SW Bell begins Lifeline service

For some citizens of Hereford, Southwestern Bell's new Lifeline service will provide local telephone service tomorrow at a fraction of its cost today.

Beginning Thursday, customers who are in a household with an income at or below the poverty level (as determined by the U.S. Office of Management and Budget) will be eligible for a $7 reduction in the monthly residential service charge of $11.65.

The new program is part of a negotiated settlement approved last year by the Public Utility Commission of Texas. The settlement includes customer benefits of $1.2 billion over the next four years.

To be eligible for Lifeline service, customers must be the head of their household, have income at or below the poverty level or qualify for an assistance program such as Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC), food stamps, WIC or Supplemental Security Income (SSI).

The discounted rate applies to all classes of residential local exchange service. No optional extended area service may be provided to a customer who qualifies under the discount.

Lifeline customers may subscribe to other telephone services such as touch-tone and Custom Calling features, but the discount will not apply to those services. The discount is good for one year after the customer qualifies; after the first year, recertification is required.

The $7 reduction is calculated by subtracting $3.50 from the local service charge and waiver of the current $3.50 subscriber line charge. The subscriber line charge was instituted after the breakup of the Bell System in 1984 to compensate local exchange companies for loss of long-distance revenues.

Customers may obtain Lifeline Service eligibility forms by calling 1-951-2354.

UW reviews campaign plans

Board members and division chairmen for the United Way of Deaf Smith County met to review plans for the 1991 campaign at the UWDC's monthly board meeting Tuesday at the Caison House.

The 1991 campaign, with a goal of $150,000, will kickoff Sept. 9, although some divisions have already begun their efforts. The annual kickoff luncheon will be held Sept. 11 at 11:30 a.m. at the Hereford Community Center. The luncheon also serves as a joint meeting of Hereford civic clubs. The drive will last through Oct. 25.

"We are really excited about this year's campaign," said Lewis McDaniel, UWDC board president. "We have a good organization and a good group of volunteers. Don Cumpston is our campaign chairman this year and we know he will have all of us very enthusiastic."

Division chairmen this year include Conny Whitehorn,

Whiteface East; Mark Banner, Whiteface West; Susan Hennessey, Professional; Wayne Amstutz and June Owens, Metro; Madeline Rosson, Pacesetter; Margaret Bell, New Accounts; Earl Brookhart, Agriculture; Rocky Lee, Major; Raymond White, Corporate; Jimmy Bell and David McDonald, Special; and Teddy Twombly, Loaned Executive. McDaniel and UWDC Executive Director Kyla McDowell will head the Cultivation Division.

The board elected Sally Nolen to replace Gary Moore on the UWDC board.

The board members and division chairmen watched the 1991 United Way of America promotional video, "Something to Believe In." McDaniel said the video will be available to businesses and organizations to promote their United Way efforts this year.

Farm Bureau to hold 1991 convention

The Deaf Smith-Oldham County Farm Bureau annual meeting will be held Thursday, beginning at 7 p.m., in the Hereford Community Center.

A meal will be served at 7 p.m., and Texas Farm Bureau president S.M. True of Plainview will be the guest speaker, according to Ernest Flood, county president.

The main purpose of the meeting is to adopt policies for the coming year. New officers and directors will be elected, as well as voting delegates for the state convention to be held in Lubbock Dec. 1-4. Directors whose terms expire are Bud Thomas, Ralph Detten, Larry Malamen and Jerry Broman.

High school students Jim Bret Campbell of Hereford and Kelly Kirkland and Natalie Artho of Oldham County will report on their experiences at the Texas Farm Bureau Citizenship Seminar last June.

5 die in NY wreck

NEW YORK (AP) - A subway train jumped the tracks and slammed into a pillar today, killing at least five people and injuring 171, officials said. The motorman was reported missing for hours, and sources said a crack vial was found in the cab.

The 12:15 a.m. accident occurred as a 10-car downtown train was approaching Manhattan's busy 14th Street-Union Square station. The crash sheared the lead car in half, and passengers were trapped in the twisted steel for hours.

The train "was going so fast, the next thing you know it was 'boom,'" said passenger Albert Webb, 30. He said he saw a baby hurled from its mother's arms.

"It was like an explosion," said passenger Joseph Ricketts, who had bloody knees and a torn dress. "Some people from another car got thrown into our car. There was a lot of smoke. The car was just shredded. There were wires hanging down. People were screaming."

The train's motorman, who left the accident scene and was missing for several hours, was later located by police and was being questioned, said Lt. Robert Nardoza. Authorities withheld the motorman's name.

Two sources involved in the investigation told The Associated Press that an empty crack vial had been found on the floor of the cab, which was intact after the accident. The sources spoke to The AP on condition of anonymity.

Investigators were also looking into reports that the motorman skipped a couple of stops early in the route and was traveling too fast.

Deputy Fire Commissioner Tom Kelly said the train looked "a collapsed telescope." The first car of the train was split in half and the back was shredded. Police said they believed the last of the victims trapped in the wreckage was out by about 5 a.m.

New flag for Whiteface Stadium

Kyle Hansen, right, president of the Hereford Key Club, presents a new 8 1/2-by-12-foot flag for Whiteface Stadium to Danny Haney, head football coach and athletic director, at the annual "Meet the Herd Night" on Tuesday. The giant flag will be flown at football games and other special events at the stadium.

Soviet legislature will visit Ukrainian officials

MOSCOW (AP) - The Soviet legislature, backing Mikhail S. Gorbachev's bid to stem the collapse of central authority, voted today to send a delegation to the Ukraine to discourage the breadbasket republic's secessionist drive.

Gorbachev put his political future on the line Tuesday, threatening to resign if the Soviet Union cannot somehow be preserved and indicating he would settle for a loose alliance of sovereign states.

Seven of the 15 Soviet republics have declared outright independence, including the Ukraine, the second most populous and wealthiest republic after Boris N. Yeltsin's vast Russian Federation.

Yeltsin has vastly expanded his authority since last week's failed coup. He has recognized the independence of the three Baltic republics but is generally backing Gorbachev's efforts to maintain a union of willing republics.

Fallout from the botched coup continued as Anatoly Lukyanov, the ousted speaker of the national Supreme Soviet legislature, denied charges that he inspired and helped the eight-man committee that tried to seize power last week.

"I am not going to repeat that I am not guilty," Lukyanov said in his first speech in the legislature since he resigned under pressure on Monday. Lukyanov denied charges by Yeltsin and others that he was a driving force behind the conspiracy.

Before Lukyanov spoke, the legislature voted 397-6, with 16 abstentions, to send a four-person delegation to Kiev to persuade Ukrainian officials to at least remain in an economic union with the other major Soviet republics.

The Ukraine's legislature declared independence over the weekend, but the move is subject to a Dec. 1 republic-wide referendum.

Gorbachev had appealed Tuesday for concerted action to retain at least a military and economic alliance.

But even as he spoke to the national legislature, Moldavia became the seventh Soviet republic to declare outright independence.

He suggested he might be willing to settle for a two-tier union: an economic and preferably a military alliance of all 15 republics, and a political union of only some of them.

Russia, by far the largest and most populous Soviet republics, has long provided cheap oil and other raw materials for resource-poor but industrialized republics whose production has been geared to Soviet needs.

