Sights and Faces Seen

Barney Hicks tried for a week to get us to sample his pipe tobacco—a natural leaf of some kind at ten-half cent.

Mack Womble is another who has been in for "strange" tobacco. Since his return from Cuba he has been smoking Cuban cigarettes at his just about out now. Thinking of ordering more.

Campaigning for public office always an expense to candidates, and robs them of considerable time that could be devoted to their present duties. The two candidates for county treasurer, Mr. Bessie Smith and Mrs. Neasa Powell, have agreed to do all their electioneering in town, meeting all the voters here.

Such a method of campaigning could be recommended to all candidates as a matter of economy of time as well as expense.

Homer Fox is going to keep on until he has a real store. Making changes this week that are improving the "front" greatly.

Quoting Mrs. Hubert McEntire: "Never has there been so many weeds growing in this country as there is since the rains, but it is fine to see something green, even if it's weeds."

A single room at Dallas during the Centennial rents for $15 a week—that's in private homes.

Arthur Harris is new at Brooks' Drug. He took the place of L. B. Russell, who resigned to travel down state with "Brother Jack."

Lester Galley, whose farm is located northeast of town, has 120 acres of irrigated wheat which he says will harvest between 30 and 40 bushels to the acre. Mr. Galley is thoroughly sold on irrigation, an irrigated farm being his aim and desire since he came to this country.

FIREMEN WALK HOME TO STOP LIONS' STREAK

Last week Dew Mercer sent a bunch of firemen down to Fort Worth to learn how to stay out of the way of a fire truck or something and while their second baseman was away, Onias Carroll figured out a ball team, crossed the tracks Thursday afternoon and made the Mighty Lions pat the mat, 5 to 4.

The Lions drew blood in the first frame when they scratched an eye on a walk and nothing. The spark hunters evened it up in their half with one lick and nothing. Hal Kester in the box for the firemen, flinging them from the wrong side, had the lions at his mercy every minute. Flash Morgan was the only man to get a bingle until the fourth, when, after two outs, Wills singled, Posey hit to Carroll at short and he bungled it. Thompson hit to Carroll and he smeared another one; Smith blasted another one to Carroll and he stuck both feet in it, and the ball, undisturbed, stopped some place in center field, and Wills, Thompson and Posey scored. Tah, Tah; guess that second baseman had just as well not been there after all.

But those fire fighting fireheads grabbed another hand full of horse shoes. Carroll relieved Kester on the mound and with his COUSIN Charlie calling him again and his mind full of those three straight bingles at short, Carroll started pouring that fire ball in there, and the first three Lions hit the dirt by the strike out route. Came to bat in their half, and Russell was safe on an error. Bennett made first on a bonhead, B. Witherspoon hit one to the City Park, cleaning the bases. But Bennett stopped at third to tell some fellow how easy it was to hit 'em. That's all off Deo, and was out at base. Woods walked and that's all. The umpire was a

Summer Youth Work Off To Good Start With 50 Attending

School Work Is Progressing On Schedule Here

TO POUR SECOND FLOOR SLAB ON BOTH WINGS THIS WEEK END

Work on reconstruction of the Central school building is progressing according to schedule, with brick work on the new wing and the tearing down of a portion of the old building well under way. The pouring of the second floor slab is expected by the end of this week.

The east wing, which has been kept about of the west wing, is to the second floor, and the wall of the west wing's first floor will probably be completed Friday. Nineteen men were employed during the early part of the week, but the number is to be increased considerably this week end when the new work starts.

The basement and attic of the old building have been virtually gutted. Electricians are now putting in new wiring, which must be completed before remodeling work can progress farther.

Although R. K. Erhard, foreman, said that work was progressing according to schedule, he also called attention to the scarcity of bricklayers. With construction over the country much greater than it was a year or two ago, he said brick layers are hard to get. However, it was not likely that work would be appreciably delayed on this account.

John D. Pitman Contest Winner

John Douglas Pitman, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Pitman, won the grand prize, a de luxe bicycle, in the four months long Junior Business Builders contest sponsored by Closs Drug Store. He finished well ahead of the field with a total of $107,432 to his credit.

Among the leaders were Walter Ayers, second; Billy Davis, third; Foster Hill, fourth; J. W. Robinson, fifth; Bobbie Miller, sixth, and Jack London, seventh. Loretta Beamer, who finished eighth, was the leader of 17 girls in the contest.

Other contestants in the order in which they finished were Daniel Russell, Florella Boeglin, Wanda Jean Smith, John D. Spradley, Laura Mae Leub, Margaret Olson, Jack Knox, Vera Ren, James Reese, Alvin Hacker, Betty Lou Washin, Bobbie E. Turner, Opal Ruth Price, Nadine Waldron, Alford Williams, Barbara Hostetler, Paul Aragon, Dorothy Ott, Katherine Danforth, Alta Campbell, Veda Brummett, S. A. ALL CLASSES STARTED ACCORDING TO PLANS MADE LAST WEEK

With between 40 and 50 children reporting at the outset and the number taking part being increased daily, the NYA summer youth project got off to an auspicious start here last week-end.

Due to the heat late in the afternoon, classes planned from 5 to 6 o'clock have been dropped, and the morning hours changed from 8 until 11:30 o'clock in order to get in the full program. This makes the project entirely a morning affair.

All classes were started according to plans made last week, and a swimming class for primary children was started yesterday morning at the request of several parents. Eight children took part after securing written permission from their parents. Plans first included swimming classes for older children only, Miss Eloyse Pitman, supervisor, stated, but upon request of several parents that the younger children be included, an additional class was opened.

