

Federal Government Blamed

Gas Cost To Go Up; Supply Still Stable

By JOE LACKEY
Brand Staff Writer

The consensus of opinion which emerged from talks with Hereford gasoline wholesalers this week is that citizens should expect a slight increase in gasoline prices in the near future with long-range price prospects uncertain, and that supply of gasoline in the immediate future should remain plentiful.

Lynton Allred, a partner in Allred Oil Co., Inc., which handles Phillips 66 gasoline, stressed the uncertain nature of price prospects over a long period of time, saying "Due to the tariff (the second dollar) on foreign crude, we can expect from one to two cents increase in gasoline prices immediately after the first of the month. But if domestic crude is ever allowed to float to world prices, if it's decontrolled, then we can expect anywhere from 15 to 20 cents per gallon of an additional increase in the price of fuel."

Allred said that the availability of gasoline looks good right now. He said there is a surplus at the immediate time, in fact. This applies to both gasoline and diesel fuel.

"THERE'S NO PROBLEM relating to agricultural usage at the time," Allred went on to say. He was not aware of any supply problems at the present.

Allred said that a shortage has in fact existed over the past few years, but that oil companies accentuated the shortage to bring about a better profit ratio for the companies involved.

He said he believes the profit ratio of the oil companies had been too low for years before the energy crisis, but that it's too bad he and other jobbers "got caught in the middle" of the energy crisis when prices increased sharply.

Considering long-term prospects, "Who knows what will happen?" said Allred.

DEWARD ROBERSON, the local Texaco jobber who also operates a Texaco station here, argues that there's plenty of gas right now, but that the government, either by higher taxes or more stringent allocation, will reduce consumption sharply in the future.

"I don't personally agree with proposals for tax increases," Roberson said, maintaining that stringent allocations, or rationing, would be a better solution to the problem.

Roberson outlined his view of the causes of the energy crisis in the interview. He said in 1954, the government set the price of natural gas to the well-head at less than 20 cents a thousand cubic feet, in an attempt to flood the country with cheap natural gas.

THIS BOTH HURT the coal industry and reduced drilling incentives for the oil and gas companies, Roberson said. The companies "started parking drilling rigs in 1956, and continued to drill only on proven property, because it was impossible to make a profit on 20 cents a thousand cubic feet," he said.

He went on to say that supplies at that time were sufficient to last 20 years. About two decades later, the energy crisis suddenly hit the country.

Buying foreign oil allows the United States to conserve its own fuel resources, but this negatively affects the balance of payments situation and prevents the country from becoming self-sufficient, Roberson said.

He said that eliminating the oil depletion allowance and imposing taxes on profits from foreign drilling had robbed the big companies of necessary drilling incentives.

"The oil companies must make money if they are to continue to drill," he said.

Roberson argued that "if ecologists had left us alone, the Alaska pipeline would have helped us by now." He also agrees with the government that conservation is necessary, but that government intervention in energy had caused prices to rise.

ALTHOUGH THE PROFITS of the oil companies had increased during the past two or three years, these profits were still lower than other business, considered as a percentage of total investment, he explained.

Ray Simpson, a partner in Continental Oil Co. and a local Conoco wholesaler, said that plenty of gasoline is available now, but that he has no guesses on future availability.

He believes that prices will probably increase a penny or two a gallon, but that it is impossible to forecast long-range prospects, and also said "Everybody who reads the paper or listens to television knows as much as we do on the situation."

Simpson believes the government is still considering the possibility of eventually adopting a fuel rationing program. "My concern is whether such a program would be equitable," he said.

HE SAID GASOLINE PRICES have increased very little over a long period of time in relation to other prices in the economy, but that what price increases did occur happened suddenly, which made people notice them.

The gas dealer blames higher prices on the government, ecologists, and Arabian oil interests, rather than the oil companies. He said that discouraging off-shore production because of the ecology argument, the increased cost of producing unleaded fuel, the necessity of redoing refineries, and increased care in transportation of unleaded fuel to avoid contamination all had helped to drive prices upward.

R.L. Blakey, Hereford Exxon jobber, said that the availability of gasoline looks good at the present. He said there will be plenty of gas so long as there is no embargo.

He said that prices will probably

Pumping Gas

At the Bell Station on West First, Ray Redding pumps gas into a customer's automobile gas tank. Local jobbers expect gas prices to increase slightly in the near future, with long-range price prospects uncertain. They say that gasoline supplies are plentiful at the time, but that the government apparently plans to discourage consumption.

Building Permits Pass $1 Million Mark

Economic Prosperity Increases

BY ROBBY TEMPLETON
Brand News Editor

Economic experts may not be fully convinced that the recession is yet over, but local prosperity experienced during the last month sure points in that direction.

First it was the announcement of a new clothing manufacturing plant bringing in a $750,000 payroll, then reports of upswings in the cattle market and now building permits issued by the city reflect the second straight month of dramatic construction expansion bringing the total amount invested in new structures to more than $1 million.

THE BUILDING during May accumulated to a total of $330,001, adding smiles to the faces of construction contractors and general elation to the economic community. Last month's construction brought the total amount of building permits to $1,110,646 so far this year.

This figure is based on $377,195 in construction during March, the highest month of the year, $76,350 in February and $140,450 in January.

At this time last year the amount of construction totaled $1,210,850. Of course this was just at about the time when the economic situation was heading toward the bottom. The amount of building during May of 1974 totaled $116,600 and in April of that year it was $184,750—far below the same two months of 1975.

HOWEVER, THE BUILDING jumped to its highest peak last year in June with $427,250 in new construction. If this is any indication of the possibilities next month, then building should jump to a surprisingly high amount, although one year does not especially indicate what the following year will bring.

The only real economic setback this year has been the closing of one clothing manufacturing plant employing about 45 persons and the recent layoff by Armour Foods of about 60 employees. But the economic bright spots far outweigh the dull ones.

The main reason for the high amount of construction last month was the addition of a grain dryer elevator to the Continental Grain Co. It was valued at $120,000.

THE OTHER LARGE SEGMENT of the building permits was composed of four new residential structures for which permits were issued. New residences are usually a good sign as renewed emphasis is put on borrowed money and consumers are putting money into circulation providing both jobs and more local buying potential.

The value of the new residences and the builders are:

- $41,000, Tilecraft Inc.
- $50,000, McCaslin Lumber Co.

Retirees, Personnel Honored At End-of-School Luncheon

Three retirees were honored and 22 teachers and employees were presented with service pins when Hereford Independent School District held an end-of-school luncheon Thursday for all personnel.

The traditional luncheon was attended by approximately 555 teachers, administrators, and non-professional employees of the school district. Supt. Roy Hartman commended the educators and workers for a "unified effort" in providing quality education for the youth of the community.

Special resolutions from the trustees and administration were presented to retiring teachers Grady and Kathryn Cope and custodian Joe Pitts. Cope had 41 years total service with 9 years in Hereford, while Mrs. Cope had 36 years service with 9 of them in Hereford. He was a sixth-grade teacher at Shirley, and she was a business teacher at Stanton. Pitts was custodian at Stanton for 12 years.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS service pins were presented to Mary Carter, special education teacher at Shirley, and Don Martin, assistant director of special education. Receiving 20-year pins were Dorothea Prowell, home economics teacher in high school, and Cuby Kitchens, teacher and coach at Stanton.

Eighteen teachers were presented 10-year service pins: Irene Baird, Carolyn Clark, Ann Combs, Margarette Craig, Dottie Darden, Catherine Gripp, Patricia Hagar, Sidney Kerr, Bennie

Retirees Honored

Retiring employees of the Hereford schools shown above are Joe Pitts, Kathryn Cope and Grady Cope. Each was honored at an end-of-school luncheon on Thursday.

New School Inspected

Hereford Board of Education members are shown officially inspecting the new elementary school. They conducted the inspection at a special board meeting Thursday when they accepted it from the contractor. The board members are (L-R) Ron Zimmerman, Danny Martin, Clark Andrews, Jim Arney, James Gentry, Lynton Allred and Board President Jim Conkright.

Area Airport Goals Discussed At 5-County Planning Meeting

A giant Boeing 747 may never have an occasion to land in Hereford or any other town this size, but facilities for such an aircraft ought to be ready here provided that size of an airport is ever needed.

Of course, it is unlikely the situation will ever come about, but other small airport development needs of a more realistic nature are being considered and discussed through a series of meetings being held throughout the Panhandle for input into the development of the Texas Airport System.

One planning conference was held Friday at the Deaf Smith County Library to modify the specific long range plans of area counties including Castro, Deaf Smith, Oldham, Parmar and Swisher.

REPRESENTATIVES from Hereford, Dimmitt, Vega, Friona and Tulia attended the conference, which was sponsored by the Texas Aeronautics Commission. The state agency is developing the airport plan for the Federal Aviation Agency.

George Dresser, transportation planner for the TTI, reviewed plans with the 24 representatives tentative goals deemed necessary for the respective airports. With the desires of the participating communities received at the conference, Dresser said new goals would be formulated into the plan.

"I think the airport in Hereford is excellent for this size town," Dresser said when asked about facilities here.

He explained that the purpose of the conferences and the ultimate plan is to relate county airports to economic goals of the area. "We want to make the airports viable economic entities," he said.

The plan is directing itself toward the use of airports for general aviation or itinerant traffic besides just the aircraft based at an airport.

"Some jet traffic (leaz jets) has come through Hereford and more is possible in connection with the cattle industry," Dresser explained.

Judge Sam Morgan said the area is growing economically as evidenced by the clothing plant locating here and the formation of an industrial foundation. It is this situation which eventually causes a greater use of an airport with more persons coming in and leaving for business reasons.

James Gentry, chairman of the aviation committee of the Goals for Progress transportation committee of the Chamber of Commerce, revealed plans drawn up for the Hereford Municipal airport, which Dresser said paralleled closely with what the TAC recommends.

IMMEDIATE EXPANSION plans for the airport include a 1,000 extension on runway 220, visual approach indicators for larger aircraft, replacement of low intensity lighting to medium intensity and installation of non-directional beacons to provide for instrument approach capability for bad weather.

Mayor Jim Sears, indicated at the meeting that grants were presently being applied for to fund these additions to the airport. These are Airport Development grants through TAC and FAA with about 75 per cent federal funding, 12 1/2 per cent TAC funding and 12 1/2 per cent local funding.

Other local persons attending the meeting were Bill Albright, Deaf Smith County executive vice-president, Bud Eades, C of C president, E.D. Reinauer Jr., Austin Rose Jr., county commissioner, Donna Smith, airport director, Emory Brownlow, city commissioner, Lynton Allred, Goals for Progress transportation chairman, Gerald Martin, Hereford Flying Service, and Frank Cherry, Cherry Flying Service.

Also meeting were Jim McCausland, aviation planner for the TAC, and Joe Alexis, civil engineer with FAA in Albuquerque, N.M.

Familiar Scene

The sight of larger numbers of cattle in feed pens at local feedlots is becoming more familiar again with improvements in the finished cattle market within the last 30 days. Spokesmen for local feedlots report a scarcity of finished cattle and indicate that pens of finished cattle are currently showing a profit. Interest in placing cattle on feed locally has increased this spring, although feeders are moving cautiously.

'Slight profits far from making up losses'

Cattle Feeding Interest Shows Slight Increase

By JIM STEERT
Brand Farm Writer

With feeders realizing some profits on pens of finished cattle now being marketed, interest in placing cattle in local feedlots has shown a slight increase according to spokesmen for four Hereford Feedyards.

The feedyard spokesman agreed, however, that feeders, burned badly by the decline in the cattle market over the past two years, are moving cautiously in placing cattle in local feedlots.

"PROFITS ARE SHOWING up again and people are beginning to place cattle on feed," said Charles Hoover, manager of Southwest Feed Yards Inc. "We've had a lot of cattle placed in the lots this spring."

Hoover pointed out that interest has increased within the last 30 days, with the advent of an improvement in the market for finished cattle.

"There's currently a shortage of finished cattle for the packers, and the Texas Cattle Feeders Association reports that Texas feedyards are currently operating at only 36 per cent of capacity," Hoover explained.

"Profits are being realized on some pens of cattle now because cattlemen were able to buy their feeder cattle cheap, but I don't know what the situation will be six months from now," he added.

Hoover pointed out that one of his main concerns now is contention of grass-fattened cattle with grain-fed cattle.