Also Tuesday, the European Community formally recognized the independence of Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia. U.S. officials indicate they could by week's end join the growing list of foreign governments granting diplomatic recognition to the three Baltic states.

Speaking to the lawmakers, Gorbachev said Russia's president, Boris N. Yeltsin, agreed with him on the need for some form of unity among the republics. If that cannot be preserved, he said, he would put the question to parliament "and leave."

Just a week ago, Gorbachev was a captive of coup plotters, held incommunicado for three days while pro-democracy forces rallied around Yeltsin's resistance to the overthrow attempt.

On Tuesday, he seemed to have recovered his old force, heatedly arguing that the Soviet people risk disaster without some form of unity.

He said the country stands "on the point of collapsing" and warned: "If it does, it would be a catastrophe."

Most of his lengthy speech was met by silence by lawmakers.

MIKHAIL GORBACHEV

"The main thing is to preserve the union. I put it so categorically because I am convinced our country and the entire world ought to know it," Gorbachev told reporters after an all-day session of the national legislature.

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says to be an effective parent of teenagers, you have to know two languages--yours and theirs.

Only one person can solve the world's problems--and he always seems to sit next to you on the plane.

Some safety tips gleaned from a church bulletin:

--Don't ride in autos; they cause 20 percent of all fatal accidents.

--Don't stay home; 17 percent of all mishaps occur there.

--Don't walk in the street, 13 percent of all accidents happen there.

--Don't travel by air, rail or water since 16 percent of all accidents result from such activities.

--Do go to church; only .001 percent of all fatal mishaps happen there!

A confirmed pessimist could find much to complain about in this country. We clipped a column on this topic by James Roberts of The Andrews County News that bears repeating. We intended to use it right after the July 4th holiday, but it is appropriate at any time:

"As we celebrated Independence Day last month, critics could point to ever lessening independence on the part of its citizens, a seemingly growing dependence upon government to solve individual problems, and governments that cannot seem to find the handle on governing."

"They can point to a national debt that has zeroes that stretch from here to Santa Fe, federal programs that create more problems than they solve, leaders in high office who have forgotten the old fashioned term of 'public servant' and replaced it with 'power mania,' and more individuals taking from the public treasury than putting in."

"Critics can view with alarm the fact that 30 out of 50 states are facing deficits totaling more than $35 billion, two states that are on the verge of declaring bankruptcy, and major cities across the country that have promised more programs than they can possibly pay for."

"Private ownership of land, one of the founding principles that set the nation apart from all other countries, is under attack from government regulatory agencies, environmental groups, and burdensome taxation."

"AIDS, cancer, infant mortality is rising while health costs soar and more and more Americans, 33 million at last count, are without insurance health protection.

"Morality, honesty, integrity have been on the decline since Henry Ford invented the Model T and attempts to stem the tide have largely proved unsuccessful."

"The pessimist can indeed paint a rather gloomy picture of the country on this July Fourth birthday of independence."

"But the optimist can paint an equally bright picture of the world's greatest democracy."

"On this 215th birthday of the USA, the national debt is only a tiny fraction of the gross national product, much less than the long term debt of the average family."

"The USA as the world's best example of democracy is so strong and appealing worldwide that our borders are besieged by outsiders wanting in."

"Communism, like the fascist regime before it, has failed miserably and people under its yoke for the past 45 years, are turning toward democratic governments."

"And statistics show that more and more people are turning toward religion as the answer in today's troubled times. Church attendance in 1991 was at all time high for the 20th century."

"And the Desert Storm proved that our armed forces have better personnel that is better trained, better equipped, and better led than at any time in the past 40 years. And the recent action in the Persian Gulf proved that our heavy investment in military hardware placed this nation light years ahead of any other power on earth. And that superiority of both military personnel and machines probably is the primary reason communism has capitulated to capitalism to bring an official end to the long-running cold war."

"And that victory in the Middle East has brought about a renewed faith and trust in the American way and Old Glory has never waved more proudly, drawn more respect, and brought forth more genuine, deep-seated emotion than now."

"Democracy is not perfect, because its citizens are not perfect. Far too many demand the rights and privileges granted under our Constitution without also assuming the duties and responsibilities of citizenship."

"But with all its warts and creases, all its problems and worries, all its

Nominee's rating pleases president

WASHINGTON (AP) - The White House says it is happy with the mid-level rating of "qualified" that the American Bar Association bestowed on Supreme Court nominee Clarence Thomas.

But Thomas' critics say the appraisal by the nation's largest lawyers' group undermines President Bush's assertion that Thomas is the best man for the job.

Spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said

Tuesday in a statement from Kennebunkport, Maine, that Bush welcomed the ABA action.

"We are very pleased that the ABA's Standing Committee on the Federal Judiciary has found Judge Thomas qualified to be an associate justice of the United States Supreme Court," Fitzwater said.

When Bush picked Thomas, who is black, in July to succeed retiring Justice Thurgood Marshall, the high court's only black member, the president denied he was filling a racial quota on the court. He described Thomas as the "best qualified" candidate for the vacancy.

But Thomas' critics were quick to describe the ABA's weak endorsement as evidence that the conservative Thomas is a mediocre choice.

"Thomas' rating is the worst of

Courteous robber turned to crime as last resort

HOUSTON (AP) - Computer programmer Lon Perry, college graduate, military veteran, was out of work for the second time in a decade.

His house payment was overdue. Taxes were unpaid. His daughter was pregnant. His son was in a college Perry couldn't afford. Then his mother died.

Perry considered suicide, but the thought his daughter might miscarry his first grandchild turned him in another direction - a two-year stint as the "Gentleman Bandit."

"I can't really recall my thought process at that time, but in May of 1989 my thoughts turned to robbery," Perry, 49, of Spring, said Tuesday. "It would only be for a short period to sustain the family financially until an opportune occasion to take my life presented itself."

So Perry said he embarked on a spree of some 100 robberies of businessmen staying at plush hotels in Texas and Louisiana, but was so careful and considerate with his victims that he earned his nickname.

"My demeanor during the course of the robberies was to show the utmost courtesy to the victims, reassure them that I was not there to harm them, and make them as comfortable as possible during my stay and after my exit," Perry said in a seven-page statement released by his attorneys.

"Also, there were many occasions when a potential victim would say something to me that would touch my heart and I would not be able to rob him," he said. "I simply would leave and most everyone would assure me that they would give me sufficient time to get away."

After another man was arrested and charged with the robberies, Perry's conscience ate at him even more. He consulted attorneys referred to him by members of his church and on Tuesday turned himself in to Houston police.

"This is not the type person who would cause any suspicion," Lt. Don McWilliams of the Houston Police robbery division said. "All the hotels were made aware of who we were looking for, but the man looked like any other business person, so consequently he was able to walk right by."

Perry, his gray hair combed neatly, appeared somewhat nervous Tuesday with hands shaking slightly as he wiped his face at the police department.

Perry turned himself in after another man, Michael Harvey of Cibolo, was arrested for the robberies and held for 11 days. McWilliams said Harvey bore an "amazing resemblance" to Perry.

