Another Good Sign On Rail Line Shows Up

Receipts of deeds for securing transfers of right-of-way from Hereford to the Castro county line for the Texas & Pacific Northern railroad was announced at the chamber of commerce Monday luncheon by Jno. P. Slaton, president.

Judge Slaton remarked that, while this was the only news concerning the new rail project, he considered the fact that T. & P. officials were actually drawing up deeds as an indication they were confident of a favorable ruling within the near future.

Poultry Outlook Improves.
R. B. Galloway, Amarillo poultry extension representative for a well known brand of feed, brought a good message on the poultry industry. He said that only 50 per cent of the amount of baby chicks were sold this year compared to last, that egg buyers were disinclined to purchase eggs and holding them in cold storage, causing storage stocks to be depleted, and that there were less matured birds in the United States than within recent years.

These conditions point to scarcity of eggs and marketable birds, he said, making prospects rather bright for the future. Hereford has as good flocks as can be found anywhere in the nation, Mr. Galloway claimed, and he thought buyers of chicks should make all their purchases from local hatcheries, for they could not beat the breed and stock by going outside.

College Band Coming.
Announcement was made by E. S. Ireland that the Buffalo band, Canyon, would start on a tour and would be here at noon Thursday. The band will play at the high school at 11 o'clock and the chamber of commerce will provide a lunch for the 34 members.

Preparing for County Fair.
It is time to take the first steps toward staging the annual county fair, said E. B. Black, so that prospective exhibitors may arrange their plans in the farm-production line before the planting season is over.

Attend Palo Duro Meet.
Representatives from Randall, Potter, Swisher and Deaf Smith counties were hurriedly assembled in Canyon Monday morning to discuss the Palo Duro park project, according to J. L. Pope, who attended from Hereford. The purpose was to enter a plea with the Randall county commissioners to pass an order to open a road into one of the scenic spots so that action could be imparted to the meeting in Austin Tuesday of the state park board.

Princess As Guest.
President Slaton introduced Miss Lucille Hoffman, princess, and Miss Anna Hoffman, maid of honor, as this county's representatives at the dairy show in Plainview last week.

Special Program Monday.
A special program will be given at the luncheon next Monday, with W. E. Dameron in charge. The weekly meeting will be held at Stockman's cafe.

District North of Garcia Lake Gets New Road

A new road that should be important to the development of a large district in the west part of the county has been opened and graded by the county's road crew. The road begins at the state line, runs east for about 15 miles, passing a short distance north of Garcia Lake and intersecting the Van Bibber road six miles north of Suddicks' school house. The old syndicate school house is on Harrison highway, 25 miles west of Hereford.

While the part of the county served by this lateral thoroughfare is thinly settled at present, it furnishes an improved outlet for a best of rich soil. The road was ordered opened by the commissioners court on a petition of George Nash and others.

EMMETT HALES SUCCEEDS CARROLL, NIGHT WATCHMAN

Russell Carroll has resigned as night watchman and Emmett Hales, traffic officer, has been appointed to fill the vacancy, effective April 7. At present the city has no day traffic official.

A revival meeting will open at the First Baptist church next Sunday, with Rev. V. M. Cloyd, the pastor, doing the preaching. The music will be in charge of local singers and musicians. The revival will continue for two weeks. The public is cordially invited to attend the services.

Mrs. Finis Owen and Gordon Durham are announced as pianists, and the following choir leaders will have charge of the music for the dates mentioned: Earl Roberson, Sunday; Mrs. J. E. Speegle, Monday; Mrs. C. J. Mountz, Tuesday; John Biggs, Wednesday; Lloyd Roberson, on Thursday; Allen Powelson, Friday; Miss Lucille Hicks, Saturday.

For the second week: Earl Roberson, Sunday; Mrs. Earl W. Wilson, Monday; Mrs. Finis Owen, Tuesday; Mrs. A. O. Thompson, Wednesday; Lloyd Roberson, on Thursday; D. B. Roberson, Friday; Earle Joiner, Saturday; Earl Roberson, Sunday.

Substitute leaders are Mrs. C. J. Mountz, Mrs. J. E. Speegle and Earl Roberson.

Dairy Judging Team Is First

The dairy judging team of the Hereford (vacations) agriculture department, coached by B. H. Hopkins, stepped into first place and received the trophy cup and a cash award of $40 when Panhandle and McLean were declared ineligible by officials of the Panhandle Plains dairy show at Plainview last week.

The winning team is composed of Edwin Holland, Rollin Orr and Marvel Upton and Paul Conway; due to ineligibilities, Tulsa boys have second place.

In the first announcement Panhandle was rated first and McLean second, but it was later found that both teams had members who had participated in dairy judging before. This was a clear violation of the rules governing the contest and ineligible followed when proof had been submitted.

Girls of Glee Club Go On Air Tuesday Night

The Girls' Glee club of Hereford high school will delight radio listeners tuned in on WDAG of Amarillo between the hours of 8:30 and 9:30 next Tuesday evening, April 21. The glee club with a chorus of 45 voices, under direction of their instructor, Miss Lucille Hicks, will sing four numbers, "Piper June", with which they tied Clovis for second honors in the recent music festival contest in Amarillo; "The Bells of St. Mary's"; "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life"; and "Little Orphan Annie". Interspersed through the above selections will be trio numbers by Bettye Bruce Jones, Lois Sowell and Alline Cox, and songs in quartet by Lueta Borden, Marie Seed, LaVerna Womble and Ardelle Foster.

Hereford radio audience will keep the above hour in mind to hear its own high school girls' chorus in this program. They plan an appearance in person May 7, when they will sing in the high school auditorium here for one of the concerts in the annual music week program.

April Showers Drench District With 1-Inch Fall

Good moisture was received in the Hereford territory Wednesday night of last week when the first April showers arrived, starting soon after dark and continuing past eleven o'clock. It was a slow rain and the soil received full benefit of the fall.

While the rain was general, it varied in amounts from one-half to one and one-half inches. The average was around one inch. In Hereford the gauge at the First National bank registered eight-tenths, while the one at the home of E. E. Ramsey recorded one and two-tenths. It was lighter to the north and heavier to the southwest.

The west and northwest parts of the county have been favored during the winter with heavy snows and the moisture has been ample for crops. Snow was still to be found April 4 in sheltered nooks at Garcia Lake. The eastern part of the county has suffered some from being in a dry belt and the rain of last week was sufficient to relieve the situation for a while.

Daniel reports from one-half to over an inch of rainfall, and "fine moisture" received is the word from Adrian and vicinity.

Carrolls Move Station.
Charlie and Onias Carroll, partners in the Carroll Service station, moved this week from their location in the Reno building, 111 West Third, to the Broadway building at 211 West Third. The station will continue its operation under the same personnel, and will feature the same departments of automobile service as before.

Window Contrasts Homes.
J. O. Newell, dry goods merchant, has a catchy show window, cooperating with the cleanup campaign. The design contrasts two farm homes, one kept in repair and all buildings and fences painted and the other constructed to reveal every conceivable unattractive feature.

Vega Votes Water Bonds.

