Eight To Vie For School Board Seats

While the city race is on tap for Tuesday, the biggest interest in building in the election Saturday for School Board of Trustee members.

Eight candidates are vying for three open positions. The absentee voting has indicated a strong interest from voters as more absentee ballots than usual have been cast refer to the absentee voting story in this issue.

The Brand will feature special interviews with each of the school candidates in the Thursday issue.

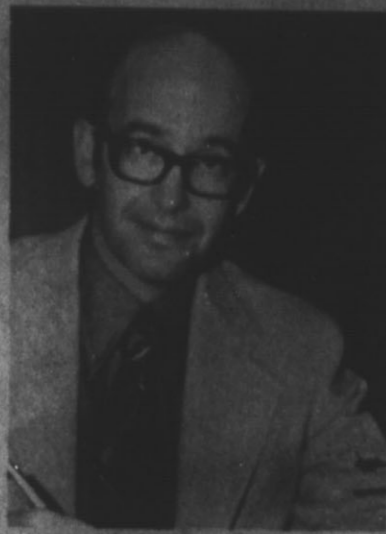

During the past weeks, the candidates have been speaking before groups and advertising for office both in the paper and on radio. These have caused a greater interest as the aspirants form their views on issues.

All the school board slots are contested with the candidates running as follows: James Gentry and Bob Josserand in place 1; Rev. Jose Gilligan, Jim Arney and Bobby Veigel in place 2; and Joe Whitley, Bud Snyder and Clark Andrews in place 3. Dwaine Walker was a candidate in place 2 until he withdrew because of two relatives by marriage who work for the schools. Had he won, the relatives could have lost their jobs due to nepotism laws.

This is the first year the school election will be conducted under the "place" method of voting. Before, all candidates ran against each other in an open field with the top three vote getters winning board seats. Now candidates run in specific places against just the persons in that place.

With two of the places holding three candidates, a runoff in both is possible since a candidate must receive a majority of votes in order to win outright. The school board will have to call a special election within 30 days of the regular election should a runoff be necessary. The present board has indicated a willingness to set such an election as soon as possible.

The voting will be held at the Community Center similar to the city election. Specific voting poll information will be carried in the Thursday issue of the Brand.

Only One Contested City Race

The time left for campaigning by the Hereford City Commission candidates is just about up as the voters go to the polls Tuesday to decide on three of them to serve two-year terms.

This is the first of two local elections as the candidates in the race for three positions on the School Board of Trustees will be decided in a separate election Saturday.

Running for the City Commission are incumbent Jim Sears, president of the First National Bank, in the mayor's position; incumbent Paul Abalos in place 1; and Emory Brownlow and Pablo Villarreal in place 2. H.A. (Hap) Caviness present holder of place 2, did not refile for office. He has since been appointed to the Deaf Smith General Hospital board of directors.

Voters have been casting absentee ballots in low numbers and light turnout is expected for Tuesday's election. The balloting will take place from 8 a.m. - 7 p.m. in the Hereford Community Center.

City Manager Dudley Bayne has encouraged all voters to bring along voter registration cards as it makes the task of validating voters easier. The election judge is Lloyd Sharp and the alternate judge is Mrs. Robbie Sead.

While the campaigning for city positions has not erupted into any major confrontations, the one contested race does offer citizens a difference of opinion.

Brownlow filed first for place 2 and so far is the only city candidate to advertise for office. He is a local contractor and has promised to be his own man if elected to the commission.

He presently serves on the city Planning and Zoning Board and runs Brownlow Brothers, a contracting construction firm concerned mainly with commercial structures within the city. He and his wife Dorothy have four children.

Villarreal, owner of the City Tortilla Factory and Bakery, is making his first bid for public office. He made a surprise filing about an hour before the deadline on Feb. 28.

He said his only interest in running is to "better the city of Hereford," and explained that no prior public office experience was a hindrance since he has worked with the public all his life.

A resident of Hereford since 1961, he and his wife Antonia have seven children. He has been a member of the Hereford Lions Club and is past director of the Llano Estacado organization.

Sears, the only mayoral candidate, is up for his third term. Abalos, parent involvement coordinator for the school district itinerant program, operates the Lil Charro Restaurant. He is up for his second term.

No write-in campaigns have been initiated although a few persons will submit write-in ballots, Bayne said.

The results of the city election will be reported in detail in the next issue of The Brand.

Survey Gives Community Data

BY BOBBY TEMPLETON
Brand News Editor

Facts and figures don't often excite the imagination, but they can be of an interesting nature especially when applied specifically to the reader.

One set of figures compiled yearly by the development department of Southwestern Public Service is an example as they illustrate little known characteristics of Hereford — What's here and in what quantities.

For instance how many churches are here? What was the coldest or hottest months? Who are the biggest employers? How many doctors are here?

The survey answers these and other questions one might have about the community. One source of such questions is new industry which might be considering Hereford for a plant or location or a merchant thinking of building a new store.

The Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce keeps copies of the survey for such prospective companies or interests.

THE SURVEY also served to measure change from one year to the next. As indicated by an earlier Brand article, we have grown population wise, but other changes have occurred as well.

The population, which varies according to information used for estimates, is 17,031 according to the survey. It is the same figure used by the Cof C and indicates a significant growth of about over 1,000 persons. County population is 24,128.

The biggest employer in town is Armour Foods, which isn't much of a surprise. It employs about 410 men and women.

It was a significant change in proportion of men and women employees as last year's survey indicated that the company employed 300 men and 50 women. It also is the only union company.

The second largest employer is Holly Sugar with 65 men and five women. Others with significant numbers are: (total employment) Caviness Meat Packers, 37; Big T Pump, 38; Moorman Manufacturing, (Livestock Feed), 31; Gifford Hill (Irrigation Pipe), 31; Arrowhead Mills, 30; and Farr Better Feeds, 31.

THE ONLY EMPLOYER to discontinue operations here was Tucumcari Industries (Garment Manufacturer) which caused about 45 job reductions here.

The number of churches here remained the same as last year with the Baptist recording the largest number with 14 churches in the county. The Methodists have four churches here, the Catholics have three, the Church of Christ have four and the Assembly of God have two.

Other denominations here with one church each are Christian, Church of God, Church of Nazarene, Episcopal, Jehovah's Witness, Latter Day Saints, Lutheran, Presbyterian and Seventh Day Adventist.

CONCERNING THE WEATHER in this area, the coldest month is January with an average temperature of 36.2 degrees, and July is usually the hottest

Farmers To Seek Emergency Action At Meeting In Bull Barn

Concerned agricultural producers and agri-businessmen from Deaf Smith and surrounding counties have scheduled an "Emergency Action Meeting" here Monday night in the Bull Barn, with the primary goal being to seek solutions to declining feed grain prices and markets.

The public meeting starts at 8 p.m. and is open to all Panhandle, South Plains and New Mexico area farmers, cattlemen, agri-businessmen, bankers, and wives.

Farmers from Deaf Smith and several counties planned the meeting, according to local spokesman Gerald McCathern. They have suggested three courses of action, with two of them aimed at curbing production: (1) Cut back planting of feed grain by at least 20 per cent, (2) Destroy a percentage of the wheat crop by grazing or plow-up, and (3) Stop all meat imports immediately.

Grain producers realize, according to McCathern, that their markets will be severely affected this fall by a reduced demand for grain in the feedyard industry, and a cut back in grain exports. He said it has been estimated the cattle feeding industry's demand for grain will be off from 40 to 50 per cent, while the USDA estimates exports will be cut by 24 per cent.

The suggestion to cut back planting of feed grains by 20 per cent is not an attempt to drive up prices, claim area farmers, but to meet the reduction of markets for the grain.

Production costs for the farmer have jumped 30 to 40 per cent the past couple of years, pointed out McCathern. "We don't want the cattlemen to feel we are trying to price grain too high but, with the cost of production, the only solution is to bring cattle prices up in relation to the grain."

McCathern said area grain producers would pledge to do "everything within our power to stop beef imports and rebuild the domestic market." However, he added that it seemed "virtually impossible" to rebuild the livestock feeding industry to its original level before the 1975 feed grain crop is harvested.

"We feel like it is economic suicide to produce six million bushels of corn — which is what the USDA calls for — when there is a four million bushel market," emphasized McCathern. He added the latest estimate on wheat production is for a 2.8 million bushel crop, when the peak crop before was less than 2 million.

With the lost export markets for wheat, producers fear they will see the prices drop down to the loan level unless something is done to curb tremendous production. They think the best way is to graze cattle on the wheat, but some farmers don't want to take the change of investing in cattle. Therefore, the suggestion has been made to plow up some of the wheat acreage.

McCathern said the Monday night meeting is being sponsored by concerned farmers, agri-businessmen and bankers in Deaf Smith, Parmer, Bailey, Lamb, Floyd, Crosby, Swisher, Castro, Sherman and Oldham counties.

Most folks are hoping that was winter's last fling when snow blanketed the area Friday and Saturday. If it passes on through and warms up again this week, most farmers will appreciate the moisture left behind. The freezing weather is not expected to cause much damage to area crops. After the spring-like weather of recent days, the cold front and snow really chilled area residents.

oOo
A flurry of activity in local feedyards has been noticed the past two weeks — a promising indicator for the depressed cattle feeding industry. Several feedyards have added thousands of cattle to their pens, and it is hoped this points to a revival of the business which has made Hereford the "Cattle Feeding Capital of the World."

Sounds great, doesn't it? Congress this week passed a bill to give us a rebate on 1974 income taxes. The refunds are said to average 10 percent of taxes paid, up to a maximum rebate of $200. There are other provisions, but most taxpayers will get at least $100. There will be a $60 across-the-board bonus to Social Security recipients.

The legislation is designed to stimulate the economy by putting extra money into the pockets of most Americans within weeks. It may work, I'm suspicious. It's kinda like your best friend who already owes you $200, promising to pay you back if you'll loan him another $200.

That's our money up there financing the government, and Uncle Sam is running $27 million in the red thus far this year. If Uncle is going to give us back some of our money, where will he borrow it?

Absentee Votes Mount In Local Elections

As of absentee voting deadline Friday the absentee ballots cast in the city election amounted to 28, much less than the 133 absentee votes cast in the school board election as of Friday.

The deadline for the school absentee voting is 5 p.m. Tuesday April 1, according to Orpha Click, school district tax assessor-collector.

The election for city candidates also is Tuesday with voting taking place at the Community Center. A light voter turnout is expected.

However, the case is different in the school race as a heavy volume of voting is forecast by Click. He explained that last year when the absentee votes numbered a record 283, the regular voter turnout was comparatively less because the Easter holidays fell during that time and cut down on the possible number of voters.

This year, he said the voting should be heavy even as indicated by those who have voted so far. The number of voters in the school election last year amount to 1,677.

The interest in this year's school election has been described as greater than even last year when eight candidates tried for only two positions. This year it is eight candidates trying for three positions.

Local Man Utilizes Diverse Experiences

BY KERRIE WOMBLE
Women's Editor

Personal experiences with several cultures have provided background material for "The Lovely Blue," a book of poetry written by George Malouf of Hereford.

Most of the selections are love poems dedicated to his wife, Yiota (Panayiota), however Malouf stated that his book also relates to nature and existence. Published by Carlton Press of New York, the original text was written by Malouf as a student at Texas Tech University. He submitted it for publication at the urging of two language professors.

BORN IN Jerusalem of Lebanese parents, Malouf was reared in the Mideast until the age of 11. His parents moved back to Lebanon and settled at Tyre, ancient Phoenician port, when the author was 2 years old. George's father, Hana (Arabic for "John"), was a retail merchant of fabrics.

Malouf has pleasant memories of the simple life spent as a child in the Mideast, now split by Jewish-Moslem tension.

"I remember life then as uncomplicated," he said. "There were few cars and most people ambulated. There was little industry; most Lebanese are fishermen or farmers or cultivate orchards.

Malouf has visited his native country three times, with the most recent excursion in 1967. He noted a new tension and "Nervousness" in the atmosphere.

"THE COLD war between Israel and the Arabic nations has made the Lebanese people edgy. They do not wish to partake of the solid political aspects, but of course they are affected by the outcome, whatever it may be," he stated.

When Hanna Malouf told his children that they would be joining relatives as residents of Texas, they expected "cowboys, horses pistols and Indians." However, after spending 15 years in the Panhandle, Malouf said that this locale is as much home as any other place he has lived.

"We sold nearly everything we owned so that we could afford the trip to America," Malouf recalled. "At that time, there were eight of us children." Malouf is the oldest son and now has 12 brothers and sisters.

Knowing the basics of the English language as a child, Malouf commented that this aspect of the move was a big problem. "Our kin had written us of the opportunities available in the United States and it was certainly worth the necessary adjustments."

MALOUF NOW HAS fluent command of six languages, including Arabic, English, Spanish, French, Italian, Greek and is well acquainted with Latin. He learned the majority of tongues these after coming to the U.S., but explains that his foreign background was a definite asset in this area.

After residing briefly at Brownville near the Mexican border, the Maloufs transferred to Lubbock where Hanna established a fabric retail business. He now owns and operates a chain of fabric enterprises in Lockney, Muleshoe, Lubbock and Friona.

In 1964, the family came here from Lockney and George graduated from Hereford High School the next year. He then advanced to Texas Tech University, where he met Panayiota Dallis, a Grecian Girl whom he would marry. The couple got acquainted during a picnic held by the Tech International Club at Palo Duro Canyon. They were married in Greece and took a wedding trip to his homeland, surprising many of his relatives who had not seen him in ten years.

MALOUF HAS developed a deep affinity with Greece and its cultures. The village his wife came from is reminiscent of Malouf's native land and he describes their visits there with fondness.

"Mezeica is 350 kilometers from Athens and it is truly a beautiful place. The people of Greece are humble, simple and thoroughly lovable," he said.

"When we visit Greece, we are considered Americans and all the villagers cluster around us in fascination. It's strange, sometimes my wife and I are suspended between several lands, several cultures."

DESPITE A colorful and rich familiarity with other cultures, Malouf claims Hereford is a great place to live. "This town is home to us. When we travel back to our native lands, we miss this community.

"There are good and bad elements wherever you go, people are basically the same," he commented. "One of the best things about the Panhandle is the friendliness and courtesy which are so predominant."

The couple enjoy the trips abroad but they admit they are spoiled to luxuries which are absent in their homelands.

John, 2½, and Constantine, 1, are sons of George and Yiota. "I think they sometimes get confused where language is concerned," Malouf laughed. "Every now and then, John will be talking and a Gree phrase will pop out."

The young parents strive to strengthen each cultural avenue for their children so they will have a broad and diverse perspective of life.

The Range Western Store and The Corral, newly opened, consume most of Malouf's time, but he hopes to devote more of his energies to writing.

"THE LOVELY BLUE" will be showcased and discussed at 10 a.m. April 12 as a literary entry in the Fine Arts Festival at the local library. Copies of the book can be obtained from any bookstore or by writing Carlton Press Ink, 84 5th Ave., New York, N.Y.

The following excerpt appears in the publication:

"Have you ever sat by a window
To look at the world outside?
Have you ever wondered about
The bush, the trees,
The birds of the skies, and the fish of the seas.
It is something quite wonderful and miraculous;
A creation that is dreamy and fabulous.
How the sky is tinted blue
And the green grass all a dew!
How the trees stand still While their roots in nourishment fill!
And how the people down below
Go hurriedly to and fro!
Stop and examine this world of ours.
It won't hinder your rushing hours.
But it will help you
To get another view
Of this miraculous creation:
Of your beloved city,
state and nation."

