

Bill Regulating Labor Passed By Texas Senate

AUSTIN, March 25 (AP)—The senate by a vote of 15 to 9 today passed finally the amended Manford-Bridgers labor union regulation bill.

The measure now goes back to the house of representatives with an amendment outlawing charges for work permits. The house must concur in this and other less important amendments before the bill is finally enacted and sent to the governor.

Indications were that the house would take up the bill tomorrow. Proponents of the bill in the senate had argued for passage there without amendment, claiming that a labor lobby backed proposals to change the bill in the hope of gaining time and perhaps changing some house votes.

Point Values May Be Raised Next Month

WASHINGTON, March 25 (AP)—April's canned goods ration stamps became valid today, but housewives are expected to hold them for another week because of strong hints from OPA that their value will be increased next month.

Future plans were kept secret, but top officials who refused to be quoted by name implied that some reduction in the point values of many types of processed fruits and vegetables could be expected, effective April 1.

A further indication of this came from a statement of the American Institute of Food Distribution at New York that movement to market of important canned vegetables had dropped 20 to 30 per cent under point rationing.

Blaming nervousness of the system and "unnecessarily high point values," the institute said in its "canners' market report" that "this fault (high point values) will be righted—partly by reduction of several point values by April 1, and later by wholesale revision of these values on May 1."

April coupons were made valid on March 25 to help persons who come to the end of the month with insufficient March stamps to meet essential needs, or with odd numbers of March points that won't stretch.

A new table of fruit and vegetable point values is expected to be made public over the weekend. Between this and the meat, cheese and fat and oil point values, which become effective next Monday, housewives will get a new idea of wartime eating with their No. 2 ration books.

Jap Lines At Mubo Raided

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, March 25 (AP)—General MacArthur's "flying artillery" made 44 bombing and strafing runs over Japanese lines at Mubo yesterday, firing 30,000 rounds from cannons and machine guns into enemy positions guarding the approaches to the Japanese New Guinea base at Salamaua. Allied headquarters announced today.

Other Allied planes carried out day and night attacks on far-flung enemy bases in the islands above Australia, scoring hits on shipping and airdrome areas, and one bomber on a reconnaissance mission shot two Japanese fighter planes out of the air in a duel over Wewak, New Guinea, a communiqué declared.

The enemy's planes also were in the sky before daylight yesterday, raiding Allied bases at Oro Bay and Milne Bay in New Guinea with little effect, it was said.

A 6,000-ton merchant ship was reported hit by the Allied bombers near Kalamana, Dutch New Guinea, and two small coastal vessels were damaged off the Kai Islands where medium bombers also struck at enemy-occupied towns in low level attacks.

Enemy Base In The Solomons Attacked

WASHINGTON, March 25 (AP)—The navy reported today that heavy army bombers and navy torpedo planes have attacked Japanese positions at Kahili, an enemy base in the northwestern Solomons. A fire was started by the raid, which occurred Wednesday.

Kahili, which has been attacked many times before, is two miles north of the enemy harbor of Buiu on the southeast coast of Bougainville Island, about 295 nautical miles northwest of Guadalcanal, where the American airfield is located.

SHIP TORPEDOED WASHINGTON, March 25 (AP)—The navy reported today that a medium-sized United States merchant ship was torpedoed and sunk by an enemy submarine in the Atlantic late in February. Survivors have landed at Boston.

Russians Gain New Ground In Smolensk Push

GERMANS CONTINUE TO THROW UP FIERCE COUNTERATTACKS

MOSCOW, March 25 (AP)—The Red army's dogged drive through slush, ice and mud toward Smolensk has made fresh headway in three directions and German attacks in an effort to control the northern Dnepr river valley are slackening after their setbacks at the hands of the Soviet defenders, the Russians said today.

The mid-day communiqué announced that additional villages were taken on the Smolensk front as Soviet troops broke through the outlying defenses of the city. The Soviets' sharpest thrust appeared to be north of Dukhovschino, which is 32 miles northeast of the big German garrison city. In this sector the Red army troops battled hand-to-hand with the Germans in an unidentified settlement which had been heavily fortified, after hurling grenades to clear their path.

South of this sector a Russian column was reported moving toward the district center of Dorogobuzh, 13 miles below the Moscow-Vyazma-Smolensk railway and 50 miles east of Smolensk. The battle to take the city, which lies in a swampy area cut by the Dnieper river and many small streams, was considered now only a part of a large-scale offensive to control the upper Dnieper.

Fierce counterattacks, with heavy concentrations of heavy artillery to back up their infantry, were being mounted by the Germans, a dispatch to Red Star, the army newspaper, said.

In the battle for the upper Dnepr river valley, the Germans have been beaten back in every effort to establish bases on the eastern bank from Belgorod to Chuguev, and, smarting under blows which have caused terrific destruction to material and manpower, have relaxed the intensity of their assaults.

In at least two sectors the invaders tried to surprise the Russians with flanking rushes. In one place 20 tanks, leading a truck column of infantry, were reported thrown back.

At Laredo, about two inches of rain was reported at Cactus, Callaghan, 20 miles and throughout the Winter Garden section. Heavy rain and rill fell at Gardendale. The rain extended out to Corpus Christi. All ranches, oil fields and farms may be benefited by the heaviest rainfall in that section in six months.

At Abilene, 2.91 inches of rain was seen as a great boon to range land and wheat crops and in preparing farming land for spring planting.

More than an inch of rain was reported in the San Angelo area, helping ranchmen generally. A few newborn lambs, however, were reported lost.

The first appreciable moisture since January—a half inch rainfall—was seen as a big help to spring vegetable crops at McAllen. Most of the valley received showers.

EL PASO, March 25 (AP)—Mrs. Albert B. Fall, wife of the former secretary of interior in the Harding cabinet, died today. She was 73.

Mrs. Fall was stricken with a paralytic stroke last Wednesday at her home and taken to the same hospital where her 81-year-old husband is under treatment.

New Administration Set Up For Food Production, Distribution

Chester Davis Heads New Agency Under Agriculture Dept.

WASHINGTON, March 25 (AP)—President Roosevelt announced today the creation in the agriculture department of an administration of food production and distribution to be headed by Chester C. Davis, president of the Federal Reserve Bank at St. Louis and former director of the agricultural adjustment administration.

A White House statement said that "the administrator will have charge of what may be called the food production and distribution activities of the department, including the agricultural adjustment administration, the food distribution activities that were transferred to the department of agriculture by the War Production Board last December, and the recruitment of farm labor recently transferred to the department by the war manpower commission."

Davis will obtain leave of absence from his bank, the president's statement said, and report for duty next Monday.

Last December 5, the secretary of agriculture was directed in a presidential executive order to assume "full responsibility for and control over the nation's food program."

Mr. Roosevelt's statement did not say whether Wickard would retain or give up this responsibility, or as a full-fledged food boss.

The presidential announcement said Wickard would continue as a member of WFPB, the economic stabilization board, the combined food board, and other committees, which "now consume a large portion of his time and prevent his giving to the administration of operation activities the time he would like to devote to such administration."