"I'm ecstatic," Harvey's attorney, Stanley Schneider, said Tuesday. "When you're dealing with someone you can prove is innocent, it feels good. It will be good to get this off his back and let his family and children go back to normal."

Perry said he committed his last robberies on June 27, a day before Harvey's arrest.

"Under no circumstances would I let Mr. Harvey go to prison for something I did," he said.

Perry was arraigned late Tuesday on the two aggravated robbery charges. He remained jailed today in lieu of $200,000 bond. But even when the bond was set at $20,000 while the charges were prepared, Brass said it was unlikely it would be posted.

"These people are of limited means," Brass said of the Perry family.

any nominee in the past decade, and that fact will not be lost on the Senate," said Arthur Kropp, president of People for the American Way, a liberal group. "The panel's misgivings about his nomination will weigh heavily in the balance."

Nan Aron, executive director of the liberal Alliance for Justice, said: "George Bush has shown contempt for the Supreme Court by choosing a judge who was only minimally qualified for the court of appeals just over a year ago. The ABA now says that Judge Thomas is even less qualified for the Supreme Court. The country and the court deserve better than 'minimally qualified' justices."

Two of the 15 members of the ABA's judicial evaluation panel voted Thomas "not qualified" to sit on the high court. An ABA source who requested anonymity said one panel member did not take part in the vote. The names of the two dissenters were not made public.

The mid-level rating for Thomas is the same ABA evaluation he received when he was appointed a federal appeals court judge in 1989.

Legislator used letter as excuse, say MADD leaders

AUSTIN (AP) - Mothers Against Drunk Driving officials have accused a lawmaker of using a letter from one of the group's leaders as an excuse to let a drunken driving bill die.

But state Rep. Sam Russell said time simply ran out on the measure, which would allow confiscation of suspected drunken drivers' licenses.

A confrontation between MADD and Russell, D-Mount Pleasant, has been brewing over his action as chairman of the House Criminal Jurisprudence Committee.

The license revocation bill passed the House during the regular legislative session, and the Senate during both of this year's special sessions.

Russell's committee approved the bill, but it died after he did not send it to the full House for debate before the most recent special session ended Sunday.

"It's a travesty to the citizens of Texas that such a lifesaving measure which passed the Senate twice and the House once is still not law," Milo Kirk of Dallas, MADD's national vice president, said Tuesday at a Capitol news conference.

"Administrative license revocation has proven to be the most effective countermeasure in saving lives and deterring drunk drivers, reducing injuries, and also reducing DWI recidivism," Ms. Kirk said.

Russell was blasted Sunday in a letter to the editor of his hometown newspaper by Cheryl Walker, secretary of the Texas chapter of MADD. Ms. Walker accused Russell of caring more about pleasing lawyers who defend drunken drivers than his constituents.

Russell received a standing ovation Sunday in the House following a speech in which he said the letter "did not provide any impetus" for him to get the bill before the legislative body.

Ms. Kirk and Bill Lewis of the state MADD chapter said Russell used the letter as an excuse to not sign the bill.

"I don't think Mr. Russell intended to sign... the bill, whether that letter had been published or not," said Lewis.

But Russell denied the allegation. He said he believed time effectively had run out on the proposal, since lawmakers intended to end the session by adjourning "sine die" Sunday night.

"We have to remember that this whole system is one of compromise. It's going to have to be a process here where we all try to work together for the common good," Russell said.

Under the bill, people arrested for driving while intoxicated who failed or refused a blood or breath alcohol test would lose their license for 90 days for a first offense, or one year for subsequent offenses.

A 40-day temporary license would be issued to give time for a hearing before the suspension took effect.

Cowboys recall Stoudt, Albritton

DALLAS (AP) - Cliff Stoudt knows that in the NFL you can be here today, gone tomorrow, and back again the next day. Stoudt was with the Cowboys on Sunday, cut on Monday, and back with the team at Valley Ranch on Tuesday. "I'm sure it will be just a week to week thing for me this year," said Stoudt, who lost the primary backup quarterback job to Steve Beuerlein.

The 12-year veteran is being kept by the Cowboys for insurance in case injury-prone starter Troy Aikman goes down. Stoudt gave the Cowboys coaches second thoughts after he failed to handle the blitz against Atlanta in the final preseason game and hit only five of 19 passes. Stoudt, safety Vince Albritton, and kick return specialist James Dixon rejoined the Cowboys on Tuesday after they went unclaimed on the waiver wire. Dallas coach Jimmy Johnson also claimed linebacker Mickey Pruitt, a strong special teams player who was cut by the Bears. To make room for the additions, the Cowboys put tight end Rob Awalt and three rookies - running back Ricky Blake, defensive lineman Leon Lett and linebacker Dixon Edwards

- on injured reserve. They will be eligible to return to the active roster after four weeks. Johnson said the stage is now set for what he believes will be his best team in Dallas. "We expect to have success," he said. "We've put a lot of energy and resources into bringing the Cowboys back. It's time to perform." Johnson said the Cowboys face a stiff opener on the road Sunday against Cleveland. "The Browns showed with preseason victories over the Giants and the Redskins that they are getting back to their winning ways," Johnson said. "It looks like the Browns are back to playing like they did several years ago."

The Cowboys and Browns tangle in a noon matchup. Dallas has the best opening day record in the NFL with a 23-7-1 mark. Quarterback Bernie Kosar, who played for Johnson at Miami, will test the Dallas defense, which has eight of the 11 players either in new positions or playing for the Cowboys for the first time. "Bernie will pick you apart if you are not sound in the secondary," Johnson said. "Of course, the more you know an individual, the better prepared you can be. I know Bernie is very intelligent and is at his best in the final two minutes." Johnson said it is very important that the Cowboys get off to a good start. "With a young team, it's important that you start off with success," he said. "That will be difficult in Cleveland. It's my understanding that it's a very vocal place. It should be an interesting place to play. But we'll have one of the better teams we've had." Johnson said a hard training camp has the Cowboys prepared to meet the test. "We are much more settled than a year ago," he said. "We feel more confident about success. Right now I can see we can start winning faster than a year ago. We will have the feeling going into every game that we can compete and can win." "I think we'll look back a year from now and say 'That was a heck of a group,'" Johnson said. Oddsmaker installed the Cowboys as two-point favorites.

Montana placed on IR

By DAVE GOLDBERG
AP Football Writer
Joe Montana has bounced back from serious back surgery and a rash of other injuries. But he hasn't missed the 49ers' opening regular-season game since 1980 ... Until now. The 35-year-old Montana, the NFL's Most Valuable Player the past two years and the MVP in three of San Francisco's four Super Bowl victories, was placed on injured reserve Tuesday with a sore right elbow that has kept him from throwing for the last three weeks and just doesn't seem to get better.