Weather Turns Easter Rabbit To Snow Bunny

Early spring flowers and hopes for warm Easter weather were dashed by a mammoth cold front which brought blowing snow Friday and Saturday.

Approximately two inches of flakes accumulated here Friday morning, glazing local streets with a slippery surface. Temperatures remained well below the freezing point over the weekend as more snow flurries occurred Saturday.

THE NATIONAL Weather Service issued travel advisories as the large storm enveloped the Tri-State area Friday, releasing intermittent snow throughout the day. Most of the snowfall melted Friday afternoon and it appeared the storm might be ending, but conditions deteriorated during the night.

Peach and apricot blossoms were nipped by the lethal cold blast, however most wheat plants have not reached full maturity, and were not greatly affected.

One inch of snow was reported at Amarillo, Dumas, Borger, Perryton and Pampa. Claude and Spearman received a few flakes with Panhandle collecting two inches.

THE WESTERN half of the nation was plagued by bad weather as storm systems spawned blizzards, tornadoes and heavy rains. The cold and snow were a deterrent to victims of a tornado which struck Lefors Thursday, killing one. Several fatalities were recorded in turbulent weather across the Midwest.

The death toll numbered 14 in the blizzard which immobilized a vast area from Wyoming to Minnesota. Twenty individuals were still reported missing in western Nebraska where the storm was termed the worst in two decades. South Dakota was declared in a state of emergency by Governor Richard F. Knepf.

Meanwhile, area farmers will be meeting here Monday night to discuss actions to take on protecting markets for grain producers. Not all ag producers are going to agree with the proposals to cut back feed grain plantings by 20 percent, nor to plow up a percentage of the wheat crop.

Some farmers are comparing the plow-up to the recent publicity received by some cattlemen who staged a protest slaughter of animals. The action was not well received by the general public, who frown on such moves when there are starving people in the world. It's a frustrating situation for the grain producer, however, who seeks some way to protect his economic survival.

Farmer's Holiday

Winter returned to Hereford Thursday night leaving scenes such as this abandoned tractor, which a farmer was able to operate the day before. Drizzle and light snow fell Friday leaving a foggy atmosphere as seen in the background. The few days before were sunny and bright.

NORM Head To Talk

"Economic Solutions Are Possible" will be the topic when Arnold Paulson, president of the National Organization of Raw Materials, Inc. (NORM), appears here Thursday night in the Bull Barn to address citizens concerned about the rural economy of the area and the nation. The meeting will start at 8 p.m. Thursday and admission is free to all interested citizens. Letters of invitation have been mailed over the area by local NORM directors Gerald McCathern, Harlan Vander Zee and A.R. Dillard.

Paulson, a nationally-known economist, is co-author of the "raw materials theory," which recognizes that the wealth of a nation is generated by its raw materials, and that the pricing or underpricing of those raw materials (of which agriculture is the largest) will reflect on the general status of the economy.

Vander Zee, executive vice president of NORM, noted that area residents have heard, in past years, "Mr. Paulson predict exactly where our economic situation was headed and in which we now find ourselves." He added that local directors feel Paulson "can tell us how to pull ourselves out of the present situation."

In the letter of invitation to area farmers, directors state that the "economic crisis threatens to destroy many of our agricultural producers and those rural communities which agricultural supports. It is of utmost importance that we in agriculture do everything within our power to stop this destruction and save rural economy as well as our national economy."

The meeting here Thursday is the first of two area meetings at which Paulson will appear. Plainview's Agriculture Center will be the site of the first meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m.

NORM's primary goal, as stated by Paulson, is to "establish a sound, stable, solvent economic system for our nation — one that will provide and protect the maximum freedom and independence for its people and to attain the highest possible standard of living for all groups and segments of our economy, as well as to assure human dignity and rural economy as well as economic justice for all."

Paulson is a firm believer in private enterprise. "It is the well that must pump, produce, create, generate every dollar of national income to keep our economy moving and solvent. When private enterprise is in trouble, the entire national economy is in trouble."

Condition of Burn Victims Improved, Fund Continues

Burn therapy is underway for two girls burned in a flash fire at Westway a week ago Friday. Meanwhile, a special fund has been established and set up in both local banks for Norma and Mary Contreras.

Deaf Smith County General Hospital spokesmen say that Mary, the 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Contreras, is in improving condition and that burn therapy has begun on burned areas on her feet and lower legs. The spokesmen indicated that the girl is progressing well in the burn therapy.

Norma, the three-year-old sister, underwent surgery for the second time at the Shriners Burn Hospital in Galveston Thursday. Burned on about 65 per cent of her body, reports from the Galveston hospital indicate she is still in critical condition, but stable.

Tommy Stoy of Garrison Seed, where Larry Contreras is a warehouse manager, indicated that the special fund set up for the children has reached about $300. Containers have been placed in both Hereford banks for donations, which will be placed daily into the special fund accounts under the Contreras name. Donations of money are sought to help defray the medical expenses of the family as well as to cover other necessary expenses.

The girls were burned a week ago Friday when a small container of gasoline in the bathroom of the Westway home apparently spilled onto an open flame heater, or fumes from the gasoline were ignited by the heater. The resulting flash burned the clothes from the bodies of the two children.

Survey--

month with an average temperature of 77.7 degrees.

The wettest month is June with 2.9 inches of average annual rainfall and the driest month is January with only .52 inches of rainfall. Deaf Smith County has an annual average of 67 days of 90-degree or above weather and 195 days between killing frosts. Annual average snowfall is about 7.2 inches.

The agricultural figures are usually the most significant as this area depends on it heavily. The agricultural work force here numbers 2,785 out of a total work force of about 8,200. Manufacturing workers number 815 of the 5,165 nonagricultural workers.

Unemployment is about 250 persons or three per cent. The potential labor supply is 850 persons.

Principal crops grown here are grain sorghum, wheat, sugar beets, grass seed, soybeans, potatoes, onions, lettuce, carrots, cabbage, corn, cotton, hay, rye and barley.

LIVESTOCK COUNTS as of February are 650,000 head of cattle, 16,800 hogs and 6,000 sheep. These numbers have probably fluctuated greatly since the meat market became depressed.

The farms number 1,198 and about 400,000 acres of land are irrigated for farming.

One question asked but not yet answered is the number of doctors here. The survey shows 12 doctors here, one more than last year.

The schools are crowded as usual with the elementary students numbering 2,494 as the largest portion. A total of 1,362 junior high students and 934 senior high students live here. These also vary as there is an estimated fluctuation of 600 students during the year due to migrant workers moving in and out.

The one parochial school here enrolls 159 students. These students are taught by nine teachers while the public schools are taught by 356 teachers.

THE LAW ENFORCEMENT here seems quite adequate as the city employs 18 patrolmen. They are complimented by six sheriffs deputies, a sheriff and four Department of Public Safety officers.

The number of volunteer firemen is 40 with one paid fire marshal.

The survey includes other information such as figures of the financial institutions and tax information of the local governments, but these are reported at the beginning of the year and when budgets are approved.

Once can use the figures in many ways but as one complete compilation for the community, the survey provides a quick summary view for visitors and is indicative of area growth.

Generally, it shows a healthy local situation with advantages of any major population area.

Hopefully next year's survey shows just as healthy if not even a healthier situation.

Bogota Trip Is Topic For Lions Program

Bogota, Columbia was the topic for a program presented at the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Hereford Lions Club Wednesday in Civic Club Center.

Deward Roberson, program chairman, and Mrs. Roberson and Esther Springer made comments on a recent trip to Bogota and showed slides of the city and countryside. The Roberson's son, Gary, and his wife are residing in Bogota.

Mrs. Roberson commented on the beauty of the city with its flowers and many fine homes.

However, she pointed out that soldiers are on constant patrol in areas of the city where government officials and prominent businessmen reside. The homes also have tall fences to keep out intruders.

A number of guests and visiting Lions were recognized during the club meeting, with Wayne Lady presiding. He announced plans for the Lions' district convention in Pampa May 2-3. It was also announced the board had approved a contribution of $50 to the Deaf Smith County Library "piano fund."

NEWS REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, D.C.—It's now accepted by most members of Congress that recommended defense spending will be sharply cut. A reduction of five to ten billions in the proposed $93 billion defense package is a good estimate for the first session of the 94th Congress.

As usual, the Air Force is getting more money than the other services—and may take the largest cuts. The Air Force influence in Congress, long more potent than that of the other services, has recently waned—largely because of growing doubts in the minds of more and more members about the Air Force "lobby."

It's an open secret in both the Pentagon and defense industry that the Air Force has built and effectively used its computer study center to obtain what it wants from Congress for years. The Air Force sends talented teams of top officers to Hill briefings with charts, slides, graphs, etc.—all based on computer studies. This "show" overwhelms most Senators and Congressmen.

The latest curious performance which opened some eyes on Capitol Hill involved the continuing Air Force effort to prevent the inexpensive and privately-developed close-support Enforcer aircraft from being flight tested.

THE SCIENTISTS TELL ME

By Robert L. Haney, Science Writer
The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station

A popular bumper sticker reads, "If you eat, you are involved in agriculture." An equally apt one could be "If you eat, you are involved in the energy crisis." Petroleum energy is essential for food production. It's converted into fertilizers and used for operating agricultural machinery, pumping irrigation water, processing raw food products and distributing the final food products.

In the past couple of years, Americans have started to feel the effects of worldwide food shortages. Food and feed grain surpluses disappeared and meat prices soared. Flour increased in price as did sugar, pinto beans, potatoes, rice, and nearly everything else we eat.

Widespread crop failures, or shortages in the world, caused increased demand for food at the same time petroleum prices were radically increased, which drove up food and fiber production costs. Added pressure on food supplies came from growing populations in most countries combined with an upgrading of diets in the developing countries that enjoy increased prosperity.

The result has been that we have all been forced to bid higher and higher prices for a share of the dwindling total supply of food. Many people in other countries, unable to pay the higher price of food, have been forced to eat less, or in many cases, starve.

Energy needs for Texas agricultural production are being studied by scientists with the Experiment Station. Their findings show that energy use for food production must increase even if maximum conservation measures are used. More food must be produced to meet demands of an increasing population, and this additional output will require more energy. According to station scientists, Dr. Wayne LePori and Dr. C. G. Coble, conservation methods for agriculture have been identified which could reduce energy used for food production by about 15 percent. But such savings will not be enough to meet the needs to produce more food.

ASK YOUR TAX MAN

BY SAUL SILBERT

DEAR MR. TAX MAN:
My son and I live together in an apartment which I maintain. That is, we live together during the period when he is not going to college (which is too far to commute to). Inasmuch as I keep a room in the apartment for my son, I intend to pay my taxes as head-of-household. At least, I can hope I can—right?

POP

DEAR POP:
Right. Your apartment is the principal residence of both you and your son, which is a requirement for head-of-household status. The residence at the college is not considered significant in this situation.

OIL LINE BEGUN SHEEP CREEK CAMP, ALASKA—The Alaskan oil pipeline has been started, after six years of litigation, Congressional controversy, research, planning, purchasing and, finally hiring. More than 10,000 men and women have been hacking out the route for the 43-inch-wide pipeline, which will cost more than $6-billion.

The Bull Barn should be filled to capacity on Monday, March 31 as farmers, ranches, cattlemen, agribusiness people, financial representatives, and everyone interested in agriculture are invited to gather to address a very real problem. "There are hungry people in this world and the American Farmer is being squeezed into bankruptcy!"

Hopefully, a solution can be reached through the collective efforts of all. Of course, whenever we deal with such complex problems, with such far reaching ramifications - no one group can have their own way. Just as negotiation is vital to solving any disagreement or misunderstanding, compromise is essential to success in our agricultural situation.

But the real key to gaining understanding is timely, clear communications. And we're not always too efficient at that. We have folks here in town who firmly believe that two dollar corn will make a crop.

Many, otherwise knowledgeable, people do not realize that last year's record inflation drove the cost of production way above today's market price. Getting across the fact that the agriculturalist has got to be able to show a profit to stay in business is a task that will take a lot of effort - in other words we may need to practice on our own citizens before we try to convince the consumer in populated areas. Attendance is encouraged.

Also at the Bull Barn on Thursday, April 3, will be a strong proponent for a sound agricultural program - Mr. Arnold (Red) Paulson will speak to assembled citizens at 8 p.m. There is no charge and again attendance is strongly encouraged - especially for anyone with questions about our national economy and our local agricultural importance.

And finally, I hope you'll mark your calendar for April 10th when we'll honor the 1975 F.H.A. Farm Family of the Year. Deaf Smith County can be really proud of the Loyd Vaughn family for winning this distinction.

Being first in the state of Texas is not uncommon to use here in the County, but it is an uncommon honor to have such a title conferred on one of our families. An Award Banquet is scheduled for 7:00 p.m. at the Bull Barn. Please get your tickets early - at both banks and at the Chamber Office.

Welcome new "Hereford Hustlers" to that select group. The recent membership blitz produced that honor for Arturo Gonzales, Larry Bean, and J.D. McCaslin.

Congratulations, Hustlers - you've proven your community spirit and your Hustle Hustle!

Vet Widows Reminded Of Benefit Restorations

The Veterans Administration reminds widows of veterans whose pension and compensation payments were terminated after their remarriage that a 1970 law allows restoration of these benefits if they become widowed a second time.

Jack Coker, VA Regional Office Director, noted that prior to enactment of PL 91-376, VA benefits for a widow were permanently discontinued if she remarried.

This policy applied to VA pensions paid to needy widows of veterans who died of nonservice-connected disabilities and to dependency and indemnity compensation (DIC) paid to widows of those killed in military service or who died of service connected causes.

Widows interested in regaining these benefits should contact regional Veterans Administration offices, veterans county service officers, or representatives of local veterans service organizations.

Getting the Most for Medicine Dollars

By Bernard E. Nash

A new regulation of the Department of Health Education and Welfare designed to reduce the cost of medications under the Medicare and Medicaid programs may prove to be a boon to all Americans.

Called MAC—for Maximum Allowable Cost—the regulations specify the top price HEW will pay pharmacies for medications furnished to Medicare or Medicaid patients. Since the government's top price is not expected to be anywhere near as high as many of the prices being charged by pharmaceutical suppliers today, MAC is likely to bring drug prices down for all of us—not just those whose medications are paid for by the government.

According to HEW, the MAC system will work like this. When the specific medication-in-question is produced by several manufacturers—and, as is frequently the case, sold at varying prices—the MAC will be the price generally paid for the least expensive version of this medication, providing this lowest-priced product is widely available across the country.

Since this rule is expected to encourage increased prescribing (and thus purchasing) of medications by their generic or chemical names, rather than by their more expensive brand names, the government is expected to save at least $48.4-million a year now—and even more during the next ten years as patents for more than half the 200 top-selling drugs expire, making them available in generic form.

But, what about medications that are still protected by patents, and are thus available from only one manufacturer? In these situations, the MAC will be the actual price paid for the medication by the pharmacy, plus an established dispensing fee to allow the pharmacy to make a reasonable—but not, as is now sometimes the case, outrageously inflated—profit on the transaction. According to HEW, this should result in an additional $40.4-million saving. What makes the MAC regulations so important to you and me is not only that they will bring about government savings—although such savings should eventually be reflected in our taxes—but also that they will create pressure for a reduction of all pharmaceutical prices. After all, if pharmacies can fill Medicare and Medicaid prescriptions for MAC prices and still make a reasonable profit, they should be able to do the same for all prescriptions, no matter who is paying the bill.