Activities of the agriculture department as it existed prior to its expansion a few years ago, including those dealing with research, forestry, and the farm credit administration, Mr. Roosevelt said, will continue as at present.

The administration let it be known through Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown that it believes enactment of the Bankhead and Pace bills would add more than $3,750,000,000 to consumers' budgets and destroy the anti-inflation program.

Brown wrote congressional leaders that these two farm bills call for "so radical a change in the price of foods" as to mean "the end of stabilization of prices" and the end of "stabilization of wages as well."

The Bankhead bill, passed by the house yesterday, would eliminate government benefit payments in figuring parity prices and ceilings on agricultural production, while the Pace bill would increase parity prices through the inclusion of farm labor costs in the parity formula.

Taken together, Brown said, the two bills would raise the retail price of food between 17 and 18 per cent.

The story being circulated has it that a representative of the White House approached Davis within the past few days relative to the post as food chief. Davis is reported to have agreed to take the job providing the administration met conditions which he outlined.

Those conditions were said to be: (1) That he have complete control over determining farm parity prices; that he be the final authority on problems relating to food distribution; that he be given definite assurances that more steel would be made available for farm machinery, and that the manpower commission adopt policies relating to farm manpower which Davis outlined.

More Ships Afloat, Churchill Floats

LONDON, March 25 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill declared today that the United Nations "have afloat substantially larger fleets than they had at the worst moment in the U-boat war and this improvement is continuing."

The statement was made in reply to a question in the house of commons on shipping losses.

Rear Admiral Tution Percy Beaumont, conservative, had asked the prime minister if he were aware of the recent German claim that U-boats sank more than 20 ships out of a 200,000-ton Atlantic convoy.

Churchill said he declined to "clarify enemy knowledge on this matter."

Rommel Able To Check New Allied Gains

Fighting At Maroth Line Limited To Artillery Duels

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, March 25 (AP)—United States troops repulsed heavy Nazi armored attacks in the Gafsa sector and made local gains in the Maknassy area of the central Tunisian front while the battle of the Marath line dwindled to artillery dueling after four days of bitter fighting, it was announced today.

Military quarters said strong resistance and rigorous counterattacks by Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's forces prevented further major Allied gains for the time being and, in some places, wiped out advances achieved a few days earlier.

Advices from the southern Tunisian front late last night were that German counterattacks had largely wiped out the advances made by the British Eighth army in driving a wedge into the upper end of the Marath line.

In sight of the battling ground troops British and American light bombers hammered important Axis armored positions near the town of Maroth.

In the communiqué today there was no mention of the tank force which flanked Rommel's positions and was last reported eight miles from El Hamma, Axis air base at the rear of the fortifications and 20 miles west of Gafsa.

Fish dispatches said United States troops won control of the last mountain chain overlooking the coastal plain and Axis supply routes between Maknassy and the Gulf of Gabes after beating back Axis armored forces in the region of El Guestar, itself 15 miles southeast of Gafsa on the road to Gabes.

American air forces bombed Axis troops and installations almost continuously in support of the forces of both Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., in the Gafsa sector and Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery in the south.

Flying Fortresses launched a heavy attack on Ferryville, near Bizerte, which is now one of the main Tunisian ports of entry for Axis supplies. Observers said heavy damage was done to the docks and bomb-est five east flames 200 feet into the air.

Fighter-bombers, "Flying Guncoopers," and Hurricanes, knocked out six Axis tanks in forces over the Marath line positions at the other end of the front, dispatches from Cairo said.

Low-flying planes attacked Rommel's formations south of El Hamma, hitting tanks, armored cars, gun carriers and trucks. (Presumably these had been marshaled to challenge the Allied threat to El Hamma from the south.)

Aerial support helped American ground forces to beat back repeated Nazi attacks, dispatches from the front said.

Allied planes also struck again at enemy landing grounds, getting bursts among 40 to 60 planes on a field between Sfax and Gabes.

ALGERIA Tunisia Morocco SOUSSE GABES American Hope To Close Trap Here

Price Squeeze Is Severe Threat To Local Meat Supply

Big Spring faced the prospect Thursday of a cessation of local wholesale distribution of meat.

Butchers were of the opinion that they could not buy animals in an unrestricted market and sell under wholesale price ceilings without operating at a loss.

Almost anyway it could be figured, butchers would be trading at an actual loss or at such a close margin that it would be wholly unprofitable.

The 22 1-3 cents ceiling for wholesale beef carcass, said butchers, was too low considering prices for stock. Actual cases of purchases here were cited. It was, they said, a simple matter of arithmetic.

A 500 pound animal at 12.40 would dress at most 55 per cent, which would be 275 pounds which might bring, at ceiling, $21.50. Cost would be $25, leaving a $2.50 loss, the 55 per cent dress was considered by most to be improbable for a class of beef that could be bought for 12.40.

Better grades would show losses. For instance one costing 15.00 and returning 55 per cent dress would gross $24.75 against an actual cost of $25.00—or a loss of $2.25 on the transaction. A 600 pound calf worth 14.50 would cost $72.50, and even if the grade were sufficiently high to return 60 per cent dress considered unlikely by butchers, the sales value of the carcass would be only $76.50—a net loss of $2.00 on the trade.

Similarly, the margin was judged by butchers to be too thin on fresh cuts to retailers, and also on other pork carcasses or pork cuts.

Local processors said that they were at a disadvantage in bidding against packers for stock. Packers, immune from ceilings on army contracts, can bid more liberally to secure animals destined for military consumption for contract on a cost plus basis. Yet this has the effect of boosting markets. Having no cost-plus arrangement to serve as a cushion to cover normal operations, local butchers said they saw no way out except to lose money or withdraw from the field.

The ceiling, it was understood, would not have such an effect on those who have their stock butchered for retail sale or who butcher for their own retail outlets.

CHICAGO, March 25 (AP)—The meat packing industry today wanted to get across one fact to the public—meat comes from livestock, not from ration books, and the establishment of point values will not of itself guarantee the amount of meat available.

Estimates of how much meat you can get if you use your points in this or that manner are all highly theoretical—you may have the points, but the question is will the butcher have the meat?

Slaughtering Permit Regulations Given By County Agent

By O. P. GRIFFIN
County Agricultural Agent, A. & M. Extension Service.

The administration of the distribution of food was delegated to the department of agriculture under direction of Secretary Wickard. The secretary of agriculture has designated County War Boards to administer the program in the counties except cities where federal meat inspectors are already located.

All slaughterers and butchers including farmers who slaughter meat for sale and all traders in livestock will be required to secure permits from the County War Board before April 1. The reason for this control of the slaughter of livestock and trading in meat, "black markets" in meat, black markets are individuals or companies that sell meat outside the regular channels. The black market facilities do not provide for sanitary handling of meat. The hides are sometimes destroyed as well as edible parts of the meat. Black market meats are sold without regard to any fair distribution of the meat, and to people who are able to pay big prices for it. Evidently if the black markets were not controlled the whole scheme of equal distribution to all of the people would fall and only those who have plenty of money could buy any at all.