Other than Montana, the most prominent players to go on injured reserve were running back Ickey Woods of the Bengals, author of the "Ickey Shuffle;" Marcus Dupree of the Rams, attempting to come back after five years recovering from a knee injury incurred in the USFL, and Keith Millard of the Vikings, the defensive player of the year in 1989. Also placed on IR was Eric Swann, the Cardinals' high-risk No. 1 draft choice who already has undergone two arthroscopic knee operations. He has been troubled in training camp by fluid on the knee and will be out four weeks and probably more. With his only post-high school experience with the semi-pro Bay State Titans, he undoubtedly will need a lot of work before he can be thrown into an NFL game. Also placed on injured reserve was Jamie Mueller, the Bills' starting fullback. Mueller has a rare spinal problem that could threaten his career. Dupree, who came back last year after sitting out five seasons with a knee injury sustained in the USFL, was placed on IR with a turf toe that had kept him out of practice after he looked good in early camp. Cornerback Carl Carter and free safety Barney Bussey joined Woods, who injured a knee, on the Bengals' injured reserve list. The Seahawks brought back wide receiver Paul Skansi and running back Darren Comeaux, who had been waived on Monday. To do that, they had to put quarterback Kelly Stouffer, a former No. 1 draft choice, on injured reserve. The 49ers, meanwhile, reclaimed punter Ralf Mojsiejenko, guard Tom Neville and center Dean Caliguire. And the Broncos, who placed wide receiver Vance Johnson among others on injured reserve, reclaimed kick returner Kevin Clark. There was one trade, the Chiefs getting linebacker Ervin Randle from Tampa Bay for a 1992 conditional fifth-round pick. Four players ended holdouts - Browns All-Pro defensive tackle Michael Dean Perry, Steelers linebacker David Little, and Patriots running back John Stephens and wide receiver Sammy Martin. The Patriots, meanwhile, named second-year man Tommy Hodson as their starting quarterback over Hugh Millen.

Herd season ticket sales close Thurs.

Thursday is the last chance for Herd fans to buy season tickets for the 1991 home football schedule. The remaining available season tickets can be purchased for $20 each at the HISD Administration Building. Starting Tuesday, tickets for individual games will be available at Troy's Sweet Shop.

Montana's roster spot went to Bill Musgrave, who quarterbacked Oregon to the Freedom Bowl last season but had been released by Dallas. Montana's disabling was the major development in a day of maneuvering in which many veterans cut on Monday ended a day in limbo and went back on the active roster. They included Gerald Riggs of the Redskins; Vince Evans and Jerry Robinson of the Raiders; Billy Ard and Keith Uecker of the Packers; Doug Smith of the Rams; Cliff Stoudt

Connors wins upset at Open

NEW YORK (AP) - Tennis' new breed came roaring into the U.S. Open equipped with booming serves and fresh legs, ready to challenge the heavyweights of their sport. Ivan Lendl and Stefan Edberg turned them away. Not easily, perhaps, but away nevertheless. Under a punishing summer sun that baked the concrete courts, the fifth-seeded Lendl survived a grueling 3 1/2-hour, five-set test of will on Tuesday to defeat Richard Krajicek 3-6, 2-6, 6-4, 7-6 (7-5), 6-0. Edberg, seeded No. 2, exorcised some Open ghosts with a 6-4, 2-6, 7-6 (7-4), 6-1 victory over Bryan Shelton.

Top-seeded Boris Becker began his tournament with a 7-6 (7-3), 6-4, 6-4 victory over Martin Jaitte. Other winners included third-seeded Wimbledon champion Michael Stich, who defeated Jacco Eltingh 7-6 (7-5), 6-1, 6-0 and No. 4 Jim Courier, the French Open champ, who was a 6-3, 6-4, 6-4 winner over Nicklas Kulti. Among the women, No. 4 Arantxa Sanchez Vicario defeated Katia Piccolini 6-0, 6-1, No. 5 Mary Joe Fernandez eliminated Larisa Savchenko 6-3, 6-3 and No. 6 Martina Navratilova was a 6-2, 6-2 winner over Patricia Tarabini. Lendl, who dominated this tournament in the last decade, reaching the finals eight straight years and winning three consecutive titles, went six months between victories this summer. He is 31 now, a shaky age for an athlete, a time when at any moment, he could reach into his reservoir and come up empty. Faced with rocket serves that averaged 110 mph from the 19-year-old Krajicek, Lendl dropped the first two sets of this duel in the sun and seemed on the verge of his earliest Open exit ever. Lendl's reward for his heroic comeback was a second-round match today against Patrick Kuhnen. Connors not only trailed by two sets, he was down 0-3, 0-40 in the third before getting back into the match by winning four consecutive games. "I thought I had the match won then, but when you think you have Jimmy Connors beat, it's when he's most dangerous," McEnroe said. "My mistake was that I thought I had the match won." Connors has never had a more glorious victory in a storied Open career. "I don't want to play for four hours every time, but I'd like to be a factor in this tournament," he said.

The old guard was good to the last shot. Jimmy Connors, a five-time Open champ who turns 39 on Monday, was at his crowd-pleasing best Tuesday night, rallying from two sets down to beat Patrick McEnroe - brother of long-time nemesis John McEnroe - 4-6, 6-7 (4-7), 6-4, 6-2, 6-4. The match lasted 4 hours, 20 minutes and ended at 1:35 a.m. EDT this morning.

SWC may lose automatic bid

DALLAS (AP) - The Southwest Conference could lose its automatic bid to the NCAA Basketball Tournament if investigators confirm an alleged violation involving improper influence of coaches over referees, an NCAA official said. Hank Nichols, the NCAA's national supervisor of officials told The Dallas Morning News in today's editions that the "scratch list" allegations would be discussed within a few days by the Division I Men's Basketball Committee. Scratch procedures provide coaches "individually or collectively with direct or indirect authority to hire, retain, affect the assignments of or release of any official," according to NCAA rules.

Braves pull even with Dodgers in West

By DICK BRINSTER
AP Sports Writer

And then there were none, as in the number of games by which the Braves trail the Dodgers in the National League West.

Not even the most optimistic Atlanta fan would have bet the Braves could make up 9 1/2 games in a month and a half. But Atlanta has won 30 of 46 games since the All-Star break, including a 3-2 victory Tuesday night over Montreal that pulled them even.

Charlie Leibrandt was the latest Atlanta hero, striking out a career-high 13 batters.

The Dodgers, 2-1 losers to the Cubs, are 20-25 since the break after being on a pace to win 100 games.

Leibrandt's batterymate, Greg Olson, was subdued and realistic about the Braves' chances.

"There's little more than a month left," he said. "A lot of guys say that it doesn't matter until Oct. 6. Well, I'd much rather be in first from now until Oct. 6."

"I'm happy as heck. It's important to be there now."

Montreal's Delino DeShields was impressed with what he saw.

"After last night (the Braves won 14-9 win after trailing 7-1), I've got to believe they are going to win it," he said. "They have a lot of confidence. In these two wins against us, they played tough."

Leibrandt (13-11) allowed four hits in eight innings to win his fourth consecutive game. It left the Braves sharing first place with the Dodgers at 69-56. Jim Clancy pitched a perfect ninth for his seventh save.

Olson and Mark Lemke drove in runs as the Braves took a 2-0 lead against Chris Nabholz (2-7) in the second inning. Leibrandt allowed solo homers to Ivan Calderon and DeShields.

Astros 8, Mets 3

Ken Caminiti hit his career-high 12th home run and drove in three runs, leading the Astros over the visiting Mets.

Darryl Kile (6-8) went six innings, giving up two runs on six hits. Curt Schilling worked the last three innings for his first save since May 8 and sixth overall.

