Mr. HHS, Miss HHS

Joey Garcia and Tiffanie Dewbre were honored as Mr. HHS and Miss HHS at the annual Koobraey assembly Thursday night in the HHS auditorium.

HHS students name favorites at assembly

BY JAY PEDEN

Tiffanie Dewbre was named Miss HHS and Joey Garcia was named Mr. HHS, topping off an evening of honors and entertainment Thursday night at the Koobraey Assembly at Hereford High School.

"Koobraey" is "yearbook" spelled backwards, and honorees will be featured in the 1992-93 yearbook. Most categories were decided by a vote of the students.

Between announcements of winners, the overflow crowd in the HHS Auditorium was entertained by dancing, singing and skits.

Six-Pack brought down the house with a dance to "Rumpshaker" and was voted as the best performance by the yearbook staff. Six-Pack consisted of Nakia Barnes, Natasha Colvin, Pety Colvin, Michael Ramirez, Leon Trevino and Waqueena Walton.

Other entertainers included Diana Torres; Melissa Mancha; Kara Sandoval and Emily Fuston; Divas with an Attitude; Wyldfire (Greg Coplen, Chris Hodges and Bobby Perales); Roger Cantu and P.J. Longorio; Mandi Tijerina; and the HHS drill team. The HHS varsity cheerleaders recreated their performance at the National Cheerleaders Association national championships last month in Dallas, and the HHS student council performed two innovative skits.

Teacher of the Year: Cherie Zinck.

Class favorites: Seniors Tiffanie Dewbre and Joey Garcia; juniors Melissa DeLeon and Hayden Andrews; sophomores Beth Weatherly and Gregg Kalka; and freshmen Natalie McWhorter and Armando Zambrano.

Most likely to make you laugh: Eric Ross and Natasha Colvin.

Most versatile: Pety Colvin and Jill Robinson.

Cutest girl: Tiffanie Dewbre.

Cutest boy: Victor Diaz.

Cutest couple: Joey Garcia and Melissa Celaya.

Annual queen: Cecelia Albracht.

Shyest: Yumie Nakashima and Gilbert Castillo.

Most flirtatious: Bri Reinauer and John Nava.

Most congenial: Beth Weatherly and Eric Ross.

Who's Who: Erin Bullard, Emily Fuston, Angie Jowell, Tracie Gilbert, Sara Zinck, Kyle Hansen, Kirk Self, Eric Sims, Matthew Parker and Jayson Mines.

Most intellectual: Sara Zinck and Jayson Mines.

Most fashionable: Amy Castillo and Gilbert Castillo.

Personality king and queen: Quincy Curtis and Amy Long.

Nominees for Most Beautiful: (winner to be announced in yearbook) Cecelia Albracht, Tiffanie Dewbre and Samantha Winters.

Nominees for Most Handsome: Joey Garcia, Kyle Hansen and Jake Head.

In addition to honoring all the winners, special gifts were presented to Laurel Horton, the sponsor of the yearbook staff, and HHS' four exchange students: Carlos Cintra of Brazil; Carlos Gonzales of Spain; Yumie Nakashima of Japan; and Mircla Zimic of Yugoslavia.

Somalia's leaders agree to immediate cease-fire

MOGADISHU, Somalia (AP) - Leaders of the 14 factions whose fighting drove this country into famine and chaos agreed today to call an immediate cease-fire and to turn over all heavy weapons to the U.S.-led multinational force.

Because Somalia's telecommunications facilities have collapsed, it was not clear how quickly the warlords would be able to tell their fighters of the agreement, which was reached in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia.

The factions also failed to agree on who should participate in a national reconciliation conference, scheduled for mid-March, whose aim is to restore a government to the country. Without such a conference, there is little chance of a lasting truce.

Also today, a United Nations spokesman reported that a Somali worker shot and killed a Swiss administrator for the International Red Cross during a wage dispute in the city of Bardera.

Farouk Mawlawi said the shooting was considered accidental. He said the Somali drew a gun, fired at the floor and the bullet bounced up and hit the aid official.

Mawlawi also told reporters that allied forces came upon two airplanes unloading arms at an airstrip 30 miles west of Mogadishu. A U.S. Marines spokesman said 1 million rounds of ammunition were seized.

Marines recently have seized large caches of arms in Mogadishu and elsewhere.

More troops sent to Kuwait

By MARTIN MARRIS
Associated Press Writer

The first batch of U.S. troop reinforcements arrived today in Kuwait as the United States threatened to launch another raid against Iraq if Saddam Hussein doesn't comply with allied demands.

U.S. officials, meanwhile, would neither confirm nor deny a report that one of the allies' bombs struck an apartment building during Wednesday's U.S. lead-air raid.

Iraq has vowed to take revenge for the raid, in which it claimed at least two civilians were among 19 dead. But no retaliatory action had been taken by this afternoon, and Iraq announced it was giving in to the West on two issues that had pushed the crisis to military action.

Iraq said Thursday it would let weapons inspectors fly to Baghdad aboard U.N. planes and stop arms-gathering forays in the Kuwaiti border zone. Both were considered violations of U.N. resolutions that ended fighting in the Persian Gulf War.

Today, the first contingent of up to 1,100 U.S. troops from Fort Hood, Texas, arrived at Kuwait's international airport to beef up the military presence on the border, reporters said. About 300 special force members are already in Kuwait assisting the Kuwaiti military.

The first 350 soldiers from the Texas base arrived this afternoon and three Air Force C-10s were flying in about 650 others later today.

Iraq's movement of missiles into zones where allies were protecting dissident Shiites and Kurds, and Baghdad's dispatch of planes over a southern "no fly zone" were other factors that precipitated the raid.

Defense Secretary Dick Cheney said it was "entirely possible" that another air strike would be necessary.

"I would hope it would not be necessary, but there shouldn't be any mistake on his (Iraqi leader Saddam Hussein's) part," Cheney said this morning. "We are prepared to do it again if we have to."

The Washington Post, quoting unidentified Air Force sources, reported in today's editions that a stray 2,000-pound bomb heavily damaged an apartment building near Basra. The newspaper said Pentagon officials gave no explanation and no casualty estimate.

Cheney said today he could not confirm that an apartment building was hit, but did not rule it out. "It's always possible when you drop weapons like this that you can have collateral damage."

Cheney discounted Iraqi film of a damaged building, saying that during the Gulf War, Iraq "phoned up" film to suggest the United States was bombing indiscriminately and killing civilians.

At the Pentagon, spokesman Pete Williams said one bomb hit "some kind of structure" that was not supposed to have been bombed. He said he did not know what kind of

Bivins seeks term limits

AUSTIN -- State Sen. Teel Bivins (R-Amarillo) Thursday introduced a constitutional amendment to limit the terms of office for statewide elected officials and members of the Legislature to 12 years.

"Too many politicians, once elected, begin to think they have a claim on their jobs," Bivins said. "Thereafter, they concentrate on winning reelection rather than serving their constituents. This amendment would give politicians incentive to make decisions based on what's best for the people rather than what will help return them to office."

Under Senate Joint Resolution 2, officeholders limited to 12 years would include: governor, lieutenant governor, senators, House members, treasurer, comptroller, land commissioner, agriculture commissioner, attorney general and railroad commissioners. The bill would not affect the election of judges.

"Everything I've seen indicates that people across Texas and the rest of the United States support limiting the terms of elected officials. They understand that allowing politicians to entrench themselves in office is unhealthy to the democratic process," Bivins said. "This bill would guarantee an influx of fresh ideas into state government on a regular basis."

structure it was or whether any civilians were in or near it.

U.S. military officials said Thursday that only one of four targeted anti-missile batteries was knocked out in this week's raid and that allied warplanes would attack again if necessary.

The Pentagon said the other three sites were damaged and that the missile batteries there were dismantled after the attack.