A large portion of America's meat supply must be used to feed our people who are fighting the war. Only 80 per cent of a normal supply will be left for civilians. The object of rationing and food distribution is to see that every American family has its fair share.

There may never be a black market anywhere near Big Spring, but they could thrive in other parts of the country on Howard county hogs and hogs. Now briefly, each permit issued to butcher or slaughterer for sale will establish a quota by months for the person or firm receiving the permit. This quota is based on a percent of the slaughtering done in the corresponding month of 1941-42 years ago. The slaughterer or butcher may elect to have his quota in a certain number of cents and hogs or it may be in a total number of pounds, for each month of the year.

The plan is flexible in that the quota for any month may be changed in the preceding month or the following month. Thus in April a permit will allow the slaughtering of both April and May quotas or all of it could be slaughtered in May.

Records must be kept of all sales of livestock and all slaughter and sale of meat. Reports will be made by all who hold slaughter permits, though traders only have to make reports when they are called for, but all must keep records.

Now farmers, that is those who live on the farm and make most of their living by farming will not need a permit to butcher animals for their own use, nor will they need a permit to sell livestock that they have kept on their farms more than 30 days. But a farmer who sells meat or one who buys and sell livestock that are not kept on their farms more than 30 days must have permits. You don't get a permit every time you want to sell anything. The one permit you request now will be good throughout the year unless it is revoked for failing to keep records or make reports.

How To Get Your Permits
If you only want a permit to buy and sell live animals, you can get it at the War Board Office at 301 S. Scurry street. No collection of data is necessary. But if you wish a permit to butcher or slaughter for sale you will need to give the amount of slaughtering you did in each month of the year 1941-42 years ago. Within a few days the War Board will have a record of slaughtering done in Big Spring, and you can get this information at the War Board Office, if all of your slaughtering was done by or for you in Big Spring.

Every person who sells meat after March 31 must collect ration coupons for it and must have a permit to slaughter unless it is bought from a licensed slaughterer. The meat itself has to be marked or tagged to show the slaughterer's number in case of sale by slaughterer.

Quotas in Slaughter Quotas
The county war board may adjust the quota for any farm slaughterer whose slaughter in the corresponding period of 1941 was not normal for him so that the quota assigned will represent this normal operation. Also the County War Board may adjust the quota for any farm slaughterer in an amount and in accordance with regulations issued by the director of the food distribution administration in areas where he determines that the livestock available for slaughter and the estimated quantity of meat needed to fill ration requirements exceed the quantity available.

Where manifest inequities exist, the County War Board shall cooperate with local slaughterers and butchers in the preparation of petition for relief. The petition shall be addressed to the Director of the Food Distribution Administration, and shall be prepared in triplicate. It should set forth all the pertinent facts and the nature and extent of the relief sought. The important facts will be those indicating that the 1941 operations of the slaughterer were not normal for him, or indicating changes in population or changes in livestock numbers in the area. The County War Board may subscribe to the petition or write a separate recommendation in connection therewith if it sees to do so. The petition and all copies should be forwarded to the State War Board.

Canning Hints Given To Help Save Food
Home canning is not a difficult job if the homemaker has good equipment and knows how to use it. Getting good equipment this year may offer some difficulties because of the wartime metal shortage. Miss Rhobe Marie Boyles, home demonstration agent for the A. and M. college extension service says. But the novice can get plenty of assistance in learning how to use food preservation equipment.

For example, Miss Boyles says, there are a large number of home demonstration club women in Howard county who have been canning for years and will gladly share their "know-how" with less experienced homemakers. In addition, there are several extension service publications designed to help the beginner. These are available from the county home demonstration agent's office.

Both new and experienced canners can profit from getting their equipment in good condition early, the agent advises. First, they need to check the gauge on their pressure cooker, for if this does not register accurately there is danger that the canned food may spoil. The next step is to get the petcock and safety valve clean. They can be unscrewed and washed in hot soapy water. If these parts are corroded or gummed with food particles, they can be soaked in kerosene and vinegar.

The cooker can easily be brightened and rid of odors, Miss Boyles adds. To two quarts of hot water add the juice of a lemon or two tablespoons of vinegar or a double handful of Irish potato peelings. Heat this in the cooker for five minutes at five pounds pressure. More serious cooker troubles may require new parts or repair at the factory, the agent says.

Rationing Here For Duration And Longer

Rationing of food is with us for the duration and probably longer. The supply of canned food, fresh vegetables, dairy products and meats will probably get tighter instead of better as the months and years go by. Transportation problems of distribution will cause temporary scarcity in many localities.

The first duty of the farmer is to see to it that his family is supplied with food. Money will not buy food when there is none for sale. The only safe way is for each farm to produce the food it will need. If more than a needed supply is produced, there will be a ready market for the surplus at good prices.

Unfavorable Vote On State Operation Of Liquor Stores

AUSTIN, March 25 (AP) — On its way to the house today with an 11 to 6 unfavorable vote but assured of a minority report was a bill proposing to establish a state monopoly liquor store in Texas. Only four votes are required for a minority report.

The state affairs committee last night spent nearly three hours hearing Rep. W. W. Roark of Temple, the author, and three speakers against the bill. Roark said his proposal would bring Texas an annual revenue of $21,000,000, but added that he considered revenue a "secondary" matter. Rep. Emmett Morse of Houston contested Roark's statement and presented figures purporting to show that collection of such liquor revenues would not be possible. Rep. Homer Leonard of McAllen also opposing the bill, declared:

"You can't keep politics out of liquor when the state's in the liquor business."

Another opponent, Leon Kaufman of San Antonio who said he was in the liquor, banking and farming business, urged the committee not to consider putting the state into the liquor business.

Diving Airmen Helps Put Out The Fire

CHICKASHA, Okla. (AP) — An aviator, identity unknown, dived on the grade school house at Varden and undoubtedly saved the lives of a number of children who might have been trapped by flames that were consuming the building. The pilot apparently saw the smoke coming from the roof of the building. He dived, to attract attention. Softball players on the school ground looked up at the plane, saw smoke pouring from the building and sounded the fire alarm.

The 261 children in the building reached safety only a few minutes ahead of the spreading flames. The plane flew onward.

Water Situation Is Outlined For Commissioners

Commissioners heard a review of the water situation Tuesday evening at the regular semi-monthly meeting as City Manager R. J. McDaniel explained the status of surface and underground supplies.

The picture on the whole was encouraging. Powell Creek lake, from whence comes the bulk of the city supply now, has 18,000,000 gallons, which is augmented by 65,000,000 in Moss Creek lake. Together, counting out evaporation and water which could not be pumped, they contain from four to five months supply as the spring rainy season approaches.

Section 17, south of the city, is producing well and new pumps due soon are expected to step up this production. Section 25, the city's main underground water basin, is two feet above the previous peak level and still rising.

The commission gave its stamp of approval to a sewer extension contract with the army, but details of the agreement were lacking pending army acceptance. Other minor matters, such as tax adjustments, were before the board.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many suffer from nagging backaches quickly, soon they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of filtering the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 15 pints a day. When disease of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or constant passages with burning and burning sometimes above there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 60 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Further Order On Freezing Of Fats

Further information on the freeze order on oils and fats was announced today by the local War Price and Rationing Board concerning butter, shortening, lard, margarine, cooking oils and salad oils.

