Snow fading down the tracks

The temperature zoomed to 59 Thursday in Hereford, rapidly melting the 3-inch accumulation of snow that fell Tuesday. The high was expected around 60 today, but another cool front will keep the highs in the mid-40s Saturday.

Issues 'percolating' as Clinton meets with cabinet

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Clinton is settling in at the White House after his first full day on the job, ready for the swearing-in of his Cabinet - minus one face - and set to launch a panel to coordinate economic policy.

Absent from today's ceremony will be Zoe Baird, who late Thursday asked Clinton to withdraw her nomination as attorney general amid growing public and congressional opposition over her hiring of two illegal aliens to work in her home. Clinton accepted Baird's request "with sadness."

After spending much of his time shaking hands and greeting well-wishers Thursday, Clinton had a full agenda of work today - including his first formal Cabinet meeting and signing new executive orders.

One executive order will establish a National Economic Council and two others will expand abortion rights, coinciding with the 20th anniversary of the Supreme Court ruling that legalized abortion.

Also percolating for Clinton is the issue of allowing gays into the military. He could take the first step as early as next week, but top military brass still hope to dissuade him.

The first item on today's schedule was presiding over the ceremonial swearing-in of his Cabinet. The Senate, meeting late into the night Thursday to help give Clinton a running start, approved 13 of his 14 Cabinet choices and five other top officials.

Baird was the sole Cabinet nominee who had still faced opposition. The White House had stood by Baird despite mounting pressure from many senators, even Democrats, for her name to be withdrawn.

In her letter to Clinton, Baird said the continuing controversy over her nomination would impede Clinton's efforts to "reinvigorate the Department of Justice."

Also on Thursday, Clinton: -Said his administration would not flinch from military showdowns after two U.S. warplanes fired on an Iraqi air defense site.

"We're going to stay with our policy," Clinton told reporters during a photo session. "It is the American policy and that's what we're going to stay with."

-Spent most of the day greeting thousands of visitors at a White House open house in the morning and at an afternoon reception for Arkansans.

-Paid his first visit to the Oval Office early in the afternoon where he found a note from former President Bush. Aides said Clinton read the note but kept the contents to himself.

-Held a meeting with senior aides, telling them: "We just have to be dominated by high standards and clear vision and we ought to have a good time doing it."

-In his first national security directive, Clinton named Robert Rubin, head of the economic council, Madeline Albright, nominated as U.N. ambassador, to be members of the National Security Council.

It wasn't an easy transition Thursday as White House workers moved into their new offices. Staff members sometimes got lost, telephone numbers were jumbled, packing boxes were everywhere and reporters were grumbling about being denied access to areas that in the past had been open.

Hillary Rodham Clinton checked out offices in the West Wing - ready to become the first first lady to occupy space on the business side of the White House. Other first ladies have had their offices in the social-event-oriented East Wing.

"She'll be involved in a very constructive way and I look forward to working with her," said White House chief of staff Thomas McLarty. Mrs. Clinton is expected to focus on health issues.

Clinton, meanwhile, was getting off to a slow start on the economy. Despite campaign vows to cut the deficit in half in four years and to present an economic program the day after the inauguration, Clinton on Thursday acted to relax deficit-reduction ceilings that would have triggered automatic spending cuts.

Republicans criticized him for backing away from campaign promises.

U.S. warplanes provoked by Iraq but miss targets

WASHINGTON (AP) - A U.S. warplane fired today at an Iraqi air defense site that turned its radar on, but the missiles apparently missed their target, a Pentagon official said. It was the second incident in as many days despite an Iraqi cease-fire declaration.

An F-4G fighter launched two HARM missiles in the northern "no-fly" zone near Mosul after he and another pilot were both "locked on" by an Iraqi SA-3 antimissile radar, the official said.

"First indications are that the missiles apparently missed the target," the Pentagon official said, speaking on condition of anonymity. "We don't know why that happened," he said.

The source said the HARM missile is supposed to follow the radar signal into the target. The official said that one possible reason for the miss was that the radar signal coming from the Iraqi installation was not strong enough.

The Pentagon said Iraq provoked a similar aerial attack Thursday, but officials say they're not sure whether the incidents in the northern air-exclusion zone meant Iraq was resuming a pattern of hostility.

Abortion rights activists now on presidential side

WASHINGTON (AP) - With President Clinton set to ease federal restrictions on abortion counseling, abortion rights activists find themselves on the presidential side of this fight for the first time in a dozen years.

But anti-abortion forces were pressing ahead with their annual protest march today, with tens of thousands of participants expected.

Today is the 20th anniversary of the Supreme Court's landmark Roe vs. Wade decision that legalized abortion.

Perhaps no policy change will so mark the difference in administrations as the abortion issue, and for one of his first acts as president, Clinton has chosen to revoke restrictions on abortion counseling at federally funded clinics.

"It's been such a long, difficult road the last 12 years to try and protect this freedom," said Kate

Michelman, president of the National Abortion Rights Action League. "I'm not naive enough to believe that our work is done, and I worry that people will become complacent because we have elected a pro-choice president. But just think - it could have been George Bush. At least we have the chance to move forward."

Abortion protesters, who now find themselves without White House backing for the first time since President Reagan took office in 1981, are determined to press on with their struggle. Police expected at least 50,000 of them to make their annual march from the White House to the Supreme Court.

"We are not going to be intimidated, and we will go right to the gates of the White House to continue to fight for children's lives," said the Rev. Patrick Mahoney, director of the Christian Defense Coalition.

The National Organization for Women planned an abortion rights vigil on the Capitol steps for late today.

Abortion opponents already were out in force Thursday. Nine were arrested in Washington as protesters staged a blockade at one clinic and held a prayer vigil outside the Planned Parenthood headquarters.

Anti-abortion leaders say they hope their new opposition in the White House will only energize their cause.

"Most Americans are still very uncomfortable with abortion on demand," said Gary Bauer, president of the conservative Family Research Council and a former Reagan White House official.

The abortion rights faction, however, is happy that the White House finally sees things their way.

"It was so frustrating over the past few years," Michelman said, "because it was clear the majority of Americans were pro-choice, but the power to dictate personal decisions was in the hands of the president and the Supreme Court."

In actuality, suspension of the regulation labeled a "gag rule" by opponents, will have more a symbolic than a practical effect.

