

Panhandle site still in collider contest

AUSTIN (AP) — The Dallas Fort-Worth area's super-collider site emerged as the No. 1 selection, but a Panhandle site will accompany it in the national competition for the project.

The Texas National Research Laboratory Commission chose the location south of Dallas that rings Waxahachie by unanimous voice vote Tuesday, but it took a ballot vote to decide between Austin and Amarillo for the second choice.

"The Dallas proposal and the Austin proposal are very similar in my view," said commission chairman Peter Flawn. "The Amarillo proposal, on the other hand, offers a different kind of site, a West Texas kind of site, if you will."

Amarillo received five votes compared to Austin's three.

"We're ecstatic," said Steve Howerton, chairman of the Dallas-Fort Worth Superconducting Super Collider Authority. "The site won on its technical merits."

Howerton said many things, such as a major airport and the area's amenities, led to commission's top choice. The proposals are to be shipped to the U.S. Department of Energy by Aug. 3.

The decision to include a Panhandle site would assist the state in getting proposed $500 million in bonds to support the project approved by voters, Flawn said.

"We have to pass a bond election or I tell you we won't win. I think we need broad support in the state and with the selection we'll have West Texas support."

The commission chose two sites after the Legislature approved a measure allowing them to hire a private consultant to assist in preparing the proposals and mandating the commission to choose two sites.

Earlier Tuesday, four of six finalists in statewide competition for the $6 billion atom-smashing project made their final bids before the commission.

The group proposing the site near Amarillo told commissioners during its presentation to consider choosing "an attractive smaller city" instead of two big cities.

"In the beginning God created this site for the SSC," said Amarillo National Bank President Richard Ware.

The massive super collider project would include a 52-mile underground tunnel from 20 to 30 feet underground in which atomic particles would be accelerated and then smashed together to probe the building blocks of matter.

At least 45 states are in the scramble to land the project, which would mean thousands of construction jobs, long-term work for 2,500 scientists and technicians, and an annual budget of about $200 million per year.

"We're pretty excited," said Waxahachie city manager Bob Sokoll said. "We're looking forward to challenging in the national finalist competition. There's still lots of people around here who don't really know what it is, but we've had very little negative reaction."

The Ellis County seat is within the underground ring of the super collider, and the laboratory and campus of the facility would be southwest of town, he said.

The Texas site finalists also included areas near the Sam Houston National Forest north of Houston and Lubbock and a Permian Basin site.

Dave Dorchester said the West Texas Council of Governments, which coordinated the Permian Basin proposal, would discuss whether or not to submit its proposal to Washington independently.

"We felt that we had a very viable site. It'd be very competitive on a national standpoint," said Dorchester. Dorchester's group was one of the signers of the legislative measure agreeing to support the commission's choices.

But Dorchester said the measure says they will support the choices, "if properly justified."

CAT scores show improvement on grade levels

Hereford students showed some gain overall from last year in each grade except seventh, according to results of the California Achievement Test this year. But, most grades scored below the national mean.

Assistant superintendent Marc Williamson told Hereford School board members Tuesday night that the normal curve equivalent mean would be at 50, and that many of the Hereford class scores were in the upper 40s and some in the lower 50s. A significant increase in the mean scores showed up in the eleventh grade tests, where Williamson said it was important because of students exiting school the next year.

Williamson also showed the board breakdowns of test scores by schools, test categories and grades.

The board tabled until next Tuesday, when bids on the agriculture building will be opened, considerations of high school classroom construction. The board wishes to study more of how, when freshmen are included in high school, schedules will be done between the high school and Stanton campuses.

Also tabled was the 1987-88 school calendar. The board has two possible calendars, pending that the state legislature does with a law which would allow school before Labor Day.

Paul Lyles, an attorney specializing in school matters, was hired on a retainer fee of $150 a month. Board member Steve Coneway said local lawyers still would be used for some legal work.

The high school band department will be able to use the $10,000 donated by boosters for uniforms, for other items at the discretion of the band director with board approval. It is expected that with the combination of freshmen in high school more marching uniforms will be needed.

The two exchange students, Mila Niemela of Denmark and Oof Schoppan of Germany, were presented Hereford Whiteface jackets by the board. Each thanked the board and the community for the year in Hereford.

In other business and reports:

—Board members approved a final reading of a policy update.

—The Church of the Nazarene and Kids, Inc., were given use of the stadium on July 5 and June 6 respectively.

—The board approved resignations of Joyce Wartes, Glenn Williams, Wendy Roose, and Ana Marie Bautista, then employed Barbara Yavornik and Donna Belcher.

—Members okayed Town & Country Foods to provide free cups for concession stands. The paper cups will have the Town & Country logo on one side and the snorting Herd Bull on the other side.

—The board approved kindergarten and first grade retention and promotion guidelines.

—All members except Jo Garcia were present.

Special Message

Christy Burford and Kristina Kerr, student council members at Hereford High, convince Terry Sparks at Park Avenue Florist to include with prom corsages and boutonnieres a special message — don't drink and drive. Blue cards reminding students not to ruin Saturday night's prom memories by drunk driving will be distributed this week at all florist shops

McFarlane said unable to tell entire truth about Iran-Contra affair

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former National Security Adviser Robert C. McFarlane is trying to tell the truth to Congress, but so far seems unable to come completely clean, members of the Iran-Contra investigating committees say.

"There's something writhing inside," Rep. Peter Rodino, D-N.J., a member of the House investigating panel, said Tuesday following McFarlane's second day of sworn testimony.

"This is an individual who really wants to tell it all," Rodino said. "I think he's been tortured by his inability to say what he wants to say." McFarlane acknowledged to the committees that he had used "tortured language" in past testimony to Congress, in which he denied the Reagan administration had gone to foreign countries to finance the Contra war against Nicaragua after Congress shut off aid to the rebels.

He conceded he also had deterred a congressman's request for documents potentially embarrassing to the administration by collecting them in a 2- to 3-inch stack on his desk and giving the lawmaker, former Rep. Michael Barnes, D-Md., only a limited amount of time to read them at McFarlane's White House office.

But while he repeatedly parried some of the most pointed questions, McFarlane volunteered to shoulder complete responsibility for any failure to level with Congress.

"In all of this, who or what were you trying to shield or protect?" Sen. Paul Sarbanes, D-Md., asked at one point.

McFarlane paused, then said: "Very likely myself, my reputation, my own record of performance."