Vega, April 15.—Bonds for installing a modern water system here were voted here Monday by a big majority. The issue calls for $25,000 in bonds to drill wells, put up reservoirs, buy equipment and lay an adequate distribution system. Work will begin as soon as the bonds have been marketed.

Time Limit Is April 30th for Loan Requests

Since opening of the drought relief loan office here in the city hall as an avenue for farmers to borrow money from the government for seed, feed, food and general rehabilitation, 68 applications had been received up to April 11. Six applicants had received checks amounting to $10,000.

With the advance of the season in Texas, attention is invited to the fact that regulations of the secretary of agriculture, Washington, D. C., provide that applications for loans for seed, feed, fertilizer and farm rehabilitation purposes must be mailed in time to be received at the farmers' seed loan office in Fort Worth not later than April 30, according to E. J. Murphy, administrative officer in charge.

Request is made that this information be made available to all interested people in Deaf Smith county so that those who plan to arrange for government loans may get their applications in before the deadline arrives.

High Hat

This is the snappy uniform that pretty Betty Soleman, above, of Tams, Ia., wore when she was introduced as honorary cadet colonel at the military ball given recently by the R. O. T. C. cadets of the University of Iowa. As you see, it was a feather in her hat.

TIMES HARD BUT KEEPS BRAND GOING

Hard times are being experienced in the Middlewest and nearly every kind of business has stopped excepting bootleggers and sheriff's sales, writes Sol E. Townsend, Galesburg, Illinois, but conditions are not so bad as to prevent the writer from mailing in subscription price to the Hereford Brand.

Burglar Gets $40 Gold Haul from Dr. Heard

The office of Dr. G. W. Heard, dentist, was burglarized last week, either Tuesday night or Wednesday morning, and about $40 in gold was taken. His scrap gold and clippings and the precious metal used for filling teeth were not touched, although this valuable property was as available as the plate gold which made up the burglar's loot. Two gold bridges in the same drawer with the plate were overlooked.

Dr. Heard said he opened his office, over the Corner Drug store, Wednesday morning at eight o'clock and then left immediately for South Hereford without locking his door. Upon returning he noted misplaced articles and investigation revealed some of his gold was missing from a drawer.

Time of the burglary and how entry was made into the office could not be determined. The screen on one of the south windows was unatched, and one theory advanced was that access was made into the room Tuesday night through the window, which was not fastened.

Two Sections of Deaf Smith Sell for Cash

One of the largest cash deals ever recorded in Deaf Smith county was closed this week in a realty transaction when W. S. (Sherm) Williams sold two sections, or 1280 acres of land, to Mrs. Emma Jackson of Amarillo. Amount of consideration was not announced, but parties in the deal said it was all cash.

The land involved is 14 miles northwest of Hereford, well improved, and is known as the Williams home ranch. It was established in 1908. Mr. Williams said he would still consider Deaf Smith county his home, although he has business interests in Missouri.

These receipts are on hand and those planning on making the trip should, call the Brand at once, get transportation receipts and make Pullman reservations.

A town may get a special Pullman or tourist car if 20 reservations are made. All arrangements must be made by April 28 so that the Santa Fe may make up the necessary number of cars.

Mother of Mrs. Posey Laid To Rest at Quanah

Funeral services were held in Amarillo last Thursday afternoon and burial rites conducted in Quanah Friday for Mrs. Abbie S. Fuqua, mother of Mrs. E. B. Posey of Hereford. Mrs. Fuqua died in Amarillo Thursday morning, and brief services were held there at the home of her son, Euclid.

A double ceremony was held in Quanah for Mrs. Fuqua and Mrs. M. F. Hill, sister of W. H. Fuqua, who died the preceding Wednesday in Dallas. Interment was made in the family cemetery lot at Quanah beside the graves of their departed husbands, whose last resting place is marked with a double tombstone.

Mrs. Fuqua was a pioneer of Quanah, having settled in Hardeman county more than 50 years ago. Her husband was the founder of the Fuqua Lumber company. She was a member of the Baptist church and was the mother of 12 children, of whom only six survive; Euclid, Amarillo; A. S., Napa, California; Clyde M., Wichita Falls; Mrs. E. B. Posey, Hereford; Mrs. G. W. Webb, Amarillo, and Mrs. R. A. Key, Wichita Falls.

C. R. Russ of Summerfield was here trading last Saturday.

1000 PEOPLE HEAR CHORUS GIVE CANTATA IN CANYON

Close to 1000 people heard the Hereford choral club repeat its Easter cantata in the college auditorium at Canyon Sunday evening. Church services had been dismissed and invitations extended to neighboring towns to be present for the great musical event.

In many respects the rendition was superior to its presentation here Easter, according to reports. Over forty voices of Hereford people appeared in the cantata and the unusually large audience was demonstrative in appreciation.

Sheriff Miller and Son, R. V., Capture Whisky

A negro who gave his name as Dyer and home as Pampa was arrested and 30 gallons of whisky confiscated by John B. Miller, sheriff of Deaf Smith county, early Saturday morning on the highway leading to Clovis, five miles west of Hereford.

The negro had been seen to pass through here several times before, and when R. V. Miller, son of the sheriff, noted him driving through Friday, headed west, he took down his motor car license numbers. The sheriff and his son remained all night waiting for Dyer's return, suspecting that he had a rendezvous with bootleggers or distillers and would be returning with a load of liquor.

The negro would have shown up sooner but he had a wreck west of Friona earlier in the night, turning his car over. The Millers came upon him asleep in his car about five miles out. A search revealed 60 half-gallon fruit jars full of whisky.

Dyer, who is about 25 years of age, was charged with transporting intoxicants and bond was set at $1000, which he had failed to make Tuesday afternoon. He has been in the county jail here since arrest.

Elliston Loses New Studebaker

No trace has been found of the 1930 Studebaker sedan stolen Saturday night from A. H. Elliston when it was parked in front of the residence, 210 Lee street. The car had been driven up by Miss Ruth Elliston and left at the front, and ten minutes later it was missed.

Mr. Elliston notified local officers, giving what he thought were his highway license numbers, and officers in nearby counties were notified at once to look out for the stolen Studebaker. The next day Mr. Elliston found out he had made a mistake in the numbers, and by that time the thief had probably slipped through the net spread out to catch him.

Bradly Loses Several Head of Fine Stock

A heavy financial loss was sustained over the past week end by Wes Bradly, a Hereford breeder of registered cattle, living east of town, when twenty of his fine young animals gained access to a forest ground wheat and foundered themselves.

Eight valuable head had died up to Monday, according to Dr. F. E. Rowe, veterinarian, and several others were not expected to recover. Dr. Rowe said he was unable to save the animals since the food they had consumed was ground and would not yields to treatments of expulsion.

Quilt Made In 1789 Wins First Prize In Fair

Such an array of quilts has never been seen in one collection before in this section as was displayed Friday and Saturday in the quilt fair sponsored by the ladies of the Presbyterian church.

Over 500 people paid admission to view the unusual assembly of handicraft, approximately 200 pieces, which took up all available show space in the store building just south of the post office.

A magnificent show was the opinion of all who visited the booths. There were fancy and old quilts, quilts made of silk and wool and all kinds of materials; some made by elderly ladies and others by young people.

