Bush, Dukakis keep it hot

By DONNA CASSATA
Associated Press Writer

Democrat Michael Dukakis promised to institute a program of basic health care for poor women and children as the two White House contenders devoted the final days before their presidential debate to crammering for the face-to-face encounter.

While Vice President Bush spent Wednesday engaging in a mock debate and in briefings with advisers, Dukakis conferred with Sen. Bill Bradley of New Jersey on the Sunday night faceoff that was still dogged by logistics problems over lectern heights and the composition of the panel.

The Democratic nominee, according to campaign sources, scheduled his own mock debate on Friday and planned to meet with two governors well-versed in the successes and pitfalls of public speaking — Mario Cuomo of New York and Bill Clinton of Arkansas.

Bush, who has limited campaign appearances this week to concentrate on the debate, was making a special exception today for two events, an appearance with President Reagan in Houston and an endorsement from an unusual source.

The Boston Police Patrolman's Association, the largest law enforcement in New England, voted unanimously Wednesday to back Bush's candidacy, saying the Republican — not Massachusetts Gov. Dukakis — would be more attentive to the needs of law enforcement.

Dukakis downplayed the endorsement, citing the association's "history of supporting Republicans" and the backing he has received from other law enforcement organizations, including the Massachusetts Police Association, the International Brotherhood of Police Officers and the Combined Law Enforcement Associations of Texas — Bush's home state.

Nevertheless, Bush campaign spokeswoman Alixe Glen said the vice president will venture into his rival's back yard today to accept the endorsement from the union, which represents 1,500 members.

The trip marks Bush's second visit to the state this month. Earlier, the GOP nominee toured Boston Harbor where he criticized Dukakis' record on the environment, particularly the clean-up of the polluted harbor.

That appearance proved to be a media boom for Bush, whose campaign is spending more than 60 percent of its $54 million budget on television advertising, according to a report in today's editions of The Washington Post.

Bush spokeswoman Sheila Tate could not confirm the report, which quoted an unidentified Bush aide. Dukakis spokesman Mark Gearan said, "I think we'll be competitive with the Bush campaign, but beyond that we don't detail our spending."

Dukakis was maintaining the focus on health care today with a visit to a senior citizens center in Boston, where he planned to reiterate his support for Social Security.

FSLIC charged with laxness

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Senate Banking Committee accused the new treasury secretary of being "nonchalant" about a crisis in the savings and loan industry requiring $20 billion in tax money to fix.

In a speech prepared for delivery on the Senate floor today, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said it was his "reluctant but profound conviction" that the problem "has grown beyond industry resources."

Even if the next Congress appropriates the $20 billion, healthy S&Ls will need to contribute another $30 billion over the next several years, he said.

"The bailout-to-come will be the largest ever in the history of the U.S. It will be far bigger than the combined cost of the assistance to Chrysler (Corp.), Lockheed (Corp.) and New York City," he said.

Despite that, he said, "the administration has its head buried in the sand" and Treasury Secretary Nicholas F. Brady in his confirmation hearing last week "was nonchalant about the S&L mess."

Brady, who replaced James A. Baker III, contended that the industry-financed Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp., which guarantees S&L deposits up to $100,000, has as much as it can spend for now. More will be known about the scope of the problem today when the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, which regulates the nation's 3,000 S&Ls, releases a report on the industry's second quarter losses.

S&Ls lost a record $7.6 billion last year and are well on their way to surpassing that, having lost $3.8 billion in the first three months of 1988. Much of the red ink is concentrated in the oil-dependent states of Texas and Oklahoma.

Estimates of the cost of cleaning up the industry vary from the bank board's $31 billion to private projections as high as $100 billion.

Sales tax rebate dips

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

Hereford will receive a sales tax rebate check this month for $44,089. The check is $4,033 less than the September 1987 check, but, for the year, Hereford is still running about five percent ahead on year-to-date totals on sales tax receipts.

Hereford was one of the few area cities to show a decrease. The only other city of comparable size in the region that had a lower monthly check was Canyon. Canyon will receive $30,847, off $2,500 from last September's rebate.

Other cities and their rebates include Dimmitt, $17,459, up 50 percent over last year, and up 44.5 percent for the year; Vega, $1,958 this month, a 12.7 percent increase, and 10.2 percent ahead for the year; Plainview, $148,596 this month, a $33,000 increase over last September's check, and $1,253 million for the year, a 41.6 percent hike;

Borger, $84,311 this month, up almost $18,000, and 16.3 percent ahead for the year; Pampa, $98,400 for September, $8,300 over last year's September check and, for the year, 10.6 percent ahead;

Littlefield, $17,821 this month, up 2.3 percent, and, for 1988, $189,808, a 4.8 percent increase; Levelland, $51,797, up $2,000 from the September 1987 check and ahead, for the year, by 15.5 percent; Amarillo, $922,971 this month, a 6.8 percent increase, with year-to-date figures up 7.5 percent to $9.23 million; and Lubbock, $1,013 million, up 10.8 percent over the September 1987 check, and, for the year, up 12.5 percent.

Deaf Smith County, which collects one-half percent (the city sales tax is one percent), will receive a check this month for $24,879, for the year, the county has received $155,362. That money will be used to lower property tax rates by a proportionate amount.

State Comptroller Bob bullock sent checks worth $67.8 million to the 895 Texas cities that collect the local sales tax. For the year, the statewide rebate is up 12.1 percent.

Leading the state in sales tax collections was Houston, where the check was up 20.1 percent over the September 1987 check to $10.98 million.

"Once again, as in the last several months, the state's rebates to cities and counties have shown a marked increase, demonstrating that the Texas economy continues to expand. The major metropolitan areas continue to surge forward as consumer confidence mounts."

The checks represent taxes collected in July and reported to Bullock's office by August 22.