Interest Is Keen. NYA employees who act as group leaders as well as the children themselves are taking considerable interest in the planned work and play and are already getting something out of it, Miss Pitman stated. There are more of the older children taking part than there are primary children. As the work progresses and interest mounts, still larger numbers are expected to be added to those receiving this supervision.

The primary group includes children six years old and through the third grade of the past school term. This group gathers at Lake Park on North Main Street at 8 o'clock each week day morning and until 11:30 o'clock receive supervision in group games and instructive occupation.

Older Group at City Park. The older group, those in the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh grades last year, gather at the City Park off South Main Street

Close Christian Revival Services

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Redford left Tuesday morning after the close of a short evangelistic meeting at the First Christian church. The revival closed Sunday night. On Monday night the congregation gave a picnic lunch in the basement of the church in honor of the couple.

During their visit here Rev. and Mrs. Redford were guests in numerous homes. Their time was spent chiefly in visiting members of the church and in getting acquainted with the people of Hereford. The meeting accomplished its main objective in that it afforded fellowship between the Redfords and congregation and acquainted them with the needs of the church.

Life of Young Girl Is Saved by Glenn Weir

LOIS STANDIFER, 13, IS RESCUED FROM TIERRA BLANCA

Plunging into the water fully dressed, Glenn Weir saved Lois Standifer, 13-year-old daughter of Mrs. Agnes Standifer from drowning in Tierra Blanca Creek "swimming hole" in the state park Friday afternoon.

Attracted by screams of the girl's companions, Mr. Weir, who had been fishing nearby but had returned to his automobile, rushed to the child's aid. Her companions, Jo Ann Carwell and Norma Jean Foster, had attempted to pull her from the water and did much to keep her from suffering worse effects, Mr. Weir stated.

She overcame effects of the submerging rapidly after being taken from the water and was carried to a doctor. The other children are capable swimmers, but Lois was unable to swim and got into water too deep for wading. They were accompanied by the creek by Mrs. F. L. Carwell and Mrs. Mace Whitman. The incident occurred at about 6:00 o'clock.

More Moisture Added In Week

Additional moisture was received over the Hereford area in two showers during the past week, which totaled approximately one inch over the entire territory. This was added to half an inch received generally last Thursday.

Friday night another steady shower brought the total to one inch for the week. This was followed by rains Monday night which brought four-tenths of an inch to Hereford and vicinity, according to the gauge at the First National Bank. The shower came out of the southwest, where it was reported to be considerably heavier, and extended to the northern edge of the territory, although it decreased gradually as it moved northward.

Baptist Revival Interest Grows

Revival services at the First Baptist church, which started last Sunday, have gone on during the week with ever increasing interest and attendance. They will continue through next week, with both morning and evening services. Rev. Harold Hicks, who is conducting the services, has been bringing inspiring messages.

Morning services are held from 10 until 11 o'clock, and evening services at 8:30, with prayer groups meeting at 8 o'clock. Johnnie Biggs has charge of the song service.

Frank Owenby of Oklahoma City spent two days of last week visiting relatives, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Gillis.

Bonus Bonds Arrive Tuesday; Issued to Veterans in 2 Days

91 GROUPS RECEIVED, VALUED AT ABOUT $45,500

Men carrying small packages under their arms dotted the streets of Hereford Tuesday. They were veterans of the World War who receive mail at the local post office. In those packages were several thousand dollars in Government bonds—adjusted service certificates!

Ninety-one individual groups of bonds were received here Tuesday morning. The average payment in the county had been estimated at $500, making the 91 payments worth approximately $45,500. But that is only a part of the story. Virtually 200 ex-soldiers in the county were eligible for payment, many of whom receiving the bonds through other post offices in the area, where the action was similar to that here.

The bonds were issued from offices in the rear of the First State Bank building. A steady stream of veterans flowed into the office throughout the day, some of them accompanied by friends who were to identify them. Virtually all the bonds were issued during the one day, although the office was forced to remain open late to handle the work.

Bonds also went out over the rural routes that run on Tuesday, and mail carriers also had their hands full with the delivery. Veterans living on routes that run on Wednesday were delayed a day, but the same procedure was followed.

What percentage of the bonds were being cashed immediately? Postal authorities could not answer that question, but most of them were not being turned back for money in great quantities. In most cases the veterans were taking one or two of the bonds—they amount to $50 each—from their group and converting them into money. To do this, they were endorsed and turned back to postal authorities to be sent to a central United States saving bond depository, from which the checks are to be mailed.

MRS. C. A. SKELTON IS NEW CASE WORKER HERE

Mrs. C. A. Skelton Monday was appointed county case worker in charge of relief work in Deaf Smith county. The appointment was made by the commissioners court in compliance with the appointment of such a worker in each county.

Mrs. Dyalitha Brady is now supervisor of relief offices in seven counties, and Mrs. Skelton will work directly with her. The local offices will be open on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays.

Masons Invited to Slaton.

Hereford Masons have been invited to attend a Masonic district communication which will be held at Slaton Thursday night, July 2. The Most Worshipful Grand Master will be present. A meeting of officers and district deputies will be held at 6:30, with supper at 7 o'clock, after which the Grand Master will confer a Master's degree. The Grand Master will be the principal speaker.

Spanish War Veterans To Gather Here

ANNUAL PICNIC TO BE STAGED AT HEREFORD STATE PARK

Spanish War veterans of probably both Amarillo and Lubbock camps will hold their annual all-day session in Hereford State Park late in July. F. M. Keester extended the invitation to the Guy V. Henry, Jr., camp of Amarillo last week. It was accepted while plans were being formulated to hold the Panhandle's first district gathering of both camps.

Between 300 and 500 Spanish War vets and members of their families are expected to be here for the day, the exact date of which is to be announced later. A committee from Amarillo will come here soon to inspect the park and make plans for the program.