A first prize went to Mrs. R. E. McIntosh for her entry of a quilt that was 142 years old. There were several other entries over 100 years old. Also among the entries were quilts made of homespun wool taken from the back of sheep raised by the maker's family. Another surprising feature was the number of quilt entries designed and made by young girls, moderns who are generally thought to have relegated quilting as a past fad of mother's day.

The following prize winners have been announced by the three judges, Mrs. Jennie Thompson, Mrs. F. B. Craddock and Mrs. L. E. Smith:

Gown Planned for Wedding Dress Becomes Shroud for Friona Woman Who Waits 70 Years for Fiance

By L. E. BAUERFEIND
In Friona Star, April 10, 1931.

Miss Carrie DeWitt, age 88, died at the home of V. E. Weir Monday morning, April 6, at 8:20 o'clock, and was buried in the Friona cemetery Wednesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock, funeral services, with the Rev. Mr. Cummins officiating, being held from the Church of Christ. Miss DeWitt was born in Indiana and came to Friona in 1910. She is survived by the following relatives: V. C. Weir, Mrs. C. L. Lillard, Scott Weir, Worth Weir, Glenn Weir, Hereford, and H. D. Weir of Chillicothe, Ohio.

Miss DeWitt, who was affectionately called "Aunt Carrie" by her numerous friends in Friona, was loved and respected by all who knew her. She was a true friend, and goes to her reward in Heaven for the true Christian life she had led, mourned by all who knew her.

Although of such cheerful disposition, romance and sorrow marked the entire life of this little old lady. Way back just before the Civil War, when she was in her young girlhood, she found the man she loved, the man she expected to marry. They were engaged and she worked industriously on her hope chest and made her wedding dress. Then, to forever cloud her life, came the Civil war, where friends were overnight turned into enemies and brother fought brother. This most splendid young man to whom she had pledged herself, did not fight for his country. He went away, but he never returned. What happened to him no one knew. In all probability he lay an unknown dead on an unknown battle field, but "Aunt Carrie" loved him and she saved her wedding dress and she waited his return for approximately 70 years — until she died. Her last request was that she be buried in her wedding dress which she had saved all these years, and this was done.

Such love and such constancy enduring through the long years in honor of a promise marks the high attributes of Miss DeWitt, who possessed a character of such sterling quality as is attained by but few people.

How to Produce Largest Dahlias Related by Rice

"A number of people have asked me about the proper time to plant dahlias," says Harry L. Rice, whose autumn yard at 225 B avenue every year is sufficient evidence of his authority on dahlia culture. "So a short article on the subject of dahlias might be appreciated by the beauty lovers of Hereford."

The time of planting depends considerably on what is wanted, Mr. Rice says. If early flowers and lots of them are wanted, the time to plant is the first of May. "Of course, you can safely plant earlier in sheltered locations, but not much is gained," Mr. Rice continues, "and besides there is danger of their being nipped by frost which will result in many shoots coming out later, and this is not desirable."

"If you want the largest that the variety will produce, plant from the middle of May to the middle of June. Here is the reason for late planting: The dahlia is a native of the cool high valleys of Mexico, and it does not do well in the heat of our summers.

"With early planting the best blooming period for the plant is during the heat of summer and by cooler weather plant growth has about ceased and the flowers are naturally smaller. Plant about three feet apart and about five inches deep.

"Provide a trench beside the row and water in that rather than by sprinkling, and do it thoroughly. Pruning and disbudding are well worth the trouble if you want large blooms.

"And now a few words concerning varieties: It would seem to me that a few choice ones, with the collection added to each year, would give much more pleasure than the common old-fashioned ones. Try a few choice ones this year.

"Practically all choice varieties originated in climates much different from ours and many of them will be disappointments in our hot, dry climate, if you depend upon the glowing descriptions of flower catalogs. It is much better to plant varieties that have proved their worth right here in the Panhandle."

NOTED C. OF C. MANAGER CONGRATULATES HEREFORD

"I have just heard of your election at Hereford and hasten to congratulate you," writes Porter A. Whaley, general manager of the San Antonio chamber of commerce, to Joe L. Pope, Hereford's new secretary-manager.

"I think, however, that Hereford should be congratulated first," Mr. Whaley adds.

Porter Whaley was the first manager of the West Texas chamber of commerce, and is given credit for having done more than any other man in building this regional organization upon a firm foundation and insuring it a long life of usefulness to the vast territory which it now serves.

Cow Produces 67 Pounds of Milk Each Day

Wheat and Oat Crop Condition Above Normal

Current topic of comment among dairymen of this section is the cow of J. W. Watson, north of Canyon, which produced three and one-third pounds of butterfat, on an average, for every day in March. The average amount of milk each day was 67 pounds.

The only roughness fed the cow was 50 pounds of silage daily, taken from his trench silo. Most of the other feed was a mixture of oats, bran, wheat, cottonseed meal and molasses. Her test was 6.6 per cent.

Herr Commends Hillside For Sturdy Chicks

E. A. Herr, in East Hereford, started with 700 White Leghorn chicks, single comb, five weeks ago and had lost only 22 up to last Thursday. He accounts for this record of survival in the fact that he got this sturdy breed from the Hillside hatchery and breeding farm.

Mr. Herr claims he now has the best bunch of chicks he ever owned and hopes people will patronize the local hatchery so that similar chicks will be available every year. In addition, he has 350 laying hens of the leghorn strain.

This poultryman owns a ten-acre tract which he recently purchased, and is starting out to become a hog raiser, having on hand three Chesterwhite and three Hampshire brood sows.

Condition of Texas wheat on April 1 was 90 per cent of normal, compared with 80 last year and 78 for a ten-year average, according to a report of the United States department of agriculture, released Monday afternoon.

For the United States on April 1 condition of wheat was estimated at 88.8 per cent of normal, compared with 77.4 last year and a ten-year average of 79.2. The forecast production for 1931 is 643,920,000 bushels, compared with 604,000,000 last year and 547,000,000 the five-year average production.

The oat crop is in a like favorable position with respect to increased yields, but what the market prices will be no one ventures a prediction.

The new rates will become effective April 21, 1931.

The Daily Milk-

When the milkman brings your milk do you step to the sink immediately and pour out a portion of it? Certainly not!

Then why do such a thing with Natural Gas?

Burners clogged with dirt and dust; appliances unsuited for Natural Gas; and small leaks in connection, often waste as much gas as is actually needed in the home.

Remember, water can't get hotter after it begins boiling. And don't permit gas to burn wastefully between the cooking of dishes.

Do not burn gas in heating appliances with doors and windows wide open.

Satisfied customers constitute our best asset. They are worth more to us than any revenue derived from gas which is wasted.

How's Business?

Don't make a wry face at the question? Do you blame competition, Wall Street, the government, the depression and what not?

If business goes "across the street" or "next door" and passes you up, something is wrong; your merchandise may be just as good, but unless you first attract attention to it, you cannot sell it.

Walk along any shopping district at night—Watch the passers-by—Notice the windows at which they check their steps to look. And you will find that those windows are the best lighted ones.

From any shopping thoroughfare you may pick out the prosperous businesses by their attractively lighted windows and interiors. The well-lighted window is an invitation to stop and examine the displays.

Light is your best and cheapest advertisement! Let it help you to sell!

