Public meeting set here to discuss problems of youth

By GARRY WESNER
Managing Editor

Last month, Hereford recorded its first homicide within the city limits in 3-1/2 years with the shooting of 19-year-old Santos Rincon III.

In the aftermath of the shooting, police held a public meeting to try to diffuse tensions before the violence spread through recrimination or revenge.

On Tuesday, the Hereford Police Department, Hereford Independent School District and nearly a dozen other civic, religious, political and law enforcement groups will sponsor a community-wide meeting that is hoped to be the first in a series of sessions aimed at addressing various youth-related problems such as violence, alcohol and other things.

Alan Stephens, drug free schools/parenting coordinator for the Region 19 Education Services Center in El Paso, will appear at the Community Center from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Tuesday to "basically talk about how to bring teams together" from the community "in a way that they can work on safety and violence prevention," said Nena Veazey, administrative assistant to school superintendent Charles Greenawalt.

The meeting came about, Wagner and Mrs. Veazey said, because of perceived discipline problems at Hereford High School, because of community concerns surrounding several shooting incidents - including the Rincon slaying - already this year, because of the availability of alcohol to young people and because of the fear of gang problems in Hereford. "We've got all sorts of people who are contacting us saying let us help," said Police Chief David Wagner, noting that "lots of concerned parents" have been joined by judges, prosecutors, probation officers, schools, law enforcement, the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, city and county officials, the Hereford Beautification Alliance, Hereford Retail Association, the Hereford Ministerial Alliance and HELP (Help Eliminate Liquor Problems) to try to address problems facing youth in the community.

In addition, Wagner said, there are "groups of young people who are against each other" and want to make peace among themselves before the situation turns into gangs fighting gangs.

"The intent of having an outsider come in for the first group meeting is so that we start with a common knowledge basis," Mrs. Veazey said.

The meeting is not an open forum, she said, because "this gives them (participants) something to ponder" before future meetings are held where specific plans of action for helping city youth will be developed.

"Hopefully it (the Tuesday meeting) will turn into a parent's support/awareness group," Wagner said.

Stephens will not address specific problems among Hereford youth, Mrs. Veazey said, but will talk about youth in general.

Among the topics Stephens will address, Mrs. Veazey and Wagner said, will be warning signs of gang activity, drug and alcohol use and how to resist peer pressure.

In addition, teen pregnancy might be discussed.

In the future, as parents get involved in meetings, topics will be geared toward what they want to discuss.

Interpreters will be available at the Tuesday meeting, and the Hereford High School Keywanchettes will provide child care. The meeting is geared toward adults.

Ferry sinks in Haiti; 1,700 feared dead

PETTIT GOAVE, Haiti (AP) - Survivors of a ferry that sank in a storm, killing up to 1,700 people, spent a harrowing night clinging to anything that floated and surrounded by bodies and bleating, bellowing livestock.

"The sea was full of people. I kept bumping into drowned people," said

Madeleine Julien, a 29-year-old merchant who kept afloat by hanging onto a bag of charcoal.

Haitian officials told the U.S. Coast Guard that 820 to 2,000 passengers were on the 150-foot ferry Neptune when it capsized and sank Tuesday night.

Haiti's poor communications system kept word of the disaster from reaching Port-au-Prince until Wednesday night. It was Thursday before officials realized the scope of the disaster.

As of Thursday, only 285 survivors were accounted for by the Red Cross. It was possible others were picked up by fishermen or reached shore on their own.

There was no official count of those aboard the overloaded craft. Port authorities reported 800 tickets sold for the overnight, 180-mile trip from the town of Jeremie to the capital, Port-au-Prince, according to Capt. Larry Mizell, the Coast Guard liaison in Port-au-Prince.

One survivor, Benjamin Sinclair, told The Associated Press that as many as 1,500 people were crowded aboard the triple-deck ferry, filling the decks and the roof of the top deck.

Many of the survivors said they were in the water from 11 p.m. Tuesday, when the Neptune capsized, until noon Wednesday.

A Haitian vessel and three U.S. Coast Guard cutters on Thursday night delivered the first bodies plucked from the sea - 137 of them - and then headed back for more.

The vessel went down 60 miles west of the capital, offshore from Petit Goave, the Coast Guard reported. The Coast Guard Operations Center in Miami said no distress calls were received from the vessel.

Fishermen said there were strong, erratic currents in the area which may have swept bodies out to sea.

Texas would benefit from economic plan

WASHINGTON (AP) - Texas stands to gain half a billion dollars to fix potholes, educate children and revitalize cities if President Clinton's economic stimulus package is approved, a top aide to Gov. Ann Richards says.

