private citizens, it is counting on getting leads from experts, documents and a series of public meetings.

"I'm prepared to see anything," Tunheim said. "What I'm trying to do is to organize a very systematic and very detailed process of finding every scrap of paper, every photograph, every film, whatever exists."

On Tuesday, the board is scheduled to hold its third public meeting, in Washington. It met last November in Dallas, and plans a trip to Boston to visit the John F. Kennedy Library later this month.

GOP senators want Hatfield removed as committee head

WASHINGTON (AP) - Some Senate Republicans want to force their colleagues to consider Sen. Mark Hatfield's removal as a committee chairman because of his crucial vote against the balanced budget amendment.

The dispute was a likely discussion topic by Senate GOP leaders at their weekly meeting today, five days after the Oregonian cast the decisive vote against the flagship Republican priority.

Hatfield, a moderate who chairs the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee, was the lone Republican to oppose the measure, as the GOP was dealt its most defeat this year by a single vote.

Sen. Connie Mack, R-Fla., was drafting a letter to be delivered today to Majority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., calling for a session to consider punishing Hatfield. Mack is secretary of the Senate Republican conference, which makes him the fifth-ranking GOP leader.

Under Senate GOP rules, senators can force a session to discuss any topic if five senators sign a letter requesting such a meeting.

Mack spokesman Jeff Cohen would only say that the letter was about "Chairman Hatfield." But one GOP Senate source, speaking on condition of anonymity, said the generally worded letter would in effect seek a meeting about punishing Hatfield, including replacing him as chairman.

The effort by the generally young and conservative senators comes after Republicans spent days trying to draw attention to the Democratic effort to defeat the amendment. Of the Senate's 47 Democrats last Thursday, 33 voted to kill the measure, and Republicans said those Democrats would be vulnerable the next time they run for re-election.

The move could also put Dole in an uncomfortable position. Dole is running for president as a pragmatic lawmaker, and must contend with a collection of GOP senators who are increasingly younger, more ideological and followers of conservative Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, also seeking the presidential nomination.

Among the young conservatives considering pushing for Hatfield's ouster was Sen. Rick Santorum, R-Pa., 36. Spokesman Mike Mihalke said Santorum would sign Mack's letter.

Despite the conservatives' cries for punishment, others - including some freshmen - voiced support for Hatfield.

"The Republican party is one that allows people to vote their conscience," said Sen. Slade Gorton, R-Wash.

Sen. James Inhofe, R-Okla., chairman of the 11-member GOP freshman Senate class, said he opposed any retaliation against Hatfield and thought that in the end, none would occur.

"We need more of a close relationship and perhaps he'll be in a position to change" when the Senate reconsiders the vote, Inhofe said.

"It's not a healthy concept, in my opinion, to think everyone has to fit into the same keyhole to belong to the Republican Party," said Sen. Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, a 27-year Senate veteran and a former member of the Appropriations Committee.

Because the amendment was such a prime GOP priority, Hatfield's vote even caused strong opinions in the House, where members usually refrain from remarks about the other chamber.

"In the House, our guy would not be in the chairmanship position after a vote like that," House Majority Leader Dick Armey, R-Texas, said Sunday on CNN's "Late Edition."

Democrats tried to cast the dispute as an illustration of intolerance and extremism within the Republican Party.

"It seems a sad day when someone who is a moderate within his own party within the legislative branch finds himself almost as an outcast, put there by those who have a rather more extreme view," said White House spokesman Mike McCurry.

More than cents at stake for collectors of pennies

By EVAN BERLAND
Associated Press Writer
HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) - A penny saved could mean $200 earned for a man whose discovery of double letters on a 1995 penny has sent the coin-collecting world into a tizzy.

"I'm a working guy who got lucky," said Felix Dausilio, 47, a school custodian and coin collector who discovered the penny.

Coin experts say as many as 600,000 of the Philadelphia-minted pennies could be in circulation. Similar coins have sold for $175 to $200.

"It's a pretty exciting find," said Bill Gibbs, editor of Coin World magazine in Sidney, Ohio, which reported on the penny in its latest issue.

U.S. Mint officials said they have yet to see the penny and cannot confirm if it is a one-time occurrence or if others exist.

The coin, displayed at an Atlanta collecting convention last weekend, has blurred letters in the words "Liberty" and "In God."

Collectors believe it might be a double-die penny, one created when a die, the device used to stamp images on blank coins, has off-center impressions.

When dies are made, they are pressed more than once with the mirror image of what is to appear on the coin. If the images are not precisely lined up, the letters and pictures appear more than once.

Doubled dies are not rare, experts say, but Dausilio's is a major find because of how clearly the overlapping letters stand out.

Mike White, a mint spokesman in Washington, said the penny might have been hit twice with the same die. He said officials checked the 2,000 dies being used to make pennies in Philadelphia and none was defective.

Even if 600,000 of the pennies were made, the coins could prove elusive. The Philadelphia mint has sent 1 billion pennies into circulation this year, and Denver's mint has produced another 1 billion.

Presidential spokesman enjoys taking 'whacks' at Republicans

WASHINGTON (AP) - The White House briefing room was already half-empty when presidential spokesman Mike McCurry cursed softly, snapping his fingers and said, "I was going to take a whack at somebody today."

Somebody was Republican Sen. Phil Gramm - and the new White House press secretary was kicking himself for the lost opportunity. After two months on the job, one thing is clear about McCurry: He likes to whack Republicans.

In this very partisan year, McCurry shows signs of becoming a very partisan, combative White House spokesman, criticizing foes who dare to attack President Clinton. And he often doesn't wait for the first punch.

The Gramm episode occurred moments after McCurry turned away from his lectern after Thursday's White House briefing. Chattering with a few lingering reporters, McCurry suddenly remembered that Gramm, a GOP presidential hopeful, had joked about Sophia Loren when asked about whether he would consider a female running-mate.

The remark was typically Republican, McCurry said, and "consistent with my view that a lot of these guys are 19th century kinda guys."

The rhetoric may reflect less on McCurry than it does on his timing. He replaced Dee Dee Myers just as Republicans began flexing their newfound power on Capitol Hill.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

The Hereford Junior Historians Chapter, as a World War II commemorative community program, is working on activities that include veterans in our area.

As a February project, they prepared valentines, signed with their first name with the message: "Thanks for serving our country, Junior Historians of Texas." The valentines were sent to the Veterans Administration Medical Center in Amarillo.

The local chapter received a letter of thanks from the VA hospital, stating that the valentines were distributed to all hospitalized veterans on Feb. 14. "The cards brought many smiles and much love to our veterans. Your thoughtfulness and caring efforts were very much appreciated by the veterans employees alike."

Upcoming activities for the Junior Historians include a USO party in April and a reception for all veterans on May 13.

Thanks for allowing me to share with you some of the Junior Historian accomplishments. I am working with a truly fine group of young people.

