FINAL PLANS OF CREAMERY TO COME UP

Letters are being mailed to every dairy farmer and merchant in Deaf Smith county urging their attendance at a creamery meeting to be held at the court house Friday afternoon, February 22, at 2:30.

Directors of the Deaf Smith County Cooperative Creamery are urging full attendance. Approximately eighty-five farmers and merchants have signed up for stock and the committee is confident that enough additional subscribers can be enlisted at this meeting to fully finance the creamery.

Arrangements for the building to be occupied by the creamery have been worked out, and according to A. B. Schultz, work will begin when the stock is disposed of. "This is one of the biggest moves Hereford and Deaf Smith have undertaken in years," said a prominent merchant, "and the establishment of this creamery at Hereford instead of some of the nearby towns will be one of the biggest things that could happen, both for the dairyman and the merchant."

The directors are anxious that all the rural people heed the call to attend the mass meeting Friday and Hereford citizens are just as insistently. It is that N. O. Bendickson, who several weeks here in assisting this move, will return to Hereford in the near future and will superintend erection and installation of the plant. More interest is being shown in the matter now than at any time, according to the men who have been working on it.

Baby Beeves to Be Exhibited In Hereford Soon

County Agent Dunkle is busy this week arranging to bring in the calves now on feed by 4-H club boys in this county to the Sales Pavilion, where they will be graded and prepared for the coming fat stock shows and competitions at Amarillo and Fort Worth.

These calves were put on feed last fall. The boys who purchased them are Elwin and G. C. Hartman, Jr., Harry Lookingbill, Bernard East, Jim Ricketts, Paul and Ezra Bagwell, Addison Hunter, Louis and Junior Sherman. Each of these boys are feeding two calves.

It is Mr. Dunkle's plan to bring the calves into town on February 28 and to ship them by freight to Amarillo on March 3. Meanwhile they will be "slicked up," shown to local admirers and gentled to handling for the benefit of the show judges. The Panhandle Cattlemen's Convention will be held at Amarillo on March 4, 5 and 6. The calves will be entered for individual as well as for carlot prizes. Fifteen calves constitute a carload, so the best fifteen will be selected to enter in the carlot contests. Six counties will compete for the individual prizes, and four will compete in the carlot class. Carlot first money consists of $100 and the individual prizes number twenty-two, the first being $50.00, the second $47.50, etc.

Hatchery Buys Fine Rhode Island Red

The Hillside Hatchery and Poultry Farm has just purchased a very fine Owen Farm Rhode Island Red cockerel from C. C. Ferguson, Jr., and placed him at the head of their first pen of fourteen females. The mating was done by C. (Pat) Marphrey, new manager of the hatchery. A battery of two new Smith storage brooders have also been set up for action, with a capacity of 1800 chicks.

Plans In Making To Make Dogs' Life Just That; Fido Must Go!

If you own a dog and like him it would be well to purchase a license for him at once, according to City Manager Finch. Because next week the City of Hereford intends to make a drive against stray dogs within the city limits and all unlicensed mutts roaming around loose will be gathered up and put in the dog jail. Recently there has been considerable complaint about vicious dogs, and at least one child was bitten by a stray dog.

Mr. Finch requests that every dog owner purchase a license at once before the dog catcher starts on his rounds.

Tom Wood Succumbs to Injuries In Car Wreck

A locked wheel, or some other unknown car trouble, was the probable cause of the death last Friday of Tom Wood, local plumbing contractor, and one of the best known and best liked citizens of the community.

Mr. Wood was driving to Amarillo on business Thursday morning of last week and when about a half mile east of the second turn in the road beyond Umbarger his car suddenly swerved across the road to the left and plunged into the ice and snow-filled ditch. The car turned over completely and Mr. Wood's head was crushed under it. He was picked up by a couple of Clovis men enroute to Amarillo and carried to Canyon, where emergency medical aid was given. Mrs. Wood and her cousin, Earl, went to Canyon and brought him back home about 3:30 p. m. in the Black ambulance. He lingered until 2:05 Friday morning and local physicians were hopeful until within a few moments of his death that he would pull through. But he took a sudden turn for the worse and died very suddenly.

Funeral services were held from the First Christian church Saturday, February 16, at 10:30 a. m., conducted by the Rev. V. M. Cloyd, assisted by the Rev. J. W. Bouldinghouse. The body was buried in the Hereford cemetery, the pall bearers being Cliff Hicks, L. A. Ray, Lee Lambert, A. H. Streu, J. D. Buchanan, J. C. McMahon, Judge Jno. P. Slaton and Ezra Norton.

William Thomas Wood was born in Middle Tennessee, in 1875, and came to Texas about 1890. For a time he lived in Coryell county, but moved to Hereford in 1906. His first marriage occurred in 1909, his wife dying in 1922. In 1925 he married Miss May Bugg, of Electra, Texas. He was the father of four children by his first wife. The elder child, Billy, died in 1918, but the other three children survive him: Freda, age 11; John, age 9, and Bobby, age 6. He is also survived by his wife, his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. (Dad) Wood, of Ponca City, Okla.; two brothers and five sisters. J. P. Wood of Hereford is his uncle. Two of his sisters, Miss Lula Wood of Ponca City, and Mrs. Kate McKan of Cordell, Oklahoma, formerly lived here. His parents and a brother, Ernest Wood, of Crosbyton, Texas, were also former citizens of Hereford. Mr. Wood was a member of the Christian church and conducted a plumbing business here for many years. He leaves a host of friends who mourn his tragic and untimely end.

Canyon Band Proud of Reception In Hereford

C. E. Strain, director of the Buffalo band of the W. T. S. T. C., which played in Hereford Tuesday of last week, declared that his trip was the most successful and satisfactory short band trip that he had ever made. The band enjoyed playing at Hereford high school and felt that it had a very appreciative audience. Members declared they did not mind playing on the street, even if it was a rather cold day. After leaving Hereford the band played concerts at Erlona and Borina and returned to Canyon that night.

"SO THE PEOPLE MAY KNOW"

One of the most important meetings ever called in the City of Hereford is that set for next Tuesday night, February twenty-sixth, at the First Methodist Church, when the Hotel Committee of the Chamber of Commerce will present Hereford's opportunity at a Hotel Banquet.

Every interested citizen, male or female, in this community should be there. The Committee announces that no "high-powered" methods will be used—the simple proposition of whether or not Hereford shall progress or stand still will be presented to an intelligent citizenship—and the answer left in their hands.

Hereford is at the "cross-roads"—hesitation now will result disastrously; united effort means that the city will "go over" with a bang. Every indication points to that fact.

NOW is the time! See the Committee or the Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and make your reservation for Tuesday night.

The Boy Is Tough; Car Over Neck, But He Comes Up With Smile

It's the talk around the school grounds that the Jewell family is grooming another fine fullback prospect for the football team. Last Saturday Henry Jewell, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Jewell, was run over by a car, the wheel passing over his left shoulder and neck. But Henry was not much hurt, and Monday went on to school as usual.

Sweetwater Hotel Man In Hereford Thursday

Rufus Wright, of Sweetwater, Texas, one of West Texas' dominant figures in progress for the past twenty years, was a business visitor in Hereford Thursday.

Mr. Wright, who is better known for his hotel activities in West Texas, owns several thousand acres of Castro county land and is often in these parts looking after his interests.

Mr. Wright, after looking over the city, stated he was very favorably impressed with conditions here.

More Than 30 Enroll In Boy Scout School

The Boy Scout training course, designed for adult leaders interested in Scouting, began at the Baptist church Monday night of this week with E. L. Roberts, Scout Executive of the Central Plains Council, in charge.

More than thirty men have registered for the course and the interest is at high pitch. Mr. Roberts is seeing to it that there is not a dull moment. The study period is ingeniously sandwiched between two spirited recreational periods. Instead of the course assuming a hum-drum nature, it is really proving a respite and relaxation from the grind and tension of each man's daily task.

Three patrols, with Messrs. Foster, Humble and Kerr as leaders have been formed and each man attending is assigned to one of these. Men have turned boys again and are actually carrying through the activities of a Boy Scout troop.

The class meets each Monday Tuesday and Thursday evening at 7:30 and will continue through next week. It is still open to all those who are interested in Boy Scouting and the local Council extends an urgent invitation to every man who would yet like to enroll in the course.

Pete and Jude Lose Caste; Price Now Six Cents a Pound

Texas has been threatened with eggs-by-the-pound price for a long time, but it remains for Messrs. Swagerty & Shaw, mule buyers of Hereford, to inaugurate the idea of buying mules by the pound.

Last week these gentlemen actually bought twenty-five head of mules at six cents per pound and shipped them to the Fort Worth market. The mules averaged about $50.00 each.

District Court In Midst of a Busy Session

Criminal Docket. State vs J. Scott Hall, driving an automobile while intoxicated; case continued until next term of court.

State vs William Hatley and Bob Haynes, theft; five years suspended sentence.

State vs Wallace Ward, theft; confinement in penitentiary for five years.

State vs L. E. Darnell, transporting intoxicating liquor; five year suspended sentence.