C. T. Kibbe has about 150 acres of terraced land.

Five dairymen from Hereford attended the dairy show at Plainview last Wednesday.

J. W. Watson, Randall county, dairy herd owner, won the production contest at the Plainview dairy show with his cow that produced 3 1/2 pounds of butterfat in one day. Silage was the main source of roughage.

According to records kept by Mr. Watson, a cow will produce 70 pounds of fat more a year when fed on silage, or will earn $19 more a year than when fed roughage in form of fodder.

Grohoma sorghum, claimed to be a new grain sorghum, was grown at the Dubbock and Chillicothe experiment stations the past year in comparison with maize and kafir. At Lubbock Grohoma yielded about 40 per cent as much as maize and kafir, while at Chillicothe it produced less than 30 per cent.

From these experiments it seems that Grohoma cannot thrive under dry weather conditions as kafir and maize do which are fully acclimated to this territory.

Stock Law Has Three Sections

Since the herd law, voted last fall in precincts one and four of Deaf Smith county, has become operative, there have been many inquiries as to what the provisions of the law are. The stock regulation now covers more than half the county.

It has three phases. Unherded stock may be impounded for which a fee of $1 a head is permitted, with 25 cents a day for keep and adequate compensation for damage done.

Should anyone knowingly permit stock to run at large in the territory, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined in any sum not less than $5 nor more than $200.

The third article permits droves to be taken through pastures by the usual route of travel, traveling at the greatest practicable speed, without liability attached, unless damage is done. Stock may also be held on the premises of another for shipment without violating the law, provided reasonable pasturage is paid and settlement is made for any damage done.

Bankers Give Good Advice

The advice of bankers is usually good. This from the American Magazine is worth consideration.

"No business in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to go without his name and business being mentioned somewhere in its columns.

This applies to all kinds of business and professional men. It does not mean that you should have a whole, half or even a quarter page ad in each issue of the paper, but your name should be mentioned, if you do not use more than a two-line space.

"A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in the town by looking at a paper. This is the best possible town advertiser.

"The man who does not advertise his business does an injustice to himself and his town. The life of a town depends upon the live, wide-awake and liberal advertising business man."

Parker-Houser To Sell Dairy Herd Tuesday

A public auction of 40 head of Jersey cows and heifers for Tuesday, April 21, is announced by G. A. F. Parker and P. M. Houser, owners. Free lunch will be served at noon and the sale will begin at 1:30 o'clock, in charge of Col. Ray Barber, auctioneer, and E. C. Eubanks, clerk.

The dairy cattle are located on the Parker farm, six miles west of Hereford and two miles north of the Harrison highway.

About three-fourths of the cows and heifers are daughters and grand daughters of the well-known and famous Nunn herd which was dispersed three years ago at auction at an average price of $102. The stock offered in this sale is represented as having a value equal to as good as that of their ancestors. Years of constructive breeding through outstanding registered bulls guarantee the herd to be of high standard.

The herd bull, a three-year-old Jersey, will be included in the auction. It is one of the best breeding males in this part of the country. Liberal terms are available to responsible purchasers.

"Total revenues of the system from exchange and toll business for the first quarter were about one per cent less than for the first three months of 1930, but substantially larger than for any previous year.

"Approximately $105,000,000 were expended on plant additions, betterments and improvements during the quarter. Number of stockholders increased 12,000 since the first of the year."

THE RICH MAN AND LAZARUS Luke 16:19-31

Luke 16:19. Now there was a certain rich man, and he was clothed in purple and fine linen, faring sumptuously every day.

20. And a certain beggar named Lazarus was laid at his gate, full of sores.

21. And desiring to be fed with the crumbs that fell from the rich man's table, yes, even the dogs came and licked his sores.

22. And it came to pass, that the beggar died, and that he was carried away by the angels into Abraham's bosom and the rich man also died, and was buried.

23. And in Hades he lifted up his eyes, being in torments, and seeth Abraham afar off, and Lazarus in his bosom.

24. And he cried and said, Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and send Lazarus that he may dip the tip of his fingers in water, and cool my tongue; for I am in anguish in this flame.

25. But Abraham said, Son, remember that thou in thy lifetime receivedst thy good things, and Lazarus in like manner evil things; but now here he is comforted, and thou art in anguish.

26. And besides all this, between us and you there is a great gulf fixed, that they that would pass from hence to you may not be able, and that none may cross over from thence to us.

27. And he said, I pray thee therefore, father, that thou wouldest send him to my father's house;

28. For I have five brethren, that he may testify unto them, lest they also come into this place of torment.

29. But Abraham said, They have Moses and the prophets; let them hear them.

30. And he said, Nay, father Abraham, but if one go to them from the dead, they will repent.

31. And he said unto him, If they hear not Moses and the prophets, neither will they be persuaded, if one rise from the dead.

Golden Text: Lay up for yourself treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth consume, and where thieves do not break through nor steal.—Matt. 6:20.

Time: January, A. D. 30, in the last three months of Christ's ministry.

Place: Peraea, the country east of the Jordan.

Introduction.

The parables of our last lesson, Luke 15, were spoken to the hostile scribes and Pharisees, critical of Christ, because he gladly received the publicans and sinners who flocked to him. The teachings of today's lesson, Luke 16 and 17, are mainly for the disciples. Indeed, the parable of the rich man and Lazarus would have its special application to the Pharisees, who were well-to-do, rather than to the disciples, who were for the most part poor men, though Judas needed its lesson as much as any man in the world. Last week's parables taught the love of God, ever seeking the sinner and ever eager to receive him on his return. The main teaching of today's lesson is a warning against the one great sin of worldliness.

Dives, a "Rich Man."
"Now there was a certain rich man." He was like the Pharisees, "lovers of money," who were scoffing at Jesus because of his teaching that no one can serve God and mammon at the same time. Not all rich men are condemned by this parable. Christ had friends among the rich; one of them buried the saviour in his own new tomb, embalming his body with his own hands. The rich man here was held up to scorn as a selfish rich man; he might have used his money in unselfish ways, and so have won Christ's praise. His name was not given. "Dives," by which he is often called, is merely the Latin for "rich man."

Lazarus, "a Beggar."
"And a certain beggar named Lazarus." Not to be confounded with the brother of Mary and Martha of Bethany. He is the only named character of the parable, and his name may have been given him because of its significance, for it is a contradiction of Kleszar, meaning "Helped of God" or "God help him." "Was laid at his gate." At the doorway of his house, evidently in the hope that his pitiable condition would move the rich man's pity. "Full of sores."

Desiring the Crumbs.
"And desiring to be fed with the crumbs that fell from the rich man's table." The soft pieces of bread on which the diners wiped their hands, using them as napkins, afterwards throwing them on the floor. We recall the Syro-Phoenician mother's pathetic use of the word, Matt. 15:27. This implication is that Lazarus longed for the crumbs, but they were not given to him. "Yes, even the dogs came and licked his sores." The wild and neglected dogs which roamed the streets, seeking scraps of food were kinder to the beggar than human beings. "That man is far from friendly who has a good dog to stand by him. Dogs are often not so mean as their masters."—T. DeWitt Talmage.