Sincerely,
Carolyn Waters

Senator asks suspension of economic aid to Mexico

WASHINGTON (AP) - The chairman of the Senate Banking Committee asked the Clinton administration Monday to suspend further economic support for the Mexican peso until his committee conducts hearings on the aid package.

Sen. Alfonse D'Amato, R-N.Y., said that as of Friday, Mexico had drawn $3 billion of the $20 billion in loans and loan guarantees the United States is making available through the Exchange Stabilization Fund, a Treasury account normally used to support the dollar.

"Before Mexico draws further funds from their ESF facility, and particularly in view of the deteriorating situation in Mexico, Congress must reassert its rights and prerogatives with regard to this matter," D'Amato said in a letter to Treasury Secretary Robert Rubin.

He asked Rubin not to authorize any further funds for Mexico until after his committee holds hearings on the matter. The banking committee has indicated it would hold hearings on the peso rescue package, but as of Monday, no firm dates had been set.

"The American people have the right to know the full facts before more of our money is shipped to Mexico," D'Amato said.

Howard Schloss, a spokesman for Rubin, said Clinton's decision to use the Treasury fund had the backing of a Justice Department legal opinion and that the administration planned to continue making disbursements as needed.

Schloss said attacks on the program threatened to undermine its usefulness in protecting "American jobs, exports and our borders from illegal immigration."

"The ability of this program to restore confidence in the Mexican economy could be jeopardized by statements which call into question the implementation of this plan, agreed upon by the bipartisan leadership in Congress," he said.

Pro-family bill says mothers are entitled to breast-feed in public

By DEAN STEPHENS
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN (AP) - In a room filled with new mothers and cooing babies, at least one of whom was nursing, state lawmakers heard testimony Monday on a bill that aims to break down barriers to breast-feeding in public.

The bill, filed by Rep. Debra Danburg, D-Houston, encourages breast-feeding as a health issue. "This is the essence of preventative health medicine. This is the essence of good health care. This is the essence of a pro-family bill," Ms. Danburg told the House State Affairs Committee.

The bill, she said, would reduce costs at public clinics and lower insurance premiums by reducing childhood diseases and breast cancer rates for new mothers.

The bill also calls for a state demonstration project that would identify the benefits of, potential barriers to, and potential costs of implementing work site breast-feeding support policies for state employees.

The department conducting the project would concern itself with work schedule flexibility, location, access to clean, safe water sources and access to hygienic storage alternatives in the workplace for mothers' breast milk. The department would then report to the Legislature and the governor by February 1997 on its findings.

The bill garnered much support at Monday's hearings, where several working mothers testified.

Rega Richardson Waggett, of Houston, said she decided to breast feed her two children because of the proven health benefits. Her husband, Gordon Waggett, called breast-feeding "a fundamental act of nurture between a mother and child."

Despite that, Mrs. Waggett said,

"Society's negative perception about breast-feeding has caused women to stop nursing their babies or, worse yet, to never start nursing their babies."

The only opposition Ms. Danburg said she has encountered on the bill is from people opposed to legalizing indecent exposure.

"This bill does not legalize indecent exposure. Either they hadn't read the legislation when they said that they opposed it or they did not understand what they read," Ms. Danburg said.

The bill says a mother is entitled to breast-feed anywhere the mother is authorized to be, "regardless of whether the nipple of the mother's breast is uncovered during or incidental to the breast-feeding."

"This is not about human sexuality and a woman's breast as a sexual object, but its about human food for a human baby," Mrs. Waggett said.

Mothers need flexibility and support from society, she said.

Currently, no law prohibits nursing in public, but the Waggetts said ambiguity exists when mothers can be asked to leave if they are nursing. Mrs. Waggett testified that many women are asked to leave a location.

Pageant winners

Smith crowned Miss Top of Texas during pageant here Saturday night

Mandi Smith of Booker was crowned the new Miss Top of Texas at the pageant held Saturday at the HISD Administration Building.

Mandi is the daughter of Rick and Reola Smith and is currently attending the University of North Texas in Denton, majoring in broadcast journalism.

First runner up was Anissa Craven of Lubbock; second runner up, Susan Sewell, Odessa; third runner up, Leslie Overly, Lubbock; and fourth runner up, Aubrey Johnston, Sweetwater.

Anissa was named "Miss Congeniality" and also winner of the swimsuit competition.

Women eligible for first national leadership award

Local women may be eligible to win the first national annual Courage in Community Award honoring the contributions made by women in the development of decent, safe, affordable housing and strong communities.

The award, sponsored by McAuley Institute, a national nonprofit organization founded by the Sisters of Mercy and based in Silver Spring, Maryland, is open to individuals or teams of women working to provide housing to those members of the community with the lowest income and the greatest vulnerability. Locally, McAuley works with Amistad Housing Development Corporation in Hereford, a 30 unit housing complex for farmworkers.

Nominations should be submitted in March and nominees should demonstrate inspirational leadership, application of innovative approaches and unique collaborative partnerships. The awardee(s) will receive $1,500 and their organization will receive $1,500.

For nomination forms and further information, contact McAuley Institute at (301) 588-8110.

The Brand welcomes news of friends, relatives, grandkids. Send to The Brand, Box 673, or call us. We're interested in local news!

Mandi was winner in both the talent and evening gown divisions. She won the "People's Choice Award" based on votes from the audience.

Other contestants were Fidelia

Hernandez from Hereford, Michala Murrell of Kress and Kamden Calloway of Amarillo.

Mandi will compete in the Miss Texas Scholarship pageant in Ft. Worth on July 8.

Hereford Toastmasters to be represented in area contest

Margaret Del Toro was named the winner of the Hereford Toastmasters International Speech Contest at the morning meeting March 2 at the Ranch House Restaurant.

Del Toro, who spoke on "Learning to Live", will advance to the area contest to be held Thursday evening in Plainview.

Joe Weaver was the other contestant in the event, speaking on "Thoreau Paraphrased". The speeches were required to be from five to seven minutes in length and each contestant was judged on appearance, their presentation on verbal, face and body gestures, content of speech and motivational effect on the audience.

Wayne Winget served as chief judge and presented the rules and requirements of the contestants. Linda Minchew served as the toastmaster. Charles Minchew and Ralph Barndt were timers, as two are required for the contest.

Points were tabulated by Winget and counter, Dave Kimmel. Nancy Griego was the presiding officer.

Liada Minchew handed out printed forms entitled "How to be a Success". Other members present were Ed Gilbert, Jigger Rowland, Dr. Milton Adams, and Art Gonzales.

Guests in attendance were Adolfo Del Toro, Mike Guerrero and Rudy Davila.

The evening Toastmasters was canceled.

Local WTAMU students place in forensics contests

Sara Zinck, from Hereford, a West Texas A&M University sophomore, has qualified for the national forensics tournament.