PENNEY FIRM MAY ENTER LOCAL FIELD

The presence here last week of D. D. Steele, of El Paso, District Manager of the J. C. Penney Stores in this section, has aroused a lot of speculation and surmising. It is known that the Penney interests, one of the largest dry goods chains concerns in the Southwest, have had their eyes on Hereford for the past year or so, and Mr. Steele's visit here has led many people to believe that the company is now seriously considering the establishment here of one of their stores. Close observers of conditions point out that when the Penney Stores establish themselves in any town, that particular community is sure to be headed up instead of down.

Beans Ran Dry; Much Smoke; Fire Alarm; Very Little Damage

A pot of beans became unruly in the George Wesley home Monday evening about 6:30 o'clock and made so much smoke that it was hard to tell what was going on in the kitchen. As a precautionary measure the fire alarm was turned in. There was little damage.

Cayton Transferred to Texhoma Territory

N. W. Cayton, Case Thrashing Machine Company representative in this territory, has been transferred to Texhoma, Oklahoma, and will leave with Mrs. Cayton for his new home the last of this week. Mrs. Cayton was formerly Miss Pearl Wood.

New Home Going Up for Mrs. W. T. Smith

A permit has been obtained and contract let to J. O. Howard for a new five-room frame and stucco residence just off 25-Mile Avenue. This house is being built for Mrs. W. T. Smith and is modern in every respect.

Plains Boosters In Important Session Friday

A joint meeting of the Board of Directors and Publicity Committee of the Panhandle-Plains, Inc., together with high officials of the three railroads serving this territory was held at Amarillo last Friday, when plans for the forthcoming immigration campaign for 1929 were discussed. Certain territory in the Middle West was agreed upon as the site for the work, plans for descriptive literature were outlined, and everything placed in readiness for a concentrated drive for new settlers for the Panhandle-Plains section the coming year. The publicity committee in charge of this work is composed of Sam Braswell, Clarendon, chairman; Claude Holley, Quitaque; George Briggs, Pampa; Horace Russell, Amarillo, and Seth B. Holman, Hereford.

Oklahoma Man Buys Section Six Miles Out

Fred Strum and family of Carnegie, Oklahoma, arrived Saturday and will make their home on an improved farm six miles southwest of town, which they recently purchased.

Stone Stores Manager Will Make His Home In This City Soon

W. W. Richerson, of Sayre, Oklahoma, who is to be district manager for the C. E. Stone Chain Dry Goods Stores in this territory, with headquarters at Hereford, was a visitor here and in Dimmitt Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Richerson will soon move here and make this their home. He will manage several stores in this territory from this point. Mr. Richerson inspected the new store building in Dimmitt Monday and said they would soon install a stock of goods there.

C. R. Smith, Jr., Buried In Hereford Sunday

One of the saddest deaths in Hereford's history occurred last Friday, February 15, when C. R. Smith, Jr., twenty-two year old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Smith, passed away from an attack of pneumonia. Young Smith had been badly burned about his legs and hands on January 29, when his overalls, soaked with gasoline and oil, ignited from a hot stove at Umbarger in front of which he had been warming himself. He had been in the county hospital since and was recovering from his burns in nice fashion when last Monday night he developed a chill which went into pneumonia.

Funeral services were held from the First Christian church Sunday, February 17, at 3:00 p. m., conducted by the Rev. J. W. Bouldinghouse. The boy was buried in the Hereford cemetery, the pall bearers being W. E. Fallwell, Arlis Russell, Ramsey Landrum, George Connell, Claude Longbottom and Louie LeGrand, all former school mates or close friends. One of the largest funeral processions in the town's history followed this popular and beloved young man to his grave.

He is survived by his parents, one younger brother, Roy, one sister, Ruth, and grand mother, Mrs. E. M. Vanderburg.

New Rural Mail Route Started Last Saturday; Patrons Well Pleased

The first mail over the new Motor Route No. 2 went out Saturday with Charlie Jewell as carrier. Every resident on the new route is rejoicing over the big event. Mail will go out on this route hereafter on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

According to Contractor W. B. McNeely, satisfactory progress is being made on the new A. H. Eliston brick building on Main street. The brick work is now rapidly progressing and the big front "I" beam was placed Thursday. The contract calls for completion of the building by April 1.

MRS. R. L. BARNETT.

The Brand is indebted to Mrs. Clifford R. Ferrin of Roswell, N. M., for the following clipping from the Roswell Daily Record of February 13, concerning the death of a former Hereford woman, wife of the late J. W. Barnett, which will interest many friends in this section:

"Mrs. Rosa L. Barnett passed away at the family home, 112 S. Missouri street this morning at 3:00 o'clock. Mrs. Barnett had been ill only a few days and her passing is deeply felt by her numerous friends. She had been a resident of Roswell for the past thirteen years and during that time she has endeared herself to the whole community. She was a member of the Christian church and had always been an active worker therein. In the passing of Mrs. Barnett the city loses one of its most lovable characters. She is survived by three daughters: Mrs. Clifford Ferrin, Mrs. Clayton Ferrin and Miss Lolita Barnett, all of Roswell, also three—James C. Barnett and Jay T. Barnett of Roswell and R. H. Barnett of California. She also has three brothers: Barry T. Lucas, of St. Joseph, Mo.; J. L. Lucas of Monmouth, Ill. and H. C. Lucas of Long Beach, Cal. No services have been arranged, pending word from relatives."

HIGHWAY TO BE TALKED AT MEETING

Advices received by Secretary Arnold from commissioners courts of Hale, Oldham, Castro and Hartley counties indicate all data will be ready to submit to the State Highway Commission at the March meeting of that body, asking for a state designated highway from Plainview to Channing.

This is considered one of the most important highway moves that has faced this section of the Panhandle in a long time. It will be recalled that this designation has been before the commission for action in past years, but without increased activity and development in this section, proponents of the measure are hopeful of favorable action. Petitions from each of the counties to the state body will be signed by county judges and the commissioners courts and inculcated into a brief being prepared by the local Chamber of Commerce.

State Engineer Gilchrist has been asked for a conference at the March meeting which convenes on March 11, and there is a likelihood of a delegation presenting this brief in person, according to Mr. Arnold. Several county officials from the adjoining counties have signified their willingness to make the trip to Austin in furtherance of this very important matter.

Deaf Smith has a very small mileage of state or federal highways, regardless of the fact that it is a large county, and those interested in the move think securing this route from south to north will mean a great deal in the development of the county.

The through traffic which would be routed over this road from Central West Texas points to Colorado will amount to hundreds of thousands of visitors annually and the route will connect the county seats of five of the most productive counties on the Plains.

The extension of this designation from Vega to Channing, there connecting with the Colorado to Gulf highway will eliminate many miles from the trips of those now going into the Channing and Dalhart territory and will necessitate building a bridge across the Canadian river near the site of old Tascosa.

Good road advocates state this will be one of the strong points for granting this designation when the request is placed before the commission at Austin. After designation and the road has been placed in condition acceptable to the highway body, maintenance is taken over by the state and the counties are relieved of the burden.

Many Interesting Matters Talked Over by C. of C.

With President Seliger on the jury and Vice-President Cronin tied up on private business, Secretary Roy Arnold was forced to preside at Monday's luncheon held at the Hereford Hotel. The irresponsible Secretary remarked facetiously that "This is one time this job will be handled right."

S. O. Wilson, creamery enthusiast, made a splendid appeal for support of the movement now under way to establish a plant here. He said that next Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock a mass meeting in the interest of the creamery would be held at the court house. At present over half of the amount needed has been raised, but it is greatly to be desired that all the money needed be raised at once and the debt gotten under way. "Let's wait for Bill or John to do it," said Mr. Wilson. "Let's do it ourselves and do it now."

DEAR FRIENDS:

Some unusual requests come in to Orr's Tailor Shop every little while.

For instance, yesterday two rag baby dolls put in their appearance. Each looked like it had seen a hard life. But when they came through the cleaner they looked good as new. I'll bet the baby they belong to won't recognize them when they come home.

The boss took an order a day or two ago for auto seat covers. They certainly looked fine when they were cleaned. Also we had some Austrian shades the other day.

Do you remember our telephone number- It's Number 16.

Soothe Doomed Shark by Ticking Its Hide

Few of us would like to tackle the tiger of the seas in his native haunts, but the brown men of Alcatraz in the Southern seas have no such scruples. There, in the calm emerald waters of the lagoon, fringed about with waving palms, are great hollows in the coral rocks; here, during the hottest hours of the day, the sharks love to bask in the welcome shade.

Ten feet of shark lies snug within the shadow, only a slowly waving tail protruding his presence. Then out from the beach creeps a canoe, with a rope of sinnet ready coiled. Silently the Kanakas paddle to the spot, where deep down in the clear water that slaty-gray tail moves slowly.

Foisted for a moment while he inhales a deep breath, the brown man waits, the loop of the rope over his arm. Then, in a beautiful curve, he dives. Now he is beside the shark and his hand softly rubs the rasping hide. The shark likes it.

Suddenly the noose is fixed over the flukes of the tail, and a brown form is seen scrambling quickly over the gunwale of the canoe.

Then comes a rapid paddling of the frail craft, the line is hauled in and the shark is effectively dispatched with a blow of a club.