Abraham's Bosom.
"And it came to pass, that the beggar died." An instant end to his sores, his hunger, and all his misery. "And that he was carried away by the angels into Abraham's bosom." "Abraham's bosom" was one of the three names common among the Jews to denote the future state of blessedness. The other two were Paradise and the Throne of Glory.—Prof. Thomas M. Lindsay. "The phrase is to be understood by comparison with the account of the last supper, where the apostles whom Jesus loved leaned on his breast. That is, in the fashion of that day and place, they reclined on couches at their meals, each resting on his left arm; first the host, then next to him, leaning on his breast, the person of most honor."—Dean Geo. Hodges. "And the rich man also died, and was buried." What irony is here! Dives had an elaborate funeral, and that was all; no conveyance of angels, no Paradise, no welcome by the great father of his race and founder of his nation. How glad he would have been to exchange his pompous obsequies for the pauper burial of Lazarus, if he could have had the beggar's glorious future!

"Hades."
"And in Hades." Hades means "the unseen world." Here it signifies the abode of the evil dead, as distinguished from Abraham's bosom, the abode of the righteous dead. "He lifted up his eyes, being in torments." The Bible gives us few particulars as to the state of the wicked after death, but those few, while entirely in accord with reason, are at the same time so forceful as to serve as the most awful warnings to unrepentant sinners. We are assured that their condition hereafter will be one of eternal torment, and the chief source of their torment will be their memory, of their sins and their unavailing regret.

"And seeth Abraham afar off, and Lazarus in his bosom." The plain teaching here is that the dead are not annihilated, that they retain personality and consciousness, and that they recognize one another. "I Am In Anguish In This Flame." "Have mercy on me and send Lazarus." The proud man is so reduced as to beg the help of the beggar whom he once scorned. "That he may dip the tip of his finger in water and cool my tongue; for I am in anguish in this flame." If any one regards this picture of Hades as too harsh, remember who painted it; the gentle, tender, compassionate, forgiving Christ, who died on the cross to save men from an agony and misery that he fully knew.

Son, Remember.

"Remember what? Look back and remember that you have never been so warned of anything as of this thing."—Rev. Joseph L. Tucker, D. D.

"We talk about the recording angel keeping the record of our life. I have an idea that when we get to heaven we shall find that recording angel has been ourselves."—D. L. Moody.

"Every man's penalty is only the echo of his own sin."—Rev. S. L. Blake, D. D. "It is all in the choice which we ourselves make, whether we will receive our good things here alone, or here and hereafter also."—Bishop Welles.

"Don't write there," said a little newspaper boy to a dandified youth whom in the waiting room of a railway station he saw about to scratch something with his diamond ring on a mirror that was hanging on the wall, "don't write there." "Why not? Because you can't rub it out!" So be careful what you write, in your words and actions, on the tablets of your memory. You can't rub it out!"—William M. Taylor.

tween the abode of the wicked and the home of the righteous. Here the parable reaches its summit of solemn warning.

"Between us and you there is a great gulf fixed." "The condition of those who died in wilful sin and rebellion, and are relegated to the place in Hades where the wicked man was in torment, is fixed and can never be changed."—Rev. J. A. Spencer, D. D.

Why the Gulf?
The hereafter is not a junk-heap. Nor is it a "beautiful isle of somewhere." The Bible does not part very wide the curtain that hides the human soul's world-to-come, but it does give us to know that we are to spend eternity in one or the other of two definite places. Heaven or hell are the words that in English most satisfactorily designate those places or states.

"For I have five brethren; that he may testify unto them, lest they also come into this place of torment." Here is a little light let into the dark picture. "Nothing in all that Christ has to say about Dives is so striking as this, though it is usually overlooked. It is clear that whatever faults Dives had, he loved his brethren, and there is now nothing selfish in that love. If he cannot be saved himself, he thinks it at least possible that they may be saved."—Rev. W. J. Dawson.

"And he said unto him, If they hear not Moses and the prophets, neither will they be persuaded, if one rise from the dead." "Signs and wonders never converted any one to a belief in things that matter, never even persuaded any one to alter the mental and spiritual habits of a lifetime."—Rev. J. A. Beaumont. "No miracle, no evidence that can be named or asked for, will bring conviction to a man whose heart and mind are not open to conviction."—Rev. William T. Wilson.

Special Lesson.
"To have money is no crime, but to have money and do no good with it is a crime."—Dr. E. B. Mason. "He enjoyed the advantages of wealth and absolutely forgot the responsibilities of it."—Dr. Charles Leach.

Select Prettiest Girl.

Seventh grade girls created lots of fun when they made two big angel food cakes and brought them to the pie supper to be awarded the prettiest girl and ugliest man.

Misses Lois Smith, Vivian Bowlers, Mignon Greer and Modine Barns were nominated candidates of the first contest. Miss Barns won, with Miss Smith a close second. Seventh grade boys were loyal to their candidate, Modine.

P. H. Barns and Cecil Marines hotly contested second race, Mr. Barns winning by 45 votes. Mrs. Barns says it is a queer feeling to be mother of the prettiest girl, whose father was voted the ugliest man in the community. We believe the contest between the men was one of popularity rather than ugliness, as both are far from being homely.

Cake proceeds are to be used by seventh grade graduation class.

Several of the girls and Mrs. Alma McGowen practiced the new songs last Sunday, all later taking supper with Mrs. McGowen.

A. J. Morris and family visited in Canyon Sunday.

announced that Greenwade was trying for a world's record, and Babe was put out as a competitor.

Both made a good start and the Swedish youth led for 70 yards, but Babe cut loose and beat the Olympic racer by four feet. This was quite an upset in university circles, according to an eye-witness of the sprint. Such a performance has not lessened the predictions of big things which Babe may do for Texas on the track.

How to Coin a Fortune

A fellow who makes as much money in hard times as in a prosperous period is this doughty worker in the British mint. He is shown here shovelling shillings by the thousands into a cart to be carried away for sorting and checking.

EXPERT STRESSES NEED OF CULLING BIRDS OFTEN

The value of trapnesting and culling four times a year was emphasized by R. B. Galloway Tuesday night at the poultry school now in progress at the high school two nights a week, Tuesday and Thursday. The subject for the last session was mating and breeding.

Mr. Galloway, who is with the extension service of Harde-man-king and who was in Hereford the first of the week with the local dealer, West Texas Feed and Seed company, was secured by B. H. Hopkins, instructor, to discuss the problems of mating and breeding at the school.

Jobs in Java

The United States exported 27,000,000 artificial teeth last year. This may explain why we are so falsely represented abroad.

"Well," as the wary patient said to the chiropractor, "let's hope there will be no hard feelings."

A professor says it won't be long before potatoes will be producing rubber. When they do, they'll probably be called inner tubers.

Physicians gave an art exhibit in New York recently. Some of them probably will shine with their iodine paintings.

An Arkansas man broke his leg attempting to hit a golf ball. Add hazards of driving.

Misled on Animals

A man of thirty had seen his first circus. A neighbor boy of fourteen had never enjoyed that experience, and it was quite proper, therefore, for the man to give him a vivid description.

He started off something after this fashion: "You first get your tickets, then you go down an aisle made of ropes and give your ticket to a man there. Next is a tent with the animals, cantaloupes and everything, and then you go into the big tent where the clowns are."