Zinck, a theatre major, qualified by placing second in after-dinner speaking at the spring Texas Intercollegiate Forensics Association (TIFA) Tournament, Feb. 3-5 in Huntsville. She also was the fifth overall speaker at the tournament.

To qualify for nationals, a competitor must place in three tournaments with a ranking of eight or less, based on final placings in the tournament.

Also at the TIFA tournament, Lance Ortiz, a freshman history major from Hereford, and Missy Hulen, a junior speech major from Andrews, placed sixth in dramatic duo. The two were named the No. 1 duo for top novice. Top novice is a separate category that considers only first year competitors.

Ortiz also placed fourth in after-dinner speaking. Zinck and Kerry Burley, a freshman theatre major from Sundown, placed fourth in dramatic duo.

At the Sweetheart Swing Tournament held Feb. 10-12 in Norman, Okla., Zinck and Burley placed third in dramatic duo while Ortiz and Hulen finished seventh.

The AFA National Tournament will take place April 6-10 in Eau Claire, Wis.

The first incorporated savings bank was chartered in Boston in 1816.

Hereford golfers take 13th in tough Andrews tourney

The Hereford boys' golf team finished 13th at the Andrews Classic held Friday and Saturday. The field of 28 was basically a Who's Who of West Texas golf. "All of the 5A or 4A schools that have any kind of team at all from El Paso clear up to here were there," Hereford coach Stacey Bixler said.

Hereford totaled 680 over the two days. Although they were 13th, Bixler pointed out that they were fourth out of 15 teams from Classes 4A and 3A.

Scott Burkhalter led Hereford, shooting 81 Friday and 86 Saturday for a two-day total of 167. He was followed by: Justin Griffith, 84-84-168; David Sims, 86-85-171; Keith Riley, 88-86-174; and Cory Schumacher, 88-87-175.

Hereford shot 339 on Friday and 341 on a much-windier Saturday.

"I was more happy with the second day than I was with the first," Bixler said. "We showed some character. Most teams went up 20-25 strokes the second day, but we basically stayed the same—we went up two strokes—and the wind blew about 40 miles per hour. I was happy with that, because that's going to happen to you in district."

Hereford's biggest District 1-4A rivals, Borger and Pampa, didn't go to the tournament; they canceled because of last week's weather, Bixler said. He would have liked his players to have competed against those two, Bixler said, but on the other hand: "That's two rounds we got in that they didn't."

Randall was the only other 1-4A team there, and the Raiders tied for 22nd with a two-day total of 716.

Odessa Permian captured the tournament with a 303-327-630 performance, edging Midland High's 314-318-632.

The three 4A teams ahead of Hereford were: fifth-place Andrews, 326-327-653; eighth-place Lamesa, 334-331-665; and 10th-place Monahans, 329-343-672.

Herd track team gets 86 points

The Hereford boys' track team accumulated 86 points Saturday in the Lubbock Boys Invitational meet, finishing fourth in the Class 4A division. The meet was held at Coronado High School.

San Angelo Lakeview won the division with 152 points, while Frenship was second with 144. Estacado was third with 101. Caprock trailed Hereford with 56 points.

Hereford's Joseph Martinez tied for first place in the shot put event, with a best effort of 46 feet, 1 1/2 inches. He tied with a Frenship thrower named Trotter. Another Martinez from Hereford, Martin, was sixth in the shot put with a toss of 40-5 1/2.

David Hicks took second in the 110-meter high hurdles with a time of 16.35 seconds—just a blink of an eye behind a San Angelo Lakeview runner whose time was 16.30. Hereford's Tracy Montano was fifth in that event in 54.32.

Hereford took second place in both of the relays. The 400-meter relay team of Marquise Brown, Raymond Gonzales, Todd Radford and Michael Brown finished in 45.34 seconds, though Estacado won it with a time of 43.86.

The 1,600-meter team of Marquise Brown, Jacob Moreno, Miguel Carrillo and Gonzalez ran the relay in 3:36.28 and finished behind Frenship at 3:34.68.

Jose Arroyo finished third in the 1,600-meter run with a time of 5:04.53. Arroyo also was fourth in the 800 in 2:08.9.

Michael Brown took fourth in the triple jump with an effort of 39-2 1/2. He was also sixth in the long jump at 18-2, while Marquise Brown was fifth in the long jump at 18-5.

Josh Gamboa claimed fourth in the discus with a throw of exactly 126 feet.

Tommy Mather took fourth in the 3,200 run with a time of 11:26.33, and Izan Lopez was sixth in the same race in 11:36.19.

Moreno was fourth in the 400-meter dash in 54.32 seconds.

Radford was fifth in the 300-meter hurdles in 47.24 seconds.

Herd track coach Ron Young stayed in Lubbock because of his father's illness and was not available for comment Monday.

Hereford's junior varsity scored 133.5 points to finish second in the 4A JV division. Frenship won it with 178.5, Estacado was third with 133, meter dash in 54.32 seconds. Caprock was fourth with 74, and San Angelo Lake View was fifth with 24.

Young had Hereford's individual JV results with him. "They will be published in the Brand as soon as possible."

There were two separate divisions for 5A schools. Coronado won one with 147 points, and San Angelo Central won the other division with 170.5.

Bad weather gives weekend off for baseball, tennis, girls' track

Last week's bad weather forced several Hereford teams to cancel plans for the weekend.

The Levelland baseball tournament, the Concho Bell Relays girls' track meet in San Angelo and a tennis tournament in Borger all were canceled.

A tournament already has been added to the tennis team's schedule to replace the canceled one. The team will play in a four team tournament Friday at the Amarillo Tennis Center starting at 9 a.m. The other three teams there will be Tascosa, Borger and Canyon.

Hereford will also host a junior varsity tennis tournament Friday, starting at 9 a.m. at the courts north of Hereford High School. The tournament may or may not run over onto Saturday. The JV teams that will compete are Hereford, Borger, Plainview and Dimmitt.

The baseball and girls' track teams have not announced replacement events. As originally scheduled, the girls' track team will compete at a meet in Tulia Friday and Saturday while the baseball team hosts two teams for a doubleheader at Whiteface Field: Amarillo High at 1 p.m. and Palo Duro at about 3.

WFHS whips Burkburnett; advances to state tourney

Wichita Falls High, which knocked Hereford's boys' basketball team out of the playoffs in the regional semifinals, won Saturday to advance to the UIL State Basketball Tournament this weekend.

Wichita Falls blew out fellow District 7-4A member Burkburnett 82-53 Saturday in Denton.

Burkburnett went into the playoffs as that district's champion, but apparently Wichita Falls had to forfeit some district wins because of an ineligible player, Hereford coach Randy Dean said.

Two other teams that Hereford beat this season lost in regional finals on Saturday. In the Region I-3A final, Slaton lost to Seminole, 74-59. In the Region I-2A final, Abernathy lost to Springlake-Earth, 44-20. When Hereford won the 1-27 Tournament in early December, the Herd beat Slaton in the semifinals, 66-64, and Abernathy in the finals, 71-44.