Adrian Sims Notes

We are having snow and real winter weather. We were not really needing moisture for the wheat, but is fine to know we have it before crops begin to suffer.

Tom Cook and Frank Iman of Borger were out at the farm the first few days of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Fortenberry and children returned Saturday from Lockney where they had been visiting relatives for several days.

Ray Chapman went to Adrian Monday afternoon.

Miss Doris Blasingame celebrated her twelfth birthday with a big party Saturday evening. The time was pleasantly spent in games, etc.

Jack Fortenberry was in Hereford on business Monday.

Mrs. Ed McCaskey gave a party Wednesday afternoon honoring her son, Jim Ney. It was his twelfth birthday and various games were played and enjoyed. Refreshments of sandwiches, cake and hot chocolate were served.

Miss Anna Copeland had as her guest over the week end Miss Elizabeth Chapman.

Miss Maude Malone was a Hereford visitor Saturday.

George McLain was in Vega Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Blasingame were shopping in Hereford Thursday.

Mrs. J. M. Chapman and son Ray were in Hereford on a shopping expedition Saturday.

5 Big Reasons why you should
BUY A BALTIC

There are five simple reasons why the BALTIC is the Separator for you to buy:

- LIGHTEST TURNING
- CLOSEST SKIMMING
- EASIEST CLEANED
- LONGEST LASTING
- MOST ECONOMICAL

The BALTIC is positively the lightest turning, easiest to clean, closest skimming, longest lasting Cream Separator on the market, yet it sells for LESS.

We invite comparison; we want you to get the facts on actual use of the BALTIC, then you will have no other.

Difficulties of Life Have Their Purposes

Very rare are those who have always had their every wish fulfilled or forestalled; but even these should not be envied.

Man is not made to live in perpetual sunshine, and would very soon tire of having all he desires, without having to wait and work for the materialization of his longings. The greater the ease of obtaining what he wants—the sooner it would pall upon him.

Life's difficulties and prolonged trials, says the London Chronicle, are a test of character. If we had no difficulties to overcome and our patience were not tried, we might continue to exist—but our claim to be called "men" and "women" would be slender.

Though we often groan under its weight, we should "respect the burden," and thus retain our cheerfulness and serenity.

Houses in Patriotic Hues

With all the house painting now going on so busily in city and country, the bidders who as boys or girls lived on a farm will smile as they contrast the quiet colors used today with the vivid ones common to their youth. Blue and red were favorite colors then. They were the cheapest paints the farmers could buy and mix, except for a standard white.

Barn doors were invariably one of these two colors. A blue pump clashed with the green grass in the door yard. A blue wooden weather-vane rooster swung fastly on a red-roofed barn. Houses were mostly white, but for many years blue and red trimmings were much in favor. In many sections the countryside presented a decidedly patriotic appearance.

Not Alone

After Herculean efforts against temptation the wayfarer once again found himself listening to yet another sentence to prison.

The magistrate knew the prisoner of old and admonished him thus:

"If, as you say, you want to live happily in this world, you must keep straight. Now, do you understand?"

The prisoner frowned and had to admit that he was puzzled.

"Did I mean to don't your worship," he said doubtfully. "But if you'll tell me how a man is to keep straight while he is trying to make both ends meet, I might."—London Answers.

The Marvelous Tongue

The Spanish toad that lives in the zoo has a tongue that moves faster than that of the busiest gossip. It moves so fast that observers could not see it pick up a worm placed before it recently. The worm simply disappeared, as if into the air. Furthermore, an ordinary slow motion camera failed to take a picture of that moving tongue. Another film was taken, this time at three times the speed, and in this the tongue was shown moving at a rate quicker than a sixtieth of a second, which means that the Spanish toad could eat continuously he would devour nearly 4,000 meals a minute!

Land of Many Languages

The principal languages of Switzerland are German, spoken by 71 per cent of the people; French, by 21 per cent, and Italian, by 6 per cent. Other languages are Romansh and Latin. By the federal constitution of 1848 and 1874 German, French and Italian are recognized as national languages, so that debates in the federal parliament may be carried on in any of the three, while federal laws and decrees appear also in the three languages. The old dialects of Romansh and Latin do not have any political recognition by the confederation.

Shark Good Eating

Shark meat has grown in favor among the native population of Bermuda until it is now their favorite delicacy.

More than 200 kinds of fish can be caught in the warm waters around Bermuda and all are edible. Fishermen find, however, that young sharks are most in demand. These average about four feet in length and are caught alive just beyond the six-mile coral reef that surrounds the islands.

Great Queen of Song Attempted Too Much

The failure of many artists who remain unknown comes from the fact that they do not know in what direction their power lies. The failure of great artists nearly always comes from their lack of knowledge of their own limitations. Few can, indeed, go on for long years with a record like that of Madame Adelina Patti, of whom it is said that she had but one real failure in her artistic life. She was over fifty years old and had been a leading opera singer for over thirty years when, attracted by the opportunities which the role of Carmen gives, she undertook to sing it at Covent Garden, London. With her voice still beautiful, her stage technique at its strongest and her immense popularity, even she could not adapt herself to a role that was conceived for a different type of person. She, the greatest singer of the century, failed to do what scores of lesser artists were doing well, and what had proved the inspiration of some of those who were nearest to her in greatness.

"Break" Too Apparent Even for Englishman

This has been held back for obvious reasons but it's too good to keep. It seems that one of an English party who were recent visitors in Los Angeles was quite taken with a movie girl, who pretended to be a star but wasn't. Nevertheless, she was very pretty, so pretty, in fact, for a devoted admirer to question.

She had him hooked, too, and then made one of those dumb slips which even an Englishman gets.

"Are you sure you love me?" she demanded, after they had held hands all through a talkie.

"My dear, you can bank on it," was the answer.

"Oh, goodie! Which bank, dearest?" she cried, and it was all over but the regrets.

World's Finest Opals

What is claimed to be the finest specimen of Australia's own particular gem, the opal, has just been discovered near Walgett, New South Wales. It is a wonderful stone, and when roughly dressed measured six and one-half inches by two inches, and weighed 700 carats.

Some of the world's most magnificent opals have come from the fields of New South Wales, and of all dressed stones perhaps the choicest is the "Klame Queen" which measures more than two inches by nearly two and one-half inches and weighs 253 carats.

Red, green, orange, blue, gold, and every known color are blended in the newly discovered gem, which is valued at more than $10,000.—Vancouver Province.

Home of Heroine Sold

Kingsbury, the home of Flora Macdonald, rescuer of Bonnie Prince Charlie, was recently sold, the mansion house and grounds bringing only $7,800. Boswell, in his immortal journal, tells of the visit which he and Dr. Samuel Johnson paid on September 12, 1773, to the then famous home at Flogdarrig, Scotland. Doctor Johnson, in describing the visit, wrote: "We were entertained with the usual hospitality of Mr. Macdonald and his lady, Flora Macdonald a name that will be mentioned in history, if courage and fidelity be virtues, mentioned with honor." Doctor Johnson slept in the bed which Prince Charles had occupied on his flight.

How are C. Cats

The adults of this genus of long-winged insects, which are found in which part of the series cut off so early that they are almost never seen and their positions in the wings are therefore described as transparent. These adults have the smoothlike habit of flying in the bright sunlight and when hovering at flowers, they closely resemble humming birds. When flying it suggests a luscious bee. They are found on relatives of the honey-suckle, such as snowberry and viburnum. They usually pupate in fallen leaves and generally make a queer sort of cocoon.