Vanilla From Orchids

That the vanilla bean, the extract of which is used in almost every household as flavoring for foods, is provided by the variety of tropical plant called the "orchid" is probably little known by even the best cooks. Orchids are best known for their beautiful flower, emblematic of opulence and fantasy. They grow in their natural state as a parasitic inhabitant of the great trees of the forests of Mexico, Java, Seychelles and Brazil, and are especially common in the banks of the Orinoco river.

Shingles an Improvement

The homes of many of our ancestors in other lands had roofs of tile or thatch. When they came to these shores they found no tiles awaiting them. They made shingles. As it turned out, they were better off without tile or thatched roofs, because the shingles were warmer in winter and cooler in summer. Shingles have been popular in this country for more than 300 years.

BABE RUSSELL

The above is a product of Hereford high school, showing Babe Russell doing his best as a trackman; and his best last year in the state meet at Austin was breaking a record. He is equally as good as a football player, being a star of the 1929 eleven which won the co-regional championship. Babe is at present a first-year man at the University of Texas.

The outstanding sprinter on the freshman squad at the University of Texas hales from Hereford and he is no other than Babe Russell, the state's champion speed artist for high schools last year and a close contender in the national meet at Chicago.

The daily press has been giving Babe a good send-off, and other information reaching Hereford indicates that the local athlete, who has a wide reputation for his fleetness over the cinder path for 100 and 220 yards, has lost none of his ability to make records with his legs.

Recently there came to the university a former member of the Olympic team and champion of Sweden in the 900-yard sprint, Greenwade by name. It was an-

EARL SHEELY, 18 YEARS IN BASEBALL, GETS THIRD CHANCE IN MAJORS AS FIRST BASEMAN FOR BOSTON BRAVES—HE STILL PACKS A WALLOP

BY PHILIP MARTIN

A BASEBALL player may be down but the rules specify that he's never out until he has three strikes on him.

If proof of this statement is needed, there is Earl Homer Sheely, elongated first baseman, who is coming up again this year to play for the Boston Braves after two previous attempts resulted in failure.

Sheely joins the Braves at a time when they can use a good hitter and a man capable of handling his assignments at field. In view of Earl's previous "strikes," the count on him now rests at "three-and-two" and he must hit safely or trudge back to the minors, from which he probably will never again be invited to make good in the big show.

When it came Boston's turn to select a player in the draft last fall, the officials picked Earl from the host of minor league satellites because of his tremendous hitting average. He led the parade in the Pacific Coast League, a circuit in which the players do considerable flitting with 400 batting averages. If he hits anything above the 300 mark this year, he will be a good investment and well worth the $7500 draft price which Boston turned over to the San Francisco Seals for him.

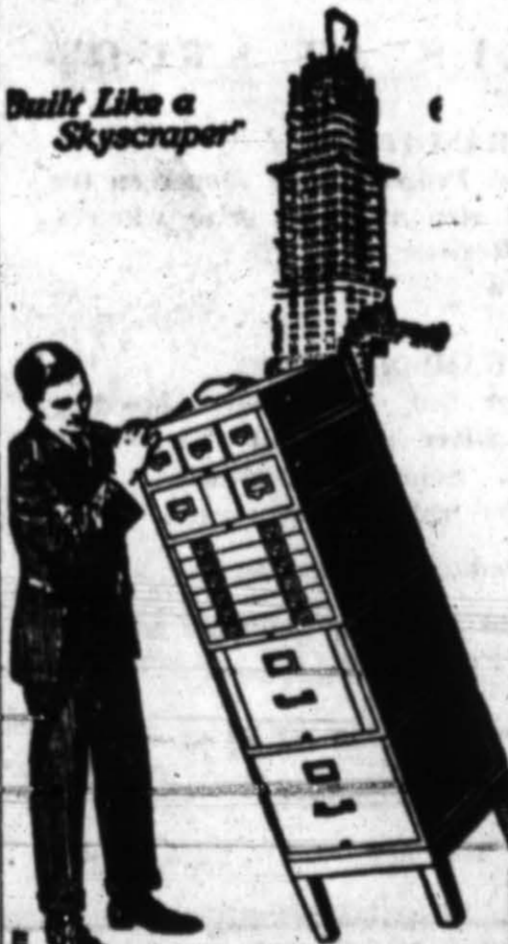

Earl Homer Sheely... the Braves hope he'll live up to his middle name.

Sheely's third sojourn into the majors this spring gives him some kind of a trans-continental record. When he joins the Braves at St. Petersburg, Fla., next month he will have completed five long treks across the country. He came up to the White Sox from the coast league back in 1921. At the end of the 1927 season, the Sox sent him back to Sacramento. A year later the Pittsburgh Pirates brought him east once again but he failed to hit major league pitching and they turned him over to the Frisco Seals as part payment in the purchase of Gus Suhr. Earl's batting and fielding for the Seals during 1930 ranked him at the top of coast league first sackers, so the Braves once more recruited him.

In eight campaigns in the major leagues, Sheely maintained a batting average of approximately .300 and always was among the leaders in fielding. His batting fell below the .300 mark in 1923, 1926 and 1929. His best effort was an average of .320 for 146 games with the White Sox in 1924.

Sheely no longer is a youth, so it behooves him to stick with the Braves. He recently observed his 36th birthday on the anniversary of Lincoln's birth. He has played professional baseball since 1912 in the Northwest, Western Tri-State, Pacific Coast and both major leagues. Truly, Earl has done no little knocking around in his 18 years of baseball.

Nineteen Years Ago In Hereford

(From the Files of the Brand, April 19, 1912.)

Rev. A. M. Leohnan had a Langshan hen that laid 13 eggs in 14 days.

The "unsinkable" Titanic had collided with an iceberg in mid-Atlantic and had gone to the bottom, drowning 1409 of its passengers. It was the largest ship ever built and was on its maiden voyage.

Miss Ruth Churchill had entertained in her home in South Hereford, arranging five tables for hearts and cards.

F. H. Oberthier and C. H. Dyar had attended the Christian convention at Plainview. Mr. Oberthier was appointed on the executive committee.

Earl Wilson was visiting his sick mother in Crawford.

A record of moving houses had been made when G. W. Willingham moved the F. O. Bossen house one-half mile east of Vega, to three miles north of Yarnall, a distance of 60 miles. The structure was a four-room residence with porch.

Lemuel Carlyle, who had been chief clerk at Woodburn's drug store, had taken a position with Wilkinson's grocery.

Mmes. Arnold and Boardman and Allen Bell had returned from a Presbyterian meeting at Memphis.

Attorneys on court business in Farwell were Jno. P. Slaton, Carl Gilliland, W. H. Russell and F. T. Roloson.

On the federal grand jury in Amarillo were C. O. Lee, C. E. Smith, Will O'Brien, Hereford, and John Smith, Castro county.

O. E. Thomas, undertaker for E. B. Black company, had made a trip to Tulla.

A. M. Jones and H. H. Hawkins attended the Ramsey-for-governor rally in Amarillo.

Robert Mounts had moved a herd of 500 cows from wintering in Castro county to his ranch north of Hereford.