"And only that?" Sarbanes asked. "I believe, Senator Sarbanes, that President Reagan's motives and direction to his subordinates throughout this enterprise has always been in keeping with the law and national values," McFarlane said. "I don't think he is at fault here, and if anybody is, I am."

McFarlane also testified:

—The Reagan administration's foreign policy making process had tumbled into "gridlock" because of limited expertise and the relatively low political priority given foreign policy concerns relative to domestic matters.

—His former aide, Lt. Col. Oliver L. North, "is really getting a bum rap" in the hearings. McFarlane described North as "a man of intense devotion to the preservation of human life" and spiritually motivated, but "quite cynical about government." North's Vietnam combat experience made it virtually impossible for him to go along with a congressional policy he saw as abandoning the Contras, he suggested.

And in other developments:

—President Reagan was asked at the White House about his possible involvement in seeking foreign financial support for the Contras while a congressional ban on U.S. military aid was in effect. "I've said that I'm not going to answer any questions on those things until this (investigation) is over," the president told reporters during a picture-taking session. "If I were going to answer any questions, I'd say, 'No.'"

—Investigators announced that a missing $10 million contribution from the Sultan of Brunei to the Contras fell into the hands of a wealthy 60-year-old Swiss shipping magnate who now faces criminal charges for keeping the money instead of notifying the bank when the money turned up in his account by mistake. The man was not identified.

Some members of the committees said they believed McFarlane's responses were pointing the inquiry increasingly in the direction of Reagan.

Clements, Hobby, Lewis meet to work on budget compromise

AUSTIN (AP) — The state's three top leaders went gunning for a compromise spending plan that would end the budget battle.

"It was probably one of the most productive meetings we've had since the (legislative) session started," House Speaker Gib Lewis said after spending Tuesday afternoon talking and sheet shooting with Gov. Bill Clements and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

"We did not agree on anything. We agreed to continue working towards a solution to the budget," Lewis said.

The three, with a few aides, left the Capitol and spent several hours talking and shooting at the Cypress Valley Preserve on a ranch west of Austin. Lewis said arrangements for the outing were made by Don Adams, an associate of Hobby's. Clements was less talkative about the meeting.

"We had a good time. We thoroughly enjoyed the outing," he said. "We needed to be able to get away."

The leaders have been negotiating on and off for more than a week about ways to balance the state budget.

Hobby and Lewis say more taxes must be raised than Clements has said he will approve. The Senate and House have approved budgets totaling more than $39 billion, while Clements has said he thinks $36.9 billion is enough.

That impasse has threatened to drag the Legislature into special session, because its 140-day regular session ends June 1.

But their meetings at the Capitol have been dogged by news reporters. After Clements last week told reporters that he might allow more than a $2.9 billion tax increase, his fellow Republicans protested. The governor then insisted he hasn't changed his position.

So Tuesday, they decided to meet in private.

Lewis said he thought the change of scenery did them good.

"You can get a lot done in those type of conditions," the House speaker said.

Lewis said they discussed a budget

Copter joins rented limos, chartered buses on prom night

DALLAS (AP) — Faced with the dilemma of being unable to find a silver stretch limousine to match her high school prom dress, senior Ginie Warford and her date hired a helicopter to make a dashing entrance.

Ms. Warford, decked out in a blue dress with silver lace, and her date, Mark Funderburk wearing a matching silver tuxedo, were whisked from the Arlington airport to a downtown Dallas hotel.

"After that, the dance wasn't that big of a deal," said Miss Warford, a senior at Arlington High School.

Not too many years ago, prom-goers could make a splash just by showing up in a shiny stretch limo. But hiring a car became so popular in affluent areas that limousine companies sometimes can't meet the demands of students attending the annual fetes.

The prom season, from mid-April to late May, has become the companies' busiest time of year. "They rent everything in our fleet, plus everything else we can rent — limousines, sedans, vans," said Dick Moore, general manager of Limousines Inc. of Dallas. "I could probably rent them skateboards if I had them."

The rented cars have been welcomed increasingly by school and parent groups which have worked to keep students from drinking and driving. Parents often shell out the money for prom-night extravaganzas, and some limousine companies are beginning to offer special services just for them, such as having the same car delivering prom-goers return to take the parents out on the town during the dance.

But some students say limousines for proms are almost passe.

"Everyone was getting one," said Miss Warford, who went Dutch on the $375 helicopter bill. "We wanted to do something different — that's what proms are all about."

Cari Zuckman, a Plano Senior High School student, said she and her friends decided to forsake a limousine on prom night last week because eight couples wouldn't fit in one. They took the bus.

For $320, the couples rented a bus for the night from Dallas Area Rapid Transit, complete with "Prom" displayed as its destination on the front.

"Everyone loved it. When we would stop, people would knock on the windows and wave at us," Miss Zuckman said.

John Hart, who has been a chauffeur for nearly 50 years, said the dance seems unimportant for the prom-goers he has driven. "They want to go out and cruise around," he said.

Hart said he usually takes his prom passengers back to cruise the "drags" in their home neighborhoods. In the wee hours of Sunday mornings, he said, he passes lines of limousines parading up and down, with students waving and screaming out of windows and sunroofs.

"It's a joy for me," he said. "These youngsters are at the peak of their lives. They don't realize it, but they're having the best time of their lives that night."

plan he has been working on and agreed to further talks.

No ultimatums — such as Clements' earlier threat to veto any tax increase larger than $2.9 billion — were made, Lewis said.

"We're trying to work together, trying to work out a compromise position we felt we all could live with that wouldn't be damaging to the future of the state," he said.

"We did not talk about vetoing anything. We talked about trying to do what was right for the state," he said.

Lewis said the three also talked about several other issues, such as trucking deregulation and tort reform.

The speaker, a big game hunter who has traveled the world on shooting trips, declined to say who among the three officials was the best shot.

"It was a wash," Lewis said, laughing. "I think we all shot about the same."

Retiring Educators

Educators retiring from the Hereford School District were honored Monday at a reception hosted by the local Classroom Teachers Association. Recognized at the reception were, from left, Ed McCreary, 14 years at Hereford, 41 total in education; Karleen Moore, 8 at Hereford, 36 total; Mary Stapp, all 15 years in Hereford; Joyce Wartes, 20 of her 31 years were in Hereford; and Gracie Shaw, 9 of 23 years were in Hereford. Not pictured is Glen Williams, with 9 of his 31 years in Hereford.