HEREFORD FEED YARDS manager Richard Crider reported that numbers of cattle placed on feed at his facility are up several thousand head over recent months, and cites the improved cattle market as the main reason.

"We've been operating in the black about thirty days, and are staying real current on our finished cattle," he commented.

Pitman Feed Yards manager Pitts Harrison reported a limited increase in the number of cattle placed on feed at his facility.

"A few more cattle are being put on feed and there may be a slow increase in the number of placements later, but there is no big rush to place cattle now," said Harrison.

Harrison explained that finished cattle are currently moving well.

"THERE'S A GOOD demand for finished cattle right now and we're staying real current. The finished cattle going out now are making pretty decent prices, but we sure have a long way to go to make up for the losses feeders have suffered over the past two years," Harrison commented.

Dyal Garner, office manager at Sugarland Feed Yards Inc., cited lower grain prices and getting rid of excess cattle as reasons for the current improvement in the cattle feeding situation.

"Our feedlot has been one of the fortunate ones in that we have kept the number of cattle here pretty high and with the interest in placing cattle on feed this spring, we are currently operating at close to capacity. I hope conditions stay favorable and we see increased interest in cattle feeding, but right now there is no big rush. Everyone is pretty cautious after getting burned so badly the last few years," said Garner.

Feeders' Opinions Vary On Beef Grading Changes

Spokesmen for four Hereford feedyards differed slightly in their opinions on the new beef grading standards which the USDA had sought to implement when they were questioned on the matter by The Brand.

U.S. DISTRICT COURT JUDGE Robert V. Denney barred the implementation Thursday. Denney also issued a preliminary injunction which delayed the scheduled April 14 implementation of the new standards.

"I think the grading change would be good for both the feeder and the consumer, some were saying the consumer would get lower quality beef under the new standards, but that's not so," Charles Hoover, manager of Southwest Feed Yards commented.

Hereford Feed Yards manager Richard Crider explained that he "would like to see the new standards go through, they would help feeding slightly, although they wouldn't necessarily cut time on feed in the long run."

Dyal Garner of Sugarland Feed Yards favored implementation of the new standards, stating that he felt the proposed grading changes would "help get cattle out in fewer days."

Pitts Harrison, manager of Pitman Feed Yards, expressed a cautious attitude toward the new standards, stating, "With the price of beef what it is right now, it's probably better to let the proposed changes drop, there aren't that many advantages to the new standards anyway."

THE PROPOSED CHANGES in the grading system would primarily have brought about four objectives. They would have reduced slightly the marbling requirements for Prime and Choice grades, tightened up the requirements for the Good grade, removed carcass conformation from the standards of quality grading and would have made yield grading mandatory for carcasses that are quality graded.

According to proponents, the new beef grades would have drastically reduced the 2.5 billion pounds of excess fat that retailers had to trim off meat in 1973.

In barring the implementation of the new standards, Judge Denney stated, "It is the tying of yield grade to quality grade which the court finds in excess of the USDA's statutory authority."

Denney stated that his ruling was also based on "the failure of USDA officials to file an economic impact statement on the standards as required by executive law."

An appeal is expected to be filed in the ruling.

Youth Injured

A 14-year-old Hereford boy was injured Wednesday when his bicycle collided with a 1974 Chevrolet driven by Armandina L. Vera of 305 Knight.

Julian Aguilar of 508 Jackson was taken to Deaf Smith General Hospital by private conveyance following the accident and was treated for abrasions.

According to Hereford police, the accident occurred at the intersection of Jackson and 3rd streets when the bicycle apparently ran a stop sign.

increase, because of increased government taxation, and because of environmental factors.

OIL COMPANIES are making the same amount of profit per gallon which they were in the past, he stressed.

Foreign oil is higher than it used to be, which explains price increases, he said.

"A big problem is to convince people that the supply of energy is not unlimited," Blakely said. He argued that coal and nuclear energy may help solve future problems.

BLAKELY ECHOED the argument that gasoline and oil prices have not gone up tremendously over a long period of time, relative to the rest of the economy, but that increases shocked people because they were so sudden.

He argued strongly that there has been "no concavence with the Arabs" to drive prices up.

"Competition will keep prices down better than government regulations," Blakely believes.

All four wholesalers indicated faith in the ability of the American people to meet future energy needs.

Industrial Foundation Drive Begins

The formation of Hereford Industrial Foundation, Inc. was formally launched Thursday with a fund-raising drive to provide money to be used in attracting new industry to the community.

All business firms are being asked to contribute to the foundation, and interested individuals are also invited to participate, according to Ray Cowser, chairman of the funding campaign.

Cowser and committee chairman Jake Webb held a report meeting of "captains" Friday afternoon and said optimistic reports were given on the start of the drive. Captains were named for various types of businesses and volunteer workers are making contacts for contributions.

THE FUNDING committee hopes to secure about $50,000 in cash and pledges and make this a one-time campaign. A minimum of $30,000 is needed on the current project of providing a building for Sue Ann Inc., a major Dallas-based women's sportswear manufacturer. The foundation will own the building and lease it to the firm.

Tom Burdett, president of the new foundation, pointed out the new plant is ultimately expected to employ about 150 persons and generate an annual payroll of $750,000. The formation of the foundation was a major factor in securing the new plant location here. The cost of the land and the building will be repaid by the company over a period of 10 years.

The contributions, which are tax deductible, will assist the foundation to complete negotiations with the garment firm and to seek other industries which will provide employment and increase the economy of the community. Investments in the foundation are expected to continually be used in the future in seeking other industries.

THE HEREFORD Industrial Foundation is chartered with the state as a non-profit corporation. The board of directors is composed of 16 persons, with the president of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce as a standing member. Five directors will be elected by the membership each year. The first board of directors includes Bud Eades, Ray Cowser, Clete Corlis, Dean Herring, Emory Brownlow, Troys Carmichael, Jeff Carlile, Arthur Gonzales, Bobby Owens, Pick Harmon, Jake Webb, Tom Burdett, Dennis Farley, Dickie Gerles, Ken Rogers, and Austin Rose.

Named as officers are Burdett, president; Gerles and Rogers, vice presidents; Bill Albright, executive vice president and treasurer, and Farley, secretary.

Donors Urgently Needed At Blood Drive

The Coffee Blood Bank of Amarillo has expressed an urgent need for blood donors as supplies have reached a dangerously low level, according to Mrs. Barbara McCrary, chairman of the Hereford Blood Drive committee.

To offset this shortage, a special plea is made by the blood bank to area residents to give blood at a drive specifically set up to build up the supply. Mrs. McCrary said the drive will be held from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday at the Hereford Community Center.

A drive is held at the end of each month to resupply the local blood account, but this is the first time one has been set up in addition to the regular one. The last one was held May 28, when only 27 pints were collected.

The shortage has resulted from a high number of wrecks during Memorial Day, a drop in the number of student donors for West Texas State University, and a recent federal law which prohibits payment for blood.

The low amount of donations this month probably was caused by tornado alerts and other bad weather complications, Mrs. McCrary said.

"We are running spot announcements on KPAN Radio in hopes that we will have a good turnout," she added. "It is an emergency situation and many donations are needed."

The local blood account with Coffee is not in the negative range, but the total supply usually carried by the blood bank is low. Blood can only be kept on hand for 21 days and then it must be replenished adding to the extreme shortage.

Aid Needed For Kitchen In Library

The women's clubs of Hereford have a need and the Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court is prepared to come to their aid, provided they offer a helping hand.

That need is a kitchen in the basement of the county library, where the clubs hold regular meetings. So far they have had to refrain from serving refreshments there for lack of proper facilities with which to cook and prepare food.

However, the county commissioners accepted a proposal at their Tuesday meeting to build cabinets and install plumbing for a kitchen if the women's clubs combine efforts to purchase the appliances including a dishwasher, refrigerator, disposal and stove.

County Judge Sam Morgan said, "We have agreed to put in the cabinets and plumbing for a sink and other necessities, but the clubs are going to have to buy the appliances."

The suggested appliances for the kitchen and their costs may be obtained from the McCaslin Lumber Co., which was awarded the bid for building the facility. Construction on the cabinets and plumbing will begin as soon as the builders work schedule permits, Morgan said.

Two Hereford Men Arrested On Possession

Hereford law officers arrested two Hereford men for possession of heroin Friday night and confiscated about $70 worth of the drug.

Deputy Jim Cooper of the Metro Intelligence Unit and Police Det. Phil Scumbato arrested Mark Hudson, 20, and Doyle Finley, 19, both of Hereford, just east of the city.

According to Cooper, seven "dime folds" of heroin valued at about $70 were confiscated.

Both Hereford men were charged with possession of heroin and Finley was also charged with carrying a prohibited weapon. Bond for both men was set at $10,000 and Finley was placed under an additional $1,000 bond on the CPW charge.

Armour Workers Illegally Walk Off The Job Friday

High tensions were reported out at the Armour Foods meat processing plant west of Hereford Friday when a large work force walked off the job at about noon and returned some four hours later.

Tom Hamlett, plant manager, said Saturday morning that "an illegal walkoff did occur throughout the whole plant."

When asked about its origin, he said, "It was perpetrated by the local union. However, the workers are back on the job and no future complications are expected."

Local citizens were concerned through the day as workers could be seen milling around the plant grounds. The workers returned to their jobs sometime around 4 p.m.

No explanations were given for the walkoff and it is not known whether any repercussions will result from it.

The walkoff is the second employment-related incident at Armour within two weeks as about 60 employees were recently laid off their jobs due to the shortage of cattle available for the plant to slaughter.

City Commission, Board Of Education Plan Meetings

The Hereford City Commission and the Hereford School Board each have scheduled meetings for Monday.

The board of education will meet at 5 p.m. Monday in the administration building and will conduct a formal hearing, as requested, for Wayne Woodward, a teacher at La Plata Junior High whose contract was not renewed earlier this year.

The board had originally scheduled the hearing for last week, but it was postponed until Monday at the request of Woodward's attorney.

The city commission will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in City Hall to let bids for resurfacing of the tennis courts, to consider natural gas rates for the remainder of the year, and to consider speed limits on West Park Avenue.

Bids for resurfacing the tennis courts will be due at 2 p.m. June 16 in the city manager's office. The commission will discuss gas rates in connection with the Pioneer Natural Gas Company, and speed limits on W. Park Avenue may be reduced from 55 to 30 m.p.h. on portions of the street, and a 20 m.p.h. school zone may be established.

4-H Provides Youths Practical Experience

Practical experiences in production, marketing and animal nutrition are a great part of 4-H agriculture projects. But so are group interaction and personal satisfaction, points out Yvonne Garcia, 4-H and youth specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

During 1973-74 more than 70,000 4-H boys and girls in Texas participated in agricultural and related projects.

4-H youth, in talking about their project experiences, point to certain learning aspects and relationships.

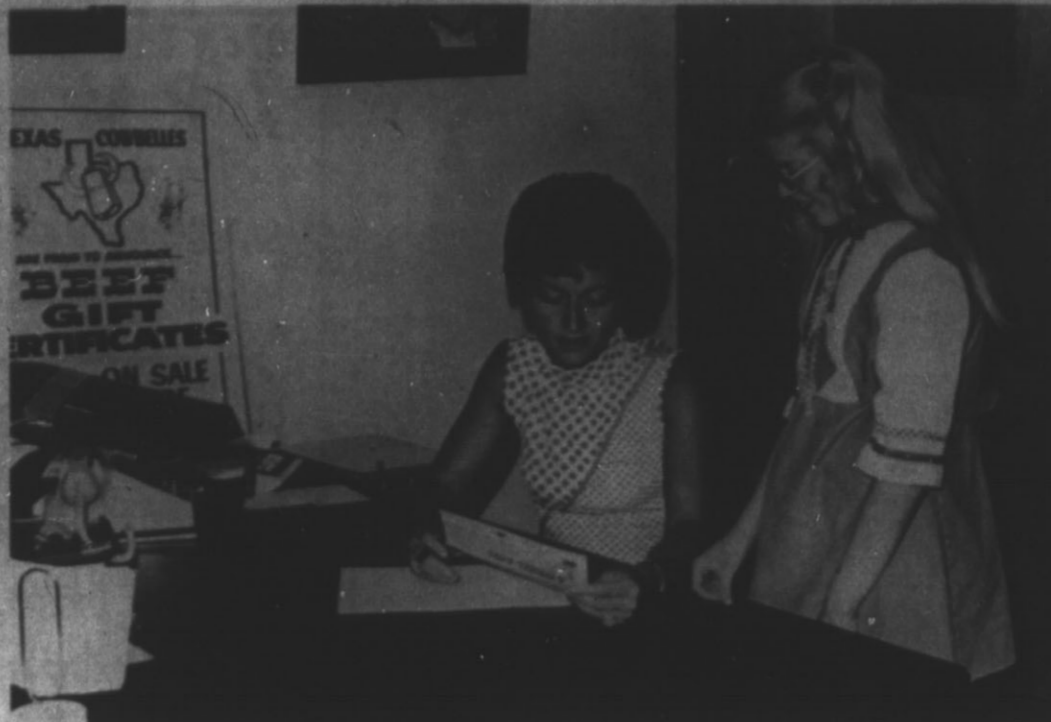

Eddie Perkins of Johnson County recalls, "One of my earliest 4-H memories is coming to the fair to bring my older brothers and sisters' calves. It was so much fun for a small boy to roll and jump in the straw that was put down for bedding."