Indications of this are already beginning to be seen across the country as state legislatures—among them Colorado, Florida, Hawaii, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Minnesota, New Mexico, New York, Oregon, Vermont and Wisconsin—debate bills that would allow pharmacists to fill prescriptions for brand-name products with their generic counterparts.

Presumably the savings realized through this practice will be passed on to the consumer, but the only way to be sure is to compare prices at different pharmacies. To facilitate this, legislation is pending in Alaska, Arizona, Arkansas, Indiana, Illinois, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Nevada, New York, North Carolina and Vermont that would permit pharmacies to advertise their prescription prices—something that has been forbidden since almost the beginning of professional pharmacy.

At the same time, since the MAC regulations authorize HEW to provide physicians and pharmacists with a periodic listing of the most frequently prescribed medications in each therapeutic category—and their prices—doctors will be encouraged to consider their patients' financial as well as physical health by prescribing more economically.

Bernard Nash the government's top price is not expected to be anywhere near as high as many of the prices being charged by pharmaceutical suppliers today, MAC is likely to bring drug prices down for all of us—not just those whose medications are paid for by the government.

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

At what age should children learn and be able to do certain things?

Obviously, no two children are alike. One walks and talks earlier than another, and both are normal, healthy children. But there are a few general mileposts from the Texas Medical Association.

Two months—Can lift chest off table.

Three months—Reaches for objects but without success.

Four months—Can sit with support.

Five months—Can sit on lab and grasp small objects.

Six months—Can sit on high chair and grasp a dangling object.

Seven months—Can sit alone.

Eight months—Can stand with help.

Nine months—Can stand by holding on to a piece of furniture.

Ten months—Can creep.

Eleven months—Can walk if led by one hand.

Twelve months—Can pull up and stand with help of furniture.

Thirteen months—Can climb up a few stairs.

Fourteen months—Can stand alone.

Now—if your child is either ahead of this schedule or behind it—there's no point in developing either an unwarranted pride in its precociousness or an unwarranted pessimism over its slowness.

Remember—no two children are alike.

The test of intelligence is your ability to detect sham.

Stamp To Commemorate The Battle of Bunker Hill

Design details of a 10-cent stamp commemorating the 200th anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill have been released by the U.S. Postal Service.

The stamp is the second of two 1975 commemoratives marking famous battles of the Revolutionary War. The first stamp, to be issued April 19, commemorates the Battles of Lexington and Concord.

The Bunker Hill stamp will be issued on June 17, with the first day of issue ceremony scheduled for Charlestown, Massachusetts.

The design depicts the left portion of a painting by John Trumbull, a noted artist of the Revolutionary period who became famous for his series of ambitious and detailed paintings of events and personalities of the Revolution. Trumbull called his painting "The Battle of Bunker's Hill," using the name of the hill in common usage at the time. Today, the official title of the hill is "Bunker Hill," and this terminology is used in the stamp design.

The design depicts the left portion of the Trumbull painting. The right portion of the painting was the subject of a six-cent stamp in the American Painting Series issued in 1966.

Below the vignette in black appears "Bunker Hill 1775 by Trumbull," and "US Bicentennial 10 c."

In the lower center of the design appears Major General Joseph Warren, Massachusetts Militia, depicted as dying of wounds. He is being held by an unidentified person. Standing above them to the left, holding a firearm, is Captain Thomas Knowlton, Third Connecticut Regiment. A flag appears above Knowlton's head.

Members of the British Army are shown approaching from the right. One of these is Major John Small, British 84th Regiment of Foot, and the other is unidentified. At the top of the hill, wearing a three-cornered hat, is Major General Sir William Howe, K.B. British.

The stamp will be printed by the gravure method on the Andreotti press in red, yellow, blue, buff, black tone, and black type. It will be issued in panes of 40 and there are six plate numbers.

The commemorative will be semi-jumbo in size, the image area measuring 1.44 x 1.105 inches or 36.08 x 28.57 millimeters. The Lexington and Concord commemorative is also semi-jumbo in size.

First day cancellation requests should be addressed to "Bunker Hill Stamp, Postmaster, Charlestown, MA 02129." The cost is ten cents per stamp to be affixed to each of the self-addressed envelopes that must be enclosed with the request. Remittance should be by check or money order, rather than cash, and postage stamps will not be accepted as payment.

Orders must be postmarked no later than June 17.

INSIDE TV

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT — "Marcus Welby" co-star JIM BROLIN just bought a new home, and the word's out that it's a beauty — a six-acre ranch in Chatsworth, Calif. Current occupants include Jim, wife Jane, sons Josh and Jesse, and 27 animals. The Brolins' pets include a Great Dane, a German Shepherd, a cougar named Cleo, and nine Appaloosa horses. And you thought your family had you in the doghouse! ... Just because LUCILLE BALL gave up her TV weekly series, it doesn't mean she's looking toward retirement. Like JOHN WAYNE, she says, "We're not ready to be buried yet." In fact, the zany comedienne's life is more hectic and busy than it was when she was taping her astounding total of 495 "Lucy" shows! Why did she quit the show then? As Lucy put it: "It's embarrassing for me to continue prancing around in screwy situations. I had done it much too long. I wanted to quit three or four years ago, but I decided to continue so I could give the kids (Lucie and Desi Arnaz Jr.) the seasoning they needed. Now they've got it, so they don't need me." After 23 years as one of the most successful performers in television's history, it's no wonder Lucy is looking for a diversion. And a star like Lucy who can command anything she wants, has decided to appear only in TV specials for the time being. With the first one under her belt already — Happy Anniversary and Goodbye with ART CARNEY — she is now looking forward to her second TV special with DEAN MARTIN. Of her co-stars she says: Art Carney is "a fantastic talent ... all these years I've been dying to work with him."

ON THE TV SCENE — It seems that those lovelies who appear on television in commercials are the new glamor elite of the entertainment world — at least they are the ones who are getting proposals from lonely men. COLLEEN CAMP, a model turned actress, who is co-starring in PETER S. TRAYNOR's "Mrs. Manning's Weekend," did two TV commercials, one for a wine company and the other for a hand lotion. She got 156 marriage proposals as a result. They were mailed to the network and addressed to the girl in the wine commercials or the hand lotion video blurb.

DPS To Enforce Law On Address Change, Name

[Editor's Note: The following information was provided by the Texas Department of Public Safety concerning change of address on persons holding drivers licenses. Persons needing to effect such changes should contact the Drivers License Division on the first floor of the Deaf Smith County Courthouse.]

The Texas Department of Public Safety advises that all Texas drivers should examine their Texas drivers license to verify that the address on their license is correct. If his address is incorrect, it will be necessary to contact the local Drivers License Office as soon as possible. It is a misdemeanor offense for not changing your address within 10 days after moving. This particular law is going to be enforced more strictly in the future. The procedure for changing an address on a license is to have a duplicate license made with a new picture and a $1.00 fee.

The Drivers License Law, V.C.S. 66876, Sec. 20, states that whenever any person after applying for or receiving an Operator's, Commercial Operator's or Chauffeur's license shall move from the address named in such application or in the license issued to him or when the name of the licensee is changed by marriage or otherwise, such persons shall within ten days thereafter notify the Department in writing of his old and new addresses or of such former and new names, of the number of any license then held by him, and such person shall apply for a duplicate license as set out in Section 14.

Section 14 states that in the event that an Operator's, Commercial Operator's or Chauffeur's license issued under the provisions of this Act is lost, destroyed or there is a change in pertinent information, the person to whom the same was issued may obtain a duplicate or correction thereof upon furnishing proof satisfactory to the Department that such permit or license was lost or destroyed or upon the supplying of the required information which has changed, together with proof acceptable to the Department supporting such change, and upon the payment of a fee of one dollar.

Leo Club To Sponsor Hypnotist Program

Hereford's Leo Club will be sponsoring a show of hypnotism at the Hereford High School auditorium Tuesday. Featured will be self-proclaimed Master Hypnotist Dr. Kit.

According to a press release, Dr. Kit has been a showman on the road for 16 years and has broken box office records on his tour through Europe, Hawaii, Alaska, Canada and the U.S.A. Dr. Kit says, "Professional researchers have been able to achieve remarkable results by applying hypnotism to the treatment of physical and mental ailments." Dr. Kit claims to have hypnotized over sixty thousand people in the past.

Hypnosis, according to Dr. Kit, is the answer to correcting habits such as stuttering, stammering, smoking, biting of finger nails, drinking, weight reduction, plus others. Part of the program will be a demonstration of mass hypnotism in which 20 to 25 volunteers from the audience will be hypnotized at the same time.

Advance tickets are available from Leo Club members for $1. Tickets at the door will be $1.50 for adults and $1 for students and children. An advance matinee Tuesday at 10:15 a.m. will allow high school student to see the show for 50 cents. Showtime Tuesday night is 8 p.m.

Better To Be Plated Than Belated

AUSTIN — "Are you plated or belated?"

That's the question motorists may be facing after midnight, April 1st, deadline for motor vehicle registration in Texas. After that time, law enforcement agencies have been instructed to stop motorists not displaying the 1975 plates to remind them of their licensing responsibilities.

Since February 1, county tax offices and selected substations throughout the state have been conducting registration business as usual. Early reports indicate the annual procedure, required of the state's 9.2 million motor vehicle owners, is running smoothly. However, many registrants traditionally wait until the "last minute" to react, resulting in longer lines and necessary delays.

According to a Highway Department spokesman, public response to the new five-year license plate, being issued for the first time in Texas, has been good. In fact, motorists have shown an uncommon interest in the "label" their motor vehicle will wear through 1979.

In lieu of annual replacement, motorists will be issued an adhesive-type sticker beginning in 1976, that will update their plate for another year of driving. The sticker will be placed in the debossed upper left corner of the plate.

The following year, the tag will be stuck in the upper right corner to cover the debossed "75" and alternated for the ensuing years. Once in place, the tags cannot be easily removed without deterioration, a part of the plan to discourage vandalism or theft.

County tax offices will continue to issue annual plates to certain classes of motor vehicles. These include radio operators, dealers, government officials and those passenger cars displaying "personalized" plates.

Remember the registration deadline: MIDNIGHT, APRIL 1ST!

If you sneeze and sniffle during the ragweed season, if you have cramps, diarrhea, or rash after eating a particular food or drug, if you wheeze or itch when around a cat, a horse, chicken feathers, or some other substance — then you may be suffering from an allergy.

An allergy is an unusual reaction to a substance, an abnormal behavior of the body's cells. Half of the people in the world sneeze or sniffle, wheeze or itch, suffer intestinal disturbances or other uncomfortable symptoms because of their allergies. Half of the adult population in Texas and one-third of our children are afflicted, say state health officials.

In some it occurs only at certain seasons of the year, in others at fairly long intervals, while in many it is a daily problem.

When the allergy-producing substance enters your system and comes in contact with the antibodies in the cell, that union produces dramatic effects. The best known of the results of these miniature explosions is the release of the chemical histamine from the cell. Normally, presence of histamine stimulates production of adequate amounts of antihistamine which would of course cause no symptoms to develop. Sometimes enough antihistamine is not produced to counter the levels of histamine.

Histamine is perfectly harmless when inside the cell, but once released outside the cell it produces undesirable changes. It dilates and congests blood vessels so that fluids from your blood stream leak out into the

ALONG THE FRIO

By MRS. OWEN ANDREWS
Brand Correspondent

Several visitors from other churches and communities visited Frio Baptist Church during revival services last week. A basket lunch at the church Sunday was part of the conclusion of the revival week. The Rev. Clyde Hankins of Calhoun, Ky. and Ed Shubert of Amarillo stayed in the home of the pastor, Rev. and Mrs. Lon Conner. Baptismal Service was on Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. T.L. Sparkman Jr. returned home the last of the week after more than three weeks trip by automobile as far as Miami, Fla. where they visited their daughter, Mrs. Jerry Richardson and family at nearby Hollywood, Fla.

Among those here to visit family and attend the revival service on Wednesday, were the Rev. and Mrs. Sam Ogan, Amarillo. In addition to preaching and teaching in various churches, Rev. Ogan has been substitute teaching in high schools at Amarillo, and is busy much of the time.

Here to visit relatives and friends last weekend were Mr. and Mrs. George Sumner of Dallas. They spent Friday night with the Arthur Blackburns.

Frio Homemakers Club met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Henry Andrews. A program given by Mrs. Irene McKinster representing SOS (Special Organizational Services) sponsored by Hereford Bank was presented.

Mrs. McKinster outlined some of the advantages of being prepared to handle business in case of death or disaster in the family and a few of the ways of coping in the emergency, as well as services and persons available for help.

They went by way of Carthage, Mo. visiting the Glenn Andrews a couple of days and on into Kentucky, Tennessee and South Carolina where they met the Richardsons at the home of Jerry's parents. After several days visiting there they went home with the Richardsons. They came home on a southerly route, visiting with the Wallace Whites and Alford Pruitts at Biloxi, Miss., and with relatives at Childress.

Others attending the meeting included Mmes E.F. Vogler, Frank Robbins, J.E. Warrick, Annie Springer, Fred Walton, Harlan Barber, Lloyd Shultz, James Bullard, Laura Littrell, Jim Brooks, Dee Taylor, Owen Andrews and Miss Alma Andrews.

ATMOSPHERICS INCORPORATED

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Andrews, Lynette Andrews and Mrs. E.B. Berryman spent the past week with the Wallace Whites at Biloxi, Miss.

Frio Baptist Church was the place where many relatives and friends gathered Thursday afternoon for the funerals of Paul Hathaway and Mike Williams both eight years old, who met tragic death Monday afternoon.

The house was filled with the many who came to share the memorial service with the two families. The Hathaways have been members of the Frio church for several years as they have lived in this area and continued with fellowship here. Lon Conner, pastor, was in charge of the service, with Sam Ogan, former pastor, Doug Manning and Marvin Jeffries also participating.

Visiting the Earl Harkins on Wednesday night were Mr. and Mrs. Lee Bolinger from Sloom Springs, Ark. The Bologers have lived there in recent years, moving from this area.

Facts About Social Security

Have you a question about social security. Address it to Travis C. Briggs, District Manager, Social Security Administration, 217 East Third Street, Amarillo, TX 79101. You will receive an answer in this column or by mail.

Q. My former husband died. We married when quite young and had been married twenty seven years before we were divorced. The divorce did not grant me any support. Can I qualify for any social security on my former husband's work under social security?

A. Yes, you should file an application for benefits at once. The new law provides for monthly benefits for a divorced wife surviving divorced wife if she was married to the worker for twenty years before the divorce whether or not there is any court order or agreement for her support. The former wife must be retirement age of course, which is age 62 for a former wife or age 60 for surviving divorced wife. Surviving divorced wives over 50 may qualify if they meet the disability requirements.

Q. The junior high students I teach are always asking me how to get a social security card. What is necessary for the students to get a social security number?

A. The Social Security Law now requires that a person applying for an original social security card furnish evidence of age, identity, and citizenship or alien status. It is not necessary to furnish this when applying for a replacement or duplicate social security card. A birth certificate or church record of birth or baptism is preferred evidence. If not available other records such as census records, passports, military service papers, school papers, insurance policies, etc., will be sufficient if your age and date of birth and place of birth is shown. Aliens must submit evidence to show their status with the Immigration and Naturalization Service or their Naturalization papers to show they have acquired citizenship.