Artists cringe at color, rather see black and white

WASHINGTON (AP) — The misty shadows of "Casablanca" cut through with "cheesy, artificial" color? Frank Sinatra's famous blue eyes turned a deep brown? "Gone With the Wind" to a rock beat?

Those were the prospects that Woody Allen and other film artists raised as they implored Congress to halt what they called the "monstrous practice" of adding color to the black and white movies of the nation's past.

"The issue can no longer be swept under the table," Allen testified Tuesday. "It's got to be settled finally in some legal fashion to give some protection to American film artists."

Beginning a day of lobbying on Capitol Hill, Allen joined actress Ginger Rogers and directors Sidney Pollack, Milos Forman and Elliott Silverstein in asking a Senate subcommittee to give filmmakers protection under the nation's copyright laws.

No action is planned in the Senate, but Rep. Richard Gephardt, D-Mo., said he would introduce legislation today that would expand copyright laws by giving "artistic authors" the exclusive rights to any changes in their works.

7.5 million affected by law

MEXICO CITY (AP) — As many as 7.5 million Mexicans might become residents of the United States under the new immigration law there, U.S. Ambassador Charles Pilliod Jr. said.

In a speech delivered Tuesday in Guadalajara, the ambassador referred to estimates that 2 to 4 million people will take advantage of the amnesty program that started last week under the Immigration and Control Act.

"Current estimates are that over half of those applying for amnesty under the law will be of Mexican origin — something over a million and a half people," Pilliod said. "But you must also consider the roll-up, once they have legalized their status."

"They will be able to bring their immediate family members, so multiply that figure by 5 and you have 7.5 million," he said.

The ambassador cautioned, however, that no reliable figures on the number of illegal aliens in the United States are available and "no one knows exactly how many people will be affected or where."

Pilliod called the immigration program "one of the largest legal undertakings in history" and called for patience as it unfolds.

"There are bound to be surprises, and we have asked our Mexican friends to understand the enormity of the task we have begun and to bear with us," the ambassador said.

"If problems occur, and they surely will, let us know. Together we will find a solution," he said.

Pilliod also reiterated that the program is not expected to lead to any mass deportations of undocumented workers.

Foot-dragging charge in ATV safety

WASHINGTON (AP) — Industry, government and parents are pointing at one another in an effort to place the blame for the rising toll of deaths and injuries from all-terrain vehicles.

The Consumer Product Safety Commission drew criticism at a congressional hearing Tuesday as a "wimp" agency, dragging its feet on the dangers of these three- and four-wheel off-road vehicles.

The commission's chairman, however, pointed to the vehicle manufacturers, claiming they have been disappointingly slow in developing voluntary safety standards.

Both a representative of the ATV manufacturers and a member of Congress contended that proper parental supervision could have prevented many of the injuries.

And the mother of a seriously injured teen-ager said it's also unfair to lay on parents the entire responsibility for keeping their children away from dangerous vehicles.

The focus of the hearing of the House Energy and Commerce subcommittee on commerce, consumer protection and competitiveness was the thousands of all-terrain vehicles which have become increasingly popular in recent years.

Their growing sales have been accompanied by a sharply rising death and injury toll, including nearly 700 fatalities and hundreds of thousands of hospital visits in the last five years, according to the safety commission.

Peres calls for government breakup

JERUSALEM (AP) — Foreign Minister Shimon Peres asked Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir today to break up the coalition government after the divided Cabinet dithered on a proposed Middle East peace conference.

Shamir rejected the demand, saying, "The national unity government can and must continue to govern."

Both leaders summoned their party colleagues to emergency meetings.

Immediately after the 24-hour Cabinet meeting, Peres, the chief proponent of the U.S.-backed plan, postponed his trip to Washington in order to muster support for new elections. He had been scheduled to leave later today for talks with Secretary of State George Shultz.

The 21-month-old partnership between Shamir's right-wing Likud bloc and Peres' leftist Labor Party was in its most severe crisis, with the two sides bitterly divided over a peace plan calling for an international conference to precede direct talks between Israel and its Arab enemies.

Plant Stand

Hereford High School woodworking student Conrad Rodriguez was honored with two first place ribbons and Best in Region and Best in State awards in recent competitions. Rodriguez crafted a five tier plant stand which was displayed with other winning projects last week at Hereford State Bank.

May named electrical safety awareness month

May is Electrical Safety Awareness Month and Southwestern Public Service Company (SPS) is reminding its customers to be especially careful around outdoor power lines and electrical facilities.

"In the spring, people spend more time outdoors," says Bill Greaser, SPS safety manager. "They're trimming trees, putting antennas on roofs, and moving ladders around. Any of these activities could cause a serious injury or death if a person should happen to come in contact with a power line."

Installing an evaporative cooler—a common springtime task—also is a potential hazard, Greaser says. "By the time you get your metal cooler up, you're usually standing in a puddle of water. But metal and water are both good conductors of electricity, so make sure your unit is grounded, like your washing machine is. And, don't plug the cooler in until everything is hooked up. If you have to make any last-minute adjustments, be sure to unplug the unit first."

Setting up summer irrigation systems can be hazardous as well, Greaser says.

"Metal irrigation pipe is an excellent conductor of electricity," Greaser says. "Moving a tall section of irrigation pipe or trying to dislodge an animal inside it could be fatal if there's a power line above you. That's why SPS urges farmers, ranchers, and anyone who works around electrical facilities to look up for safety. Be sure there's no power line above you before lifting any tall object into the air."

Springtime also is a good time to teach children how to be safe around electrical facilities, Greaser says. "School is almost out and the kids are spending more time outdoors. Teach them to stay away from utility substations and poles. Even if a kite or model airplane should get tangled in a power line, they should never climb the pole or try to get the toy down by themselves. And be sure they know to look up for safety before climbing in any tree. If there's a power line in that tree, they need to get down immediately. That's not a safe place to play."

SPS offers a variety of electrical safety programs and materials to the general public, schools, employers, and civic groups. Your local SPS office can tell you all about these items.

Congress headed for 'Star Wars' confrontation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan and the Democrats who control Congress are heading toward another confrontation over arms control restrictions and "Star Wars" cuts.

The House voted deep reductions Tuesday in the budget for Reagan's Star Wars program to develop a high-tech shield against Soviet nuclear attack.

The decision came as the chamber worked on its version of a bill authorizing the defense budget for the fiscal year starting Oct. 1. The Senate is scheduled to take up its version of the bill this week and is also likely to cut Star Wars and add arms control restrictions Reagan opposes.