"Later, when I was finally a 4-H member, I brought my own calves to the show. I met several new friends, and as the years passed, it was fun to renew these friendships over and over again. I never had a Grand Champion, but these memories and experiences are my banner and trophy."

The excitement of winning can be an exciting as well as a maturing learning experience, too, as Jacquelyn Langford of Parmer County discovered.

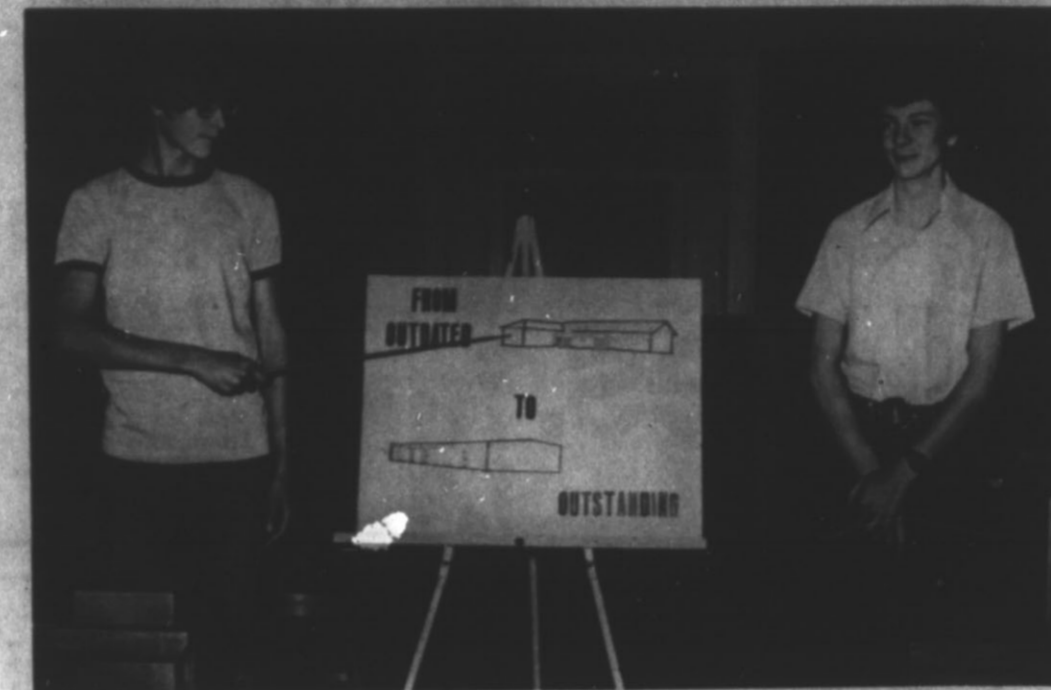

"Having the Grand Champion of the show is a dream come true, and it's a scene I've relived more than once. All my beef cattle projects have really meant a lot to me. But the experiences I've had—getting over my shyness, learning to speak before crowds, relating to others—I wouldn't trade for anything in the whole world."

While these young agriculturalists may one day become knowledgeable professionals, they will also be equipped with life-long skills developed through decision-making opportunities and leadership experiences, contends Garcia.

Mark Betzen and Wes Strain will present their demonstration "Outdated to Outstanding" at the State 4-H Roundup this week. The young men will join other Deaf Smith County 4-H'ers and their leaders as they travel to Texas A&M University for the competition.

Duckwall Announces Gain in Operating Results

Duckwall Stores, Inc., headquartered in Abilene, Kansas, has produced modest gains in operating results for the first fiscal quarter ending April 27. This comes despite the sluggishness of the general economy.

The corporation, which owns the Duckwall Store in The Sugarland Mall, is a general merchandising organization dealing through retail outlets of varying names.

Sales and earnings were up 8 per cent and 9.7 per cent respectively over the comparable period in 1974. Duckwall stores opened one Alco store at Fremont, Nebraska on March 5, 1975. There were no store openings in the first quarter of 1974.

The upward pressures on operating costs have continued since the end of the last fiscal year with wage costs and utility costs showing the sharpest increases. Offsetting these higher expenses to some degree has been an improvement in gross margins on sales resulting from improvements in buying and sales encouraging gains from Alco Stores opened one and two years ago.

with shrinkage problems has been instituted and is producing positive results and should cut profit losses from shrinkage in 1975.

Long term debt with banks was reduced by $291,000 during the first quarter. The terms of the loan call for an annual reduction of this debt at the rate of $1 million per year over the next six years.

A quarterly dividend of $0.04 per share was declared by the Board of Directors at their meeting on May 22, payable on June 18, 1975, to stockholders of record on June 2, 1975.

Clayton Wants Traditional Gifts To Go To Boys Ranch

AUSTIN—In a break with tradition, Speaker Bill Clayton has requested all gifts and contributions usually given to the Speaker and his family on Speaker's Day be given to Cal Farley's Boys Ranch and Girltown, U.S.A. in Whiteface.

During past sessions, House members and friends have honored the leadership of the Speaker during a session of giving presents. This year Speaker's Day activities May 26 were geared toward recognizing the cooperation and work of members and House employees as well as the Speaker.

Clayton said contributions to the charity organizations are still being donated, and he plans to make a formal presentation of the money after the session. He has reiterated his call for contributions, encouraging any persons who still might be interested to contribute. Five receptions were scheduled on Speaker's Day honoring House members, employees and the Capitol news media. Included in the day's activities was a House floor ceremony in which Clayton was presented with a scroll signed by House members and two framed batiks from House employees.

Thirteen former speakers also congregated to honor Clayton. They were seated on the podium behind the speaker during the formal House ceremony.

Speaking to members and guests, Clayton said that the session had been a success because of the hard work of members and their staffs.

"With one week remaining in the session," he said, "I am proud to say that when the smoke is settled and the gavel is silenced, this Legislature will have written a progressive era in Texas history that will be a long time being told."

"When the session began, I knew there were doubts across the state because of the diverse ideologies and political philosophies in the Legislature. The question was whether we could accomplish much for Texas. I'm proud to say that we've passed legislation that people thought would be impossible. You've worked together as a team regardless of your ideologies."

FEDERAL REGULATION! Think we have more than we need? The word from Washington is that "We haven't seen anything, yet!" A good example, or in this case, a bad example of Federal Regulation is the FCC ruling on natural gas for agricultural use. Another piece of pending legislation pertaining to natural gas is S 692 concerning deregulation of "new natural gas."

The effects of passage is (1) unrealistic price for gas which will guarantee little development of new sources, (2) place the same restrictive controls on intra-state markets as are now plaguing the inter-state markets and (3) increase the price to industrial (including agriculture) which of course will ultimately be passed on to consumer of the goods. Bad business from this point of view!

Then if that's not enough, the congress is working to establish a brand new government agency which will really hamstring producers of goods and services. It's called the Agency for Consumer Advocacy-as if there are not enough bureaucratic agencies operating now-this one has a price tag of $80 million to start with but you know how those things have a tendency to grow.

In addition to the uncalled for expense-the new agency will add unprecedented restrictions that will have a dampening

Santa Fe Officials Express Financial Optimism at Meeting

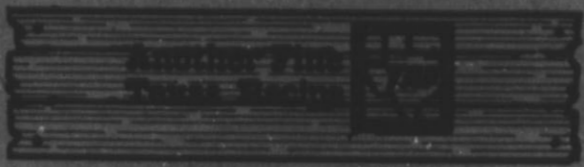

Although net income of Santa Fe Industries, Inc. for the first four months of 1975 was down considerably from the corresponding time period in 1974, officials of the corporation, which includes Santa Fe railway, expressed optimism about future financial prospects of the corporation at the company's annual stockholder meeting in Chicago. John S. Reed, chairman and chief executive officer, told stockholders: "Regardless of the present economic slowdown and the other challenges facing us, I remain personally optimistic about the company's future."

domestic energy sources are relied upon to control the inflation that could otherwise be turned on and off at will by foreign petroleum powers. Our railway should be an important link in a revitalized rail system, and our forest products and building construction groups should benefit from the eventual return to normal levels of construction activity."

Reed indicated an 18 per cent decline in railway business in terms of carloads was primarily responsible for the decline. Santa Fe's experience during this period is apparently in line with that of other rail companies, he said, reflecting a first quarter decline of 11 per cent in "real" GNP, and a decrease of 12.5 per cent in the Industrial Production Index.

Reed spoke affirmatively about the transportation plan submitted to the Congress by President Ford and Secretary of Transportation Coleman. Provisions giving greater freedom to adjust rates, easier branch line abandonment, relief from discriminatory property taxes, low cost financial assistance, and expedited hearings in merger and consolidation cases were described as "badly needed reforms." John C. Davis, vice president, indicated the significant increase in contribution of petroleum to Santa Fe's record 1974 pre-tax income resulted from increases in petroleum prices. He said petroleum earnings and the scope of Santa Fe's exploration program are directly affected by taxation. Elimination of the depletion allowance has already caused reductions of $12 million in the 1975 exploration budget, and passage of the so-called Windfall Profit Tax legislation could result in an additional reduction of $13 million, he said. Reed said that Santa Fe "... enters the last half of this decade in a unique position to be a force in solving some of the nation's present problems. Our petroleum and coal will be increasingly important as

HANG A CARROT

You can get a carrot to sprout all kinds of ferny-looking green foliage without even planting it in soil. Here's how to do it:

Pick out a big fat carrot—the bigger the better. Wash it well, but don't scrape the skin. Snip off any green stems at the fat end. Now lop off the pointy end leaving about five or six inches of length of the thick end. Next, you need to sort of hollow out the piece of carrot you're holding and this can be done with a very sharp knife and small spoon, or with a drill bit. You're making the carrot into its own water-holding urn, you see, so you want to provide space to hold enough water but you also want the sides to be at least a half inch thick so they'll be sturdy.

Now, take a longish nail or other hole puncher and make two holes about an inch down from the lip of your carrot-urn such that a short length of plastic drinking straw can be stuck through to bridge the top opening. This length of straw is then to be threaded with heavy string so that the carrot can be hung in a window which receives plenty of direct sunlight.

Keep the opening in the carrot full of water (don't ever let it dry out) and give it as much sun as possible. You'll soon have all kinds of new growth sprouting from the bottom and growing upward wildly until it practically covers the piece of carrot completely. Every once in a while, you can add a very small amount of water-soluble fertilizer to the water in the carrot opening to spur on new growth if you like, but don't do it more than once every few months and mix the solution very weak before you put it in.

Rhonda Hagar and JoAnn Wagner, accompanied by myself left early this morning to participate in the State 4-H Round-up contest.

JoAnn will be a contestant in the State 4-H Food Show. She'll prepare her dish "Beef Nuggets," before judges, take a nutrition exam and have a personal interview. Should she win, she'll receive $500 scholarship for her efforts. Should she win, she'll receive $500 scholarship for her efforts. Rhoda will give a method demonstration in the Food & Nutrition Category. Her demonstration is entitled, "The Breakfast Game." She really has an outstanding demonstration, as well as being pertinent to teenagers.

On Monday, the rest of the county delegation will begin their journey to State Round-Up. They'll spend Monday night at the new State 4-H Center in Brownwood.

Those going include: Sherry Harder, Garland Stewart, Mrs. G.C. Merritt, Mrs. Neil Barrier, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Olson and Terry Barrier. Representing us at the State Grass Judging Contest will be Micki Merritt, and Sam and Sandee Finley. On the Livestock Judging Team will be Randy and Rudy Coleman, Britt Hicks and Steve Douglas.