One of the ironies of the pitched political battle over family planning is that on Election Day, as President Bush was being voted out of office, a federal court issued an injunction preventing the Department of Health and Human Services from enforcing the restriction.

Housing starts post double-digit increase in 1992

WASHINGTON (AP) - Housing starts rose 18.5 percent last year to the highest level in three years, the government said today. It was the first increase in six years as the industry rebounded from its post-World War II low in 1991.

All regions of the country posted double-digit increases as housing found itself buoyed during a creaking economy by some of the lowest mortgage rates in two decades.

The Commerce Department said construction of new single-family homes and apartments totaled 1.20 million in 1992, up from 1.01 million in 1991 when construction dropped to its lowest level since World War II as the economy struggled to emerge from the recession.

Housing starts in 1992 were boosted by a 5.5 percent advance in December, to a 1.30 million seasonally adjusted annual rate. That was the highest level since last March when they reached a 1.34 million rate.

Analysts attributed the overall improvement largely to mortgage rates that dropped from 9.03 percent in March to 7.84 percent in September after the Federal Reserve sharply cut other interest rates.

Money-saving plans proposed by Sharp

AUSTIN (AP) - State Comptroller John Sharp says some of his money-saving proposals for the Legislature might meet with opposition.

But he said Thursday he has two questions for opponents. First, is what is being recommended better than "kicking a bunch of old folks out of nursing homes?"

"The second question we're going to ask them is, 'What's your plan?'" Sharp said.

He told the Texas Chamber of Commerce's annual conference that he will next week propose more than $3 billion in savings to lawmakers, enough to cover the estimated state budget shortfall.

State agencies have said they'll need about $3 billion more over the next two years than the state expects to bring in. A balanced-budget proposal before the Senate Finance Committee would cut some human service programs.

Sharp said his audit report also will include ways to better spend money in such areas as vocational education.

Those courses are funded at a higher rate than academic courses, Sharp said. But he said more than half of vocational education money now goes to homemaking and vocational agriculture, which represent only 1 percent of the job market.

"I am telling you there are no jobs for our sons and daughters in (building) barbecue pits (and) gun cabinets, and castrating sheep. And the sheep are damn thankful for it," Sharp said.

Vocational education funds should train people for existing jobs, and the training could be used as an economic development tool to attract business, he said.

Sharp wouldn't give an exact figure for his proposed savings, saying state leaders first must be completely briefed.

"The only way special interest groups work well in this town is if nobody ever hears about what they're doing," he said. "Like roaches in the kitchen at night, when the lights are off, they thrive and do well. You turn the lights on, and they run to corners."

Some of the 192 proposals in his new report refine recommendations in a similar audit two years ago, Sharp said. The Legislature adopted $2.4 billion of that $4.2 billion in 1991 proposals, he said.

But he said most of the recommendations will be new. Among them:

- Capture $1.6 billion in federal Medicaid matching funds, without a state tax increase.

- Consolidate the Texas Department of Commerce, Texas Employment Commission, the Texas Education Agency's vocational education programs and the Department of Human Services' job training programs. This would save $4.5 million. More importantly, Sharp said, it would improve state job-training efforts.

- Reduce the extra stipend vocational education gets, saving $20 million a year.

- Keep the Texas Department of Health's name, rather than changing it to the Department of Public Health as planned. This would save an estimated $163,000 because such items as new stationery wouldn't be needed.

- Require prison guards and other workers to pay $1 per meal, rather than getting them free. This would mean $25 million over two years, Sharp said.

- Use state-owned office space instead of renting. The state has budgeted $92 million to lease space this fiscal year, while 1.2 million square feet of state-owned office space remains vacant.

Blood Bank here Wednesday

Local residents will have the opportunity to "give the gift of life" when the Blood Bank comes to town Wednesday. The blood drive will be held from 4 to 7 p.m. at Hereford Community Center.

Bentsen, Cisneros assume duties today

WASHINGTON (AP) - Texans Lloyd Bentsen and Henry Cisneros are looking forward to officially assuming their new duties in President Clinton's Cabinet.

Both men were to be sworn in at a White House ceremony today - Bentsen as treasury secretary, Cisneros as secretary of housing and urban development.

Cisneros, a former San Antonio mayor, was among eight Cabinet officers confirmed Thursday by the Senate on a single voice vote. Bentsen was unanimously confirmed the day before.

They spent time Thursday meeting with their respective staffs, learning some of the intricacies of their new jobs. They also were mapping out their schedules.

"I will go to HUD at midday and begin officially my duties," Cisneros said Thursday during an impromptu news conference at the Capitol.

Bentsen did make time Thursday to participate in the swearing-in of his Senate successor, Democrat Bob Krueger. Cisneros also witnessed the ceremony.

Bentsen, who served 22 years in the Senate before resigning the seat Wednesday, said he was getting settled in at the Treasury Department, next door to the White House.

"They are moving furniture on me and I am in a temporary office and meeting with some of the top career people over there," he said.

Cisneros spent the day discussing policy issues with key HUD staffers "as well as some of those who are being considered for assistant secretary positions."

He wasn't quite ready to unveil his staff hires.

"I've really waited to make those kinds of decisions until the confirmation and swearing-in," he said.

AUSTIN - The contentious sides in the abortion debate agree that despite the court ruling 20 years ago that legalized the procedure, the issue is far from solved. The landmark court case from Texas, Roe vs. Wade, was decided 20 years ago today, making abortion legal in the United States.

CORPUS CHRISTI - The 20th anniversary of the U.S. Supreme Court's decision to legalize abortion will be mourned by the ringing of church bells throughout the Corpus Christi area, an abortion group spokeswoman says.

SAN FRANCISCO - Sarah Weddington, the Texas lawyer who successfully argued Roe vs. Wade before the U.S. Supreme Court, said abortion rights advocates can relax and celebrate the ruling's 20th anniversary today - but only briefly.

AUSTIN - State Comptroller John Sharp says some of his money-saving proposals for the Legislature might meet with opposition. He told the Texas Chamber of Commerce's annual conference that he will next week propose more than $3 billion in savings to lawmakers to cover the estimated state budget shortfall.