"Caracul" Fur

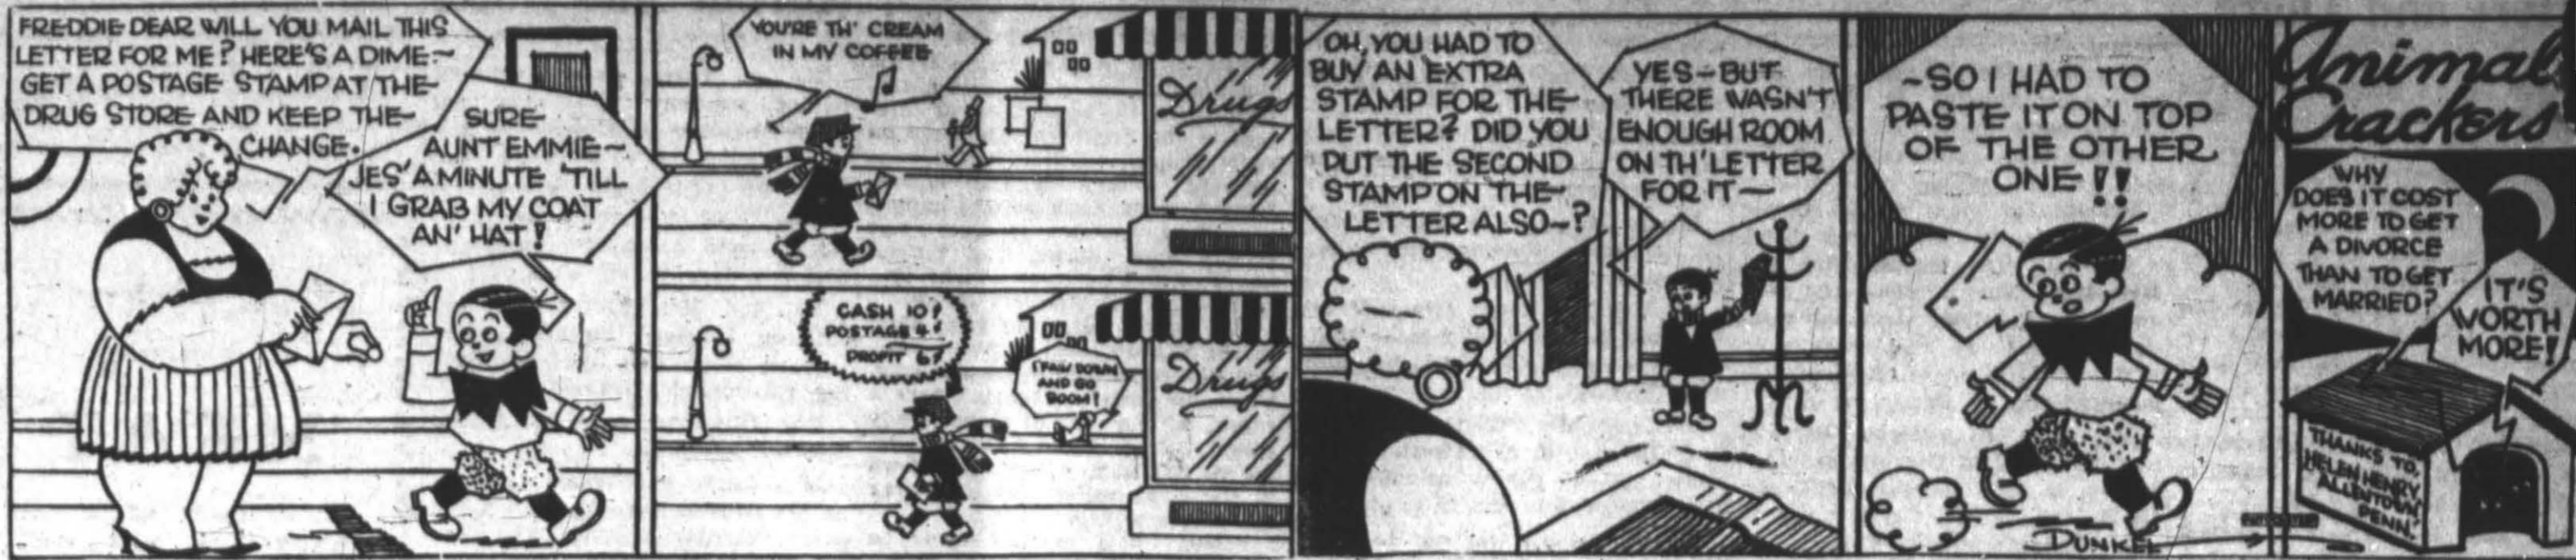

A dictionary of fur names says: "Caracul—also known as astrakhan. Sheep family. Habitat: Tashkent, and some of the provinces of southern Russia which are also called 'Russian Caracul.' The Tashkent caracul has the highest luster and the finest moire markings. Russian caracul vary in color as brown, black, brown and black, or brown and white, and occasionally white. Caracul are bred to some extent in the United States and Canada. They are also found in China and Mongolia. These are generally white, are heavier and have a looser curl."

Truly Hospitable

A former college president was invited to lunch at the home of one of his alumni. The five-year-old daughter of the house was delighted to show the distinguished guest up to wash his hands. Opening the door of the bathroom, which was duly fitted out with the best embroidered linens in honor of the occasion, Sally said: "Just make yourself at home, and—with a royal gesture—"you may use any of the towels."—In-Sinnapolis News.

CHRISTIAN GROWTH.

John 1:40-42, Matthew 16:15-18, John 21:15-19, 2 Peter 3:18a

Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

Ideals are to be actualized in order to make them practical. We have now had seven lessons in this quarter which present great truths in the Christian religion. Today we observe how these facts can be wrought into real life. Peter is chosen as the special example. At the beginning he was quite like the average fisherman on Galilee. His human nature is evident throughout and thus he becomes the more helpful to us.

In addition to the passages of Scripture indicated in our heading the following are also to be studied in the present research: Luke 2:30-32, Eph. 4:11-16, Phil. 1:6, 9:11, 3:12-16, Col. 1:9-11, Hebrews 6:1-3. These topical lessons have an added value because they require constant reference to the Bible.

Andrew is the man who introduces us to Simon, his brother. Both John and Andrew were followers of John the Baptist until Jesus came. Then they turned to the superior Teacher. Andrew is convinced that Jesus is the long looked for Messiah after spending the day with Him. At once he seeks out his own brother and tells the startling news. Simon comes to observe and ends with an open friendship for the Nazarene who speaks prophetically of his work and gives him the name of Peter, a Rock, signifying the nature of the work he will carry forward in establishing the Kingdom on earth.

Some months later Peter is among the goodly number who are called to become disciples which means learners. Later he was selected as one of the Twelve and styled an apostle—one set forth. He joined a teacher training class with Jesus as the Master Teacher. After about two and a half years of general and intensive instruction a quiz class was held at Caesarea Philippi when Jesus asked the blunt question, "Who do men say that the Son of man is?" Though the answer may have been quickly phrased it was the result of much meditation. Boldly Peter answered, "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God." At once the Teacher commends him for this reply, which announces the full divinity of this despised Man of Nazareth.

Living up to great ideals and truth is another matter. Peter failed completely on the night of the crucifixion, though he has just boasted that he would champion the Lord even unto death. As soon as the cock crew Peter re-established his thinking, though remorse was unbounded. It remained for Jesus to recommission him after the resurrection. This was done after the miraculous draught of fishes at Galilee. Three times Peter was asked, "Lovest thou me," and each time a positive answer was given. Christian growth had begun once more. The fullness of his spiritual strength is manifested when Peter preached that sermon that obtained 3000 converts on the Day of Pentecost. In one of his epistles Peter wrote, as in our Golden Text, "But grow in grace and knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ."

The Spice of Life

The zest of life, the spice and the kick of it, are in the competition it affords.—American Magazine.

While white linen damask is the classic cover for the formal dinner table, it is now quite permissible to use a tinted cloth in one of the soft pastel colors which harmonize with the design of the china. And if the home-setting is rather elaborate, the cloth of linen and lace or an all-lace cloth may be used, providing, of course, that the appointments of the table are in harmony with the cloth.

Instead of using "set" china, as was once the custom, the smart hostess may present each course up on china of different design and coloring, the only restriction being that the changing patterns be related to each other instead of in sharp contrast.

A TRIBUTE TO D. F. ASHBROOK

There is no greater thing that could be said of a person than "He was my friend". This was indeed true of many who knew and loved Mr. Ashbrook. His going away was significant of the unassuming yet ever ready and efficient life that he lived.

His appreciation of worthwhile things was expressed in the manner in which he made himself felt within them.

The Methodist camp ground has indeed lost a friend, and yet because of his cooperation, his belief, his faith and counsel he is not lost to the cause, for others will carry on.

He served as vice president of the board of trustees, acting in the capacity of chairman the past year and his wise leadership and deep interest was felt by each member of the board.

The writer of these lines in behalf of the Northwest Texas Girls' Camp can truly say He was our friend, and that the future will show a fitting memorial paid to his memory because of his love and help in their annual camp.

His life and works will live on, and on in the lives and hearts of those who knew him. No finer tribute could be paid him than to say that we will emulate in our lives the gentleness, the wise, careful consideration of the needs of those about us as did Mr. Ashbrook, for he lived to bring happiness to others.

He was honored in life and is honored even more as he takes his place among the redeemed of earth.

This tribute of appreciation and honor is paid by the board of trustees of the Methodist Camp Grounds, and a copy is being sent to the Hereford Brand for his loved ones and friends, and it will be recorded in the minutes of the board of trustees and a copy sent to each member of the board.

MRS. TOM C. DELANEY,
Former Secretary Board of Trustees.

The Brand wants rags—good clean cotton rags, with old knitt underwear, stockings, linen collars, etc., absolutely barred. Good price paid.

All Else Fails;
Sargon Brought Back His Health

"Sargon restored my health at a time when I thought nothing would help me," recently stated Frank Bennett, of 905 Macon St., Fort Worth. His full statement follows:

"My troubles started two years ago when I commenced to suffer with indigestion. I lost my appetite and what little I ate caused me lots of misery. I suffered with gas pains around my heart and could taste my food for hours. I seldom got a good night's sleep and was so nervous at times that I would shake all over. I felt tired, run down and worn out even before the day was half over. My liver was out of order, I was bilious and my vitality was very low. I took lots of medicines and treatments with no lasting benefit. Then I tried Sargon, and I knew almost at once that I had found the right medicine at last. My appetite returned and my strength and energy began to come back with the first bottle. Now I sleep fine, eat anything I want and everything agrees with me.

FRANK BENNETT

I am always hungry and enjoy my meals. My nerves are steady as a die, my headaches are gone and I feel like a man made all over again. I have gained nine pounds and just want to be on the go all the time.