The full impact of Clinton's broad outline of short-term economic stimulus, long-term investment and spending cuts won't be known until he submits his complete budget proposal on March 23.

But Jane Hickie, head of the Texas Office of State-Federal Relations, estimated Thursday that the stimulus package Clinton unveiled Wednesday night could mean at least $515 million for Texas.

"A dollar fifty in new federal money is wonderful," Ms. Hickie said, when asked if the funds for Texas are in line with what other states could receive.

"This is far more than just a Band-Aid on a slit throat. This is really some serious money."

Getting Clinton's program through Congress unscathed could be a tall order. Republicans wasted little time in tearing apart the plan and faulting Clinton for focusing too much on tax increases and too little on spending cuts.

Texas Republicans, in particular, found unpalatable the administration's proposed tax increases on gasoline, home-heating oil, electricity, natural gas and other energy sources. The GOP lawmakers said that Texas will be disproportionately hit because it is one of the largest consumers and producers of energy.

But in the stimulus package alone, Ms. Hickie identified for Texas some $184 million in highway funds, $169 million in community development grants, $125 million for school programs and $37 million for water projects.

The community development block grants, to be doled out through the Department of Housing and Urban Development, range from a high of $20 million for Houston to a low of $263,000 for Sherman. The grants are earmarked for revitalizing neighborhoods and stimulating businesses in cities with at least 50,000 residents.

Specifics weren't immediately available on the highway or water development funds.

Ms. Hickie also praised what she termed the administration's strong commitment to Space Station Freedom and the superconducting super collider, two projects that mean billions of dollars to Texas.

The White House commitment to the two controversial programs has been questioned in recent days following a flurry of rumors that the administration either wanted to terminate the projects or slash funding.

Richards was concerned enough by the rumors that she placed a call to White House chief of staff Mack McLarty Wednesday seeking reassurance that both projects would survive.

Clinton is calling for a restructuring of the $30 billion-plus space station program to control cost overruns, but will request the full $2.3 billion sought by NASA for the orbiting laboratory next year.

Budget documents released Thursday say there will be no job losses associated with the restructuring. About 3,500 jobs at the Johnson Space Center in Houston are directly tied to the space station program.

"If they, and we, are successful, life should be better," Ms. Hickie said. "They are talking about trying to develop a plan on how to restructure this space station so that we can quit fighting over it every year and ... give the space station a better future."

The administration also will propose $640 million next year for the $8.2 billion super collider under construction south of Dallas. That's less than the $710 million sought by the Energy Department. The White House is calling for a funding slowdown that would stretch out completion of the project by four years to 2003.

Six plead guilty here, sentenced to prison

Six defendants were ordered to serve sentences in prison, one for 40 years, when their cases were heard in 222nd District Court Thursday.

The sentences were assessed three persons after they entered guilty pleas to charges. Three other defendants were sent to prison after probated sentences were revoked.

Another defendant, Becky Elliott, 42, facing revocation of probation on six convictions for forgery, was sentenced to a substance abuse treatment facility for a minimum of six months, or not more than one year.

The 40-year term was given Elmo Williams, 67, charged with drug possession, cocaine.

Guilty pleas were entered to charges of drug possession, marijuana, and felony driving while intoxicated by Jose Gonzales Salinas, aka Cosme Sanchez.

Judge David Wesley Gulley

sentenced him to 15-year concurrent terms in Texas Department of Criminal Justice institutional division.

A 12-year prison term was assessed Johnny Castillo, 34, charged with unlawful possession of a firearm by a felon.

Jose Cuellar will serve a nine-year term in prison on revocation of his probation on an earlier conviction for attempted robbery. He also must pay $1,386 not paid of a $1,500 fine.

Probation was revoked on Domingo Guerrero, previously convicted of felony driving while intoxicated. He was sentenced to four years in prison and must pay the $1,500 fine.

Brian S. Hubbard, who was convicted of credit card abuse, was sentenced to seven years in TDCJ on revocation of probation. He also was ordered to pay his $1,000 fine.

City sales tax rebate check tops $41,000

The City of Hereford will receive $83,174.62 and Deaf Smith County will get $41,370.23 as their portion of the monthly sales tax rebate, it was reported by the state comptroller's office this week.

Hereford's February check is up 13 percent over the same time last year, while the county check reflected a 15.5 percent increase. The city has a one percent sales tax, and the county has a one-half percent sales and use tax.

The checks are for sales taxes collected on December's Christmas sales and reported in January by businesses filing monthly returns. This month's rebates also reflect taxes reported by businesses filing quarterly returns for sales made the last quarter of 1992.

Comptroller John Sharp reported that a total of $212.5 million in tax rebates were mailed this month to 1,071 Texas cities and 109 counties. The total was up 17.3 percent over a year ago.