Saddam's military said the strike failed and said the country's air-defense batteries were ordered before the strike not to switch on their radar units in order to make the sites harder to target.

But President Bush said the raid by 110 U.S., British and French warplanes "made the skies a little safer."

Williams said the raid's success came in disabling the interlocking system of air defense radars, communications and missiles in southern Iraq.

Despite Iraq's giving in to the allies on the weapons inspectors and border forays, deputy premier Tariq Aziz said Iraq was not retreating.

"Iraq condemns this bald-faced aggression and reserves for itself the right to respond to it," Aziz said. "And this is what we will do, most certainly."

Sugar Beet Banquet set for Saturday night

Nationally-known humorist Stan White will be the featured speaker when the Texas Sugar Beet Growers Association holds its annual banquet Saturday night in the Bull Barn.

The banquet, one of the major events of the year, starts at 7 p.m. One of the highlights will be the presentation of the "Man of the Year in Agriculture," an award sponsored by The Hereford Brand. John Richmond, executive vice president of Holly Sugar Corp., in Colorado Springs is also on the program.

White has won many awards for leadership and excellence, including "Speaker of the Year for Agriculture" in the southern region of the U.S. He wears many hats--salesman, business owner, rancher, pilot and speaker. He speaks to all types of audiences across the country and makes radio and T.V. appearances--most notable being the "Today Show" on NBC.

White is reported to "blend humor with many life experiences into a fun-filled half-hour that leaves the audience feeling good about themselves and proud to be an American."

The growers held a business meeting today at the Hereford Community Center. Besides addressing issues on the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) and General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT), speakers discussed regional sugar beet research and heard Holly officials talk about sugar marketing and other activities.

Speakers included Don Steinbeiser, American Sugar Growers president from Sidney, Mont.; Bill Cleavinger, TSBGA president from Wildorado, and Dennis Printz, local Holly ag manager, who recognized top growers.

Cleavinger pointed out that the sugar industry is vital to Texas and the nation. "It pumps about a half billion dollars into the Texas economy, and more than 10,000 Texas jobs are directly related to the sweetener industry."

Other speakers Friday included Alan Lebsack, comptroller for Imperial Holly Corp.; Bob Atwood, in charge of Holly sales; and Dr. Steve Winter, crop and soil scientist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

The meeting also was to feature the election of TSBGA directors and a farmer cost-of-production study being conducted by the USDA.

The Ag Man of the Year award goes to an individual who has made significant contributions to the ag industry and the community. Past winners have been:

Exporters suffer as U.S. trade deficit shoots up $7.59 billion

WASHINGTON (AP) - The U.S. trade deficit shot up to $7.59 billion in November as American exporters suffered declines in nearly all categories, the government said today.

The 5.1 percent increase in the trade deficit highlighted a disturbing trend that analysts forecast will present President-elect Clinton with a major economic headache as export growth, once the stellar performer of the American economy, falters.

The Commerce Department blamed November's deficit, which was up from a revised October deficit of $7.22 billion, on a 2.8 percent drop in exports that reflected declines in sales of American farm products, especially soybeans and wheat, and even bigger drops in sales of manufactured goods such as telephone equipment and civilian aircraft.

In other economic news today, the government reported that consumer prices rose a modest 2.9 percent for all of 1992, the smallest increase in seven years. The year ended on a good note as well, with the Consumer Price Index for December rising a barely discernible 0.1 percent.

With one month remaining to be counted, America's trade deficit for 1992 already totals $75.55 billion, thus ensuring that the total deficit will surpass the 1991 imbalance of $65.40 billion.

It will be the first year since 1987 that America has failed to record an improvement in its trade imbalance.

Economists predict even worse news in the years to come with many expecting the 1993 deficit to once again top $100 billion and remain stuck at that level.

America's worsening trade performance, which translates into lost jobs for U.S. workers, will be one of the biggest economic challenges facing the new administration.

Nabers appointed to Railroad Commission; Republicans mad

AUSTIN (AP) - Texas Republicans, voicing outrage over Gov. Ann Richards' appointment of Mary Scott Nabers to the state Railroad Commission, say Ms. Nabers' gas holdings make her a poor choice for the position.

"Mary Scott Nabers has significant ethical problems that clearly disqualify her from this position - or at least should," said Karen Hughes, executive director of the Texas GOP.

Ms. Nabers, a member of the Texas Employment Commission, replaces U.S. Senate-designate Bob Krueger on the Railroad Commission. She will be replaced on the Employment Commission by Rep. Eddie Cavazos, D-Corpus Christi, Richards announced Thursday.

Ms. Nabers, 52, joins Republican Barry Williamson and Democrat Jim Nugent on the Railroad Commission, which regulates the state's energy and transportation industries. She will serve until the next general election in November 1994 and said she plans to run for re-election.

The new appointee owns a 2,800-acre gas field with her husband, Lynn. But she said she does not consider that a conflict of interest.

The Railroad Commission cannot as a practical matter increase the sales price of gas nor increase the amount of production from the Nabers' wells, according to Ms. Nabers. The commission does have regulatory authority over well spacing, drilling permits, plugging and production.

"We have looked at this every way you can look at it, and we can find no way that any action I might ever take would impact that," Ms. Nabers said.

But Republicans - fresh from an election year in which Democrats questioned Williamson about his in-laws' oil and gas holdings - did not agree.

"I expect that we will raise some serious questions about this appointment," Ms. Hughes said. "Mr. Williamson's oil interest were not even owned by him, but Ms. Nabers not only owns a gas field, her husband has lobbied for trucking companies."

Ms. Nabers' husband, who has lobbied for an Abilene trucking company, said he will not lobby for any companies with interests before the commission.

"None of his clients in the past eight years have gotten preferential treatment from me, and they've all had cases that come to the Employment Commission," Ms. Nabers said. "I will not jeopardize my position nor the interests of the state of Texas - ever."

As a member of the Railroad Commission, Ms. Nabers will also sit on the Texas High-Speed Rail Authority.

However, Richards said Ms. Nabers would not take part in any High-Speed Rail Authority decisions involving her husband's law firm, Austin-based Brown, McCarroll and Oaks Hartline, which represents the company that was awarded the bullet-train franchise.

Republican Carole Keeton Rylander, a former Austin mayor and current member of the National Petroleum Council, said she would "watch and carefully monitor the actions" of Ms. Nabers.

Senate confirmation is required for the appointments of Ms. Nabers and Cavazos. His appointment to the Employment Commission is for a term ending Feb. 1, 1997.

Vegetable conference scheduled

The annual West Texas Vegetable Conference will be held in Hereford Tuesday, starting at 8:30 a.m. in the Hereford Community Center. "Making Healthy Vegetables" is the conference theme. The High Plains Vegetable Growers and Shippers Council is cooperating with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and other sponsors of the conference to develop profitable markets for safe, nutritious vegetables.

Police have quiet day

The Hereford Police Department reported only five offenses and three traffic citations this morning. A 38-year-old man was arrested on warrants for speeding, no seat belt and violating promise to appear. Offenses included theft of a bicycle in the 300 block of Bradley, domestic violence assault in the 200 block of Fuller, students fighting at Hereford Junior High, theft of a license plate in the 400 block of West Park Avenue, and a lost $60 money order.

Weather

Temperatures reached a high of 55 in Hereford Thursday and the low this morning was 21, according to KPAN Radio. Forecast calls for fair tonight with a low in the mid 20s. West wind 5 to 10 mph. Saturday, partly cloudy. High in the lower 50s. Northwest wind 10 to 15 mph.