"Sargon has built me back up so that I am stronger, and feel better than I have felt in years. I am a well man now, and the Sargon treatment is responsible for it."

Sargon may be obtained in Hereford at the Clark Drug Store.

CITIZENS MILITARY TRAINING CAMP IN JUNE

In the near future it is expected orders will be issued from headquarters Eight Corps Area, Fort Sam Houston, prescribing dates and quotas for the Citizens' Military Training Camps to be held in this Corps Area during the summer. The places will be the same as they were last year, Fort Sam Houston, June 15 to July 13; Ft. Sill, Okla., July 5 to August 3; Ft. Logan, Colo., June 20 to July 19; Fort Bliss, Texas, July 25 to August 23; Camp Stephen D. Little, Arizona, August 1 to 31; Fort D. A. Russell, Wyo., June 20 to July 19. The latest information from the War Department indicates instead of 2,000 young men being trained in C. M. T. C. throughout the United States as was the case last year, the number will be increased to 35,700 in 1929. It is expected the Eighth Corps Area, consisting of Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona, will be allotted as their share of this increase, 200 additional places making the quota for the Area 2,900.

CREAM WANTED

We pay transportation charges. SPECIAL NOTICE In the near future the big creameries, through their combined efforts are devising new methods of buying cream at their stations. This new method is intended to entice you from shipping cream direct to our independent creamery. They might tell you they will pay direct shipper price at their cream stations. Is this true? It costs money to operate cream buying stations and the producer pays the bill. DON'T BE MISLED. Our prices will net more as always. We are an independent creamery, paying you the honest market value for your cream. We depend upon you for our cream volume. Keep shipping. Reference: Richardson County Bank. FALLS CITY CREAMERY CO. Enormous Power of Resistance in Barrel

Nobody knows who invented the barrel. It has been used since time immemorial. Barrels are used for all manner of articles, solid and liquid. There are barrels for holding sugar, salt, apples, potatoes and so on; for all sorts of oils, from the heaviest lubricants to the most volatile products of petroleum; for all sorts of beverages. It is contended that the barrel is the strongest structure of its size that can be made from an equal amount of wood. Its contents are frequently the strongest that can be made from liquids. The barrel possesses tremendous power of resistance to pressure from within and from without. A barrel set on end will, it is claimed, support half the weight of a railway car while the truck is taken from beneath for repairs. Yet the primitive barrel is put together without nails, screws, bolts or pins; it is entirely self-fastened. The barrel is smaller at its ends than it is in the middle, so that the wooden hoops, self-locking, may be driven on, tightening the staves and pressing the heads into the chine. Although not caulked, barrels are water tight. A small barrel is a keg, a big barrel is a cask, and a still bigger barrel is a hog-head.

"Rebel's" Good Reason for Self-Accusation

Just after the assassination of President-Elect Obregon of Mexico, people were seeing rebels in every strange, but there was real surprise at police headquarters in Mexico City when a man with battered rifle and full cartridge belt presented himself and told Senor Robelo that he was a rebel. They took him at his word and locked him up, but the chief, in the meantime, sent out detectives to get a line on the man. A week later, having reported that they could find nothing concerning him, the chief brought the self-sentenced prisoner before him. "He was the picture of misery and squalor. 'Where did you fight, as a rebel?' asked the assistant chief of public safety. 'Nowhere, senor,' was the surprising reply. 'What? Then why give yourself up as a rebel?' 'Because,' sighed the wretch, 'I would rather be shot than go back to my wife.'

Singer's "Parlor Car"

Although it seems reasonable that a woman should have a finger in anything connected with a parlor, yet it is perhaps not generally known that Jenny Lind, the famous singer, was in a large degree responsible for the modern "parlor car." When she came to America with F. T. Barnum, the engagements of her tour obliged her to spend much of her time traveling from place to place on the wretched railroads of the period. To ease the discomforts of the trip, she had the seats removed from an ordinary car, and replaced with chairs, tables, couches and such pieces of furniture as might be found in an ordinary parlor. She called it jokingly her "parlor car," and out of her idea grew the present Pullman chair car.

What Would You Do?

"I have only been married four months and sure got an ideal husband. We have six acres of land and are real happy, except that my husband makes me so nervous by walking in his sleep and he tries to get out of the window. Last night he carried all the clothes on the front porch. I can't understand this. It seems to be a dream. Is there any way to overcome this awful thing? When he does this I can hardly breathe. Please tell me what to do," a young wife inquires.—Los Angeles Express.

Liberia

The population of Liberia is entirely of the African race; about 100,000 of the dwellers along the coast may be considered civilized. The number of American negroes is estimated at 20,000. Liberia was founded in 1822 when a settlement was made at Monrovia by negro freedmen from the United States with the assistance of American colonization societies. It was declared a free and independent republic on July 26, 1847. Its constitution is modeled on that of the United States. Electors must be of negro blood and owners of land.

Yale's Football Song

It is a Yale tradition that "Boola-Boola," the football song of that university, was introduced to the class of 1901 by Albert Hunt Marckwald after he had heard it sung in the South Sea Islands. As a native ditty it had been sung there for centuries, and Marckwald started the class singing it simply as a folksong. Another student, Allan Mortimer Hirsch, took it up as a group song, then as a football air, finally having it set to music as a popular song.—Detroit News.

Loyalty is one of the finest virtues a man can acquire. It is a hall-mark of character. Loyalty to yourself, to your friends, to your job stamps you as one who is faithful in one of the greatest tests that can come to man.—Grit.

Creaking of the Stairs

The creaking of the stairs at night is due to the change of temperature, which makes the wood-work contract or expand or something, but it's terribly hard to remember that when they creak.—Ohio State Journal.

Big Square

The Improvement club met last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Otis Burton. Most of the members were present and guests of the club included Meses. Barrett, Allen, Worm and John Haberer, of Hereford. A very interesting program was rendered and a short business session followed. Delicious refreshments were served. The next meeting will be an all-day affair February 28 at the home of Mr. Roy Haberer at which time the club expects to finish two quilts.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Oliver and baby returned this week from Wichita, Kansas, where Mr. Oliver has just completed a barber course and expects to go into the business immediately.

Sunday school met Sunday morning with all officers and most of the pupils present. Don't forget that Sunday school meets at ten o'clock next Sunday on account of preaching. Rev. Williams of Plainville will preach.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Haberer are driving a new car. Henry Angeley has been going to Lubbock for dental treatment. His condition because of a broken jaw was serious for a time.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Bragg were Dimmitt visitors Saturday. The Haberer families, Messrs. Ray and Layman butchered hogs this week.

Wirt Phillips managed to get one day out of the week suitable to re-dip cattle.

Mrs. Glen Stiles was on the sick list last week but is now much improved. Most of the children have recovered from chicken pox and are back in school.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Layman were guests in the Lambert home last Sunday.

Mrs. John Haberer of Hereford spent the week visiting in the homes of her sons. She also spent one night in the Lambert home. The school children are busy studying for the spelling match at Dimmitt. They are having spelling contests each day and seem very much excited over the coming event.

Jack Finley of Floydada is here visiting his brothers and sister, Mrs. Emerson Wyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Smith of Bethel spent Sunday evening in the Lambert home.

The only important bit of news since the railroad scare is the proposed new school building. A meeting was held Sunday evening at which time plans were discussed. It seems as though the building must be of brick and contain four rooms. This will necessitate three teachers. The school board thinks the building will need to be completed by the time school opens next fall. So we shall have something to look forward to.

Mrs. Art Haberer and children spent Saturday and Sunday in Hereford with Mr. Haberer's parents.

The Carpenter baby was seriously ill last week but seems better at this time.

Mrs. Will Wyer and daughter, Mrs. Vance Hennington were in Hereford shopping Friday.

Roy Haberer attended court in Dimmitt Monday and Mrs. Haberer spent the day visiting her mother, Mrs. Shufford.

Mrs. Everett Barrett was confined to her bed last week on account of influenza.

Mr. Bishop was a business visitor in our community last Tuesday. Ralph Queen, cattle inspector of Bovina, came out Friday and assisted in dipping cattle.

Class for Scout work to be held at the old Baptist church on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday nights of this and next week. The age limit for this work is ninety-nine years, it was explained—a man is as old as he feels and does. Anyone interested in Scout work is cordially invited to take this course without obligation to do active Scout work. There is a place for anyone interested in Scouting, Mr. Roberts said.

Air Routes

L. Baskin, highway director, said that the American people were certainly getting "air-minded" these days. He called attention to the fact that the transcontinental air routes through here was an assured fact and that the Santa Fe was planning an immediate projection of their electric block system from Canyon to Clovis. The government will light this route along the railroad to take care of the airplane requirements. And as the highway follows the railroad it also will receive the benefit of this lighting system. Which means, Mr. Baskin said, that it is about time for the people of this county to think about paving that highway.

Hotel

Secretary Arnold exhibited an architect's drawing of the proposed new five story hotel which greatly interested the big crowd. The plan is a beauty and Mr. Arnold and his committee are confident the plans now working out will go through and work start on the building within the next sixty days.