Cubs 2, Dodgers 1

Rookie Frank Castillo pitched a three-hitter and Shawn Dunston hit a two-run homer at Wrigley Field.

Castillo (5-2) was activated from the 15-day disabled list earlier in the day. He was recovering from a strained shoulder.

Pirates 5, Padres 2

Zane Smith was helped by four double plays over 8 2-3 innings and Barry Bonds had two RBIs for Pittsburgh.

Andy Van Slyke added a solo homer as the East-leading Pirates won for the third time in four games and rebounded from one of their toughest losses of the season. They blew a ninth-inning lead for just the third time this season and lost to the visiting Padres 7-5 Monday on Tony Gwynn's 10th-inning homer.

Reds 4, Phillies 2

Scott Scudder pitched seven strong innings and torrid Mariano Duncan drove in three runs with three hits for host Cincinnati.

Scudder (5-4) gave up just two singles and Dale Murphy's 16th homer in seven innings, improving his record to 2-1 since coming off the disabled list from shoulder tendinitis.

Cardinals 5, Giants 4

Felix Jose, who earlier broke out of an 0-for-26 slide, hit a sacrifice fly in the eighth inning for the surging Cardinals.

St. Louis won its fifth straight, its longest unbeaten streak since June 7-11, 1989. It was visiting San Francisco's third straight loss and 10th in 14 games.

Blue Jays hold on to lead

By The Associated Press
Advantage, Blue Jays.

In what could be a see-saw battle the rest of the season, Toronto grabbed sole possession of first place in the AL East by beating Baltimore 6-1 while Detroit was losing 4-2 at California to fall one game behind the Blue Jays.

"We just had a little lull," Tigers manager Sparky Anderson said. "I've been looking up at the scoreboard since the first day of the season. I love to watch the scoreboard and see the numbers change. It's a game I play, and it's the only way I get to pass the time."

The Blue Jays will need consistent starting pitching to beat Detroit's sluggers, and Juan Guzman gave it to them against the Orioles Tuesday night with a five-hitter at Memorial Stadium.

After his first two games in the majors, both against Baltimore, Guzman was 0-2 with a 8.31 ERA. But he hasn't lost since, improving with each trip to the mound.

"You've got to make adjustments, keep working to get better," Guzman said. "That's what I'm doing right now."

Guzman (5-2) struck out eight and walked none. He is 3-0 over his last 11 starts.

Rangers 7, Yankees 2

Ruben Sierra, Juan Gonzalez, and Steve Buechele each homered to lead

Texas past New York at Yankee Stadium.

Sierra's sixth-inning homer, his 18th, was a three-run drive into the upper deck in right field that put Texas ahead 3-2. Gonzalez hit his 26th and Buechele his 18th, each with a runner aboard.

Angels 4, Tigers 2

Chuck Finley won his 16th game to tie for the major-league lead and struck out a season-high 10 as California beat visiting Detroit for Buck Rodgers' first victory as manager of the Angels.

Detroit managed only four hits in 6 2-3 innings against Finley (16-7), before the left-hander was forced out by a blood blister on the middle finger of his pitching hand.

Indians 2, Twins 1

Greg Swindell, working with an extra day's rest, gave up one run in 8 2-3 innings and Carlos Martinez singled home the go-ahead run in the eighth inning as Cleveland beat visiting Minnesota.

Despite the loss, the Twins maintained their eight-game lead over Chicago and Oakland.

Jack Morris (15-10), who is 29-10 lifetime against Cleveland, took the loss, allowing two runs and 11 hits in 7 2-3 innings.

Royals 3, White Sox 2

Chicago, 24 hours after being no-hit by Bret Saberhagen, was held to two runs and six hits by two

Kansas City pitchers and Harvey Pulliam hit one outside and one inside-the-park homer at Royals Stadium.

Mark Davis (4-1), a one-time relief ace making an emergency start for the injured Luis Aquino, gave up three hits, including Carlton Fisk's two-run homer, in six innings. Tom Gordon pitched the last three innings for his first save.

Red Sox 6, Athletics 4

Oakland lost its fifth straight game, all at home, as Carlos Quintana had three hits, including a home run, and two RBIs for Boston. The A's have been outscored 37-10 during their losing streak, and have lost 12 of their last 16 games.

The Red Sox tagged five Oakland pitchers for seven extra-base hits - six doubles and a homer - as they beat the A's for the eighth time in 11 meetings this season.

Mariners 6, Brewers 4

Edgar Martinez hit two homers and Ken Griffey Jr. had four hits as Seattle beat Milwaukee for the ninth straight time at the Kingdome. Griffey improved his batting average five points to .329 with a double and three singles.

Seattle rookie Rich DeLucia (11-8) got a 3-0 lead in the second inning against Don August (9-6). He went 6 2-3 innings to go 2-0 against the Brewers this season.

Wounded umpire recovering

DALLAS (AP) - American League umpire Steve Palermo, shot in the back last month while chasing four robbery suspects, says he has no regrets, no rage and is no hero.

Palermo and former college football player Terance Mann were shot July 7 when they and restaurant owner Corky Campisi rushed to help two waitresses who were being robbed outside Campisi Restaurant in Dallas.

"We never stopped to think if they had a switchblade ... if they had a gun," Palermo said at an emotional news conference Tuesday at the Dallas Rehabilitation Institute in his first remarks since the shooting. "We never stopped to think about that."

"I don't consider any of us heroes," Palermo said. "If you ask Terance, if you ask Corky, I mean, these two crazy nuts, they were running down the street with me. It's like, who can beat who to get to the guys first?"

"Look at how we reacted. Obviously, we must have had some kind of upbringing that allowed us to ... go bolting through the door after those guys."

The 41-year-old Palermo was able only to wiggle two toes on his right foot when he entered the rehabilitation institute July 15, but now he is walking slowly with braces and forearm crutches.

Dr. John Milani, medical director of the institute's Spinal Cord Unit, said the prognosis is good for Palermo's continued recovery but added it was impossible to tell to what extent Palermo will improve or if he would be able to return to work.

But Palermo didn't mince words. "I will walk again," he said. "And I will umpire again. You can make book on it."

Milani said Palermo, shot in the tip of the spinal cord, has paraparesis, a condition in which the spinal cord is injured to a point that causes difficulty in the use of the lower extremities.

Palermo worked as the third base umpire at a July 6 game in Arlington between the Angels and Rangers, and was eating dinner at Campisi's when a bartender noticed four people trying to rob two waitresses outside.

Palermo, an AL umpire since 1977, ran outside about 1:30 a.m. along with Mann and Campisi.

Tech's McDowell finally ready to play

By NORVAL POLLARD
Lubbock Avalanche-Journal
LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - Texas Tech running back Anthony McDowell hasn't played in two years, but is among the more eager players on the fields during the Red Raiders' pre-season workouts.

McDowell was one of Texas Tech's brightest young prospects in 1988, when he played in all 11 games as a freshman, but sat out the last two seasons.

An academic casualty forced him to watch from the sideline in 1989 and 1990.

McDowell has pointed to the start of this season since August of last year, when he learned that despite passing more than enough hours in summer school to be eligible, his grade-point average in those classes was a percentage point below where it had to be to meet Tech standards.