Houston received the largest payment of $29.3 million; Dallas had $18 million; San Antonio's was $10.6 million, and Austin had $8.3 million.

The City of Amarillo had a rebate of $3.9 million (on a 2% tax), which reflected an increase of 12.7 percent over a year ago.

L.V. Watts, EMS director, reported that 763 people have completed the CPR course as set up by the American Heart Association. He also announced that the next child-infant CPR class will be held March 9 at 6 p.m.

Bentsen in Texas to push economic plan

AUSTIN (AP) - When McCallum High School students were told to watch President Clinton's economic address, they expected a pop quiz. Instead they got U.S. Treasury Secretary Lloyd Bentsen.

Bentsen visited the school Thursday to pitch Clinton's economic plan to the high school juniors and seniors - and it got a passing grade.

"I like the sort of down-homeness of the whole thing. We're all in this together, and we're going to have to pay taxes," said Matt Fuller, student council president.

Fuller, an 18-year-old senior, introduced Bentsen to a cheering crowd of about 300 students gathered in the high school's cafeteria.

Bentsen told the students he chose to talk to them because a lot of the president's plan pertains to the nation's youth.

"What we're talking about is the future of the young people of this country," he said.

Alex Kuperman, a 17-year-old junior at McCallum, agreed. "The Clinton campaign really seems to be focusing on the youth," he said. "It really does make the youth of America seem like they are part of this nation."

The students asked Bentsen questions touching on education, jobs and the taxes proposed by Clinton.

Bentsen told them Clinton's plan would help cut the deficit, as well as provide jobs for them after they graduate from high school or college.

"We're investing in you, we're investing in Texas, and we're investing in our country with these programs," he said. "This package is aimed at improving the national economy ... and that is the economy you're going to inherit."

Bentsen also reiterated Clinton's promise that the proposed tax increases will be balanced with federal cutbacks.

"It's only fair that we start cutting the bureaucracy in Washington," he said.

Bentsen's trip Thursday was part of a two-day, nationwide traveling spree during which White House officials will try to sell Clinton's plan to the public.

Resolving issues on school finance now up to voters

By TERRI LANGFORD
Associated Press Writer
DALLAS (AP) - It's big and ugly and no one understands it.

It's the school finance issue, a sticky Texas bugaboo that has had everyone from state legislators to local school officials seeking cover for more than two years.

But relief came this week in the form of a new share-the-wealth scheme, up for voter approval on May 1, that would force the state's wealthiest districts to share with the rest of the class.

That's the good news, educators seem to agree.

"It gives you a framework," said Dan Casey, director of the Texas Association of School Boards.

Still, if voters don't approve the plan by June 1, the courts could shut down Texas schools.

However, as legislators go to work on how to activate the plan, some school districts - such as Austin and Arlington - struggle with two other problems.

The first, local tax caps, often set in the 1940s and 1950s, have been reached and can't be raised without voter approval.

Last year in Arlington, voters thumbed their noses at the idea of a $1.50 maximum rate for every $100 worth of property. So it sits at the $1.20 maximum rate and will remain there for the 1993-94 school year, said Arlington Superintendent Lynn Hale.

If that weren't enough, there's the little matter of the state's promised allocation of $14 million that never came through for this year.

And then there's the enrollment growth problem. Texas expects another 65,000 new students over the next two years. With no room to raise a property tax rate, some districts are stuck with more students and no way to increase revenue.

In Texas, about 54 percent of state school budgets come from property taxes. The remaining 46 percent is funded directly by the state from other revenue sources.

In addition to all of this is what is known as pro-ration allotments that some districts depend on. According to a state formula, school districts receive a certain amount of money based on enrollment and other factors.

For the past several years, both Arlington and Austin have been promised - according to these pro-ration formulas - a certain amount. But when officials recount the students and find they can't pay what they promised, they redistribute the money, forcing districts to adjust quickly.

"Because there was more growth than expected and (the pro-ration) it was redistributed and our share was $14 million less," Ms. Hale said.

In total, Ms. Hale said the school district is facing a $20 million shortfall by next fall.

She added that the district has slashed about $10 million in administrative costs. With a voter base that refuses to increase that cap, cuts are all a district can do.

Austin faces a similar battle.

"We're not certain whether it's $20 (million) or $18 (million shortfall)," said Jeff Prescott, a spokesman for the Austin Independent School District. "The state does its funding formulas on average daily attendance. Then come the middle of the year or so and the state finds out it doesn't have all the money it was going to have."

About 10 years ago, Prescott says Austin received about 50 percent of its school budget from state funding. He says that has been slashed in half and the district now gets about 75 percent of its revenue from property taxes.