Disclosure by Wright investigated

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican leaders formally asked for an investigation into whether House Speaker Jim Wright improperly disclosed a covert CIA operation in Nicaragua.

House Minority Leader Bob Michel, R-Ill., and Rep. Dick Cheney, R-Wyo., chairman of the House Republican Conference, asked for the inquiry in letters late Wednesday to the House ethics and intelligence committees.

The letters referred to Wright's assertions to reporters on Tuesday that the CIA was stirring up civil unrest and promoting anti-government demonstrations in an effort to provoke the leftist Sandinista government and to sabotage peace talks.

"Because of the possibility such a disclosure (of classified information) may have occurred, we are writing to ask your committee to promptly and thoroughly investigate the circumstances surrounding these events and to recommend appropriate action to the House of Representatives," Michel and Cheney said in a letter to ethics committee chairman Julian Dixon, D-Calif.

In a separate letter to Rep. Louis Stokes, D-Ohio, chairman of the House intelligence panel, they asked for an immediate meeting of the committee "to discuss these matters, to ascertain whether any unauthorized disclosures have in fact occurred and to decide on an appropriate course of action."

House Republicans were meeting today to discuss the Wright matter and in particular to weigh its implications for legislation that would tighten congressional control over the CIA's covert activities.

The Reagan administration opposes the bill, which is scheduled for floor consideration next week. A version already has been passed by the Senate.

"The fact he has made (the disclosure) is serious," said Rep. Henry Hyde, R-Ill., the senior Republican on the House Intelligence Committee. "I am astounded to hear Sandinista propaganda coming out of the speaker's office."

But a spokesman for Wright said the affair was overblown and that the Texas Democrat had revealed no classified information.

Wright on Tuesday said he had received "clear testimony" from the CIA that the agency had fomented opposition demonstrations in Nicaragua to provoke the leftist Sandinista government. He told a reporter later that CIA officials had made the admission under congressional questioning.

The spokesman, Wilson Morris, said CIA activities inside Nicaragua were well documented. "It's all in the public domain," he said. "Any member (of Congress) is free to draw his own conclusions."

Asked during a photo session Wednesday about Wright's comments, President Reagan said, "The reaction I have, and I think it should fit the speaker also, there is no way we should talk publicly about intelligence operations of any kind."

But he declined to confirm or deny the substance of the speaker's disclosure, adding, "If I start going down that road, then I'm creating the same violation that he did."

"We simply cannot comment on covert operations or intelligence matters of this kind," White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said. "And sometimes that means having to accept information that may or may not be true."

House rules stipulate that information given to the House Intelligence Committee, which oversees the CIA and other spy agencies, is classified and may not be disclosed except under certain tightly controlled circumstances. Unauthorized disclosure is subject to investigation by the ethics committee.

Wright already is being investigated by the ethics panel on unrelated allegations. Sanctions for unauthorized disclosure of classified information can include removal from committee membership, censure or expulsion from the House.

In Nicaragua, Wright's disclosure brought banner headlines in the official Sandinista newspaper, La Barriada. "Jim Wright Confirms: CIA Devises Plan Melton."

The Sandinista government consistently has charged U.S. interference in its internal affairs, and expelled U.S. Ambassador Richard Melton and seven diplomats in July following a violent demonstration in which 40 protesters were arrested.

The Contras have asked that those protesters be released to create a better climate for resumption of stalled peace talks.

Modified poison eyed as treatment

NEW YORK (AP) — A modified version of a natural poison kills AIDS-infected cells in the test tube while ignoring normal cells, offering a possible strategy to help treat AIDS, scientists reported today.

The specialized toxin may be able to kill infected cells in people before the cells produce more viruses, said researcher Bernard Moss of the National Institutes of Health.

Moss, Ira Pastan and five other NIH scientists describe experimental results in today's issue of the British journal Nature.

In a second development, scientists at NIH and in Italy say they have produced stable AIDS virus infections in rabbits, a step that may help animal testing of AIDS vaccines and drugs. Until now, such infections have been shown only in chimpanzees, which are costly and in limited supply.

The poison research involved Pseudomonas exotoxin A, which is produced by bacteria called Pseudomonas aeruginosa. It is so strong that a dose about the size of a salt grain can kill a human.

"We're encouraged both by the low amount of drug which is effective" and its ability to ignore uninfected cells in test-tube experiments, said Moss.

To make the poison seek out AIDS-infected cells, researchers essentially replaced the part of the poison molecule that normally guides the toxin to its target. In its place they put part of a protein called CD4, which latches onto a protein found on the surface of AIDS-infected cells.

The redesigned poison was produced by combining genes for the poison and the CD4, and placing them into bacteria called E. coli. The bacteria, commonly used as a vehicle for gene splicing, then churned out the hybrid poison.

In test-tube experiments with white blood cells, the redesigned poison killed infected cells while leaving uninfected ones unharmed.

Moss said scientists still have to determine whether the poison would reach all infected cells in the body, and whether it would overlook infected cells in which the virus was lying dormant rather than reproducing.

While the toxin would not kill the virus that causes acquired immune deficiency syndrome, previous research suggests it might prevent the virus from infecting new cells, Moss said.

Martin Hirsch of Harvard Medical School called the poison research a scientific advance but said any medical usefulness will take a long time to demonstrate. "There is a long jump from the test tube to the patient," he said.

Also in today's issue of Nature, Italian scientists report AIDS infections lasting a year in six rabbits. And in an interview this week, Thomas Kindt of NIH said about 20 rabbits in his laboratory have remained infected for up to about 10 months.

Oliviero Varnier of the Institute of Microbiology in Genoa, Italy, said in a telephone interview that four rabbits have now stayed infected for 18 months. The other two died a month ago of unknown causes, he said.

Duke University researcher Dani Bolognesi said rabbit infections may prove useful for vaccine and drug testing if they can be produced routinely, and if they are found to mimic natural virus infection closely enough.