These products are frozen at retail level only until 12:01 March 29th. The price level does not include unblended olive oils, USP vitamin oils, fish liver oils, mayonnaise, and prepared salad dressing.

The freeze of price is effective only insofar as transfers or sales to consumers and does not include transfers to institutional users, industrial users, retailers or wholesalers.

The purpose of the order is to permit trade to stock up and to prevent hoarding of commodities which will allow farmers who have been selling butter to consumers and who have no refrigeration facilities and who already have their butter made up, to sell that butter which is made up to consumers and afterward report the amount of butter sold to state or district office of OPA.

ing butter and selling to the consumer and who has milk or cream on hand for butter making purposes and does not have refrigeration facilities may make that milk and cream up into butter and may sell on the same condition as the farmer mentioned above.

Breakfast Comes Before Invasion

BALTIMORE (AP)—The landing of American soldiers in North Africa was "invasion after breakfast" to Chief Commissary Steward Emory P. Ward of the Coast Guard.

Ward was in charge of a galley on a transport which landed hundreds of American soldiers and officers at Casablanca. Just an hour before they scrambled over the sides of the vessel into landing barges, the doughboys were served an average American breakfast—orange juice, oatmeal, toast and coffee," says Ward, now stationed at Lazaretto Point Coast Guard base.

The menu was really only a "tapering off" snack. Just an hour before breakfast the boys sunk their teeth into T-bone steaks with all the trimmings.

Miss Laneous Notes

MARY WHALEY
You see pictures and read stories sometimes of busy executives who never stop for lunch but have their food brought into their offices. They make weighty decisions between bites of potato salad and dilute important letters as they munch on sandwiches.

While phones ring and messes buss, office boys and important souls rush in and out all in the best Hollywood manner of the business big shot.

At least in the pictures, and in the stories, it would appear that the wheels of commerce would stop if the boss took off long enough to visit a nearby restaurant and eat like other people do.

Caught between deadlines the other day and eating lunch while answering phones, waiting on customers, and doing other odd jobs we just had to question the authenticity of such stories. Maybe nobody had, but the truth certainly took a stretching.

Nobody could understand us when we talked with a mouth full of potato chips, the rest of the office forces sniffling with hunger while we ate, traces of mayonnaise dripped here and there on our copy and withal we were miserable.

What's more, when we got through we felt as if we hadn't eaten at all. Maybe that's why important people always look so un-

Governor Orders Halt To Calling Of Farm Workers

DENVER, March 25 (AP)—Governor John C. Vivian ordered today an immediate halt to the induction of Colorado farm workers into the armed forces.

The governor, who recently has asserted that Colorado war crop goals could not be attained unless workers were permitted to stay on the farms, announced his action in a letter to Brig. Gen. Harold H. Richardson, state director of selective service.

Governor Vivian said he was taking action "under the power and authority to administer the selective service system within my state under section 40811 of the regulations governing this agency."

The governor told newsmen he had just received word that a quota of 88 men inducted in Delta county in western Colorado recently, 22 were farmers "who in the opinion of the county agent are essential to the operation of the farms from which they were taken and will need to be replaced."

General Richardson was not available for comment immediately.

Rain Cuts Down Volume At Weekly Livestock Auction

Rain Wednesday whittled the volume at the weekly sale of the Big Spring Livestock Commission Co. on two accounts as farmers and ranchers either hesitated to come to town over muddy roads or decided it was wise now to hold their stock.

At any rate there were only 250 head through the ring, the smallest number since 200 on Dec. 23, 1942. The dollar volume was at $18,000, also lowest since the $11,000 December low.

However, buyers were exceedingly active and prices were built. Fat cows sold from 11.00-12.00, butcher cows from 9.00-11.00, and bulls up to 12.00.

Fat yearlings were strong at a top of 14.00 and common butcher yearlings met ready response at 12.00-13.00.

Stocker classes, due to become increasingly more active now that rain has come, had steers at 13.00 top, heifers at a 14.00 ceiling and with cows with calf at side up to $110.50. There were only a couple of hogs through the ring at little under 14.00.

More Moisture Needed On Range In This Area

Farmers and ranchers looked hopefully Thursday at overcast skies that were threatening to break up without adding to a stock of moisture received Wednesday.

Some areas had ample moisture, but for a large portion of the farming section of Howard and Martin counties, more seasoning was needed.

Shows in the northeastern part of the county ranged up to an inch and a half caused Wild Horse and Little Wild Horse creeks to run. Over the section due north and to the northwest, top reports were around half an inch.

The southern half of the county was blessed with an inch or better in most areas, but the rain fell slow and there was run-off enough only to add a couple of inches to the Powell Creek lake level.

Garden City sources said the amount varied from one to two inches over most of Glasscock county and E. J. Hughes, district Soil Conservation Service conservationist, said that while most of Sterling county received about an inch, the fall at Sterling City was in excess of two inches.

County Agent O. P. Griffin said the rains would be of great benefit, particularly to ranchers. It also was fortunate, he thought, that the heavier precipitation was reported at this time in the tight land areas of the county.

March Food Coupons Are Being Cashed

Grocery stores had a surge of business Wednesday in selling of rationed canned goods, clerks reported today as the word got around that Thursday they could begin spending on their April ration blue stamps.

Clerks explained that many customers thought they had to spend March rations before Thursday and when they were told that this was not true, just went ahead and bought up anyway.

However, by noon Thursday few had been in to take advantage of the April ration stamps. One store reported selling on the April rations to a rural resident whose trips to town are seldom, another store reported no sales at all as yet on the April coupons, and still another (food house) reported they had had only a few spending up the April rations in March.

The opinion of most clerks is that the local housewives are sure to spend every coupon allotted to them whether the shelves at home are full of home canned goods or not. And whether they need the point rations this month or not, they are still purchasing their allotment.

Announcement of the most rationing points pegged at a maximum of two pounds per person per week brought gasps from some when it was explained that the 16 points allowed would not only include meat but butter, lard, cheese or canned fish. Most customers believed that in addition to their meat points, they would be entitled to extra points for the butter, lard, cheese and canned fish.

From where I sit...

by Joe Marshall

Sam Abernethy always said: "Curiosity may kill a cat—but I'm no cat." Which is Sam's way of saying that when he's curious about something he goes out and gets the facts.

Seems our government feels the same way. After hearing rumors about our soldiers drinking too much—government people went after the facts. They got the evidence on what our boys drink... and don't drink.

The government found out our Army's the best behaved in history. More'n half of 'em drink beer—nothing stronger. And the government found that selling 2.5 beer in Army camps is one reason why our Army is so temperate.

From where I sit, there isn't much cause to worry about our men in the Army. Looks like they can take care of themselves—and take care of the Nazis and the Japs, too.