A regular feature of the event is the basket picnic. If the move to join the two camps in a district meeting, a business session, the first held in connection with the affair, will be held at the state park club house.

Local Bankers To Convention

Four members of the banking profession in Hereford attended the one-day program of the Panhandle Bankers Association Tuesday in Amarillo. Local banks were closed for the occasion. Those attending were Cliff Acker, Edgar Ireland, Jr., and Dick Barnard of the First State Bank, and Geo. Muse of the First National.

Some 25 bankers were present and heard nationally prominent bankers discuss problems and the future of banking. The entertainment enjoyed included a barbecue, golf tournament and dance Tuesday night.

ZAYDEE RULE BECOMES CO-MANAGER OF SALON

Announcement has been made of the purchase of the interest of Mrs. Bobbie Seed in Bobbie's Beauty Salon by Miss Zaydee Rule, a local beauty operator. Miss Rule became actively associated with Mrs. Bess Jennings in the management of the salon Monday. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Rule of Summerfield, Miss Rule is an experienced operator. She came here 18 months ago from Enid, Oklahoma.

Mrs. Jennings, who is well known here as a beauty expert, announced that the name of the shop will not be changed, and that it will continue to offer the same high class beauty work it has given the women of this section in the past.

Miss Mary Wilson and a friend of Littlefield spent Monday night with Miss Wilson's sister, Mrs. W. F. Gillis.

Farm Program Offers Chance To Save Land

PROVIDES SAFEGUARDS FOR FUTURE GENERATIONS

Under the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, land owners should rejoice that an unusual opportunity has presented itself, in the opinion of County Agent Alex Bateman. The act provides a safeguard for the future generation in that soil may be built, maintained and moisture held where nature has distributed it. At the same time, both owner and tenant will be compensated, the amount they receive being measured by their farming practices.

The earning power of a producer will be determined by the total base acres of soil depleting crops that a farm contains. Approximately 70 per cent of land in Deaf Smith county is owned by non-residents and a majority of it is operated by non-resident tenants. By using some of the soil building practices, the land is restored to a high degree of fertility, thereby permitting greater yields, also a big factor in keeping soil from eroding either by wind or water. Terracing, contouring and cropping are of vital importance to all acres in the county, not only should cultivated acres be contoured or terraced, but pasture land as well needs treatment. Had all the water in the lakes of the county been maintained where it fell, a bumper crop would have been assured.

Approximately 90 per cent of all land in the county has been covered by work sheets, the remaining 10 per cent representing land whose owners have not been located by the county committee. It is important that a work sheet be filed at once. It carries no obligation but puts the producer eligible for a grant provided he complies with some of the farming practices the act sets forth.

That the Hereford High School band enjoyed the Texas Centennial Exposition at Dallas was evident in a telegram addressed to "citizens of Hereford" and signed by the entire band, received by the Band Wednesday morning. "Exposition is wonderful. Only thing lacking is that you are not here to see it, too," the telegram read.

EXPOSITION IS WONDERFUL, IS BAND'S REPORT

Forty band members, Director Ralph Smith, Miss Viva Mae Thomas, a featured entertainer, and six patrons who journeyed to Dallas by bus Sunday, are due to return late today. Local people have shown considerable interest in the band's sojourn at Dallas, many asking questions concerning the organization, but little information was forthcoming except the fact that the group got off on schedule.

There was no doubt but that the group was kept busy during the three days at the Centennial. The program included the opening of the National Folk Festival Tuesday, an honor bestowed upon the local group by Miss Gertrude Knox, national chairman. This took the form of a 15 or 20 minute concert. The band was scheduled to play on the folk festival program Wednesday night. Other appearances including two one-hour concerts each day at the exposition grounds and a radio concert Tuesday.

While reports, other than the above telegram, were lacking, local people undoubtedly will get plenty of information this week-end—after the musicians get home and start giving their versions of the world fair that is said to exceed the Chicago exposition.

Miss Sallie GIBBREATH returned Friday from Dalhart where she visited her sister, Mrs. L. E. Rhoades. Mr. Rhoades is superintendent of the Dalhart public schools.

AERIAL SHOW TO BE FEATURED HERE JULY FOURTH

A two-hour air show staged at Renfro Airport will be one of the big features of the American Legion's mammoth July 4th celebration here. Complete plans have been made for the show, which will include stunts, bomb dropping contest, shirt tail race, free ride for women over 65 years of age, and parachute jump.

Four local planes will take part in the event, and several visiting planes are expected to be here to enter the contests. Parking space at the airport will be handled by the American Legion, with a small admission being the only charge for this phase of the two-day program.

The air show will begin promptly at 10 o'clock on the morning of the Fourth and last until noon, ending just before the Legionnaires yell "soup's on" at the Main Street entrance to the state park.

Stunt flying will open the show, with all stunting being done in accordance with Department of Commerce regulations. Bombs for target practice event will be composed of paper sacks containing two pounds of flour. They will be dropped by pilots from a height of 1,000 feet at a target on the ground. The pilot dropping a bomb closest to the target will receive a cash prize.

Turning flying into comedy, this event will be followed by a shirt tail race in which the pilots will take off, circle prizes, land at airport and take off their trousers where the plane stops. They then take their trousers to the judge in the center of the airport, return to the plane and again circle pylons. Relanding, the pilots reclaim their trousers and circle pylons a third time. A cash prize will be offered in this event also.

All women 65 years old or older who wish to take a plane ride will receive a free ride, it was announced. The parachute jump will be made by a local pilot.