News digest

UNDATED - Iraq has vowed to take revenge for allied air raids but also announced willingness to let weapons inspectors fly to Baghdad aboard U.N. planes and to stop arms-gathering forays in the Kuwaiti border zone. U.S. military officials said allied warplanes would attack again if necessary.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. - In the heat of the presidential campaign, it often seemed as if Bill Clinton had a promise for everybody. But now the man dubbed "pander bear" by one primary rival is retreating from some campaign pledges and finding out that others will be difficult to keep because of budget constraints.

WASHINGTON - Jimmy Carter was the last Democratic president, but he is not Bill Clinton's role model. "Carter came in and felt he had to reinvent the world," a top Clinton aide said the other day. The aide then reached for a word hardly heard during the campaign: continuity.

WASHINGTON - An immigration attorney told Attorney General-designate Zoe Baird and her husband that hiring illegal aliens to take care of their son could make them liable to civil penalties, but it was unlikely they would be fined, a letter from the lawyer shows.

GENEVA - The horrifying possibilities of chemical warfare have hung like an evil cloud over attempt after attempt to have it banned worldwide. Negotiators who produced a new treaty signed by the United States and dozens of other nations believe they have found the key - swift inspections to make sure no one makes or stockpiles such weapons.

NEW YORK - Sure, flinging toast, berating guests and crushing a Mr. Coffee in a machine press works at 12:30 a.m. But will it go over with the 9-to-5 set?

NBC's David Letterman is jumping to CBS to go head-to-head with Jay Leno, giving late-night viewers yet another choice at 11:30 p.m.

BAY SHORE, N.Y. - The man accused of abducting a 10-year-old and holding her in a soundproof, underground bunker likened to King Tut's tomb is a building contractor who the FBI said did his work very well indeed.

FORT HOOD - Staff Sgt. John Crosby didn't have to tell his 2-year-old son, Marcellus, that he was leaving again. All he had to do was get dressed. The sight of Crosby's now-familiar desert camouflage uniform meant another trip to the Middle East - the third in two years - for the 40-year-old. He is one of 1,000 1st Cavalry Division troops being deployed to Kuwait in the wake of U.S. and allied air strikes against Iraq.

JACKSONVILLE - Voters will decide Saturday whether to pinch the purse so town leaders can pitch the place.

WASHINGTON - Arkansas may be in the spotlight next week as its favorite son becomes the nation's 42nd president, but that doesn't mean the inaugural festivities won't have a Texas flair.

WACO - Nancy Wiser thought that she was over the hump when jurors convicted the man behind a bizarre murder scheme that killed her daughter and two other Waco teen-agers.

AMARILLO - An eerie parallel is playing out in a nondescript courtroom on Potter County Courthouse's fourth floor. A Tarrant County man, charged with capital murder, faces trial after a shooting barrage left two dead. In 1977, that was millionaire Cullen Davis. In 1993, it's attorney George Lott.

AUSTIN - Texas Republicans, voicing outrage over Gov. Ann Richards' appointment of Mary Scott Nabers to the state Railroad Commission, say Ms. Nabers' gas holdings make her a poor choice for the position.

ATHENS, Texas - Laura Minter, a 30-year-old mother who tried to support herself and her three children with her salary as a school cleaning lady, has become the latest Texas Lotto millionaire.

SAN ANTONIO - A City Councilwoman has called for a review of security at City Hall after armed gang members chased four youths into City Hall and one sought safety in a room where the woman was presiding over a meeting.

SAN ANTONIO - A lawsuit has been filed challenging the constitutionality of the city's youth curfew ordinance.

AUSTIN - Eighty-one percent of Texas' high school seniors have passed the state's mandatory high school graduation test, the Texas Education Agency reports.

AUSTIN - Consumer advocates want a cut in the benchmark rate for automobile insurance, while insurance industry officials have asked for double-digit increases.

Rural telephone co-op to nominate candidates for board positions

A nominating committee will select candidates for the board of directors of West Texas Rural Telephone Cooperative, Inc., when it meets Jan. 23 at 10 a.m. in the WRT offices on S. Hwy. 385 in Hereford.

The terms of directors Billy Mayfield of the Oklahoma Lane exchange in Parmer County, J.B. Noland of the Summerfield exchange and Pat Robbins of the Frio exchange, both in Castro County, are expiring.

In accordance with the bylaws of the cooperative, the nominating committee will propose two nominees for each of the three director positions. Incumbent board members are eligible for reelection. WRT members will be notified by letter in March concerning the nominees for the director positions.

Directors will be elected during the 39th annual membership meeting of WRT on March 25 at the Bull Barn.

Members of the nominating committee and their exchanges include: Marion Carson (Tharp), Danny Allen (Parmer), Bill Nichols (Hub), and Jerry Davis (Oklahoma Lane), all from Parmer County; J.R. Euler (Summerfield) and Dee Taylor (Frio) from Castro County; and Edward Rohrbach (Milo Center), George Turrentine (Westway), and Pat Smith (Dawn), all from Deaf Smith County.

No matter what price index says, household budgets are strained

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) - If you have the feeling that your household budget is more strained than it was a year or so ago, you may have lots of company, no matter what the Consumer Price Index says.

That index seems to have settled in at about a 3 percent annual range, not perfect but a mere fraction of the double digit rates that households adjusted to in the 1970s.

Why, then, are some families feeling more stress than a year ago?

Because of lots of little things that add up, such as rising taxes and the price of a cup of coffee, and little things that don't add up, such as the failure to obtain a pay raise and the shrinking yield on savings.

Nothing big, just a lot of little things: The tax rate on your real estate, a tiny increase in sales taxes, bigger deductibles on your health insurance, a bridge toll where there wasn't one, a costlier candy bar.

Most taxes don't show up in the Consumer Price Index because that's not what the CPI is supposed to measure. Consider this: The Social Security tax base rises this year by $2,100. At a tax rate of 7.5 percent, that's $157.50.

Insignificant as it might seem, coin-operated machine inflation adds up because of the great volume. A commercial washing machine fee may go from five quarters to six. A parking meter that once took one quarter now takes two.

While fast-food hamburger prices might drop to 99 cents from $1.10, coffee or a soft drink sneaks up.

Your local delicatessen, equally stressed by the times, might now charge you extra for the lettuce or tomato that once came automatically with your tuna salad sandwich. The pickle and chips might add to the price.

Not all stress is coming from higher prices. Equally stressful is the habit of expecting to do better than a year ago and then realizing the raises you used to get aren't coming any more. Personal incomes have barely risen.

For many people, especially the elderly, a substantial amount of income came from yields on certificates of deposit, which now are a small fraction of what they were five years ago. Back then, many elderly couples based their living standards on a return of 8 percent. That's hard to get these days.

Meanwhile, many families have been forced to spend large amounts of money on projects they had hoped to postpone, such as fixing that little leak in the roof or trading in the old car for a new one.

Already stressed, many families have had to face that decision. The average age of cars on the road is high, about 7.9 years, indicating that many thousands of families are still are facing it.

Once again, that "little" price increase comes into play. The price of a new car might have risen only 2 percent, but 2 percent can mean $200 or $300. Lower financing costs offset that, but don't offset the big expenditure itself.

What these little things add up to are some conclusions difficult to repudiate:

- The CPI, valuable for economic analysis, cannot easily be applied to specific household budgets. Each household has its own; some of the items in your budget aren't even listed in the CPI.

- Financial stress is not always the result of rising prices. Expenditures that can't be postponed can be more destructive. So can anticipated increases in income that never happen.

Another city to vote on tax for economic goals

JACKSONVILLE, Texas (AP) - Voters will decide Saturday whether to pinch the purse so town leaders can pitch the place.

This town of 12,000 is the latest to consider a 1/2-cent sales tax that would be devoted to economic development.

Seventy-five Texas towns have such levies, raising tens of millions of dollars and the level of competition for luring business.