An important part of the popularity of aluminum is that around the house is that it is by nature a low maintenance material. But aluminum products do become dirty and require occasional cleaning. Because harsh abrasives do more harm than good, the use of them about cleaning aluminum is to use the least strong cleaner that will do the job. The No. 1 cleaner, therefore, is water and that, water and mild aluminum siding is effectively cleaned with a soft brush, a hollow-handled brush, or a soft cloth. Use for washing and make a practice.

Advertising... a vote of confidence in business.

(or how to tell the leaders without a scorecard.)

Recently there has been a lot of talk about upturns, downturns, and sideturns in business and industry.

You ask a man these days how the "outlook" appears to him, and you're liable to get a diagonal reply. Not a straight up-and-down nod. Not even a negative, sideways shake of the head.

Mostly the diagonal approach. It doesn't mean yes, business is going up. It doesn't mean no, it isn't.

The answer you frequently get is we'll wait and see. Inflation and some of the other unrests, you know

So the man and his company pull their horns in.

They wait for someone else to "take the lead," they say: No sense sticking our heads out until the situation "improves" itself.

In other words, sure we'll advertise — or restore our budgets — just as soon as we get more business.

Beautiful.

Everyone hangs around and waits for everything to happen automatically. Hold up. Cut back. Wait. The Prosperity Wagon is right around the corner. And it's going to come to me, old friend, me. Without me going out to get it.

Want to bet?

One thing about this economy of ours has never changed. A lack of confidence in our business system, manifested across business, only, inspires more of the same. With the result that that wagon may be farther down-the block than you think.

Business activity stimulates business.

Advertising helps you get sales.

Companies, agencies and media that advertise should be the ones you do business with, because we suspect you'd rather do business with confident people.

They take the time, trouble and money to inform you — to help you know more — about their products, their services and their markets. They care enough about you to go out of their way to tell you they want to do business with you.

We suspect that when the chips are down, this is how you can tell the real leaders.

They get our vote.

They also should get yours. If for no other reason than they are helping to build business for both of us.

The beauty of nature at Easter is an attribute to the glorious day.

In my garden on Easter Day, the sunrays seem more beautiful.

The fragrance of the pure, white hyacinths, sweet beyond compare.

Easter sunrise creeps o'er the scene, all is quiet and still, even the birds.

As the golden rays of the new day flood the good earth.

May the significance of Easter Day flood your heart and His blessings be yours.

PLAN AND PLANT A PERENNIAL GARDEN

A perennial is a plant which lives at least two years. Most live longer. It is important that much care is used in the selection of the plant stock. If this is done, the perennial garden will be one of the main attractions of your landscaping design.

Once perennials are established, their maintenance is not as much as that of annuals or a lawn. One of the chief features of such a garden is that many border plants can be featured.

Another asset is that perennials have a much longer life than annuals. They are also adaptable to many locations, in which a naturalistic look is desired. Wildflowers (most of them) are perennials, and some of them are excellent material for transplant to a perennial garden. (Requirements of law must be met.)

Many of the most popular perennials are easily adapted to various locations. Some thrive where there is full sunlight while others grow well in partial shade and some do well where there is poor drainage.

A beautiful color-harmony can be created. One color can be featured; complimentary colors are beautiful in plant life; a monochromatic color scheme is most interesting. The latter in yellows, red or blues, with a bit of white for accent makes a striking picture.

Herbs can also be used effectively in the perennial garden. Through form, fragrance, spicy aroma, growth pattern, and color, the desired design can be attained in a picturesque manner.

Study flower catalogues, search books on their care, attractions, etc. Make a list and then decide which selection will be yours. One author stated that she found a list of 144 perennial species while reading and studying her catalogue.

Cacti, tropical jungle plants, conversation species and those which we have grown accustomed to since grandmother's garden appeal, can be adapted for various designs.

The following is a list of popular perennials. For instance, if you wish to plant a bicentennial plot or insignia, depict an item or antique or create a red, blue and white pattern. Dianthus would be a wise selection; they come in red and white and can be used with blue delphinium or bluebell (dark blue) botanical name — Campanula Carpatica.

For a pretty yellow hue, and a good flower for drying, plant Achillea Tomentosa (yarrow), Alyssum Saxatile (Basket of yellow), Centaurea Candidissima (dusty miller), Gaillardia, yellow with brownish-red flowers.

Gypsophila Repens, (Baby-breath) is dainty and lacy, very beautiful to use with arrangements. Phlox Subutata (Moss Pink Creeping mats) comes in many colors and is beautiful in early spring. Lantana (Lamb's ears) is gray, hairy, soft foliage which bears purple flowers in a spike. The foliage is very beautiful, nice for arranging, and for mass effect in plantings.

Artemesia, another plant with gray foliage, has height in its growth pattern. Aguga, a ground cover which bears attractive purple (blue) flowers, comes in two species, one with all green foliage and the other with bronze green foliage.

Iris are available in many colors and varieties. Pampas Grass have for height and movement; plumes are excellent for winter bouquets. Heliotrope, a red-blue clustered flower, can be used with a red planting or will fit into a blue lavender color scheme.

One of the secrets of good gardening is knowledge gained through reading, observation, trial and error. Actually, catalogues, which are free at most nurseries, are equal to garden encyclopedias in themselves.

To have a complete, living garden of interest and information, label and stake (where height merits) your plants. Adequate labels can be made from plastic jugs.

Cut the size on which name can be listed and inscribe name with indelible ink. In time, the plastic will become brittle and break. Later they can be replaced by a more permanent label of metal or wood.

Labels should add attraction to the garden and, if so fashioned and inscribed, will fit nicely into the general effect of the plantings.

GARDEN HINTS: If troubled with cats or dogs, especially in newly prepared soil, sprinkle generously with moth crystals. Usually after one whiff, they leave. Repeat crystals after rain or use of water sprinklers.

A tip for watering the terrarium: use a long-handled tool, pour water onto the tip of the rod and it will follow down and go directly where you want it. This is also handy when transferring liquids from large economy-size bottles to a smaller or spray containers.

For a delightful Easter arrangement, use white or pink hyacinths with forsythia, or fruit tree blossoms. Outline it with grape hyacinths. Center with an Easter Bunny or a select stalk of fragrant white or pink hyacinths.

There are many beautiful spring flowers in Hereford now. One of the pretties the tulips at the C.L. Craig home at 704 Plains. The bright, red color of the early tulips are lovely with the red front door. It has nice color harmony, in keeping with architecture of the home.

Another very striking color harmony is at the Keith Simmer home 203 N. Texas. The bright yellow of the jonquils, exactly harmonize with the yellow trim of attractive colonial style home. It really looks like the colors were carefully matched both by the painter and the Master

TWO WAYS

God gave us day and night, also summer and winter. He gave us a body and spirit, and placed us between life and death and in so doing He gave us the power to choose our course in life and where we shall spend eternity. In this life man travels many ways on many roads to many places, but to eternity there are but two ways. "Enter ye in by the narrow gate, for wide is the gate and broad is the way that leadeth to destruction and many are they that enter in thereby. For narrow is the gate and straitened the way that leadeth unto life and few are they that find it." Matt. 7:13-14. Many ways can be the wrong way but only one way can be the right way. In this life men must choose one of two leaders; either choose God and serve Him, or choose Satan and serve him, because "Ye cannot serve God and mammon." Matt. 6:24. Every person therefore is either right or wrong, good or bad, saint or sinner, saved or lost. We are faced with a choice between two destinies; everlasting bliss for the obedient, or everlasting punishment for the disobedient.

God's way is right and gives eternal life. But "There is a way which seemeth right unto a man but the end thereof are the ways of death." Prov. 16:25. Man's way says faith only will save, God's way says believe or die in your sins. John 8:24. So faith is necessary. Heb. 11:6. But "not faith only." James 2:24. God does require repentance Luke 13:3, but Man's way requires repentance before faith which God says is impossible. Heb. 11:6. Man's way requires various confessions, God's way requires the sinner to confess his faith in Christ, Matt. 10:32; Acts 8:37. Man's way says baptism is not necessary; God's way says "Baptism doth also now save us." I Peter 3:21.

Man's way says that having believed in Christ you cannot be lost; God's way says that you can be lost. Hear the Apostle Paul, "lest that by any means when I have preached to others I myself should be rejected." I Cor. 9:27. Also, God's word says after believing in Christ the Christian must add to his faith: Virtue, Knowledge, Temperance, Patience, Godliness, Brotherly Kindness, and Love. "If you do these things you shall never fall," but he that does not these things is blind and has forgotten that he was once pure and cleansed from his sins; read II Pet. 1:5-9. The Christian must be faithful unto death in order to receive the crown of life, Rev. 2:10. "Choose you this day whom ye will serve," Joshua 24:15. To follow the devil you have but to follow the crowd, but to travel on God's highway you must be clean and holy, Isaiah 35:8. You must obey the gospel of Christ or be destroyed with flaming fire, II Thess. 1:8.

The Lord Jesus said, "He that is not with me is against me; and he that gathereth not with me scattereth." Are you "W-I-T-H" Jesus? If not, all you have to do to be with Him is read His word, believe it, repent of your sins, confess His name before men, be baptized into the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit; and walk newness of life on that way that leads to the new Jerusalem where the street is paved with pure gold. After you have completed your journey on that wonderful road you can rest in peace and happiness with the redeemed of all ages.

gardener. It is excellent therapy to drive around town and see the lovely creations of nature. Forsythia at the R.W. Mitchell home, 305 West Haven, makes the backyard look like a paradise. The motion of the full flowering boughs, gently swaying in the spring breeze, makes one wish for a canvas and artist's skill.

Stockholders To Get Dividend From Santa Fe

The Board of Directors of Santa Fe Industries, Inc. has declared a quarterly dividend of 45 cents per share, being Dividend No. 27, on the Common Stock of the Company, payable June 2, 1975, to stockholders of record at the close of business May 9, 1975.

In commenting on the Board's action, John S. Reed, chairman and chief executive officer, said "The decline in the traffic and earnings of the Santa Fe Railway, the company's major subsidiary, will have a substantial adverse effect on Santa Fe Industries' first quarter results.

Recent trends offer some hope that results of consolidated operations will improve during the balance of 1975."

Cloud Seeding Said Harmful To Buff Lake

CANYON (Spl)—Cloud seeding to stop hail over Hale County, which some county farmers and ranchers have charged has reduced rainfall in Randall County, emerged this week as the possible culprit in the decline of Buffalo Lake, once a favorite area summer fishing and swimming retreat.

The county health officer and the county judge pointed the finger at activities of the Plains Weather Improvement Association of Hart as the reason for the recent water problems at the lake, which has been allowed to dry up after 40 years as a viable fishing and boating resort.

Dr. Dudley Moore, Randall County health officer, in a letter this week to the Texas Water Quality Board asked that the hail suppression activities in the area be eyed as the possible cause of the lack of rainfall on the watershed which empties into Buffalo Lake.

Randall County commissioners Monday passed a resolution requesting the Plains association to defer hail suppression here. County Judge Woody Pond said this week he had talked with area meteorologists about the cloud seeding and believes that efforts to suppress hail have also suppressed rain.

Several south Randall County farmers and ranchers have also voiced strong opposition to the weather modification activities directed at hail suppression in Hale County.

Cornstarch May Stamp Out Some Litterbugs

Corn starch may be the undoing of litterbugs. And while it may not rid the country of all types of litter, it does promise to cut down on the army of plastic polluters.

Agricultural research scientists have found that adding corn starch to standard formulas for polyvinyl chloride and polyvinyl alcohol makes new plastics that are degradable. Most plastics now on the market don't decompose easily, but accumulate in disposal dumps and litter other areas. Some release toxic compounds when burned.

The new plastics have been produced in USDA laboratories, but have not yet been made commercially. Scientists think it's possible to form them into trays, eating utensils, packaging materials, and other disposable items. Another possibility is their use in thin films for mulching vegetable crops. Besides reducing litter pollution, scientists say the corn starch additive can stretch the supplies of petroleum-based raw materials now being used for standard plastics.

Frank Church, Senator (D-Idaho): "I don't think there can be any doubt about the fact that a re-examination of the immediate and long-range future of Social Security is in order."

Texas Bald Eagle Count On The Rise

Texas endangered bald eagle population is holding its own and even increasing somewhat. A survey of eagle nests made in February by Texas Parks and Wildlife Department Wildlife biologist John Smith revealed an additional nesting pair of eagles on the Louisiana border, which brings the statewide total to five pairs of nesting, adult bald eagles.

The five nests contained seven fledgling eagles and, according to Smith, this is the best reproduction of eagles in Texas in the past eight years.

Two nests are located in the Victoria area, and two more in the Houston area, with the new nest found in Orange County.

"In the past," said Smith, "the four old nests were producing only two to four young birds per year."

"We cannot account for the increase in reproduction but an examination of food parts found in the nests indicates that the eagles are changing their diets from fish to birds and small mammals."

"This means that the birds could be taking in less pesticides and could account for more young birds."

Florida leads the nation with 150 nesting pairs of eagles, followed by some 75 pairs in California and then the five to seven pairs in Texas.

This is the third year Parks and Wildlife Department biologists have surveyed eagle nests. The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service paid for some 60 hours of fixed-winged aircraft time in February, which led to the discovery of the Orange County nest.

HHS Volleyball Team Wins District Title

The Hereford High School Volleyball team became the first sports team to win the district title this season as the girls defeated Plainview in the district finale Tuesday night.

Coach Helen Reed's team ended the district schedule with an unblemished 2-0 record, beating Plainview in two matches. The District 4-AAAA championship was won with the 15-8, 15-2 defeat of Plainview Tuesday night. The Herd had earlier defeated the Bulldogs 15-4, 15-5.

With only two teams in the district, Hereford and Plainview, the district title was a snap for the more experienced Hereford girls. Plainview is in its first year in the volleyball program. None of the Lubbock schools have instituted the girls sport as yet.

The date and time of the bi-district game between Hereford and the winner of 3-AAAA has yet to be decided, but Coach Reed speculated that it might be April 7 or 8. Since the Amarillo district has four teams in it, the district championship takes longer to decide. A playoff game may be in order to decide that championship, forcing the bi-district game to be scheduled later. Coach Reed's team will be in at least a two-week layoff from competition.

The idle time could prove to be advantageous to the Herd, though. Spiker Janette Schlabs became ill with strep throat after Tuesday night's game. The two week period might insure her return to the squad.

DAN WELTY

WHEN WE STARTED this column almost a year ago, we set out to make a few remarks, try to get a chuckle or two and make some intelligent comments. All good things must come to an end, though.

This will probably be the last time yours truly will appear here. We're staying with the Hereford Brand, but moving from the sports desk to the advertising side.

A big thanks to all the coaches and other contributors who lived through early Saturday morning phone calls and other hassles we've been through to put the sports page out.

Sports will continue in Hereford, though, and the Brand will be there covering them, you can be sure.

AFTER A 65 SEASON last year, WTSU's Buffaloes may be more of a team this season than they have in recent years past. Which no doubt will help their season ticket sales no end.

Spring drills for the Buffs get underway April 3 and run for a month. The spring game will be played at 7:30 p.m. May 3 in Kimbrough Memorial Stadium.

Besides adding two new opponents to the Buff schedule (McNeese State of Lake Charles, La. and Northeastern Louisiana of Monroe, La.), the Buffs will be looking at a squad of 36 lettermen and 12 starters returning from last year.

According to an article in The Prairie, WT's newsheet, the Buffs will be working the Wishbone-T again. Tully Blanchard, junior quarterback, will lead the attack to give the team a strong passing attack to balance the ground game.