In the Region I-1A final Saturday, Sudan beat Nazareth, 76-61, to earn a trip to Austin. Sudan will try to add a boys' state championship to the state championship earned by the Sudan girls who beat Alvord, 66-42, Saturday in Austin.

In the boys' Region I-5A finals, El Paso Riverside defeated Abilene Cooper, 48-45.

Friday, March 10 Semifinals Class 2A La Rue La Poyner (29-4) vs. Universal City Randolph (27-6), 9:30 a.m. Maypearl (33-4) vs. Springlake-Earth (28-5), 11 a.m. Class 5A Dallas Carter (31-6) vs. Houston Clear Lake (30-7), 3 p.m. San Antonio East Central (33-0) vs. El Paso Riverside (27-8), 7 p.m. Saturday, March 11 Finals Class 1A, 9 a.m. Class 3A, 10:30 a.m. Class 2A, 2:30 p.m. Class 4A, 4 p.m. Class 5A, 8 p.m. GIRLS' STATE BASKETBALL CHAMPIONSHIPS Saturday, March 4 Class 5A: Westlake (36-4) beat Duncanville (37-1), 59-56, OT. Class 4A: Cleburne (36-2) beat Silsbee (35-2), 55-50. Class 3A: Bowie (35-2) beat Dripping Springs (27-12), 65-50. Class 2A: Ozona (34-2) beat Cooper (31-4), 61-47. Class A: Sudan (39-0) beat Alvord (33-4), 66-42.

Yankees ink Willie Hernandez; 5 Braves combine on no-hitter

By BEN WALKER AP Baseball Writer

Clearly, some people are more enthusiastic about this new brand of baseball than others.

Guillermo "Willie" Hernandez, for example, seems to be for it. He agreed Monday to become a replacement reliever for the New York Yankees at age 40.

Teddy Higuera, apparently, is against it. He's close to signing a minor-league contract, but it's with the Baltimore Orioles, the team that is refusing to field a replacement club.

In West Palm Beach, Fla., manager Bobby Cox was smiling, his players were high-fiving and the 900 or so fans were standing and cheering after five Atlanta Braves pitchers combined on a no-hitter to beat the New York Mets 5-0.

"They have an outstanding throwing and conditioning program here, and the mental part is starting to come together too," said starter Jose Alvarez, voted the Braves' most valuable pitcher back in 1988.

But in Plant City, Fla., only about 100 fans were left at the end when the Cincinnati Reds dropped to 0-5 with a 9-7 loss in 11 innings to Houston.

Before the game, coach Ray Knight walked into manager Davey Johnson's office, presented the lineup card and asked, "How's this?"

Johnson, eating soup and reading a newspaper, never looked at the names before signing it. "Looks good to me," he said, handing it back.

In Peoria, Ariz., the San Diego Padres committed three errors, threw two wild pitches and walked nine batters in losing to San Francisco 10-7 before 612 fans. The Padres, winless in four games, also were caught stealing twice, making them 0-for-6 on stolen-base tries this spring.

"Some plays are entertaining. I'm not going to lie," Padres manager Bruce Bochy said. "You chuckle a little bit. But also, it's a time to get serious when you're out on the field."

Especially because it's becoming more likely that the regular season will start in less than four weeks with replacement players. No further negotiations between owners and players are scheduled, and it appears the sides may not meet again until late in the week.

On Thursday, though, baseball may vote to add two expansion teams during an owners' meeting in Palm Beach, Fla., with Phoenix and St. Petersburg considered the clear favorites to get the clubs. On Monday, as part of routine inspections of prospective sites, three major league officials toured the ThunderDome in St. Petersburg.

Though none of Atlanta's fill-in players may ever get near Cooperstown - unlike Greg Maddux and Tom Glavine, not to mention other starters Steve Avery and John Smoltz - they made replacement baseball history with their combined no-hitter.

Ashburn, Doby to be considered for HOF induction

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) - Richie Ashburn and Larry Doby, who could've played in the same outfield for the Cleveland Indians except for a ruling by Kenesaw Mountain Landis, are considered among the top candidates for election Tuesday to the Hall of Fame by the Veterans Committee.

Nellie Fox, Gil Hodges and Negro Leagues star Leon Day also stand a chance to be chosen. Hall of Famers Ted Williams, Stan Musial and Yogi Berra are on the 17-member panel that will vote, with 75 percent required for selection.

"It would be a great honor, no question," Ashburn said. "But how could I be optimistic after all these years?"

There are 220 people in the Hall, 125 of them chosen by the Veterans Committee, including Phil Rizzuto and Leo Durocher last year. Mike Schmidt was elected by the Baseball Writers Association of America in January and will be enshrined in Cooperstown, N.Y., on July 31.

UMass, Temple square off for Atlantic 10 title

By WAYNE WOOLLEY
Associated Press Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Massachusetts will have a familiar foe when it tries for a fourth straight Atlantic 10 title and a place in the record book.

The No. 8 Minutemen (25-4) beat St. Joseph's 68-57 on Monday night to advance to the championship game against Temple (19-9), a 47-42 winner over Rutgers in the other semifinal.

It will be the fourth straight year Massachusetts will be playing for the tournament championship at home after winning the regular-season title, and the third year in a row against Temple.

If the Minutemen win, they will become only the second team to win four consecutive regular-season and tournament championships. North Carolina State was the other, winning five straight in the Southern Conference from 1947-51.

"I would have never thought this could happen before I came here," said Lou Roe, who had 11 points and 11 rebounds against the Hawks. "It's a very important game for our program."

The Minutemen struggled at first against the fifth-seeded Hawks (17-11).

"At times we were a little ragged but you have to credit St. Joe's for making us play ragged," Massachusetts coach John Calipari said.

The Hawks started the second half with a 9-0 run to take a 33-32 lead, but Massachusetts came back with its own 9-0 run for a 41-33 lead with 14:41 left.

The Minutemen never led by less than 9 in the final three minutes.

"We were playing very tentatively to start the second half," Calipari said. "Then we got aggressive and all of the sudden it's off to the races."

Center Marcus Camby, who blocked five shots and scored all of his 9 points in the second half, said that the Minutemen are hitting their stride at the right time.

"We're coming together and playing to get a high seed in the NCAA tournament and that should make it easier to get to the Final Four," Camby said.

Roe said that Massachusetts won't get caught up in the emotions that could come with playing such a bitter rival like Temple.

"We can't get caught up in all of that," Roe said. "No matter who we play I think we'll be ready."

Although Temple has lost the last two finals to Massachusetts, the Owls beat the Minutemen 72-63 in Philadelphia on Feb. 23.

The Minutemen won the four previous times the teams met, with three of the four decided by a point. Rutgers nearly upset Temple.