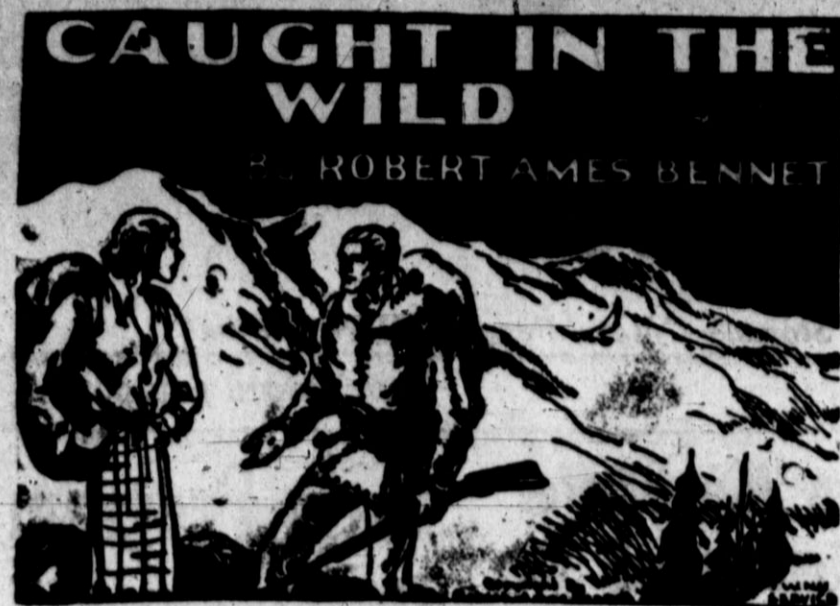

The air show is only one of the features of the two day celebration planned by the Legion for July 3 and 4 at Hereford State Park. Baseball and roller will feature some afternoon events, and a dance at the Pinnacle Grain

Company will be featured each night. Fireworks valued at about $500 will be exploded Saturday morning and again in the evening, giving both daytime and night displays. The barbecue will be no small feature. Locally operated concessions will help entertain the crowds.

Bids are to be received on or before next Monday (directions to bidders are given elsewhere in this issue) and plans are going forward to have every type of cold drink, sandwich and amusement concession possible. One concession already planned is a turtle race, planned by the Business and Professional Women's club. Managers of the affair are also attempting to secure a merry-go-round and expect to have one on the grounds.

Red Kyrick, famous trick horse rider formerly with Stroud's rodeo troupe, known over the nation, and his educated wonder horse will be a feature of the rodeo performance each day. Entrance fees and prizes for the rodeo events have been announced as follows: Calf roping fee $4; prizes, $50, $30, $15, $5; goat roping, fee $2; prizes $20, $10, $5. Steer riding, fee $2; prizes $15, $7.50, $5. Bronco riding, fee $2; prizes $20, $10, $5. Wild cow milking, fee $1; prize $15. Bull dogging, fee and prize unannounced. All entrants must be registered 24 hours before opening of exhibition.

"If you can't carry on, Mr. Ramill, you'll have to stay here and keep bathing your ankle in this gill," he said. "We're too short of food to lose any time. The stand of birch at the stream is so small that I'll need a full three days to build our canoe. The three of you follow down this brook as soon as you can."

When he picked up a few pieces of meat and his rifle, Huxby spoke: "I should have the gun to protect Miss Ramill."

"There's nothing here to attack you," Garth replied. "Just possibly, I may find game at the stream."

"Could another pair of hands be helpful in making the canoe?" Lillith asked.

"Well—yes."

The girl looked at Huxby. He did not speak or move. She stood up. "Dad, you'll be all right with Vivian I am going to help Alan."

Her father shook his head. "You should stay here with me. Let Vivian go."

Huxby rose, frowning. He looked at Garth with cold rancor. "I see no need for anyone to go. I certainly cannot permit my fiancée to accompany you."

"She might have helped. You would be only a hindrance," Garth replied.

He swung away at a rapid pace. But behind him he heard the girl speak sharply: "Don't be silly, Vivian. Get out of my way."

After that came a quick patter of moccasins. Garth kept on for some distance as if he did not hear the sound. Then he halted behind an alder thicket to face the girl. She was so close behind him that she almost ran into him. He smiled into her eager eyes.

"This is a happy surprise, Lillith."

Her eyelids gaped, and her cheeks crimsoned under their coat of pitch-and-grease mosquito dope. "You needn't fancy I'm running after you. It's—It's only because I want to get out of this beastly North country of yours—and be rid of you, too!"

"So, that's it. Well, you're a good hater, but you're a real sport. You're game. Tag along, if you wish."

At the edge of the swamp he stopped beside a game trail. Lillith came up beside him, breathing deeply from the long and rapid walk. He pointed to the big water-filled hoof prints in the mud.

"We may be in luck. Moose passed here yesterday—the water is clear in the tracks. They may not have gone too far. Stay here, or be quiet."

An upsooted leaf showed that the wind was in his favor. He started along the trail. The tracks were still a day old when they turned out into the muskeg toward a lily pool.

Garth skirted on along the border of the swamp to where a hole of the stream twisted in close to dry ground. Here was the grove of birch of which he had spoken. He pointed to the fringe of willows below the birch.

"Those bitten twigs—still white. They've been eaten off less than an hour ago. Stay here."

After another test of the wind, he went ahead alone, silent as a lynx. Luck was with him. As he rounded the bend he saw the immense antlers of an old bull moose rise above the willows on the bank. Before the startled beast could plunge into the water Garth dropped him with a bullet through the brain.

At the crash of the shot, three moose cows with calves broke cover beyond the hill. The distance was considerable and brush obscured Garth's aim. He had to shoot four times to bring down one cow and her calf. But that was enough.

His shout brought Lillith on the run. She looked delightedly at the bull. "Oh, no chance now of starving!"