"The more you talk about it, the deeper it gets," he said. "Pro-ration is killing us."

Appointments solve wrangling over TEC

AUSTIN (AP) - The Senate has confirmed Gov. Ann Richards' appointment of Eddie Cavazos to the Texas Employment Commission. Approval came after she made a deal to end partisan wrangling that had stalled his nomination.

Under the agreement, TEC member James Kaster resigned from the general public representative's seat on the commission.

Richards then appointed Cavazos to Kaster's slot and designated Kaster to the position for which she originally had nominated Cavazos - the employer representative's slot.

The Senate voted 27-0 Thursday to confirm both appointments.

The three-member Employment Commission oversees employment, training and unemployment insurance programs. One member must represent employers, one represents labor and one represents the general public.

Richards made Cavazos the public representative to remove opposition to his nomination from GOP senators, said Bill Cryer, the Democratic governor's spokesman.

Republicans had questioned whether Cavazos, who runs a commercial real estate office and says he has employed up to four people at a time in various businesses in the past, was qualified to represent the state's employers.

Kaster will get a four-year term on the panel, while Cavazos gets a two-year stint.

Supporters told the House Public Safety Committee that two bills to allow Texans to be licensed to carry concealed handguns would give law-abiding citizens a fighting chance when confronted by criminals. But opponents said it would promote violence. The bills were headed to a subcommittee for further study.

License loss is proposed in Bivins bill

AUSTIN - State Sen. Teel Bivins, R-Amarillo, has introduced legislation to suspend drivers licenses for people convicted of all drug offenses, according to a Thursday announcement.

Current state law requires licenses be suspended only for felony drug offenses.

"Last session I wanted to suspend drivers licenses for persons convicted of all drug offenses, but the bill was amended during Senate debate to include only felony convictions," Bivins said. "Now the federal government says that's not good enough - that we must strengthen the law or risk losing millions in highway funds."

Under federal law, Bivins said, a portion of Texas' federal highway funds could be withheld if the state law is not expanded by April 1. About $39.4 million would be withheld for fiscal year 1994, followed by the same amount in 1995, then $75.7 million in both 1996 and 1997.

Canyon turns back Mules in girls' playoff game here

The Canyon Lady Eagles used a 10-point run at the start of the third quarter to pull free of a persistent Muleshoe team and win 43-27 in a Class 3A bi-district basketball playoff game Thursday in Whiteface Gymnasium.

Canyon, now 25-4, advances to play the winner of tonight's bi-district game between Slaton and Graham. Muleshoe finishes its season at 22-8.

The Lady Mules, playing in their first playoff game in five years, stayed with the defending state champions in the first half and trailed only 15-12. Canyon shot 7-of-26 in the half, and the Mules grabbed every defensive rebound in sight.

"Muleshoe has an outstanding team," Eagles coach Joe Lombard said. "We never got untracked offensively, and part of that was due to their defense. They had a good scheme and came out and played us."

Muleshoe didn't shoot well either in the first half (3-of-10), and multiple turnovers kept the Mules from a chance at the lead. In the second half, Muleshoe turnovers and Canyon adjustments led to the Lady Eagles' 10-point run in the first four minutes of the third quarter, giving them a 25-12 lead. Carrah Bryant had four of her game-high 13 points during the run.

"We changed presses—ran a zone-press—at the start of the third quarter," Lombard said. "We also changed the offense to try and get the ball inside. Those two things gave us the spark we needed."

Mules' coach Jim Gruhlkey said his team made too many mistakes to beat a team like Canyon.

"We turned the ball over too many times and didn't score until 2:30 was left, and then we got a free throw," he said. "You can't stay with a good ballteam like that. They shot the ball so well (in the second half); you can't leave any of them open. They play so well as a team—passing the ball."

Canyon led 29-17 going into the fourth quarter, but Muleshoe cut the lead to seven with a three-pointer by Brenna Wheeler and a jumper by Misty Davenport, who led Muleshoe with 12 points. Canyon responded by holding Muleshoe scoreless in the next three and a half minutes and hitting four free throws.

Rockies, Marlins open first camp

By The Associated Press
Spring training looks a little different this year.

The two expansion teams - Florida and Colorado - become more than just names on paper this weekend as the Marlins and Rockies start workouts for pitchers and catchers.

Pitchers and catchers from 15 of the 28 teams reported to camp in places like Vero Beach, Sarasota and Scottsdale, with the first official workouts planned for today.

For the Marlins and Rockies, it's also a chance to get to know one another.

In Tucson, Ariz., 63 players reported for the Rockies' first camp, and they spent a lot of time making introductions.

"Whenever I meet someone new - which is almost everybody around here - I repeat their name three times to myself," said Steve Reed, who pitched 18 games for the San Francisco Giants last season.