Defensively, the Buffs will stick with the 4-3, but new defensive coordinator Jim Crossland (recently with the WFL Chicago Fire) will try some new twists on the old standby defense.

The Prairie lists experience both offensively and defensively as strengths for the Buffs this year. Three starters in the offensive line, Blanchard at quarterback and halfbacks Richard Riggins and Eddie Richardson will give the Buff offense experience. Added talents include Bruce Wyre, a tremendous place-kicker, and punter John Paul Lee.

Three of the four down linemen on defense will be back from last year, but then you start running into the team's weaknesses. Graduation got the linebackers and cornerbacks from the Buffs. And receivers will be an open spot on offense.

All in all, it looks like Gene Mayfield may have finally got his program on the road (after three dry years) and the home games this season should be events you won't want to miss.

MOTOCROSS SEASON is back into swing with the advent of a little bit of warm weather. Steve Kirkpatrick was first in the 125 cc novice class at Amarillo last weekend, while Kenneth Hicks won the micromini class and second in the miniman at Clovis.

We're now ready to turn our thoughts, once again, to a good old springtime.

Although snow and hard winds blew in Hereford Friday, the District 4-AAAA golf tour played 18 holes at Lubbock's Meadowbrook Course where there was no snow, but temperatures and chilling winds.

A struggle for the lead in district is a battle over one point between Monterey and Plainview. Hereford's golf team remained in sixth place after the fourth week of the tour. The fifth week will find the teams at Plainview next Friday and district competition will wrap up at Hereford's John Douglas Pitman course in two weeks.

Hereford is 98 strokes out of the lead, held by Monterey at 1,254. Monterey's team total for Friday's round was 314.

Plainview turned in a 313 to move within one point of the Plainsmen at 1,253.

The Coronado junior varsity held on to third place with a 335 for the day, a season total of 1,276. Coronado's varsity is next at 1,320 after a 336, while Lubbock High is fifth at 1,347 after a 338.

Hereford turned in a 352 for Friday, running the season total to 1,352. Plainview's junior varsity follows at 1,427 after a 365, Lubbock's junior varsity was next at 1,440 after at 351 and the Herd jayvees were ninth after a 384 at 1,505.

The Monterey junior varsity was disqualified from district competition after turning in only three scores for Friday's round. Curtis Stoerner dropped in the medalist standings after carding an 82. He now stands in sixth place with a season total of 316. Chad Williams of Plainview has sole possession of medalist with a six stroke lead over the nearest competitor, Monterey's Jeff Reynolds. Williams shot a 76 Friday and stands at 301 while Reynolds turned in a 73 and stands at 307. Individual scores for the Herd: Curtis Stoerner, 82; George Yocum, 86; Billy Word, 87; Greg Pagett, 97; Kelly Lea 107; Mark Fowler, 90; Don Shaw, 95; Dour Walterscheid, 98; Tony Albracht, 96; Blake Allen, 101; and Randall Herr 101.

TP&WD Surveys Area Waterfowl

Grainfields in the Texas Panhandle are the wintering home for some 1,555,985 ducks and geese according to an aerial survey recently completed by biologist David Dvorak of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. Dvorak and TP&WD pilot Gene Van Meter took to the air and scanned the Panhandle from the Oklahoma border south to the Lubbock area as part of a survey conducted each winter to get an indication of the duck and goose population in that part of the state.

They counted approximately 47,125 mallards, 845,500 pintails, 121,850 widgeons, 93,575 greenwing teal, 36,140 Canada geese, 750 snow geese and another 745 "miscellaneous" waterfowl such as canvasback ducks and the like.

"Most of the waterfowl we spotted," said Dvorak, "were south of Interstate 45 and in the western part of the Panhandle. The birds were gathered in grain fields and geese were especially attracted to fields of winter wheat."

Dvorak said that the weekend's cold weather probably moved some of the birds from frozen playa lakes to larger, more open bodies of water like Lake Meredith and Greenbelt Reservoir.

The relatively low number of geese, especially snows, indicates that the larger waterfowl move straight through to the Texas coast with few birds lingering in the High Plains.

An estimated 10,000 ring-necked pheasants were taken during the brief season by approximately 19,000 hunters.

Stanton Freshmen Win First at Plainview

The Stanton Junior High track teams competed in Plainview this past weekend, with the freshman team winning first place, the eighth-grade team winning third and the seventh-grade team winning second.

The freshmen won their division in the invitational meet with 153 points, followed by the Canyon Purple at 138 points and Plainview Coronado at 113 points. The eighth-grade team scored 85½ points for third place. Plainview Estacado won the division with 97½ points while Plainview Coronado placed second. The seventh-grade team was second with 85½ points behind first-place Canyon with 114 points.

Stanton's freshman 440-yard relay team placed second with a time of 47.2. Canyon took first place. Team members for Stanton were Kelly Kitchens, James McDowell, Leonard Galvan and Greg Hennington.

The mile relay team turned in a time of 3:44.8 to claim first place in the freshman division. Donald Johnson, Galvan, Freddy Valdez and McDowell ran the race.

Frank Madrigal placed first in the 880-yard run with a time of 2:07, a time Coach Cuby Kitchens said was good for a freshman. Joe Barientez placed fourth with a 2:12.2. Albert Del Toro was fifth with a 2:14.7.

McDowell ran the 100-yard dash in 11.2 to take a fourth place while Hennington took fifth at 11.7.

Galvan placed fifth in the 440-yard run with a 58.5 time. Kelly Kitchens placed second in the 330-yard intermediate hurdles, timed at 45.8, while Barientez placed fourth with a 46.5.

Quit Mendoza ran a 5:05 to take first place in the mile.

In field events, the freshmen won three first places. Bobby Mijia was first in the shot with a throw of 46'11". Kelly Kitchens placed first in the discus with a throw of 14 and placed first in the pole vault with a jump of 12'.

Hennington placed second in the broad jump with a leap of 18'6" and was fourth in the pole vault. Albert Del Toro was second in the high jump and second in the pole vault.

The team was off the Easter weekend, but plans are being made to send the teams to Clovis next weekend.

Red Sox The Mystery Team Of A.L. Eastern Division In 1975

sports exclusive

WINTER HAVEN, FLA.—The Boston Red Sox, who led the tough eastern division of the American League most of last season, are a mystery team this year. They have lost, until June, their fine, young catcher, Carlton Fisk.

Fisk's career seems to epitomize the fate of the Sox. He was badly hurt last season and the Sox might have otherwise finished first. In a game here in early March Detroit pitcher Fred Holdsworth broke Fisk's arm, accidentally.

Bill Crowley, one of the top public relations men in Major League ball, and for years the able voice of the Red Sox with the media, makes the best of it: "Fisk says he wasn't quite ready yet with the leg, so that this extra time he gets for the arm recovery will allow him to come back fully ready with leg and arm."

But the ace catcher is out for perhaps two months of the season; that will hurt. The Red Sox pitching staff is a puzzle. Rick Wise has been treated again in recent days for arm trouble. He remains a question.

Reggie Cleveland looks good. Louis Tiant, the ace, is 35 this year. How many more years can he keep going? One of the rookie hurlers who looks good is Dick Kreuger, a tall lefthander who pitched last year for Pawtucket—and who boasted only a so-so record (6-8) there. Bill Lee is counted on and a must. If Roger Moret and Diego Segui improve their records things will look up.

The Sox are high on Fredric Lynn, who came up to Boston late last year and socked the ball at a .419 clip in fifteen games playing the outfield.

Crowley says 1974 was a curious year: "We all stopped hitting at the same time; in late August it looked like we were in a very good position. This year, with Fisk again hurt, the pitchers will have to carry us at the start."

"If the pitching's good, we'll be all right, and we might surprise a lot of people after that disappointing finish last year. The outfield is strong; there may be some ifs about second and third, among some, but we're set at third and first" (Rico Petrocelli and Carl Yastrzemski).

Intramurals In Full Swing

With several events already completed, many students have shown their outstanding ability in this year's intramural program.

Basketball, which finished a few weeks ago, was a big success in the program.

Winning first place in the boys division with a perfect record, were the Integrators. Members of the team are Mario Games, Harvey Torres, Robert Scott, Dennis Evans, Mike Crim, Don Simon, and Bill Blasingame.

The second place team was the Underdogs, with third place ending in a tie between the Dedication Association and the Freaky Squaky Mechanical Men.

In the girls division the first place team was the Dirty Diapers. Members of this team are Susanne Duvall, Tami Lawson, Rennee Payne, Jeannie Marquez, Shirley Wheeler, Elaine Albright, and Shelby Austin. The second place team was the Players, with the Chimp Champ Champions winning third, and the Soul Patrol taking fourth.

Another event which has been completed is badminton singles. Winning in the boys division were Roger Bradley taking first, Greg Koenig with second, and Hank Stringer winning third.

In the girls division Susanne Duvall won first, Shelby Austin was second and Diana Valdez took third.

Handball doubles, which was only for boys, were finished this past week. Taking first in this event was Greg Koenig and Mike Munnerlyn, second place went to Jerry Koenig and Rowan Alexander, Barry Muller and Steve Cornelius won third.

With these events finished more to program before the holidays. These were table tennis doubles, badminton doubles, and horse shoe doubles. Applications for tennis doubles will be accepted by Coach Tibb after the holiday break.

Campers Face Fire Hazards

In these early days of spring, a sudden drop in temperature or rain burst can tempt campers into making a fatal mistake, according to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials.

The mistake is a perfectly natural one — to rush into the tent to try to stay warm. The hazard is fire. A lantern or stove in a tent for heat can turn it into an inferno in seconds.

Unfortunately, according to officials, most tents are neither flame resistant nor flame retardant. In fact, most tents are dangerous since the substances used for waterproofing are highly flammable.

One spark from a lantern or stove or an ember from a campfire or cigarette can surround the occupants of a tent with flame so fast they can't escape.

The result can be death or horrible disfigurement.

HARD TIMES

ERIE, PA.—Donald Schlopy has offered to sell one of his eyes for transplant. He says he is out of work, has three children to raise alone, wants to pay his debts, and needs a used house trailer to live in.

According to officials, tents made of thick, heavy-gauge canvas are safer than the more convenient lightweight tents, but even heavy tents will burn quickly unless they are made to retard flame.

Some lightweight 'play tents' that children use for backyard camping can virtually explode when ignited. A five-by-seven-foot, two-man pup tent collapsed in flames 22 seconds after it was ignited during one test.

What do you do when your tent catches fire? The normal reaction would be to back away from the flames, but this would be a fatal error, according to officials.

Don't hesitate. Break out of the tent through the flames, where the fabric is weakened. You might get singed, but that's better than being scorched while you fiddle with the zipper.

The following rules will help in preventing fires in your tent. Keep live flames out of tents. This may mean lighting your lantern outside in the wind, but the precaution is worth it.

Candles, open stoves and gas heaters are extremely dangerous and should be kept out of your tent.

Use flashlights or the new fluorescent camp lights for illumination.

Never cook inside your tent.

The problem of how to stay warm in a tent can be frustrating. Added to the possibility of fire is the danger of asphyxiation.

If you want to heat your tent, the catalytic heaters are considered safe "when used as directed," but light these outside the tent. There is always a danger of fire when any flammable fuel is used.

The safest product for providing warmth for a few hours is still the old-fashioned hot-water bottle.

If you're buying your first tent, or replacing a wornout one, make sure your new tent is flame retardant. Look for the sewn-on label that says, "Flame Retardant."

Any tent which doesn't have that label attached can be completely destroyed by fire in a matter of seconds. Flame retardant doesn't mean fire-proof. It just means that tent won't burn as fast as others.

boost, after a year out of action. If he and Jack Billingham are right and Tom Hall and Carroll repeat their fireman heroics, the Red Sox staff will be better.

Surprisingly, Johnny Bench is booed even in Tampa exhibition games—by a vocal minority. It's odd to see players that good given the razz. Of course, he batted in only 129 runs last season.

One of the most valuable discoveries about so-called big men is that under the skin they are just ordinary little men.

TEXAS TALK

Q: As far as feed and feed grains are concerned, what are the differences between concentrates and roughages?

A: Fiber content and the amount of nutrient which is digestible by the animal are the basic criteria for separating these classes.

CONCENTRATES—are feeds generally high in nutrients and low in fiber content. Virtually all grains are in this class, as well as several by-products including linseed meal, cottonseed meal, hominy feed and wheat bran. Many of the concentrates have a high protein content, although this is not a prerequisite of the class.

ROUGHAGES—are high in fiber and low in nutrients. Feeds other than the grains are generally classed as roughage. These include: straw, silage, hay and a variety of coarse by-products of the plants utilized in feed grain production.

The Lieutenant Governor's Report

By Bill Hobby

AUSTIN—On April 22, Texas voters will be asked their opinions on two proposed Constitutional Amendments. In this week's report I shall discuss the first of these two proposals.

The proposed Constitutional Amendment Number 1 on the ballot concerns consolidating virtually all constitutional provisions about state and local retirement systems in one section of our state charter.

More importantly, the amendment also would lift the ceiling on the amount the state can contribute to retirement systems from six percent to 10 percent of the employee's total compensation.

In addition, should an emergency exist, the Legislature could appropriate additional money to these retirement systems should it be deemed necessary.

In conjunction with this amendment, Senate Bill 56 has been passed by this Legislature, providing a 12 percent increase in retirement benefits for government workers already retired.

This increase would become effective permanently only if Amendment 1 is approved on April 22.

The bill also appropriates $21.8 million to the Retirement Annuity Reserve Fund to cover the benefit increases. It, too, is contingent upon approval of the amendment.

Under this amendment, the boards of trustees of each retirement system would be given broader investment authority. However, the Legislature could restrict this discretion.

Proponents of the amendment argue that this broader investment power—with its safeguards—make it possible for retirement system managers to get higher returns on their investments, thus insuring the financial soundness of these programs.

Those who favor the amendment also point out that our current inflationary spiral most affects those on fixed incomes. By raising the state's contribution and granting a 12 percent increase to current retirees, the state would give relief to those already retired and provide for a sound fiscal foundation for future retirees.

Opponents of the amendment argue that government costs must be trimmed if inflation is to be stopped. They contend that increasing the state's contribution from a maximum of six to 10 percent would merely add to this inflation.

The Texas Legislative Council, of which I am chairman, has prepared a pamphlet discussing in detail both proposed amendments. You can get a copy by writing the Council at Box 12128, Capitol Station, Austin 78711.

I hope all Texas voters will take the time to acquaint themselves with these issues and cast their vote on April 22.

Next week, I will report on the second of these two proposed amendments.

According to the Department of Agriculture, the much publicized plans of farmers to withhold acreage from planting aren't going to materialize. The reason is the higher cost of farming. The crucial crops are wheat and feed grains, considered the key to food prices. Latest Agriculture Dept. figures show farmers planting 3 per cent more wheat this year than last, and last year's 1.8 billion bushel wheat harvest was an all-time record.

The possibility of increased government price support is encouraging Agriculture Dept. experts to begin expecting a large 1975 and 1976 carryover of wheat stocks, depleted by the Russian purchases in 1972.

Corn plantings are down slightly but farmers are planting more sorghum and barley while planting about the same amount of oats as last year.

Cotton plantings will be down 29 per cent from last year. Sugar-beet plantings will be up 23 per cent. Some of the cotton farmers who are cutting back on cotton will be planting soybeans, so soybean production should be up about 6 per cent.