"That's not all," he said. "I can build a hide canoe in two days; a better one than can be made from those small birches."

When, a day later, Mr. Ramill came limping after Huxby to the smoke-marked camp, Lillith was still hanging moose meat on alder poles over the smudge-fire.

Huxby dropped his full-stuffed knapsack and wiped his sweaty forehead with the back of his hand.

"Pah! To think I've lugged all that old meat, and he's killed again. Why didn't he come back and tell me?"

The girl gave him an odd glance. "We've been too busy, old dear. Where's the blanket?"

"I couldn't pack everything. If I'd known, I could have left this confounded smoked moose and brought the blanket instead."

"Why not have left your loan of metal? Didn't you consider that Dad and I will get far more than fifteen thousand dollars worth of comfort out of that blanket?"

His lips tightened. "Sorry, darling. The thought of a common dirty blanket as against all the platinum—I didn't even think of it. Now of course I realize. But it's too late."

"Yes," she agreed. "It's too late. Dad, you were a real sport not to wait for Alan to come back and carry you."

The millionaire had slumped down to rub his swollen ankle. He looked up at Huxby with a bantering smile. "We couldn't permit our girl to clope with a woods vagabond, could we Vivian?"

The engineer did not smile. His face went blank. "Where is that roughneck, Lillith?"

"Down in the willows working hard for us. Won't you be glad when we're rid of him?"

"Won't you?"

"Well, I'm not so sure as I was. At present he is far more agreeable company than you are."

Huxby stiffened and went off towards the willows without any reply. Mr. Ramill peered up shrewdly at his daughter.

"That was pretty hard, even from you, Lillith. Try to keep in mind how matters will stand as soon as we get out of this damnable mess."

For a long moment Lillith Ramill stood silent. She looked down at her grimy tattered sports suit, at her blood smeared hands and the broken fingernails. The dimmed glitter of the diamond in her engagement ring failed to hold her gaze. It passed on down to her foxskin leggings and moosehide moccasins.

"Squaw," she murmured. "Dirty squaw. He certainly has put us through the mill. And more to come! We're not out of the woods. Dad, do you still have Vivian's pistol?"

"Why no. He asked me for it this morning. Said that the less weight I carried, the better for me."

She reached down a hand to help him to his feet.

"Listen, Dad. No matter how much we hate Alan Garth, we'll never get out of the muskegs without him. Haven't you noticed Vivian's eyes? You must ask him to give you back the pistol."

"But—it's his. And to rasp his self-esteem with such an intimation of distrust—"

GET GULFLUBE—

It's "Stripped for action"!

Poorly refined motor oils, like a swimmer with all his clothes on, can't do an efficient job. They carry too much excess baggage—waste that should be "stripped off" by refining.

Most 25c oils, like a swimmer stripped of part of his clothes, are rid of some waste—but not enough for best performance. No refiner of 25c oils could afford to go further, before Gulf's Multi-sol process was perfected.

GULFLUBE MOTOR OIL, like a swimmer stripped for action, is rid of every bit of excess waste. It's the only Multi-sol-made 25c oil—the finest, purest oil a quarter ever bought. Gulflube gives you better lubrication, lower bills and a cleaner motor. Prove it—at the Sign of the Orange Disc.

TUNES, DANCES IN SHIRLEY'S NEW PICTURE

If you seek real movie entertainment, one pictorially attractive with perfect acting, sweetness and charm, see "Captain January" with Shirley Temple at the Star midnight preview Saturday and two days starting Sunday.

One can never get too enthusiastic about Shirley Temple—because she is really the screen's great bet. Though a child, she is a best actress. There are few who can give a better performance. She feels every emotion, every mood of the scene she plays and gives a flawless performance. In "Captain January" she is gay, impish, comic, tender, tragic, grave and never overlaps a part. The fascinating adventures of a little sea wolf and her two old sea-salt friends furnishes the story basis. Somewhere on the rocky bound coast of Maine the action of this Shirley Temple picture is set. She is a nimble little toad of a lady of a lighthouse adored and guarded by Guy Kibbee, lighthouse keeper who had fished her from the sea years before. Her other old friend, Slim Summerville, bickers with Kibbee, but when authorities threaten to take the girl away the two put up a united front.

Despite their strategy and attempted flight to sea in the night, the inevitable happens, and vixenish old Sara Haden, truant officer, takes possession of Shirley. But not for long, because unexpected, friends turn up to bring Shirley and Kibbee together again and the picture to a happy close. A news and comedy round out the excellent program at the Star for Sunday and Monday.

Better Poultry Care Is Urged

With the coming of warm weather, all poultry raisers should use sanitary precaution to insure production, according to an article by County Agent Alex Bateman. Insect pests are easy to control if poultry houses are kept clean. Most poultry producers have access to crank case oils which can be applied to perches, floors and on the interior of the poultry house.

Poultry worms, such as pin and round worms, may be controlled by using one teaspoonful of white gasoline per hen, or by the use of worm pills.

Some hens are beginning to moult and these should be put on a good ration while producing new feathers, the body reserve being used at this time. The hens should have all the feed they can consume.

In selecting best producers it is necessary to use trap nests, which are not expensive. If this type of nest is not used, close observation should be followed, for it is those pullets that lay early that make up the high producers of a flock. All of these should have a leg band and their eggs should be selected to hatchling. By breeding, feeding and good housing, good poultry is a sure way to increase the farm income. Some years ago, it was thought that poultry should only be culled one or two times during the year, but it has been found that any time a loss in egg production occurs, these should be culled out of the flock.

Dalhart, Panhandle, Clovis and Tucuman.