"There are 63 guys here, and I'm the only guy from the Giants organization. Trying to remember each guy's name, all the way from reporters to the clubhouse guys to the front-office guys and especially my fellow players, well, it's difficult," he said.

"Spring training has been exciting for me for the past 30-some years," Marlins manager Rene Lachemann said. "This year is a lot more exciting because it's a new ballclub."

Like everyone associated with the National League expansion team, Lachemann is eager to get going. In the next six weeks he must learn enough about his new players to come up with a 25-man roster.

"You have a bunch of scouting reports, but it's nice to be able to stop looking at the reports and find out what people can do," he said.

In Bradenton, Fla., the Pittsburgh Pirates began preparing to win their fourth straight NL East title after losing the likes of Barry Bonds, Doug Drabek, Jose Lind, Danny Jackson, Roger Mason, Alex Cole and others. The Pirates hope new players in camp named Young, Garcia, Martin, Backlund and DeLos Santos can take their place.

"Maybe they should hand out those little name tags to everyone, like they wear at conventions, that say, 'Hi, my name is ...'" center fielder Andy Van Slyke said.

The one pitcher who needs no introduction this spring is Nolan Ryan, who will be playing his record 27th and final season this year.

Ryan, 46, was not among the 32 players who reported to the Texas Rangers' camp Thursday. He's expected at Port Charlotte, Fla., next week and will work out for the first time on either Feb. 28 or March 1.

In Port St. Lucie, Fla., New York Mets manager Jeff Torborg said he will approach this spring training with a looser reign, mainly because he knows his veterans better.

"Our practices will be about an hour shorter," he said. "And I'm going to watch the kids early. The veteran players I know."

Three of those young players, center fielder Ryan Thompson, second baseman Jeff Kent and catcher Todd Hundley, begin the spring as starters for a team that finished a disappointing fifth in the NL East last year.

While pitchers and catchers are the only ones scheduled to be in camp this early, other players are showing up.

Dale Murphy, limited to just 18 games last season because of knee problems, joined 12 other Philadelphia players in a workout two days before the start of the Phillies camp in Clearwater, Fla.

Bert Blyleven, back for his third stint with Minnesota, was an early arrival at the Twins' camp in Fort Myers, Fla.

"If it ends in spring training, it will be all right because I'll know I gave it all I could," Blyleven, 41, said. "What I wanted to avoid was feeling good and wondering to myself: 'What if I had given it one more try?'"

Celtics stumble in blowout loss to Rockets

By The Associated Press
The proud Boston Celtics, winners of a record 16 NBA titles, are anything but these days.
"It's an embarrassment," center Robert Parish said after Boston established a franchise low by scoring just 29 points in the first half of a 119-84 loss Thursday night to the Houston Rockets.
"It doesn't get much worse than that," Parish said. "If it does, I don't want to see it."
What he saw was an eight-point second period, which almost unbelievably was two points more than the Celtics scored in a quarter against New Jersey in 1990.

The Celtics trailed 45-29 at the half, eclipsing the 30 points they scored in the first half against Milwaukee on Nov. 13, 1990.
That, coupled with the recent thrust of the Rockets, compounded the problem. Houston, which shot a franchise-best 68.5 percent two nights earlier in a 149-111 rout of Philadelphia, canned 58 percent of its shots against Boston. The Celtics shot 38 percent.

Carl Herrera scored a career-high 18 points to lead seven Houston players in double figures. Hakeem Olajuwon had 14 points and got 15 rebounds, and Otis Thorpe 17 points and 11 rebounds.
The Rockets never trailed. They had a 15-2 run to close out the first half, holding the visiting Celtics scoreless for the final 6:09.
Boston's shooting didn't improve until the final minute of the third period when it had an eight-point run to close the gap to 82-49.
Reggie Lewis led Boston with 21 points.

anything at this moment," he said, mindful that the Suns' 38-10 record is the best in the league. "I don't think the first half of the season was a fluke, but we have to come out ready to play (after the All-Star break). Teams will be gunning for us."
Richard Dumas scored a career-high 32 points for the Suns.

its last five games as a visitor.
Karl Malone had 26 points and John Stockton 20 points and 11 assists as the Jazz used two second-half spurts to beat slumping Milwaukee.

Cliff Robinson led the Blazers with 21 points.
SuperSonics 131, Warriors 116
Seattle's Derrick McKey scored a season-high 30 points on 12-of-16 shooting.
Ricky Pierce added 25 points and Eddie Johnson 22 for the Sonics, who are 3-0 against the Warriors this season, including two victories in Oakland.