At the White House, Reagan met Tuesday with a group of Republicans and renewed his argument that the Democratic-proposed restrictions hurt U.S. efforts to negotiate a U.S.-Soviet arms reduction treaty.

4-H Around the County

By DAVY VESTAL
County Extension Agent

The 4-H Parent-Leaders Association held its annual covered dish supper and meeting recently at the Community Center.

During the meeting the association approved a $4,500 budget for the fiscal 87-88 year. This money goes to assist many 4-H programs which benefit some 200 youth in Deaf Smith County. The money is raised each year at the 4-H Parent-Leader concession stand during the January Stock Show and at the Homemade Ice Cream Booth at the Hereford Jubilee.

Officer election was among the agenda at the meeting Tuesday evening as well. The only new officer elected was John Wilson - he will serve as vice-chairman. Harvey Milton will serve one more year as chairman as well as Loretta Urbanczyk as secretary/treasurer.

The Deaf Smith County 4-H Council has elected to "Adopt-A-Highway." The two mile stretch of road will be east of the city limit sign on Highway 60 east of Hereford for two miles. The clean up will begin in July.

The Citizens 4-H Club will hold its regular monthly meeting on Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Ballroom of the Community Center. All members are requested to attend.

Thirteen county 4-H'ers are signed up to participate in the Llano Estacado Horse Association this summer. This is an increase in the number of 4-H'ers over past years by nearly half. There will be a horse workshop this Saturday at the 4-H arena at 10 a.m.

The 4-H Bucket Calf deadline is May 15-youth from ages 5-12 may participate by calling the county Extension office 364-3573, locations are available for residents in town who need a place to keep a calf.

It's not too late to sign up for the shooting sports program. Currently 30 4-H'ers are participating each Wednesday at the Hereford Gun Club. Call the office to sign up (364-3573).

County 4-H camp will be July 8-11 at the Texas 4-H Center on Lake Brownwood. Interested 4-H'ers should turn in $10.00 deposits as soon as possible to insure their spot. Deadline is May 20.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion, handicap, or national origin.

Hospital to sponsor programs

The public is invited to attend a summer safety program Thursday at Deaf Smith General Hospital. There will be three programs presented at 10:30 a.m., and 3:30 p.m. and 7 p.m. for the convenience of residents.

Topics will include summer injuries, insect bites, sunburn, poison ivy, etc.

Washington became the 42nd state in 1889.

Westgate Nursing Home to host open house Saturday

Westgate Nursing Home will host an open house from 2:30 to 4 p.m. Saturday in conjunction with Nursing Home Week.

The local celebration will honor the nursing home residents and will also give the public an opportunity to visit them as well as tour the child care and adult daycare facilities on the campus.

The Westgate residents will be honored during the week with a special buffet, musical selections during Bible studies, a May birthday party, and a tour of Arrowhead Mills.

Most nursing home residents are in their 70s and 80s and were the farmers, housewives, mothers, businessmen, teachers, clergy and soldiers of another time.

Genealogy Society to meet Thursday

The Deaf Smith County Genealogy Society will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Heritage Room of the Deaf Smith County Library.

The program will feature two items of business. Work will be completed on surname cards, with the remainder of the meeting devoted toward a work night in the genealogy room of the library.

Those not present at last month's meeting may bring a list of surnames with the approximate location and year being researched, along with a pack of 3X5" cards.

Thursday's meeting will be the last meeting until September. The Society meets the second Thursday of each month and is open to anyone interested in researching family history.

The family and friends of Anna Lisa Reyna would like to thank all the wonderful people that helped make the enchilada dinner a success. Sincere appreciation for all the donations.

Thank You,

New Officers Installed

Noted artist, Jo Nelle Richardson of San Angelo, (seated, at right) installed new La Madre Mia Study Club officers Friday evening in the home of Lucy Rogers. As Richardson installed each officer, she presented her with an original painting of a flower. Serving as president for the

Final meeting held in Rogers' home

Lucy Rogers, outgoing president of La Madre Mia Study Club, entertained club members Friday evening with a meal in her home to close out the club year.

Tables were laid with white cloths and centered with arrangements of fresh miniature pink carnations and greenery.

Guests included Rogers' mother, Mable Hunt of Kerrville; Rogers' sister, Jo Nelle Richardson of San Angelo; and a past member, Sandra Martin.

Special gifts, created by Richardson, were presented to incoming 1987-88 officers during the installation ceremony led by Richardson. An accomplished artist in watercolors, Richardson has won many awards including the People's Choice Award at a San Angelo art show. One of her paintings were chosen from many to be on display at Texas Tech University.

As Richardson installed each officer, she presented her with an original painting of a flower, with a different flower for each office. Following the meeting, several pieces of her artwork were on display.

The new officers include Pat Walsh, president; Susan Robbins, vice president; Merle Clark, secretary; Joyce Allred, treasurer; Tricia Sims, historian; Lucy Rogers, parliamentarian; and Bettye Owen, reporter.

During the business meeting Rogers presented Walsh with the president's gavel and a brass gavel was given to Rogers along with a gift from the club.

The club voted to donate $50 to the Casey Smith Scholarship Fund and will present a $250 scholarship to a worthy Hereford High School senior. It was also decided to buy an associate friendship sponsorship of Big Brothers-Big Sisters.

Robbins represented the club at a meeting Friday to offer input in hiring a new school superintendent. She reported there were eight groups and 10 people were in the group representing clubs.

Rogers presented gifts to the three members who had perfect attendance the past year to Gladys Merritt, Georgia Sparks, and Mary Herrington.

Members drew for secret pals for the summer, with names to be revealed at the first meeting in September. The club plans to have a summer social when secret pal gifts will be exchanged.

Walsh announced committees and chairpersons for the upcoming year. They include: home tour, Lavon Nieman; membership, Robbins; finance, Allred; yearbook, Francyne Bromlow; social, Mysedia Smith; telephone, Marlene Watson; courtesy, Merritt, and project, Betty Lady.

Other members in attendance besides the aforementioned included: Carolyn Baxter, Sharon Hodges, Beverley Lambert, Jenna Simons, Betty Taylor, Mary Beth White, and Nancy Paetzold.

Hereford Garden Club installs new officers

President Ursalee Jacobson conducted the business meeting in which the 1987-88 club year was discussed. In observance of the club's 50th anniversary, a fall flower show is planned.