"I hope I still have it. I think I do," McDowell said. "I've had two years to think about it, and I worked hard this summer to prepare for it.

"I'll make some mistakes and I'll probably be rusty, but I'll make some big plays, too. All I can do is bust my tail and hope for the best. I feel like I'm in good shape, but you never know how good until drills. But I feel like I can take the punishment."

The 6-foot, 230-pound fullback caught 14 passes for 177 yards during his freshman campaign and was being touted as one of Tech's offensive centerpieces for the next three seasons to come. In spite of his inactivity, Tech coaches still believe the Killeen product can come back and be a valuable weapon in the Red Raiders' diversified offense.

"It's not going to be easy for Anthony, but we're counting on him," Tech head coach Spike Dykes said. "It's very difficult to be away from the game for any length of time and retain the skills it takes to play. Your timing's off and you're not used to the physical contact. Really, it's like having no experience.

"But on the bright side, Anthony's been away from something he loves for two years. He has a burning desire to return and make a contribution. Everything he does he'll do at 110 percent. If there's anyone who can miss two years and come back it's Anthony because he's a great athlete and this football team is very special to him."

Word of McDowell's athletic ability has traveled far and wide. Although he hasn't played a down in a game since '88, the professional scouts have inquired about him.

"I haven't received anything formal, but several scouts have asked the coaches about me. They show some interest," acknowledged McDowell, who will compete against preseason starter Louis Sheffield, squadman Byron Myles and highly regarded freshman Bam Morris in the battle for playing time.

How and if McDowell fits in Tech's backfield picture is a major mystery at this early juncture. He knows he has a lot to prove against talented players who have an advantage - recent experience - on their side.

"Everyone wants to be a starter, but starting to me means nothing but one play in a game," McDowell said. "As long as I can play and contribute, I'll be happy."

As important as football is to McDowell, it must now share top billing with education. His tribulations in the classroom have evoked a sense of commitment and urgency in McDowell, who says he won't rest until he attains a degree.

"Me and coach (Rick) Dykes were talking about that the other day," said McDowell, who is a junior academically. "He told me more than anything he wants me to do well in the classroom.

"I can set an example for a lot of people," he continued. "I hate to be used as an example, but sometimes you can't help it. I can show some people who maybe felt I didn't belong in college that I can do the work and get a degree. That's my goal."

And for the first time since that '88 season, McDowell doesn't have to worry about being sacked by academic woes.

"I don't have to ask myself, 'Mac, are you in? Did you make it?' I can enjoy August. What a relief."

Baylor's Strait settling at FB

WACO, Texas (AP) - Baylor fullback Robert Strait is finally at peace with himself - which could be bad news for Southwest Conference opponents.

The former high school sensation, who was redshirted two years ago, has come to terms with a position change he fought last season like a hated opponent.

When coach Grant Teaff moved Strait - one of the most storied halfbacks in high school history - to fullback, the player took it as a slap in the face.

"When you love something like I did playing halfback and they try and take it away from you, it's difficult to accept," Strait told reporters Tuesday during the SWC media tour.

"I thought all I would do is block," he added, while fondling a football he carries with him at all times. "But once I started doing it and gaining confidence, I liked it. I'll play anything now if it will help the team."

Not that Strait was transformed into some blocking dummy. He punched out 462 yards and scored a team-high and freshman-record nine touchdowns in the Bears' 6-4-1 season. During his prep career, however, that would have been just another Friday night.

The 8,404 yards he gained at Cuero is the third best ever in the nation and second only to legendary Kenneth Hall (11,232) in the state of Texas. While the Gobblers won the state title his junior year, Strait rambled for 3,515 yards and scored 52 touchdowns.

"Those were the glory days," he said. "When you get to college you get humbled quickly."

The biggest change in his attitude has been maturity.

"I'm so excited to get the season started this year," Strait said. "I don't even like to think about my attitude last year. I thought if enough things went wrong at fullback they would move me back."

Strait didn't exactly give it his best effort.

"I didn't want to leave the impression that I would be a permanent fullback. It just shows you how childish it was. Just a need to grow up."

Teaff - the master motivator - didn't give his new fullback any long speeches, he used a quiet psychology.

"I was concerned that he wasn't coming around quickly enough," Teaff said. "He was not ready to play."

"He was using that on me," Strait said. "He used to just look at me like he was going to put me in the game and maybe it worked."

Despite his unhappiness, Strait he never considered leaving.

"He let me grow up on my own. He gave me a chance."

Teaff, who is entering his 20th season in Waco, has nothing but praise for his fullback.

"He is equal to any fullback that I have seen in my 20 years in the SWC," he said. "If he stays on course he will be one of the great ones."

Strait is so intent on being the best fullback he can be, he has put 240 pounds on his 6-foot-1 frame, up 30 pounds from his scabbard days.

The distance between the thrower and the metal stake in horseshoe pitching is 40 feet.

Fred Cox, Minnesota place-kicker, scored in 151 NFL games from 1963 to 1973.

Ann Landers

DEAR READERS: I am on vacation, but I have left behind some of my favorite columns that you have missed the first time around. I hope you enjoy them. -- Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: That letter from the woman who had to drag herself to the nursing home once a week to spend an hour with her semi-senile mother really got me. Too bad she found the old lady's "crazy chatter" so depressing.

I wonder how she'd like to have had her mother living with her for the last seven years. And what if she had to drive her to the beauty shop, the bank, shopping, to the doctor -- any place Mother decided to go? What if she did all this and never received one word or thanks -- only criticism and complaints?

I would be overjoyed if I could visit my mother in a nursing home. It would certainly improve my relationship with my husband and children. Our family has been in a state of upheaval ever since Mother came to live with us. They say I'm a fool to let her run me ragged. Maybe I am but I love her and feel it is my responsibility.

At times I ask myself if I am being fair to my husband and children. One thing is certain, no child of mine will ever go through this kind of hell with me. -- Seven Years Depressed

DEAR S.Y.: Any person who has been "Seven Years Depressed" is long overdue for counseling. I sense a martyr complex in your letter, plus an enormous amount of ambivalence and resentment.

Is there no public transportation in your city? No taxi? No sibling who can give you a hand? Discuss these alternatives with a therapist and get your head together, women. Your letter was a cry for help, even though you didn't mean it to be.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: There was a time when my husband and I could travel and enjoy a full life. But how he is not well and we are both getting on in years. So we stay at home a great deal and make the best of it.

We have certain TV shows that we like to watch. It is our major form of entertainment. This couple we've known for a long time has a habit of dropping in unexpectedly, and it seems they always come right in the middle of a very good show. They stay 25 or 30 minutes -- just long enough to ruin a program for us. This puts my husband in a very bad mood.

Should we turn off the TV when they show up or say we'd like to finish the program and risk insulting them? -- Sitting Ducks

DEAR DUCKY: Explain that you and your husband watch certain TV shows and ask them to join you. Suggest, when the program is over, that you'd like to give them your undivided attention when they visit and to please call in advance next time so you can do just that.

DEAR ANN: If my penmanship looks shaky it because I'm still shook. I took an attractive, sophisticated woman to dinner last night. She has done some import buying in the Orient.

When the menus were presented, she took a wad of gum out of her mouth and stuck it behind her ear. I was horrified. She said, "Relax -- it's an old Chinese custom. Even the very aristocratic do it."