The Owls shot just 27 percent (16-of-59) against the Scarlet Knights and hit just one field goal in the final 11:27.

That shot was a jumper by Levan Alston with 1:15 to play that gave the Temple a 44-42 lead and allowed them to hold on for the victory. Rutgers (13-15) shot 31 percent (16-for-51).

"Temple has always known how to win ugly basketball games and that's what we did tonight," said senior guard Rick Brunson, who led the Owls with 15 points. "We've got to go up to UMass and forget about what happened in the past, put it behind us."

Temple coach John Chaney said that although his team labored against Rutgers, the Owls are still finding ways to win.

"This team has won 10 of its last 12," Chaney said. "That ain't whistling Dixie."

Southern Illinois, St. Peter's, Old Dominion and Gonzaga earned automatic bids to the NCAA tournament by winning their conferences' tournament championship games.

Missouri Valley Conference
S. Illinois 77, Tulsa 62
At St. Louis, Southern Illinois

(23-8) won its third consecutive MVC tournament by knocking off the top-seeded Golden Hurricane.

Chris Carr, who was the conference's regular-season MVP, also was selected the tournament MVP following his 22-point performance in the final.

Tulsa's all-conference backcourt of Shea Seals and Alvin Williamson was held to a combined 11 points.

Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference
St. Peter's 80, Manhattan 78, OT
At Albany, N.Y., Mike Frenshley tied the game in overtime with a 3-pointer and won it with a 14-foot jumper with 4.2 seconds left as the Peacocks (19-10) reached the NCAA tournament for the second time in four years.

Tournament MVP Randy Holmes scored 24 points for St. Peter's, which lost twice to regular-season champion Manhattan by 20-point margins.

Manhattan, tied with Massachusetts, Arkansas and Western Kentucky for the most victories in Division I with 25, must wait for an at-large bid.

Colonial Athletic Association
Old Dominion 80,
James Madison 75

At Richmond, Va., Pety Sessoms scored 20 of his 25 points in the second half and the Monarchs (20-11) held James Madison without a shot from the field in the final 2:43. E.J. Sherod's 3-pointer with 2:43 remaining put Old Dominion ahead for good at 71-70.

West Coast Conference
Gonzaga 80, Portland 67

At Santa Clara, Calif., Gonzaga earned its first-ever NCAA berth behind John Rillie's career-high 34 points. Rillie scored a tournament-record 96 points for the Bulldogs (21-8), who have won 10 of 11 after an 0-6 WCC start.

Bulls' guards key rout of Blazers

By MIKE NADEL
AP Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) - It was the perfect opportunity to play B.J. Armstrong and Steve Kerr at the same time.

"Portland came in with James Robinson off the bench and he's a 6-2 guard that we can match up with well," Chicago coach Phil Jackson said. "(Terry) Porter and (Rod) Strickland also don't have that size or the post-up ability that Clyde Drexler used to for Portland. Matchups are important."

Jackson took advantage and was rewarded with outstanding outside shooting from Armstrong and Kerr as the Bulls beat the Trail Blazers 103-83 on Monday night.

"Shooting is such an important part of the game," Jackson said. "It was a nice game by our guards."

Armstrong was 11-for-18 from the floor in matching his season high with 27 points. Kerr, a reserve who usually spells Armstrong, scored 13 points on 4-for-7 shooting.

"I like being on the floor at the same time as Steve, because he creates space on the floor for me," Armstrong said. "He's such a great shooter that a defender has to honor his shot."

Armstrong and Kerr each made three of Chicago's nine 3-pointers as the Bulls won their sixth straight at home despite getting beaten 21-11 on the offensive boards.

"Boy, are they strong and quick to the glass," said Kerr, who improved his NBA-leading 3-point percentage to .512. "You've got to shoot well to beat that team."

In other games Monday night, Golden State beat Seattle 106-103 and the Los Angeles Clippers beat Minnesota 101-88.

The Bulls didn't really have to play all that well to beat the Blazers, Portland coach P.J. Carlesimo said.

"The Bulls had something to do with it, but we just didn't play hard," Carlesimo said. "When only one team plays, it's hard to assess how much credit to give them or how much blame to give us. That's just an unacceptable performance, one of our poorest efforts all year."

It was the most lopsided loss of the season for the Trail Blazers, who played their fifth consecutive game without injured top scorer Clifford Robinson. Strickland, back after missing a game with a bruised shoulder, and scored only 12 points; he averages 20.

Strickland offered no excuses. "It was obvious, the energy level wasn't there," he said. "We didn't have it. We didn't come with it. We were just terrible."

Scottie Pippen and Toni Kukoc each scored 15 points for Chicago, which shot 51 percent to Portland's 39 percent.

Otis Thorpe scored 21 points, his high since he was acquired in last month's Drexler deal, but the Trail Blazers still fell to 0-3 in March after going 8-4 in February.

Ex-Cowboy quarterback White explains reasons for going against players' union

By FRANK LUKSA
The Dallas Morning News

DALLAS - In the third and last replacement-player game of 1987, Cowboys coach Tom Landry started Danny White over the quarterback darling of the moment, Kevin Sweeney. White, a veteran, had crossed union picket lines to play.

He was welcomed at Texas Stadium with open lungs. Many in the crowd of 60,612 booed his introduction.

"When fans booed, I looked around to see who they were booing. It was me!" White recalls. "I remember saying after the game that I ran out on the field with Tony Dorsett ... and I was sure they were booing him."

"But that's when it really hit me. In a strike, there's no way to win. Everyone loses ... players, owners, fans, vendors ..."

In a reminiscence Thursday from Phoenix, where he's head coach in the Arena Football League, White calculated his losses during NFL strikes of '82 and '87. They were heavy: silent, internal resentment against him for a pro-owners stance in '82; forfeit of a starting job to Gary Hogeboom in '84; a career that ended on teams split by strike issues and with teammates who never understood his motives.

White was stridently anti-union in '82 when eight regular-season games were canceled by an owners' lockout. Then as now in the baseball shutdown, few players challenged the party line. But White raised a dissenting voice, anyway.

"We were employees. The owners were the owners. I didn't think we had the right to tell owners how to run their business," he said in reprise of his stance.

His mind remained as fixed in '87 when owners signed impostors to replace regulars. The essence of this strike to White represented a moral question. But not a moral dilemma.

"It was a moral issue in that I'd signed a contract," he said. "No way could I claim mistreatment, underpayment or discrimination. I signed a contract to play for the Dallas Cowboys. I felt morally obligated to play."

White also felt players missed another point about opportunity:

"We were well-paid. What would we be doing if we didn't have the NFL? If we didn't have owners, what would we be doing? I'd like to have gone around the room and asked, 'What would you do without the NFL?' It's not like we had a lot of options to make that kind of money elsewhere."