Giving a Dairy Demonstration and citing examples of ways to beat the high cost of living, will be Frankie Wells and Randy Fellars. The title of their demonstration is "Nonfat Dry Milk Equals Economy and Convenience."

Mark Betzen and Wes Strain will be giving a demonstration on Community Improvement. This is an actual demonstration of what the Dawn Community has been involved in this past year. It's very timely and also a very cleverly done. The title is "From Outdated to Outstanding."

Managing time is the subject are chosen by LeeAnn Hughes. She has an excellent demonstration entitled, "Does Your Time Get Away From You?" Stephanie Kelsa has chosen window shades as her demonstration. She shows step-by-step, how to make a decorative window shade. Many of you would enjoy learning to make your own shades. Her title is "Window Cover-Up." Good Luck to all of you participants. We know that you'll do a good job.

We have an extra staff member for the month of June and part of July—Sue Shirley—an ex-4-H member from Deaf Smith County. She's doing Extension training with Sherry and I.

She plans a career in Extension service work. We're happy to have Sue working with us and feel fortunate in getting her. She's been a big help to us already, especially in preparing these youth for State Round-Up.

She'll be involved with most of the Extension activities this summer, before she returns to Texas Tech in mid-July to complete her BS degree in Home Economics Education.

Hazards Affect Land Deals

Geologic hazards are not extremely influential in affecting real estate values in Texas, a Texas A&M University geology professor said this week, but should be considered when purchasing land.

Dr. Karl Koenig, associate professor in A&M's geology department, told freshman students in the Studies of Advanced Real Estate Subjects program at Texas A&M that common sense can prevent many of the natural disasters that result from geologic hazards.

Koenig is one of more than 30 industrial and academic leaders in real estate and related fields scheduled to speak to freshman and intermediate SOARS students in the two-week continuing education program.

In the Monday afternoon session, Koenig defined a geologic hazard as "any geological event or feature that may result in injury or loss of life."

"The first step in dealing with geologic hazards is to recognize the hazard," he said.

Koenig stressed the benefits of consulting a geologic engineer to assess new property for possible hazards. These experts can locate possible hazardous conditions and suggest preventative measures, he added.

Koenig listed faulting, swelling, landslides and flooding as geologic hazards typical to many areas of Texas.

"Buildings should be designed to prevent collapse in the event of subsurface movement, or faulting," he said.

The geologist told the class that swelling is caused by a clay that absorbs water and expands, or releases water and contracts.

Landslides and flooding are natural occurrences that cannot be stopped by man, Koenig said. He added that these possibilities need to be considered before building on or altering any property.

Honored At Reunion

Pedro Lafuente and Mrs. Elvira Tizerina. Standing, from left are Ernesto, Carlos and Disiderio Tizerina. Mrs. Tizerina has already seen four generations of her family and expects to see the fifth in the near future.

Reunion Honors Mrs. Tizerina

The children of Mrs. Camilita G. Tizerina honored her at a family reunion held May 24 at the Pioneer Flame Room.

Mrs. Tizerina, a native of Morelos, Coahuila, Mexico, was born in 1893 and came to Texas at the age of four.

She was married June 29, 1907 in Juno, Texas to Enrique Fuentes Tizerina.

The couple made their home in Ozona for eight years and four of their seven children were born there. The Tizerinas then moved to Eden where they resided for 10 years, before moving to Lamesa, where they lived until the death of Mr. Tizerina in 1952.

In 1953 Mrs. Tizerina, her sons and their families moved to Hereford, where her sons all made their home.

Mrs. Tizerina's children include Desiderio, Elvira, Carlos, Luis and Ernesto Tizerina and Leonor Lafuente and Costancia Gomez.

Her son, Luis, served in the Pacific during World War II and also served in the Korean War. He lived in Hereford in 1953 and was killed in an accident.

Mrs. Tizerina was made an outstanding contribution to the U.S., through the service of members of her immediate family in the armed forces.

One of her grandsons, Arturo Tizerina, was killed in action while serving in Vietnam May 10, 1968.

In 1971, her grandson, Abelardo Lafuente, a Vietnam veteran, was killed in an accident.

Among Mrs. Tizerina's other grandsons who served in Vietnam were Oliveros Tizerina, who served with the Army from 1966-69; Charlie Tizerina, who served with the Army from 1966-68; and Gonzalo Lafuente, who served from 1968-71.

At the present, Mrs. Tizerina has three other grandsons serving in the armed forces. They include Luis Tizerina, Jr., Army; Enrique Lafuente, Navy; and Armando Tizerina, Marine.

Mrs. Tizerina has been active in church work with St. Joseph's Mission and with the Mexican-American community. She was one of the first to form the Guadalupe Society, a women's church group, under the direction of Father Raymond in 1950.

Having already seen her family's fourth generation, Mrs. Tizerina is expecting to see the fifth generation soon.

She has a total of 55 grandchildren and 110 great-grandchildren.

Contributions For Keith Criner Accounts Asked

A special account has been established at both Hereford banks for the family of Keith Criner, a counselor for different Hereford schools, to assist in expenses accrued from a recent diagnosis of Hodgkin's Disease. He only found out about his illness from tests in a Houston hospital.

The account was set up by friends of the Criner Family after repeated requests were made to help out the family.

Criner, 32, counsels students at several campuses in Hereford. He taught previously at Central School.

Donations to the funds may be made in amounts at either of the banks. Once collected, the money will be turned over to the family with proper acknowledgements made.

Volunteers Needed For MHMR Center

The Mental Health and Mental Retardation (MHMR) Center in Hereford is seeking volunteer help for different activities conducted throughout the summer months.

Pat Gamel, supervisor of the center, said as many persons as possible are needed on a volunteer basis to help in the Youth Volunteer Program, which is being implemented for the first time. It is open for all persons 16-years-old and over.

A meeting will be held at 7 p.m. Wednesday, June 4, at the MHMR Center to inform those interested in participating.

Basically the activities will include helping with the recreational and counseling duties and general work production of the center. Mrs. Gamel said the volunteers would aid in group activities as well as on field trips on weekends.

One of the specific activities is a three-hour visit each Tuesday night to the West Texas State University recreational center, where the participants of the center may swim.

Volunteers may sign up at the center or by calling 364-6111.

Industries Join Recession Fight

In less than a week 10 per cent of the top 1,000 industries in Texas have indicated they will participate in Gov. Dolph Briscoe's program to make Texas first in economic development.

As Gov. Briscoe unveiled the campaign to fight recession in Texas, he sent letters inviting Texas business to take an active role in the program.

Of the 113 business concerns already responding, 61 indicated they have the potential to increase employment. 33 are considering physical expansion of present facilities and 13 are considering an additional branch location in Texas. Twenty desire assistance in industrial expansion training.

The Texas Industrial Commission is heading a group of five state agencies which are already contacting these industries to supply them the assistance they need in such areas as labor recruitment and training, industrial financing, feasibility studies, market and transportation studies and site and building availability.

Other agencies providing technical assistance are the Texas Education Agency, Texas Employment Commission, Texas Department of Community Affairs and Governor's Division of Planning Coordination.

A.B.A. picks DeBuschere as commissioner.

Brucellosis Program Slows

AUSTIN--"Just plain misinformation" is slowing full implementation of the brucellosis eradication program in Texas, according to Dr. H. Q. Sibley, executive director of the Texas Animal Health Commission.

The State-Federal program was begun in 1934 on a voluntary basis to eliminate this disease, mainly in cattle. Since 1954, regulations have been evolving into a workable system which includes testing cattle to find infection and sending infected animals to slaughter.

Identification of market animals for tracing, investigation of infected herds, and vaccination of replacement calves in high-risk areas are features of the current program.

"Misconceptions and rumors about the program have seriously affected complete cooperation in some counties," Dr. Sibley stated.

For example, reports were recently circulated to cattlemen that the commission would quarantine all of a man's herd, rather than just the pasture where the reactor was found and would extend the quarantine to all adjacent pastures.

"The commission has always had the authority to take these steps, but has not used it except in unusual cases. We have no intention of making it a general policy to quarantine all adjacent or all of a farm or ranch unless the disease distribution warrants such action," Dr. Sibley explained.

"Most cattlemen cooperate with the program. It is those who do not realize the seriousness of the disease who may not be truthful about the location of herds where reactors have been found.

A cooperative education program has been undertaken by the commission, the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the Texas Department of Agriculture, the Texas Farm Bureau, and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The purpose is to

State Contestants

These young ladies will compete in individual demonstrations at the State 4-H Roundup at Texas A&M University this week. Pictured from left are Lee Ann Hughes who will present "Does Your Time Get Away", Stephanie Kelso who will speak on "Window Cover Up" and Rhonda Hagar who will present "The Breakfast Game."

Farm Leader Plans Brief Visit

A national farm leader will be in Texas June 2, 3 and 4.

National Farmers Union President Tony T. Dechant of Denver will meet with farmers and ranchers at Fort Worth, Roby (near Abilene), Lubbock, and Amarillo during his whirlwind visit to Texas.

Dechant returned last week from Paris, France where he attended an Executive Board Meeting of the International Federation of Agricultural Producers. Her serves as vice-president of the organization which is made up of 50 farm organizations from around the world. Dechant will give his first report on the international agricultural meeting while in Texas.

According to the Texas Farmers Union state office in Waco, the national organization president will meet informally with farmers and ranchers at each stop in Texas. A reception for Dechant has been scheduled at the Hilton Inn in downtown Fort Worth at 11:30 a.m. on Monday, June 2. He will travel by private plane to Abilene where he will hold a press conference and then to nearby Roby for a Rolling Plains Farm Income Rally at 8:30 p.m. at the Agriculture Building on the Fair Grounds there.

Dechant will travel to Lubbock on Tuesday for a press conference and a farm rally on Tuesday night, 8:00 p.m., at the Plains Cooperative Oil Mill in Lubbock. He will complete his tour with a stop at Amarillo on Wednesday for a press conference and visit with area farmers and ranchers at the Hilton Inn on Interstate 40 at 8:30 p.m.

Dechant is recognized as one of the foremost authorities on international farm policy. He was born and raised on a western Kansas wheat farm and is still involved in wheat production on the family farm near Hays. He has received numerous awards for his contributions to United States as well as international agriculture.

Jay Naman of Waco, president of Texas Farmers Union, has urged all area farmers and ranchers to come by the meetings "to get acquainted with Tony and to welcome him to Texas."

"We are fortunate to have the president of National Farmers Union in Texas for a few days to give us some insight as to what we might do now that we have no farm bill. Tony Dechant wants a "No holds barred" discussion with farmers and ranchers on their views and to give them an overview of what he saw of international agriculture during his recent visit with the farm leaders from around the world," Naman said.

The Texas Farmers Union state President Naman and Vice-President Joe Rankin of Ralls will accompany the National Farmers Union president while he is in Texas.

He wants to help you tour Europe.

Before you enlist, you can select your station from a long list of Army installations... here and abroad. Right now, Germany is available. You have the opportunity to see the Europe that tourists dream about. This, plus good pay, an interesting job and lots of other benefits are good reasons to see your Army recruiter.

Freeze Damages Peach Crop

AUSTIN--A late freeze that hit much of the state in March destroyed the entire peach crop in the Seminole area of the High Plains and severely damaged peaches in North Texas.

The Seminole area has the largest number of trees at fruit-bearing age.

In East Texas damages ran from minimal to 50 percent loss.

According to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White, these losses will drop the overall peach crop to 375,000 bushels from 375,000 a year ago.

White said Gillespie County suffered some damage but still has a crop set. In South Texas a good fruit crop was set and harvest of early varieties began in late April.

Many U.S. farmers have been trying a familiar gimmick in order to sharply increase income.

They have borrowed up to the hilt from their banks for seed, fertilizer, labor and other expenses with firm intentions of paying back the loans after the 1974 harvest. Only it didn't work out that way for many farmers because commodity prices slid nearly 30 per cent after peaking last October.

Commodity prices rose through most of last year as a result of unanticipated world wide demand for U.S. farm products, so farmers withheld their harvests in hopes that prices would climb even higher during the winter months. Just the opposite happened and many farmers were unwilling to take the losses they faces, hence they were unable to repay their bank loans.