AUSTIN - The Texas Republican Party and a women's rights group say they are outraged over Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock's comment about state Sen. Judith Zaffirini. But Ms. Zaffirini, D-Laredo, said she was not offended by Bullock's comment that if she "cut her skirt off about six inches" and "put on some high heels" she could get any legislation passed.

AUSTIN - Despite the introduction of Lotto Texas, state Lottery officials say instant scratch card games continue to have strong sales. Lottery officials Thursday introduced the latest scratch card game, dubbed "Lucky 7's." It requires winners to match three 7's in a row on a tic-tac-toe board, either across, up-and-down or diagonally.

WASHINGTON - His hand on the Senate Bible, family and friends looking on, Texan Bob Krueger took the oath of office that makes him the newest U.S. senator. Krueger was sworn in Thursday, a day after Sen. Lloyd Bentsen resigned the seat he had held the last 22 years.

SAN ANTONIO - Courthouse violence like this week's shooting in Dallas likely will lead to the use of metal detectors at most major courts, says Texas Supreme Court Chief Justice Tom Phillips.

AUSTIN - The Texas Department of Commerce has denied claims made by a former agency attorney who says he was fired for revealing improper spending of federal job training funds.

AUSTIN - Semiconductor industry researchers say the development of tools to increase the power and speed of computer chips will lead to greater market share and employment in the United States.

AUSTIN - State leaders would get increased funding under a budget proposal now under consideration, but they say that their spending probably won't increase once the appropriations bill is final.

AUSTIN - Jim Mattox says he still intends to run for the U.S. Senate, even though many top Democrats are backing Sen. Bob Krueger. But he stopped short of formally declaring.

Lotto going strong, so are card games

AUSTIN (AP) - Despite the introduction of Lotto Texas, state Lottery officials say instant scratch card games continue to have strong sales.

"There was a lot of concern that Lotto was going to cannibalize the scratch games, but it hasn't happened," Lottery spokesman Steve Levine said Thursday.

Lotto officials Thursday introduced the latest scratch card game, dubbed "Lucky 7's." It requires winners to match three 7's in a row on a tic-tac-toe board, either across, up-and-down or diagonally.

Prizes range from $1 to $500, and lottery players will enjoy some of the best odds yet - a 1 in 4.46 chance of winning - among the seven scratch card games already being played, assistant lottery director Zoann Attwood said.

Lucky 7's, which goes on sale at lottery outlets Monday, "quickly disproves the notion that you can't win at tic-tac-toe unless someone makes a mistake," Ms. Attwood said. "It's no mistake that there will be lots of winners in the Lottery's new Lucky 7's game - 15.7 million winners, in fact."

Odds for winning one of the 4,200 prizes of $500 are 1 in 16,700. The other prize amounts are $77, $27, $7, $5, $2 and $1.

Lotto officials say sales of the scratch card games have not dropped off despite the introduction of Lotto Texas, which offers at least a $2 million jackpot during drawings every Wednesday and Saturday.

Levine says when the lotto jackpots hover between $2 and $7 million, lotto ticket sales average about $12 million a week. The scratch game sales have consistently averaged $18 to $20 million a week, he said.

As of Jan. 17, Texas Lottery sales were $1.105 billion, with instant games accounting for $978 million and Lotto Texas bringing in $126 million.

Lotto Texas had paid out $86.9 million in prizes, including $68.8 million to 10 jackpot winners as of Jan. 17. Total instant game prizes awarded is $444.8 million.

No one won the estimated $7 million lotto jackpot Wednesday night, lottery officials said Thursday.

If lotto sales continue as expected, the estimated jackpot for Saturday's drawing will be $11 million, officials said.

Instant game tickets are sold at a number of Hereford stores. Lotto tickets are sold only at The Country Store and Town & Country Food Store.

Cowtown, without cows, goes uptown after final cattle auction

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer
FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - Cowtown awakened one recent morning to learn it no longer was Cowtown.

Well, sort of. "Going, going...gone," announced a headline decorating the front page of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. A tagline atop the story revealed the chilling news: "The 100-year era of cattle auctions at the Fort Worth Stockyards comes to an end."

No longer economically feasible, a spokesman explained. Balderdash!

Strip the heart from San Francisco or the French Quarter from New Orleans. Siphon the beer out of Milwaukee or condemn the slot machines in Las Vegas. Black out the moon over Miami, if you must.

But don't take the cows out of Cowtown.

It's true. They're gone. In fact, the final weekly cattle auction ended shortly before Christmas with some 150 animals moving through the Stockyards complex.

"It's sad," said Sue McCafferty, president of the North Fort Worth Historical Society.

"It's terrible," said Jerre Todd, a longtime activist in the Chisholm Trail Roundup, an annual celebration of the city's historic link to the cattle drives of yesteryear.

"The Stockyards are just a dear part of Fort Worth. And those cows were just as important as those sad-eyed country singers up the street at Filthy McNasty's and Billy Bob's."

Billy Bob's and McNasty's are C&W honky-tonks of some notoriety.

Despite the despair, live cattle sales of recent vintage were little more than token affairs anyway - romantic and nostalgic but rarely money makers.

Smaller, convenient auctions remain the bread and butter of the small producers who sell their animals in surrounding places such as Gainesville, Weatherford, Mineral Wells and Cleburne.

On a new level, however, this town's reputation as a cattle marketing center is secure. Unusual and different, but secure.

Still, half a century ago, more than a million cattle were marketed annually at the North Side facility. So were millions of sheep and any number of horses, hogs and mules.

In 1944, the peak year, 5,277,496 head of livestock passed through the Fort Worth Stockyards.

The oldest working stockyards in America, the area along Exchange Ave. was known in its champagne days as the "Wall Street of the West."

More than a century ago, cattlemen gave the town its first economic security. In the 1860s and 1870s, they drove their herds up the Chisholm Trail, through Fort Worth, to railheads in Kansas and Missouri.

"Fort Worth was the last chance for drovers to buy flour, bacon, beans, dried fruit, coffee and other necessities for the long drives across the Indian Nations," author-historian Leonard Sanders says in "How Fort Worth Became the Texasmost City."

Traildrivers returning from Kansas often reloaded in Fort Worth for the final leg of the homeward trip.

A forerunner of the Fort Worth Stockyards, Union Stockyards, sprang up in 1883, said historian McCafferty.