True or false? -- Small Town Boy

DEAR S.T.B.: And if this is your idea of "sophistication" -- you need a dictionary, honey.

Do you have questions about sex, but no one to talk to? Ann Landers' booklet, "Sex and the Teen-ager," is frank and to the point. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Teens, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562. (In Canada, send $4.45.)

Chic handbags enter fashion scene

PARIS (AP) - A new wave of chic handbags is sweeping this city.

"Hand" is the clue. They have little to do with those roomy shoulder-bags, almost overnight-size, which so many of us are used to wearing.

It was a pleasant surprise a couple of seasons ago when fashionable mannequins at Christian Lacroix came tripping out with the most adorable hand-held bags.

In their shapes of heart, oval, feedbag and other clever outlines, nailheaded or studded with metal motifs, the bags and clutches became fashion items for the cognoscenti.

Now it seems that everybody is hopping on the smaller, shapely and hand-held bagwagon. They are also adding color to the bag-wardrobe. Fashionable Princess Diana goes for colorful, geometric envelope clutches.

Hermes has staged a comeback of the so-called Kelly bag. This trapezoid shape fastened with a couple of leather straps, hand-held, was so named because it was a favorite of Grace Kelly.

Little "pop" bags in lunch box shapes, purses with cane or bamboo handles dangling from the arm, also tend to add to this '60s revival.

They reinforce the current fashion fad harking back to the starring years of Jackie Kennedy and Audrey Hepburn.

But Hermes is adding a shoulder strap option to the "Kelly" for today's wearer.

Chanel's newest bags (still usually quilted) are tiny and very, very cute. They look hardly big enough to hold a key, much less mad money.

But that doesn't mean women are condemned to itty-bitty fashion pieces, now that travelers and careerists are used to stuffing everything but the kitchen sink into their totes.

Even at Chanel, customers are still buying larger bags. On a recent sale day, "invited" clients were paying around 5,000 francs (upwards of $800), or about 40 percent less than usual, for fairly roomy quilted bags with the crossed "C" logo.

Many designers and manufacturers are showing shoulder or hand-held bags large enough for practicality, and the search for novelty also means inventive use of color.

At Louis Vuitton, they're branching out from the familiar brown-beige monogram style into bright colors via a striated leather called "epi," a Vuitton texture revived from the 1920s.

Vuitton's new bags go several ways, in sack or feedbag shapes, with some long straps, some short handles. The omnipresent LV initial does pop up, a feature that seems to be essential to label-conscious fans like the Japanese.

Both color and sobriety feature in bags by Yves Saint Laurent. Arabesque and saddle-stitched well-seamed bags come in lovely forms to carry on the shoulder, in sizes large enough to contain more than a penny and a lipstick.

The newest looks are in a nail-studded "Y" (for status-symbol lovers) or Oriental arabesques in colorful models, some in fake lizard. Prices here are in the $300-500 category, considered reasonable for a big-name item.

Like her mentor Saint Laurent, Paloma Picasso also goes in for fancy studding on her sober but beautifully-finished handbags, in buttery-smooth leather, or satins for evening.

Many Picasso models have chain shoulder straps. And as she hires the best artisans to make her goods (and pays for expensive advertising), her bags do not come cheap. They are in the $500-800 category, right up there with Hermes.

Frederic Castet offers several sizes and shapes of smaller bags in brilliant new shades of ruby, emerald, and tobacco brown ostrich skin, an ecologically acceptable leather with a new-looking grain.

Well down the price scale, La Bagagerie sells finely crafted bags for all seasons. They have several shops in Paris, a few in the Far East and two in New York City.

Those who want to pay less for high quality look to La Bagagerie, whose prices start in the $40 price range but are usually about $140 or so for medium-sized, high-quality leather bags.

Their main Left Bank Paris shop is an Ali Baba's cave of great handbag models in all sizes. "We don't think women are ready to give up their big bags yet," says spokeswoman Jacqueline LeRoy, who admits that as a working woman she does heft around everything she can in her trendy Bagagerie carryall.

Besides very practical designs with several thief-proof zips, the Bagagerie has come up with some funny ideas. A whole range of box-like bags sport metal doors and padlocks to become veritable little "safes."

Women's fashions highlighted

Some picks for women from the marketplace this fall:

Outsized shirts worn with body-hugging leggings or short skirts, done up with Parisian flavor, at Express. The stores also have jackets of all sorts - dark, rich color blocks or the ubiquitous houndstooth checks - unconventionally paired with sarongs or miniskirts in floral prints.

A two-toned blazer of herringbone and black wool flannel, paired with side-zip shorts, in the Georges Marciano Boutiques.

A scarlet trench coat with a gathered waist in sueded micro fiber, by Emanuel Ungaro at Saks Fifth Avenue stores. The thigh-high coat is shown with knee-high boots.

Giant-sized jackets - blouses, hooded parkas, riding jackets, funnel-necked tunics - flamboyantly embroidered, appliqued or printed, by Laurel at Escada. One design displays a fan of embroidered peacock feathers across the back. They are shown with lean pants, tall boots, or leggings.

A tux-top notch-lapel fitted jacket in denim, paired with clinging short shorts, from Guess, at Bloomingdale's. Guess also shows a funky quilted leather bomber jacket and a boldly checked blazer.

Timelessly classic hand-knit sweaters by Mary Guild, through the Best of Vermont catalog. Raglan cables and picture knits in natural wools, taken from Guild's own flock. Natural colors are off-white, charcoal gray tweed, brown tweed. Picture sweaters for youngsters are on lavender or blue fields. The catalog is $5.95 and is published to celebrate the state's bicentennial. Call 1 (800) 388-3766 for more information.

Recordings reveal woman's involvement in murder plot

HOUSTON (AP) - A woman accused of planning to kill the mother of a daughter's cheerleading rival never used words like "death" and refused to specify what kind of fate she wanted for the would-be victim, according to clandestine recordings.

The tapes were played Tuesday for jurors in the trial of Wanda Webb Holloway, charged with solicitation of capital murder and kidnapping in a scheme prosecutors claim was meant to improve her daughter's chances of becoming a cheerleader.

Prosecutors allege Mrs. Holloway hoped Verna Heath's daughter, Amber, would be so upset over the death of her mother she would drop out of the cheerleading competition. That would give Shanna Harper, Mrs. Holloway's daughter, a better shot at winning.

Defense attorneys, however, claim Mrs. Holloway was set up by two scheming brothers: her ex-husband, Tony Harper, and her former brother-in-law, Terry Harper, whose voice also is recorded on the tapes.

Amber is a freshman cheerleader this year at Channelview High School in suburban Houston. Shanna is not on the team.

Terry Harper wore a hidden tape-recorder at the request of Harris County sheriff's detectives whom he had contacted after he said Mrs. Holloway first asked him to "get rid of" Mrs. Heath last fall.

Thirteen times in six tapes, Mrs. Holloway says, "I want to do it," or "I'm serious about it." In the final tape, as she is purported to be handing over diamond earrings as collateral for future payment, she says, "OK, go for it."

But several times Harper made such comments as, "What do you want? Do you want them dead, injured, maimed, disappeared?"