Someone had lost a pair of gauntlet gloves at the Star theatre.

While workmen attempted to draw one of the capitals for the large concrete columns at the First Christian church, the rope had parted. The capital was shattered but no one was hurt.

Leslie Moreman had substituted for C. A. Skelton, manager of Kemp lumber, during the latter's absence in Farwell.

moral standards of distributed pictures. What they did was general in scope.

The picture show men, in their brief, give some interesting details. While not admitting that their productions are likely to corrupt, they confess that they are not satisfied with the present standards of the profession. They assert that they want to raise the standard probably more so than do the ladies, but the public won't let them. Pictures, which the best minds denominate 'good' are financial failures, being either cancelled from booking or are run to empty houses.

Shakespeare and the empty house has been a leading theme of sociologists for several years, trying to explain this perverse attitude of the public. One highly approved production had an audience of ten people in Charleston, West Virginia, say the distributors, and "With Byrd at the South Pole", shown in Hereford several months ago, did not even pay, during its itinerary of America, the cost of the film expedition.

It is highly desirable that the best type of picture be shown in our theatres, but it is evident that the public will have to accept much of the responsibility for the elevation. Producers are between the horns of a dilemma—they must turn out pictures the people will pay to see or they must quit business entirely.

It has been demonstrated that the industry alone cannot educate the people to want what is termed the "good" type. That is where the homes appear on the scene. If the box office receipts would be low for questionable films and satisfactory for the better type, the picture corporations would change overnight.

Some might have thought that was a misleading conclusion which stated the Southwestern Bell Telephone company had built here for a city of 20,000 people in its new central office home and installation of modern equipment, in unit system, for expansion when needed. It may be hard to picture Hereford as a city of 20,000, but it is at least pleasing. One of the things directors of big utilities are paid for is to have vision and guess correctly where growth is coming.

G. N. Hailey, district manager, is authority for the statement that his company's facilities here now have a potential of accommodating 4,000 subscribers, that provisions have been made for addition of enough units to permit as many connections. Upon the present ratio of telephone users to census figures, 4,000 subscribers would mean a population of at least 20,000 for Hereford.

When that happy day arrives the Southwestern will have another construction problem on its hands, for an automatic dial system will be in order. It has been a custom of the company to convert from common battery to automatic when the community is using the service to an extent of four or five thousand connections, or has a population of from 20,000 to 25,000.

What the telephone company has done here and its optimistic view of the city's future growth are significant in the light of its policy in some other towns at present larger than Hereford. The Floyd County Hesperian, Floydada, takes the Southwestern to task for refusing that county seat a new telephone exchange and better service. "Floydada is larger than Hereford and has just as bright a future as Hereford ever had," avers Old Battleaxe in his 'Round the Square column. It is quite true that a corporate limit count gives the Floyd county capital about 200 people to the good.

Perhaps Old Battleaxe is near the root of the matter when he vouches an explanation of why a smaller town is favored over his city. He asks: "Hasn't Floydada got just as bright a future as Hereford? Isn't the present Floydada exchange system older than the discarded system at Hereford? Hasn't Floydada got as many actual users as Hereford? If Mother Bell is willing to gamble on Hereford's future, why shouldn't she be willing to gamble on Floydada's future? What's the answer? I'll tell you, folks—Mother Bell refuses to look toward the future of this section—and until she does we will never have any better service."

We trust Southwestern has erred in its judgment of Floydada, for it appears to be inability to see instead of refusal to look, and it is hoped that the town will be given the latest improvements in the communication field. Hereford and Floydada are too far apart to be business rivals. The only point in these remarks is that Hereford is fortunate in having a potentiality that business leaders are not hesitating to gamble on its future.

March 19 the Brand carried a resolution of the local W. C. T. U., asking that standards of the motion picture industry be raised. A reply from the producers and distributors, Fifth Avenue, New York, has been received. We knew the Brand had some readers in Europe, Oxford University, for instance, but we did not think our circulation covered New York, also, and Fifth Avenue at that.

The producers' communication is enlightening, giving their side of the problem. It is doubtful if the ladies who voted the resolution had any particular picture in mind that had been shown in Hereford. They realize the tremendous educational power of the screen industry and have gone on record, as they had a right to do, for raising the

Old English Law Enables Girl Clerk To Sue Sunday Movies for Million

MISS MILLIE ORPEN, 22, who works as a clerk in a financial office in London's financial district, is today the most discussed person in the United Kingdom.

For, acting through her lawyers, she has proceeded as "Common Informer" under some very ancient English laws and is claiming about $1,250,000. And thereby hangs a very complete and muddled tale of the law, the movies, the newspapers and the courts.

Sunday Movies the Cause
Theaters in England have to be licensed for public performances by the Lord Chamberlain in King George's palace and he, likewise, acts as censor of plays. No play can be performed for patronage by the general public if he disapproves of it. Likewise, he has never allowed theaters to give public performances on Sundays.

But the movies were not under his jurisdiction. Therefore, some years ago London County Council licensed movie houses and permitted them to open up on Sunday evenings. Recently in the high court the judge enunciated the dictum that the London County Council had absolutely no right to permit Sunday opening of the movie houses.

Old Law Recalled
He suddenly remembered what everybody seemed to have forgotten, that in 1780 there was passed by the Parliament a Lord's Day Observance act. This law is known to the legal sharks as "21 George III c 49"—in other words a law passed during the reign of that King George III whose acts caused the American colonies to revolt.

In this law it is laid down that "if in any room or place be opened for any public entertainment or for debate upon any subject on Sunday to which persons are admitted only on payment, there shall be forfeit, to any persons who will sue for the same, from the keepers of such places, $1000 for each offense; from the managers, $500; from the receiver of money or tickets, $250; and from every printer of advertisements, $250."

Millie Orpen . . . seeks claim of $1,250,000 under law passed in 1780.

Plaintiff's Status
The person, who thus sued, was quaintly termed a "common informer." This person has a very ancient status under English law. It dates back to the times when there was no such thing as a police force to enforce the laws of the land and it was left to common informers to take action to see that the courts enforced the laws.

After the court called attention to the fact that the London County Council could not give licenses for Sunday performances, every movie house in town proceeded to open as usual on Sundays and the newspapers as usual took their advertisements.

Then Miss Orpen got busy. Acting through her lawyers, she laid an information against most of the leading movie houses of London and also against some of the newspapers. Thus she claimed $50,000 from the Daily Express and a like amount from the Daily Mail. The Express took the thing quite calmly, but the Daily Mail turned to savage irony in its news story. The Mail said it could only express in all humility its gratitude to the pious plaintiff for her Christian forbearance in claiming so small a sum as $50,000. It said that each copy of the Mail was equal to one infringement of the law. And there were 16 big movie houses which advertised. And they had been advertising for 156 days, within the past six months—the period during which complaint could be made.

Therefore, doing a little multiplying, the Mail figured that under the law it could be soaked to the tune of $1,250,000,000. It added when she collected this trillion and quarter dollars, she would think nothing of writing a check for a mere 40 billion dollars to pay off England's national debt.

Refuge for Defendants
But the Mail and other papers point out there is one safe of refuge for the newspapers and the movie men. In 1875 there was passed a law called the Remission of Penalties act. This was passed to enable the crown to remit, in whole or in part, any penalty imposed under the old law of 1780.