Extensions of 1974 farmers' loans have jumped more than 40 per cent from last year and new loans have shot up as farmers scramble to buy more time.

Net farm income in 1974 fell 37 per cent to $27 billion, but farm indebtedness increased about 25 per cent. In January farm credit associations saw their outstanding loans climb 23 per cent above 1974.

Federal land bank associations which hold mortgages on more than 35 per cent of all farm land in the country, saw their loan totals jump 25 per cent. New loans in January rose 18 per cent. In the Midwest farm belt alone, land bank loans climbed 43 per cent in January.

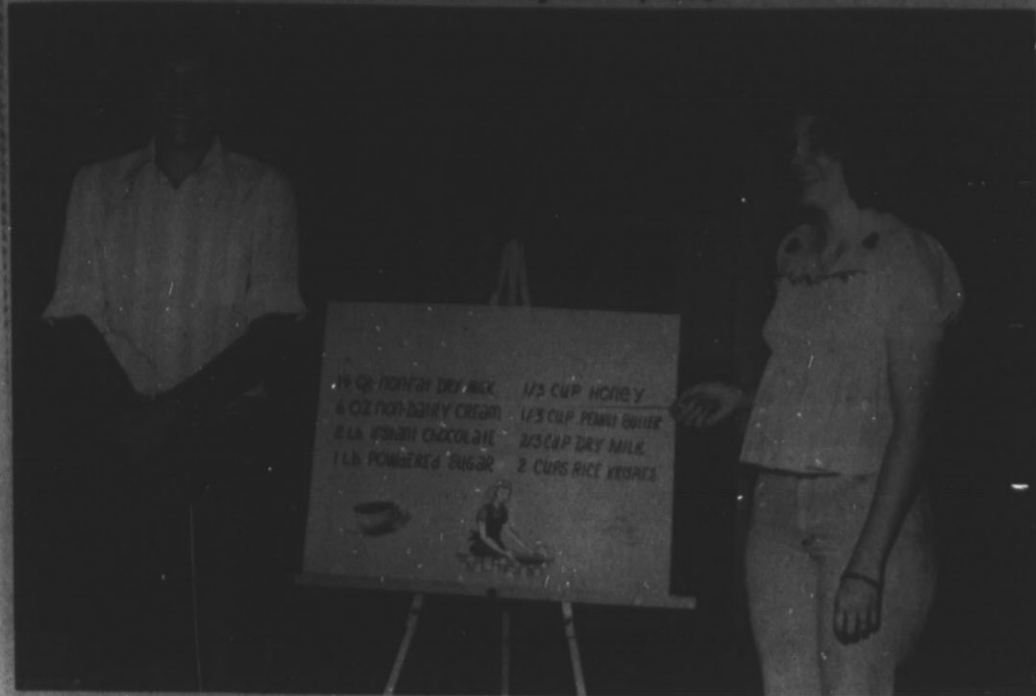

Farmers should have no big problem paying off their loans if commodity prices firm up and crop yields are as good as last year or better. But any drop in production this summer and fall could leave many of them in a cash squeeze.

The credit problem is compounded by the fact that farmers' costs are still climbing while the prices they get for their crops keep sliding. A bushel of seed corn now costs up to $52 per bushel vs. about $46 a few years ago. In all, the cost of planting an average acre of land is now more than $100 compared with $89 only two years ago.

To Compete In Demonstrations

Randy Fellars and Frankie Wells will perform their demonstration "Nonfat Dry Milk Equals Economy and Convenience" at the State 4-H Roundup at Texas A&M University. They represent the Deaf Smith County 4-H.

Veterinarians Vie For Schools

It's hard enough to get into medical schools these days, but students seeking admission to veterinary colleges have an even harder row to hoe.

Latest statistics show that 1 in every 2.7 students applying are now accepted by the nation's medical schools. Veterinary colleges, on the other hand, have room for only 1 in every 7.4 applicants.

The crunch is so bad at Kansas State University, says one official, that some of the state's students have sought admission to a veterinary college which KSU helped organize recently in Nigeria.

Average enrollment in the nation's 19 veterinary colleges is now about 325. And concern is being expressed over the fact that only about 1,300 new veterinarians are being added annually to the 28,300 now practicing in the United States. Agriculturists point out that the nation's food losses due to animal diseases amount to $2.7 billion annually. Sufficient veterinary manpower could significantly reduce this figure, they say.

Save on Taxes... Plan for Retirement

The Pension Reform Act of 1974 permits employed persons not already covered by a retirement plan to establish their own individual retirement accounts using before-tax dollars. You can set aside up to $1,500 a year and subtract it from current taxable income. Besides reducing taxes, you'll have the satisfaction of knowing you're better prepared to enjoy those future retirement years. For information call or visit:

Start Hunting For Hunting Lease Now

Unless you plan to hunt on your own land, hunting wild game in Texas means having a lease.

The November 15 opening day of deer season in most counties might seem like a long way off but now is the time to hunt for a lease, according to officials at the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. Finding a deep lease requires initiative, money, some luck and good timing.

A good way to start your search for a lease is by talking to people who already have leases. They can give you an idea on the part of the state and type of hunting which might appeal to you, whether it is for trophy bucks in the South Texas Brushlands, mule deer in the Trans-Pecos or the smaller but more abundant Hill Country deer.

Through your friends you might find a group which needs an extra hunter. But take your time before accepting; a hunting lease represents a considerable cash investment. Make sure that you are getting a good return on your dollar in recreation. And just as important, make sure you are getting safe and pleasant hunting companions.

"The Texas Almanac" is a good source of information about the state. Each county with good deer hunting is mentioned under the section on recreation. County maps are included.

After selecting some possibilities, write to the chambers of commerce of the county seats where you would like to hunt. In most high-deer population areas of Texas the chambers maintain lists of landowners who accommodate hunters.

Check the want-ad sections of the larger state newspapers and Texas magazines.

Visit the areas which have possibilities. Find out what type of lease is offered. Leases generally fall into four categories: day hunting, year-round, limited duration and guided hunts of a few days.

Does the lease include hunting for species other than deer? Is there fishing? What kind of shelter is available?

All of these factors will influence the lease price as much as the amount of game present.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials say that they can be of little help in finding leases. P&W deer kill estimates are kept by county and do not reflect the amount of game on any ranch. And since leases are income to ranchers, the department cannot make recommendations for private contracts.

Most local Soil Conservation Service offices have aerial photos which might be of value in determining the type of land and vegetation to be expected.

Find out who hunted the lease before. Ask them what they liked and disliked about the area.

Since leases grow more expensive each year, put the contract between yourself and the landowner in writing. A written lease when properly acknowledged can be recorded in the county records and is binding on the landowner should he decide to sell his property.

Gold, White Decorates Church For Marriage

Golden vases of white flowers flanked the altar where Miss Constance Marie Walker of Hereford and James Taylor Galloway of Las Cruces, N.M. were wed Saturday afternoon. The ceremony was performed in St. Anthony's Catholic Church by the Rev. Bernard McGorry, pastor.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Walker of 121 Beach and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Galloway of Olton.

The large bouquets were formed of white gladiolas and white chrysanthemums which were complemented by white bows marking each pew and white cloths draping the kneeling bench.

Miss Cathy Walker served her sister as honor attendant, in addition to other bridesmaids, Miss Paige Miller of Amarillo and Miss Camille Langley.

The bridegroom's brother, Kenny Galloway of Olton, was best man. Groomsmen were the brides brother, Jerry Walker, and the bridegroom's brother-in-law, Stan Parker of Amarillo.

Vocal selections rendered by Ben Gollehon included "Wedding Song," "The Lord's Prayer" and "I Won't Last A Day Without You." Miss Patricia Herr was accompanist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white organza over satin, fashioned with a natural waistline and full circular skirt which swept to a chapel train. Venice lace adorned the shepherdess bodice to depict a bib. The stand-up collar and deep, fitted cuffs on her sheer bishop sleeves were bordered with matching lace. Flowerettes of Venice lace encircled the hemline.

Bands of lace flowers caught the illusion veil of three graduated tiers. Beneath the veil extended a long train outlined with flowerettes interwoven with satin ribbon.

She also wore an heirloom diamond necklace, a gift from her aunt, Mrs. W.O. McClung, and carried a new white lace handkerchief given by her grandmother, the late Mrs. J.H. Goodman.

Her bridal bouquet was made of cascading white roses, miniature white carnations and babybreath.

Carpet-length gowns of sheer blue dotted Swiss were worn by bridal attendants. The empire waist was accented by a blue satin ribbon which was clasped at center front with a tailored bow and long streamers.

V-necklines were mirrored in front and back on the bodice which had sleeves formed of double ruffles. The hemline of the A-line skirt ended in a shirred bounce.

Each bridesmaid carried a nosegay of blue daisies, bachelor buttons and white pompons.

The bride's mother's dress was floor-length with empire style and was made of white polyester knit. A panel of three shades of blue with handscreen roses bordered the bottom of the A-line skirt.

The bridegroom's mother wore a long gown of blue floral fabric with other spring colors. It was styled with short bouffant sleeves, a natural waistline and an A-line skirt which was bordered with a ruffle.

Mothers of the couple were given corsages of double white orchids. White carnation corsages were presented to the bride's grandmother and aunts.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at Hereford Country Club. Mrs. Barry Farris of Canyon and Miss Beverly Vaughn of Fort Worth served the three-tiered bridal cake which was decorated with blue daisies formed of icing and the traditional bride and groom figurines. A punch bowl was positioned on each side of the cake and bouquets of daisies were arranged on the scalloped table cloth.

Punch was ladled by Mrs. Tom Townsend of Carlsbad, N.M. and Miss Kathy Schumacher. Miss Mona Gale Gibson registered guests.

For a wedding trip to points of interest in New Mexico, Mrs. Galloway wore an A-line dress of blue and white polyester knit. She added white accessories and a corsage lifted from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will be at home after their honeymoon at 1410 Telsor boulevard, No. 10, Las Cruces, N.M.

Mrs. Galloway received a bachelor of science degree in nursing recently from West Texas State University, where she was listed on the Dean's Honor Roll. She is a 1971 graduate of Hereford High School and she was a member of the marching bands at both schools.

Also a graduate of WTSU, Galloway holds a bachelor-of-science degree in physics. He is a physicist for TRASANA at White Sands Missile Range, N.M. He graduated from Olton High School in 1970 and was active in band.

Miss Tipton, Hindman Wed At Candlelight Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Janet Lanell Tipton and Scott Dwayne Hindman, both of Canyon, was solemnized Saturday evening in the chapel of First Baptist Church, Borger. The Rev. Paul Burleson, pastor, officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Tipton of Borger are the parents of the bride and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Basil Hindman, also of Borger.

A kneeling bench at the altar was positioned beneath an archway of 16 tapers and flanked by spiral-candelabra and baskets of flowers.

The bride's sisters, Mrs. Karen Cole of Amarillo and Miss Terri Tipton, were honor attendants in addition to Miss Lynda McMurry of Borger, Mrs. Cheri Dehart of Dallas and Miss Kristi Cole of Amarillo.

Mike Wartes was best man.

Groomsmen included the bridegroom's brother, Tracy Hindman of Borger, Mark Haney of Borger and David Herber of Amarillo.

Also walking down the aisle were the flower girl, Miss Kimberly Cole, daughter of Mrs. Karen Cole, and ring-bearer Mike Mankin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Mankin of Canyon. Candlelighters were Misses Shonda Johnson and Jane Johnson, both of Wheeler.

Ushers at the ceremony were Tibby Rogers of Pampa, Frank Smith III of Borger and Roger Morris of Petersburg.

Mrs. Tom Brooks and Mrs. Buddy Stribling provided piano accompaniment for Neal Jordan of Lubbock, who sang "Wedding Song," "Follow Me" and "Wedding Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of silk organza over bridal taffeta designed with a fitted empire bodice. Ruffles outlined the sheer Victorian yoke of cluny lace re-embroidered with verie flowers and pearls.

Her long sheer lace sleeves were fitted at the wrist and fashioned with a slight flare over the hand. Lace threaded with satin ribbon encircled the waistline and tied in a bow at center back with long streamers. Her gathered skirt fell to a deep lace hemline which swept into back fullness and cascaded into a cathedral train.

Seed pearls and a satin ribbon bow adorned the camelot coif which suspended the veil trimmed in cluny lace and draped over the entire, train. Her jewelry included a gold cross necklace. She carried a colonial spring bouquet of long white streamers with love knots.