White blames himself for explaining his views now rather than then. He did not sense the sullen tide against him when the '82 team reconvened.

"It was never obvious to me until later ... in '84," he said. "Then I heard of people going to Landry's office to lobby for a change at quarterback. All due to the strike."

"That had a great deal to do with the change of quarterbacks before the '84 season. It added to the friction."

Landry's announcement of Hogeboom as the season-opening starter reflected the tense times. "We're going with Pozderac," stammered the coach, naming his offensive right tackle before setting the record straight.

"When I came back (after 10 games) it had a negative effect on me," White said. "I had no confidence in the system. I didn't believe it could happen - politics put ahead of performance. But it did."

White stressed what he should have been done to ease tension. Just talk it out.

"I regret, not what I did, but that I should have been more vocal to my teammates and explained my position," he said. "I thought when you're dealing with adults, you lead by example. I greatly misjudged my ability to do that. This thing festered and continued to have an effect on the team."

Excepting the '85 team that won the NFC East, White felt the Cowboys' fade was accelerated by lack of unity from '82 until the Landry Era ended in '88. They were neither happy times nor happy teams, and two strikes influenced the lack of harmony.

The same factors will wreck a baseball team from within unless...

"I have one piece of advice," White offered. "I saw the 49ers regroup after the '82 strike. What they did was get together and put their feelings on the table. Then put it behind them."

"We never did that. Whatever has happened, players have to maintain or rebuild unity. And understand that people have different priorities and beliefs."

"Nobody ever took the lead with us. That's where I feel as responsible as anyone. I didn't do that."

White's words confirmed his theory that no one wins in a strike. But some involved lose more than others.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please tell all women who are considering moving in with a lover to think twice and maybe even get some legal advice. I didn't, and I'm paying a big price of being so trusting.

When I became engaged to "Howard," I gave up a lovely apartment, two cats, all my furniture and my TV. We were so crazy in love, I was absolutely certain that ours was a match made in heaven and everything would be wonderful.

Guess what? Howard wrecked my car and ruined me financially with his lousy advice. After a year, he suddenly decided that we were not compatible and I had "failed him" because I wasn't nice enough to his kids. Then he threw me out.

Now I am living in an unfurnished apartment with no appliances, trying to recover from near-bankruptcy. And that's not all. I am not able to get any financial compensation from Howard because nothing was done legally.

Please warn all women who may be considering giving up their place to move in with "Mr. Terrific" to think twice -- and then forget it. -- Miami

DEAR MIAMI: Howard sounds like a brass-plated, four-door heel, but don't blame him completely. You need to sharpen your selection skills.

Thanks for sharing your story. It just may help prevent others from falling into the same dung heap.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a single parent who works full-time. I have two bright and talented daughters, ages 14 and 12. They share a bedroom that looks like a cyclone hit it.

I am tired of yelling at them to straighten up the room. Their clothes are on the floor, on doorknobs, everywhere. The beds are never made. Papers that are two weeks old are strewn all over, along with soft drink cans, orange peels, you name it. It drives me crazy. They look so neat and nice when they go out, no one would suspect their room is like a pig sty.

I've announced that I will not buy them another piece of clothing until they learn how to take care of the things they have. I also have threatened to stop their allowance. They couldn't care less. I even tried an incentive, offering to redecorate the room with new furniture, comforters, sheets, etc. Still no action.

One day, I decided to quit fussing and see how long it took for them to get tired of it. It didn't work. Their clothes literally covered every inch of floor. You couldn't tell what color the carpet was.

It didn't bother them in the least. They just walked over everything and went on with their routine.

I don't think I'm asking for too much, Ann. Do you? Please tell me what else I can do before I go crazy. -- Wiggled-Out Mom in Colorado Springs

DEAR WIGGED-OUT: You can't do a thing about the slob, but you CAN do something about yourself.

Shut the door of the pig sty and vow never to go in there until they leave for college, marriage or a career, whichever comes first. Tell them where the sheets and pillowcases are and inform them that they can get fresh ones if and when they want to. The same goes for the towels.

My plan may not get them to clean up their room, but it will reduce your blood pressure and promote peace and harmony in your home, which is far more important than an orderly room.

Sanders placed on honors list

Lori Sanders, of Hereford, has been placed on the President's List at the University of North Texas for the 1994 fall semester.

Only students who have earned a grade point average of 4.0 on a course load of 12 or more hours during the semester are accorded this distinction.

You stay young as long as you can learn, acquire new habits and suffer contradiction. --Ebner-Eschenbach

Shower honors bride-elect

Bride-elect is honoree at shower Saturday

A bridal shower honoring Barbara Smith, bride-elect of Tommy Ramirez, was held March 4 at the home of Peggy Danley. The couple plans an April 1 wedding.

Greeting guests with the honoree were her mother, Karen Smith, and Isabel Ramirez, the mother of the prospective groom.

Serving refreshments of quiches, sausage balls, lemon dainties, cream cheese crescents, fruit bread and fruit were the hostesses.

The refreshment table featured a floral arrangement in the bride's chosen colors of burgundy, hunter green, navy and ivory on a burgundy table cloth with ivory lace overlay. Napkins of burgundy and hunter green were used.

The bride-elect was presented a Dirt Devil vacuum and Corning Ware

Massage therapy is topic of recent sorority meeting

Xi Epsilon Alpha chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority met recently at West Texas Rural Telephone.

Registered massage therapist Becky McDonald of Perfect Touch Salon demonstrated a full body massage.

McDonald talked of the benefits of massage therapy and their therapeutic effects.

Following the program, a business meeting was held with the opening ritual led by President Ruby Lee.

In Communication from International, Matthews read a thank you note to the chapter for its recent donation to the International Fund. Peggy Hyer also read a note from the Deaf Smith Historical Society stating there would be no April luncheons this year but donuts and beverages will be served April 24 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. For anyone who wishes to tour the E.B. Black House grounds.

Secret sisters were thanked and a note was read from the adopted sister Billie Brown.

Ways and Means chairman Melinda Henson, outlined details of the upcoming April 22 luncheon for Lions Club members wives.

Service committee chairman Shaw collected used videos for donation to Deaf Smith County Library. She reminded members to bring baby food for the chapter's annual drive for Operation Good Shepherd.

Social committee chairman Deann Harris said that the April 1 weekend has been set as the shopping trip to Santa Fe.

President Lee assigned pledges to the following committees: Dianne Beavers, Ways and Means; Dee Hamilton, Social committee and Sheri Jones, Scrapbook committee.

Members in attendance were: Sharon Bodner, Connie Matthews, Linda Arellano, Ruby Sanders, Gaye B. Reily, Peggy Hyer, Susan Shaw, Lee, Harris, Hamilton, Beavers, Henson and guests Dennis Hafliger and Michelle Brisendine.

Brumley named on Dean's List

Angela Brumley, a senior communications major from Hereford, has been named to the Dean's List for the fall 1994 semester at McMurry University, Abilene.