Highway

Mr. Arnold announced that within the next few days a conference would be held with a member of the State Highway Commission, participated in by representatives of the commissioners courts of Hale, Castro, Deaf Smith, Oldham and Hartley counties. A determined effort is being made to have this route from Plainville to Channing, via Dimmitt, Hereford and Vega, officially designated as a state highway. This does not mean that the road is to be paved. It means, Mr. Arnold explained, that if the World-Famous, Three Fuel Hart-Parr 18-36 In official tests, conducted by nationally known engineers, who used cheap distillate for fuel, the great Hart-Parr 18-36 registered a drawbar pull of 5,535 pounds at two miles an hour, and 4,075 pounds at three miles an hour. On the belt it easily pulled the amazing load of 43 horsepower. The Hart-Parr is a three-fuel tractor, burning gasoline, kerosene or distillate equally well. It is the one tractor that develops its power from the cheapest, low-grade fuels. Hart-Parrs are made for small, medium or large farms and have three forward speeds to speed up hauling and field work. Drive one yourself and experience the thrill of controlling tremendous power. M. BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Miss Mary Ann Acker, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Acker, was the honoree at a lovely party given by Mrs. A. O. Thompson in honor of her fourth birthday.
The rooms of the Thompson apartment were turned into a veritable playground where games dear to childhood were enjoyed throughout the afternoon. An ice course was served to the honoree and Kathryn Jane Acker, Mary Ann Thompson, Betty Jane Tolson, Nadine Newell, Nellie Pauline Spradley, Billie Davis and John Douglas Pitman, David Neal Beavers and Billie Deviney. Little Miss Acker received many beautiful gifts from her friends.

Centuries Unable to Dim Laurel Wreath

Laurel wreaths should be immortal and it is appropriate that a laurel wreath recovered from an Etruscan tomb over 2,000 years old should still be green.
Who its hero was we cannot tell. His skeleton was wrapped in veils of white and blue. There was leather objects whose purpose is unknown, ornaments with geometrical designs, purses containing glass beads, belts with copper clasps and buckles, and the laurel wreath, but no name.

The tomb is one of a great number at Vulci, in Tuscany, Italy, whose existence was first discovered a hundred years ago. The wife of Napoleon's brother, Lucien, was watching a yoke of oxen plowing in a field when they suddenly disappeared, and it was found they had broken through into an Etruscan tomb. Over 6,000 tombs were opened in the next quarter of a century, their contents being distributed over Europe, after which the tombs were filled up.

Englishman at Rest in Odd Burial Place

Among the many curiosities to be found in Wimborne minister, in Dorset, England, is the quaint tomb of Anthony Etrick, the first recorder of Poole. He was for some reason offended by the Wimborne people, and so made a vow that he would not be buried in their church or out, under the ground or over. To carry out this he cut a niche in the wall and placed there his coffin with the date 1693 inscribed thereon, believing that he should die in that year. He did not die, however, until 1708, when he was buried in the chosen spot in such a way that his body was neither above the ground or below, in the church or out. The date 1708 was then written over the other in the tomb's upkeep, which is still paid.

Canning Machinery

The most useful cannerly inventions in recent years have been machines for doing the work of the dressing gangs. The one commonly known as the "Iron Chink," now in general use in canneries where such machines are employed, was first used in 1903 at Fairhaven (now Bellingham), Wash. It removes the head, tail and fins and opens and thoroughly cleans the fish, ready to cut into pieces for the cans. By the use of these machines the dressing gang is almost entirely done away with, dispensing with 15 to 20 men. The same machine is now arranged that the fish after dressing are also "slimed"—that is, the thick mucus covering the skin removed and the inside of the fish cleaned.

Special Oven for Pie

A huge brick oven was built in a disused corn mill near Huddersfield, England, so that the village of Denby Dale might surpass all its previous efforts in making giant pies. The pie dish, made locally of earthenware, was 15 feet long, 4 feet wide and 18 inches deep. The pie contained beef, mutton, kidney, potatoes and plenty of gravy. About 10,000 people partook of the pie. On the occasion of the last previous Denby Dale pie, in 1896, more than 60,000 people visited the village, which has a population of 1,500. A pie made in 1887 went bad, and was dragged by horses to a wood and buried in quicklime.

The Scottish Race

The Scots did not originate in Ireland, but the tribe that supplied the name Scotland did.
Like all the other inhabitants of Europe, the Scots are a mixed race. When the Roman General Agricola invaded Scotland in 78 A. D. he found tribes with varied dialects, some probably speaking Gaelic and others Celtic. The speech of the Britons, he called them all Caledonians.
The Scots came in when Rome withdrew her legions in 410 A. D. They were a tribe from Ireland who conquered a lot of territory and gave the nation its name.

Passe

There was a little gathering in the church vestibule, waiting for the new baby to be christened and friends of the family were taking the opportunity to admire the tiny newcomer. Over in the corner three-year-old Betty Lou sat in lonely state, a wee bit jealous of the attention being paid the baby brother. Finally an observant friend noticed it and cried out tactfully: "What a pretty dress you have on today, Betty Lou."
"Yes," sighed the child disconsolately, "but myself is old."

Mental Processes

A mother was cajoling her little daughter into taking some medicine that evidently was rather of unpleasant taste, saying: "I don't like to take medicine any better than you do, but I just make up my mind to do it, and then I do."
"Yes, mother, and I just make up my mind that I won't take it and I don't." The little girl won her point.

Oh, Daniel!

A big-game hunter in Rhodesia tracked down a lion and wounded it. The beast turned on him, beat him to the ground, and was about to finish him, off when the flap of the hunter's collar turned over. Instantly the lion bounded off into the bush.
Wondering at his miraculous escape, the hunter looked down at his collar. He saw, on the inside, his name: "Daniel!"

Big Preparation for Bow Before Royalty

Presentation at court involves considerable preparation in advance, and those who have been favored with this honor must adhere strictly to the details of the program, says the London Graphic. A few minutes' lateness is unpardonable and would, in all likelihood, result in the disappointment of the candidate for royal honor, which would be a tragedy indeed after having undergone the long and tedious process of preparation. This often means a long string of carriages and automobiles forming for hours before the time set for the reception. Here the debutantes and others to be presented wait sometimes for as long as three hours till the time for entering the palace arrives. It is still daylight when the blockade of cars forms and swarms of curious people walk up and down the Mall close to the curb and gaze through the windows of the vehicles at the faces and gowns of the ladies in their court dress. The scrutiny is far from timid and casual, in many cases quite impudent.

Arrangement of Hair Marks Chinese Wife

It is customary in occidental lands for a married woman to wear a gold band on the third finger of her left hand. Not so in China. You know a married woman in China by the way her hair is trimmed above her brow.
Usually on the night before the wedding, friends of the bride trim her hair. It is sometimes clipped and shaved, but in most cases the hair is removed with two twisted threads. These threads are rolled over the forehead with the fingers, the twist of the thread extracting the hair and giving the forehead a square appearance. If you can imagine what you would look like if your hair above the forehead were removed, leaving a clearing of, say, four inches long and one inch wide, you will have some idea of what the Chinese married woman's head is like.
After the marriage this must be done at intervals to keep the shape present.

Quail Die of Thirst

Dr. Joseph Grinnell, ornithologist of California, believes that lack of water explains the disappearance of quail in many parts of that state. He has made investigations and finds that areas formerly supplied with water are now dry owing to climatic changes and reclamation work and have become uninhabitable as nesting grounds for the quail.
Doctor Grinnell does not believe that vermin has accounted for the disappearance of the birds, so much as the lack of water, as the species of wild birds and animals designated as vermin also have become scarcer during recent years in the same area. Young quail which are hatched more than 400 yards from water and where rain does not fall or heavy dews occur shortly after they are hatched will die from thirst, says a bulletin of the American Game association.

Bees Seldom Inactive

Honey bees do not go into a true state of hibernation during the winter but remain active within the hive, although they do not venture abroad, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. To keep warm, the colony practices a marvelous system.

large number of bees form a more or less spherical cluster, those on the outside having their bodies packed close to each other, parallel and with their heads up.
This formation constitutes an insulation shell. Inside, the other bees keep up a constant twisting and squirming motion to create heat. This is so effective that the temperature inside the shell seldom drops below 57 degrees Fahrenheit.

Louvain University

The restoration of the University of Louvain was brought about by the various nations of the allies. To the United States fell the privilege of rebuilding the library. The University of Louvain was founded more than two centuries before Harvard. At the time of its destruction the library contained but a quarter of a million volumes, but these works had been accumulating for five centuries. The site of the present library is the finest in all Louvain, occupying one entire side of the Place du Peuple. The architect was Whitney Warren, who was chosen by an international committee. The corner stone was laid by Nicholas Murray Butler.

Not in Kokomo

Little five-year-old Marcia of Kokomo, whose family is not noted for early rising, was visiting her grandparents in the country. Awakening early one morning she looked out an east window to see the sky all resplendent in the most gorgeous colors.
"What is that, grandma?" she inquired.
On being told that it was the dawn, she reflected a moment, then said: "We don't have any dawn in Kokomo."—Indianapolis News.

Quaint Youngsters

A city child, visiting her grandmother's farm, asked: "Grandma, which are the apples that keep the doctor away?"
Another city child, on seeing a speckled trout for the first time, exclaimed: "Oh, mother, it's got the measles." A third, who was in the barn with her father, seeing a pitchfork, said: "Daddy, I s'pose that's what the horses eat their hay with, but where's the knife that goes with it?"