It included a livestock exchange building, hotel and saloon.

She said nearly a quarter million cows were auctioned there in 1896, and Fort Worth "almost became the hog capital of the world."

In the early 1900s, Swift and Armour, the nation's leading meat companies, located plants in Fort Worth, and by 1909 were processing 1.2 million cattle annually.

The town's population nearly tripled to 73,312 between 1900 and 1910.

The meat packing houses, like the cows, are gone now, but the Stockyards complex remains a national historic district, one of the largest in the United States.

And it is anything but dead, some argue.

"The cattle business is not gone, gone, gone from the Stockyards," said Holt Hickman, a key player in the area's tourist, entertainment and business developments. "It's still a cattle center, it's just done differently."

"Buying and selling cattle has changed, like going from an adding machine to a computer or from radio to television."

Superior Livestock Auctions Inc., with offices in the Exchange Building, sold 860,000 head of cattle last year and projects 1993 sales of 920,000.

What's different is, not one of those cows is in Fort Worth.

Superior representatives film the cattle, or offerings, at the ranches, then mail catalogs to 5,000 registered buyers around the country. Via satellite, the company holds auctions twice monthly.

Buyers watch the auctioneer on TV sets and submit bids over 25 incoming phone lines.

"I really think we'll hit the million mark in 1994," said Paul Branch, Superior's branch manager.

So Cowtown's not dead. It's just gone uptown.

And for the diehards, the Stockyards movers and shakers are going to run in a permanent herd of Longhorns. A kind of rent-a-cow they hope will please everyone.

"Tourists want to see cattle when they come to the Stockyards," laughed Allen Short, a Stockyards official. "Now they can see them seven days a week."

Unemployment claims rise again for second week

WASHINGTON (AP) - The number of Americans filing new claims for unemployment benefits rose for the second week in a row this month, the government said today in a reminder of the unevenness of the economic expansion.

Claims rose by 17,000 during the week ended Jan. 9 to 361,000, the highest level in seven weeks. A week earlier, they had shot up by 53,000, the biggest increase in five months.

In advance, economists were looking for a small decrease of 5,000 to 10,000 claims. But they weren't likely to be unduly alarmed by the latest increase, unless the upward trend continues. Claims have declined during 10 of the last 15 weeks.

Weekly claims numbers are volatile and can soar or plummet in any given week.

A more stable four-week moving average of claims remained near the 3-year low it had reached during the period ended a week earlier. It was 331,750 in the latest four-week span, up from 331,500.

The latest rise underscores the slowness of the economy to generate new jobs, despite other positive signs such as increased retail sales and rising factory production.

Still, since the start of the summer, the trend has been positive. At the beginning of 1992, weekly claims were averaging around 450,000 and by June they were hovering around 400,000.

The nation's unemployment rate hit an eight-year high of 7.8 percent in June but had declined to 7.3 percent by December.

State leaders would get more funds under plan

AUSTIN (AP) - State leaders would get increased funding under a budget proposal now under consideration, but they say that their spending probably won't increase once the appropriations bill is final.

Under the spending plan prepared by the Legislature's budget staff, Gov. Ann Richards' office would receive $207.5 million for the 1994-95 budget period, up from $173.1 million in 1992-93.

The House would receive $52.8 million, compared with a previous appropriation of $39.1 million. The Senate would get $47.3 million, up from $47.1 million.

Richards, Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock, presiding officer of the Senate and House Speaker Pete Laney have vowed to write a state budget without a tax increase.

To do that, a budget proposal being considered by the Senate Finance Committee would reduce monthly welfare to single-parent families, fall short of covering increased school enrollment and possibly eliminate some human service programs.

HIGHLIGHTS

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN - Texas legislators opened the regular session by voting to resolve the controversial public school finance crisis within the first 30 days.

House members elected Rep. Pete Laney, D-Hale Center, as house speaker, and senators named Sen. John Montford, D-Lubbock, president pro tem.

Laney told members his top priority was to restore public trust, a sentiment echoed in Texas Secretary of State John Hannah's speech to members.

Hannah told them: "The public's frustration with politics is real. Their mistrust of the political system runs deep."

One observer commented: "He ought to know; he caught enough flak this summer when he tried to void the primary elections to help Democrats."

Lawmakers hope to agree on a public school finance amendment by February, which is the deadline for making the special election ballot, expected to be called May 1 to elect a successor to vacating U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen.

Senate Race Widens

Gov. Richards' hand-picked candidate in that contest, Bob Krueger, won endorsements last week from the AFL-CIO and the Texas Democratic Party's executive committee, an initial victory over potential opponent, former Attorney General Jim Mattox.

Mattox, who asked both groups to remain neutral, has made all the motions of being a candidate, except an official announcement, which he may do soon.

He also issued a blanket apology to Richards. In their 1990 gubernatorial battle, he asked her to deny she had ever used drugs. Richards won the election, but some voters still remember Mattox's image of Richards' life before she became a recovering alcoholic.

"Jim, don't do this. This isn't your race," Krueger advised.

Meanwhile, if Democratic party faithful are solidifying behind a single candidate, Republicans are spreading their political strength: Texas Treasurer Kay Bailey Hutchison and Houston Congressman Jack Fields officially entered the race last week. U.S. Rep. Joe Barton of Ennis entered the race earlier.

Both Hutchison and Fields promised to serve no more than two terms and to support term limitations, which Krueger opposes.

New Appointments

Gov. Richards appointed Mary Scott Nabers to the Texas Railroad Commission seat being vacated by Krueger, and state Rep. Eddie Cavazos, D-Corpus Christi, will fill Nabers' seat representing employers on the Texas Employment Commission.

Nabers drew some GOP flak because she and her lobbyist husband, Lynn Nabers, own a small oil and gas company and he works for a law firm representing TGV, the French company chosen to build the proposed bullet train.

The Railroad Commission regulates oil, gas and trucking industries and has oversight over the bullet train project.

Reins to Republicans

The lesson of gridlock in the recent special session, taught by Republicans angry at being shut out of the action, was not lost on Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock, who last week named three GOP chairmen of Senate committees.

Bullock stripped Republicans of all committee chairmanships in the '91 session, but now has selected Sen. Bill Ratliff, R-Mount Pleasant, to chair the education committee which will draft school finance reform.