To be selected for the Dean's List, a student must take 12 or more credit hours and have a 3.5 or better grade point average.

I see men ordinarily more eager to discover a reason for things than to find out whether the things are so. --Montaigne

If your child suddenly starts talking about these important issues, it may be our fault. We are proud to sponsor a unique educational program that helps students get excited about current events.

Through our weekly NewsCurrents Newspaper in Education Program, students are discussing, debating, exploring and understanding the important issues of our time. They are reading the newspaper and understanding more about what's going on in the world around them.

The Newspaper Association of America Foundation and several educational organizations have designated March 6-10 as Newspaper in Education Week. As partners with the schools, we take this opportunity to salute our teachers and to pledge our continued commitment to the education of area young people.

THE HEREFORD BRAND

More than 900,000 copies of The Hereford Brand were distributed in 1994. If your advertising message was not included in many of these issues, you need to call Mauri Montgomery or Julius Bodner, 364-2030, and let them put together an advertising schedule to fit your budget.

America's best legitimate advertising buy is still the local newspaper that is involved in your community. Junk mailers don't contribute a dime to the betterment of Hereford. They take and don't give back.

Battle at Remagen Bridge hastened end of World War

By ARTHUR ALLEN
Associated Press Writer
REMAGEN, Germany (AP) - Rounding a hilly bend 50 years ago today, GIs of the 27th Armored Infantry Battalion captured a bridge that was not supposed to exist and crossed a river they hadn't expected to see.

That river was the Rhine, and the battle they kicked off at the Ludendorff Bridge hastened the demise of the Third Reich.

"In small or large measure, it hastened the end of the war," said retired U.S. Army Lt. Col. George Ruhlen, 84, who was an artillery commander a few miles south of Remagen when American troops took the bridge.

Ruhlen, of San Antonio, Texas, was one of 600 U.S. and German veterans and their relatives who gathered under clear skies today for a 50th anniversary ceremony beneath the stone towers that are all that remain of the bridge.

The bridge capture was unplanned. The 27th Armored battalion was part of the First Army Group, whose role in the Rhineland offensive of February was to reach the river, then proceed south to join with the 3rd Army Group of Gen. George Patton.

The GIs had been told that Hitler had destroyed all bridges over the Rhine. Yet there it was in front of them: a gray railroad trestle spanning the river into the German heartland.

As the Americans prepared to cross, German soldiers on the other side set off a dynamite charge that rocked the structure, but didn't destroy it.

"I heard guns firing on the other side of the hill and I radioed in to ask what was happening," said Ruhlen. "They said they had an observer on the other side of the river and I said, 'What river?' I didn't believe it could be the Rhine."

A hundred and twenty troops swarmed over the bridge and secured a foothold under the basalt cliffs on the other side. Within a week, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower had poured 25,000 more men, tanks, artillery and trucks across the bridge.

Michael Chinchar, 77, of Saddle River, N.J., captured a tower on the east side of the bridge and was one of 13 soldiers to get the Distinguished Service Cross.

Gazing at the basalt cliffs across the river today, Chinchar recalled leading his men across and throwing themselves into an abandoned German trench.

"It's like a dream, but one you can't forget," he said. News of the bridge's capture sent defense industry stocks plunging on Wall Street. Hitler fired Field Marshal Gerd von Rundstedt, commander of the Western front, and a drumhead martial court executed four German officers, including Hans Scheller.

Scheller's son, Gerd, was at today's ceremony. "In the name of two postwar generations, I want to thank the Americans for acting as resolutely as they did on March 7, 1945," he said.

Hitler threw everything he could at the Ludendorff Bridge - 367 warplanes, V-2 rockets, howitzers, frogmen and even an experimental jet fighter - the ME-262. Hundreds of GIs died.

The bridge finally collapsed March 17, taking 28 Army Engineers down with it. By then the Americans had built two pontoon bridges over the Rhine.

The bridge, built during World War I to supply the Western front, was never rebuilt. Each year 25,000 people visit the Peace Museum that Mayor Kuersten established in the stone towers by selling pieces of the bridge, mostly to U.S. vets.

Ease and relaxation are profitable to all studies. The mind is like a bow, the stronger by being unbent.
—Ben Johnson

AUSTIN — A bill that would give eligible Texans the right to obtain a permit to carry a concealed handgun moved a step closer to becoming a law last week.

Sponsored by state Sen. Jerry Patterson, R-Pasadena, Senate Bill 60 was approved 5-1 in the Senate Criminal Justice Committee.

The measure would allow owners of businesses frequented by the public, such as restaurants, movie theaters, hotels and health clinics, the right to deny entry to persons carrying concealed handguns.

Under the bill, applicants for a concealed handgun permit would be required to undergo 10 hours of handgun training and pay a fee of $140 for a four-year permit. An amendment to the bill contains language that would cut the required number of handgun training hours to 10. The original bill specified 15 hours of training.

An opponent of the bill, Sen. Royce West, D-Dallas, said enforcing the handgun restriction at private businesses probably would require installing metal detectors.

Lawsuit Liability Bill

The Texas Senate approved legislation last week aimed at limiting liability in civil lawsuits that involve more than one defendant.

Gov. Bob Bullock said the action "dispels forever this fallacy that Texas is anti-business."

But consumers said that such legislation would make it difficult for innocent victims to recover full compensation for their injuries.

The bill, which would change the rules of "joint and several liability," would require that a defendant be found at least 51 percent liable for a civil claim before being required to pay 100 percent of damages. Current law requires as little as 11 percent responsibility.

A defendant found to be 50 percent liable or less would pay only his or her share of the damages.

Moses Is TEA Nominee

Gov. George W. Bush last week nominated Lubbock Independent School District Superintendent Mike Moses as Texas education commissioner.

Moses, 43, advocates a "zero tolerance" policy for violent students. He established a boot camp in Lubbock staffed by military-style drill instructors to correct disciplinary problems.

Though Moses supports the no-pass, no-play rule, he says he would prefer to reduce the period of time students with failing grades must wait before being allowed to participate in after-school extracurricular activities.

Base Closing Hit List

A base-closing recommendation list released last week by the Department of Defense would close four military installations and slash Texas with the highest net loss of jobs in the nation (6,981).

Leaders of Texas communities that have long enjoyed the benefits of having nearby bases are preparing arguments to bring to the Base Realignment and Closure Commission, which must deliver a revised list to President Clinton by July 1.

Worst hit are Texarkana, which faces closure of Defense Distribution Depot Red River (820 civilian jobs), and disestablishment of Red River Army Depot (14 military and 2,887 civilian jobs); Lubbock, closure of Reese Air Force Base (900 military and 1,183 civilian jobs); and San Antonio, closure of Brooks Air Force Base (1,820 military and 1,939 civilian jobs).