1986 tax reforms raised some tax bills

WASHINGTON (AP) — The landmark 1986 tax overhaul boosted the bite on 250 giant, profitable corporations by about $9 billion last year but still left 16 of them legally paying no federal income tax, a private research group said today.

The number among the 250 that paid no tax was down from 40 in 1986 and from a high of 72 in 1982, according to Citizens for Tax Justice, a labor-financed organization whose reports were credited with helping win passage of the new tax law two years ago.

The 1986 law cut tax rates for most individuals and corporations but took away or reduced several deductions and credits. One result was to shift about $125 billion of the federal tax burden from individuals to corporations over a five-year period.

"Tax reform has passed the most critical test of its effectiveness," Citizens for Tax Justice said in its report. "By putting most of the largest tax-avoiding corporations back on the tax rolls, it has struck a blow for fairness."

"Tax reform may not have made things less complex. Tax reform may not have cut everyone's tax bill. But tax reform has made great strides toward a system that puts all profitable corporations back on the tax rolls. And that should, over time, help restore public confidence in our tax system," the report stated.

The annual survey of corporate taxes is based chiefly on stockholder reports filed by the nation's 250 largest profitable corporations. The report deals only with taxes paid to the U.S. government during a given tax year and does not account for deferrals that could fall due in a future year.

Thus, an international company with large tax payments to foreign governments could be listed as paying no U.S. taxes, as could one that bought a large amount of equipment last year, resulting in a deferral of liability.

Among key findings:
—The 250 paid $9 billion more in federal income last year than they would have paid under the old law.

—As a group, the 250 companies last year paid $27 billion in taxes on profits of $123 billion, a 22 percent rate. Five years earlier, they paid less than 12 percent on $87 billion net earnings.

—About 60 percent of the 250 companies are paying a higher tax rate than before the new law was enacted. About one-third are paying a lower rate.

The survey said the following 16 corporations, whose profits ranged from $42 million to $2.9 billion, paid no federal tax last year: General Motors, IBM, Aetna, Baxter Travenol Laboratories, Carolina Power & Light, Illinois Power, Corning, Hewlett-Packard, Ashland Oil, Greyhound, Ogdan, Sequa Corp., Pennzoil, Goodyear Tire & Rubber, Consumers Power and Gulf States Utilities.

IBM, with profits of $2.9 billion, reduced its U.S. liability principally by taking advantage of the foreign tax credit, which prevents a company from paying tax to two countries on the same dollar of income.

Astronauts receiving sendoff from Reagan

HOUSTON (AP) — Discovery astronauts will get a presidential sendoff today when Ronald Reagan pays a visit to the Johnson Space Center as the crew prepares for next week's launch, the first since the Challenger explosion.

The president also is planning to raise big money at fund-raisers for GOP presidential candidate George Bush and Republican U.S. Senate nominee Beau Boulter.

Reagan's NASA appearance, touted by the White House as the highlight of the day, will be his first visit to the space center since a memorial service there in the wake of the Challenger disaster in January 1986. In that appearance, he consoled the families of the shuttle blast victims and NASA employees and vowed the space program would continue.

The shuttle is slated to fly again next Thursday, marking the return of Americans to space for the first time since the Challenger crew was killed in an explosion 73 seconds after liftoff.

"The visuals for this are going to be pretty spectacular," White House spokesman Pat Mizell said of the space center appearance. "I'm kind of excited. All of us in the White House envision the NASA deal as the bigger event."

With Discovery Commander Fred Hauck as his tour guide, Reagan will get a close-up tour of the shuttle trainer, then head outside the large hangar-like building that houses the mockup to address the thousands of space center employees, contractors and their families.

Reagan will begin his day in Waco with a speech at Baylor University's new Ferrell Special Events Center. Then he goes to the Waco Convention Center for a Boulter fund-raiser where supporters of the Amarillo congressman have paid $1,000 each to see Reagan at a reception, spokesman Joe Fleming said. Boulter faces an uphill battle against three-term Democrat Bentsen, who also is on the ballot as Democratic presidential nominee Michael Dukakis' running mate.

Today's fund-raiser should give the Boulter campaign another $100,000 for its race against Bentsen.

Following his afternoon visit to NASA, Reagan winds up in downtown Houston where he and Bush make a joint appearance at the George Brown Convention Center for an event that is expected to bolster the Bush campaign treasury by more than $3 million.

Dukakis and Bentsen both were in Houston earlier this week, campaigning and raising $1 million.

But organizers of the Reagan-Bush affair, who have been working on the event for six weeks, said the Democratic stop had no effect on their money-raising efforts, even though some people have been

"Raising money for George Bush has been easy," said Herb Butrum, chairman of tonight's event. "I've been doing political fund-raising now for 12 years and I've never had an easier time."

According to Butrum, more than 3,000 seats — at $1,000 apiece — have been sold for a room that only holds 2,400 people.

Cavazos using time to fight dropouts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Education Secretary Lauro Cavazos may have only four months on the job, but he says he'll use the time to fight the dropout rate and advocate education for all.

The first Hispanic member of a president's Cabinet, Cavazos said he is concerned about keeping all students in school, and points to a Hispanic dropout rate of about 30 percent.

"We can't afford to lose that many people," Cavazos told a news conference Wednesday, his first day on the job, as he answered questions in Spanish.

Cavazos said his mission would be to "get out there ... and really have people understand the seriousness of the issue. We've got to start now. We can't delay. We've waited too long."

To get his message across, Cavazos said he would meet with local officials, professional education societies, and members of Congress.

"The next few months will give us the forum to talk about the issues that are vital to America," he said. "How do we position this country, this nation, to really be competitive at the turn of the century ... and I don't just mean economically."

"Rather, let us look to make sure every person in America today is educated to his or her full potential. My interest is to awaken America to recall that our strength really has come because we had an educated electorate," Cavazos said.