"It's getting very, very competitive to attract new industry," Baylor economist Ray Perryman said. "Sometimes it comes down to being able to provide a bigger sewer line, a bigger water line, a piece of infrastructure that will meet the needs of a specific industry."

Residents in cities from Arlington to Wellington have decided the best way to do that is by raising the local sales tax.

Big lotto winner is 39-year-old cleaning lady with 3 children

ATHENS, Texas (AP) - Laura Minter, a 39-year-old mother who tried to support herself and her three children with her salary as a school cleaning lady, has become the latest Texas Lotto millionaire.

"It's a blessing from the Lord," she told the Athens Review on Thursday after having won the $7 million first prize by picking all six numbers drawn Wednesday night. The jackpot had grown because no winning ticket was sold the previous two drawings.

Ms. Minter sat down in front of her television set in her rundown five-room frame house in northeast Athens Wednesday night when the numbers were being picked.

"I got the first three numbers, so I figured I was going to win three dollars. Then I got the fourth number and said, 'Oh my Lord, I'm going to win all this money.'"

She's been on an emotional rollercoaster and hasn't slept since she learned she was going from poverty to riches, she said.

"I've been shouting and praising the Lord. I've been glad and sad," she told the Athens Review.

Athens is a town of 9,000 about 60 miles southeast of Dallas.

Texas lottery officials said earlier Thursday that one ticket matched the six numbers drawn: 45-41-26-13-21-5. But lottery spokeswoman Shannon McCann said the ticket was sold in Central Texas.

She said no one had claimed the $7 million prize.

Lottery officials said 183 tickets were sold that matched five out of the six numbers drawn. Each of those winners gets $900. About 9,300 tickets matched four of six numbers. Those ticket holders will receive $64 apiece.

Total lotto sales, since the game began in November, have topped $120 million, officials said.

Ms. Minter said she bought her winning million ticket at Kidd Jones Chevron Station in Athens, which stands to receive 1 percent of $7 million, or $70,000, for selling it. Station officials said Thursday night they had not been notified by the state.

Ms. Minter will receive the money in installments over 20 years.

She said she plans to use the money to buy a four-bedroom brick house and to buy a new Buick automobile.

However, she said she would report again today to her job as a cleaning lady at Athens High School.

"I don't want to sit around the house, and it's too cold to go fishing. Besides, I'm used to working," she said.

Her supervisor at the high school said when Ms. Minter left work at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, about 90 minutes before the drawing, she had only $4 in her purse. She said she was going to put $3 worth of gas in her tank and spend her last dollar on a lotto ticket.

Instead, she told the Athens newspaper, she bought three $1 Lotto tickets with different combinations.

Thursday morning, she was back at school. She clocked in at 11:46 a.m., removed her mop and broom from the closet and went to work as usual, co-workers said. But something was different about her. She was excited about something and wanted to talk.

"She said she thought she'd won the lottery," high school principal Tom Whitman said.

"You did what?" superintendent Wayne Martin said Ms. Minter was asked.

"Where's the ticket?" school officials asked.

Ms. Minter told them the ticket was in a safe place away from school, because she didn't want to risk losing it. It was in her family Bible.

Assistant principal Tony Harrison gave the woman immediate permission to take the rest of the day off, and she clocked out and headed to Tyler to have the ticket confirmed.

No one could be more deserving to win the lottery, Martin told the Tyler Morning Telegraph.

"She is a good person and a very hard worker," he said.

Whitman said she is dedicated, to say the least: "I can't believe she came to work today."

Letterman accepts CBS offer to go against 'Tonight Show'

NEW YORK (AP) - Sure, flinging toast, mocking guests and crushing a Mr. Coffee in a machine press works at 12:30 a.m. But will it go over with the 9-to-5 set?

David Letterman thinks so, and CBS is betting megabucks - a reported 14 to 16 million of them a year - on the idea. After months of negotiations, the "Late Night" comic has accepted a CBS offer to leave NBC and go into head-to-head competition against NBC's "Tonight" host Jay Leno at 11:30 p.m.

At a news conference Thursday with his new bosses, Letterman sidestepped questions about money, wisecracking: "I got enough for gum."

His last "Late Night" will be June 25. Then in August, he enters the ring an hour earlier to face plenty of new rivals, including the syndicated "Arsenio Hall Show" and a new Fox show with comedian Chevy Chase.

The real showdown will be with his old friend Leno on "Tonight," the show Letterman currently follows on NBC and wanted for himself.

The matchup between the gap-toothed wisenheimer and the lantern-jawed hunk is shaping up as TV's first real rivalry of late-night network talk shows.

For a few weeks in 1969, the three major networks each broadcast a talk show at 11:30: NBC's Johnny Carson faced Joey Bishop on ABC and Merv Griffin on CBS. But four months later Bishop, never a contender, walked off his show. Two years after that, Griffin's show was canceled because of low ratings.

Carson rolled on for two more decades and retired undefeated.

"I think our goal is to be competitive," Letterman said. "I know that it's going to be difficult."

At an NBC briefing in Santa Monica, Calif., Leno said: "I am looking forward to the competition. It will be great fun. This is what makes you better."

Letterman bandleader Paul Shaffer, as well as the show's executive producers and writing staff, will follow the host to CBS.

But Warren Littlefield, NBC's entertainment chief, said NBC owns the name "Late Night With David Letterman," meaning Letterman will have to come up with a new title. (He said he was considering "The Joey Buttafuoco Show.")

Littlefield said the 12:30 a.m. slot held by "Late Night" for the past 11 years would be filled with a comedy show to be produced by "Saturday Night Live" creator Lorne Michaels, and "SNL" comic Dana Carvey may star.

"Financial considerations have never been a prime motivating force for me," Letterman, who is reported to make $7 million annually at NBC, said at the CBS news conference, during which he also thanked his new employers for their "patience, support, and" - he grinned - "generosity."

"This is the first time my job is more secure than Saddam Hussein's," he cracked.

The prayer group will meet at 6:30 p.m. Monday.

The Wednesday meal is served at 5:45 p.m. and all organizations meet at 7 p.m.

The youth group will attend the Al Denson concert in Amarillo Friday, Jan. 22. If you are interested in going, contact the church office or call Becky.

CHRIST'S CHURCH FELLOWSHIP

The church family invites you to come join them for worship and praise at 10:45 a.m. Sunday. Dr. Alton Tomlin's sermon Sunday will be entitled "Total Christian Warfare" taken from Chapter 6 of Nehemiah.

The church school hour begins at 9:30 a.m. The women meet for Bible study each Monday at 7 p.m. and each Wednesday morning at 9:30. The Children's Youth Club meets at 4:30 p.m. each Wednesday and the choir meets each Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. The youth also meets at 6:30 p.m. each Sunday.

Prayer hours are at 7 a.m. Tuesday, 7 p.m. Wednesday and noon each Thursday.

The church's faith guideposts to teach, direct and mold members of the congregation into a people of faith, love and purpose are: exalting Christ, John 12:32; fullness of the Holy Spirit, Acts 1:8; harmonious relationships, John 13:35; healthy teaching, John 6:63; a love for the lost, Luke 19:10; praise and worship, Psalm 96:2-3; and a passion for personal holiness, EE Cor. 3:18.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

This Sunday, Pastor Ted Taylor's message will be entitled "A Sensitive Heart" which is the first in a series of four messages which examines the story of Nehemiah. Pastor Taylor said, "God is stretching us to new heights. He has a good work, a ministry for each of us. Let's discover this together beginning this Sunday."

A time of praise and worship has been scheduled at 9 a.m. Sunday in the sanctuary. The public is invited.

A new Sunday school class will begin at 9:30 a.m. Sunday in the sanctuary. Virgil Slentz and Ted Taylor will teach "practical Christian living."

The Nazarene Christian Academy will hold a basketball tournament at 8 a.m. Jan. 16 in the gym.