Other GOP chairs include Sen. Ike Harris of Dallas, state affairs; and Sen. Don Henderson of Houston, jurisprudence.

Rep. Denton Indicted

State Rep. Betty Denton, D-Waco, was indicted last week on charges she reported fictitious campaign contributions in her unsuccessful race for the Texas Senate.

Denton, a 17-year veteran of the Texas House, was charged with tampering with government records, a third-degree felony, and misdemeanor perjury.

Denton is accused of reporting on state disclosure forms $68,500 in campaign contributions from six people who never made them.

The indictment alleges those entries were made "with intent to harm and defraud" the four other candidates in the January 1991 special election campaign for Senate District 9 - including the eventual winner, Republican David Sibley of Waco.

Bullock Nails Mosbacher

That's not to say that Bullock, a Democrat, loves Republicans.

Bullock's '90 opponent, Rob Mosbacher Jr., will ask Bullock and the Senate to approve term limitations for state officials.

Bullock likened Mosbacher to a "flea climbing up the backside of an elephant with rape on its mind."

"I'm glad he remembers me, Mosbacher replied. "Sounds like he's having a bad day."

Other Highlights

U.S. Secretary of State James Baker will return home to a dual position at Rice University, a governing board seat and a role in the think tank he helped create. Baker's father helped found Rice University and served on its board of trustees for 50 years.

Bullock said all 31 senators will support a bill to limit lawsuits on products liability that was worked out in interim talks between trial lawyers and business interests.

Insurers will ask the State Board of Insurance to raise benchmark auto liability rates 14 percent, but disagree with consumer advocates who say damage claims have declined.

CHRIST'S CHURCH FELLOWSHIP

Dr. Alton Tomlin and the church congregation extend a warm invitation to the public to join them in worship and praise.

A spokesperson for the church said, "Christ's Church Fellowship's guideposts to teach, direct and mold us into a people of faith, love and purpose are: Exalting Christ (John 12:32); fullness of the Holy Spirit (Acts 1:8); harmonious relationships (John 13:35); healthy teaching (John 6:63); a love for the lost (Luke 19:10); praise and worship (Psalm 96:2-3); and a passion for personal holiness (1 Cor. 3:18)."

Have you found the church home where you can walk in unity and mission? A fellowship where you are accepted and loved? Where all the gifts operating in the first century church are available to believers today? Where the wholeness of the Bible is taught?

The spokesperson continued, "Please come visit us and see for yourself what kind of church and what kind of folks we are. Would you like to sit down with us, ask questions and dialogue with us?"

Herd comes from behind to smack Dumas

Six in a row

Hereford's Richard Sanderson rolls the ball off his fingers on the third of three consecutive layups he had during a fourth-quarter run. The Herd edged Dumas 44-42 in a thriller Thursday night in Whiteface Gymnasium. Looking on is Hereford's Michael Brown, who is blocking out Dumas' Alfredo Medrano. Dumas' Danny Eberly is in front of Sanderson.

New England hires Parcels

BOSTON (AP) - Bill Parcels missed coaching. The New England Patriots missed winning. Now they're a team.

"We're going to be a team from top to bottom," Parcels said. "Anyone that has their own agenda ... won't be around too long."

The coach who won two Super

Bowls in his last five years with the New York Giants sees no reason why he can't have a chance to win another with a club that has won only four playoff games in its 33 years.

"This is a new start," Parcels said Thursday at a news conference where he was announced as the Patriots coach. "No one passed a rule that said we're not going to win in 1993."

The Patriots were 2-14 last season, tied with Seattle for the NFL's worst record. They have gone 9-39 the past three seasons. Home crowds were small. Talk wouldn't die that owner James Orthwein might move the team to his home town of St. Louis.

Eric Sims came through in the clutch for the Whitefaces Thursday night, hitting two free throws to give Hereford the lead with 30 seconds left and securing two rebounds in the final 10 seconds. His heroics helped secure a 44-42 win over Dumas in Whiteface Gymnasium.

The win broke the Herd's six-game losing streak dating back to Dec. 29. It improved the Herd's record to 7-13 and leveled their District 1-4A record at 1-1. Dumas drops to 1-1 and 9-10.

Herd coach Joe Main was overwhelmed by his team's defense. It was all he could talk about.

"We did a great job defensively in the fourth quarter," Main said. "The difference in the game was we made a few shots and we played really good defense. We made a little run in the third (quarter), and they (Dumas) kicked it back up again, but we played really good defense. I mean we really did."

"Most of our points came on defense," Main continued. "Our defense caused the majority of our points. I thought we played really good half-court defense. I was just really pleased with our defense."

The defense was responsible for Hereford's most exciting offensive run, which came midway through the fourth quarter. Hereford trailed 35-30 going into the fourth, but Tim Burkhalter started the quarter with four quick points before Dumas' Craig Dunham answered with a basket. Then, Hereford's press created three consecutive Dumas turnovers, each of which was converted into a layup by Richard Sanderson. The second layup gave Hereford a 38-37 lead--the Herd's first lead since late in the second quarter. The run was capped by Kyle Hansen's free throw to make it 41-37.

Dumas came back, though, with a little help. After another Dunham basket made it 41-39, Sanderson was called for an offensive charge, and his protest drew a technical foul. Matt Nystuen hit one of the two resulting free throws, cutting Hereford's lead to 41-40, then Joseph Mares hit an 18-footer to give Dumas the lead with just over a minute left.

Hereford was forced to foul, but on a missed Dumas free throw, Mares was called for a foul for going over Sims' back. Sims went to the line to shoot the one-and-one with 31 seconds left and sunk both for a 43-44 lead.

"I just thought 'We have to have these,'" Sims said. "I put everything else out of my mind and concentrated on putting the ball through the rim."

Hereford's Kyle Hansen stole a Dumas pass but was called for a travelling violation when he fell to the floor. Dumas was called for an offensive foul, sending Hansen to the line for a one-and-one with nine seconds left. He missed the first, but Sims went up high and grabbed the long rebound. Dumas tied the ball up, but possession went to Hereford.

Dumas fouled Corey Scott immediately (with four seconds left). He hit the first free throw to make the score 44-42. He missed the second, but Sims was there for the rebound. Sims was fouled with two seconds left and missed his free throw, but Dumas couldn't get a shot off.