The club will be co-hostess for District Convention on Marcy 14-15. Topics discussed throughout the year have ranged from growing to arranging plants.

It was decided to make a donation to the Friends of the Library. It was announced that the St. Thomas Episcopal Church will have their Tour of Tables June 6.

Patricia Robinson installed the following officers by giving each a corsage and informing each of their duties: Jacobson, president; Lois Lemons, 1st vice president; Billie Johnson, 2nd vice president; Bessie Hill, 3rd vice president; Lucy Faye Cocanougher, secretary; Carmon Angel, corresponding secretary; Corene Smith, treasurer; Lois Ethridge, reporter-publicity; and Jerry Jackson, parliamentarian.

Those present included Angel, Mozelle Childers, Lois Ethridge, Hill, Jacobson, Johnson, Lemons, Smith, Meredith Wilcox, and installing officer, Robinson.

Ann Landers

Child abuser needs help

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Saturday I was eating in a fast-food restaurant. A man was there with his two children, a little boy about 7 years old and a little girl about 4.

The little girl spilled four French fries on the floor. The father punched her in the head and forced her face to the floor, into the fries. He then said he was going to "smash her face" when he got her in the car.

Everyone in the place was watching, but no one did a thing to help the child. Her brother was crouched under the table while all this was going on.

When the man took the child to the men's room and started hitting her again, I went in and stopped him. I tried to comfort the youngster by assuring her that I would not let him hit her as long as I was there. I told the man that he was sick and needed to get professional help. He did not respond—just gave me a blank stare.

I was so upset when I got home I called the police and asked what I should have done. They said, "Dial 911 and report the problem." Do not put my name or city in the paper. Just print my letter and pray the father sees it.—Anonymous, Please enjoy or restricting them to their room, isolated from friends and TV. Don't abuse them. They will grow up believing it is all right to hit people, and the awful legacy is handed down from generation to generation.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm to be married in June and I have this problem. Before "Earl" met me, he went with another girl. They were quite young but they had talked about marriage.

The problem is that he has a tattoo on his arm with her name in big, bold letters. He says it can't be removed. It bothers me mostly because he has never told me that he is glad to be with me rather than her or that he loves me more. When we are making love it feels as if his arm belongs to her. I've heard that a man will only tattoo a girl's name on himself if he really has a deep love for her and intends to love her forever. Also, can a tattoo be removed?—Help in Wis.

DEAR WIS: You have two problems. I'll deal with the last one first: It is extremely difficult to remove a tattoo. Some dermatologists suggest tattooing over it in flesh color, but it is often unsuccessful.

Apparently Earl does not make you feel loved and cherished. If you aren't able to accept the fact that he will never change (if anything he'll get colder) rethink the wedding plans.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I received an invitation to a wedding. It read like this: "Jane Doe and John Smith are getting married May 20 at XYZ Restaurant in XX City at 7 p.m. Dinner $15. Please RSVP by May 15." How would you respond?—lffy in Illinois

DEAR IFFY: I would say, "Sorry, I am unable to attend." If the couple can't afford a wedding dinner they should have the ceremony at 3 p.m. and serve punch and cookies.

Planning a wedding? What's right? What's wrong? Ann Landers' "New Bride's Guide" will relieve your anxiety. To receive a copy, send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (39 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

DEAR ANONYMOUS: Here's your letter and my thanks for writing it. I hope that this father and all parents who beat their children will pay close attention. They are sick and need counseling.

Violence against children is the worst kind of brutality. The little ones are so frightened and helpless. It kills their spirit and makes them feel worthless. I realize that children can get on your nerves and try your patience at times, but please punish them by withholding something they

Astros score 5-2 win over Phillies

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Astros were not in a very hospitable mood Tuesday night when Philadelphia rookie pitcher Mike Jackson, a native of Houston, came home for his first major league start. The Astros roughed up Jackson for four runs in the first inning and went on to a 5-2 win, simultaneously snapping a three-game Houston losing streak and a three-game Philadelphia winning streak.

"I was very nervous out there," Jackson said. "I got behind and tried to hit the spots. I was real excited about getting to start my first game at home."

The Phillies jumped on Houston's Bob Knepper with three hits, including a RBI single by Mike Schmidt, his 31st of the year, to take a 1-0 lead.

Hereford soccer team wins league season opener

The Hereford Twisters soccer club defeated Diablos of Amarillo 14-2 on Sunday in its first game of the season in the Northwest Soccer League.

Next Sunday, at 2 p.m. at Benton Park, the Hereford Twisters will play Jalisco, a team that won a tournament in which nine teams from the league participated.

The Hereford Twisters placed third in that tournament. The early season record of the Hereford Twisters is 5-1, including the one league game.

The team captain of the Hereford Twisters is Jesus Espinoza, and the coach is Javier Gutierrez.

But the Astros took advantage of Jackson's early jitters. Bill Doran walked on four pitches with one out and third baseman Denny Walling followed with a single to right. Glen Davis' sacrifice fly tied the game, and after another walk to Kevin Bass, Jose Cruz sliced an opposite field liner to left that scored two more runs.

Knepper got his second win of the year in his first start for the Astros since April 26, when manager Hal Lanier dropped him from the starting rotation.

"I feel the stint in the bullpen really helped his concentration," said Lanier. "We need him back in the starting rotation."

Reliever Aurelio Lopez gave up only one hit over the last three innings and got his first save of the year. The bullpen had yielded five earned runs in its last seven innings, and Lanier commented: "Aurelio did a fine job. Maybe that will give us a lift."

Cruz extended a hitting streak to seven games. He went 2-for-4 and drove in two runs.

Adrian man qualifies for college rodeo finals

Greg Guggell of Adrian has qualified for the College National Finals Rodeo to be held June 14-20 in Bozeman, Mont.

The 19-year-old sophomore at Frank Phillips College in Borger is the son of Bill and Donna Guggell of Adrian.

Guggell qualified for the national competition by placing second in the entire Southwest Region with 270 points in the steer wrestling event. He became one of the top two bulldoggers by consistently placing in seven of 10 regional rodeos held last fall and this spring. His best time to date has been 4.0 seconds. His coach is Bobby Scott.

The youth began his rodeoing career as a second grader by entering the Little Britches divisions and riding calves and pony calves. He is currently scheduled to enter various local amateur rodeos as practice for the upcoming national finals and enjoys team roping.