Labor Bill

lock (for) G). Absent—Chadwick, Fain, Formby, Kelley, Lemaens, Spears (6). The amendment by Weaver Moore of Houston, prohibiting charges for work permits, was adopted after several senators had asserted that one condition which demanded passage of such legislation was widespread charging of sums ranging from $25 to $100 for permits to work on war projects in Texas.

The amendment nullified an earlier one by G. C. Morris of Greenville setting a $10 ceiling on work permit fees.

The bill vaulted stern opposition yesterday when it was passed to third reading by a vote of 17 to 6. The senate gave further evidence that it is still labor-legislation minded. Only three audible dissenting votes were voiced against a motion to set for special order of business next Tuesday a bill by Grady Haslewood of Amarillo, regulating labor union initiation fees.

The Haslewood bill provides that no fee for joining a labor union may be charged in excess of $100 for members 1930, 1940 and 1941. It embraces assessments, admission fees or any other charges for admission to membership in any organized labor union.

Notice To Our Customers and My Friends

I have resigned my present place with Beaty's Laundry to go into Government work, and I wish to say I have tried my best, though far from perfect, to serve the public, with the thought that, if one wants to have friends, they have to be one.

My personal regards has been for two things, my customers, and employees. For without either I could not have enjoyed the very good business I have had. I hope sometime to have the pleasure of being in business again in Big Spring, a good town full of good people. Again I say thanks for everything.

Tips From British Housewives In Planning Tasty Nutritious Meals

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE, AP Food Editor

There's a great deal of talk in the United States these days about how to eat well, though rationed. Most of this talk is not complaining. It has a far greater element of bewilderment. Americans will be glad to manage with less foods because they know that's a major contribution they can make to the war effort.

How to manage is the problem. We can take great heart, in this connection, from the example of Britons. Seventy-five cents of every dollar spent on food in Britain is spent on rationed food. And the British record of public health has risen amazingly since her population went on rations. You see, we really "don't know nothing."

But from a purely selfish standpoint we can get some splendid tips from knowing how the British housewife gets a balanced, adequate diet out of a very few foods.

Here are the points the British Food Ministry stresses regarding good nutrition:

1. Use of cheese, milk and dried eggs to take the place of meat. Dried peas, beans or lentils, oatmeal and National Wholesome Bread to supplement the meat ration.
2. A cooked fresh vegetable every day.
3. A raw vegetable or raw salad every day to take the place of fresh fruit.
4. Potatoes — at least one pound per day.
5. Use of dried milk for making puddings and soups.

The press and radio give British women lots of help on keeping the few foods they have interesting. Emphasis is put upon saving work and preventing waste. Here are a couple of typical waste-preventers, to which we might well give attention:

1. If milk sours, leave it for two days, strain it through muslin or a handkerchief. Use the curds as cheese in sandwiches and the whey in making cakes and buns or in soups, sauces and stews.

2. Keep bread in a tin in a cool place. Thus if it becomes stale it doesn't mold. Stale bread may be toasted or made into rusks for eating with non-meat meals or for making Wheatmealies for use in place of porridge as a breakfast cereal.
3. Wheatmealies are made by cutting bread into cubes and drying it in the oven. They are then stored in an airtight tin.
4. Use all left-over porridge, minced in soups or stews.
5. Scrub, rather than peel, root vegetables; and cook all the leaves of green vegetables.

British women are advised to spend two-thirds of their ration points on canned meat or fish, one-fourth on dried peas and beans. The only important foods in the United Kingdom not covered by rationing are bread, flour, poultry, fresh fruits and vegetables and fresh fish.

The British find, as we doubtless shall find also, that the most trying problem of living on rations is that of catering for a single person. The government has issued recently a suggested list of menus for one person for one week. Here are those for a typical day:

BREAKFAST: Porridge, Savoury Potato on Toast, National Bread, Margarine, Tea; DINNER: Cheese Pudding, Baked Jacket Potato, Watercress, Fruit Charlotte; SUPPER: Potato and Cabbage Milk Soup, Parsley Sandwiches, Tea.

BREAKFAST: Porridge, Savoury Potato on Toast, National Bread, Margarine, Tea; DINNER: Cheese Pudding, Baked Jacket Potato, Watercress, Fruit Charlotte; SUPPER: Potato and Cabbage Milk Soup, Parsley Sandwiches, Tea.

Most Americans couldn't imagine living on such a diet, and so far don't have to. We needn't, for instance, depend so much upon potatoes for vitamins that we have to eat them three times a day.

We have, however, obvious dificulties ahead in keeping up the very high nutrition standards we've set for ourselves in this country. But we may be greatly encouraged, through the example of Britons, in the thought that we can build a strong, healthy America on a considerably curtailed diet. Plenty of bulk and food value, but far, far, less variety, that's what we have to look forward to. It's a great challenge to the American cook. But if the British can do it, surely we can.

Food Problems Are Discussed By Agent Before Lions Club

Importance of food as a war weapon already is recognized and will come to be steadily more important, Rheta Merle Boyles, county home demonstration agent, said in a talk before the Lions club Wednesday.

"I suggest that we all raise a garden, for we are going to need it."

With rationing tightening the food supply, it becomes important for the individual to accept the responsibility of acquainting himself with nutritional values of food and "to eat right."

Adults, she felt, should follow the lead of children in planning for gardens. Regular 4-H girls in the county are putting in something like 75 gardens while 200 other girls and 300 boys have signed Victory 4-H pledges to raise some item of food—whether livestock, poultry or vegetables—this year, reported Miss Boyles.

By means of the victory demonstrator's pledge, people over the county are trying to raise and conserve more food, she said, trying to make clothing do, repairing rather than replacing their homes, by maintaining morale and buying carefully except for bonds—and buying these heavily.

Starvo Russ, strategic military center on the Russ-German front, is normally a resort town of 25,000 people.

"The Desperadoes"

Columbia presents Randolph Scott, Claire Trevor, Glenn Ford and Evelyn Keyes in an action-packed drama of the Old West in Technicolor.

Glenn, hired by "respectable citizens" to rob their own town bank, paves the way by relieving Sheriff Scott of his horse and guns.

At Claire's he finds that someone else has robbed the bank and he is wanted by police. Pal, Guinn Williams, joins in clearing him.

They are caught, thrown in jail, but they overpower Scott, making their escape, later learning that Scott is held as their accomplice.

Scott knows Glenn is innocent, joins him in his fight to clear him. In town saloon Glenn engages in a fight which exonerates him.

The stolen money returned, his name cleared, Glenn proposes marriage to Evelyn Keyes. They leave town for more peaceful trails.

Irene Manning, it seems, is in the enviable position (from a film star's viewpoint) of being an actress who appeals to two distinctly types of audiences. Her fan mail has disclosed the unusual status which the blonde star holds, because her fan letters come from two principal groups: (1) the action and melodrama disciples, and (2) the music lovers. This fact is easily enough explained. Miss Manning appeared not so long ago in "The Big Shot," a dramatic piece, with Humphrey Bogart, following which she appeared in "Yankee Doodle Dandy" in a singing role as Fay Templeton, who helped make George M. Cohan melodies famous.

"I receive letters," Irene said, "from Blood-and-thunder youngsters who encourage me to do more action roles, and I receive letters from middle-aged housewives who compliment me on my singing."