The game went back and forth in the first quarter, and Dumas led 14-12 at the end of it. A Corey Scott three-pointer gave Hereford a 15-14 lead early in the second quarter, then the scoring slowed down for both teams. Dumas' Nystuen hit a three-pointer to tie the game at 17-17 with 2:25 left in the quarter. Jason Tatarevich's pull-up jumper briefly gave Hereford the lead back, but Dumas scored the final eight points of the half, including an awkward three-pointer by Nystuen at the buzzer to make it 25-17.

Defense

Hereford's Stephanie Wilcox plays defense against Dumas Darla Dawson during the Lady Whitefaces' 55-38 loss Thursday at Whiteface Gymnasium. Wilcox led Hereford with nine points.

The third quarter run Main referred to consisted mostly of free throws--Hansen hit 4-of-4, Sanderson hit 2-of-2, and Sims followed a reverse layup with a free throw--as Hereford went 7-for-7 at the line early in the second half to pull within 31-28. Dumas answered with a six-point run.

Sanderson led Hereford with 14 points. Sims scored 11 and grabbed seven rebounds. Dunham led Dumas with 13 points and Nystuen added 12.

The Lady Whitefaces lost 55-38 to Dumas in the first game of the varsity doubleheader.

The Demonettes broke open a close game by outscoring Hereford 22-10 in the fourth quarter. Hereford trailed only 33-29 after Tarabeth Holmes' free throw opened the fourth quarter scoring, but Dumas went on a 20-4 run which was broken only by two baskets by Jill Robinson. Stephanie Wilcox hit a three-pointer at the buzzer.

Wilcox led Hereford with nine points--on three treys--despite missing much of the game because she turned her ankle in the second quarter. Robinson scored eight points, six in the fourth quarter.

Hereford falls to 0-4 in district play and 3-16 overall. Dumas improves to 2-2 and 7-12.

There was a shocker in another District 1-4A game Thursday. In Amarillo, Caprock's Simon Maldonado banked in a 43-foot shot at the buzzer to give the Longhorns a 59-56 win over state-ranked Pampa. Caprock is now 2-0 in district play, and Pampa, the defending champion, is 1-1.

In the other boys' game, Randall won at home against Borger, 79-76, giving both 1-1 records in district.

In the girls games, Randall beat Borger 88-61, and Pampa beat Caprock 49-46. Randall is now 4-0 in District 1-4A, while the other three are 2-2.

Tonight, the Whitefaces and Lady Whitefaces go to Pampa for a varsity doubleheader: the girls play at 6 p.m. and the boys play at 7:30. Also tonight, Randall is at Dumas and Caprock is at Borger.

The sophomore boys' game with Dumas was canceled, as is their game with Pampa which was scheduled for today.

The freshmen girls played at Hereford High School and split a pair with Borger. The Hereford B team won 27-25 on Crystal Mercer's last-second shot in overtime. Carlota Ruiz led the team with nine points. The A team lost 39-30 despite Mindy Davis' 13 points.

Coaches did not report results from either the freshmen boys' games in Borger or the junior high boys' and girls' games in Pampa.

Ex-Tiger Gehringer dies

BLOOMFIELD HILLS, Mich. (AP) - Charlie Gehringer, a Hall of Fame second baseman whose entire 19-year big league career was spent with the Detroit Tigers, died Thursday. He was 89.

His wife, Josephine, said Gehringer had been in a nursing home since suffering a stroke last month.

Gehringer played for the Tigers from 1924-42. He was the American League's most valuable player in 1937, leading the league with a .371 batting average that year. Consistency was his trademark.

"They wind Gehringer up at the start of the season and he never runs down," pitcher Lefty Gomez once said. "He hits .354 on opening day and he hits .354 the rest of the season. Whenever you played the Tigers, you'd look up and he'd be on base."

Some of Gehringer's teammates included first baseman Hank Greenberg, whose number was retired with Gehringer's in 1983, and the great hitter, Ty Cobb.

"Cobb didn't think much of me, but he did take the time to show me how to hit properly," Gehringer said after his playing days were over. "He made me use his own bat, a real good one."

Gehringer collected at least 200 hits and had at least 100 RBIs in seven seasons. He scored more than 100 runs 12 times. He batted at least .300 in 13 seasons.

The left-handed hitter finished with a .320 career batting average and 2,839 hits. He helped the Tigers to pennants in 1934, 1935 and 1940. The Tigers beat Chicago in the 1935 World Series.

Gehringer was inducted into the Baseball Hall of Fame in 1949. He was named Tigers general manager Aug. 10, 1951, replacing Bill Evans, who had resigned. Gehringer lasted until the end of the 1953 season, when he was replaced by Muddy Ruel. He was named to an advisory job in the Tigers organization in 1957.

Hakeem celebrates B-day, win

By The Associated Press
Hakeem Olajuwon, who isn't adept at blowing out candles, is a terror at blowing away the opposition on his birthday.

Olajuwon celebrated his 30th birthday Thursday night with 38 points and seven blocked shots as the Rockets improved their record to 5-0 when he plays on his birthday with a 126-120 victory over the Detroit Pistons. It also was Houston's seventh straight win after seven consecutive losses.

Before the game against the Pistons, Olajuwon was given a birthday cake, but his teammates rigged it with trick candles.

"I played better than trying to blow out the candles," Olajuwon said. "I'll go out and have a relaxed dinner now that we've won."

Olajuwon missed a game on his 1991 birthday because of an injury and the Rockets lost to Sacramento 97-94. They came back on Jan. 21 last year with a 117-107 triumph over Milwaukee.

"What can you say about Hakeem, he did it again," Rockets coach Rudy

Tomjanovich said. "He played a great physical game again and he did it for us when it counted."

"He looks like he's playing younger now," said guard Kenny Smith, who had 19 points and 11 assists for the Rockets.

Elsewhere in the NBA, it was Chicago 107, New Jersey 94; Milwaukee 110, Indiana 108; and Denver 110, Dallas 94.

Houston, which also got 22 points from Vernon Maxwell, took a 102-87 lead into the fourth period, but the Pistons closed to 115-112 with 3:21 left. Olajuwon kept the Rockets ahead with eight points in the last 6:22.