Cavazos was confirmed by the Senate and sworn in Tuesday by Vice President Bush. On Wednesday, Cavazos said he had "struck absolutely no deal" with the Republican presidential nominee to remain in office if Bush wins the November election.

"We never even discussed the possibility of my staying beyond the January date," said Cavazos, who is taking a leave of absence from his job as president of Texas Tech University and its medical school.

But some Republicans have said they wouldn't mind seeing Cavazos in the next administration.

Plane makes belly landing

GRAPEVINE, Texas (AP) — National Transportation Safety Board investigators and American Airlines officials today were studying a damaged Boeing 727 airliner that slid for nearly one mile on one wheel and its belly after a landing gear failed.

The emergency landing came on Runway 18-L at Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport, the same runway where another Boeing 727 crashed three weeks ago. The crash of Delta Airlines Flight 1141 on Aug. 31 resulted in 14 deaths.

One person was injured in Wednesday's emergency landing, an unidentified passenger injured an ankle when those inside evacuated American's Flight 135 on an emergency slide, said American spokesman John Hotard.

The plane, carrying 81 passengers and seven crew members, was due at 9 p.m. CDT from Oklahoma City on a non-stop flight when the pilot could not get one of two main landing gears in the rear of the plane to descend, Hotard said.

The pilot had called the DFW tower and put them on alert, saying he might have a problem, said Angel Biasatti, a spokeswoman for the DFW Department of Public Safety. The crew then looked down into a well of the plane and saw that one landing gear was not down and called the tower again to send emergency vehicles to the runway apron.

"He (the pilot) decided to retract the one main landing gear that had extended before and just come in to DFW with the nose landing gear extended," said American spokesman Jim Brown.

The pilot circled the airport to expend fuel, then brought the 727 in about 9:40 p.m. CDT.

"The aircraft belly-landed and the foam was immediately applied," Biasatti said.

The plane slid along the runway, heavily scraping its underside, but did not break up or catch fire.

Runway 18-L sustained no serious damage and airport workers cleared it of debris left by the belly landing, Biasatti said.

American officials were planning to bring equipment to the runway early today to move the aircraft. Until it is removed, DFW will operate with only five runways in service.

The emergency landing was not the only eventful American Airlines flight to DFW on Wednesday night.

A flight that was supposed to travel from Charlotte, N.C. to Dallas was forced to land in Nashville, Tenn., because a warning light came on that indicated an engine problem, said a flight attendant, who refused to give her name.

American spokesman Al Becker said the pilot of the flight from North Carolina shut off one of the engines, then headed to Nashville.

Becker said he didn't know any details about the problem, but called it, "simply a precautionary engine shutdown."

Jim Farrell, of Niagara Falls, N.Y., who was flying to Dallas for business, said the pilot announced he lost an engine and was setting down in Nashville.

"He made all the necessary apologies that passengers were going to have to be late," Farrell said. "We predicted."

Winning recipes shared by local 4-H youth

SARAH WAGNER

Deaf Smith County 4-Hers placed with top honors at the District I 4-H Better Bake Show held at the Tri-State Fair on Saturday.

Spread with half of cream cheese mixture to within 1/2 inch of edges, then spread with half of apples. Starting at longer side, then spread with half of apples. Starting at longer side, roll up tightly; pinch ends and edges to seal.

Place both rolls in prepared pan. Cover; let rise in warm place until light and doubled in size, about 1 hour. Heat oven to 350 degrees F. Bake 45 to 55 minutes or until golden brown.

Remove from pan immediately. In small bowl, combine all glaze ingredients; drizzle over warm coffee cake. (Yields: 16 servings)

JV meets Farwell Friday

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

It's homecoming. It's cheerleaders. It's an open concession stand. It's real officials.

It's real football on a real Friday night for the Hereford JV football team as it travels to Farwell to take on the Class 2A Steers in an 8 p.m. ballgame.

"We're not scared," said offensive guard Richard Perez. "They'll be fired up and we will be, too."

Fired up for several reasons. Two weeks ago, the Herd JV went to Vega, and played the Longhorns tough in a 21-0 loss. Vega was aided by nine Hereford fumbles (Vega recovered three) and a pass interception.

"They were ahead 14-0 and had a total of 14 yards of offense at the time," said JV coach Ron Young. "We had too many mental errors. If you look and the yards and the possession time, we were right there with them."

In the week before the Vega game, just like any other week, the JV had more important chores. The JV serves as the "scout" team for the Hereford varsity. The JV was busy trying to be Palo Duro.

This week, the varsity is open. The JV offense has been working against a Farwell defensive set, the JV defense against Farwell's offensive plays.

"We have some advance preparation against Farwell and we feel a lot better going into this game," Perez said. "We know what to expect this week."

"But we've also learned to be tougher going against our varsity. I don't think we'll meet a team as tough as our varsity. That helps us a lot, too."

Farwell will be no weak sister. The Steers moved up from Class A to Class AA this year loaded with talent under Coach Rex Cumpton. If the name sounds familiar, it's because he's the brother of Hereford head coach Don Cumpton. "Some of their guys could start for our varsity," said coach Stan Carter. They have a fullback-linebacker (Jeff Atkinson) that is a great player and a slotback (Brian Haseloff) that has as much speed as anyone we have seen all year, including varsity."

"We're going to get some experience on Friday night that we can't get playing on Saturday mornings," Carter said. "All these players will be counted on next year for our varsity. All sub-varsity games are played to gain experience: The won-loss records don't mean that much because there aren't any JV playoffs. The experience we gain Friday will count for a lot."

"Homecoming for them makes us more fired up," Perez said. "I think we can rise to the occasion. Everyone is looking forward to a big game and maybe destroying their homecoming."

"That," added Young, "and beating Coach Cumpton's brother."

When the great Jack Dempsey began his boxing career in 1914 he fought under the name of "Kid Blackie."