A 1985 graduate of Adrian High school, Guggell plans to transfer to Eastern New Mexico University in Portales next fall on a scholarship earned through his rodeo and academic achievements. He hopes to earn his degrees in Ag Business and gain his professional card from the Professional Rodeo Cowboy Association. At that point, he will continue his rodeo activities professionally, specializing in the steer wrestling event.

With 112-107 victory Tuesday night

Rockets cut SuperSonics' lead to 3-2

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
AP Sports Writer
HOUSTON (AP) — The Seattle SuperSonics were seeing triple (double) after Rodney McCray finished with 24 points, 11 assists and 10 rebounds in a do-or-die performance for the Houston Rockets. McCray took it upon his shoulders to carry the Rockets a step farther in the NBA playoffs Tuesday night, leading them to a 112-107 victory over Seattle, avoiding elimination in their Western Conference semifinal playoff. "He was an inspiration to his teammates, he made them play better as a team," said Seattle guard Dale Ellis, who was paired defensively against McCray.

Seattle still leads the series 3-2 and could clinch a spot in the division finals with a victory Thursday night in Seattle. A Rocket victory Thursday would return the series to Houston on Saturday for the seventh game of the best-of-seven series.

Houston jumped in front quickly in the first quarter and held a 21-point lead at 59-38 with 5:25 to go in the second quarter before the Sonics shut off the Rocket running game and pulled to within 66-56 by halftime.

"I thought we played well at the start, but Seattle wouldn't settle for that," Rockets Coach Bill Fitch said. "The individual effort of Rodney McCray was outstanding. The mistakes he made were from fatigue."

McCray played all but one minute of the 48-minute game. "There's only one month left in the season, I'll get plenty of rest later," McCray said.

Seattle cut Houston's lead to 89-86 going into the fourth quarter and took its first lead of the game with 7:11 left to play on a 3-point basket by Tom Chambers that put the Sonics in front, 97-96.

But the Rockets regained the lead for good moments later.

"We allowed them to get in the driver's seat and didn't match them in overall play," said Chambers, who had 6 points at the half and finished with 15.

Akeem Olajuwon, who led the Rockets with 26 points, hit a basket with 4:15 left in the game and the Rockets never trailed again.

"I was nervous at the end, I was praying for them to take a shot and miss, and that's what happened," Olajuwon said.

Ellis, who scored 19 of his 27 points in the second half, missed a 3-point shot with two seconds left and the Sonics trailing 110-107.

"I was open, we were down, and I wanted the shot," said Ellis, one of the league's better 3-point shooters. "I had the shot but it didn't go in. I'm disappointed."

The Rockets grabbed the rebound and added two free throws for the final margin.

Allen Leavell scored 11 of his 15 points from the free throw line for the Rockets, Robert Reid added 14 points and Ralph Sampson hit 13, all in the first half, for the Rockets.

"We didn't want the season to end," McCray said. "When it came down to the last three minutes the fans were on their feet and they pulled us through."

I'm Ready To Run

Cody Curtis (83) is determined to win the fourth grade boys' 800-meter relay race after he receives the baton from West Central teammate Jacob Lopez. And win they did, along with relay teammates Jason Eades and Jimmy Gaytan, in a time of 1:03.8. The competition was part of the Kiwanis track meet last week. (Brand photo by Gary Christensen)

"They wouldn't let us die." The two teams couldn't agree as to who has the most pressure. "The pressure shifts," Sampson said. "We've got the home court advantage. We can come back here for the seventh game." The pressure factor doesn't matter to Seattle Coach Bernie Bickerstaff. "We'll accept the pressure,"

Bickerstaff said. "I thought they made the shots and played a great game. We just didn't get it done." The Rockets are trying to become only the second team to lose the first two games of a best-of-seven series at home and rebound to win the series. Los Angeles accomplished the feat in 1980.

Hough beats Carlton in pitching duel

Rangers beat Indians, 6-1

By CHUCK MELVIN
AP Sports Writer

CLEVELAND (AP) — Against any other pitcher, Steve Carlton's first start for the Cleveland Indians might have turned out much better.

Against the Texas Rangers' Charlie Hough, however, no Cleveland pitcher ever has much luck.

Hough made it 10 straight wins over the Indians with a 6-1 victory Tuesday night, limiting Cleveland to a run on four hits in 7 1-3 innings. The knuckleball pitcher has not lost to the Indians since April of 1984.

The 42-year-old Carlton, who had made nine relief appearances before cracking the Indians' starting rotation, fell to 2-3 despite striking out 10 batters in seven innings.

"My heart goes out to those guys who relieve," Carlton said. "I was kind of an enigma in the bullpen. After 20 years of starting, I never caught on down there."

Carlton left Tuesday's game trailing 3-0 and with two Texas runners on base in the eighth. Ranger designated hitter Larry Parrish then hit reliever Rich Yett's first pitch into the left-field seats for his eighth home run.

That was more than enough for Hough, 3-1, who is now 13-4 lifetime against Cleveland.

Hough lasted into the eighth inning, although the little finger on his pitching hand was bothering him for several innings. He broke the finger last year, and it swelled up again during Tuesday's game.

"He was complaining about it from the second inning on," said Texas Manager Bobby Valentine. "I think Charlie will bounce back."

Cleveland's only run came on Brook Jacoby's solo homer in the eighth, his fourth.

"I didn't have a good feeling for the ball," Hough said. "I had a tough time commanding it the last few innings. I just started flipping the ball up there, throwing a lot of fastballs and just kind of letting them hit it. That's not quite my game."

Dale Mohorcic replaced Hough in the eighth and got the final five outs for Texas.

The loss was the eighth in nine games for the Indians, but Manager Pat Corrales was encouraged by Carlton's performance. The left-hander's fastball was clocked at 88 mph, the fastest he has thrown since joining the Indians at the end of spring training.

"What did surprise me was that he stayed strong for so long," Corrales said. "But he's been throwing a lot, so he's built up his arm strength."

Carlton was 2-2 with a 4.91 ERA as a reliever for Cleveland. The relief appearances had ended a string of 34 straight starts, a major-league record.

The Rangers took a 1-0 lead in the second inning when Pete O'Brien lined his fifth home run to right. O'Brien's RBI single made it 2-0 in the sixth, and Scott Fletcher singled in a run for a 3-0 lead in the seventh.

"I think Carlton's a starter," O'Brien said, "and it's difficult for him if he's thrown out in the bullpen. I think he can still be an effective pitcher. Our right-handers were having a tough time picking up his slider."