Joe Dumars scored 32 points and Isiah Thomas 30 for the Pistons.

Nuggets 110, Mavericks 94
Dallas, hoping to turn around its miserable season with consecutive victories, couldn't pull it off as Denver snapped a 13-game road losing streak.

Chris Jackson scored 24 points, including the last two baskets of an 8-2 spurt in the fourth quarter that sent the Mavericks to their 31st loss in 34 games. Dallas beat Detroit 113-103 Tuesday night, snapping a 15-game losing streak.

The Nuggets also got 19 points from Reggie Williams, 16 rebounds from LaPhonso Ellis and 15 rebounds from Dikembe Mutombo. Tracy Moore scored 16 points and Terry Davis grabbed 19 rebounds for the Mavericks.

Bulls 107, Nets 94
Chicago won at New Jersey, snapping the Nets' five-game winning streak, as Michael Jordan scored 12 of his 30 points in the first quarter when the Bulls took the lead for good.

The Bulls limited New Jersey to 1-for-9 shooting in opening a 14-5 lead, and led by 12 three times in the first quarter. They extended the margin to 59-45 at halftime, and the closest the Nets got in the second half was six points.

Bucks 110, Pacers 108
Milwaukee snapped a seven-game losing streak by winning at Indiana, with Blue Edwards scoring 27 points and Todd Day 24.

The Bucks didn't allow the Pacers a field goal in the last four minutes.

Georgia Tech loses third in row

By The Associated Press
Since knocking Duke from the ranks of the unbeaten and the top spot in college basketball, it's been one disaster after another for Georgia Tech.

And with seventh-ranked Virginia next, coach Bobby Cremins may not have seen the end of a "downward spiral." Regardless, it would be hard to imagine things getting any worse for the Yellow Jackets.

"Our confidence level is down," Cremins said after Wake Forest stunned 16th-ranked Georgia Tech 81-58 Thursday night in Atlanta.

"We need a great game to come out of this now."

The loss was the third straight for Tech. After beating Duke on Jan. 10, the Yellow Jackets lost to North Carolina and were embarrassed 84-67 by the College of Charleston.

Rodney Rogers and Randolph Childress sparked runs of 11-0 and 16-0 as Wake Forest raced to a 43-16 lead in the first half.

Cremins was not the only surprised coach.

"I don't think anybody in his right mind would have predicted the way this game went," the Demon

Deacons' Dave Odom said. "I know nobody from Wake Forest would have."

Rogers scored 29 points and Childress 18 as the Demon Deacons ended a 10-game losing streak at Tech, dating to a 74-56 victory on Jan. 2, 1982. Wake Forest shot 75 percent in the first half and 61 percent overall.

In another Atlantic Coast Conference game, it was No. 6 Duke 92, North Carolina State 56. Elsewhere, it was No. 22 Utah 82, Hawaii 67; No. 23 UCLA 84, Stanford 76, and No. 25 Long Beach State 72, Cal State-Fullerton 58.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

ELIJAH AND THE PRIESTS OF BAAL

WHEN THE PRIESTS OF BAAL FAILED TO BRING FIRE ON THEIR SACRIFICE, ELIJAH STEPPED FORWARD TO TAKE COMMAND. HE EVEN INSTRUCTED THE PEOPLE TO POUR WATER AGAIN AND AGAIN OVER HIS SACRIFICE...

IF THE LORD DID SEND DOWN FIRE, HOW THEN CAN IT BURN WHEN ELIJAH HAS DRENCHED THE ALTAR WITH WATER?!

LORD, GOD OF ISRAEL, LET IT BE KNOWN THIS DAY THAT THOU ART GOD... O LORD, HEAR ME, THAT THE PEOPLE MAY KNOW THAT THOU ART THE LIVING GOD!

AND SUDDENLY, FIRE FILLS THE AIR AND FALLS ON THE ALTAR, CONSUMING THE SACRIFICE, AND THE WOOD AND THE STONES OF THE ALTAR, AND LICKING UP THE VERY WATER IN THE TRENCH ROUND ABOUT THE ALTAR...

Executive director resigns

The Board of Directors of the West Texas State University Catholic Student Center have announced that Sister Hilary Decker, O.S.B., executive director of the center for the past eight years, has announced her resignation, effective June 30.

In a statement to the board, Sister Hilary said, "I promised Bishop (Leroy T.) Matthiesen when the project of the Center building was begun that I would stay until it was completed. I have fulfilled that promise, and I feel I have accomplished much more than I came here to do when I first arrived here eight years ago."

In her tenure with the Center, Sister Hilary has been instrumental in the growth of the WTSU Catholic Student Center. The new Student Center building, which was dedicated in September at 2614 4th Avenue in Canyon, was a building Sister Hilary has helped plan, implement and direct.

Bishop Leroy T. Matthiesen of Amarillo said Sister Hilary's resignation "leaves us with a sense of loss. She has been instrumental in a significant chapter in the Student Center's history, and the driving force behind the success of the Student Center and the Catholic students in the area have enjoyed over the past eight years."

Sister Hilary has announced no future plans, but said, "I wish to take this opportunity to thank everyone for being a part of the fabric of my life...I leave this position with assurance that each of you will carry on and continue this great work of ministering to the students of the University."

The Student Center's Board of Directors have formed a search committee to seek a new director, and will announce the results of their search prior to June 30.

For more information, contact Chris Albracht at 383-2243; to reach Bishop Matthiesen, call the same number. To reach Sister Hilary Decker, call the WTSU Catholic Student Center at 655-4345.

CHILDREN, SMOKING

Ninety percent of all adult smokers begin smoking before the age of 19. The average age for new smokers is 13. Each day more than 3,000 American children start smoking with the number of Texas students that experiment with smoking increasing from 39-53 percent between 1988 and 1990.

Tobacco is directly responsible for more than 23,000 Texas deaths each year. Most of these deaths are people who began smoking as children.

The tobacco industry denies that they market to children despite the use of cartoon characters like Joe Camel and Kool Program.

Tobacco is readily available to children. Over one billion packs of cigarettes are illegally sold to minors each year nationwide. Although Texas has a law that tobacco cannot be sold to anyone under 18, tobacco is sold through vending machines accessible to children.

There is also little incentive for retailers to observe the law.