Floor-length dresses of pale blue fabric were worn by bridal attendants. Lace edged the rounded neckline on the gathered bodice which was sleeveless. A flounce bordered the hem of the A-line skirt. Each wore a pearl choker and carried small baskets of spring flowers. They wore picture hats which complemented their gowns.

Leaving the altar, the bride presented single long-stemmed roses to her mother and the bridegroom's mother.

The newlyweds were honored at a reception immediately after the ceremony in the church parlor. Flowers nestled between the tiers on the three-layered white wedding cake which was topped with wedding bells and doves. Six candlesticks, spring flowers, a silver punch bowl and the bridegroom's cake, shaped like a Bible, were also featured on the serving table.

Refreshments were served on by Mrs. Mike Fox of Amarillo, Miss Cynthia Bass of Borger, Mrs. David Herber of Amarillo, Miss Vicki Cope of Claude and Miss Janna Johnson.

Leaving for a honeymoon trip to Galveston, Mrs. Hindman wore a spring dress of yellow and white with coordinating accessories. The couple will reside briefly at Borger before moving to Plainview.

Couple Married Against Pink, Orchid Backdrop

MRS. AARON BOURLAND
...Nee Rebecca Owen

Garden lanterns, a candle archway and twin spiral candelabra formed the pictorial setting at First Baptist Church Saturday for the twilight marriage of Miss Rebecca Gayle Owen and Aaron Nelson Bourland. The Rev. Doug Manning, pastor, officiated.

The bride, who resides at 208 Roosevelt, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Owen of 340 Elm. Teacher and coach at Hereford High School, Bourland lives at 99 Westhaven and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Bourland of Coleman.

Snapdragons and miniature carnations, depicting the bride's colors of orchid and pink, were clustered in garden lanterns which were coupled with spiral candelabra on each side of the archway.

Matron of honor responsibilities were filled by Mrs. D.F. Pfeifer of Grand Prairie. Doug Frick of Allen was best man.

Serving their sister as bridesmaids were Miss Barbara and Miss Brenda Owen. Groomsmen included Bobby Faught of Textline and Melvin Bell of Amarillo.

Escorting wedding guests were Weldon Owen of Carrollton, Mo., Larry Walls, Roy Shipp and Don Cumpton of Fritch.

Carrying a basket of pink roses and orchid daisies was the flower girl, Leah Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Williams of San Angelo. Her brother, Rick Williams, was ring bearer. Beth Owen and Bryan Bourland, sister and brother of the couple lighted the candles.

"The Lord's Prayer" and "We've Only Just Begun" were vocalized by Mrs. Dan Belbeck of Greeley, Colo., cousin of the bride. Also, Bill Devers sang "Twelfth of Never." Accompanist for both soloists was Mrs. Joe Shultz at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white silk organza over bridal taffeta designed with a fitted empire bodice. Her shadow neckline was threaded by venise lace in a floral pattern. Deep cuffs clasped the long sheer sleeves of bishop styling.

A double ruffle of organza adorned with venise lace bordered the A-line skirt which swept to back fullness and formed a full chapel-length train. Appliques of matching lace in a floral pattern embellished the entire gown.

Her tiered veil of bridal illusion was edged in lace and fell to elbow-length from a camelot cap of lace. She wore a pearl strand necklace and carried a nosegay of pink sweetheart roses and stephanotis.

Orchid satin with a matching overlay of sheer delight formed the floor-length dresses worn by bridal attendants. Each was styled with sheperdesa empire bodices, cameo neckline and short sleeves. A flounce edged the A-line skirt. Junior attendants were clad in similar design gowns of pink.

Their bouquets were fashioned like the bride's.

Snapdragons, roses and carnations were prominent at the post-marriage reception in the church Fellowship Hall. Three tiers of heart-shaped cakes centered the bride's serving table which was draped with a white floor-length cloth. An epergne entwined with flowers complemented the decoration.

Presiding at the bride's table were her cousin, Miss Kim Hodges of Lubbock and Mrs. B.J. Gilliland. Mrs. Don Cumpton of Fritch ladled punch.

German chocolate cake and coffee were offered at the bridegroom's table by his sister, Mrs. Dan Williams, and Mrs. Roy Shipp.

Changing from her bridal costume, Mrs. Bourland wore a navy blue pantsuit, red shell and harmonizing scarf tied around her neck.

The couple are at home now at 99 Westhaven.

A graduate of Hereford High School, Mrs. Bourland completed studies at Tarrant County Junior College in 1971. She is employed as a teacher's aide by the Hereford Independent School District.

A graduate of West Texas State University, Bourland is also engaged in the HISD and is an alumnus of Coleman High School.

Mrs. Gilliland and Mrs. Williams registered guests who included the bridegroom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Plante of Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Owen of Carrollton, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. Keith Hodges and family of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Homer Owen and sons of Waco; Mr. and Mrs. Phil Scaggs and family of Lamesa; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Wilson of Edmund, Okla.

Pre-nuptial courtesies included the rehearsal dinner Friday evening at K-Bob's where the bridegroom's parents were host and hostess.

Society Elects New President

Mrs. George Turrentine was elected president of Deaf Smith County Historical Society during the annual membership meeting Sunday at the County Historical Museum.

Also chosen to serve were Mrs. Juston McBride, vice president in charge of displays; Mrs. Virgil Marsh, vice president in charge of membership; Mrs. Austin Rose Jr., secretary; Mrs. Sue James, treasurer.

Board of directors who were re-instated included Mmes. Rose, Richard Barnard and Marsh. During the business meeting, Mrs. Jack Gilliland, executive director of the local museum, announced that more memberships are expected to be received in the near future.

Family Life

Despite modern "kicks" of youngsters trying to be different, commune living, free love and women's lib fads, family life remains the overwhelming choice of most Americans.

Studies show it is most satisfying for most people. Polls reveal married couples are happier than single individuals.

And, of course, the best way to bring children into the world is through family life, where normal love, care and guidance are best imparted to babies and youngsters.

The institution of marriage, therefore, is vital to the national welfare, an almost-sacred one.

Local Teacher Marries Amarillo Store Manager

Miss Susan Marie Lindemann of Canyon was the bride of James L.G. McDivitt of Amarillo Saturday evening in Saint Mary's Catholic Church at UMBARGER. Officiant was Monsignor Matthew Schafle, pastor.

The bride, who taught English at Hereford High School this year, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew H. Lindemann of UMBARGER. McDivitt is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John G. McDivitt of Amarillo.

The center altar was bedecked with bouquets of spring flowers, including yellow gladiolas, daisies, irises, carnations, chrysanthemums and sinuata statice. Smaller arrangements of similar style embellished each of the side altars.

The matron of honor was Mrs. John Shenk, the bridegroom's sister from Amarillo, who was dressed in pink. The bridegroom's brother, John W. McDivitt of Peoria, Ill. was best man.

Other bridal attendants included the bride's sister, Miss Shirley Lindemann of UMBARGER, in blue; another sister, Miss Sharon Lindemann of UMBARGER, in yellow; and Mrs. Barry Stevens of Canyon, in green.

Clad in tuxedos, groomsmen were the bridegroom's brother-in-law, John Shenk, Don Furman, and Gary Conaway, all of Amarillo. Ushering guests to their seats were Mansel Wilbanks and Reuben Morgan, both of Amarillo.

Wedding solos were presented by Miss Sharon Lindemann who sang "Whither Thou Goest" and Miss Susan Shenk, who vocalized "Follow Me." Piano accompaniment was provided by Mrs. Don Dolle who also played the processional from "The Sound of Music" and Rossini's recessional.

Miss Shirley Lindemann gave a guitar rendition of "Prayer of Saint Francis" and Miss Sharon Lindemann led the congregation in an offertory hymn, "The Spirit Of The Lord" and a communion hymn, "They'll Know We Are Christians."

Prior to the ceremony, the following pieces were heard: "Hawaiian Wedding Song," "Some Enchanted Evening," "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," "Love's Old Sweet Song" and "Lara's Theme" from Dr. Zhivago.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a toe-tip length gown of candlelight silk organza and cluny lace with a fitted empire bodice of lace overlay, forming a sheer yoke and pinafore-effect at the shoulders. Miniature tucks and buttons ornamented the bodice front.

Lace aligned the long, tapered sheer sleeves which flared slightly over her wrists. Pink satin ribbon outlined the sleeves and waistline, forming a bow at center back.

The bodice design was complemented by a similar motif on the long flowing skirt which was encircled by lace at the hem and swept into a full chapel train.

A pink satin ribbon on the cluny lace camelot, coil held the tiered, chapel-length veil of bridal illusion. Her nosegay, clasped with rainbow colored streamers, included pink sweetheart roses, pink sensation roses and stephanotis.

Heirloom accessories included a dinner ring set with diamonds from her mother's wedding jewelry and a handkerchief which belonged to her great-great-grandmother.

The bridegroom's attire included a morning gray tuxedo jacket and white pin-striped, gray pants.

Rainbow colors were presented in satin-lined, silk organza dresses worn by the bridal attendants. Each was floor-length, sleeveless and had fitted bodices with inset midriff and sash. Ruffles bordered the cameo necklines in front and back, corresponding to the flared skirt. Spring flowers formed the hairpiece and nosegay.

Heirloom accessories included a dinner ring set with diamonds from her mother's wedding jewelry and a handkerchief which belonged to her great-great-grandmother.

The couple will reside at 4816 Hall, Amarillo.

A silk organza dress of lavender and green pattern was worn by the bride's mother. Ruffles traced the v-neckline on the shepherdess bodice and the long fitted sleeves. It was designed with a flared skirt.

The bridegroom's mother was clothed in a long-sleeved shirtwaist dress of peach colored fabric. It was cinched with a belt.

Corsages of pastel spring flowers and white rosebuds were presented to the mothers of the couple.

Wedding guests attended a reception honoring the newlyweds in the parish hall following the ceremony. Mrs. Gray Stark and Mrs. Sandy Hair served the bride's cake which was decorated with candlelight and pink icing. Fresh spring flowers crowned the top and nestled between the tiers; the base of the cake was surrounded by a garland of greenery.

The brides' table was covered with a candlelight cloth swept into swags by pink bows.

Traditional bride and groom figurines topped the two-tiered cake at the bridegroom's table where Mrs. Jimmy Owen presided. The table was draped by a gray cloth beneath a ruffled candlelight panel.

Beverages were served by Miss Susan Shenk, Miss Juanita Hartman and Mmes. Paul Dettien, Joe Don Morris and Dennis Donohoo. Miss Kathie Donohoo, the bride's cousin, registered guests. A dance followed the reception.

GOLDMASTER DIAMOND CENTER

Cowan Jewelers Downtown

Genuine, Synthetic and Imitations

Fortunately, the jewelry buying public is beginning to realize that only diamond is diamond. True, one still sees ads for jewelry set with "diamondstars" or "radiamonds" or whatever. But, hopefully, people understand that although these stones are colorless and cut like a diamond is cut, they are not diamonds. They are not even close.

There is room in the jewelry market for these diamond imitations. They are fashioned from synthetic gem material and set in jewelry to give the appearance of diamonds. One could loosely categorize gemstones as genuine, synthetic and imitations.

Genuine gemstones are a gift from nature. They are usually dug from the ground, sorted from gravels, separated from host rocks... in a variety of ways. A sub-category is treated genuine gemstones. Colors can be enhanced by heating, by radiation, by any number of techniques. Genuine gemstones can also be assembled. That is, the top of the stone may be a cap of opal, garnet... which is glued to a base of less valuable, or more durable, material. These doublets and triplets are often attractive.

Synthetic gemstones have the same properties as genuine gems, but they are made by man. Sapphire and ruby are popular and attractive in their synthesis. Emeralds are factory produced by a number of means. Some have been man-made opal, turquoise and alexandrite. Synthetic garnet, spinel and sapphire are synthesized in colorless varieties and are used—back to paragraph one—to imitate diamonds.

Imitation gemstones can be anything from glass (called paste) and plastic to the sophisticated products of science noted above. As an American Gem Society jeweler, I am pledged to give a full description of every gemstone I sell. The art of the jeweler is complex indeed. It would give me great pleasure to continue this discussion in person. Drop by.

FOR SO MANY PEOPLE

To The Graduate

June, 1975, is to be the first month of post-school life for millions of young Americans. Since they enter the stage of life at a time when there is much printed and spoken abuse of their country and its government, a word on the U.S. record is in order.