Teammates In Next-Door Lanes

Ruby Cruz, left, and Edna Delgado, right, are Bluebonnet teammates who ran in next-door lanes in the finals of the fifth grade girls' 50-yard dash last week in the

Placed Second In Relay

Angie Morales hands off the baton to Margie Madrid in the sixth grade girls' 800-meter relay during the Kiwanis track meet last week. Morales, Madrid, and Shirley Elementary School teammates Monica Villarreal and Melissa Celaya placed second in the event, behind the other Shirley team — Jeannie Barrientez, Vanessa Gonzales, Brandie Webb, and Avelina Garcia. FFA awards given here

Top annual awards were presented and the slate of new officers were introduced at the local banquet of the Future Farmers of America chapter.

Chris Urbanczyk was honored with the DeKalb Award, the recognition of being the outstanding FFA member. Urbanczyk has been in FFA for four years, served in various posts and was president during the past year. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Urbanczyk.

Rickie Vogel won the Leadership Award for his responsibilities and involvement throughout the years.

The top cooperative education student was honored with the Star Agribusiness Award. Heath Bell, a two-year employee of Keyes Electric, was the recipient.

For the outstanding second or third year member, the Star Chapter Farmer honor is given. Jeff Hicks, a third year FFA member, took that award.

Jill Johnson, a first year member, took the Star Greenhand honor. Cami Struve, chairman of the FFA Committee of the club, accepted the recognition for the outstanding committee of the year. Mel Holubec was granted an honorary membership in the organization for his help at stock shows and at other times during the year.

Bill and Teresa Dutton were chosen as the top supporters of the club. Dutton was helpful in selection of stock and being a substitute teacher when FFA instructors Bill Binder and Kevin Kelley were on field trips.

Charles Hund received the $750 Hereford Young Farmers Scholarship.

Academic Achiever

Bruce Clarke of Hereford, an entomology senior at Texas Tech University, received the Outstanding Student and Highest Academic Achievement awards at a recent Ag Honors Banquet. Dean Sam Curl of agricultural sciences at Tech, right, presented the awards. Clarke is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Clarke of Hereford.

Gail Thompson named as new SCS staff member

Gail Thompson has joined the local Soil Conservation Service staff to help with the workload of the CRP and to provide technical assistance in designing conservation methods.

The soil conservationist moves to the Hereford office from Canyon. She has been with the SCS for 6½ years, working in Beeville, Floydada, and Canyon.

She attended Southwestern Texas State University and Northwestern State University of Louisiana for a major in equine science. While managing a ranch in East Texas, SCS workers mapping the land encouraged her to apply for a position with the service. She did and says she has never regretted it.

Thompson is a Texas native.

Communicating for Agriculture Swiss trainee on Farwell farm

Ben and Mary Messman of Farwell are hosting a Swiss trainee, Marcus Biner, for the next several months while he works with them and learns the agriculture, horticulture and general culture of the United States.

Biner is among 36 young people who recently arrived in the United States as agricultural and horticultural trainees with the Communicating for Agriculture Exchange Program (CAEP).

CAEP, going into its second year of independent operation, is sponsored by Communicating for Agriculture, a nonpartisan, nonprofit, membership organization for farmers, ranchers and rural small business people, whose national headquarters is in Fergus Falls, Minnesota. CA has sponsored foreign agricultural exchange program activities since 1980, but last year started its own program. Known at the time as the "International Agricultural Exchange Network," the name has since been changed for United States purposes to the Communicating for Agriculture Exchange Program.

CAEP also operates an outbound program, through which American young people learn about the agriculture, agribusiness, home management, horticulture and general culture of other countries while living and working with host families in those countries.

Trainees, either male or female, must be between the ages of 19 and 28 and have experience in the areas in which they are studying. Host families must provide room, board, training allowances and appropriate educational experiences for their trainees.

Anyone interested in either the host family or the trainee aspect of the CAEP program may contact Communicating for Agriculture, P.O. Box 677, Fergus Falls, Minn., 56537 (218)739-3241.

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR FOR SOCIOECONOMIC ASSESSMENT WASTE DEPOSIT IMPACT COMMITTEE, DEAF SMITH COUNTY

THE WASTE DEPOSIT IMPACT COMMITTEE (WDIC) REPRESENTS THE TAXING JURISDICTIONS WITHIN DEAF SMITH COUNTY. THERE ARE SIX MEMBERS, ONE EACH FROM THE CITY OF HEREFORD, DEAF SMITH COUNTY, DEAF SMITH GENERAL HOSPITAL, HEREFORD INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT, HIGH PLAINS UNDERGROUND WATER CONSERVATION DISTRICT NO. 1 AND WALCOTT INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT. THE WDIC'S MOST CRITICAL FUNCTION IS TO DETERMINE THE SOCIOECONOMIC IMPACTS OF THE NUCLEAR WASTE REPOSITORY PROJECT ON THE COMMUNITY AND SECURE THE NEEDED AND APPROPRIATE MITIGATIONS OF THOSE IMPACTS. TWO TYPES OF IMPACTS COULD BE IDENTIFIED: "STANDARD" ONES, SUCH AS GREATER DEMAND ON LOCAL GOVERNMENT SERVICES OR INCREASED ECONOMIC ACTIVITY, AND "SPECIAL" ONES, SUCH AS HEIGHTENED LEVELS OF PERSONAL AND COMMUNITY TENSION AND STRESS.

IF DUE TO POLITICAL OR TECHNICAL REASONS, SITE CHARACTERIZATION OR REPOSITORY DEVELOPMENT DOES NOT PROCEED, THE WDIC EMPHASIS WILL IMMEDIATELY SHIFT TO HELPING THE COMMUNITY WITH THE TRANSITION.

THE NATURE OF THE JOB AND ITS SIGNIFICANCE FOR THE COMMUNITY'S FUTURE WILL REQUIRE A SPECIAL INDIVIDUAL WITH A UNIQUE SET OF CAPABILITIES. THE PERSON WILL BE HIRED BY AND REPORT DIRECTLY TO THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, WHO CARRIES OUT THE POLICY DIRECTION OF THE WDIC. THE FOLLOWING ARE THE DESIRED CHARACTERISTICS FOR INTERESTED CANDIDATES: 1) IN DEPTH KNOWLEDGE OF THE DEAF SMITH COUNTY COMMUNITY; 2) A RESPECT FOR, AND THE RESPECT OF, ALL SEGMENTS OF THE COMMUNITY; 3) STRONG INTERPERSONAL COMMUNICATION SKILLS; 4) THE ABILITY TO THOROUGHLY ANALYZE INFORMATION AND OBJECTIVELY DRAW CONCLUSIONS; 5) THE ABILITY TO EFFECTIVELY COMMUNICATE IN WRITING; 6) THE CAPACITY TO BALANCE STRENGTH OF PERSONAL CONVICTION WITH THE NEED TO NEGOTIATE SOLUTIONS TO PROBLEMS; 7) INITIATIVE; 8) RECOGNIZED LEADERSHIP QUALITIES; 9) EFFECTIVE WITH BOTH INDIVIDUALS AND GROUPS; 10) COLLEGE EDUCATION OR ITS EQUIVALENT IN WORK OR VOLUNTEER EXPERIENCE.