ST. ANTHONY'S CATHOLIC CHURCH

Joseph and Donna Monroe and their two sons, Andrew and Matthew, are welcomed as new members of the parish.

All members of CYO/JOY are reminded of the youth retreat to be held from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. Saturday with Father Ken Keller leading the event. The retreat's theme is "The Young Saplings of Today Are the Great Oaks of Tomorrow." Those participating are asked to bring a Bible.

Former long-time Hereford resident and a member of St. Anthony's Catholic Church, Margaret Gallagher Crofford, 85, died recently at Nashville, Tenn. She had been a resident of Fort Worth.

In preparing for St. Anthony's School's 75th anniversary, it was discovered that pictures are needed for the sixth grade classes for 1980, 1984 and 1984.

Seminarian David Contreras has been assigned to the local parish for the last semester of his preparation for ordination.

As part of Christian Unity Week, St. Anthony's Catholic Church will add a special commentary during each Sunday service this weekend that will briefly explain the Catholic Mass. The guest commentator will be the Rev. Kenneth Keller, adult education consultant with the Diocese of Amarillo. His presentation will be "Footnotes on the Catholic Mass."

Everyone is invited to come to hear this special presentation at the church located at 115 N. 25 Mile Ave. Special commentary services will be held at 6 p.m. Saturday and at 9 a.m. and 11 a.m. Sunday.

The meaningful symbols of present Christian rites and prayers are rooted deeply in a common Judeo-Christian history but tend to be missed in the modern high-tech world. Rev. Keller's presentation will make brief comments on the history and meaning of these ancient rituals. Christian Unity can be enhanced by such presentations about common worship experiences. However, students of history and music might also benefit from the commentary. The great composers of the world have written majestic symphonies for the Mass (Beethoven's "Missa Solemnis" and Mozart's "Requiem") so a basic understanding of the Mass can enhance the experience of music.

For additional information, call Annette Albracht at 364-6150.

DAWN BAPTIST CHURCH

The Rev. Lonny Poe and the church congregation invite the public to attend all services.

Bible study begins at 9:50 a.m. and the Sunday worship services are held at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m.

The men of the community will meet for breakfast and a devotional Saturday morning at 7:30. This week's Bible study and prayer time will be held in the home of Ray and Arless Stewart at 7 p.m.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Sunday School for all ages begins at 9:30 a.m. A nursery is provided.

Helen Rose's Adult Sunday School Class is enjoying the second magazine of their new Presbyterian curriculum. The Bible Speaks is the name of the magazine and is a study of the Gospel.

"12 Steps, The Path to Wholeness," the study in Jim Cory's Sunday School Class will conclude the discussion of the sixth through ninth steps in order to understand the process of repentance.

Officer's Training will be held Sunday, 6-7:30 p.m. at the church.

The Senior High Youth Group will meet at the church while the Junior High Youth Group will meet at 203 E. 15th, at Malamen's. Both groups meet Sunday, 6-7:30 p.m.

The Panhandle Presbyterian Community will meet in Amarillo, Tuesday, Jan. 26, 7:30 p.m.

TEMPLE BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday, the church congregation will be observing Baptist Men's Day and everyone is invited to join members as the laymen take the places of responsibility during the regular church services.

Beginning at 7:30 a.m. Sunday, the Brotherhood will have their monthly breakfast with all men and boys invited for a program and food.

Bible study begins at 9:45 a.m. each Sunday and the Sunday morning worship service starts at 11. Larry Stone will be bringing the morning message. The 7 p.m. evening message will be brought by Bill McDowell.

The youth groups meet each Sunday at 5:45 p.m.

The Ladies Fellowship will meet at 7 p.m. Monday. All ladies are invited to attend.

The Wednesday evening prayer meeting will be at 7.

CHRISTIAN ASSEMBLY CHURCH

Bible study is conducted by Doug Manning and is held from 9:30-10:15 a.m. each Sunday. Classes for junior and senior high students are under the direction of Carolyn Baxter.

Fellowship time precedes the church service which is also led by Manning and is held from 10:30-11:15 a.m.

A nursery service is provided under the supervision of Vida Cash, Amanda Rickman and Susan Rickman.

Information
lovers

What does it mean when people tell you they "can't live without chocolate?" or they are "addicted to their job?" Usually, they mean that they take great pleasure from indulging in these foods or activities. In the same way, people apply this casual definition of "addiction" to their morning cup of coffee. But consumers should not let innocent references equating "addiction" with food desires confuse them about the scientific meaning of this term.

One or more caffeine-containing beverages - coffee, tea, soft drinks and chocolate products - are consumed by most Americans everyday. While caffeine is considered a mild central nervous system stimulant, enjoying a morning cup of coffee should not be considered in the same context with drug abuse.

Budget stretching hints

If you're looking for some budget-stretching tips to give you a low-cost lift on your next ski trip, here are some that will put you on the right trail to squeeze the most from your skiing dollars.

-Close to home - If you do your skiing in your own neighborhood, you might consider trading time for ticket. Besides joining the ski patrol, you can get a job on or near the slopes and get significant discounts on lift tickets.

-It's cheaper by the dozen - Check out the ski clubs and group rates. Since ski clubs buy lift tickets at a reduced rate, they can offer significant savings to members. An added plus is the a pre-ski social scene.

-Ask fellow skiers - You'll get on the right track by asking around. A knowledgeable travel agent can be a big help.

-Yes, you can go to pieces over your parka - The one thing you won't want to waste money on is the wrong parka. A finely crafted parka should come apart in your hands, I always say.

-Check out the packages - Ski resorts are dishing up some super cheap packages this year. The trick is to look beyond the big time resorts. If you have the flexibility, it's usually cheaper to drive than fly; it may also be cheaper to travel by bus or train than by plane.

-Try the humble abode - Ski dorms are fun and some even include breakfast and dinner.

Remember, with a little research and some ingenuity, your next ski trip can keep you on the slopes longer, without forcing you to make your last run to the bank.

PARIS (AP) - President Francois Mitterrand has made former Olympic ski champion Jean-Claude Killy a commander of the Legion of Honor.

"We don't have, in each generation, many champions of your caliber," said Mitterrand, who hung a legion sash and medallion around Killy's neck during a ceremony Wednesday.

Killy, 49, was co-president of last year's Winter Olympics in Albertville.