The Nazarene Kids' Korner board meeting is planned at 7 p.m. Jan. 19 in the fellowship hall.

All Wednesday night services are held at 7.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Dr. James W. Cory's sermon for the regular 10:30 a.m. Sunday worship service is titled "From Center Stage to Backstage." The scripture is John 1:29-34.

Sunday school for all ages begins at 9:30 a.m. A nursery is provided. Fellowship is held in the large fellowship hall between Sunday services, 10:10-10:30 a.m.

The senior high youth group meets at the church Sunday from 6-7:30 p.m. The junior high group will meet at the Malamens' home, 203 E. 15th St., from 6-7:30 p.m.

The Women's Bible Study will meet at 9:30 a.m. Monday. The study is in Romans and is led by Helen Rose.

The men's fellowship breakfast will be held from 6:45-7:45 a.m. Tuesday, Jan. 19. The guest speaker will be Sid Ham who will give a humorous look at "Wills and Other Necessary Evils."

Acolyte training will be held from 4:30-5 p.m. Wednesday.

All youth going on the ski trip must be at the church Saturday, Jan. 15, at 10:30 a.m. to be fitted for skis. A representative from World Cup Ski will be here to take your measurements. All ski deposits must be paid by Sunday, Jan. 17.

There will be a junior high dance in the large fellowship hall from 9-11 p.m. Friday, Jan. 22.

SAN JOSE CATHOLIC CHURCH

K-6 religious education classes will be held from 10 a.m. until noon Saturday at the mission school building. Children in K-4, K-5 and first grade will be holding a cookie and cupcake sale to help raise money for the new education building.

Father Darryl will hold a formation session for all high school seniors at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the meeting room. This process will enable each senior to discern their spiritual gifts through an adult sponsor and service projects.

Those wishing to celebrate Quinceaneras or weddings in the parish during the next nine months should contact Father Darryl or Deacon Jessie Guerrero as soon as possible because the Saturday afternoons during spring and summer are filling fast.

This weekend on the Second Sunday of Ordinary Time, Father Darryl's homily will focus on the theme, "The People of God, An Amen People."

Huge rally sends off Cowboys

IRVING, Texas (AP) - A raucous crowd estimated at 70,000 filled Texas Stadium for the biggest pep rally in the state's history, giving their Dallas Cowboys a noisy, rollicking sendoff for their NFC Championship game against the San Francisco 49ers.

"We have more fans for this pep rally than most teams have for their football games," all-pro wide receiver Michael Irvin told the throng, thousands of whom began arriving hours before the scheduled 7 o'clock start of the rally Thursday night.

"Guys, I'll tell you what. Bill Clinton thought he had a welcoming party when he won the presidential election. I can imagine what it'll be like when we win the Super Bowl," added Emmitt Smith, who won the NFL rushing title for the second year in a row.

Brad Sham, the radio "voice of the Cowboys," started off the 75-minute spectacle in the 65,000-seat Texas Stadium by informing the crowd that the rally had drawn more than 35,000 people, the biggest such rally in club history.

Later, Sham revised the estimate to more than 60,000, and by the time it was over, team owner Jerry Jones estimated the crowd at more than 70,000 even though 5,000 seats of the 65,000 capacity seat in Texas Stadium were blocked off for a short fireworks display near the end of the rally.

"We had thousands of fans outside unable to get inside," Jones said.

"We just had no idea that this many people would show up. We certainly anticipated a lot, but this was outstanding. The NFL and certainly the Cowboys really do want this kind of spirit. This is what sports and football should be about."

Players obviously reveled in the adulation.

"There's no greater therapy. They've finished their hard work, and this is a kind of respite for them. It's like a college fever atmosphere, and I can remember how spirit like this helped us when I was a player at Arkansas," Jones said.

"It's what sports and what football ought to be about. The NFL and certainly the Cowboys really do want that kind of spirit. It should help our players as they head to San Francisco," the owner added.

The fans cheered widely as Cowboys, present and past, were hailed in a spectacle that lasted 75 minutes officially, but more than three hours in reality.

Cowboys head coach Jimmy Johnson told the Texas Stadium crowd that his players, in putting together a 13-3 record for the Eastern Division title and then beating the Philadelphia Eagles in a playoff game, "worked very hard but their work is not done."

"I'll ask you the same question I asked them. 'Are you satisfied?'"

The crowd thundered, "No!"

"Let me ask that again, 'Are you satisfied?'"

"No!" The crowd responded again still louder.

Highlights of the 1992 season were shown on two giant Diamond Vision screens, whipping the crowd to a frenzy. Then, about 30 of the players were introduced as they ran through a column formed by Dallas Cowboys Cheerleaders to a stage set up at the sideline in the center of the field.

Smith and defensive back Kenny

Gant, two players known for their celebratory movements after key plays, put on a show for fans with exaggerated gyrations on the 50-yard-line stage as they stood with other Cowboys.

Earlier in the rally, five former great Cowboys took the stage and also got ovations. They were quarterback Roger Staubach, running backs Tony Dorsett and Robert Newhouse, tight end Billy Joe Dupree and wide receiver "Bullet" Bob Hayes.

Highlights of those years also were shown on the giant screens, drawing loud ovations from fans who remembered the team that brought the "America's Team" label to the Cowboys.

Dorsett, the Cowboys' all-time leading rusher, said it was great to see fan support solidly behind the team again.

"Dallas was on top for so long and had a little dry spell. Now it's back. It creates a lot of excitement, and rightfully so. This rally just shows how the fans of Dallas have taken to their new team, their new heroes," Dorsett said.

West Texas St. rejoins LSC

DALLAS (AP) - West Texas State University has been readmitted to the Lone Star Conference effective Sept. 1, conference officials announced Thursday.

West Texas State in Canyon, Texas, will compete for Lone Star Conference championships in all sports except football beginning with the 1993-94 school year. The Buffaloes will begin LSC football competition by at least the 1996 season.

The league is a member of NCAA Division II.

Pokes hope Haley haunts old team

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - In the transient world of the NFL, players change teams all the time and end up playing big games against old teammates.

But there's never quite been anything like the brouhaha that surrounds Charles Haley of Dallas, who in Sunday's NFC title game will be playing against the San Francisco 49ers for the first time since they traded him to the Cowboys last Aug. 26.

The collective word from the 49ers: "Good riddance."

The general word from the Cowboys: "Thanks."

Bad field may do in Cowboys

By DAVE GOLDBERG
AP Football Writer

Dallas (minus 4) at San Francisco
The two best teams in the league all season come together when and where they are supposed to.

"The natural process has run its course and now we're here," says George Seifert. "The two best teams."

But not the best field. The feeling all year has been that Dallas might be a year away, a young team that would probably succumb to the 49ers' experience. But the Cowboys have progressed so far so quickly that the experience factor may not be as important - in their last playoff meeting 11 years ago, it was the inexperienced 49ers who beat the experienced Cowboys.

But the quagmire at Candlestick may do them in.

The Cowboys are built for speed - on offense and defense. While Emmitt Smith is a good enough runner to excel on both grass and that fake stuff, it's a question of how well he and Michael Irvin can cut in the sloop on which the game will almost surely be played.

The same goes for the defense, one of the NFL's smallest and certainly its quickest, particularly up front. Mud negates speed.

If all that means the Niners are sure to win, that's no sure thing, either. Steve Young had his best day scrambling last Saturday but he also fumbled three times, at least twice due to the mud.

So maybe go back to the experience factor - experience in the mud. 49ERS, 24-21

Buffalo (minus 2) at Miami
This is the third meeting of the year for these two. But it appears Frank Reich's third straight start is on hold because Jim Kelly is ready to start.