Malone, Stockton hook up again in NBA All-Star game

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) - Karl Malone and John Stockton have played in the All-Star game four times before, but they say their fifth appearance could prove the most memorable.
Sunday's edition of professional basketball's mid-season showcase will be Salt Lake City's first. The 19,911-seat Delta Center will be packed with fans cheering on the Utah Jazz and Olympic teammates.
"Oh, yeah, the home crowd will give us an extra lift," Malone said. "It's neat to be able to play at home, in front of our fans for a change."
Malone, who enters the game as the NBA's third-leading scorer at 28.2 points per game, also looks forward to starting the game with NBA assist leader Stockton.

Stockton, marking his fifth-straight appearance in the big show, also started the 1990 game, the one Malone missed because of injury.
This year, Malone and Stockton join Charles Barkley of Phoenix, Portland's Clyde Drexler and San Antonio center David Robinson as Western Conference starters.
Others on Suns coach Paul Westphal's roster include Sean Elliot of the Spurs; Tim Hardaway, Golden State; Shawn Kemp, Seattle; Dan Majerle, Phoenix; Danny Manning, the Los Angeles Clippers; Hakeem Olajuwon, Houston, and Portland's Terry Porter.

Suns 131, Hawks 119
Phoenix is within a victory of tying a franchise record after winning its 18th consecutive home game.
But Charles Barkley, who got his 14th career triple-double with 25 points, 16 rebounds and 12 assists, wasn't satisfied.
"We haven't accomplished

Spurs 103, 76ers 98
San Antonio isn't far behind Phoenix in home dominance, with 15 consecutive victories.
Dale Ellis made a club record-tying four 3-point shots in the fourth quarter on his way to 24 points for the surging Spurs.
David Robinson added 19 points and 13 rebounds for the Spurs. Hersey Hawkins' 33 points led Philadelphia.
Jazz 105, Bucks 94
Utah is showing its muscle on the road, winning for the fourth time in

Trail Blazers 105, Lakers 103
Terry Porter's driving layup with 27.1 seconds to go provided the winning points as Portland came from eight behind in the final 3:23.
James Worthy scored 26 and

Clippers 108, Bullets 95
Loy Vaught came off the bench for 20 points and a season-high 14 rebounds as Los Angeles (26-25) clinched a winning record at the All-Star break for the first time in the history of the Clippers.
Thomas Hill had 14 points, but none in the last 16 minutes.

Virginia hands Duke another loss

Remember how Duke sent pangs of fear through opponents. Well, forget it.

champions," said Virginia's Cory Alexander, who had 20 points and shut down Blue Devils star point guard Bobby Hurley. "But it doesn't win us any championships, and nobody's going to come in here and lay down for us because we beat Duke."
Especially when the Cavaliers beat an undermanned Duke. The Blue Devils were without leading scorer Grant Hill, who has a sprained toe.

96, Buffalo 67; and No. 21 New Orleans 84, Lamar 73.
Hurley scored in single digits for only the second time this season, finishing with eight points and six turnovers.

Thomas Hill had 14 points, but none in the last 16 minutes.

The other teams in the Atlantic Coast Conference no longer are in awe of the two-time defending national champions. Virginia, apparently, has overcome the inferior feeling most emphatically, as it displayed Thursday night in a 58-55 victory over the seventh-ranked Blue Devils. No. 23 Virginia also beat Duke at Durham, N.C., earlier this season.
The Cavaliers (16-5, 8-4 ACC) took sole possession of fourth place and pushed Duke (19-5, 7-5) into the league's second division as they became the first ACC team since 1990 to sweep a season series against Duke.
"Sure, it's better when they're the two-time defending national

CHRIST'S CHURCH FELLOWSHIP

Pastor Alton Tomlin will be bringing a message this Sunday from Nehemiah, entitled "To Have and Have Not." You are welcome to join the congregation in worship, praise and fellowship.

The church schedule of services and activities each week begin with Sunday school at 9:30 a.m.; Sunday morning worship service, 10:45; youth meeting, 6 p.m. Sunday; and Men's Bible Study, 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

The Women's Bible Study meets at 7 p.m. on Monday and at 9:45 a.m. on Wednesday. The Christian Youth Club assembles at 4:45 p.m. Wednesday and the choir practice is held at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The public is invited to meet for prayer at 7 a.m. each Tuesday, 7 p.m. each Wednesday and at noon each Thursday. The new Men's Bible Study is off to a great start and you are invited to attend the meetings to study "How To Become A Real Man", taught by Andy Wilks.