Several years ago Mr. Furr inaugurated a new policy of large food markets instead of the smaller type of store then customary. The result is that today practically every Furr Food Store is in a building with a 50 to 80 foot frontage. This means a much larger variety and selection, and enables the housewife to choose everything for her table under one big roof. Latest refrigeration methods and modern facilities for handling meat and produce are integral parts of every Furr Food Store today.

The 18-28 proved to all of us that it has power to spare in meeting the demands of farm duty in this area—its performance was up to standard in every way. Not only does it meet these requirements, but it offers the maximum power with least possible loss through friction or wear—it is a more simplified piece of machinery.

VETERANS GET PAID

Service bonds were started on their way to World War veterans from 12 centrally located post offices Monday—the first of the batch were expected by the time this is off the press. They'll continue to arrive during the remainder of the month or at least until all veterans who get their mail here have been notified that their bonds are on hand.

This is a momentous occasion for the veteran. It sank the Federal Government farther into the red, but it was an obligation that had to be met sooner or later, and now, when the money is needed, is an opportune time to distribute it.

There is no need to rush the post office in an attempt to get these bonds. Each veteran will be notified when his arrive, and by avoiding useless inquiries before the notification comes will assist those who are receiving their bonds first in obtaining quicker service.

SCHOOL'S RATING IS HIGH

Hereford High School received about the highest recommendation and commendation possible in the annual report of the supervisor, a copy of which was received by school officials last week. J. D. Wilson, deputy state superintendent, not only commented upon the condition of buildings and equipment and the well-balanced course of study, but he went farther to state there is "every indication of excellent organization and administration. . . . The atmosphere of the school is conducive to a high type of work."

He complimented the school's music program, the teachers as a whole and the school authorities, adding that the school "is entitled to complete accreditation for the school system." To this we add our approval of the staff of workers who have kept the interest of the school before them and worked greater achievement. Hereford children are fortunate in having this type of training and leadership. If you do not realize just what this means, visit some schools in other towns where this is not true, and find out what is going on. Unfortunately, there are many schools which do not aspire to such high rating. They do not give the children a fair opportunity.

NOTES ON REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

We do not claim to be an authority on politics and are a novice at political writing, but following are a few observations made while reading about the Republican National Convention at Cleveland:

Governor Alf Landon of Kansas received the Republican nomination on the first ballot. At last, we feel, the Republicans have done something right: If we should have a Republican president, which isn't at all likely, we should prefer Governor Landon to any of the other aspirants.

Senator Borah and former President Hoover are about as important in the Republican party as Al Smith is in the Democratic. The party would be better off without them. Republican cries against the New Deal seem to be a matter of habit rather than of principle—in framing their platform, the Republicans patterned several of their plants after the Democratic platform of 1932.

Despite the platform, Governor Landon has a mind of his own and some ideas about what should be done. That is refreshing.

Big Eastern leaders must have stuttered when they clamored for a return to Democracy as the framers of the constitution understood and intended it, for it was a new role for them to play. The framers of the constitution were primarily agriculturalists in an agricultural country, and those who were making such an appeal have done more to suppress farm legislation than any other group.

By Their Words

AND OURS

Despite the fact that all automobile clubs and a good many leading newspapers have for years been clamoring for some sort of uniform traffic regulation in this country motorists are still without relief in that respect. It still is impossible to drive into a strange neighborhood or into a distant state without innocently violating from one to a dozen traffic laws. —Muleshoe Journal.

The city of Wellington published its financial statement last week in which is shown the bonded indebtedness reduced the past year some $9,500. A feature of the report was explanatory statements along with the statistics that should be appreciated by the taxpayers. —McLean News.

On January 1, 1935, there were grazing on 137,597,389 acres of Texas pasture land, 7,222,309 head of cattle—10.6 per cent of the United States total—and this just after the close of the year during which the government had bought and killed in excess of two million head that the remainder might have sufficient grass and water. —Tulia Herald.

In spite of the criticism which is being made of the old age assistance plan in Texas, checks will go out on July 1st to those who have qualified. The federal government has approved the Texas plan and sent its part of the money to meet the first pension payment. The average of the first checks will be about $20.—Canyon News.

The "pie supper" epidemic has hit Parmer county. Once this epidemic breaks out there is no telling where it will stop nor how much it will cost the candidates. The whole scheme seems to be "soap the candidates." —State-Line Tribune.

If you have been one of those parents who have been urging your son or daughter to study hard and get an education so that they may earn a good salary it is just as well that you do not show them the list of salaries received by the average group of school teachers. —Happy Herald.

My cogitations sometimes lead me into unwonted paths and I sometimes find myself wondering if old age with all its attending decrepitudes is not stealing a march on men, for, as the weeks go by, I find myself getting more and more "kick" out of doing nothing. —Frisona Star.

Resolutions in Congress.

A joint resolution, says the Washington Star, differs from a bill only in a technical way, and has, when passed, the force of law, and is therefore subject to veto. It should be noted, however, that proposed constitutional amendments do not require the President's signature. There are often made in the form of joint resolutions, and in that case need not be presented for signature. A concurrent resolution deals with matters pertaining to both houses of congress, but is merely an expression of congressional opinion, and as such has no legal effect and need not be presented to the President.

Story of Rainfall Best Told By Moisture Depths

Rainfall is more interestingly told to the farmer in the story of penetration—the distance the moisture soaked into the ground. After weeks of contouring and terracing and preaching contouring and terracing, the Soil Conservation Service has been able to present concrete examples of the value of these methods by studying and comparing penetrations on contoured and untreated land in areas so close that the rainfall was equal.