Reich had been near perfect for the last six quarters and looked like this year's Jeff Hostetler, the backup who carries his team through to the Super Bowl after the starter goes on. Kelly, on the other hand, hadn't been having a great year when he was hurt.

Dan Marino's been having a mysterious year.

Until Sunday, the Dolphins had gone 10 games without scoring more than two touchdowns. Then they picked off three passes in the second quarter and Marino got them in the end zone three times.

Throw out the first game, Miami's 37-10 win in Buffalo. Don Shula

Haley, a three-time Pro Bowler and one of the NFL's best pass rushers over the last half-dozen years, left the 49ers after a series of incidents that alienated many of his teammates as well as coach George Seifert and the team's front office.

The most publicized incident came in 1991, when Haley got so upset with the offense after a loss to the Raiders in Los Angeles that ex-49er Ronnie Lott, who had left for the Raiders prior to the season, had to be brought into the San Francisco locker room to calm him.

Then came a variety of incidents - from throwing toilet paper in a defensive line meeting to reportedly urinating on teammate Tim Harris' car and then getting into a fist fight with Harris, with whom he was sharing playing time.

That finally convinced Seifert to trade him to Dallas. The return: a second-round draft pick this year and a third-rounder next year.

Haley became an immediate factor in Dallas, helping the defense upgrade from 17th in the NFL last season to No. 1 this year. While he registered only four sacks in the regular season (Harris led San Francisco with 17), he had a team-high 42 hurries on the quarterback and the team's sack output increased from 25 to 44, in part because double-teaming on Haley left other players free.

"He's really done a good job for us," says coach Jimmy Johnson.

"I heard all the stories prior to making the trade and it did give us some concern. But the thing I did hear was that he was a very hard worker on the field and he was a tremendous competitor. He has come in and really fit in well with our players."

Haley has talked little this week, giving only one in-depth interview - to the New York Times. In it, he claimed he never had a problem when

Malone, Jazz shoot down high-flying Sonics

By The Associated Press
The Utah Jazz, embarrassed by their 1-4 start at the Delta Center after they went 37-4 there last season, have rediscovered their homecourt dominance.

They proved it with a 96-89 victory Thursday night over one of the hottest teams in the NBA, the Seattle SuperSonics, fresh off a win against the Phoenix Suns two nights earlier.

Utah got its best performance of the season from Olympian Karl Malone, who had a season-high 38 points on 12-for-18 shooting and 12 rebounds. Malone scored 27 points in the second half, five of them to start a game-ending 7-0 run in the final minute, giving the Jazz their 11th consecutive home victory.

"Too much Karl Malone," Seattle's Eddie Johnson said.

"It's one of those things where you get whatever position you can get and hope that good things happen," Malone said. "It came down to me taking whatever they would give me."

Malone also pitched in on defense, helping limit Seattle's Shawn Kemp, Derrick McKey and Michael Cage to a combined 13-of-32 shooting.

Elsewhere in the NBA, it was Atlanta 108, Detroit 91; San Antonio 108, Milwaukee 93; Houston 114, Charlotte 102; the Los Angeles Clippers 105, the Los Angeles Lakers 102; Phoenix 114, Sacramento 104; and Portland 104, Miami 93 in overtime.

With the Sonics-Jazz game tied at 89, Malone's jumper with a minute remaining and tip-in with 16 seconds left gave the Jazz a 93-89 lead. On the Sonics' next possession, Malone stole the ball from McKey and hit a free throw with 9.3 seconds to go.

John Stockton's layup with 1.4 seconds on the clock accounted for the final margin as Seattle did not get off a shot and turned the ball over four times in the last 1:35.

"Karl came up big down the stretch and he took control of the game," said Stockton, who had 15 points and 14 assists for the Jazz.

Kemp had 15 points and 11 rebounds for Seattle.

Rockets 114, Hornets 102

Vernon Maxwell scored 12 points and rookie Robert Horry 10 as Houston opened a 17-point lead in the first quarter and held on to win at home against Charlotte.

Horry finished with a career-high 26 points, Maxwell had 25 points and 11 assists and Hakeem Olajuwon 14 points and 19 rebounds for the Rockets.

Spurs 108, Bucks 93

Dale Ellis scored 14 of his 26 points in the fourth quarter and San Antonio won at Milwaukee for its fifth straight victory and the Bucks' fifth consecutive defeat.

David Robinson had 21 points with 16 rebounds and Avery Johnson had 18 points and 16 assists for the Spurs, now 10-2 under John Lucas, who replaced Jerry Tarkanian as head coach on Dec. 18. The five-game winning streak corresponds with Johnson's arrival in the starting lineup.

Suns 114, Kings 104

Phoenix outscored Sacramento 33-10 in the third quarter and went on to improve its road record to 12-5 behind 23 points each from Dan Majerle and Richard Dumas.

Trailing 66-53 following Wayman Tisdale's three-point play early in the third quarter, the Suns scored the next 19 points in a 4-minute span.

Trail Blazers 104, Heat 93 OT

Portland handed visiting Miami its second overtime loss in as many games as Terry Porter scored 32 points and hit five 3-pointers.

Buck Williams' hook broke a 91-91 tie and started a 13-2 run in the final two minutes of overtime for the Blazers.

Clippers 105, Lakers 102

Danny Manning, who asked to be traded recently before changing his mind, scored 19 points for the Clippers, who lost five of their six previous games.

The game was tied before Stanley Roberts put the Clippers ahead 102-98 with two jumpers. After Sedale Threatt's 20-footer for the visiting Lakers, Ron Harper gave the Clippers another four-point lead with 17 seconds left.

James Worthy's turnaround jumper with 15 seconds remaining pulled the Lakers to 104-102 before Mark Jackson made one free throw and missed one with 9.0 seconds left. The Lakers' Vlade Divac missed twice from 3-point range in the waning seconds.

Hawks 108, Pistons 91

Dominique Wilkins scored 26 points and Atlanta took advantage of Dennis Rodman's injury to beat Detroit.

The Pistons led by as many as 12 points before Rodman, the NBA's leading rebounder, strained his right calf with 4:12 left in the second quarter. Rodman had 11 rebounds and six points before leaving.

Oral Roberts needed divine intervention vs. KU, Vandy

By The Associated Press

The men's and women's basketball teams at Oral Roberts faced the same situation. Overmatched on the road by top opponents, they almost got the same result.

The Titans lost by 68 points to No. 4 Kansas, 140-72, Thursday night. The Lady Titans lost by 66 to No. 1 Vanderbilt, 124-58, earlier in the evening.

Kansas rolled to its second-highest total ever, and its second-biggest winning margin. The Jayhawks have won 1,499 games in their 95-year history.

"They're just too strong and physical. They have too many players. There is nothing we can do. I'm not unhappy about anything," Oral Roberts coach Ken Trickey said.

The Titans (3-10) lost their fifth straight game and are 0-9 on the road. They are playing a tough schedule that includes only 10 home games as they prepare to move from NIAA status back to NCAA Division I.

Meanwhile, the Lady Titans (1-13) saw Vanderbilt set a school record for points. Oral Roberts scored the first basket of the game, and never again led.

In other men's games, No. 10 Oklahoma beat Nebraska 102-89, No. 12 Arizona defeated Washington 93-76, No. 15 UCLA topped Oregon 99-87, No. 18 UNLV beat Pacific 88-71 and No. 25 Utah downed Air Force 61-47.

Only on Dec. 9, 1989, when Kansas trounced Kentucky 150-95, had the Jayhawks scored more than they did against Oral Roberts. The point spread was two points short of their school record, a 70-point thrashing of Brown on Jan. 3, 1989.

Kansas coach Roy Williams substituted early and often, and the lead got bigger and bigger. A run of 21 straight points made it 48-9, and it became 70-20 later in the first half.

Kansas (13-1) won its 14th straight home game. Patrick Richey scored 23 points to lead three Kansas reserves with career highs.