Denise White, the new youth director who joined the staff Feb. 1, has met with the junior and senior high students to make plans for the year.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

This Sunday during the 10:30 a.m. worship service, Pastor Ted Taylor's message will be entitled "Living a Holy Life in an Unholy World." Pastor Taylor said, "There is a high cost of living in the world today. The pull and tug of the pressures of the world can take a toll on you. When life's squeeze brings out the worst in you, have you considered letting Jesus get the worst OUT of you? There is more to this life than just trying to be good. The infilling power of the Holy Spirit can make a difference in you. God can change your heart which won't take you out of the world but it will take the world out of you."

The Children's Quizzing Competition will be held from 6-9 p.m. Saturday in Amarillo.

Early morning "praise" is held each Sunday at 9 and Sunday school for all ages begins at 9:30 a.m. The Sunday worship services are held at 10:30 a.m. and 6 p.m.

CHRISTIAN ASSEMBLY CHURCH

The public is invited to all services at the interdenominational church where Don Cherry serves as pastor.

Sunday services are held at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. Wednesday evening services begin at 7 and youth services are held each Wednesday.

A nursery is available for all services.

For additional information, call 364-5874.

ST. THOMAS EPISCOPAL CHURCH

"Upward Goals, Mountain Visions" is the title of the sermon by the Rev. Charles A. Wilson on the Last Sunday after the Epiphany and is based on passages from Exodus 24, Philippians 3 and Matthew 17:1-9, assigned readings for the day. The Holy Eucharist is celebrated at 11 a.m. with a time of fellowship in the parish hall after the service.

Christian Education for all ages is at 9:30 a.m. each Sunday with a class for children and youth taught by Jena Rawley-Whitaker and an adult class on the Gospel of Mark led by Father Wilson. On the Sundays in Lent, the adult class will be reading and discussing C.S. Lewis' "The Great Divorce."

On Tuesday, the Annual Shrove Tuesday Pancake supper will be held at the church beginning at 5 p.m.

The Proper Liturgy for Ash Wednesday will begin St. Thomas' Lenten observance and will include the Imposition of Ashes and Holy Communion. The service begins at 7 p.m. and on the Wednesday evenings in March, there will be a simple soup and bread supper following the service.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: Regarding the danger involving dogs in the back of moving pickups: I witnessed the most astounding performance!

I was driving on the freeway behind two pickups that were driving side by side. Each contained a large dog in back. They were zipping along pretty fast. All at once as if on cue, the two dogs leapt across from one pickup to the other, exchanging places.

One driver pulled off on the feeder road; the other kept driving straight. Neither was aware of the swap.

I have often wondered how they felt when they reached their homes with the wrong dogs. I hope the dogs had tags.

I have also wondered what might have occurred if the one pickup hadn't exited the freeway. Would the dogs have tried to jump back? Would one dog have jumped? Would they have started a fight? Could the driver have been so upset they might have lost control and had an accident?

What if one or both of the dogs had fallen onto the road in front of my car? What if? — Genie Jo Murphy, Houston, Texas

Boy, this is one for the books! Thank heavens the dogs were OK. — Heloise

FLEA POWDER

Dear Heloise: Applying flea powder to my three cats was always messy and wasteful with the shake-on container. Now, I pour some powder in a plastic container and dab it on the pets with a small clean paintbrush.

I can put the powder right where I want it and work it into kitty's coat with the brush. — Loren M. Tusing, Harrisonburg, Va.

Thanks so much for your clever idea. For all the cat lovers out there, I have compiled a new cat pamphlet that's full of helpful kitty information.

Federal indictments name former congressman, wife

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - Former congressman Albert Bustamante, the target of a 3 1/2-year grand jury probe, has been indicted on federal charges of accepting bribes in return for his influence in Congress. His wife, attorney Rebecca Bustamante, also was charged in a 10-count indictment Thursday. The former congressman vowed to fight the charges in court and win. "It has been very tough for my family, for myself, for my friends. They (federal prosecutors) have gone under every rock ... using untold millions of dollars to come after me," Bustamante said. "They cost me my election."

Bustamante, a Democrat from San Antonio, lost the District 23 congressional seat in November to Republican Henry Bonilla. Bustamante, once a migrant farm worker, had held the office since 1984. The indictment alleges during his years in Congress Bustamante accepted money from a food service company, a realty company connected with the politically powerful Jaffe family and the San Antonio law firm Heard, Goggan, Blair & Williams. Bustamante is charged with one count of racketeering, one count of conspiracy to commit racketeering and eight counts of bribery. He could face up to 20 years in prison and up to a $250,000 fine each on the racketeering and conspiracy charges and two years in prison and up to a $250,000 fine on each of the eight bribery charges.

Rebecca Bustamante is charged in seven counts of aiding and abetting her husband in the acceptance of bribes. She could face up to two years in prison and up to a $250,000 fine on each count.