MRS. G. B. CASKEY.

Mrs. G. B. Caskey, mother of Mrs. L. P. Landrum of Hereford, died Sunday, February 17, and Monday the body was shipped to Florence, Williamson county, Texas, by the E. B. Black Undertaking Company, for burial.

Mrs. Caskey had been visiting Mrs. Landrum since the Christmas holidays and was stricken about ten days ago. Funeral services were held at Florence on Wednesday of this week.

Cordelia Ann Rutledge was born in 1848 at Fayetteville, Tenn. She married Joe B. King in 1865 and moved to Bryan, Texas, in 1871. Two years later the final move was made to Florence, Texas, where she continued her home until her death. She was the mother of five daughters and one son. After the death of Mr. King in 1892, she was married to G. B. Caskey who preceded her in death in 1918. She was a member of the Christian church and was a faithful church worker and loving mother. Besides her children she is survived by three brothers and four sisters. Her children who survive are Mrs. L. P. Landrum, Hereford; Mrs. C. E. Patterson, Georgetown; Mrs. J. E. Wales, San Marcos; Mrs. W. R. Caskey, Florence; Mrs. L. A. Butts, Sweetwater, and W. A. King, of Winters, Texas. Mmes. Butts and Caskey, Mr. King and two nephews, Rev. Allen Moore of Plainview, and Henry Allen and son, of Paducah, Texas, were here and accompanied the body to its last resting place.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank our many friends and neighbors for the kindness shown us in the death of our husband, father and son, W. Tom Wood. Especially do we thank the Revs. V. M. Cloyd, J. W. Boultinghouse and J. T. Ross for the comforting words and beautiful service. We want to thank each one for the thoughtfulness extended us and for the lovely flowers. Mrs. Tom Wood and Children, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Wood and Family.

Chevrolet Plans for Big Year's Work

With the demand for its cars at the highest level in the history of the company, the Chevrolet Motor Company is preparing for the greatest year in its history with its sixteen giant factories now busy on a 1,250,000 car production program for 1929.

This statement was issued here today by G. W. Brunley, local Chevrolet dealer, who recently returned from Oklahoma City where he attended the twentieth of a series of forty nation-wide sales meetings that are being sponsored by the company this winter and spring.

Through the medium of these meetings the company hopes to bring the 1929 Chevrolet sales message directly to every Chevrolet dealer in the United States. The day's program which embraced a graphic sales presentation in the Shrine Temple in the afternoon and a banquet in Hotel Huckins in the evening, was one of the most elaborate ever attempted by an automobile manufacturer.

Texas & Texans

By WILL H. MAYES

Texas Industries Needed.

Most of the Texas chambers of commerce are placing special emphasis on securing more industries during 1929. Most of them, however, fail to state just what industries they expect to secure and how they expect to go about getting them. Organizations, like individuals often start off the New Year with bombastic resolutions to do things that are soon forgotten. Most of them mean well enough, but do not stick close enough to one effort until it succeeds, or else they strive for something impossible of attainment instead of trying to do the things that can be done in their own communities.

Texas needs industries just now more than it needs more farming, more merchandising or more banking. Farming especially is suffering because there are not enough industrial workers to pay farm products at prices to pay the farmers for their labors. Bank vaults are full of money that can't be loaned to advantage, but that should be an outlet in factory investments and loans.

Small Factories Overlooked.

The trouble with most chambers of commerce is that they overlook the opportunities for small industries and do not give enough encouragement to them after they are secured. For instance, there are a large number of small mattress factories in Texas making good mattresses, but it is hard to find a Texas-made mattress in a Texas store and Texans do not insist on having the home-made article that is much better than the one made "up North" and sold at the same price.

Texas made work clothes are being shipped to Northern markets, given a Northern brand or trademark and shipped back here and sold because Texas people seem to prefer to buy what they believe to be Northern products.

The most successful nationally known industries are those that have been started in a small way and built up from local to national reputations.

There is hardly a Texas town that does not have an opening for some small industry that could be established with local capital if only it could be assured the support of the members of the home chamber of commerce.

greater pride in our Texas-made goods, after which it will be easier to get more and bigger industries established.

Texas-Made Silk Hosiery.

I have just seen that there is a factory in Dallas that is making silk hosiery as nice looking and as good as made elsewhere. The factory is importing its silk and making it up and is hoping to find nearby markets. It employs 35 people at present and can make 300 pairs of hosiery a day.

I am wondering how many Texas merchants, members of chambers of commerce, if you please, are trying to get their customers to buy Texas-made hosiery in preference to that made elsewhere. I do not remember ever to have seen an advertisement of Texas-made hosiery and certainly have never had a merchant offer to sell me the Texas article.

There is a Texas factory making a specialty of sheets and pillow slips but I doubt if a store in Texas made a window display of those Texas products during the January white goods sales.

Texas cheese factories are making a reputation for themselves but if I have ever eaten any Texas-made cheese I have not known it and my grocer has not tried to sell it to me as a Texas product.

So all along the line we are woefully neglected in our patronage of Texas industries and chambers of commerce should hammer this shameful fact into the heads of the people.

School Book Matters.

There appears to be merit in a bill introduced in the Texas Senate to apportion the school book funds of the state to the school districts and let them buy their own books. No good reason, except that the economy can be given for using the same text books in all schools in the state and at the prices at which Texas should be buying books there seems to have been no economy in buying in large quantities. Why not have the text book board approve lists and prices of several books in each study and leave the counties or school districts free to make their respective apportionments? This would at least scatter the text-book scandals and might stop them altogether.

Enlarging Scope of Schools.

An effort will be made to have the name of the State Teachers' College at Kingsville changed by the present legislature to South Texas Technological College and enlarge the scope of its teaching. The Texas Technological College at Lubbock has rapidly taken up the work of a university and will soon be in reality if not in name a North Texas University. The western part of the state hopes to have the School of Mines at El Paso become a university for that part of the state and it already is doing the work of a state-supported junior college. The University of Texas is devoting more and more attention to research and to bureaus of one kind and another, carrying its extension work to all parts of the state. The A. & M. College is constantly broadening its extension activities. In some particulars there is an apparent overlapping of the educational activities of the numerous schools and the state department of education.

All of which goes to show that Texas has reached the point where its educational system needs the close supervision and management of a central board of education if there would be economy in school administration.

Railroad Encroachments.

Having secured control of certain bus lines in South Texas the Missouri Pacific line is seeking a permit to extend its lines to include Houston and Galveston and the Southern Pacific is now asking for permission to operate a bus line from the western line of the state into El Paso. It begins to look like unless there is some legislative action to prevent it the railroads and their subsidiary organizations will soon have exclusive control of passenger and freight traffic on the state highways, and the people will be footing the bills for road building and maintenance.

Diversification Pays.

Wherever you find an unusually prosperous community you will find that there is diversification of products. The dairy and poultry interests of the state, since they have been recognized as profitable side lines in farming, have contributed almost as much as the staple farm crops to the prosperity of Texas farmers. Much money is being made out of products once regarded as of little value. Pecans are fast becoming a staple Texas crop. Burnet county has experimented with practically all side-lines including marble, stone and mineral products, and is now shipping peanuts by the car load and these bring the growers about a dollar a bushel. The humble peanut should not be overlooked as a money producer. The Carolinas unprecedented prosperity dates from the discovery of the value of the peanut.

Everybody is thinking about beginning spring plowing now and are waiting impatiently for the ground to thaw.

Flagg News.

Quite a large crowd from this community attended the services at Cleo Sunday and enjoyed very much the program put on by the Volunteer band from Wayland.

Tuesday evening, February 11, the death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cas Arms and took away their little daughter, Lavelle. She had been sick only a few days with pneumonia and was believed to have been getting better only a short time before her death. She was laid to rest in the Dimmitt cemetery, but funeral services were held at Flagg church, conducted by Rev. Coe Porter of the Baptist church here, of which Mr. and Mrs. Arms were members. A beautiful floral offering was given by friends. Those attending the funeral from away were Mr. and Mrs. Will Arms, Crosbyton; Bas Arms, Olton; Mrs. Harris, of Kress. The entire community extends sympathy to the bereaved parents.

Mrs. Erlene Pennington of Plainview visited her parents here on Wednesday and Thursday of last week.

W. T. Sumner and wife are attending the singing school at Cleo this week.

The Castro County Singing Convention will meet at Arney next Sunday, February 24.

The Ladies Aid met at the home of Mrs. Reeder last Thursday, when only a few members were present. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Rogers Thursday, February 21.

Mrs. Cecil Thomas was called to Plainview Wednesday to be with her sister who underwent an operation, returning Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sid Sheffy were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bain Sunday.

T C U GIRLS HAVE QUEER WAY OF NAMING THEIR PET GOLD FISH

FORT WORTH.—Gold fish seem to be the favorite pets for the girls in Jarvis Hall at Texas Christian University. These fish are found in all shapes, sizes and shades.

Some of the girls name their pets after their favorite characters in old English poetry, such as Beowulf, Grendel of Widsith. Still others choose names of great philosophers such as Socrates and Plato. Two of the girls have even named their gold fish for two of their boy friends.