This last Agriculture Dept. survey was completed about March 1st, before the House took action on the farm bill which would raise support levels for major crops. If market prices fall below the target prices, the government makes up the difference to producers in deficiency payments. The Administration is against higher support levels, but a compromise will probably be reached. This would encourage farmers to stick with their planting intentions.

Agriculture Dept. spokesmen say they don't think the impact on consumer prices will be major, because the 1975 crop will be about equal to 1974's. However, Agriculture experts aren't taking into account the middleman's profit margins which were squeezed last year, but which are now being restored to their normal 50 per cent in the market place.

Do you know what sidereal time is?

Sidereal time, of which we hear little, is an accurate measurement of time. It's the measurement of time derived from observation of the meridian transits of the stars and differs slightly from solar time.

The mean sidereal day, for example is only 23 hours, 56 minutes and 4.09 seconds. The time required for the earth to make one complete revolution around the sun is the sidereal year.

The sidereal year is 365 days, 6 hours, 9 minutes and 9.5 seconds. Every fourth year, as the reader probably knows, the extra hours—over and above the 365 days, are combined into an added day—in Leap Year. But the effect of this small time divergence has no noticeable bearing on our weather.

State Spending Might Bring Tax Legislation

Austin—Comptroller Bob Bullock has issued a revised revenue forecast showing that legislative spending since January has cut deeply into the state's surplus and that the question of a tax bill may be here today and not gone tomorrow.

"It's as close as bark on a tree," Bullock said of the likelihood of a tax bill. "It rests solely on the priorities the Legislature sets in the next 60 days."

Bullock's revised estimate shows a drop of $312.2 million, leaving $3.7 billion the state can expect to be available for the 1976-77 budget.

The new estimate shows the state's surplus will be $750.6 million at the end of this budget year on Aug. 31, $248.8 million since January because of emergency spending bills passed by the Legislature.

"The day of the billion dollar surplus is gone and the day of the 'no-new-tax' talk is fading fast, especially if we are serious about school finance reform," Bullock said.

He pointed out that with the 3.7 billion available, there would be a safety margin of only $100 million if the Legislature adopted recommendations of the Legislative Budget Board, which does nothing about school finance but does include a $300 million piggy bank reserve available for school finance—a figure some experts say won't do the job—and probably insure a tax bill in 1977.

Bullock said that adoption of full requests from all state agencies—many of which, he said, "are as fully justified as our own"—would mean a $900 million tax bill this session and still estimate, Texas has been fortunate, but good fortune most often depends on good judgment," Bullock said.

Bullock's updated estimate is the first time a Comptroller has given the Legislature a revised forecast during the session. He also promised to make another estimate as the Legislature finalizes its budget work.

The new estimate points out that the Legislature already has approved a special appropriations bill totaling $165.2 million and set aside another $120 million for state employee and teacher retirement increases to be voted on as constitutional amendments April 22. Another $65 million was earmarked in Bullock's estimate for increased medical assistance spending on advice of the Welfare Department.

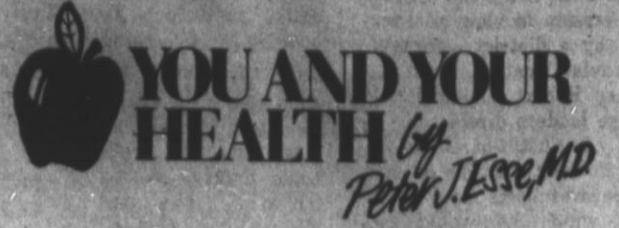

In the tax picture Bullock estimated an overall gain of $38 million above his January forecast, with increases in oil production taxes, cigarette taxes and inheritance taxes, plus picking up an additional $47 million on investments of the surplus. On the downside Bullock forecast declines from his January figures for income from taxes—natural gas, special fuels, sales, franchise and liquor.

The largest decrease he projected is $41 million in natural gas production taxes because of that he called an alarming decrease in producing in recent months.

On the sales tax, an indicator of inflation, Bullock projected a continued climb through 1975, a cooling off in 1976 and a stabilizing in 1977 as actual dollar collections continue to increase but the rate of increase drops.

CHECK FOR HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Dear Dr. Jesse: A skiing trip may have saved my husband's life.

He broke his ankle on his first trip down the slope. Frankly, he wasn't prepared for it. He took no lessons. He got too frisky for a man who is 47.

This made him visit a doctor for the first time in many years. While he was there, the doctor took his blood pressure. It was over 200.

Now, he's on medicines for it. Since he has a bad family history of heart attacks and strokes, I consider that the accident may very well have prolonged my husband's life.

Besides, he's too fat. He smokes too much. Always takes too much salt with his food. All this is now under control. I'm thankful. — Mrs. F.

REPLY: I've called high blood pressure one of the sneaky diseases. Let's elevate it to "insidious." A good definition of the word is: crafty, tricky, treacherous, working secretly or subtly.

As in your husband's case, Mrs. F., that's how it can work. From what you tell me there were no warning symptoms such as severe headaches, dizziness, or anything else. In fact he had enough ambition and energy to go on a skiing expedition.

So we keep telling everybody: High blood pressure often gives no warnings at all. People ask what is the best way to prevent heart attacks and strokes. It's evident that one of the surest ways to do so is to recognize hypertension (high blood pressure) early—as this is one of the greatest threats against our arteries.

Years ago all we could do would be to tell your husband to cut down on his salt intake, get down to normal weight and quit smoking. This is still good advice. It can lower high blood pressure somewhat.

But what we really are thankful for in treating this disease are newer drugs that are quite effective in lowering pressure. I hope your husband cooperates.

REPLY TO MR. H.: One way of trying to fight the increased incidence of gonorrhea is to keep warning people that it is on the increase. In spite of antibiotics, at least two million new cases were contracted during 1970 alone.

Here, too, the answer is prevention and early diagnosis. In most (but not all) men the symptoms are evident: burning on urination and discharge. In women, gonorrhea may be present without any symptoms whatever.

For this reason, one way to prevent innocent spread of the disease is for them to have routine examinations to make sure it is not present.

REPLY TO MRS. D.: I doubt that your husband's moderate drinking has anything to do with his retinal detachment. Sometimes it is due to disease; sometimes to injury, and sometimes it seems spontaneous without any demonstrable cause.

Treatment consists in early diagnosis, and sealing the detached part of the retina to the inner surface of the eyeball. Sometimes the laser beam is used to help restore the retina.

by Lyndell Williams

AUSTIN—Legislators are getting nervous over new reform laws which restrict their political fund-raising.

House Speaker Bill Clayton has advised representatives to postpone their efforts to retire campaign debts until after the legislative session in view of warnings by a district attorney.

Travis County District Attorney Robert O. Smith told House leaders direct solicitation of Austin-based lobbyists for contributions to campaign war chests is a violation which he would feel called on to take before a grand jury.

The issue came to Smith's attention when a Texas Civil Liberties Union official, who is a registered lobbyist, complained that he had been solicited for a contribution to a representative's fund-raising reception in Dallas.

A provision of the new penal code makes it an offense for a legislator to solicit any benefit from a person known to have an interest in legislation. There are less-strict interpretations than the one by Smith, but the district attorney is the one lawmakers feel they must stay on the right side of.

Serious attention is being given to amending some of the laws passed in 1973—particularly the penal code provisions which cast a legal cloud on a lawmaker's accepting a "benefit" from a person who has an interest in "any matter before the legislature or contemplated" by the legislature.

LOSS REPORTED

A Texas Education Agency indicates students lost more than 2.4 million in tuition refunds they should have received from 19 proprietary schools.

When a student quits, he is supposed to get back the unused portion of his tuition within 30 days.

Woodrow W. Bean of El Paso, State Board of Education member, called on Gov. Dolph Briscoe and Atty. Gen. John Hill for a complete audit of all Texas Education Agency financial transactions during the last four years.

Bean charged refund losses may be as much as $5 million to $8 million. He also claimed (while admitting he could not confirm) that about $106 million in public funds administered by TEA has been "misused, misapplied or otherwise lost somewhere."

SMOKE BAN VOTED

Smoking in public places could bring a stiff fine under a bill just passed by the Texas Senate and sent to the House.

The ban covers elevators, theaters, movie houses, libraries, museums, hospitals, school facilities, intrastate buses, planes or trains—except in specifically designated areas.

SCHOOLS CRITICIZED

Some public schools and junior colleges have been criticized by House members for allegedly using emergency funds to raise teachers' pay, make investments and pave parking lots.

Rep. Tom Massey of San Angelo, House Education Committee chairman, said a special report is being compiled on the "abuse."

Rep. Fred Head of Troup proposed to repeal an $18 million emergency grant to meet junior college enrollment increases.

COURTS SPEAK

The State Supreme Court again upheld constitutionality of a law permitting legislator-lawyers to delay trials in which they represent clients. The Court said the continuance provision may not be used if only enforcement of prior court orders are involved, however.

The Court of Criminal Appeals reversed a negligent homicide conviction of a Hillsboro man because the jury assessed an improper punishment of two years in jail.

Third Court of Civil Appeals upheld power of the State Finance Commission to prohibit savings and loan associations from offering premiums to lure new accounts.

In an order applauded by the Attorney General as the beginning of a statewide enforcement effort, a Bexar County district judge granted an injunction to prohibit air pollution by a rendering plant.

AG OPINIONS

Attorney General Hill warned legislators they may be overstepping the law by accepting speech-making honorariums from groups interested in legislation.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

- The open meetings law applies to hospital authorities created by city ordinance.

- Texas Coastal and Marine Council has no authority to supplement the legislatively-determined salary of its executive director.

- Port of Houston Authority may appoint and employ peace officers, and the officers may carry handguns while on duty.

- Proposed annexation of school district territory must be approved by a majority of trustees in the receiving district.

- Kidney Health Care Act benefits may not be denied to aliens.

APPOINTMENTS

Edward P. Halbert of San Augustine was reappointed to Texas Animal Health Commission by Governor Briscoe.

Briscoe also named Mrs. Naomi Andrews of Houston, B. DuBois Brown of San Antonio and Dr. John B. Coleman of Houston to the board of regents of Texas Southern University.

Attorney General Hill appointed W. J. Murdaugh Jr. chief of his bonds and charitable trusts division, succeeding Mike Willatt who resigned to enter private law practice in Austin.

Dr. Phyllis Procter has been appointed manager of research and program development for Texas Industrial Commission.

SHORT SNORTS

Texas' traffic death toll for 1974 was 3,046, representing a saving of 646 lives from the record 3,692 highway deaths of 1973.

Campfire Girls and Boy Scouts can sell their candy and cookies without paying sales taxes under a bill passed by the Senate.

Claudia Brummett of Alvarado, Alicia Chacon of El Paso and Lem Allen of Kingsbury are new Texas members of the National Democratic Committee.

The House reversed ground and rejected a bill requiring the state to pay 100 per cent of right-of-way buying for U.S. and state highways.

Sinking of 12 ships for artificial fishing reefs at four locations along the Texas coast has been approved as a Texas Coastal and Marine Council project.

Rebates helped the sales of new cars.

'Texas' Musical To Entertain Audiences

The sounds of "Texas", Paul Green's Musical Drama of Panhandle History, will roll through the crags of the Palo Duro Canyon for the 10th season, from June 18 through August 23.

Echoing from the great cliffs behind the stage, the bugles, the hymns, the banjos and guitars, the songs of celebration and sorrow, the cry of the wolf and the roar of a train, the words of warning and waiting, the shots of 45's and rifles, the thundering crashes of storms swirl around the listeners, creating the story of the 1880's. The theatre where "Texas" plays lies in the magnificent Palo Duro Canyon near Amarillo and Canyon, Texas — the crossroads of six interstate highways and four airlines.

This drama, one of Paul Green's great declarations of faith in America, has been celebrating the strengths and struggles of this country ever since the summer of 1966. At the end of the 9th season, 677,472 people have seen "Texas". A company of 140 including a cast of 80 actors, singers and dancers tells the story and the sound of their words and songs carries to the farthest corner of the theatre.

In the last century, the settlers on the plains faced many battles with the elements. The sounds of these surges of nature are added to the show by sensitive and powerful sound equipment which reproduces the winds and the rains and the crackling of the prairie fires.

Fine lighting instruments, gay costumes and the movement of lights on the cliff supplement the sound and an evening at "Texas" leaves an impact to be remembered.

Everyone in the audience will feel and hear this sound — almost seems to be inside of it.

To have this experience, come to "Texas". For tickets and information, write to "Texas", Box 268, Canyon, Texas 79015 or call 806-655-2182.

Officers Installed For Senior Citizens

County Judge Sam Morgan installed a slate of officers for the newly-organized Senior Citizens of Hereford Thursday at a supper part in Community Center.

To serve terms are Mrs. Leona Seavey, president; Harold Hersley, first vice president; J.T. Guinn, second vice president; Mrs. B.M. Wiltshire, secretary; Mrs. J.T. Guinn, treasurer; Mrs. C.E. Leasure Sr., publicity chairman; Carol's Vaughn, parliamentarian.

The next meeting of local Senior Citizens will be at 7:30 p.m. April 10 in Community Center.

Installed as committee chairmen were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Newell, membership; Dr. and Mrs. Wiltshire, Mr. and Mrs. Haskel Benson and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hargrove, recreation and entertainment.

During the ceremony, Judge Morgan compared the SCH organization to a wagon train, citing roles of the wagon master, scout, bookkeeper, roadbuilder and fellow travelers. He explained that senior citizens still have a pioneering job to preserve their heritage for posterity.

He said that senior citizens do not want to live in the past, but want to fill constructive positions in the current society. Judge and Mrs. Morgan were welcomed as new members by the 22 individuals present.

Professor: "Didn't you have a brother in this course last year?"

Student: "No sir; it was I. I'm taking it over again."

Professor: "Extraordinary resemblance, though—extraordinary!"

HOW'S The Electric Company DOING?

Let's ask Sharon McDuffee, meter reader . . .

"Sharon, that looks like a complex piece of equipment there..."

"Yes, it is. It's accurate and dependable, but it costs money."

"Seven years ago, it cost $15.18 and now it costs $18.30, over 20% more. And that meter is just one of the things we use to serve a home."

That's part of the reason your electric bill may be higher these days . . . our equipment costs more, and to give you good service, we have to buy new things to replace the old . . . to keep your electric service dependable.

Comings And Goings At King's Manor

By FAY GAUGGEL
King's Manor Reporter

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Fields of Shamrock, spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. H.T. Fields.

From Petersburg First United Methodist today came some friends to King's Manor. Mrs. Winston Watkins brought her seven students of Vocational Health Education. Also accompanying her was Mrs. Melody Pinkner.

They brought large quantities of materials for our arts and crafts department. They were shown over the campus and had lunch here.

C.R. Cross Jr. and wife, Betty, and granddaughter Jennifer visited his mother, Alma Cross at the Manor March 18. Alma went with them to Memphis, Texas next day to visit the Herman Crosses there. Returning on Friday, the C.R. Crosses and Jennifer had lunch with us here then were on their way home.

That personable Jennifer! A little on the shy side, she soon loosened up and flitted through our halls like James Barrie's "Tinker Bell." No difficulty in memorizing her name.

She completely captivated all our rusty old hearts and carried them back home to Anaheim, Calif. Please, please bring them back to us Jennifer. We miss you!

Mrs. Don Davidson flew to Dallas in route to Waco to attend the funeral of a cousin and to be with her sister Mrs. Eunice Copeland, mother of the deceased. Mrs. Davidson will return by Dallas bringing her daughter and family for a visit here.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Flynt of Tulsa were visitors of Mrs. Irene Flynt of Westgate and Miss Avis Thompson of King's Manor on Sunday.