No. 10 Oklahoma 102, Nebraska 89

Terry Evans scored 29 points and sparked big runs in each half that led Oklahoma over Nebraska.

Oklahoma coach Billy Tubbs tried a new strategy for him, replacing all five of his starters at once early in the game. The move did not work as Nebraska outscored the Sooners 16-2.

But after falling behind by 12 points, Oklahoma went on a 21-4 spurt as Evans scored nine points. Evans led a 12-0 burst in the second half.

Oklahoma (12-3, 1-1 Big Eight) avoided losing its second straight home game. Jamar Johnson scored 20 for Nebraska (11-4, 0-1).

No. 12 Arizona 93, Washington 76

Ed Stokes had 18 points and 12 rebounds and Arizona beat Washington for the ninth straight time at home.

- All 172 pages in full color
- Each page measures a large 15 x 11 inches
- Presents the entire state in stunning detail
- Appendices and specialty maps of many different features

THE ROADS OF TEXAS is the culmination of a mammoth project that has involved many individuals for over two years. When you get your copy of THE ROADS OF TEXAS you'll wonder how you ever traveled the state without it.

This 172 page atlas contains maps that show the complete Texas road system (all 284,000 miles) plus just about every city and community! Texas A&M University Cartographics Laboratory staff members produced the maps, based on county maps from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. The details shown are amazing—county and local roads, lakes, reservoirs, streams, dams, historic sites, pumping stations, golf courses, cemeteries, mines and many other features too numerous to list.

What they're saying about "The Roads of Texas"

Southwest Outdoors

Saving money (for important items like new lures) and working with kids can make a great project on a cold winter's day. Add some hot chocolate and several good fishing stories and watch an afternoon turn into a treasured memory for old and young alike.

Most experienced anglers know that using marker buoys to identify lake structure or locate active fish can really improve your fishing, but marker buoys can retail for $5 each. Gather up the kids, the grandkids or some neighborhood munchkins and make some homemade marker buoys that will save about four dollars and can make great gifts.

Assemble the following items: an old cheap styrofoam ice chest (even new, they only cost a couple of dollars), some old tire weights from a full service gas station, and some 50-pound nylon fishing line or nylon twine from the surplus store.

Using your buddy's file knife or a safety razorblade, cut the ice box into 4x6-inch rectangles. Insert some small tire-balancing weights so one side of the rectangle will ride low in the water (This keeps the wave action from unwinding your buoy). The length of line to be tied to the buoy is determined by the depth of structure in your favorite lake. I have found that about 50 feet of line covers most fishing conditions. Tie on a large tire weight, and the job is complete except for an optional paint job. Give the kids some waterproof felt pens and watch them apply some original art work.

Mexico fishing results--I am pleased to report that my new Team Daiwa TD-1 reels performed better than expected. These high speed (6.3) reels have the power to horse big bass out of any cover. For my money, no other baitcasting reel comes close to the TD-1, the new standard against which other reels must now compete.

Special thanks to Dick Apple of Dick's Pro Style Lures (1-800-262-6634) for my personalized graphite rod featuring the outstanding G-Loomis IM6 blank and Dick's unique hand-tied Thunderbird custom wrap. This four-powered, six foot rod combines both a super sensitive tip with enough backbone to get the undivided attention of any lunker bass.

Outdoor World '93--The largest sportsman expo between Dallas and Denver will be held February 12-14 at the Amarillo Civic Center. The best RV's, the newest boats, the finest outdoor products and the most interesting fishing and hunting seminars are just a taste of the fun that awaits you on Valentine's weekend.

HALEY

Bill Walsh coached the 49ers, only when Seifert took over in 1989. "So finally, I'm projected as a lunatic, a crazy, raging animal and I'm traded," he said of his reputation with the 49ers. "I guess it will never change as long as we live in a society where negativism is a plus. You're popular in this league if you're a good old boy and don't speak up about what's wrong, about racism or anything else..."

By all accounts, he's fired up this week about facing the 49ers. And the Niners are realistically assuming that he'll be at his best.

"Any guy that goes to another team really wants to come back and play well against the team he came from," says Pro Bowl tackle Steve Wallace, who will have the primary job of blocking him. "If he's human for this game, then we're going to have a decent shot at stopping him. You never know. The guy may show up and play unreal."

Asked if Wallace was quick enough to handle him, Haley smiled and replied: "We'll see."

Haley is not universally popular in Dallas either - some players resent the credit he's received for the turnaround in the defense. But Johnson says he's fit in well in the locker room.

What about the 49ers? When Seifert was asked about the trade this week, he replied, "It's one of those good trades that's helped both teams."

How, he was asked, has it helped the 49ers since they have yet to get a player in return? "It's improved team chemistry," he said.

The second game may be more telling - 26-20 Buffalo at Joe Robbie Stadium. The third game? Marino will have to have a big game to match Buffalo's offensive tools. The Bills may be better in adversity than prosperity, so... BILLS, 26-20.

CHURCH

CHRISTIAN ASSEMBLY CHURCH

Pastor Don Cherry and the church congregation extend a special invitation to the public to attend all services at the interdenominational church.

Sunday worship services are held at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. and the Wednesday services and youth services meet at 7 p.m. each Wednesday.

A nursery is available. For additional information, please call 364-5874.

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

First United Methodist members will recognize the Week of Prayer for Christian Unity Jan. 18-25. All members are urged to observe this special week by praying for the ministry of Jesus Christ through all churches. On Jan. 24 at St. Anthony's Catholic Church, there will be a special community worship service.

King's Manor will be sponsoring a garage sale on the Manor grounds Jan. 19. Bea Noland is in charge of the sale and funds made from the sale will go toward buying new table cloths for the dining room.

The Youth Council of the church is meeting at 4:30 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 17, in Ward Parlor. All sponsors, youth and interested parents are asked to attend. UMFY members and junior and senior high groups will meet separately with their group in members' homes Sunday.

The public is invited to attend all services. Sunday school for all ages begins at 9:30 a.m. and the Sunday worship services are held at 10:45 a.m. and 6 p.m.

SAN PABLO UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

The public is invited to all services at the church. Sunday school begins at 9:45 a.m. and the Sunday worship services are held at 11 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. The Wednesday prayer service starts at 7 p.m.

San Pablo United Methodist Church will host the drama, "The Rapture," at 6:30 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 17, in the church sanctuary. Performing will be the youth ministry department of the Iglesia Nazarena. All interested persons are invited to attend this English presentation.

The congregation of San Pablo has started their second term in the lay academy worship. At the end of the four weeks, they will receive their diploma for completion of their course.

The board officers will be attending the "Vision 2000" workshop at St. Stephens United Methodist Church Saturday.

TEMPLE BAPTIST CHURCH

Brother H. Wyatt Bartlett and the church congregation extend an invitation to the public to attend all services at the church located on Ave. K. and Forrest Ave.

Sunday school hour and Bible study begins at 9:45 a.m. During this Sunday morning's worship hour at 11, the Lord's Supper will be celebrated.

Meeting each Sunday at 5:45 p.m. are the Royal Ambassadors, Girls in Action and Acteens.

The Sunday evening worship service begins at 7.

The weekly prayer meeting is held each Wednesday at 7 p.m.

The Baptist Men's Day, with the men of the church conducting the service, is scheduled Jan. 24.

WESLEY UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday school for all ages begins at 10 a.m.

Pastor Joe Walker will install officers of the church during the 11 a.m. Sunday worship service. Also, Kce Ruland will lead the children's service.

The Shepherd membership and outreach meeting is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 20.

Jo Ochs' Brownie group meets each Thursday afternoon.

Jan. 24 has been designated as the United Methodist Women's Sunday. Pastor Walker will install the organization's new officers during that day's 11 a.m. worship service.