Here's a look at SWC games

DALLAS (AP) — Here are previews of college football games of Sept. 24 involving Southwest Conference teams:

TEXAS A&M (8-2) at OKLAHOMA STATE (1-4) — 6:30 p.m. (CDT) — Matchup with Cowboys marks A&M's third straight tussle with a Top 20 team and 1987 post-season bowl contender. OSU is coming off an open date for an extra week of readiness for the Aggies. A&M must re-tool after three weeks off the playing fields. The teams last met in 1983, and the Cowboys emerged with a 34-15 victory at College Station. Texas A&M still holds a 7-3 series lead with the Cowboys. A&M head coach Jackie Sherrill is 96-42-2 (13 seasons) overall and 45-25-1 (seven years) with the Aggies. Oklahoma State head coach Pat Jones, a 1980 Arkansas graduate, is 25-13 (five seasons), all as coach of the Cowboys. Both teams used rugged defenses and explosion on offense to fashion identical, 10-2 records last year. Texas A&M has enjoyed the improved rushing production of RB Larry Horton (22 carries for 116 yards) after three games. The Aggies hope to add "oomph" to their offense with the possible return of RB Darren Lewis and the passing of QB Chris Osgood (8-of-15 for 116 yards against LSU). Junior QB Mike Gundy of the Cowboys has steady accuracy (he's the national leader in passing efficiency with a 206.7 rating) with 14-of-19 passes for 248 yards and two TDs in a 35-20 opening-game rout of Miami (Ohio). Cowboys' junior RB Barry Sanders has taken up where Thurman Thomas left off in the rushing department with 178 net yards on 18 carries against the Redskins.

BAYLOR (3-6, 0-6 SWC) at TEXAS TECH (0-2, 0-4 SWC) — 7:00 p.m. (CDT) — For the second season in a row, the Bears and Red Raiders inaugurate conference play. Baylor leads the 59-year-old series with Texas Tech 28-17 and has a 15-13 advantage since Tech joined the SWC in football in 1986. The Bears are riding a four-game winning streak over Tech. Last year BU converted turnovers into a 35-22 triumph over the Red Raiders in Waco. Bears' head coach Grant Teaff is seeking his 100th victory at the BU helm (90-41-4, 17 years) and is the school's winningest football coach in history. He's 9-7 lifetime against Tech and 4-4 in Jones Stadium. Teaff is 141-127-7 (26 years) overall to rank 16th among active NCAA Division I-A head coaches in total wins. Tech head coach Spike Dykes is 6-7-1 (third year), all with the Red Raiders, after starting his career in Tech's 20-17 loss to Mississippi in the 1986 Independence Bowl. The contest matches two of the SWC's most explosive passing attacks. Tech veteran QB Billy Joe Toller is 13th in SWC career completions with 334 and 15th in SWC yards passing with 4,466 yards in spite of missing three full games in 1987 with a broken foot. Baylor sophomore QB Brad Goebel, who is backed capably by Ed Lovell and Ricky Vestal, already owns 2,592 career passing yards in the SWC and has the potential to rank among the SWC's all-time aerial leaders. Baylor owns the nation's best defense, allowing only 164.7 yards per game this season.

NORTH TEXAS (2-0) at TEXAS (1-1) — 7:00 p.m. (CDT) — In one of the SWC's most intriguing inter-sectional battles of the 1988 season, the homecoming Horned Frogs seek to avenge a 35-20 opening game loss in 1987 to the Eagles. Both teams have been hard to "peg" in the early going with losses to national powers. The Eagles have blasted Cincinnati 41-7 between losses to Southern Cal and Penn State (23-20 on a late field goal) while the Horned Frogs are going after their second win in a row at Amon Carter Stadium in Fort Worth. BC has had general success (10-7 record all-time) against SWC opponents but lost to SMU 31-29 at Texas Stadium in Irving on its last trip to the Metroplex in 1986. The Eagles downed Houston 45-28 in the 1985 Cotton Bowl. TCU has a setting much like the atmosphere before its 35-17 trouncing of Brigham Young last year in Fort Worth as the Frogs' option game clicked on all cylinders. The game features two head coaches who have had their share of national success in spite of guiding private schools. BC's Jack Bicknell is 69-48-2 (13 years) as the man guiding the Eagles while TCU's Jim Wacker has captured four NCAA Division II and NAIA championships while going 125-68-3 (18 years) overall and 21-35-2 (six seasons) at TCU. The Frogs seek to even the two-game at series at 1-1 after the teams' initial game in football last fall. BC has a solid passing attack in QB Mark Kamphaus, who was 20-of-29 for 257 yards and two TDs in last week's loss at Penn State. TCU is paced in the rushing attack by HB Tony Dardhard (201 yards in 35 carries in two games) and a healthy QB-Utilityman Scott Ankrum. The Frogs made four pass interceptions, including two by CB Stanley Petry, to cement last weekend's win over Bowling Green. Pass defense is a key to this year's rematch after the Eagles tossed for 392 yards (17-of-34) in last season's triumph at Alumni Stadium.

RICE (3-1) at SOUTHWESTERN LOUISIANA (2-4) — 7:00 p.m. (CDT) — The Ragin' Cajuns host their second straight opponent from Texas, after beating Sam Houston State 33-4 last Sunday in a postponed game at Cajun Field in Lafayette, La. Rice has regrouped after taking an open date. USL is exactly 3-3 in previous games with SWC foes and is 1-2 in its series with Rice. The Owls grabbed a 22-21 win over Southwestern Louisiana in 1983 when the teams last met, and this marks

PUBLIC NOTICE

BRIEF EXPLANATORY STATEMENTS OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS GENERAL ELECTION NOVEMBER 8, 1988

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 8 proposes a constitutional amendment providing that when the federal government reimburses the state for expenditures of state funds dedicated to acquiring rights-of-way and for constructing, maintaining, and policing public roadways, such federal funds must also be used for those purposes.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:
"The constitutional amendment and/or clarification providing that federal reimbursement of state highway dedicated funds are themselves dedicated for the purpose of acquiring rights-of-way and constructing, maintaining, and policing public roadways."