Seen On the Screen at the Star

An unusually high class program is announced for the Star theatre for the entire week of April 17 to 24. The Bachelor Father ends its run here Thursday, featuring Marlon Davies.

The first of the heavy run productions for the seven days is "Fair Warning," starring George O'Brien, Friday and Saturday. Outlaws, cattlemen and a woman combine efforts to tame one man, a movie-tone outdoor romance. The leading woman is Louise Huntington, beautiful and charming stage actress. Other favorites make up the cast.

By special request the Durham trio, a local attraction, has been added to the Friday night, Saturday matinee and night bill. The trio, consisting of members from 10 to 15 years old, plays old-time fiddle music and never fails to entertain.

The excitement-craving public gets a feast for its thrill-appetite in "Conquering Horde," newest Richard Arlan starring picture, coming to the Star Monday and Tuesday, April 20-21. This production has everything that appeals to the public taste for spine-tingling action. It is a good yarn of the always fascinating outdoors west, taken from Emerson Hough's "North of 36."

"The Great Meadow," which will open at the Star Wednesday and Thursday of next week, April 22-23, is a talking picture version of a best seller story and has been called the finest historical narrative to be written in the last decade. It recounts the vivid days of Daniel Boone on the Kentucky frontier. Principal players include John Mack Brown and Eleanor Boardman.

One of the strangest pictures ever filmed is the advance information on "Africa Speaks," a thrilling, amazing and vastly interesting bit of entertainment billed for next week end, Friday and Saturday, April 24-25. Those who would like to witness and feel some of the realism of Africa will want to see this picture which covers an expedition into the Dark Continent.

"The lie that Jack built." The latter was a one-act play staged by members of the high school. G. T. Higgins, W. B. Wilson, Violet Marrs and Marie Seed carried out the characterizations with true talent and displayed some marked ability in stage work.

It is impossible to make a selection of outstanding performers—all were good—but among the young folk who were delightful entertainers were Dorothy Major as Nancy and George McLean as Little Boy Blue in The Doll Shop. And some of the best acting seen anywhere was staged by Vivian Olson and Buddy Downs as they explored mother's medicine closet, poured out the castor oil and drank up all the syrup of figs.

The chanting song of the cripples, all of whom had the rheumatism, was such a laughing riot that the young singers had to flee from the stage before completing the number.

The Central school band, composed of 26 members, was presented by Ralph Smith, directed. They played two numbers and did remarkably well.

Federation Told of Landscaping at Rural Homes

By MRS. TEMPLE ROBINSON

The desire for the better things of life is characteristic of the American citizen. Plant life probably best satisfies the longing for the beautiful things of nature and further possesses an economic value. The rural citizens due to the seasonal rush of work, probably have not had the same opportunity to beautify their home yard as the town dweller, though the farmer has often envied the town man his landscaped yard.

In this Panhandle country the lack of water supply has been a hindrance toward beautification of need no longer hesitate to plant town and country. But farmers trees, shrubs and flowers in their yards because of water shortage. Experiments have shown that certain trees and plants will grow here with very little water. The secret is cultivation! Cultivation at least once a week, whether the soil is apparent or not. The only precaution that cannot be avoided is the necessity for thorough watering of the plant when set out, and one or two thorough waterings during the periods of prolonged drouth in the growing season. One of the best plants to improve the appearance of any place is the arbutus. This evergreen tree or shrub should be watered at least twice a month during the first season of transplanting. After that, if on the east or north side of a building it can hold its own without water. The writer has verification for the above statement.

Shrubs for landscaping must be selected for their drought resistant qualities. Experiments with the Weigelia, Althos (rose of Sharon) Spiraea-Anthonny Wareror, Coral Berry, and the broad leaved evergreen, Euonymus Japonica (evergreen burning bush) are all hardy shrubs that will readily reveal their appreciation of intensive cultivation.

Fraises Petunia.
Most of the women folk of the country will know the flowers they prefer, and that will thrive under particular conditions, but I do not forego giving the petunia a word of praise. The petunia will bloom longer than any flower ever planted in the Panhandle. It will grow on poorer soil, with less water and cultivation than any other desirable flower I know of.

There are three kinds of shade trees that are best adapted to resist the droughts of the Panhandle. They are Chinese elm, silver poplars (not cottonwoods), and Russian olives. To prove the drought resistant quality of the Chinese elm: I planted one three years ago in the late spring. This particular Chinese elm was a very poor plant, in fact a cull. It was planted in poor soil and given two buckets of water. That tree has grown and thrived and the only moisture it has received is the rains and snows.

Silver Poplar Good.
Silver poplars are not only hardy and drought resistant, but free from insect attacks. The last characteristic is in many ways the best, due to the fact that most trees when denied water become prey of borers. By all means buy a silver poplar rather than the more widely planted Carolina (cottonwood) or Lombardy poplars. These last two poplars are too apt to have their leaves eaten by caterpillars.

Both the Chinese elms and the silver poplars do better planted in groves, the trees being about 12 feet apart. By planting groves the trees provide a better wind break for the house, and are less effected by wind, that is, not apt to grow lop-sided. Moreover, groves tend to make a more pleasing appearance than a few scattered trees. Nothing will enhance the value of the farm, other things equal, than the existence of thrifty trees in the farm yard. So tree planting is a good investment.

Olive Is Ideal Hedge.
The Russian olive is ideal for wind breaks or as a living growing fence. If planted about 5 feet apart they will in three or four years grow so rapidly as to be dense enough to turn back a cow or horse. Under ideal conditions it will grow to 20 feet high. Think of the advantage of a hedge that high on the windy southwest side of the farm residence. Fence repairs are eliminated.

In planting any tree or shrub dig a hole much bigger than you think necessary. Work into this soil before refilling a wheelbarrow load of well rotted barnyard or chicken manure if planting trees. Ad one or two shovelfuls in case of shrubs. Water the plants thoroughly at the start and follow with constant cultivation. You will be well rewarded in increasing appearance and value of your place.

If possible, plant at least two trees at your roadside gate. This gives a welcome shade or rain shelter when waiting for bus, when selling produce to passersby, or as shelter for car repairs, but best of all as a living gateway to your home.

the Young Folks Stay HOME

You'd be astounded what a difference such things as breakfast nooks, sun parlors, dens and billiard rooms make to the present-day young folks. They still like their homes. Only they want REAL HOMES, modern homes. Kemp Lumber company will be glad to furnish figures showing you how easy and inexpensive it is to modernize. Call 44.

REMODEL AND MAKE IT A HOME!

R. H. Kemp Lumber Co.

You'd Never Believe It

Above you see a house as it appeared before it was turned over to the Panhandle Lumber Co. At the right you see the same house, completely remodeled, made up-to-date and yet retaining all the charm of the old.

It's a romantic sort of house about which to write songs. But there's not much comfort living in it. Desert it? Well, hardly. But for the sake of your everlasting comfort do a bit of remodeling. You'll be surprised what can be done at small cost and the wealth of imagination that our experts at this sort of work have to offer. Call us today—we shall be glad to discuss plans with you and give you an estimate.