Miss Thompson spent part of last week visiting in Childress with cousins Mr. and Mrs. J.A. Steed.

On Thursday afternoon, March 20, two music classes from Stanton Junior High School sang at King's Manor under direction of Douglas Morris with Mrs. Frances Parker accompanying.

It was two-part singing in general. Following is the program:

1. Desert Melody (a lullabye to cattle). Several numbers had the patriotic motif so popular now because of the up-coming national Bicentennial.

2. Irish song of Pat working on the railroad here in 1842.

3. From "Land of Hope and Glory" the ever popular march called "Pomp and Circumstance."

4. Highlight of excellence was from the Finnish composer Jean Sibelius, "Finlandia."

5. Folk song "I'd Like to Run 1000 miles away."

6. "Viva La Mour" probably "Long Live Love."

7. "My Wild Irish Rose."

8. "Oh God our Help in Ages Past." This hymn adapted to young men whose voices are changing. Thus done in three parts.

9. "The Yellow Rose of Texas."

Mr. Morris' sensitive hands and consistent movements leave no doubt in minds of the students, as to what he wishes them to do and Mrs. Parker has the happy combination of anticipating correctly and following.

We had two parents of youngsters visiting who were introduced as Mrs. Goodfellow and Mr. Warrick.

We issue a standing invitation to this group to come again.

Mrs. Ruby Lena DeMent and Mrs. Hazel Ehresman of Plainview were guests of Emma Jean Spith on Palm Sunday.

Auten Is Awarded Degree Piano Fund Hits Goal

Major Jimmie D. Auten, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim H. Auten of 700 N. Miles, recently received his Master of Arts degree from Webster College of St. Louis, Mo.

Majoring in management, Major Auten is stationed at Scott Air Force Base with his wife, the former Judy Kiker, and three sons, James, Jonathan and Jason.

He is a 1956 graduate of Hereford High School and received his Bachelor degree from Texas Tech University in 1960. He joined the U.S. Air Force that same year.

Piano Fund Hits Goal

In advance of the Fine Arts Festival April 12-13, a piano has been purchased and delivered to the Heritage Room, Deaf Smith County Library.

Valued at $1,145, the Kohler and Campbell studio piano is varnished with a walnut finish and was bought from an Amarillo firm. The instrument was funded by contributions from various local individuals and organizations in a drive launched by La Plata Study Club. Campaign chairman was Mrs. Major Schroeter.

She stated, "Through the cooperative spirit of this community, a beautiful piano has been obtained to enhance local programs, such as the Fine Arts Festival."

La Plata Study Club wishes to extend gratitude to all those who made purchase of the instrument possible. The transaction was categorized as a county purchase and received approval of county commissioners and County Judge Sam Morgan.

Sounds of Success

Mrs. Major Schroeter breaks in the new studio piano bought this week for Deaf Smith County Library as Gwen London, main librarian, audits the rehearsal. The instrument was purchased with donation funds collected by La Plata Study Club. Mrs. Schroeter was chairman of the project.

Santa Fe Railroad Reports Record Revenues, Net Income

For the third consecutive year Santa Fe Industries, Inc. set new records for revenues and net income. John S. Reed, chairman and chief executive officer, reported to stockholders in the company's 1974 annual report.

As previously announced, revenues of $1.4 billion exceeded the previous high of $1.2 billion established in 1973. Net income rose 17 per cent to $120.1 million, or $4.67 a share from $102.8 million, or $4.01 a share in the previous year. Reed said there was little to suggest that 1975 results will follow the growth achieved in the past three years. Carloads handled by the railroad in the last quarter of 1974 declined approximately 8 per cent compared with those of the 1973 period, and the downward trend has accelerated in the early weeks of 1975 into one of the most precipitous business declines in many years. The decline in railroad activity is a general trend throughout the railroad industry reflecting the depressed state of the national economy. This is expected to have a substantial adverse effect on Santa Fe's first quarter results. "Because the movement of farm products is so important to Santa Fe, the impact of business recession may be softened during the remainder of the year," Reed said. Prospects for the 1975 wheat crop in Santa Fe territory appear to be better than last year, and it may be the second largest crop in history.

The company's 1974 capital expenditure of $233.7 million was a record, and included expenditures of $152.2 million for railway property and equipment. "Maintenance has not been deferred on the Santa Fe and the property is in excellent physical condition," Reed stressed.

An Informed Vote

Next week Hereford voters will select some people to help guide and supervise the operation of our schools and our city government.

We believe it is important for voters to remember that these representatives will become a part of the board, or commission, and their ability to perform efficiently with a body is a major consideration. This is not a new concept; it is a fact of life that each of us faces every day. We must have the ability to communicate with others, to "get along", and to disagree without being disagreeable.

We believe it is important for each voter to select his candidate on the basis of qualifications and facts, not upon a friend's views or rumors. Some people have been known to state something as a matter of fact when it is not. If you have any doubts about a candidate's views, call him and ask him what he believes.

A school board race, or any elective position, should not be a personality contest. However, personality is one of the qualifications. A person with an abrasive personality, with a closed mind, cannot perform his duties in the best manner.

The school trustee or the city commissioners should be free of "isms." If he is dedicated to one purpose rather than the overall process, or if he becomes interested in the position because he has an "axe to grind," he is very likely to provide a poor balance of judgment.

Hereford has been fortunate, we believe, in having some outstanding people offer their services to the community for city and school offices. Voters will have some fine people to choose from in the upcoming city and school elections.

We hope citizens exercise their right to vote next Tuesday and Saturday. Your vote is as individual as your fingerprint. Only YOU can cast your vote; use it wisely.

Proposed Agency Not For Consumers

U.S. Chamber of Commerce

As unemployment rises and the purchasing power of the dollar shrinks, it is more essential than ever that consumers obtain full satisfaction for every dollar spent. Unfortunately, many misguided efforts to "protect" consumers do more harm than good.

Such is the case with "The Consumer Protection Agency Act of 1975," which is similar to legislation defeated in Congress over the last five years. However, this year's bill (S. 200) stands a good chance of passage because the 94th Congress is expected to be receptive to activist-backed causes.

The title of the bill itself is misleading. Many members of Congress, who habitually vote for a bill because it has an appealing title, may not even read the actual provisions of the bill. The public is even less knowledgeable about such matters.

This particular bill simply creates another expensive new bureaucracy to represent the consumer interest before federal regulatory agencies; yet it would be as far distant and aloof as dozens of other agencies in Washington.

The act entrusts a single individual—the administrator, whoever he turns out to be—to speak for all consumer interests, regardless of the multiplicity of buying habits of millions of Americans.

The utility of such an exercise was clearly pointed out in an editorial recently in Congressional Action, a legislative action newsletter published by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, which commented:

"Consider the single issue which has recently engaged a lot of public attention: the tradeoffs between safety and costs when you are trying to protect people in automobiles. 'Now, after hundreds of millions of dollars went down a rathole, the Congress has decided that seat-belt interlocks were not such a good thing after all. Presumably not worth it to customers. The decision on the so-called 'airbags,' which may cost about 10 times as much, will be coming up soon.

"What position should the CPA (consumer Protection Agency) administrator, as the all-purpose consumer advocate, take? No one seems to know."

Obviously, any such decision should be left to customers in the market place, not another Washington bureaucrat.

S. 200 is not a consumer protection bill. It is a consumer deception bill. You Congressmen should study it carefully. So should you.

The Voice of Business

By ARCH BOOTH

While Congress and the Administration debate the best way to reduce our fuel consumption, reports are coming in that there is plenty of petroleum around. The apparent conflict is confusing a lot of people.

To unravel the mystery, you have to break down "the" energy problem into its four component parts:

1. Geological. There is plenty of fossil fuel for our present needs. It is not all in the U.S. It is not all immediately available. It is not all recoverable inexpensively. And it is not all in the most convenient form. But it's there.

2. Environmental grounds, the more expensive the remaining sources will become. It would be nice if that weren't so, but it is. Unquestionably, we need to take some steps to keep from poisoning ourselves. But we must also consider whether we can afford the cost of perfection when perfection may not be necessary.

3. Economic. The Western world in general—and the U.S. in particular—cannot afford to continue paying the artificially high price for petroleum set by the foreign oil producers' cartel. Right now, the U.S. is like an individual who is spending money faster than he earns it and borrowing to cover the difference. That process can't continue indefinitely, either for an individual or a nation.

Once our international credit is exhausted, we will face a continuing decline in the international value of the dollar. Such a decline would cause shortages and higher prices within the U.S.

4. Political. The United States cannot allow itself to remain hostage to a small group of states in one of the world's prime trouble spots.

Complete self-sufficiency is not necessary to regain our energy independence, but at the least, we must be able to avoid dangerous dependency on any single country or bloc of countries. To reach that state, we must develop fully our own plentiful reserves of fossil fuel, as well as a capacity to use alternative energy sources.

Because none of these alternative energy sources can now be produced as cheaply as the true economic cost of Arabian oil (about 40 cents a barrel), they will not be developed unless there is some form of insurance against predatory price cutting dumping by the OPEC nations.

So it is for reasons three and four that we need to cut energy consumption, not because of any shortage of fuel.

That gets us to the question of how to cut. I certainly favor using the market to allocate supplies, rather than some clumsy form of government direction. But I don't think there is a need—at this time—for the stiff tariff-plus-excite-tax plan advocated by the Administration.

Simply decontrolling domestic oil and natural gas prices would result in some price increases and a decrease in demand. It would also stimulate domestic exploration and production, which is something that can't be said for a tax increase.

Yes, decontrol would increase the income of the energy industry. But the industry will need between $450 and $700 billion in new investment capital by 1985, if we're going to continue to have an adequate energy supply.

Therefore, it's highly probable that higher industry profits resulting from decontrol would be plowed back into new production. If the industry did not appear to be using its greater income responsibly, then that would be the time to examine other alternatives.

Talk of Texas

By Jack Maguire

MIRACLE MULE—A Texas mule once made headlines by producing an offspring. Genetically the mule is an animal which has no pride of ancestry or hope of posterity. Produced by breeding a horse and a jackass, the mule is an infertile hybrid. But on the campus of Texas A&M University, a mule achieved a kind of immortality by becoming a mother.

Aggie animal husbandry experts began their experiment in mule-breeding by chance. In 1920, L.T. Branham of Montalba wrote a letter to a Texas farm magazine claiming that he had bred his mule mare to a jack and produced a colt. An A&M faculty member saw the letter and arranged with Branham to "borrow" the mule and her colt for further experiments.

Old Beck and her daughter arrived in College Station August 11, 1921. Beck, typical of the field mules vital in those days to Texas cotton crops, was 21. She weighed 850 pounds and stood 13.2 hands high.

During the next few months, Beck had some romances with a couple of stallions under the supervision of A&M scientists. After failing to conceive, she was bred to a stallion named Pat Murphy. This mating produced a stallion colt. Aggie veterinarians arranged other lovers for Beck with no results.

Because there was no authentic case on record of a mule being able to produce a colt, some experts doubted that Beck was a real hybrid. However, tests of her blood proved that she was, indeed, a mule.

As a result, Beck, the Aggie mule, is still written about in scientific journals 54 years later as the only one of her kind.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?—The girls' drill team at Austin's Lyndon B. Johnson High School is named "The First Ladies."

THE MUSIC MEN—Ellis County provided more musicians for military bands during World War I than any comparable geographic area in the U.S.

Most of the soldier-musicians had played with the Lone Star Band of Waxahachie, one of the nation's most unique musical organizations. In 1915, James E. King organized the Lone Star Band as a private group of 150 local musicians. Each paid $3 per month for the privilege of playing in the band.

Within two years after its organization, the Lone Star Band had become one of the most popular musical groups in the country. President Woodrow Wilson invited them to play at the U.S. Capitol and they were in constant demand for concerts.

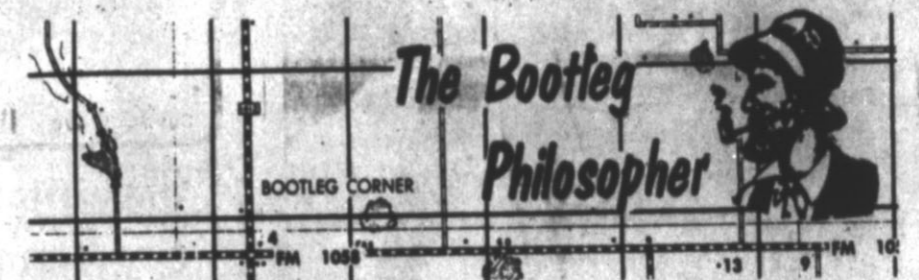

When the war began in 1917, 75 of the bandsmen went into military service as musicians. Three became bandmasters.

After the war, members of the Lone Star Band regrouped in Waxahachie. They continued to play concerts throughout the U.S. until 1928 when the band was discontinued.

DATE TO REMEMBER—It may not be a "red letter day" on most U.S. calendars, but March 25 is an official observance in Texas.

It is Greek Independence Day. It has been observed in Texas since 1943 when Governor Coke R. Stevenson proclaimed it. It celebrates the winning of independence by tiny Greece from the powerful Ottoman empire.

Texas Greeks (and there are more than 10,000 of them) celebrate the day with feasts, speeches, costumed dancing, flag raisings and a special worship service on the Sunday nearest March 25.

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Deaf Smith grass farm on Bootleg Corner gets riled up this week over some Congressmen's opinion of the American people, we think.

Dear editor:

I was alternately reading a newspaper and wondering if I could interest the CIA in finding a garden plow I lost somewhere around this place a few years ago. I know it's somewhere out there in the weeds and if the CIA has a few thousand dollars left over from its submarine job and can't think of anything else to do it's welcome to start looking—I won't tell anybody—when I ran into an article on the latest dope on the tax rebate Congress is fiddling around with.

According to it, some members of Congress are objecting to a tax refund for everybody on the grounds it wouldn't stimulate the economy because too many people would just take the money and pay off some debts or sock it away in the bank. "You can't stimulate the economy that way," they argue. "The money ought to go to people who'll spend it."

THIS ARGUMENT is a slander on the American people. If there's one thing you can trust the people to do it's spend whatever handout they can get their hands on, from a $200 rebate to an average citizen to $200,000,000 to an average railroad. It's pretty clear those Congressmen must come from some part of the country nobody else has ever heard of.

Speaking of Congress, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger said the other day that he wouldn't have arranged the Paris peace agreement that stopped the fighting in South Vietnam a couple of minutes at least two years ago if he'd thought Congress wouldn't continue to appropriate money for the beleaguered country.

THIS IS PUZZLING. You'd think that a man who has taught at Harvard and has been Secretary of State for several years and living right there in Washington would have learned you can't predict what Congress will do even tomorrow, not to mention two years hence.

Say, back to the rebates, there's a guy not far from here who has owed me $21.50 for four years and I was just thinking, you reckon he has refused to pay me because he thought I'd slow down the economy by socking it in a bank?

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

"I think what is needed...is a combination of the stick and carrot—the carrot being tax breaks—to enable industry to install the very costly antipollution equipment...and stick being an effluent charge—or if you want to use a less pleasant word, a fine—which is remitted once the polluting has been stopped. I think you probably need both." — U.S. Representative Henry S. Reuss of Wisconsin.

"I believe there are alternatives to brownouts and blackouts, and alternatives to homes without heat and factories without power. I believe there are alternatives to foreign domination of our major energy source, and alternatives to broad-scale social and economic disruptions. And I believe these alternatives need not be at the expense of a livable world. To the contrary, I believe they may insure a livable world for the future." — Wayne E. Aspinall, former U.S. Representative from Colorado.