Irene frankly confesses that she is enjoying her interesting position and she is eager that it remain this way. In her latest picture, "The Desert Song," which Warners has produced in Technicolor and which she is co-starring with Dennis Morgan, Irene makes a stronger bid for the music patrons.

It's no secret that Irene Manning is well equipped to handle either a six-shooter or a high-C. After attending the Eastman School of Music in Rochester and making her light opera debut, she came to Hollywood and effected an entrance into the movies with two or three ("I don't remember which") Gene Autry western pictures.

"I never did ride a horse," she recalled, "but I did shoot a couple of guns in defense of my honor or my grandmother's honor or something. And I also sang some yodeling cowpoke ditties in those films, too—you know the kind—about 'boots' and 'prairies' and 'spurs' and 'the valley, Mary!'"

Miss Manning reports that she doesn't regret her cowhide-and-cactus break-in a bit. "It was the best thing that could have happened to me. I learned a great deal about movie acting. I'll tell you that!"

There is one thing which the actress says she won't do when "The Desert Song" is shown. She won't wait two years to see it, as she did after she appeared in her first western film.

"I was so sure," she said, "that I was simply awful in it, that I wouldn't go look at myself on the screen until two years later. And actually I wasn't that bad at all. Just pretty bad."

Spring prints are looming up in every smart wardrobe these days and they are only sprightly and gay to see, but practical if well chosen. Renie, young RKO designer, who turns out clothes for so many well dressed film players, warns, however, there are many pitfalls in prints.

"You can go so wrong with prints, if you aren't careful," she says. "But when you are right—there isn't a more glorious feeling! Many women use poor judgment in their choice of print patterns. You'll find tiny, dumpy ladies wearing patterns as big as a grapefruit. The result—horror! Women with definite features can wear prints that are indefinite in design. But some sorts of indefinite faces should steer clear of prints entirely."

"By and large, the smaller patterns, the simple polka dot or single motif repeated, are your best bet. Glaring patterns can become too much of a good thing. You tire of them soon. Be practical when you choose your prints for 1943. Remember that you may have to 'make do' with the clothes you have during the rest of the year. Pick out dark backgrounds if you expect to wear your prints where they will pick up dirt easily. Light backgrounds can be quite a cleaning problem."

Renie is impressed by the number of letters she has been receiving recently from women all over the country who have taken up home dressmaking. She has advice for them too, on prints.

"Keep the lines of the dress essentially simple," she says. "You don't need to worry about fussy details for a print dress. And with the limited yardage this year, you will find slim skirts and plain bodices perfect for your prints."

"One that I designed for Anna Shirley to wear in 'Bombardier' will illustrate my point. The skirt is slightly flared. A curved seam line over the bust and the way that the dress ties with two self-ties at the waist and bodice, make it unusual. It needs no sippers—the front draping opens out when the ties are undone which makes plenty of room to slip it off and on."

Prints combined with plain materials have the newest look in Renie's opinion. A dress created for Lorraine Day to wear in "From Here to Victory," is a good illustration. A large floral crepe print in tones of purple and fuchsia was used for the skirt while the bodice is pale pink crepe. To tie them together, so there exists no half-and-half appearance, Renie cut out the floral motif of the print in the skirt and applied it on the bodice.

Print collar and cuffs from some old print of yours will completely change a dress. A print belt and print-covered buttons are simple enough to do and make a great difference in the appearance of a frock.

"No Time for Love," Paramount's new romantic comedy, is a sort of beauty contest between Claudette Colbert and Fred MacMurray.

The physical charms of Miss Colbert are already widely celebrated. Less familiar are those of Co-Star MacMurray, but in this picture he unveils one of the most impressive torsos among Hollywood film heroes.

The unrolling occurs in the course of MacMurray's daily duties in the picture story as one of those sand hogs who dig the tunnels under rivers for the New York tube trains. Miss Colbert meets him in the course of her own duties as crack photographer for an illustrated magazine.

It is bad luck, the tunnel diggers believe, for a woman to appear among them. It certainly proves to be so in the case of Miss Colbert's visit, for MacMurray has soon lost his job as a result. To make amends, the pretty photographer hires him as an assistant, and he earns his keep by aiding her on such interesting assignments as photographic physical culture studies and camera investigations of life backstage among the burlesque beauties.

MacMurray is especially interested in the latter assignment, and he comes away from it with a brand-new girl friend from the chorus line.

The episode with the burlesque girl is only one of many subjects of argument between photographer and assistant, and presently the latter is back in the sand hog business. He has meantime invented a device to safeguard the lives of fellow tunnel diggers. When it is tested, Miss Colbert again is among the men in the tunnel, and again bad luck is the result. At the end, however, it is a photograph taken by Miss Colbert which proves our hero's invention was not to blame. Meantime, our heroine is about to marry the magazine publisher, but the husky MacMurray solves this problem by simply picking the publisher up and removing him from the scene of the wedding ceremony.

"No Time for Love" is gay and smart, providing an almost sure-fire means of escape for an hour or two from the rigors of a wartime world. It is not without its serious and dramatic moments, and the scene of the tunnel cave-in, with Miss Colbert engulfed along with the workmen in a sea of mud, is a genuine thriller.

"Sex is not rationed."

Such was the message of an advertisement in the Hollywood trade journals concerning the Howard Hughes production of "The Outlaw" when the film had its world premiere in San Francisco.

Critics who saw the picture agreed that, from the critical viewpoint, it was one of the worst in Hollywood's history, but the San Francisco box-office reported record business.

The business probably was largely due to the appearance in the city of great billboards featuring a picture of the voluptuous and scantily garbed Jane Russell, lying on a pile of hay with a six-shooter in her hand.

Civic organizations in San Francisco meanwhile lodged protests against the billboards. The film itself has since been condemned by the Catholic Legion of Decency and there is doubt that it will be very widely distributed. But as this was written, "The Outlaw" was still doing sensational business in the northern California city.

The outlaw of the title is Billy the Kid, as played by Jack Beutel. Cast as another outlaw is Walter Huston, and Thomas Mitchell is the sheriff. The plot begins when Beutel steals Huston's horse, and it is well under way by the time he has stolen Huston's girl, as played by Miss Russell, who is hereby awarded the title, for what-she-it is worth, of Billboard Girl of 1943.

What would you say if at a wedding ceremony the old, and yet inspiring words of "I, John Doe, do honor and love," were changed to "I, John Doe, do take this woman for my wife and promise to abide by Hitler's law of matrimony?"

Such was the scene witnessed the other day at Columbia for the picture, "Attack by Night." Even though it was a movie in the making, it made me shudder at the thought, that in this civilized world, people are mesmerized to such an extent that they do abide by this ridiculous rule.

The scene represented what may be termed a church only in appearance. The altar was decorated with swastikas on red flags. A just of Hitler was placed in the center of the altar. Along the sides of the aisles were soldiers lined up—they look as though they were getting ready for a firing squad, more than a wedding. The bride, Merle Oberon, and the groom, Carl Esmond, walked up followed by a group of officers and gestapo men. There were no other women present.