Our country's constitutional republican form of government has survived in its present form longer than any other in the world. The founding fathers of the nation, when they established the system, were ahead of their time, and they built a system flexible enough to change with changing times.

There are imperfections in the system and injustices in government and governing, but taken as a whole, the average citizen in the United States has something closer to an equal chance, economically and socially, than in any other major country. That is saying much for America, because we are a melting-pot nation of many races and religions.

We are an experimental nation in this sense. At our beginning two hundred years ago many sophisticated European scholars and philosophers predicted the idealistic principles and laws on which the new republic had been founded and would operate could not possibly survive; they felt a country composed of so many divergent nationalities and beliefs could not coalesce into a united nation.

Looking back on history, what has been the record? It is not perfect, but the people of this country have built the richest nation in the world, a nation of individual freedom for all, a nation which has never lost a war, a nation which constantly seeks to improve itself, to uplift the disadvantaged. We have a long way to go, yet, but that is not a bad start. Every newly-graduated young citizen should not casually accept these many blessings without an humble sense of thanksgiving and appreciation of the efforts and accomplishment of those who have gone before—who have done so much for all those starting out of 1975.

Barring Wallace

In several states frantic efforts have been, or are being made, to cancel presidential primaries or change primary formats so that Alabama Governor George Wallace won't be able to obtain delegates to the National Democratic Convention next summer.

What this amounts to is political rigging, by officials or party leaders, to load the dice against Governor Wallace.

Whatever one's views on the Alabama Governor, this is bad practice and bad policy in a democracy. If Wallace is able to obtain enough delegates, under existing conditions, he is entitled to them. If he gains the support of a majority of delegates, he is entitled to the Democratic nomination—whatever the political outcome.

Democracy can only work if the people are allowed to express their will. If the will of a majority of Democrats is that Wallace be the candidate of the party in 1976, he should be the candidate. The more political rigging and maneuvering among the powers that be, to bar Wallace, the more likely Wallace is to gain delegates, and a nomination.

The Democratic Ideal

There are indications most of the people in Saigon welcomed the Vietcong and North Vietnamese troops when they entered the city recently.

Of course, it's also true that many were genuinely afraid of the new regime—and for good reasons—and fled or tried to flee. Many of these had fought against the Vietcong, had worked with Americans, or Catholics certain to lose political and educational power, etc.

Which brings us to the question of the democratic ideal—majority rule. If the majority favored the new regime, the Vietnamese now have what they favored. The truth is, of course, these people do not know democracy, have never known it, and are probably not now capable of sustaining it.

The hope is that, at some evolutionary time in the future, individual liberty and personal freedom will come to the people of a united Indochina. Until then, the majority is entitled to the government it favors—and there are many indications the Vietcong was more popular among the Vietnamese people than the American-backed Thieu regime.

Business and You

By Jack Wooldridge
Communications General Manager
U. S. Chamber of Commerce

If the words "capital investment" don't turn you on, you're not alone.

Few people are really concerned about our country's capital investment problem—and it is a problem. But it affects your life and everyone else's because it affects the number of jobs we have available and our standard of living.

So the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and several other national organizations recently sponsored a National Conference on Capital Investment and Employment. The picture that emerged was grim, but the conclusion was that we can solve the problem, if we do the right things. To back up a little, capital investment means that money we put into plants and tools, as well as some other assets like buildings and housing. Most of the time, the expression is used to describe money put into industrial plants and equipment.

The problem simply is that we haven't been putting enough money into capital investment. It is further compounded by the fact that we must put a great deal more into such investment if we're going to provide enough jobs and to maintain our standard of living.

Of course the money must come from somewhere, so we're down to basics. It can come only from savings by government, business and individuals. And none of us has been saving enough.

Gaylord Freeman, Chairman of the Board of the First National Bank of Chicago, put it this way at the National Conference:

"Perhaps the most significant aspect of our three decades of post-war life was our dedication to a consumer society. It was great. It built a great automobile industry, a great appliance industry, a great TV industry, created jobs and gave us all pleasure. Everyone envied us."
"But there was one flaw. We lost our Calvinist precepts. On a national scale there seemed no longer any real need to balance the budget. We could spend and borrow. Let future generations pay the price. Perhaps this led to inflation, but we could live with it."

"On a personal scale the same was true. There was no need to save, in fact, saving was foolish. It was better to go into debt for you could pay the interest and ultimately the principal with cheaper dollars."

sure, people saved some but not nearly enough. Government didn't make any savings. We ran large deficits and paid for a lot of them by increasing the money supply—in effect by printing money. Our tax structure didn't let business save enough to spend on the plant and equipment it needed.

In time, we generated inflation and recession. A lot of our goods were priced out of world markets and our productivity slowed down.

Unfortunately, experts at the Conference predicted that our future problems would be even worse. In the next ten years, we need capital investment of around $4 trillion, which is hard even to imagine. Our energy industry must invest more than $300 billion alone.

Where will it all come from? Practically all analysts agree that the federal government must reduce its deficits, so that it doesn't soak up so much of the available money. People must save more and business must have greater incentives to invest profits in job-creating plant and equipment.

Listen to L. William Seidman, President Ford's economic aide:

"Continued prosperity cannot be taken for granted. It must be earned. We must be willing to allocate more of our resources to the future and fewer to satisfying the demands of immediate consumption. The simple truth is that we cannot consume more than we produce should be obvious, but it isn't. Therefore, the curtailment of consumption becomes not only an economic problem—it consumption continues unabated, that is—but a political one, as well. Government programs must begin to reflect the basic fact that savings and investment, at the private level, provide a great deal of the driving force of our economy. We cannot continue to consume our seed corn at the expense of long-term growth and prosperity."

"Rather than continue our patterns of consumption, we must create a climate of incentives in which private savings and investment can flourish. Many government policies need reviewing in light of our investment capital and requirements..."

"Government policies must be changed so that they can deal more flexibly and realistically with a society which has changed dramatically, economically, socially and politically during the last 15 years. Our investment needs demand that we investigate and evaluate our policies at every level, and change them where necessary and in ways which will do the most good."

"We must reinvigorate the economy and insure our future well-being by creating an atmosphere in which work, savings and investment in the private sector, which is the backbone of the country, can be made more rewarding in every way."

Talk of Texas

By Jack Maguire

FOOTNOTE TO HISTORY—This is the 100th anniversary of the Mason County War, one of the bloodiest feuds in the history of Texas.

Strictly speaking, it was not a "war" but a fight between neighbors over the stealing of cattle. It began early in 1875 when Sheriff John Clark arrested nine men for rustling cattle. Four escaped jail, and on February 18, 1875 a mob of 40 took the remaining five from their cells and hanged them.

On May 13, 1875, Deputy Sheriff John Worley went to the community of Castell and arrested a prominent cattleman named Tim Williamson on a charge of cattle theft. As the two rode toward Mason where Williamson was to make bond, they were attacked by 12 men and Williamson was killed. A former Texas Ranger named Scott Cooley decided to revenge the death of his friend, Williamson, and the feud erupted in earnest.

One of the first victims of the retaliation was Deputy Sheriff Worley. At least a dozen others were killed and most of the victims also were scalped.

In September, Governor Rich Coke ordered a company of 20 Texas Rangers into the area to try and quiet the difficulties. With the Rangers riding herd, the feud subsided for awhile. Early in 1876, however, it erupted again. Several scattered fights took place during that year, but most of the killing was over.

No trial in Mason County ever convicted a man of either faction for any of the murders. Eventually the area settled down to peace and quiet.

IT'S THE LAW—The horse, not

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Deaf Smith grass farm on Bootleg Corner looks at TV commercials this week, or something.

Dear editor:

That government that governs least is not necessarily the best, any more than the one that governs the most is. Somewhere in between there ought to be some sort of a happy medium, but it doesn't look like it's being struck.

For instance, the governmental agency that regulates television has come out with a ruling that's going to throw a monkey wrench in TV commercials. If two women are comparing detergents, it says, and pretending to be next-door neighbors but in reality are actors, then the commercial has got to say so. If a man claims his wife whom he loves very much eats right, exercises and takes two of those tablets every day to make sure the patent medicine company makes money, then, I suppose, she really has to take two of the things every day, plus exercising and eating right. And if her husband the automobile, has preemptive rights on Texas highways.

State law says that every person having control of a motor vehicle upon a public highway and approaching a hitched or ridden horse shall exercise every precaution to prevent frightening the animal and insuring the safety of the rider.

If the rider signals the motor vehicle to stop, it must do so. If must remain stopped until the rider has control of his mount, unless movement is absolutely necessary to prevent accident or injury.

VISIT TO YESTERDAY—In Trenton, Fannin County, the calendar may say it's 1975, but step inside the Y. B. Reed & Co. hardware store and time rolls back 65 years.

Opened in 1910, almost nothing about the establishment has changed since.

The store still has kegs of square nails, a wide selection of kerosene lamps and chimneys and Atwater Kent radios. There's a phonograph record department, but don't ask for anything by a rock band. Many of the old Edison records were made as long as 74 years ago.

Charlie Richardson, the store's only employe, has been on the payroll since 1923!

MAIL CALL—E.W. Moran, Sr., of Wichita Falls asks if "Talk of Texas" knows how to make "border buttermilk," favorite drink of the Rio Grande Valley.

It's easy. To six ounces of rum or tequila, add six ounces of frozen lemonade concentrate. Put in a blender filled with crushed ice. Blend until the mixture is the consistency of thick cream. Then sip, don't gulp.

stops loving her I suppose she's got to get one that does or drop the commercial.

I don't understand such rulings. If women can be taken in by two hired actors' praisings soap, there's not a governmental agency in the universe smart enough to devise a law to protect them. If they start taking two tablets a day because some bright-eyed actress claims she does, let em.

If you're going to have complete honesty on television, the next step of course would be to require Marshal Dillon to use live bullets. And when a villain swerves his car off a mountain road and over a cliff, her's got to be in it. Be a good way to stop some the shows.

I'll tell you, when you start requiring actors who brag on buses to ride them, actors who tout medicine to take the stuff, actors who smack their lips over corn flakes to eat the things, you're going to wreck television, not to mention having a lot of sick actors.

Maybe the people in the Washington bureaus are taken in by such commercials and need protecting, but people around here mostly just mutter and guffaw.

You reckon we need a law prohibiting law-makers from making any more laws for a while?

Yours Faithfully,
J.A.

Vows Pledged By Miss Vestal, Baird

Miss Linda Faye Vestal and Ross Robert Baird, both of Hereford, repeated nuptial vows Saturday evening in the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sanders, at O'Donnell.

Dr. Fred D. Howard, Bible professor at Wayland Baptist College, Plainview, officiated.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gurnie E. Vestal of O'Donnell and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest O. Baird, Route 5.

The ceremony was conducted at the hearth, which was flanked by baskets of pale pink gladioli decorated with white satin streamers.

Serving as matron of honor was Mrs. Mary Ruth Baird, the bridegroom's sister-in-law. The best man was the Rev. Michael Hale of Stephenville, the bridegroom's brother-in-law.

Ushering guests at the home wedding were the bride's nephews, Don Alan and Stanley Mack Forbes, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Forbes of O'Donnell.

Another of the Forbes' children, Rhonda Rene, appeared as the flower girl. Her counterpart, Trey Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Baird of Amarillo, carried the wedding rings.

"The Wonder Of You," "Wedding Prayer" and "My Wonderful One" were principal wedding selections sung by Mrs. Mack Forbes, the bride's sister. Accompanist was Mrs. C.A. Doss, O'Donnell.

The bride wore a carpet-length gown of pale pink chiffon styled with a fitted bodice and full flowing skirt. Sequins embroidered the high waistline, wedding ring neckline and deep fitted cuffs which clasped the long sheer bouffant sleeves.

For accessories, she wore pearl earrings which belonged to her aunt. Her cascading bouquet included pink pompon chrysanthemums, pink roses and gypsophila.

Long dresses of mint green were worn by bridal attendants. White lace centered with tiny pink rosebuds outlined the empire waistline at the top of the A-line skirt. Each carried a nosegay of pink pompon chrysanthemums and baby-breath.

A reception was held in the Sanders' home following the ceremony. Miss Monalea Morgan of Amarillo served the three-tiered wedding cake which was set on pillars, encircled with fresh flowers and crowned with miniature white doves. Pale pink satin streamers marked the corners of the sheer floor-length table cloth.