DAWN BAPTIST CHURCH

The Pastor Lonny Poe and the church congregation invite the public to attend all services.

Bible study begins at 9:50 a.m. and the Sunday worship services are held at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Sunday morning's message is entitled "A Living Sacrifice" and is taken from Romans 12:1-8. During the evening worship hour, the congregation will begin a four-week "January Bible Study" on Jesus' sermon The Mount found in Matthew Chapters 5-7. The church will meet together in the fellowship hall for a meal and then share together in Bible study.

The Wednesday evening Bible study and prayer time will be held in the home of Ronnie and Sharon Johnson at 7 p.m. The monthly men's community breakfast will be held at 7:30 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 23, in the fellowship hall. The men in the community are invited to breakfast and a short devotional.

ST. THOMAS EPISCOPAL CHURCH

"Great Shape for the Shape We're In" is the title of the sermon/report by the Rev. Charles A. Wilson on the Second Sunday after the Epiphany. St. Thomas' annual parish meeting begins with the Holy Eucharist at 11 a.m. The business portion of the meeting will follow in the parish hall with a covered dish luncheon also planned. New vestry members will be elected along with delegates and alternates to the annual Diocesan Convention. The 1992 financial report and the 1993 budget will be presented and received by the congregation.

Christian education for all ages continues each Sunday at 9:30 a.m. with a class for children and youth taught by Jena Rawley-Whitaker and an adult class on the Gospel of Mark led by Father Wilson.

The regular Wednesday Public Service of Healing and Holy Communion resumes this Wednesday at 7 p.m. with the Litany of Healing and laying-on-of-hands and Holy Unction. The Feast of the Confession of St. Peter will be observed this Wednesday.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is in response to the poem about the hunter who felt so remorseful after shooting a bird that he threw his gun in the bay.

I'm sorry he was so deeply affected by his experience, but I'd like to relate a story about a friend of mine who hunts for a different reason.

"Bob" lives in Meadville, Pa., near a farmer who grows soybeans. The goose population has reached such enormous proportions that the birds completely strip the fields on a regular basis. A special season is open just for geese, and Bob hunts during that time to help the farmers keep the numbers down to a manageable level.

Bob is a Vietnam veteran. He has a job in an auto repair shop and because of a leg injury, he doesn't move around as fast as most 42-year-old men. He has a wife and two children, and they live in a modest mobile home near the woods. Bob also hunts during deer season, and whenever he brings home a deer, his family is thankful because the meat feeds them all winter. He also has the deer hide tanned and makes wallets and slippers for his kids as Christmas gifts.

Bob is a conservationist, and he believes safety is No. 1 concern when hunting. No one in his hunting group drinks or litters, and they all have hunting licenses. In my opinion, Bob is a model sportsman and he, like others of his kind, should not be made to feel guilty because they shoot birds.

Ann, I know this letter is long, but I just had to tell you that there is another side to the hunting story. It is the hunters who keep the ecological balance in nature. If you are a fair person, you will print this letter. Respectfully yours—Don in Pennsylvania

DEAR DON: Many readers have written to express a similar point of view, and I thank all of you for writing.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My brother and his wife of 18 years decided to separate. Since I am the only single family member, "Mike" moved in with me. He said it was for "a couple of weeks". Well, it's been 14 months, and I've had it.

My world has been turned upside down, and I no longer feel that I can call my life my own. I do all the cooking and cleaning, and he does absolutely nothing to help. I've had a rent increase, my grocery bills are out of sight, and my utility bills have more than doubled. Meanwhile, Mike pays absolutely nothing.

My brother and I have always been close, and I'm afraid that if I say anything it would jeopardize our relationship. Also, I'm sure the other family members would be upset with me. I don't know how much longer I can maintain my sanity. Can you help me?—Trapped in Texas

DEAR TEXAS: Apparently you need someone to tell you point-blank to throw the bum out. OK, I'll be the one.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Since 1989, when you first asked your readers to send a valentine to a veteran, Veterans Affairs hospitals have received well in excess of 1 million cards each year.

These valentines are shipped to the VA's national system of 171 hospitals and also shared with some state veterans-care facilities and military hospitals.

Last year for the first time, some VA hospitals began including an Ann Landers valentine with each prescription mailed to veterans through VA's prescription mailing program. Thousands of valentines were mailed across the nation this way to veterans who normally are not bed patients in VA facilities. Many of these veterans responded with letters expressing surprise and delight at this "unexpected ingredient" in their medical prescriptions.

In VA hospitals, the valentines are placed on patient food trays, used to decorate patient rooms, waiting areas, recreational facilities and day rooms, and distributed by the many visitors who drop in on patients during National Salute Week.

Cards from youngsters are particularly popular with patients, and hospitalized veterans often respond to the children's questions with letters and photos.

Because of your annual Valentines for Vets column, Hines VA Hospital in Illinois continues to receive letters for hospitalized veterans all year long. Many letters that arrive at Hines are addressed to you, Ann, expressing appreciation for your continued concern for our nation's veterans.

Last year, as in years past, the North Shore Hilton in Skokie, Ill., presented Hines with a 5-foot valentine signed by hundreds of guests, and their pastry chef baked a huge cake for the veterans to enjoy. The VA Medical Center in Tomah, Wis., held another Ann Landers Sweethearts Dance, which was so successful they plan to make it an annual event.

We are getting ready once again to receive thousands of valentines from your readers who have made Valentines for Vets a special event in their lives and the lives of thousands of hospitalized veterans. Thank you for your continued loyalty.—Anthony J. Principi, acting secretary, Department of Veterans Affairs, Washington, D.C.

DEAR ANTHONY PRINCIPI: I've always known that my readers are the most warmhearted, responsive people in the world. When I ask them to do something, they come through like gangbusters.

It's time once again to let our veterans know that they are appreciated. It won't cost much, and it's sure to bring enormous pleasure to our vets, to whom we owe so much.

On any given day, there are approximately 60,000 veterans hospitalized in 171 Department of Veterans Affairs medical centers nationwide. These men and women served in World War I, World War II, Korea, Vietnam and the war in the Persian Gulf. They represent every race, color and creed.

Don't rely on the size of your last pair when buying shoes. Your feet do get larger.

CLASSIFIED ADS
 Classified advertising rates are based on 15 cents a word for first insertion ($3.00 minimum), and 11 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy change, straight word ads.

TIMES	RATE	MIN
1 day per word	15	3.00
2 days per word	25	5.00
3 days per word	37	7.40
4 days per word	48	9.60
5 days per word	59	11.80

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY
 Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid word lines, those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing, all capital letters. Rates are $4.15 per column inch; $3.45 an inch for consecutive additional insertions.

LEGALS
 Ad rates for legal notices are same as for classified display.

ERRORS
 Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

ELIJAH AND THE PRIESTS OF BAAL
WITH THE ISRAELITES GATHERED AROUND HIM, ELIJAH TOLD THE PRIESTS OF BAAL TO PREPARE A SACRIFICE TO THEIR FALSE GODS AND HAVE THEIR GODS STRIKE FIRE ON THE SACRIFICE...

O' BAAL, THY LOVAL SERVANTS ASK OF THEE—LET THERE BE FIRE!

AFTER ALL, BAAL IS A GOD, YE SAY—HE MUST HEAR THEE—CRY LOUDER!

AND NOW, SPURRED ON BY THE BITING WIT AND LAUGHING JESTS OF ELIJAH, THE PRIESTS OF BAAL LEAP UPON THE ALTAR IN A FRENZY OF MOTION, MOUTHING LOUD SUPPLICATIONS, SLASHING THEIR GARMENTS AND BODIES WITH KNIVES, GESTICULATING, PLEADING FOR AN ANSWER FROM THEIR PAGAN DEITY...