Mrs. Holloway never answered directly. In the final exchange, Mrs. Holloway replied: "I don't care what you do with her, you can keep her in Cuba for 15 years. I want her gone."

"Now, Wanda. He (the hitman) said she won't be breathing much longer," Harper said.

"OK, go for it," Mrs. Holloway said.

Mrs. Holloway spoke rapidly on the tapes, and both she and Harper laughed and joked throughout the conversations.

She was concerned about getting caught, saying, "If I ever get tied into this, I know I'd have to move. ... But I know I want to do it."

Mrs. Holloway and Harper debated several times about whether both or one of the Heaths would be hurt and if they should be injured or killed.

After Harper described a plan to kidnap the mother, Mrs. Holloway said, "And they may have to move. OK, we'll go for the mother. Let's go for the mother."

"The mother's the one who screwed me around. The mother's the one who's done all the damage," Mrs. Holloway said.

Defense attorneys contend the Harper brothers devised the scam to enable Tony Harper to gain custody of Shanna and her brother, Anthony Shane Harper.

"Why would Terry Harper do this? Because he was the black sheep in the family. His way to get back in the good graces of his brother was to call and say, 'I've got a way for you to get your children back,'" defense attorney Troy McKinney said Monday.

The couple was divorced in 1980. Since Mrs. Holloway's arrest on Jan. 30, Tony Harper has been awarded joint custody of the children.

Testimony began in the trial Monday. If convicted, Mrs. Holloway could receive up to life in prison.

Quanah sets monument dedication

The face of Quanah Parker, last great Comanche chief, will once again look upon "his town" of Quanah more than 80 years after his last visit when the Quanah Chamber of Commerce unveils the Quanah Parker Memorial Monument and Walkway Sept. 14.

The red granite monument, six feet tall and seven feet wide, will bear a nearly lifesize image of the legendary chief etched in stone, backed by a swooping eagle, symbol of his courage in battle. An engraved narrative of his life and a plaque inscribed with his "blessing" for the town of Quanah is also incorporated into the monument's design.

Descendants of the Parker family, Comanche tribal representatives and other dignitaries will be in attendance when the $15,000 community project is unveiled.

Willis Granite Co. of Granite, Okla., creators of the "Giants of the Plains" series, was commissioned to strike the monument. The design was carefully reviewed by Comanche tribal leaders to insure exact historical detail.

The unveiling is scheduled to take place amid the festivities of the Eighth Annual Fall Festival. The affair will feature nearly 100 arts, crafts and food booths around the Courthouse Square, as well as a classic car show and antique tractor show, all of which will combine to bring thousands of spectators to the West Texas town which bills itself as "Quanah, City of the Legend."

In addition, an open house at the historic Quanah, Acme and Pacific Railroad Depot will showcase the magnificent 1909 structure, listed on the National Register of Historic Places and currently being renovated by the local historical society. The QA&P logo bears the image of Quanah. He backed the QA&P and called it "my railroad."

The Hardeman County Museum will be open for tours. Housed in a turn-of-the-century jail building made of native stone, the museum contains one room devoted to a NASA display honoring the late Major Galen Givens, a Quanah native who was one of the United States' original astronauts. The only other official NASA exhibits are at Houston and Cape Canaveral.

The city of Quanah extends a cordial invitation to everyone to attend the Festival and view the unveiling and dedication of the Quanah Parker Memorial Monument, a tribute to one of the last great Native American figures of Western history: Chief Quanah Parker, son of Chief Peta Nokoni and captured White girl Cynthia Ann Parker, the Eagle, last chief in war and peace of the Comanche.

Signature looks now available in patterns

The season's signature looks - the miniskirted suit, the short topper coat, the shaped dress - are represented in patterns for women who sew.

A suit with a long tapered single-button jacket paired with a short tulip-wrap skirt is offered by Vogue in its career line. The pattern (2718) also includes a double-breasted coat dress, a draped blouse and slim pants.

Detailed and curved seaming on a shawl-collared raglan jacket from McCall's (5638) tops an asymmetrical knee-length skirt that drapes and buttons over one hip. A tapered blouse and soft pants pegged with darts at the ankles also are included with this suit pattern.

A coat offered by McCall's (5610) is an easy-going, oversized kimono that's finished without a lining. It has a shaped hem, welt pockets, and asymmetric front opening. It can be done up with or without buttons and with a choice of hood, scarf and shirt-band neckline.

An entry from Vogue is the swing coat (7322), an A-line short topper with a single button at the throat, with a convertible collar.

One of those patterns that can be done several ways is a wide-necked chemise from McCall's (5646), which can be either a one- or two-piece dress, depending on how it's cut. If the dress is cut at tunic length, it can be fitted over plain skirt. It has patch or slanted welt sleeves.

A princess-cut tent dress reminiscent of your first Sunday outfit, with dark collar, cuffs and buttons contrasting with a main color, can be made from Vogue 2716. The flared hem is cut well above the knee.

Pattern companies say that quality is a stronger motivator than cost among women who sew. The sewer can pick good fabrics, pair them with patterns of her choice, then properly fit garments as she makes them, points out Cindy Rose, Vogue Patterns' fashion director. "Quality of fabric is only the beginning."

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: I was recently married and one of the wedding gifts I received was a set of beautiful glassware.

Would you give me some hints for their proper care so they will stay nice and be in my family for years? — Jane Campbell, Richmond, Va.

I would be happy to pass on some hints that will help you.

- Hand-wash fine glassware to avoid etching. Etching can't be removed.
- Don't wear jewelry when hand-washing; diamonds can scratch glass.
- Line the sink with a cotton or terry towel to prevent slips and chips.

- Move the faucet to one side so that you won't hit the glasses on it.
- Don't grasp the glasses by fragile handles or other delicate areas while washing. Cup the bowl part in your hand.
- Rinse in hot water to remove all traces of soap.
- Always hand-dry to prevent water-marks.
- Never stack glasses on top of each other.

• Store glasses, especially stemware, upside down for better balance. — Heloise

HELPLEFUL HINT
Dear Heloise: Before baking chicken, I remove the skin, place it in a freezer bag and freeze it until garbage day. This eliminates odors in the garbage can. — D. Kelly, Royal Oak, Mich.

HOMEMADE JUICE BOXES

Dear Heloise: My family and I are very aware of the landfill woes, so we recycle as much as possible.

After reading about certain school districts banning cardboard drink boxes in school lunches, I came up with a great solution. I bought several 2-cup plastic flip-top containers. I fill each with 4 ounces of juice and freeze them. As I pack lunches early morning, I simply add 4-8 ounces more juice and pack into the lunch boxes. The frozen juice melts and keeps the drink cold but not watered down.

A straw can be slipped into the flip-top hole. But, best of all, there are no boxes to throw away. — Bridget Shinn, Cypress, Texas

GRATED ORANGE PEEL
Dear Heloise: Grated orange peel is sometimes difficult to find in the markets, so I make my own.

Each time I use an orange, I wash it, take off the ends and any bad spots and peel the rind into long strips. I then let the strips dry on a paper towel before crushing them in the blender.

I place grated orange peel in a jar and use it on breads, salads or in other dishes as a delightful seasoning. — Mrs. E. Floyd Norton, Omaha, Neb.