PROPOSITION NO. 2 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 2 proposes a constitutional amendment to establish an economic stabilization fund in the state treasury. The fund would consist of one half of the unencumbered balance of general revenues at the end of a biennium and three-fourths of the difference between the net oil and gas production taxes received in a fiscal year and the net oil and gas production taxes received in the 1987 fiscal year. During any fiscal biennium, the amount in the economic stabilization fund could not exceed 10% of the total deposited in general revenue in the preceding biennium.

The state comptroller and the state treasurer could decide to transfer monies from the fund into the general revenue fund to alleviate a temporary cash shortage in general revenue. The legislature could make appropriations from the fund on approval by a three-fifths vote of each house to make up the difference between anticipated general revenue and appropriations. On approval of two thirds of the members of each house of the legislature, the legislature could appropriate monies from the fund for any purpose.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:
"The constitutional amendment establishing an economic stabilization fund in the state treasury to be used to offset unforeseen shortfalls in revenue."

PROPOSITION NO. 3 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 3 proposes a constitutional amendment that establishes the Texas growth fund. All investments of the Texas growth fund must be directly related to furthering economic growth and employment opportunities in Texas. At least 50 percent of the fund must be invested in equity and/or debt security for the initial construction, expansion, or modernization of business or industrial facilities in Texas. Not more than ten percent of the fund may be invested in venture capital investments. Of the funds available for venture capital investments, not more than 25 percent may be invested unilaterally, and the remaining investments must be matched at least equally by funds from other sources. The Texas growth fund will be managed by a board of trustees consisting of four members appointed by the Governor and one member from and elected by the membership of each of the following: The Board of Regents of the University of Texas System; The Board of Regents of the Texas A&M System; The Board of Trustees of the Teacher's Retirement System of Texas; and the State Board of Education. The trustees may set the investment policy of the fund, enter into investment contracts, and take any action necessary for the creation, administration, and protection of the fund. The amendment authorizes the Board of Regents of the University of Texas System and the State Board of Education, in managing the permanent university fund and the permanent school fund, to acquire, exchange, sell, supervise, manage, or retain any kind of investment, including investments in the Texas growth fund. The fund will be phased out after the tenth anniversary of its creation, but the Legislature may create a second growth fund by a two-thirds vote of each house.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:
"The constitutional amendment to provide for the investment of the permanent university fund, the permanent school fund, and public employee retirement systems in the Texas growth fund created by the amendment, which will directly create, retain, and expand job opportunity and economic growth in Texas."

Avoid taking certain foods to work

Along with a sandwich you could be packing the potential for food-borne illness in your brown bag lunch.

According to Marilyn Haggard, a food safety expert with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, people often have a cavalier attitude about sack lunches.

"When they're at home, most people wouldn't eat a sandwich out of lunch meat that had been out on the kitchen counter for four hours, yet they'll take a meat sandwich to work in the morning and let it sit unrefrigerated until lunch time," she said.

Lack of refrigeration that allows bacteria to multiply rapidly in protein foods is the culprit in causing countless cases of upset stomach, diarrhea and other flu-like symptoms associated with food-borne illnesses.

Of the typical brown bag lunch fare, tuna, egg and chicken salads, lunch meats and leftovers are most likely to cause problems, according to the specialist.

"Contrary to popular opinion, it's not the mayonnaise in sandwiches that spoils. In fact, mayonnaise offers some protection against bacteria because it contains vinegar," she said. "It's the meat, poultry, fish or eggs in which bacteria multiply rapidly at room temperature."

"Leftovers like a meatloaf sandwich or macaroni and cheese can also be a problem because they consist of food that has previously been handled, so more bacteria have been introduced," she said.

When no refrigeration is available at school or work, Haggard suggests freezing sandwiches. Use a coarse-textured bread and lightly spread it with margarine so the sandwich won't get soggy. Pack the lettuce, tomato or other add-ons separately then add them at lunch.

If you don't freeze the sandwich, add an ice-pack to the lunch. They're available in stores or you can make one by freezing water in a small margarine tub. Or you can freeze a foil pouch or wax-paper carton-fruit juice to serve as both a cold drink and an ice pack.

Adult brown-baggers usually have more options since offices frequently contain vending machines, refrigerators and microwave ovens.

"If you bring leftovers from home, keep them refrigerated and then thoroughly heat in the office microwave," said the specialist.

'Auntie Mame' to open at Amarillo Little Theatre

The Amarillo Little Theatre announced it's 1988 season opening of AUNTIE MAME set for 8 p.m. Friday, Saturday and Oct. 1 at the Amarillo Theatre center located at 2019 Civic Circle.

Sunday matinees will be held on Sept. 25 and Oct. 2 at 2:30 p.m.

This comedic play is the madcap adventures of Auntie Mame and the zany characters in her life. Mame, who has been given the charge of her young nephew, Patrick, meets amusing opposition to her very liberal child rearing philosophies.

ALT's artistic director, Allen Shankles, said, "Auntie Mame has been an enjoyable production for the cast and crew. Over 70 volunteers have given their time to this production. It has truly been enjoyable to recreate the sets, costumes, props and characters of the 1920's through the 1940's."

Sponsors for Auntie Mame are: Mr. and Mrs. Mac Hancock, III, The Charles C. Curl District Agency of Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance and the Robert S. Curl Company and American Airlines.

For reservations, call the ALT Box Office at 355-9991. Season memberships will be available through the run of Auntie Mame.

The Olympic symbol is five interlocking circles colored blue, yellow, black, green and red on a white background, representing the five continents. At least one of these colors appears in the national flag of every country.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was interested in the letter from the 15-year-old girl who was embarrassed by her father's nudity. I am a 17-year-old girl who is disgusted by the way my mother runs around the house naked.