"That's not their names any more, however," the girls explained. "Since examinations, instead of Bill and Scott, we call out pets after our two favorite courses—Rust and Flunk!"

A woman living in Indiana 100 years has just seen a train for the first time. Her age make us think she has not seen many automobiles.

Dr. Frank Crane Says

HOW TO PICK A WIFE.

The most important question in the world for a man to decide is not his attitude toward a tariff or prohibition or the income tax, but what manner of woman he is going to live with all his life. Other questions may come and go, but this one goes on forever. To use a term of Bacon's, "It comes home to men's business and business."

A preacher once came to John Wesley and asked his advice as to whether he should marry a certain woman. "Why ask me?" said Mr. Wesley. "You have already made up your mind or you wouldn't have consulted me."

But a few words of counsel may not come amiss.

1. Marry for love. Any other reason, money, fame, convenience or anything else, is disastrous.

2. Marry some one approximately your age. A marriage between May and December usually does not turn out well.

3. Marry a healthy woman. It may be all right to love a sickly woman; you may make all sorts of poems to her eyebrow and cherish her as an ideal, but generally do not marry her.

4. Do not marry a bad woman to reform her, and let no woman marry an evil man to reform him.

Let the preachers do that. Marriage is not a reformatory institution, it is for pleasure.

5. Select a woman with a sense of humor. If possible find one who is cheerful. You can overcome almost anything but a perpetual gloom. You will find that you need more than anything else to be perpetually cheered. Not that you want a Cheshire cat perpetually grinning, but you want a reasonable amount of cheer.

6. Select a woman of common sense. This goes farthest in the long run. Do not select a fool, even if she has a pretty face. And some fools are beautiful.

Do not be determined solely by passion, but use your brain a little, if any. Of course, passion is essential, but marriage is a matter of every day life.

Ford Doings

Rev. V. M. Cloyd of Hereford preached here Sunday afternoon, a large crowd being present.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Thomas moved to Hereford last Monday. These people have lived in this community the past four years and will be missed by their many friends.

Miss Olive Davis and pupils enjoyed themselves Wednesday evening at the lake west of the Hardy Benson farm. There were waltzers, besides the skating which everyone tried.

Mr. and Mrs. Burette Small spent Wednesday with relatives in Amarillo. George Benson has bought a new tractor.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherm Garrett attended the singing convention near Canyon Sunday.

Miss Marjorie Mae Bell and sister, Mrs. Wm. Hart, spent the week end in Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Small and Jess Small visited relatives at Claude Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Simpson spent Sunday evening in the Fielding Johnson home.

Pete Nightingale is visiting his friends at Cordell, Okla., this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Powelson were among the shoppers in Hereford Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Atchley of Hereford were visiting at Sunday school Sunday afternoon.

A. K. Webster of Amarillo was here Friday looking after his ranch.

Dr. and Mrs. W. G. Fly are at Gainesville this week. He is very well yet and this trip was made in hopes he would improve.

Mr. and Mrs. Murphy of Vega were Ford visitors Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Koch went to Hereford Saturday.

Date Fudding.

1 cup chopped dates, 1 cup chopped pecans, 1/2 cup sugar, 2 1/2 tbs. flour, 3/4 tbs. milk, 2 eggs, 1 tsp. baking powder. Sift dry ingredients, add milk and eggs, then the dates and nuts; beat well, bake for 30 or 40 minutes in buttered pan set in hot water. Serve with whipped cream or foamy sauce.

THE LAST OF THE DUANES

by Lane Grey

"Your work will be secret. You are now a ranger, in my service; if no one except the few I choose will know of it till we pull the job. You will simply be back Duane, the Lone Wolf, till suits our purpose to acquaint Texas with the fact that you are a ranger.

"You'll see there's no date on that pardon. No one will ever know just when you entered the service. Perhaps we can make it appear that all or most of your attorney has really been good service to the State. At that, I'll be sure I'll turn out so."

"Captain MacNelly, I'd like to know how this came about. I can't realize it yet. Some things are strange to me. Who interested you in my case? Won't you explain?"

"Sure I will," replied Captain MacNelly, as he reached for another cigar. "It must have been three years ago when I first began to hear your name mentioned at Austin in the adjutant-general's office and elsewhere. Just usually, on understand, and I took no particular notice.

"Then I heard that women of our family were working to get influence for you. That was before you became famous as an outlaw. Of course, a little later, after the Bland affair, your name grew to be a household word in Texas. From then on your reputation grew.

"About this time, which was about the time I became exceedingly busy with my rangers, I got an anonymous letter. It was from a woman, and it entreated me not to go on your trail. It was a remarkable letter. I have it somewhere and shall find it for you.

"I was visited by a young woman who claimed to be a member of your household at Wellston. I took her for your sister or near relative—in fact, called her Miss Duane, which at the time she did not correct.

"She had been to see the Governor; and, of course, he had turned her down. The Governor is against outlaws, the same as he is against rangers. This girl wanted an audience with the adjutant-general and in his absence she ran across me.

"I want to say here that she electrified me. Before she left my office I was ready to fight for her, promised to speak to the adjutant-general and to use what influence I had in her behalf. She wanted a parole for you, if not a pardon.

"I was absent from Austin for some time, and she came the next time. She would is a ranger. Then we'll see how the scheme works out."

"MacNelly, I want to see this Miss Lee," said Duane.

"I was thinking of that. It's a good chance. Maybe there'll never be another one." He paused a moment, chewing his cigar. "All right; I see no reason against your meeting her," he went on. "But let me arrange the matter as suits me. Tomorrow I'll send a ranger over to Shirley. There's a train and stage, too. Now, let's turn in, Duane. We've talked a deal. And I was tired before we began. Make yourself a bed there. Good night."

Duane stepped upon the porch and rang the bell. After what appeared to be a long time a negro maid opened the door.

"A-caller to see Miss Lee," said Duane.

The maid asked him in and led him to a parlor. It was a large room, light enough, yet full of unfamiliar shapes. He stood there uncertain, waiting. The maid returned to say that Miss Lee would be right in.

Whoever Miss Lee was, she must have connections with wealthy people. Duane felt long-absent associations become vivid in his mind. Slowly he turned. A slender woman in white stood in the door, one hand clinging to the curtain, the other at her breast. She was whiter than her dress—as white as a flower. Her eyes were dark, strained, staring, beautiful. The hands and the wonder of her eyes dimmed in a flood of tears. She stepped blindly. Duane's sight, straining with all the abnormal keenness of stunned faculties leaping back to power, caught a slight but unmistakable limp in her step.

In a flash all that had been strange about her vanished. He knew that faltering step. He was back in another world—one he had scared over in his heart and closed forever.

"My God—Who are you?" he cried hoarsely.

Then she met him, arms outstretched.

"Jennie! Jennie! Jennie!" she sobbed.

Swift as light Duane caught her up and held her crushed to his breast. The past, like deadening scales, fell from him. He stood holding her tight, with the feel of her warm, throbbing breast and the clasp of her clinging arms as flesh and blood realities to fight a terrible fear that this was only another and the worst of those moments haunted by phantoms.

Fuel system of the new Ford has been designed for reliability and long service

THE practical value of Ford simplicity of design is essential to the fuel system. Since all adjustments are fixed except the needle valve and float, there is practically nothing to get out of order.

The gasoline tank is built integral with the cowl and is unusually sturdy because it is made of heavy sheet steel, tinned plated to prevent rust or corrosion. An additional factor of strength is the fact that it is composed of only two pieces, instead of three or four, and is electrically welded—not soldered.

Because of the location of the tank, the entire flow of gasoline is an even, natural flow—following the natural law of gravity. This is the simplest and most direct way of supplying gasoline to the carburetor without variations in pressure. The gasoline feed pipe of the new Ford is only 18 inches long and is easily accessible all the way.

The gasoline passes from the tank to the carburetor through a filter or sediment bulb mounted on the steel dash which separates the gasoline tank from the engine.

The carburetor is specially designed and has been built to deliver many thousands of miles of good service.

As a matter of fact, the fuel system of the new Ford is so simple in design and so carefully made that it requires very little service attention.

The filter or sediment bulb should be cleaned at regular intervals and the carburetor screen removed and washed in gasoline. Occasionally the drain plug at the bottom of the carburetor should be removed and the carburetor drained for a few seconds.

Have your Ford dealer look after these important little details for you when you have the car oiled and greased. A thorough, periodic checking-up costs little, but it has a great deal to do with long life and continuously good performance.

MORE HEAT LESS GAS

There is only one suggestion for the better use of a radiant type Gas Heater, beyond having a good flame, proper connections, keeping burners and heating elements clean and general care in not burning gas needlessly.

This suggestion is to watch the flame so that it does not GO OVER THE TOP of the radiant grid which throws out the heat. This waste heat and gas, besides not giving you all the heat that there is in the gas that is burned. The flames should be just high enough to heat the grid or other radiating material and no higher.

The principle of this radiant type heater is incandescence, the use of a small amount of gas to produce a great deal of heat, practically all of which is utilized.

Simply turn on enough gas to make the entire grid glow—and no more.