Deactivation of the Bergstrom Air Force Base Reserve unit would cost Austin a total of 954 jobs, including 865 civilian and full-time reservists.

More Probation Officers

Texas would add 400 juvenile probation officers under a plan approved by the House Appropriations Committee.

Officials of the Texas Juvenile Probation Commission said the $20 million budget increase is about half of what they requested.

About $10 million of the increase for 1996-97 would pay for 400 probation officers to expand the current staff of more than 1,450.

Other Highlights

Standard premiums for homeowners' insurance in Texas would increase an estimated 2.4 percent under a rate proposal recommended by two administrative law judges. The rate plan, forwarded to state Insurance Commissioner Elton Bomer for consideration, is slightly less than what the insurance industry requested.

Allan Polunsky, a member of the Texas Board of Criminal Justice since 1987, was named chairman of the panel last week by Gov. Bush. He replaces Houston lawyer Carol Vance, who will remain on the board. Bush said Polunsky "will be an important part of the Bush administration's battle against crime."

Gov. Bush nominated Laurie Rich, an assistant to U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm, to head the Texas Office of State-Federal Relations in Washington, D.C.

Brenda Arnett last week was sworn in by Gov. Bush as executive director of the Texas Department of Commerce. The governor praised the Houston woman's career in business.

Study of cycles identifies patterns in events of world

By DINAH WISENBERG BRIN
Associated Press Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - The political upheaval of 1994? They saw it coming two years ahead of time. The devastating Japanese earthquake? They'd been expecting it, albeit a year earlier.

Analysts at the nonprofit Foundation for the Study of Cycles predict the future by studying the past, and the world's rhythmic patterns.

Foundation researchers have identified almost 5,000 cycles, reflecting patterns in fish egg cycles, religious fervor, imports, earnings, geysers, volcanoes, thickness of tree rings, warfare, marriages, nectar production and the electrical conductivity of sap.

Analyzing interest rates dating to 3000 B.C. they identified 100 cycles recurring anytime from a few days to 1,000 years.

"Our goal is not simply to forecast, but our real mission is to understand what cycles are, and ultimately, we would like to utilize them for the benefit of mankind," said Richard Moge, executive director.

"If it moves," he said, "we study it."

The foundation counts university libraries, professors, money managers, real estate developers and an oil company among its paying members and clients. To identify cycles, the foundation's 10-person staff and guest contributors cull data from across the millennia.

A recent article in the foundation's Cycles magazine said Iowa tree rings portend poor growing conditions in coming years. Another warned of a major drought in the grain belt. And a piece by Moge predicted no recession before late this year.

"The cycles tend to be right about 80 percent to 85 percent of the time," Moge said. Random behavior accounts for the rest.

The foundation had its roots in one of the most radical turns in the history of the century - the Great Depression.

President Hoover assigned economist E.R. Dewey to determine the cause of the downturn, and Dewey discovered a regular cycle of similar depressions. He called biological cycles expert Copley Amory and a foundation was born in 1940.

It spent 35 years in Pittsburgh, moved to Irvine, Calif., in 1987, then relocated to suburban Philadelphia in 1993.

While the foundation has no political allegiances, Hoover might be pleased with board chairman Martin Armstrong's prediction of the extinction of the Democratic Party after 2020.

In late 1992, Armstrong accurately predicted either "a sweeping Republican victory on Capitol Hill" or a victory for an independent party in 1994.

"The problem with cycle (research) in and of itself for politics or elections (is) the cycle itself isn't a determinant. It's only an observation," said Charles D. Jones, a visiting fellow at the Brookings Institution in Washington, D.C.

"The much more interesting question is, 'Why?'" said Jones.

Allan Lindh, a U.S. Geological Survey seismologist in Menlo Park, Calif., expressed skepticism about earthquake predictions. Moge had said the recent quake in Japan corresponded with a 65-year cycle.

"There's absolutely no scientific evidence that anything like that works," Lindh said.

Moge himself said the foundation doesn't focus strongly on earthquakes and politics because it can't explain the patterns, making forecasts tenuous.

"You have to also interpret as well as simply project," Moge said.

It did expect a tremor in Japan last year, based on statistics dating to 400 A.D., Moge said.

The foundation does best with understandable forces: climate, solar physics, circadian rhythms and cycles for commodity prices and interest rates, Moge said. "We feel very confident that we can relate those cycles."

Vinegar is so-called from the French word vinaigre, which means "sour wine."

Witness goes home; media still hounding

SENSUNTEPEQUE, El Salvador (AP) - Rosa Lopez, a key defense witness in the O.J. Simpson trial, left the United States because she was tired of being hounded by reporters, but found the situation no better in her homeland.

Shortly after arriving on Monday, she was besieged by reporters at a relative's house in this town 35 miles east of San Salvador.

"Get away from my house!" she yelled. "Don't bother me. I don't want to see you."

One reporter asked her plans. "None," she replied.

Will she go back to the United States?

"I don't know," she said.

Three hours later, Mrs. Lopez left for a farm in the countryside, chased by reporters in six vehicles that bounced through rugged, brushy terrain.

"Only a minute and we'll leave you in peace," one reporter shouted. Mrs. Lopez, a maid at the home next door to Simpson's, testified for three days last week in the case of the football star accused of killing ex-wife Nicole Brown Simpson and her friend Ronald Goldman.

She is the only known defense witness who can place Simpson's Ford Bronco outside his home at the time prosecutors claim the two were fatally stabbed outside Ms. Simpson's condominium.

Mrs. Lopez insisted she had not been paid or promised anything for her testimony and didn't expect a financial windfall when she reached El Salvador.

The Simpson case has created relatively little stir in the Salvadoran press itself. Most Salvadoran sports fans follow soccer rather than American football, so Simpson is a relatively obscure figure here.

Southwestern Bell Is Offering "21st Century" Technology... AGAIN!

BEWARE OF MONOPOLIES BEARING GIFTS!

Southwestern Bell Telephone
Is Making Big Promises To Keep Its Monopoly.

Five years ago, Southwestern Bell made a deal with the Texas Public Utility Commission: the PUC would postpone rate hearings and loosen regulation if Bell would upgrade telecommunications technology around the state. This deal did not work! Southwestern Bell's profits are close to tops in the nation...but Texas ranks close to the bottom in advanced telephone technology. Now Bell is at the Texas Legislature with yet another deal: to invest $1 billion in overdue improvements, but only if its earnings are kept under wraps, competition stalled, and regulation further diluted. It's time to give the Bell monopoly a wake-up call; it's time to give consumers and businesses alike a choice in local telephone service; and it's time to open the information superhighway in Texas to fair competition. If you own a phone, use a computer, subscribe to a newspaper or watch television, the telecommunications debate in the Texas Legislature will dramatically affect you and your family. Make your voice heard in Austin above the promises of Southwestern Bell's powerful monopoly.

Send Your State Legislators A Message--Now!