I have two brothers, 15 and 12. Mom behaves in a very flirty way with them. The older one is embarrassed. The younger one is awfully curious and gets excited, if you know what I mean.

My father doesn't approve of Mom's burlesque act and has told her so. Whenever he says, "Katherine, put on a bathrobe, for heaven's sake!" she yells, "You have such a mid-Victorian hang-up about nudity. I don't want our kids to grow up with those crazy ideas."

When Dad is not at home she is sneaky about it. She'll wrap a little towel around her middle and let it slip "accidentally" when she sees the boys down the hall.

Some of my brother's friends have seen her do this and they told their parents about it. They aren't allowed to come over anymore. I wouldn't think of having my friends come inside the house.

Ann, what can be done about this? No one I know has this problem. Sign me—Beet Face in Boise

DEAR BEET FACE: Your mother is an exhibitionist. Since she is unwilling to admit it, she's not likely to seek help.

The boys should try not to react when she appears in the buff. They should simply move out of her way. Mom gets her jollies from a shocked response. When none occurs she may give up. And P.S., your father needs to take a stronger stand.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 20 and my boyfriend is 21. I am madly in love with him even though he is in love with someone else. He broke up with her, and we moved in together. Recently I had a baby girl. Three weeks later he took up with her again and had the nerve to move her into our home.

Why didn't I take my baby and leave? I had no place to go and no money. I pleaded and begged him to get her out of our lives. He said he knew he should but he didn't have the strength to do it. That broke my heart.

When he saw how miserable I was he finally did end the relationship. I was thrilled. He swore in God's name that he would never see her again. I believed him.

I was heartsick when I discovered that he had taken up with her again two months later. He sneaked her in to our home when I wasn't there. When he's been out with her all night he sleeps all day, and I have to make excuses for him or he'll lose his job.

Threats don't work. He says he loves us both. We lost our apartment because he spent two of my welfare checks on her. Our little girl did not see him on Christmas because of her. I have to sleep on my pocketbook under my pillow so he won't steal what little money I have. I know now that I'm fighting a losing battle. I believe he will be in love with her the rest of his life. Her name is Cocaine.—M.W., New York

DEAR NEW YORK: Your only chance for a decent life is to get away from that man. Maybe if you and the baby leave he'll get the help that is available to him. You and your child deserve something better. Get it.

Planning a wedding? What's right? What's wrong? "The Ann Landers Guide for Brides" will relieve your anxiety. To receive a copy, send $3 plus a self-addressed, stamped business-size envelope (45 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Hints from Heloise

TABLECLOTH

Dear Heloise: I searched everywhere for a lace tablecloth that would fit my long, narrow table. I found a few but they were much too expensive.

As I was walking around the store, I spotted beautiful lace panel curtains on sale. I measured one panel, and the width was perfect but it was too long. All I had to do was hem it on both ends.

You wouldn't believe how good it looks, and I'm embarrassed to tell you the price, but I will: $7! Can you imagine a large lace tablecloth for that price? — Lori Beamer, Las Vegas, Nev.

Isn't that great! That's what I tell my readers — you don't have to pay a fortune for something. With a little imagination you can really pick up bargains. — Heloise

PAINT CABINETS

Dear Heloise: The worst part of painting or varnishing cabinets is removing the hardware. A painter friend of mine said you don't have to do that. All you have to do is to coat the hardware heavily with petroleum jelly. When paint gets on it, simply wipe it off.

I did this with some cabinets in my garage and it was a cinch to remove the paint. — John Baxter, Beaumont, Texas

In 1854, the United States and Japan signed the Treaty of Kanagawa, opening two Japanese ports to U.S. trade.

Abundant Life

THE BLESSINGS OF GROWTH

With the passing of years, physical growth is completed. This growth is important, and deserves the very best care we can give to it; however, there are other areas of growth which should never be thought of as completed.

These are the areas in which we should continue to grow, and receive 'the blessings of growth'.

Mental and spiritual growth are intended to be a lifetime experience, and as the growth process continues the blessings continue. We work to maintain or physical being, and we should be working to encourage the continuing, mental and spiritual growth. In these areas we may reach what we loosely call maturity, but, in the true sense of maturity in these areas, we are mature but ever maturing. The possibility is almost unlimited, if we will honestly and wisely use our potential.

The quality of life is determined by our mental and spiritual growth, and the quantity of life is the number of years we live. This growth which has so much potential for blessing us, is the growth that adds life to our years. We do not live well just because we live a long time. In fact, the passing years can become an increasingly heavy burden; if we neglect to cultivate and nurture the mental and spiritual areas of life.

"Some men never seem to grow old, always active in thought, always ready to adopt new ideas, they are never justifiably charged with fogginess. Satisfied, yet ever dissatisfied; settled, yet ever unsettled, they always enjoy the best of what is, and are the first to find the best of what will be."—Anon.

Continued effort fed by continuing desire will bring the blessings that can enrich and enhance one's life, because continuing mental and spiritual growth require patient endurance and eternal vigilance. Our knowledge and wisdom increase, our usefulness will be enlarged, our personal strength becomes greater, and the supply of blessings almost inexhaustible.

ITCHY EARS

NEW YORK (AP) — Hiccups usually aren't of great concern but there was a case in which a woman complained of hiccuping as often as five times a minute with a persistent itch in her left ear.

When doctors examined the ear, according to Discover magazine, they found an ant in it. The ant had irritated a branch of the vagus nerve that runs from the brain, through the ear and down into the abdomen where the diaphragm is located.

Hiccups are caused when the diaphragm tries to cough out an irritant. When the ant was washed out of the ear the hiccups stopped.

SALT TABLETS

NEW YORK (AP) — Don't replace lost sodium with salt tablets, recommends the Reebok Aerobic Information Bureau.