Miss Oberon, dressed in a pale blue gown looked very unhappy. She was marrying a man whom she despised, but she had to do it—not because Hitler demanded it, but because it was her only way in destroying the madman figured he had for keeps in Norway. It was her plan that after the wedding she would get rid of him, how—that was the problem she tried to work out as she walked up the aisle.

Carl Esmond, dressed in all the pomp and grandeur of a German officer was solemn too. He knew that Merle had been double-crossing him, giving information to the enemy. He tried to discard the thought, because in his militarized mind he figured that he was in love with Merle. But he had to get rid of her. Maybe after the wedding there would be an accident after the celebration. She might get shot—yes that was it. He smiled approvingly as they reached the altar.

The wedding ceremony didn't take long. These were pagan promises made, then they swore to it putting their hands on—the Bible—"Meln Kampf." Merle disgustingly looked at the book, hating every page, every fiber that composed its contents.

Director Charles Vidor okayed the shot. "You really looked disgusted, Merle," said Vidor.

"I was," I have played many scenes in which I got married, and somehow I felt out of place during the filming of this marriage," she answered.

I inquired who was going to shoot who in the end. They shrugged their shoulders. They didn't know yet, since they didn't have a completed script. "But," said Carl Esmond, "I have a feeling it's going to be me. I can feel the claws of death around my neck." I left the set shortly after that, although nothing more was said or done, and believe me I welcomed the bright sunshine outside. There had been too much realism in that set to suit me. But then, that's the movies for you.

Quiz Box

Q. From Ed Brown, Anderson, South Carolina: I have heard that Dennis Morgan is a good singer, yet I haven't heard him sing on the screen yet. When will he make a picture in which he sings? Is he making one now?

A. Dennis Morgan is a good singer. He sings in "The Hood Way," which is now released. He also finished "The Desert Song," in which he sings the songs from the famous operetta of the same name. In his present picture, "Animal Kin," "om" he doesn't sing.

Q. From Betty Rogers, Fresno, Calif.: I would like to know the picture that Dorothy Lamour is making now and is she wearing a sarong? What will her next picture be and who is her beau?

A. Dorothy Lamour is now working in "Riding High." She does not wear a sarong as she plays an ex-burlesque girl in it. Her next picture is "Four Angels." It is rumored that her current heart interest is Captain William Howard.

Q. From Kevin Swensen, Amarillo, Texas: Is it true that George Montgomery is leaving the screen soon to join the Armed Forces, if so, how soon will he leave? What will be his last picture for the duration?

A. Yes, it's true that George Montgomery is leaving. He is now making "Bombier's Men," which will be his last picture.

Q. From G. A. Monroe, Monrovia, Calif.: I would like to know if "The Outlaw" is as bad as they say. And will Jane Russell ever make another picture? What about Jack Beutel, will he be seen on the screen again?

A. Sorry to say, but "The Outlaw" is really a bad picture. As to the future of Jane Russell, we haven't heard what she will do next. Of course she will be seen in more pictures, if Howard Hughes, who has her under contract ever lends her to another studio. The same applies to Jack Beutel.

Inside Hollywood

Seems only yesterday that Bonita Granville was a kid star. Playing just about the meanest of brats. And HOW she was playing them. Surely her work in "We Three" ranks with any grown-up performance ever given. Bonita it seems, slid right into grown-up roles and glamorous ones too, without ever going through that "awkward" stage. And now she's reached stardom with "Hitler's Children," although she is not actually the "star" of that picture. But R.K.O. thinks so much of her work, and the picture is doing such terrific business everywhere, that the studio is negotiating with George Zinner, from whose book, "Education for Death," this picture was adapted, to write a sequel to "Hitler's Children." And it will be Bonita Granville's first full-fledged starring vehicle.

Someone just hung a huge star-sapphire ring on the right finger of June Lang's left hand. About who gave it to her, June is being mysterious. But the size of the ring is serious. . . . Humphrey Bogart and the whole movie crowd, away on location near the border where they're filming "Sahara," spend their week-ends in Mexico talking in the bull-fights. And here's a luff, "Bogey's" wife went to visit him the other day. And guess where the "battling Bogarts" spent a week? At BRAZLEY, California! . . . The Rita Hayworth-Columbia studio feud is still on. Neither one will make goo-goo eyes at the other. And until they do, Rita can't make pictures. . . . Everybody in Hollywood is so excited because there's a possibility that Mrs. Chiang Kai Shek may be guest of honor at the Academy Award Dinner. . . . Frances Langford and Jen Hall have their friends worried. . . . John Howard, now at Cornell University, studying to be Commander of a sub-chaser, is No. 1 in his class. . . . Glimpsed Mary Martin, in a hat about two feet high, making high-finks at Mocombo. . . . The reason that Robert Taylor was sworn into the Navy as a Lieutenant, is because he passed all his exams with A and A-Plus throughout! . . . Sight of the week: W. G. Fields a gardenia in one hand and a double-martini in the other, dashing through a bank on Hollywood Boulevard, looking for one Mabel Clapadiddle, who tells there!

Betty Montgomery (Bob's wife) reports that his hair has turned almost completely white in recent months. With the action that Bob must have seen this past year in the North Atlantic, it's no wonder! . . . Betty Jaynes, who used to be Mrs. Douglas McPhail, and sailor Bill Roberts are in love something terrible. . . . Mitcha Auer, who's had one awful seige of illness, is well and very much all over the place again. . . . Alfred Vanderbilt wants to win the war for Sunny Pitts, who just changed her name to Terry Scott. . . . Ida Lupino, who has been pleading for just such a break, may play Marilyn Miller, when the life of that lovely dancer is filmed. . . . The only thing that Ida hasn't got toward filling that singing and dancing role, is blonde hair like Marilyn had. A mere detail! . . . Teresa Wright evidently has decided that movies are here to stay. She just fixed up her dressing-room at the studio to the ruffe-point. And with several cameramen from Look magazine around to shoot the proceedings. . . . Everybody wondering why comedian Jack Haley turned down the chance to play the lead opposite Marlene Dietrich in her scheduled new Broadway show, "One Man's Virtue"? . . .

John Garfield is saying that he'll be in the Army before you can say Gustav von Styffertitz! . . . Frank Ross, Joan Arthur's husband, who is about to produce the best-seller, "The Robe" will make the picture in Technicolor. . . . Don't make any bets on a wedding for Pat Dane and Tommy Dorsey. . . . Katie Hepburn, back in Hollywood this week. And she's going to be awfully surprised to find out who her competition is for the affections of that big star she's so mad about! . . . The Xavier Cugat are going to tell their troubles to a Judge. . . . Eric von Stroheim, being "every inch the star" these days in his come-back in "Five Graves to Cairo." Now has his set closed off to all visitors. . . . When Joan Crawford and Phil Terry dine at a certain restaurant, they sit in the cafe's "private office" for their meal. Even when the place is only half full! . . . Remember those wonderful "pilled" sisters in "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town"? Well, they're being teamed again and will be with Red Skelton in "I Dood It." . . . Producer Joe Pasternak will cast an unknown gal in the role originally intended for Hedy La Mare in "Rendezvous" which is Bob Taylor's last picture for the duration. . . . Hear that Red Skelton promised his almost ex-wife Edna, two hundred thousand dollars (which is about everything he owns) if he should marry again! . . .