Carpet Study Conducted

by Joyce Shipp

During the month of April, all Deaf Smith County Extension clubs will be studying Carpet and Rug Selection.

Choosing a rug or carpet is no small task. The choice has become more complex with the endless variety of colors, textures, patterns, fiber and fiber combinations and constructions used in the carpet and rug industry. Although selection is more difficult, the purchaser can meet his particular appearance, performance and price requirements. To select floor covering that will give years of enjoyment and comfort, knowing quality features is important.

The cost of a good carpet or rug usually represents the largest single furnishings expenditure. Therefore, it is important to realize the advantages of well-chosen, soft floor covering.

As a decorative device, rugs and carpets may: visually alter the apparent size, shape and character of an area; contribute color, texture and pattern; contribute to a unified, full-furnished look; conceal unattractive floors; provide a basis for the choice of other decorative elements; add individuality, beauty, order and a feeling of luxury to a room.

As a functional furnishings addition to the home, a rug or carpet can: provide warmth by acting as a protective insulation; absorb and deaden noise from outside and within the home; increase safety by preventing slipping, giving sure footing and cushioning falls; provide underfoot comfort; and reduce floor care.

Initial cost of a rug or carpet may account for a fourth or more of the furnishings budget for a room. A fair judgment of the selling price of any soft floor covering is made by comparing the price of the carpet or rug with the number of years expected use. A cheaper grade carpeting will have a shorter wear expectancy than a good quality carpet or rug which may cost three times as much.

The more costly covering is frequently the better buy since it wears longer. For example, a carpet costing $6 per square yard is expected to wear for about 3 years and will cost $2 per square yard per year. Another carpet selling for $12 per square yard, with a wear expectancy of 11 years, costs only $1 per square yard.

There may be good reasons for selecting low-price carpeting. Even in budget carpeting, a fairly dense, medium height pile or virgin carpet grade yarn is the best buy. Difference in cost of fibers makes possible quality floor covering at a modest price.

Wear expectancy of soft floor covering is affected by use and care. The wear expectancy of a carpet or rug is estimated by evaluating traffic against quality. A poor quality carpet will last but a short time in a heavily traveled area.

Prices of both rugs and carpeting vary according to quality, fiber, installation and construction. Typical retail prices, excluding cost of padding and installation, for budget quality carpeting is $6 to $9 per square yard; for medium quality, $9 to $12 per square yard; and for high quality carpeting, $12 and higher per square yard.

In planning carpet expense, allow from $1 to $3 per square yard extra for a carpet pad or underlay. A well chosen pad increases the length of wear of a rug or carpet.

LEMON GLAZED CRESCENTS

Rdls:
1/4 c. milk
1/4 c. butter

3 T. sugar
1 t. salt
1 envelope dry yeast
1/4 c. very warm water
1 egg
4 c. sifted all-purpose flour

1. Heat milk with butter, sugar and salt in a small saucepan until butter melts; cool to lukewarm.

2. Sprinkle yeast into very warm water in a large bowl. Stir in 1 t. sugar. Stir until yeast dissolves. Let stand until bubbly and double in volume, about 10 minutes.

3. Stir in cooled milk mixture and beat in eggs. Beat enough flour to make a soft dough; turn out onto lightly floured surface. Knead until smooth and elastic, about 5 min. adding only enough flour to keep the dough from sticking.

4. Place dough in a greased large bowl; turn to bring greased side up. Cover bowl with a clean towel. Let rise in a warm place away from drafts, 1 1/2 hours, or until doubled in bulk.

5. Punch dough down. Divide dough in half; roll out each half on a lightly floured surface to an 8" circle. Cut into 8 to 12 wedges, brush with 2 T. melted butter, 2T. grated lemon peel and 1/4 c. chopped nuts. Roll each wedge starting at the large end; place pointed side down in ungreased baking dish. Bake 20-25 minutes or until golden brown.

Sauce: 1/4 c. sugar
1/4 c. butter
1/2 c. dairy sour cream
2 T. frozen lemonade concentrate, thawed

In a small sauce pan, bring sugar, sour cream, butter and lemonade concentrate to a boil. Boil 3 minutes, stirring occasionally. Pour over rolls; sprinkle with additional chopped nuts and maraschino cherries, if desired.

Note: I have used the pink lemonade concentrate as it gives the sauce a delicate, appetizing color.

Farmer-Consumer Relationship May Determine Future of Farms

A love affair between the farmer and the consumer is going to have to develop if the American way of life is to remain intact, says an agricultural economist here.

"The next few months are critical in determining the type of agriculture, and whether or not individual farmers can remain in business in the future," says Marvin Sartin of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Financial requirements of agriculture are at all time highs, and risks from product price variations stagger the imagination. Agriculture desperately needs the understanding and support of every American."

Sartin says that agricultural producers need the support of consumers and their elected representatives to obtain the legislative might necessary to insure adequate new farm bills.

Because farm programs are short term and must be renewed periodically, the need for support from consumers will be continual.

Farmers, commodity organizations, and general farm groups should recognize that potentially the most productive achievement for agriculture is the establishment and continuation of a mutually beneficial relationship with the American public. Public relations is the key, and the public is fairly easily convinced with the right approach.

"During the recent past, we have seen some attempts to gather public opinion on the side of agriculture," he says. "However, these were mostly tragic failures and did far more harm than good. When cattlemen were reeling from their financial plight, their frustrations gained the upper hand. In attempts to force governmental action through public outcry, they instead brought cries of cruel and inhumane slaughters. Cattlemen and agriculture got a black eye."

Sartin believes that instead of alienating people, agriculturists need to convince the public that problems existing in the farm industry are their problems as well. Farmers are many small individuals, and farm organizations are segmented, splintered, and competitive. Selling the public on needs of agriculture is a big task.

"While most Americans today are far removed from the farm, I believe that most have a soft place in their hearts for the land and for those who till the soil and feed the cattle. The opportunity, the need, and the time are here for agriculture to get into the public relations business."

Says Sartin, the problem is how. The segmentation of agriculture in many small commodity organizations and several national general farm organizations does not provide a united front. However, farmers control each of these organizations, and if they would look beyond their specific personal problems and projects, they could join together to share their needs and concerns with every American.

Cattle Herd Improvement Seen Through Embryonic Transfer

Livestockmen looking for new ways to improve their cattle herds will have an opportunity to see perhaps the most striking method to do just that in San Antonio on April 5. Called embryonic transfer, the procedure will be performed at Rio Vista Farms near San Antonio during the Animal Health Conference for Livestockmen sponsored by the Texas Veterinary Medical Association and the College of Veterinary Medicine at Texas A&M University.

take fertilized eggs from a cow and transfer them to another host cow.

Dr. Wright, who is starting an embryonic transfer unit in Pearsall, said the technique will enable a dairyman to improve his milk herd or a cattleman to breed cows that produce high quality beef on grass rather than more expensive grain.

Embryonic transfer in cattle has been used as a research tool since the mid-1960's, Dr. Wright said, but it has only been the last three or four years that it has been attempted commercially. The technique begins with an outstanding mother cow that has the potential to pass those genetic qualities along to her offspring.

The cow is stimulated with hormones and then fertilized by artificial insemination. The fertilized eggs are then transferred surgically to the uterus of a lesser or more common cow. The host cows then act as incubators for the superior embryos through the normal nine-months pregnancy and then serve as wet nurses for the calves. After the embryonic transfer the superior mother cow can also be bred.

The second day of the conference will be devoted to special sessions on feedlot, dairy, and cow-calf production where livestockmen will have a chance to pick the speaker he wants to hear. There are twenty-five speakers on the program.

Livestockmen may pre-register and get a program by sending $22.50 to Animal Health Conference, 513 Scarbrough Building, Austin Texas 78701, or register at the St. Anthony Hotel in San Antonio on Saturday or Sunday morning, April 5-6. Wives of livestockmen will be registered free, and for $5.00 extra can also attend the tours and barbeque. Buses will be furnished for the tours to Rio Vista and Knowlton Dairies and a barbeque and dance will be held at the end of the tour on Saturday.

Emergency Package Not Much For Farmers

Texas Farmers Union President Jay Naman of Waco says that Texas farmers have little to celebrate in what the Congress has come up with as an emergency farm package.

"The meager improvements to the farm bill approved by the House and the Senate Agriculture committee make a mockery out of the celebration of National Agriculture Day earlier this week. Instead of gratefully rewarding farm people for their productivity and efficiency, Congress has seen fit to kick farmers in the teeth with its farm programs recommendations," Naman said.

The farm organization president condemned the Department of Agriculture's role in discouraging a better farm bill. USDA warned that the original bill approved by the House. Agriculture Committee would cost the government $882 million.

"The Department of Agriculture, under the worst Secretary of Agriculture in our history, used scare-tactics by quoting exorbitant costs figures to convince Congress to reduce benefits under the new farm program. It was pure demagogery for USDA to say that the reduction of the support price on cotton from 40 cents to 38 cents and the target from 48 cents to 45 cents would cut $300 million from the cost to government. This dire prediction could only occur if there was a total market disaster breaking every cotton farmer in the country," Naman said.

Fill it out - Mail it back

Farmers are "turned off" by the argument in Congress that the farm bill is the "best that can be passed," according to the state farm leader. He predicted that President Ford would probably veto it because it is too good, "when he should be vetoing it because its not good enough," according to Naman.

"As farmers in some areas of the state are approaching the planting season, they are becoming increasingly aware of their costs. If they take seriously USDA's crop projections for next year and look at the recent decline in prices on feed grains, wheat and cotton, they will probably consider reducing acreage or input expenses including fertilizer and irrigation. If this materializes, what USDA predicts in the higher cost to government of a good farm bill could instead be higher food costs to the consumer because of a short crop. Congress had better take a look at what might happen to food supplies if farmers cut-back," Naman said.

AN 11 PER CENT increase in the farm labor force in Texas is reported by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. The farm labor force numbered 230,000 during a recent period. The 11 per cent increase for Texas compares with a one per cent decrease on a national basis. Family workers in Texas made up 70 per cent of the farm labor force.

PRODUCTION OF RED MEAT in Texas during January is 21 per cent above a year ago; nationwide, the increase is four per cent more than a year ago. The 243.8 million pounds this January in Texas compares with 201 million pounds in January a year ago.

The increase is significant in that it shows more cattle are being slaughtered, hence, a reduction in livestock numbers.

But there still are record numbers of livestock on farms and ranches. The numbers of feeder cattle available are such that little or no price relief is expected for the cow-calf operator until probably 1977.

TFU President Forecasts Cutback Due to Bill

A state farm leader has issued the warning that the farm bill approved by United States House of Representatives could result in a food and fiber production cut-back.

Texas Farmers Union President Jay Naman of Waco said "The emergency provisions of the farm bill, passed by the House, are totally inadequate to encourage farmers to produce at capacity. The levels of price support as well as the target price are far below the cost of production. If these levels aren't boosted by Senate action, farmers cannot be relied upon to produce adequate supplies of food and fiber."

Naman went on to say, "farmers are taking a hard look at their planting plans because the price levels in the farm bill do not offer what it will take to break even on the production of cotton, wheat, or feed grains. Some farmers may choose to cut back their acreage substantially, because they can see nothing but losses in what acres they plant. U.S.D.A.'s March 1st prospective planting report indicates that farmers are restrained in their plans."

The Texas Farmers Union delegates to the National Farmers Union convention in Portland last week joined in a resolution calling on farmers to reduce their economic risk by adjusting their production to what they could expect to sell at a reasonable price.

The resolution acknowledged the fact that Farmers Union traditionally supports the concept of abundant food and farmers prefer to produce to capacity, but that the failure of the Administration and the Congress to prefer to produce to capacity, but that the failure of the Administration and the Congress to provide market protection leaves farmers with no alternative but to cut back.

Cow Herd Cutbacks To Help Financial Woes

Seedstock producers are taking the lead in reducing the nation's cow herds, according to an announcement by the U.S. Beef Breeds Council. Reports indicate producers are cutting back cow numbers by more than 10 per cent to help alleviate the extreme financial problems beef producers are experiencing.

The Council, representing 100,000 U.S. beef cattle seedstock producers, says that the 10 per cent figure is the surplus number of cows in the country according to U.S. Department of Agriculture statistics. The Council is urging voluntary cutbacks in all cow herds because cow numbers are in such great surplus they will be competing on the market with fed cattle for a long period of time unless cow numbers are adjusted to optimum numbers quickly.

"The amount of beef we're asking to be slaughtered immediately is about the same amount as is being imported," says Council President Orville K. Sweet, Kansas City, Mo.

The U.S. currently has the largest cattle herd, our basic beef factory, in history at 131.8 million head, according to the American National Cattlemen's Association. And 1974 beef production was a record 21 billion pounds. The results of culling is seen in the long run as a way to improve efficiency and productivity and will be good for the entire industry.

Check-Off Law Changed By Supreme Court Rule

The Texas Supreme Court reaffirmed Wednesday an earlier ruling regarding the Texas commodity check-off law.

"The ruling will require each producer to sign a form indicating his participation or exemption in the check-off program at the time of settlement," explained Elbert Harp, executive director of Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board. "This is the only change in the law," Harp added.

Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White pointed out the judgment results in requiring the commodity boards to make only one change in their collection procedures. "Collection can now be made only after each producer has indicated his desire with respect to whether he wishes to have an assessment made or not," White said.

New forms are being mailed to each grain processor in TGSPB's 29-county area. The forms must be signed by each farmer at the time of settlement, showing whether he wishes to participate in the TGSPB program.

ROTO TILLING YARDS & GARDENS Phone 364-1432 605 Avenue H

Health Tips Texas Medical Association

The home gardening season is now in full swing throughout Texas. Millions are back at the annual battle with crab grass and insects in the perennial effort to add a touch of natural color and beauty to our Texas scenery.

The Texas Medical Association recommends gardening as a good means of exercise and therapy for almost everyone. But doctors warn that gardening entails some hazards of safety and health, most of which can be avoided.

+If you have done nothing more strenuous than sit by the fire most of the winter, by all means take it easy for the first few weekends of gardening. Give your muscles a chance to regain strength gradually, rather than trying to do too much the first day out.

+Gardening sometimes brings cuts and scratches from twigs, thorns, and sharp tools. First aid usually consists of washing the scratch with soap and water and applying an adhesive bandage. Let it bleed a little to wash away impurities. Deeper cuts, of course, require medical attention.

+Learn how to recognize poisonous vines and shrubs, so you can avoid them, or root them out.

+Power tools, particularly lawn mowers, are standard equipment for the modern home gardener. Be sure to study the instructions regarding safe usage. If in doubt, check with a mechanic on potential hazards of power tools.

+Insect sprays and powders, plus poisons that kill weeds are useful in garden maintenance, but these also have inherent hazards if improperly or carelessly stored or used. Once again, read the directions, especially the warnings.

+Bees, wasps, and spiders are out for the spring season too. Occasionally one of them might sting you. For the majority of us, a sting is painful and causes swelling, but isn't serious. If you are one of those individuals with an allergy to insect stings, ask your doctor about the desensitizing injections. +Select garden tools with care. Use the right tool for the job at hand, and keep tools in good condition, clean and sharp. Dull tools are unsafe. Broken tools are dangerous. Rusty tools are difficult to use. Store tools in a safe place. Lying on the ground or piled carelessly in a corner, tools can cause accidents.