THE SALARY RANGE FOR THIS PROFESSIONAL LEVEL POSITION IS $25,000 TO $40,000 DEPENDING ON SKILLS AND EXPERIENCE. BENEFITS ARE NEGOTIABLE. RESUMES (TYPED OR WRITTEN IN INK) SHOULD BE SUBMITTED, ALONG WITH A STATEMENT EXPLAINING THE CANDIDATE'S INTEREST IN THE POSITION, TO: PHILLIP A. NIEDZIELSKI-EICHNER, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, WASTE DEPOSIT IMPACT COMMITTEE, 361 E. PARK AVENUE - P.O. BOX 2277, HEREFORD, TEXAS 79045. DEADLINE FOR RECEIPT OF EXPRESSIONS OF INTEREST IS 5:00 P.M., MONDAY, MAY 18, 1987. 8-219-1c

Winners Chosen

A recent mural competition held in Mrs. Brown's 7th grade Texas History class at La Plata Junior High School saw several winners chosen by the school's art teacher. Students were given the assignment of creating murals that depicted the history of Texas. First place winners, in

Distinguished women sought

Women's Forum, Amarillo Area, has announced plans for the 1987 Texas Panhandle Distinguished Women's Service Awards.

The Distinguished Service Awards Committee of Women's Forum will begin accepting nominations for these prestigious awards in June, according to committee chair, Allegra Bush. These awards are presented to Panhandle women who have made outstanding contributions to the region.

Women's Forum reestablished the Distinguished Women's Service Awards after West Texas State University discontinued them in 1985. Since 1978, 89 Panhandle women have been honored with this award. Past recipients have been leaders in farming, ranching, business, medicine, education, volunteerism, finance, communications, civic responsibility, health care and the legal system.

Women who are legal residents of the top 25 counties of the Panhandle and who have NOT previously received this award are eligible for nomination. The Awards Committee encourages nomination of any woman who has had a significant im-education, health care, legal, science and technology, and voluntarism.

Winners are selected on the basis of lasting contributions or achievements that have impacted the region. A representative panel of Panhandle citizens, including former award recipients, will select the award winners. Recipients will be honored at an awards ceremony scheduled October 17th, 12 noon, at the Tascosa Country Club.

Nominations will be accepted after June 1, and before September 1. For further information or to request a nomination form, contact: Women's Forum, 3403-A Thurman, Amarillo, Tx. 79109.

Military Muster

Navy Petty Officer 3rd Class Michael D. Smothermon, son of Delbert B. and Jackie A. Smothermon of Route 2, Hereford, recently deployed to the Republic of Korea for exercise Team Spirit aboard the aircraft carrier USS Ranger.

Smothermon will participate in exercises to increase the defensive capabilities of the Republic of Korea and the U.S. Seventh Fleet.

Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps Units from both countries are involved and will work are part of the exercise. A 1983 graduate of Dimmitt High School, Dimmitt, he joined the Navy in April 1984.

On Nov. 11, 1918, fighting in World War I came to an end with the signing of an armistice between the Allies and Germany inside a railroad car in the forest of Compiègne in France.

In 1920, 41 Pilgrims signed a compact aboard the Mayflower, which was anchored off the Massachusetts coast. The compact called for a "body politic" to enact "just and equal laws."

Association gives advice on reducing sodium intake

Most Americans use 10-15 times more salt than they need. Salt's primary ingredient is sodium, and excess sodium contributes to high blood pressure in many people. This condition can lead to heart disease and stroke in some people. Many more foods contain high levels of "hidden" sodium—disguised in complex ingredient list labeling or not listed at all. For these reasons the American Heart Association encourages people to become sodium smart and learn ways to detect and reduce sodium intake in their diets.

Just like you acquired a taste for salt over time, it's also possible to learn to enjoy less salty food.

"The easiest way to cut down on salt is to sample your foods first without added table salt," suggests Addison A. Taylor, M.D., president of the Texas Affiliate of the American Heart Association. "This practice is not only good etiquette, it's also good sense. You may decide you prefer certain foods without added salt."

"The next step is to go a little easier on salting those foods you prefer with salt, advises Taylor. "Your tastebuds will quickly learn to adjust to less salt on food."

"Reducing added salt in cooking and preparing foods is an essential way to cut your salt intake, too. Be a creative cook by using spices, seasonings and juices during cooking. These ingredients can become regular condiments at your table, too. They're also more colorful at the table than salt," says Taylor.

The American Heart Association, through an agreement with InterAmerican Foods, has its own line of Herb Seasonings available in many of the country's supermarkets. Lemon juice is a tasty addition to vegetables instead of salt. Instead of using a high-sodium soy sauce, many Chinese cooks substitute rice vinegar because it is lower in sodium.

The AHA warns persons trying to reduce sodium intake that many seasonings may not be suitable alternatives as many contain plenty of sodium. Garlic and onion salts are also high in sodium and are not suitable alternatives to table salt. Be sure to check the ingredients.

There are a few products which are inherently salty and should probably be used sparingly by high blood pressure patients. These foods include pickles, cured meats, frozen snacks and dinners, salted snacks and canned soups. A variety of unsalted food products are increasingly being introduced in stores, and some available at no additional cost over the salted version.

"Texans can learn to become sodium smart by carefully reading labels for sodium. When dining out, call ahead or ask that your order be prepared without added salt. Even many airlines will provide a low-sodium meal with 24 hours notice," explains Taylor.

According to the AHA, sodium intake in healthy adult Americans should be limited to approximately one gram per 1000 calories, not to exceed three grams per day (approximately 1-1/2 teaspoons of table salt). People with moderate to severe elevations in blood pressure may require more strict reductions in sodium intake.