It's a myth that salt tablets replace sodium lost through sweating, it says. They actually draw water from the tissues into the stomach to dilute the abnormally high sodium concentration from the tablet, says Nancy Clark, a Boston-area sports nutritionist.

Ever get the idea your banker is somewhere else when you need him most?

While our example may be a bit extreme, our point is disturbingly real. It can be a waste of time and money to entrust your financial relationship to people unresponsive to your business and personal needs.

At Hereford State Bank you deal on a principal-to-principal basis with one of our loan officers, who have a personal interest in their business and therefore will be highly motivated to take a personal interest in your business.

Come to a bank where the people are known to have heads on their shoulders. And use them.

Guide to successful entertaining helpful

Whoever coined the phrase, "everybody loves a party," probably never had the pleasure of hosting one. For every great party which was ever thrown, the hosts experienced a proportionate share of headaches and catastrophes, not to mention pre-party nerves.

However, every party can be a great party - and, to a large degree, the jitters and problems can be eliminated - with appropriate and sensible party planning, that still leaves ample room for serendipity.

And, if you're inexperienced at giving parties, or less confident than you ought to be, Beverly Risse Church and Bethany Ewald Bultman - both experienced party-givers - can help you replace pressure with pleasure, with their lavishly illustrated, exhaustive volume, The Joys of Entertaining (Abbeville Press, $39.95).

A mine of practical suggestions and ideas, plus an imaginative resource for festive inspirations, The Joys of Entertaining offers novice and pro alike a fresh look at virtually every sort of entertaining, from a birthday party for a two-year-old, to a business dinner whose purpose is to impress the influential, to a lavish ball or wedding, orchestrated as the event of a lifetime.

To do this, Church and Bultman draw on the experience and know-how of innumerable party-givers across the nation, thumbnailing their most successful efforts, and talking about entertaining failures, too, and how to turn even those into memorable occasions for the right reasons!

Threaded throughout the book are ideas for theme parties - an approach, the authors assure the reader, which keeps guests busy and happy, sets a festive mood and provides the basis for a spectacular event.

And make sure, the authors emphasize, that the invitations you send set the mood of the party - a tantalizing pre-taste of what's to come.

For New Year's Eve, for instance, Church and Bultman suggest steering clear of the clichés and hosting a wintertime beach party, decorating your house with beach umbrellas and deck chairs in summery colors, adding such accessories as beach balls and pool toys, and serving spicy Mexican food - as hot, perhaps, as the summer season being evoked.

Or, transform an ordinary dinner party, turning it into a magical occasion.

Bring to life the glittering world of the '30s by showing a favorite movie from that epoch as entertainment (the authors suggest a Rogers and Astaire feature), and asking your guests to get into the spirit by dressing "retro," creating their interpretations of the elegant fashions of the era, or hark back to Renaissance Italy with a Medici-inspired feast, to complement an evening of period music. Other party themes highlighted in the book range from the romance of the Arabian Nights, to the down-home merriment of the local Bowling Alley (serve frankfurters, pizza and beer), to a Follow-the-Clues Mystery Party, where every guest has the chance to play Sherlock Holmes.

Whimsy aside, The Joys of Entertaining provides chapter after chapter of practical advice - on setting up the party, selecting the guests for optimum enjoyment for everyone, designing invitations, arranging seating and choosing a table or tables, orchestrating the pace of a party, making sure the guests mix and finding time to enjoy your own party.

Party decorations and tableware are discussed in depth, and floral arrangements, formal or serendipitous, are given their fair share of attention.

The authors have a deep fund of advice on making the most of what you have to set any one of a myriad of moods.

If you're hosting a major affair - and have opted to do it yourself, as opposed to hiring a professional party planner - you'll find plenty of advice to get you started and take you all the way to the day of the big event.

And, if your home is small, and your facilities limited, you'll appreciate the numerous space-expanding ideas the authors offer - from using your stairs, artfully draped with a tablecloth, as a buffet, to rearranging your furniture (eliminating some of it, temporarily, if necessary) to form conversation groups and ensure mixing.

There's a chapter on Holiday Entertaining, and one entitled "Events of a Lifetime," which focuses on weddings, showers, baby showers, christenings and the like.

A full chapter called "Having a Ball with Kids" offers a myriad of suggestions for entertaining tykes in all age groups, providing them with fun while making it easier on the host or hostess.

All of this comes to life in the full color photos with which the volume is lavishly endowed.

These photos themselves provide a plethora of ideas and inspirations on arranging a festive house and setting a spectacular table, on arranging flowers, and fruits and vegetables, as natural centerpieces, and on effectively using contrast to set a mood-elegant lacy linens, for example, arranged to let the rugged, worn pine of a tabletop show through.

All of these are just ideas, as the authors are quick to point out. For, the best party is one which is an expression of personal style - a gift of yourself shared with family and friends - and that is something which only you can create. A book like The Joys of Entertaining gets you started on the right foot.

Reduce dietary fat by learning to read labels

NEWS USA—Most of us are well aware that too much fat in our diets is not healthy. High fat diets have been linked to higher risk for several types of cancer, heart disease and kidney disease. Yet many people feel that reducing dietary fat is simply too complicated to attempt.

In reality, reducing fat can be relatively simple. Learning to read product labels, for example, is one easy place to begin a fat reduction campaign. Nutritional information on food packaging will usually tell you how many grams of fat are in an average serving of the product. But what you really want to know is how many calories of the food are coming from the fat content.

To find the fat calories, simply multiply the number of grams of fat per serving by 9, which is the average number of calories in a gram of fat. Thus if you had a food label which told you that an average serving of that food contained 100 calories and 6 grams of fat, you could multiply those 6 grams of fat by 9 and find that 54 of the serving's calories, or a little more than 50 percent of the total calories, were coming from its fat content.