The matron of honor bouquet was used as the centerpiece on the serving table which featured crystal appointments. Punch was poured by Miss Susie Lacy of Rosewell, N.M.

Miss Katrina Sue Sanders of O'Donnell registered guests from the surrounding area, including Hereford, Amarillo, Pampa, Sheffield, Stephenville, Stanton, Plainview and Roswell, N.M.

Prepared for a wedding trip to San Antonio, Mrs. Baird wore a navy and white dress ensemble of cotton and polyester. Red binding trimmed the sleeveless white bodice which she wore with a pleated skirt. Complementing the suit were a matching jacket with white collar and cuffs and white and navy accessories.

The couple will be at home after June 5 at 110 16th St.

A graduate of O'Donnell High School, Mrs. Baird received a bachelor of science degree from Lubbock Christian College. She is presently teaching third grade at Shirely Elementary School.

Her husband graduated from Hereford High School in 1969 and works in the drilling division of Big T Pump Company.

GSPB Sets June Meet

The Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board will conduct its regular bimonthly meeting beginning at 9:30 a.m. June 17 in the City National Bank of Plainview, according to board chairman C.C. "Pap" Reed of Kress.

Heading the list of agenda items will be discussion of recent Federal Power Commission hearings conducted in Lubbock, Albuquerque, N.M., Phoenix, Ariz. and Washington, D.C. The outcome of the ruling could ultimately decide the future of irrigated farming in the united states, according to informed observers.

Board representatives Nathan Boardman of Crosbyton, Larry Witten of Olton and K.B. Parish of Sprinklake, presented testimony during the Lubbock hearings concerning the necessity of natural gas for irrigation on the High Plains.

Elbert Harp, TGSPB executive director, will report on his recent trip to Eastern Europe where, in his role as chairman of the U.S. Feed Grains Council, he inspected council projects and promoted the use of American feed grains.

More Profit In Acid-Treated Corn, Says Nelson

R.W. Nelson, president of Kemlin Industries Inc., speaking to cattle feeders and elevator operators during a seminar on high moisture grain at the Hereford Country Club Wednesday, told his audience that research has shown that feeding acid-treated high moisture corn could result in a $12 extra profit per ton of grain fed and a two per cent hike in swine feed conversion efficiency.

Nelson also pointed out that research at Kansas State University has revealed that acid treated high moisture corn, when fed cattle in a 112-day trial, meant an extra profit of $13.44 per head. The acid treated corn was compared with untreated steam-flaked grain in the trial.

Based in Des Moines, Iowa, Kemlin Industries manufactures Grain Treet, an acid preservative used to retard mold development in high moisture grains.

The firm is also a manufacturer of preservatives, flavors, surfactants, mold inhibitors and deodorants and was formed in 1960. It now has 30 domestic and nine foreign distributors.

Nelson told his audience that corn should be treated as soon after harvesting as possible with an application of 10 pounds of Grain Treet per ton of grain. He also recommended treating the storage area with insecticide if the grain is to be held for a long period of time and said the treatment application should be increased with high lysine corn.

According to Dr. Malcolm Asplund, University of Missouri associate professor in the Animal Science Research Center, the only other methods for handling high moisture grain and avoiding molding is with airtight storage or silage.

Dr. Asplund pointed to less handling loss, better flaking, and less dust and caking as benefits of acid preservation.

"High moisture corn equals dried grain at the very least," said Dr. Asplund. "The moisture gives the feeder about 200 more pounds of grain per ton because of the extra water, making for better utilization.

On a pound-per-pound feeding basis, the value of high moisture and dry grain should be the same," he added.

Pitman Industries feed yard manager Pitts Harrison reported on the use of treated grain at his facilities and said that 60,000 tons of preserved corn with a moisture content of about 25 per cent has been stored during the past few months by Pitman.

Harrison reported that the softkerneled treated corn cuts steaming time in half at the feed mill and the flake is also maintained. Sufficient quantities of grain can be processed at one time to allow skipping a day of processing without danger of molding.

According to Harrison, treatment costs for Pitman Industries are approximately $5 per ton.

West Friona Grains Don Huckabee reported on his firm's success in storing treated grain outside, and said that he used an acid application of about three-fourths pound per 100 pounds of grain.

He commented that a small percentage of grain was lost when West Friona had 12 million pounds on the ground with a moisture content of approximately 25 per cent.

The corn was kept on the ground for four months at a treatment cost of 28 cents per hundredweight.

Those attending the seminar toured the Pitman and West Friona facilities.

Customers Study Market

U.S. wheat customer representatives with annual import needs exceeding one-third the volume that is expected to be produced in Texas this bumper crop year arrived in Texas recently for a four-day study of wheat marketing, transportation and quality maintenance facilities.

The four-man government-industry wheat team from Indonesia each has major responsibility for the purchase or use in flour milling of wheats from the world's markets which will exceed 1.225 mil. M.T. (45,325,000 million bushels) during the current marketing year, according to Ken Kendrick, chairman of the Texas Wheat Producers Board, which is host and director of the groups activities while in Texas on a three week U.S. wheat study mission.

Members of the visiting team include: Mr. M. Layuk Allo, Head, cash purchase section, BULOG (the government purchasing agency); Mr. Frederik Toding, Head of Transportation Operations, BULOG; Mr. Hau Tau Seng, Staff Engineer, P.T. Prima, Indonesia Ujung Pandang (flour mills, 37,000 bushels per day capacity); Mr. Subianto, Asst. Head Miller, Bogasari Surabaya (flour Mills, 66,600 bushels per day capacity). The group is accompanied by Mr. Allen Hunt, Regional Director, Western Wheat Associates, Singapore, the U.S. wheat producers representative in Southeast Asia.

Other wheat areas to be visited by the Indonesians while in the U.S. include, Oregon, Washington, Colorado, Kansas and Washington, D.C.

On The Turnrow

By Jim Stolert

With the cattle situation what it has been the past couple of years, it was good to talk to a few feedlot managers this week who said that feeders, for the moment, are realizing some profit on their finished animals.

Certainly it has been long enough in coming, and there aren't too many willing to guess how long the current improved situation will remain with us. There are so many interrelated things that have a bearing on the cattle feeding industry, the price of feed grain being one of the major items.

I don't think anyone wants to see the price of feed grain drop so low as to hurt those who produce it, and certainly the cattle feeder doesn't want that price to soar to a peak which eats away the chance of a profit on his part.

In the meantime, production costs for both the farmer and the cattle finisher climb higher, and remaining in operation is a battle for both factions.

There are probably a lot of us who have been waiting to see if things will ever level out again at a happy medium with prices favorable to both the farmer and cattleman.

In the meantime, I'll be the first to agree that the cattle feeder is entitled to whatever profits he can secure from his enterprise. After the beating the feeder has taken during the past two years in the market place, it's going to take a while to make up the frightful losses he's suffered.

Occasionally when sorting through the mail that crosses our desk, we come up with some interesting figures and statistics, not that we're all that keen on statistics, but they do make a point sometimes.

While looking through a copy of "The Ranch-Farm Picture", we found this breakdown on the use of feed grains:

Of total feed grains used, hogs eat nearly 30 per cent, fed cattle 26 per cent, poultry 18 per cent, dairy cattle 12 per cent, and beef cattle not on feed around 5 per cent. Fed cattle consume 62 per cent of grain sorghum, poultry 17 per cent and cattle seven percent.

Lots of farmers are arriving at the conclusion that tailwater reclamation systems make plenty of sense. Spokesmen for High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 in Lubbock now say that it also literally makes cents.

They say if you have already invested $10 per acre-foot in energy costs to lift your groundwater, an additional cost of about $1.50 for energy costs to reuse the water through a tailwater return system would be preferable to pumping more groundwater at the $10 cost figure.

The USDA reported in a recent news release that expenditures for a farm family in 1973 were $10,786, compared to expenditures of $9,308 in 1965. Transportation purchases and operations took the largest share of the 1973 figure.

Most of my local sources tell me the wheat harvest is going to be slightly late this year, and depending on who you talk to, harvest should start anywhere from June 12-20.

Reports indicate that there are some fair patches of dryland wheat scattered across the county and much of the irrigated wheat is looking good.

The Brand will be featuring a special agricultural section about the time the wheat harvest goes into full swing. Tentative date for the appearance of the special section is Sunday, June 15.

We're busy coming up with feature ideas for the section right now. We think it will be interesting and informative.

Watch the Brand for announcements and details concerning the special agricultural section.

SPRING: Indeed Spring is like a great magician. Lovely, exciting spring with its gentle breezes and lush spring blossoms stirs anew our desires to plant, grow and share.

Our town is becoming more beautiful each day with the addition of opening blossoms including roses, peonies, heliotrope, Johnny-jump-ups and iris, both bearded and Dutch. My white iris, glistening and fascinating, reminds one of beautiful white birds flying through the azure skies.

All of these awakens to the fact that we must get busy and get seeds and plants planted so that the summer days will be filled with summer blossoms. Both annuals and perennials will soon be putting on their new dress of rich bright colors and various forms and lines.

To encourage full clusters of flowers on your crepe myrtles this summer do so by applying a complete fertilizer such as 8-8-8 this month. Use about 1 cup for each established plant—more if the plant is larger and older and less if not fully developed. Stir the soil at the base of the plant and work in the soil around the plant and then slowly water it in well.

As the plants develop in the flower beds, it is well to mulch with organic material your own selection with right percentages of plant minerals.

Shrubs should be checked for insects. Inspect the needle evergreens and all other plants for signs of bagworms, which will soon be showing. (I saw one or two last week seeking a home where they could feed well on the growing plants.) Malathion or Cygon are recommended as a spray for infestations. Spider mites and aphids may require more than one spraying. Sometimes it takes at least three. The tiny insects such as thrips and aphids hide themselves in the most secret, recessed areas of the flower and foliage so spray carefully and thoroughly. Do not spray more often than 7 to 10 days apart for satisfactory control and best results.

For a home grown mulch, save clippings from the lawn if it is free from bermuda and harmful grasses. Spread out the clippings on a surface where the sunshine will dry them out, then apply as other mulch.

Soil is important. What is soil? It is the loose top-layer of the earth's surface that supports the growth of plants. Soil consists mainly of four parts—minerals, organic matter, water and air.

Soil is entrusted to man by God and it behooves us to do our best to take care of it and to have an appreciation of the good earth. To have a better value of the importance of soil it is suggested that one take a side view of a vertical section of earth. If we could slice away a section of it we would then regard the profile and see the various layers down to bed-rock. A soil profile is often visible at a place where a road has been cut through a hill. An average profile of soil might consist of five or six layers beginning with rock below and going through the various stages of subsoil to the upper-most layer or topsoil. These layers, called horizons, are extremely significant in their effect on the processes of plant growth. These horizons are fascinating to me. Since childhood, I have always been thrilled to look at the various stratus of the soil. The color, texture and formation to look at are the most interesting and, to me, are pretty.

It is a good study, when traveling, to notice the changes in soil as to color, formation and percentage of the layers, which is largest, slimmer and washes easiest.

Indeed nature is a life time study, and as we grow older it convinces one of the great creation.

The elements which created the various formations consisted of the decaying remains of the low forms of plants such as lichens and mosses which soon began to cover the exposed rocks, digging their tiny tentacles into the rock. This slowly formed a film of soil over them. This bit of soil provided the foothold for the plants which are the next step up the evolutionary scale. Ferns, etc. gradually added to the soil which thickened causing other higher plants and trees to grow until there came into being overgrown jungles.

We must always remember soil organisms—bacteria, fungi, yeasts, etc. Without these there would be no soil formation.

Yesterday, while working with the soil, I spaded a deep furrow in a flower bed and lifted the cut out soil up out of the recessed space to study the layers formed, made by adding nutrients and other necessary elements to make it better.

The soil groups are: gravels, sands, loams and clays. Each of these share in making productive soils. Soils are classified into groups and types. Climatic factors are instrumental in making these groups or series. These fitted together give us soil textures.

To get a good idea of your soil's texture and class can be done by rubbing it between the thumb and the fingers or in the palm of the hand. Sand particles are gritty. Silt has a floury or talcum-powder feel when dry and is only moderately plastic when moist. Clayey material is harsh when dry and is only very plastic and sticky when wet.

The ideal structure is granular, where the rounded aggregates (or clusters) of soil lie and readily shake apart. When the granules are especially porous or crumbly it is of good texture.