The government also is using a forfeiture section of the racketeering law to try to get from Bustamante $344,000, the amount the indictment alleges he reaped from the alleged crimes.

On the advice of his attorney, Bustamante did not respond to the specific allegations.

Bustamante is accused of helping Falcon Food and Management Services Inc. of San Antonio renew its contract to provide meals at Lackland Air Force Base in exchange for $35,000 allegedly paid to him in February 1986. The indictment says Bustamante used the money to pay off a mortgage on his Arlington, Va., home.

There was no telephone listing for Falcon Food. The indictment did not name the Falcon Food officials allegedly involved.

Bustamante also is accused of accepting $30,000 in November 1987 from State Realty Inc., a subsidiary of Southwest Merchandising Corp., now known as the Jaffe Group Inc. Morris D. Jaffe Sr. and his son M. Doug Jaffe Jr., principals of the Jaffe Group, are politically connected Texans who are friends of Bustamante's and of former U.S. House Speaker Jim Wright of Fort Worth. The two Jaffes are not mentioned by name in the indictment.

The same grand jury probe produced an indictment last summer charging the younger Jaffe and two company attorneys with breaking federal campaign contribution laws. They were acquitted in November.

The Thursday indictment says the $30,000 State Realty check was made payable to Bustamante's wife and was delivered to Albert Bustamante. The check allegedly was for consulting services, but the indictment says Rebecca Bustamante did not perform such services.

A call to the Jaffe Group Thursday from The Associated Press was not returned.

The indictment alleges the Bustamantes used the money to help pay for a house.

Bustamante has come under public scrutiny for a $618,500 house and lot he and his wife bought in the exclusive Dominion community in north Bexar County. The indictment did not say if that was the house in question.

Bustamante also is accused of receiving through his wife a percentage of money paid by the city of San Antonio and the South San Antonio School District for delinquent tax collection contracts to the law firm of Heard, Goggan, Blair & Williams. Rebecca Bustamante was an attorney with the firm.

Attorney Oliver Heard declined to comment.

The indictment alleges Rebecca Bustamante was paid $43,160 from the school district's contract from March 1985 to March 1992 and $236,349 from the city contract from May 1985 to December 1991. The indictment claims Mrs. Bustamante did not do any work to earn that money.

The money was placed in personal bank accounts maintained by Albert and Rebecca Bustamante and amounted to an illegal gratuity paid to Bustamante, the indictment said.

Bustamante is accused of accepting an illegal gift in April 1985 in the form of a loan guarantee for purchasing stock at no personal risk in San Antonio Video Corp., which was formed by a group trying to buy a local television station.

In June 1986, Bustamante testified before the Federal Communications Commission in support of the television station license application. The indictment said he denied under oath that he received a guaranteed line of credit.

A.L. Hernden, an attorney representing Bustamante, said the indictment allegations are not true and defended his client's reputation.

"Albert has always helped everybody in the community," Hernden said, citing examples of Bustamante helping poor citizens by distributing food and raising money for band uniforms.

Hernden said Rebecca Bustamante once was a nun and a school teacher and helped retarded people.

"It stuns me that they could do something like this in America," he said. "This indictment is total fabrication."

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

POWERLESS ON THE BATTLEFIELD!!

A TRADITIONAL CUSTOM, IN EARLY BIBLICAL TIMES, WHICH WAS A CRUEL BUT EFFECTIVE METHOD BY WHICH WARRIORS WERE MADE POWERLESS... WAS THE CUTTING OFF OF BOTH A MAN'S THUMBS AND LARGE TOES! ACTUALLY THIS WAS LOOKED UPON AS HUMANE TREATMENT RATHER THAN AN OUT-AND-OUT KILLING. THE SUBJECT'S LIFE WAS SPARED BUT, HAVING LOST HIS THUMBS, HE COULD NOT HANDLE WEAPONS, AND LOSING HIS LARGE TOES MEANT HE COULD NOT WALK LET ALONE RUN ON THE BATTLEFIELD, PROPERLY. A MENTION IS MADE OF THIS IN JUDGES 1:4-7. ADONIBEZEK, A CRUEL AND SUSPICIOUS KING OF BEZEK, WAS GIVEN SUCH PUNISHMENT BY THE WARRIORS OF THE TRIBE OF JUDAH. ODDLY, THIS KING SAW THE "POETIC JUSTICE" IN THIS ACT BECAUSE HED GIVEN THE SAME TREATMENT TO SEVENTY OTHER KINGS WHOM HE HAD CONQUERED. THIS HE REGARDED AS A DIVINE REQUITAL, VISITED ON HIM BY GOD, FOR THE SIMILAR CRUELITIES PERPETRATED BY HIM.