Next time Olivia di Haviland treks down to the Hollywood Canteen, she'll be able to jiggerbug with the best of 'em. Ben taking lessons. And you should see Betty Grable knock herself out down there, jiving with the Soldiers, Sailors and Marines—at least three nights a week. . . . When Bing Crosby plays golf at the Los Angeles Country Club, he has to do so as the guest of his father who is a member. This club doesn't go for actors! . . . Karen Morley has marriage plans too. Just as soon as her divorce comes through—and just about the time that her husband, Charles Vidor, is marrying Evelyn Keyes, she'll tie the knot with Lloyd Gough, now in the Army. He used to be an actor. . . . Mildred Harris, the first of the Chaplin brides, is playing a bit part in "Old Acquaintance," the Bette Davis-Miriam Hopkins starrer. . . . My eyebrows went up to there—seeing Judy Garland with Van Johnson at Benny Goodman's opening at the Palladium—walk blithely in and seat themselves at a table about two feet away from Dave Rose! . . . Jeanette McDonald parted for two hundred and fifty service men at her house. They were conveyed there by the U. S. O. . . . The Motion Picture Industry will play a big part in the Government's new drive for nurses. . . . Anne Shirley won't be back from her New York jaunt until she has visited Eddie Albert up in New Hampshire where he's studying navigation. This is a romance worth watching. . . . Ann Sheridan says she wishes someone could throw a fancy party so she could wear that gorgeous Fiesta costume which was presented to her by the Mexican Government on her last trip down there.

You'll be seeing Betty Hutton in her newest singing and dancing role presently in Paramount's "Let's Face It."

Just recently the Army has opened a new postal school at West Chester, Pennsylvania, for the purpose of training men in the art of handling the Army's mail."

Books Wanted For AAFBS Hospital

People who subscribe to regular book purchases and who are not primarily interested in building a private library can put these books, once read, to good use at the Big Spring Bombardier School.

Jack Y. Smith, sending books for the Red Cross to distribute at the bombardier school hospital, said that books such as the classics and those popular over a period of years had been received in sufficient quantity. "What we need now is current books. If these cannot be given, then a loan of them for a month or two would be appreciated," said Smith. Gifts, or loans of books may be made by leaving them at Red Cross headquarters, across from the postoffice.

Restaurants Must Devise Means Of Solving Meat Ration Problems

By JAMES MARLOW and GEORGE SIELKE
WASHINGTON, March 25 (AP)—What happens—after meat rationing starts next Monday—to the lad who likes his steaks rare, and big, and plenty of 'em?

The government order limiting Americans after March 29 to 16 ration points per week per person for meat—and butter and cheese and cooking fats—will slow down the steak eater if he eats at home, since popular cuts are 8 points a pound.

But if he uses those two pounds at home, he can go to a restaurant to fill that ache for a filet mignon—if there's any left. A lot of other people might be having the same idea at the same time.

Restaurants are rationed only on the amount of meat they can purchase, not on the amount they sell to a customer. But a restaurant probably would have to ration its customers in order to make its meat supply last.

But there is no ceiling on the price restaurants may charge for food.

So suppose this happened: A restaurant which has been selling steak dinners at $2.75—with the steak weighing maybe 1 1/2 pounds—could jump the price to $7.50 or to any figure that traffic would bear and still sell the same poundage.

To get those prices, of course, would require a clientele with a fat pocketbook but those pocketbooks are plentiful.

It also would mean that some restaurant—rationed like any other on the amount of meat it could obtain legally—wouldn't be able to keep on selling 1 1/2 pounds of steak to each customer day after day during any single ration period.

But suppose the restaurant manager decided it was more profitable to clean out his supplies in three days at a high figure and then shut down for the rest of the week, than to stay open all week, cut portions and serve a greater number of people.

That sort of dealing, however, is suggested only as what could happen at this time when there is no limitation on restaurant portions. The agriculture department reportedly has been working on a limitation order but it has not appeared yet.

Actually, however, meat portions in restaurants probably will average around 3 ounces per customer at any one meal, this in addition to proportionately reduced helpings of butter and canned foods, all of which are rationed, too.

Take Care Of That Security Card, Is Government's Plea

A man's first duty is to his family and his country and "we do not believe there is a wage earner in America today who would not think twice before permitting himself to lapse into a period of thoughtlessness and neglect where either is concerned," said Elliott W. Adams, manager of the Big Spring office of the Social Security Board, who recently discussed a problem which has already become both costly in time and expenditure of government funds.

Adams had reference to the carelessness and thoughtlessness on the part of social security account number holders who, without considering the seriousness of the matter, have either lost, misplaced or neglected to keep track of their social security account numbers.

"Too many of them are requesting duplicate account numbers and are thereby making it pretty tough on the board. Many workers only think of their social security number when they are considering a job when they should also be considering the value of the number and the protection it represents. The cost of issuing a duplicate number equals that of thirteen war bullets; the time consumed by the account number clerical staff is considerable and manpower as well as womanpower is becoming more acute from day to day," Adams said.

A national campaign is now in progress to reduce the number of applicants for duplicate account cards and Adams asks your cooperation in helping to solve this problem which is becoming more expensive to the people of America all the time. He emphasized his statement when he said that "it can only be solved by the workers being more careful with their cards, which, after all, represent insurance policies for their families. An insurance policy is valuable—so is your social security card."

British Salvage Bulls and Bear From Deep Sea

LONDON (AP)—British salvage operators are reaping from the ocean bed a rich harvest of supplies and war materials.

By far their biggest recent haul is the 12,000 tons of steel already cut away from the fire-gutted training ship Caledonia, the former liner Majestic, now being broken up on the floor of the Firth of Forth.

Booby recovered runs from bulls to bear to soap, including army trucks, motorcycles, flour, cloth, silk, tobacco, canned food and nickel.

One ship's hold was full of packages of soap. The cartons had rotted and the soap had jelled into a goey mass. Salvagers scooped it out and sold it to British laundry operators for more than its original price.

British Salvage Bulls and Bear From Deep Sea

Another ship, carrying half a million bottles of whiskey, foundered on the West Highlands coast, providing local Scotsmen with a windfall, but there still were ample supplies for the salvagers to recover.

From a semi-submerged ship, 20 living pedigree bulls, valued at $260,000 and headed for South America, were recovered by the salvagers. The animals were cradled in tarpaulins and hoisted from the hold at low tide.

Chicken-Raising Booms In Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Go rural, you city folk, and raise chickens in the back yard for your own meat and eggs.

That's what scores of Memphians are planning to do to help offset food rationing restrictions. Memphis hatcheries reported orders are 75 per cent above those of last year. Distributors said they were booked a month ahead on orders for baby chicks. Egg dealers declared they can't supply fertile eggs to the hatcheries fast enough to meet the demand.