The following figures speak for themselves. The tests were completed last Saturday. Those areas grouped together for purposes of comparison are given in each of the following paragraphs:

RAIN—6.53 inches. Section 172, Block M-7, Ray Johnson, operator; on grain sorghum stubble land one-wayed and untreated, soil type 41, slope A, penetration 15 inches. Section 173, Block M-7, B. A. Atchley, operator; on blown out wheat land one-wayed on contour with every third disc remaining on one-way, soil type 41, slope A, tests ranged as follows: 36, 37, 40, 48, 47, 45, 60 plus 60 plus inches, average penetration 46 plus inches. Section 173, Block M-7, B. A. Atchley, operator; on blown out wheat land listed on contour, soil type 41, slope A, penetration 20 inches. Section 10, block B, Lloyd Lookingbill, operator; on grain sorghum land that has had no cultivation or treatment since harvested in fall of 1935, soil type 41, slope A, penetration 20 inches. Section 173, Block M-7, B. A. Atchley, operator, idle land untreated, blank listed in spring of 1935, slope A, penetration 26 inches on soil type 33, penetration 27 inches on soil type 41.

RAIN—5.5 inches. Section 31, Block K-8, John P. Slaton, owner; on pasture not furrowed, soil type 41, slope A, penetration 16 inches. Section 32, Block K-8, O. G. Hill, owner; pasture furrowed, two rows listed and four rows undisturbed, penetration in furrow 32 inches, between furrows on undisturbed pasture land, 18 inches.

RAIN—5.5 inches. Northeast one-fourth section 51, block K-8, C. V. Burgess, owner and operator; grain sorghum stubble listed on contour, soil type 41, slope A, penetration 28 inches. N.W. section 50, block K-8, Dave Grimes, operator; grain sorghum stubble one-wayed on untreated land, soil type 41, slope A, penetration 18 inches.

RAIN—4.57 inches. NE 1/4 section 32, block K-8, O. G. Hill, owner and operator, blown out wheat land listed on contour, soil type 41, slope A, penetration 23 inches. NE 1/4 section 32, block K-8, O. G. Hill owner and operator, blown out wheat land listed but untreated, soil type 4, slope A, penetration 20 inches. (The above two tests were made not more than 200 yards apart.)

Panhandle To Profit By New Soil Program

The Panhandle will be enriched by millions of dollars if the soil erosion program outlined in Amarillo is carried to completion, according to Senator Clint Small, author of the unique Texas erosion district law.

The object of the session was to unite government agencies, now seeking to bring about soil conservation, with county courts empowered to conduct the actual work. County agencies also have the right to deal directly with the federal government in borrowing money to carry on erosion control.

One of the most cheering notes of the parley was the announcement that the Federal Land Bank intends to begin immediate re-financing of loans on farms in the Panhandle.

F. T. Collins, representative of the Federal Land Bank, reminded delegates that the land bank has $16,000,000 invested in the 14 counties represented at the meeting. His faith in the erosion work under the Texas statute, he said, justifies re-financing of many loans where farmers are unable to pay now. He spoke in complimentary terms of the law, duplicated no where else in the nation.

Collins said he would begin with Dallam county immediately, working southward to include all the erosion districts.

The bill was written, it is said because there was no state agency providing for soil erosion. The federal government, it is recalled, has no power in local areas, therefore was handicapped in enforcing soil treatment. County courts under provisions of the law, are a state agency and may perform erosion work, attaching the cost to the land and taking a lien on the property. Necessary funds for the work may be obtained through cooperation with the state extension service and federal agencies.

Deaf Smith county has 30,000 acres of duned and hummocked lands, officials reported, while another 50,000 acres need treatment. It was estimated that 1,200 miles of fences and 500 miles of roads need to be cleared of drifted sand. Eight tractors and graders, four bulldozers and two light trucks were named among equipment necessary to do the work.

Over 70,000 acres are affected in Oldham county, according to the report, with 200 miles of roads and fences damaged. The county has $5,896 on hand as a result of the tax rebate.

Geese Long-Lived

Geese are said to be extraordinarily long-lived, some of them living more than 40 years. The domestic goose is a descendant of the gray-leg wild goose. The commonest varieties of wild geese in America are the Canada, the brant or Brent, and the snow goose. The latter is also called the laughing goose, a name which its call seems in no way to merit. Snow geese are gray during the first year of their lives and are thereafter pure white all year around.

EGGS STAY FRESH LONGER IF DIPPED IN MINERAL OIL

Many poultrymen beat the heat in summer by dipping eggs in a thin white mineral oil. This seals the pores of the shell and helps the egg retain its fresh quality.

Recent tests by the United States Department of Agriculture show that oiled eggs also stay fresh much better in cold storage than unoled eggs. In an eight-month storage test the original grade was retained by 56.8 per cent of the eggs oiled at a temperature of 60 degrees Fahrenheit, by 55 per cent oiled at 80 degrees, but only 32.5 per cent unoled.

Eggs given the oil and vacuum carbon dioxide treatment retained 83 per cent of their original grade at the end of the storage test. This method, devised by T. L. Swenson, was 35 per cent more efficient than plain oiling, and 173 per cent more efficient than storage with no oil treatment.

In the vacuum process eggs are dipped in oil in an air-tight chamber. Enough air is pumped out to create a partial vacuum. Some air also escapes from the eggs. When carbon dioxide is turned into the chamber the eggs draw enough oil into the pores of the shell to form a complete seal. Carbon dioxide has a stabilizing effect on the egg white. If air is used eggs do not retain their freshness.

THREE FAMOUS SMILES IN A ROW. The President and Mrs. Roosevelt enjoying Texas hospitality on their tour of the state last week, with Governor James V. Allred serving as official host. Further evidence of the cordial relations existing between the Texas and National Administrations is the naming of Governor Allred to nominate Vice-President John N. Garner at the Democratic Convention in Philadelphia.

"Vaccinate," Says Dr. J. W. Brown

Parents of boy scouts, girl scouts and other young people going to camps of any kind are urged by Dr. John W. Brown, state health officer, to have the family physician vaccinate each individual against typhoid fever. Some of the danger points for spread of typhoid it was said are creek swimming holes and flowing springs. Even though the water at these places may appear clear and sparkling, there is danger that it is contaminated.

"Typhoid fever is an unnecessary disease," Dr. Brown said. "Every case is due either to community negligence or to the carelessness or ignorance of some individual. Eternal vigilance in maintaining sanitary surroundings and a pure water supply is necessary.

"Three 'shots' of typhoid vaccine—a week apart—will put your child in the 'protected' class. As it takes several weeks for the protective treatment to establish itself in the body, have it done now.

"Typhoid fever is an intestinal complaint caused by the typhoid bacillus. The digestive tract of a patient is consequently infected with typhoid germs. Anything that may be contaminated by the body discharges is apt to be infectious and dangerous.

"The prevention of typhoid fever is peculiarly a matter of community responsibility. In cities large and small the most urgent control measures are those providing for (1) proper disposal of human excreta through sewage disposal plants and toilets of sanitary type; (2) safe public and well water supplies; (3) extermination of flies; (4) healthy food handlers; (5) supervision of disease carriers and (6) public milk supplies of high quality with the added safeguard of careful pasteurization.

"Prevention of single cases or of epidemics of typhoid fever is dependent upon cooperation of individuals with public health officials in endeavoring to stamp out typhoid entirely."

SAILING A SPORT ON MILE HIGH ELK LAKE

Sailing is a favorite sport on Elk Lake, nearly a mile above sea level, in the Deschutes National Forest, Oregon, says the United States Forest Service. The lake, at an elevation of 4,900 feet, is only 500 feet lower than the summit of the Cascade Range, a mile away. Forest officers say "sailing in the clouds" has grown in popularity in the past few years. Local people are considering the formation of a yacht club this year when additional boats are expected to appear on Elk Lake.

CIVIC PRIDE

Is the Mother of

A CITY BEAUTIFUL

"Isn't it a clean, beautiful little city?"

We hear that said frequently by Hereford people who have visited or passed through some attractive place.

Do visitors to Hereford say that about our city when they return home?

If not, it's our fault, and one that is easily corrected. The answer, of course, is more civic pride.

Let us look around our individual premises for ways to make them more attractive. Let each do his bit toward keeping the streets and alleys clean. The time spent in beautifying the home place is an excellent investment.

Let's win for Hereford the title, "The City Beautiful."

The Erie Canal.

The Erie Canal was built by the State of New York from 1817 to 1825. Before that time a private corporation, the Western Inland Canal Co., had been chartered, and between 1792 and 1796 it built six miles of canal. The state, in 1816, appointed a commission. By 1836 the canal had turned into the state treasury more than $100,000,000.

Ball Game

frame. Kester singled, Hartman singled, scoring Woods. Russell flew out to left. The score tied 4 and four—what a ball game—what a ball game!

Carroll struck out two more Meat eaters, and Smith was out third to first. Bateman, now flinging for the Lions, retired the side without any trouble. Going into the Extra-Inning, Carroll did not have any trouble getting the first three men out. Then it happened! B. Witherspoon was out second to first; Woods walked again, and by the time that guy got to first he couldn't wear Chas. Brooks' hat. Kester walked, the score keeper had to have a drink of water, and Hartman got on first some way. Boy O Boy, bases loaded, one man out and L. B. Russell at bat! Bate started bearing down—that fast one had Close yelling for help—behind the bat—Strike one! Charlie was guessing, cause you couldn't see that ball!—seemed like hours! Finally the count was two and three. Get it in there—let him hit it! Alec from the Lions Den. Make it be good, L. B., he can't get one over. From the burning building, Alec looked 'em over good, took his time. You could tell from the way he looked that he could have thrown a one-way plow over that plate just as easy as a mere base ball. Here's the wind up! Here's the pit!—Boy, you could hear a pin drop—then in the stillness of almost night, rang out that screeching "BALL FOUR!"

Four men out there and no place to go but home, for Woods and the game was over. After all, the Lions just managed for two licks off Kester and none off Carroll, and was by far the best game played this year.

where they spend an hour playing baseball, softball and other group games, and an hour and half at work in the groups they choose, which includes woodwork, sketching, pottery, loom weaving and swimming.

All children of the ages included in the two groups are urged to take part in the summer activities. They are invited to attend the sessions whenever possible and to get started soon so as not to let others get too far a jump on them. The sole purpose of the project is to provide profitable entertainment for the youngsters.

Around Town

STOLEN: A WOODEN LEG

You've heard of the man who stole a wooden leg or a set of false teeth. That actually happened in Hereford Tuesday morning.

An itinerant magazine salesman stopped at a local hotel Monday night. Tuesday morning he reported to Deputy J. O. Newell that while he was at breakfast, another itinerant tossed his suitcase out the window, checked out of the hotel, recovered the case and nonchalantly "thumbed" a ride to Amarillo.

Newell went to Amarillo and with local officers captured the 19-year-old boy on Highway 66 and returned him to jail here. The suitcase, along with a few unimportant personal items, contained the salesman's wooden leg!

Mercator's Projection

Mercator's projection is a style of chart or map, so called after Gerard Mercator, a Flemish geographer of the sixteenth century, the first to give an unbroken view of the whole surface of the earth.

In it all the meridians are straight lines perpendicular to the equator and all the parallels parallel to the equator, the effect being to exaggerate greatly the polar regions.
